Oil rates change

AUSTIN — Visiting District Judge James Meyers has signed a final order that ultimately will change the way the Texas Railroad Commission has determined oil production rates for decades. The final order came after Meyers wrote a letter last month to attorneys representing the Railroad Commission and Oxy USA Inc., a Tulsa, Okla., oil company, questioning the procedure used by the Railroad Commission in determining statewide oil production. Oxy USA Inc. took the commission to court Dec. 14, alleging the production rates set in the East Texas Field were discriminatory because operators are allowed to produce only 86 percent and the rest of the state, except the Kelly-Snyder Field, is producing at 100 percent of market demand. Oxy has 548 wells in the East Texas Field. In the final order issued Thursday, Meyer said the methods used by the Railroad Commission to set statewide production rates were invalid.

AIDS ads

AUSTIN — The Texas Department of Health Friday unveiled a new television advertising campaign intended to jolt heterosexual Texans with more than one sexual partner into confronting their risk of getting AIDS.

Brando pleads guilty

Christian Brando pleaded guilty Friday to a single charge of voluntary manslaughter in the shooting death of Dag Drollet, the boyfriend of his half sister, Cheyenne Brando. The son of Marlon Brando, Christian Brando was arrested in May and charged with murder in Drollet's death. But prosecutors in Santa Monica, Calif., dropped the murder charge after a judge determined last week that Ms. Brando, who had fled to Tahiti, could not be forced to return. The police have said that she was present when her boyfriend was killed at her father's home in the Hollywood Hills. She has attempted suicide twice while she has been in Tahiti.

Iraq accepts talks offer

Senate moves toward debate on war

N.Y. Times News Service

WASHINGTON — The Senate on Friday put itself in position to debate legislation concerning war in the Persian Gulf as early as Thursday, the day after Secretary of State James A. Baker III is scheduled to meet with Tariq Aziz, Iraq's foreign minister.

But Sen. George J. Mitchell, the majority leader, indicated that it was more likely that the issue would come up on Jan. 14, the day before the United Nations deadline for Iraq's withdrawal from Kuwait expires and the authorization for military force takes effect.

Sen. Bob Dole, the Republican leader, urged a serious debate. He said that while he disagreed with Democrats who challenged President Bush, he sympathized with their frustration over congressional inaction.

"For months we have been standing on the sidelines, making all kinds of speeches but not casting a single vote," he said. "Congress has been AWOL."

But Dole said he hoped that when the Senate debated, it would unite behind Bush and the threat of force.

"What a message that would be to Saddam Hussein," he said, arguing that unity in Con-

Iraq agreed Friday to hold its first high-level talks with the United States since it invaded Kuwait Aug. 2. Baghdad tried anew to bring in the Palestinian issue but ran into a straight-arm from President Bush, who said, "There will be no linkage on those two France unveiled a peace plan Friday that called for an international conference on all Mideast issues after Iraq pulls out of the conquered emirate it now calls its 19th province.

Under the plan, Iraq would receive assurances it would not be attacked if it agreed to leave Kuwait.

Fog, freezing rain cover West Texas

School-age children rejoiced when Midland and Odessa schools closed, while adults gritted their teeth as they negotiated icy roads Friday morning.

The students' day off will be made up later in the school year. Midland school trustees, at Tuesday's board meeting, will decide which designated snow day students must attend in place of the missed school day.

Greenwood students attended school on Friday. "School was delayed in getting started," said Quentin S. Burnett, superintendent of Greenwood Independent School District. "Classes were delayed about 30 minutes," he said. "The iciest road was in front of our elementary school."

Icy streets caused numerous schools across West Texas to close or delay the start of classes. Some major companies,

Bush selects Yeutter for top Republican post

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush has settled on Agriculture Secretary Clayton Yeutter as the next Republican national chairman, officials said Friday. Bush declined to confirm the decision, but said Yeutter would be a "superb" choice.

"You're pinning me down too much ... if I had an announcement to make on that I'd sally forth and announce it," Bush told reporters before leaving to spend the weekend at Camp David, Md.

However, he added, "If Clayton Yeutter were asked to be chairman he'd be a superb chairman."

Sources said the announcement was being held up for logistical reasons.

Postage-stamp increase one step from approval

N.Y. Times News Service

WASHINGTON — The Postal Rate Commission on Friday unanimously recommended a 4-cent increase, to 29 cents, in the cost of mailing a first-class letter. The increase would be a penny less than that proposed last March by the Postal Service.

The commission also recommended other increases, including one of 4 cents for a postcard stamp, to 19 cents.

Altogether, the changes are intended to produce $6.2 billion annually.

The new rates are expected to take effect Feb. 3, after acceptance by the governors of the Postal Service. Postmaster General Anthony M. Frank said approval is virtually certain.

Planning commission supports airport plans

By Brian Pearson
Staff Writer

Two city of Midland requests for federal financial help on two proposed airport plans will have Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission backing, commissioners decided Friday.

The commission unanimously voted to support a $300,000 effort to update Midland International Airport's master plan and a $245,000 project to beef up Midland Air Park security.

The city already has submitted applications for Federal Aviation Administration grants for the projects.

Commissioners, who represent local governments in a 17-county area of West Texas, said the plans are in the Permian Basin's best interest.

"We certainly feel that they are worthy," said Ernie Crawford, the commission's executive director. "We feel that they are necessary and needed in Midland."

The commissioners' vote means a show of solidarity among the Permian Basin leaders who serve on the commission, Crawford said.

Marcy Blauvelt, supervisor of Midland International administrative services, said the airport's master plan, an overview of projected needs, has not been updated since 1985.

Jobless rate jumps; recession deepens

Oil cities buck trend

WASHINGTON (AP) — The worst three-month stretch of job losses since the depths of the 1981-82 recession pushed the nation's unemployment rate to 6.1 percent in December, the government reported Friday.

About 515,000 jobs were lost in the final three months of 1990. Since June, about 1 million Americans have been added to the unemployment rolls.

President Bush, asked about the poor jobs report before leaving for Camp David, stuck to the administration's view that any recession will be relatively mild.

FREEZE: Some relief in sight

including Frito-Lay, shut down operations in the Dallas area Friday. While Midland students stayed home, city of Midland crews were out in full force sanding bridges, highway intersections and overpasses, according to Rick Mancha, assistant to the city manager. "Crews began sanding streets at midnight and were out all day," Mancha said. He said crews would sand hazardous areas again today, if needed.

Freezing rain and drizzle pelted roads in Midland and formed ice when temperatures dropped below freezing Friday night. From midnight Thursday to noon Friday the Texas Department of Public Safety in Midland responded to 28 accidents — one of them a fatality in Odessa.

Sheriff's department reports indicate that a truck jack-knifed on Interstate 20 west of Midland and that there were several vehicle rollovers — one in Odessa and one in Stanton — with no injuries.

There were no airline flight cancellations due to icy conditions, according to airport spokespersons. Marcy Blauvelt, supervisor of Midland International Airport administrative services, said the airport experienced no weather-related problems.

However, there were some delays because of incoming flights from Dallas, where icy conditions caused holdups of up to 30 minutes, Ms. Blauvelt said.

"Our runways here are wet but not icy," she said Friday. Runways in Dallas, however, did not fare so well.

Officials said a Delta Airlines MD-80 jet with 17 passengers and a crew of six was preparing to leave the Dallas-Fort Worth area for Memphis when the nose wheel slid into some mud. No one was injured.

Dense fog, freezing drizzle and light snow combined to create treacherous driving conditions across all of West Texas and forced numerous flights to be cancelled or delayed at Lubbock International Airport.

Forecasters say some relief appears to be in sight for North Central Texas, while West Texas can expect more wintry weather.

It was the third cold front to cause icing problems across the state since the weekend before Christmas.

Temperatures in Midland and Odessa extending east to Dallas and Fort Worth climbed above freezing Friday, but winter weather advisories remained in effect for most of North Texas.

"The freezing precipitation should become rain... and that trend is expected to continue through Saturday and possibly Sunday," said Mark Brundrett, a NWS meteorologist in Fort Worth. At least seven motorists died in weather-related accidents across the state Thursday and Friday.

Hundreds of accidents were reported from Amarillo in the Panhandle to San Antonio, where temperatures were above freezing but a steady drizzle made roads slick.

Sheriff's deputies in the Central Texas counties of Bell, Bosque and McLennan reported icy roads. In Bell County, travel was discouraged on Interstate 35 and state highways 190 and 36 because of ice.

Light rain, drizzle and fog that pervaded South Texas Thursday were expected to continue into the weekend.

Midland streets were expected to be slick today, but not as icy as Friday, according to a spokesperson for the National Weather Service (NWS) at Midland International Airport.

"But then again, we expected temperatures to be much warmer than they were Friday," he said, noting that the high Friday was 34, rather than the anticipated temperatures of 38-40.

Winter weather advisories late Friday evening excluded Midland. "We expect rain, but it shouldn't freeze since temperatures will be warmer," the NWS spokesperson said. "There are winter weather advisories for Big Spring and north of Big Spring," he said.

The cold front in Midland is expected to disperse Sunday night and mostly fair weather with temperatures in the mid-50s to near-60 are forecast for Monday. "The weather should turn around Sunday night," the NWS said. "Driving conditions between Midland and Big Spring should be fine, with some fog. But roads may freeze over in Lamesa and Hobbs, N.M."

Highs Saturday will be in the 30s in the Panhandle and in the 40s and 50s elsewhere.

Midland's forecast for today is foggy with a 20 percent chance of rain showers. The high should be in the upper 40s and winds are expected to be south to southwest 10-20 mph.

Tonight is expected to be cloudy with a 30 percent chance of rain showers and a low temperature in the 30s.

Sunday's forecast is cloudy with a 20 percent chance of rain showers and a high in the mid 40s.

The Associated Press contributed to this report.

Today: Foggy, 20 percent chance of rain showers, high in the upper 40s, winds south to southwest 10-20 mph.

Tonight: Cloudy, 30 percent chance of rain showers, a low temperature in the 30s.

TALKS: Bush refuses to link Palestinian issue

(From 1A)

Community in Luxembourg — but he said he had not yet seen it.

Bush said America welcomes Iraq's agreement to talk, but "there can be no compromise or negotiation" on world demands that Iraq leave Kuwait by Jan. 15.

Iraq, for its part, said the talks, set for Wednesday in Geneva, "will last only five minutes" if America merely repeats demands that it withdraw.

Just after Iraq announced it would accept the U.S. offer of a meeting between Secretary of State James A. Baker III and Iraqi Foreign Minister Tariq Aziz, the foreign ministers of the 12-nation

EC invited the Iraqis to talk.

They asked Aziz to come to Luxembourg on Thursday — a day after his planned meeting with Baker. The ministers rebuffed Dumas' proposal to open immediate discussions with Aziz.

French President Francois Mitterrand told reporters in Paris he would support a U.N. Security Council meeting before any attack to drive Iraq from Kuwait, but would not insist upon it.

"Before unleashing a war, it's good to bring together all the concerned elements, even if it's not obligatory, as the decisions have already been taken," he said.

He said he would meet Baker on Tuesday, a day before the Baker-Aziz talks.

The White House meanwhile said Bush would meet Saturday with U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar. It also said Bush would make a nationwide radio speech at noon today to "update the American people on the status of our diplomatic efforts."

The burst of diplomatic activity came 11 days before a U.N. deadline for Iraq to withdraw from Kuwait or risk military action.

The White House said it was encouraged by Iraq's agreement to talk. "It does give us some hope," press secretary Marlin Fitzwater said.

But a senior Iraqi official, speaking on condition of anonymity, said, "If Baker reiterates the old U.S. position, then the meeting will last only five minutes." He said the United States should concentrate on "real peace and not show business."

Aziz said Iraq would use the talks to stress its commitment to "the Palestinian people's rights to a homeland." Iraq repeatedly has tried to link a pullout of Israeli forces from the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip with any Iraqi withdrawal from Kuwait.

Israel strongly opposes a Middle East conference, fearing it would be pressured to make concessions that would undermine its security.

SENATE: Dole urges serious debate on war issue

(From 1A)

gress might finally persuade Iraq to withdraw from Kuwait if Baker's efforts and all else had failed.

He conceded that he did not know how Congress would vote, and whether a majority would back Bush. But however it acted, he said, Congress had a duty to vote.

There does not appear to be a consensus in either chamber. Congress, and especially its Democratic leaders, seem committed to voting on how the nation should proceed in the Gulf, though it is clear that many individual members are reluctant to take a stand.

Absent any direct, insistent appeal from Bush, there seems to be little congressional inclination to urge or even acknowledge a course toward war and much sentiment in favor of keeping economic sanctions in place. But many on Capitol Hill say they do not expect him to make such a request in earnest for fear that defeat, or a even narrow victory, would undermine his efforts.

Congressional leaders seem to feel that they have time left, and that Bush will not seek to pre-empt their debate by attacking on Jan. 16. But they appear to feel they do not have much time. Leaders in the House, which was not in session Friday, did not offer comparable scheduling plans. But the House is expected to be in full session beginning Jan. 14, and for the rest of that week, so that it, too, could debate the situation in the Gulf.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee is expected to meet informally next week to discuss the Gulf crisis and possible resolutions concerning it. The committee also scheduled a closed-door meeting for Wednesday with ambassadors from the countries allied against Iraq.

POSTAGE: Commission also recommends other increases

(From 1A)

The 29-cent rate would reflect the actual cost of mailing a letter, said George Haley, the commission chairman.

Asked if it would not be easier for patrons to pay 30 cents than to have to come up with four pennies, W.H. (Trey) LeBlanc III, one of five members of the Postal Rate Commission, said, "Don't you drive around the corner to save a nickel on a gallon of gasoline?"

A book of 29-cent stamps would cost $4.80, while a roll of 100 stamps would cost $29.

The proposed increases were promptly protested.

Critics charged that the rate increases were unjustified and would remove incentives to improve the efficiency of the Postal Service.

They also expressed fears that they would prove especially onerous because of the fragile economy, which is in a recession.

The last increase in postal rates took effect April 3, 1988.

The commission regulates postal rates and classifications, while the Postal Service manages the system.

Continuing a trend toward giving discounts to mailers if they are willing to make the post office's work easier, the commission recommended a new postal category that would require only a 27-cent stamp for envelopes with special markings, a bar code and a more detailed ZIP Code.

Mailers would get a 2-cent discount for using envelopes that the post office can sort with computerized equipment.

To deal with the new 29-cent rate, postal officials said 4-cent stamps will be available in post offices for those holding 25-cent stamps.

JOBLESS: Bush sticks to administration's view

shallow. It will not be a deep recession," Bush said. He told reporters to "wait and see" what the administration might propose for spurring economic growth in the Jan. 29 State of the Union address.

Bush said the Persian Gulf crisis was having an "adverse effect" on the U.S. economy. Many economists think the turmoil in the Gulf and uncertainty over what will happen has dampened consumer confidence and increased downward pressures on the economy.

"One of the reasons I don't want it to drag on is because of the adverse effect it is having not just on the U.S. economy, but on the economies of the Third World, on the economies of the emerging democracies of Eastern Europe, on the economies of our friends in South America. This is universal," Bush said.

Some analysts saw a glimmer of hope in data showing that December's job losses were not nearly as dramatic as the huge payroll declines of October and November, possibly indicating that the downturn might not be as severe as many have feared.

But other economists saw a separate Commerce Department report, showing factory orders taking the sharpest plunge on record last month, as further evidence of a deepening recession.

"The economy, no doubt, fell off a cliff in the fourth quarter," said John Albertine, who heads a Washington economic forecasting firm.

"The consumer has been shell-shocked by four fears — fear of war, unemployment, rising energy prices and the collapsing housing market," Albertine said.

Richard Rahn, chief economist at the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, said the recession is "getting worse month by month."

OIL: Energy economies escape recessionary spiral

0.17 points to 106.1 in the third quarter ending Sept. 30, while the average index of 24 major U.S. metropolitan areas declined, Grant Thornton reported.

Since 1985, the survey has ranked cities using an index based on seven equally weighted economic indicators, though two indicators — business starts and failures — have been unavailable for about a year.

Dallas' economy posted the strongest gain in the third quarter among all cities surveyed, as its index rose 0.59 point to 105.0. Denver gained 0.35 to 106.5.

Nationally, the average index for the 24 cities surveyed posted a decline for the second consecutive quarter, said James Hayden, managing partner of Grant Thornton's Houston office. The average dropped to 109.0 from 109.39 the previous quarter.

In the year ending Sept. 30, the worst-performing cities are all in the troubled Northeast: Boston,

New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, D.C.

Houston ranks No. 5 for the past year, behind No. 1 Denver and ahead of No. 7 Dallas, according to the survey. Milwaukee, Cincinnati and San Francisco ranked second, third and fourth, respectively. Phoenix was No. 6.

ure," Yeutter told reporters at the Agriculture Department late Friday. He visited the White House earlier in the day.

Administration and congressional sources, who asked not to be identified, confirmed to The Associated Press that Yeutter had been offered the post and was expected to accept it.

The former farmer has served as agriculture secretary since the start of the Bush administration in 1989. His last job working fulltime for the Republican Party was 19 years ago, when he was Midwest director for then-President Richard M. Nixon's re-election campaign.

Once Bush makes a formal recommendation on his choice, it will go to the members of the Republican National Committee, who will meet Jan. 25 to vote on a new chairman. The body is sure to rubber stamp Bush's choice.

PLANS: Commissioners' vote a show of solidarity

(From 1A)

If the FAA awards funding, the agency would pay $270,000, or 90 percent of the cost, while the city would provide $30,000, Ms. Blauvelt said.

She said the study would begin within 45 days and take up to 18 months to complete. The master plan would cover expected needs for expanded facilities, projected enplanements and an analysis of the possible impact an expanded airport would have on the environment, she said.

The study even would include a look at the noise impact on the surrounding communities, Ms. Blauvelt said.

In the other proposed FAA-assisted project, Ms. Blauvelt said the city would build a security fence around Midland Air Park, where wayward golfers, joggers and other recreationists have posed a hazard.

Air Park officials have found golf balls and trash on runways, which also have been used by motorcycle and car racers and even sharpshooters who pick off runway lights, she said. Ms. Blauvelt also said thieves have stolen four aircrafts from Air Park hangars in the past two years.

She said the fence would cost $300,000, with the FAA paying $245,000, or 90 percent, while the city would pick up $24,500 of the cost. There would be controlled access to the airport through a security gate, she said.

The gate would be in place in about a year, she said.

Also, city officials said they would enact an Air Park trespassing ordinance. Trespassers would face a fine of up to $500, officials said.

DEATHS

Donney Wood

A memorial service for former Midlander Donney Wood, 38, of San Diego, Calif., will be 3 p.m.

today at Resthaven Memorial Park. The Rev. Robert Frazier will officiate. Wood died last Saturday in a San Diego hospital.

He was born May 26, 1952 in Stanton and graduated from Midland High School in 1970.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rayphard Wood of Midland; four sisters, Billie Williams of La Mesa, Calif., Brenda Baldwin of Georgetown, and Martha Collins and Arita Abbey, both of Midland; his brother, Thomas Wood of Midland; and several nieces and nephews.

Jettie Lee Shull

Services for Jettie Lee "Gigi" Shull of Midland are pending with Ellis Funeral Home. She died Friday morning in a local nursing home.

Survivors include her niece, Mrs. W.L. "Tippy" Saultz of Midland; and her nephew, R.S. "Sam" Davenport of San Angelo.

Robert Carl Young

ANDREWS — Services for Robert Carl "Bobby" Young, 41, will be at 3 p.m. Sunday in Singleton Funeral Home Chapel of the Chimes. The Rev. Eddie Card of the Seventh Day Adventist Church in Midland will officiate. Interment will follow in Andrews Cemetery.

Young died in a traffic accident Friday morning in Ector County. He was born May 31, 1949 in Andrews. He lived in Odessa and later moved to Andrews, where he was a resident for eight years. He was a ranch foreman for Ashton Ranch in Andrews County and served in the U.S. Navy for three years.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Young of Odessa; two sisters, Linda Laughlin and Debbie Vick, both of Odessa; and his grandfather, Carl Brunken of Andrews.

He was preceded in death by his grandmother Ethyl Brunken Dec. 20, 1990.

LOCAL/AREA REPORTS

Store robbery

Staff Reports

ODESSA — A masked gunman made off with more than $1,000 worth of cigarettes in an early morning convenience store robbery Friday, the Odessa Police Department reported.

OPD spokesman Cpl. John McAhon said no one was injured in the robbery, which occurred at 1:05 a.m. at the 7-Eleven Food Store, 600 S. Grandview Ave.

McAhon said the suspect, described as a black male in his late 20s, entered the store and picked up several items — including a box of plastic trash bags — before approaching the cashier's counter.

The clerk turned around to get some cigarettes for the suspect, during which time the suspect donned a mask and produced a large-caliber revolver, McAhon said.

The suspect demanded money from the cash register and told the clerk to fill the trash bags with cigarettes, McAhon said.

The suspect escaped on foot with 90 cartons of cigarettes valued at more $1,000 and $20 from the cash register, McAhon said.

No arrests have been made in the case, he said.

Van accident

ACKERLY — Two people were injured near here Friday morning in a one-vehicle accident which left the highway strewn with tortillas, the Department of Public Safety reported.

A DPS spokeswoman said a van belonging to Pop's Bakery of San Angelo and driven by 67-year-old Antonio Velasquez Garcia went out of control and rolled over 1.7 miles north of Ackerly on northbound U.S. 87.

Garcia and a passenger, 33-year-old James John Roberts of Seattle, were transported to Scenic Mountain Medical Center in Big Spring. They were listed in stable condition Friday night, a hospital spokeswoman said. Roberts suffered a broken leg in the accident, she said.

The men were en route to Brownfield with a load of more than 150 cases of tortillas when the accident occurred around 9:20 a.m. Friday, DPS reports show.

Many of the tortillas ended up on the road and were condemned by health department officials, but 56 cases were salvaged and taken on to their Brownfield destination, according to reports.

Accident fatality

ODESSA — Slick road conditions are being blamed in the death of an Andrews man killed in a one-vehicle accident north of here early Friday, a Department of Public Safety spokeswoman said.

Bobby Carl Young, 41, died when the pickup he was driving north on U.S. 385 rolled over, the spokeswoman said. According to reports, Young apparently lost control of the pickup, a 1986 Ford, about a quarter mile north of 91st St. She said no one else was injured in the accident, which occurred about 3 a.m. Friday.

Barr receives Medal of Mediocrity

CASCADE, Colo. (AP) — It's not even over when the fat lady sings, the Millard Fillmore Society said Friday in awarding Roseanne Barr its 1990 Medal of Mediocrity for her off-color rendition of the national anthem.

The society said she barely beat out lip-syncers Milli Vanilli as Best Non-Vocalist of the Year.

The award is officially offered Jan. 7 by the society on the birthday of Millard Fillmore, the 13th president and considered by some to be the nation's most mediocre chief executive.

Phil Arkow, society vice president, said Barr was selected for her singing at a San Diego Padres game in which she tried to sing the "Star-Spangled Banner."

She shrieked the words off-key, then scratched her crotch and spat on the ground in apparent imitation of a baseball player.

"Her shrieking rendition turned the national anthem into the Star-Spangled Bummer," he said.

"In a kinder and gentler nation, people might have thought the incident funny," Arkow said.

He said the ideal scenario would have been for Barr to have Milli Vanilli lip-sync the song for her. Milli Vanilli was forced to return its Grammy award this year because its two lead singers didn't sing on its video.

50-car pileup claims fourth victim

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A 49-year-old man died Friday of head injuries he suffered in a 50-car pileup on a foggy interstate, becoming the fourth victim of the chain of accidents.

The accidents happened within minutes of each other Wednesday morning on Interstate 215.

Utah Highway Patrol investigators said the accident was caused by motorists driving too fast in the dense fog. Three people died Wednesday.

William A. Boes, 49, died of severe head injuries, said LDS Hospital spokesman Craig Rasmussen.

Rebels seize Nairobi Red Cross office

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Gunmen captured the Red Cross office in Somalia's capital and apparently took its staff hostage Friday, and fighting intensified in the rebels' bloody attempt to drive Somalia's president from power.

Rebels claimed to have massed 10,000 reinforcements in the sea-side capital of Mogadishu for a final offensive to end President Mohamed Siad Barre's 21-year rule.

An estimated 500 people have been killed in fighting this week, and foreigners and Somalis have been trying to flee the East African nation.

Some of those arriving in Rome have reported that the streets were "covered with bodies."

The rebels said Friday that they would halt fighting temporarily to help an evacuation effort, but they demanded two days notice from relief groups.

Siad Barre, in a radio address, urged all government opponents to join in peace talks in Mogadishu and said he was ready to abide by the negotiations "whatever the outcome."

The rebels accuse Siad Barre of human rights violations. Reports of such violations have prompted the United States to cut nearly all of its aid to Somalia.

The three major rebel groups have repeatedly refused negotiations, and spokesmen for the rebels and Italy, the former colonial power, said fighting was intensifying.

The rebel United Somali Congress has led the current offensive.

In Geneva, the International Committee for the Red Cross said it did not know who attacked its office — Somali government troops, rebels or renegade bandits.

A spokeswoman said a Red Cross delegate in Mogadishu was talking to the humanitarian agency's Geneva headquarters by radio phone when he was forced to break off the conversation.

He reported that "armed elements" had entered the building, the spokeswoman said. "I have a gun against my head so I can't talk any more," she quoted him as saying.

The spokeswoman said there had been no further contact with the six-member Red Cross delegation in Mogadishu. The agency has said it has no plans to withdraw from Somalia.

Pierre Gassmann, the Red Cross' chief delegate for Africa, appealed to all warring parties to allow the neutral all-Swiss agency to carry out its work of providing assistance in the capital.

The United Somali Congress has demanded that the Red Cross oversee any evacuation of foreigners from the capital, saying the use of military planes or ships by Italy, the United States or other Western nations would be taken as an unwarranted intervention.

On Friday, the rebels said they would accept a temporary halt to the fighting to allow for the evacuation.

However, Abdurahman Mohamed, a rebel spokesman in Rome, told The Associated Press the rebels would not negotiate with Siad Barre and were preparing an assault on his remaining strongholds.

Comrade chocoholics queue up behind Snickers shipment

By Brian Friedman

MOSCOW (AP) — Bundled against the cold to keep her sweet tooth from chattering, 15-year-old Lena Malakhova waited for two hours along with thousands of other Muscovites Friday for the chance to buy American candy bars.

Mars Inc., the U.S. candymaker, put more than 23 tons of Snickers, Milky Way, Mars and Raider candy bars on sale for rubles for the first time in the Soviet Union — much to the delight of self-confessed chocoholics like Lena.

Due to advance notice that the candy would go on sale starting Friday at one site only, hundreds of people gathered at the doors of the huge bread and confectionery store for its 9 a.m. opening.

A Moscow newspaper had quipped that police and barricades would be needed "so that the building would not be swept away with the chocolate," and six policemen were on hand to control the crowds.

At midday, more than 400 people were lined up along busy Kalinin Prospekt, two doors down from a theater where the American movie "Gone With the Wind" is playing. And frankly, many didn't give a damn about the 12-degree temperatures and steady snowfall as they waited to buy their candy.

Inside, more than 200 others waited at several counters decorated with the candy bars stacked in pyramids.

"We were waiting for about two hours," Lena said as she and a giggling friend secured their candy bars and rebutted their winter coats. "Probably in the United States, you don't wait as long."

Lena, who had not tasted the chocolate yet, said the candy bars "are very beautiful ... I have no words. We have never seen such candy in the Soviet Union."

"Excellent quality," said 14-year-old Roman Roy, who had just finished a Snickers bar after waiting 2½ hours in line.

But Lydia Lisovaya, 58, was more critical, as were other older shoppers who said the American candy bars had too many additives.

"It's nothing special. It tastes pleasant," said Mrs. Lisovaya, chewing a Milky Way, "but it's much worse than Soviet chocolate. It's not pure chocolate."

"In our view, the chocolate is best when it's nothing but chocolate of good quality," she said. "And you use soybeans, yes?"

The problem, all shoppers agreed, is that Soviet chocolate and other candy is practically impossible to find, primarily due to the nation's shortage of sugar.

Foreign-made candy bars, such as Snickers and Milky Way bars, have been sold in the Soviet Union — but only at special stores for hard currency only.

Great thinkers of Japan leave their gray matter to posterity

TOKYO (AP) — Behind the tattooed skins, severed arms and rat skeletons in the university lab rests the world's only collection of famous brains, left to posterity by some of Japan's greatest thinkers.

Each of the 120 brains of prime ministers, novelists, artists and scholars has its own container, something like a fish tank, in the University of Tokyo's medical department.

Scientists there hope to gain some insight into what makes the brains of famous people special.

"We'd like to get many more," said Yutaka Yoshida, curator of the collection. "I'd especially like to get brains from mathematicians, musicians and singers."

The collection was begun in 1913, when the family of Taro Katsura, a three-time prime minister, asked that his brain be preserved for study after his death. The newest acquisition is the brain of former Prime Minister Takeo Miki, who died in 1988.

So far, the deep-rooted reluctance among Japanese to tamper with the dead has ensured that the museum's resources far outweigh its ability to use them.

"We try, as far as possible, not to cut them," Yoshida said. "We want to keep them in their original shape."

University researchers have cross-sectioned several brains to allow some visual and microscopic comparisons. Most are undisturbed, however, immersed in amber formaldehyde, gleaming palely behind small handwritten cards giving the names and special qualities of their original owners.

Yoshida is a slight, quiet man with 13 years of experience in the lab, which also has diseased selections of human anatomy and wall-hangings of tattooed skins donated by men who wanted to have their body art preserved.

As curator, he has renewed efforts to learn from the collection of famous brains.

The brain of Hisashi Hamaguchi, an eloquent prime minister assassinated in 1931, looks about the same as that of Natsume Soseki, a famous novelist who died in 1916, or of Yasuko Miyake, a writer who provided the only female brain in the collection.

"Researchers say the fibers in the part of Hamaguchi's brain that controls speech are very complex, very special," he said, referring to a part of the left hemisphere that regulates speech.

TDH unveils new AIDS ad campaign

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Department of Health Friday unveiled a new television advertising campaign intended to jolt heterosexual Texans with more than one sexual partner into confronting their risk of getting AIDS.

"The fact is, AIDS is just not going away," said Health Commissioner Robert Bernstein. "And it is a problem, and our heterosexual rate is going up."

The need for awareness of how AIDS is transmitted is heightened by the fact that the disease is fatal and incurable, Bernstein said. And he said heterosexuals are more likely than homosexuals to be unaware of their risks.

"Here's the problem: Sexually active heterosexuals, when they're confronted with their risky behavior, simply deny it," said Rod Underhill of The Richards Group, the Dallas advertising agency that created the public service announcements.

"Although you may know the person with whom you're currently having sex, you probably don't know the persons with whom they had sex before. And you certainly can't know the partners of those partners, and so on," he said.

In the first of the two television advertisements, a couple dances in a ballroom. Then someone cuts in, the pair begins dancing with others, and slowly the hall is shown to be full of whirling couples dancing and changing partners.

"If you've had two sex partners in the past year, and each of them had two partners the year before, and so on, it's as if you've had sex with hundreds of people. Any one of them could've given you the virus that causes AIDS," says the narration accompanying the ad.

In the second advertisement, a large metropolitan phone book falls on top of a smaller personal phone book, as a narrator delivers a similar message.

The ads end by displaying the toll-free telephone number of the health department's AIDS information line. They are produced in both English and Spanish.

Ex-lawyer to be tried on drug charge

DALLAS (AP) — A former Dallas lawyer is scheduled to go on trial Monday on allegations that he accepted 46 pounds of cocaine in exchange for legal services, officials said.

Mike Wilson, 46, is charged with federal counts of possession with intent to distribute cocaine and conspiracy to distribute cocaine. He has pleaded innocent to both charges.

If convicted on both charges, Wilson could receive as many as 40 years in a federal prison.

John Sennett White, 47, who also is charged with conspiracy, will stand trial with Wilson in the court of U.S. District Judge A. Joe Fish.

Wilson's two attorneys plan to argue that their client was on the fifth day of a cocaine binge and was mentally incapable of orchestrating a drug deal when he was arrested March 21.

Drug Enforcement Agency officials said Wilson accepted 46 pounds of the drug as payment from one of his clients in Houston.

"We want to raise the question of mental intent," said defense attorney Chris Milner, a longtime friend of Wilson. "The jury might find that he wanted the drug for his own use, but did not intend to distribute it."

Wilson was free on a personal recognizance bond last May when he fled to Canada with Joy Davis Aylor of Dallas, who was awaiting trial on an unrelated charge of hiring a hit man to kill her husband's girlfriend, officials said.

Wilson was arrested by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police on June 12 at a resort about 300 miles east of Vancouver, British Columbia, authorities said.

Ms. Aylor was not with Wilson when he was arrested, officials said.

'You still have people expressing the belief that this is somehow a gay disease...'

— Janna Zumbrun, AIDS Services

They were produced with $125,000 in federal funding from the national Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta, Bernstein said. The rest of the $300,000 cost was donated by the companies who helped make the advertisements, Underhill said.

Television stations show the spots at their own cost.

Bernstein said 11,572 cases of AIDS have been reported in Texas, about 3,300 of them in the past year. He said officials estimate that between 47,450 and 102,200 Texans are infected with the HIV virus, which causes AIDS.

Department of Health officials credit the first phase of the ad campaign, launched in December 1989, with a 41 percent increase in the number of heterosexuals tested for AIDS at sites affiliated with the department. They say, also prompted a dramatic increase in phone calls to the AIDS hotline.

Janna Zumbrun, executive director of AIDS Services of Austin, said she believed it is "very appropriate" for the ads to target heterosexuals.

"You still have people expressing the belief that this is somehow a gay disease, and we should be years beyond that way of thinking," she said.

But, Ms. Zumbrun added, "I hope that won't detract from funding for education targeted to other groups."

The toll-free Texas AIDSline is 1-800-299-AIDS.

Suicide-machine doctor back in court

■ Doctor testifies that woman who used suicide machine wasn't competent nor terminally ill.

Associated Press

PONTIAC, Mich. — The only person to die using Dr. Jack Kevorkian's suicide machine was neither mentally competent nor terminally ill, her former physician testified Friday.

Dr. Murray Raskind said he believed Janet Adkins, 54, had the right to end her life before Alzheimer's disease, which had begun eroding her mind, caused her condition to deteriorate.

Circuit Judge Alice Gilbert heard arguments on whether a temporary order preventing Kevorkian from using the machine again should be made permanent.

Prosecutor Richard Thompson received the temporary order shortly after Adkins' death June 4. Kevorkian, 62, a retired pathologist from Royal Oak, was cleared last month of a first-degree murder charge.

District Judge Gerald McNally ruled Adkins directly caused her own death by activating Kevorkian's machine, which pumps fatal doses of drugs through a intravenous tube. Michigan has no law against assisting in suicide.

Geoffrey Fieger, Kevorkian's attorney, asked Gilbert to lift the order, saying McNally's ruling destroyed Thompson's legal arguments.

"The prosecutor is attempting again, having lost the Janet Adkins case, to find a judge who will agree with his peculiar and warped point of view," Fieger told reporters during a recess.

In obtaining the temporary injunction, Thompson said he feared Oakland County would become "the suicide mecca of the nation."

Although Friday's testimony focused on Adkins, prosecutor Michael Modelski argued that her death wasn't the central issue.

"The point here is proper medical practice," Modelski said. "Our point here is to show Dr. Kevorkian is outside accepted medical practice."

State police seized the device

Woman testifies employees of store beat her

NEW YORK (AP) — A woman whose complaints provoked a black-led boycott of two Korean vegetable markets testified Friday that one store's employees falsely accused her of stealing and beat her.

Giselaine Felissaint testified in the trial of Pong Ok Jang, the market's manager. She said she was assaulted last Jan. 18 by three employees of the Family Red Apple Store after a dispute over a purchase.

Joseph T. Klempner, Pong's lawyer, said Felissaint was lying to bolster her $6 million civil lawsuit against the market and its owner, Bong Jae Jang.

Felissaint, a Haitian immigrant, testified in French Creole, using an interpreter.

She said she had about $3 worth of fruits and vegetables in a shopping basket, but decided not to wait in line to pay. She said she left the basket near the cashier and started to leave, she said.

The cashier spoke to a Korean employee who demanded to examine a shopping bag she was carrying, Felissaint said.

"I heard the lady say she's tired of these black people," she said. "Then the man grabbed me as I was walking out."

Felissaint said the man slapped her and another Korean store worker hit her.

"And then another person came and kicked me below my stomach. That's why I fell down," she said, responding to questions from prosecutor Michael B. Frett.

The misdemeanor assault charge against Pong carries a maximum penalty of a year in jail and a $1,000 fine. No one else has been charged.

Klempner said in his opening statement that Felissaint provoked an argument when she tried to steal from the store and lied to police and prosecutors.

"Mrs. Felissaint took an item and threw it in the face of the cashier," Klempner said.

He said she lay down on the floor and feigned injury when she learned police were coming. Other customers watched.

"Some were telling her to get up and others were saying 'Stay down. You're making money,'" Klempner said.

Klempner said doctors found nothing wrong with her, but she later hired a lawyer and began seeing a doctor with complaints of nightmares, flashbacks, pain in her neck and back and an inability to have sex with her husband.

the day Adkins died. Kevorkian has said he would use it again, but only under controlled medical circumstances and where the law allowed it.

Kevorkian, an advocate of the right of terminally ill people to end their lives when they choose, has said his machine is a painless, humane way of ending suffering.

Raskind, a geriatric psychiatrist and Alzheimer's specialist at the University of Washington, said he told Kevorkian more than two weeks before Adkins used the machine that "this was the wrong person for a test case."

Raskind said Adkins was in the early stages of Alzheimer's dementia, characterized by short-term memory loss and decreased ability to reason and interpret.

She otherwise was in excellent physical health, suffered no pain and could have expected three to four more years of "useful life" — retaining most basic physical and mental abilities, Raskind said. She probably would have died within 10 years of Alzheimer's complications, he said.

On a videotape Kevorkian made of Adkins on June 2, Adkins exhibited mood swings and "intermittent depression," Raskind said. "In my opinion, she was not competent to make that decision ... (or) to give informed consent to such a complicated procedure."

Under questioning by Fieger, Raskind admitted he never told Adkins or her family that he believed she was incompetent. Kevorkian, seated at the defense table, leaned forward, grinned at his lawyers and uttered an audible "uh-huh."

Kevorkian grinned again when Raskind told Fieger that Adkins had the right to end her life prematurely if she chose.

"Dr. Raskind clearly said people who are faced with terminal illness have the right to decide their own destiny," Fieger told reporters. "No one believes she wasn't competent to make that decision."

"How can Janet Adkins be mentally incompetent and have 'good years' left?"

Chaps drill Rebs

■ Both Midland College and Westark overcame a night of strange occurrences to post wins in the first half of a two-night doubleheader Friday.

By Jimmy Patterson
Assistant Sports Editor

The four teams gathered at Midland College's Chaparral Center Friday night for the first of a two-night doubleheader endured so many oddities that P.T. Barnum would've salivated had he been in attendance. Overcoming great odds — many of which had nothing to do with the opposition — Midland College defeated Hill Junior College, 72-59, in the nightcap. In the opener, the MC win was preceded by a one-point, 83-82, Odessa College loss to Westark, Ark., a loss that featured three game-ending free throws, acquired after OC's Charles Evans was fouled in three-point territory.

CHAPARRALS 72, REBELS 59
Thanks largely to MC's dominance on defense, the Chaps outscored Hill 23-4 in a 10 minute stretch in the second half. Such an outpouring at both ends of the court was more than enough to help MC to its ninth win of the season against six losses.

The Chaparral players, tied 27-27 at the end of the first half, came out in the second half with one goal in mind. "We came to win for (head) Coach (Reggie) Franklin's dad," MC post Carroll Boudreaux said. "We dedicate this win to him."

Franklin's father died Monday in Houston following a lengthy illness. Funeral services are set for Saturday. Coach Franklin will not be in attendance for the doubleheader.

Running back Thomas Sanders (45) and the rest of the Eagles begin postseason play versus NFC East rival Washington.

Eagles wary of 'Skins

Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA — Both Washington and Philadelphia wish they were playing other teams on Saturday.

"The Redskins have the best offensive personnel in the NFL," Eagles coach Buddy Ryan said of his team's first-round opponent. "And they've always been tough on us. We'd rather play some other people, but it's not our decision."

Ryan, who rarely compliments an opponent, has good reason to fear Washington. The Redskins are 7-2 against the Eagles since he became head coach in 1986. Six of the last seven games between the teams were decided by seven points or fewer.

"If we win this one, in my opinion, it's downhill from here, because this is the toughest matchup," Eagles defensive coordinator Jeff Fisher said.

Tougher than the San Francisco 49ers?

"We're playing a team that knows us well," Fisher said. "A team that we know well. A team that has a multiple scheme on offense and we have to put together our best game on defense."

Meanwhile, Washington coach Joe Gibbs isn't looking forward to playing Philadelphia.

"I think we'd prefer to play a lot of other teams," Gibbs said. "But we're locked in to playing a tough opponent at their place. We'll have to do the best we can. The matchup is tough, mainly because they're physical, have great athletes. They lead the league versus the rush. They have an offense that leads the league rushing. Put those together, that combination you'd like to have heading into the

Key game pits MHS vs. AHS

By Terry Williamson
Sports Editor

It may be early in the District 4-5A basketball campaign, but there won't be many more games on the schedule that holds the importance of today's 6:15 p.m. matchup between Midland High and Abilene High at the MHS gym.

Yes, this will be a "cozy" affair in the cramped quarters of the MHS gym, but since there was a conflict with Midland College at Chaparral Center, one of the key games of the season will find its way to the hard bleachers and MHS coach Jack Stephenson couldn't be more happy.

"We want them in our place," said Stephenson, who has also arranged another key district game against San Angelo for the MHS gym next week. "We have to go and play in their small gyms and have people spit on us. It will be nice to have them at the place where we work out."

Fracture sidelines Olajuwon

Associated Press

HOUSTON — Houston Rockets center Akeem Olajuwon will be sidelined for at least a month after sustaining a fracture behind his right eye.

General Manager Steve Patterson said Friday Olajuwon has a "blowout fracture of the floor and the medial wall of the right orbit which houses the eyeball" as a result of an inadvertent elbow jab by Chicago's Bill Cartwright in Thursday night's game at The Summit.

Patterson said Olajuwon would be out of the lineup three to four weeks and he hoped the center would be back in time for the All-Star game in mid-February.

Team physician Dr. Charles Baker said no surgery is anticipated. He said Olajuwon needs complete rest for the fracture to heal.

Ophthalmologist Robert B. Gillett, who was among a team of physicians examining Olajuwon Friday morning, found no permanent damage to the right eye. He said Olajuwon did not suffer any visual impairment.

Patterson said Olajuwon was resting at home Friday. Olajuwon's eye remained swollen, but he was able to see out of it, he said.

"He took a serious blow to the eye," Patterson said.

Patterson said there were no immediate changes to the remaining 11-member Rockets roster.

Patriots fire Rust after one term

Associated Press

FOXBORO, Mass. — Rod Rust was fired Friday as coach of the New England Patriots after one season and one win.

Five days after the Patriots' worst season in Patriots history ended with their 14th straight loss and a 1-15 record, chief executive officer Sam Jankovich dismissed Rust with three years left on his contract.

There were several reasons for what Jankovich called a "tough decision," but he praised Rust as "a great coach."

He met with Rust for about three hours Friday and said Rust was concerned about problems in the working relationship of the assistant coaches. If Rust were retained, it might be difficult to find new assistants, considering the chances of a mid-season coaching change next season, Jankovich indicated.

He also said he wanted the next coach, the Patriots' fifth in 13 seasons, to be "highly energized and enthusiastic ... full of fire." Rust, 62, is hard working but low-keyed.

"When you lose," Jankovich said, "life is not easy. ... If we did not make that change, I wouldn't have been serving this community and this organization like I should be."

Rust

Jankovich planned to move quickly to find a new coach and said he had a short list of primary candidates but refused to say who was on it. Published reports have focused on John Mackovic, coach at Illinois and former coach of the Kansas City Chiefs.

Jankovich said if he chooses a current NFL assistant it would be "someone who proves that he could win as a head coach." If it's a college head coach, he'd want "someone who has had some experience at the professional level."

He prefers someone who has been a head coach, he said, because "he is much more predictable and can handle any of the distractions that take place."

Rust was an NFL assistant for 14 seasons.

4-5A: Lee girls looking to rebound versus 0-1 Cooper

From 1B

The winner will vault to the early 4-5A lead, but this is a key game for MHS since the Bulldogs will have to travel to Abilene High in the second half of play.

MHS is just off an emotional 77-65 win over Midland Lee Thursday.

"We don't have time to breathe," notes Stephenson. "You can't enjoy the win over Lee since we have only one day to prepare for Abilene High."

"They have two really good players. I saw Daniel Brooks and Tyronne Washington score 37 and 34 points in one game in Hobbs."

But Stephenson says it won't be a problem getting up for the Eagles even with the short time span between games.

"If you can't get up for a team that has won three consecutive 4-5A championships, you just can't get pumped up."

Abilene High beat Abilene Cooper by a 71-63 margin Thursday as Washington hit for 30 points and Brooks 22. That accounts for 52 of the Eagles' 71 points from two players.

It will be a big night at the MHS gym. Junior varsity action is set for 4:30 p.m. It is also lettermen's night where all of past MHS lettermen are invited back for an evening of basketball and socializing.

But as big as that contest is, the Midland High girls also face a stern task on the road against Abilene High at 8 p.m.

The girls of MHS and AHS own a combined district record of 5-0. The winner will capture a firm feather on the way to earning a playoff berth.

"This is a big one. There is no question about that," said MHS girls coach Jim Raughton. "Abilene has a good press and shoots the ball well. We're going to have to shoot well for us to win."

"It was nice to beat Lee, but there are 10 games left in the district race. I'm just glad to be 2-0 at this point, but it sure would be nice to get another one under our belts on the road."

The Midland Lee boys now face the task of rebounding after an opening night loss in district play. The Rebels travel to Abilene Cooper for an 8 p.m. game and both teams are 0-1 in the loop chase. Cooper is only 2-14 on the season, but that doesn't hold much consolation for Lee coach Jon House.

"It will be tough coming off an emotional loss and winning on the road," said House. "Cooper is better than their record. They've played good teams and never get beat badly. They have 6-11, 6-7 and 6-5 starters. They're big and we will get a lesson in blocking out, or we'll get killed."

The Lee girls will host Abilene Cooper at 8 p.m. at the Lee gym. Both teams enter the game with 0-3 loop records and the loser will have to settle into the district's basement and all but lose playoff hopes.

Still, Lee's girls showed promise of breaking its district slump with its narrow loss to MHS Thursday, 46-45.

"We didn't play over our heads against Midland High. We are capable of playing like that all the time," said Lee coach Shirley Stephenson. "Maybe, we are ready to make a strong run. The girls are coming around."

It may still be early in the 4-5A cage race, but tonight may determine just how smooth or rough that long road to the playoffs will really be in 1991.

Reggie Lewis sparks Boston to decisive win

Associated Press

Reggie Lewis ignited a decisive 35-point third period by diving for a loose ball and Boston shredded the Phoenix Suns' vaunted defense in a 132-103 victory Friday night, the Celtics' 15th consecutive home victory.

Kevin McHale scored 23 points, Larry Bird and Brian Shaw 21 each and Robert Parish and Lewis 18 apiece as the Celtics extended their season record to 25-5, including 16-1 at home.

The Suns, trailing by as many as 13 points in the second quarter, got within two early in the third period on three consecutive baskets by Jeff Hornacek, who led Phoenix with 22 points.

Then Lewis beat the Suns to a loose ball with a dive across midcourt and, while on his back, passed to Kevin Gamble for an easy layup.

The Suns' Tim Perry followed with a dunk, but it was Phoenix's last gasp as Boston went on a 28-8 run for a 97-75 lead with 1½ minutes left in the quarter.

Spurs 93, Nets 89
David Robinson had 26 points and 21 rebounds and keyed an 11-0 fourth-quarter run with three blocked shots and a slam dunk, leading San Antonio to a victory over New Jersey.

The victory was the Spurs' ninth in 11 games and prevented them from losing consecutive games for the first time this season. It also handed New Jersey its fifth straight loss and eighth in 10 games.

As in most of their recent games, the Nets stayed close, and even went ahead 76-75 on a follow shot by Chris Dudley with 9:06 to go. The Robinson and company took over with 11 consecutive points.

Hawks 111, Pacers 96
Dominique Wilkins scored 36 points and John Battle had 10 of his 16 in the fourth quarter as Atlanta beat Indiana.

The Hawks, who have won eight straight at home after losing six in a row at the Omni, led 82-79 going to the final period before a free throw by Battle and Sidney Moncrief's two baskets gave the Hawks an 87-79 lead less than 90 seconds into the quarter.

The Pacers never got closer than six the rest of the way.

Wilkins hit a 3-point basket from the corner with 6:37 remaining to build a 97-83 lead, putting him over the 30-point mark for the fourth game in a row.

Bullets 111, Timberwolves 100
Ledell Eckles, a preseason contract holdout, scored 12 of his season-high 22 points in the fourth quarter as the Washington Bullets broke open a close game and defeated Minnesota.

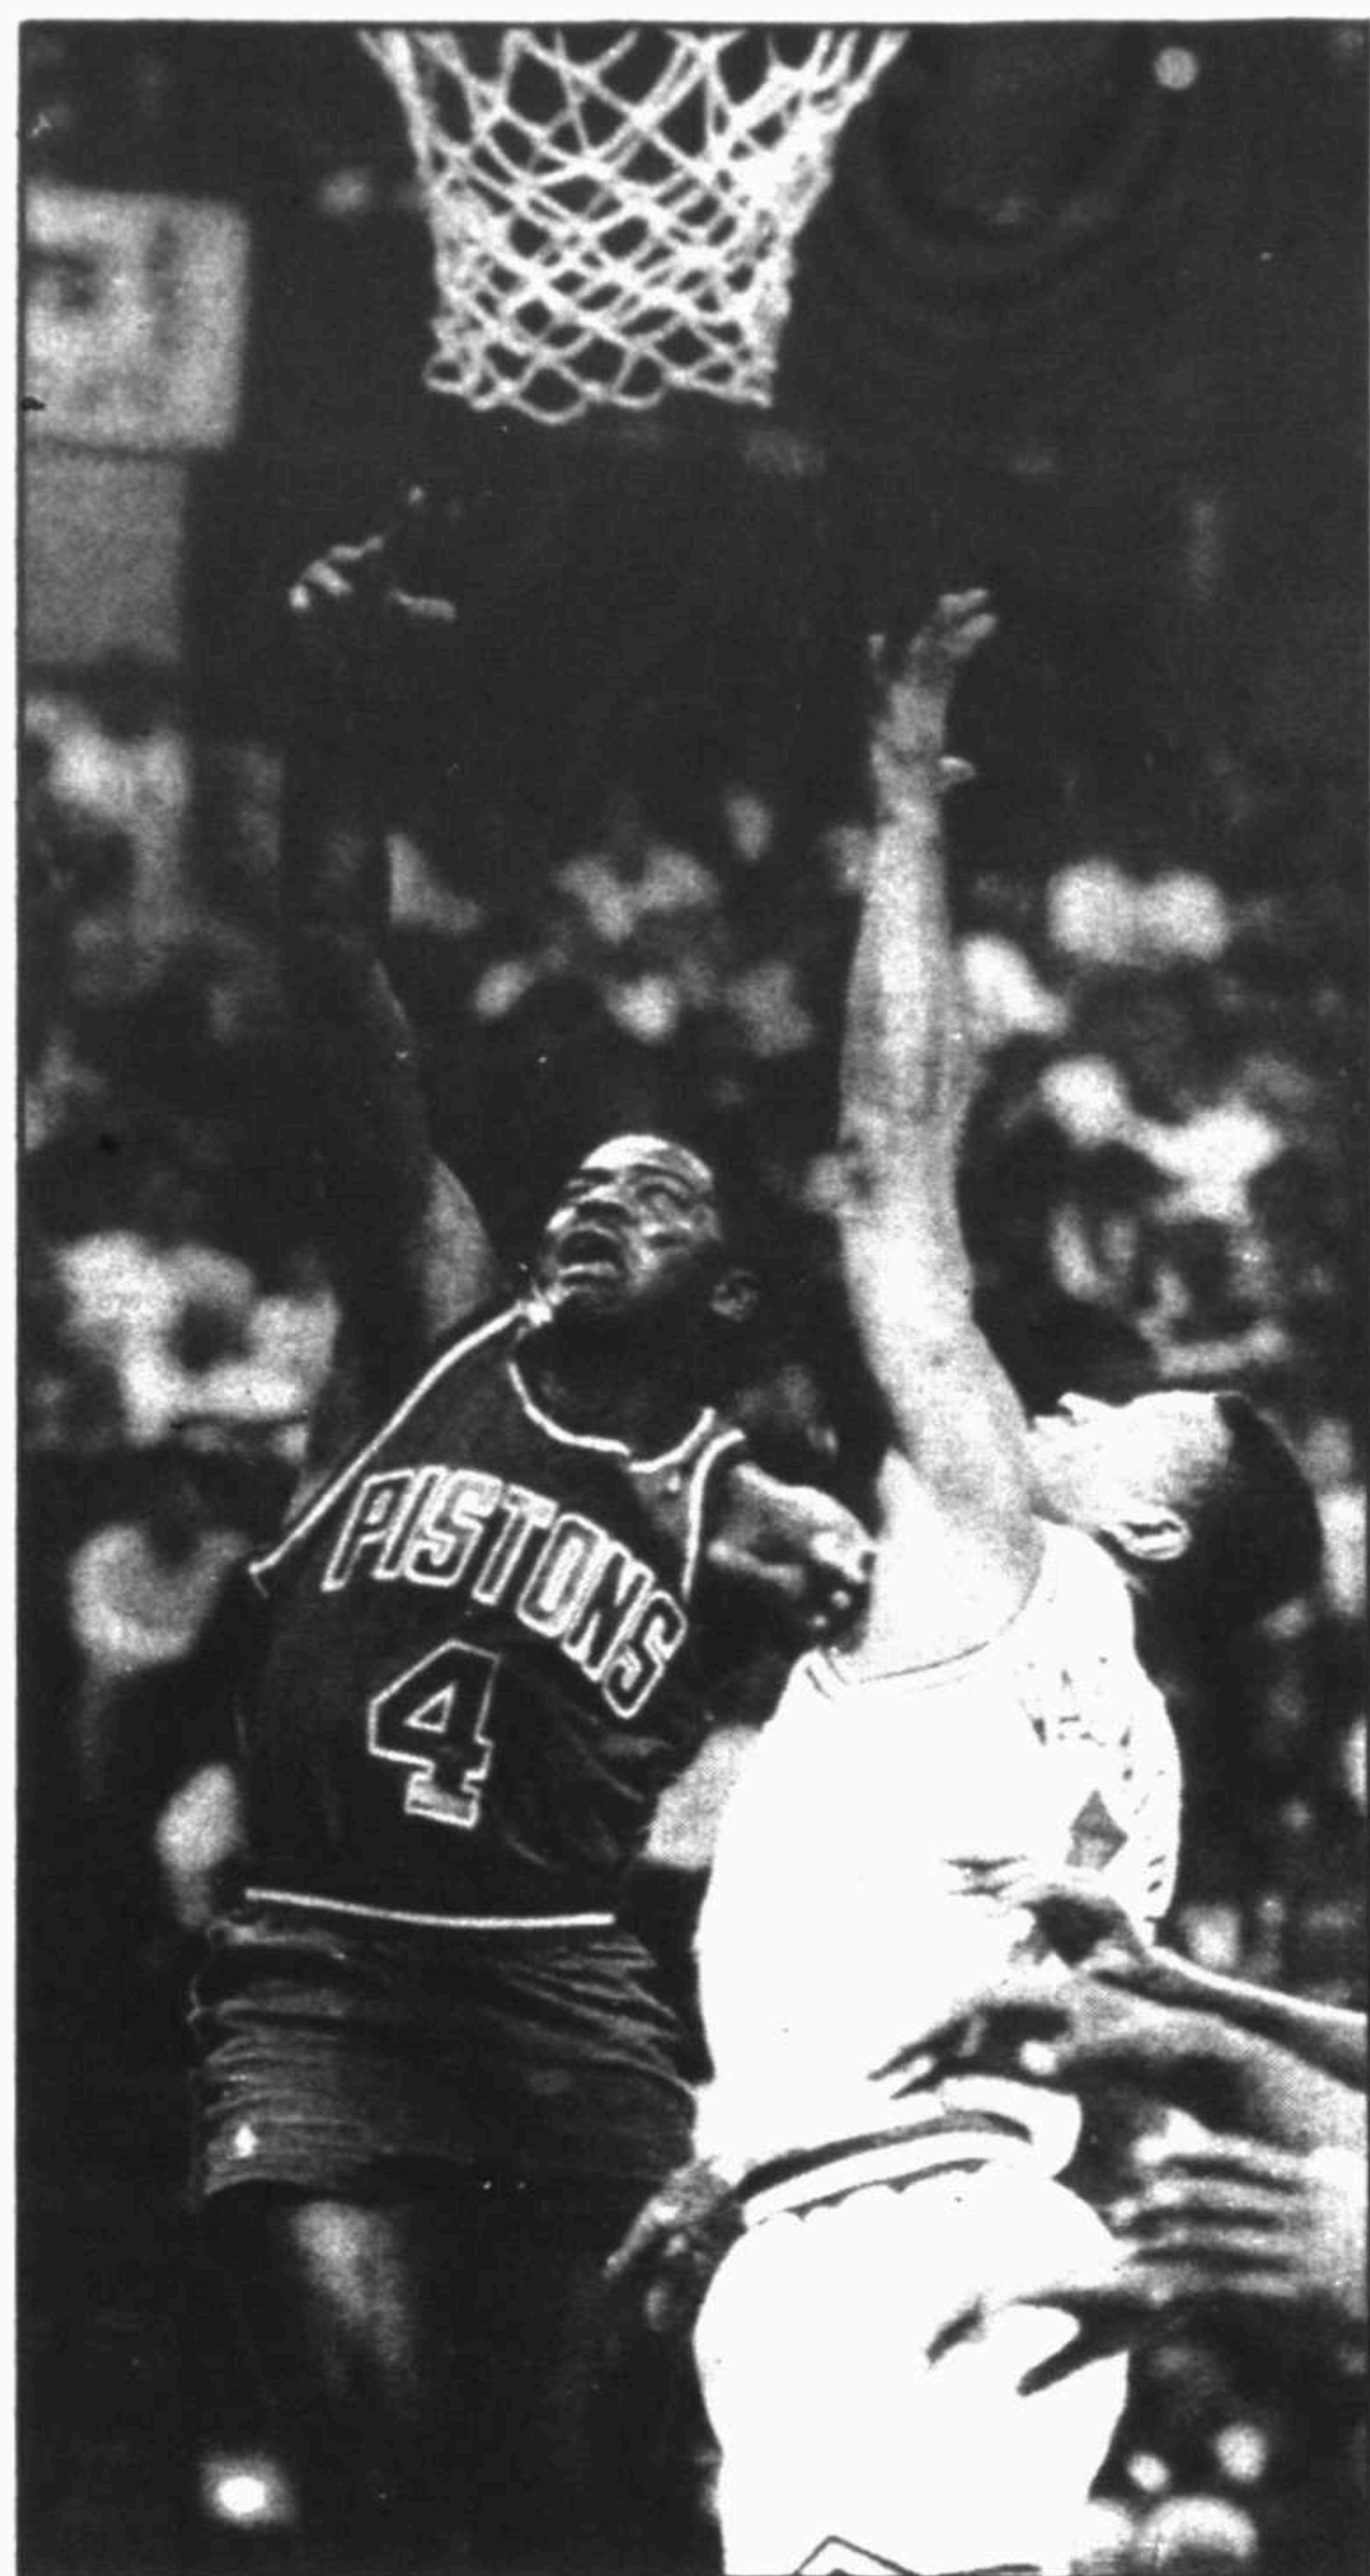

Eckles, who missed the entire exhibition season and the first week of the regular season before reporting out of shape, made eight of 11 shots in helping the Bullets win their third straight game. Bernard King had 26 points and Harvey Grant 25 for Washington, which shot 55 percent from the floor.

Pistons 98, Cavaliers 94
Joe Dumars scored seven of his 25 points in the final 27.4 seconds, including a tiebreaking three-point play, as the Detroit Pistons beat the Cleveland Cavaliers.

The loss was Cleveland's sixth in a row and 12th in the last 13 games. The Cavaliers are 2-13 since losing guard Mark Price to a season-ending knee injury.

The Cavaliers, who got 21 points each from Larry Nance and Brad Daugherty, led for most of the second and third quarters after Henry James, playing in his second NBA game, scored 13 points in the second period.

SuperSonics 112, Heat 86

manned Miami.

Ahead 76-75 after three quarters, the Sonics outscored the Heat 21-3 in the first 6:24 of the fourth quarter for a 97-78 lead. The Heat, missing starters Rony Seikaly and Sherman Douglas as well as reserve Kevin Edwards because of injuries, didn't have a field goal in the final quarter until Keith Askins scored with 4:41 to go.

Threatt, whose NBA career high is 36 points, came off the Sonics' bench to hit 14 of 18 shots from the field, most of them from long range.

Warriors 115, Lakers 99
Tim Hardaway scored 29 points and Chris Mullin added 27 as the Golden State Warriors defeated Los Angeles, snapping a four-game losing streak and ending the Lakers' four-game winning streak.

Jazz 102, 76ers 99
Jeff Malone scored 31 points and Philadelphia's Charles Barkley missed four free throws in the final minute against Utah.

The victory was the 13th in 16 games and the fourth straight for Utah.

CHAPS: Westark wins

From 1B

Assistant coach George Walker acted in Franklin's stead, and was impressed at the Chaparrals' emotional output.

"We usually play pretty good after Christmas," Walker said. "But they talked about the (dedication). It was up to the guys to make a statement like that."

The Chaps hit 54 percent of their shots from the field, including a sparkling 20-of-31 in the final 20 minutes.

Although MC was actually out-rebounded by Hill, 45-44, MC hauled in 33 of its 44 boards on the defensive end, repeatedly denying the Rebels a chance of attempting — much less making — any follow up shots.

The Chaps were led offensively by Eric Walker's 22 points.

"It was the coach's pep talk," Eric said concerning the Chaps' inspired second-half effort. "Coach Walker gave us quite a talk and it got us hyped."

As for the odds and oddities experienced, most came in the slowly paced first half. A first half which featured:

■ A team short of its head coach and a roster cut down to nine players after three chose not to return to MC after the completion of the fall semester:

■ Starting post Charlie Craine sitting on the bench in street clothes after coming down with a severe case of tonsillitis;

■ Boudreaux drawing his third foul with 48 seconds remaining in the first half, and starting point guard Steve Armstrong injuring himself and exiting the game briefly. Had Boudreaux and Armstrong gone out of the game, only seven Chaps would've been able to suit up.

Other occurrences uncommon to most normal basketball games:

■ Kevin Davis, a relief guard, was not included on the official scorekeeper's program and sat out the entire game. Davis could've entered but the Chaps would've been forced to allow Hill a technical foul to start the second half.

■ The technical foul that Hill did successfully convert to begin the second half came after an MC player dunked the ball during practice after a referee had walked onto the court, a rules violation.

■ The Chap Center scoreboard went haywire with just under nine minutes left in the first half. The clock worked, but the team scoring and foul sections did not. At times, the score read MC 188, Hill 88 and Hill 88, MC 8. Unacceptable scores at most arenas. Chap Center director Mike Stevens explained the malfunction as such:

"The scoreboard on the scorer's table stopped communicating with scoreboard up there," pointing to the big scoreboard on the ceiling.

MC faces Westark at 8 p.m. Saturday at Chap Center in final day action; the Odessa-Hill game is set for a 6 p.m. tipoff.

WESTARK 83, ODESSA 82

Prior to the odd beginnings of the MC-Hill game came the unusual ending to the Westark-OC contest.

With two seconds remaining, OC's Charles Evans was fouled in the act of shooting a three-pointer. Under new NCAA rules, also observed by junior colleges, Evans was allowed three free throws, giving OC a chance for a tie to send the game into overtime.

With Westark leading 83-80, Evans connected on the first two FTs, but failed on the third and Westark ran out the final ticks.

"You've got to make 'em (FTs) to win," OC head coach Dennis Helms said. "We just find ways to lose."

OC fell to 9-4. Three of its four losses have come against ranked teams (San Jacinto, South Plains and Westark).

A's Lansford may need surgery following snowmobile accident

Associated Press

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The Oakland Athletics said Friday that the left knee injury suffered by third baseman Carney Lansford during a snowmobile accident is "potentially very serious" and may require surgery.

Lansford, who hurt his knee and right shoulder in a New Year's Eve accident, will undergo an arthroscopic examination in about 10 days, when severe cuts and scrapes are sufficiently healed, said team spokesman Jay Alves.

"The lacerations are so severe they cannot do a scope at this point," said team spokesman Jay Alves.

It would be "premature to speculate on his period of recovery" until the arthroscopic evaluation, the A's said in a statement.

Magnetic resonance imaging tests revealed "probable damage" to Lansford's medial collateral and anterior cruciate ligaments that may require surgical repair, the team said. There apparently was no break or cartilage damage.

Houston dismisses run-and-shoot critics

Associated Press

CINCINNATI — Houston offensive coordinator Kevin Gilbride, preparing the Oilers for Sunday's playoff game against the Cincinnati Bengals, isn't bothered by criticisms of the run-and-shoot offense.

Gilbride, an advocate of the run-and-shoot since he was a coach with the Ottawa Rough Riders of the Canadian Football League, dismisses criticisms that the offense doesn't work near the goal line or in bad weather. Houston and Detroit used the run-and-shoot all season.

"Detroit went up to Green Bay a couple weeks ago and beat them in frozen weather, so I don't think you can say cold weather or wet weather is a unique problem for the run-and-shoot," Gilbride said.

"Our first game, Atlanta blitzes us and gives us trouble, so people start saying it can't handle the blitz. We solve that, then we start having trouble scoring inside the 20, and people start saying that's the problem."

"When we start getting better at that, we start hearing the offense can't hold the lead or that it can't hold the ball. Heck, our punter can't even qualify for the league punting championship because he doesn't get enough chances."

The winner of Sunday's AFC playoff game will advance to the second round of the playoffs against the Los Angeles Raiders or the Buffalo Bills. For now, Cincinnati and Houston are talking tough.

Bengals cornerback Eric Thomas, who helped his team defeat Houston 40-20 on Dec. 23, said Oilers wide receiver Haywood Jeffires talks too much.

"Jeffires is a good receiver, but it seems like he likes to talk a lot," Thomas said. "David Fulcher was saying that he bumped up against him after he caught a ball, and Jeffires said something like, 'You can't stop me.'"

"He said that, not having any idea that he was going to have to come back in here two weeks later," Thomas said. "That's just more fuel on the fire. Anybody can be stopped."

Jeffires, a third-year pro from North Carolina State, shared the AFC receiving title with teammate Drew Hill with 74 catches. In the Dec. 23 loss to the Bengals, Jeffires led the Oilers with seven catches for 78 yards and a touchdown.

Tomczak, Walsh go under a microscope

Associated Press

CHICAGO — Quarterbacks Mike Tomczak and Steve Walsh will be under the microscope Sunday when the New Orleans Saints and the Chicago Bears meet in the first round of the NFL playoffs.

The quarterback who can make the big play — be it Tomczak of the Bears or Walsh of the Saints — could provide a victory in what figures to be a low-scoring game between two teams similar in most respects.

Both rely heavily on defense and a time-churning running game.

A target of the Soldier Field boo birds, Tomczak appears to have an edge in experience over Walsh.

Tomczak, filling in for injured Jim Harbaugh, has started the last two games, giving him 32 starts and a 22-10 record in his six years. That also includes a start in the 1988 20-12 "Fog Bowl" playoff victory over Philadelphia.

Tomczak can be hot or cold. In a 27-14 victory over Tampa Bay, he completed 16 of 33 passes for 239 yards and 2 touchdowns. In the 21-10 loss to Kansas City, he completed but 5 of 23 passes for 85 yards as the fans jeered him throughout the game.

He was so bad that coach Mike Ditka — very briefly — thought about starting rookie Peter Tom Willis in the playoffs.

Ditka later backed down, saying Tomczak would start but that Ditka would also appreciate it if the fans would stop booing.

"It's added pressure. He tries to be more spectacular and that's what I don't want him to be," said Ditka. "I want him to be good, old-fashioned Mike Tomczak. Put on his high tops and go to work."

Does that mean a conservative game plan?

"If we have to throw, we will throw," said Ditka. "Mike has thrown it well in the past."

Rangers ink Guzman

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — The Texas Rangers on Friday announced they had signed right-handed pitcher Jose Guzman to a one-year contract for 1991.

Guzman, who has not pitched in the major leagues since 1988 due to shoulder problems, signed for $365,000. He earned $400,000 last season.

Guzman, 27, was on the disabled list all of 1989 and played in the minors last year on medical rehabilitation assignment.

Dolphins, Chiefs inexperienced in playoffs

Associated Press

MIAMI — The wildest card in Saturday's wild-card game between Miami and Kansas City may be that both teams must rely on postseason newcomers.

The playoff game is the first since 1985 for Miami and the first since 1986 for Kansas City. Of the 47 players on each roster, only 16 Dolphins and 22 Chiefs have been in a postseason game.

"If you've never been to the Super Bowl, you don't know what it takes to get there," said Dolphins cornerback Tim McKyer, who played with two championship teams in San Francisco.

"You have to be focused and driven. It's time for guys to get themselves up and decide in their minds whether they want to be world champions."

McKyer's outspoken manner has recently become a source of irritation for teammates. Rebutting his position this time was fullback Tony Paige, who said the Dolphins' inexperience in postseason is not a concern.

"We've got a good blend of veterans who have been to the playoffs and younger guys who are hungry," said Paige, who played in three postseason games with the New York Jets.

"The young guys have enthusiasm and intensity; that can help. The veterans just have to let them know: 'Hey, it's now or never. We may not ever be on a team this good again.'"

Miami's 12-4 record was a marked change from 8-8 a year ago and 6-10 in 1988. The Chiefs' 11 victories were their most since 1968.

After a season of such improvement, competency can take hold, Kansas City's Steve DeBerg said.

"I think that happens sometimes," the Chiefs' quarterback said. "Quite often a team that has struggled and had a hard time just getting to the .500 mark, their goal is first to get into the playoffs. And then once they're in the playoffs, you figure, 'Well, our goals weren't high enough.'"

EAGLES: Gibbs concerned about Randall Cunningham

playoffs."

In Philadelphia's 28-14 victory over Washington on Nov. 12, nine Redskins were injured, including two quarterbacks. According to reports from Washington, the Eagles made such remarks as: "Do you guys need any more body bags?" and "You guys are going to need another bus to get all the stretchers home."

"If that's what they did, that's what they did," Ryan said. "I know somebody wrote that. They should check with the Redskins."

Although Washington has been more successful in containing Randall Cunningham than any other team, Gibbs is concerned about the Eagles' scrambling quarterback.

"I rate him the probably as one of the toughest guys who has ever played," Gibbs said.

Cunningham knows Washington has done a good job in defending him.

"They've had a good scheme against me," he said. "They figure the best way to stop me. I've got to

Gibbs said he is concerned about the inconsistency of his own quarterback, Mark Rypien.

"Rypien has to play a solid, sound game," Gibbs said. "We don't want to throw interceptions."

Philadelphia is a four-point favorite in the game between teams that finished 10-6 in the regular season. The Eagles got the home field because of a better conference record.

The game could play a big part in Ryan's future. He's in the last season of a five-year contract during which the Eagles are 43-37-1 with three consecutive playoff appearances. Eagles owner Norman Braman has said he'll evaluate Ryan's status coach after the season.

"All we've got to do to solidify his position is just win," defensive end Reggie White said. "He's the best thing to ever happen to this team. We feel he deserves to be around again, because he's the one who caused things to happen with this team."

George Allen memorialized by friends

Associated Press

ROLLING HILLS ESTATES, Calif. — George Allen was remembered as a winning football coach and a lot more at a memorial service Friday where former players, longtime friends and family paid tribute to him.

"One of the favorite expressions of coach Allen was, 'When I run into a rock or a boulder, no matter how large or how small, I'll find a way to move it,'" said Roman Gabriel, who played for Allen as a quarterback with the Los Angeles Rams.

"We listen to a lot of people, but we learn from a few. George Allen was one of those few."

The famed football coach died Monday after collapsing at his home in nearby Rancho Palos Verdes. He was 72. An autopsy showed he died of cardiac arrest resulting from an irregular heart beat diagnosed three weeks earlier. The problem caused a fatal heart spasm.

Allen came out of retirement to coach Long Beach State last fall, and the 49ers went 6-5 for their first winning record in four years despite losing their first three games.

"He would only demand things he knew he could do himself," Long Beach cornerback Darrick Davis said. "He would get out and run with us, exercise with us. He was an inspiration, a great guy. He was a great motivator. You could look him in the eye and feel the fire."

The memorial service was held at Rolling

Hills Covenant Church, not far from Allen's Rancho Palos Verdes home, before about 1,000 mourners.

Among those attending were former Ram star and television announcer Merlin Olsen, Los Angeles Raiders managing general partner Al Davis and actor Dabney Coleman.

Early in the day, a private burial was held. Billy Kilmer, former defensive end and "Deacon" Jones, longtime friend Bill Harris and Allen's three sons served as pallbearers.

"I never played football, and I've only known George Allen three years," Coleman said. "It is an honor I will cherish the rest of my life. There were no surprises with him."

"I idolize him today. The reason I think the relationship built is because he was pure, naive, boyish and, above all, very, very simple. He didn't say anything we all didn't relate to. He lived it. He made it all seem simple."

In an interview four days before Allen died, Allen said Coleman was the only person he talked to who urged him to take the Long Beach job.

"Before last season, he said, 'We'll win, because I'll love these players so much,'" Gregory Allen said of his father. "His players, like his family, loved him because he loved us."

"He would encourage you to take charge of your life, be productive in your life, be a winner. He said trying is success and failure is not trying."

Allen had the third-best winning percentage (71.2 percent) among NFL coaches with 100 or more victories, but he's not yet a member of the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

He was 49-17-4 as head coach of the Los Angeles Rams from 1966-70 and 67-30-1 as head coach of the Washington Redskins from 1971-77.

Olsen remembered Allen as being very close to his players. "He didn't buy all of the standard dogma," Olsen said. "He did it his own way. Right from the beginning, he seemed to have a sense of how to win. I think everybody who played for George will remember his enthusiasm, his energy. He was a winner."

Criticized for trading away high draft choices for the older players he preferred around him, Allen replied, "The future is now."

Allen led the 1972 Redskins, known as the "Over-The-Hill-Gang," to their first Super Bowl appearance, but they lost a 14-7 decision to the unbeaten Miami Dolphins at the Los Angeles Coliseum. It would be the only time he landed a team in the Super Bowl although he often came close.

Originally a physical education major and later a junior varsity wrestling coach at the University of Michigan, Allen began his career as a head football coach in 1948 at Morningside College in Sioux City, Iowa. In his first year, the team had a 3-6 record, one of only three losing seasons he ever had as a head coach.

The other two losing seasons came in 1951 and 1954 at former President Richard Nixon's alma mater, Whittier College.

Kite's charge fails to catch Wadkins

By Bob Green

CARLSBAD, Calif. — Tom Kite had a game plan — throw a good round at Lanny Wadkins and make up some ground — and executed it to perfection.

There was only one problem: It didn't work.

"I shoot five under (par) and didn't move," Kite said Friday after a 67 left him still three shots off the pace at the halfway point of the Tournament of Champions, the kickoff event on the PGA Tour.

The front-running Wadkins also had a 67, this one with no bogeys, and retained his margin with a 132 total, 12 under par.

"He's playing good," Kite said after finishing 36 holes at 135. "But still, you don't expect to shoot 67 and not pick up anything."

Kite once moved to within a single stroke of the lead, but Wadkins responded to the threat with approaches that stopped at tap-in distance on two of the last four holes.

His birdies on the 15th and 18th, which restored his 3-shot advantage, each required a putt of about two feet.

"Really nothing exceptional," the 41-year-old veteran said. "Just a good, solid round. The big thing was I didn't make any big mistakes."

Despite two days of rain that ranged from downpour to drizzle, Wadkins has made very few miscues.

A two-time winner of this tournament, which brings together only the winners of tour titles from the previous season, he has made only one bogey in two rounds.

In a separate but simultaneous competition for 1990 winners from the Senior PGA Tour, Bruce Crampton took advantage of Lee Trevino's absence and established a 5-stroke advantage.

Trevino, who dominated the over-50 set with seven victories and a record $1,190,518 in earnings last year, was forced to withdraw after suffering muscle spasms in his back.

He said the spasms in his lower back were the result of a muscle pull suffered "about 10 days ago." Trevino said the injury is not serious and is not related to back surgery he underwent a decade ago.

"I'll be back in 10 days," he said.

Crampton birdied his last two holes for a 69 that put him at 5-under 139.

Broyles recommends new contract for Jack Crowe

Associated Press

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. — Arkansas Athletic Director Frank Broyles has recommended a new five-year contract for first-year head football coach Jack Crowe.

Crowe moved up to the head coaching job when Ken Hatfield left for Clemson a year ago. He managed only a 3-8 record, following two seasons in which Hatfield's teams had represented the Southwest Conference in the Cotton Bowl.

"I am convinced Jack and his staff have placed the program priorities of integrity, compliance and academic progress first while working to fulfill our objective of providing us with a program that is nationally competitive," Broyles said at a news conference Friday.

Arkansas, a charter member of the Southwest Conference, will compete for the 1991 football title, but then will join the Southeastern Conference.

"This process has taken a month to evaluate," Broyles said. "I am pleased with everything I see taking place in football. It was time to make a recommendation or wait until next year."

"There was no reason to wait. We wanted to change the contract now to show the confidence we have in Jack Crowe and his staff."

Midland Christian boys advance, girls get win

Staff Report

MCS boys 54, Sanderson 45

GRANDFALLS — Tim Adams sparked a fourth-quarter rally that pushed Midland Christian into the finals of the Grandfalls Tournament with a 54-45 semifinal win over Sanderson on Friday.

In girls action, MCS moved into the consolation championship game with a 48-30 romp over Fort Stockton junior varsity.

Adams scored only four of MCS' 22 fourth quarter points, but the senior guard passed out six assists and had several steals to frustrate the Eagles.

Adams led all scorers with 25 points. Joe White was the only other Mustang in double figures with 10 points.

Holly Hutton led the MCS girls, 10-8, with 10 points. The girls face Buena Vista in today's consolation championship.

Banquets...

Professional baseball coaches, players and an umpire will be among those guest speakers in attendance at the 1991 Midland Sports Banquet, Jan. 29, at Midland Country Club.

The banquet is hosted by the Midland Angels and will feature California Angel general manager Mike Port, minor league director Bill Bavasi, vice president-baseball operations Dan O'Brien and field manager Doug Rader. Two unnamed players will also be present.

along with National League umpire John McSherry.

Newly-named Midland manager Don Long and first-year coach Gene Richards will also be in attendance, as well as Midland native Randy Velarde, presently a New York Yankees' infielder.

Festivities begin at 6 p.m. with a silent baseball memorabilia auction and cocktails, followed by dinner and speakers. Memorabilia proceeds go to benefit Special Olympics/Midland.

Tickets are $45 per person with sponsor tables available for $500 (seating for eight).

For more information, contact the Midland Angels' front office at 683-4251 during business hours.

STRONG HANDS OF PRAYER

Hands grow stronger when they are clasped reverently in prayer, seeking the power and love of God.

History documents the confusion and futility that have marked mankind's efforts to solve problems without God. When we have chosen to struggle alone, we have struggled.

It is not weakness then, but wisdom which inspires prayer. Those disciples of Jesus who were destined to share their faith with people of all nations and times asked very simply

"Lord, teach us to pray."

As you worship next week and in the privacy of your own home today, make positive use of the precious gift of prayer. It will make your hands stronger for the tasks at hand.

RELIGION IN BRIEF

Churches plan Bible studies

Ken Connolly and the Rev. Bruce Melton will be the featured speakers at the New Year's Bible Conference beginning Sunday at Kelview Heights Baptist Church.

Melton is pastor of Central Baptist Church, Huntington Beach, Calif., and serves as a professor at Pacific Coast Baptist Bible College, San Dimas, Calif.

Born in England, Connolly, who is the son of evangelist Peter Connolly, came to the United States in 1950. He teaches Bible at Pacific Coast Baptist Bible College.

The schedule for the conference is 9 and 11 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. Sunday and 7 p.m. Monday and Tuesday.

The church's pastor, the Rev. Frank Johnson, invites the public to attend. A nursery will be provided at all services.

Ranchland Heights Baptist Church will begin its January Bible Study Sunday.

The study, which will cover the Book of Acts, will be held each Sunday and Wednesday evening through the first week of February. The church's pastor, Lucian Rudd, will teach the sessions, assisted in some sessions by the Rev. Leon Snelson, also of the church. Theme for the month will be

"Acts: The Gospel for All People," from the textbook written by J.W. MacGorman, New Testament professor at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary.

Session will begin at 6 p.m. Sundays and at 7 p.m. Wednesdays. For more information call 683-1947 or 697-4471.

Bellview Baptist Church will begin a special Bible study Sunday in the New Testament Book of Acts.

The Bible teacher will be Ken Horn, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Plains. The Bible study will continue through Wednesday. Times for the study are 10:50 a.m., 5:30 and 6:40 p.m. Sunday and from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Monday through Wednesday.

Special classes will be held for youth and children.

The church's pastor, the Rev. G.A. Magee, invites the public to attend.

The Downtown Bible Study has resumed its regular teaching schedule with Paula Ramsey beginning Part 2 of The Promise Study, "The Place of Blessing," and Bunny Becker starting a teaching entitled "Our Relationship to God's Character and Attributes."

Each meeting begins at 11:30 a.m. at 312 E. Illinois and is structured to accommodate an 11:30 a.m. or 12 noon lunch hour. For information call 682-3415.

Theology course set

The West Texas Extension Program of Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary will be offering Introduction to Theology in Midland Feb. 10 through May 12.

Pre-registration will continue through Feb. 1.

Dr. Thomas W. Currie III, pastor of First Presbyterian Church in Kerrville, will teach the course. Currie is a graduate of Haverford College, Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary and the University of Edinburgh in Scotland. He will be serving as adjunct professor for Austin Seminary.

This course surveys systematically the central themes and doctrines of the Christian faith, giving students an outline of the church's theological inheritance and helping them to engage critically in its contemporary application and renewal.

The classes will meet at First Presbyterian Church on 12 Sundays from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. The class will not meet March 3 and March 31. An additional class session will be held for the final exam.

For more information call Tres Rios Presbytery, 682-5297.

Church to host speaker

The Unitarian-Universalist Church of Midland will host a program entitled "Growing and Living in a Segregated Society: The Reminiscences of James Pitts" Sunday.

Pitts has a chemistry degree from Prairie View College, a masters degree in administration and supervision from the University of Southern California and a degree in industrial education from Texas Southern University, Houston.

"His broad life experiences include dishwasher, mason tender, explosives destroyer, aircraft mechanic, science teacher, track coach and public relations executive," said a release from the church.

Pitts will speak from 9:45 to 10:45 a.m. at the church, Neely at Midkiff. The public is invited to attend.

Faith to be explored

ABILENE — Two professors of religion will explore the theme "A Continuing Dialogue: Faith and Knowledge" during the 10th annual Sikes-Melugin Lectureship in Religious Studies at McMurry University Feb. 11-12.

Pitts

Speakers will be Roy Melugin, professor of religion at Austin College, Sherman; and David L. Balch, associate professor of New Testament at Brite Divinity School, Texas Christian University.

The lectures, which are open to the public, will be held at 8 p.m. Monday, Feb. 11, and at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, Feb. 12. Balch will speak Feb. 11 on "Luke and Cornelius: Stories for Educated, Wealthy Church Members," and Melugin will speak Feb. 12 on "blessed are the Wise."

Both lectures will be in the Mabey Room of the United Methodist Campus Center.

A panel discussion, also open to the public, will begin at 2 p.m. Monday, Feb. 11, and at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, Feb. 12. The moderator will be Joseph Stamey, McMurry professor of philosophy.

Spiritual renewal set

Dale Van Steenis is the guest preacher for the Spiritual Renewal at Abundant Life Worship Center, 4801 Princeton Ave., Sunday through Wednesday.

Steenis has served in various capacities as pastor, evangelist and traveling teacher. For 5½ years he served as director of youth ministries for more than 400 churches in Southern California. Currently he is the director of Leadership Strategies which ministers primarily to three groups — church leaders, men only in seminar settings and local church renewal meetings.

Steenis, his wife, Gloria, and their four children live in Orange County, Calif.

Services times are 10:30 a.m. and 6 p.m. Sunday and 7 p.m. Monday through Wednesday. A nursery will be provided for each service.

Outreach Aglow to meet

Mimi Baird, a former resident of Midland, will speak to the Midland Outreach Aglow Tuesday at the Royal Inn, 3601 W. Wall Ave.

Mrs. Baird, a native of Iran, was born into a Muslim family. She is the wife of John Baird, minister of Elmwood West Methodist Church. They are the parents of two daughters, Ruth and Rachel.

A buffet dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. Cost is $6.50. The meeting will begin at 7:15 p.m.

Archeologist wants to know how Egyptians came to be Christians

OASIS OF FIRAN, Egypt (AP) — Egypt was an ancient, religious land under the stranglehold of Nero's Rome when the first strains of Christianity came quietly and swiftly across the Sinai Desert from Judea.

How did the new religion arrive, who were the first Christians, what were the early teachings and how did the message spread and change?

German archaeologist Peter Grossmann, who specializes in early Christian sites of the Near East, is trying to unlock the mysteries. His expeditions often take him into the Sinai and to the oasis of Firan.

For five seasons, Grossmann has dug in the ruin-rich hillsides above Firan, where pagans who drifted there 1,700 years ago became Christian converts.

Most archaeologists prefer to bypass Christian relics in Egypt for more lucrative digs for relics of the Pharaohs.

British archaeologist Michael Jones, who is based in Cairo, says Grossmann's work is important because "everything we believe as Western Christians, everything we know about early Christianity, began in places like this. And yet we know so little."

*Old Testament scholars know the oasis as Paran, where Hagar and her son Ishmael found refuge after they were banished by Abraham, and as the Vale of Elim, a welcome stopover for the children of Israel during the Exodus.

At Firan, a haven of date palms and wells in the stark Sinai, a crumbling mud-brick cathedral dominates the ruins of an ancient settlement.

Although the pagans-turned-Christians left evidence of their years at Firan, much of it was destroyed by Bedouin raiders or washed away by flash floods.

Egyptian Christians date their church to the first century, when Mark the apostle brought the new religion to Alexandria.

Third century Roman emperors persecuted Egypt's Christians. Church records were destroyed, but the religion was kept alive from wilderness caves by hermits and monks preaching the virtues of sacrifice to flocks of believers.

Early hermits who sought to communicate with God in Egypt's deserts by practicing a life of self-denial lived on Mount Serbal, which rises above the oasis, and on Mount Sinai, a few miles away.

Both mountains were reputed to be the site where God gave Moses the Ten Commandments, but by the fourth century, most Christians believed it occurred on Mount Sinai.

Grossmann's history of Firan begins in the first century, when pagans wandered into the oasis, and ends with Islam's conquest of Christian Egypt seven centuries later.

Firan's first converts to Christianity were the Nabateans, mysterious Bedouin traders and shepherds who roamed the desert. The Nabateans left more than 1,000 archaeological sites. Some were masterpieces, like the Nabatean capital Petra in southern Jordan, where part of the movie "Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade" was filmed. Some were simple, like remains left by Sinai Nabateans, who barely eked out an existence.

Grossmann thinks the Nabateans originally came to the inhospitable Sinai seeking work in the turquoise mines and were attracted to Firan by its water and food.

They built a pagan temple and, on surrounding rocky hillsides, hundreds and hundreds of tombs.

When a burial was prepared, "it would take three days or so for everybody to get together," Grossmann said. "The oasis was a nice place. The family might remain a week or two."

Drawings the restless Nabateans scribbled on boulders and elsewhere while awaiting funerals produced a record of their transition from paganism to Christianity. Early drawings depicted camels and riders. Later Nabateans drew crosses.

The archaeologist said he does not know why the Nabateans became Christians. But once they settled into oasis life, he said, they quickly found a way to improve their lot: by making money from other Christians.

LIFESCOPE

Like To Know How Royalty Lives? Lifescope Says, "Make Plans Now To Attend Open House!"

In a vision he [an angel] took me [John] to a towering mountain peak and from there I watched that wondrous city, the holy Jerusalem, descending out of the skies from God. It was filled with the glory of God, and flashed and glowed like a precious gem, crystal clear like jasper. Its walls were broad and high, with twelve gates guarded by twelve angels. And the names of the twelve tribes of Israel were written on the gates. There were three gates on each side - north, south, east, and west. The walls had twelve foundation stones, and on them were written the names of the twelve apostles of the Lamb.

The angel held in his hand a golden measuring stick to measure the city and its gates and walls. When he measured it, he found it was a square as wide as it was long; in fact it was in the form of a cube, for its height was exactly the same as its other dimensions - 1,500 miles each way. Then he measured the thickness of the walls and found them to be 216 feet across (the angel called out these measurements to me, using standard units). The city itself was pure, transparent gold like glass! The wall was made of jasper, and was built on twelve layers of foundation stones inlaid with gems: the first layer with jasper; the second with sapphire; the third with chalcedony; the fourth with emerald; the fifth with sardonyx; the sixth layer with sardus; the seventh with chrysolite; the eighth with beryl; the ninth with topaz; the tenth with chrysoprase; the eleventh with jacinth; the twelfth with amethyst. The twelve gates were made of pearls - each gate from a single pearl! And the main street was pure, transparent gold, like glass.

Nothing evil will be permitted in it - no one immoral or dishonest - but only those whose names are written in the Lamb's Book of Life. There shall be nothing in the city which is evil; for the throne of God and of the Lamb will be there, and His servants will worship Him. And they shall see His face; and His name shall be written on their foreheads. And there will be no night there - no need for lamps or sun - for the Lord God will be their light; and they shall reign forever and ever. [Jesus told John:] "... Blessed forever are all who are washing their robes, to have the right to enter in through the gates of the city, and to eat the fruit from the Tree of Life. . . ."

STATE IN BRIEF

Bones identified as skeleton

HOUSTON (AP) — A skeleton found last week in a wooded area has been identified as that of a 13-year-old girl who vanished in May after fighting with her father about going to a concert.

The girl, reported missing May 12, was identified as Priscilla Ann Reyes, authorities said Thursday. Her remains were found Dec. 28 by two teen-age boys just a block from her home.

The boys said the bones appeared to have been arranged, with three bones forming a triangle around the skull and others scattered nearby. But authorities said it was impossible to determine whether someone had arranged the bones or if they had been used in any sort of ritual.

Harris County Sheriff's Sgt. Skip Oliver said clothing found at the scene matched the description given by the missing girl's father.

The father told sheriff's deputies that the two had argued the night before he discovered her missing because he would not let her attend a concert by her favorite group, New Kids On The Block. The girl was gone when the father awoke the next morning.

Inaugural performers set

AUSTIN (AP) — More than 1,000 performers will participate in the "Texas Our Texas" gala planned as part of Gov.-elect Ann Richards' inaugural ceremonies.

Heading the list are Dolly Parton, Kris Kristofferson, Jerry Jeff Walker, Willie Nelson, Shelby Lynne and the group Asleep at the Wheel, said Margaret Justus, spokeswoman for the inaugural committee.

Also on the program are Carol Channing, Shannon Sedwick and the Austin comedy group Esther's Follies, and "An Inaugural Tuna," being performed by Joe Sears and Jaston Williams of "Greater Tuna" fame.

Tickets to the Jan. 14 gala are $10 and nearly sold out, said Cathy Bonner, inaugural committee chair.

Ms. Bonner said entertainment will be varied at the four inaugural balls planned for the night of Jan. 15. A big band, a country and western group and a rhythm and blues band are scheduled for each of those events, she said.

Rights bill introduced

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Beaumont, has introduced civil rights legislation that he said would restore and strengthen laws that ban employment discrimination.

Brooks, the chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, said the bill would give women the same rights that others now have to be compensated for the effects of intentional discrimination in the workplace.

Brooks said passage of the Civil Rights Act of 1991 is essential to give women the same rights as those available to other minorities and to overcome roadblocks to progress in civil rights raised by Supreme Court decisions.

Wrongdoing denied

AUSTIN (AP) — Three San Angelo doctors, who agreed this week to settle a dispute with the state attorney general, deny any wrongdoing in the case, an attorney for one of the physicians said Friday.

The three doctors decided to settle only to avoid litigation, said lawyer Rufus Oliver, who represented Dr. Leslie K. Williamson.

"It was a major point in the negotiations to have the public record so state," Oliver said. "All the defendants deny the charges."

Attorney General Dan Morales' office announced the settlement Wednesday.

The attorney general's office said Williamson, Dr. Allen Anderson and Dr. Brian Humphreys had agreed to pay the state $90,000 in attorneys fees and investigative costs and that the settlement prohibits the physicians from attempting to limit competition.

Mayoral run urged

DALLAS (AP) — U.S. Rep. Steve Bartlett says economic and political conditions in Dallas have him considering a run for mayor.

Bartlett, 43, said he has been encouraged by "dozens of people" to run for the office.

"We have a serious lack of political leadership that is doing serious damage to our city," Bartlett said.

Mayor Annette Strauss, who is eligible for another term, has said she will not announce her plans until after a judge makes a ruling in the pending City Council redistricting lawsuit.

The lawsuit has the date for the next municipal election up in the air as it will be up to a federal judge to set the next election as well as to decide how the city will be redistricted.

"I do think the city of Dallas is in a world of hurt right now. My sense is the city is drifting downhill," Bartlett told the Dallas Times Herald.

Bartlett, a Republican who served on the Dallas City Council from 1977 to 1981, said a number of people had encouraged him to run.

Jet slides off runway

GRAPEVINE (AP) — Passengers on a Delta flight that slid off a slick runway at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport early Friday went home on alternate flights, airline officials said.

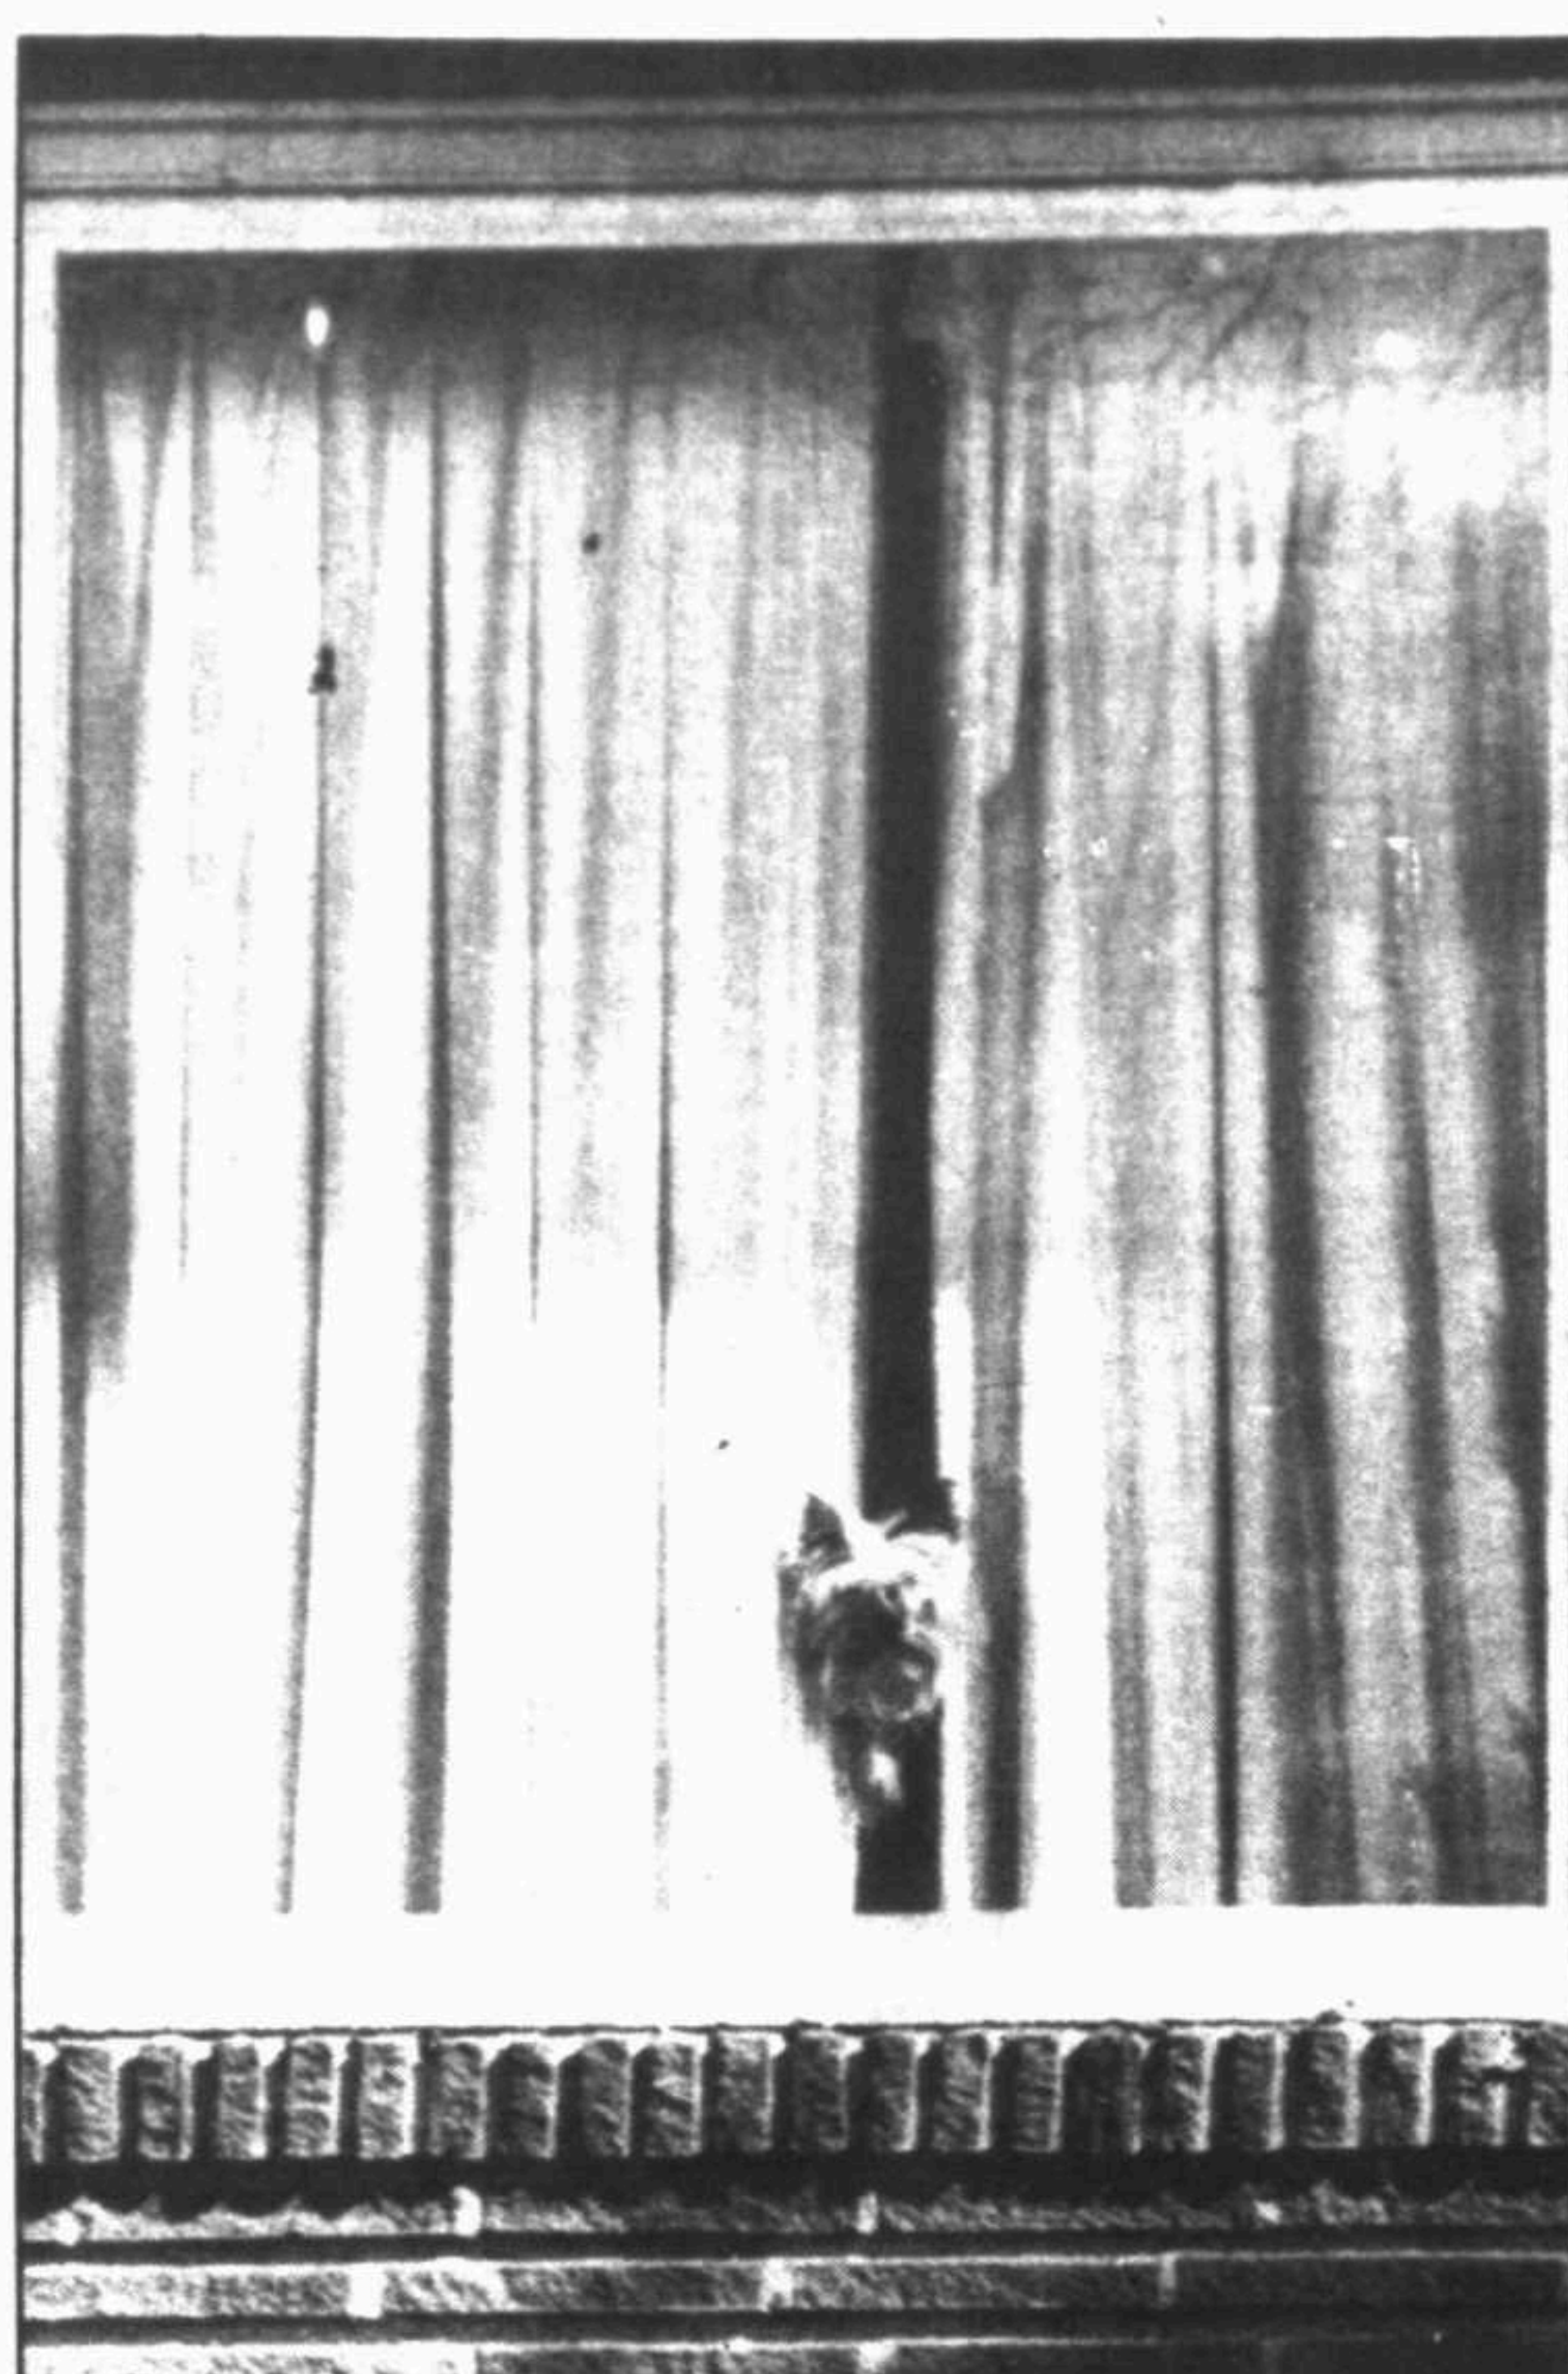

No one was injured when Delta Flight 930 slid into some mud while preparing to leave for Memphis with 17 passengers and six crew members at 1:20 a.m., said Delta spokesman Henry Conley.

The MD-80's nose wheel apparently slipped off the icy runway, Conley said.

The plane's passengers were taken to a motel, where they rested before resuming their journeys aboard other flights.

Some of the passengers had departed by 10 a.m. Friday, while the rest were expected to depart throughout the day, Conley said.

Runways at the airport had some ice on them because of freezing rain that fell across the area throughout most of the day Thursday and continued Friday, airport spokeswoman Angel Biasatti said.

Rape, murder suspect charged

DALLAS (AP) — A rape and murder suspect was arrested and charged after one of his alleged victims saw him in a video store, authorities said.

Myron Charles Johnson, 20, of Dallas on Thursday was charged in the Sept. 21, 1989, stabbing death of Jelater Mayfield, 28, and the rape of another woman the same night, police said.

Johnson was being held Friday on charges of capital murder, aggravated rape and sexual assault, said jail clerk Betty Campbell.

Charges also were being prepared against Johnson in connection with three other sexual assaults, including one involving the woman who spotted him at a video store in a south Dallas suburb on Tuesday.

The victim, who had been raped and robbed in June 1989, flagged down a Duncanville police officer, who held Johnson until detectives from Dallas questioned him.

Ms. Mayfield, a Baylor University Medical Center employee, was abducted after a car rammed her vehicle and forced it off the road, authorities said. Her body was found in a field several weeks later.

Cisneros appointed to Dallas Fed board

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Former San Antonio Mayor Henry Cisneros Friday was appointed to a three-year term on the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas board of directors.

Cisneros, 43, mayor of San Antonio from 1981 to 1989, said he decided to accept the Federal Reserve Bank position even though he had received offers from several private financial institutions.

"After serious consideration, it seemed my experience in public administration and in the private financial industry would be best utilized in work with the Federal Reserve Bank Board," Cisneros said in a prepared statement.

Cisneros is chairman of Cisneros Asset Management Co., an investment management firm, and Cisneros Benefit Group, which offers services such as insurance and retirement planning.

The Federal Reserve Bank's Board of Governors in Washington D.C. appointed Cisneros, who holds one of three appointed positions on the nine-member board.

He will represent public service interests of agriculture, commerce, industry, services, labor and consumers. The non-salaried directors perform such duties as supervising the reserve bank and making monetary policy recommendations.

Cisneros fills a post vacated by Bobby R. Inman, who decided to leave the board when his term expired at the end of 1990.

Because whoever holds the position is prohibited from serving with any commercial bank or holding company, Cisneros said he resigned from the board of directors of First Gibraltar Bank effective Dec. 27.

'After serious consideration, it seemed my experience in public administration and in the private financial industry would be best utilized in work with the Federal Reserve Bank Board.'

— Henry Cisneros

"My year with First Gibraltar was a productive one," Cisneros said. "We worked through the process of becoming established in Texas and made significant inroads with regard to affordable housing initiatives."

While mayor, Cisneros was interviewed in 1984 by Democratic presidential nominee Walter Mondale as a potential vice presidential candidate.

Since leaving the mayor's office Cisneros has served on several boards and commissions. He chairs the advisory committee overseeing construction of San Antonio's domed stadium.

He also is a member of the Rockefeller Foundation Board of Trustees and chairman of the board of the National Civic League. And Cisneros hosts a radio commentary program and a television interview show.

Cisneros, who is Hispanic, joins Hugh Robertson, a black from Dallas, as the second minority member of the Dallas Reserve Bank's board. Robertson is board chairman.

A Midland firefighter gathers up a hose and another rakes through the rubble at the aftermath of a fire at 2204 College Ave. Friday night. A water bed heater placed atop a couch apparently ignited the fire which resulted in heavy damage to the frame house, according to Midland firefighters at the scene. Felix Vaughn, the owner of the house, said his 8-year-old son's bedroom was destroyed. The house was also heavily damaged by smoke, Vaughn said. His son contacted the fire department when the fire started and three units responded to the call at approximately 7:30 p.m., Vaughn said.

Payments to Keating not purposely late, senator says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John McCain told the Senate Ethics Committee Friday that he intended no wrongdoing in his tardy payments for flights on a political donor's corporate airplanes.

McCain's vacation flights on businessman Charles H. Keating's planes have been publicized before. But sharp questioning from the committee chairman gave the trips their most prominent role yet in hearings on the conduct of McCain, an Arizona Republican, and four Senate colleagues.

The committee's hearings are being held to determine whether the five senators improperly intervened with federal regulators on behalf of Keating, who raised $1.3 million for their campaigns and favorite causes. Keating owned Lincoln Savings and Loan, which failed and may cost the federal government $2 billion in bailout costs.

McCain and the committee's chairman, Sen. Howell Heflin, D-Ala., sparred during exchanges over the use of the planes by McCain, his wife, his daughter and her babysitter. The flights, to Keating's vacation home in the Bahamas, took place from 1983 through 1986, but the senator did not repay Keating's company until 1989.

McCain, who repaid more than $13,000, said he wasn't aware the reimbursements were not made in a timely fashion until he was notified by Keating's major company, American Continental Corp. of Phoenix.

"Obviously I did not have a proper procedure; otherwise we would not be discussing the issue as we are now," the senator testified with obvious irritation.

McCain, whose political career is threatened by allegations of ethical misconduct, was the first of the so-called Keating Five to be a witness in his own defense — and was followed to the stand by Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio.

The other three senators will be future witnesses: Alan Cranston, D-Calif.; Donald W. Riegle Jr., D-Mich., and Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz.

Glenn told the committee there was no link between his two meetings with regulators on Keating's behalf in April 1987 and two earlier $100,000 contributions the businessman raised for Glenn's political action committee.

But the senator acknowledged that the $100,000 donated in 1985 and an equal amount contributed in 1986 were "unusual" amounts.

Glenn said, "I accepted at face value" Keating's reason for the large amounts — the businessman's support for the senator's centrist views.

McCain, who spent 5½ years as a prisoner of war during the Vietnam War, will visit Saigon as a guest of the Vietnamese government.

He intends to press Vietnamese officials about the fate of the 2,288 Americans still listed as missing in Southeast Asia, possible emigration of Amerasian children, the chance for peace in Cambodia and the release of political prisoners.

Cranston, who will testify from California, where he's undergoing cancer treatment, is the only one of the five who has announced he will not seek re-election. The others watched anxiously as McCain testified.

When Heflin brought up the flights, McCain said, "I've watched you go through this before (in private sessions). If you can find some flight that I didn't pay for that should have been paid for ... I'd like to write you a check. You can fill it out for whatever you want to, Mr. Chairman, because ... we have attempted to pay and double pay everything. ..."

In 1985, Heflin said, McCain, his family and the babysitter took flights worth an estimated $3,512.50.

"Yet the reimbursement that was paid was $500," Heflin said. "I'd like for you to give us an explanation of how that covers your wife, babysitter and your child?"

"No, Mr. Chairman, I can't," McCain responded.

Oil prices fall at news of planned Baker, Aziz meeting

By Dirk Beveridge

NEW YORK (AP) — Oil prices fell Friday as traders scrambled to make deals in London when hints of peace hit the New York Mercantile Exchange just after it was temporarily closed by a fluke telephone problem.

When the erratic session was finally over, light sweet crude oil for delivery in February had fallen 58 cents to $24.90 per barrel on news that Secretary of State James A. Baker III would meet next week with Iraqi Foreign Minister Tariq Aziz.

"It's a bizarre day," said Ed Kevelson, an oil trader with Dean Witter Reynolds Inc. "The market just closed cold."

In early trading, oil showed a modest rally on perceptions that peace in the Middle East was not as likely as traders had thought earlier in the week. Crude was up 62 cents at $26.10 per barrel at 10:28 a.m. when an AT&T telephone problem forced the Mercantile Exchange to close, as did some other New York financial markets.

Many traders began thinking they had time to relax, and some even left the exchange floor, until they got news of the first top-level U.S.-Iraqi diplomatic talks since Iraq invaded oil-rich Kuwait on Aug. 2.

Oil futures immediately fell more than $1 per barrel at London's International Petroleum Exchange.

With crude prices crashing across the ocean, New York speculators who had bought oil on the theory that the price would rise found themselves in trouble. Those who had sold oil on the theory that crude would fall were left in good shape by the telephone outage.

"They can either be smiling or frowning," said Bob Baker, an oil analyst with Prudential-Bache Securities Inc. "Obviously, this is going to create some real problems, given that this news broke when they couldn't trade."

Some of the traders who had bought oil in New York began selling oil in London to cut their losses.

"What else can you do?" Kevelson said.

The Mercantile Exchange eventually decided it would open after hours for a 30-minute trading session. The trading began at 3:30 p.m., which put some traders on edge again because that was the same time President Bush had called a news conference to discuss the Persian Gulf crisis.

When the market reopened, crude quickly tumbled to $24.15 per barrel, a price it had not seen since the day after the invasion.

Residents along Ohio River assess damage

CINCINNATI (AP) — Trees and telephone poles poked out from receding floodwaters along some stretches of the Ohio River on Friday, and residents began assessing the damage.

Paula Brogan stood on her porch in the city's East End and looked at water across her back yard as a rented pump churned water out of her basement.

She and her husband, Rual, returned home New Year's Day from visiting relatives and found 4 feet of water in the basement. The level later rose to 6 feet, ruining a furnace, washer and dryer.

Mrs. Brogan sent her three children to relatives so she and her husband could clean up. It was the worst flooding she could recall since moving in seven years ago, but she still likes the location.

"It didn't scare me enough to make me want to move," she said. "That's what you get when you buy a house by the river. That's the price you pay."

The Ohio flooded riverside marinas and overran the River Downs racetrack and Coney Island amusement park east of Cincinnati as the water peaked Thursday at 57 feet, or 5 feet above flood stage. The water dropped a foot Friday and was forecast to fall to 54 feet by 7 a.m. today and to 52 feet Sunday morning.

Elsewhere in Ohio, the Nation Weather Service said flood warnings were still in effect for the Scioto River in Pike and Marion counties, the St. Joseph River, the Tiffin River and Maumee River at Waterville.

The Ohio River was not expected to crest until Sunday at Evansville, Ind., where it was forecast to be about 2 feet above flood stage. Crests up to 10 feet above flood stage were expected along the lower Ohio River in extreme western Kentucky until next week, the weather service said.

Mike Callahan, a hydrologist with the weather service in Louisville, said water levels should drop rapidly where the river already has crested.

"Everything upstream of Louisville will be falling pretty good," he said.

The floods resulted from rains and melting snow last weekend. Rain was expected this weekend, but forecasters said it would not be enough to worsen the flooding.

In southwestern Indiana, Hazleton residents planned to start sandbagging today to protect about 20 homes from the White River, expected to crest Sunday about 12½ feet above flood stage, officials said. The Wabash in Vincennes was 9 feet above flood stage and rising.

Indiana Gov. Evan Bayh has asked President Bush to declare 40 of Indiana's 92 counties federal disaster areas.

Six inspectors from the Pennsylvania Emergency Management Agency began examining flood damage in 10 of Pittsburgh's northern suburbs.

In New Richmond, Ohio, a town of 2,800 people 15 miles east of Cincinnati, flooding forced evacuation of a dozen families, Police Chief Harold Kennedy said. Farther east in Ripley, a farming village of 2,200 people, the water flooded half a dozen mobile homes.

The American Red Cross put about 35 families in motels and paid to have some mobile homes towed to avoid floodwaters in southwestern Ohio and southeastern Indiana, spokesman Jerry Pape said.

Ex-KKK leader plans to run for governor

KENNER, La. (AP) — State Rep. David Duke, a former Ku Klux Klan leader, announced plans Friday to run for Louisiana governor, but he won't make it official for awhile.

Gov. Buddy Roemer and former Gov. Edwin Edwards also have announced their intentions to run in the October non-partisan governor's race.

Duke called a news conference to let reporters know of his plans in advance of a New Orleans fundraiser later Friday. He said he intends to run for governor but won't be ready to make it official for 60 days or so.

"I want to make it clear to the people of Louisiana that I do intend this year to make a run for the governorship of our great state," said Duke, who is a Republican.

It would be Duke's second statewide campaign in as many years. He ran unsuccessfully in October for the U.S. Senate, losing with 44 percent of the vote to Democrat J. Bennett Johnston.

Duke's party spurned him in the Senate campaign because of his past involvement with the Klan and opposition to affirmative action, set-aside and other assistance programs for minorities.

Duke said he would welcome Republican support in his race for governor.

Roemer and Edwards are Democrats. Two other Democrats also have announced for governor — Kenner Mayor Aaron Broussard and Louis Lambert, a state public service commissioner who ran unsuccessfully for governor in 1979.

If no candidate wins a majority of votes in the non-partisan election, the two leading candidates — regardless of party affiliation — meet in a runoff.

Duke said Roemer is extremely vulnerable.

"I believe this state is slipping. I think education has not made the improvement that Gov. Roemer promised. I see increased taxes are on the horizon," Duke said.

"If we don't slow down the cycle of taxes and spending our state has been in for so long, I think we're headed for ruin," he said.

Duke refused to make a more steadfast commitment to the governor's race.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY! IN THE

NEW YEAR OF YOUR LIFE: The changes and challenges you so enjoy will be plentiful! The emphasis is on finding practical applications for your original ideas. Business profits should soar by March. Avoid all types of gambling throughout the summer. Although romance is exhilarating, family affairs could be somewhat unsettled until after September. Generous and gregarious, you enjoy playing host to your friends and relatives. Host a fabulous Thanksgiving feast.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: coach Chuck Noll, actor Robert Duvall, basketball star Alex English, actress Diane Keaton and me!

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Pleasure and popularity are yours today. Spend a relaxing afternoon or evening with friends. Romance enjoys highly favorable influences tonight.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Pay attention to details and you will be able to give valuable advice to a friend. Spend the afternoon or evening with your family. Romance heats up. Know your own heart.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Be patient with those who are less demanding than you and you will accomplish a lot. A broken promise leaves you in a real pickle. See things through by yourself. Victory beckons!

SATURDAY, JANUARY 5, 1991

CANCER (June 21-July 22): You reach an important decision. Gentle persuasion will convince others that you are right. A decorating project gets off the ground when you find accessories that pull everything together.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Your children may be feeling neglected. Spend time with them today and you will strengthen the bond between you. A youngster will confide in you tonight. Be a good listener. Romance looks terrific!

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Stop worrying about things you cannot change and do something about those you can. Others praise you for finding an inventive solution to a recurring problem. Romance deepens.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): A discussion with a friend stirs up emotions you would rather let lie. Do not be afraid to tell this person so. A romance that is launched this evening could become permanent!

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You get the cooperation you need to complete household tasks quickly. Listen to your intuition where financial matters are concerned. A daily exercise program reduces nervous tension.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Now is an ideal time to donate your time and talent to a service organization. Dealings with members of the opposite sex go smoothly today. A candid chat brings you and mate closer together.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Do not get discouraged if your hard work does not produce immediate results. Your perseverance will pay off handsomely in the near future. Catch up on your letter writing this evening.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Powerful emotions could lead you to do something extravagant today. Do not feel guilty; you deserve a treat now and then. Several personal matters need attending to. Set your own priorities.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Control your temper today or you could say something that will permanently damage a cherished friendship. Act on financial advice given to you by experts. You will receive exciting news.

TODAY'S CHILDREN have a strong sense of fair play and want to do the right thing. They avoid people who have unsavory reputations, choosing friends who share their high ideals. Generous to a fault, these Capricorns are particularly interested in humanitarian causes. They tend to withdraw when hurt or puzzled. Offer a sympathetic ear but avoid prying. Family-oriented and affectionate, they treat their loved ones like kings and queens.

Roseanne Barr to take husband Arnold's name

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Just call her Mrs. Arnold.

Barr

Roseanne Barr is changing her professional name to Roseanne Arnold, beginning next fall as a "tribute to her loving husband."

"Everybody knows her as Roseanne anyway, but from next fall on, professionally, she'll be known as Roseanne Arnold in everything that she does," husband Tom Arnold said from the couple's new home.

"My wife has offered — I didn't ask her to do this — but as a tribute to her loving husband, she will call herself on the show next year Roseanne Arnold instead of Roseanne Barr," Arnold said in an interview for the syndicated television show "Personalities." The interview will be televised Monday.

Arnold also said he was converting to Judaism and the couple would attempt to conceive a child this summer.

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Singer-songwriter Paul Simon says a nearly normal life is necessary for his music. And for the next few months, a nearly-normal life will be living out of a suitcase.

"Obviously, if you get into really intense stardom, where you can't walk down the street, the work becomes bizarre," Simon said before the Friday opening of his "Born at the Right Time" tour at the Tacoma Dome.

"For a writer, I think of it as a very dangerous situation. I don't want it," he said Thursday. "It would make my life strange, and all I would be able to write about is what is strange."

The 40-date tour is Simon's first since 1987. The show includes a 17-piece band, including African and Brazilian musicians. Simon says the show includes songs from throughout his 25-year career, including some he recorded with Art Garfunkel.

GALLUP, N.M. (AP) — Mayor Ed Munoz, who once threatened to erect billboards proclaiming his city was the nation's drunk-driving capital, says he's sold the rights to his life story.

Munoz declined Thursday to say how much he would receive from his deal with Cathleen Young Productions of Los Angeles but said: "It's not a lot."

Ms. Young said she will try to sell the idea to a production company, then to a network.

The 63-year-old mayor wanted the billboards posted on the Arizona state line 20 miles west of Gallup to tell visitors the lifelong New Mexico residents had an 86 percent chance of being involved in an alcohol-related traffic accident.

He also lobbied for an election to close drive-up liquor windows and to increase alcohol taxes, and he pushed for a crisis shelter for street drunks.

Gallup, population 24,600, is on the edge of the Navajo reservation, which sprawls across three states and is home to 165,000 people. Alcohol is banned on the reservation, so Navajos who wish to drink legally must go to nearby cities like Gallup.

NEW YORK (AP) — Sharon Gless and Tyne Daly, who once starred on television's "Cagney & Lacey," will be appearing together again on the small screen.

The pair will portray high school classmates who meet again at their 25th reunion on CBS-TV's "The Trials of Rosie O'Neill."

The show, to be broadcast Jan. 28, also stars singer Carole King as another classmate who leads the gang in a rendition of their senior class song, which King wrote.

The police drama "Cagney & Lacey" ran from 1982 to 1988 and earned 14 Emmys. Daly went on to star in Broadway's "Gypsy." Gless stars as Rosie in the current television series.

TORONTO (AP) — Runner Ben Johnson says he's eager to return to the competitive track next week and his first race since being suspended for steroid use is going to be "a very big one."

Johnson, who was suspended for a positive drug test at the 1988 Seoul Olympics, will compete in the 50-meter dash next Friday night at the Hamilton Spectator Indoor Games.

The Canadian runner, once called the world's fastest human, has trained hard in preparation for his comeback.

"I think when I break the first ice, everything's going to be back to normal," Johnson said. "But the first one is going to be a very big one because I've been off for two years."

His coach, Loren Seagrave, said Thursday he won't be disappointed if Johnson doesn't win at Hamilton.

"The one thing I want to stress, with all the media and all the hype, this isn't the world championships," Seagrave said.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Tense standoff ends in Latvia

RIGA, U.S.S.R. (AP) — Printers and journalists decided Friday to quit their jobs at Latvia's largest printing plant rather than submit to Communist Party control of the presses they had hoped to make independent.

Hundreds of people filed out of the huge printing plant after Interior Ministry troops ordered them to leave.

The decision appeared to end the most tense confrontation in months in the three Baltic republics, where some leaders have expressed more fear lately that force would be used to quash their independence drives.

The standoff started after the workers tried to make the Communist Party-controlled printing plant independent.

"There is a sneaking occupation underway, and in the first phase the central authorities aim to destroy the free press," said Lithuania's president, Vytautas Landsbergis.

Papandreou trial set

ATHENS, Greece (NYT) — The Greek Supreme Court announced Friday that March 11 would be the date for the trial of Andreas Papandreou, Socialist former prime minister, and three of his former senior cabinet ministers, on charges of involvement in a $200 million bank embezzlement scandal.

The scandal was one of the worst in postwar Greek political history and contributed largely to the fall of the Socialist government.

All four are charged with accepting bribes and receiving stolen money, which was obtained through the embezzlement of funds from the privately owned Bank of Crete.

But the defendants, as well as the Socialist Party in general, say the affair is a political ploy by the conservatives and the Communists.

Rebels attack Bogota

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Leftist guerrillas, carrying out one of their largest offensives, have brought their fight to the capital for the first time in years, police said Friday.

Roving rebel bands attacked three police stations with automatic weapons and small bombs late Thursday in southern Bogota, a police spokesman said in a telephone interview.

He said one policeman was killed and another was wounded in the attacks.

The violence is part of an extensive rebel offensive in which 30 policemen and soldiers have been killed in the first four days of this year.

Over the past 25 years, more than 75,000 people have died in rebel attacks.

In the new wave of violence, guerrillas of the Armed Revolutionary Forces of Colombia have been retaliating for the army's capture in early December of their jungle headquarters.
