3,000,000 VOTERS QUALIFIED

2.5 Million Due to Cast Votes Next Tuesday

The Texas Election Bureau estimates that about 2.5 million will vote Nov. 3 in the General Election. This will include 84,000 Texans that failed to pay their poll taxes this year but qualified themselves to vote for federal offices.

A new federal constitutional amendment abolished poll taxes as a requirement in voting for federal offices. Texas voters, however, rejected an attempt to do away with the poll tax requirement for state offices.

The 84,000 so-called "free voters" qualified to vote only for federal office candidates by registering during a special 30-day period that ended last March 6. Because they did not pay a poll tax they can mark their ballot on Nov. 3 only for a president - vice president team, for their choice for U.S. senator and congressman-at-large from Texas, and for their choice for Congress from their home district.

Poll tax holders and those with exemptions for over and under age can vote the entire ballot. But how can a non-poll tax payer be prevented from marking the complete ballot?

Secretary of State Crawford Martin thinks he has a simple answer. Sample ballots were printed with a heavy, black line separating the candidates for federal and for state and local office. These sample ballots along with a multicolored set of instructions, were mailed to all county clerks, who then ordered their own supplies and had their county's ballots printed, using the sample as a guide.

Martin said election officals have two choices for separating ballots of those who have paid and who have not paid the poll tax.

An official can, Martin said, draw an "X" through the bottom portion of the ballot, that part containing the state and local candidates' names. Or he can remove the bottom half of the ballot — cutting along the black line — and give only the top portion to the voter who has the free registration certificate.

Because of the small percentage of voters who have the free registration form, Martin predicts that checking ballots against the poll-tax receipts will not slow down the counting. "In many smaller boxes, the clerk already will know who, if anyone, has a registration certificate, so the time loss will be negligible.

The form of the ballot is determined by the Texas Electon Code, which was charged by the 1963 Legislature to give the first column on the ballot in all counties to the party whose candidate for governor got the most votes in the preceding general election. That means on Nov. 3 the Democratic candidates for all offices will be in the left-hand column on the ballot.

There will be three other columns — for Republican and Constitution Party nominees and write-in candidates. No independent candidates qualified this year for a spot on the ballot.

Altogether, Texans will vote Nov. 3 on a president, vice president, U.S. Senator, governor and 13 other statewide officials, 23 congressmen, 15 state senators, 150 state representatives and several thousand local officials.

President Lyndon B. Johnson and U.S. Senator Hubert Humphrey head the Democratic ticket followed by U. S. Senator Ralph Yarborough, Governor John Connally and other Democratic nominees.

The Republican column has U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater, and U.S. Rep. William Miller, George Bush, Houston, candidate for the U. S. Senate; Jack Crichton, Dallas, candidate for governor; 10 other statewide candidates, the congressional races, six state Senate candidates and 74 state representative races.

The Constitution Party lists as its national nominees Joseph B. Lightburn and Theodore Billings, and seven statewide candidates, all from Houston. They include Jack Carswell, for U.S. Senate; W. A. Johnson for congressman-at-large, and John C. Williams, for governor. There are no certified Constitution Party candidates for the legislature.

Also on the ballot will be three proposed changes in the Texas Constitution. One would remove the legislature's constitutional authority to transfer up to 1 per cent of the permanent school fund annually to the available school fund. Another would require notice to the public and to the Texas Water Commission of intent to introduce legislation creating or substantially altering a conservation reclamation district.

The third would authorize the legislature to enact a program, under the federal Kerr-Mills Act, of financial help for Texans 65 and older who are not on the old age assistance rolls but who can't pay for needed medical services.

That's the official ballot.

SBA REPRESENTATIVE IN CORPUS CHRISTI FRI.

The Small Business Administration will have its representative available for interview on Friday, Nov. 6, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. He will be at Corpus Christi Chamber of Commerce, 1201 North Blvd., Corpus Christi.

Field Crew Completes It's Study Of Copano Shell

The Parks and Wildlife Department's field crew has completed its study of Copano Bay to determine if it contains oyster shell and how much, but the Parks and Wildlife Commission has not had time to review the report, according to Weldon Watson, executive director for the commission.

Watson said that he did not know yet whether Commissioners Will Odoms of Austin, A. W. Moursund of Johnson City and J. M. Dellinger of Corpus Christi will call a public hearing on the application from Heldenfels Brothers of Corpus Christi to degree for shell in Copano Bay.

State Sen. William M. Patman and Rep. Paul Haring have been pressing for a public hearing through conversations and correspondence with Watson and the commission. The legislators have insisted that dredging would be detrimental to sporting and fishing facilities, and would cripple the local tourist industry.

The construction firm has requested permission to dredge for shell out of eight tracts, ranging from 320 to 450 acres each, to get materials for a road 15 miles long in the bay area. Although the firm's winning bid with the state Highway Department cited shell as the prime ingredient, Rep. Haring said last month that highway department specifications would accomodate either shell or lime-stabilized foundation base.

Rep. Haring said State Engineer DeWitt C. Greer, "seemed to think" Hendenfels could shift to lime without endangering contract security.

When Watson was asked whether delay in action by the commission might put Heldenfel's highway project in a precarious plight he side stepped. He said the commission has not set its regular quarterly meeting yet, but figured it would be held no later than Nov. 30.

Watson said the commission has received "some general protest" on the application, but said "it was nothing" like the opposition to Houston shell dredgers last year.

Council Passes Weed Ordinance, Appoints Marshal

The City Council, at its regular meeting, passed an ordinance regarding overgrown and weedy lots, discussed water problems, and appointed Carl Osborn fire marshal until the end of the year.

The ordinance read, in part:

It shall be unlawful to allow weeds to grow . . . upon the premises, or trash or rubbish to accumulate on said premises to such an extent that it is reasonably calculated to become injurious to the health of citizens of Rockport."

The council is given power to order removal of such weeds or trash, and if the order is neglected, the person so doing is subject to a fine of not more than $50 per day for every day that the order is disobeyed.

Osborn, who has been on a temporary basis for the past month had his term extended until the end of this year.

Sportsmen Hold Dinner At Sea Gun Sports Inn

Approximately 125 sportsmen from this area attended the annual dinner of the Rockport Sportsmen's Conservation Association last Thursday night, at Sea Gun Sports Inn.

Jim Thomas, who does the "Lone Star Sportsman" program for a San Antonio brewery, showed a film on duck hunting made by Alfred C. Glassell, Jr., and told this story:

"I got this one from a South Texas hunter," he said, "about the time he and his son went turkey hunting. They rounded a turn and there in from of them stood three big gobblers; one was just standing around but the others had hold of each other's wattles.

"The lad was supposed to shoot, but the whole show, one turkey acting as an interested bystander while the other two stood locked together, kept the shooters' attention, but finally the man threw up his rifle, shot one of the birds and the other two flew away.

"I told the story over the air, and the next thing I knew, there was a woman calling me about it. 'I don't know what you're trying to prove,' she said, 'but I have two daughters and I don't like the idea of you talking about those turkeys holding each others' wattles."

Thomas said it took him 15 minutes to explain what a turkey's wattle was.

Dr. Clarence Cottam, director of the Welder Wildlife Research Foundation, who followed on the program, again warned of the dangers of insecticides and accused the Department of Agriculture in abetting these users of the poisons, particularly endrin, to the great harm of bird and animal life.

Cottam pointed out the value of birds as a tourist resource, and of hunting and fishing to the overall economy of South Texas.

"This is a land that certain birds choose above all others," he said, "and birdwatchers will come to the area and spend money if they know they can see something unusual."

Weather Sentry Manufacturing Operation Ready

This city's newest industry, Weather Sentry, Inc., is almost ready to commence manufacture of central heating and air conditioning plants, heat pumps and walk-in refrigerator equipment, according to J. R. Sprouse, who said he chose Rockport because of the readily available labor supply and the potential business in this area.

Sprouse has been operating in Houston for the past two years, but in July opened a headquarters here, and since then has been preparing to go into production on property made available at no cost by Emory M. Spencer, to encourage industrial growth here.

Sprouse said that about 80% of the work on the new plant was complete and that he expects to begin operations around Nov. 7.

A sales office will be maintained in downtown Rockport at the present location, Sprouse said, while the plant is on Highway 35 north.

"We expect to employ a full staff of men in the plant," he said, "and are now taking applications for various positions, and aside from the fact that we want men unskilled in this type work, one of the points we are stressing is that all employees must live in Rockport.

"We are manufacturing a good deal of material here that we formerly obtained at least partially assembled," he continued. "For instance, we intend to make our own control panels, cooling coils and similar items, which we have been purchasing. Much of our equipment will be made of stainless steel, at least as far as the cabinets are concerned, and we'll have to make it up to our own specifications."

Use of stainless steel, Sprouse said, while approximately nine times as expensive as conventional steel, was decided upon as it is eminently better fitted to give service and keep down maintenance costs in this coastal territory.

Another service Weather Sentry will perform, Sprouse said, will be stocking of parts for wholesale to electrical and refrigeration contractors and dealers in this area.

"Our downtown office will also house our accounting force," Sprouse stated. "We will maintain a sales office in Houston, and we intend to open sales offices in Port Lavaca and Brownsville in the spring, but Rockport is definitely headquarters for the whole operation, and our plant will be here, also."

NEW BOOK ON OYSTERS IS ONE OF BEST SELLERS

The Oysters of Locmarianaquer, by Elanor Clary, is now available at the Aransas County Public Library, and is headed for the best seller lists, posessing much of the charm of Rachel Carson's "The Sea Around Us."

All about the care and feeding of the world's best oysters, and the Bretons who attend them, the author has written with love and from an encyclopedia knowledge of Ostrea edulis.

The Oysters of Locmariaquer, (pronounced Locmariacare) is the story of the oysters of northern France, known to be among the best in the world.

It is a vivid and objective account of how these oysters are cultivated and at the same time an excursion into the mysteries of the zoological story, into the historical background and into the myths and legends of Brittany.

At the heart of the matter, presented with a hunting charm, are the lives of the people who make the oyster growing possible.

Through the subject sounds mundane and of little interest, Eleanor Clark examines the different themes of her story with such rare charm, wit and grace that the book is rapidly approaching the best selling-list, and has enjoyed uniformly good reviews.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Longino and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Anderson attended the Texas-Rice football game in Houston Saturday evening.

Nov. 3 Election Should At Least Stop Name Calling

Results of the Nov. 3 election should at least stop what is one of the most vituperative campaigns in many years. No one can predict the exact number of votes, but from the pregame polls it appears that Johnson will probably take the thing by about 62-38; Connally will probably get about 75% of the vote for governor; and Yarborough will win — although probably not as great a margin as in previous years.

For those who revel in post mortems and guesses about the future, Aransas County went Democratic all the way in the 1960 election. A record for the county of 2033 votes were cast at that time and the Democratic team of Kennedy-Johnson polled a total of 944 to 792 for Nixon-Lodge, the Republican nominees.

Governor Price Daniel was re-elected, defeating William Stegar 1429 to 913 in this county; Senator Lyndon Johnson polled 1068 votes to 709 for John Tower.

W. B. Allen and Arthur Davis were elected county commissioners in Precincts 1 and 3; Dowell King, constable for Precinct 1: G. G. Gilson, constable, Precinct 2; Eugene Sprinkle, constable, Precinct 3. Gilson was running for re-election.

Albert Wofford, of Lamar, was elected Commissioner for Precinct 4, defeating three others in a write-in election to fill the vacancy created when J. H. Mills had passed away that year. Wofford received 26 votes; Elmo Brundrett was second with 15; J. H. Rains got seven, and Prentice Owen received six votes.

The vote by Precinct in the presidential race was as follows: Nixon-Lodge, absentee, 31; Precinct One A, 68; Precinct One, 10; Precinct Two, 239; Precinct Three, 238; Precinct Four, 26, for a total of 792.

Kennedy-Johnson, absentee, 42; Precinct One A, 133; Precinct One, 219; Precinct Two, 322; Precinct Three, 208; Precinct Four, 24.

Locally William Patman defeated Jack Doyle, 1406 to 489; and Thomas C. Andrews beat Staruch C. Shaw 1437 to 488.

Former Pro Football Star Buys Laird's Drive In Grocery

A former college and professional football star—Gene Clyne—has purchased Laird's Drive In Grocery, and will take over management in the near future, under the name of Gene's. Clyne, who is present merchandise manager for 12 Bond's Clothing Stores in Texas, is now living in Houston, but expects to move with his wife Eleanor as soon as his third daughter graduates from Robert E. Lee High School there, preparatory to attending school at the University of Texas this fall.

His other two daughters are also college graduates, one having received her degree from the University of Iowa and the other from Boston University.

Clyne attended school at the University of Illinois where he played football. Later, after graduation, he played 3½ years for the old Chicago Cardinal football team before going to Los Angeles where he played with the Bull Dogs.

During World War II he was a member of the 701st Paratroopers until he broke his ankle; then he transferred to the 45th Infantry Division and served with that organization for two years, until the war ended.

His hobbies, when he has time, include work with junior baseball and football teams.

The real estate transaction was handled through Security, Inc.

CEMETERY ASS'N HOLDS MEETING

The Rockport Cemetery Association held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Henry Schmidt with Miss Ruth Lipscomb acting as co-hostess. Following the social hour, Mrs. Crompton Sowerbutts, the chaplain, led in the Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. W. B. Allen presided for the business session, during which quarterly reports were given by the various committees. A contribution of $100 was accepted from the Blanche Carter Bracht Estate, and the secretary instructed to acknowledge the same with thanks.

Recent vandalism of the cemetery grounds was discussed and the association again is appealing to those guilty to refrain from such acts of desecration.

Mrs. Allen reported that the Association had handled installation of markers at five unmarked war veterans' graves in the old section of the cemetery, in cooperation with the Aransas County Historical Society, which had helped secure the markers.

The graves marked were those of George A. Brundrett, Jr., J. H. Wilson, Captain C. F. Bailey, and R. J. Tedford, all veterans of the Civil War; Omer McLead, World War I veteran, in the Rockport Cemetery, and of Captain Murdock McRae in Lamar. McRae was a Civil War Veteran.

A nominating committee was named, consisting of Mrs. S. F. Jackson, Mrs. Schmidt and Miss Lipscomb, to report at the annual meeting in January.

Dr. Elliot Explains Reasons Why District Scouts Need Money

Dr. H. F. Elliot, preparatory to the annual Boy Scout drive for funds, took time this morning to explain some of the reasons why so much of the money goes out of town. He said:

"We have heard it said that the Scouts are always asking for money and that the local council doesn't do anything, why should they need so much money. Let us just take a good look at the services offered by the local council.

"The Boy Scouts of America is an educational movement for boys, chartered by Congress, to promote character development, citizenship training and physical fitness. The Gulf Coast Council has the responsibility to make the program effective throughout the 15 county area that it serves. To do this the local council joins with the church, school, home, business, labor, serice and fraternal groups in providing a program to develop physical fitness, self-reliance, cittzenship, leadership and high ideals of service to God and country.

"In back of these permanent community organizations that sponsor Scouting units is the local council which must provide many services. To help the volunteer leader with the operation of his unit by:

Issuing supplies of literature, insigna, forms, certificates and badges of advancement, handle registrations. Keep training membership registrations. Keep training advancement records. Produce bulletins to keep leaders informed. Produce special program aids to assist leaders and their communities.

Conduct activities in which units may participate such as Scout Week, camporees, canoe trips, jamborees, Scout-o-Ramas, and Explorer activities. Maintain and staff both summer and year-round camp facilities for Boy Scouts and Explorers. Covering, through the Council budget, many camp costs such as repairs, replacements, maintainence and insurance not paid for by the camper fees.

Employ a full time camp ranger for the protection of camp property and to assist leaders who use the camp on a year-round basis. Provide unit program materials such as program notebooks, charts, program quarterlies and provide Roundup materials. Provide folders and filmstrips related to all phases of the unit program.

Provide a Library of training and promotional films, filmstrips, projectors and screens which are available for use by units at no cost. Monthly program roundtables in all districts for unit leaders. A program of training for leaders, both adult and junior leaders to help them do a better job. And many other related services too numerous to list in the spase available.

"Because of the continuity of program required to accomplish these needs, Scouting is financed by a planned budget to meet the needs year by year. The funds to operate our council's program stems from two basic sources, United Funds and independent finance campaigns where a federated effort does not exist. Sustaining memberships provide the funds needed but not received from other sources.

"The Gulf Coast Council's chartered area included 15 counties in South Texas and funds coming from within this area is our Council's only means with which to operate the Scouting program. In 1965 our needs will be even greater because the number of boys who want the Scouting program will be greater. Support the Scouting cause—when you are called on to work with the United Fund or independent Scout campaign in your community and support the Scouting cause when you are asked to give.

"The 14,000 plus, boys who will benefit from the Scouting program in 1965 will appreciate it and we will too."

ROCKPORT STUDENT GIVEN SCHOLARSHIP

Miss Phyllis Meador, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Meador of Rockport, has been awarded a scholarship from the Aid Association for Lutherans, a fraternal life insurance society.

A junior at Lutheran Concordia College in Austin, she is a graduate of Aransas County High School and Concardia Junior College, Austin.

Literacy Council To Be Organized

At a luncheon at Key Allegro, a nominating committee was chosen, and organizational work was started on a Literacy Council for this area.

The meeting was called by Mrs. Maurice W. Cochran, who explained to the 33 persons present the need for the council, pointing out that while national illiteracy average is 8% that in Texas it is 13%, only one state—New York, being higher.

Mrs. Cochran outlined methods by which this state of affairs could be combatted, and asked the assembly to cooperate in formation of a local literacy council which, after it is organized, will ask for affiliation with the state organization.

The organization charges no fees, is strictly non-denominational, non-profit, and open to anyone, regardless of race, color or creed, Mrs. Cochran said.

Officers of the group would be a chairman, vice-chairman, secretary, treasurer, a board of advisers, a telephone committee, a school coordinator and an assistant, as well as teachers, Mrs. Cochran stated.

Members of the nominating committee chosen include Rev. Cecil Lang, Jr., Rev. Ben Bohmfalk, Alfred R. Pena, Cochran, Mrs. Roy Lee Hart, and Mrs. Shelley Roaten.

Pastors of all the churches in the area were present and took an active part in the discussion and choice of the nominating committee, and Thomas E. Dannelly represented the local schools.

Those present at the luncheon were Father Harold Edmonson, St. Peter's Church; Sheriff Virginia Shivers; library board members, Mrs. F. L. McCord, Delmar Hiller, and J. L. Baughman; Tom Rogers, member of the Aransas County School Board and Mrs. Rogers; Mrs. R. F. McKnight, Mrs. R. W. Landrum; Rev. Ben H. ADVENTURE IN MEXICO IS NEW BOOK IN LIBRARY

Adventure in "The Lost World of Quintana Roo" has recently been added to the shelves at Aransas County Public Library, and is the exciting story of Michel Peirssel, a young Frenchman stranded on the coast of eastern Yucatan, abandoned by boatmen he had hired to take him southward.

Not realizing how foolish it was, he resolved to continue his journey on foot and weeks later, quite miraculously, he completed the long and fatiguing journey through dense jungle, mangrove swamps and along desolate beaches, down what is probably one of the least-known and most savage coasts in the world.

The story is a true one, and his journey was an adventure not only in survival but also in exploration and discovery, for more than 500 years ago this same coast was the scene of flourishing Mayan cities and ports.

In the course of his lonely and bandit - haunted trip through bandit-haunted jungles, he came on the sites of ruined pyramids, temples, oratories and other archeologicala remains of the ancient Mayan Indians which had lain hidden for centuries beneath the cover of the jungle.

Ill-equipped and sandal clad, he was able to find only a few Indians to guide him, and that only for short distances. Plagued by hunger and thirst, his route led through jungle so thick it had to be hacked away with a machete to make a trail.

The ordeal, stiff as it was led him to lost temples by the blue Caribbean or buried in mysterious marshes and jungle, to lofty, tree-clad pyramids, towering over the rest of the jungle, and to ruined cities. It's a good book, well written.

WHAT OTHERS THINK OF ARANSAS COUNTY

According to surveys, polls, forecasters, crystal ball gazers and other methods of looking into the future, certain areas of Aransas County are going to grow far beyond normal growth within the next five (5) years. Such predictions are so consistent that anyone in Aransas County that is not buying up all of the real estate that they can buy is being foolish. Our anticipated growth is causing more and more business establishments to try to get in on the ground floor. An application for a second bank has been made. It has been announced that a new title company is to be established here. A new doctor is to join one of the established doctors here. An air conditioning manufacturer has opened offices downtown. It has become routine business for the Commissioners Court to approve subdivision plats.

SECURITY, Incorporated REAL ESTATE is in the business of buying and selling real estate, and not holding it. If your beliefs are in accord with the above, we suggest that you make some investments in real estate. At this time we have several package deals which in our opinion are good investments. By package deals we mean property in several areas in Aransas County. Usually this property was formerly one ownership. If you are interested, if you will come by our offices, we shall be glad to go into the matter with you. At this time our staff consists of Mrs. Jack Suttles, Receptionist, Mrs. Betty Sellars, Salesman and Mrs. Sandra Spencer Petrilli, Salesman. Two additional persons are in training to become salesmen.

Shrimp Landings Drop a Little In Month of September

Domestic landings of headless shrimp in Texas during September amounted to 6,500,000 pounds, which was 386,000 pounds below the same month in 1963, but brought the total for the first months of this year to 31,000,000, or slightly more than for the same period a year ago.

According to Orman H. Farley, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service statistician for Texas, brown shrimp landings have declined each month since the Texas season began. However, exceptionally heavy landings from Galveston, San Antonio and Matagorda bays have offset this drop and maintained the State's position as the major shrimp producer fo the U.S.

Through September, Texas had accounted for 40% of all landings from the Gulf and Carribean, with landings almost double those of Florida and 8,100,000 pounds above those of Florida, Alabama and Mississippi combined, or 1,300,000 pounds above those of Louisiana, Alabama and Mississippi combined.

Texas landings for the past three months have maintained the 1963 level by the extremely heavy fishing pressure applied by boats from all Gulf states fishing the high seas off Texas.

At Port Arthur and Sabine, landings in September were 250,500 pounds in 1964, compared to 1,354,400 pounds a year ago. In the same order, at Galveston landings were 1,251,100 pounds, 3,952,400 pounds, 3,218,100 pounds.

Freeport, 1,396,000 pounds, 5,894,100 pounds, 7,424,600 pounds; Matagorda - Palacios area, 377,100 pounds, 1,889,400 pounds, and 605,200 pounds; Port O'Connor, Port Lavaca, Seadrift area, 614,200 pounds, 1,354,100 pounds; Aransas Pass - Rockport, 1,329,800 pounds, 1,246,500 pounds; Brownsville - Port Isabel area, 1,294,500 pounds, 9,624,700 pounds and 9,552,000 pounds.

Trawlers working waters off of Texas made poor to fair catches of brown shrimp from Galveston to the Mexican border. Boats averaged about 275 to 300 pounds of headless shrimp per 12 hours compared to 358 pounds during September, 1963.

Efforts were centered along the northern Texas coast during the first of the month, but gradually shifted southward. Catches of white shrimp were sporadically good inside the 10-fathom curve, but no large concentrations of white shrimp were found in outside waters. From Aransas Pass northward bays produced heavily, with about 1,750,000 pounds being landed in San Antonio, Matagorda, Aransas and Galveston bays.

Blue crab landings amounted to 140,000 pounds in September, practically the same as in the same month a year ago. Some improvement was evident in the size of the crabs with the meat recovery amounting to 15-16%.

A number of boats left the Texas coast late in September to return to their home ports in other states, and some began trips to the distant grounds off Compeche, Yucatan.

Boating Tips...

Since much of the fun of water skiing depends on the boat driver's skill, the Mercury outboard people offer these suggestions to tow boat skippers: 1) Watch for worn or tangled tow lines and check all ski equipment periodically for damaged parts. 2) Know the skier's hand signals: moving hand in lifting motion, palm upward, indicates "faster;" downward, "slower." Thumb and forefinger forming a circle means the speed is right. Hand up, palm outward, means "stop." Slashing motion across the throat means "cut the ignition." 3) Have an observer with you in the boat to watch the skier and relay messages (this is the law in some states). 4) Night skiing is dangerous and many states prohibit this practice. 5) When the skier is preparing for a takeoff, he will call "Take it up slow." Proceed very slowly, taking up the slack in the tow rope. When he calls "Hit it!", accelerate steadily, but not too fast, until the skier is up and planing. 6) When picking up a fallen skier, shut off the motor. 7) To put the rope back in the hands of a fallen skier, drive around him in a half circle and let the rope drift into him.

ELECT THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE
Elect
JOE EARL HUNT
SHERIFF
Of Aransas County

As November 3 approaches and this campaign comes to an end, we must make an evaluation of the candidates, their qualifications and their experience and from these we must decide with whom to place our confidence.

I have made one pledge to you and it is this: To do everything in my power, with all assets available to make Aransas County a better place in which to live. To this I would like to add: I will NEVER, either verbally or through the press, make any false or misleading statements in order that I might gain personally.

On another note, I speak from experience when I say that law enforcement is a FULL TIME job, and I HAVE NO OTHER SOURCE OF INCOME OR BUSINESS to prevent me from devoting my full time to your county-wide protection.

I am a lifelong resident of Aransas County and I have over 3 years law enforcement experience, having received all of my experience here in Aransas County, dealing with our local problems. I have over 10 months with the Rockport Police Department and over 26 months on the Aransas County Sheriff's Department, having served both for the late Sheriff A. C. Shivers and for his successor, Sheriff Virginia Shivers. At the present time I am serving as Chief Deputy Sheriff under the administration of Sheriff Virginia Shivers.

I am very happily married and if elected, I will be 29 years of age on the day I take office, January 1, 1965. I am a 1953 graduate of the local high school and I am a member of several non-profit civic organizations, including the Lions Club, the Rockport Fire Department, the Aransas County Emergency Corps and the Chamber of Commerce. I am also a member of the First Methodist Church.

On June 6, 1964, after two hard battles, I won the Democratic Nomination for Sheriff of Aransas County, an honor for which I am deeply grateful.

As the next Sheriff of Aransas County, I further pledge fair and impartial law enforcement for each and every citizen with due respect and concern for the rights and privileges of everyone.

I sincerely want the opportunity and I welcome the responsibility of serving our community by being a part of making it a better place in which to live.

Thank You

On November 3 Elect the Democratic Nominee

Happy Days Are Here Again For Birdwatchers

Happy days are here again for bird watchers in Texas Coastal Bend, and particularly around Rockport, The fall migrations are on, with vast and spectacular armies of birds pouring through on their way to cold weather homes farther south, or stopping here to spent the winter.

Only this morning bird watchers reported a tremendour flock of white pelicans rising in ascending spirals, then winging their way westward to the upper reaches of Port Bay. There, swimming in semi-circular array, they herd the little fish before them, gobbling them up by the bill-full.

Sharing the bay with the pelicans are so many American storks that the greenish waters look as though speckled with huge snowflakes until they fly. Then their black wing tips flash and because of their size many an amateur ornithologist has confused the two species with the whooping cranes just beginning to arrive on Aransas National Wildlife Refuge, across St. Charles Bay from Rockport.

There are nine or ten whoopers at the Refuge now, but it will be several weeks before Refuge Manager Bob Shields and his crew are able to get a final count and see whether the flock has gained or lost during the summer nesting season at Wood Buffalo National Park in far northern Canada.

Another unprecedented sight has been reported this week by local bird watchers. On the prairies west and north of Rockport, and at the airport, there are huge flights of curlews—tall brown birds with sickle-like bills, approaching in their abundance the flocks of half a century ago.

Between Key Allegro and the Rockport mainland, thousands of ducks have settled down, feeding or doxing on the mud flats, secure because this, too, is a refuge, where they can spend the winter undisturbed by guns.

Around the shores of the island and on both sides of Little Bay, which separates it from Rockport, there are all sorts of other water birds, undisturbed by the development of the island—stately Ward's herons; little blues; reddish, snowy, American, and even an occasional cattle egret or two. Louisiana herons fish in the shallow waters along with their other, longer-legged kin, occasionally doing a mad dance for no apparent reason. Along with them are all the gulls, terns and other teeming waterbirds that make this one of the most fascinating spots in the world for bird watchers.

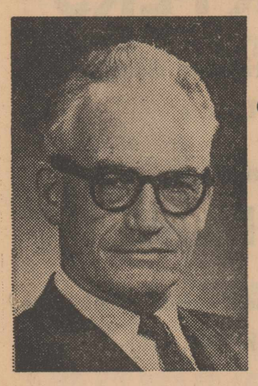

On the Key itself, where sweet bay and other shrubbery lean against the wind, and among the leaning live oaks of the mainland, all sorts of land birds may be seen from time to time, and this area its the site of some of the most spectacular hummingbird migrations on the North American continent.

For bird watchers in the Coastal Bend this is the nicest time of the year, for during the Indian summer days of November and December they can be outdoors without worrying about the weather, and can see more birds than most of them ever dreamed existed.

More than 500 species have been identified and listed from this area through the work of Mrs. Jack Hagar, nationally-known bird woman, who has spent more than 20 years in daily observances. These observations, checked and rechecked by ornithologists from all over the world, have been the basis for extensive revisions of migratory maps, and have added immeasurably to naturalists' understanding of the spring and fall pourneys of many species of birds.

Book Fair to Be Held at Rockport Elementary Nov. 2-5

The Library Club and students of the Rockport Elementary Library wish to invite you to the third Book Fair, to be held next week, Nov. 2-5. Next week being National Book Week, it has become an annual event for the library to join in celebrating this affair.

During the school day, you are invited to visit the library and see the new books on display there. These books are being offered to the students this year. If you should like to help the library grow, you may purchase any of these books for the library. The prices of each book are marked on the inside of the cover.

When a book is purchased for the library, gift plates are available to be placed in each donated book, with the name of the student to be honored. The student who is honored by a gift book will be the first student to read the book.

It has been noted in the past two years, that the students have become more considerate of their books, and we like to think that it is because of increased appreciation of the generosity of donors, and because the students have learned to take better care of them. The students who have been honored in the past by Book Fair books are proud to leave behind them, as they move on to other schools, a part of themselves to the students who will follow. It is hoped that a gift to the school is a claim to history, that the book will remind other students that the honored student has contributed to the heritage of the school.

Book Fairs have been established to give parents and interested parties an opportunity to see what literature is being presented to young people today. We, at Rockport Elementary, are very proud of our library and its growth, and wish to share our pride with the community. The Book Fair is also a means of encouraging the support and use of the library. The students see these new books on display, and anticipate the real of them. They begin asking when they will be on the shelves, and thus, are stimulated to increased reading.

To add interest in our Book Fair, the library will hold open house next Tuesday, Nov. 3, from 7 to 9 p.m. While we realize this is election night, we hope you will complete your democratic privilege and then join us in our celebration of reading freedom (TV will be interrupted anyway). Students in the first, second, third, and fourth, are invited to participate in a Book Character Contest, whereby they dress in costume, of some book personality, and will parade through the auditorium, at 7:30 p.m. for book prizes. There will be first, second, third places for grades 1 and 2; and three prizes for grades 3 and 4.

Grades five and six are competing for book prizes in an art contest. They are creating Dioramas (peep shows) in which they depict favorite stories in shoe boxes filled with objects needed to explain some scene from a story. These will be on display next week, and will be judged for book prizes.

The Rockport PTA will furnish refreshments, the Library Club has planned some entertainment, and we urge you to plan your attendance, either during the next day, or next Tuesday at the Open House. It won't be any fun without you! — xxx

Senora Rangel Hopes to See A Resort on Padre

It's a little over 200 years ago that Padre Nicolas Balli first obtained a patent to the island that still bears his name and tried to make something out of it. Since then a lot of others have tried to, and there's a little old lady in Alice who thinks it's about time for all that effort to show some results.

Senora Estela Balli de Rangel, aged 80 or so, took time off recently to look at Padre Island, shook her head disappointedly, and said she hoped someone would hurry up and develop it.

No one has a better right to make such a remark, for she is the sole survivor of the 12 children of Juan Manuel Balli who, in turn, was one of the sons of Juan Balli, a nephew of Padre Nicolas.

Padre Nicolas had a little trouble after King Carlos III of Spain signed the paper that awarded the long low island to him, and the Mexican Revolution of 1810 intervened, nearly depriving the good father of his land. However, things took a turn for the better, with Juan Jose accompanying the surveying party that delineated the 19½ sitios to the priest, and had things gone a little differently, it is possible that Senora Rangel might still own a sizable hunk of the island.

But somewhere along the line, things got all fouled up, and today Senora Rangel is only one of 150 "heirs" of Padre Balli who are meeting with attorneys to discuss possible litigation of what they believe is a valid claim to the land.

This isn't as wild an idea as it might seem, for back in 1940, the Balli "heirs" won a court case against the State of Texas on Padre rights. At that time, however, Senora Rangel was victim of some finagling that leaves her with only the most tenuous of claims to the long white island along the Texas coast.

But, whether she has any claim or not, Senora Rangel wants to see it thrive, whether she ever owns any of it or not, and is very happy that it will become a national seashore. As the oldest descendant of the owner, she feels that she must see it developed with roads and tourist facilities before she dies.

Among her papers, Senora Rangel keeps a copy of the decree which gave Padre Balli possession of the land. The decree, from Carolos III—was issued in Toledo, Jan. 3, 1765, because Padre Balli wanted to confirm the ownership of the land he had inherited from his father, Rosa Maria Hinojosa de Balli, in a will dated Aug. 9, 1759.

The decree traveled to New Spain by the hand of Don Diego Lapuente y Quintanilla, where, on July 11, 1765, the secretary for Viceroy Don Joaquin de Monserrat gave orders to the provincial migistrate to determine the metes and bounds of Padre Balli's property.

On Sept. 15, 1765, the magistrate accompanied Padre Balli to the island, where the Roman Catholic priest took possession by cutting some of the weeds and throwing handfuls of earth to the four winds, in the presence of a notary public and three witnesses. Unfortunately for the priest's kinfolks, no such simple procedure would do today, and Senora Rangel isn't too worried about the whole thing.

She'll be happy, she says, to see the fantastic piece of real estate that once belonged to her great uncle turned into a tourist resort of international renown, although she does wish that the powers that be would hurry up a little. After all, she's eighty, or thereabouts.

Editorial

When Texas voters go to the polls November 3, they will have a chance to save money—and write history—by approving Constitutional Amendment No. 1 on the ballot.

Amendment No. 1 would remove the present authority to transfer one percent annually out of the Permanent School Fund for current school expenditures.

The State Board of Education, which administers the fund, has endorsed the amendment and urged its support. Board members congratulated the Texas Legislature for submitting to the voters this proposal to limit legislative authority.

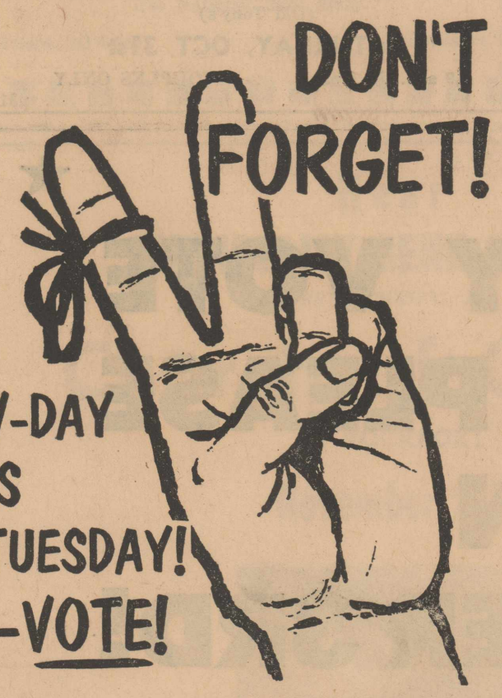

The Permanent School Fund originated as a "special school fund" in 1854 when $2 million was set aside for development of public schools. The fund was to be invested and only the income spent for schools, the same pattern followed today.

The Constitution of 1870 changed it to a "permanent free school fund" and the 1876 Constitution called it a "perpetual public school fund." These constitutions and later legislative acts provided additional public land as endowment for the fund.

In 1891, however, an amendment was approved authorizing the Legislature to transfer one percent each year from the Permanent School Fund to meet current school expenses. This was done until 1899. It was not until 1957 that such a transfer was again made, but since then five one percent drains have been made on the fund.

Since 1957 more than $20 million has been removed from the school fund by the transfer route. Board members pointed out that, at present investment rates, this $20 million would have produced an equal amount of revenue for current use in 20 years. In addition, the $20 million would still be in the fund to produce another $20 million in the following 20 years, had not the transfers been made.

State Board of Education members see this as a dissipation of the trust fund which should be handed down to future generations. Adoption of Amendment No. 1 would preserve the school fund and continue its history of serving posterity.

It is your right as an American to be able to vote; it is your responsibility as a citizen TO vote. Don't let your country down. Go to the polls Tuesday and protect your rights.

TIME LIMIT REMOVED FOR DISABILITY INSURANCE

It is estimated that about 200 disabled people and their dependents in the Coastal Bend area will become eligible for social security disability insurance benefits, or their disability benefits will be increased, according to H. M. Cleveland, social Security district manager in Corpus Christi. Congress changed the social security law for setting the date on which a worker's "period of disability" started.

Under the new law the date of disability for benefit purposes is set at the time the worker actually became disabled. This change liberalizes the requirements of the law only in this way, and it affects only people who became disabled before July, 1962 afterworking under social security for at least five of the ten years before they became disabled.

"There may be many former workers who are now disabled who have not applied at the social security office for social security disability insurance benefits," Cleveland believes. "We want to hear from them as soon as possible."

Those who became eligible for benefits because of the removal of the time limit will receive back payments to November, 1963 if they apply before the end of November, 1964. Application should be filed with the Social Security Administration, 1802 South Staples Street, Corpus Christi.

Eat Oysters In Month Without "R"? Why Not?

COLLEGE STATION.—The 'myth' or belief that oysters shouldn't be eaten in any month that doesn't have an "R" in its name is fiction, says Wallace Klaussman, wildlife specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

A recent research report released by the U.S. Department of Interior's Bureau of Commercial Fisheries shows the 'myth' or belief has no scientific basis. In fact, May and June are cited as the best two months for dining on the mollusks.

Oysters are fatter and taste better in the spring because they are storing glycogen—an animal starch—in preparation for the summer spawning season, says Klaussman. During the summer and early fall, oysters become thinner, their nectar watery and their flavor declines, he explains.

The oyster industry would benefit, according to the report if the peak of the oyster harvest was changed from fall to late spring. It was pointed out that oyster mortality is usually heaviest in summer with losses ranging from 25 to 50 percent. An earlier harvest could therefore result in the harvest of more bushels of oysters from a given area.

But, the specialist said, the Bureau doesn't expect any sudden change in harvest tradition until more people ask for oysters on the menu in "Ray, Rune, Jury and Augustus."

Sanders, Route 1, Rockport, Texas, authorizing the dredging of a channel and basin,, construction of wharves, boat stalls, bulkheads and a launching ramp, removing and replacing of an existing wharf and filling of an area at a location bayward from all of Outlot No. 5 and the north one-half of Outlot No. 4, Townsite of Fulton, approximately two miles north from Fulton, Texas.

Interested parties are hereby notified that application has been made to the District Engineer for a Department of Army blanket permit to authorize the erection and maintenance of structures and appurtenances thereto to be used in connection with the drilling of wells for the production of oil, gas, or other minerals in navigable waters in this Engineer District as follows:

Name of applicant: The British-American Oil Producing Co., P. O. Box 1766 O.C.S., Lafayette, La.

Location: Copano Bay, in State Tract No. 97 central to a point approximately eight miles northwest from Rockport, Texas.

Character of work: The work at a well site would consist of sinking a 54 by 200-foot drilling barge, driving six 10-pile clusters and six single piles, erecting a drilling structure having a top elevation of 171 feet above mean low tide and, if the well is productive, constructing a combination protective structure and boat landing having maximum dimensions of 7 by 25 feet and top elevation of 12 feet above mean low tide.

Pipelines would be placed within the area. Pipelines would be buried 1½ feet below the bottom of the bay except through shell reefs or beds where they would be buried one foot below. Pipelines would be jetted, plowed, disced or placed by other similar method whereby there would be a minimum displacement of the bed and no spoil deposits would remain.

The plans may be seen in Room 715, Santa Fe Building, Galveston, Texas, at any time between 7:45 a.m. and 4:45 p. m., Monday through Friday, or at the Corps of Engineers Resident Office at Corpus Christi, Texas.

Any protest you have to make against the proposed operations should be received by the District Engineer not later than Nov. 4, 1964. However, more time will be given when required if the request is received by the limiting date. If no comments are received by that date it will be considered that there are no objections.

The decision as to whether or not a permit will be issued must rest primarily upon the effect of the proposed work on navigation. Comments other than from the standpoint of navigation will be accepted and made a part of the record. The Corps of Engineers cannot undertake to adjudicate conflicting claims to property rights affected by the proposed work.

Regardless of how you have ever voted...

Governor Price Daniel, while Attorney General, wrote an opinion on the question of party loyalty in which he said, "The courts of Texas have answered this question by holding that the pledge taken at the time of voting in the primary election DOES NOT create a legal obligation."

Governor Daniel repeated that opinion by saying that the pledge on the primary ballot does not obligate anyone "legally or morally" to vote for the Democratic ticket in the general election.

Water Sports Can Be Fun

Some 80 million Americans are participants in water sports, but before the summer is over more than 6,000 will not be around to enjoy life unless they follow water safety rules, points out Wayne Keese, a Texas A&M University agricultural engineer who also does a lot of work in the farm and home safety field.

Drownings, he explains account for more than 6,000 fatalities each year in the nation and ranks fourth among the major death causing accidents. And, he emphasizes, the number of one-year olds leads all other age groups in the number of fatalities. Small children should never be permitted to play around water unless closely supervised.

About a third of the drownings occur while people are swimming or playing in the water and the other two-thirds result from falls into the water from docks, bridges or shores while the person is fishing, boating or is engaged in non-swimming activities, says Keese.

A few simple rules could prevent many of the fatal accidents and the first rule, according to the engineer, is to know how to swim if you plan to engage in any type of water sport or activity. Learn to float, he adds, so you can rest in the water. Know the area in which you swim. Swim with others and never alone. Learn how to give mouth-to-mouth respiration. If you are a novice at swimming, don't get in water over your head and don't go into deep water after dark.

Never engage in rough play in the water nor stay in the water during an electrical storm. Use the buddy system when swimming with groups and always wear a life preserver when boating or skiing, advises Keese.

Members of the Assembly of God Church and their families held a covered dish luncheon in the annex Sunday at noon. Out of town guests were, Joe Mathews' parents from Dilley, Texas.

Carbon Black Has Wide Range Of Uses Today

New York—Carbon black, a sophisticated "cousin" to that unpopular substance, soot—is one of the most useful products of modern industry, according to an article in Petroleum Today.

The magazine says that more than 2 billion pounds of carbon black are produced each year in 41 American plants, a quantity that comprises about 70 per cent of the total world production.

Carefully designed to perform a variety of functions, carbon black is manufactured in 30 different grades by the controlled burning of oil or natural gas in the absence of sufficient oxygen to consume all the carbon.

The resulting product, light and fluffy in texture, is used to strengthen and toughen rubber tires, raincoats and conveyor belts. It goes into bowling balls, typewriter ribbons, eyebrow pencils, television tubes and printers ink.

Its particles are so tiny that a period at the end of a sentence in ordinary printed matter contains nearly one billion particles of carbon black.

It also has been used to help control the weather and to protect farm crops against frost damage. The article says that under certain conditions, clouds can be made to produce rain when carbon black is dropped into them from an airplane.

When released in moist, cloudless air, carbon black can lift the fog from airports by absorbing heat and causing the air to rise and form clouds in the sky.

Though soft to the touch, carbon black is used as an abrasive for polishing lenses, prisms, and reflectors of optical instruments. It is also used to make some of the hardest tool-steel alloys and the most powerful explosives.

History records the use of lampblack as a pigment as far back as 1200 B. C. Ancient Romans and Egyptians used ink made from lampblack and centuries later Gutenberg used the same black substance to give body to the ink used in printing his Bible.

Carbon black's particles are so fine and powdery that one pound can cover a 10-acre area. The late Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd made use of this characteristic of carbon black by having bombs of this substance dropped on the snow at the South Pole to provide his surveyors and mapmakers with wide and easily visible points of reference.

In recent years, scientists have developed an electrically conductive form of carbon black which can be used in making tires that ground static electricity. This provides important safety advantages for vehicles carrying large quantities of fuel, such as airplanes and tank trucks.
