Enforcing New Law

City Takes Aim At Junked Cars

City Hall is taking steps to enforce the city's new ordinance against junked motor vehicles.

Police Chief Jesse Brown is the official with the job of enforcement and administration of the ordinance in right direction.

City Council adopted the ordinance a couple of months ago as a tool to meet a growing problem of unsightly auto junk in yards and on vacant property.

"There has been time for proper publicizing the ordinance and, now, the job of enforcement is beginning. In a nutshell, police will use the ordinance to erase junked vehicles from the city as much as legally possible.

If owners of the junked cars don't cooperate, then the ordinance provides for violators to be found guilty of a misdemeanor and fined for the offense.

"We will make an effort to contact persons on whose property junked vehicles are observed," said Chief Brown, "and instruct them in requirements of the ordinance and its purposes.

"This will be conducted in a manner to obtain reasonable cooperation from all property owners involved," the chief continued, "and to carry out the aims of the ordinance in a constructive manner."

However, the ordinance does provide the city with strength through the fines — if necessary for enforcement.

Magazine Ad Cites C-City

An advertisement naming Colorado City as a potential industrial site is published in the May issue of Area Development Magazine.

Texas Electric Service Company is sponsoring the ad in its industrial development for West Texas, and North Central Texas. Included in the advertisement is a photo of Don Benson, local TESCO manager and the TESCO map designating this area as "The Opportunity Frontier of Texas."

Area Development Magazine is a publication for industry and business management.

Heading for the ad includes the following: "Site seeking in the Southwest? Consider Colorado City, Texas."

In addition, the advertising copy suggests that industries looking for industrial sites "Ask D. W. Benson, Texas Electric Service Company manager, in Colorado City about sites and resources."

He has the facts at his fingertips. He'll be glad to give them to you quickly and confidentially.

It lists phone numbers and mailing addresses for direct communication with Colorado City or with TESCO's Area Development Department in Fort Worth.

The ad featuring Colorado City is one of a series by TESCO creating nationwide attention for Texas areas served by the company.

Colorado City Jaycees announced Wednesday they will honor the city's "outstanding young educator" within our public school system.

Dr. Billy B. Bridgford, Jaycee president, said process for selection of the educator already was under way.

THE AWARD winning teacher will be honored at the Jaycee's installation banquet May 27 in Civic House.

A special committee already has screened candidates for the award and another committee — representative of the community — will begin this week the final process of selection.

THIS WILL be the inaugural award for the "outstanding young educator" in Colorado City and will be continued annually by Jaycees in the interest of public education.

"Our prime purpose," Bridgford said, "is to create greater public interest and understanding for today's educator and his problem within our community."

THE AWARD is in conjunction with the Texas and U. S. Jaycee "outstanding young educator" project. In the inaugural year the Colorado City selection will not be entered in competition for state and national honors. However, participation in the state and national program will be carried out next year and in all subsequent years.

BRIDGFORD SAID the selection will be based on professional and personal qualifications, teaching skills, contribution to profession, community, state and nation.

All educators between the ages of 21 and 35 within Colorado City public schools have had opportunity to become candidates for the honor.

"WE HAVE received a splendid response from this group, which incidentally comprises almost one third of our Colorado City teaching staff," Bridgford said. "And the cooperation of Supt. James McMath, Assistant Supt. Earl Cook and the entire school administration has assisted in this inaugural year for the selection."

TO BE considered in the selection will be teaching positions held by the candidate, certificates, graduate work, workshops and conferences, scholarships, academic honors and degrees.

A major consideration will be based on teaching skills — classroom management, instructional objectives and procedures.

ALL ASPECTS of school and community life will be included in the evaluation of the candidates' contribution to profession, community, state and nation.

Committee making the final selection will be representatives from civic and service organizations within the city.

A special plaque will be presented to the first "outstanding young educator" at the May 27 banquet.

Sunday For Graduating Seniors

Baccalaureate Set

Commencement exercises begin Sunday at Colorado High School with traditional baccalaureate service at 4 p.m.

Rev. Fred O. Brewton, minister of First Presbyterian Church, will deliver the address in the school auditorium.

Ninety-five students are candidates for diplomas in the school's 1967 graduating class, which will enter the auditorium in the professional "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee" by Bach — with Mrs. Curtis Baker at the electric organ.

Three other Colorado City ministers will participate in the baccalaureate.

Rev. Billy Wilkinson, minister of First Methodist Church, will speak the invocation, and Rev. Weems Dykes, pastor of First Christian Church, will read the scripture — Matthew 25:14-30.

Oscar Batten, minister of North Side Church of Christ will speak the benediction.

Colorado High Chorale, directed by Curtis Baker will sing Beethoven's "Tantum Ergo" and Bright's "Sunrise". Brewton, president of Colorado City Ministerial Alliance will speak on "Life is Becoming."

The First Presbyterian minister is the father of four sons — one of whom is a member of the graduating class.

He is a graduate of Austin College and Princeton University Seminary.

Escorting the class will be

Macra Findley, junior class president and next year's student council president, and Jean Keeth, student council representative.

Ushers will be Pete Brown, Rusty Steukley, Ralph Lindsey, Mike Garrett, Ida Jean Bassham, Ann Blackard, Gloria Richardson and Margaret Carter.

Recessional will be by Mrs. Baker at the organ.

Seniors will complete their final exams Thursday and Friday, practice for baccalaureate service Friday and Saturday.

They will join other students for an all-school sock hop Friday night in Wolf Gym. Four churches — First All Saints Episcopal, First Presbyterian, First Methodist and First Christian — will sponsor the dance.

Dallas Man Dies in Hotel Room

A Dallas man enroute to Veterans Administration Hospital in Big Spring died here Tuesday morning in his hotel room.

George W. Cannon, 54, was found dead in his room at Berman Hotel at about 11:15 a.m.

Justice of Peace Leonard Henderson returned an inquest verdict of death by natural causes.

Cannon apparently was fatally stricken while preparing to shave.

He was on the floor of his room with shaving equipment near his body. Water was running in the lavatory.

Relatives told Henderson that Cannon had left Dallas to enter the hospital in Big Spring and apparently had stopped here over night before completing the trip.

Cannon, who lived at 3533 Gibsontell, Dallas, is survived by his wife and several sons. His body was moved to Dallas by plane late Tuesday.

Deadline Friday In Cotton Vote

Friday is the last day to vote on transfer — by sale or lease — of upland cotton allotments outside the county.

Edward Roach, vice chairman of Mitchell County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, reminded cotton producers Wednesday of the deadline.

Ballots may be mailed or delivered in person to the ASCS office here in Colorado City.

However, a ballot in an envelope postmarked after May 19 will not be eligible for counting in the referendum, Roach emphasized.

The vote will decide only the question of whether a farmer in this county can sell or lease his cotton allotment to someone who would use it in another county of this state. In no case can transfers be made outside the state. A two-thirds affirmative vote will permit such transfers during the next two years — 1968 and 1969. In referendums in previous years the transfer program has been turned down by Mitchell cotton producers.

Counting of ballots in the referendum, which started May 15, will be Wednesday, May 24, at 8:30 a.m. in the ASCS office. It will be public and open for any person to witness.

Roach emphasized that any cotton producer in the county who has not received a ballot by mail should contact the ASCS office immediately.

He also cautioned voters to follow all instructions correctly in marking their ballots — being sure to sign the certification or have the producer's mark witnessed — on back of the envelope sent to the ASCS.

3 Courses, Driving Start May 29

Summer Classes Ready

Summer school at Colorado High will begin Monday May 29, with about 30 students expected for enrollment.

This is in addition to the students who will be receiving driver education instruction during the summer months.

First term of the summer school at Colorado High will be from May 29 through June 29 and second term will be from June 21 through July 14.

Classes will be four hours per session — 8 a.m. until 12 noon, Monday through Saturday — for the 20 day terms. This schedule meets the required number of hours for half credit per term.

Courses will be limited to remedial English, civics and world history with Miss Carolyn Baumann teaching the social studies and Mrs. Dona Reed instructing in English. All will be make-up courses except the history, according to Supt. James G. McMath.

Tuition will be $15 per student for each one-half credit — one course per semester.

McMath said the emphasis on make-up courses in the summer program is different from the usual philosophy of schools providing for summer courses for accelerated learning for students.

He told the school board recently that more study in the future would be for providing students an opportunity for acceleration.

Scores of students will participate in the driving schedule phase this summer of the driver education program. This will begin May 29 and continue through July 25 with Doug Chitsey as instructor.

Fifty-one students are enrolled in driver education, paying a fee of $22.50.

McMath reported that during the current year the program has been able to enroll all students who requested the course and who were eligible.

CONVERSATION CORNER

The saddest phrase that people know
Is one which goes "I told you so."

How much more comforting to hear
The little phrase, "It's all right, dear."

ONE of the inherent rights most women feel they're born with is the right to tell all the boys and men in their family — or in their circle of friends — "I told you so."

In truth, it is probably a hangover from the very beginning of the world. And of course Adam started it. He started the whole thing when he put the blame on Eve.

"The woman Thou gavest me, she did tempt me," he said by way of alibi.

In modern lingo that was equivalent to saying, "She thought of it. She led me on."

And so ever since, the descendants of Eve have been getting even. When the going gets rough, things go wrong, and mistakes in judgment start showing, a woman just sighs "I told you so."

NOT that being a woman makes her immune from hearing that phrase, herself.

Among other things still in effect, since the Garden, is that human way of blaming the woman.

Men do it. "My wife," they will say, "won't let me..." Children do it. "My mother," they say, "doesn't understand me."

How many times have you sat and listened to somebody blame all the mistakes of a lifetime on somebody else, anyhow?

"My mother did not show me enough love. She was too strict." Or the converse of that, "My mother spoiled me. She did not teach me to cope."

STICK around this world long enough and you can hear the old alibi often. "I'm not to blame. She is. Or he is. Or they are."

As a matter of fact, you did it yourself, didn't you?

From what us Baptists refer to as "The age of accountability," life is largely a matter of choices.

One chooses one's mistakes, life mate, friends. My mother, who was a great quoter of maxims, used to delight in reminding her four children, "God gives us our kinkfolks, but we can choose our friends."

SO? So when I hear somebody condone, excuse and alibi for a youngster arrested or questioned for this or that misdemeanor by saying "Well, he just got in with the wrong crowd," am prone to ponder.

What makes up "the wrong crowd," anyhow? Its individual members. And as Mother always put it, "We can choose our friends."

Not all of us are born with the same strengths and weaknesses. The same stamina, health, disposition, ability.

We are born with the same right to choose. To choose between the wise and the foolish. The merciful and the cruel. The just and the unjust, the yes and the no, the good and the bad, the right and the wrong, if you please.

PEOPLE who go through life blaming faults on somebody else are running away from the real issue, which is personal responsibility.

It all goes back to Adam, who really didn't get away with it, anyhow.

He was unquestionably the first man to have to hear from then on, from the first woman, "I told you so."

SEEN LATELY are not many this time because your ever-loving ecumenist has been coping with an allergy which put her in the class with Lazarus — or maybe Job — only not nearly so patient about it all.

Anyhow, saw J. O. Duckrey on the downtown scene... Wilford Oyler was an office visitor... Ditto Mrs. Witt.

Blues who is sister of Ruby McIntosh, well-known Austin artist who teaches short courses in art at Ester Park, Colorado, every summer.

Saw Dorothy Roland (Mrs. Bryan) checking the meter route... Murrell and Jan Blassingame... Weems Dykes (The Rev.) of First Christian.

HEAR TELL that work has started on the looked-forward to addition to Villa Restaurant.

Lunchers and diners-out will be glad to know it's going to be 660 square feet of new eating-out and party space — 70 by 75 feet, that is.

Loraine Rogers (Mrs. Nathan) has chosen gold and white for the decorative theme. Hear tell she was busy choosing gold uniforms for the staff. And that the new room, tentatively dubbed "The Banquet Room" will boast real china, no less!

OFF THE CUFF: Our Mary B. Lee (Mrs. J. Ralph) is now home from the hospital after a stay.

The Lee daughter, Iva Ellen Bossenroth, wife of Ted Bossenroth, Ph.D., of Austin arrived Monday for a visit with her parents.

Home has a local widower in the matrimonial mood with a widow who formerly lived in C-City.

It, and when, the event occurs then this column will be in the enviable position of getting to say "I told you so."

It's more fun to let you guess 'til then.

under certain conditions.

The City Manager said this authority was needed to aid in the program to eliminate unsightly junk.

While authorizing contracts with local junk dealers, City Council stipulated that the junk dealers picking up vehicles under the city contract must agree to sell the junked cars only for scrap metal. This prevents dealers from selling parts of the vehicles — a preventative also requested by City Manager Merritt.

Right now Police Chief Browning and his staff are making their initial contacts with owners of junked vehicles. It is a systematic check and a card file is being set up in City Police Department listing the names, locations and date of notification of every junked vehicle.

This card file also lists a description of the vehicle involved.

Follow ups will be made after the initial contact to determine the amount of cooperation for moving away the junk. If there has been no cooperation — and the junked vehicle is under the enforcement provisions of the new ordinance — then steps will be taken to obtain compliance with the law.

"We look at this mainly as a job of notification and education — to let the people know what we are trying to do for our city," Chief Browning said, "and we believe we will receive good cooperation."

"It will take time, but it will help the appearance of our town."

D. L. Cotton of Dunn was a Friday guest of Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Hall. Weekend guests in the Hall home were Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hall and family of Snyder. Joining the family for celebration of Donnie Hall's second birthday Sunday were Mrs. Pete White, Mrs. Tommy Jones and daughter.

Mrs. Molina Funeral Held At St. Anns'

Funeral service for Mrs. Reyes Molina, 22, was conducted at St. Ann's Catholic Church by Father Francis Arbet, O.M.I., at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

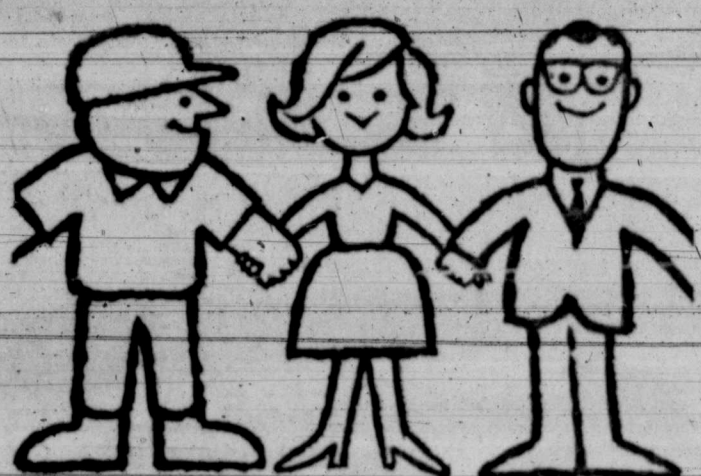

Mrs. Reyes died in Root Memorial Hospital at 8:45 p.m. Sunday, apparently of complications following the birth of her infant daughter six weeks ago.

Born Oct. 22, 1944, in Loraine, she was married in 1965 to Reyes Molina. The couple has been living in Graham.

Surviving are her husband, her parents Mr. and Mrs. Manuel De Real, Colorado City; the baby girl; four brothers and three sisters.

Burial was in Mitchell County cemetery directed by Kiker & Son.

How America's red-white-and-blue collar workers help keep America strong

In May 1941, top representatives of America's labor unions met with Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Secretary of the Treasury, and pledged their support of the Payroll Savings Plan for U.S. Savings Bonds.

Today, organized labor still endorses and actively supports the program. And the Payroll Savings Plan, just an experiment in 1941, now proudly boasts 8 million members, mostly union people, sharing a personal interest in their future and their country's.

With the Payroll Savings Plan, saving for the future is downright easy—and painless. How can you spend money you don't even see?

When you sign up, a small part of your money is tucked away every payday. Automatically. And starts earning you interest of 4.15% on every Bond you buy and hold to maturity.

Bonds grow quickly. So when you need the money for important, personal things, the money is right there—ready to help pay for them.

Important things like a new home, education, that dream vacation—or your retirement.

Most important, Bonds are helping our men in Vietnam. Buy Bonds on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work and you'll find yourself in pretty good company.

And dollars ahead.

NORTHWEST TEXAS ANNUAL

Local Methodists Going To Conference At Abilene

Rev. Billy Wilkinson, pastor of First Methodist Church, and Rev. Gene B. Louder, pastor of St. Luke Methodist Church, will attend Northwest Conference in Abilene Monday through Thursday.

They will be accompanied by Mrs. Wilkinson and Mrs. Louder. At least one layman from First Methodist Church will attend the meetings. Representatives of 108,000 Methodists in the Northwest Texas Annual Conference of the Methodist Church will gather at McMurry College in Abilene May 22-25 for the 66th annual session of the conference.

Around 300 ministers and several hundred laymen will serve as official delegates to the conference. Bishop O. Eugene Slater, presiding bishop of the conference, will conduct the four-day meeting.

The conference will open on Monday afternoon, May 22, and will conclude Thursday morning, May 25, with the reading of appointments.

Several important items of business will come before the conference, including balloting on a proposed merger of the Methodist Church and the Evangelical United Brethren Church, and voting on a resolution which would eliminate the last Central Jurisdiction (Negro) Methodist churches in the South Central Jurisdiction, of which this conference is a part.

Delegates will also be selecting delegates to the 1968 General Conference of the Methodist Church in Dallas.

Bishop Earl G. Hunt, Jr., of Charlotte, N.C., will be the conference preacher. He is former president of Emory and Henry College at Emory, Va., and presides over 274,000 Methodist and 1,750 churches in the Western North Carolina Conference.

Bishop Hunt will speak four times during the conference.

Dr. Ronald E. Sleeth, professor and preaching at Perkins School of Theology at Southern Methodist University, will speak twice during the conference.

Appraise 'Em Yourself For Local Commitment

Teachers Offer Vital Statistics On Our Public Schools

Texas State Teachers Association has compiled an interesting batch of vital statistics concerning public school education within our state. Naturally, the association is trying earnestly to market support for legislation immediately hiking their salaries. It points to the data as a measurement in financial commitment to a crowded public school system.

Statistical data can be read with varying shades of light and from different angles. And where the teachers might point to lack of adequate financial commitment, others may view the same data as evidence of better management, or more practical economies.

No where, in all the statistics, is there any reference to an individual community's ability to meet the demands for school progress. which, incidentally, must be reckoned with now or later even if the legislature meets immediately. The teachers' pressure for higher salaries has some legislative leaders advocate, or later as Governor Connally is proposing.

However, the statistics are enlightening and should be noted with serious interest by every adult citizen and taxpayer as he or she views the problem of providing adequate public school education for our youth.

The statistics, gathered from a variety of official sources, show Texas' population has grown by 12.3 per cent since 1960 compared to a national growth rate of 9.1 per cent. This boom in population placed Texas at the 16th fastest growing state in the nation in population and as the 9th most highly urbanized state.

And school enrollment in Texas has grown by 41.8 per cent over the last decade compared to a national enrollment growth of 37.5 per cent. Texas ranks today as the number three state in public school enrollment with more than 2.5 million pupils.

But while the state's population and school enrollment have zoomed upward, the amount of money spent, per each pupil in the state has failed to keep pace.

Nationally, per pupil expenditures have increased in the last decade by 88 per cent while in Texas the increase has been only 72.7 per cent. Thirty-six other states have increased their per pupil expenditures at a greater rate than Texas in the last 10 years.

Other facts about the state revealed in the publication include the following:

Texans paid a lower percentage (5.1 per cent) of their personal income as state taxes in 1966 than the national average (5.6 per cent), for a ranking of 40th among the 50 states.

The average per capita local and state tax collection in Texas in 1964-65 was $207.05 — a ranking of 40th. Texas exceeds the national average in federal school aid dollars as part of the school budget. Federal money in Texas accounts for 2.3 per cent of the budget while it averages only 8 per cent nationally.

The degree of uncrowded classrooms in the state is high — 39 other states have less crowded classrooms.

The pupil-teacher ratio in Texas is 24.9 pupils per teacher compared to only 19 pupils per teacher in Kansas, the nation's leader in this category.

Teachers' salaries have improved in Texas in the last decade but to a far less degree than the rest of the country. The average salary of the schools' instructional staff in Texas has grown by only 54.8 per cent since 1956-57 while nationally the increase has been 63.7 per cent. Texas ranks below 38 other states in this category.

Texas ranks 33rd in average salaries paid to classroom teachers. In Texas the average classroom teacher makes $6,025 compared to a national average of $6,821.

A beginning teacher in Texas, however, begins his classroom career in many school districts at only $4,104.

The dropout rate of students in Texas schools is higher than the national average. Of the ninth graders in 1962 who were scheduled to graduate last May, 27.9 per cent failed to do so. Nationally, the dropout rate was 22.7 per cent. Texas ranks 34th in this category.

An above average number of Texas draftees come from the better educated groups, apparently. Last year 23 per cent of the young Texans taking the preinduction and induction mental tests did not qualify for induction into the armed services. Draftees in 34 other states did better on these tests than the draft potentials in Texas.

Population estimates reported by the publication show Texas is more highly urbanized than generally believed. In Texas 77.2 per cent of the population lives in urban areas compared to 70 per cent nationally.

The state's population is estimated to be more than 10.7 million — the fourth largest state in the nation.

Budget Forces Collide

Decision Time for Governor's Spending

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Crucial, make-or-break decisions on state spending confront legislators this week as they enter the windup of their 1967 session.

Senators have submitted a $437,700,000 budget for 1968. This was followed by a bill providing $35,000,000 for teacher pay raises (an average of $640 a year).

House action was delayed by printing problems, but representatives were due to take up the Senate bill and substitute their own appropriations measure calling for $449,400,000 in general fund outlays. House bill would leave about $35,000,000 for such add-on spending as teacher pay raises.

Big unanswered question is whether the House will be able to convince a majority of senators to accept the House appropriations measure without a conference committee.

Speaker Ben Barnes and Gov. John Connally have been working for Senate support of the House bill.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith and Senate leadership feel differences between House and Senate bills should be worked out as usual in a joint conference of five senators and five representatives.

Senate's more generous figure for teacher pay makes the selling job somewhat harder for the House. But the fact that its bill runs some $14,000,000 over the latest general revenue forecast of Comptroller Robert S. Calvert weakens the Senate argument for the bigger pay raise.

Outcome will determine whether the Legislature must go into special session this year to finish writing even a one-year budget.

Still on the unfinished business list: congressional, legislative and judicial redistricting bills.

would be held August 15-September 15 during general election years.

Sen. Barbara Jordan of Houston assailed the bill as more restrictive than the present law. She hit sections prohibiting roving deputies and outlawing husbands registering for wives and vice versa. Sen. Tom Clouston of Mineral Wells acknowledged he will have a problem passing his measure in the Senate as it stands.

WATER QUALITY — Bill to establish a Texas Water Quality Board to replace the Water Pollution Control Board has been approved.

Governor Connally recommended measure as an aid to strengthening water pollution control. Bill will create a seven-member board with its own professional staff and provide for local enforcement of water quality standards.

TRINITY BILL — Both houses have passed the bill giving the 17-county Trinity River Authority navigation powers and additional tax levy to further their longtime goal of barge traffic.

Bill by Sen. Charles Wilson of Lufkin and Rep. Rayford Price of Palestine increases tax exemption for long-haul trucks and buses. Railroads earlier got an exemption as direct competitors of barges.

Counties of TRA are Anderson, Chambers, Dallas, Ellis, Freestone, Henderson, Houston, Kaufman, Liberty, Leon, Madison, Navarro, Polk, San Jacinto, Tarrant, Trinity and Walker.

SAFETY BILL — Texas' first major occupational safety bill, designed to cut the soaring industrial accident toll, has been signed into law.

It creates within the State Department of Health a division of occupational safety to be administered by a three-member board, assisted by a safety engineer and an advisory committee. Board would conduct a continuing educational, promotional and enforcement campaign.

AG. OPINIONS — Bill creating appraisal service districts and boards for tax appraisal and assessment of property for taxation is unconstitutional, as it eliminates county tax assessor-collector from duties. So ruled Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin.

In a variety of other recent opinions, Martin held that:

• In writing a single-year budget, the Legislature can spend only funds in sight that year.

• Starr County cannot pay telephone bills for a U. S. district court.

• "Texas Treasure Hunt" a soft drink promotion (featuring "lucky" pictures under bottle cap corks) is not a lottery.

• Texas Education Agency can allocate money to political subdivisions to carry out the state plan for vocational rehabilitation if they have power to provide vocational training. (Amarillo Hospital District can spend money for medical and hospital care under vocational rehabilitation districts or school districts to administer program.)

• Proposed transfer to two voting precincts from one justice precinct to another in Bexar County will not create vacancy in either of the offices.

• Harris County cannot retain payment of fine assessed in felony case transferred from Harris County to Brazos County on change of venue.

• Disability benefits under teacher retirement system may be reduced when person receiving them becomes engaged in gainful occupation.

SHORT SNORTS — The proposed constitutional amendment to give equal legal rights to women cleared the Senate and is ready for final House vote.

Bill to increase maximum unemployment compensation from $37 to $45 a week (for those who earn $85 or more) and hike minimum from $10 to $15 has cleared the Legislature.

After early faltering, the Open Meetings Bill to require all governmental agencies to meet in public gathered steam and won final legislative approval.

A resolution calling for the appointment of an interim committee to study air and water pollution, noise and land use is being studied by a subcommittee of the House Committee on State Affairs.

Governor Connally signed "medicaid" implementing legislation effective September 1 which will bring an estimated $130,000,000 in medical benefits to 350,000 Texans on welfare rolls during the next year.

House has passed a bill permitting experimental 10-month school programs involving 50,000 Texas students in selected districts.

A resolution establishing an interim committee to study pricing and marketing prices in Texas has been favorably reported out of the House State Affairs Committee.

A quiet Senate committee meeting saw the death, on a 6-6 tie vote, of the House bill that would have let people sue the state or local units of government for injury done by public employees of all kinds.

Interim committee on faculty compensation, which made some recommendations to the current Legislature, will get another two years of existence, under a resolution adopted by the Senate and sent to the House.

Governor Connally delivered his first veto of the 60th Legislature when he killed the bill to give West Texas State University its own Board of Regents, removing it from the control of the Board of Regents, State Senior Colleges.

Pampa rancher Jim Campbell and farmer-rancher John A. Smith of Cameron were named heads of new Republican "task force" on agriculture.

District Judge E. E. Jordan of Amarillo was named judge of the Ninth Administrative Judicial District by Governor Connally.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler has set 10 a.m. August 1 for an oil and gas lease sale of the School Land Board and other state boards. School Land Board will hold a sulphur lease sale at the same time.

GOP Policy

Burleson Swings At

By OMAR BURLESON
Congressman, 17th District, Texas

The so-called "Conservative Democrat - Republican Coalition" as it has existed to some degree, or other for many years, has been greatly misunderstood.

Some newspaper reporters have over the years gravely misrepresented the Republican position to plan opposition to the Administration. This simply is not the case.

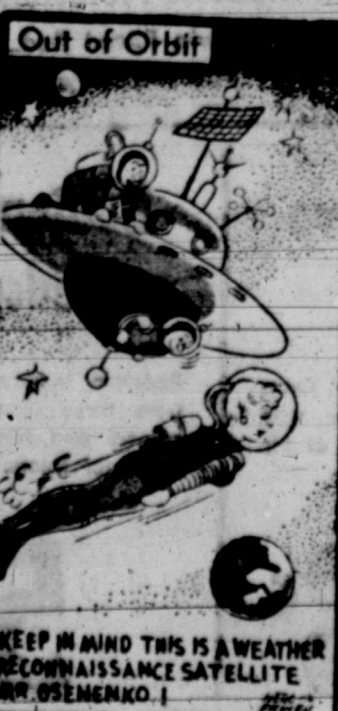

Conservative Democrats have held over the years gravely misrepresented the Republican position to plan opposition to the Administration. This simply is not the case.

If it is in opposition, discussions are held to devise strategy and tactics. This includes offering certain amendments which would improve or alter a given measure coming up for debate.

If it is a matter of total opposition, then the discussion centers around how the great est support and opposition can be mustered and from what sources.

If it appears there is a chance of amending or defeating a certain bill, then efforts are made to determine the strength of opposition among the Republicans.

THIS IS ESSENTIALLY the method of the so-called coalition.

Sermon Of The Week

God's Way Of Salvation - Romans 10:1-11

By M. A. SMITH JR.
Pastor
First Baptist Church

A few years ago the newspapers reported the account of a fifty-one year old deacon who entered the death house at Sing Sing Penitentiary in New York. In just a few minutes he was dead after having fulfilled his wish to "ride the lightning" as he described the electric chair.

Few men have ever faced execution with his scorn and unconcern. He entered the death house, jesting with those present and the last expression on his face was that of a smile.

Whether he ever found or sought God we are not told, but we are rather led to believe that he came to the hour of death and eternity in his own self sufficiency and oblivious to the fact that he must soon meet his Maker.

MOST PEOPLE come to the hour of death with the realization that after death is the judgement of God and an accounting of the deeds done in the flesh. With most people there is the awareness that to die without having had peace with God is to be eternally condemned.

How then does a person go about getting right with God? How is his salvation determined and how can he have assurance of his eternal destiny?

Basically there are only two ways tried by men to determine their eternal status.

Man's way and God's way.

THOSE WHO would seek the ways conceived in the minds of men must be reminded of the futility of such efforts. There is a way which seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death. (Prov. 14:12).

Man's way is inevitably the way of multitudinous works. This always leaves him without a sense of certainty for he never knows when he has done enough to secure his salvation.

He never knows when he has been good enough or when he has reformed sufficiently. He just hopes that when he dies that somehow he will wake up in heaven.

It also leads a person to ridiculous efforts and practices that border on heathenism. God's favor is not obtained by self-inflicted punishment, abasement or denial. God is not interested in our self-manufactured "goodness." This is referred to as "filthy rags" in the Scriptures as God would look upon it.

GOD'S WAY of salvation, on the other hand, is the way of grace. It is the bestowal of eternal benefits, blessings and rewards upon those who are undeserving, not because of what they have done for God or themselves, but because of what God has done for them.

They must come to Him realizing their need and be willing to trust their eternal destiny into His hands on the basis of the price for sin Jesus paid for all mankind on the cross.

GOD'S WAY is the way of confession. That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved. (Romans 10:9).

This confession is not just an acknowledgement that Jesus lived nor a confession that He was a great leader and an unselfish teacher. Genuine confession means a personal acceptance of Jesus as Savior from sin and as the One who willingly suffered the curse, the shame, the penalty and the agony of the most dismal of deaths because He loved you.

Confession means a willingness to proclaim Him with your lips and your daily testimony. It means a desire to follow His directives and to be faithful to Him.

GOD'S WAY is the way of belief. It is belief in the living Lord.

It is not intellectual assent but is belief that comes from the depths of the heart. It is belief which defies reason. It must be experienced in the heart.

God's way of salvation is so profound that the greatest philosophers cannot unravel its meaning. Yet it is so simple that even a little child can experience it.

If you do not possess salvation, it can be yours through simple childlike faith in Jesus as your Lord and your Savior.

Boost For New Park

National Board Likes Big Thicket

By RALPH YARBOROUGH
United States Senator

In January I introduced my Big Thicket National Park bill to create a national park in southeast Texas in Liberty, Polk, Hardin, Tyler, and Jasper counties centered about 35 miles northwest of Beaumont.

Last week my Big Thicket National Park bill received the biggest boost possible: the recommendation by the National Park Advisory Board for the creation of a 35,500 acre park to be called the Big Thicket National Monument.

No national park or monument in the nature of a park can be created without the approval of this National Park Advisory Board. This Board is a group of private citizens of great distinction who receive no salary from the government. These are people who are interested in conserving a portion of America for future generations; they are completely removed from politics and gain nothing personally from their services.

This National Park Advisory Board was so impressed with the studies and surveys of the Big Thicket that they decided that portions of it should be saved as a national area. My Big Thicket bill recommended an area of 50,000 to 75,000 acres. The National Park Advisory Board recommended the acreage of 35,000. That is about 70% of the total acreage recommended in my bill.

The report of this Board marks a victory in conserving this area. The Nations

Park Advisory Board in announcing its approval has given the green light to the creation of a national park monument in the Big Thicket area.

The National Park Service Report recommending this park says:

"Such a mingling of animals and plants is found nowhere else. The many interesting animals include the rare ivory-billed woodpecker, mountain lion, armadillo, and alligator. Among the larger mammals are the Texas white-tailed deer, both red and gray fox, raccoon, ring-tail, mink, otter, skunks, opossum, bobcat, black bear. Rare birds include the red-cockaded woodpecker, Bachman's sparrow, brown-headed nuthatch, the graceful American egret. Common trees of the Big Thicket include red maple, eastern hophornbeam, American hornbeam, American holly, flowering dogwood, Carolina laurelcherry, river flat hawthorn, Mexican plum and laurel oak."

Other plants that I have seen personally in my trips there are the giant wild magnolias, flowering into the tops of the high jungle, the bay beech whose leaves are used as flavoring, and wild peach trees. Among these giant trees are palmetto flats, and palmettos and ferns taller than a man. Spanish moss hangs from the trees, swaying like nature's curtains to hang and beautify the rooms of nature under the trees. All of this is performed by orchids, pines, honeysuckle, and other fragrant vines and flowers. There are plants wading birds such as the herons and snowy egrets, with exotic butterflies and moths flying through the forests. Scenes such as this must be experienced and seen to be appreciated.

The House of Representatives of the state of Texas, on January 16, 1967, unanimously endorsed by Big Thicket National Park bill by a vote of 139-0 on a resolution praising my bill. This is the strongest statewide support I have ever received on a conservation measure.

The National Park Service warns that "Although much of the area has been altered by man's activities, sufficient samples still exist" to set aside in a recreation and conservation area.

It is my hope that with such local, state and national support the details can be worked out so that this beautiful and unique Big Thicket, or a portion of it — unmatched in all this part of the world for wildlife and plantlife variety — will be saved.

COLLEGE AND HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS

Draft Board Reminds Students Of Reports

Local Selective Service Board offered a reminder Wednesday to Mitchell County male students in college and high school preparing to enter college.

"It is most important that draft-age college and university under graduate students classified by the Local Board in Class II-S to take action before the end of the spring semester on an important matter for possible benefit," said Louise Nuckolls, clerk of Local Board No. 71 for Mitchell and Howard counties.

"The individual student should request his college or university registrar to send his class standing for the 1966-67 school year to the Local Board as soon as the standing is available after the spring semester ends," she emphasized.

The board official said college and university registrars will be able to report class standings during the summer months after all grades are in and compiled in order to reach the rank of the individual student in his class.

These standings are reported to local boards by the registrars on Selective Service System Forms 109 or 109-A, or a form of their own design.

"Either form the school chooses to use will be acceptable with the Local Board," the clerk said, "and these forms are in the hands of individual schools."

For high school graduates, the clerk said, "they should immediately write their Local Board a letter and simply state that they intend to enroll in college as a full-time student on or about Sept. 1, 1967," she explained.

"Then, after registration in the fall," the clerk continued, "the college or university they are attending will have to notify local boards the students are enrolled as full-time freshmen students." Additional information concerning requirements for students can be obtained by writing or contacting in person Local Board No. 71, in Room 16, Post Office Building, Big Spring, Texas, 79720.

Burleson

Press are making a record for their presidential candidate of 1968 to run on.

"House Republicans also are making a record for Republican Congressional candidates to run on. We need 31 more seats to take over the Congress — and I think there is a good chance we will make it. We have a good chance for many reasons. One of these is what might be called my 'Southern Strategy'."

Then Mr. Ford describes his "Southern Strategy" in these clear and unmistakable terms.

"THE STRATEGY IS" to drive southern conservatives in the House into the arms of the Administration — where they belong — on votes that will hurt them in their own Congressional Districts.

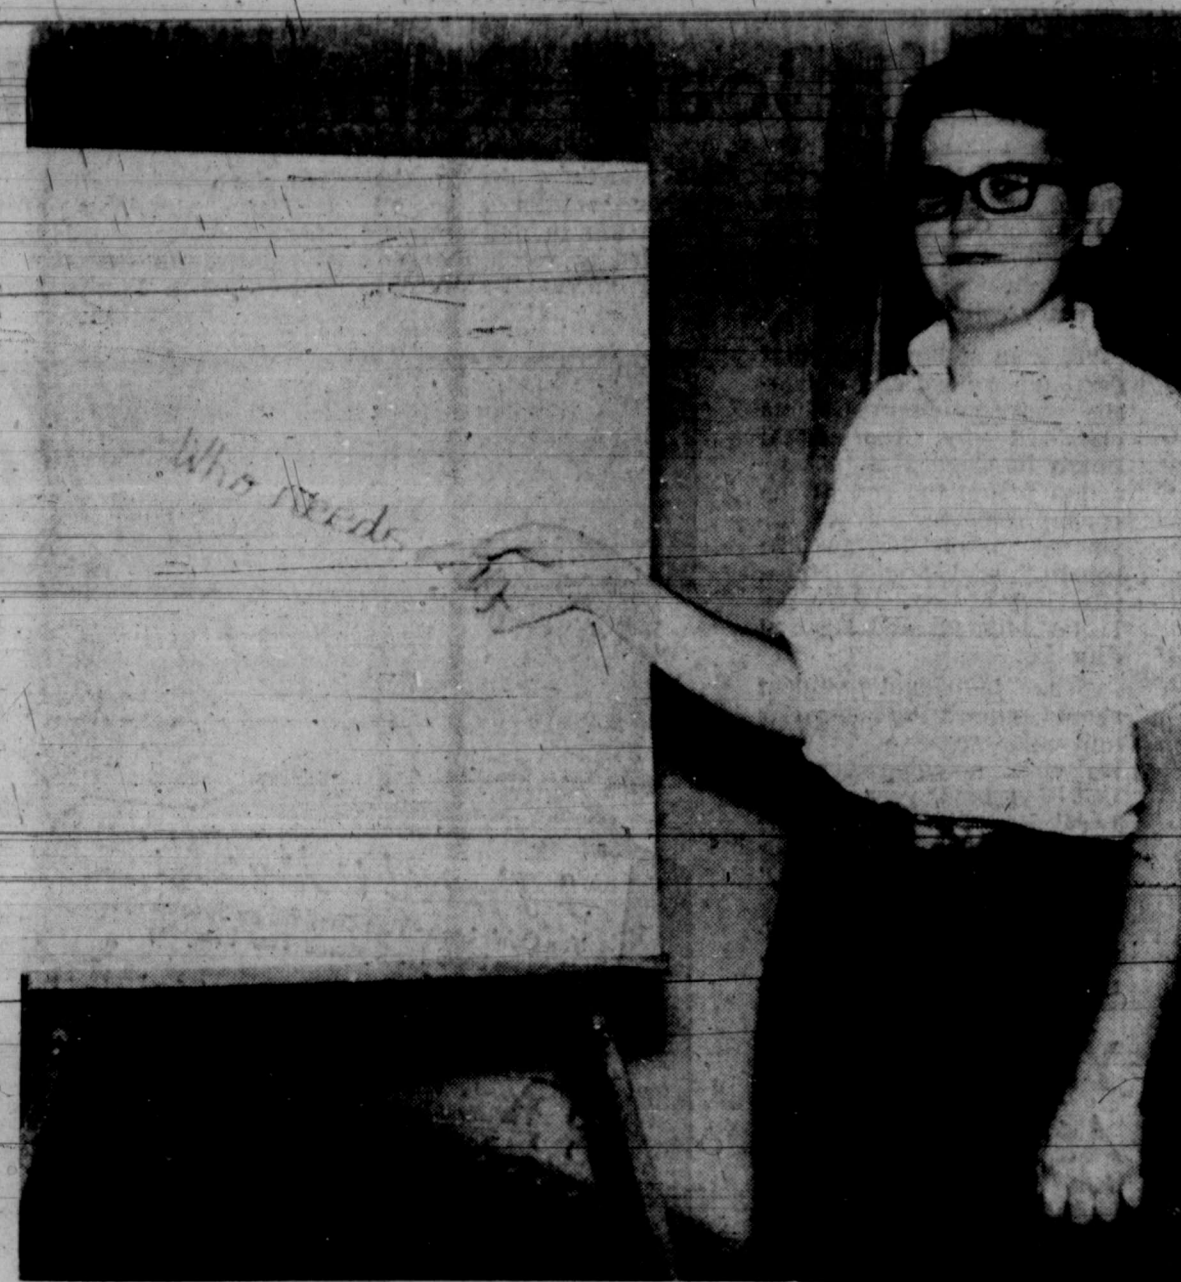

"This strategy runs exactly counter to the old pattern of a Southern conservative-Republican coalition that often prevailed over Administration forces in the House in past years."

MR. FORD WENT further to make this astounding admission. "But I think it far better to lose a few legislative battles and win the next election. Besides, in following my 'Southern Strategy', we Republicans in the House are staking out positions in which we believe — responsible, constructive positions."

"There will be times when Republicans will win in the 90th Congress. We will not win as many legislative fights as we could if we resorted to the old coalition tactics. It is the Big Prize that counts, and that's what we're after."

"The Big Prize is control of at least one House of Congress and control of the White House."

What Congressman Ford is obviously saying is that no matter what is best for the country, what is good for the Republican Party is more important. He makes no mention as to where he is going to "drive" his own band of liberal Republicans.

The talk and demonstration won first place for the youth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Anderson, in 4-H Club District 2 farm and ranch management competition recently in Lubbock. Anderson was one of three Mitchell County teams winning first place in regional contests.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

We have newer and finer schools than ever before. This is one of the marks of progress.

But another is that we have more and faster automobiles than ever before. So we guard each "school zone" with signs and safety patrols and policemen and volunteers. We do this to protect our children from the dangers of progress, while they are enjoying the fruits of progress.

The dangers of progress are not always physical. Many are moral. They threaten the character and faith of a rising generation, caught in the erratic tempo of modern life.

Happily, in every community of our land, PARENTS and CHURCHES are joining hands to promote the spiritual development of youth... to protect the souls of our children.
