Board Implements Grouping Programs In Aransas Schools

By Becky Werhan

A program that will group county elementary students according to their ability level, starting next September, was approved by the County School Board of Trustees at their regular monthly meeting held Monday, May 11.

Another program, shifting county elementary attendance to alleviate the overcrowding at Rockport Elementary was also enacted, effective next September.

The grouping program was submitted to the board by a group of elementary faculty members, elementary principals and the administration.

Teacher representatives from grades two through five had begun working on the program in April at the request of School Superintendent Joe Randow, following last month's school board meeting at which a large group of parents, The Committee for Better Schools, appeared before the board and presented their proposal for a grouping program in county schools. The proposal entitled "Individualized Grouping of Students" was read to the board at that time by its author Nelda Lee.

Most of the parents from last month's meeting were present this month and Randow read the teacher's program proposal to them prior to discussion by the board.

The program recommends the grouping of students in grades two through five according to their ability, in three levels.

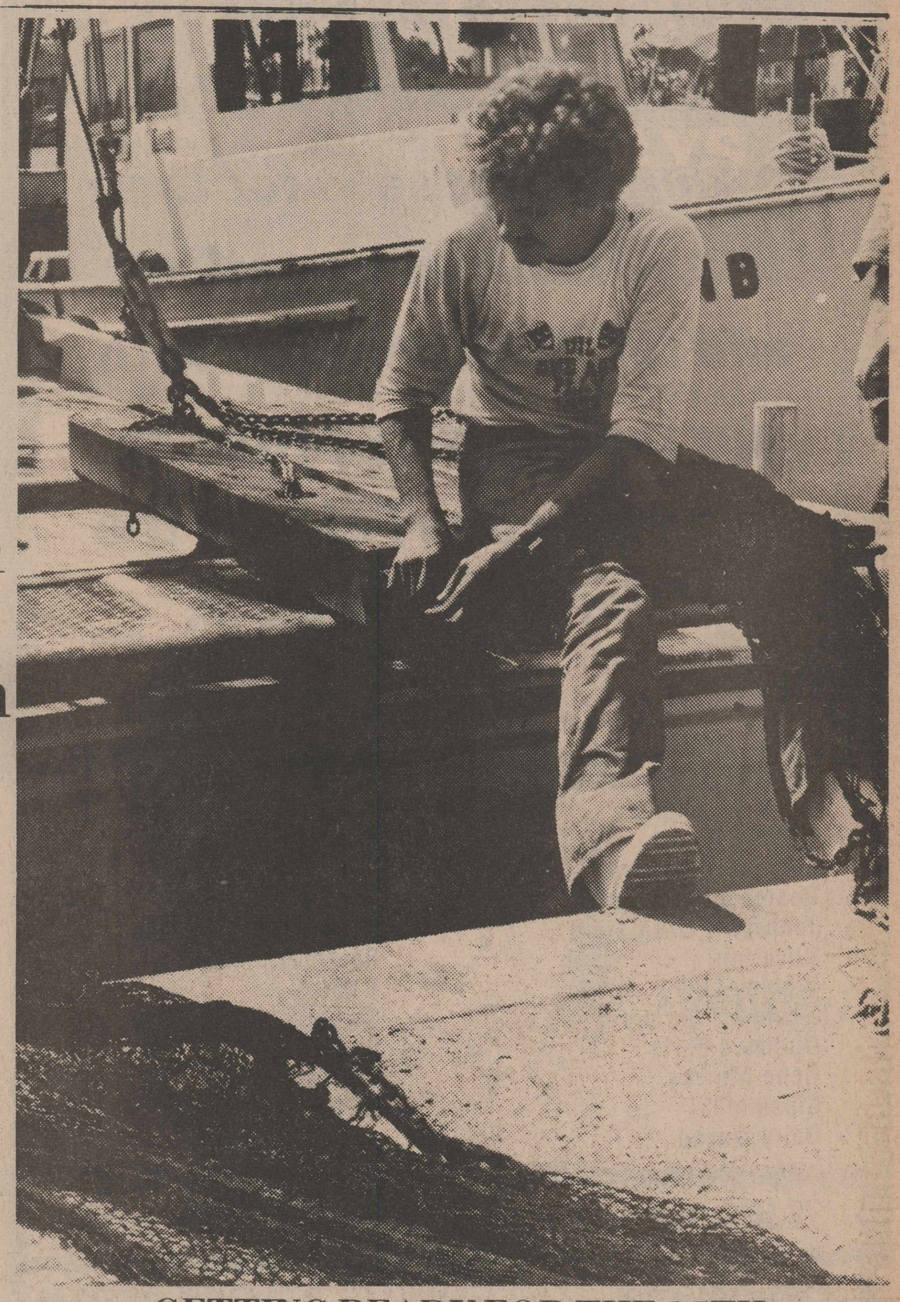

Second grade students would be grouped for reading and math; third grade students would be grouped for language arts block, consisting of English and reading, and also for a math; fourth grade would also have a language arts block and a math group; and fifth grade would have reading, English and math groups.

Procedures to accomplish grouping will entail the use of a variety of tests, plus teacher recommendation and parent request.

For the reading and language battery test from the standard achievement test will be used, as will a diagnostic reading trest, the total reading battery from the achievement test, and the Silvaroli reading test.

Council Approves Plans For Widening Intersection

By Pat Blair

State Highway Department plans for widening the Liberty (Highway 35)-Broadway intersection into four lanes and installing a traffic signal at a future date got clearance from Rockport's city council in its session Monday night, May 11.

In other action during the session — which opened with the seating of newest council member Murray McMillan — the council approved sanitary sewer plans for the proposed Candlestick Subdivision but tabled a request by developers that the city take over maintenance of the proposed sanitary sewer lines and lift station.

Council members also heard from a representative of Urban Engineering who outlined plans for the proposed expansion of the city's wastewater treatment plant.

Jim Johnson of the Texas Highway Department presented that department's plans for the revamping of the traffic lanes at the Liberty-Broadway intersection, near Rockport's City Hall.

Johnson pointed out that Highway 35 is four lanes feeding into the intersection and coming out of the intersection — with the intersection itself narrowing to two lanes. "You have a bottleneck," he said.

The situation is definitely hazardous, he said, adding, "I don't know who you'd give the ticket to if you had an accident there."

Following council approval of the plans, Johnson said the highway department will start on the project "as soon as possible" although that may still be some months away.

He said the highway department is trying to secure funds to install a traffic signal at that intersection but in the meantime, an additional stop sign would

Reward Cut Off In Wood Investigation

SAN ANTONIO — The $100,000 reward offered for information in the assasination of Judge John H. Wood Jr. has been cut off with "one or more persons qualifying" for the money, it was announced Monday.

The cutoff signalled that indictments may be near in the case involving the assassination, on May 29, 1979, of Federal Judge Wood — a Rockport native — outside his San Antonio condominium.

Attorney Sam D. Millsap Jr., who has headed the Committee for Justice since its inception on May 31, 1979 — the day Wood was buried — said Monday, "I can report to you today that one or more persons have provided the FBI with information which will, in its judgment, lead to successful prosecutions in the Wood case."

The committee, comprised of attorneys, businessmen and others throughout the state, announced the reward on May 31, 1979, and extended it five times during the course of what has been the most massive FBI investigation in history.

The grand jury investigating the killing is scheduled to meet in session again Wednesday, May 20. In recent months it has concentrated investigation on friends, relatives and associates of the convicted narcotics trafficker Jimmy Chagra and convicted hired killer Charles V. Harrelson, both of whom are in jail on other charges.

Millsap would not speculate on when indictments would be returned. He said it might be years before the reward is actually paid, after any appeals have run their course, and the identities of the person or persons receiving the money may never be made public.

Wood, 63, was killed by a single .243-caliber bullet fired by a sniper outside his residence on the morning of May 29, 1979.

In addition to the reward offered by the Committee for Justice, the U.S. Justice Department approved an additional $25,000 reward in the case.

Family To File Suit After Beating

By Ted Norman

SINTON — The city of Sinton, San Patricio County and the state of Texas are going to be involved in a multi-million dollar law suit according to Mrs. Linda Garcia who says she and her family were brutally beaten by members of the Sinton Police Department.

Mrs. Garcia said her son Randy 'Ocampo drov up to her house and when he began to walk to the house the police began to beat him up.

They tried to go into my house and I told them to "Get the hell out," said Mrs. Garcia.

She said she heard a noise outside her house that evening and when she looked out she saw the police beating on her son. She said "I ran outside to help him . . . I thought he was dead."

She said that when she tried to help her son the police dragged her by the hair and struck her head in a mud puddle and tried to drown her. "I have never though I was so close to death," she said.

Mrs. Garcia's other son Gerald Tafoya heard the noise in the front yard and came around to the front to check it out and allegedly the police began to beat him up.

Mrs. Garcia said she and her two sons were arrested and taken to the Sinton Police station on charges of agravated assault and resisting arrest.

Mrs. Garcia said "the police put an article in the paper saying I called them pigs I didn't call them pigs."

Mrs. Garcia said the police released her on Saturday morning (May 2) but Randy 'Ocampo was held until Tuesday morning (May 5).

Mrs. Garcia said the police took 'Ocampo to a doctor but she says, "They did a lousey job of sewing Gerald up." She said that when 'Ocampo was released from jail Tuesday he complained about his ear hurting and they took him to a doctor. "The doctor put water in his ear and the water came out his nose," said Garcia. "His eardrum is gone." she added.

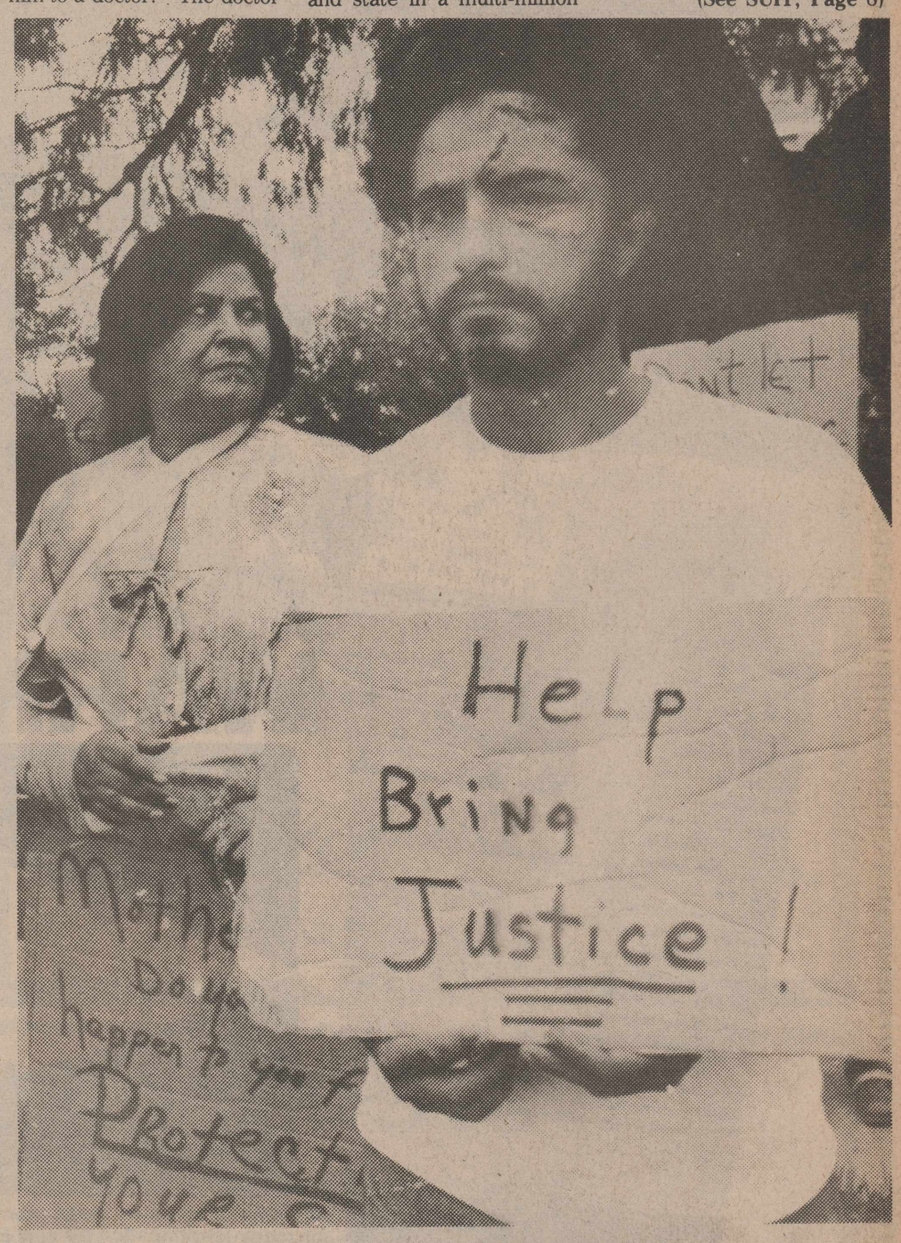

She says that the doctors called her and said that tests have shown that Tafoya has something wrong with his head and that 'Ocampo has an ear drum missing.

Mrs. Garcia said she has hired an attorney and "he is going to sue the city, County and state in a multi-million dollar suit."

At press time the Sinton Police Chief Manuel Torres was not in his office and couldn't be reached for comment. The dispatcher at the Sinton Police station said he didn't know anything about the case and the chief's secretary said "I'm new here and I don't know anything about it."

The two women lost control of the vehicle and it went off the road. Both women were taken by Aransas County Emergency Medical Service [EMS] to Memorial Medical Center in Corpus Christi. The accident happened about 2:15 p.m. Monday. Miller was assisted by Aransas County Deputy Lee Waggoner.

Pet Talks

By Dr. Hap Lutz

You And Your New Kitten

Dr. Lutz is a graduate of Baltimore City College and Texas A&M University. He specializes in small and exotic animal practice. He was an instructor of small animal diseases and surgery in the Veterinary School at Texas A&M and was in private practice in Waco for 25 years.

So you have just adopted your new kitten! How are you going to train it?

There are few compliments greater than the friendship of a cat. You cannot buy it or force it. You will receive your cat's affection and regard only when he thinks you have earned it.

However, you can start understanding one another best while he is a kitten.

A kitten's basic wants are somewhat like that of a human infant. He wants and needs someone to care for him, to give him a warm place to live, proper food, fresh water , a dry bed and companionship.

You can become the "star." You can provide these things.

Approach him gently, and talk in soothing tones. A good time to do this is while he is eating. Don't frighten him with loud noises or quick movements.

Kittens should have a toy to play with. Children's toys can be harmful, particularly if they are made of polyurethene, fur, wood or have sharp points.

If your kitten should swallow a small particle of these materials, it is likely to cause problems in the digestive system. Choose a toy made especially for cats, a toy that cannot be splintered or torn apart.

A hard, rubber mouse that squeaks, a catnip toy, a shoe box that the kitten can climb into and out are great favorites.

However, don't bombard your kitten with toys. Give him one or two at a time. Add new ones as time goes by. You and your kitten will enjoy his playfulness.

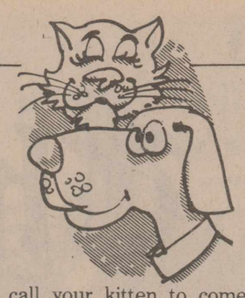

There are a few safety measures I want to bring to your attention.

1. Don't leave open tin cans or jars lying about. I was called on a case not long ago. A kitten had his head caught in a glass fruit jar and couldn't get it out.

2. Keep all paints and varnish cans firmly shut. Licking these materials is very deadly to cats.

3. Read labels on rodent or roach poisons before using them and observe warnings. The vehicle in mouse and rat poison is very tasty to cats — but very poisonous, also.

In future articles, there will be discussions on how to call your kitten to come to you, how to save the furniture, housebreaking, immunization and a lot more.

From your pet's best friend — the one with a warm heart for cold noses.

Mixed Drink Tax Brings $5000 Plus

Mixed drink tax revenue collected in Aransas County during the first quarter of 1981 amounted to $37,656.58 — with more than $5000 being rebated as the local share of the tax.

A state gross receipts tax of 10 per cent is collected on sale of mixed drinks in Texas, with 15 per cent of that amount being returned to the counties and cities in which the mixed drinks are sold.

Sate Comptroller Bob Bullock said Aransas County and its three cities — Rockport, Fulton and the portion of Aransas Pass inside Aransas — are due $5,648.49 as their share of the tax revenue.

The largest tax revenues — $14,332.33 — were collected in Fulton with that city getting $2,149.85 as its share.

Mixed drink tax collections in Rockport amounted to $6,039.24 with the city's share being $905.89 and in Aransas Pass, $8,996.47 was collected and $1,349.47 returned to the city.

Mixed drink revenue from the portion of Aransas Pass in San Patricio County totalled $11,389.94 with $1,708.49 rebated to the city.

Total mixed drink revenue collections in San Patricio amounted to $21,181.01 with $3,177.15 being returned to the county and its three cities — Aransas Pass, Ingleside and Portland.

In Refugio County, some $505.61 were collected in total revenues with $75.84 being rebated.

The first quarter covers the period from January 1 through March

Reynolds' 'Layoff List' Posted

The names of employees laid off from the Reynolds Metals Company plant in Gregory have been posted — but it is still not known how many of those workers are from Aransas County.

"We don't think a very big percentage of the work force lives in Aransas County," Drew Lybrook, regional public relations manager for the company said.

However, he added, he does not know how many employees are involved. "The personnel department (at the Gregory plant) say they would have to go through their files and look up individual addresses," Lybrook said.

He added he has been told by personnel department officials that this cannot be done because of the numbers involved. "You're talking about 350-something people," he said.

Earlier this month, when the Reynolds layoff was first announced, officials estimated between 400 to 450 jobs were involved.

The layoff results from suspension of production of primary aluminum at the San Patricio Reduction Plant.

Lybrook sais a smelting operation used for the recycling of aluminum cans will stay in operation at the plant which is located in Gregory. Some workers will remain employed for this and other employees will remain at the plant to perform routine maintenance activities, Lybrook added.

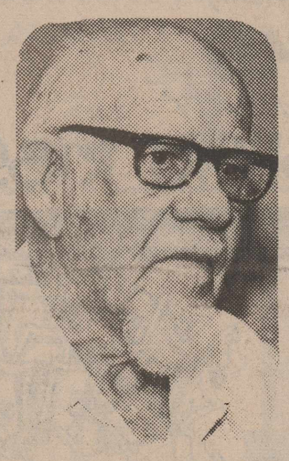

High prices for natural gas, 50 million cubic feet of which are needed daily for the San Patricio operation, were blamed for the current layoff.

Reynolds officials said the layoffs will be temporary but George Cleaver, vice president of Merrill Lynch Pierce Fenner & Smith investment firm in New York, said prospects for the aluminum industry do not look good for the remainder of 1981.

The last shutdown of the Reynolds plant, in May, 1975, lasted four years.

Two Good Friends And Ego

I am a most fortunate man for many reasons and I am heading for my 82nd birthday.

I came to Rockport on October 1, 1971 — Good.

I met and married Dorothy Morrison on May 20, 1972 and moved to Peninsula Oaks — Good.

I have been reasonably well except for a small angina problem in 1979. It's gone now. I feel better and stronger today than I did a year ago.

We celebrate our ninth anniversary on May 20 — wonderful, happy years. I owe it all to the good Lord who pulls all our strings no matter how smart we think we are.

This has all been accomplished with the help of good friends. I have many but I am going to stick my neck out and extend flowers and thanks to two of them — they make my life richer and happier.

(I now flip a coin to decide which I will mention first — Heads came up — that's)

Ed Devoe

A New York native who thru military service, etc. became a Texan many years ago. He and his wife, Lois, raised a nice family as they worked around military base in San Antonio.

He became a good friend of my son several years ago. When my son left here over two years ago, Ed adopted me. His favorite comment is "Uncle John you shouldn't do that — Let me to it". Whether transportation, carpentry, mechanical, painting or just fixing something, he shows up and helps me as I attempt a job around the house.

I don't know how I would have made the last three years without his willing support. Ed, I owe a lot to you and your good wife, Lois.

The other side of the coin is

Don Stone

Don and I met in AARP when it came into being in 1976.

Then soon after, when Aransas County Council on Aging was formed, he became a member of its Executive Board. A man with many talents — ranging from playing the pipe organ to building his own home.

Never in all these years has he ever said "no" to me when I asked him to do a job for me — carpentry or fix-it, or else.

When I had my little angina spell I had to give up driving for a few months. In the mean time, he had been placed on C.O.G.'s Advisory Committee on Aging. He drove me to the monthly meeting in Corpus Christi — and still does.

His devotion of time and talent to the elderly in Rockport would fill a book.

His willingness to do miscellaneous jobs for me can't be counted. I do thank him.

Now you can see why I am egotistical. I have many good friends and it makes me feel good to be greeted day in and day out as "Uncle John". I love you all.

Thanks to the Good Lord I live in Rockport.

Fire Marshal Opens Regional Office

AUSTIN — The state Fire Marshal's office of the State Board of Insurance, opened a new regional office in Corpus Christi on May 1. Another regional office was opened the same day in Lubbock.

The new facility will hold an Open House on Friday, June 5 from 2 to 4 p.m. at their new location — 4639 Corona Drive, Office Number 66. Arson investigators, fire inspectors and other staff members will be on hand to get aquainted with the public.

William P. Dave, Jr., Chairman of the State Board of Insurance, the agency under which the State Fire Marshal's Office operates, said the opening of the two new offices is part of a continuing effort to regionalize the operations of the State Fire Marshal.

"We want our people spending more of their time helping local fire and law enforcement officials and less of their time on the road, Daves said.

The first two regional offices of the Marshal were opened last year in Huntsville and Duncanville.

The move toward regionalization is in line with recommendations for reorganization of the State Fire Marshal's Office presented to the 1979 Texas Legislature, Daves explained.

State Fire Marshal Ernest A. Emerson said staffing and training procedures for the two new offices will be similar to those developed for the Huntsville and Duncanville offices.

"New personnel will be cross-trained to serve as both arson investigators and as fire inspectors, he said. "The two new offices will increase our capability to respond quickly when asked by local officials to assist in arson investigations. Not only will local operations increase our efficiency, but we hope these new offices will improve our communication with local officials and citizens."

Mariners Dump Astros 19-2

By Ted Norman

In a late evening Monday night game the Mariners were kept busy swatting flies while the spectators were swatting mesquitos. The Mariners won, the spectators lost and the Astros went down to a 19-2 defeat.

The first Mariner batter Danny Adams started the game off on the right foot for his team as he banged out a single to left field on the first pitch.

Alan Jennings popped out to the catcher but Adams advanced to second on the out.

On a wild pitch to Keith Richman Adams moved to third to get within striking distance for the Mariners first fun. On a 2-0 pitch Rickman popped up to the pitcher who couldn't handle it and Adams made it in for the first run of the evening.

Rickman managed to stretch a double out of the bobbled ball and bad throw.

A wild pitch to Brad Gratman let Rickman move to third. On the next pitch Gartmen pounded out a double to score Rickman.

With one on and one out Roman Dingenary hit to the infield, Gartman scores but Dingenary is out at first.

Mariners batter Ben Freible hit a bunt down the third base line and ran it out for a single and with two away Curtis Lee popped out to third to retire the Mariners, with a 4-0 lead.

Astros lead off batter James Baros watched four balls go by to draw a walk. On the first pitch to Jeff Fox a wild ball gives Baros an easy steal to second as Fox draws a walk to give the Astros runners on first and second.

On a 2-0 pitch to Shelby Redden both Baros and Fox advanced to second and third. Then on a full count Redden went down swinging.

Astros batter Gregg Gerra swung at a 3-2 count to give the Astros two out and two on.

On a 1-0 pitch to Tom Knotsman Baros came home for a run and on a throw from the catcher Fox was out trying to steal third. The Astros retired with one.

The Mariners were held to one run in the top of the second inning when Steve Sbrusch drove in Ryan Aery on a triple to right field. Sbrusch was later thrown out stealing home. Adams popped out to the pitcher for the second out and Jennings went down swinging.

The Astros left the bottom of the second inning scoreless and they stranded two runners.

Keith Rickman lead off for the Mariners in the top of the third with a triple to deep left field. Gartman went down swinging in an effort to bring him in. Dingenary hit a line drive past second as Rickman scores on Dingenary's single.

On the first pitch to Freible, Dingenary steals second. On a 1-0 pitch Freible hits a drive past the mound and Dingenary scores as Freible makes it to second for a double.

Mariners batter Curtis Lee swung at the first pitch to him and Freible steals third. Lee watched the next pitch go by for a strike then went down swinging to give the Mariners two outs and a man on third.

In the bottom of the third the Astros got three runners on base on walks after the first two batters were retired on strikes and Scott Anderson hit to second base and was thrown out at first to retire the Astros and leave three runners stranded.

Steve Sbrusch lead off for the Mariners in the top fo the fourth with a walk. But Adams hit to the mound and Sbrusch was out at second as Adams ran it out for a single to give the Mariners one out with a runner on first.

Jennings drew a walk after swatting out four fouls to advance Sbrusch to second and the Mariners have two on. Then in a moment of confussion as to who had the ball Adams and Jennings advanced to second and third.

Rickman swung at the first pitch and connected for a hit and Adams scores.

On the first pitch to Gartman Jennings comes in for the score and Rickman moves to third as the ball goes past the Astros catcher. Ont he 1-0 pitch Rickman hits to left field and Rickman scores as Gartman moves to third.

Dingenary hit the first pitch to center, Gartman scores and Dingenary hustles for a triple.

Freible hits to the infield and is out as first and the sides are retired as Curtis Lee, on a 3-0 pitch poppes to the mound. The Mariners lead 11-1.

In the bottom of the fourth the Astros batters Driver was put down swinging, Polo Cruz drew a walk and Larry Avilla hit to first on a 2-0 pitch and Cruz was forced out to give the Astros two away.

On a 2-2 pitch to Stoney Haughts Avilla was out trying to steal second to retire the Astros.

The Mariners pounded out eight runs in the top of the fifth to take the game out of reach for the Astros.

Gabe Trevino went down swinging to give the Mariners one out then Sbrusch was at the place with a 3-1 count and the Astros sent in Stoney Haught as relief pitcher and Haught's first pitch put Sbrusch on base with a walk.

On the first pitch to Adams Sbrusch was able to steal second. Then on a 2-0 pitch to Adams Sbrusch moved to third with another stolen base and then Adams drew a walk giving the Mariners runners on first and third.

Alan Jennings watched the first pitch go by and Adams stole second. Then as Jennings took a 2-0 pitch Adams tried to steal third, Sbrusch was still on the base. Adams returned to second, Sbrusch comes home in the confussion and as they try to tag him out at the plate Adams makes it back to third again.

Jennings draws a walk then steals second.

Rickman hits a 2-0 pitch to left field and Adams scores and on a bad throw into the infield Jennings scores and Rickman beats it out for a four bagger.

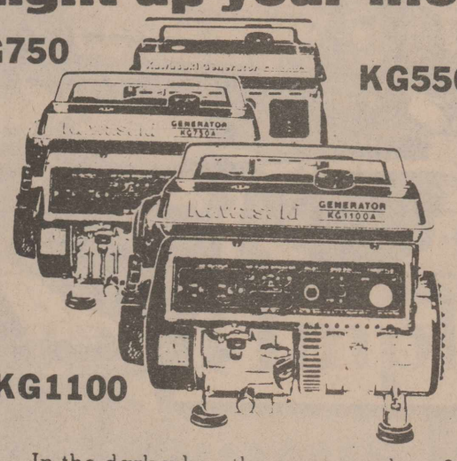

Then to keep the momentum going Gartman hits a drive past the short stop and pounds it out for a double.

The Astros send in Brennan Driver as relief pitcher and on his first pitch to Don Gatlin Avery steals second. Then on a 1-0 pitch Avery scrambles to third. Gatlin popes out to second to give the charging Mariners two away.

Stoney Haught watches two strikes go by and swings at the third to retire the Astros and end the game as the Mariners win it 19-2.

Missing Rockport Youth's Body Found

PORT O'CONNOR — The body of Charles Ray Ince, 20, of Rockport, missing since last Wednesday, was found Saturday morning in a boatslip at Clark's Fish House Dock here.

An autopsy, done at a Victoria hospital, ruled death by accidental drowning.

Calhoun County Constable John Taylor said Ince's body was found about 7 a.m. Saturday, May 9, by Dan Raby of Port O'Connor who was driving a truck near the dock when he saw the body just below the surface of the water between the boat "Moonlighter" and a finger pier.

Raby called Taylor and the Coast Guard. Justice of the Peace Penny Young, also called to the scene, pronounced Ince dead on the scene. Officials said the youth was identified by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ince of Rockport.

Taylor said Monday morning there was "no evidence of foul play" in the youth's death but that officials were still investigating the incident.

Taylor added there were no witnesses to the youth's death.

Ince was reportedly employed by Dennis Raby on the commercial shrimper "Miss Sheriee Ann" as rig man. He was last seen about 2 a.m. Wednesday according to officials.

be installed.

Plans drawn up by the Candlestick Subdivision developers for sanitary sewer facilities to serve the proposed area were approved unanimously by the council Monday night.

Rockport City Secretary Herman Johnson said the plans for a lift station and lines to serve some 64 units in the development had been drawn up by Urban Engineering — the city engineering firm — and Rockport's Public Works Director J.C. Gurley "worked closely with them."

Johnson added the plans had been approved by Urban and Gurley.

Council members balked however at a request by the developers that the city of Rockport assume maintenance of the lift station and line once they are installed.

Mayor Walter S. Falk Jr. pointed out that the proposed subdivision lies outside Rockport's extraterritorial jurisdiction and said he felt the city would be getting into an "untenable position" in taking over maintenance of the facilities.

Alderman Burt Mills made the motion to table the request "and have a workshop on it." The motion, after seconding, was approved 4-0.

James C. O'Hara, P.E., with Urban Engineers presented council members with a copy of the facilities plan for the proposed expansion of Rockport's existing wastewater treatment facilities.

O'Hara told council members there will be two more public hearings on the project — on May 21 and June 8 — then the engineers hope to be able to make a presentation before the Water Resources Board in Austin in July when that board meets to determine disbursement of funds the city needs to continue the project.

The city has been studying the feasibility of expanding its wastewater treatment facilities under a Step I federal grant from the Environmental Protection Agency. In order to design the proposed facility, the city will have to apply for a Step II grant — which is what the Water Resources Board will consider in July.

If the city secures a Step II grant, it would then be eligible to apply, at a later date, for a Step II grant to help fund the actual construction.

All three grants are funded on a 75-25 basis with the federal government providing 75 percent of the money.

Dr. O'Hara suggested — and the council concurred — that the city consider expanding the existing facility in two stages, with half of the work to be done on an immediate basis and the remaining half to be done in 10 years.

The city has proposed to double the present capacity of the wastewater treatment plant, from its present one million gallons per day to an eventual two million gallons, to meet projected population needs by the year 2000.

O'Hara said expansion of the facility in two stages is "the most economically attractive plan", with an initial expense on the project of $1.68 million "and another $400,000 10 years hence."

Plans and projected costs for the expansion will be presented to the public in the public meetings set for later this month and in June.

In other action Monday, the council voted to meet at 5 p.m. May 21 in a workshop session to review applications from persons seeking the position of Rockport police chief.

ROCKPORT WOMAN INJURED

Paramedics with the Aransas County Emergency Medical Service [EMS] give aid to Mellinee Catherin Landrum, 24, of 2100 Bay Avenue, Rockport, after she was injured in a two-car collision about 12:58 p.m. Friday on Liberty Street in Rockport. She was taken to Memorial Medical Center Hospital suffering head, neck, arm and back injuries after she drove off the side of the road while northbound on Liberty Street, lost control of her car, ran across the roadway and struck a vehicle driven by Douglas James Meador, 23, of Rt. 1, Rockport. She was ticketed for failure to control speed to avoid an accident. Meador was reported to have suffered possible injuries in the mishap but was not transported.

Programs Start In September

cedures will use the total math battery from the achievement tests and a diagnostic math test.

Teacher recommendations will be necessary for grouping a child in a certain level and parents may request their child be moved from one level to another. The request must be submitted in writing and will be followed by a parent-teacher conference with the teachers involved.

A child will not be moved from one level to another, up or down, in the midst of a six weeks period. All transitions would be made at the end of those periods.

Responding to questions from the board as to the amount of teacher input in such a program, Randow said, "The teachers want this. They are willing to work that hard to make it succeed. There will have to be a lot of teacher work back and forth, a lot of input."

Randow also explained plans for the provision of enrichment materials on all levels. The implementation procedures for this type of material will be worked on during the summer by teacher volunteers, who according to Randow, have agreed to prepare the program during their vacation.

Following Randow's explanation of the program, many of the parents present questioned the lack of grouping at the first grade level.

Randow countered these questions with, "The teachers at that level didn't recommend it."

Board President Ottie Mundine expressed his own concern at the lack of grouping plan for first grade reading. "Reading is everything at that level," said Mundine. "If they miss out there, they're lost."

After more discussion, including the proposal to begin first grade grouping at midterm, Randow agreed to "get back to the teachers" with the parent's concerns on first grade reading groups.

The ommission of grouping at the junior high level was also brought up by several parents present and, though no action was taken on the suggestion, Mundine said, "We've got to start working on that."

The attendance zone changes made by the board followed the presentation, by Randow, of a break down of projected enrollment at the three county elementary schools for next year as well as the class rooms and teachers available.

The changes, made to alleviate the overcrowding at Rockport Elementary, will entail the moving of Harbor Oaks, Key Allegro and Little Bay Shores students to Fulton and moving Copano Cove students from Live Oak to Fulton.

This plan would lower the pupil-teacher ratios across the district allowing for growth. Two vacant classrooms would be left at both Live Oak and Rockport, also allowing for growth. Two bus routes would be changed and the restrooms and Fulton would "be very close" to crowded.

The solution was chosen by the board from among four other proposals presented. All the proposals called for the moving of students and Randow included a written message with the submitted proposals: "There is no easy solution to this problem and with our mobile community, it is very difficult to project where our students will be living in September. I feel the major concern is to decrease the Rockport enrollment."

"One very important factor in all four of the above plans is what will happen to our ethnic balance between schools. This problem must be very definite consideration."

The plan chosen by the board will decrease the Hispanic ratio at Fulton, increase it at Rockport and the student load at Rockport will decrease from 711 students to 530.

Court Gives OK For Subdivision

Permission to change two five-acre tracts of land on FM 1069 into six smaller acreage tracts suitable for subdivision development was given by the county commissioners to Ramon Garza, Sr. on Monday, May 11. The court, in their regular meeting reviewed Garza's request and looked over the acreage plans presented by County Surveyor Tommy Griffith.

The two larger lots in question lie on both sides of 1069 about one third of the way between Highway 35 and FM 881. They are officially designated as lots 8A and 8F and when changed, or "replanted", would be considered ranchettes.

According to Griffith, the acreage meets all requirements of the county subdivision resolution and adequate drainage for the tracts is already provided by the large ditches running east and west along 1069.

The lots are owned by Garza and his son Ramon Garza Jr., neither of whom were at the court meeting Monday nor available for comment later.

In other action, the court deliberated for over an hour on proposed wrecker regulations for the county.

Such regulations are needed to protect the county upon dispatch, by the sheriff's office, of wreckers in situations where they are needed; and to protect those persons whose cars are towed. In addition there was much discussion of a method of wrecker selection that would be fair to the wrecker owners. The item was tabled pending discussed changes in the ordinance.

The court also heard from county sanitarian Harold Scheer in regards to percolation test for septic tank sites. Scheer explained that in some areas, percolation tests were unnecessary, as the water retention for those areas was already known. Scheer said, "Now that I know the county better, I know what's what and where to run the tests. In sandy loam, its a waste of time, in other areas, you have to do it.

The court's decision was that the tests would be made only when the sanitarian felt they were necessary and that the fee for the septic tank inspection would be $50.

The court agenda included an item calling for the designation of a name for the second road north off of 1069, in the Burton and Danforth Subdivision. Commissioner John Lee explained that one of his constituents living on the road had requested such action and had proposed the name of "Walker". The court approved the name choice and Lee agreed to notify the resident of the decision and also of the fact that the county could not provide a street sign.

In other action the court corrected a surveyor's error on the court order closing the old Jeff Davis Highway. The order had included a one-acre error in the amount of acreage involved in the closure.

The court also deliberated more on their choice of an insurance company for county employees. A decision had been put off from their last meeting two weeks ago, pending further examination of two plans, offered by Metropolitan and Blue Cross/Blue Shield. A decision was made by the court on Monday, to continue their present coverage with Metropolitan.

Three Plead Guilty In Drug Smuggling Case

CORPUS CHRISTI — Three Rockport men have pleaded guilty to a lesser charge and a Fulton man is scheduled for trial next month after being indicted in a drug conspiracy involving 27,830 pounds of marijuana seized in March at Seadrift.

Talton Lee James, 40, and David A. Pfeiffer Jr., 24, both of Rockport pleaded guilty to a charge of conspiring to import less than 1000 pounds of marijuana. The two men entered their pleas Thursday, May 7, in federal court.

Thomas Joseph Burke, 22, of Rockport pleaded guilty to the charge Friday, according to an official in the federal district clerk's office in Corpus Christi. Burke had originally requested a jury trial.

Dallas Alton Grantham, 53, of Fulton is scheduled for trial at 9 a.m. June 15 in federal court on charges that have been brought against him following the drug seizure and arrest of 14 men in Seadrift in a predawn raid March 15.

The raid — resulting in what has been called the largest drug seizure in the Coastal Bend's history — was the result of joint efforts by Aransas County sheriff's officials, federal Drug Enforcement Administration agents and U.C. Customs agents.

James, Pfeiffer, Bruke and at least three other men arrested during the raid are scheduled for sentencing June 17 and June 29.

The other three men — Felipe Francisco Llaudy, 40, of Miami; Gerardo L. Gonzalez, 28, of Miami; and Arvon C. Jackson, 46, of DeWitt, Arkansas — also pleaded guilty to the lesser charge of conspiring to import less than 100 pounds of marijuana.

A probated sentence was recommended for Jackson and James by Assistant U.S. Attorney Robert Berg as part of a plea bargain calling for the two men to cooperate with the government in the prosecution of the other defendants.

A federal indictment returned against all 14 defendants charged them with conspiring to import marijuana, importing 27,830 pounds of marijuana, conspiring with the intent to distribute marijuana and possession with the intent to distribute 27,830 pounds of marijuana.

The remaining three charges will be dropped against the men who pleaded guilty this past week, according to the spokesman with the federal clerk's office.

Another defendant, Elias Ricardo DeLuque-Ibarra, 36, of Colombia, is scheduled to go to trial on the same date as Grantham. DeLuque-Ibarra has also requested a non-jury trial

Six other defendants were expected to stand trial by jury: Paul Olivarri Jr., 40, of Brownsville; Jan Alberto Gonzalez, 31 of Austin; Valdermar Guerra, 37, of San Antonio; Phillip Sterling Robin, 50, of Port Bolivar and Johnny Johnson Jr., 34, and Robert L. Stanley, 24, both of Ash, North Carolina.

Researchers Fight Bad Effects Of Treatment

HOUSTON — Cancer researchers are "reading" electron signals from damaged kidney cells to find ways of removing or preventing the bad effects of good chemicals used in treating cancer, according to Dr. Dennis C. Dobyan, Assistant Professor of Pathology at the University of Texas Health Science Center here.

Dr. Dobyan has found areas of damage in the kidneys resulting from use of cis-platinum (CP), a powerful anti-cancer compound used for several types of cancer in it advanced stage. His research is supported by an American Cancer Society grant.

Dr. Dobyan, in previous studies with colleagues at Stanford University, has identified an area in the kidneys damaged by CP. Using a new half-million-dollar electron probe microanalyzer, the researchers will now be able to examine a single nephron segment, millions of which comprise the kidney tissue.

The probe aims a stream of electrons at the targeted calls and "focuses" on a single element of a molecule and produces a readable signal, depending on its particular wavelength.

For the first time, scientists here will be able to pinpoint the exact areas destroyed or damaged by the anti-cancer drug. Enzyme systems which have been disrupted can be traced and ways of preventing drug damage ultimately developed.
