Eastern New Mex. Poultry Show, Best In The State

The 1929 Portales Poultry Show was the best poultry industry in the state held in this section in years, and one of the very best in New Mexico during the present season. The show was better than last year in quality, and there were almost twice as many birds entered. There were birds entered in the show this year. The Rhode Island Reds led in numbers, there being almost 150. The Leghorns were second in numbers. These two breeds were outstanding of the show in number. Other breeds were not so numerous in such large numbers, but the quality was good throughout the show.

Practically all of the birds shown were from Roosevelt county farms, and by Roosevelt county farmers. There were a few entries from well, Carlsbad, Clovis, Melrose, St. Vrain. The heaviest winners of premiums in all classes were Roosevelt county farmers, and that the quality of the birds is good.

Entries to the show were pleased with the uniform quality of the birds exhibited. Especially in the Rhode Island Red class, there was a display of great number of high class birds. The task of judging the show was a hard one, requiring 1-2 days to complete the job.

Most of the classes the common was hard and the placing close. It was a real honor to have any place at all, and many birds did not receive a premium because of the competition. Exhibitors are to be congratulated upon the fine showing made by their winners of premiums or number of hatchery men and bird breeders from other sections of the state were present at the show having come from the Poultry Association at Clovis the 19th. These men were very surprised at the show made by Roosevelt county, and used the opinion that the show was one of the best in the show is a stepping stone to a better and greater poultry industry for Roosevelt county. It conclusively shows that Roosevelt county farmers are rapidly learning poultry business and are using it on a scientific, paying method of raising poultry. The day of the hit-and-miss method of raising poultry, the mixed mongrel flocks, is passing. In its stead has come the time when the farmer is using the best poultry to be used in the best management and breeding methods. No other would have produced the poultry exhibited at the show.

There is also an excellent opportunity of education, an opportunity for everyone to study the type of the various breeds, exchange ideas with others at the show. Hundreds of visitors visited the show room. The morning of the last day, December 23, gave a demonstration of the best individuals of our breeds, from the standard breed character, vitality, and egg production. The ration was attended by a number of poultrymen.

Carol of Noel

By May Folwell Heisington

CHRIST within the manger lay Haloed on the scented hay, Joseph prayed at Mary's bower, Guardian of her slumber-hour, Lowly and lowly line Watched the Baby's halo shine.
Through the broken thatch on high Peered a Star of midnight sky; Shepherds softly knelt around, Guided by a carol's sound, Angels sang that Holy Morn—
"Unto us a Child is born."

Coffee Crop Aided by Red Cross in Islands

Disaster relief given following the West Indies hurricane which struck Porto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Florida, as well as other islands in the Caribbean Sea, presented one of the largest tasks yet undertaken by the American Red Cross. In Florida, where 1,814 lives were lost, the Red Cross aided 41,235 persons. In Porto Rico and the Virgin Islands, where the loss of life was not so great, but where the devastation was almost complete, the Red Cross aided 731,712 persons.

Destruction of the Coffee plants was the gravest loss, and the Red Cross aided in rehabilitating this industry by employing 67,000 natives to clear the coffee-land, so that replanting would go forward immediately, thus providing work and wages for thousands.

Nurses Enrolled With Red Cross for Service

Enrolled with the Nursing Service of the American Red Cross at Washington are 49,000 nurses, qualified under the society's regulations, who may be summoned to service in time of disaster or other emergency. From the Red Cross enrollment were assigned 20,000 nurses in the World War. These Red Cross nurses are the standing reserve of the Army and Navy Nurse Corps of the United States, and are also called upon for service in other governmental health services.

Chevrolet Company Makes Year Record

DETROIT, Dec. 21.—Surpassing by 150,000 cars and trucks its previous record annual achievement, the Chevrolet Motor Company, this year, will manufacture 1,350,000 automobiles, it was announced at the central offices here today. Due to the tremendous popularity of the six cylinder car, introduced a year ago, 1929 will be by a wide margin the greatest year in Chevrolet history.

Chevrolet officials announce that daily, weekly and monthly production records were broken over and over again during 1929. Perhaps the most significant achievement of Chevrolet this year was the placing of a million cars on the road in less than eight months. Although the first Chevrolet six did not go onto the streets until last January first, there were a million in owner operation early last August.

An all-time monthly production mark was set in May, when the Chevrolet factories built 160,895 cars. A new high monthly record was established in every month except January.

The consistency with which Chevrolet has gained annually in recent years may be noted from the following annual production figures:

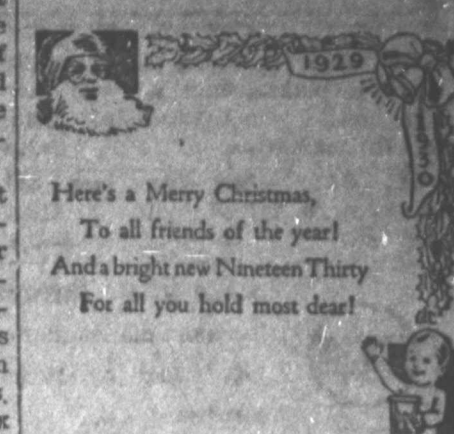

1924 309,000

1925 510,000

1926 728,000

1927 1,001,000
1928 1,200,000
1929 1,350,000

Sixteen factories strategically located from coast to coast, contributed to the achievement. In all, more than 100,000 men were employed during the year in the various divisions of the company.

We appreciate the business that you have given us in 1929 and hope to have the same in 1930.

"You Can Turn a Farmall on a Dime and Have Nine Cents Left Over!"

"YOU can turn it on a dime!" We often hear that said about the McCormick-Deering Farmall. There never was anything like it for getting around fast and easy in cramped spaces. It has the original exclusive patented square-turn feature found in no other tractor, bar none.

We have never turned it on a dime but here's what we will show you—a Farmall with 4-row cultivator and also with a 7-ft. Farmall mower, working and turning in a patch of ground 20 by 40 feet. That one-fiftieth of an acre! Did you ever see any other tractor that could do much more than stand still on that?

The Farmall is the only square-turn tractor on the market. In the field you are 300 feet down the row furrow or grain-side while a common tractor is making its slow loop-turn. One rear wheel stops to help you turn a close corner, and that comes mighty handy the year around.

Farmall belongs on just about any farm. It works on all jobs—belt, drawbar, and power take-off—and on all crops, even to the planting of corn, cotton, potatoes and other row crops. Many men are using Farmalls on little and big farms alike, without a single horse on the place.

Come and see us demonstrate these things. Drive the Farmall yourself.

Speedy Relief for Sore Throat

No longer is it necessary to gargle and choke with nasty tasting medicines to relieve sore throat. Now you can get almost instant relief with one swallow of a doctor's prescription. This prescription was refilled so often and became so popular that the druggist who originally filled it decided to put it up under the name Thoxine and make it available to everyone.

The remarkable thing about Thoxine is that it relieves almost instantly, yet contains nothing harmful. It is pleasant tasting, and safe for the whole family, and is guaranteed to relieve sore throats or coughs in 15 minutes or money back. Just ask for Thoxine, 35c., 60c., and $1.00. Speedy Relief for Sore Throat

No longer is it necessary to gargle and choke with nasty tasting medicines to relieve sore throat. Now you can get almost instant relief with one swallow of a doctor's prescription. This prescription was refilled so often and became so popular that the druggist who originally filled it decided to put it up under the name Thoxine and make it available to everyone.

The remarkable thing about Thoxine is that it relieves almost instantly, yet contains nothing harmful. It is pleasant tasting, and safe for the whole family, and is guaranteed to relieve sore throats or coughs in 15 minutes or money back. Just ask for Thoxine, 35c., 60c., and $1.00. RICHLAND

The Christmas program was given Friday night of this week. A large crowd was in attendance. The school children directed by the teachers, gave an enjoyable program. After the introduction, concerning the origin of Christmas, the audience was presented a number of readings, dialogues, songs, drills, and a piano solo. The one act play, "Mimi Light's a Candle" truly represented the Christmas spirit. We are grateful to the talented men of our community for the enjoyable quartette given during the evening. After the program, Miss Everette Parton had the curiosity to telephone Santa Claus and sure enough when she telephoned for him he said he was on the way. She went to open the door and Oh, my! It was old Santa Claus himself.

A Remembrance From Her

Boss at Christmas Time JENNY was standing in front of the ladies' cloak counter of the great emporium fingering one of the cloaks covetously. "Could she buy it?" There was the room rent and the five dollars a week for board. That must be paid. The landlady did not wait for her money from anybody.

Of course there was the ten dollars she had saved from expenses in the past two months. And she did need it. The weather was growing very cold, so she shivered in going to and from work. Perhaps she could go without shoes a little longer. And then the boss usually gave his help a remembrance. Maybe he would make it money this Christmas. But she mustn't count on that.

"Hello, Jenny; looking at cloaks eh? Glad I saw you. Haven't given you a remembrance yet. How'd you like it to be a cloak? But look here! This is shoddy! Haven't you better?" to the clerk.

"Yes, sir. This is better. But it's four times as much."
The boss examined it. "All right," he decided. "Let the girl have this," dropping the price on the counter.

"But, tut, you've been very faithful." And he was gone.—Frank Sweet.

Modernizing the Young Girl's Bedroom

By GLADYS LILLY

NO matter how great a "tomboy" a girl may have been, there comes a time when she considers herself a young lady although others may still think of her as a child. It is sometimes difficult for parents to realize that daughters who yesterday longed for a new sled, skates, or a bicycle have put those things away and desire in their stead a chaise longue, a dressing table, or a slipper chair.
Whenever it is possible, a young girl's interest in the home should be sustained rather than discouraged. If she displays an active interest in redecorating her room, she is only manifesting a quite natural domestic instinct.

Unfortunately, young girls at this stage are to be expensive items in the family budget. Their clothes, education, and entertainment suddenly take on alarming financial proportions, and redecorating their bedrooms is often considered an extravagance which can be dispensed with. However, if the young girl who desires a dainty, attractive bedroom is as energetic as she is ambitious, her wishes can be realized. There is no better time, in fact, for her to learn that imagination, good taste, and careful planning can accomplish far more than money unwisely expended.

The furniture on hand may be out of fashion, or a rooming to the young lady's taste it may not be as handsome as a potential movie star deserves, but it can be made sweet, charming, and dainty, ne ethereal.
Robin's egg blue, mist green, soft shades of peach, apricot, or tea rose, primrose yellow, violet, a d coral are all appropriate and lovely colors for the furniture of a young girl's room. Furniture is not difficult to paint or enamel, and often even its style can be made more modish by a few amputations or additions. For instance, an old-fashioned dresser whose mirror is attached might have this attachment removed and hung above the dresser section.

Enamel these pieces to harmonize with soft painted walls, and an inspiring transformation is immediately accomplished.

An old iron or brass bedstead may be quickly renovated with paint or enamel and when all of the furniture is coated to harmonize, and the walls are refinished in some complementary color, the effect will be as satisfying as if many dollars had been spent on elaborate new decorations.

For bedrooms having a northern exposure, a soft yellow, cream, or ivory is a better choice for the walls than the cooler, receding shades of green and blue, though where the walls are coated in a light, warm color, the latter shades may be used on the furniture with immunity. Rose, coral, salmon pink, peach and apricot are effectively complemented by robin's egg blue, turquoise, sea green, jade, and yellow. If the walls are painted cream or ivory, the furniture may be enamelized any of the favorite smart pastel shades. The woodwork may be coated to match either the walls or the furniture, and additional color accents may be introduced by crisp, ruffled organdie curtains, bright chintz, cushions, and other accessories. Sheer flowered batiste or dimity makes dainty glass curtains, especially when their ruffles are bound with a solid color appearing in the design of the material.

As a young girl approaches eighteen or nineteen, she often exhibits a preference for what she believes to be sophisticated things.

A discerning mother need not be distressed over the fact that her daughter prefers a sheath of black satin to a billowy organdie dancing frock. The young lady is simply "heady" with her new maturity, and if this phase demands black lacquered furniture, chartruse walls, mauve silk hangings, and long cigarette holders, a mother need not be alarmed, for if she is blessed with tact, taste, and patience, she can steer her daughter gently away from the bizarre and "arty" until this stage has passed.
A girl's room should express her charm and freshness. Colors should be dainty, and the whole room simple and immaculate.

Encourage a decorating daughter to include the closet of her bedroom in her campaign, for fashion now decrees that the closet be a part of the sleeping-room "ensemble." There is no denying the fact that if a closet is dainty, well-equipped, and light, the effort necessary to keep one's clothing in a neat and orderly array is far less.
Coat hangers, shoe, hat, and mocking boxes, shoe trees, and hat stands may echo any favorite shade used in the bedroom. The walls of the closet should always be painted or enamelized a light ivory or cream color. The shelf surfaces, may be coral, jade, yellow, robin's egg blue, orchid, or any color the young lady prefers. Laundry bags, dress tags, bags for soiled gloves and handkerchiefs, may be made of chintz matching that of the bedroom draperies. Taking care of one's wardrobe is a pleasure instead of a duty where there is an attractively decorated closet.

nevermore will he give him all the gas that he can give her, after he was struck that day he soon stopped;
but peepal say that he'll never look and listen, cause he's too darn for away,

"Furniture Fakers"

The workmen of France and Italy are exceedingly clever in the business of imitating ancient furniture and similar pieces of old art craft, and in their imitating they are thorough and systematic to the extent that the copy is often as handsome a piece of work as the original. Persons who engage in this questionable art are artisans of the first water. They make use of old wood and when it is desired to give a piece the appearance of years of actual service, they put the piece into actual use where it will get wear and tear. In addition to this they make use of fabrics which are really old, taken from pieces which they have gathered at various times in their search for old wool.

Curious Reflection

"Have you seen the Museum ghost?" asked my friend, an Egyp-tologist, when with him in the Egyptian gallery of the British museum. We had just passed the empty black basalt coffin of a priest of Ptah, but on looking through the glass case that contained a statuette of Isis, he pointed out that the previously empty coffin now held a mysterious figure! My companion's explanation of this somewhat disturbance was that the reflection of an effigy in a coffin on the other side of Isis' case was caught by one glass of the case and thrown by the other right into the vacant coffin of Ptah's priest! The illusion is certainly remarkable.—London Mail.

Unexpected Surprises

Welcomed at Christmas DOROTHY sat huddled disconsolately in the big arm chair before the grate fire. To have tobacco just before Christmas was bad enough, but to be waiting for a sweetheart and to know that there was a forwarded letter in another girl's handwriting, also awaiting him was much worse.
"Hello, Dot," in breezed Jack. all joy and Christmas gaiety. He leaned over and kissed her tenderly:

"You poor kid. It's sure tough, at Christmas, too."

Dorothy smiled wanly and pointed to the letter on the table.

"Who the deuce?" Jack slit the envelope, glanced over it and thrust it into his pocket. "Why waste time reading your letters when I've got you—but it was sure good of you to have Mary write me."

Dorothy's eyes brightened and her throat seemed almost well.
What a goose she was to have forgotten that she had asked Mary to write Jack and tell him how she was. What a wonderful time Christmas was with its unexpected surprises!—Florence Harris Wells.

Sat Right Down

Patrons of a local theater, seated behind a young woman who mis-laid her purse one evening, missed a part of the photography, because the woman stood up to conduct her search for the lost article, but then enjoyed a little unintentional comedy which other patrons missed.

It was during a court scene put on by the Vitaphone, and the court was hearing parties in a separate support action. Those seated behind the young woman searching for her property were getting ridgely when the judge rapped his gavel, and ordered, "Order in the court, sit down!"

The woman was so surprised that she sank back into her seat, and there she discovered the missing purse where it had fallen.—Spring-

WITH THE CHURCHES

On Sunday morning the Men's Bible class of the M. E. Sunday school, as is their custom on the 4th Sunday, had their class in the District Court room with an out of town speaker to address them.

The speaker on December 22 was Judge J. D. Hamlin, of Farwell, who made a very interesting Christmas address to 28 men and 10 ladies, who were guests of the class.

After the address all went over to the Portola to hear the splendid musical program which had been prepared by the choir and friends.

A Christmas offering for the new church was taken.
