

UNIVERSITY LAND TAX BILL BACK TO COMMITTEE

CITY GRANTS EXTENSION OF TIME ON TAX PAYMENT

THIRTY DAYS OF GRACE GIVEN ON PROPERTY LEVY

COMMISSION ALLOWS TILL MARCH 1 ACCOUNT HARD TIMES

SET PAVING WIDTH TO HARDSURFACE THIRTY SIX FEET FROM CURB TO CURB

The city commission in called session here Wednesday afternoon voted to extend the time limit for payment of city taxes for thirty days, unanimously, approving a motion made by W. S. Posey that no penalties be attached to the payments until after March 1.

The action came after some discussion of the situation now facing many property owners, some of whom, it was explained, do not now have money with which to pay the taxes by February 1, as ordinarily required by a visitor to the meeting that the time extension was granted, but the commission agreed that this could be arranged. The commission took final action on the widths of the various streets that will be paved under the recent contract awarded to the Panhandle Construction company, the prevailing thought seeming to be that a great mistake was made when Main was paved only 26 feet, the street under the coming program will be less than 26 feet from curb to curb, with one exception.

A delegation of 16th street property owners declared that the majority of property owners wished their street not less than 26 feet. The commission approved this width. Figures submitted by Martin H. Smith, city engineer, showed that the total difference in cost to the city on the entire eight blocks would be a little over $864. The cost difference to each property owner on the basis of a 26 foot lot was shown at a few cents more than $43, the 26 foot street costing approximately $271, and the 26 foot street costing a little more than $216.

Action was taken on other streets and avenues as follows: Texas Avenue from 14th to 19th is to be paved 72 feet wide, with a 22 foot parkway in the center and 20 feet of paving on each side. Avenue G, from 10th to 11th is to be paved 55 feet wide solid, to serve the wholesale district. A motion by one commissioner to pave this avenue 59 feet wide did not receive a second. Eighth street, from Avenue G to Avenue H, 55 feet wide solid. Avenue H, north of the railroad from 6th to 1st, to be paved 26 feet, according to the terms of a petition submitted by property owners. Nineteenth street, from Texas Avenue to College Avenue, is to be paved 28 feet wide all the way. It was mentioned that the width be cut to 26 feet east of Avenue Q as much traffic will use Avenue Q into the city, but this was voted down.

All the paving will be brick on four inch concrete base as per action of the commission at a former meeting. Considerable discussion was held on the subject of subways under railroad crossings on Broadway and Avenue H, but no definite action was taken.

1927 Auto License Plates Being Stolen

The stealing of 1927 auto license plates has become frequent on the streets of Lubbock at night and police are determined to catch the thieves. Last night a Dallas man lost the plates from his car as it was parked on one of the prominent streets of the downtown section. Police believe that auto thieves are responsible for the theft of the plates.

TWO SMALL FIRES HERE

Joe Hilton Home Damaged, Taxicab Upholstery Burns During Wednesday Afternoon

A short in the battery charger of a radio caused a small fire in the home of Joe Hilton, 602 Avenue M, shortly after 7 o'clock last night. Firemen quickly extinguished the blaze. A checking case caught fire about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and most of the books and upholstery was destroyed before the fire department reached the scene.

"He gave me more grief than any man in base ball with fines and suspensions—but when he did I deserved them. He bars nobody."

WANT IDALOU ROAD KEPT ON BROADWAY

DICKINSON HEADS MEETING TO PROTEST NEW DESIGNATION OF HIGHWAY

Giving Broadway as the only "natural outlet," a meeting of more than 75 Lubbock citizens, headed by W. K. Dickinson, Sr., pioneer citizen, was held in the chamber of commerce office last night, to protest establishment of the location of the highway. The Avenue H route will not include the experiment station. Several others spoke.

Others Speak H. T. Kimbro and Tom Garrard also made strong pleas for the original designation. Don L. Jones, superintendent of the agricultural experiment station told of many benefits both to the people and to the station because of its location on the highway. The Avenue H route will not include the experiment station. Several others spoke.

A motion was adopted that a petition be circulated in the county, asking for the Broadway outlet to Idalou. A committee was appointed, composed of E. C. Montgomery, W. R. Thorpe and Tom Garrard, to outline the argument for the project, to be presented at a meeting to be held in the district court room next Wednesday night. At this meeting the case will be discussed further and definite action taken. The men, although favoring a north highway outlet to Plainview feel that Broadway is the only outlet for the Idalou highway. The protest is to be presented to the county commissioners after the meeting next week.

NO BLAME FOR BAYLOR DISASTER AT ROUND ROCK

RAIN, MIST, AND FOG CAUSED TRAGEDY PROBERS DECIDE

ACT OF PROVIDENCE

MAYOR TELLS GRAPHIC STORY OF DEATH OF 10 STUDENTS

(By The Associated Press) ROUND ROCK, Jan. 26.—Responsibility for the grade crossing here last week remained unclear except for a general agreement that it was "an act of providence," when the investigating board of the Missouri-Pacific railway adjourned here this afternoon. "Rain, mist and fog," were blamed for the deaths of the ten Baylor University students who were in the bus struck by the passenger train. Much that was shocking in the way of ghostly details of the accident, but little that was incriminating in any way was brought to light. Members of the train crew told of picking up arms and legs and dismembered torso, removing a mutilated man from the front of the engine, and of reading cries and bewildered supplications.

Mayor Tells Story Mayor W. R. Woolsey of Round Rock told one of the most graphic stories of the wreck.

"I heard the noon whistle blow," he said, "and I saw the bus coming at slow speed. I noticed that the glass of its window was smeared with mist. I started down the alley to the post-office and noticed the bus pick up speed. Then I heard the train whistle for the crossing. It appeared to me the driver of the bus tried to make the crossing. Then I saw a boy jump out of the bus. Apparently West Washam, whose friends, Abe Kelley pushed him to safety and next the bus swerved to the left with the train right on it. The engine hit the car a little past the center and scooted it down the track for a little distance, then dropped it to the right."

"I saw a boy drop off the left side of the engine and I realized fully what had happened, I told Trudel (J. S. Trudel, filling station operator) to phone for the doctor, and ran down there to the accident. "When I got there somebody was helping Coach Wolf up from the ground. He was dazed. Some boy wanted to know where all the blood on his face was coming from."

Telegraph operators, section men, the Round Rock agent and train officials all testified. Each declared that "the weather was just like it is today" by which they meant that it was misting rain, although it was colder Saturday than today.

ADVOCATE OF RE-LOCATION PLAN IS MOODY NOMINEE

CONFIRMATION SURE

HOGG AND BATTS APPOINTED REGENTS OF TEXAS UNIVERSITY

(By The Associated Press) AUSTIN, Jan. 26.—Plans for the re-location of the Texas penitentiary system were considered to have been advanced Wednesday by Governor Dan Moody's appointment of R. H. Baker, Austin and Houston business man, to the prison commission. He succeeds S. G. Granberry.

As chairman of the Texas committee on prisons and prison labor, Mr. Baker has advocated a central location of the prison system. This committee is supporting the re-location bill now before the 48th legislature as well as a bill creating an unsalaried prison board of nine members, with authority to employ a general manager.

Will C. Hogg, Houston business man, and R. L. Batts, Austin attorney, were named regents of Texas university. Both are graduates of the State university.

Made Survey Mr. Baker largely was instrumental in having the Texas committee on prisons and prison labor make a scientific survey of Texas prisoners and facts developed by the survey are cited by the committee as reasons why the main unit at Huntsville and the Brown river farms should be sold and the system moved to central Texas.

Baker, Hogg and Batts, like R. S. Sterling of Houston, and Cone Johnson of Tyler, appointed Tuesday to the highway commission, are expected to encounter little or no opposition, when they are submitted to the senate for confirmation.

Governor's Son Will C. Hogg served as a Texas university regent 1915-1917. He is a literary political foe of James E. Ferguson.

Batts was born at Bastrop, November 1, 1884. He received his bachelor of arts and bachelor of laws degrees from Texas University in 1918 and began practice at Bastrop. In 1931, he became an assistant attorney general. He served as professor of law in Texas university from 1933 through 1939 and then resumed practice in Austin, forming a partnership with Thomas Wall Gregory, who was to become United States attorney general under Woodrow Wilson.

Oklahoma Mother Returns From Errand to Find House and Two Infant Sons Burned Up

JOPLIN, Mo., Jan. 26. (AP)—Two small children were burned to death at Picher, Okla., late today when a small house was destroyed by fire. They were Curtis Franklin Sharbett, 3, and Arnon, 11 months, sons of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Sharbett. The mother had gone for a bucket of water at the home of a neighbor when the fire broke out. Upon her return she found the house a mass of flames.

Kellogg Says U. S. Is in Sympathy With Chinese Nationals, but Will keep Naval Forces Ready to Guard Americans

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—The Washington government is ready to negotiate new treaties with China, but independently of other powers it need not but cannot abrogate existing treaties until new ones have been signed and ratified by the senate.

Meanwhile it is holding naval forces available in Chinese waters to protect American life and property should Chinese authorities call to accord such protection.

This is the substance of Secretary Kellogg's long deferred expression of Chinese policy, made public here tonight and timed for simultaneous publication in Peking, Hankow and Shanghai. It asserts American sympathy is with China's "nationalistic awakening," strict neutrality as between Chinese factions, and a "positive" deal with China in "a most liberal spirit" regarding unequal treaties.

SHANGHAI FEARS CANTONESE WILL STRIKE THAT CITY

ANTI-FOREIGN CHINESE MAY BEAT BRITISH TO PORT

IS PARIS OF ORIENT

MANY THOUSAND WHITES ARE PROTECTED BY 800 U. S. TROOPS

(By The Associated Press) SHANGHAI, Jan. 26.—Apprehension was felt today that this chief commercial city of the far east and home of many thousand white foreigners would be attacked in the near future by the Cantonese invading troops. A new wave of anti-foreign agitation and violence is predicted to roll over the Yangtze river basin, from which hundreds of foreigners were ousted in recent weeks, notably in the cities of Hankow and Kinkiang when their concessions were taken over by Cantonese after mob attacks.

To Capture Shanghai Nationalist troops are reported forming in heavy force in northern Chekiang province, approximately 100 miles from Shanghai. They intend it is believed to attempt to capture Shanghai before the main body of British troops arrive here late in February. The British, 20,000 strong of both the army and navy, have been ordered to Shanghai, from England and elsewhere, with ships of war in large numbers.

Troops of the Punjab province of British India, who are expected here tomorrow as the vanguard of the British forces, may by their presence start the flame of resentment against foreigners, particularly British, sweeping over central and south China, where the Cantonese are dominant, and where propaganda against foreigners has been spread under Russian direction.

Americans On Guard American warships safeguard foreigners in Shanghai. Capable of landing 400 men, they are the largest force of the naval contingent at present protecting the "Paris of the Orient."

ESCAPED CONVICT TO "COLLECT" THREAT

ROSENBERG SAID WOULD MAKE GOVERNMENT PAY $1,000,000 FOR EACH YEAR IN PEN

(By The Associated Press) ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 26.—Albert Rosenberg, termed by prison officials "a greater criminal than Gerald Chapman" boasted before his escape from the federal penitentiary here last night that for every year he served in prison he would collect a million dollars from the government. This was disclosed today by immigration and postal officials, who hold a warrant for his deportation to Lithuania, in revealing his record of crime in this country which included robberies aggregating $1,500,000, one of which was the million and a quarter dollar bond robbery from the steamship Minnehaha in mid-ocean.

WOULD ADD TO TAXABLE WEST TEXAS PROPERTY

TWO MILLION ACRES OF SCHOOL LAND NOW FREE OF LEVIES

HOT FIGHT IN HOUSE

BOGGS DEFENDS MEASURE, BUT FAILS TO GET IT THROUGH

(By The Associated Press) AUSTIN, Jan. 26.—The House Wednesday staged the two hottest fights, so far, of the fortieth legislature, on proposed constitutional amendments to tax Texas university lands in West Texas and to make elective the office of secretary of state respectively.

Refusing to accept Representative J. Herschel Boggs' heated declaration that "West Texans are gentlemen" as a deciding argument, the house voted 90 to 37 to refer back to a committee his university land tax resolution, which had been reported favorably already.

Representative W. M. Fly of Gozales, warmly supported, overrode formidable opposition and championed his secretary of state measure to enactment. The vote on it was 97 to 30. Boggs' proposed amendment would make 2,000,320 acres of Texas university land in 17 West Texas counties subject to county taxation the same as other lands.

"West Texas Gentlemen" In debate, Representative Alfred Pelsch of Fredericksburg, one of three vigorous opponents of the measure, wanted to know if West Texans might decide to organize various sorts of local taxation districts and thus burden the land if the amendment should pass.

"Certainly not, the people of West Texas are gentlemen," Boggs flared back. There was laughter and applause.

Boggs sought to convince the house that citizens of the affected counties would not take undue advantage of an opportunity to tax the land. He said the university now realizes $220,000 a month from the holdings, but that county taxes under the amendment would not run over $20,000 a month.

Burden on West Texas "Gentlemen," he said, "this land is a burden added on West Texas. One county alone has 453,000 acres, from which it nets not one cent of revenue. I am a loyal supporter of the university of Texas, but don't believe rural school children should suffer from insufficient county taxes when the counties can't tax in their own boundaries."

Directing a fiery attack on those "who try to impugn the motives of West Texans," Boggs moved to table the motion, and was sustained.

After about an hour's debate, the house adopted Representative Lewis Young's motion to send the measure back to the committee on constitutional amendments on efforts to compromise differences. Before enjoining Representative Fly's resolution to make the office of secretary of state elective, the house defeated an attempted amendment by Representative Foster of Karnes to specify that the secretary must be a man.

Overriding Representative McCombe's attempt to kill the resolution by striking out the enacting clause, the house heard Fly argue that importance of the secretary office should make it elective, and not to be filled by arbitrary appointment of the governor.

Penalties Start on State Taxes Feb. 1

With only four more days to register automobiles and with 2500 cars in Lubbock county still unregistered, County Tax Collector J. F. Holland said last night he failed to see how many of these cars owners were going to avoid paying a 25 per cent penalty. "They can't all get to have to pay up in four days," he said. "The best they can do is try to be among those who succeed in paying the license fee." In addition to the registration fee, many general taxes are still to be paid. Tuesday, coincidentally with the application of the 25 per cent penalty on car registration, a ten per cent penalty is added to other taxes.

The Woman's Day
By Allene Sumner

Oh come now, Ida, isn't that a little strong? I have always had the highest respect for any ideas of Ida Tarbell, great reporter and writer. But a few cuts from a recent outbreak of heat on the woe of spinsterhood are a little too strong to swallow. I have no quarrel with Ida's belief that fame and glory may be found like empty gourds with dried seeds rattling around therein. If she feels that way, it's too bad, but it's very likely that she really does feel that way. But what gets me is this remark: "I believe that the woman who gets the most out of life is not the one who isolates herself from it, or questions it or analyzes it, but who lives it as she finds it." Now that's fine and dandy so far, but this anti-climax is NOT—"And a woman can't be a part of life without being a wife and about things!"

TOUGH FOR SOME
Rather hard to tell Jean d'Arc and Mary Garden and Ida Tarbell and Judge Florence Allen and Edna Ferber and Mary Anderson and Sappho and Beatrice Cenci that they were never "a part of life."

Between the little human habit of sophistry—meaning the art of making the most of one's own state and one's own possessions—and the equally little human habit of "wishing for the moon" or the state that one does not possess, or making it more specific, between wives who shout that marriage is the only state, because it happens to be their state, and between Ida Tarbell who shout that fame's the bunk, because it's what they have nothing else but, one does grow perturbed about things!

NO KISS, SHE JUMPED!
A wife of an inland state was killed a few days ago when she jumped from the car because her husband wouldn't kiss her. Just another little incident emphasizing that women, some of them, can not live without knowledge of complete and perfect emotional security. It's the story of a woman who made her marriage her life instead of an incident in her life. If she had had a job, she wouldn't have jumped out of the car—oh, maybe she would have.

THESE SPENDTHRIFT WOMEN!
Eighty-five per cent of all money spent in this nation is spent by women, they say, and women influence the spending of the remaining 15 per cent. Money, we have always been told is the chief interest and concern of the American man. If he gives control of this money, therefore, to "the women folk" it would seem to indicate that he has some respect for their ability. Which is just why the American wife is considered to be "sitting pretty" by the wives of the rest of the world.

A GOLD TIP FOR YOU
Here's a gold tip for the girl who smokes. None less than the treasurer of a state Tobacco Grower's association.

The contour of the head is defined in this tuban of georgette, confined with strands of pearls wound rather carefully.

Yon declares that the anti-fagger was the salvation of the state's tobacco crop. The nice part about this argument is that anti-fagger can use it, too, and say, "naturally, the only person who can see any gold in this women smoking business would be the man who sold the tobacco." A very wealthy New York broker married his chambermaid the other day. She was wife number four. Wife number three was his housekeeper. One might comment that the late hymenial bells of Mr. Frank Savin, the broker in question argue less snobbery on the part of the man of the species than in the female. But something spells that. This is his whelphed instruction to the bride to say "no occupation" when she started to tell the license clerk that she was a chambermaid.

A Glamorous French actress used to sing a wail about her inability to make her eyes behave.

As she wailed her difficulties in preserving discipline these same orbs rolled and roved most charmingly so that everyone who saw her was delighted that her particular eyes did not fall in with the conventional idea of what the well-bred eye should do. And if they had behaved, they would not have been nearly so beautiful or devastating, and the actress might not have captivated so many hearts. For the more you work your eyes and strengthen the muscles, the more capable of expression they become. Just as the more you play tennis the more the muscles of your arms develop and harden.

Evolve Optics
From wearing blinders a horse gets used in the habit of looking straight ahead that he has to turn his head to see what goes on immediately out of his straight line of vision.

And unless you exercise your eyes they get as stuporified an expression as of the horse—except that it is less attractive in a human than in a horse. The whole beauty of human eyes lies not in their shape or color but their expression. Eyes that register, that change their meaning with every moving emotion are the eyes we admire. By studying a glance out of the corner of her eye at an amplexuous moment, woman has wrecked empires.

No, if you want beautiful eyes, use them. Make them work. Train them on the following exercises. First, look straight ahead in your most intense and concentrated fashion, without moving your head a hair's breadth, look first up, then down. Repeat to times. Still without moving your head look as far to the right and then to the left as you can. Close and rest them before you take up your next hour.

Rest Them Frequently
Combine these exercises into one by looking first to the left, then upward, downward and to the right—all with your head rigid and immovable.

By this time your eyes will have earned a rest and it will be advisable to close them for a few minutes. To keep the wrinkles and crow's feet away from your eyes, you must not strain them by reading or work-

If you want beautiful eyes, use them. Do not look in one position, rest them frequently—incidentally get enough sleep and avoid late hours. If you will gently massage the muscles around your eyes a few minutes each evening you will find that very relaxing and restful. If you are tired and want to brighten your eyes, lie down, close your eyes and apply alternately pads wrung from hot water and from warm water. Hold each over the lids until you are no longer conscious of the heat or cold. It is not advisable to use most washes or fluids in your eyes unless a doctor has ordered them, but boracic acid, diluted with pure filtered water, is universally recommended.

Every Headache Is A Warning

What is a headache? Physicians tell us that headache is "the cry of over-taxed nerves for rest." The cause of simple headaches is high eye tension or strain. High nerve tension leads to high blood pressure, spongy and serious injury to the nerve system. The next time you have a headache or neuralgic pain, try the improved method of relief—two, teaspoonfuls of Capudine in a little water. Being liquid Capudine acts almost instantly—in one-fifth the time required by tablets or powders. If the use of Capudine as directed, does not give you full and permanent freedom from headaches, return your money.

You may be sure that they are caused by some organic condition, which should receive the attention of your oculist, dentist or family physician.

Physicians and druggists recommend Capudine as the safe, quick and dependable agent for relieving nervous pain and high nerve tension. Every home should be supplied with Capudine. Get a bottle today at your druggist's and if you do not like it far better than anything you have ever tried, the manufacturer will cheerfully refund the price upon request. Family size, 50 cents; individual, 25c. at all drug stores. (adv.)

Can You Find The Twins?

On your face, EVERYBODY. Here's the greatest puzzle of all—the biggest reward, and the most fun. Get out your "specs," sharpen up your pencil—and FIND THE TWINS. To be sure they all look alike, but examine them closer. TWO, and only two of them are exact duplicates. Can you find them?

THERE are 20 pictures of this beautiful lady printed on this page. TWO are just alike in every way and are the TWINS you are asked to find. No, it isn't as easy as it looks. Examine them carefully. AT FIRST glance all of the pictures look alike. But upon closer examination you will see that almost everyone differs in some way from all the others. In some the difference may be in the bow or ribbon bands on the hat, or light or dark hair on the collar. Or, some may wear earrings, or necklaces, or both. Remember, only TWO are exactly alike. It is not as easy as it looks. Search carefully.

50 Big Cash Prizes

Here's the greatest array of Cash Prizes that has ever been offered in a contest of this kind. THREE of the TWINS in prizes to be won in this unique competition, and with the remaining 17 POINTS necessary to win First Prize, NOW and THERE TWINE them in your answer; get started for the BIG FIRST PRIZE of $500. JOINT STUDY TO BE HELD BY TECH AND CANYON

Dr. J. C. Granbery returned yesterday from Canyon where he appeared in a lecture before the Sociological Society of the West Texas State Teachers college Tuesday. At the meeting, the students there noted to hold a joint study and discussion meeting with the sociology students of the Tech, Plainview or some other mid-way point between the two schools will likely be the meeting place. A luncheon is to be planned and the meeting to follow afterwards.

The meeting will bring a closer relationship between the two schools as well as offering different views for the students. Officials in the social science department here are well pleased with the plan and arrangements for the meeting will be made some time in the future. A meeting of the sociology club of the Tech has been called for Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock in room 21. All students interested in the social science, Pi Gamma Mu members and old members of the club of last year are requested to be present.

DISTRICT MEET TO BE LARGER THIS YEAR

Plans are already being laid for the entertainment of the district meet of the University Interscholastic league which meets here April 15 and 16. A much larger enrollment is expected and more than 2,000 high school students from this section are to be here for the meet.

As of last year, the meet will be held on the Tech campus and in the buildings. A. W. Evans, head of the department of education, is director general of the meet and is now sending out instructions and appointing committees to function during that time.

President Paul W. Horn announced yesterday that the Tech would, in all probability, be closed during the meet giving two holidays. A holiday is scheduled in the regular calendar of the school year for April 21 but it is likely that school will be held on that date and two days be given during the district meet.

STOCK JUDGING TEAM WORKING FOR FIRST CONTEST

A strenuous effort will be made by first live stock judging team of the Tech to have their school's name engraved on the large loving cup which is awarded annually by Swift and company at the Southwestern exposition and Fat Stock show, held in Fort Worth during the month of March. The team will enter a contest for the first time and the boys are studying hard in order to be able to present much competition.

The team will be coached by Prof. Ray C. Mowery and Prof. W. L. Stangel and the boys are assured of the best instruction in the work possible. Mr. Stangel coached for a number of years at A. and M. college and had three of his teams as winners at Fort Worth and one team as International winner at Chicago. He was also in apt student in the judging while attending A. and M., being high point man on the team in 1914. Six years later he coached Ray Mowery who was also a high man in the champions at Fort Worth. Mowery also put 3 high school champions teams out while coaching at Lubbock high school.

Now seven years later both men are collaborating their knowledge and energy in coaching the first team which is to represent Texas Technological college. The large cup will become the property of Texas A. and M. if they win this year. Eight students are working for a place on the team and it is likely that close competition will feature the selection of the two boys to make the Fort Worth trip.

ENGINEERS LAY PLANS FOR MORE WORK

Meeting in the evening, building last night, the engineering society laid plans for an active program of work for the remainder of the year. After the officers of the society were re-elected by acclamation, the other matters were brought up. The following officers were re-elected: Jack Maddox, president; Charles Woodruff, first vice-president; Burton Johnson, second vice-president and E. Stael, secretary-treasurer. Bill Kerr was selected as student director of the basketball team of the school. Plans were laid for the strong entrance of a basketball team in the intramural contests of the Tech and practice on the court will begin at once. The engineers, now holding the football championship, are determined to cop all titles during the year. An annual banquet, attended by every student of the school, was discussed and committees appointed to begin work on the plans. The banquet will be held sometime during this term.

An Easy triumph of wifehood

YOU are a wife. You must be a nurse, a home decorator, a domestic scientist, a seamstress, a laundress, a beauty specialist, a bureau of information, a buyer, a banker, a hostess. You must be all these professionals almost every day, yet you must not be tired at dinner. It must be a good dinner. You must have good news. And you must not only keep up your professions, but grow wiser in them each day.

Sounds hard, but is it? Nof if you use your daily university—the advertisements. For here are the best safety-firsts; the most beautiful, most lasting draperies and home furnishings, and how to arrange them best; new food or new delicious ways of preparing and serving known foods; the finest in dress, in cold creams, hair washes, manicure methods; news of insurance; thrifty buying; happier ways to entertain; something of business, literature, art, music—of almost every science known.

The information in advertisements is latest and correct. Yet a brief glance is sufficient to give you their news. Just a daily reading of the advertisements—and there's an easy triumph of wifehood! In selecting, buying, arranging, using. In keeping fresh for dinner. Saving work, saving time, saving money—being wise!

Reading advertisements regularly means keeping to the fore. Read these, here, today.

JANUARY SHOWINGS

The month of January, it is now assured, will prove, when all the figures are in hand, to have been a favorable period in the development of business.

The trend of money both at home and abroad has been toward more favorable conditions. Several of the foreign central banks, including those of Germany and Belgium, have cut their rates within the past few days.

The outstanding factor in the market has been the strong position of the rails, attention to which has frequently been directed in these advices.

A PROBLEM IN EDUCATION

Among educators of judgment and experience it has long been held as an axiom that not every one is fitted to derive profit from a college education.

That, in fact, is one of the reasons why college authorities insist on the attainment of a certain standard of educational equipment by each applicant for admission before he or she can be registered as a student.

As a substitute for the old entrance requirements, which have been tried and found wanting, many modern educators are recommending tests based on applied psychology.

On the economic side it would therefore appear that millions of dollars are being wasted annually in forcing on college students an education which they are unable to assimilate.

HOUSING THE ARMY

Maj. Gen. Snow, Chief of Field Artillery, in speaking of the conditions at a number of camps and forts, used by the army, says they "are a shame to the government."

IT AIDS PROSPERITY

The first American automobile was manufactured in 1895, according to Motor, but in the succeeding five years twenty makes of cars came into existence.

OUT OUR WAY

MOMENTS WE'D LIKE TO LIVE OVER—TH' GOOD LOOKIN'EST GIRL IN TOWN.

SO THINK WE

We think that most crooks seem to think that every one else is crooked.

We think the blunder some people talk the less they say.

We think a fellow must feel very rich when he is in a tax suit for $4,000,000.

We think if most of the fellows who are crying fight Uncle Sam, in the controversy with Mexico, knew they would have to do the fighting they would very quickly shut up.

We think there are still almost half of the cars that do not have the 1927 on them. They will possibly get a red tag pretty soon if they do not get one with white on green.

We think the few hours of sunshine yesterday was greatly appreciated by West Texas after about a week of mist and rain.

We think if it was not for the yearly tax receipts, a lot of people would never know how much they are worth.

We think most all animals have decreased except the road hog and possibly the dark horse. There seems to be still quite a number of them.

We think governor-by proxy is having a hard time finding something to fine at the Governor Dan so he hollers spite, mill, at the legislature.

We think Texas a wonderful state. Some portions of the state are actually talking about spring fever, and our coal bill is not even paid in this section of the state.

We think most people are very sentimental. Everyone is now talking subways at railroad crossings—even the Texas legislature, since the young men were killed last Saturday enroute to Austin to play ball.

We think that making it safe for humanity, never enters into the minds of some automobile drivers, especially at night when the lights on the car should be burning, and they are not.

We think a five-day week would be hard on the fellow that stands on the street corner every day for seven days. He would lose two days on his job, and get mighty behind with his job.

We think this present day all the trusts seem to have been busted. Even the trust that some women formerly had with their husbands has been busted.

We think possibly the statement that women marry earlier than they used to is possibly true, and too many of them seem to marry after.

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

One year ago Billie Hefesoe was reported seriously ill at the Texas Hotel, suffering from influenza.

One year ago today the Snow case at Stephenville was scheduled to go to the jury.

One year ago R. R. Williamson, of DeLia, Texas, sustained a fracture of the right arm while cranking a car.

One year ago the Anthracite strike was still unsettled.

One year ago the Matadors dropped the second tilt of the season to the Hill Billies 28 to 32.

DIVERSIFICATION BEING PROVEN

Cow, Sow and Hen, Says Wilson, Will Pay Dividends

S. O. Wilson, Deaf Smith county farmer, and former drug store operator in Willinger, county, is actually making good by using the methods which he used to preach to his customers during his ten years stay in a drug store.

Mr. Wilson is now milking fourteen cows and is selling whole milk, averaging 150 per week, from his cows. He has 200 pullets that are just beginning to lay and gets an average of 32 per day from his chickens, making $10 gross from his cows and chickens per day. He figures with the low price of home grown grains, it costs him 12 per day for his flocks, making $1 profit.

Last spring this man purchased five brood sows. He now has 60 head of hogs. He plans to keep twelve sows and eight, fatten out forty head on home grown feeds and keep the rest for meat. "Yes, I will get a fair profit from those five sows I bought last spring," he says, "but it is no more than any farmer can do with hogs, cows and chickens."

It requires only a small portion of the family's time to take care of the livestock around the Wilson place, as is evidenced by the fact that this man and his family are farming 250 acres of land. Mr. Wilson raised 1000 bushels of corn, 1500 bushels of oats and over 100 tons of maize, and has several thousand bundles of roughage for his livestock. He has 775 acres of fine wheat which was sown early on soil that had been summer tilled. This furnishes an excellent pasture for his dairy cows, thus reducing the cost of feed.

The dairy barn on the Wilson farm is built for sanitation and comfort. The room where the cows are milked is 12x30 feet with a concrete floor with trough, stations, etc. and is equipped with running water and the floor is washed off after each milking. The milk room is hot and has a hot water tank, a stove, and other equipment there, and all the milk vessels are sterilized before being used. The dairy barn and herd is inspected once each month.

Mr. Wilson plans to get a large dairy herd and is one of the enthusiastic farmers favoring the organization of a bull circle in Deaf Smith county as a means of building up better dairy herds.

The live-at-home plan is actually being practiced by this family. Over 100 cans of fruit from the family orchard were put up and around twenty pounds of cherries were canned. With plenty of canned stuff, a garden, meat, lard, chickens, butter, eggs and milk, this family doesn't worry about the low price of foods. It is Mr. Wilson's theory that the man is as well off when he practices this method of farming regardless of whether the prices are high or low. Farming with this man's "bobby" and he is actually making that "bobby" pay dividends.

A City's Front Door

Des Moines, Ia., is a convention city because of its fine hotel facilities. New dollars are constantly being brought in because the front door to the city is always open.

A city's hotels are its front door. They are the first things by which strangers will judge the city. Hotels can help the city and they can harm it immeasurably.

A city cannot forge ahead without good hotels. And the construction of new hotels is usually a community enterprise, with the rank and file of citizens investing most of the needed funds.

Four cities—Frederick, Md., Syracuse, N. Y., Bedford, Ind., and Urbana, Ill.—found that they needed hotels. They sold stock aggregating $2,523,000 and got them. The same thing was being done in Bridgeport, N. J., Birmingham, Ill., and Beatrice, Neb.

Plant Pecans in Parked Streets

They seem to be a universal institution in the minds of people, especially Texas people to want things from that part of the universe instead of using the things which is a home or a Texas product.

Now we are not able to give trees as Mr. Jones has offered, but we have some special wholesale prices made up on large lots of pecans of the best quality, including varieties that we will give the benefit to all who want to plant them and we really think a pecan at even a high price is much cheaper than an elm or any other non-bearing tree would be as gift.

If the street trees are to be planted, it is in the minds of people, especially Texas people to want things from that part of the universe instead of using the things which is a home or a Texas product.

We have carefully noticed the trees planted in the many yards of this city and have often thought how much better it would have been if the true value of the pecan had been known twenty years ago and these yards had at that time been planted in pecans, and the city would have been much better off.

It is strange after the pecans have demonstrated their adaptability, to the plains especially the south plains that any would recommend other trees in the place of pecans as shades.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

When you have found the sweetness of your sorrow, In some far off tomorrow, Gilt of your heart, Pain will depart.

There you shall wake to find the pain departed, Add braver-hearted, You'll go your way From day to day, And smile once more, and turn unto your labor, To all mankind a gentler friend and neighbor.

Tempestuous sea of sorrow lies a shore Where peace shall soothe your soul forevermore, There you shall wake to find the pain departed, Add braver-hearted, You'll go your way From day to day, And smile once more, and turn unto your labor, To all mankind a gentler friend and neighbor.

MEMORIES

JANUARY 14, 1904 The Avalanche said: "We had another nice rain this week."

The Avalanche stated: "The Lubbock Dramatic club is preparing to give the people a nice entertainment on Thanksgiving."

The Avalanche stated: "S. I. Johnston, manager of the Kokerpot ranch was injured last Sunday when his team ran away. He was driving a young horse—breaking him, and the team became unmanageable. He saw the wagon was going to be overturned and jumped out, breaking his leg just above the ankle."

The Avalanche stated: "In the election Tuesday, Geo. R. Dean was elected county judge; D. W. Burkhalter, county attorney; John F. Robinson, county clerk; M. S. Taylor, county treasurer; D. F. Boyd, tax assessor; P. B. Penns, sheriff and tax collector; C. W. Hill, county surveyor; J. B. Slover, R. C. Burns, J. T. Brown, Nick Beall, county commissioners. A total of 241 votes were cast."

"How?" "Where can you find a new friend that has stood by you as long as the old ones have?"

Des Moines, Ia., is a convention city because of its fine hotel facilities. New dollars are constantly being brought in because the front door to the city is always open.

Good hotels also help to bring the rest of the town up to par. The North Shore Hotel in Evanston, Ill., did a lot to improve the shops on Davis street, for instance.

Hotels also advertise their communities. The Bancroft of Worcester, Mass.; the Davenport of Spokane, Wash.; the Mission Inn of Riverside, Calif.; these are a few cases in point.

AMERICAN LEAGUE PRESIDENT SAYS WILL "STAY TO THE END," SAYS LANDIS "IS MAKING A FOOL OUT OF HIMSELF"

(By Associated Press)
KANSAS CITY, Jan. 26.—The Kansas City Star today quotes Ban Johnson, president of the American League, as declaring he is not going to get out of baseball.

"Who ever made the statement that I was going to retire was not speaking the truth," the Star says the baseball executive told a staff correspondent at Excelsior Springs, Mo., where he arrived this morning.

"I have no desire to get out of baseball at this time and I am going to stay to the end," the Star quotes him as saying. "I am 61 years old, but after this trouble I feel like I am 161."

"Landis is just making a big fool of himself, and when I get back to the American League offices I'll start something," the Star says he told its correspondent.

Johnson said he would go back to Chicago Monday and "start straightening this thing out."

The league ball executive is being treated by Dr. Ernest Lowery, who said he was in need of a long rest.

"PEACHES" FINISHES HER TESTIMONY

FOUR DAY INTERMISSION TILL BROWNING HAS DAY IN COURT

(By The Associated Press)
COURT HOUSE, WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Jan. 26.—The separation suit trial of Edward W. Browning, New York resident, was given a four day intermission today, with the realtor himself reserved as the "man of eccentricity" if not of mystery for the fourth and fifth acts Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. Frances "Peaches" Heenan Browning, the 16-year-old "Hesline" ended her side of the case this afternoon with the exception of testimony from one witness. That witness believed to be an alienist, will not go on. It was announced in court until all the rest of the testimony is in.

Monday will see the real beginning of Browning's case, when his witness will take the stand in rebuttal of Mrs. Browning's charges of cruelty.

During the day a girl friend, Mrs. Marian Tushy, prospective restaurant cashier, testified in support of Mrs. Browning, after testimony offered by Mrs. Carolyn Heenan, mother of Mrs. Browning, and a Mrs. Mayer, friend and guest of Mrs. Heenan.

The two middle-aged women told of occasions when Mrs. Browning had suffered fright at her husband's antics.

The young woman, who is co-educator, slightly older than the girl wife of the realtor, was a surprise witness, testifying that last Saturday Mrs. Browning told her he would "make it interesting" for her if she could "recollect" and testify to something adverse in the life of her friend, the then Frances Heenan, before the marriage. She said she could not remember any such such as Mr. Browning suggested she try to "recollect."

Another witness—the only man called during the day—was a newspaper reporter, Arthur De Lee, of New York. "Are you a friend of mine, or of my wife?" he said Browning had asked him when he responded to an invitation to call.

"I'm a friend of both of you," he said he answered.

"How many times has Peaches kissed you?" he said the real estate man asked.

"Not once," he answered.

"Would you testify to that?" he testified he was asked.

"No I wouldn't testify to anything," he said he responded.

On the stand he asserted that his acquaintance with Mrs. Browning had been formal and that he had interviewed her and had her pictures taken. Mrs. Heenan, who followed her daughter's hour on the stand, an hour dedicated to the prosaic identification of love letters written months ago to Mr. Browning—resented the tone in which questions were addressed to her by John E. Mack, chief counsel for Browning.

"Look here," she said, "while the court room littered at a comment by Mack, 'I'm not going to play with you, Mr. Mack.'"

"You can't, Mrs. Heenan," he countered. "I'm a married man."

Mrs. Heenan said that she was in the home of the Brownings as a mother-in-law, not as her own, with but only because the real estate man, who always called her "mother," desired it.

The Matador will meet with the Simmons University crack quintet this week-end in the Cowboy corral. They will play the Cowboy game on Friday and Saturday evenings.

While in Abilene the Matador club with three schools of that city, the Simmons Cowboys; the A. C. Wildcats; and the McMurry Indians.

After the Higginbotham get back off of the six game schedule in Abilene the Matadors will be in good shape to do battle with the West Texas State Teachers College Buffalo herd.

Several more days of practice and more game experience will give Coach Higginbotham a quiet a much better combination and things will get on the right working hands. The fact that the Matador floor machine broke even with a club with the record established by the Sul Ross is very commendable and puts the Scarlet basket-ball hopes in an excellent light.

The high school Westerners defeated the Wilson high school quintet with a very decisive score 19-2; the Westerners had complete charge of the contest and the game was entirely a display of Westerner offense.

Willie Hoppe at 39 again is 182 world billiard champion. From that time until 1921, Hoppe reigned supreme in billiards. His reverse that year came at the hands of Jake Schaefer. It caused the experts to feel that Hoppe had passed the peak of his game.

Within a short time he surprised by winning back the title, only to lose it again. It was apparent the reign of Hoppe had been seriously disturbed, even if not broken.

Until 1921 the winning of the 182 title by Hoppe was simply an annual event in the sports world. No one for a minute doubted it. Things are different now.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

To the home of PROF and MOL- LIE ELWELL in Grandville, Ind., one night in October of 1918, is brought a woman who had faint- ed on a train. That night twin girls are born to her and she dies without revealing her name.

The story then moves forward 18 years. The twins have been adopt- ed and named MARGARET and ELIZABETH. They are called RUSTY and BETTY.

JIM ELWELL, the son, enlists in the World War. He then dis- covers that one of the twins loves him.

He is shell-shocked at Sedan and reported dead. MARGARET is identified in a New York hospital, where his parents find him with his speech and memory gone. He is like a living dead man.

The day before he is to be taken home he wanders away from his nurse. Late that night he is found in Bellevue hospital with his skull fractured, expected to die. He had been hit by a truck.

The twins, meanwhile, had been identified as the nieces of the wealthy JOHN CLAYTON of In- dianapolis. Their father is dead. Mollie writes, saying Jim will live but his memory is gone for- ever, and they are to bring him home shortly.

When the Elwells arrive, there is a scene and suddenly one of the grief-stricken twins cries that she is Jim's wife.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY

CHAPTER XLVI

Mollie Elwell fell backward into the chair beside Jim. The sobbing girl threw herself on her knees in front of her and buried her head in the woman's lap, her slim young body shak- ing, trembling in passionate abandon.

Prof Elwell's expression was strangely lacking in surprise consider- ing what he had just listened to. In- stead of exclaiming, he half nodded and nodded to himself.

But Martha Dalton, standing be- side the portieres that covered the doorway between the rooms, gasped and looked all around her as if ex- pecting that an explanation would come from the air.

After a moment the excited girl be- gan to speak again, gaspingly, her words broken by choking sobs; but Mollie and the others heard and un- derstood.

"You—you said I—I have no—no right, Mollie. But I have the right of wife and of—of my love for him." She faltered a moment, then went on.

"I've always loved Jim, Mollie—ev- er since—ever since we were babies. And then one night out there in the yard I told him so—and he told me he loved me. I—I promised him when he went away not to tell about our marriage until he came back. He—he thought it best for both sister and me. And only sister knew about it. Mollie—she was with us that day we were married—the day we went to Chicago.

"She promised not to tell, too. We thought it fun then. But—now he is back, Mollie, and—he can't tell. He can't speak and tell you the things he'd be wanting to tell you if he could remember. . . ."

"Oh, My God!" Martha Dalton cried softly, and covered her face with her hands.

"No," the girl went on, "I had to tell because I want him, Mollie—he's mine. I want to help him to live again—to get back his memory again, if possible; if not, then—well, to love him and to help take care of him. Do you understand, Mollie?"

Mollie nodded, unable to speak for tears. The girl seemed calmer now—her voice was not breaking. She turned and looked full at Jim as she re- sumed.

"That's what I want to do, Mollie take care of him and love him. What else do you suppose I care about? What do I care for money or for the things money can buy—without Jim? What do I care for society or—for any- thing, without Jim? He loved me be- fore this—this awful thing happened. I want to make him love me again—to make him happy. Oh, Mollie, Mol- lie, you must let me stay with him. You must let me help Jim. I—I—"

She stopped. While she was looking at Jim an unbelievable thing had happened. Half blinded as she was, she saw it, and what she beheld stilled the words on her lips—seemed almost to stir the very heart in her body. A stifled cry escaped her.

Then gradually, like the slow breaking of dawn, a radiance began to creep into her face. A light, glorious and splendid, flamed in her dark eyes. She appeared to gather herself—to lift herself up.

"Oh, Jim!" she screamed the name, wildly, and rising with a swift move- ment she literally threw her trem- bling body into his outstretched arms.

"Oh, Jim!" she cried again. "My Jim! You know me, Jim, dear!"

Martha Dalton had looked up in awed alarm. "What's happened to the poor girl? Prof, take her away! Can't you see she's—"

"Mollie! Mollie," cried the excited girl, "Jim knows me. He remembers me. Mollie, dear—Prof—oh—"

The words died away on her lips and Jim Elwell felt the slender form relax for an instant in his arms. But only for an instant. The body grew vibrant again. She raised her head and smiled up at him.

"Oh," she cried, "God is good—God is so good, Jim."

Jim Elwell was looking at her now with eyes that saw—eyes that held in their depths the look of understanding. His arms tightened around her. Then, at her words, his head bent forward on his chest and for a second his lips moved in silent prayer.

Then he lifted his head. His glance swept around the room, fell on Mollie and Prof, encountered the startled eyes of Martha Dalton and the sud- denly radiant face of Rusty. He smiled, and this time it was not the mechanical smile that had been un- pitiful to—

The girl in his lap clung to him fiercely. "Kiss me, Jim," she whispered. "Kiss me like that night—that night in the moonlight beneath the trees." And Jim kissed her; kissed her as he had on that night when he had whispered his love and the Indiana moon had shone down on their new- found happiness.

"Betty!" he whispered, and then held her tight.

The kiss drew forth a breathless lit- tle "Oh, Jim!" from the girl, followed by a long, ecstatic sigh. And that was that. Jim Elwell no longer was a liv- ing dead man. Jim would go on through life like the rest of them— talking, laughing, crying, loving.

Betty lifted her head and looked around—and marveled at what she saw. Martha Dalton and Rusty were the only ones who appeared to be waiting, like herself for some explana- tion.

Mollie was sitting back in her chair, on her face a look of perfect tran- quility. In her eyes the light of un- derstanding, at last, and blissful con- tent. Prof was grinning—and mop- ping his forehead with his handker- chief.

Suddenly Rusty, on whose face were written puzzlement and joy and a mix- ture of other emotions, rushed for- ward and threw herself on Jim.

"Oh," she cried, "I can't believe it. Jim, you're yourself again. Oh, I can't begin to tell you how glad I am. Kiss me, Jim, and tell me you re- cognize your little pal, Rusty—the girl who hit the man with the croquet ball. Jim, tell me you know your Rusty?"

She began raising kisses on Jim's face, his neck, his hands, and then, slumping into the chair, began to sob. "I wouldn't have had this happen for a thousand dollars," Jim said seri- ously. "If I had known all this cry- ing and carrying on was going to take place—"

He took Rusty's head in his hands and lifted her chin up so he could look at her face. "Of course I know you, Rusty," he said. "And don't think I'll ever forget how you saved poor Jim from getting the his beat off him by the champion of Missouri. Do I remember the croquet ball? Say! And I remember, too, the day that little Rusty got hit by the rattlesnake. Do you remember, old pal?"

Rusty smiled. "How can I forget, Jim? You saved my life that day." She paused, drew a breath. "Oh, Jim, it's just too good to be true, that's all. They said there was no hope for you and here you are just the same as when you went away. I'm so happy I just don't believe I can stand it."

The girl sprang up and rushed over to Mollie, to fling her arms around her and lay her head on her lap. A guilty look was exchanged by Mollie and Prof.

Jim, one arm still clinging to Betty, suddenly sprang to his feet.

"Here I am," he said, "sitting here and there's poor Martha Dalton stand- ing over there and looking like she had seen a ghost. Martha, I'm coming right over and kiss you. This seems to be a regular kissing party, and I don't want to slight anyone. Ain't that right, Prof?"

It certainly was, Prof agreed.

"But Jim," faltered the old nurse, her hands on his shoulders, as she gazed, unbelievably, into his eyes. "I don't understand. Can it be possible that Betty and Rusty brought you back again? They seemed to believe they could work wonders with that harp of Betty's. Was that it, Jim? Did the harp make you remember all of a sudden?"

Jim patted her broad back. "Now you wait just a minutes, Martha, old dear, and I'll explain everything. Sit down, everybody, because it's a long story."

He looked around him. "Where's Mike Hennegan?" he asked.

"He's out in the yard, I believe," said Martha.

Jim went to the door and opened it. "Mike," he called. "Come here, Mike."

"Come in," Mike's cheerful voice came floating into the room. "Thought I'd get a breath of fresh air," he ex- plained with that broad grin of his, "while you was all enjoyin' your little family reunion. I'm reportin' for duty now. What's to be done?"

"Not a thing," said Prof, "sit down." Jim sank into the wide chair again and pulled Betty down beside him.

"So it's just like this, little sweet- heart—and you, too, old pal," turn- ing toward Rusty. His voice shook just a little bit as he began to tell the story that sounded so startling to the girls and Martha Dalton.

"You see, when I got hit by that truck when they told me, anyway— or, anything went just floozy. And when Mollie and Prof and Nellie Downside and Mike found me that night in Bellevue hospital they told them I was going to die."

Betty clung to him a little tighter. "That's all right, honey—I'm all right now," he smiled. "Well, for five days I was unconscious, and during that time they still thought the odds were about ten to one that I wouldn't wake up—or if I did wake up, that I wouldn't live."

"But one day I woke up, and when they looked me over they found my noodle was still all bent—tangled up just the same as before."

In the next chapter Jim explains how his memory was restored.

MUCH MATERIAL ON EXPANSION AND DEVELOPMENT OF PANHANDLE COLLECTED BY HISTORICAL SOCIETY LATELY

Special to The Avalanche. CANYON, Jan. 26—Much additional material upon the history of the cattle industry, the expansion of the Panhandle and the subsequent development of the West, Texas has been collected during the past month by the Panhandle Historical Society. This work has really extended the scope of its activities from the tier of counties marked by a direct line from Clay on the north to Tom Green county on the south, extending westward to the Davis mountain section.

Since the greater part of the history of this area is the history of the cattle industry, the society is making every effort to interview those few remaining pioneers who have been closely connected with that phase of pioneer life since the civil war. Already a great mass of material has been preserved which cannot be duplicated. This information is of interest, not only from the bearing it has upon the history of West Texas, but the cattle industry in general, that most interesting, and withal, the most abused portion of frontier life of the southwest.

Source Material. A great mass of source material is contained in a collection of placid papers deposited with the society by George A. Luder, of Floydada. This collection contains a number of copies of the Galveston News of 1878 and 1877 with several issues of the New York Sun of like vintage. There is one issue of the Texas Kicker, which in the trying struggle for the existence asserts that it is "the only reliable paper published in Floyd county."

Floydada Scenes. Judge Arthur B. Duncan, whose family was the first to settle in Floyd county, contributed a number of scenes of Floydada made in the early days, and this group was supplemented by additional ones from Mr. Luder. A. D. Cummings, of the Floydada high school history department, is active in preserving the history and relics of his section.

Many old cowmen and cowboys have been interviewed recently. E. F. Earhart and J. B. Mobley, of Lubbock, contributed data. O. B. Holt, president of the First National bank of Midland, together with Walter Cochran and R. W. Floyd, have given interesting information upon the development of the extreme South Plains.

In tracing the expansion of the frontier from the east across the Pecos and trans-Pecos country, and into southeastern New Mexico the society has spared no pains. The names of Whitman and John Coonan of Pecos and C. C. Kohns of Pecos have helped in that section and the Davis Mountain region. This has been supplemented by the stories of an old negro, who was with General R. S. McKenzie in 1873, and scouted over much of West Texas. His name is George Owen, of Pecos. He is not only an interesting talker, but a living example of the fact that something of the pioneering urge may course the veins of the black race.

From New Mexico. Most important of the material secured was that given by Joe H. Graham of Lovington, New Mexico. He is the distinction of having been actively connected with the cattle industry of the Southwest for about sixty years. He was the first white boy born in Denton county, and made his first move westward into Young county. Engaged in the cattle business there, he later, so far as he knows, the only living man who was at the preliminary meeting of cowmen at Graham in the fall of 1876, out of which grew the organization of the present Texas Cattle Raisers Association the following February. He was at that meeting, and is one of the three living men whose names were affixed to the minute book of the association for the year 1877. Mrs. Graham was at Fort Belknap when life there was hazardous because of Indian raids. She contributed to the files of the society a great number of early Texas papers, among them copies of the Graham leader containing a history of the county, included in the contribution are three rare numbers of the old Hunters Magazine, of which the present Frontier Times Bandera is the successor.

DAILY MARKET

NEW YORK COTTON NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—The cotton was easier today in response to Lower Liverpool cables, sale of a less active spot demand and realization of liquidation. May sold off to 13.41, closing at that figure, the general market closing nearly steady at net declines of 13 to 18 points.

The opening was barely steady at a decline of 6 to 9 points under selling inspired by the earlier showing of the English market and talk of a probable falling off in spot demand after the filling of January contracts.

The initial decline uncovered some stop orders, but below the 13 1/2 cent level for May contracts, but offerings were absorbed by scale down buying orders for trade or speculative account, and prices held fairly steady during midday later offerings became rather more active and aggressive, owing to failure of earlier buyers to follow up the rallies, reports after the market close in the stock market and a decline in sterling exchange which was regarded as indicating greater uneasiness over the Chinese situation.

There also appeared to be a little more southern holding on the decline which carried the price of March off to 13.19 and July to 13.45, reactions of about 1/2 to 1 1/2 points from recent high levels. Reports that much more cotton was to be shipped here from the south presumably for delivery on March contracts, and private estimates that the certificated supply here might be up to 2,000 bales by the end of next month, may have been responsible for some near month liquidation.

Spot month brokers continued buying March against sales of late February at about the recent difference, however, and the March position was selling within 22 points of the May price at the close, compared with 21 points at the close yesterday.

Private cables reported increased selling in Liverpool and that demand for cotton, which were less insistent. "Experts today 25,000 making 6,450, 544 so far this season. Port receipts today 40,747. U. S. port stocks 22,840, 152.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO, Jan. 26 (AP)—Hogs 15,000; higher: top 22.50; bulk 22.15 to 22.25; sides 11.50 to 11.75; pigs 11.75 to 12.00; fat hogs 10.50 to 10.75. Cattle 11,000; steers steady; stockers and feeders 7.90 to 8.00; stock firm; bulls steady at 6.00 to 6.20; veal unchanged, mostly 12.00 to 12.00. Sheep 10,000; fat lambs steady to 15 lower; top 12.15; bulk 12.50 to 13.00; steady; sheep: fat ewes 9.90 to 7.50; top 2.25; feeding lambs steady; both 12.50 to 13.15.

SUGAR

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—The raw sugar market was quiet today. Spot prices advanced 1-32 of a cent to the basis of 4.53 for Cuban, duty paid. The only sale reported was 17,500 bags of Cuban, shipped to a local refiner at 6.25.

"Raw sugar futures were firmer, and trading was fairly active, reflecting the higher spot market. Final prices were at the best on covering and increased demand from both trade and European interests, and 7 to 8 points net higher. Approximate sales 40,000 tons. March closed 3.19; May 3.29; July 3.39; September 3.46; December 3.55; January 3.60.

The refined sugar market was unchanged at 8.20 to 8.25 for the unassorted, with demand still limited and supplies through second hands at slightly below reference list quotations.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 26 (AP)—The cotton market was quiet today and sentiment was quiet reactionary. Cables were lower than due and the market opened firm to nine points down and closing the morning values eased off further on selling to force a reaction until the price level was 3 to 10 points under yesterday's close. Around noon prices rallied on covering, advancing five to seven points from the lows, but as soon as the demand was supplied, prices started downward again and about the middle of the afternoon they were 11 to 14 points under yesterday's close. The market continued to ease off until the end, showing final lows 15 to 17 points below their previous close. The close was steady, showing net losses for the

WOL

BOSTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—Mills are preparing to open their new lines of heavy weight cloth. Meanwhile wool buyers are inquiring for medium wool, and submitting a few bids slightly under recent quotations in order to test values. The bulk of sales are on fine territory and fleece wools.

COTTONSEED OIL

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—Cottonseed oil was steady on covering and commission house buying, with offerings light. Final prices were 2 to 5 points net higher, except January, which was 10 lower. The volume of business was small, total transactions aggregating only 4,300 barrels. Prime crude 7.00; prime summer yellow spot 8.25; January closed 8.25; March 8.61; May 8.81; July 8.85.

COAL

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 (AP)—Texas Pacific Coal and Oil company declared quarterly dividend of 15 cents, payable March 31, placing the stock on annual basis of 60 cents. The dividend was omitted in August 1925, prior to which 25 cents quarterly had been paid.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 26 (AP)—Fresh strength developed in the wheat market today toward the last. Upturns were ascribed to active buying, far previous speculative sellers, especially clients of eastern houses. Better European call for Canadian wheat was reported. Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, 1-4 cent to 7-8 cent higher, corn 5-8 cent to 1 cent up, oats at 1-8 cent to 33 cent advance, and provisions varying from 2 cent decline to 19 cent gain.

Export sales of corn had a bullish effect on the corn market. Besides, there were requests here from England for other offers to deliver corn in Liverpool at 86 cents per bushel.

C I F a good premium above the cost of corn from Argentina. Oats followed corn.

Provisions averaged higher because of shorts buying May hard.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Jan. 26 (AP)—With the exception of steers, which were slow, the cattle trade of the live stock market here today was steady to strong. The hog and sheep trades were also steady. Receipts called for 2,100 grown cattle, 500 calves, 500 hogs and 300 sheep. All of the sheep receipts were on direct packer shipment.
