NORMAN VINCENT PEAL

Rumor Starting Is Hazardous Pastime

HAVE YOU EVER THOUGHT how easy it is to start a rumor, or to pass along a false story? What begins as a rumor easily can grow into a story, which in retelling will seem just as authentic as any you can find in the history books.

At one time or another, all of us have some occasion to face the problem of righting a wrong done us or a friend by an untruth or a harmful rumor. Do you know how to handle a situation like this? Have YOU a policy on what to do about rumors?

For example, I once wrote in this column a story about a group of prominent men who supposedly had met in Chicago in 1923 and what happened to them in the years that followed. Charles M. Schwab and Samuel Insull were among those named, and the story was that the first man had died a bankrupt after living for years on borrowed money, and that the second had died a fugitive from justice in a foreign land.

THIS STORY CAME TO ME after it had been printed for years in a number of places; just recently it was retold in a current best-selling novel. Before I used it, I checked the facts as carefully as possible. I was assured that they were correct and so felt I safely could use the story to illustrate a certain point.

However, business associates of both Mr. Schwab and Mr. Insull wrote me. Mr. Schwab's friends said he never attended such a meeting and that his income in his later years was quite substantial. And a man who worked closely with Mr. Insull states that he does not believe Mr. Insull was present at a conference of this kind. I am glad to have this opportunity to refute a story inadvertently told by many people.

It is a fact, of course, that most people give little heed to false stories. They often make slight impressions. Many people read with only half an eye or hear with half an ear. For example, when a friend of mine received some publicity as a member of the jury which convicted the Communist leaders in New York, some people asked his acquaintance, "Why is he being tried as a Communist?"

HERE ARE TWO OR THREE suggestions as to what to do when somebody says something false about you or about a friend: 1. Practice being imperturbable. Don't let it agitate you. I am always inclined to be philosophical. If you have lived the right kind of life and are doing the right things, it cannot hurt you in the long run. I always have gotten a great deal of comfort from an old German proverb which says, "A lie cannot run very far—its legs are too short."

2. If a false story is being circulated about a friend or a loved one, you should consider whether protesting the story won't serve to give it more publicity. Perhaps if you and his other friends pay no attention, it will fall of its own weight. However, after prayerful thought it might be well to speak a calm word of refutation to sensible and thoughtful people.

3. PERHAPS THE BEST POLICY for all of us is never to pass along a story that has any unkindness in it, whether true or false. Always give everybody the benefit of the doubt. There is a tendency in all of us to gossip. Simply be careful not to fall into this sin, for anything that is destructive to another human personality surely must be considered sinful.

Three Men Die, Two Hurt As Trucks Hit

LUBBOCK (AP)—Three men were killed Saturday when two pickup trucks smashed head-on about two miles east of Snyer in Hockley County west of here. They were: O. E. Zubank, 35, of Idalou, driver of one of the trucks; K. R. Claborn, Lorenzo, a passenger with Zubank; and Jack Hardin, 30, Munday. The driver of the other truck, Edward Hardin, father of Jack Hardin, received minor injuries. Another son, Johnny Hardin, 13, was injured critically. Loney May of Idalou, riding with Zubank, was injured seriously.

Korean Truce Said Possible Within Hours

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The United Nations and the Communists were believed Sunday to have reached general agreement on a Korean armistice and an announcement was expected at any moment, possibly within 24 hours. All that was believed to remain before an actual truce signing was an agreement on minor details and a working out of mechanical details on the exchange of prisoners of war.

While they met, tension and expectancy in Panmunjom built up to a new height. The consensus among observers at Panmunjom was that "this is it." Simultaneously South Korea pulled out completely from the Panmunjom negotiations and the last few officers who had been attached to the Allied staff boycotted the meeting. In Seoul, a South Korean National Assembly delegation Sunday declared that the present truce proposal "would merely make a story inadvertently told by many people. Certainly the loyalty of the people who have come to the defense of this magazine speaks well of both these men."

It is a fact, of course, that most people give little heed to false stories. They often make slight impressions. Many people read with only half an eye or hear with half an ear. For example, when a friend of mine received some publicity as a member of the jury which convicted the Communist leaders in New York, some people asked his acquaintance, "Why is he being tried as a Communist?"

Seventh Community Survey Winner Has Definite System

"Personally, I always enjoy reading ads," the smiling Midland housewife said, "but I don't enjoy them if they're crowded and jumbled looking." Then she grinned as she handed her $40 check for being first-place winner of The Reporter-Telegram's community advertising survey. "If they'll just keep the ads neat and not crowded with everything and anything, it really doesn't make too much difference whether they're medium or large sized ads," Mrs. Morris A. Horne, Gulf Tank Farm, continued. "And, certainly, the ads ought to carry the prices. How are the readers to know at which price range the ads are aimed? The price almost always will sell the goods." The seventh-week winner, who taught school eight years before her marriage, holds a bachelor of science degree from Hardin-Simmons University and a master of science from North Texas State College. Her specialty is home economics, and she's been putting that specialty to work since she gave up teaching for on-the-scene duty in her home. Her four-year-old son, Gary, spends a lot of time putting

HE'LL TRY AGAIN HERE SUNDAY—Casey Tibbs, world champion saddle bronc rider, takes another try Sunday night at Super Chief, Lightning C Ranch bronc which never has been ridden. Sundown Teacher Guilty, Gets Suspended Sentence

LEVELLAND (AP)—Jack Killingsworth, Sundown school teacher, Saturday night was convicted of murder with malice and a district court jury assessed a five-year suspended sentence. He was accused of calling a fellow schoolteacher, Richard McChristial, from a murder play rehearsal and shooting him. Killingsworth's wife testified that her husband "just went crazy" and she had told him of having sexual relations with McChristial, a close friend of her husband. The jury was out four hours and five minutes. Killingsworth accepted the sentence. His attorneys will not appeal.

"I appreciate it more than you'll ever know," she told him. "It's all over now. You've done your part." As she left the courthouse where she had listened to her husband's secret relations with Mrs. Killingsworth. (Continued On Page Ten)

Now Dieting Is Painless Old-style, "hard-way" dieting is a thing of the past! McMillen Water Fills City Mains Water from McMillen Field Saturday was flowing steadily into the city's water distribution system. Water and Sewer Engineer Henry Nunn said the job of flushing out the new 30-inch supply line was completed Friday. Ironically, the new supply was tied to the city's system at a time when it was not needed particularly. Nunn reported that the heavy rain Thursday night reduced the demand and only 8,200,000 gallons were consumed on Friday.

State Asks For Bids On Big Spring Street Underpass, Highway Widening

Bids on two major highway construction projects in Midland County were asked Saturday by the State Highway Department as the City of Midland prepared to submit an application for the widening of Florida Avenue from Big Spring Street east to the city limits. Bids will be opened June 16 and 17 on the construction of the Big Spring Street underpass and the widening of the Andrews Highway from the city limits to the Ector County line. Work is expected to begin within a few days after the bids are opened in Austin. The formal announcement of the bid openings came as the city prepared to begin engineering work preliminary to asking the state to widen and pave the Florida Street route, which carries a heavy volume of traffic to the Garden City Highway. City Manager W. E. Oswald told City Council members Thursday afternoon the state had indicated willingness to proceed with the project, if the city will make the proper application. The engineering studies will be made, first, to determine if a storm sewer will be necessary before the highway project can be undertaken. Meanwhile, initial work was underway on work preliminary to the widening of North Big Spring Street from Texas Street to the Midland Draw. This work includes the construction of a storm sewer along six blocks of the route. The city last week put up the plans of the cost of constructing the curb and gutters between Texas and Louisiana Streets. Property owners from Louisiana Street on to George Street will pay the curb and gutter costs on an assessment basis, while the state will bear the actual paving cost. County commissioners were marking time on the proposed widening of U. S. Highway 80 east to the Martin County line. A $350,000 bond issue will be sold June 23 and proceeds will be used to purchase right-of-way needed for widening East Highway 80 into a four-lane divided highway. Top Program On Tap Here Sunday Night

America's greatest cowboys headed down the glory trail Sunday toward the final show of the 19th Annual World Championship Midland Rodeo. In spite of threatening weather, more than 6,000 cheering fans turned out Saturday night for the performance which set the stage for the championship finale. In that fourth performance, they saw the boys set a fast pace to equal the action of the three previous nights.

Comin' Outta Chute No. 3

South Dakotan Casey Tibbs is a man of confidence. The 23-year-old cowpoke never has displayed any shortage of courage. And he won't hesitate to climb atop the meanest saddle bronc of them all, super-charged Super Chief, here Sunday night. Producer Everett Colborn, plain spoken and a bitter enemy of the hotshot, dishonest promoter, declared Saturday "It's not a put-up job." Casey said he'd like to try Super Chief a third time. The 30-year veteran of the rodeo world assured, "This may be it. Maybe Super Chief finally will find his equal."

Colborn looks back over his three decades of rodeoing and believes Byron Hendricks has "the greatest act in the world." "Just look at that," and the 60-year-old producer points into the arena. Hendricks was reading for the twin horse jump. Bridles had been removed from the jumper, they should try it," Colborn stroked his chin, emphasizing his deep conviction. "Not only does he have to balance himself perfectly, but he has the added burden of controlling the horses." The term "day money" has become a term of confusion. Back before the list of contestants swelled to present proportions, all of the performers competed in a single show. This determined "day champions." Now that it has become necessary to carry go-arounds into a second day before all contestants get a (Continued On Page 10)

Five Persons Hurt When Autos Crash East Of Midland

Five persons were injured Saturday night when an automobile containing two couples headed homeward from the Midland Rodeo collided with another vehicle eight miles east of Midland on U. S. Highway 80. Injured were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wilson of Lamesa, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wilson of O'Donnell and Thomas A. Allen of Odessa. Most seriously injured was Mrs. Raymond Wilson who was sitting in the front seat with her husband, who was driving the car. They were taken to Midland Memorial Hospital for treatment of leg and head injuries. Treated at Western Clinic-Hospital were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wilson, both of whom suffered head and chest injuries. The other injured person, Allen, apparently was in the second automobile, although immediate details of the accident were not available. Allen was not believed hurt seriously.

Taft Says Truce Could Cut U. S. Spending Two Billions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said Saturday a Korean truce might save the U. S. two billion dollars yearly in war costs but probably would not permit the withdrawal of any American troops until there is a "permanent peace" agreement.

Chairman Wiley (R-Wis.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee agreed with Taft that U. S. troops can't be withdrawn from Korea in the event of a truce. The Wisconsin senator said in a separate interview, however, that rotation of the U. S. troops there should be continued and stepped up.

Wiley said he hopes some agreements can be made so that size of the United Nations forces will balance those of the Communists, as assurance against the possibility of a truce-breached peace attack.

Soviet Trickery Feared

Taft, the Senate's majority leader, called anew for a military alliance in the Pacific with Britain, France and other Allies as Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) voiced fear of Russian trickery if an armistice is obtained.

"Any truce in Korea will be just a temporary lull until the Communists strengthen themselves," McCarthy said in a separate interview.

"Anyone who thinks the Russians are looking for permanent peace would be awfully naive. We should keep our powder dry until the Communist half of the world falls or our half of the world falls," Taft said he had not been briefed on the progress of truce negotiations but believed if any armistice is reached the U. S. will keep its military strength intact in Korea while subsequent peace terms are discussed. He said this action makes a mutual defense pact proposed to the United States by the Republic of Korea only "a hypothetical question."

Savings On Ammunition

The mere halting of active war should permit a reduction of about two billion dollars a year in U. S. military spending, because naval action would be limited and ammunition conserved, he said.

Taft said such a saving in expenditures would help a great deal in efforts to reduce the size of the federal deficit the Eisenhower Administration has conceded will be run up in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The Ohioan said he didn't think the prospective expense cut should be employed in Congress in an effort to hurry tax reductions. He said he thinks the Senate is willing to go along with President Eisenhower's recommendation for a six-month extension of the excess profits tax, but doesn't know what the House will do.

NEW YORK (AP)—Gerald Duffy is a calm man.

When he woke at dawn he found his States Island apartment filled with smoke. He called firemen and then despite his 50 years jumped two stories to the lawn. Firemen found him bruised and shaken up. They put out the small fire in a living room sofa, picked up their hoses and looked around for Duffy.

He was back in bed, asleep.

Close-ups and Longshots: Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz, who made coast-to-coast headlines with their "television" baby, are now going to play newswomen—and there may be coast-to-coast howls from wide fans.

The stars go to MGM next month for a theater movie version of the book, "The Long Triller," but the studio has rewritten the plot. Instead of a middle-aged married couple trying to get away from it all, the movie version will have Lucille and Desi playing newswomen.

Maybe I'm wrong, but I believe the charm of Lucy and Desi on TV is the fact that they've been married long enough to know each other's failings.

The four notes over their business affairs have cost the Andrews Sisters $75,000 in bookings during the last three months. Unless there's a peace-pipe-smoking session soon, the act will be broken up.

Van Johnson has made the big decision—he won't re-sign with MGM in the Fall. His future career blueprints include movies as a free-lance star, a big fling in television, and theater personal appearances with his singing and dancing act.

In the original script she was worth $65,000,000, but the completed film establishes her bankroll as $37,000,000. General deflation in Hollywood, no doubt.

Hero's Life Is Different! Every Day Proves His Day

By TRACY FLIER
Reporter-Telegram Staff

Every dog must have his day, or night, and "Hero," a German shepherd movie, television and rodeo actor, trained, owned and shown by Byron Hendricks of Hollywood, Calif., has been having his every night this week at the 19th Annual World Championship Midland Rodeo.

To the delight of thousands of rodeo fans Hero does tricks that the most agile humans would shy away from like balancing on a horizontally suspended strip of leather on all four feet. After this stunt he clamors up a foot ladder, steps out on another narrow strip and balances there on two feet.

As far as is known Hero is "the only dog who assumes a sitting position with front paws in the air on a galloping horse and stays there while the horse goes around a ring. It took Hendricks three months to perfect this stunt.

Hendricks is presently using five dogs in his dog act and all are schooled thoroughly on what they are supposed to do when commands are given. All of the dogs ride horseback and the three German shepherds even ride three on a horse.

A nimble little wire-haired terrier provides an added attraction when he mounts a running horse. The method used is to have one of the German shepherds run alongside the horse to provide a "step" for the terrier. After the pint-size canine is on the horse's back, the shepherd then mounts the running horse and allows the terrier to climb on his back, piggy-back style—all while the horse is in motion.

The animal trainer said that the hardest tricks to train were the ones in which Hero sits on the galloping horse and what he calls "working Hero from a distance." In this last phase various commands such as face right, face left, turn right and go, turn left and go, back up and so on. Calling the commands from a distance is used mostly for movie and television work, he says.

Demonstrating these "distance" tricks in Chicago, Hendricks commanded Hero over the loud speaker system out of sight of the dog.

Hendricks says that the three-year-old Hero can perform 35 different tricks. The dogs are used in numerous tricks in the 10-minute rodeo act.

One of the most interesting stunts is the one in which four of the dogs play a game of leap-frog, with each dog peeling off the end in his turn and hurdling the others, demonstrating teamwork.

One of Hendricks' dogs, a black clownish poodle, is a real scene stealer when he gets up on his two front feet and walks around the arena. He does other roughish tricks and they'll be seen at Sunday night's final rodeo show.

Under the direction of Warrant Officer Joseph Carter, the band is comprised of 28 musicians.

Meanwhile, Stafford pointed out, the Pecos Junior Chamber of Commerce announced the first float for the parade. The JayCees also announced the sponsorship of a dance July 3 and 4 with Hank Thompson providing the music.

Final plans are almost ready for the three big booster trips before the Rodeo. The first, going through Lubbock, is slated for June 11 and 12; the trip through San Angelo is set for June 18 and 19 and the trip to El Paso is scheduled for June 25 and 26.

One Dead, Three Missing As Two Giant Tankers Crash, Burn, Sink

WILMINGTON, DEL. —(AP)— Two giant oil carriers—one of them among the largest of America's seagoing tank ships—smashed together Saturday in Delaware Bay.

Explosions and fire rocked the two vessels. Most of the 86 crewmen leaped from the flaming vessel into the oil-slicked water.

Coast Guardsmen, Army Engineers and private citizens, using everything from rowboats to cabin cruisers, pulled 22 from the water alive. Many of the survivors were burned or injured slightly.

The Red Cross said one other man died and three are missing. A tiny Army Engineers' patrol boat picked up 50 survivors. Some of the others swam ashore.

The dead crewman, Joseph Donnelly, 45, of Marcus Hook, Pa., had been on his first trip aboard the 24,000-ton Phoenix.

The 11,081-ton Pan Massachusetts, inbound for Philadelphia from Houston with 150,000 barrels of high octane gasoline, sliced into the empty Phoenix 40 miles south of Philadelphia, where the river is two miles wide. Survivors blamed confusion over whistle signals as the cause of the crash.

The Phoenix drifted to a point about a half-mile off the shore, burned and sank to the muddy bottom. The ship had a capacity of more than nine million gallons of oil.

A city block away, the Pan Massachusetts lay with her main deck sunk almost to the level and her hull close to or on the bottom.

F. L. Judson, port engineer of the National Bulk Carriers, Inc., of New York, said both ships, estimated damage at six million dollars to each ship. He said both were totally destroyed, but declined to comment on the cause of the crash.

Confusion Over Signals

Crewmen of the ships, talking with newsmen in the Red Cross building in Wilmington, indicated confusion over whistle signals and whether the Phoenix was to pass the Pan Massachusetts on the right or left side as the cause of the collision.

The crash came shortly after midnight on a clear Summer night, just as most residents were going to bed along the Delaware and New Jersey shores of the river.

Shaken out of bed by the explosions, many of them set out in boats to aid the survivors. The intense heat of the flames and the heavy cloud of smoke blotted out the sky. As the survivors were hauled from the water and brought ashore, housewives, the Red Cross and the Salvation Army were on hand with hot coffee, blankets and dry clothing.

Twisted Hunks Of Steel

Coast Guard fire vessels poured water into the ships, but the fires continued, reducing the wreckage to twisted hunks of steel.

The Pan Massachusetts carried a crew of 41 under the command of Capt. Reginald C. Gross, 53, of Houston. He suffered second degree burns. The captain of the Phoenix, Gustave A. Japachen, 53, of Langhorne, Pa., was admitted to St. Francis Hospital, Wilmington, seriously burned. His crew totaled 45.

Most of the crewmen were in their bunks when the collision happened. Burdette Williams, 60, of Millford, Conn., a third assistant engineer on the Phoenix, said it was impossible to use the lifeboats "because of the fire and smoke. Two of them were burning like tinder boxes."

The chief engineer ordered the men to jump. Williams said, "and jump we did. The water seemed hot and cold at the same time. The wind was blowing the smoke from us and heads were bobbing all around."

Maurice Hieber, 26, of Tulsa, Okla., was the lookout on the Pan Massachusetts. He said, "Flames were sweeping back from the bow of the ship. We got one lifeboat lowered. The captain and mate told us to go over the side. We put on life jackets and jumped."

Army Band To Play In Parade At Pecos; Booster Trips Set

PECOS — Highlighting the July 2 "West of the Pecos Rodeo" parade will be the 62nd Army Band from Fort Bliss, parade chairman Glen Stafford announced.

Under the direction of Warrant Officer Joseph Carter, the band is comprised of 28 musicians.

Meanwhile, Stafford pointed out, the Pecos Junior Chamber of Commerce announced the first float for the parade. The JayCees also announced the sponsorship of a dance July 3 and 4 with Hank Thompson providing the music.

Efforts To Encourage U. S. Investments Overseas Fail

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A House subcommittee reported Saturday that eight government agencies have failed to stimulate needed American investments in Europe and Asia. It termed some of their efforts "disappointing."

But the group added, private capital can be encouraged to supply the dollars now given Allied countries through government aid, if offered the incentives that business and Administration leaders agree they should have.

ed to grant tax benefits, guarantee investments against foreign confiscation and negotiate trade treaties, the report said.

The House foreign affairs subcommittee said it only was reporting the combined opinions of business and Administration witnesses who have been testifying on the problem.

Bull Riders Fly Into Air In Fast Friday Night Show

Some 7,000 rodeo fans buzzed nervously, watched the skies awhile and then settled down Friday night to feel "perfect show weather" and watch champion and near-champion cowboys and arena stock alps through their fastest performance of the 19th Annual World Championship Midland Rodeo.

Excitement and laughs came from the wild cow milking contest, won by Max Reed of Midland, with 33.1 seconds. He was flanked by C. C. Evans of Dublin with 31.2 seconds and Monroe Turmlinson of Santa Rose, N. M., and Doyle Cobble of Fort Worth, both listing 30.2 seconds.

Investors, he added, stayed out of other countries through fear of war, upheaval and possible nationalization, and also because American opportunities were more attractive.

Other minor mishaps (normal in rodeo circles) plagued the riders—but the biggest trouble (also normal) seemed to be staying on once the rider got planted on the not-so-patient back of his barback or saddle-bone or his angry bull.

Queen Bess Knights British Conquerors Of Himalayan Peak

LONDON—(AP)—Queen Elizabeth II Sunday awarded knighthoods to Col. John Hunt and Edmund Hillary for the conquest of Mt. Everest on the eve of her coronation.

She expressed hope also of honoring in some way their famed Nepalese guide, Tensing Norgay.

Hunt directed the successful assault by a 16-man British expedition on the 29,002-foot Himalayan peak which had foiled 11 climbing teams since 1921.

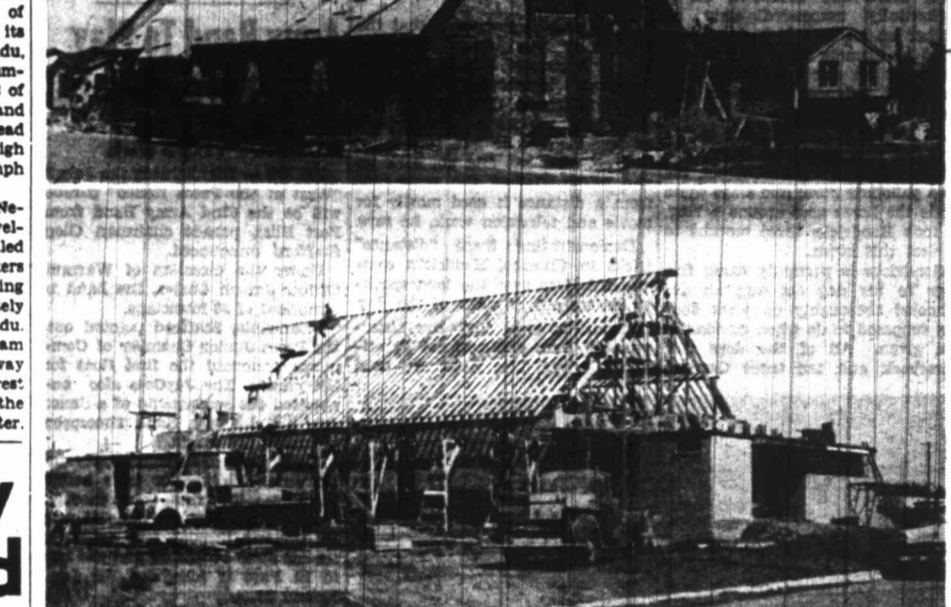

Hillary is a 34-year-old New Zealander who, with Tensing, 39, planted the Union Jack on the summit May 29.

The expedition presumably now is working its way down from the icy, wind-swept upper reaches of Everest toward base camps at its foot. Reports reached Katmandu, Nepal's capital, that a record number of nine Britons and 17 or 18 of Tensing's sherpas (porters and guides) had climbed to the head of the mountain's 28,000-foot high south pass before the final triumph of Hillary and Tensing.

British Embassy officials in Nepal, preparing a mammoth welcome for the expedition, revealed Hunt has asked his London backers to arrange for Hillary and Tensing to be flown to Britain immediately upon their arrival at Katmandu.

The advance members of the team are expected to make their way over the rough trails from Everest to Katmandu in a week and the remainder a week or 10 days later.

CHURCHES NEAR COMPLETION—Three Midland church projects costing an estimated total of $1,402,800 are entering the final phases of construction. Education wings of the $1,250,000 First Baptist Church (top) at Garfield and West Louisiana Streets are due to open in September, with auditorium construction to end around Jan. 1, 1954. The Rev. Vernon Yearby, pastor, says the members anticipate having the church paid for by the time it is completed. Then, members of St. Marks Methodist Church are looking to a July completion date for their $72,800 structure (middle) at 1701 North Main. Pastor of the church is the Rev. J. B. Sharp. Finally, August 1 has been set as the date for doors to open at the $80,000 Church of Christ (bottom) at Jax and North Fort Worth Streets. A minister for the new church has not been selected yet. At least one other church, St. Luke's Methodist, is on the drawing board and will go under carpenters' hammers in the near future.

Taft Predicts Tough Battle, Adoption Of Air Force Cuts

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Taft (R-Ohio) Saturday predicted the Senate will uphold President Eisenhower's cutback in Air Force funds.

Even if Congress restored the entire five billion, Taft said, "It does not give you another plane during the next year."

Wilson said the Air Force could continue acquiring all combat aircraft needed for the 143 wings. He said any jets or other modern planes not needed for the regular Air Force could go to Air National Guard and organized reserve units.

Wilson and other top Air Force generals, however, publicly attacked the cutback program before the Senate Appropriations subcommittee three days last week.

Reed Unbars Door To Trade Measure

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Representative Reed (R-N.Y.) Saturday broke the bottleneck holding up a law to extend the Reciprocal Trade Act, upon Administration assurance that the bill would not be used to continue the excess profits tax.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee Saturday ordered Mutual Security Director Harold E. Stassen not to start any new aid programs until Congress has provided specific funds for them.

"At the request of the committee you are hereby advised that no further expenses are to be incurred or commitments made in connection with this program or any other new program, until specific appropriations are made for such purposes," Bridges wrote.

Such surveys in Italy and the Philippines "would require years and involve an indefinite amount of money," he said, adding: "The hope has been expressed that if MSA should finance the Damage to the warehouse and contents from the wind, which sent sheets of tin whirling through the air, has been estimated at $2,500.

NO RAIN CHECKS, NO REFUNDS—Rodeo, Like Day-To-Day Wrangling, Ignores Rain

Rodeo is a "rain or shine" event, officials of Midland Fair, Inc., declared Saturday in explaining why the second performance of Midland Rodeo continued after Thursday night's wind and rain storm at Fair Park.

The explanation also was designed to clear up a misunderstanding as to why the show was not postponed until a later date and why there were no ticket refunds.

Nothing that President Eisenhower has analyzed and approved the new defense program, including the Air Force, Wilson said.

Rodeo is a contest and not an exhibition, they explained. In the case of Midland Rodeo, it is a five-show contest. The contestants, most of whom travel on tight schedules, pay their fees and enter the various events on a five-show basis. To call off or postpone a single show would disrupt the entire contest schedule.

Officials of Midland Fair, Inc., had no choice but to continue the Thursday night performance. And the cash customers who stayed for the show following the storm saw one of the best and fastest performances of the rodeo. The show went on when he rain stopped and refunds, therefore, were not in order.

"We regret the whole thing," a spokesman for the rodeo officials said. "It was an act of God and we surely had no control there."

It was pointed out that most of the professional rodeo contestants compete in one show after another during the rodeo season. Most of those competing here arrived in Midland the day the rodeo opened, after competing in shows elsewhere. And most of them will depart soon after the final performance Sunday night to enter other rodeos opening the first of this week.

"That is why there are no postponed performances of rain-checks in rodeo," the rodeo boys explained.

Cowboys are used to working in all kinds of weather and they do not complain when they have to ride broncos, rope calves or bulldog steers in the rain and mud. It is a part of the game.

Rules and regulations for staging a professional rodeo are established by the Rodeo Cowboys Association, which also must approve the dates, purses, prizes and events, for a big-time show, such as Midland Rodeo.

Sailor, Companions Arrested On Automobile Theft Charge

A 20-year-old sailor and his two 17-year-old companions were being held in Midland County jail Saturday on charges of automobile theft.

The three were arrested Friday night in Big Spring a short time after they had stolen the automobile in Midland's business district.

As if the auto theft charge was not serious enough, the three told of leaving San Diego, Calif., several days ago, holding up a Western Union office in California and stealing an automobile in New Mexico before arriving in Midland.

Their Midland troubles started a few minutes after Mrs. Olen Sweet of Colorado City parked her car in the 200 block of West Wall Street and left it there with the key in the ignition lock.

The three spotted the car, they told officers, climbed in and headed east.

Mrs. Sweet quickly reported the theft and a radio broadcast was put out.

Police Officer James Simons, who returned them from Big Spring, said their stories of the other crimes are being investigated.

Powerful bids for votes and power have been made by the Communists on the left and the violently nationalistic Fascists and Monarchists on the right.

All the 590 seats in the Chamber of Deputies and 237 of the Senate's 242 seats are at stake. The government is chosen by the majority in the Chamber of Deputies.

The pre-election favorite is Premier Alcide de Gasperi and his Pro-American coalition of Christian Democrat, Liberal, Republican and anti-Communist Socialist Parties. But the 30,348,789 eligible voters are expected to give this coalition far less than the 61.9 per cent which kept De Gasperi in office in the 1948 general election. It probably will be touch-and-go.

The 2,500,000-member Communist Party, largest outside the Iron Curtain and its ally, Pietro Nenni's Communist-line Socialists, are running separately this time. Between them they hope to better their 31 per cent of 1948 and are given a good chance to do so, despite the $2,400,000,000 in aid the United States has poured into Italy since the war.

Bidauld Slates Try To Organize French Austerity Cabinet

PARIS — (AP) — Veteran politician Georges Bidauld will go before the National Assembly this week to ask for approval to serve as head of the nineteenth postwar Cabinet of France on a platform of austerity and authority.

Bidauld, a political jack of all trades who has figured in 19 ministerial posts since the end of World War II, is the lame duck foreign minister in Premier Rene Mayer's Cabinet which fell May 21.

A member of the left-of-center Catholic Popular Republican Movement (MRP), he will bid for support from the old right-wing De Gaulle Rally of the French People (RPF). Though he will not get the support of the Socialists, observers give him a better than even chance to break the political deadlock.

Bidauld is the fifth man to be called formally to the Elysee Palace—France's White House—and asked to shoulder the arduous job of forming a government. Only two others Paul Reynaud and Pierre Mendes-France accepted. Both were rebuffed by the Assembly.

Miss Stacey reported that one family, whose home was partially destroyed, is being given Red Cross assistance while another received clothing and bedding.

Corpus Bribe Case Set In Waco Monday

WACO — (AP) — The case of Sam Sasser, Corpus Christi, charged with attempting to bribe the then mayor of Corpus Christi in January, 1950, has been set for trial at 9 a.m. Monday.

The case was transferred to McLennan County. The indictment charges Sasser "offered to aid" former Mayor Leslie Wasserman "in arranging his personal affairs."

George Maddip, Waco, counsel for Sasser, said the charge arose from a transaction in which the City of Corpus Christi leased old property.

NOW COMES THE WORK—A violent windstorm which whipped Midland Thursday night left more than a little work to be done at companies and homes damaged or destroyed during the brief storm. # FOUR KILLED, $3,000,000 DAMAGE— Houston Seeks Tighter Law After Deadly Powder Blast

HOUSTON—(AP)—Officials, angered by an explosion which killed four persons and injured about 90, moved Saturday to prohibit the storage of fireworks in Houston.

Mayor Roy Hofheins and several city councilmen said they were unaware such storage was permissible until more than 40,000 pounds of fireworks exploded at mid-afternoon Friday.

Only two men were in the fireworks warehouse and both escaped with minor injuries, running outside as soon as a spark touched off a blast that resulted in the explosion.

The explosion smashed almost everything in the block surrounding the warehouse. At least a dozen homes were damaged. Other homes spaced openly, their windows shattered, roofs stripped and sides sheared away.

Like Atom Bomb

Police, newspapers and radio stations received numerous telephone calls asking if Houston had been struck by an atomic bomb. Hofheins admitted his demand for an ordinance "with teeth in it" was being made a bit late.

"The horse is already out of the barn," he said. "It is ridiculous that shooting of Roman candles inside the city is illegal but that storing of 30 tons of fireworks is not."

Fire Marshall P. W. Clooney said the Alco Fireworks and Specialty Company did not have a permit for the warehouse which blew up.

The blast wrecked several other business firms and numerous houses in the vicinity, two miles west of downtown Houston. Several houses a quarter of a mile from the explosion site caught fire. Window glass was shattered two miles away.

"At a minimum this should be a loss of three million dollars," Police Chief L. D. Morrison said.

Red Cross officials said 35 families were displaced by the blast and 99. They said 34 houses were destroyed. Ninety-six other homes were damaged, 35 of them badly.

An official investigation was headed by City Attorney Will Sears. Mothers, Children Die

District Attorney William Scott began a check of his own. He said he will be ready to take the matter before the grand jury Monday.

A $25,000 damage suit was filed by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shepherd against the fireworks company and its owner, A. M. Cohen, 38. The couple lived in an apartment near the blast scene. Their petition said Mrs. Shepherd suffered head cuts and that the explosion destroyed almost everything in the apartment and smashed their auto.

Bodies of the four persons killed, two young mothers and two small children, were found in the wreckage of a cottage 30 feet west of the warehouse. Most of the injured were in nearby homes and apartments.

Kenneth Williams, 35, Alamo general manager, said the explosion occurred after he had been driving nails in a fireworks display with a hammer.

Funeral services will be held Sunday for Mrs. John Walton, 22, and her two children, John, Jr., two, and Cathy, four. Interment will be at Hot Springs, Ark., where Mrs. Walton formerly lived.

Funeral arrangements are pending for the fourth victim, Mrs. Guernade M. Barzisa, 34, who was visiting Mrs. Walton, a neighbor, at the time of the explosion.

PART OF WINDSTORM'S TOLL—Clean-up workers survey damage to a big warehouse, 100 feet long and 50 feet wide, at Shepard Roofing Company, 1811 West South Front Street, after a windstorm Thursday night flattened it and other structures in Midland. Damage from the storm may run as high as $50,000. Loss at the roofing company was estimated at $8,000 with similar loss in contents.

Shivers Again Turns Deaf Ear To Teacher Bloc's Plea

AUSTIN—(AP)—The State Teachers Association Saturday asked Governor Shivers to call a special session of the Legislature for raising teachers' pay, and Shivers replied that "the request is further evidence that the lobby is speaking for the teachers rather than the teachers for themselves."

The association's legislative committee, in a telegram to Shivers, said such a session is necessary to solve the problem left unsolved by the 53rd Legislature.

Shivers in his reply to the teachers said:

"I acknowledge receipt of your telegram... further evidence that the lobby is speaking for the teachers rather than the teachers for themselves."

"I attempted from January to May to get you and your association to discuss teacher pay raises... I stand ready at all times to discuss the matter with any interested group, and will be glad to hear any suggestion you might have different from those expressed during the four-month legislative session just ended."

If something is not done about higher pay, the teacher shortage situation will be "extremely critical" next Fall, said H. W. Stilwell, superintendent at Texarkana and chairman of the committee.

The telegram was signed by R. L. Proffer of Denton, president of the TSTA.

Shivers has indicated he will call a special session when and if the pending natural gas pipe line tax suit is settled for the state.

The Legislature voted $600 teachers' pay raises, but put up no money to finance the increase.

Senate Group Aims Probe At Military Bungling On Money

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Senate Armed Services Committee Saturday ordered an investigation of the way the Defense Department handles money.

Chairman Saltonstall named a subcommittee composed of Senators Flanders (R-Vt.), Byrd (D-Va.) and Case (R-SD) to lead the inquiry.

Saltonstall said in a statement that the department had failed to "establish business like fiscal procedures" ordered by Congress six years ago. He said it should have been possible to save great sums of money and avoid many costly mistakes.

When Congress unified the Army, Navy and Air Force in 1947 under the new Defense Department, Saltonstall said, it accepted a provision by Senator Byrd requiring that special management or controller sections be set up in each of these agencies.

As evidence that this had not been done, Saltonstall pointed to two recent Senate investigations:

The probe of the ammunition shortage in Korea headed by Senator Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine). The inquiry group sharply criticized Army and Defense Department procurement and accounting methods.

Investigation last week of costs and methods of awarding contracts for C-119 Flying Boxcars to Kaiser-Frazer Corporation's Willow Run, Mich., plant, Senator Bridges (R-NH), who heads that inquiry, found much to criticize here.

Phony Lackland 'Doctor' Sentenced To Jail For Lying

SAN ANTONIO—(AP)—Thomas Aden Johnston, 41, has been sentenced to six months in jail for making false statements when applying for a job as a civilian medical doctor at Lackland AFB.

Johnston said he never had been arrested. Investigation proved he had been arrested twice.

Testimony showed Johnston never had received a degree in medicine. In spite of this, he had worked up to assistant chief of medical service at Lackland Hospital and was in charge of the out-patient clinic there.

During his trial last week, Johnston said he had performed all kinds of surgery and had practiced medicine 18 years. Johnston's attorney said his client obtained a certificate from a "diploma mill" in Massachusetts for $250.

IN FLIMSY NIGHTIE— Sonja Puts Yegg To Costly Flight

LONDON—(AP)—Ice star Sonja Henie, a cool customer in a crisis, sprinted barefoot down a fashionable London street in a flimsy nightgown at 4:30 a.m. Saturday in hot pursuit of burglars making off with about $30,000 worth of her wardrobe.

The burglars got away, but in their hurry jettisoned two mink creations that constituted a big part of the loot.

A few minutes before, the shapely blonde skater had snapped awake in her darkened Eaton Square apartment and found a young man starting at her from the foot of the bed.

"I screamed and jumped out of bed," Miss Henie said. "The man ran out of my bedroom into the hall, jumped over a pile of things he had taken from my closets and trunks and ran out the door."

She said he had at least one accomplice.

Miss Henie, followed by her cook, Carrie Roberts, dashed out into the street for the chase. But the two women, chilled and outdistanced, gave up after a few minutes and trotted back to the apartment to call police.

He Ran Well

Miss Henie said the man who had awakened her was dark, short and wore a double breasted black suit.

"He certainly was a good runner," she added.

She reported the loss of an Aleutian mink valued at $18,000, a mink jacket valued at $2,500, an ermine coat valued at $7,000, some gold accessories and $840 in cash. Everything was insured.

Police later found two minks, identified by Miss Henie, on top of some ashcans several hundred yards from Eaton Square.

Rockefeller Goes To Hills Where Divorce Comes Easy

LITTLE ROCK, ARK.—(AP)—Multi-millionaire Winthrop Rockefeller is moving from New York to Arkansas, his Arkansas attorney said here Saturday.

The announcement immediately gave rise to speculation that Rockefeller might be planning to seek a "quick" Arkansas divorce from his estranged wife, whom he married in 1948 after a Cinderella-like romance.

The lawyer, Edwin E. Dunaway of Little Rock and Fayetteville, declined comment on the divorce possibility.

Only a few days ago Rockefeller established a one million dollar trust fund for his blonde wife, Barbara, also known by her nickname of "Bobo."

Mrs. Rockefeller, Mrs. Barbara Sears when she married Rockefeller, was the daughter of an immigrant Lithuanian coal miner.

Last year Rockefeller established a million-dollar trust for his small son, of whom Mrs. Rockefeller has exclusive custody.

Dunaway's announcement said: "Mr. Rockefeller has oil interests in Arkansas and adjoining states and has already moved a considerable part of his business affairs to Little Rock, where he will open an office soon. He hopes to take an active part in the life of the community."

Dunaway said Rockefeller had been urged "by Arkansas friends" to make his home here.

Only 90 days residence is required in Arkansas to obtain a divorce, and the grounds are generally liberal.

Free Koreans Bleed Reds For 300 Yards Of Ground

SEOUL—(AP)—South Korean infantrymen, battling at close quarters with the eerie light of flares, early Sunday regained more than half the Eastern Front ground they lost to North Koreans Saturday.

Front line reports said the ROK troops drove the Communists back 300 yards, regrouped, and again pushed their counterattack slowly forward.

The Reds drove 500 yards into Allied territory east of Luke's Castle Saturday. The South Koreans launched their counter-offensive about 10 p.m. Saturday.

Three miles to the east, about 175 North Koreans aimed a two-pronged blow at a hill position held by the ROK's A U. S. Eighth Army briefing officer said they retreated 70 minutes later after losing 22 killed and 12 wounded.

In a smashing attack Saturday, between 750 and 1,000 North Koreans overran three South Korean outposts ahead of the main line. Then the reinforced Red battalion soaked into the line itself in four spots east of Luke's Castle.

Fighting has been almost continuous in the rugged eastern sector since Monday when the Reds got their first foothold on an outcropping ridge of Luke's Castle. By

Most Of Nation Gets Damp As Cool Air Goes Traveling

By The Associated Press

Showers and drizzle dampened vast sections of the nation Saturday.

A cool air mass across the Rockies and Northern Plains states brought drizzle and showers. Temperatures stayed in the cool 50's. A light drizzle that fell in Montana was not expected to add to the flooding of the Milk River, which forced some 2,000 persons from their homes at Havre early in the day.

Alabama was invaded by a tropical disturbance whose showers ranged into Florida, Georgia and South Carolina. Sporadic showers sprinkled the Northwest from Northern California to the Canadian border.

Summer weather with temperatures in the 80's and 90's covered the Southwest and the Atlantic states. Skies were clear to partly cloudy, bringing an occasional shower to the Atlantic area.

The Southeast was humid with temperatures in the 80's.

Partly cloudy skies with occasional rain and temperatures in the 60's prevailed through the Central Plains and Southern Great Lakes regions.

A tornado struck Brasel, Ind., a town of 8,500 about 55 miles southwest of Indianapolis, Saturday,

TWO MONTHS LATE— Detroit Police Seek Car Linked To Dallas Murder

DETROIT—(AP)—A car which disappeared from a Detroit street while police were tracing its ownership was being hunted Saturday after it was learned the vehicle had been involved in a Dallas murder.

Through a mixup, the Texas "stop" order on the car had failed to reach the Auto Recovery Bureau here. The attempt to trace its ownership was begun after police noted it had been parked in the near downtown area about two months.

The car vanished May 28, the day the query went out from here to Texas authorities.

Lt. John Edwards of the Detroit homicide division said Texas officers told him the car had belonged to the widow of a retired Dallas policeman and was taken following her murder March 8.

The pickup on the car was ordered after Mrs. Mathia Winterbauer, 54, was found dead in her Dallas home. An inquest verdict showed she was killed just after she entered the front door. Murder charges were filed against Brasil Doyle Carmichael, now listed as a deserter from Ferris AFB, Texas.

Capt. Will Fritz, head of the Dallas homicide department, said officers had found Carmichael presented himself to Mrs. Winterbauer as an orphan, with no near relatives or friends. She offered to let him stay in her home while he was in Dallas on a visit. Fritz said Carmichael last was seen driving Mrs. Winterbauer's car—several days before her body was found.

Fritz said investigation showed Carmichael was not an orphan and his parents live near Steinhatchee Fla.

SPORTS PARLEY

By CHARLEY ESKEW

Fluid Harold Webb, who kept bobbing up, went under for the third time in the Longhorn League—drowned in the forseen deluge of red ink.

Not that hefty Harold, the clown prince of our Class C managers, didn't try. He did. Unlike most who give up a fight, Webb, twice in and out as a Midland owner in years past, made the rounds in search of ballplayers and battled low attendance from two corners, Lamesa and Ballinger, this time. As he took the count—when 100 Ballinger citizens formed Friday in a group meet to pronounce the kayo—Prince Harold tossed in two towels this season, thus to become a farmer once again in Cleburne.

Where Next For Loop Class D?

He will, perhaps, be grubbing potatoes before the current mess is straightened out. But, even under the eyes of the spuds, as well as Longhorn partisans, laugh-a-minute Webb proved he was a man of destiny, good or bad, for the Class C loop. The best progress he helped bring it stands erased as he leaves.

The circuit, retarded because no strong eight towns can support it, may summarily become a Class

D league again. That's a possibility, for the future. Ballinger, attending the wake of its three-day-old Eagles, pronounced Webb an outstanding gentleman who, they wished, would bring them a ball club of Class D variety.

Other clubs, too, have cried over expenses this season, a lack of attendance, etc. And what do you do in a case of such walkies? You don't allow the league to fold, you place it back where the ways and means fit the budget.

Present Problem Is Big Enough

Stepping down to D, such as the league was in its opening year, 1947, is not a popular thought. No one wants to, but believe me you, that appears about the only way to find enough towns in West Texas to support an eight-team circuit. Nothing else, short of realignment with the West Texas-New Mexico League, seems feasible.

That, however, is something for the future. First the league has to live over its present pain. League owners and President Hal Sayles convene in Midland Monday to seek a cure for its ills.

Finish with seven clubs, or six.

If Six Play, Who'll Take Year Off?

In case a team is asked to withdraw for the season, the natural target would be the latest entry Carlsbad—a move, if made, that would compare with robbing Peter to pay Paul. The Potashers happen to be the best set financially and at the gate of any club. The loop wouldn't tear the seams from its own purse.

Artesia perhaps owns the most expensive ball club and wouldn't want to suspend. Roswell, Odessa and Midland have their pride and their prospects and, though attendance lags slightly, consider themselves tremendous assets to the loop. San Angelo is a must, like Carlsbad. Big Spring, hurtling in gate and lagging in material, is ably backed by oil money. So what choice does the league have? Continuing with seven?

That would hurt everyone. The league might as well support Webb's team as a road unit, for every place the Ballinger club is scheduled to appear, the home team gets a series layoff. Expenses would mount, therefore, with no revenue to ally it.

Someone might suggest keeping Webb going!

Davis Barely Misses World High Jump Mark Measurement After Meet Ruins Record

ABILENE —(P)— Walter Davis, Olympics high jump champion, missed the world's record by a sixteenth of an inch Saturday night as he leaped six feet, 10 15/16 inches in an exhibition that featured the National Intercollegiate (NAIA) track and field meet.

The bar was at six feet, 11 1/4 inches when he cleared it and that was a quarter of an inch better than the world's record. But after the meet was over, the take-off area was measured and found to be five-sixteenths of an inch too high. So officially his jump was six feet, 10 15/16 inches.

However, even if he had bettered the world's record it wouldn't have counted as it was only an exhibition and a record can't be established unless it is in competition in a regular meet.

His great leap overshadowed a record-breaking NAIA meet in which South Dakota State won the championship with 48 points, dethroning Abilene Christian, which finished second with 42. San Diego State was third with 40 and Texas Southern fourth with 27.

The crowd of 3,500 saw two of that's the current problem. Charles Holding, the East Texas State star, had just jumped 6 feet, 9 3/4 inches to set a new NAIA record. Davis said: "I wish I'd stayed home." But he set to it, eased up to the magic heights and went over the bar on his second jump.

Another highlight of the meet was a throw of 164 feet, 11 3/4 inches in the discus by Palmer Retzlaff, South Dakota State. It bettered the NAIA record set in the preliminaries Friday night by Retzlaff by three-quarters of an inch.

Here's how Texans fared in the meet:

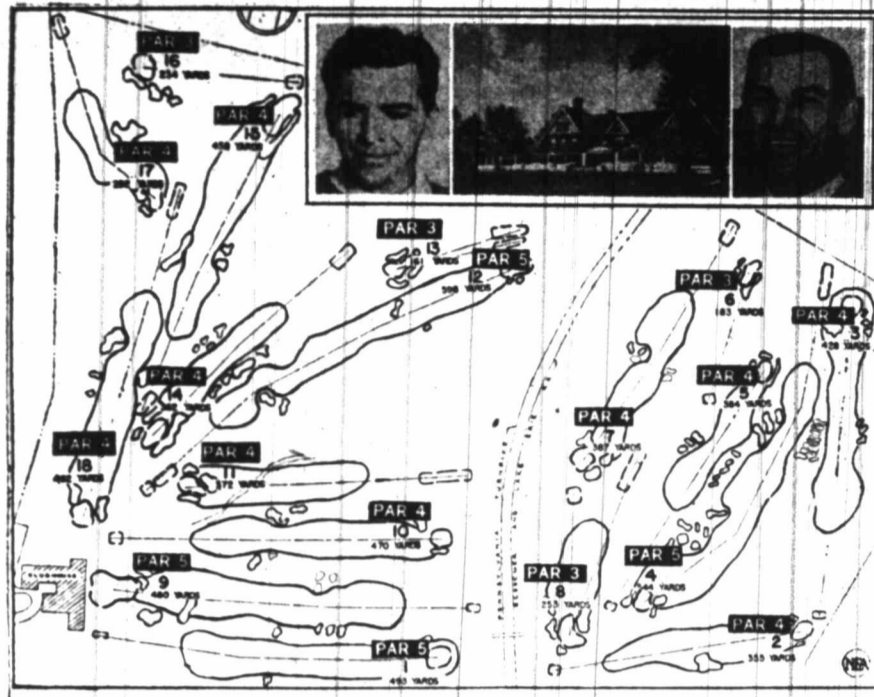

Shot put — Herbert Hall, South-west Texas State, sixth, 44-2 1/4.

440 Hurdles — Muri McCoy, Abilene Christian, third.

440 dash — George Adrian, Abilene Christian, first; Buddy Garner, Abilene Christian, third; Olen Nickelberry, Bishop College, fourth; Don Conder, Abilene Christian, fifth; Harry Williams, Texas Southern, sixth.

150-yard high hurdles — Jerry Cook, East Texas State, fourth.

100-yard dash — Theodius Bush, Texas Southern, first; Ralph Aldredge, Texas Southern, fourth.

Jacome Faces Colts Sunday As Tribe Closes Out Series

SAN ANGELO —(P)— The San Angelo Colts combined a 16-hit attack with the five-hit pitching of Bobby Gregg to defeat the Midland Indians Saturday night, 10-3.

It was the second win of the three-game series for San Angelo with the final tilt scheduled at 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

Manager Jay Haney of the Indians will use Eddie Jacome (9-3) against the Colts' Lew Lozano (4-1) or Gil Guerra (4-4).

The Colts gave Fred Smith, veteran hurler obtained by Midland from Temple of the Big State League, a rude reception to Longhorn League ball as they combed his offerings for 10 hits and nine runs in the three and one-third innings he worked. Romario Soto came on in the fourth for the second straight night and shut the door after the Colt had escaped.

The Indians scored two runs in the first inning through the generosity of Gregg who issued four walks and hit another man to force the runs across.

After this, Gregg settled down, allowing only three hits until Midland broke through for their third run in the ninth inning on a walk to Quentin Basco, and singles by Tex Stephenson, his third of the game, and Scooter Hughes.

The Colts tied the game 2-2 in the second inning on two hits and two Indian errors. The Colts took a 4-2 lead they never lost with two more in the third on a triple by John Malgarini, an error and singles by Glenn Burns and John Jeandron.

Five Colts crossed in the fourth, two of them scoring on a double by Steve Follett and two more on Burns' fourteenth homer of the year. The final San Angelo tally came off Soto in the seventh on singles by Rudy Briner, Gregg, and Charley Galina.

Every San Angelo starting player hit safely except John Tayoan who Follett getting base.

Gregg, almost as wild as he was fast, struck out 12 and walked nine in registering his sixth win against three defeats.

Moreno Fires 69, Wins Kermit Duel

KERMIT —(P)— Pint-sized Marcelino Moreno, the state Class AA school-boy champion, found a peck of trouble in a fellow townsman here Saturday but measured the Winkler County golf course for a 69 to lead the way into semi-finals of its annual invitational.

Graham Mackey of Midland lost his effort against Moreno when he three-putted the eighteenth green. Moreno's three-under par tally proved the best score registered till now.

John Paul Cain of Sweetwater earned the medalist prize Friday with a 70. Dan Martin totaled 828 yards with three hits to win the driving contest.

In Sunday's action, with two rounds forthcoming, Moreno tackles Doc Branson of Hobbs and Bob Hellinghausen of Monahans faces Bob Craig of McCamey in the morning semi-finals of championship flight.

R. H. Modisett of Crane goes against Paul Campbell of Odessa and Top Davis of Kermit duels Bud Stinson of Kermit in the semi-finals of the first flight. In gaining Sunday's round, Modisett eliminated Bill Franklin of Midland, 1 up, Saturday.

Among the top fighters, par took a beating Saturday. Hellinghausen, 1952 Monahans titlist equalled the course standard in ousting Bob Pryor of Denver City, 5 and 4. Craig pulled the same stunt in beating Jack Simpson of Pecos, 3 and 1, and Branson went one-under to side-line Billy Walker of Hobbs, 2 up, all in second round matches.

The first round results: Pryor beat Cain, 5 and 4; Hellinghausen beat Roy Lockett of Midland, 5 and 4; Craig beat Curtis Allen of Kermit, 6 and 4; Simpson beat Forrest Daniel of Kermit, 3 and 1; Walker beat Ray Beville of Monahans, 3 and 2; Branson beat Jodie Barker of Kermit, 3 and 1; Moreno beat Joe Hord, of Fort Worth, 3 and 2; and Mackey beat Neil Scoonlers of Iraan, 5 and 4.

LONGHORN MEET HERE MONDAY TO DECIDE FATE

Longhorn League officials will meet at 1 p.m. Monday in Midland to determine whether the league will operate with six teams or go on with seven. The decision came as a result of the Winters-Ballinger announcement that the club is folding.

T. J. Mansell, Ballinger businessman, announced the collapse of the club Friday night. League President Hal Sayles said the franchise would not be moved to another location.

Sayles said Saturday that there are two alternatives—have one club withdraw, or play with seven teams. None of the teams want to withdraw, he said.

Should any team elect to withdraw, close sources say it will be either Odessa or Big Spring. Both are known to be losing money. The Odessa situation is critical. There is no thought of the league suspending, Sayles emphasized.

Rhodes Girls Lose Twice

Nina Hobbs, of Lubbock, one of Texas best woman pitchers, looked just that or better when she twirled two three-hit games Saturday night in stopping Midland's Harry R. Rhodes girls club, 6-1 and 8-0, in a Wadley Field Doubleheader.

The only time Midland could get on the scoreboard came in the sixth inning of the first game. In the opening tilt both Miss Hobbs and her mound opponent, Rosie Hart, fanned nine batters. The Lubbock miss struck out seven to Miss Hart's six in the nightcap.

First game: Lubbock 003 201 0-6 10 3 Rhodes 000 001 0-1 3 1 Hobbs and Williams; Hart and Davis.

Second game: Rhodes 000 00-0 3 1 Lubbock 131 02-3 3 1 Hart and Davis; Hobbs and Williams.

LONGHORN STATISTICS— Midland Trio Among Top Five

A threesome of batters, sticking to their big batting guns, are reminding Longhorn League pitchers these days of a new Murderer's row. The deadliest, of course, is Roswell's Pat Stacey who leads in percentage but two of the five, both from Midland, are knocking over hurlers with the most hits.

Art Bowland, Indian catcher, and Julio de la Torre pace league batters with 56 hits. Stacey is the commanding average man, with a .495 mark on 45 hits in 91 trips.

The top five then reads: Stacey, 452; De la Torre, 431; Joe Jackson of Carlsbad, 430; and Hayden White of Midland, 387.

Among other batting honors: Leo Mulcahy of Artesia has 17 doubles, Bill Haley of Artesia, five triples; Joe Bauman of Artesia, 19 homers, and Carroll Gholson of Carlsbad, 25 total bases and 45 r.f.'s.

Merv Connors of Carlsbad and Jackie Wilcox of Artesia each lead in runs with 46 while Odessa's Leo Eastham is the biggest thief, 13 stolen bases.

The first released figures on earned runs shows Gil Guerra of San Angelo as the stingiest pitcher, with a 1.675 mark through 85 innings.

NATIONAL LEAGUE—

Dodgers Back In Lead

BROOKLYN —(P)— Gil Hodges' three-run homer in the ninth sent Brooklyn into the National League lead Saturday with a 3-4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. It was the second homer of the day for Hodges.

Stu Miller had a four-bitter going to the ninth but he didn't get a better out in the final frame. Jackie Robinson's single and Roy Campanella's grounder that bedeviled over Solly Hemus's head for a single set it up for Hodges.

The Cardinals argued that the plate umpire missed a third strike on Hodges. Then came the home run drive that broke up the game. With Milwaukee's defeat at Philadelphia, the Dodgers moved ahead in the league race by a half-game.

Hodges hit his first homer in the second. The second Dodger run came on Robinson's triple and Campanella's single in the fourth after a three-run St. Louis spurge in the fourth.

Enos Slaughter's two-run double with the bases loaded and the score tied 1-1 was the big blow of the inning for the Cards. Lefty

Hodges

Musial

Johnny Podres retired 13 men in succession until Red Schoendienst doubled, his first of three hits, with one gone.

Stan Musial's single scored Schoendienst with the first St. Louis run. After a single by Steve Bilko and a walk to Ray Jablonski loaded the bases, Slaughter doubled to center, scoring Musial and Bilko and chasing Podres.

The score: R H E St. Louis 000 310 000-4 9 1 Brooklyn 010 100 008-5 7 1 Miller and D. Rice; Podres, Hughes, Milliken, Labine and Campanella.

Roberts Retires 15 In Row In 6-2 Win

PHILADELPHIA —(P)— Robin Roberts retired 15 batters before surrendering a hit to post his one-hundredth major league win Saturday as Philadelphia evened its series with Milwaukee, 6-2.

Second Baseman Jack Dittmer opened the sixth for the Braves with an infield single off Jack Lohrke's glove behind second base. Harry Hannebrink, hitting for Reliever Ernie Johnson, hit Roberts' first pitch over the wall to score the Braves' runs.

Before and after that the right-hander kept the Braves hitting into the ground or popping up weakly. Milwaukee 000 002 000-2 3 1 Philadelphia 200 030 01x-6 11 1 Wilson, Johnson, Jolly, Burdette and Cooper, St. Claire; Roberts and Burgess.

The all-star club was selected after Poly captured its first state baseball title Friday with a 4-1 victory over the Sandies. Harry Taylor, an all-tourney selection, picked up his second win and fanned 15 batters in the game.

Taylor won third place by defeating Wichita Falls, 3-2. Tyler had three men on the all-star team.

The Austin High Maroons, eliminated in the first round, scored in the all-star selections with Fred Wendlandt in the outfield.

THEY LEFT OUT CRAP SHOOTERS

Political shooters, trouble shooters and "bull" shooters get a chance to strut their stuff next weekend during the Texas State Skeet Championships at the Midland Country Club.

Taking their cue from the golf tournaments, the skeet shoot has a special event for honorary marksmen.

Named the "Mayor's Special," the event is open to "The Mayor," any member of the City Council, any County Elected Officer, any member of the Chamber of Commerce office, any newspaper sports writer or radio sports announcer of Midland.

Midland Is Target For 150 Shooters

Midland is the target, and 150 skeet shooters hope they will be "on the target" here next week end when the marksmen lay siege to the Midland Gun Club for the twenty-first annual Texas State Skeet Championships.

The shooters, who need nothing more than a clay pigeon as an excuse to start firing, open a four-day stand Thursday. And when the firing is over Sunday, they will leave town $2,600 and 109 silver trophies richer, for that's the booty for these marksmen who like their hunting in the stimulated manner as well as in the flesh.

Among the outstanding shooters expected to be present are a pair of All-Americans chosen by Sports Field and Stream magazine. They are Mickey Michaels of Galveston, who registers at present from Bergstrom A.F.B., and D. W. Conway of Clint. Conway recently won the Golden Gate skeet shoot at San Francisco, Calif.

Fred Blackie of Randolph Field, San Antonio, also walked off with a prize at the San Francisco shoot. He is scheduled to be on hand here to challenge for the small gauge title owned by Charles H. Poulton of San Antonio.

Hearn, Wilhelm Blank Cubs, 3-0

New York —(P)— Jim Hearn and Hoyt Wilhelm joined forces Saturday to shut out Chicago with two singles for a 3-0 New York Giants victory.

Hearn pitched no-hit ball over a 7 1/3-inning stretch after yielding singles to Frank Baumholtz and Hank Sauer in the first inning. Tiring in the 90-degree heat, he was replaced by Wilhelm in the eighth after he walked pinch hitter Phil Cavarretta.

Wilhelm, in his twenty-fourth relief appearance, got the next four batters to end the game.

Monte Irvin's ninth home run, following a walk to Hank Thompson, gave Hearn a 2-0 lead in the first. The Giants added another in the fifth on a walk to Ray Noble. Hearn's sacrifice and Dave Williams' scoring single.

Fields in Lea County, New Mexico gained eight more projects last week.

Magnolia Petroleum Company spotted two tests in the Denton field of Central-East Lea County... role in the early steps of this program. The 285-mile part will hit some $42,500,000 in expenditures before completion.

No pipe has been laid, but company officials Saturday set a "very near future" starting date and announced that the last shipment of pipe was expected Saturday at the Bendum spur near Rankin.

Northern Natural Gas, then, plans to spend $32,773,000 during one year and $22,843,000 in the second year of pipe line and plant activity.

Big news in the West Texas area is that work is near the first-nail stage on a huge, $2,000,000 plant on the M. C. Puckett & Son ranch 30 miles southeast of Fort Stockton...

The first unit in the treating plant, covered by the initial contract, will have a capacity of 35.7 million cubic feet of gas per day, removing the unwanted carbon dioxide gas, and producing some 25 million cubic feet of sweet gas a day.

The plant will be located on a 58-acre site on the east line of the Puckett ranch, just east of the wells in the new gas field. At least 14 houses will be built on the location for the plant's operating personnel.

Stearns - Roger Manufacturing Company of Houston and Denver has the general contract on the plant for Permian Basin Pipeline Company and its father firm, Northern Natural Gas Company.

The Permian Basin Company's line will stretch from the Phillips and Plymouth Gasoline Plant in the Bendum field, come through the Spraberry Trend Area, and on to Denver City, where it will tie into existing lines going into the Panhandle and on into Omaha.

Expected completion date of the Permian construction plan lies between December 1 and 27. Initial capacity of the Permian system will be 200,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day, but during the second year of operation, plans call for a 300,000,000 cubic feet a day capacity.

Now... Latest word from Northern Natural Gas Company's headquarters in Omaha, Neb., sets the stage for a huge building program near Hobbs, N. M.

Permian Basin Pipeline Company (in which Northern holds 55 per cent interest) has established a district headquarters at 306 East (Continued On Page Three)

'Hot Foot Lift' For Wetbacks Gets Newspaper's Blast

LAREDO.—The Laredo Times criticized as "brutal and cruel" the release of penniless wetbacks at Zapata in what the newspaper called a "hot foot lift" by the immigration service.

The paper said the deported illegal immigrants had to walk 45 miles across desert country to the nearest main highway in Mexico.

The newspaper said the wetbacks are searched to see if they have 15 cents for the bridge toll and the cost of transportation in open trucks from Zapata to a junction with the Pan American Highway in Mexico.

For those with not enough money for the fare, there is nothing left but to walk to the junction, the paper said. There are no houses or other places to get food and shelter from Ciudad Guerrero near Zapata and the road junction.

The Times charged the immigration service deliberately picked Zapata as a deportation point so the long, hot walk would serve as punishment and discourage Mexicans from returning to the United States.

Spraberry Outlet—

Permian has included in its plans four compressor stations, one seven miles west of Hobbs, two dehydration, one sulphur removal plant, a carbon dioxide removal plant, and a gasoline plant. Three of the compressor stations will be located in the Spraberry Trend Area, two in Reagan County and one in Midland County.

Three Engines Now

In addition to the Hobbs compressor station, which will have three 1,320 h.p. engines installed this year and another 1,320 h.p. engine added in 1933, the New Mexico sector will carry a gasoline plant, dehydration plant and sulphur removal plant. The Dresser Engineering Company of Tulsa, Okla., has been awarded the contract for the Hobbs location.

Some 34 miles of 26-inch pipe will carry gas from the Hobbs station to a measuring station in Yoakum County. Other pipe will carry Spraberry Trend Area gas to the Yoakum County area. Permian's system will also include 70 miles of 16-inch line which will run from the Mitchell Carbon Dioxide Removal Plant in Pecos County to the compressor stations in Reagan County.

Permian has negotiated a contract to buy 200,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily in the Spraberry Trend Area from Phillips Petroleum Company. The balance of Permian's supply will be dry gas from the Lea County, N. M., area to be purchased from 17 producers.

Permian's reserves under contract amount to 2.7 trillion cubic feet.

Permian will sell its gas supply to Northern Natural Gas Company of Omaha which sells natural gas to 26 utilities in Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota and Minnesota. To facilitate supplying Northern, Permian has arranged a transportation agreement with El Paso Natural Gas Company which involves the use of 203 miles of 24-inch line belonging to El Paso and running between Yoakum County and a point near the southern terminal of Northern's system in the Panhandle.

Special Emissary Of Bonn Government Returns From U. S.

FRANKFURT, GERMANY.—(AP)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's special emissary returned here Saturday from Washington after delivering a message to President Eisenhower.

Herbert Blankenhorn, chief of the political department of the Bonn Foreign Office, said he brought back from his trip the conviction that the United States will undertake no decisions on an international level regarding Germany without consulting the Bonn government.

This assurance also was given the Chancellor Friday in a cabled letter from President Eisenhower.

Blankenhorn's departure from Germany last Sunday was in secret. During his stay in Washington, he was received by President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Hamaker Gets Award For 25 Years Of Road Service From Farish, Long-Time Associate

Rex G. Hamaker's quarter century of service with the Reed Roller Bit Company was marked last week by the presentation of a 25-year service award by his long-time associate, S. P. Farish, president of the company.

The ceremony was informal and by no means a precedent since Reed Roller Bit has a number of 25-year men. It was, however, a milestone in the association of Hamaker and Farish.

That association began in 1919, some 34 years ago, when Farish was in charge of the northern division for the young Humble Oil & Refining Company at Raher. It was that year that Farish hired Hamaker as the first division engineer on the Humble Oil payroll.

Moved To Houston

In 1920 Hamaker was moved to Houston to become the company's first chief engineer. Five years later Farish and a group of other men took over and reorganized the Reed Roller Bit Company.

In 1928, Hamaker left his position with Humble to join Farish in the new venture as works manager and research engineer. The association of Farish and Hamaker has been constant since that time.

Last week Hamaker was able to look back on 25 years of tremendous progress by his company. His associates say the contributions he has made toward the development of many of Reed's products have been important.

In the early days of the struggling but growing young company it was not unusual for him to spend a night catching cat naps between jobs on a bench in the shop or on a desk in the office.

Sales Have Multiplied

In his 25 years with Reed Roller Bit, Hamaker has seen sales reach more than $30 billion annually, 35 times what they were when he started. The Navigation Boulevard plant of Reed now covers more than 35 acres with almost every foot of that occupied by shops, offices, and shipping facilities. Twenty-five years ago it hardly covered the 11 acres along Buffalo Bayou.

Where, in 1928, these facilities covered some 34,000 square feet of space, today they occupy 454,000 square feet. From a purely local company Reed has grown, in that time, to a world-wide organization with its products used in practically all oil producing countries on the globe as well as in every oil state in the Union.

A native of Santa Ana, Calif., Hamaker graduated from Stanford University with a degree in civil engineering. His first job was with Standard Oil Company of California as an oil tool designer and later, among other duties, he became one of the first oil well cementing engineers in the industry.

He had advanced well with Standard of California when he joined Steve Farish in Raher with Humble. Then came his transfer to Houston; Farish's move into the oil tool business and, three years later, Hamaker's decision to join Farish.

"Because of the appeal of a new venture and with established faith in the man and his leadership I knew I could not go wrong following Steve Farish, anywhere," Hamaker said this week.

Hamaker is now a director and vice president in charge of sales.

Recalls Changes

Looking back on his 25 years with Reed and his 37 years in the oil industry, Hamaker recalls the days of boom towns, chaos, and hit and miss drilling and production techniques. He has lived through the progress in oil production and business methods and the order that has come through conservation and the application of science to petroleum production and the oil tool industry.

A tall man with a ruddy complexion, reddish, sandy hair, and a warm, ready smile, he looks out his office window at Reed today and surveys a plant that has been one of the most important contributors to the progress of the industry. It serves. Wherever oil wells are drilled, the products of this great Houston plant are found.

"I remember when 80 per cent of the oil wells in this country were drilled with cable tools and only 20 per cent with rotary equipment," he said. "And I can also remember when less than 20 per cent of the oil in the reservoirs was recovered whereas today almost 90 per cent of it is recovered. That's quite a span of progress in this or any other industry."

ANYONE SEEN A FISHING HOLE—That may be the question in Ed Shakeley's mind as he looks at the fishing-gear "bonanza" he struck on his recent trip to the International Petroleum Exhibition in Tulsa. Looking at the equipment with Shakeley, an executive in the area production department of Shell Oil Company, Midland, is Ralph H. Smith of Midland, division manager in the Permian Basin for Dowell, Inc. Shakeley was presented with the fishing equipment by Dowell, Inc.

Some Of You Anglers Tell Shakeley Where To Find A West Texas Fishing Hole

Ed Shakeley, an executive in the area production department of Shell Oil Company in Midland, is being forced to find a place to go fishing in dry West Texas.

While visiting the Dowell Building on the closing day of the recent International Petroleum Exposition in Tulsa, Shakeley innocently signed his name to a card, dropped it in a box and proceeded to look over the Dowell exhibit.

He was interrupted from his exhibition gazing by a Dowell official and taken to one of the buildings rooms.

There he was presented with an assortment of fishing gear, enough to outfit him for a long fishing trip. The card he had signed was drawn at random from the box containing hundreds of cards, placed there by visitors to the Dowell exhibit.

His winnings included a Shakespeare Wonder Rod with case, Shakespeare spinning reel, Shakespeare spinning line, Shakespeare No. 63 spinning lure assortment, Cammins dip net, pleasure chest for icing down fish, chain fish stringer, fisherman's cap and an all expense fishing trip to Dow Lake.

Argo Files To Dig West Stepout Test In West Ward Area

Crockett Wildcat Recovers More Oil From Ellenburger

Shell Oil Company No. 1 Friend, wildcat in East-Central Crockett County, is bottomed at 8,490 feet and is preparing to take a drillstem test to that depth.

Operator drillstem tested the Ellenburger from 8,390 to 8,440 feet. Tool was open two and one-quarter hours. Gas came to the surface in five minutes, gauging 100,000 cubic feet daily.

Recovery was 175 feet of 52-gravity oil and 200 feet of heavily oil and gas cut mud.

Initial test from 8,345 to 8,390 feet showed gas, estimated at 220,000 cubic feet daily, at the top and recovered gas cut and distillate and gas cut mud.

No. 1 Friend is 690 feet from south and 690 feet from west lines of section 93, block GH, GC&SF survey and one mile southeast of Osma.

More Gas-Distillate Made By Devonian In Pecos Prospector

Additional gas-distillate pay in the Devonian has been uncovered on a drillstem test from 6,833 to 6,878 feet in Cities Service Oil Company and associates No. 1 B. R. Payton, wildcat in North Pecos County.

The tool was open six hours on the test. Gas came to the top in two minutes, ranging from 1,118,000 to 1,436,000 cubic feet per day. Recovery was 180 feet of 56.4-gravity distillate. Deepening was under way.

Previous tests from 6,786 to 6,800 feet and 6,800 to 6,833 feet also revealed gas and distillate.

No. 1 Payton is two miles southwest of Grandfalls and it is in the shallow Payton field. It is only a short distance south of the Pecos River.

Drillite is 330 feet from west and 1,198 feet from north lines of section 99, block 8, H&GN survey and approximately 30 miles north of Fort Stockton.

Gulf Completes Second Oil Well In Upton Field

Gulf Oil Corporation has completed its No. 362-D McElroy as a one-half mile west extension to and the second well for the Adams (Devonian) field of Central-West Upton County.

It flowed 52 barrels of 46.2 gravity oil, plus 27.6 per cent water in 24 hours on the completion test. The flow was through a one-half inch choke.

The production came from perforated sections at 10,340-410 feet and at 10,845-720 feet. The production was natural.

Low Pressure

Flowing tubing pressure was 25 pounds. Total depth is 10,897 feet. The 7-inch casing is cemented at 10,762 feet. Cement inside the casing has been drilled out to 10,750 feet.

Top of the pay is at 10,310 feet. Elevation is 2,522 feet.

The new producer is 1 1/2 miles north and slightly west of McCamey. It is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 187, block F, CCSD&RNGG survey.

SE Fisher Region Gets Wildcat To 6,200-Foot Level

A 6,200-foot Ellenburger wildcat is to be drilled in extreme Southeast Fisher County as the American Liberty Oil Company, Mar-Tex Oil & Gas Company and Alex Hickery, all of Dallas, No. 1-A L. E. Adrian.

Soviet Oil: The Inside Story By Former Russian Geologist

Editors Note: The following article appears here with the permission of Magnolia Petroleum Company. It was written by a consultant of Socony-Vacuum for publication in the Summer issue (third week in June) of The Flying Red Horse, Socony-Vacuum publication.

By DR. LEONID P. SMIRNOV
Former Chief Arctic Geologist,
For the Soviet Government

I was born in Petrograd, Russia, and educated at the School of Mines in Leningrad. During the years from 1925 to 1942 I traveled about Russia as few people are ever allowed, for I am a petroleum engineer and geologist. I have some strange things to tell you about Russia.

In America, for one thing, if a drilling crew brings in a dry hole the company takes it in stride and seeks another likely location.

In Russia bringing in a dry hole is a criminal offense. The guilty geologist may be shipped off to forced labor in Siberia.

That is one reason why oilmen find it difficult to work in Russia. The main reason, of course, is the vast bureaucracy itself. The oil industry, like all industries, is burdened with literally thousands upon thousands of clerks, inspectors, security agents and supervisors. There is a saying among the Russian people: "One with a plow and seven with spoons."

Field geological parties, with which I traveled many miles, are constantly probing into remote corners of the Soviet Union. They travel by horse, camel and mule—never by auto, for there are no roads.

Food is a perpetual problem. If the field party has 25 men, the manager will add another 25 "dead souls" to his roster, thus getting food for 50 men—which is barely enough to feed his crew of 25.

Forced Labor

The geologists are constantly aware that any minor accident, an incorrect delineation of a geological structure, a fire, even a dry hole, can mean exile to a forced labor camp.

Oil drilling crews use a copy of an American rig, but it is in short supply. The lack of equipment is one reason the Russian oil fields have been developed so slowly.

Drilling is done according to official rates, set by members of the Communist party. In the Second Baku fields, for example, the government ordered that each crew would drill 2100 feet per month in the Pennsylvania-type limestone. But just 60 days ago a Stakhanov crew moved in—a well-trained crew of speed-up specialists. With ideal working conditions and new equipment they drilled 4,800 feet in one month. Now every crew in the Second Baku must drill 4,800 feet per month.

How does Russia stand on oil?

I can give you some figures from my own knowledge and make some estimates. But we must bear in mind one very important fact: In Russia oil is not used for civilian automobiles. It is not used as a fuel in industry. Almost all of Russia's oil goes to the Red Army.

No Stations

There are no gasoline stations in Russia. There are not even any paved highways except those strategically placed near the frontiers. All gasoline-burning trucks and autos belong to the government. Industrial plants burn coal; electric power stations work on brown coal and even peat.

The average Soviet citizen cannot even buy gasoline; he may buy only kerosene for his cook stove and benzine for his cigarette lighter.

Before 1938 there was some export of oil; since then there has been none.

The writer believes that the Soviet Union produces about 950,000 barrels of oil every day. Its satellites produce perhaps 160,000 barrels per day. The United States produces about 6,400,000 barrels daily, about seven times as much as the U.S.S.R., and the rest of the free world produces almost 5,000,000 barrels.

So the total Communist production is about 1,110,000 barrels daily—less than one-tenth of the total free world production of 11,700,000 barrels a day.

Some authorities predict that Soviet production will reach 1,450,000 barrels per day by 1955—an ambitious goal, and still only a fraction of the free world's production.

For Military

But that is not the point. The point is this: In Russia almost all of that production goes to the military. And a large part of it is stockpiled.

Because transportation is always scarce in the Soviet Union, the Russians have sought to build up sources of oil in all strategic parts of the country.

They now have oil in the west. They have oil in the far east. They have oil in the south. They have oil in the Arctic. I have first-hand knowledge of many of the newer oil basins, because I helped discover them.

About 40 per cent of Russia's oil comes from the Baku region, in the Caucasus, which has been producing since the time of the Czar. My news from the Soviet Union indicates that the Baku has lost its first place in production, but I think this is only temporary. Many favorable new structures are being drilled in the shallow Caspian Sea. In the Baku are six major refineries and many pipelines. Oil from the Baku region, plus oil from the Ukraine and from the satellites, supplies the Red armies in the west.

In Turkestan are several smaller basins which supply oil to the armies in the south.

In the interior of Russia is the great new Second Baku basin, which now accounts for about 40 per cent of Russia's oil production. I took part in its discovery when I was chief geologist of the Southern Oklahoma basin; it is especially rich in Permian reefs and Devonian beds.

Caspian Sea Oil

The Second Baku region has been developed from the Caspian Sea for more than 800 miles northward, but it actually extends all the way from the Caspian Sea to the Arctic and north to Franz Josef Land. There are at least 20 refineries and more than 1,000 miles of pipeline in the Second Baku area. One pipeline goes across the Ural Mountains into Siberia.

Throughout the tremendous area of Siberia many oil basins are being explored; some are now in production. In south-central Siberia, in the Lake Balkal region, is an ancient depression. Rotary drilling was begun here in 1932. The region is now producing.

After World War II some German plants were brought to this area to produce oil from the abundant soft coal and shale an expensive process which our reserves in the United States have enabled us to avoid. One such plant near Irkutsk has a yearly capacity of 10.5 million gallons of high-quality aviation gasoline. Labor from nearby concentration camps is being used to build new refineries.

Kept Oil Stock

It was decided 23 years ago that the Far Eastern army must have its own oil supply. At the time Russia entered the war against Japan in 1945, this army was supplied for a prolonged war. They certainly did not expend very much oil in their few days of fighting the Japanese, and they have been continuing to build up oil supplies ever since.

Most important oil area in the Far East is on Sakhalin Island. Proved reserves there are about 350 million barrels; perhaps ten times that amount ultimately will be found. Before World War II, production on Sakhalin was about 3.5 million barrels per year; it could be as high as 21 million barrels now.

Oil basins are on both coasts of the Kamchatka Peninsula; the most favorable basin is on the west coast. Rotary drilling was started in 1938; production on Kamchatka could now be from 1.5 to 7 million barrels per year.

There are four large refineries in the Far East and a pipeline from the Sakhalin fields to Vladivostok.

Arctic Region

But it is in the Arctic—closest to the United States—that the Soviets are most rapidly expanding their oil production. In the far north the Soviet air bases, navy and armies are now independent of the rest of Russia for their oil and gasoline.

Refinery equipment which the United States shipped to Russia under lend-lease is in operation in the Arctic. Supplying two refineries in the north is the huge Taimyr-Lena basin. I helped discover this basin and explored it from 1934 to 1939. Rotary drilling was started in 1938; production now may be as high as 3.5 million barrels per year.

I also helped discover the Franz Josef Land basin; production is undoubtedly under way in this frozen land nearly 1,000 miles north of the Arctic Circle.

The Soviets have perhaps 500,000 men trained to live under Arctic conditions. I was so trained; you could drop me from an airplane in the Arctic with a rifle and a bag of salt, and I could live very well. The dream of every Soviet youth is to go to the Arctic; the far north is populated by energetic, healthy young people. Industries have been established to help develop this region. Russian airplanes range far over the polar regions; their vapor trails have been seen over northernmost Canada.

Less Inferior

And so you see that Russia's "inferior" position in oil production is much less inferior than the barrel-per-day figures seem to show. And the same is true of her steel and other heavy industries.

If we in America attempted to divert all of our oil to military uses, as the Russians do, our great industrial machine would stall and we would be easy victims of aggression. So we must keep our production up. And we must be very careful to encourage production in foreign fields—in the Middle East and in Venezuela and wherever else this priceless treasure may be discovered.

Many times I have heard Americans say that our industry and our atom bombs are the greatest deterrent to war. That is true. But there is another deterrent: the Russian people.

Despite all the Communist propaganda in their press and on the radio and in the schools, the Russian people still like and respect America. The Communist leaders are afraid that if it came right down to fighting the United States, their people would refuse.

Magnolia Starts Testing At NE Midland Prospect

Magnolia Petroleum Corporation is starting to make production tests in the Strawn lime of the Pennsylvania at its No. 1 Ida Mae Oldham, Northeast Midland County wildcat, and will try to complete an oil well and a new-field opener at that prospect.

The Strawn section was topped at 10,220 feet. Elevation is 3,894 feet. The sections between 10,220 feet and 10,331 feet had developed some free oil and considerable gas and a small amount of water.

The interval from 10,311 feet and the total depth of 10,589 feet was drilled through without any tests being run.

Casing Perforated

A string of 7-inch casing has been set and cemented to 10,589 feet. That pipe has now been perforated at 10,464-474 feet and that interval will be swabbed and tested.

After the petroleum yielding ability of that zone has been determined operator will perforate and test in several other zones between 10,464 feet and the top of the Strawn at 10,224 feet.

Many interested observers think the No. 1 Oldham can complete as some sort of a producer from the Strawn.

Location is 10 miles east of the city of Midland three miles south-east of Paul (Germania) and two miles northwest of the nearest producers in the Germania sector of the Spraberry Trend Area.

Magnolia No. 1 Roy Parks, Jr., estate, West-Central Midland County wildcat, 13 miles southwest of the city of Midland had reached 10,154 feet in shale and was making more hole.

It is contracted to 11,000 feet, or a test of the Pennsylvania lime at a lesser depth.

Location is 960 feet from north and 720 feet from east lines of section 38, block 37, T-1-S, T&P survey. It is one and three-quarter miles south of the closest producers on the south side of the Parks (Pennsylvania) field.

Found Slight Shows

United States Smelting, Refining and Mining Company No. 1 M. F. (Furres) King, Northwest Midland County wildcat, four miles northwest of the northwest side of the city of Midland had penetrated below 12,084 feet in an unidentified lime and was drilling ahead.

So far this operation has found slight shows of possible production in the Wolfcamp-Permian and in the Strawn-Pennsylvanian. It is due to continue drilling until it tests the Devonian.

There is a possibility that if it fails to make an oil well in the Devonian that it may be carried on down to explore the Ellenburger.

Location is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 19, block 40, T-1-S, T&P survey.

Is Drilling Deeper

Plymouth Oil Company and Bendum-Trees Oil Company No. 1-38 Midkiff, Central-South Midland County wildcat to 13,500 feet to test the Ellenburger had reached 3,950 feet in aphydrite and was drilling deeper.

It is 25 miles south and slightly east of the city of Midland, four and one-half miles west of the Midkiff sector of the Spraberry Trend Area and 660 feet from north and west lines of section 38, block 39, T-4-S, T&P survey.

Dublin Rites Held In City

Funeral services were held at 10:30 a.m. Saturday in the Newline W. Ellis Chapel for Ben William Dublin of Crane, 61-year-old native of Midland County who died Thursday after suffering a heart seizure at Midland Fair Park.

The Rev. J. Robert Hawkins, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Crane, officiated. Interment was in Fairview Cemetery.

Dublin and members of his family had attended the Thursday night performance of the Midland rodeo and had gone to their car to leave the park grounds when he was stricken. A Newline W. Ellis ambulance took him to a hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

The Midland County pioneer, who was born March 16, 1892 at the Old Clabberhill Ranch headquarters in the northwest sector of the county, attended public schools here and later operated ranching interests in Midland County until 1921.

A diesel engineer with the Gulf Oil Corporation for the last 20 years, Dublin lived in Midland until he was transferred to the Gulf Camp at Crane five years ago.

He was one of the county's strongest rodeo fans. He told a Reporter-Telegram last year that he had never missed a Midland Rodeo, and told of his experiences as a contestant in the early-day rodeos here.

Dublin was a brother of the late John Dublin, Sr., Midland Rancher, and an uncle of John Dublin, Jr., vice president of Midland Fair, Inc. His father was the late J. R. Dublin, pioneer Midland County ranchman.

Surviving Dublin are his widow, Mrs. Ben Dublin of Crane; his mother, Mrs. J. R. Dublin of Midland; a daughter, Mrs. J. R. Smith of Midland; a son, James R. Dublin of Houston; a sister, Mrs. Ola Dublin Hayes of Midland; a brother, C. M. Dublin of Big Spring and five grandchildren.

WASHINGTON OIL— Industry 'Over The Hump' As Warren Leaves PAD Post

By JOSEPH HUTTLINGER

Reporter-Telegram Washington Oil Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The oil industry is over the hump! That's what J. Ed Warren of Midland, Texas, can say as he bows out at the end of this month as deputy director of the Petroleum Administration for Defense.

During the 15 months he has been with the agency, Warren saw oil producing capacity rise, refining capacity expand, and the greatest period of oil pipe line construction in history when more than 12,000 miles were laid.

The petroleum and natural gas industries are surpassing most goals laid by defense planners who looked for greater capacity for the security of the nation. The sole exception lies in the number of wells drilled. A total of 55,000 was set for this year, but crude oil prices and excessive imports are playing havoc with this. Today, the best estimate for well drilling this year is 48,000 new wells.

The very success of the industry and of the PAD during Warren's tenure, raises the question whether there is any more need for the PAD. A feeling there is not is the reason the petroleum industry is having some difficulty finding a successor for Warren.

B. A. Hardey of Shreveport, independent oil man, turned down the post. So has at least one other. A top notch oil man is expected to step forth in the next week.

The Warren regime was filled with unrest.

Strike Brought Shortages
Shortly after he joined the agency, a strike of oil workers began. The strike shut down a third of the nation's refining capacity for several weeks, forced rationing of civilian airline flights, and brought spot shortages throughout the East.

Then came a five-week strike of steel workers which cost the petroleum industry a two to three months supply of steel. This was felt, particularly, in oil country tubular goods.

Despite this, the domestic producing industry wound up with more than 48,000 new oil wells, not too far short of the government goal for the year.

Price problems came, too. Warren's former associates at the Independent Petroleum Association of America, sought help of Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman in getting the price ceilings raised or wiped out. Secretary Chapman refused to intervene, explaining this is a matter for the Office of Price Stabilization.

Only in February, after the election of President Eisenhower, were crude oil prices freed of controls. This, however, was too late to please independent producers. Supply and demand had caught up and then came, and crude oil prices did not rise.

Oil Imports Problem
Oil imports—too much of them—was the next problem handed to Warren. He met it with a display of courage and candor unusual in Washington.

First, he told Congress and industry that he was opposed to a law to limit oil imports. This statement won hearty support of Governor

Shivers of Texas, Ernest Thompson of the Texas Railroad Commission, and others. But the IPAA pressed ahead for a law, and still is pressing.

Second, Warren announced in a speech that oil imports are too high, and he called upon each importing company to announce that it was cutting back voluntarily.

This middle course, seeking to slow down the imports but not subject the industry to more laws, won wide approval within the industry.

"He's the bravest man in the world," said one oil man.

"He's a real statesman," a newspaper of general circulation said.

When Warren came in, the PAD had a staff of more than 300. As he goes out, it has 70. Partly because of the job Warren has done, the agency can cut down.

Warren who is short and stocky, a man who worked himself up as an independent oil producer to a position of stature and wealth, grows upon everyone.

"I like that man," Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay says often. "I sure like that man."

Study Of Western Hemisphere Oil Resources Published

TULSA, OKLA.—The most extensive study of Western Hemisphere petroleum resources ever conducted has been published and made available here by the Independent Petroleum Association of America.

Printed in a 180-page book entitled "Petroleum in the Western Hemisphere," the study was conducted over a two-year period by an industry committee composed of 44 experts in petroleum economics, production, geology, law and engineering.

It provides a comprehensive analysis of future availability of petroleum in the Western Hemisphere countries through 1960.

The book also establishes, for the first time, a formula for predicting future conditions in the petroleum industry as related to production, demand, imports, income, drilling, reserves and productive capacity.

It contains exhaustive reports on past, present and future trends in petroleum production, productive capacity and reserves, hemisphere supply and demand, industry materials requirements, and governmental policies and laws in oil producing countries as they affect petroleum operations.

In a foreword to the book, IPAA President Charlton H. Lyons, Shreveport, La., notes that "the findings of this study demonstrate that neither the United States nor the Western Hemisphere need ever be short of petroleum products in the foreseeable future."

Certain threats, however, are revealed by the book, Lyons wrote, and "this study points up these threats and provides a guide to a proper and sound course of action."

Lyons, prior to his election as IPAA president, served as chairman of the IPAA Western Hemisphere Oil Study Committee which developed the report. The committee began its work in early 1951. Printing of the final report in book form has just been completed.

Agreement Reported On Processing More Milk From This Area

A long series of talks and negotiations ended last week when dairymen of the Central West Texas Producers Association and Herbert Schauer, general manager of the Borden Dairy plant in Midland, reached an agreement stipulating that the Borden plant will not bring in any more milk produced outside of Texas for Grade A sale, and will instead buy all its milk from the West Texas dairymen.

Sore point in the dispute was the fact that before now, because of milk brought in from the outside (much of it from Missouri), a sizeable amount of milk produced by West Texas was being routed to the cheese factories at a lower price instead of being processed for Grade A bottling.

The agreement was reached in Comanche, said R. P. Mayfield of Big Spring and Lamesa, a director of the CWTPA and president of its associate organization, the Tri-County Producers Association, which covers Howard, Dawson and Midland Counties.

Starting Wednesday, Mayfield continued, Borden's Midland plant will begin receiving an additional 18,000 gallons of milk a week from producers in the Comanche area who are members of the association.

Tidelands Bill Revives Old Problems Of Borders, Rights

By MAX H. SKELTON
HOUSTON—(AP)—Congress handed coastal states a flock of problems last month by recognizing claims to submerged lands within the historic boundaries of the states.

State officials had fought the ownership battle so long the problem did not assume proper proportions until President Eisenhower signed the bill.

The problems mean there will be no big rush in oil and gas development of offshore lands. High costs necessitate long range planning.

State machinery for control of the operations cannot be thrown into high gear until legal questions have been settled.

There has been talk of a court suit challenging the new quietclaim bill.

Long range prospects for development of the submerged areas are bright, particularly in Texas and Louisiana.

Exploration Booms
A National Petroleum Council committee recently estimated 200,000 barrels of oil a day could be produced from such areas within five years. Also included was a natural gas estimate of from 600 to 800 million cubic feet daily.

The committee said drilling and exploration within the five years would have much greater significance in locating major oil and gas fields for future development.

Most companies have indicated they will confine their immediate Tidelands operations to geophysical explorations, Land Commissioner Bascom Giles said this week there has been tremendous geophysical interests in the Texas Gulf Coast since the bill was signed. The state is to resume control of these operations July 1.

Study Old Maps
Using Texas as an example, these are among the problems bothering Tidelands states at present:

1. Establishment of the boundary between state and federal controlled areas. The bill recognizes Texas control out 10 1/2 miles from the low water mark of 1848.

The 1848 low water mark must be agreed upon by state and federal officials. Old maps and records are being checked. Then will come the job of locating the state-federal boundary line. Will it be a comparatively straight line roughly following the coast, or will it twist and turn in accordance with bays, harbors, inlets, etc., along the coast?

Where Is Louisiana?
2. Establishment of offshore boundaries between states. Louisiana claims its boundary with Texas is marked by the west

Greeks Held Captive
By Communist Nations

ATHENS, GREECE—(AP)—About 4,000 Greek Army officers and soldiers still are held by Greece's Iron Curtain neighbors.

They were taken prisoner in the war against the Communist-led guerrillas. Foreign Minister Stephen Stephanopoulos says efforts to obtain their release with cooperation of the Soviet government have failed.

bank of the Sabine River. Texas says the line falls in the middle of the river. Louisiana thinks the Gulf line should be run south from the mouth of the river. Texas contends the line should extend to the southeast.

3. Determination of the status of leases sold prior to the dispute. Texas officials say they do not know the answer at present.

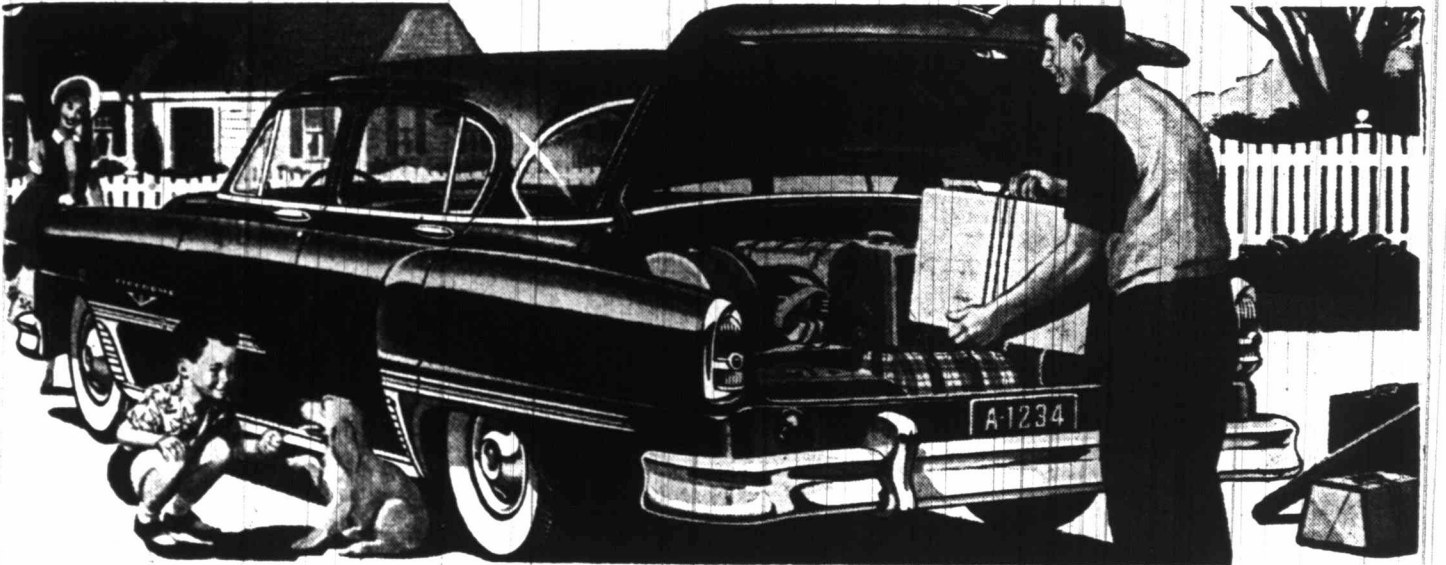

Before the dispute, Texas leased 434,797 acres, with 304,128 still in effect as of Dec. 11, 1950.

FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS

Well, Podner, Sunday night cowboy rodeo—Midland Rodeo—the 19th annual edition—which will go down in history as the greatest of them all, it has been a top show all the way and the concluding performance should be the best of all. The rodeo weather was turbulent in spots, bringing the first moisture here in weeks. But everyone enjoyed it.

Podner, the final performance will get underway at 9 p.m. Sunday, and you surely will want to be on hand to see the champion cowboys ride and rope for the finals money. It will be a rip-roaring show, which you really can't afford to miss. See you out there at Midland Fair Park Sunday night.

That Everett Colborn stock has been more rugged out at Midland Rodeo this year, backing up the comment of cowboys that when tougher rodeo stock is available, the Lightning C will have them. But the contestants have handled the stock in top fashion in all events and are due plenty of praise from all concerned.

Praise should also be heaped upon Marion Flynn, president of Midland Fair, Inc., members of the association's Rodeo Committee, and producer Everett Colborn for the excellent job they have done in arranging and staging the 19th Annual Midland Rodeo.

A grand job well and nobly done, boys! Thanks a million!

Attendance, too, has been remarkable at this year's rodeo, attesting to the quality and popularity of the Permian Basin Empire celebration. And the big attendance this year will make for an even bigger and better show next year.

Don't forget, the final performance of the 1953 show is scheduled at 9 p.m. Sunday.

Did you have your slicker with you out there at the rodeo grounds Thursday night, Podner? DSQ had his rolled up behind his saddle and got wringing wet getting to it. That had raised whelps on our old sore back, too.

Maybe DSQ shouldn't have left the weather to take care of itself during Rodeo Week? ? ?

Anyway, better keep that slicker handy, Podner!

The market was slow on stocker cattle at Thursday's Midland Livestock Auction Sale. No choice calves were offered.

Medium to good calves and yearlings sold for $14 to $18.50; cull to common, $9 to $14. No choice calves were offered.

Medium and good cows were bid from $9 to $11.25; canners and cutters, $6 to $9. Bulls ranged from $9 to $13.50.

Stocker steer calves cleared at $13.50 to $18.50; stocker heifer calves, $13 to $15. Mixed breed stocker calves and yearlings brought $8 to $13.

Sale operators attributed the light run of cattle to the rodeo and said they anticipated a much better run this week. They promise plenty of buyers for all the cattle brought to the Thursday sale.

The fifth annual San Antonio Livestock Exposition will be held February 12 thru February 21, 1954, according to an announcement by E. W. Bickett, president of the show.

The ten-day stock show will be managed by W. L. Jones, who recently was re-elected as secretary-manager. A new combination sheep, goat and dairy cattle barn will be constructed and finished in time for the 1954 show. The new structure will contain 40,000 square feet of space and will cost approximately $65,000.00.

Never saw so much fine horse-flesh as in that Midland Rodeo Parade last Wednesday, did you, Podner?

The entire parade was tops, for that matter, and gets our vote for the best rodeo parade ever held in West Texas.

Our hat is off to Duke Jimerson and the members of his parade committee.

Midland Rodeo truly has become the gathering place for West Texans. "Howdy, Podner, haven't seen you since last year's rodeo," was a popular greeting as friends greeted each other during Rodeo Week.

The dairy industry in Texas is a mighty important contributor to the over-all agricultural income of the state to say nothing of what it means to the health and welfare of the state's population. The value of all milk-produced in the state last year amounted to about $200,000,000 say R. E. Burleson, dairy husbandman for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Total milk production reached almost four billion pounds.

During the present month, Burleson says the dairy industry will be in the spotlight, for June is Dairy Month. At this time the industry, he explains, is having its troubles just as are other parts of the great agricultural industry. This is the season of greatest milk production and surpluses are creating producer problems. They'd disappear, says the specialist, if consumers would step up their purchases of milk and other dairy products.

Nine Thousand Herds
At the end of 1952, Burleson reports that 9,000 herds in Texas were producing Grade A milk; that approximately 12,000 head of dairy cows were on test in the 23 dairy herd improvement associations in the state; that 21,000 cows last year were artificially bred; that 3,371 sires were filled in the state by dairymen; that 3,304 4-H dairy members owned 5,434 dairy animals and that 24,146 dairymen attended the 224 meetings held in the state last year by the Extension Service's dairy specialists.

The annual Texas 4-H Club Roundup will get underway Tuesday and officially will close after breakfast Friday. In between will be a schedule of activities and training meetings for the 4-H members and their local adult leaders. The locale is the campus of Texas A&M College.

Nineteen outstanding speakers and agriculture experts hailing from 12 states will highlight the National Institute of Farm Brokers seminar to be held at Mississippi State College, June 15-16, at Starkville, Mississippi.

Invitations to attend have been sent to real estate people, bankers, appraisers and allied professions from the following 15 states: Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Arkansas, Kentucky, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, Louisiana and Texas.

There are Seven Sensible Steps to growing older. That is, if you want to age successfully. Mrs. Eloise Johnson, family life education specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service says looking forward to later years can be done pleasantly by planning to include these seven steps in growing older. For healthier and happier years ahead, eat properly; see your doctor regularly; get enough sleep; balance your exercise and rest; wear comfortable, attractive and becoming clothing; keep busy; and cultivate a sense of humor.

Taxes on Texas farm and ranch property have been increasing for six consecutive years. Total levies by all units of government in 1952, on an acre age basis, were about 56 per cent higher than in 1946, and were approaching the 1931 record high of 29 cents an acre.

This upward movement established a new trend in the record of farm taxes dating back to 1890, say L. P. Gabbard and R. G. Cherry of the department of agricultural economics and sociology, Texas A&M College, who have released the findings of a study into postwar farm and ranch real estate taxes.

Hikes Not Uniform
They point out that farm and ranch taxes have not risen uniformly in all counties during the postwar period with the trend being reflected in the economic conditions, changes in population and other situations within the counties.

Taxes have increased since 1946 in each of the 18 major type-of-farming areas of the state, varying from 14 to 107 per cent. The greatest increases occurred in the Lower Rio Grande Valley and Rio Grande Plains areas where taxes have more than doubled. Increases ranging from 75 to 100 per cent have occurred in the Panhandle wheat area, Canadian River grazing area and in most of the Edwards Plateau counties. Areas with increases of less than 25 per cent include the North Central grazing area, Northeast Texas Sandy Lands and Grand Prairie areas.

A national contest to select a trade-mark name for Jersey dairy products was launched at the 85th annual meeting of The American Jersey Cattle Club held in Chattanooga, Tenn., last Wednesday.

The contest will last through August 15 and offers $1,500 in prizes plus free trips for winning 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America contestants. A grand prize of $1,000 will be awarded to the person submitting the best trademark suggestion in the opinion of the judges.

Trade Unions Meet

BRUSSELS, BELGIUM — About 250 representatives of 50 to 60 countries are expected to attend the third world congress of the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions in Stockholm July 4-11.

More than 100 persons heard varied opinions and joined discussions of farm problems at the meeting sponsored jointly by the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District and the Martin County Chamber of Commerce.

A resolution was passed authorizing Cecil Bridges, president of the Martin County Chamber of Commerce, to name a committee consisting of one banker, one farmer and one businessman from each of the three counties to meet in the future and formulate a program to be offered to the farmers and businessmen of the area.

Bridges indicated that the committee would be named early next week. Afterward the committee is to call another public meeting either in Midland or Big Spring to present their findings and their program.

Presiding at the Stanton meeting was B. O. Brown, vice chairman of the Board of Supervisors of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District. Cecil Bridges welcomed the group.

R. W. Currie of the State National Bank of Big Spring explained the banker's view, saying that they favored soil conservation.

American Bombers Break Three Records In Trans-Ocean Hop

FAIRFORD AIR BASE, ENGLAND — An American B-47 Stratofortress bomber streaked across the Atlantic in five hours and 22 minutes Saturday, setting a speed record of 578 miles per hour for the non-stop U. S.-England flight.

It was the last of a flight of 45 of the sleek, swept-wing six-jet USAF atom bombers to land at this air base in the heart of sleepy Gloucestershire—and the third Saturday to break the U. S.-England record.

The 18 planes landing Saturday completed a mass flight of 45 stratofortresses of the 390th Medium Bombardment Wing along the 3,150-mile sky route from Limestone, Maine, to Fairford.

The crew of the fastest-flying plane included a Texan, Lt. Lawrence Grant, 33, of Corpus Christi.

Two other B-47's set trans-Atlantic records Saturday but in each case they only stood a few hours. One of the first planes to land did the trip in five hours 30 minutes, clipping six minutes off a record set Friday. It was followed rapidly by another B-47 which crossed in five hours 29 minutes.

WE'RE LISTENING

A very wise man once said, "You can only learn by listening."

The fellow that does all the talking is only giving voice to what he already knows.

He can only learn something new by "listening" to other people.

WE WANT TO LISTEN TO YOU.

We talk to you regularly in our ads. Now we want to know if we are saying what you want to hear—the way you want to hear it!

$ be helpful! $

All we ask in the Community Survey is that you go through the paper right now while you are sitting there reading it in comfort and mark down four names indicating which four ads you think are best. Sure, we'd like to have a letter—if you will be good enough to write one. What we want in that letter is all the things you can think of about why you like some of our ads, and why you did not like the others.

Folks who are already sending in answers tell us that the Survey is most interesting and a lot of fun. If you haven't yet sent in an answer or a letter, look through the paper now and learn how interesting this Survey is.

The purpose of The Community Survey is to obtain helpful information that will enable advertisers to improve their service to you readers by preparing ads the way you want them.

When you indicate which ads you think will do the advertisers the most good, it is possible to tabulate that information and give it to the advertisers for their guidance.

On the first page of the paper each day you will find a list of the advertisements to be checked that day.

All you have to do is to decide each day which Large Ad, which Medium Ad, which Small Ad and which Classified Ad you think will do the advertiser the most good... Just write four names on this blank each day.

Cash awards will go to those readers whose selections are nearest to what the majority of readers think. Every week is a separate survey.

YOU ARE NOT REQUIRED TO WRITE A LETTER. The awards are made to those readers whose selections are nearest to the list of ads which get the most votes. The awards are ACCURATE... FAIR... and HONEST.

You do not have to be an advertising expert! All ads are written for you readers. YOU are best qualified to indicate which ads will do the advertiser the most good.

Down Payment Cut For Homes Studied

DALLAS—(AP)—E. M. Spiegel, president of the National Association of Home Builders, said Friday government housing officials are giving "favorable consideration" to a proposal to reduce down payments on houses as much as 50 per cent. Spiegel said NAHB proposed dropping present FHA down payments on homes costing $12,000 from $2,400 to $1,200. Similar reductions on a sliding scale would provide for down payments of $400 on a $7,000 home to $5,000 on a $25,000.

Two Persons Killed As Explosion Levels Fireworks Factory

SCHEENBODDY, N. Y.—An explosion leveled the main building of a fireworks factory near here Saturday, killing two men and injuring a third. The explosion occurred about 4:30 p. m. at the Scheenboddy factory, owned by Albert Scheenboddy, 48, of Scheenboddy, and Anthony Scheenboddy, 48, of Amsterdam, an employee. Their bodies were charred severely. Vincent Barbus, Jr., 18, was hospitalized with second degree burns of the back, arms and face. He was in fair condition. Police said they were satisfied the three were the only persons in the plant. The cause of the explosion and the monetary loss was not determined. The blast destroyed a 20-by-30-foot one-story, cement block building at the North American Fireworks Company factory about four miles east of the city, along the Mohawk waterfront. Windows were shattered in homes a mile away.

Hopes Dim For Deep Cut In Foreign Crude Import

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Prospects are dimming for any action by this Congress to hold the flow of oil imports to 10 per cent of domestic demand. Hope for a curb hasn't been abandoned by some congressmen. Even should a curb win the committee's approval and then be passed by the House, it probably wouldn't make any headway in the Senate at this season. Changes of the import-curbing proposal were set back this week when it was discovered, presumably in line with the Administration's wishes, from a bill to extend the reciprocal trade act another year. The trade agreement authority expires June 12 and Congress may act by then to renew it. But whether the separate bill to limit oil imports could get anywhere after that is another question. Russell Brown, general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, said he is hopeful that putting the import quota proposal into a separate measure will help it win approval of the House committee. "Adequate Protection" Both proposals first were in a single bill by Representative Simpson (R-Pa.). He divided them Tuesday into two measures. The oil import limitation is in a bill that would amend the trade agreement extension act of 1951 to provide "adequate protection" for American workers, miners, farmers and producers. The Administration has suggested that the oil import question be solved by a voluntary agreement among the importing companies rather than through legislation. Representative Studd (D-Okla.) was among oil state congressmen who expressed hope some action on the import question would be taken. Maintaining Balance He said importation of a barrel of a petroleum product such as residual fuel oil would not mean the conservation of a barrel of domestic crude. The barrel of domestic crude still has to be produced for breaking down into gasoline and other by-products, needed in this country, he explained. "The refining here maintains a balance with all products," he went on. "Bringing in of residual can create an imbalance. "We are not conserving our oil by imports that will not furnish the by-products our economy demands."

Texas Attorneys Elevate Looney To Bar Presidency

AUSTIN—(AP)—Everett L. Looney of Austin has been elected state bar president, succeeding Glenn Turner of Dallas. R. V. Nichols of Fort Worth was chosen vice president. Looney will assume office at the close of the State Bar Convention in Fort Worth July 4. Turner announced results Saturday of the mail balloting a state-wide election just completed among 11,300 lawyers. Coultter Hoppes of Bryan was Looney's opponent. Other candidates in the vice presidential race were William Bonner of Houston and Adrian Spears of San Antonio. Five directors were elected to three-year terms. They are Ben Parten, Sr., Franklin W. C. McClain, Comroe; E. M. Dodson, Martin; Lloyd Wicks Sr., Falls; and A. P. Allison, Kerrville. Looney became a state bar director in 1949 and was elected vice president last year. He is a 1922 University of Texas graduate. He began his practice in his home town of Ennis and was city attorney there from 1922 through 1930. He was an assistant attorney general under former Gov. James V. Allred, was chairman of the Texas Industrial Commission 1936-37, and served as special assistant to former U. S. Attorney General Francis Biddle in 1938-39. He has practiced in Austin since 1933.

Administration Makes Plans To Ward Off Postwar Slump

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Eisenhower Administration has begun building plans and policies to combat any post-defense business slump—a letdown which its economic advisers do not foresee before 1954. In the works, officials disclosed Saturday, are studies on public works, incentives to private investment, liberalization of credit terms, tax adjustments and other tools usable at a time of deflationary hazards. The President's Council of Economic Advisers, still only partly organized, heads up the planning. Under President Eisenhower's instructions, it is amassing data and plans for various federal agencies. It also has engaged as consultants some experts in special fields. The White House announced Saturday that on Monday the President will start regular weekly conferences with his chief economic adviser, Dr. Arthur F. Burns. Patterns Emerging No details on the subjects to be discussed were given out, but the White House pointed out that Eisenhower has just proposed a reorganization plan which would expand the powers of Burns and restore the Council of Economic Advisers to a three-man agency as it was under President Truman. Burns now is the agency's only member. Certain patterns of action already are emerging. Whereas the White House is undertaking to develop a shelf of ready-to-use public works projects, present thinking is against rushing the blueprints into bricks and stone at the first economic tremor. Instead, the tentative policy is to stimulate private investment and expansion first, then aid the states, cities and counties in launching needed projects. Federal loans and guarantees of private loans would be used instead of out-right grants to "make work." Officials emphasized that the stabilization planning is anti-inflationary as well as anti-deflationary. They consider inflation still to be the more immediate problem. High-level business activity and employment is expected through this year. But there is underlying concern over the outlook next year, when defense spending, now leveling off, has turned downward. Private investment in plant and equipment, most federal economists think, also is leveling off. The testing time may come, some believe, at the turn of the year. The planning activity gives substance to the recent assurances by Secretary of Commerce Weeks that the government will not be found "twirling its thumbs" if a recession begins. Federal Reserve and Treasury officials, also, have promised prompt and effective action, when appropriate, to loosen up money and credit. They do not consider the time imminent. ## Mundt Names 162 Ships In Red Trade

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator Mundt (R-SD) said Saturday that before this country ever gets involved in another Korea, it should get a pledge from its United Nations Allies not to trade with the enemy. He made the assertion in releasing on behalf of the Senate investigations subcommittee a list of 162 free world ships it said were known to have engaged in trade with Communist China between Dec. 29, 1952, and April 30, 1953. Of the total, the subcommittee's statement said, 100 were British vessels which made 177 trips to Red China ports in the period of about three and a half months. Testimony to this effect was not named Saturday, the subcommittee staff at a public hearing a few weeks ago, but the ships were given by a member of the subcommittee filled in the details and said all its information "has been confirmed by the Department of Defense."

Mundt, acting as chairman of the subcommittee, noted that the British Information Service had disputed the evidence presented at the subcommittee hearing. He accused the service of being "a little careless and reckless" with the facts. One purpose of the subcommittee statement, Mundt said at a news conference, was "to show how completely confusing and at variance with the facts was the British press release of May 22." "We have a right to expect from our friends and Allies press statements which are completely accurate," he added. Mundt said the subcommittee hoped and expected that the U. S. government would make "every effort" to persuade Britain and other Allied nations to halt all traffic with Red China if the present Korean truce hopes fail to materialize. If an armistice is signed in Korea, he said he thought this country should get a commitment, at the very start of any similar UN action elsewhere, that Allies would be "completely on our side."

Texas Wheat Crop Yields Set Record

DALLAS—(AP)—The North Texas wheat harvest is in full swing, and Guy Dennis of Addison turned up last week with a yield of 48 bushels to the acre. The long-time average for this area is one-fourth of that, 12 bushels. Thousands of bushels of wheat have been shipped from the Electra area, Western Wichita County and Eastern Wilbarger County. Wheat men in Electra estimated 80 per cent of the crop in that area had been harvested. They reported some yields as high as 30 bushels an acre. Grain buyer Walter Elanton of Carrollton said old timers were calling the Dallas area wheat yield "the best ever." The lowest pre-ace yield taken to the Carrollton elevator was 25 bushels, twice the annual average.

Advance Gift Phase Of Girl Scout Fund Drive Is Underway

The Advance & Memorial Gift phase of the Girl Scout Building Fund was launched at a recent luncheon in Odessa. This phase of the campaign is being conducted on an area-wide basis under the direction of Conrad Dunagan of Morshana.

The Girl Scout Building Fund is seeking to obtain $125,000 throughout the 15-county Permian Basin Girl Scout Council to provide minimum camping facilities for the 3,500 Girl Scouts and adult leaders in the council area.

The necessity for the campaign and the proposed construction program was outlined to a group of business men, representing each part of the council area, by Dunagan at the kick-off luncheon. He emphasized the program is an essential activity in the Girl Scout program, and that the fund drive must be carried to a successful completion inasmuch as 100 girls had been denied the opportunity to participate in this Summer's program through lack of adequate facilities.

The proposed program will increase the camp capacity to 500 for the Summer camping period, and will triple the capacity for weekend camping activities.

GARDEN NOTES

Red Spider Summer Pest For Evergreens

(One of a series of articles on gardening in Midland, prepared and submitted by Midland Garden Clubs.)

Midland gardeners are busy with numerous chores these days. Many are fighting insects which thrive in hot weather. One of these is red spider, one of the mites. He is a tiny but destructive fellow who appears on the undersides of leaves and on arbor vitae and juniper.

Plants which have red spider may have a dry, yellow, rusty look of may be covered with fine webs. A severe infestation causes the leaves to drop off and may kill the plant. Some susceptible plants are hollyhocks, violets, columbines, gladioli, roses and phlox.

Gardeners can check for red spiders by shaking leaves over white paper or the hand. If paprika spots which move about show up, it's time to go into action. A strong stream of water from the hose sometimes controls light infestations.

Other methods of control are the use of sulphur dust or a Summer oil spray as Volck, 50 to 1 dilution. Vaportone is successful but must be used with great care and exactly according to directions. It is not enough to dust or spray one time. Repeat two or three times at weekly intervals to destroy newly hatched populations.

Now is the correct time to divide iris rhizomes which have become too crowded. One cannot be sure of blooms the first year after dividing, but best results may be obtained by leaving two fans of leaves to each division, if possible. Plant so that the top of the rhizome is level with the top of the ground. If continued bloom from perennials such as shasta daisies, azaleas and columbine are desired, faded blooms should be cut off. When a plant is allowed to go to seed it usually stops producing blossoms. Foliage of Spring blooming bulbs should be yellowed and dry by now and can be removed and destroyed.

Those feathery leaved trees which are covered with fluffy pink blossoms right now are mimosa. They like a neutral soil but will tolerate alkali.

LOST 47 POUNDS

Here is a sensible home recipe for taking off extra fat without starvation diet. Just ask your druggist for improved Barrestrate. Mix with grapefruit juice as directed on label. Then take two tablespoonful twice a day. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the way to reduce, return the empty bottle for your money back. Mary E. Meyer, 708 E. Barton, Temple, Texas, states as follows: "I wrote you in January that I had lost 47 pounds taking Barrestrate. Since then I have taken two more bottles and lost an additional 7 pounds, making a total of 54 pounds. I now wear a size 18 dress, instead of 44. When I started to take Barrestrate, I weighed 215 pounds. I now weigh 161."

Next Community Theater Play To Open Wednesday

The Midland Community Theater's next production, "The Importance of Being Earnest," by Oscar Wilde, opens Wednesday for a four-day run at the City-County Auditorium. The box office will be open for theater members Monday afternoon and evening and to the public each afternoon and evening from Tuesday through the run of the play. Box office hours are 1 to 5:30 p.m. and 7:30 to 9 p.m. Telephone reservations will be accepted starting at 1 p.m. Tuesday. Oscar Wilde's brilliant comedy appears on the surface to be typical Summer theater material, airy persiflage among nice but trivial people; however, Wilde uses this lightweight framework to make sparkling sardonic comments on society manners and morals that are as appropos today as when they were written. Arthur Nations, who plays the part of Jack Worthing the elegant playboy, is well known to Midland audiences through his performances in "The Madwoman of Chailot" and more recently as the Dauphin in "Joan of Lorraine." Jack's friend and fellow conspirator, Algernon Moncrieff, is played by Charles Dixon, a veteran Midland actor, who was last seen as Charley, the poet, in "Joan of Lorraine." In the course of the play, Jack falls in love with Gwendolyn Fairfax and Algernon with Cecily Cardew. Jack's ward, Gwendolyn, who made her debut to Midland audiences as Tessie, the assistant stage manager, in "Joan of Lorraine," Billye has had theater experience in Dallas and at TCU. The more naive Cecily will be portrayed by Connie Fanning, who has played a number of parts for the Midland theater and will be especially remembered for fine performances in "The Curious Savage" and "Love From a Stranger."

To afford a measure of contrast with the thoroughly amiable quartet of lovers is Gwendolyn's mother, the caustic Lady Bracknell, played by Dorothy Perkins, and Miss Prism, the austere tutor, played by Betty Gaines. This will be Dorothy Perkins' first appearance for Community Theater although she has acted for the workshop and has studied drama in New York. Betty Gaines is one of the theater's most versatile performers, both on stage and backstage. She was last seen as the elderly witch in "Bell, Book, and Candle."

Miss Prism is pursued with elegance and propriety by the Rev. Chasuble, played by C. O. Cooper, another theater mainstay who has played everything from song and dance man to the Archbishop of Rheims (in "Joan of Lorraine"). Two classic British servants are played by Robert Conkling and James Johnson. Both are relatively new at act-ing, although Conkling is an old hand backstage.

Kermit Boy Named Boys' State Delegate

KERMIT—William Dean (Bill) West, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean West of Kermit, will be that city's representative to the annual American Legion Boys' State in Austin. West, who will be sponsored by Clarence Cavett, Post 330 of the American Legion, left for Austin Saturday to join other boys in running the state government for a week. Theme of this year's program is "Democracy in Action." Delegates to Boys State will elect their own state officers and carry on "state business" throughout the week. "It is a privilege and an honor to be given the opportunity to learn at first hand how a state government operates in our democratic system," said the Kermit representative, who has been named president of the Kermit High School Student Council.

Midland Eastern Star Chapter Holds Ceremony Of Installation

Mrs. Clyde Hambleton was installed as worthy matron of the Order of the Eastern Star Thursday evening in the Trinity Episcopal Parish House. Other officers installed were M. V. Coleman, worthy patron; Mrs. R. E. Baker, associate patron; Allen J. Watts, associate patron; Mrs. Vera McLeRoy, secretary; Mrs. Henry Dewey Pope, installing secretary; Mrs. Riley Parr, installing chaplain; and Mrs. Stella Barber, installing organist. Gifts to the installing officers were presented by Mrs. R. G. Crum. Mrs. McLeRoy presented past matron's and past patron's certificates to Mrs. Dewey Pope, Mrs. Roy Jones, James Johnson and R. E. Baker. During the ceremony, Mrs. Pope presented Mrs. Jones with her past matron's pin and Watts presented the past patron's pin to Baker. Mrs. Hambleton's gavel was presented to her by Mrs. Edwards. Mrs. Hambleton's theme for the year is "Unity." Her watchwords are "Charity, Truth, and Loving Kindness," and her colors are orchid, lime and silver. When Mrs. Hambleton was presented in the East recently, Mrs. A. L. Loeffler, a niece from Dallas, sang and dedicated the song "In the Garden of My Heart," to her aunt. The serving table was laid with a crocheted cloth over white linen. The centerpiece was an orchid tree decorated with baby orchids. Silver appointments completed the decorations. Mrs. Vivian Bryant was in charge of the table decorations and Mrs. W. M. Cates, Mrs. John Stilly and Mrs. Hazel Copeland served on the refreshment committee.

Staff Appointments Announced For Girl Scout Camp Mitre Peak

The staff for Camp Mitre Peak, Girl Scout camp in the Davis Mountains that will open an eight-week Summer session June 14, was announced last week by Mrs. C. A. Shoemaker of El Paso, camp director.

A group of 142 Girl Scouts from Midland are included in the 290 campers who have been registered for this Summer's session of three two-week periods and two one-week periods.

The mile-high campsite, midway between Fort Davis and Alpine, is one of the most rugged and beautiful in the region, having a natural swimming pool, heavy stands of large oak trees and many other varieties of small trees.

Midlander Named
The camp program this year will be under the direction of Mrs. David Bishop of Midland, and has been planned to take advantage of the natural resources of the 74-acre canyon.

Campers from a 15-county area will participate in a varied program of hiking, exploring, mountain climbing, cooking out of doors, campfires and swimming.

Mrs. Bishop is a member of the professional staff of the Permian Basin Girl Scout Council serving as acting field director in Midland. She was graduated from Baylor University with a Bachelor of Music degree, and has had four years experience in public school music. She took her training for professional Girl Scout work this year at Asilomar, Pacific Grove, Calif.

Waterfront Director
Waterfront director for Camp Mitre Peak is to be Helen Jean Reeves of Houston, who is returning for her third year at the camp. She is a senior recreation major at North Texas State College, Denton.

and holds a Red Cross safety instructor rating. She has had camp leadership training in college and two years of experience as a counselor-in-training at Camp Agnes Arnold in Houston. She is a former Girl Scout with 10 Summers of camping experience.

All swimming instruction will be under Red Cross supervision and Red Cross certificates will be issued to qualifying campers.

Nurses To Assist
W. E. Lockhart, M. D., is the camp physician, and a resident nurse will be a member of the staff to supervise the health and safety of the campers.

Mrs. Tom Potter of Midland, a former camp nurse at Mitre Peak, will serve for the first two-week period; Mrs. John Harper, Pecos, for the second period, and June Warwick, Mitre Peak counselor in 1950 and a graduate of John Sealy School of Nursing in Galveston, for the last four weeks.

Camp cooks for the central dining room-kitchen will be Mrs. Wilder Michels and Alma Michels of El Paso, who are returning for their second year. Mrs. Michels is a cafeteria assistant at Jefferson High School, and has had a food handlers training course and training in dietetics.

Unit Leaders Listed
Unit leaders named by Mrs. Shoemaker are Charlene Dry, Iran, a senior elementary education major at NTSC and a former Girl Scout and camper at Lous Pharr; Liabeth Martin, San Antonio, a senior elementary education major at the University of Texas and a former Girl Scout with camping experience.

GIRL SCOUT CEREMONY—Pictured above is a flag ceremony at Camp Mitre Peak Girl Scout Camp, held just as the sun breaks over the hill. The campers form a semi-circle around the flagpole to salute the colors as they are raised, and in the background is famous Mitre Peak, for which the camp was named. Camp Mitre Peak will open an eight-week Summer session June 14.

former Girl Scout with camping experience.

Patricia Mousas, Sherman, NTSC student, who has taken a camp leadership course and has had camping experience, and Bettylu Daniel, Pecos, 1953 graduate of Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, majoring in education and sociology. Miss Daniel was a counselor at Mitre Peak in 1950 and has had advanced training in swimming, archery and canoeing.

Assistant unit leaders returning for their second year at Camp Mitre Peak include Nora Lee Carpenter, San Antonio, NTSC recreation major, Margot Frazer, Alpine, former Girl Scout and camper at Mitre Peak in 1949 and 1951, and Sheri Roberts, Decatur, former Girl Scout.

Other counselors are to be Margaret Evans, Mertzon, sophomore at Sul Ross State College, a senior life saver who has had camping experience in church and Girl Scout camps; Carol Jane Weeks, Dallas, NTSC sophomore with camp leadership training and camper experience. Emily Beeler, Mineral Wells, NTSC junior, a senior life saver and a former Girl Scout with nine years of camping experience, and Diane McMurray, Decatur, drama student at Texas Christian University and a former Girl Scout with camp experience.

Experienced Director
Mrs. Shoemaker is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Mascho of Midland and received her college education at North Texas and Texas Western College, El Paso.

She has had a wide experience in Girl Scout activities, serving as a troop leader, a volunteer trainer and a council member.

She has taken the day camp directorship's course, camp counselor's course and the camp director's course, all sponsored by the national Girl Scout organization. This will be her fourth year at Mitre Peak. She has served as program director and assistant director.

Camp Mitre Peak again this Summer will operate at the capacity level. It was announced by Mrs. R. E. Morgan, registrar. About 80 applications above the camp capacity were received and could not be accepted because of the limited facilities.

A waiting list has been compiled, Mrs. Morgan said so that replacements can be made immediately for any vacancy. The registration office will close Sunday and any cancellations should be mailed to the camp director, Camp Mitre Peak, Alpine.

The camper fee of $18 per week covers the cost of food, program materials and insurance. Each camper provides his personal effects and transportation. Camp Mitre Peak is owned and sponsored by the Permian Basin Council of Girl Scouts. Tom Brandon of Odessa is the council president, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Friswell, Jr., are camp co-chairmen for Mid-

RANELLE RHODES TOURS ORIENT

Young Midlander Sloshes In 'Cats And Dogs' Rain

By RANELLE RHODES
(Twelve-year-old Midlander who is on an around-the-world tour with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray R. Rhodes).

ABOARD S. S. PRESIDENT MONROE—This letter is about Hong Kong, China, and Manila in the Philippines. I am writing from the middle of the South China Sea. We are having a kimono party tonight and everyone will be dressed as Chinese and Japanese.

Hong Kong: We got to Hong Kong about eight o'clock in the morning. I think it has the most beautiful harbor in all the world. Hundreds and hundreds of junks came to meet us and we threw them money. We docked on the Kowloon Peninsula and could see Hong Kong on the mainland.

About an hour after we docked we took a ferry over to the Hong Kong side. Then we were going to go to the top of Victoria Peak, but it was too foggy. Instead, we went to the Tiger Palm Gardens. I think the gardens are awful because of the big, ugly wooden statues. But I do like the home of the man who built them. I thought Gump's collection of jade was big, but you should see this man's collection. He is 81 and the richest man in China. It rains in China.

It was getting near lunch time so we drove over the mountains to Repulse Bay Hotel. While we were going over the mountains it started raining. It rains like cats and dogs here. I hear you need some rain in Midland. Well, this kind of rain would probably wash Midland away. The hotel was beautiful and so was the view.

After we ate lunch we were on our way back to the ship. On the way back we went real slow so we could see everything. You talk about dirt and poverty... you should see Aberdeen. It is at the end of a river where all the junks come in to be repaired. It was awful. I just don't see how the people can live on them. About three miles from Aberdeen, we could see Red China. So the people from Red China can't get to Hong Kong they have a huge net stretched from one place to the other and a boat going back and forth. I tell you right now I had a funny feeling when we went by there.

The Chinese bury their dead in the big marble vaults up on the side of mountains. I don't like China as well as Japan.

Manila: As we entered the harbor we saw many destroyed ships. When we docked we took a drive through the walled city. There are about six old Spanish churches that people are living in. Most of them were destroyed by war. There was only one church in the whole city that wasn't hit by war and it was St. Augustine. Then we went to the old Spanish cemetery. The Spanish used to bury their dead in a wall instead of under the ground. After seeing the cemetery we drove out to see a volcano which was in the ocean, but which had a lake inside it. It really was very interesting. On the way we saw houses built off the ground because of the rainy season. And we saw a patrol of police in a jeep with a machine gun. The policeman didn't just have the machine gun, but he had his finger on the trigger. There are a lot of bandits up in the hills and sometimes they hold up cars which are going to see the volcano.

"Kinda Lasy"
The Philippines do not appear to be even remotely related to the Chinese or the Japanese—they look to me like Cubans, Mexicans or American Indians. They do not like to work and have to be made to work. They're just like me—kinda lasy, I guess.

There isn't much in Manila, but I do like Manila better than China. I didn't get to see the Great Wall in China.
In the Philippines, they greet you with bouquets of flowers.
My next letter will be about Singapore and Bangkok.
Please say hello to everyone for me.

RUTH MILLETT SAYS—

Don't Design Married Life After Your Mother's Plans

Just because Mama's marriage pattern worked for her doesn't mean the same pattern necessarily will make her daughter happy.

The following letter bears that out:

"I grew up in a family where Papa was the most important member of the family. My mother catered to his every wish. She cooked what he liked to eat. She never spent money without consulting Dad about it first. She carried out all the rules he laid down for his children, even though I suspect she often thought he was too strict.

hope of changing a relationship after 11 years of marriage?"

Of course there is. You can't change it overnight. But you can do it gradually.
First of all you'll have to stop thinking of yourself as a wife cut from the same pattern as your mother and start being yourself. When you stop acting like you think a wife should act and start acting like yourself you'll be well on the way to changing things.
Don't make the mistake of making a rightabout-face on everything simply because you feel you have been spoiling your husband in the past. That would certainly throw a monkey wrench into your marriage. Instead, examine your behavior as you go along, asking yourself: "Is this my own attitude or is it one I borrowed from my mother?"
If it isn't yours, discard it. If it is yours then it's right for you.

Manners MAKE FRIENDS

Yes they do—manners make friends. It isn't enough to like people. You've got to show that you like them. And there is no more obvious way than in treating them with respect and consideration. And, after all, that is what we mean by good manners. Treat other people as you like to be treated—and you'll not only have good manners, you'll have good friends. Sounds like the Golden Rule, doesn't it?

Community Amassador Plan Stands $600 Short Of Goal

Workers on Midland's Community Amassador Project sent out an urgent plea Saturday for help in the plan to send Dwaln Estes, San Jacinto Junior High principal, to Yugoslavia as the city's envoy. The group still is some $600 short of the $1,600 goal needed to finance the venture.

Individual contributions will be accepted as well as those from Midland social, service and civic organizations. Billie Walker, project worker, pointed out. Donors were asked to take their contributions to the Chamber of Commerce offices, or mail them to Herman Krewit, project treasurer, at Box 1882.

Ambassador Project committees are meeting at 5 p.m. each Monday at radio station KORS until Estes' departure around July 1.

In the meantime, a program of "city education" still is under way for Estes. Talks with city officials, church leaders and merchants have been arranged in order to picture the survey a well-rounded picture of Midland life which he will in turn present to the Yugoslav people.

Upon his return to the United States in late August, Estes will speak and show pictures and exhibits gathered during his stay in Yugoslavia.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1952, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
Drew Pearson says: Lettin' Americans somewhat disappointed by new crop of diplomats; Tariff treatment of Uruguay shows good intentions slipping; U. S. Steel wants to squelch government report.

WASHINGTON — When John Foster Dulles reported to the nation by radio seven days after Eisenhower's inauguration, he promised that the new Administration would not "take South American for granted."

Latin Americans hailed the statement. Foreign observers, noting the menace of communism in neighboring Guatemala and British Guiana, hoped the new secretary of State meant what he said.

Today, five months later, the reaction of Latin American governments ranges from hope, skepticism, to discouragement.

Particularly they are discouraged at the poor calibre of ambassadors the Ike Administration is sending them; also at the discriminatory tariff treatment slapped on Uruguay, staunchest defender of democracy in South America.

Secretary Dulles also stated shortly after taking office that he would appoint 15 top ambassadors to Latin America. So far he has picked five—chiefly heavy campaign contributors or GOP playboys. Here is the roll call:

Ambassador to Brazil — Groomed for this post is James Kemper, arch-isolationist leader of Chicago Tribune Republicans, head of the Lumbermen's Mutual Casualty Company; insurance associate of presidential crony George Allen; sponsor of isolationist commentator Upton Close. Kemper was GOP national treasurer after the Dewey debacle of 1948, never raised much money and was eased out when Guy Gabrielson became GOP national chairman. Kemper knows little about Brazil. America's closest friend in South America, owes his appointment to George Allen, Truman's White House jester who now manages Ike's farm in Pennsylvania. All in all, Brazilians are not happy.

Ambassador to Mexico — Francis White, was assistant secretary of State for Latin America during the bitter period when U. S. Marines landed in Nicaragua. Latins still remember this, especially Mexico, the nation to which White now is accredited. After leaving the State Department, White spent 10 years as a foreign debt collector in Latin American countries, and nobody likes a debt collector. Herbert Hoover asked that White be appointed.

Ambassador to Cuba — Good-natured Arthur Gardner, former social adviser to John Snyder, Truman's secretary of the Treasury. His wife Susy, whose father incorporated old Henry Ford's first auto venture and got paid in stock now worth millions, would make an excellent ambassador. Arthur will work hard, accomplish little, offend no one.

Ambassador to the Dominican Republic — William T. Pfeiffer, his chief qualification for the job is the fact that he is law partner to White House Secretary Tom Stevens.

Ambassador to El Salvador — Best of the L. A. appointees is Michael McDermott, old-school, cautious career diplomat who's been in charge of State Department press relations since the days of Frank B. Kellogg.

Tariff On Democracy
Latin Americans are sensitive people. Long considering themselves neglected because of the Marshall Plan's focus on Europe, Latins resent getting run-of-the-mill or low-grade diplomats.

They also resent the countervailing duty slapped on Uruguayan wool-tops by the Administration which Dulles said would not "take South America for granted."

Last year, Senator Joe O'Mahoney, staunch pillar of the Democratic Party, begged the Truman Administration to impose the same duty against Uruguay, claimed such tariff protection for Wyoming sheep-growers would mean his reelection. But Dean Acheson, wanting to protect good-neighbor trade, realizing Uruguay had a tough time preserving democracy alongside Argentina, said no. Uruguayan wool-tops continued to enter the U. S. A. O'Mahoney was defeated.

Now, despite a program of "trade-not-aid," Dulles has permitted countervailing duties to be slapped on Uruguayan wool-tops for the first time any such duties have been imposed on Latin America.

"Let's go back" wisecrack Latin diplomats "to the days when we were taken for granted."

Suppressed Report
The U. S. Steel Corporation has been pulling backstage wires to suppress a government report regarding last year's steel strike. So far it has succeeded.

The report refutes steel-industry propaganda that blame for the ammunition shortage and defense slowdown goes to the 1952 steel strike.

Instead, the report declares: "The strike had surprisingly little effect upon the economy as a whole. In a few industries the impact was more noticeable and in the case of motor vehicle production was very pronounced. However, contrary to many predictions, defense production was free of any serious or lasting consequences. Because of the minor effects of the strike, recovery was rapid. By the end of August, recovery was almost complete."

When this report was completed by the National Production Authority last month, U. S. Steel got wind of it. Immediately NPA's metals and minerals chief, Bennett Chapline, began pulling strings to block it. Interesting coincidences: Chapline formerly was executive vice president of U. S. Steel, now is on loan to the government for a dollar per year.

When another U. S. Steel man, David Austin, got into the act. He is a member of the Steel Industry Advisory Committee, a group of steel moguls who advise the government on its steel policies.

In a closed-door meeting, Austin bluntly demanded that NPA repudiate its report on the steel strike. He charged that it contained "inaccurate or misleading" statements.

What particularly disturbed him, Austin said, was that the report had been distributed to the federal agencies and other government agencies.

Paul Jordan, an NPA information officer, hastily assured the steel moguls that the report had been prepared "for internal use only," that only 146 copies had been printed and that outside circulation had been stopped.

Meanwhile, the committee decided to "review" the embarrassing report before taking any final action regarding publication.

Merry-Go-Round

KEEP SCISSORS HANDY

Keep a pair of scissors in a kitchen cabinet drawer to use for cutting bacon into small bits for casseroles or muffin toppings, for mincing parsley, and for quartering marshmallows. When using the scissors for the marshmallows, wet the blades first.

KITCHEN SCOOPS

Ever thought of adding scoopers or "dishers" to your kitchen utensils? They come in different sizes and are convenient for filling muffin pans with muffin or cupcake batter. They're handy too for dishing out mashed potatoes. A very small scoop is helpful in making drop cookies of an even size.

Remove Stains And Launder In One Process With Compound

By ALICIA HART
 NEA Beauty Editor

If you've often longed for a washing product that could launder your most delicate clothing and, at the same time, remove stains, you may be delighted to know that such a product is available.

The makers claim that this washing compound will remove lipstick, a firm hold on the fabric, you can make a paste of the compound to cover the spot. After five minutes, rinse out the garment in two lukewarm waters and one cool. If even this procedure doesn't take out the spot, the makers suggest that you allow the paste to remain overnight.

The delicate fabrics for which this product is intended include woolsens, rayons and silks. Cottons, lizens and nylons are also eligible for the treatment, of course. And it's easy to get your gloves clean with this compound, the makers claim.

Lipstick stain-removal problem is licked by this girl with laundering compound intended for delicate fabrics.

The directions for this product instruct you to dissolve one tablespoon in a little very hot water. Add cold water until you have two quarts of lukewarm solution. Stir up suds and launder. Squeeze your delicate garments through the suds as usual. You see that this eliminates the usual stain-removal step that precedes laundering.

If you have a stain that's taken

Paul Laverty Slates Recital For Sunday

A piano recital will be presented by Paul Laverty, Jr., at 5 p.m. Sunday in the parlor of the First Presbyterian Church.

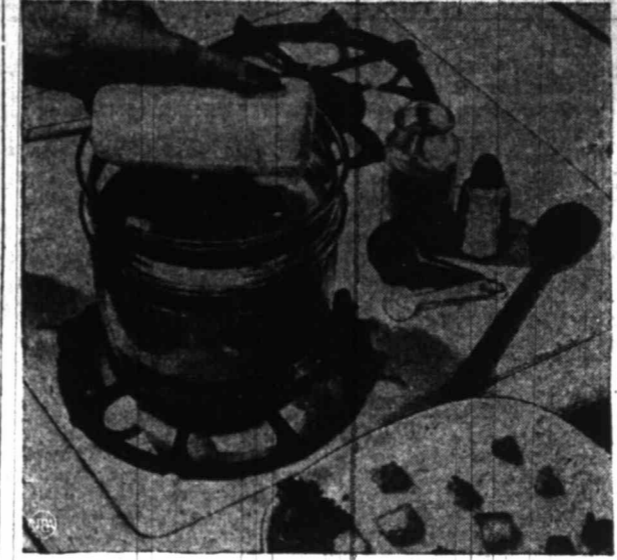

A feature of the program will be the first movement of the "Concerto in A Minor" by Schumann, with Mrs. Frank Miller at the second piano.

The program also will include "Prelude and Fugue in A Minor" by J. S. Bach, "Sonata in D Major" by Mozart and "Improvisations on a Hungarian Folk Tune" by Bartok.

Laverty, the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Laverty of Midland, is a senior piano major in the music department of Texas Technological College, Lubbock.

He is a student of Herbert Colvin, who was featured in Gerahwin's "Rhapsody in Blue" at the second concert of the Midland Symphony and Chorus Association. The public is invited to attend the Sunday recital.

Cheese Soup Is Meal In Itself

Quick cheese soup with vegetables added is a cinch to make with a hand-size electric beater to handle the heavy mixing.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
 NEA Food and Markets Editor

Ever try cheese soup as a main luncheon dish? You should like it, particularly if you have one of those hand-size electric heaters to do the heavy work lightly for you.

Quick Cheese Soup
 (Serves 4)

Two tablespoons butter or margarine, 3 carrots, peeled and grated, 3 medium onions, grated, 2 to 3 tablespoons sifted flour, 2 cups well-seasoned chicken stock (if not available, chicken bouillon cubes and water), 8 ounces Cheddar cheese (grated), 2 cups milk, salt and white pepper to taste.

Melt butter in top part of double boiler over low flame. Add vegetables and braise for 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Blend in flour, and cook for one minute, stirring constantly.

Add chicken stock and cook until thickened, stirring occasionally. Place over boiling water in lower part of double boiler; add cheese. Beat with rotary or whirl beater until cheese has melted (about 2 minutes).

Add enough milk to thin soup to consistency of cream. Season to taste with salt and pepper.

Serve hot or well chilled with crisp croutons.

This soup need not be strained. However, if you wish to serve it strained, put soup through sieve, and reheat if necessary.

Here's a good cheese dish we had recently for lunch. We cut up all the odds and ends of cheese in the refrigerator, Cheddar, processed sharp cheese, and a few pieces of Swiss cheese. Then a pot was greased lightly with bacon fat and into the pot went one can condensed tomato soup. The cut up cheese (almost 3/4 pound) went into the soup and all cooked in the double boiler until the cheese was thoroughly melted. Then in went 1 1/2 cup milk.

All was beaten with our little electric hand-size beater until smooth, and seasoned with salt, Cayenne and Worcestershire. Serve very hot over unbuttered slices of toast.

New Lutheran Church Pastor Takes Duties

The Rev. Erling H. Peterson of Dallas arrived in Midland this weekend to assume his duties as pastor of the new Evangelical Lutheran Church now in the process of organization here.

Mr. Peterson and members of his family, including Mrs. Peterson and four children, will occupy the recently completed parsonage at 2711 West Michigan Street. The Peterson children are Charles Davis, age 13, Stella Virginia, nine, Nora Alexandria, eight, and Halvor Erling, four and a half.

The new Midland minister resigned recently as pastor of the Oak Cliff Lutheran Church in Dallas. He organized that congregation early in 1942.

A native of Minnesota, Mr. Peterson finished high school at Broten, Minn., and received his BA degree from Luther College at Decorah, Iowa. He traveled for a seed company until the end of 1935 when he joined a large soap company as a salesman, covering a territory in North Dakota. He resigned that position July 1, 1940, to enroll as a student in Mt. Airy Lutheran Seminary in Philadelphia, Pa. During his two years in that seminary, he also served as student pastor of a small congregation in Philadelphia. His final year in seminary was spent in Luther Seminary, St. Paul, Minn. He served as pastor of the Fairview Parish, Fairview, Mont., before going to Dallas.

Summer Trips Planned

The Peterson family plans to leave this week to visit his former parish in Montana. Then on July 9, they will leave for Pacific Grove, Calif., where they will attend a Home Mission conference of the Lutheran Church.

Mr. Peterson said plans are near completion for the first unit of a new church plant and Sunday School building. The facility will be erected in Northwest Midland. Construction is expected to start in late June or early July, with completion scheduled by late November.

Author Unable To Solve Mystery

"Say," asks the man at the filling station, while he was running some gas in the car, "who writes those ads for the paper?"

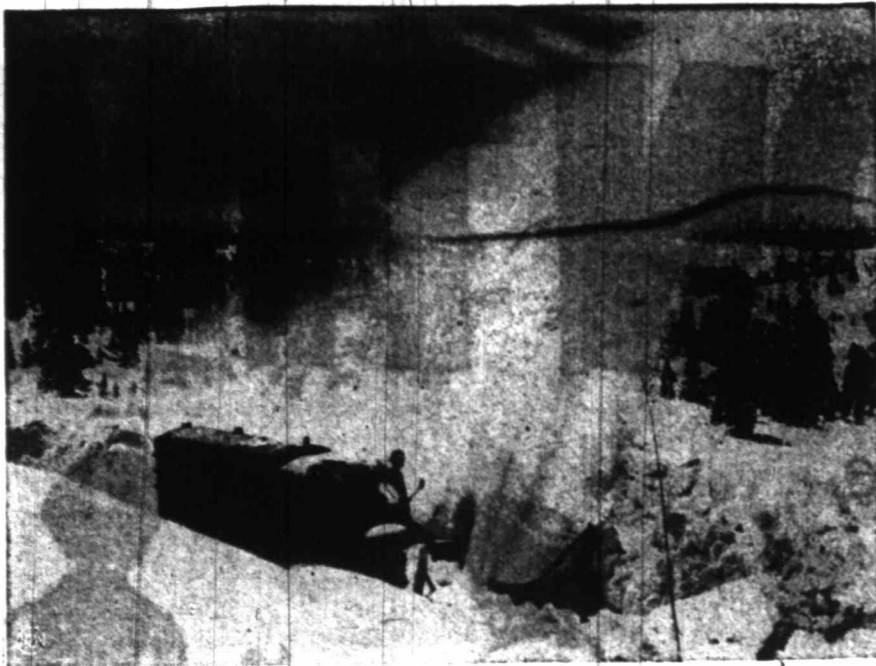

"We had gone to bed the other night, when the phone rang and some guy's weeping voice, with a background of juke box music, rasped out: 'I've got a bet up on this, buddy, who writes those ads?'"

One of our friends burbles out in the postoffice, "Where do you get those ideas for the ads?"

"Dingbust! it we don't know! We don't really write the ads, we just report them to the rest of you. It's you, and you, and you who really make the ads, everytime you take home a sack of that superbiological Turf Special Organic Fertilizer, or make life easier with the purchase of one of those slick Jacobsen Power Mowers. All we do is set them down on paper, and slip in a line or two of advertising, like we did right here."

But, the one that ties it, follows. One of our nice lady customers tells us that her kids won't go to bed at night until she has read them the Turf Special advertising. Ho! Hum! Here we are yawning again. Time for bed.

Health Officer Cox Sees No Gray Mart In Gamma Globulin

ABILENE—P—State Health Officer George Cox said Saturday he doesn't believe now there is a Texas gray market in gamma globulin, useful in controlling the crippling effects of polio.

"This office has no knowledge of exorbitant fees being charged by private physicians for gamma globulin shots," Dr. Cox said.

Cox said no irregularities in handling gamma globulin had been reported to the state health department.

Earlier this week Houston city health officer Dr. Fred Laurent said some doctors had bought up large supplies of the drug before government controls were put on, and legitimately now were charging whatever they wished for the shots.

Cox said there may be isolated cases where gamma globulin was bought before the entire supply was taken up by the office of defense mobilization, but this type would be good only for measles and not polio.

Hapsburg Princess Baptized In Rites Emphasizing Unity

WUERZBURG, GERMANY—P—An infant Hapsburg princess was baptized Saturday in ceremonies designed to show the strong ties between her once imperial family and Austria.

Archduke Otto, pretender to the Austrian throne, and his wife, Princess Regina of Sachsen-Meiningen, heard Austrian Bishop Ferdinand Pawlikowski christen their first child Andrea Maria.

Forty guests, mostly Hapsburgs, came to the chapel. The baptismal water reportedly was smuggled from the Tisza River in Hungary by loyal former subjects. A basket of Austrian earth was placed in the chapel and an old Austro-Hungarian flag hung from the wall.

A final hymn "God Protect Our Kaiser," was sung in both German and Hungarian.

Yugoslav Gesture

BELGRADE—(AP)—Yugoslavia, as a token gesture of its sympathy, has sent ten pre-fabricated houses to Turkey as a good will gift to aid the homeless after a recent earthquake there. Short of housing itself, it made a similar gesture by supplying 30 houses to the Dutch after the floods in the Netherlands earlier this year.

WHERE IT IS

It is world famous, yet few people know the exact area of New York's Lower East Side. Officially, it is one and one-half miles in area, situated between Brooklyn Bridge and 14th Street, and runs from the Borewy and Third Avenue to the river.

Clyde McCoy, Orchestra Take Top Spot On Home Show Slate

Clyde McCoy and his orchestra, appearing Thursday night, at Odessa's County Auditorium has been a favorite of dancers and theatergoers for many years.

McCoy's appearance this week is one of the highlights of the Permian Basin Home Show of 1953.

His own trumpet playing, of course, is superb, augmented by his unusual arrangements which provide an inexhaustible backlog of talent and entertainment.

Clyde offers the tunes that top the "hit parade," but also turns back to the old songs that audiences never tire of hearing.

Composer of many hit tunes, Clyde has frequent requests for his "Tennessee Journey," a song of two lovers in the old Smokies; "Tear It Down," a hit tune he wrote many years ago; "The Canasta Song," a modern tune in keeping with the current Canasta rage; and the sentimental and melodic theme "Lovely Gondolier."

Fans eagerly are looking forward to more fine entertainment like Clyde's famous recording of "Sugar Blues," which has become a musical institution. It is requested by dancers at least three or four times nightly, and has the distinction of being

"America's Most Imitated Record."

Speaking of his recording of "Sugar Blues" this Capitol artist after having sold more than three million copies of "Sugar Blues" has also made an exclusive record for Capitol called "Sugar Blues Boogie."

Other recent Capitol releases are played with equal artistry when McCoy interprets the sweet ballads.

McCoy and his band, featuring the lovely Billie Jane Bennett and handsome Chris Abbott on the vocals, will play for dancing Thursday at 9:30 p.m. Those who prefer not to dance may enjoy the music from the auditorium bleacher seats.

England Attracts 16,000 Americans

LONDON—(AP)—Britain's tourist trade got off to a flying start in the first three months of this year. A record number of 96,000 tourists, including 18,000 from the United States, came to brave the cold and fogs of a British Winter, a current survey shows.

The government-supported Travel And Holidays Association estimates that a quarter of a million Americans will be among 800,000 foreign visitors expected here during a coronation year.

Kickoff Jubilee Due To Open Home Show

A gigantic "Kickoff Jubilee" is planned for the night of Wednesday, on East Fourth Street between Grant and Texas Streets in Odessa. It was announced Saturday by Gene Thummel, ticket chairman for the Permian Basin Home Show of 1953.

Thummel's street dance and "get acquainted" night will almost certainly include impromptu guest appearances by Jerry Colonna and Clyde McCoy, in addition to other stars of the entertainment world. No formal speeches are planned.

A special "band-within-the-band" unit of the Texas Tech Varsitians also will appear to play for dancing, according to Burt Hubbard, director.

The full unit will appear in Odessa on Thursday morning, first day of the show.

Odessa members of the American Legion Auxiliary and of the Alpha Omega Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha will be on hand to sell tickets for the dancing and the stage show which will be so much apart of the home show. McCoy and his famous orchestra will play Thursday night at the Lincoln Hotel Ballroom in Odessa.

Ray Noble, composer of many great hits, and his celebrated orchestra will play Friday and Saturday, also at the Lincoln Hotel Ballroom.

The Texas Tech Varsitians—in full strength—will play all three nights at the County Auditorium.

The stage show of which Jerry Colonna will be master of ceremonies will be presented each afternoon and night Thursday through Saturday, all stage performances at the County Auditorium.

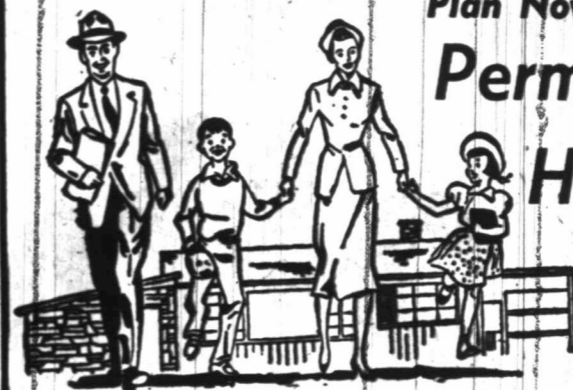

According to Jim Forster, sales manager of the show, the Permian Basin Home Show of 1953, is one of the ambitious home shows in the nation.

The home-owned, non-profit, Permian Basin Home Show of 1953 also will give away a new 1953 Chrysler Windsor sedan, which will be on display downtown in Odessa during the big Wednesday night Kickoff Jubilee.

Louisiana does not have counties, but its parishes are civil and political divisions which correspond to counties in other states.

It is believed that at least three quarters of the white girl babies born in the United States this year will be alive on their 66 birthdays.

Molly O'Day's Dancing Dolls Put Added Glamor Into Show

The song hit "What Is A Show Without Girls" never was more beautifully defended than by Molly O'Day's famous "Dancing Debs."

The Debs have appeared throughout the United States in company with the greats of the show world. They will appear twice daily Thursday through Saturday at Odessa's Ector County Auditorium, along with Jerry Colonna, Jay Lee and the Princess, Daeman and Sylvia, Gillette and Richards, and backed up by the renowned Texas Tech Varsitians as part of the Permian Basin Home Show of 1953.

The Permian Basin Home Show, acknowledged one of the big "big-time home shows" will become a regular biennial feature sponsored by the non-profit Permian Basin Home Builders Association and will alternate with the internationally-famous Permian Basin Oil Show, also held in Odessa.

BUT SEND IT, DON'T TAKE IT

STATEN ISLAND, N. Y.—(AP)—The youth in court here said he had obeyed the judge and sent a letter to his father in Manhattan asking him to appear at the trial.

Why wasn't the father here? He didn't get the letter. The youth had the only key to the family mail box.

The judge ordered him to send the key to his father—and not by mail, either.

Daeman and Sylvia

Distinguished Jugglers Due To Dazzle 'Show' Crowds

There are jugglers and there are jugglers, and then there are Daeman and Sylvia, modern masters of one of the oldest of the theater arts.

Daeman and Sylvia, two youngsters with a whole world ahead of them, are acclaimed by both the press and the public as a distinguished team who have found the blending of artistry and action, laughs and music.

Their personalities vibrate across the footlights as they dazzle the eye with feats almost too fast to follow.

Daeman and Sylvia will appear twice each day as part of the stage show which accompanies the Permian Basin Home Show of 1933, to begin Thursday at Odessa's Ector County Park.

UNCLE EF BARBERSHOP

The barber shop will be closed for an hour tomorrow to honor a man who still had a shaving mug on the shelf there and still tipped 10 cents when he died.

Brother Of Midlander Dies; Funeral Sunday

Funeral rites will be held Sunday in Morgantown, Ky., for Edgar Blaine of Huntsville, Ky., brother of Mrs. Paul E. Vogel, 1508 South Dallas Street, who died early Friday.

Interment will be in Zion Cemetery, Huntsville.

First ocean vessel built by Europeans on the American continent was the Virginia, which was built at the mouth of the Kennebec River, Maine, in 1607.

Churches Of Mexico Play Important Role In Life Of Natives

MEXICO CITY—(AP)—There are ten times more churches than service stations in Mexico. Catholic church officials say there are approximately 16,000 Catholic churches, plus 710 of other faiths, scattered over the nation.

Pemex, which handles all Mexico's petroleum business, says there are 1,500 service stations—plenty for all local and tourist trade. It contends there is no shortage of such gasoline and oil outlets. But stations are not grouped four to a crossroad as in many American cities.

Cholula with a population of around 10,000 has 280 churches. In the immediate area there are 365, one for each day of the year. The state of Puebla, in which Cholula is located, has 1,898. Mexico City has 311 Catholic churches, and is building an estimated 25 or 30 more.

Many of the new churches are a radical architectural departure from the traditional cathedral with its spires and turrets. Modernism is the trend, and some of the new edifices might remind visiting Americans of the more ornate all-glass supermarkets.

Jay Lee and Jacii

Jay Lee Adds Magic, Jacii Adds Beauty

In Jay Lee and the Princess all audiences find something new and different.

Not just another Oriental mystic, Jay Lee—the boy from Tennessee—blends with black magic and leaves people wondering how it's done, time-and-again.

Able abetted by the lovely Jacii, a charmer he found while watching an authentic Chinese revue not long ago in Los Angeles, Jay Lee shows the black art in a new light.

It's part of the big two-day stage presentation—featuring the one-and-only Jerry Colonna as master of ceremonies—Thursday through Saturday at Odessa's Ector County Auditorium. The stage show will be presented in conjunction with the gigantic Permian Basin Home Show of 1933 at County Park.

Positive Concepts Called Reds' Enemy

MANILA—(AP)—The director of the U. S. Foreign Aid program in the Philippines says it is aimed at raising living standards and "not on a negative concept of simply being against something, such as communism."

Dr. Roland Renne, chief of the Mutual Security Agency mission here told a meeting of educators and college students recently.

"Communism may provide us a momentary rallying point, but only by positive, aggressive action to overcome poverty, illiteracy, hunger and disease can we build the condition in which men and women can really be free."

DOG TO BIRD

The canary, popular caged songbird, takes its name from its native locale, the Canary Islands. The name stems from "canis," Latin for dog, perhaps because of the dog-head shape of Tenerife, largest isle of this Spanish group in the Atlantic.

OYSTERS AND PEARLS

Oysters most likely to contain pearls are those with shells that are irregular in shape, stunted, honeycombed by boring parasites, or covered with abnormal growths.

There are no true wild goats in Britain, but some domestic goats have escaped and form "wild" herds in the hills.

BALANCED BOTTLES

Peasants of northern India carry home their weekly milk supply in bottles on their heads. Several of the strange "milk bottles" are balanced atop one another.

There are more than 360,000 miles of oil pipe line in operation in the United States.

Andrews Pastor Now At Dimmitt Church

ANDREWS—The Rev. Raymond VanZandt, pastor of the Means Memorial Methodist Church here for the last five years, preached his farewell sermon Sunday before going to a Dimmitt church.

When VanZandt came to Andrews there was only a membership of some 250, now the roll shows 880 members.

VanZandt has been a minister in the Northwest Texas Conference for 32 years. He predicts a building program for the Andrews church in the near future.

The Rev. N. D. Daniels, formerly of Lockney, will begin duties here Sunday.

Towns called New York, Boston, Hingham, Dedham, Norwich, Dartmouth and Braintree can be found in England.

Home Show Points To Housing Trends

A question sometimes heard these days in West Texas is, "What is a home show?"

This question has perhaps a hundred dozen answers. Much depends upon the person who answers it. Some see the home show as the gathering place of the newest home appliances—electrical servants who reduce housework to the minimum.

Others see the home show as a display of new building materials. Still others think in terms of design or floor plans, landscaping or decorating.

The Home Show is all these, and more.

The Permian Basin Home Show is dozens and dozens of exhibits designed to point up the "new look" in living. For each new appliance on display there's a new building material—perhaps asbestos, plywood, spun glass, fibers or plastic. To match new roofing materials, there are new floor coverings. Fixtures, including plumbing fixtures and lighting fixtures, were never so smart or so attractive.

Up one aisle and down another, the West Texas home-maker will see the newest, smartest, finest, and often the least expensive ideas for modern living.

The Home Show exhibits building will be open all four days of the show, Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, at Ector County Park, Odessa.

Andrews Recreation Program Under Way

ANDREWS—The Summer recreational program of the Andrews School has gotten under way.

Couch Glen Fraser is in charge of the boys' program and Bobby Stahl, high school girls' physical education teacher, is in charge of the girls' activities.

Swimming, tennis, softball, baseball, football and many other sports will be offered during the six-week program.

And David said unto Ahimelech, And is there not here under thine hand spear or sword: for I have neither brought my sword nor my weapons with me, because the king's business required haste.—I Samuel 21:3.

End Of Colonialism?

Secretary of State Dulles, who has not been as sure-footed a foreign affairs leader as expected, nevertheless was in firm stride when he declared the United States should promote self-government in the Near East and Asia and give no aid or appearance of aid to colonialism.

On his recent tour of those regions, Dulles found what others before him have found. The native populations desperately want independence. They want an end to colonial control by Britain, France, or any other.

Insofar as the United States seems to ally itself closely to the aims of these governments in Asia and the Middle East, it too will be looked upon with considerable disfavor.

And so long as Russian or Chinese Communists profess to espouse the nationalistic goals of these peoples, the Reds are likely to have some measure of the success they have had in Indo-China in taking over and distorting movements for independence.

We feel—with good reason—that the Asiatics and Near Eastern folk who allow this to happen are incredibly naive politically. They do not realize they are trading British and French overlords for Communist masters whose tyranny is unparalleled.

Yet, in simple fairness, we cannot hope to impress them with the earnestness of our concern for their freedom and our own if we do not help to lift the colonial yoke from them.

Native Vietnamese in Indo-China do not care to fight and die for French rulers. No effort to enlist large native forces in behalf of freedom there is likely to succeed until France gives the people full control of their own political destinies. We cannot order the French to do this. But we must try hard to persuade them.

In the same way, the British ultimately must turn over control in Malaya, must get their armed forces out of Egypt (after proper safeguards for Suez are set up). And the French must begin to think seriously of yielding hegemony over their North African colonies along the Mediterranean.

These moves will be bitter medicine for the once-great colonial powers. The best they can hope for is somehow to keep the colonial lands within the French or the British family of nations, as with the British Commonwealth pattern.

But there is no alternative. Continued colonialism, and continued help for it from us, carries with it the risk of disaster in the Middle East and Asia. Only communism can be the gainer, and in these territories communism already has gained far too much.

It's hard, says a preacher, for some young couples to settle down after marriage. And it's harder, sometimes, to settle up.

Between The Crosses, Row On Row

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1953, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.) Drew Pearson says: Underpaid congressmen shy away from bill to raise own salaries; Dulles faces revolt from career diplomats over "McCarthyism"; Secretary of Interior McKay's ghost-writer gets him into hot water.

WASHINGTON — Congressmen are shying away from it like a rattlesnake, but one of the most important bills in Capitol Hill is the McCarran proposal to raise the salaries of judges, senators and representatives.

Reason for congressional skittishness is fear of voter criticism when congressmen vote to raise their own salaries. However, the fact is that congressmen and judges are among the lowest paid of all government servants and this columnist, who has been a critic of Congress on some issues, would like to state in advance that there will be no criticism from this typewriter if the McCarran bill is passed.

On the contrary, there will be criticism if it is not passed. Today federal judges are paid on a lower scale than most state judges. New York, for instance, pays its supreme court judges $25,000 while a U. S. district judge, who has comparable rank, gets only $12,500.

Meanwhile, a congressman, who also makes $12,500, has to keep two homes, one in Washington and one in his own district. He has heavy reelection expenses to pay every two years. And the tendency is to elect wealthy men to Congress or else men who have to go in hook politically to the big campaign contributors.

Either is a bad system. The only alternative is a living salary for judges and members of Congress.

John Foster Dulles has got himself betwixt and between when it comes to money to run his State Department or morale to run his State Department. Apparently he can't get both.

On one hand he has to curry favor with the powerful chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire. On the other hand he faces restless, rebellious State Department officials who threaten to quit if subjected to further heckling by Bridges' former assistant, Scott McLeod, now State Department security officer.

When Dulles first became secretary of State, he thought it would be a good idea to curry favor with Bridges, who dominates Senate purse strings. So he hired Bridges' assistant, put him in charge of loyalty tests.

Immediately Dulles ran into trouble over the new ambassador to Russia, Charles Bohlen, whom McLeod considered a traitor.

"Mr. Secretary, on page 9 of your prepared statement, you say: 'The affected industries continue to have before them the opportunity to take their cases to the Tariff Commission for escape-clause investigation, which may result in modification of the tariffs or imposition of quotas.'"

"Further down in the same paragraph you say: 'Moreover, the composition of the Tariff Commission has changed; and industry application in effect now goes before a new and different commission.'"

"Just what do you mean by that new commission?" Secretary McKay: "I must admit I do not know. I thought it had changed from the information I had. I thought it had changed." Mrs. Eberhart: "In what respect?"

Wilson also argues that "adjustments have been made in support-type aircraft, which includes trainers, transports, helicopters, and liaison aircraft, resulting in a reduction of about 1,150." He neglects to mention that the canceled-out trainers include 150 B-47s, which definitely are fully aircraft. Canceling 150 B-47 trainers simply means the Air Force will have to take 150 other B-47's out of combat status to use for training.

The gist of the Wilson document is that the Air Force actually will come out stronger under his budget. This led one Air Force officer to snort: "If Wilson can make the Air Force stronger by cutting five billion out of the budget, maybe he should cut the budget ten billion and make the Air Force twice as strong."

WAPPELLA, CANADA.—(AP)—Jules Flaman gave a tomcat to his son-in-law Lawrence McDonald, who took it 130 miles to Regina. A few weeks later the cat arrived back at Flaman's door after a long trek on foot.

Have A Laugh. By BOYCE HOUSE. We Texans are the way we are because we live in Texas—and Texas is so big, and don't you forget it. In fact, we Texans won't let you. Another reason Texans are the way we are is the history of Texas. A Texan will say, "We won our independence from Mexico at San Jacinto and we were a republic of our own for 10 years" and he will say this in a tone that implies he had a personal hand in those events, which actually took place more than a hundred years ago and, as a matter of fact, he only moved to Texas from Hoboken in 1951—the latter part of 1951, at that.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

Most players pay careful attention to the ace, king, and queen, but only the fine player is careful about the lower cards. In today's hand the contract depended on correct manipulation of an eight and a seven.

North's free raise to two spades in today's hand is not recommended. A free raise should show real value, and in this case North's hand was on the trashy side. South cannot be blamed for jumping to game after North had indicated strength with his raise.

Bridge hand diagram showing North, South, East, and West cards and a key for the opening lead.

West opened the king of clubs and continued the suit, whereupon South ruffed. Declarer drew two rounds of trumps with the ace and king and hopefully led a low heart toward dummy's queen. He hoped to find the hearts breaking 3-3, with the jack in the East hand.

When dummy put up the queen of hearts, East won with the ace and returned a low diamond, and South played low, hoping this opponents would be unable to force out his ace on the next round. West won with the king of diamonds and returned the suit, and South was disappointed when East was able to play the ten of diamonds and thus force out the ace.

Now everything depended on the hearts. South already had lost three tricks and had to win three heart tricks in order to discard the last losing diamond from dummy.

Declarer entered dummy by leading the nine of spades to dummy's ten and returned the eight of hearts. East naturally played low, and South finessed the ten of hearts. When West dropped the nine of hearts, South led his last trump to dummy's queen and returned the six of hearts. This enabled him to win a finesse with the seven of hearts and cash the king of hearts to discard the last diamond from dummy.

South would have lost his contract if he had failed to play the eight of hearts on the second round of that suit. He had to be able to win the third heart trick with the seven in his own hand, which would be impossible if dummy still held the eight of hearts.

CARD Sense

Q—With both sides vulnerable the bidding has been: West North East South 3 Hearts 3 Spades Pass ? You, South, hold: Spades 4-6, Hearts 9-6-2, Diamonds A-K-Q-J, 7-3, Clubs A-5. What do you do?

A—Bid four diamonds. The hand is obviously too strong to pass, and is unimpaired to a raise or to a game in no-trump. You must bid your long suit and await developments.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Flood-Control Developments Present Two Problems To Ike

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Almost unnoticed by city folk, a new kind of local sub-government has grown up in rural United States. It is built around the so-called Soil Conservation District.

A soil conservation district may cross township, county and even state lines. Its limits are the natural boundaries of a drainage area. This area may be as small as a creek or a branch valley. It may take in the land area drained by one tributary. The tributary districts even form watershed associations to form an entire river system.

These districts and associations are becoming better organized all the time. California has had flood control district organizations many years. State law there has given these districts authority to levy taxes for improvements in their own areas.

Several years ago Nebraska passed a law authorizing local watershed groups to organize. Kansas followed suit last year.

R. W. Rogers, chief of the records section of U. S. Soil Conservation Service, in the Department of Agriculture, reports that at the end of 1952 almost 2,500 soil conservation districts had been formed in the United States and its territories.

These districts contain 80 per cent of all the agricultural land and 85 per cent of all the farms and ranches. Eleven states, the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico completely are covered with locally managed districts. It will be necessary to organize only 140 more districts to cover the entire U. S. More than 1,350,000 farms now are cooperating.

Already they have their own trade association. It is called the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts. W. S. David, Jr., of League City, Texas, has been national president the last two years.

Pressure On Congress. What is in the making here is a powerful new farm organization—a powerful new farm lobby and pressure group, some people believe—with a common interest, a common problem and a common goal.

The common interest is water and land. The common goal is to get the maximum aid from every source for proper utilization of water on land and the prevention of destruction of the land by too much water in flood time.

Already there are evidences that this new element in the old water lobby is beginning to throw its weight around. R. A. McConnell, Jr., of Lincoln, Neb., has headed delegations of citizens from his area, which have come to Washington twice in the last six months demanding more attention to its problems.

When Congress was threatening to cut off appropriations for continuing work on 11 Department of Agriculture watershed development projects, delegations from these areas came to Washington and turned on the heat. They were able to save half of their requested $15,000,000 appropriation in the House. The Senate has yet to act.

That the soil conservation district story has an effective appeal in Congress is further shown by the fact that the House already has appropriated money for starts on 48 new federal-aid projects for watershed protection.

All these developments present the Eisenhower Administration with a couple of dandy new problems. Help From Uncle Sam. One of the principles of this business administration was that federal handouts for local public-works programs would be reduced. The government would refrain from doing things that local citizens could do for themselves.

The Soil Conservation District movement is a local movement. All right. The districts in many cases levy taxes against themselves, float local bond issues, get allocations from highway funds and even state government help for many of their projects.

The districts are voluntary organizations. There is no federal compulsion to belong. But when the bills get bigger than the soil conservation districts feel they can pay themselves, they aren't going to be above asking for help from Uncle Sam.

What happens to the principle of stopping federal aid for local developments, in such cases, remains to be seen.

The second problem facing the federal government is whether it is going to build up a third bureaucracy in the Department of Agriculture to deal with land and water problems.

Already the government has Army Corps of Engineers and Bureau of Reclamation with divided responsibility over big river projects. Almost every study of government reorganization has recommended that their work should be unified.

A Presidential Water Resources Commission headed by Morris L. Cooke last year recommended that a single agency coordinate all water-use policy and river-basin development. Instead of that, however, a fair start has been made here to split the baby in three.

ELIZABETH the Queen. By Marion Crawford. Former Governor to Her Majesty. A small portrait of Queen Elizabeth II is included.

QUEEN MARY broke through much of the red tape which surrounded a woman of the Royal Family. Queen Elizabeth has followed in her grandmother's footsteps and gone a good deal further.

At the age of 16 she insisted on being allowed to join the ATS, and there obtained a valuable insight into the lives of other women, a knowledge she could never have picked up from a lifetime of tours and inspections.

From the first she has been interested in the problems which confront people outside palace walls. She has a deep concern for the underprivileged.

She hates to think of people suffering, or being denied justice, or comfort.

Although as Queen she must remain above politics, it is certain that she will always keep an eye open for the rights of the individual.

Then, after those invaluable months in the Army, where for the first time the public read of a Princess lying on her back in oil-stained overalls, tinkering with the engine of a lorry, she married Prince Philip.

That was a love match compared with any in fiction. It is not of awe, and sometimes terrifying, that she prefers that human approach more in keeping with the times.

Queen Victoria loved to dance herself, and certainly did so with her beloved Prince Consort, but she never danced her own dances. The Duke of Edinburgh's life has not been behind closed doors. He has lived always among the men of action, whose thoughts and feelings he can translate to the Queen, giving her an insight she would never have been able to gather in any other way.

There is no doubt that the position of the Throne has undergone great development and expansion in the past 50 years. Britain's Royal Family have gone through Queen Elizabeth as Mrs. Montagu, an entertaining society hostess, the past few centuries. Never have they been so loved and so much loved as they are today.

When they visited South Africa on that triumphal tour of 1947, such was their charm that the Republic's critics who most keenly attacked them were silenced by it and completely won over.

Queen Elizabeth has that natural dignity so necessary to a position which makes her the center of all eyes wherever she goes, she has the charm and personality which make people warm to her as a person regardless of her rank, and she has a profound background knowledge about the meaning of her position in the world.

I often used to think, as I watched Princess Elizabeth leading a long line of dancers round the Palace ballrooms during those informal evening parties she so enjoyed, that this was an entirely new view of Royalty.

Not for her the distant dignity which makes people warm to her as a person regardless of her rank, and she has a profound background knowledge about the meaning of her position in the world.

Queen Victoria loved to dance herself, and certainly did so with her beloved Prince Consort, but she never danced her own dances. The Duke of Edinburgh's life has not been behind closed doors. And though the Queen cannot refuse to sign she will no doubt exercise the power of advice and suggestion so often used by her Royal ancestors.

Each sovereign in turn, from his permanent status and his long knowledge of affairs of State, commands a wide area of experience. Crisis have come and gone and our Kings and Queens throughout the years have known how to deal with them. A distinguished South African said, after observing Princess Elizabeth throughout the Royal Family's tour of the dominions: "If there are still Queens when she comes to inherit the Throne, I think she will make the greatest one of all." And this, to me, is Elizabeth, the Queen of our time.

Jerry Colonna To Emcee Show

One of the most widely-traveled stars in show business is Jerry Colonna, master of ceremonies at the Permian Basin Home Show's stage shows June 11 through 13 at County Park, Odessa.

In company with Bob Hope, Vera Vague, Frances Langford and others, Jerry visited every war theater, appearing before millions of troops during World War II. His various USO tours circled the globe more than 10 times. As a consequence, Colonna sticks close to his San Fernando Valley home as much as possible, limiting his travels to such personal appearance tours as the one which brings him now to Odessa, and the Permian Basin Home Show of 1953.

"If this show is all I hear it is," says Colonna, "it will certainly take its place among the great shows of its kind in America."

Colonna was discovered, in fact, by Bing Crosby when the crooner was operating California's famous race track, Del Mar, at a time when both comedians were stopping by to watch the bangtalls. Crosby introduced the two, and Hope immediately signed Colonna for a featured comedy and singing spot on his "Peppodent Show."

Their association lasted more than 10 years.

Colonna is master of ceremonies of the stage show scheduled for matinee and evening performances Thursday through Saturday at County Auditorium.

Colorful Flag Day Rites Are Scheduled At Big Spring Park

BIG SPRING—One of the most colorful Flag Day ceremonies ever to be staged in this area will take place in Big Spring at 7 p.m. Sunday, June 14.

A joint project of the Elks Lodge of Odessa, Big Spring, Midland, and San Angelo, the pageant will be enacted at the Bronco Ball Park in Big Spring.

Star performers in the ceremony will be the crack Webb Air Force Base Drill Team, led by Master Sergeant Shelby Scott.

Sgt. Scott's 60-man squad of airmen, experts at precision drill with Springfield rifles, will act as flag bearers during the formal ceremony and will stage a military drill performance after the ceremony.

The drill team made its maiden performance at Midland, June 3 during the 19th Annual Rodeo Parade. The snappy squad brought an unusual ovation from onlookers as its members ran through the manual of arms while they marched.

W. C. Ragdale, Exalted Ruler of the Elks' Lodge No. 1590 at Big Spring, said that the Flag Day ceremonies will include historical recognition of the six flags that have flown over the United States.

A well-known speaker whose name has not yet been announced will make a brief patriotic address at the close of the ceremony, Ragdale said.

Elks expect up to 2,500 spectators at the Sunday ceremony.

FROGS FROM FRANCE

The English attributed the assumed weakness and small stature of the French, during the 16th Century wars between the French and English, to their eating of frogs. Hence, frog eaters, which later was shortened to "frog," a common nickname for a Frenchman.

Englishman Ray Noble Adds Touch Of Humor To Program

To Ray Noble's accomplishments as a composer-conductor-pianist-arranger must be added stellar rating as a comedian. For many seasons, he has been a featured star of the "Edgar Bergen-Charlie McCarthy Show." He composes, arranges, and conducts his own music — and matches wit weekly with the irrepressible Charlie McCarthy. Noble acts as Charlie's confidant, is often the butt of the little knot-head's jokes, and between innings, manages to deliver a few verbal punches of his own—in an English accent.

In his years on the air with George Burns and Gracie Allen, which preceded the Bergen show, Ray attracted wide attention by his frequent impersonations of a typical P. O. Wodenhouse Englishman, a character which added much to the humor of the program.

Ray repeated this characterization in the motion picture which he made with Burns and Allen and Fred Astaire, "Dames in Distress," leading his orchestra and playing a full length comedy role as well.

As everyone who has met Ray Noble during his lengthy stay in America will attest, he is a complete refutation of the supposition that Englishmen have no sense of humor. His wit is keen and his suave polished showmanship in front of his hand in a theater or night club reminds many of actor Roland Young. Except for the fact that both have brief blonde mustaches, however, the physical resemblance ends there. Noble is slimmer, taller, and younger—than Young!

Ray Noble and his celebrated orchestra will play for dancing Friday and Saturday nights at the auditorium in Ector County Park in Odessa as part of the gigantic Permian Basin Home Show of 1953. Tickets are available at the Midland Chamber of Commerce, the A & L Lumber Company, Home Lumber Company, Acklen Title Company and Lone Star Lumber Company.

Comedy Dance Duo Promises Fun In Odessa

The lovely lady is Shirley Richards. Her charming partner is Bob Gillette.

Nice people, these two. Their entertainment runs the gamut of comedy with a vast sufficiency of talent rounding out their peculiar goings-on. This personable, well-groomed couple, shown to their very fingertips, know their way around the show world.

Glib and handsome, with an infectious grin, Gillette plays it straight for the sassy, tall and gangling dame with the baby blue eyes. She is amazingly loose-limbed and knocks off high kicks with the ease of one Charlotte Greenwood, a never-to-be-forgotten grand dame of not so many years ago.

Their obvious enjoyment in their work creates the magic which makes them just about the cutest, cleanest, cleverest bit of comedy around today.

They're part of the two-day stage shows, Thursday through Saturday at the Permian Basin Home Show of 1953.

Stage shows, emceed by the one-and-only Jerry (Professor) Colonna, will be held promptly at 3 and 8 p.m. at Odessa's County Auditorium.

If Arizona continues its present rate of population increase, the number of people in the state will double in 15 years.

Automobile Will Be Given Away At Show In Odessa

In a day and age when nobody believes you'll ever "get something for nothing," somebody comes along who's perfectly willing to give you—absolutely free, no strings attached—a brand-new 1953 Chrysler sedan.

What's more, it's fully equipped. This handsome new Chrysler is a gift from the Permian Basin Home Show of 1953. It can't be bought, because it is already sold.

You can't buy chances on it. There simply is nothing to buy, nothing to pay, nothing to do but visit Odessa's big event of 1953, the Permian Basin Home Show.

Exhibitor Bud LaQuey, one of dozens who plan to help show the West Texas family what's what in modern living and convenience, says

"This is one time we prove there is a Santa Claus, even in June. This Chrysler was purchased in full by the Home Show Committee as one of the attractions of the biggest event of the kind in West Texas history. We'll have guest registration booths located throughout the showgrounds. To become eligible to receive this new Chrysler absolutely free there is just one thing to do. That is to sign our guest book."

LaQuey uttered some strange words as he said, "The last thing we want right now is your money."

The home-owned, home-operated Permian Basin Home Show is being presented to the West Texas family as a means of showing them what conveniences and luxuries are in store for those who build or buy during the year 1953. It is a non-profit enterprise which will exhibit daily for four days, Thursday through Sunday. Guest stars whose appearances will be highlights of the show will be Clyde McCoy and his orchestra, the inimitable Ray Noble and his orchestra, Jerry (Professor) Colonna and others.

INVENTED UKULELE

Invention of the ukulele generally is attributed to Manuel Nunez, a Portuguese. It was introduced to the Hawaiian Islands about 1877.

Manchurian Farms Lead Soviet Scheme

HONG KONG—Ever since the Chinese communist took over China and began leading that vast country into Moscow-bred economic and political patterns, they have used Manchuria as their laboratory and testing ground. Now it seems Manchuria is to lead the way toward Soviet style collective farming.

Recent reports from a farm conference show that 345 state farms have been established there, covering 465,530 acres of cultivated land. There are 43,000 workers on the project, including 20,000 on 29 "mechanized" farms. Against the vast backdrop of Manchuria the total acreage is only a midsize figure.

But the Reds are devoting major attention to the collective farming, apparently in a quest for more farm production to keep step with the Red's ambitious five-year industrialization plan.

And the mouse was so snappy with the Huffen, the mouse picked up the piano, and the violin, and the rooster and walked away with them on his back without saying another word.

Younger Ages, Larger Numbers, Worse Crimes Make Juvenile Delinquency Ever More Serious

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

Special workers used to say the juvenile delinquent of today is the criminal of tomorrow. They've changed that to fit current conditions: the juvenile delinquent of today is the criminal of today.

More and more children are falling into the category of juvenile delinquency. They are starting younger. And, what is most serious of all, children nowadays don't stop with breaking a window or stealing a candy bar. Now they commit grown-up crimes like murder, rape, arson, larceny, assault.

A study of statistics compiled by government agencies, plus a cross-country check spotlights this tragic situation.

The finger is on youth in this line-up, and all over the nation. Juvenile crime is steadily increasing in seriousness.

Crimes More Serious

1. Juveniles today commit serious crimes. They are no longer merely mischievous; now they are full-scale enemies of society while still in their teens. For example, 61.7 per cent of all persons arrested for burglary in the U. S. last year were under 21.
2. The age at which children commit serious crimes steadily is decreasing. It is hard to think of a 14-year-old as a real criminal, yet more than 13 per cent of all persons arrested for auto theft last year were under 18, and almost one out of every four arrested burglars was under 18.

3. This is not just a big city problem. The Children's Bureau keeps track of the number of delinquents brought to court. Between 1948 and 1951, the number went up substantially, but it went up more in places where the population was less than 100,000. Some smaller cities noted a 50 per cent increase in that period.

4. The situation almost surely will get even worse, for the simple reason that there will be more children. The Bureau of Census' figures show that, by 1960, we'll have 42 per cent more children in the juvenile delinquency age bracket than we had in 1951.

Basketball, but not enough to go around. And when we do go in there, most of the times hang around there and get sick of hanging there, so I come out and I go to hanging around—just hang around and talk."

That leads to Step 2, the gang: "What happens is a group of kids get together and pick a name and make it a club, and maybe they'll go out and play basketball or something, and stick together as a team—a basketball team—then some other gang comes along. They don't like what you did and they come down, and they don't like the Saxons from 110th Street or something, so they come over and they start trouble."

Always A Friend

And then comes Step 3, crime: "If we're going out on a stickup or breaking into a car, we don't do that as a whole gang, together. A whole gang is too many at a time. Two or three guys, that's better. But being in a gang, that's where you get the idea, you learn the ropes, you learn how to make a slip gun. And if you get in trouble, well, you know you got friends if you're in a gang."

In New York, the pattern is plain. Police Department figures show boys under 18 to be advanced criminals. In the first six months of 1952, the under-18 group committed nine homicides, 31 cases of rape, 185 cases of robbery, 117 of felonious assault, 809 of burglary, 138 of grand larceny and 238 of automobile theft. Sadistic Youth to be 22 per cent above the 1950 total. Increases also were noted in Atlanta and Kansas City, Mo., although in the latter city the increase was attributed solely to a population rise.

But there can be no doubt about the nation-wide situation. From 1948 to 1951, all major offenses committed by juveniles rose sharply. During the first six months of 1952, there were more serious crimes committed by 18-year-olds than by any other single age group. And, of all persons arrested for any crime last year, 1.8 per cent were 17 or less.

Juvenile delinquency is getting more juvenile and more delinquent with each year.

A third cause is the historic one that plagues cities—nothing for the children to do, except gather in the corner pool room or other trouble-breeding spots. Nothing to do but hang around. Hanging around spells trouble.

In New York, there is a local CBS radio program called "This Is New York." Its conductor, Bill Leonard, took a tape recorder into a section that's rife with crime. He asked one teen-ager what he did after school, and the answer is a classic description of Step 1 on the road to juvenile crime:

"They Start Trouble"

"Just hang around. We have nowhere to go. Go to community center. There's nothing much there to do because they don't have much equipment there, from what I see.

There are two theories about the origin of oil, one that it was formed from plants and the other that it was formed from inorganic materials.

Deselized Railroad

SAN FRANCISCO—(P)—Western Pacific Railroad has achieved complete deselization, except for occasional use of steam power in periods of peak traffic and in standby service.

Diesels handle 99.4 per cent of freight traffic, 100 per cent of passenger train miles and 98.2 per cent of yard service locomotive hours.

If present trends continue, California will challenge New York as the most populous state in the United States about 1970.

New Bathroom Fixtures Are Far Cry From Old

By MR. FIX
Distributed by NEA Service

In bygone years Americans spoke of their homes as having "five rooms (more or less) and a bath." Then along came some ingenious fellow (or fellows) who dreamed up bathrooms, and the path moved into the home. Since then fellows of that stripe have come a long way on the slogan, "Build a Better Bathroom."

It would be well to look into what they've accomplished if you intend to modernize your present bathroom, or if you're building a new home and want to have "nothing but the best" in the bathroom.

Let's take a look at fixtures, using the bathtub and shower as the first examples.

combing thing because they are versatile; ideal for installation in bathrooms, attics, basements and garages; in spaces as small as 22 inches square and 78 inches high.

There is something new in shower heads, too. They are non-clogging and adjustable to the spray you prefer. Mixing valves are improved and provide either thermostatic control of water temperature, one-valve mixing control, or a two-valve control for manually tempering the water.

Other Improvements

Water closets are of three main types—the wash-down, the reverse trap and the siphon jet. The first mentioned is least expensive, while the latter costs most and is, naturally, the best. Most recent innovation in water closet design is the one-piece unit which can be placed away from a wall for cleaning ease.

Modern washbasins offer the maximum amount of usable space. The best ones have a large amount of flat space or built-in shelves. Like bathtubs, washbasins vary greatly in style and size, each of the more popular being D-shaped. Some basins are wall-hung, others have glass or chrome-plated legs.

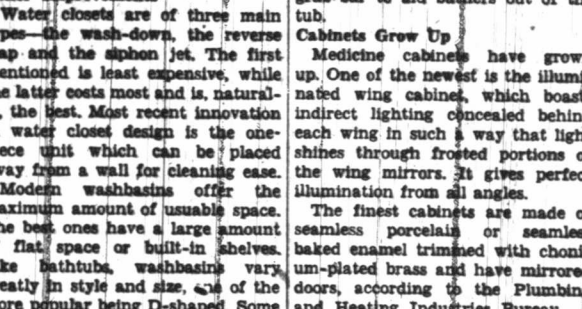

Basins most preferred today have two valves—for hot and cold water—and one spout to permit tempering of water. The better faucets have light, fingertip control action and improved valve mechanism for greater durability and precision. Good quality valves are well worth the slight extra price.

Designers have overhauled bathroom accessories, too. One convenient safety feature is the bathtub grab-bar to aid bathers out of the tub.

Cabinets Grow Up

Medicine cabinets have grown up. One of the newest is the illuminated wing cabinet, which boards indirect lighting concealed behind each wing in such a way that light shines through frosted portions of the wing mirrors. It gives perfect illumination from all angles.

The finest cabinets are made of seamless porcelain or seamless baked enamel trimmed with chromium-plated brass and have mirrored doors, according to the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

When old-timers fondly reminisce that "these were the days," they aren't talking about the scene at left above.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

BY NORTH CALLAHAN

NEW YORK—Making a success in this city does not always mean staying here. An example is Oliver Cromwell Carmichael who has just resigned as head of the Carnegie Foundation to accept the presidency of the University of Alabama on September 1. I am only one who feels keenly New York's loss of Dr. Carmichael—and the gain of Alabama. For he is a big man even in this city, big in a genuine way. I have spent many happy hours with him and his fine family, both here and in their Asheville, N. C., home, hours which always were beneficial to me too. But it is understood that Alabama officials asked him four times before the educator felt he could accept their call. Perhaps he will be in active service there longer than these local retirement rules usually allow. A native of Alabama with a distinguished record as chancellor of Vanderbilt University, this esteemed gentleman aptly was paid tribute by the president of Columbia University who once told me that "Oliver Carmichael is both kind and wise."

Went over to the Empire Theater and saw Shirley Booth in her farewell performance of the play, "Time of the Cuckoo." It also is the swan song of this famous old playhouse which is being torn down to make way for a new office building at Broadway and 40th Street. Found it hard to keep my mind on the play for thinking of those who had gone before. On this now-mellow stage, Ethel Barrymore made her debut 60 years ago. Helen Hayes, our best actress, played here when she was 18 years old. Others to grace the Empire in their first or early-career performances were Ina Claire, Katharine Cornell, John Drew, Billie Burke, Ethel Waters—and even the timeless Maude Adams.

Down on lower 5th Avenue, an aura of old New York remains vivid and dreamy. At the end is picturesque, historic Washington Square and not far up 5th is the old Brevoort Hotel, no longer in use except its cafe-part. This was the locale which was written about so copiously and well by Edith Wharton. Most of her aristocrats lived also out of town in their country homes in such nice places as Rhinebeck up the Hudson, while maintaining their 5th Avenue residences and trying to keep up with the Astors.

Manhattan Musing: a local minister told his congregation that when they started to worry about where the younger generation is going, to remember where they came from.

LOST CHANCE OF 20TH CENTURY— Laughing Englishman Fades Before Mystery Is Solved

By HAL BOYLE
LONDON—(P)—We have a mystery today. It is the strange case of the laughing Englishman. When I set out from America for London, I had two goals: To see Queen Elizabeth get her crown, and try to catch an Englishman giving a real, roaring laugh. So far as I could find in the history books, the last time an Englishman laughed out loud in public was during the first Elizabethan era, 400 years ago. There was a doubtful case in the provinces in 1889, during Queen Victoria's reign. But the accused man reestablished his social standing by explaining it wasn't a laugh at all. He was merely indulging in a dry chuckle, which was perfectly allowable under the British ground rules for humor at that time, when suddenly he got a frog in his throat and coughed explosively. His friends let him off with a reprimand to be more careful.

Chance Of Century
But London was in such a mood of mellow happiness over the coronation, I felt sure the stolid reserve of one of John Bull's sons would crumble, and he would break out laughing. There might not be another chance like this for centuries.

When I told an old British acquaintance of my quest, he said: "Really, old boy. You ruddy Americans are always looking for the impossible. Mind you, I don't say you won't hear a loud laugh in London. But if you do, I wager it will be an Irishman, a Scot, perhaps even a Welshman. "But an Englishman? I must say I doubt it. One does have one's traditions, after all, doesn't one? They made the ale for the coronation a bit stronger than usual, and one cannot tell what any man will do if he gets too deep in his cups, can one?"

So I went into a pub—the Pink Griffin. Some time later I heard a sound as of a rusty gate, creaking on a long-unused hinge. We looked and there was no doubt about it—the regular stranger was staring in the mirror and laughing. Laughing out loud.

Then, as the barman Bert's mouth dropped open in disbelief, the man emptied his mug, put his pipe in his pocket, and silently stepped out. I started to follow him, but Bert stopped me. "If 'e spoke to you, str," he said, "'e wouldn't be our regular stranger any more, would 'e?"

Well, that is the strange case of the laughing Englishman. Who he was, what made him laugh aloud? "Yes, he did laugh," Bert said, and added pleadingly: "Look, guv'nor. 'Ave a gin and tonic on me. But don't blow it around; what you just saw 'ere, will you? I don't want my place to get a bad name."

Andrews Book Plan Group Sets Record

ANDREWS—Mrs. Russell Austin, Andrews County librarian, reports a record number of youngsters entering a Summer reading program which began June 1 and will continue through August.

At the close of the reading program, prizes will be awarded the winners of the varied age groups and a party or picnic will be given for all entrants.

The program is divided into three age groups. The first includes children between the ages of six and eight years, the second between the ages of nine through 12 years, and the third for all teenagers.

Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts are urged to consider this reading program as a means to complete requirements for proficiency and merit badges in reading.
