General Telephone asks 30% rate hike

General Telephone Company of the Southwest Friday filed a statewide request for increased rates with the Public Utility Commission of Texas in Austin, seeking $44.6 million in new revenues of which the company would receive $23.2 million after taxes and uncollectables.

The phone firm was granted a $31 million increase only last August by the PUC, including a $4 million penalty for poor phone service. General Telephone had requested $58.3 million in increased revenues.

If the full new increase requested is granted it would raise one party resident phones in Post from $6.65 monthly to $8.63 and one-party business phones from $17.60 to $22.86.

This is a 30 percent rate increase for both.

The new request is based on financial data for a one-year period ending Sept. 30, 1980.

General Telephone is the largest independent (non-Bell) telephone company in Texas serving over 1.3 million telephones in 291 exchanges across the state. Major factors cited by F.E. Hightower, vice president for revenue requirements for the utility, are:

Sadie Driver rites here

Funeral services for Sadie Driver, 75, were held Wednesday morning at 10 a.m. in the Post Church of Christ with Jack Sneed, minister, officiating. She had been a resident of Post since 1957, moving here from Denver City.

Mrs. Driver died at her home early Tuesday morning. Zora Robinson, justice of peace, ruled the death due to natural causes.

Burial was in Denver City with graveside services there at 3 p.m. under the direction of Justice-Mason Funeral Home of Post.

'Helping hand' program is begun to aid children

A community-wide "helping hand" program to help and protect Post's school children is being launched here this week under the sponsorship of the Post Parent-Teachers Association.

"Helping hand" signs are being placed on the front doors of homes and businesses volunteering to take part in the program.

Thirty-two already are in the program but many more are needed.

The homes and businesses marked by the orange helping hand are places for

KAY LAMB

Kay Lamb joins Sentry

Sentry Savings Association is pleased to announce the association of Kay Lamb as savings counselor in the Post Branch office. She will be assisting Joy Greer, recently named as manager of the office.

Kay has lived in Post most of her life and is a graduate of Post High School. She attended Wayland College. She was previously associated with the Post Chamber of Commerce office and the local bank.

Coffee Conner, President of Sentry Savings, stated "we welcome Kay to Sentry and are pleased to have her" (See Kay Lamb, Page 12)

Rites Sunday for Ray Smith

Funeral services for Ray Smith, 83, a longtime resident of Post, were held Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m. in the First Baptist Church with the Rev. Glenn Reece, pastor officiating. He was assisted by the Rev. William Uhlman, of Florence, Ala., and son-in-law of Mr. Smith. He is a Baptist minister in Florence.

Smith died Saturday, Jan. 24, at his home following a lengthy illness.

Burial was in Terrace Cemetery under the direction of Justice-Mason Funeral Home.

Smith was associated with Western Union in Justiceburg in 1914 and later entered the service with the Marines in World War I. When discharged he married Lillian Munger in New York and returned to Post to make his home and to work for the railroad. He was associated with the First National Bank, then was elected as County and District Clerk for Garza County. He served in this (See Smith rites, Page 12)

Wind Ensemble to give concert

The Symphonic Wind Ensemble of the Air Force Band of the West, from Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio, will present a concert here in the community center at 7 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 12, under the sponsorship of Post Music Club.

materials and instructions for initiating the program. The city is divided into 10 areas for development of helping hand homes. A phone number is provided for each area (see map on page 3) where parents can call and learn locations of all helping hand homes to instruct their children and where residents can call to volunteer as helping hands.

The program was initiated this week because beginning Friday Post Girl Scouts and Brownies will be busy with the annual Girl Scout cookie sale.

Deputies and all county workers to get pay hike

The asked for pay increase for Garza deputies is now in the offing, but whether three deputies who already have resigned effective Feb. 1 will stay or not is anybody's guess.

What's more all county employees will share the same salary increase.

With Sheriff Jim Pippin's force of five deputies due to be down to one by Sunday, the Post City Council and Garza County commissioners court agreed in a joint meeting in the Post Public Library Monday night to boost deputies salaries for the second time this fiscal year.

Sheriff Pippin told The Dispatch Wednesday he is talking to all three deputies who are resigning — Chief Deputy Donnie Walker, and deputies Thomas Duncan and Charlie Smith — but doesn't know whether any of them will stay on their jobs here. The department already is short one deputy, following the resignation of Randy Whitlock to go to Kermit.

Walker plans to take a job driving in the Garza oil fields. Duncan already has rented a house in Brownfield and has been hired by the Brownfield police department. Smith plans to seek a position on the Lubbock police force.

The only deputy remaining is J. W. Jolly.

The city and the county took completely different approaches to the problem Monday night.

After a joint discussion, the city voted unanimously to increase the salaries of the certified deputies from $924 monthly to $1,050 monthly, and the salary of the chief deputy from $953.16 to $1,100 monthly. This is the hike deputies originally sought from the county.

To do this, the $55.44 paid into the pension fund for each deputy and the $57.19 paid into the fund for the chief deputy would be eliminated and these amounts applied to the salary increases.

The remainder of the increased would be shared by the city and county on a 50-50 basis and would cost a total of $2,974.12 for the remaining eight months of the current fiscal year.

Retained would be the

Garza budget is adjusted

Garza County will receive $78,123.70 in federal revenue sharing this year, but this is less than the Garza Commissioners Court "guessed" when they made up their budget last fall before Congress passed the present revenue sharing.

So the court Monday got around to trimming $3,500 from its revenue sharing budget to make things even out.

In doing so, they trimmed $500 each from the Post Community Center and the four road and bridge funds, $425 from general administration, and reduced $575 from bank interest.

In other actions, the court:

Approved salary increases of $43.75 monthly each for the district judge and district attorney.

Made its annual inspection of the county jail.

Approved the right of way for General Telephone as follows: beginning at the northeast corner of FM 652 and county dirt road east for a distance of 5,197 feet.

The phone cable will be buried two feet off the edge of the road at a depth of 30 inches.

city-county payment of the deputies' share of the social security.

The deputies already are in a statewide retirement program so the loss of the local pension plan would not hurt too much.

Certified deputies here now receive $11,088 in salary annually with social security, retirement plan, insurance, and pension plan benefits boosting this to $13,638.24 a year.

The chief deputy now receives $11,437.92 in base salary with benefits increasing this to $14,056.92.

The increases voted by the city would boost the base pay to $12,600 annually for deputies and to $13,080 for the chief deputy a year.

The commissioners court, which first rejected these proposed pay increases for the deputies at its January meeting, voted against salary increases for the deputies only.

It then by a 3 to 1 vote, after an hour's caucus in the city council room adjacent to the library, decided to approve the raises set forth by the city council conditioned that at a called meeting at 9 a.m. (See Pay hike, Page 12)

Billy Alexander, Jr. convicted of officer's murder—

Death penalty possible

An Abilene jury, which last week convicted Billy Wayne Alexander, Jr. as a capital murderer in the slaying of Highway Patrolman Jerry Don Davis near Slaton last Oct. 6, was hearing evidence this week to determine whether he should be sentenced to death by injection or life in a Huntsville prison cell.

The eight-man, four-woman jury was told Monday by Charlie Clanton of Post that Alexander was a major drug supplier in this West Texas region with an expensive narcotic habit of his own before he shot and killed Trooper Davis.

Clanton testified he had known the former Garza man for about six years and that Alexander had been his major drug supplier for a long period of time.

He described Alexander as a fairly heavy user of the synthetic morphine substance Dilaudid.

Clanton testified he had seen Alexander take as many as four or five Dilaudid tablets a day at an average cost of $50 a tablet when Alexander could get the money to buy them.

The Post man testified Alexander obtained several credit cards belonging to San Angelo resident Ray Bell when he stole Bell's Datsun 280-Z in San Angelo after Alexander's pickup broke down near San Angelo.

The cards made out to Ray Bell were found on Alexander when he was arrested in Liberal, Kan., after the Davis shooting, testimony showed.

Clanton identified from the witness stand two guns he turned over to Texas Ranger Gene Kea in the district attorney's office after the Davis shooting. He testified Alexander had given him the pistols just a few hours after Alexander shot the state trooper.

The state rested its case on the sentencing testimony Tuesday afternoon. The case could go to the jury by late Wednesday after The Dispatch's news deadline.

Introduced into evidence Tuesday were approximately 40 pounds of marijuana (See Murder trial, Page 12)

For our Valentine's edition of The Dispatch in two weeks we'll introduce a fun feature which should attract a lot of reader interest. It's a grandparents' valentine ad which will contain pictures of grandchildren, 1 day to 6 years old, inside valentine hearts with the name of the grandchild and grandparents beneath. Total cost is $6 per heart. Started in some area papers a few years back it has grown in popularity in many towns year after year. You can have the picture back and parents and grand kids will love it. See all details in Dispatch ad on page 6. So you grandparents get busy and pick out a cute picture and bring it in. If you've got two grand kids together in one picture we can use that.

Sheriff Jim Pippin can find one bright spot in his current "deputy shortage" situation. His broken leg has mended to the point he could discard his one crutch this week. He would really be frustrated if the resignations had caught him on crutches.

The way things look now, at least as we see it, is that the three deputies who have tendered their resignations (See Postings, Page 12)

Trappers gather at Panther Rock

About 40 modern "mountain men" gathered in the red caprock canyons 15 miles west of Justiceburg Saturday and Sunday for the first Panther Rock Rendezvous.

These wild animal trappers came from Colorado dressed in the traditional buckskins and fur caps, from South Texas and Fort Worth areas wearing sombreros and from Tennessee.

The men slept in teepees and tents, swapped their pelts, cooked over a campfire and competed in marksmanship in tomahawk throwing and with muskets, squirrel rifles and buffalo guns.

John Ferrell of Brownfield was the best marksman and took home a Kentucky rifle as a prize.

Top swaps included a (See Panther rock, Page 12)

Severe weather program set here

A program on severe weather will be presented to all interested here at 7 p.m. Monday, Feb. 2, in the courtroom at the courthouse by Larry Eblen of the United States Weather Bureau at Lubbock.

He will return next Tuesday noon to address the Post Rotary Club on the same subject.

Post men given prison terms

District Judge George Hansard sentenced two Post men to the state penitentiary here Tuesday for five and ten year terms.

Carlos Romaros pleaded guilty to murder in the death of Lupe Vasquez here in December of 1979 and was sentenced to 10 years in prison.

The woman died after being beaten on Nov. 27, 1979.

Romaros already has served 14 months in the county jail here as he was unable to make bond after being arrested for the crime. He will receive time off his prison term for the time he has served in jail here.

Michael Maddox was sentenced to five years in prison for parole violation after being arrested for taking a city car recently.

3 nominated for directors

The board of directors of the Post Chamber of Commerce have nominated Joe Giddens, Bob Palmer and Betty Posey for three-year terms on the board.

Before a mail ballot is sent to Chamber members additional candidates for directors can be nominated by petitions bearing the signatures of at least 10 qualified Chamber members.

The ballot will remain open to Jan. 31 for any such additional nominations.

Student restores pickup

RESCUED AND RESTORED — William Morrow is shown standing by his "new" 1954 Ford pickup which he has spent the last 6 months or more to restore. The pickup is quite a site and should be considered a collectors item. (Staff Photo)

By BETH SHORT
Just how many "original" 1954 F-100 Ford pickups do you see rolling around Post every day?

The answer is not many! One such pickup was just recently rescued from the junk man when William Morrow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morrow, decided to take his father's first new pickup bought in 1954 and restore it.

Restore it he did, and the pickup is now in A-1 condition. William, who has taken courses in mechanics at Western Texas College in Snyder, did most of the work himself, with assistance from his father and also Johnny Collazo who painted the pickup for him and Nahum Sullivan who did the upholstery work on the inside.

The pickup had been sitting in the field since 1969 when it had last been used as a hay pickup. The whole pickup was rusting down, which meant lots of good (See 1954 Ford, Page 12)

His freedom contribution

Former House Speaker Price Daniel Jr., who was shot to death in his rural home near Liberty last week, leaves to us a legacy of an open Texas government.

After the Sharpstown scandal some 10 years ago, Daniel, part newspaper owner, guided a legislative package that included open meetings, open records, financial disclosures by political candidates, lobby control, and campaign financing reporting through the lower house of the Texas Legislature in 1973.

Daniel probably did more to open up state government than anybody else in Texas — ever.

One of his most important contributions was in opening up the legislative appropriations process.

In the old days a committee behind closed doors decided where all the Texas millions — now billions — were to be spent, and the public be damned.

Since Daniels' legislative package, Texas has had no more of such government by committee.

State leaders in Austin last week mourned his death and the legislature adjourned so members could attend his funeral.

Daniels' political career ended in 1978 when Mark White defeated him in a race for the attorney-general's nomination. Daniels' father has served in more state offices than any person in Texas history — including house speaker, attorney general, governor, U.S. Senator and associate justice of the Texas Supreme Court. The Daniels family traces its Texian lineage to Sam Houston, first president of the Republic of Texas in 1836.

The Dispatch, which tooted its small editorial voice for openness in Texas and local government for over a decade before Price Daniels Jr. brought it to actuality, salutes Daniels for his tremendous contribution to all Texans.

He gave us a new slice of freedom right here at home — the freedom to know.

Here we go again

General Telephone's new request for virtually a 30 percent increase in phone rates, coming on the heels of a very sizable hike only six months ago, is going to bring fire to the eye of all phone users.

If you remember when the state utilities commission granted the 1980 boost in August it levied a $4,000,000 penalty against Gen Tel for poor service and said it might take further action in February, if the service hadn't improved dramatically.

One would ask if the new rate increase is to finance the improved service the state commission ordered six months ago.

One also would conclude that General Telephone doesn't expect to receive its full rate increase, thus by making it large enough it may receive what it is really after.

Another angle one could question is basing the rate hike request on the year ending last September 30, when the 1980 rate hike had only been in effect a month or so.

Inflation and the high cost of borrowing these days of course are good reasons for considering price increases in almost any business.

What brought down the automobile industry was its determination to maintain its profit level by raising prices continuously through a recession phase of the business cycle.

GenTel is doing the same thing, trying to boost its investment return in obviously bad economic times.

Since the phone company is a monopoly, a real public outcry can be expected.

Obviously, the utility firm isn't too concerned about its public relations with such actions.

LETTERS to the Editor

FAVORS PAY HIKE

Dear Editor:
In regards to the pay raise for our local sheriff department officers, it is a down right shame the officials of the County and city see it unfit at this time to allocate an increase in their pay.

If they would consider how the sheriffs department gets out there to protect and serve the life and property of the citizens of Garza County, they probably would not hesitate one minute to OK their pay increase.

The sheriffs department job is one of never ending concern for the residents of Garza County.

If the officials would stop and consider the fine job the Sheriff's department is doing they would commend them for a fine job they are doing and pay them accordingly and approve their pay increase they have requested.

There is not a city in West Texas superior to Garza County Sheriff Department. I cannot speak for everyone in Garza County but to Sheriff Pippin and his outstanding staff I would like to say thank you for making Garza County a safe place to live.

I believe you should be commended for the fine job you and your staff provide the residents of Garza County and should be compensated accordingly.

I hope at the next meeting the county and city officials will see fit to approve your

LETTERS to the Editor

BOOST THOSE SALARIES

Dear Editor:
After reading the articles on the teacher situation and the one about three deputies resigning in this week's paper I felt that I had to express my feeling.

In both cases it seemed that the main issue was money. Teachers and law enforcement officers all feel they are not being paid enough here. And I agree wholeheartedly. These two groups affect more lives than anyone else I can think of, but they seem to be at the bottom of everybody's priority list.

If our doctors raise their office visit fees we may grumble a bit but no one protests and we pay it. When groceries go up we grumble but no one quits eating. But when the people responsible for our children and for our safety ask for a wage that would be in line with the cost of living, their training, their experience, and the problems and hazards they face we scream to high heaven about their ingratitude.

Post may not be the wealthiest town in Texas, but neither are we the poorest, and we have to wake up to the fact that we are going to continue to get what we pay for.

I've heard some people say that anyone can be a policeman and teaching is the easiest job around. But I can honestly say that no money would make me put on a gun and face the problems and harassments of a law enforcement officer, to say nothing of the ever present possibility of death in the line of duty. That was pointed out to us all to tragically in recent weeks.

It's not the frontier days anymore-we can't pin a badge on just any "good ole boy" and expect to have a pay increase request.

Cordially yours,
Robert Bartlett
President of Caprock CB Club
of Post, Texas

competent policeman. with today's society and complex laws we need highly trained and dedicated men.

As for teaching, the 10 month year and 5 day week would hardly compensate for the 10 hour day most teachers put in on planning, teaching, and grading, the stress of dealing with 30 to 100 kids a day (depending on the grade level taught), and the pressure of knowing that in your hands rest tomorrow's leaders.

Again that job takes a devoted, caring, trained person.

I reiterate, Post is getting what we pay for. If we are not willing to pay for trained, competent teachers and policemen we are going to get what we deserve — a dangerously understaffed or underqualified police force and a continuing high rate of teachers who get their experience here and move on to some school that appreciates them and is willing to pay for them.

Thank you for letting me sound off about these problems. If you print this I hope it shakes up some people and they in turn shake up our school trustees and county commissioners and put the pressure on to reverse the trend we've taken

Some people feel...

"So what if I'm young. I've never had an accident or even gotten a ticket. Why should I pay the highest insurance rates?"

That's why we want you to know...

We understand how you feel. You've got a good driving record, and that's great. And you don't expect to have an accident. No one does. But the fact is that good drivers as well as bad have accidents. That's why insurance protection exists.

No one can predict which individual is going to have an accident. But we can predict the accident potential for groups of drivers who share similar characteristics. This is the only way possible to make auto insurance rates.

Insurance companies set their rates to reflect how often they have to pay claims of insured groups and how much those claims cost. This is done for each state and for each rating territory within the state.

Year after year, without exception, statistics show a consistent pattern: younger drivers have more accidents than older drivers. Young males have more accidents than young females. And young unmarried males have more accidents than young married men.

The fairest way to distribute accident costs is for each driver to pay an insurance rate that reflects as closely as possible the exposure to loss of his or her group. Of course, differences within the groups also are taken into account. Among them are the age and type of car and how the car is used (whether for business, pleasure or commuting).

But take heart. If you have a good driving record, you will pay less than others in your group who have been involved in serious accidents or who have been guilty of major traffic law violations. And, as you get older, the accident potential of your group will decline, and so will your rates.

We're working to keep insurance affordable.

The Helping Hand Program Comes To Post

To Help and Protect Post's Children

Sponsored by Post Parent-Teachers Association, Assisted by Post Girl Scout and Brownie Troops with materials provided by General Telephone of the Southwest

The "Helping Hand" program for Post's school children is quite simple in operation.

Orange helping hand signs placed in windows of local homes or on doors of local businesses indicates to children those homes or businesses are safe places where they can go if they are threatened, sick, lost, or need help in any other way.

The PTA so far has 32 such safe homes and businesses to initiate the "helping hand" program this weekend when Girl Scouts and Brownies will take to the streets for their annual cookie sale.

They need dozens more.

The main requirement for such safe homes is that persons who volunteer their homes be at home when children are going back and forth to school so they can provide assistance when needed.

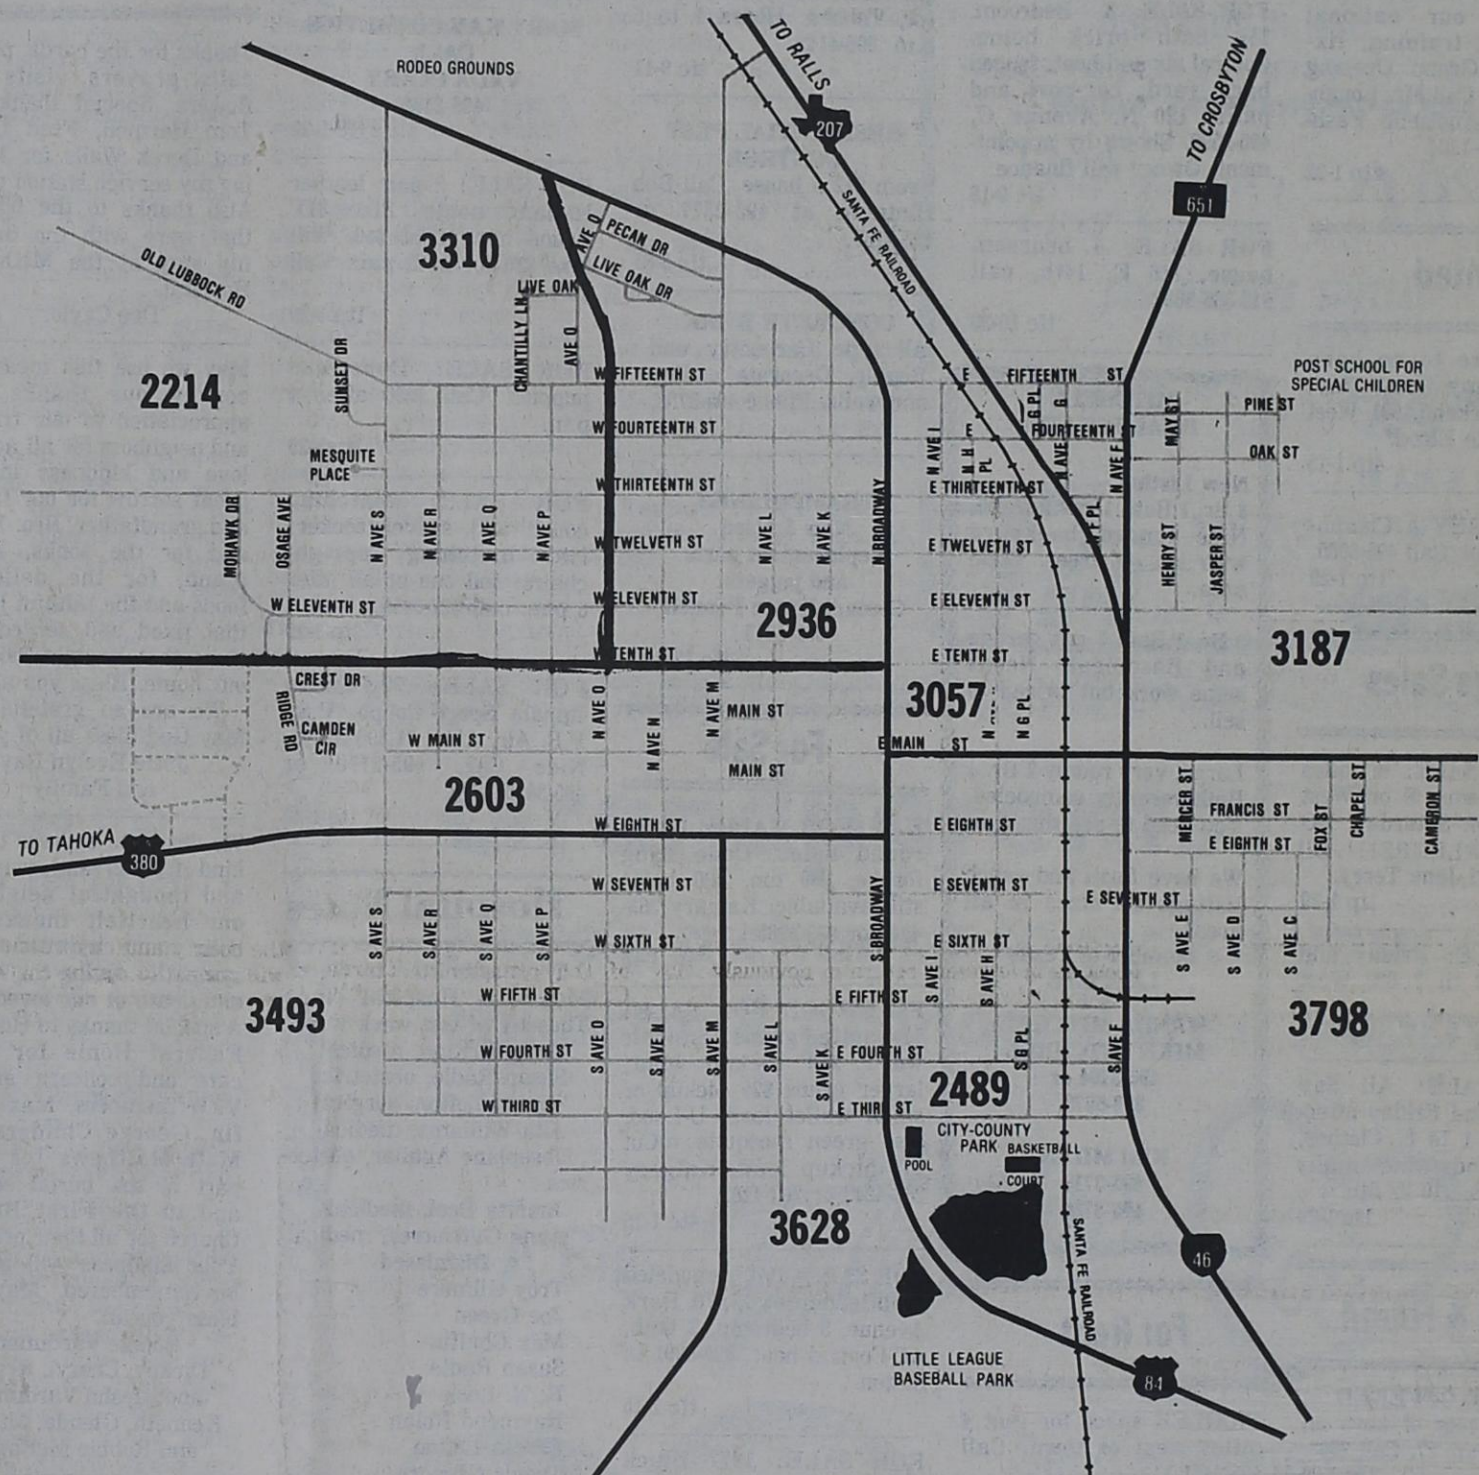

The PTA would like at least one "helping hand home" in every other block.

The city has been divided into 10 areas, as readers will note on the accompanying map. There is a phone number in each such area. These are the numbers parents can call to obtain the locations of all "safe homes" or "helping hand homes" in that area so they can so instruct their children.

If you want to volunteer your home for a "helping hand" please call the phone number on the map in the area in which your home is located.

The program is being explained to students in the Post Primary, Elementary and Middle Schools. High school students who want to help will be asked to put "helping hand" stickers on their cars so they can be stopped by children in difficulty.

Many more "helping hand homes" are needed for their program. If you want to volunteer yours, call the phone number in your area.

Shown above presenting poster to second grade teacher Martha Hart are Marla Clay, Nicole Jones, Tasha Clay, Kiki Chambliss, Joanna Binford, Angela Tobias, Dede Byrd, Jana Hudman and Tyra Hart.

DISTRIBUTE TO BUSINESS — Third grade Brownie troop distributes helping hand insignias to various businesses. Shown above Brownies Shana Sanchez, Joyce Poe, and Mara Jones place helping hand on door of Tanner's Trends for Men as Mrs. Kay Tanner looks on.

Eagle Forum caucus held

Mary Ann Gordon, president of the Post Eagle Forum, attended the Pro-Family Leadership Caucus in Dallas Jan. 23-24 where the group was briefed on legislative bills to come before the Texas Legislature during the present session.

Areas covered included human relations, education, crimes, child services, minors, welfare, abortion and the homosexual movement.

The Eagle Forum will investigate and research effects these bills could have on families and then will testify in Austin either in support or opposition to the bills before the legislature.

The Post Eagle Forum is organized to educate and inform the community on issues that affect the community. Members will meet in February to formulate plans to make the Post chapter an effective information group.

Thank You

Thanks for the cards, phone calls, prayers, visits and flowers. Special thanks to Tom Harmon, Fred Long, and Derek Walls for keeping my service station open. Also thanks to the friends that were with me during my stay at the Methodist Hospital.

Dee Caylor

May we use this means to convey our thanks and appreciation to our friends and neighbors for all acts of love and kindness in our great sorrow for our father and grandfather, Bro. Yates and for the songs, choir, piano, for the delicious foods and the faithful ladies that fixed and served and those that brought foods to our home. Bless you all.

We are so grateful and May God bless all of you. Josie Evelyn Ray and Family

We desire to express to our kind friends and relatives and thoughtful neighbors our heartfelt thanks for their many expressions of sympathy during the illness and death of our loved one. A special thanks to Hudman Funeral Home for their care and concern and to VFW members, Max Chaffin, George Childers and Matt Matthews for their part in the burial service and to the First Baptist Church for all their prayers. Your kindness will always be remembered. May God bless you all.

Bonnie Vardiman Dickey, Cheryl, Krista and Alesha Vardiman Kenneth, Glenda, Marvin and Robbie McFadin

It is with grateful hearts and christian love that we wish to say a special "thank you" to all our dear friends in Post who were so thoughtful in our time of sorrow at the loss of our loved one. For all the flowers, food, cards, etc. and especially the prayers that were offered.

Chester & Ola Keeton and the family of T.C. Dulaney

We would like to take this means to thank all our friends who have been so thoughtful in our time of sorrow. For all the cards, calls, food and flowers. A special thanks to Bro. Tubbs, Brother Glenn and Sue, and to the folks at Hudmans Funeral Home for helping make things so much easier.

The Nazarene Church held our Sunday afternoon Church service with Rev. Tom Evans officiating. Mrs. Evans played the organ and sang for us.

The Graham Home Demonstration club came last Monday and brought the residents a cake. They also sang songs with them. Those attending were Rene Fluit, Nona Lusk and Mary Peel.

The bean bag toss winners from last week were Anna Shelnett, Evelyn Roach, Irene Wheeler, John Majors, Nora Ferguson and Blanche Graham. Domino winners from last week were Blanche Clayton, Blanche Graham, Anna Shelnett and Melodie Yarbrough.

We want to express our thanks to Mrs. J. W. Gray, Dink Boren and Jo Ella Sparlin for the clothes they brought for the residents.

Nita Stubbs from Lubbock gave her mother, Pauline Kilpatrick, a birthday party last Friday. Other guests were Pauline's daughter from Denver City, Jean Engle, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren. Cake and punch was served to the guests and residents.

Visitors last week were Jet Puckett, Bill Bartlett, Bill and Lottie Sanders, Jewell White, Glenn and Mary Roberts, Darrell Roberts, Virginia Grigsby and Ray and Angela Reeves.

Hearty bill aids county road funds

State Representative W.S. (Bill) Hearty writes that he had introduced house bill 483 which reinstates the lateral road funds to the counties in the like proportion as it was two years ago.

"There was some effort made to transfer this to the highway fund," Rep. Hearty wrote, "and I opposed it at that time. I believe we will get it restored during this session of the legislature."

Program on world tours

"World Tours and Cruises" was the topic of the program presented to Gamma Mu Sorority members recently.

Seigert Carter, a native of Germany and presently owner of Envoy Travel Service in Lubbock, presented the program. She discussed the many countries of interest and the tours available and passed out several brochures to the group. Mrs. Carter is very widely traveled and speaks four languages.

The meeting was held in the home of Sara Briley, who was in charge of the program.

President Kathy Fluit presided over a short business meeting which included discussion on several money making projects.

Hostess for the evening was Johnnie Norman.

Those attending were: Jana McCallister, Carol Williams, Irene Fry, Helen Gerner, Orabeth White, Mrs. Fluit, Mrs. Norman, Mrs. Briley and the guest speaker.

Mrs. Davis is honored

A miscellaneous wedding shower honored Mrs. Robert Davis, the former Sherri Morris, January 15 in the home of Mrs. Wade Peppers. Special guests were Mrs. D. E. Morris, mother of the bride and Mrs. Grady Davis, mother of the bridegroom.

Guests were registered in the bride's book by Rhonda Rogers.

The serving table featured crystal candle globes surrounded with greenery, butterflies and blue streamers with the names of the couple. Serving the sherbet punch, cookies, mints and nuts were Tina Greene and Darla Jackson.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mmes. Patty Sappington, Kay Wallace, Hazel Gary, Johnnie Willson, Dortha Jackson, Louise Greene, Mozelle Rogers, Dorace Wilson, Rosemary Rogers, Karla Melton and Carol Peppers.

Girl Scouts' cookie sale will open here Friday

Beginning Friday, thousands of girls clad in brown and green uniforms will be knocking on doors selling cookies. The annual Girl Scout Cookie sale is here.

For two weeks until February 15, Girl Scouts ages 6-17 will be selling six varieties of cookies and a snack cracker for $1.50 per box. This year mint, chocolate chip, scot-tea, savannah, chocolate and vanilla creme and a new flavor, dutch 'n such will be available. Golden yangles, a cheddar cheese bite sized snack cracker will also be sold.

Girl Scouts began selling cookies in 1936 as a fund raising project. It has since become an American tradition to which many people look forward. Although it is a national fund raising project, the proceeds remain in each individual council and directly benefit the girls who sell.

The funds support troop and council activities, help local girls participate in national Girl Scout events, and purchase camping equipment. This year, the proceeds will also help finance three new building developments at Camp Rio Blanco, northeast of Crosbyton.

According to Mrs. Nolen

Senior Citizens

Garza County Senior Citizens will be having a stew and chili supper at the Algerita Center Friday, Jan. 30 at 6 p.m. We are inviting you all to come down and join in the fun. There will be games after supper if you would like to stay and play. This is another makeup day.

We are changing the date on the hearing aid man. He will be coming the fourth Thursday of each month from about 10:30 a.m. until 2 p.m. If you need batteries or a ear check just call and if you can't come down we will get him to come to your house. The blood pressure check will be on the first and third Thursday of each month.

We would still like some of our ladies to come down to our arts and crafts on Thursday evening and any other day you would like to come down. If you have a quilt you would like to have quilted, let us know the price has been suggested as regular size $40, Queen size $45 and $50 for king size. There have been several enjoying our pool table. We are planning on having a King and Queen for Valentine. We will be having a box for each one who receives the most votes and they will be the King and Queen. Probably we will have a supper that night as it will be another makeup day. Then we will only have two more to go to catch us up, with our makeup days.

We serve lunch five days a week at 12 noon and you are missing some good meals.

We want to thank the city for the new ramp they built for our center. Thank you Pete Maddox and all the rest that had a hand in fixing it for us, we appreciate it very much.

Swain, council president, 36.9 percent of the money raised this year will go to the council for camping and program services to troops. The cookie company receives 39 percent, while 14.1 percent will be used for camperships and awards to cookie sellers. Individual troops will receive 10 percent of the proceeds.

Girls Scouts are presented awards according to the number of boxes they sell. A two-week campership is awarded to those selling 180 boxes or more. Certificates, posters, patches, T-shirts, and one-week camperships are also awarded.

Camp Rio Blanco is the resident camp for the 18-county Caprock Girl Scout Council. Troops and their leaders camp at Rio Blanco year-round with summer sessions beginning in June. Camp activities include crafts, hikes, swimming, songs, campfires, cookouts, nature study, star gazing, archery and drama.

Besides earning camperships and other awards, the girls are taught safety, good manners and salesmanship during the cookie sale.

Priscilla club meets

The Priscilla Club met in the home of Vada McCampbell on January 23.

After a brief period of sewing and visiting, the hostess asked the members and guests to Damon's Restaurant for the business meeting and refreshments. Guests were seated in the party room. A silk floral arrangement complimented the table.

Mrs. Odee Kemp presided in the absence of the president. The club welcomed Mary Goodwin's return to the club after an extended leave of absence.

A welcome was also given to Hooter Terry as a guest. Nell Windham was voted into the club as a new member.

Refreshments of apple dumplings, coffee, nuts and mints were served to Thelma Epley, Faye Mathis, Sybil Cockrum, Alma Williams, Vi Terry, Vada McCampbell, Irene Mitchell, Emma Mueller, Annie Francis, Odee Kemp, Mary Goodwin and Hooter Terry. The next meeting will be February 13 in the home of Sybil Cockrum.

Mexico trip won as prize

Steve Bradshaw, manager of the Allsup's stores in Post, and his wife have just returned from an all expense paid trip to Mazatlan, Old Mexico. The couple won the trip from Lonnie Allsup, owner of Allsup's Stores, for selling more ice over the district's quota than anyone else. They spent 8 days and 7 nights in Mexico.

They flew down in a company twin engine plane and experienced a very rough flight, according to Bradshaw, who said they at one time dropped 600 feet straight down, then rose sharply back up 300 feet.

The couple, along with another Allsup manager and her daughter, were guests in the home of Lonnie Allsup there in Mazatlan, and had the use of his car and enjoyed sightseeing all over the island. Mazatlan is on the Pacific ocean and is also the place that the TV Love Boat docks. The boat was in port while the couple was there, but they did not see it.

½ pint of milk.

Thursday fried chicken, gravy, whipped potatoes, green beans, chocolate pudding, hot rolls, and ½ pint of milk.

Friday, pizza, lettuce salad, buttered corn, apple sauce and ½ pint of milk.

Sorry about no column last week but no info, no column. People ask why, but don't you understand, I need the information. So parents, let me hear from you if your kid is too bashful to brag on himself.

First of all the classes of PHS held elections Tuesday for class favorites and sweethearts and congrats to the winners. There's a runoff for favorites in the Freshman class, so no winners yet, but their sweetheart is Elena Maldonado; Sophomore favorites are Monique Claborn and Jerry Pruitt with Sweetheart, Cynthia Poole; Junior favorites, Brad Mason and Lana Dunn; Sweetheart, Pam Riley; Senior favorites, Drew Kirkpatrick and Julie Davis with Sweetheart, Dee Dee Redman.

Kelly visited at home last weekend from Hobbs and Donna was here from Angelo.

Let me hear from you people out there with your news items.

Highlights of annual report—

Burlington's sales hit record high

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This story on Burlington Industries and its annual report for the last fiscal year was made possible from a copy of the annual report forwarded to The Dispatch by Don Smith, Postex manager.)

Burlington Industries' 1980 sales totaled $2.9 billion, the highest in the company's history and an increase of 8.4 percent over 1979.

Net earnings were $2.90 per share, 6.2 percent higher than 1979 earnings of $2.37 per share.

The company's sales and earnings performance was reasonably good in the context of a recession year burdened with persistently high inflation, record high interest rates, tight credit, growing unemployment and depressed consumer confidence.

Sales for Burlington's Domestic division of which Postex Plant here is a part totaled $136.2 million, up 4.7 percent over 1979.

Burlington is the nation's largest and most diversified manufacturer of textiles and related products for apparel, home and industry.

The company manufactures and merchandises apparel fabrics, yarns, socks, hosiery, carpets, rugs, furniture, mattress ticking, draperies, bedspreads, comforters, sheets, pillow cases, towels, lamps, decorative accessories and fabrics for industrial use.

Burlington employs 65,000 people. The company has 99 plants in ten states and 78 communities, and 17 plants in six other countries.

The annual report said in part:

"The impact of the recession on Burlington was weakest in our apparel fabrics group. The textured woven areas' results improved due in large part to our new Richmond plant and other investments made in recent years. Our knit business, however, experienced a difficult year. Denim, corduroy, worsteds, socks and hosiery achieved good results in 1980.

"High mortgage rates which peaked in the spring caused the biggest drop in housing activity since 1974. This phenomenon, coupled with tight credit, eroded the sales and earnings of our home furnishings group in 1980, particularly the carpeting and furniture businesses.

"The industrial products area, which manufactures fabrics for the automobile, aerospace, computer, rubber and many other industries, experienced good results through the first six months of the year.

"In the international area, our French knit business and German worsted operations were disrupted during 1980. Both have been suffering substantial losses. We also have sold two small yarn plants in England. Our new Irish denim operation's complete start-up was delayed because of construction problems. The business will be in full operation by the end of the first quarter of our 1981 fiscal year.

"The Irish textured woven operation was unprofitable, due in large part to the severe recession prevailing throughout Western Europe and particularly great Britain. Poor business conditions also depressed the performance of the Italian polyester-cotton operation.

"On the positive side, our Canadian and Mexican fabric businesses had a good year in 1980.

"The economic decline of this past year fortunately had far less impact on Burlington than the 1974-75 recession did. Tight control of inventories and costs, restructuring our product lines and modernizing our plants all helped to place us in a better position to withstand the 1980 recession.

"Both inventories and receivables are at reasonable levels for our sales volume, and Burlington's financial position is sound. The company paid quarterly dividends of 35 cents per share, totaling $1.40 for the year.

"While there has been much talk about declining productivity in the United States, we at Burlington have been actively attacking the problem.

"We have increased productivity almost five percent per year over the past five years, compared with approximately two percent for all U.S. manufacturing industries. This achievement has largely been due to our capital investment program.

"During 1980, the company spent $215 million on new plants and equipment, compared to $227 million in 1979. Most of these expenditures were for modernization projects. Burlington expects to spend over $200 million in 1981, again, mostly on modernization.

"The new plant that we dedicated in Richmond County, North Carolina this year epitomizes the direction of our investment program and its resulting productivity benefits. A cost effective, energy efficient, state-of-the-art textile plant, Richmond represents the kind of transition that must take place if our industry is to prosper.

"We expect the company's performance to improve through the balance of the 1980s as we take advantage of our modernization programs, improved product development and merchandizing strength."

Post driver in accident

Richard Tanner had a bad experience one night last week in Clovis, N.M., when the loaded tractor-trailer he was driving ran over and killed a Clovis resident on the highway.

According to Tanner, the man was walking down the center of the lane of traffic in the same direction as the traffic.

car ahead of him honked and swerved barely missing the man by inches in the darkness and Tanner was unable to stop or swerve in time.

Investigating police officers told Tanner the accident was unavoidable.

CHECK FATTY ACID

Cotton farmers who are planning on saving seed from their 1980 crop should be sure it is high in germination and low in free fatty acid.

"Most farmers check germination closely but may not be aware of the importance of the free fatty acid content," Dr. James Supak, area cotton agronomist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said.

"Free fatty acid is a by-product of seed deterioration so its content in seed should not be more than one percent," Supak cautioned. Seed exposed to long periods of wet weather prior to harvesting or subjected to poor storage after harvesting will generally have a high acid content, indicating considerable seed deterioration, the Extension Service specialist noted.

The acid content of cottonseed may be especially important on the portion of the crop that was drouth stressed and was still in the fields or in modules during the snow and rain this fall, explained Supak.

Cottonseed delinting plants commonly use the one-percent level of free fatty acid as the breaking point in saving or rejecting seed for planting purposes, he said.

"Seed with a high acid content often shows a high germination test, initially, but these seed will deteriorate rapidly in storage and germination will drop," explained the cotton specialist. "Of course, a low acid content does not insure top quality seed. Immature seed may be low in free fatty acid content."

Supak advised producers against saving cottonseed for planting that has 1.5 percent or more free fatty acid. Seed delinting companies can assist producers in obtaining an acid test on their planting seed, he noted. Numerous laboratories in the state also are equipped to check the acid content of cottonseed, the specialist said.

"Have your seed tested and if the free fatty acid is not a serious problem, store in a dry location," Supak recommended. "The use of high quality planting seed is very important in getting a crop up to a good, vigorously growing stand."

High School Favorites Elected

Olga Hiracheta and Ambrise Davila were elected Mr. and Miss SHS of the high school students last week. Terri Hiracheta and Jimmy Hiracheta are Best Personalities, and Cynthia Wheeler and Adam Rodriguez are Most Athletic.

Each couple will be featured on a full page in the 1981 Eagle's Nest Yearbook to be published in August. Sherri McElroy and Peter Diaz, Homecoming Queen and King, will also have a full page in the annual.

Gym Has New Score Box
A little color and "pride" has been added to the score box in the gymnasium thanks to the efforts of Lisa Rodriguez and Sandra Valdez, seniors.

The two girls worked for four days during their free time at school, painting the words "Eagle Pride" in black diagonal form and an Eagle in the center of the score box, which was painted red.

The results are very eye-catching, and visiting teams will no doubt think that the painting was done by professionals!

Rotarians shown outdoor education

An outdoor education program being developed here by Post Middle School teachers was presented to Post Rotarians at their luncheon meeting Tuesday in the community center in the form of a colored slide program.

The slides were taken at the first outdoor education day for sixth grade students held last November. School trustee John Boren has provided a land area on his place near Justiceburg as the outdoor education site.

Kathy Rankin told Rotarians that each of the school's three classes will spend a day in the field each year under the unique program to learn more about their environment.

Work began to develop the day-long program three years ago and teachers are now working on the seventh and eighth grade programs.

Teachers now working on the project who were guests of the club were Nancy Shaw, Dedra Adams, Pat West and Mrs. Rankin.

The teachers group have been invited to present a program on their outdoor education project at the Texas Middle School Association meeting in Dallas next month.

2 new Brown producers

George R. Brown has completed two new producers in the Garza field.

The No. 57 Post Estate, one mile south of Post, was drilled to a total depth of 3,071 feet and produced 68.4 barrels of oil and 101 barrels of water on test from an interval of 2,776 to 3,000 feet.

The No. 59 Post State, one and one-fourth miles southwest of Post, produced on test 23.9 barrels of oil and 21 of water from an interval of 2,828 to 2,986 feet after being drilled to 3,105 feet.

Dr. Newbury to be WTC president

SNYDER — Dr. Don Newbury, director of communications for the Tarrant County Junior College District in Fort Worth, has been named new president of Western Texas College effective April 1.

He will succeed Dr. Robert L. Clinton, who resigned to become Director of the Texas Public Community Junior College Association on Feb. 1. Clinton had been president of the college since it was founded.

Newbury, 43, is a native of Brown County and received the Bachelor of Arts from Howard Payne University in 1961. He was named the university's Distinguished Alumnus in 1971.

He received the Master of Journalism from the University of Texas in Austin in 1966, and in 1973 was awarded the Ph.D. from North Texas State University with a major in Higher Education Administration.

IRS offering income tax aid

LUBBOCK — January is traditionally a time of beginnings and the Internal Revenue Service is beginning its taxpayer assistance program for the new filing period.

"With relatively few changes in the tax forms this year, we expect that taxpayers may find the forms a bit less challenging," said John J. Sloan, IRS director's representative for Lubbock.

"Nevertheless, our taxpayer assistance program will be operational from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. each weekday to help taxpayers with their tax questions." To call IRS toll-free, dial 1-800-492-4830.

Taxpayers who require walk-in assistance may wish to stop by the IRS office located at Federal Office Building, 1205 Texas Avenue, Room 315. Or they may wish to take advantage of the free tax preparation service offered by the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) Program.

Lopes whip Cooper, but Lady Lopes lose

Frenship here Friday night

Post's two varsity basketball teams each stood at 2-2 in district play today as Coach Sid Wright's Lopes surprised the Cooper Pirates with a lot more defense than usual for a 47-43 triumph.

Coach Sonja Curry's Lady Lopes lost to Cooper 46 to 43 as the visitors stood at the free throw line in the final period and dropped in nine of 11 chances to get the victory.

In the Lopes' triumph, Will Kirkpatrick led the way for Post with 15 points while Leslie Willard and David Foster added 10 each. The Lopes jumped into a 20 to 4 first period lead, only to see Cooper come on strong in the second and third periods to narrow the margin to 29 to 29 at intermission and 38 to 31 at the end of three.

The Lopes hung on for the win in the fourth, dunking seven chances to go with their single basket.

In the girls' game, Cooper's accuracy at the free throw line was the difference as each team hit 16 from the field.

The visitors slipped 14 of 18 free throws through the nets for a 78 percent conversion, while the Lady Lopes managed only 11 of 25 for a low 44 percent.

Luann Kennedy led the Post attack with 16 points, six of them free throws and was the only Post player to hit above .500 from the charity line.

Dee Dee Redman and Marinette Hays added 10 points to account for most of the rest of the Lady Lopes scoring.

Post jumped into a 13 to 6 first period lead, but trailed at the half 13 to 12. They edged in front in the third 32 to 31, but fell in the fourth to Cooper's free throw accuracy.

In the prelim, the Post JV boys rang up 77 points in defeating the Cooper JVs 77 to 69.

The two clubs battled to an 18-all scoring standoff in the first period, but then Post came up with two 22-point quarters back to back in the second and third to pile up more than their victory margin.

James Lee led the Post scorers with 21 points on six baskets and nine free throws. Ruben Storie was next with 19 points, Bill Black had 14, and Tim Tannehill 13 for the bulk of local scoring.

The Lopes and Lady Lopes will complete the first round of district play here Friday night in a quadrupleheader with Frenship.

They will open second half play Tuesday night at Roosevelt in another quadrupleheader.

Frosh girls whip Slaton

Coach Sonja Curry's Post freshman girls snapped the "Slaton jinx" quite convincingly on Slaton's home court Monday night by thumping the Slaton frosh, 50 to 29.

Jean Price led the Post attack with 12 fielders and two free throws for 26 points, only three less than Slaton's team scored.

Michelle Hill added 12 more and Denise Smith 10. Cindee Jackson had the other two.

Post jumped into a 14 to 1 lead in the first period, but cooled in the second scoring only one basket and missing seven straight free throws. That allowed Slaton who managed a dozen to close to within three at halftime, trailing 16 to 13.

Both teams were rolling in the third with Post adding two points to their margin to go into the fourth leading 27 to 22. The locals then poured it on in the last quarter to pour in 18 more points while holding Slaton to but two free throws.

The Post girls are now 8-2 in district play, having bowed to Cooper at Cooper 43 to 39 in their district opener and Slaton here in early December 50 to 26.

Since then Post has won five district games in a row with three left to play. Their next start will be on the home floor here against Frenship Monday night.

Their record for the season is 13-4, the locals having won five of seven starts in the three tournaments in which they competed.

Give up 107 at Tahoka—

Lope defense swamped

Coach Sid Wright's Post Antelope defense had a bad week last week giving up over 100 points each to Slaton and Tahoka, the unbeaten district leaders going into this week's play.

The Tahoka Bulldogs trampled the Lopes 107 to 72 at Tahoka Friday night with Charles Bryson ringing up 36 points, most of them in the second half, and Jacky Jolly adding 20, Mark Hudlin 14, and James Wells 13.

Will Kirkpatrick was the gunner for Post with 26 points, fashioned on 12 field goals and two free throws.

Barry Wyatt had 12 for the locals, Leslie Willard 10, Kevin Craig 8, David Foster and Gary Lamb four each, and Benny Kennedy and Dana Scott 2 apiece.

The Lopes dropped in 18 of 23 free throw attempts for a sparkling 77 percent conversion percentage from the line.

The Bulldogs rolled away to a 26 to 14 first quarter lead, led 53 to 29 at the intermission, and 78 to 50 after three.

It was the Tahoka JV boys, like the Post JV girls, who "blew away" their opposition in the fourth period for an easy 65 to 45 triumph.

For three quarters it was close with Tahoka going into the final period with a 38-34 lead. Then Tahoka erupted for 27 points while holding Post to 11 and it was no contest.

Bill Black led the locals with 10 points, with Melvin Wynne getting eight, Curtis Clinesmith and James Lee had 7 each, and Tim Tannehill 6 to account for most of the Post scoring.

LuAnn Kennedy hits for 21— Lady Lopes in win at Tahoka

Coach Sonja Curry's Post Lady Lopes moved into a second place tie in district play Friday night with a 51 to 37 triumph over Tahoka's girls at Tahoka.

Luann Kennedy had a 21-point game for Post, hitting six fielders and nine of 13 free throws.

Marinette Hays added 12 with four fielders and four frees. Lana Dunn and Darla Jackson had six each, Holly Giddens three and Doris Pringler one.

Post jumped into a 12 to 6 first period lead as Kennedy grabbed eight quick points and led 24 to 19 at the half. Post pulled away to a 37 to 27 lead in the third and continued to extend their margin in the fourth.

The win left the locals 2-1 in district play.

In the JV girls game, Post girls blew Tahoka away in the fourth period 20 to 7 to turn a close game — 37 to 36 for Post after three — into an easy victory, 56 to 44.

Lori Pringler and Trushell Marts led Post scoring with 19 points each. Sheryl Anderson added 12.

Frosh boys go to finals at Wilson

Coach Lane Tannehill's Post freshman boys team won their way into the finals of the Wilson Freshman Basketball tournament last weekend only to be overpowered by New Home in the finals, 85 to 34.

Post had three players tie for local high point honors with six points each — Milton Williams, R. J. Greathouse and James Brown — while Solorano had 24 and Estrada 22 for the winners.

Post won its first rounder in the tourney by defeating the Meadow Junior Varsity, 57 to 31 with Greathouse getting 14, Williams 10 and L.D. Harper 10.

In the semi-final, Post defeated Smyer 63 to 51 with a big third quarter in which they outscored their opponents 16 to 5 and obtained their winning margin.

Williams and Lynn Allen tied for individual scoring honors in that one with 15 points each. Harper had 10 and Brown nine.

Girls suffer Slaton losses

Coach Lu Allen's seventh and eighth grade girls cage teams went down to one-sided losses to Slaton at Slaton Monday night in district games.

The Post 8th graders were thumped 43 to 6, being shutout in the first and third quarters and scoring but one free throw in the fourth. Mendy Tatum scored five of Post's six points.

Post's 7th graders were bounced 37 to 4 in the other contest, managing a field goal in each of the second and fourth quarters.

The seventh graders will compete in the Shallowater 7th grade tournament this weekend, playing the Shallowater B team in the first round at 1 p.m. Thursday. If they win they will advance into the semi-finals against the Abernathy-New Deal winner at 3:30 p.m. Friday.

If they lose, they will go into the consolation bracket and play the Abernathy-New Deal loser at 10 a.m. Friday.

The next district starts for the two teams are against Frenship her Monday night.

The first incorporated railroad to perform transportation service in the United States was the horsedrawn Granite Railway in Quincy, Mass. in 1826.

Post boys lose three to Slaton

Post's freshman, 8th and 7th grade boys teams dropped a district tripleheader to Slaton here Monday night.

The freshmen went into the final period with a 44 to 39 advantage over the visitors, but Slaton took control of the game at that point and outshot Post 24 to 9 in the remaining minutes to win going away.

Milton Williams rang up 13 for Post, followed by R. J. Greathouse with 12 and Lynn Allen with 10.

Post hit only 7 of 17 from the charity line while Slaton tossed in 13 of 17 for a 72 percentage of conversions.

The Post eighth graders bowed 36 to 30 with Mike Ollison and Greg Massey each scoring 10 points to lead the locals.

Slaton led 16 to 15 at the intermission and 22 to 20 after three quarters.

Slaton's seventh grade club took a 32 to 15 decision in the opening game over Coach Jay Kennedy's seventh graders. Tracy Price was high for Post with five points.

The three teams next district starts will be at Frenship Monday night.

Brownies, cubs tour museum

A combined group of Brownie Troop 235 and Den 3 Cub Scouts traveled to the Texas Tech Museum and Moody Planetarium last Saturday.

The youth were ushered upstairs to a film room upon their arrival. There they viewed a short movie on the Antarctic and penguins in particular.

Next the scouts toured the mineral and dinosaur exhibits, and the adjoining displays of American Indian eras. The Llano Estacado replicas concluded their museum visit.

There was no doubt that the planetarium showing was the climax of the fieldtrip for both girls and boys. The circular auditorium featured plush seating, with a spectacular ceiling view of the stars, man's fascination with space, and shots of the moon and Martian surfaces.

Those Brownies attending were Marilyn Bell, Joanna Binford, Zina Bustoz, Dee Dee Byrd, Kiki Chambliss, Crystal Clay, Marla Clay, Tasha Clay, Rosalind Curtis, Jana Greathouse, Tyra Hart, Kristi Hodges, Dawn Howland, Jana Hudman, Nichole Jones, Tina Poe, Angela Tobias, Hilary Williams and Sarah Alexander. Cub Scouts attending were Dustin Ammons, Brook Capps, Karl Gerner, Richard Hudman, Tyge Payne, Matt Pennell, and Mario Villa.

Parents escorting the group to Lubbock were Betty Binford and Mary, Eydie Capps, Gloden and Stephen Reese, Julie Hudman and Lori and Carol Tobias and Mario.

Frosh girls win consolation final

Post's freshman girl cagers won consolation honors in the Wilson Freshman tournament over the weekend by defeating New Home 36 to 17 in the consolation finals Saturday.

Jean Price, who led the team with 48 points in the three tournament games played, rang up 14 in the finals, closely followed by Michelle Hill with 13.

Post jumped into a 15-6 first period lead, shutout their opponents in the second quarter. They led 29 to 10 going into the fourth period.

Post lost its first rounder Thursday to Meadow, 36 to 33, thus moving into the consolation bracket. In the consolation semi-finals Friday, they defeated Smyer 29 to 16.

In the Meadow loss, Post led by a point at intermission, 14 to 13 and had a four point advantage 27 to 23 going into the fourth.

Meadow popped in 13 points in the final quarter while Post managed only six, four by Price who had eight fielders and two frees for 18 points and high point.

In the win over Smyer, Price missed five straight free throws but she hit eight fielders for 16 points to again spark the Post attack.

Post led only 7-5 going into the second period, but added 10 points before their opponents again to pull away to a 17 to 5 halftime lead.

KENNETH COOK
PASTOR

CHARLES G. HAWKINS
EVANGELIST

Gospel singing, revival are set

Rev. Kenneth Cook, pastor of the Church of God of Prophecy, at 602 West 14th Street, is pleased to announce a Community Gospel Singing, followed by a series of revival services, at his local church.

The Gospel Singing will begin at 3 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 1. The singing will feature recording artists such as The Anchor Brothers, with the Parkers, Kenneth Cook, The Sisters in Song, along with Mrs. Tom Evans, and others.

Charles G. Hawkins, pastor of the Oakwood Church of God of Prophecy, in Chattanooga, Tenn. will be the evangelist. The theme of the messages will be "Seven Days to Eternity". If you are concerned about what the future holds for this generation, you will want to hear his positive viewpoint as he preaches in depth on subjects dealing with "The Beginning", "Is There Really a Devil?"

"Where Did He Come From?", "Are We Nearing the End?", and "Is Christ Really Coming Back?"

Rev. Hawkins has traveled extensively throughout the world during his 30 years as a minister. Pastor Kenneth Cook, along with visiting singers, will be providing the special singing, and extends a most cordial welcome to the public to attend these services.

Revival services will begin at 7:30 p.m. each night, Monday through Friday.

1981 bonus year for poison plants

COLLEGE STATION — 1981 looks like a bonus year for poisonous range plants. "Due to last year's dry summer followed by a wet fall, all conditions point to generally a bonus year for poison plants in Texas," says Dr. Allan McGinty of Fort Stockton, area range specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A & M University System.

"Ranchers should be familiar with and be able to identify common poisonous plants that occur in their pastures. They should also be familiar with symptoms of poisoning in livestock," points out McGinty. Local county Extension agents, veterinarians and Extension range specialists can provide assistance to ranchers in this effort.

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

LUBBOCK — The Western Cotton Production Conference to be staged in Lubbock's Hilton Inn February 17, 18 and 19 offers an excellent opportunity for High Plains cotton producers to "get a headstart on planning for profit in 1981 and the rest of the decade," according to Joe D. Unfred of New Home.

Unfred, current President of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., has been named General Chairman of the conference and is impressed with the scheduled subjects for discussion and the quality of speakers. Theme for the two-and-a-half day, four-state meeting is "Cotton's Challenge for the 80's."

Opening the Tuesday, February 17 session will be a presentation on the "Worldwide Cotton Outlook" by Dr. Arlie Bowling, Senior Economist with the National Cotton Council, Memphis, Tennessee. The remainder of the morning will include discussions of farm programs for the 80's, textile trends, the byssinosis problem, and farm financing.

Two cotton production factors of immediate and perpetual concern to producers, irrigation and water use efficiency and weed control, will occupy the afternoon. The irrigation and water use session will emphasize irrigation cost reduction, getting the most out of limited irrigation water, and the prospects for increasing water use efficiency with varieties and growth regulators.

On weeds, discussion will center on controlling hard-to-kill annual and perennial weeds, plus successful on-the-farm weed control practices used by one producer each from the High Plains and Eastern New Mexico.

Wednesday morning sessions will be devoted to cottonseed and lint quality and trends in cotton improvement. Cottonseed and lint quality discussion will cover the quality control aspects of modulating, ways to minimize lint contamination, planting seed vigor and seed quality testing in Texas.

"Trends in cotton improvement" will feature addresses entitled "Update on Cotton Hybrids," and "Trends in Future Cotton Varieties."

Wednesday afternoon will begin with a producer panel on production planning and cost projections, after which there will be a report on recent and planned activities of the Texas Pest Management Association, a pest management panel, and two speakers on controlling bollworms, the newest threat to High Plains cotton production.

Conference activities will conclude with an 8:30 a.m. tour of the Textile Research Center at Texas Tech University hosted by James Parker, Director.

Copies of the complete Conference schedule, including speakers and panel members, may be obtained from TAES at Lubbock or from PCG.

Screwworm menace ends

MISSION — Progress toward eradication of screwworms — a costly livestock pest — is causing the U.S. Department of Agriculture to close its sterile fly production plant at Mission. Final shutdown is set for March 6.

Dr. M.E. "Cotton" Meadows, Jr., of Mexico City, director of the USDA's screwworm eradication program, told trustees of the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation recently that "international cooperation has now rendered the southwestern U.S. and northern tier of Mexican states virtually free of the pest."

Sterile fly production is being shifted to the newer plant at Tuxtla Gutierrez, in the state of Chiapas, Mexico. Identifiers will remain on duty at Mission, however, to rush the processing of worm samples submitted by Texas producers.

A small administrative and maintenance staff, along with the worm sample identifiers, will remain on duty at the Mission facility after the March closing. This work force will be ready to re-activate the plant in a matter of about two weeks, if circumstances should make it necessary.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Radle announce the birth of a son, John Franklin, born Jan. 20 at 8:49 p. m. in Garza Memorial Hospital weighing 7 lbs., 11 3/4 ozs. He was 20 1/2 inches long.

Huntley Nursing Home News

We were so thankful and happy for the safe return of our hostages. Fifty-two yellow bows decorated the entryway to our home in their honor. Welcome home.

We are happy to have two new residents at our home, Sylvia Williams and William Gass. We know they will enjoy our home as much as we do.

We had several birthdays in January. Mrs. Josie Hester celebrated her 84th birthday with a party Jan. 2nd. Fresh strawberry punch and a decorated cake was served. Members of her family present were her husband, Shorty Hester, Bill Thomas, Dorothy Mason, Mary Lee, Johnnie and Harley Wallace, Kathy, Jennifer and Johnny Wayne Clevenger, Vanessa and Tamara Byrd, Debbie, Amy and Ron Mason and Nancy and Shayla Wallace.

Jewel King shared her birthday with us Jan. 7th. A beautiful white cake with red roses and ice cream was served to the residents by her family. Happy 75 Jewel.

The VFW Ladies gave their birthday party Jan. 13th honoring Ida Stewart, Ed Landreth, William Brookshire, Jewel King and Josie Hester. They served fruit punch and an assortment of crackers and spreads. Crochet poodles and pins were given to the ladies and crochet poodles and cologne were given to the men. Our thanks to the VFW ladies for their monthly parties.

Noel White and Kenneth Cook brighten our day with music. Noel entertained us Jan. 15th and Kenneth entertained us Jan. 16th. These are two of our regulars and we certainly do enjoy them.

Our thanks to Louise Nesbitt for her donation to arts and crafts. Corinne Brown gets our thanks for her donation of dominoes. Emma Griffin made us all happy with a delicious pineapple cake. Emma is the sister of Sylvia Williams. We had heard what a good cook Emma was and we certainly know it now.

Grand Prize winner in bingo Jan. 5th was Grace Jobe. We appreciated Rene Fluit calling our bingo numbers for us. Victoria Vargas was Grand Prize Winner Jan. 12th, Ida Stewart on the 19th, and Josie Hester claimed the honor Jan. 26th.

We have several ladies that keep busy in their rooms doing needle work and turn out beautiful pieces. Rosa Boucher is working on lap covers, Cordelia Stewart is corseting bed covers, Ida Stewart is quilting lap covers and Ruby Brown is working on a latch hook. Arts and crafts occupy much of our time at Huntley's. We are now making heart shaped pin cushions and pillows for Valentine gifts.

Our thanks to all our churches for the Sunday Devotionals given at our home. These devotionals are an inspiration to us and we appreciate all the time these groups spend at our home.

New ag secretary facing challenge

COLLEGE STATION — "The greatest challenge the new Secretary of Agriculture will likely face is winning support for his producer-oriented policy proposals within other agencies of government."

Several of the major issues confronting Agriculture Secretary designate John Block are of direct interest to other government departments, according to Dr. Ronald D. Knutson.

Knutson is an economist in policy and marketing with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A & M University System. He also has been serving on the staff of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Transition Task Force for the incoming Reagan administration.

Knutson said agricultural issues where conflicts are likely to occur among agencies of government include lifting of the Soviet grain embargo, increases in food prices, and proposals to increase price and income supports that have the potential for adding to government outlays.

Knutson, in an address before the Texas Farmers Union in Dallas Jan. 9, said that two major changes will occur within the USDA as a result of the election of Ronald Reagan as President and appointment of Block as Agriculture Secretary.

"First, USDA policy proposals and decisions will be more market-oriented. In this situation, forces of supply and demand are the prime determinants of farm prices and income," said Knutson.

This contrasts directly with the Carter administration farm policies where prices of major food and feed grains have been maintained in a relatively narrow range, mainly through low release and call levels within the government-controlled but farmer-held reserve, the economist explained.

"Second, USDA policy proposals and decisions will be more producer-oriented. In this type of farm policy, decisions are made primarily on the basis of their impact upon producers. This also contrasts with the Carter administration where policy decisions have been heavily influenced by consumers and consumer impacts.

"In other words, the trend toward consumerization of the USDA will be interrupted," Knutson said.

These changes will have significant implications for farmers and their organizations, the economist noted.

"While farm income will be higher in a market-oriented environment, farm prices will fluctuate more — and risk will increase," he predicted.

"In addition, with primarily a producer clientele, it will be critical that the new Secretary have a broad unified base of producer support. Without such support base, the Secretary's position in winning the assistance of other agencies for his producer-oriented proposals will be undermined," emphasized Knutson.

County pay hikes—

(Continued From Page One) Friday, Jan. 30, that all non-elected or appointed employees of Garza County be granted equal raises to the law enforcement classification.

This motion was made by County Judge Giles Dalby, seconded by Commissioner Herbert Walls. Dalby, Walls and Commissioner Buck Craft voted for this motion and Commissioner Ted Aten voted no.

It is estimated the county raise for all employees will cost in the neighborhood of $12,000 for the remainder of the fiscal year. This will mean the court will have to make budget changes to provide the money by cutting someplace else on services.

Still at issue, if the court goes through with across the board pay boost Friday will be the salaries of the four correctional officers, or dispatchers.

The city council did not vote increases to them, as the commissioners court plans.

What will happen is that the city will be asked to approve the increases at its regular February meeting Monday night, Feb. 9.

The city raised city employees 10 percent across the board last Oct. 1 when the current fiscal year began. The county at that time gave all county employees exactly the same raise, which averaged out about seven percent. The new county hike is expected to boost this to 15 percent for the remainder of the year.

The Commissioners court takes the position that all other county employees need an increase just as much as sheriff deputies and that hiking deputy pay only would bring repercussions from the rest of the county's staff.

Rising inflation is bringing a pay problem here in most types of employment, council members and court members agreed during the joint discussion.

Nobody sees the increases agreed to Monday night as anything but a temporary solution.

The city and county are striving to keep abreast as much as they can with their competition — both in surrounding law enforcement agencies and in local oil fields — but they didn't want to have to do it in the middle of the fiscal year when all governmental incomes are already designated to be spent.

Survivors include her husband; one son, Neal G. Driver of Hereford and two grandchildren, Neal, Jr., and Shawna Lorene also of Hereford; five sisters, Ola Perry of Oklahoma City; Tulsa Yarbrough of Dallas, Charlene Parker of Denver City, Roushie Griffith of Fresno, Calif., and Beatrice Earp of Sidney, Australia; one brother, C. A. Benghall of Oklahoma City. Pallbearers were Silas Short, Lester Josey, Grant Lott, Roy Josey, Delwyn Hodges and Rocky Shaw.

His first wife died in 1938, he was married to Mae Weakley in 1943, and she died in 1973. He then married his present wife, Maudie Justice in 1974. He was a lifetime member of the Baptist Church and was a deacon for many years.

Survivors include his wife of Post; one son, Robert of Odessa; one daughter, Lillian Uhlman of Florence, Ala.; nine grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren. He was preceded in death by three children, Ray Jr., Opal Cannon and Roy Smith.

Pallbearers were Bo Jackson, Don Smith, Glen Norman, E.A. Howard, Dub Caffey, and Harold Craig. Honorary pallbearers were all deacons of the First Baptist Church, past and present.

Death penalty—

(Continued From Page One) found in Alexander's home in Lubbock after the slaying and 17 dosage units of LSD. Officers testified the marijuana had "a street value" of about $38,000 and the LSD was worth about $800.

District Attorney John T. Monford put prisoners on the stand who testified to the smuggling of a gun into the Lubbock County jail by Alexander's girl friend for an escape attempt by Alexander.

District Judge Robert C. Wright refused to let the jury hear testimony that the gun was used by another inmate of the jail to commit suicide. The judge said such testimony probably would only inflame and prejudice the jury.

Alexander's parents and several longtime friends were called by the defense as character witnesses after the state had rested.

The Texas Penal code requires that each death penalty case be studied individually and that before a jury can assess the death penalty it must consider three questions.

Jurors must first decide if the defendant deliberately committed the crime with the expectation that death would result. Second, the jury must determine there is a probability that the defendant would commit additional criminal acts of violence, posing a threat to society.

The third question in this case will not apply as it was not raised by the evidence.

The jury must answer yes to the first two questions to sentence Alexander to death.

1954 Ford—

(Continued From Page One) old "elbow grease" to rid the frame, body and engine of all that accumulated rust. The body was taken off the pickup, the frame sanded and undercoated to prevent more rust, then the transmission and rear end had to be reworked. All parts of the pickup are the original parts, engine included.

When the engine had been overhauled and cleaned and all the underneath work done, the body was put back on and then was repainted.

Work on the whole undertaking took approximately six months, plus about $2,500 to put it in good running shape. The interior was repainted also and the upholstery done in bronze velour rolled pleats.

You probably have seen the pickup around town, because William keeps it so clean it literally shines all the time. It sounds great too!

When the Dispatch photographer asked William to bring the pickup by for a picture, it was hard to believe it ran so quietly, and so smoothly. Good job William!

Postings—

— The city at the joint meeting did concur with the county's action approving the hiring of a part-time deputy.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Republican Gov. Bill Clements delivered his "State of the State" address to a primarily Democratic Legislature last week, beginning the second quarter of Texas' new political ballgame called "I can cut state spending better than you can."

The same governor who called the Legislature "a bunch of idiots" at an El Paso campaign blowout last spring was less caustic during his speech in the House chamber. He even went so far as to praise legislators for laying the groundwork for the present growth and prosperity.

Unfortunately for the taxpayers, Clements seems to have given up on providing any sort of tax relief to taxpayers . . . and he is by no means alone.

Clements did not say a single word about returning $1 billion to the taxpayers, a previous promise. And House Speaker Bill Clayton has also hinted there may not be much tax relief this session. Both Clements and Clayton want to use at least parts of state surplus funds to finance other state projects. Clayton wants money to find more water for Texas, particularly farmers and ranchers, and Clements wants to boost small businesses here.

Omitting any reference to reducing the number of state employees, Clements also called for:

- creation of a Texas Department of Commerce
- initiative and referendum
- guaranteed loans for small businesses
- fuel tax exemption for gasoline
- wiretapping
- a regional presidential primary

Kay and her husband Dan have two sons, Gary, a junior in Post High School and Jeff, classified as a freshman. They are members of the First Baptist Church.

Panther Rock—

They danced the "yellow skirt" dance to bagpipe and fiddle and sang together around the campfire led by Johnny Seay of Cleburne, a gold record singer in his professional days, who brought along his guitar.

Kid Marley of Tennessee conducted a Cowboys for Christ church service Sunday for the mountain men and their families.

Dr. Harry Tubbs of Post was among those attending as were rodeo rider Jess Knight of Justiceburg, Ben Miller of Gail and Tony Isaacs of Fluvanna.

a state water trust fund, which is Clayton's brain-child project.

Battle of the Budget

Political trends come and go, but the basic legislative duty of providing a budget for spending tax money always remains. This season it is a prime issue.

The battle of the budget has already begun.

It has, and will continue to make, strange political bedfellows.

The Legislative Budget Board which draws up the preliminary budget has gone too far, according to some displeased state officials.

Clements last week submitted his own executive budget proposal which is some $500 million less than LBB.

And State Comptroller Bob Bullock blew his stack at LBB, saying they went in to the red by some $210 million.

SPS increases capital stock

AMARILLO — Stockholders at the annual meeting of the Southwestern Public Service Co. recently voted to amend the articles of incorporation to increase total authorized capital stock from $180,000,000 to $330,000,000.

This increases the number of shares of common stock from 30 million to 55 million. The amendment was necessary to allow the company to continue financing its ongoing construction program.

Also, the SPS board of directors, which was re-elected by stockholders for 1981, declared a regular quarterly dividend of 34½ cents per share of common stock, payable March 2, 1981, to holders of record at the close of business Feb. 13, 1981.

In another action, directors elected Sam R. Hunter and Larry S. Milner as vice presidents, and Mary L. Pullum as assistant secretary.

General—

(Continued From Page One) and to continue to construct new facilities makes it necessary to request higher rates to more nearly reflect today's cost of doing business."

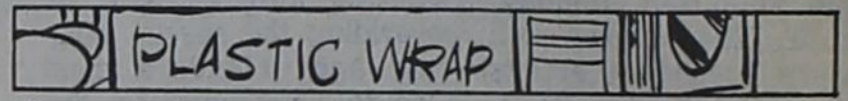

The date the new rates become effective is determined by the commission, if it decides to grant any, or all of them.

Long distance phone rates are not included in the request.

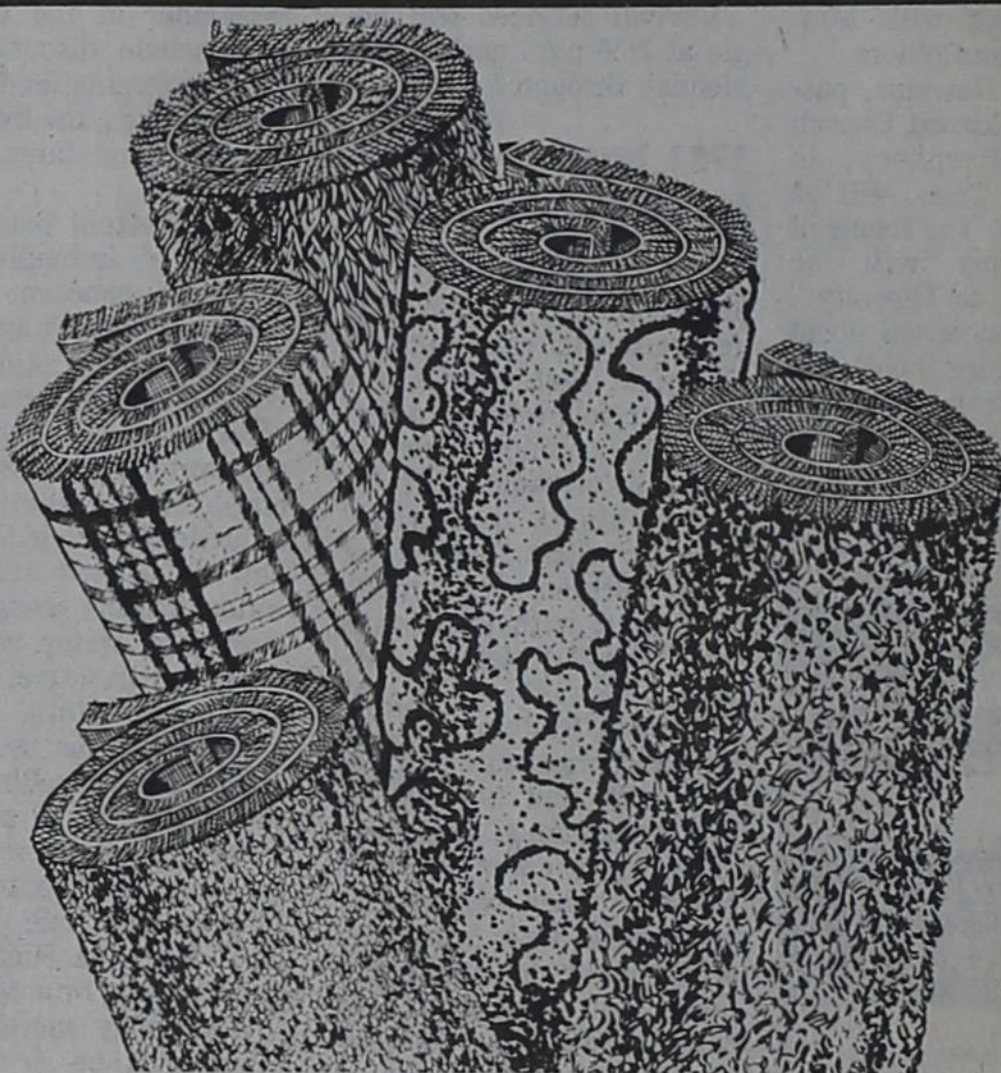

General Telephone is now receiving a rate of return on its intrastate rate base of 10.01 percent. If the full rate increase is approved, the rate of return would be increased to 12.94 percent.

Rex Bailey, vice president of General Telephone for customer service, said the utility's service levels have improved significantly and are continuing to trend upward.

"We are optimistic the PUC review of our service will be favorable," he said.
