Haig Sent To Saigon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is sending Gen. Alexander Haig to Southeast Asia with a somber report of setbacks in the secret negotiations to end the war.

Haig, who left Sunday night and is due in Saigon Tuesday, will go also to Cambodia, Laos and Thailand in his assignment "to bring the leaders of those countries abreast of the status of the Paris negotiations."

The White House announced the mission of Haig, top deputy to presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger, on Sunday following Kissinger's disclosure the previous day of a series of breakdowns in the Paris parley.

Contrasting with his optimistic "peace is at hand" account Oct. 26 of near-agreement with Hanoi, Kissinger's version of the bargaining since then made it seem certain that no settlement will be reached before next year.

Adding to the gloomy prospects was today's Radio Hanoi broadcast accusing the United States of resuming the air war north of the 20th parallel.

U.S. planes dropped more mines in the coastal waters off Haiphong harbor and made rocket attacks on a "number of areas on the outskirts of Haiphong City," said the broadcast of a statement by the North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry.

The White House and the Pentagon declined comment at first.

The United States had called a halt to military activities north of the 20th parallel in late October while the negotiations seemed to be progressing.

Bomb Limits Lifted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today that the United States has lifted restrictions which limited U.S. bombing of North Vietnam to the panhandle area below the 20th Parallel.

"Air operations are being conducted throughout North Vietnam at the present time," Laird told newsmen.

The Defense secretary refused to go into any details of air operations because, he said, he wanted to avoid endangering the lives of American air crewmen.

Laird briefly acknowledged the lifting of bombing restrictions on North Vietnam two days after Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, chief U.S. peace negotiator and President Nixon's security adviser, had reported negotiations toward a cease-fire were at an impasse.

Kissinger blamed the North Vietnamese for coming up with what he called "frivolous proposals and changing their positions on issues he felt had been resolved."

Before Laird spoke to newsmen, North Vietnam claimed U.S. planes had dropped mines in the Haiphong harbor and rocketed suburbs of North Vietnam's chief port.

U.S. sources in Saigon followed the North Vietnamese broadcast with unofficial word that the United States had resumed some military activities north of the 20th Parallel.

Nixon ordered bombing of North Vietnam cut back to the 20th Parallel in late October in an apparent gesture aimed at bringing the peace negotiations to a satisfactory conclusion.

His action at the time in effect spared the most populous area of North Vietnam, including Hanoi and Haiphong, while permitting U.S. warplanes to continue attacking North Vietnamese supply movements throughout the less populated North Vietnamese panhandle area above South Vietnam.

Nativity Lighting Scheduled

Lighting of the traditional Nativity scenes at the Christmas season is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in Central Park.

The Trustees Service League, with Mrs. Betty Truly as sponsor, will be in charge of the program.

Participating in the event, to which the public is invited, will be the Pampa High School Choir, trumpeters from the Pampa High School Band, and narrators from the high school drama department including Ocie Powell, Cynthia Gill and Katherine Fitzgerald.

The Trustees have been in charge of the Nativity scenes phase of Pampa's Christmas activities for several years.

In the news conference Saturday, Kissinger accused the North Vietnamese of delaying the negotiations, backtracking on points previously agreed on and making new demands during the 3½ weeks of resumed secret talks that ended Dec. 13.

The North Vietnamese promptly denied they caused delay. They are expected to give their account in greater detail soon. Kissinger's opposite number, Le Duc Tho, is returning from Paris to Hanoi.

Kissinger refused to spell out what "fundamental point" remains except to say that it was one which the North Vietnamese had "accepted two weeks previously and later withdrawn."

noticed that they were not flared.

Both Gallagher and Stewart said they had not seen the youth before, either in the store or about the city.

The cooler door is equipped with an inside latch and Gallagher was out again shortly after he had unlocked the safe. He called police and they converged on the store within seconds after the alert was broadcast.

The store was searched carefully but the robber had already fled. Stewart was able to supply officers with an accurate description of a car near the store shortly before the robbery took place. There was no one in the vehicle and he was unable to get a tag number from the store, but he did remember an accurate description of make, model and color as well as some identifying marks.

Investigating officers said they were able to get some good fingerprints from the safe and the cooler door and other areas where the gunman might logically have left prints.

While these are being processed, officers in towns throughout the area are on the lookout for both the suspect car and a man answering the description.

The assistant manager was then returned to the cooler with Stewart and the youth fled with $196 taken from two till drawers stored in the safe.

Overlooked was $406 in currency and checks resting on one of the checkout stands.

The store employees described the lone gunman as clean and reasonably calm. They told officers he did not appear to be drinking of "high" on anything.

He was dressed in a tan knit jacket and dark trousers, possibly green. The pair even

FOR BALANCE OF SHOWS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has drafted legislation to hold local television stations accountable at license renewal time for the balance and taste of all network news and entertainment programs they broadcast, a White House official said today.

Clay T. Whitehead, director of the White House Office of Telecommunications Policy, disclosed the action as he spoke of bias and "ideological plugola" in network news reporting.

Whitehead is the ranking White House official in the broadcast field. His comments, made in a speech prepared for an Indianapolis meeting of the professional journalism society, psychiatry, "a method of treating mental illness by correcting the balance of vitamins and other natural substances in the body."

This approach to mental illness, however, is regarded with great skepticism by many scientists.

For most people, the concern about vitamins is simply one of maintaining a state of general health and well-being.

Because vitamins are found in small quantities in almost all foods, a well-balanced diet is of great importance in maintaining good health. Indeed, it is said repeatedly, that a well-balanced daily diet is sufficient to maintain normal health.

But it has also been pointed out that there are millions of Americans whose diet is a disaster due to poor eating habits or poverty or other factors.

The soda-pop and potato-chip emphasis in the diet of many teen-agers, regardless of economic level, has been cited many times. And others, such as pregnant women, must pay special attention to their diet. A physician's advice is necessary in many cases.

In addition to inadequate diets, there are vitamin problems caused by the failure of the body, in some individuals, to absorb nutrients properly. Some people require more than the average, some less.

The Food and Drug Administration's proposals on vitamins A and D do not concern these problems, but those of overdose. The agency said overdoses of vitamin A can cause various complications, ranging from growth retardation in children to headaches and cracked skin. The possible complications from vitamin D overdoses range from high blood pressure to kidney failure and death.

"Widespread promotion of both vitamins has resulted in 'excessive use for conditions such as acne, night blindness and arthritis,' according to the FDA statement. The FDA said "Neither vitamin A nor D are proven effective for these conditions in well-nourished people."

A recently reported study from the University of Toronto has been described as encouraging by the scientists who conducted it, enough so that they have planned an even larger trial this winter.

There were two major findings in the Toronto study:

—Of 407 volunteers who took 1,000 milligrams daily, 26 per cent remained free of illness throughout the study, compared with 18 per cent of the 411 persons on dummy pills.

—The volunteers who got vitamin C had 30 per cent fewer days of total disability than those in the placebo group.

The 818 subjects were in the program for at least two months, according to the support.

Youth Robs Ideal Store

By RAY BAXTER

Armed robbery—the nation-wide danger hanging over late closing supermarkets—caught up with the Ideal Food Store on E. Brown St. at 11:15 p.m. Sunday.

Technically, the store had closed at 11 p.m. but the front door was not locked. Asst. Mgr. Herb Gallagher and Randy Stewart, an employee of the store, were doing a routine checkout when they were confronted by a youth who said he needed cigarettes, according to Gallagher's account of the robbery.

The young man pulled a snub-nosed .22 and said, "Let's go to the cooler." The store employees were locked in the produce cooler but within minutes the robber was back demanding that Gallagher open the safe.

The assistant manager was then returned to the cooler with Stewart and the youth fled with $196 taken from two till drawers stored in the safe.

Overlooked was $406 in currency and checks resting on one of the checkout stands.

The store employees described the lone gunman as clean and reasonably calm. They told officers he did not appear to be drinking of "high" on anything.

DEATH SCENE — Even from the outside, evidence is seen of the fire-seared room where a Pampa man died Sunday morning. Firemen say the blaze was started by a cigarette as the victim smoked in bed. Firemen were able to contain the fire to the bedroom of the small frame structure at 703 Brunow St. This picture was made as firemen and neighbors sift through the ruins for evidence to confirm the cause and to salvage personal effects from the water poured in to quench the flames. Authorities were told the victim was a heavy smoker.

Local Man Dies In House Fire

Gerald B. Moore, 54, 703 Brunow, was carried from his burning bedroom about 11 a.m. Sunday and ruled a victim of the blaze.

Firemen were called to the scene and summoned an ambulance after they had removed Moore's body.

Judge Ed Anderson, acting as coroner, ordered Moore removed to the funeral home.

Firemen reported he had been smoking in bed, but it is believed that death was from smoke inhalation. Friends told investigating authorities that he was a heavy smoker and that he had been drinking. Evidence within the bedroom pointed to this, officials said.

Services for Gerald Boone Moore are pending with Carmichael-Whitely Funeral Directors. He was born Dec. 11, 1918, at Guyton, Okla.

He was employed as a plumber.

Survivors include a daughter, Hazel Moore, and a step-daughter, Margaret Owen, both of Amarillo; his mother, Mrs. Gladys Moore, and a brother, Glynn, both of Stockton, Kan.; two sisters, Mrs. Marie Green, Stratford, and Mrs. Coleen Walker, Pecos.

Astronauts End Chores For Homecoming Trip

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — With the major space exploits behind them, the Apollo 17 astronauts performed last-minute packing and house-keeping chores today in preparation for their homecoming.

Astronauts Eugene A. Cernan, Harrison H. Schmitt and Ronald E. Evans were right on course for a splashdown in the South Pacific at 2:24 p.m.-EST Tuesday. Their ship America was operating perfectly.

Apollo 17 passes the halfway mark in its journey from the moon to earth at 3:26 p.m. EST today. At that time, the last planned mission to the moon will be 120,138 miles from earth with a gradually increasing speed of 2,951 miles an hour.

Ahead of the astronauts, on their last full day in space, was the task of stowing equipment, reviewing checklists, and cleaning up the command module America.

The spacemen also had to secure their record cargo of moon rocks, three canisters of film and other science treasure gathered during the 13-day mission to the moon.

In the last major exploit of the mission, Evans made a 44-minute walk in deep space Sunday to retrieve the film canisters from a part of the ship which won't return to earth and bring them to the safety of America's cabin.

Electors Gathering To Elect President

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Electoral College, which was elected last Nov. 7 when most people thought they were voting for President Nixon, meets today to re-elect him.

The 538 electors are to meet in their respective state capitals and the District of Columbia to perform their constitutional duty by formally casting ballots for president and vice president.

The outcome is already known, but the election won't be official until the electors' votes are opened by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew in his role as president of the Senate and counted before a joint session of Congress Jan. 6.

Bundled in a white space suit and a helmet, Evans moved with hesitant grace and obvious relish. He laughed and sang and called out to his family on earth 180,000 miles away who watched the space walk by television.

"Hi, Jan. Hi, Jaime. Hi, Jon," he said, waving with one hand while holding to a rail with the other.

Under the Constitution, each elector may vote for whomever he wishes for president or vice president as long as one of his choices doesn't come from his own state. But by long-established custom the electors vote for the nominees of their own party, thus giving all the state's electoral votes to the candidates of one party.

That tradition has been broken several times in 181 years, but there is no indication it will happen today. President Nixon can be expected to poll 521 electoral votes, confirming his landslide victory over Sen. George McGovern, who should tally 17.

McGovern electors were chosen only in Massachusetts which has 14 electoral votes, and the District of Columbia which has three.

There have been proposals to abolish or reform the electoral-college system periodically throughout the history of the republic, and renewed efforts are expected next year.

None has succeeded, however, since the 12th Amendment was ratified in 1804 providing for the electors to vote separately for president and vice president.

Vital Vitamins Surrounded By Myth, Misuse

By BRIAN SULLIVAN
AP Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The word vitamin comes from a Latin word, vita, for life itself, and indeed vitamins are of vital importance to growth and health. But, like many of the other things in life, they are surrounded by controversy, myth and misuse.

The misuse came into the news in recent days when the federal Food and Drug Administration proposed to restrict the potentially dangerous use of vitamins A and D in some treatments.

The problem with vitamins A and D illustrates the approach to vitamins taken by many people and cited repeatedly by scientists: "If these vitamins are good for me, even vital, then why won't more of the vitamins be even better?"

In the case of A and D, the answer is simple: It has been proven that excessive or massive doses actually can be harmful. Part of the problem with these vitamins is that the body tends to store them.

Further, according to one expert, there is very little evidence available on the effects of massive doses of any vitamin. There is little evidence available of the effects of massive doses over a long period of time — of what the cumulative effect might be.

The classic example of vitamin controversy is the contention by the two-time Nobel prize winner, Dr. Linus Pauling, that a lot of vitamin C can protect against, and fight, the common cold.

Other claims for vitamins include those for vitamin E, which is enjoying a relatively new popularity. Vitamin E, the claims run, can do many things, such as ward off heart disease and increase sexual potency. These claims are widely discounted by vitamin experts.

There are some who believe vitamins play a role in the treatment of mental illness. Dr. Pauling has coined the term "orthomolecular

JOHN THOMAS BOWERS

John Thomas Bowers, 68, who lived eight miles south of Pampa, was dead on arrival at Highland General Hospital at 7:45 a.m. today.

Funeral services were pending with Carmichael-Whitley Funeral Directors.

Mr. Bowers was born Feb. 17, 1904 in Gray County, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bowers, pioneer ranchers of Gray County.

He was married to Gladys Modgling in 1934. He held memberships in the Lions Club, Top O' Texas Lodge No. 1781, AF&M, the Scottish Rite of Dallas, the Kiwa Temple and the First Christian Church.

He is survived by his wife of the home; a son, John Thomas Bowers, Jr., Pampa; a grandson, Tommy Joe Bowers, Pampa; and three nephews, Joe Ben, Boulder, Colo.; James Elzie, Pierre, S.D.; and Guy, Ruidoso, N.M.

MRS. NANCY CULBERTSON

Services were set for 3:30 p.m. Tuesday at Carmichael-Whitley Colonial Chapel for Mrs. Nancy Evelyn Culbertson, 50, a Pampa resident for one year, and former long-time White Deer resident.

Officiating will be the Rev. Marvin Roark, minister of the First United Methodist Church at White Deer. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery in Pampa.

Mrs. Culbertson died at 3 a.m. Saturday at Highland General Hospital. She was born Nov. 3, 1922, at Lynville, Ohio.

Survivors include her husband, Jim; two sons, David, of the home, and James Michael, Korea; a daughter, Mrs. Sandra Belt, Pampa; four brothers, Charles Nance, Chicago, Ill.; David Nance, Tucson, Ariz.; and Bill and Kenneth Nance, both of Columbus, Ohio; two sisters, Mrs. Vera Blackburn, St. Louis, Mo., and Mrs. Peggy Castle, Alaska; and five grandchildren.

Former Pampa resident L.V. McDonald, 51, of Post, Tex., was killed in a car accident near Hondo, N.M., Friday at 6 p.m.

Funeral services were to be held at 2 p.m. today in Carmichael-Whitley Colonial Chapel with Rev. Martin Hager, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, officiating. Burial was to be in Memory Gardens Cemetery.

He was born April 7, 1921, at Erick, Okla., and was a Pampa High School graduate.

He had been a resident of Post for the past few years.

Survivors are his mother, Mrs. Lillie McDonald, and a brother, Kent, both of Pampa; his father, Leslie McDonald, Cordell, Okla.; a step-son, Greg Gilliam, Dallas; and an aunt, Goldie Hillingsworth, Pampa.

JESSE E. REEVES

Funeral services were scheduled for 2 p.m. Tuesday in Duenkel Memorial Chapel for Jesse Elijah Reeves, 84, 525 N. Faulkner, called "Uncle Jess" by many of his friends.

The Rev. Clyde Cone, minister of the First Baptist Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Memory Gardens Cemetery.

He was born May 27, 1888 in Anna, Tex., in Collins County, and grew up at Farmersville.

Mr. Reeves was employed by Culbertson-Stowers Chevrolet, Inc., where he worked for many years.

He was a member of the First Baptist Church. Survivors include his wife, Willie Rae, of the home; three sons, L.B. Reeves, Pampa; J.A. Reeves, south of Pampa; and B.R. Reeves, Midland; two daughters, Mrs. Jesse Biggers, Skellytown; and Mrs. Nell Kaps, Borger; an aunt, Mrs. Rose Swinson, Wolf City, Tex.; 10 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

Rape Attempt

Made On Girl

A 13-year old girl was admitted to Highland General Hospital Saturday following an attempted rape, according to the police report of the incident. The child's mother reported sending her on an errand to another residence where a man allegedly tried to sexually assault her. She was kicked and beaten and suffered possible internal injuries, according to the admitting physician. She did manage to escape, running home where she collapsed in fright and pain, the report said. The mother said she would press charges today.

Search Continues

For Sinking Boat

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Coast Guard continued a search today for the Sammie Lee, a 75-foot tuna boat which reported it was taking on water south of its home port of Freeport, Tex.

The Coast Guard said it spotted a life ring Sunday in the search area, about 80 miles south of Freeport, but was unable to determine if it was from the vessel.

The Sammie Lee, with two men aboard, began sending distress messages Saturday. Seas were running five to six feet high but weather conditions improved later.

Panhandle Odyssey Meet Set

AMARILLO—The second annual Panhandle Odyssey 2000, a joint function of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, Board of City Development and Board of Convention and Visitors Activities, will take place Jan. 19 at the Amarillo Civic Center.

Designed to bring Amarillo and area leaders together, the event will include a reception, banquet, program and dance, all of which are open, by reservation, to those interested in fostering unity and growth within the Panhandle.

Tickets for the evening's activities will be $7.50 per person and will include food and refreshments for the entire evening. Admittance will be limited to the first 1000 persons making reservations.

The evening will begin with a reception at 6:30. The 7:30 banquet program, consisting of musical entertainment and a presentation highlighting the Panhandle, its industry and people, will precede the dance. Mark Anthony and his orchestra will play for dancing until midnight.

The theme of Panhandle Odyssey 2000 was developed last year by its planners who stress that the Panhandle, as a unit, is journeying toward greater growth and prosperity during the remaining years of this century.

NEW YORK (AP) — To the fisherman there's nothing like that moment when the rod bends double, reeling in what he thinks just might be a seven pound lunger and then finding out what he's hooked is someone's discarded rubber waders.

Thoughtless litterers have turned some fishing areas into what amounts to garbage dumps and have posed a general threat to health, says Keep America Beautiful Inc., the national environmental improvement organization.

PRESSURES FOR PEACE

US Resumes Harbor Mining

SAIGON (AP) — The United States has resumed some military activities above the 20th Parallel of North Vietnam, including the reminding of Haiphong harbor, in efforts to put pressure on Hanoi to sign a peace agreement, U.S. sources said today.

North Vietnam said earlier that U.S. planes had dropped mines into the harbor at Haiphong and strafed its suburbs with rockets on Sunday.

The sources said U.S. planes apparently did fire some rockets or missiles at North Vietnamese anti-aircraft installations to protect the planes dropping mines.

The informants added that they knew of no American planes being hit.

North Vietnam also announced that the Viet Cong would observe a unilateral cease-fire of limited but unspecified duration in South Vietnam for Christmas and New Year's, as it has in past years.

But Hanoi again rejected the peace package proposed by South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu, who called for an indefinite Christmas truce, the release of American and North Vietnamese prisoners of war and direct negotiations between Saigon and the Communists.

Last year, the South Vietnamese observed 24-hour cease-fire periods at Christmas and New Year's, and the Communists specified 72 hours each. As usual, there were scores of violations.

Renewal of the air war on Haiphong and Hanoi in an attempt to force North Vietnam to accept U.S. peace terms had been predicted after Henry A. Kissinger's announcement Saturday that his negotiations with Hanoi's Le Duc Tho had broken down. President Nixon had halted all bombing, naval gunfire and mining above the 20th parallel on Oct. 22 to improve the climate for the negotiations.

The North Vietnamese also charged that, on Sunday, many U.S. planes and warships "savagely bombed" numerous population centers in the southern third of North Vietnam below the 20th parallel. Hanoi charged that the bombing killed or wounded many persons "and created heavy damage and destruction."

North Vietnam claimed that it shot down two U.S. planes in Thanh Hoa Province just below the 20th parallel on Saturday. It made no mention of the fliers.

The U.S. Command said it had no plane losses to report.

The U.S. Command reported that B52 bombers made 60 strikes on both sides of the demilitarized zone during the 24-hour period ending at noon Monday. Meanwhile, heavy fighting was reported for the third day in Quang Tri Province, on the South Vietnamese side of the DMZ.

STILL SERIOUS

Truman Showing Slight Improvement

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Harry S. Truman was slightly improved today and spoke for the first time in more than a week, but he remained in very serious condition.

A spokesman for Research Hospital and Medical Center, where Truman was admitted Dec. 5, said that when asked how he felt early today, the 88-year-old former president, "All right."

It was the first time since Dec. 10 that the hospital had reported Truman had spoken. His kidney output remained inadequate. His weakened heart remained unchanged.

At 9 a.m. CST, his vital signs were: pulse 74, blood pressure 130-56 and temperature 98.4.

After 12 days in Research Hospital and Medical Center, Truman's most serious problem is that his kidneys have deteriorated steadily since last Wednesday both in purifying blood and eliminating body waste, doctors said.

His heart also has been weakened, and his lungs continue to retain fluid — the ailment which led him to the hospital.

Truman's personal physician, Dr. Wallace Graham, implied Sunday that he would not risk damaging Truman's heart by the use of a renal dialysis — or artificial kidney — machine.

"We cannot jeopardize his chances for some prolongation by causing an imbalance in any one system," Graham said.

A kidney specialist who also examined the former president Sunday said it was his impression that the heart and lung situation prohibits use of the machine.

Group To Discuss Tourist Programs

Plans for the summer program to attract tourists to the Texas Panhandle area will be discussed at a meeting of the executive board of the Panhandle Playground Association tomorrow in Amarillo.

Lou Gallegly of Dalhart, association president, has called the meeting for 10 a.m. Tuesday in the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce offices.

Kay Fancher of Pampa is vice president of the group and will attend tomorrow's board meeting.

Group Seeks Redistricting For Wheeler

WHEELER—A petition was submitted at the last meeting of the Wheeler County Commissioners Court alleging the commissioners were not complying with the ruling of the U. S. Supreme Court nor the Texas constitution in the matter of precinct population distribution.

The petition was signed by T. W. Owen, John C. Vise and David M. Britt. Its chief contention was that Precinct 4 contained almost 51 per cent of the county's registered voters but only one vote in the affairs of the court.

The instrument calls on the commissioners to redistrict "correct the great disparity in population between the precincts."

Local Burglars Hit Businesses, Church

Pampa burglars, possibly lean and hungry from inactivity during the bad weather, had a field day—night-Saturday hitting three business houses and a church.

Their luck ran from $500 at one appliance store to zero at another.

Sometime between 9:15 and 11:15 p.m., a thief or thieves gained entry to Purl Meeker Refrigeration Co., 2209 N. Russell, through the back door. A number of stereo components and several 8-track tapes and an 8-track player were taken. The owner of the firm told police the loss represented chiefly a new shipment just received.

The store had been broken into on Nov. 26 when a number of television sets were taken. The rear door damaged in that burglary had not been repaired.

Later Saturday night thieves broke into Pampa Tape Exchange, 1822 N. Hobart, and took a 22 rifle and three BB-guns—a total loss of $126.80.

Dear Abby

Beware of women who kiss and smell

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: A woman wrote that she sold kisses at a carnival last summer to raise money for a local charity, and she couldn't forget the way one stranger had kissed her. [She said, "He wasn't much to look at, but wow, could that man kiss!"] Then she wanted to know if it was possible for a man to thrill a woman so much without feeling anything himself.

You replied, "I hate to destroy your illusions, but it is possible for a kiss to be a one-way proposition."

As one who has played the male lead in more movies than you would believe, I can verify your statement. I have "thrilled" many beautiful—but foul smelling movie actresses with my kisses, and have gotten nothing out of it but nauseated. Some were chronic garlic and onion eaters. Others seldom bathed, but used great quantities of perfume instead.

If you print this, please withhold my name. I am up in years now, but am still remembered by many.

AGING ACTOR IN MALIBU

DEAR ACTOR: Your secret is safe with me. The only thing worse than a man who kisses and tells is a woman who kisses and smells!

DEAR ABBY: I am a 30-year-old married man. I've been married for 10 years and have two children. My wife and I have very little in common other than our children.

My problem is my sex life. [Or perhaps I should say the lack of it.] My wife doesn't care for it, except on special occasions. She uses it as a reward for my doing chores around the house. We have relations about once every three or four weeks. I feel cheated and frustrated, and that the best years of my life are slipping away.

Don't suggest a marriage counselor. We spent two years going to one once a week. It solved nothing. I have considered divorce, but I don't want to give my children up because they are all I have that makes my life worth living. I accept the fact that I am a martyr for them now, but what else can I do?

DEPRESSED UP NORTH

DEAR DEPRESSED: I suggest you see a therapist. You must either learn to live with your situation without feeling like a "martyr" or extricate yourself from it. Parents who "sacrifice" their lives for their children usually wind up alone and bitter, and the children oftentimes sense the "martyrdom" and feel guilty.

DEAR ABBY: The couple who think they are "in the right" by not paying the $3 they were undercharged by a teen-ager helping at his parents' business are teaching the boy a lesson. A lesson in "Do unto others before they can do unto you."

I wonder if the boy is being docked the $3 from his pay? I also wonder if the couple would feel that the boy was "in the right" if they later discovered that he had accidentally OVERCHARGED them $3?

Legal rights are one thing. Human kindness and understanding are others.

Which do you think the boy will remember most?

DISAPPOINTED IN YOU

DEAR DISAPPOINTED: I'm disappointed in myself. You are right. I should have advised them to pay the additional $3.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90060 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90060.

Make The Most Of Being Alone During Holidays

NEW YORK, N.Y. — "For women without partners, holidays, at best, are difficult," Judi Kesselman writes in the current issue of national magazine. "And, now, more and more of us women are alone. According to the U.S. Census Bureau, up to 60 percent of womankind lives without a total family—divorced, separated, widowed or single. And the figure is rising."

"Santa" Takes Toy Test

COLLEGE STATION—Santa may have two lists he checks twice, and toy shoppers might follow his example.

Dr. Jennie Kitching, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University, suggested a checklist on toy construction, safety, and suitability.

"The lure of the toy counter is sometimes overwhelming," she observed. "So before you buy, ask the following questions:—Is the toy well made? If it isn't, don't buy it."

—What will the toy do for the child—or to the child?

—Why should the child be interested in it? Keep in mind the child's age, interests and abilities.

—How long will he be interested in it? Keep in mind the child's age, interests and abilities.

—Is the toy safe, strong, durable, sanitary and attractive?

—Is it simple in construction—not too large, too

There are ways, however, for women who are alone at Christmas and New Year's to make the best of things. "The best advice is to plan ahead," Ms. Kesselman begins. "Take a trip to a new place over the holidays—like a health resort. Most are not geared for families, and with the knowledge that you'll come home looking better than all your family-locked friends, you're sure to have a good time."

Single parents should remember that they're not alone. "Why not share the Christmas morning glee with your single parent friends and their children," Ms. Kesselman suggests. "Or what about that friend whose husband is overseas? Bringing people together almost invariably brings happiness, especially during the holidays."

If you're felling self-pity, a visit to those less fortunate than yourself is a sure cure. "You'll shake off that holiday depression if you spend some time at a hospital children's ward, a veteran's hospital, an old folks home or with just about anyone you know who is alone," Ms. Kesselman points out. "Feeling responsible for another's happiness does a remarkable job of chasing the blues."

And if the holiday party invitations aren't exactly stuffing your mailbox, send out your own! Try a candle-light Christmas buffet," she concludes, "and invite all of those friends without families. Company is the best antidote for misery."

Evening Elegance—An ultrasophisticated, yet quite inexpensive, look for evening wear is a long skirt topped with a crepe wrap-around blouse. A string of pearls will add another touch of elegance.

According to Indian legend, the Amazon River was formed when the moon wept because she could not marry the sun.

THE next meeting will be in the Flame Room, Pioneer Gas Building, Jan. 2, at 2 p.m.

PROGRESSIVE HD CLUB Gifts were exchanged and Mrs. D. A. Rife presented two Christmas stories at the recent meeting of the Progressive Home Demonstration Club, which met in the home of Mrs. T. W. Price, 1221 W. 18th.

Mrs. Rife opened the meeting with the club prayer, and announced that a work shop will be held Jan. 29 at the annex, on making robes and bibs.

Members present were Meses. E. C. Golden, G. B. Hogan, J. A. King, T. W. Price, E. A. Revard, E. P. Templin and Rife and guests Meses. Howard Cruise and H. M. Folmar.

The next meeting will be in the Flame Room, Pioneer Gas Building, Jan. 2, at 2 p.m.

Don't Forget Lashes

Take time each evening to moisturize your face and neck area to keep a smooth, glowing complexion. And don't forget your eyelashes. When you remove mascara, spend extra time gently rubbing a cream or vaseline over the lashes to keep them looking long and silky.

TUESDAY, DEC. 19

Your birthday today: A variety of relationships collectively provide support and encouragement—require your dedication in return. Today's natives possess a definite talent for business and very often want to be the boss.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: After all the trouble you've taken to get the facts, you still have to use your head and put things together.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Fight in with an extra effort; volunteer if that is the only way you can get in on the main action. Overtime is okay, too.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: When business and traffic get into snarls and slow down, have something with you that you can work on or amuse yourself with.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Now comes a day which is in effect an obstacle challenging your ability to get through surprise hindrances. Avoid late starts.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: Some new ideas work! Before judging a friend, get the other side of the story. His doings may have their reasons or excuses.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]:

Oswald: "One of the worst tendencies of rubber-bridge players is that they tend to tilt at windmills. South has 13 high card points and no one can find serious fault with his opening diamond."

Jim: "On the other hand, South opened in third seat and undoubtedly had planned to pass his partner's response and try to pick up a part score."

Oswald: "That is just where the windmill tilting came up. North jumped to three diamonds and South should have been delighted to take a small profit but South tried three no-trump. Jim: 'It was hard to make since the defense started by running off five heart tricks. South discarded two spades and a club from dummy and a diamond and club from his own hand. West led a diamond after finishing his hearts and successful diamond and spade finesse gave South the rest of the tricks.'"

Oswald: "South explained that he would have made the game if hearts had broken 4-4. It was glib but wrong. South could only

Santa and the ICE KING

by Lucrece Beale

SYNOPSIS: After a terrible fight, Santa, Onik and Keotuk subdued the giant polar bear and made friends with him. Now the bear is taking them to the domain of the Ice King. Santa and Onik hope to convince the Ice King that he must end the continuous winter that threatens to starve all who live in the North.

CHAPTER ELEVEN ICE KING AT WORK

Onik dragged the big sled from the igloo and Santa harnessed it to the now gentle polar bear. Then Santa and Onik and Keotuk got on the sled and the polar bear started away.

At first the bear walked slowly and kept looking behind as if trying to understand what he was pulling and why. But after a while he got used to it and even began to enjoy it. He felt that he was stronger and more powerful than these creatures, after all, for he was taking them somewhere, not they taking him.

He began to run and the heavy sled sped over the ice like a pebble skimming over water.

Keotuk was very pleased to be a rider. Every now and then he leaped from the sled and ran along beside the bear to make sure everything was all right. But now even Keotuk could not keep up with the fast bear and the dog always tired and jumped back on the sled to travel in style.

On and on they went until finally the day came when Santa touched Onik on the shoulder and shouted, "There it is!"

Onik poked his head out of his fur hood and looked where Santa pointed. He saw a lofty castle made all of ice shimmering behind veils of white snow.

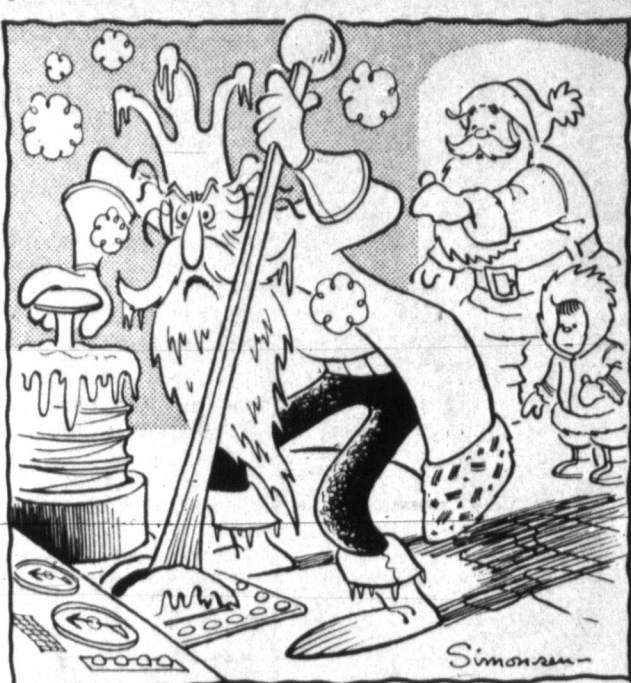

The castle stood on a hill and its bluish white spires towered into the sky. Gale winds lashed around the hill, whipping at the castle walls and howling among the steeples.

"How strange it is!" shivered Onik when they reached the castle. "Aren't you afraid?"

"I am, indeed," confessed Santa. "Even Keotuk and the polar bear when they arrived at the castle were overwhelmed by the eerie solitude. They huddled together, the dog between the bear's big paws, for warmth and company."

Looking fearfully to right and left, Santa and Onik went up the icy path and through the icy door and into the icy hall of the icy castle. They saw no sign of living creature but suddenly from some far away place above their heads came a rumbling, rattling, clattering thunder as if the whole castle was about to crash down on top of them.

His knees shaking, hardly daring to breathe, Onik followed Santa up the winding stairs. Up and up, round and round, they went and the higher they went, the louder grew the hubbub until at last, nearly deafened, they arrived in a chamber at the top of the winding stairs and there they found the Ice King himself.

He was a giant of a king with deepest eyes and whitewashed hair that fell over his forehead and alabaster whiskers climbing his cheeks. Ice was on his eye-brows and icicles dripped from his whiskers. As he breathed, clouds of frost exploded from his nostrils.

With one hand he turned the handle of a colossal ice crusher while with the other hand he pumped an immense bellows up and down.

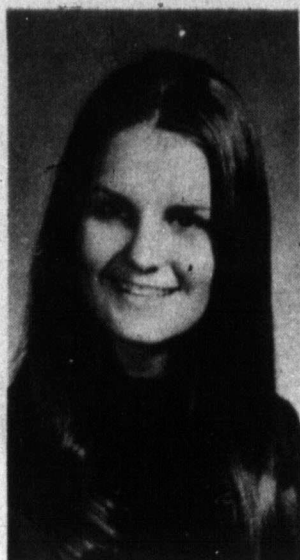

From the bellows came the howling winds, from the crushing came the avalanche of ice that covered the Northern lands. Santa took a deep breath and shouted from the door, "Do stop a moment!"

But the Ice King neither heard nor saw. He worked on like one possessed as if he would never, could never stop. Santa crossed the room and laid his hand on the Ice King's shoulder. With a startled cry the Ice King threw up his arms and whirled around.

Instantly the pandemonium ceased and the room was hushed. "Who are you?" thundered the Ice King staring at the visitors from inflamed blue eyes.

Santa swallowed hard and fell back a step. Onik peeped fearfully from behind Santa's back. Then Santa cleared his throat and bravely said, "We're friends. Come to call." The Ice King's mouth fell open and he stared and stared and then, with a cry, he burst into tears!

Steelers Win First Title After Trying 40 Years

By Associated Press

"It took a long time, but we finally did it," said Art Rooney, only owner the Pittsburgh Steelers have ever had.

The Steelers finally have won their first National Football League title in the team's 40-year history.

"It (the wait) was worth it," the white-haired, 71-year-old Rooney said Sunday after the Steelers captured the American Football Conference's Central Division title with a 24-2 victory over the San Diego Chargers.

The triumph gave the Steelers an 11-3 record, their best ever, and the home-field advantage in the playoffs, which begin next weekend.

The Steelers will entertain Oakland's AFC West champions in the opening playoff game Saturday, at 1 p.m. EST. Three hours later, the San Francisco 49ers, champions of the National Football Conference West, will be host to the defending Super Bowl champion Dallas Cowboys, the NFC's wild-card qualifier.

The opening round of the playoffs will be completed next Sunday, with Green Bay, winner in the NFC Central, at Washington, champion of the AFC East, starting at noon EST, and Cleveland, the AFC's wild-card entry, at Miami, the AFC East winner, beginning at 2 p.m. CST.

In other regular-season finales Sunday, Cleveland downed the New York Jets 26-10, the New York Giants thrashed Dallas 23-3, Buffalo surprised Washington 24-17, Green Bay upended New Orleans 30-20, Oakland topped Chicago 28-21, Detroit beat Los Angeles 34-17, Kansas City edged Atlanta 17-14, Cincinnati overwhelmed Houston 61-17, Denver battered New England 45-21, and St. Louis nipped Philadelphia 24-23.

On Saturday, Miami completed a perfect season, blanking Baltimore 16-0, and San Francisco nipped Minnesota 20-17.

Franco Harris and John Fuqua scored for the Steelers on two-yard runs, and Terry Bradshaw passed 17 yards to Ron Shanklin for another touchdown.

Cleveland's Mike Phipps hurled two touchdown passes, both to Frank Pitts, including a tie-breaking 98-yarder, in the Browns' victory over the Jets.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry, whose Cowboys were completely outplayed by the Giants, concluded that his team was not ready to defend its Super Bowl championship. "We are going to have to make a real turnaround in six days to stay with San Francisco," he said. "We just were not ready and the Giants snowballed us."

The Giants gained 174 yards on the ground to Dallas' 47, totaled 175 yards passing to the Cowboys' 85 and sacked Dallas quarterbacks five times. Norm Snead passed for two New York touchdowns and Pete Gogolak kicked three field goals.

Green Bay Coach Dan Devine used his regulars sparingly, but was satisfied with his team's victory over New Orleans in an unusual game in which the first three touchdowns resulted either directly or indirectly from blocked field goals and a blocked punt.

Washington, losing its second in a row after winning 11 of 12, was beaten when Buffalo's Jim Braxton scored from the four with 43 seconds remaining. The Bills' O.J. Simpson captured the NFL rushing title by gaining 101 yards for a season total of 1,251 yards. Washington's Larry Brown, sidelined by an injury for the second straight week, finished with 1,216 yards.

Oakland, getting ready for its playoff game against Pittsburgh, won its sixth straight, stopping Chicago on Clarence Davis' 46-yard scoring run in the final period. Bears' quarterback Bobby Douglass gained 127 rushing, giving him 968 for the season—a record for quarterbacks.

Detroit's triumph over Los Angeles left the Rams with a 5-7-1 mark, their worst since 1965, and increased speculation that LA Coach Tommy Prothro might not be back for 1973.

Detroit's Greg Landry hit tight end Charlie Sanders with two second-half scoring passes after the score had been tied 17-17.

St. Louis' Jim Hart connected on 19 on 30 passes for 334 yards, including scoring plays of 65 yards to Walker Gillette and 41 yards to Bobby Moore in gaining his second victory in a row following his return to a starting role.

Houston actually led Cincinnati 10-7 in the second period before the Bengals erupted, including a burst of 45 points in the second half. Doug Dressler scored three times for Cincinnati, while Lamar Parrish intercepted two consecutive Houston passes and returned them 25 and 33 yards for touchdowns and Neil Craig returned another Oilers pass 63 yards for a TD.

Kansas City's Len Dawson flipped scoring strikes of 15 yards to Otis Taylor and seven yards to Ed Podolak in the Chiefs' triumph over Atlanta. Dawson connected on 11 consecutive passes.

Charley Johnson passed for three touchdowns, two to Haven Moses, and Floyd Little scored twice in Denver's romp over New England. The Broncos scored the first five times they had the ball.

Miami's victory over Baltimore Saturday gave the Dolphins a 14-0 record, the best ever in NFL history. The Dolphins also set a league rushing record, finishing with 2,951 yards.

San Francisco clinched the NFC's Western Division title, overcoming Minnesota on John Brodie's two-yard TD pass to Dick Witcher with 25 seconds remaining. "It's the greatest thing that ever happened to me—both personally and as a team thing," said Witcher.

Basketball Roundup

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

One thing about the Houston Rockets: They've got character. Another thing: They've got desire and hustle.

Those elements combined Sunday night to help the Rockets wipe out a 28-point deficit in the third period and give them a 110-109 National Basketball Association victory over the Cleveland Cavaliers.

"We showed a lot of character in the second half," said Houston Coach Tex Winter. "We were an entirely different team. Hustle and desire won it. We needed that kind of win—to be able to come back like that."

The Cavaliers' big lead had been building since the middle of the first period on the sharp shooting of Dwight Davis and Lennie Wilkens.

But the Rockets stormed back behind Jack Marin and Mike Newlin to knock off chunks of the Cavalier lead. Three baskets by Marin, who scored 35 points overall, cut the lead to 93-80 at the end of three quarters.

The Rockets finally tied the Cavaliers on Newlin's layup with 3:27 to go that made the score 102-102.

Marin's shot with 1:58 remaining gave Houston the lead for good.

In the other NBA games Sunday, the Phoenix Suns beat the Kansas City-Omaha Kings 112-102 and the Boston Celtics walloped the Seattle SuperSonics 123-98.

American Basketball Association results: New York 112, Virginia 106; Memphis 125, Carolina 118 and San Diego 113, Denver 104.

In Saturday night's games in the NBA, New York beat Chicago 97-83; Buffalo walloped Philadelphia 126-103; Atlanta topped Cleveland 100-94; Houston turned back Detroit 123-112; Boston slammed Portland 123-116 and Baltimore defeated Golden State 105-99.

In the ABA it was: Virginia 124, New York 107; Carolina 100, San Diego 98; Kentucky 117, Denver 110 and Indiana 125, Memphis 120.

Newlin's fine performance was fashioned under strain—he had a bad cold and suffered a cut over one eye during the second period. He had the cut sewn up with eight stitches and then returned to post his career high point total.

Led by Charlie Scott, Phoenix scored 36 points in the third quarter to beat Kansas City-Omaha. Scott finished with 26 points, the same as the Kings' Nate Archibald.

Boston won its ninth straight game with a torrid second quarter that knocked Seattle out of contention. The Celtics held a 30-12 advantage in the period, boosting their halftime lead to 55-34.

George Carter scored 30 points to lead New York's ABA victory. Memphis beat Carolina behind Lee Davis' 26 points and San Diego smashed Denver behind Chuck Williams' 31 points.

Harry Walker, former manager of the Cardinals, Pirates and Astros, is the new hitting instructor for the St. Louis Cardinals and their farm club at Tulsa, Okla.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces can he develop to his utmost capability.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Small Town Industry

Back in Evansville, Indiana, newspaper columnist Joe Aaron reported the kind of story Americans need to read more about.

Aaron apparently is a roving reporter who simply goes where a story might be, and this time it was in Livermore, Ky., and it was about a chair factory which operated by farming out unfinished chairs to townspeople who would do the work on a piece basis at 10 cents a chair.

These were cane bottomed chairs, and the farm folk and townspeople would "cane" the chairs and return them to the factory.

"It all happened a long time ago," wrote Aaron, "when people were still doing things for themselves, making their own way without government help."

Aaron wrote that the people of Livermore, Ky., can still remember when almost every home in Livermore was a miniature chair factory. There was even a mule-drawn chair wagon that dropped off frames to be caned and picked up the ones that had been completed.

Some people did the work as a means of earning a meager living at a time when jobs of any kind were hard to come by. Others did the work as a source of extra spending money as Aaron said "a spare time job that brought the frills and baubles that we want but don't really need."

People who were not able to do other work, crippled folks or kids or the aged could at least put cane bottoms in the chairs. It took about 20 minutes to cane a chair and the pay was 10 cents a chair.

Aaron wrote that the company, now the town's biggest employer was founded in 1906. It continued farming out its chairs until the Fair Labor Practices Act of the 1930s forced it to bring its chairs to the plant and a lot of townspeople suddenly were out of work.

The company has not made a cane bottomed chair for years having switched to the manufacture of lounge chairs for motels and nursing homes.

"And the government, of course, has taken on the support of everybody," writes Aaron who added wryly "that's known as progress."

But one old timer who remembered the days of doing piece work for the chair factory summed it up this way:

"...That chair factory did more for the poor folks than welfare, relief and social security put together."

"If there was a papa, he worked at the factory."

"The old, the widows, the orphans and crippled seated chairs at home. Anyone who needed an extra dollar or two would take as many chairs as he could seat."

The story is a valuable lesson for Americans today.

Dog's Adnormal Life

When a man bites dog food, that's some kind of news.

To get some idea of just what Americans are feeding their 32 million pets, to the tune of $1.5 billion a year, a food editor recently sampled 11 different brands of commercial dog food, ranging from biscuits to allegedly all-meat gunk.

His reactions ranged from "not bad" for the biscuits, especially when spread with a little butter, to "like concretized sawdust" for one brand of dry meal or "awful looking-tasted foul" for one concoction of horsemeat chunks.

This is what is known as going beyond the call of journalistic duty.

But it is not only in the matter of food that it's a dog's life. According to psychoanalyst K. Eileen Hite, among the abnormalities that man has perpetrated on the dog is depriving him of any decent kind of family life.

The psychoanalyst, who is also president of the Boston Terrier Club of New York, says that "most dogs live in family groups if they have an opportunity."

Yet what we've done to the dog is no more than what we've done to ourselves, she adds. In modern life, the male dog rarely gets a chance to see his offspring, and the human male is similarly isolated by virtue of being away all day.

Still, Dad at least gets home once in a while. How many male dogs know where their children are?

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The first U.S. Mint was established in Philadelphia, then the nation's capital, by the act of April 2, 1792, which provided for gold, silver and copper coinage. The World Almanac recalls. The Bureau of the Mint manufactures all U.S. coins and distributes them through the Federal Reserve banks and branches.

BERRY'S WORLD

"My son wants a hair drier for Christmas!"

Crossroads Report

Dear Editor:

I see where millions of little kids who live near schools are being bused across towns or counties to other schools because they are black, white, brown, red or yellow.

Formerly, in many places, only black kids were required to attend certain schools because of their color, but the judiciary has ruled that all must now be colorless.

Some folks are complaining, but the only way to get the bus-happy jurists over their mix-mania is to require that any judge ordering mass busing has got to drive one of the buses every day.

I see where a high-ranking people-tamer who helps infest the White House says proudly that the balanced budget is as extinct as the passenger pigeon.

My solvent neighbor says he has read about governments and known some people who never balanced their budgets, but they always claimed they would start doing so some day.

Now he's uneasy about the U.S. Savings Bonds he has bought, because this is the first time he has ever been suckered into loaning money to a deadbeat man or outfit with no plans or promises to reform.

It appears from observation and reading the papers that human pride changes. From one era to another it takes different things to make people proud.

A while back it was a matter of pride with most folks when they were earning their own living, and a shameful thing to be living on charity.

But the attitude toward physical and/or mental labor leading to taxpayer status seems to have changed. The most stuck-up folks nowadays are those who don't labor, such as bureau wheels, congressmen, and other types of welfares.

They did this by declaring the death sentence to be unlawful punishment for murderers, so that a robber who kills all of the witnesses to his crime get paid for his executioner work by unlikely conviction if he gets caught.

This noble move to preserve the criminal species was necessary because if the civility was allowed to kill off most of its murderers, the judge business would be depressed.

Like in a couple of incidents lately where some black and white sailors on U.S. Navy ships have sort of overdone the togetherness thing.

Several of them wound up in the brig, and others in the hospital. But the integrationers probably feel that a few injured or dead-as long as it is somebody else—is a reasonable price to pay for more racial adjacency.

For the Boy Who Has Everything

MARILYN MANION

Will the Free World Survive?

As these words are written, Henry Kissinger is in Paris and "peace" is just around the corner. When it will come and what kind of peace it will be is anybody's guess.

War and Peace. How can we prevent the first and preserve the second? That has been a baffling question throughout human history. In today's world, with nuclear weapons and a Communist conspiracy dedicated to the conquering of the earth, the question becomes more mind-boggling.

Major General Thomas A. Lane (USA-Ret.) had some wisdom to offer on this subject when he appeared on a recent Manion Forum radio program. His words are not exactly cheering, but perhaps it's time we listened to some sober truth. General Lane's observations:

"This is our plight at the moment: our political system produces leaders who promise peace while they keep us engaged in continuing war. They win office by promising peace even when they show no capacity to deliver it. Unless we develop leaders who understand war, the United States and the whole free world will be dragged down to defeat."

"The politician who tells the people they can achieve security and peace by courting the good will of the enemy is grossly ignorant or a liar and a cheat. And when through ineptitude he embroils them in unending war, he wastes their strength and undermines their self-confidence."

"If we analyze the United States' position in Viet Nam, we find that the U.S. is trying to negotiate peace without threatening the vital interests of the enemy. North Viet Nam wages war in the South, scouring the people and the countryside, threatening the very survival of the country. On our side, there is no corresponding threat to the existence of North Viet Nam. In fact, the United States prohibits South Viet Nam from invading the North. We have proclaimed that we do not wish to defeat North Viet Nam."

"In human experience, the great deterrent to initiating war is the possibility that you may lose it and become subject to the state you attacked. But today, as a gift of U.S. policy, our enemies take no such risk. If they attack our ally, we shall restrain our ally from defeating them. We invite the Communist powers to wage wars of satellite aggression by assuring them that there will be no risk to the survival of the aggressors.

"A sound peace policy would warn Moscow and Peking that if their satellites wage wars against our allies, we shall defeat the satellites and liberate them from the Communist yoke. The United States has the power to liberate both North Korea and North Viet Nam at the time these states attacked our allies. If it had been clear U.S. policy to make such a response to aggression, the wars in Korea and Viet Nam would never have been started. The Communist states wage war to gain territory, not to lose it."

"It is impossible to negotiate peace with a conqueror unless you threaten his vital interests. If just one American President within the past decade had had the gumption to say to Moscow: 'You stop that aggression against South Viet Nam or we shall seize North Viet Nam and you won't get it back!', the war would have ended very quickly."

"In the present world conflict, there is no fall back position for the free world. If the United States is defeated, the whole world will be submerged in a dark night of Communist tyranny. That is why the prevalence of these errors about war in the minds of our leaders are so portentous for the fall of western civilization. The prospect is that when our people awaken to their danger, the battle will have been lost. There will be no second chance."

"The politician who tells the people they can achieve security and peace by courting the good will of the enemy is grossly ignorant or a liar and a cheat. And when through ineptitude he embroils them in unending war, he wastes their strength and undermines their self-confidence."

Import Impact

Twenty-four of every 100 pounds of steel products used by Americans is produced by foreign labor and equipment. One out of every five automobiles on U.S. highways is foreign made.

Steel imports have cost the jobs of 150,000 steelworkers in the United States.

The reason: Higher production costs make American products noncompetitive. — Action in Kentucky

Your Health

Is 'Early to Rise' Harmful?

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I am 24, married and in pretty good health. All my life my dad conditioned me to "rise and shine" very early. As a result, I cannot sleep after about 7 a.m. Since I am a schoolteacher, this suits me fine. Unfortunately, my husband and I entertain a lot on weekends 'til all hours and have friends stay over. During the week, we hit the sack late (midnight) and people are constantly telling me that I'm nuts—and my body must have seven or eight hours sleep a night.

My 30-year-old sis is just like me and we average five or six hours sleep a night. We feel fine, though our husbands are worried over our lack of sleep. We do have dark circles under our eyes—but those have always been there. We take vitamin supplements but, because of everyone's fussing, now we are getting worried.

Even though I have darkened the bedroom, I simply cannot sleep past 7. If I do sleep more than eight hours, I feel groggy all day. Please advise. I've tried afternoon naps, but I cannot sleep.

Dear Reader—The key to your problem is in your own statement that you feel fine and are in pretty good health. There is no set rule for how many hours of sleep a person needs. Some people, like yourself, need only five or six hours of sleep—and some apparently even less. Others need 10 hours. We are all individuals with different needs. Sleep is necessary mostly for the proper function of the nervous system but the amount varies.

Many sleep patterns are habits, which are often formed early in life. I suspect that the brain organizes itself to a given rhythm in infancy and early childhood and the daily cycle then activates brain mechanisms thereafter that control our own day-night cycle. The individual brain patterns become one's own individual biological clock. While we can make some adjustments in our habits—like learning to take an afternoon nap—the basic rhythm is probably programmed for life. Darkening the room, then, won't change the basic, inherent brain rhythm, although the sudden cue of light or noise may disturb your usual cycle and cause you to lose sleep. This is what happens on globe-circling trips. The change in day-night cycle geographically is out of phase with one's biological clock and the body has to make an adjustment to reset its cycle. After the readjustment, the individual returns to the original cycle of six or eight or 10 hours sleep.

The dark circles under the eyes have nothing to do with your sleep habits. The color is from the veins around the eye under the skin. The blue blood here causes the color. Everyone has the same blood in this region. Some have more fat around the eye and the veins are deeper and cannot be seen.

Faith is the wire that connects you to grace, and over which grace comes streaming from God.

Inside Washington

Bush Won Chairmanship
Over Two Ex-Governors
By ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Republican governors clamoring for a bigger voice in party affairs came close to getting even more than they've been asking for.

Two of their number were seriously considered for GOP national chairman.

In the end, they were edged out by UN ambassador George Bush, but it was touch and go right up to the announcement of his choice. The governors are:

—Illinois Gov. Richard Ogilvie, 49, who leaves office next month after failing to win a second term. A World War II veteran and lawyer, he has experience as a U.S. attorney and in the Justice Department. The odds are he will be offered an ambassadorship if he wants it.

—Former Kentucky Gov. Louie Nunn, 48, who ran for the Senate this year but didn't make it. An attorney with business experience, he is regarded as an able executive with wide party ties. He is virtually certain to get a high federal job.

Also seriously considered for national chairman was John S. Andrews, 53, chairman of the Ohio state Republican committee. While little known publicly, he is a skilled political technician and very effective executive—important qualities the National Committee well could use, particularly in 1974 when 15 Republican Senators and all Republican members of the House are up for election.

That year, 19 Democratic Senators will have to run again, and control of the Senate in the ensuing two years could be at stake.

That crucial point was vigorously stressed in inner White House councils in the discussions of the urgent need to strengthen the party's leadership and machinery in preparation for that eventual battle. It was strongly emphasized that the 1974 congressional campaign will be a portentous prelude to the 1976 presidential contest.

In a large measure, it was this factor that cast the weight in favor of Bush as national chairman. It was felt he was best equipped to carry the ball both in the coming congressional struggle and the maneuvering and manipulating leading up to the 1976 presidential contest.

President Nixon personally made the decision on Bush. The President did that on the basis of Bush's record as ambassador to the UN, which the chief executive rates as outstanding.

Still Picking
The Senate's two most veteran members in age and service, both Republicans, will be up for election in 1974. They are:

Sen. George Aiken, Vt., 80, 32 years in the chamber and senior GOP member of the Foreign Relations Committee, Agriculture Committee and Joint Atomic Energy Committee. In excellent health, the white-crested New Englander who sports bright red ties says he still hasn't decided what he will do. "It all depends on how things are by then," he observes noncommittally.

Sen. Milton Young, N.D., 75, 27 years in the chamber and senior GOP member of the powerful Appropriations Committee and a ranking Agriculture committeeman. Quiet-voiced and mild-mannered, the tall midwesterner is spry and youthful looking—and already preparing to seek a sixth term. Recently, a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner was held for him in North Dakota at which he avowed, "If I ever become unable to carry the burden of my office due to impaired health, I will resign immediately."

Oldest Democrat up for election in 1974 will be Sen. J. William Fulbright, Ark., 67, testy chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee—where he has pursued a militant, but largely unavailing, dovish policy. When he ran for reelection four years ago, Fulbright indicated this would be his last term. Now he is keeping his tight-lipped counsel on whether he will stick to that or not.

In the last few years, Fulbright's biographical sketch in the Congressional Directory has contained no mention of his birth date. He carefully deleted it.

In The Bag

The two top Senate Republican leaders will definitely be reelected—floor leader Hugh Scott, Pa., and whip Robert Griffin, Mich.

Those reports of likely opposition against them are largely wish-thinking. They will get nowhere. Both Scott and Griffin have two crucial winning assets: the hearty approval and support of President Nixon and firm commitments of backing from a decisive majority of their GOP colleagues.

In a talk with Scott about the coming session of Congress, the President told him, "I am looking forward to our working together as cordially and closely as we did in my first term."

Sparks
Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., 68, member of the Senate for 16 years, is already busily running for another term in 1974. Zealously assisting him is a staff of around 70, of whom some 20 are lawyers, and a clerical budget of more than $1 million—footed by taxpayers. To direct this large establishment, Javits hired a young management specialist, who is on the Senate payroll as an administrative assistant. Javits ranks high on five committees, which provide him with a lot of clerical patronage to accumulate a large staff. It is rated as one of the most efficient on Capitol Hill—and Javits among the speediest publicity seekers in Congress. The New Yorker is noted for outracing colleagues with press releases.
