

Bula English Teacher Praises Presentation of 'Sound of Music'

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is an impression of last week's presentation of Sound of Music written by Terry Blake, English Department of Bula High School.

When a musical play reaches the public through the media of movies and photograph records as spectacularly as THE SOUND OF MUSIC has done, it is perhaps the natural thing to expect that the local performances of the same show would share some of its flavor, style of execution, and even intonation of voice and gesture in the solos. And who would blame some young soloist for trying to sound and look like Julie Andrews? The discerning spectator might even find himself doing some mental comparisons between the two performances, or at least looking to see what might be imitated, and to what extent.

We may have begun watching last Saturday night's presentation of the SOUND OF MUSIC by the Muleshoe High School Fine Arts Department with this frame of mind, but it was dramatically changed before the second scene had ended. The hauntingly beautiful Gregorian antiphony of the nuns' choir and Miss Branscum's vigorous rendition of the title song clearly signaled that this was no re-run of a movie production, but a truly original and independent effort. We thought it unusual and commendable that high school students could recast so completely in their minds and actions a musical play which, in its movie form, had parts which were so good that they might become stereotypes immune to change.

It was obvious, too, that the originality was not forced or strained in the least. It candidly took the script and score and breathed life into them. The audience experienced (and we use that word advisedly) a cultural peak in Muleshoe arts history, and their enthusiastic response was as much a compliment to their own good taste as it was to a truly artistic performance. As if this were not enough, the cast and directors pulled off a classic bit of one-upmanship on Hollywood, and at the same time defeated a venerable problem in the staging of any play--that of noisy, time-consuming scene changes. While the unseen heroes, the stage hands, were quietly working their magic backstage, the audience found the play taking place around them, and they were guests of a splendid wedding in an Austrian cathedral, with the stately wedding procession filling down the aisle. Later they discovered that they were the audience at an Austrian folk music festival, all done with deftness which literally involved the whole audience in the play itself. The effect was so strong that we could scarcely restrain the impulse to chime in with the Von Trapp family as they sang the touchingly beautiful "Edelweiss!"

Reviews of this kind are expected to single out the outstanding performers and to mention the strong points of the production. This is rarely easy to do, and often very difficult. In this case it is both easy and difficult, because outstanding performers were not lacking in the performance, but classifying them according to relative merits is difficult indeed. We are not brave enough to run the risk of failing to give due credit, but fairness demands that some mention be made of groups and individuals who contributed so much to the success of the production.

Jane Branscum was in fine voice for the performance which we attended. Her interpretation was brisk, highly original, and truly set the pace for the rest of the cast. To her should go much of the credit for maintaining the high emotional key which gave the performance its rich vibrancy. She created a pleasant, hearty Maria Rainer with her voice's rich, robust timbre, no doubt one of the qualities which won her a place in this year's All-State Choir.

One-upmanship scored again with a flourish in the Von Trapp children, done in a most appealing way by Marsha Blackman as Liesl (who, by the way, deserves a plaudit for her dancing as well), Bill Tanner, Deborah

Vandals Caught, Theft Ring Broken

Juveniles have been busy here for some time and so have peace officers. Two cases, the vandalism of a local church and a series of 12 thefts, became an interwoven affair when it all boiled down here this weekend with a number of juveniles taken into custody and await hearing on a number of charges, some of the group involved in both of the cases. All those investigated are juveniles with the exception of one 17 year-old who is now faced with revocation of probation in addition to the present charges. Others range in age from 11 years to 16.

Vandals hit the Muleshoe Church of Christ during the early morning hours Sunday and left behind a general mess plus an undetermined amount of damage.

Sheriff's Deputy Buddy Black said communion glasses, filled with grape juice for the morning service, were thrown from the front of the auditorium to the back of the room and the foyer was littered with broken glass and the juice.

Pews were dented in numerous places where the glasses hit the wooden sections. Limbs were torn from artificial shrubs

Vegetable Meet Set in Hereford

Anyone interested in vegetable production is urged to attend the 15th annual West Texas Vegetable Growers Conference Tuesday, Jan. 17 at the Bull Barn in Hereford.

County Agent J.K. Adams said the session is open to the public. The theme of this year's session will be "Cultural and Pathological Problems of Vegetable Production."

Six speakers will be featured on the program which will start at 9 a. m. and continue to about 4 p. m., the county agent said. Adams said that among the speakers would be Thomas Longbrake, Extension vegetable specialist serving the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Longbrake will present two

Ice picks were used to mar the Austin stone behind the pulpit and the pulpit and also holes were punched in interior doors with the ice picks.

The lock on the door to the pastor's study was broken as were locks on several classroom doors.

The church kitchen was lit-

Lunch Price Increase Set

The prices of lunches in the lunchrooms in the Muleshoe Schools will be raised .05¢ per lunch beginning the first day of the second semester, January 16.

The price of lunches will be as follows: Grades 1-3 - 35¢; Grades 4-5 - 40¢; Grades 6-12 - 45¢ and Adults - 50¢.

This problem has been under study by the Administration and School Board for the past two months.

This increase is due primarily to two causes.

1. The great increase in the cost of food products that have to be purchased.

The price of milk, for example, has raised .01¢ per half pint during the past two years. This equals 16¢ per gallon.

2. A big decrease in the tered with broken communion glasses and grape juice spilled over the room.

A transistor radio was missing from the pastor's study. Entry was gained through the front door of the building.

Two youths are in custody charged with the vandalism. One of the two also faces revocation of probation in connection with this charge. Other have been implicated in the vandalism, all juveniles.

D. L. Thompson, minister of the Church of Christ said "We feel fortunate that no more damage was done, although, if what was done had to be replaced, damage would run into several hundred dollars."

"This is the second time the church has been broken into. Some 14 months ago in the break-in, a film strip projector and adding machine were taken," Thompson said.

THEFT RING

Action by the Muleshoe Police Department and Bailey County Sheriff's office brought juvenile activities of various nature to more or less a screeching halt during the past few days.

City Patrolman David Cunningham bounced on the trail of five juveniles Monday afternoon which put the wraps on some undesirable deeds of some five youths. These deeds included 12 cases of taking purses, cameras and other articles from parked cars and home and have been plaguing residents and law enforcement officer for about two months.

A purse belonging to Mrs. Blance Dodgen was taken from a car parked at Cross Roads Cafe Monday. Patrolman Cunningham found the purse in a trash can and the apprehension of the youth was underway. Chief of Police Harold White joined Cunningham in the investigation and before the day was over, the two juveniles were behind bars awaiting a hearing in juvenile court, for the admitted thefts, a total of 12 over the city.

Tuesday morning, Cunningham and Chief White recovered the billfold from Mrs. Dodgen's purse from the roof of the First Baptist Church where they had thrown it after they removed the money. Officers found the money on the youths.

Three others were implicated in these thefts, investigated, and they also will appear in juvenile court.

Mills Machine Burglary Solved After 16 Months

There is no doubt in the mind of five partners in crime that the element of surprise packs a whollop!

September 10, 1965 four young boys from Friona, along with an older companion burglarized Mill Machine Shop here. Entry was gained to the shop by breaking through a masonite panel in door and the loot taken consisted of two drawing boxes valued at $80 and a socket set valued at $50.

The trail turned cold . . . but as usual for crime, it was re-

Chief of Police Harold White and Patrolman Jim Kinser went to Amarillo early last week and questioned a young man there which the Amarillo Police Department had arrested and was serving a 30 day jail sentence for malicious mischief.

The youth admitted the burglary here and the Friona youths were questioned as a result. The tools and one of the drawing sets were recovered, however one drawing set is still missing.

The four Friona youths are awaiting court action on the case here and the man in Amarillo jail is to be released to local authorities at the termination of his sentence there.

'Philosophy for These Times'

"Philosophy For These Times" was the topic used by Dr. W. H. Clark, head of the Philosophy Department, Wayland Baptist college, when he spoke at the noon Rotary Club meeting Tuesday.

First to define philosophy, Dr. Clark used Professor Fuller's words: "Philosophy is a reflective and reasoned attempt to infer the character and content of the universe. Taken in its entirety, and as a singular whole from an observation and study of the data presented by all its aspects."

In his talk, Dr. Clark said "philosophy is a method of approach in dealing with lifes problems. It seeks to understand lifes situations, not as an isolated phenomena, but as an essential part of a related whole. It examines critically the grounds of our basic assumptions.

"We need to correct false notions about philosophy," Dr. Clark added. "Some seem to think that philosophy is suitable only to a few, but the fact is, we are all philosophers of a kind. There are those who could shun philosophy. They refuse to think reflectively or critically . . . especially about their thinking."

"They will not take a fair look at their own presuppositions but they still go on making important decisions, drawing inferences and making valuable judgements relative to their own and other peoples conduct."

But they seem extremely allergic to cogitative enterprise . . . they will read, argue, talk . . . and even listen . . . anything but think.

"But rich fruits, of rationality," Dr. Clark continued, "comes only as a result of vigorous and sustained mental effort."

"Someone has said, 'Two effective ways to avoid mental effort are: 1. by believing everything you read and hear and 2. by doubting everything.' All the good or evil that will come from the great achievement of the space age will depend on men's philosophy of life."

"A philosophy of life consists of basic concepts around which ones life's plans, hopes, fears, joys and expectations revolve."

"An important element in good philosophy of life is the willingness to think for oneself."

"Ideas are agents of tremendous power. As all history will show, they have brought nations, institutions and whole civilizations into being and other ideas have brought their destruction."

"But power of any idea depends on three factors: 1. The soundness of the idea itself. 2. Degree of its acceptance with humanity and 3. timeliness of the idea's assertion."

"One philosophy of life is an important factor in estimating our moods. Anyones moods is so essential to success in any endeavor," Dr. Clark said.

In closing, Dr. Clark related the story of Sidney Harris and his friend.

"Harris accompanied a friend to a news stand to buy a paper. The friend bought the paper and kindly thanked the news boy. But the boy showed no response to the courteous customer."

As they walked away, Harris said to his friend: "Why were you so courteous when the boy acted as he did?"

The friend replied "Why not? Why should I let him decide how I am going to act?"

Reflecting on the incident, Clark told of the great lesson involved and pointed out the difference between acting toward people and reacting toward them.

Harris' friend acts toward people while most of us react toward them, Dr. Clark said.

"No one he continued" is more unhappy than the chronic reactor. The center of his emotional gravity is not rooted in himself where it ought to be, but in the world outside him. Consequently, his spiritual and emotional temperature is constantly rising and falling commodities received from the Federal Government such as, turkeys, chickens, frozen hamburger, cheese, butter, eggs, canned vegetables, etc.

During the Christmas Holidays a complete inventory was made of products on hand in each of the lunchrooms; all outstanding bills were totaled; average participation per day was figured; and the number of free lunches given per day was totaled. The result of this study showed that the lunchroom was in a deficit of approximately $3,000 from the beginning of school up to the Christmas Holidays, according to Superintendent Neal Dillman.

The following facts should be kept in mind about the lunchrooms operation, Dillman added.

1. The lunchroom is not reimbursed for free lunches by the Federal Government.

2. The lunchroom gets reimbursed only for milk served with Type A lunches and the Special Milk Program.

3. The commodities received from the Federal Government are not entirely free. There are freight charges, storage charges and a handling fee charged, based on the month of March participation. Last year the handling fee alone was $372.96.

4. Water, gas, electricity, janitor service and supplies, telephone and general maintenance of the lunchroom buildings are not figured in on the cost of the lunches. These costs are paid by the taxpayers.

"The lunchroom personnel administration and school board have been and will continue to strive to serve the best lunches possible to the students at a minimum cost.

"If any patron has any question or suggestions about the lunchroom operation they are certainly welcome to come to the Administration office. All the records and figures are readily available for public information, Dillman stated."

Club Members Interested Persons Aid Girlstown

It all came about when Mrs. M. C. Mason, reporter for the Midway Variety Club, heard that Girlstown USA, located at Whiteface, was in desperate need of food, clothing and any useful articles which the girls could use in the Home. She mentioned to her husband, who in turn thought how nice it would be to be able to buy a beef for the home. No sooner was the idea mentioned than donations came rolling in and T. R. White at Cashway Grocery, sold the beef to the club at cost. Some $300 in donations were turned in toward the project in addition to canned goods furnished by individuals in the Muleshoe area and grocery stores, clothing given by Mule-shoe members making the shoe department stores and individuals and numerous other erous individuals and other interested persons from Muleshoe made the trip with the club members.

"For one to let another determine how he will act, whether rude or courteous, relinquishes control of his own personality which is his only true possession," Dr. Clark concluded.

Dr. Clark has been a member of the Wayland faculty for the past eight years and with the department of philosophy for that same length of time.

He is a graduate of the Oklahoma Baptist University and received his Masters degree in Philosophy at Baylor University. Prior to going into the teaching profession, Dr. Clark held pastorates for churches in Oklahoma, Texas and Kansas, and area churches where he served as pastor were at Claude and Tulsa.

He is a native of Missouri, but a Texan by choice, he said.

Miss Bartley, Mr. Patton United In Church

in Levelland. The groom is a 1965 graduate of Abernathy High School and is employed as a construction worker in Lubbock.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Patton are making their home in Lubbock.

Baskets of gladioli and pink roses on either side of the altar formed the setting for the wedding of Beverly Jean Bartley, Muleshoe, and Ronald Lee Patton, Abernathy.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Bartley, Muleshoe, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Patton, Abernathy.

The couple were united in double ring marriage by the Rev. J. Frank Peery in the Muleshoe First Methodist Church, Youth's Chapel, Dec. 31 at 7 p.m.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a street length dress of white peau so soft and featured an empire waistline with lace bodice coming to petal points over the hands. Her tulle veil cascaded from a pearl tiara. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and roses.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Ronald Elliott, Lazbuddie, was matron of honor. She wore a pink knit dress accented with satin streamers at the waist and carried a long stem rose with streamers.

Mrs. Verlon Scoggins provided appropriate wedding selections.

Carrying out tradition, the bride wore a blue garter; for something new, was her dress; borrowed, was a handkerchief and something old was her veil worn by her sister and sister-in-law.

Jackie Patton, Lubbock, served his brother as best man.

When it comes to decorating, don't be afraid of color! Many homemakers feel it takes an expert to choose a color scheme and carry it out successfully in a room.

It is true that few people have an instinctive sense of color-- what is right together, what clashes, how much to use, and so on. However, there is a simple way to select and combine colors effectively in a room, and it doesn't take a decorating course to do it.

The Forgotten Front

It could reasonably be said that the Korean front, where so many American boys paid the supreme price in the war there in the early fifties, is now the forgotten front.

Yet we have 50,000 troops on the line in Korea today, policing the uneasy border between North and South Korea. And occasionally a patrol of these troops is engaged in battle with an enemy force.

Not long ago one of our patrols was virtually wiped out in a North Korean ambush, and Washington issued strong protests, but the nation conveniently forgot about it in a few days and nothing has been done about this atrocity. Perhaps nothing can be done.

In addition to the 50,000 American troops on the south side of the truce line there are 560,000 South Korean troops. On the northern side of the line are 400,000 North Korean Communist troops.

If the war in Korea and events since 1950 prove anything, they prove only military force deters Communist aggressors in Asia. Keeping the equivalent of two divisions of troops in Korea is costing the United States heavily and eventually U. S. troops might be withdrawn, but only when we can be confident the Communists will not again invade South Korea because of its weak military posture.

Not Theirs to Dispose

GUEST EDITORIAL—

THE FREEDOM of the press guaranteed the American people by the First Amendment belongs to the people. There fore neither the press nor the bar has the right to sit down and bargain it away.

This was the primary conclusion reached by the 12-man panel of the American Newspaper Publishers Association which has been studying the question of proposed restrictions on crime and trial news.

The American Bar Association study group proposed last year that new restrictions curb the gathering of news of pending criminal cases. The purpose of these proposed restrictions purportedly was to prevent release of "potentially prejudicial information."

The lawyers' campaign to restrict the press gained impetus when the Supreme Court threw out the conviction of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard on grounds that "virulent publicity" surrounded his trial.

NO MEMBER of the press has claimed that its performance has been perfect. Nor can the bar association claim that every lawyer has always performed his duties by the highest standard of ethics.

But in regard to the Sheppard case, the press panel pointed out "that here the court was dealing with the unusual and not typical case . . . the majority opinion, 8 to 1, makes it clear that the court's words are meant to apply to what the trial judge in the Sheppard case should have done, not what every judge should do in every case."

To gag all of the press because of one incident in which one or more members is believed to have violated standards of ethics would be as unfair and as unreasonable as to disbar all attorneys because of one attorney's violations of the code of ethics in that profession.

But the report's central conclusion is that which affirms the freedom of the press as a basic right of the American people.

THE PEOPLE'S right to a free press is a fundamental part of our democratic process. Denied access to the information that the free press provides, the people cannot make the informed decisions that determine the course of their government.

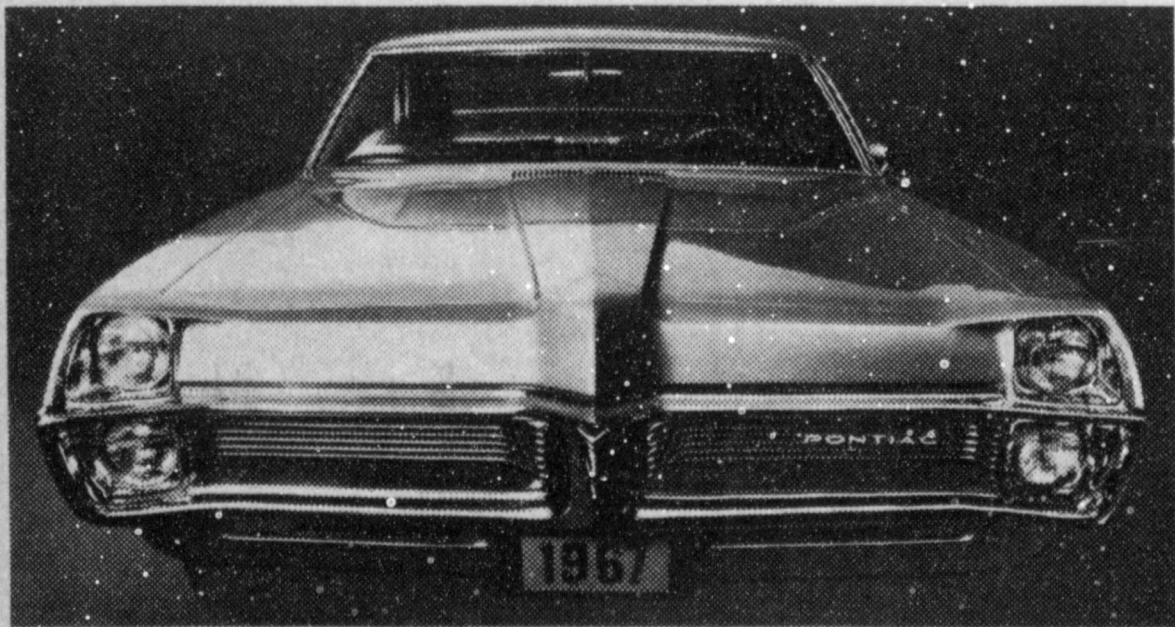

This right, then, is not one for the press or the bar to dispose of at will, either unilaterally or by mutual agreement. As the newsmen of the panel pointed out, "There is no conflict between a free press and a fair trial, and those who seek to sway the public with such a contention do a disservice to the people and to the cause of American freedom."

For this strong stand, the publishers and editors serving on the ANPA committee deserve the applause and, above all, the support of both their profession and the American people.

They have eloquently pointed out that it is as impossible to have a partially free press as to have a partially fair trial.

Maybe our '67 Pontiac is breaking sales records because people don't want to wait until '68 for a copy.

Pontiac Motor Division

Our engineers have become used to seeing their ideas show up on other cars. Two years later. And apparently so have a lot of car buyers. Because 1967 Pontiacs are selling faster than 1966 Pontiacs. And '66 was a record year.

When you think about it, why should you wait around for innovations like our disappearing windshield wipers? Or for imaginative options like our exclusive hood-mounted tach? Especially when you consider that our engineers wouldn't turn a Pontiac loose with anything less than a standard 400 cubic inch V-8. Or a Tempest with anything less than our revolutionary Overhead Cam Six. (Not to mention all those new safety features like GM's energy absorbing steering column and a dual master cylinder brake system with warning lamp.)

In short, our engineers seem to have done it again. They may even start asking for royalties on the copies.

AUSTIN—There has been a lot of swearing going on at the Capitol.

Seems like almost everyone has been sworn into an office of one type or another. We haven't made an official count but the number will approach the 200 mark.

First it was the judges. Then the top elective officials. Then the 31 State Senators and 150 members of the house.

There's no doubt about it, there's a lot of swearing going on in the Texas Capitol. And there's more to come.

With what's upcoming in the legislative halls, there's likely to be a lot of unofficial swearing, too-- a bit stronger in nature. This is bound to happen when so many people get together . . . and especially when arguments, pro and con, get underway for this and that bill.

It's expected that some 2,500 measures will hit the hopper before the lawmaking session ends.

SHOW IS ON THE ROAD-- The 60th session of the Legislature now is underway. How long it will last is anybody's guess.

Three officials in a position to be among the state's best guessers are predicting it will not continue beyond the 140-day deadline for a regular session. This despite a mountain of problems to be resolved.

"We can finish on time," commented Speaker of the House Ben Barnes, as the representatives began to assemble. And he emphasized "I want no special sessions."

Gov. John Connally has voiced a similar view. Lt. Gov. Preston Smith is even more strongly convinced that special "It is not only possible to complete our work in 140 days . . . there ought to be no other thought than finishing by then -- and probably before," commented Smith.

Lieutenant Governor Smith suggested that legislators could speed up their work if they abandoned the usual practice of four-day weeks and stayed in sessions Fridays and Saturdays once the bills start coming out of committees. Asked if he felt that the lawmakers would do that, the lieutenant governor acknowledged that chances of them doing so are slim.

Smith feels the 60th Legislature faces no more problems than previous ones.

COURTS SPEAK--Texas Supreme Court agreed with the lower courts that West Texas State University could indefinitely suspend a student for violating conditions of disciplinary probation for traffic offenses.

High Court also, in effect, upheld tax values of the City of Port Lavaca which had been attacked by property owners who claimed land assessments were discriminatory since bank deposits were left off tax rolls.

Austin District Judge Herman Jones heard arguments in the AFL-CIO suit to invalidate the constitutional amendment which would require annual voter registration. Labor leaders claim that the ballot stated only that it would repeal the poll tax as a voting requirement -- thus failing to describe its full purpose. Secretary of State John L. Hill has been enjoined from canvassing the November 8 vote on the amendment pending outcome of the suit. AFL-CIO seeks summary judgement. Union Officials want permanent registration.

AG RULES--Only licensed physicals or optometrists, not ophthalmic dispensers of optical goods, can legally fit contact lenses, former Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr held.

In a separate opinion, Carr concluded that University of Texas regents can require participants in UT postgraduate medical programs to be holders of doctor of medicine degrees, excluding doctors of osteopathy.

AUSTIN, TEX. - The Texas Safety Association says an accumulation of paper is a great fire hazard and suggests that homeowners dispose of Christmas gift wrappings as soon as possible. Have a waste paper basket or carton handy for getting rid of paper immediately.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm has missile fever, his letter this week indicates. Who doesn't?

Dear editor:

I knew it was going to happen sooner or later, and according to a newspaper I read last night a guided missile got out of hand in Florida and took off without authority, but fortunately headed off several hundred miles into the ocean and disappeared harmlessly.

The incident bears out what I've been arguing: the world has got all these guided missiles, each one aimed at some important city in a potential enemy's country, but how do we know they're accurate? How do we know they're going to land where they're aimed?

How do I know that somebody in Moscow, aiming at New York, may not sight down the barrel wrong and land the missile in the middle of this Johnson grass farm, just before my crop's gathered? What's going to happen when some emotional Frenchman, told to fire, excitedly pulls the trigger toward Peking and the thing lands in the office of The Muleshoe Journal? Probably on press day.

Aside from the gross economic waste of using a multi-million-dollar missile on you or me, you or me, you can see what international confusion would result from guided missiles going off in all directions and few of them going where they were aimed. It might be years before we found out who won.

Of course the answer is an international peace conference, but I don't see much chance of that, therefore I am proposing that the world leaders immediately call an international peace conference, but I don't see much chance of that, therefore I am proposing that the world leaders immediately call an international gunnery conference.

Bring together all the men from all nations who are in charge of firing missiles and give them an intensive, thorough-going training course in marksmanship. Make it an absolutely closed union shop, with nobody allowed to graduate and return to fire for any country until his accuracy is absolutely unquestioned. I don't know where they would do their practice firing, but China is an awfully big country.

It would be terrible enough to have a missile war run by experts, with missiles going off in all directions like children's sky-rockets, and the situation is too awful to contemplate. I hope you will get hold of our Congressman right away and get this gunnery school started.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Be Active

Another study has just shown that active men are less likely to suffer heart attacks than inactive ones.

Evidence from the study was reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association recently and involved 55,000 men in a health insurance plan in New York State, a study endorsed by the Public Health Service.

In general, the nonsmoker who remains active and gets some exercise regularly, or fairly regularly, was found to have a nine times better chance of survival than the inactive smoker! And exercise was found to be more important than smoking in avoiding such devastating odds.

The 55,000 men involved in the study were between 25 and 65, with no heart trouble history. In the first eighteen months, 301 suffered heart attacks, 32 per cent dying from them.

WASHINGTON NOTES

EDUCATION COST UP

School Management, a magazine for school administrators, reports in the January issue that the average cost of educating a child in the nation's public schools rose eight per cent last year. The average school district is spending $435 on each elementary pupil.

LONG ON DEFICIT

Senator Russell B. Long (D., La.) says the cost of the Vietnam war may produce a $20-billion deficit in the next fiscal year unless the President increases taxes or cuts non-defense spending.

ON MISSILES

The Johnson Administration will present to Congress plans to move ahead with initial measures to offset Soviet deployment of a new missile defense system. Secretary of State Dean Rusk said the two powers are on the verge of a new and costly phase in the nuclear arms race.

TO BUILD PLANE

The government has selected Boeing to build the airframe of America's version of the supersonic transport plane (SST) and General Electric to make the engine. It is hoped the SST will be flying passengers by 1974.

EVERETT ON BUDGET

Senator Everett M. Dirksen said congressional Republicans will go along with President Johnson on a reasonable budget deficit to finance the Vietnam war. The Illinois Republican said they would take a long hard look at the Great Society programs.

ON SOCIAL SECURITY TAX

Effective January 1st to help pay for Social Security benefits and medical care for the aged. The tax rate goes from 4.2 to 4.4 per cent on each worker and employer on earnings up to $6,600.

Wagon, Eddie Ellington, Kim Cowna, Suzy Murray and Keila Walker. As faithful P-TA program watchers, we are inclined to be charitable toward children's performances in general, which are understandably stiff at times. It came as a pleasant shock to see these children earn the audience's respect as seasoned troupers whose poise was as steady as their voices. And the coziness of the Von Trapp family by the end of the play was so obviously genuine that one could almost forget that these were students in our public schools. It is not as easy for children to act like children on stage as one might think, and it was no mean achievement for the seven of them, from graceful Liesl to adorable Gretl, but they won our hearts with the heartless simlicity of childhood. Another group which made a unique contribution was the choir of nuns who, from prelude to finale, were a benign presence looking on throughout the play. The sisters Bertha, Margaretta and Sophis, portrayed vivaciously by Berta Elizarraraz, Pam Seymore and Pam St. Clair, were at once warmly human and convincingly church-

ly. Brenda Tanner carried a very demanding role, both vocally and dramatically, with a serenity befitting a Mother Superior. The Acappella passages were very well-done, and the artistically exacting Gregorian choruses sung without benefit of instrumental accompaniment require a fine sense of both pitch and timing on the part of the performers. It should be said to the credit of choir director Leasel Richardson that all groups who sang were remarkably well-synchronized. The remaining group is often taken for granted, but it is this group which holds the power of fluid movement over the entire performance; the pit orchestra. Under the capable baton of Bob Breckenridge, they painted with music the background of sound which blended so agreeably with the work of the talented and imaginative scenarists to technical director Elizabeth Black. Supporting roles sometimes teeter between the extremes of obscurity and outright scene-stealing, though a nice balance was struck in this performance. Comic character Max Detwiler takes the harsh edge off the repeated appearance of Nazi uniforms in the latter part of the play and John Guley wore the role as naturally as one wears a favorite pair of slippers. Sharron Hutton was a stunningly convincing Elsa Schraeder, Betty Harvin did a very brisk and businesslike Frau Schmidt, and Jerry Haskins carried the role of Franz with true butler's aplomb. The combined talents of directors Kerry Moore, Bob Breckenridge, Leasel Richardson, and Mrs. Elizabeth Black were very tastefully blended by the entire cast into a very well-knit, production.

and use of grain sorghum, necessitates these meetings. In outlining the program of discussions GSPA heads plan to point out some of the problems facing the sorghum producers and how, when and why action should be taken. They also stress that your views are important and will affect the future of the program.

"Congress passed and the Secretary of Agriculture announced the feed grain program to 'Maintain Farm Income.' Now Freeman and the USDA admit that 1967 National farm income will be down 5 to 7 percent mostly because of loss of income by feed grain producers through loss of dicerion payments by ASCA, GSPA heads said.

Fourteen of the 35 House Agriculture Committee members will not be back in congress next year. Many new members know little about agriculture or ag-program. Yet they will pass law affecting both. How can GSPA help educate them on agriculture and let them know what sorghum is?

"Farmers will lose part of their 7 percent exemption on investment credit, it was further stated. Is this GSPA's concern?

"Farm equipment and implement manufacturers have announced 'Substantial' price increase in new machinery. Is "Fifteen to eighteen million acres of corn and sorghum will be planted in 1967 more than 1966. Is there enough seed? At what price.

"What about markets and outlets for this new increased production? At what price? Where stored and at whose expense?"

These are the statements of problems GSPA states faces them and question for discussion at the meeting. W. B. Little is president of the local group.

ed here to face those charges and jail break charges.

DeLeon was arrested at Jourdanton, Texas for the murder of a constable on the same date, one year later, June 14, 1965 and later handed a 99-year sentence there. The constable was unarmed when DeLeon shot him, reports show.

Escape was nothing new for DeLeon, as at the time of his arrest in the Needmore shooting death he was an escapee from Wisconsin where he was serving a term for molesting a child. This escape was made September 9, 1959.

The Needmore shooting took place at the DeLeon home following a family argument about the group going to Littlefield. During the argument, DeLeon went to his car, according to witnesses, where he kept a 22 caliber gun, returned to the house and fired once. The bullet struck Robles in the temple and he died two hours later in a local hospital.

At the time of his escape here, he was being held without bond after the shooting.

SHORTAGE OF FUNDS STOPS '66 SEASON

NEW YORK (AP) — The Actors Studio has cancelled plans to resume production of plays for Broadway this season because of shortage of funds.

The Studio's producing unit was launched in 1963 with a capitalization of $500,000. Five shows were presented but had only limited boxoffice success.

Plans call for raising $1-million for a repertory schedule during the 1967-'68 season.

Radiography Short Course Being Offered

COLLEGE STATION-Recent high school graduates training course to prepare for good paying jobs might consider industrial radiography.

Texas A&M's Engineering Extension Service launches its looking for a relatively short third 16-week school for industrial radiographers Feb. 6 at the A&M Research Annex.
Twenty graduates of earlier school's go to copy chief instructor. Employment opportunities are expected to increase steadily in space technology and other fields, he noted.

Industrial radiography is essentially a non-destructive method of testing valuable in maintaining quality control and production costs. X-ray and gamma ray equipment operation are stressed in A&M's $25,000 laboratory. Both are photographic processes which depict flaws in metals and materials.
Aircraft, missile, shipbuilding and foundry industries are among the largest employers of industrial radiographers. Plastics and ceramics firms also are expanding use of industrial radiography.

Adding to classroom and laboratory work at A&M are field trips to industrial plants in the Houston area.

Graduates of the school can be licensed by the Texas Department of Health to do radio-graphic work.

PFC Mike Williams

Am I Bound?

by P. F. C. Mike Williams

Am I bound, to go to war, to live or die, in some far land?

Am I bound, to maybe die, for someone's cause, for someone's land?

Or am I bound, to stay at home,
to live alone, not give a hand?

No! I am bound by this great land, to go and fight, to give a hand.

I am bound, by freedoms hand, to go and fight for someone's land.

I am bound, by God's command, to live my life in foreign land.

I am bound, by that command to leave my home, to leave my land.

I am bound by my mind, to give my all for God's demand.

(Editors note: The above poem was written by this young serviceman, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Williams, who arrived home Dec. 17 for the holidays and reported back to duty January 1. He is in the Security branch of the U. S. Army.

Mike is a Muleshoe high school graduate and entered the Army June 15, 1966).

All Lazbuddie district and community men are urged to join the club by contacting any officer. The group is affiliated with the Lazbuddie Future Farmers of America.

color scheme around one outstanding fabric." "Choose a striking print that will coordinate easily with the rest of the decor. Make sure the fabric colors and pattern will set the mood you want for the room."

"Many new decorator fabrics are inexpensive, yet well designed. So if you aren't sure of yourself when it comes to choosing a color scheme, you can follow the fabric designer's lead."

Plan your decor around the colors in the fabric. For instance, select one pretty cotton print for curtains or slipcovers. Use the predominant background color in the print for walls and rugs, the largest room areas.

Choose two or three of the other colors in the fabric, and repeat them in chair covers, painted tables, or other room furnishings. The print may have small touches of a vivid accent color, like red, electric blue, even white. You can pick up this accent color in small accessories - pillows, flowers, or lamps.

Note to new brides: if you are planning to use full-size tablecloths at any time, make sure you have a "silence cloth" or a pad to go underneath.

What Alcohol Does to Brain

AUSTIN, TEX. - What does alcohol do to the brain? The Texas Safety Association says: First, it depresses the area of higher functions, which includes judgment and social restraint. Next, it attacks the simple motor functions -- reaction time and vision. Balance, coordination and sensory perception are the next faculties to be impaired. Concentrated drinking will eventually lead to stupor, coma, and even (if continued steadily) death! Studies show drivers do not have the judgment and reflexes to perform the mechanical functions of driving safely -- even after a few drinks. If you drink... don't drive!
