Texas Electric Issues Warning To Kite Flyers

L. N. Peyton Makes Personal
Appeal To Parents

With the kite flying season at hand, Texas Electric Service Co. issued today its annual appeal to parents to warn children flying kites to keep away from electric power lines.

"That the innocent pastime of kite flying can be exceedingly dangerous is brought out forcibly by the fact that many accidents occurred in the year just past because of children getting their metalized kites tangled in power lines," according to Mr. L. N. Peyton, local manager of Texas Electric Service Company.

"Too often children use metal wire in the place of string on their kites and when this wire comes in contact with a power line the result is instantly disastrous. Even plain kite strings sometimes carry current, especially if the string is wet. The best idea, regardless of how the kite is built or what kind of string is being used, is to see that it is flown in open spaces where no power lines are located," Mr.
Peyton stated.

"If a kite should become entangled in power lines, be sure that children do not climb the poles or use long sticks to try to get the kite down. Call our company office and a trained linesman will be sent to rescue the kite if it is possible to do so."

Employees of the electric company will pay their annual visit to local schools shortly and will make a detailed explanation of the dangers of flying kites near power lines.

Local Boy Enrolls At Austin College

Ray Lawler left Monday to enroll at Austin College in Sherman where he will study to become a Methodist minister. He was accompanied to the school by Rev.
C. W. Thomas, pastor of the local Methodist church.

It's all in the viewpoint. A drunkard with a red nose is simply carrying the badge of overindulgence. A politician with the same badge is merely in the pink of condition.

School Band Plays For Assembly At Hi School Thurs.

Earle S. Woodall presented the Burkburnett High School on Thursday morning.

It was the initial appearance of the band on assembly programs, and its reception was very enthusiastic. Mr. Woodall has been here only a short time and has spent almost all that time drilling the band members, many of them having had no previous musical training. The concert on Thursday morning testified to the fact that his time has been well spent.

Seven numbers were played by the band, the closing selections being: The Eyes of Texas and The Star Spangled Banner, which were executed with a polish and verve surprising in amateurs.

Alternated with selections by the band were two songs by the School sextette composed of Sadie
Beth Tevis, Joy McFarlane, Dorothy Mabon, Wanda Lou Gragg, Derestine Moore, directed by Miss Ethyle Virginia Allen and accompanied by Dorothy Browning. Also featured on the program were two solos by Louise Kent accompanied by Mrs. C.
M. Tucker.

Wichita Broadcasting Company Wins Fight

The Federal Communications Commission reaffirmed its decision Tuesday authorizing the Wichita Broadcasting Company to construct a new radio station at Wichita Falls, Texas.

The commission denied petitions by the Faith Broadcasting Company and the West Texas Broadcasting Company for reconsideration of the decision. The Faith and West Texas companies also sought to construct stations at Wichita Falls but the commission denied their applications some time ago.

The Wichita Broadcasting Company has been authorized to establish a new station using 620 kilocycles, power of 250 watts night, one kilowatt day, unlimited time.

The wise men say that function makes faculty, which means that we learn by doing.

tuals, songs in negro dialect, and

Juniors Present Annual Play Next Friday, Hi School

"That Girl Patsy," to be presented by the Junior class Friday evening, March 3, at the Hi school auditorium, goes into the last week of rehearsal with the cast and the director, Miss Ella Billingslea, growing more enthusiastic daily.

The play, a three act comedy by Sumner Nichols, has been immensely popular for years as a stock favorite, is now, for the first time, released for use by amateurs, in a version specially prepared to meet the requirements of high schools and similar groups.

Mrs. Warren, a wealthy society woman, has taken into her home, with a view to adoption, an 18-year-old girl from the slums known as Patsy. Patsy is coldly received by Julia, Mrs. Warren's daughter, and her young friends —especially Violet Manners, who sees in this attractive youngster a potential rival for the affections of Bob, Julia's brother.

Patsy, however, with her quaint and humorous antics, soon weans down the family reserve and endears herself to everyone. But suddenly a situation arises which threatens seriously to destroy her one chance of happiness. Patsy discovers that Julia is in the power of a blackmailer.

Her heroic efforts to thwart the schemes of this detestable character and the ensuing difficulties result in one of the most fascinating little plays presented here in a long time.

The cast is as follows:
Mrs. Warren—Betty Jo Gilchrist.

Miss Harper—Myrtle Mae White.
Prof. Orlando Powers—John H. Rigby.

Susie—Josephine Griffin.
Julia Warren—Betty Jane Hill.
Fred Coulson—Alton Brandon.

Bob Warren—Robert Gragg.
Violet Manners—Dorothy Beldon.

Mr. Warren—Hubert Ogilvy.
Denny—Neeley Vaught.

Patsy—Mary Margaret Browning.

Philip Greer—James Walling.

F F A BUDDING NATIVE PECANS IN THIS AREA

Members of the local chapter of F F A are conducting a series of experiments with native pecan trees growing on the F. L.
Pilkenton farm one mile east of the Water Station in the river valley.

Eleven trees, chosen for their probable yield, have been topped and will be budded with paper shell buds sometime in August.
It will be two years after the trees are budded before they bear, but it is anticipated that their value will be more than doubled.

It is estimated that there are enough native pecans in this area to bring a good cash return to land owners if they are cared for and budded. It is to this end that club members and their instructor, M. S. Dean, are working.
They hope to bring farmers to a realization of the potential "gold mines" they have in native pecans.

FOOTBALL MOVIES

Boys Handling Ticket Sales

The Burkburnett Bulldogs as hosts of their fans at an annual banquet to be held Friday evening at the Hardin school cafeteria, will also have complete charge of the program, which will feature football movies of the Texas-Tech Duquesne and the Cotton Bowl games, and other features which they refuse to reveal.

According to Coach Volney Hill the ticket sales promise a record attendance. He and the boys wish that everyone in Burk-burnett might be present for the affair. They wish to stress especially that ladies are welcome.
Some misunderstanding arose on this question, the general idea seeming to be that it is strictly a stag affair.

The menu will include old fashioned barbecue done in the manner which is rapidly putting Roy Jackson on the map as a chef of no mean ability. Miss Blanche Butler will provide music for the occasion. The boys are handling all ticket sales themselves, the whole thing being done with an air of friends joining forces to put on a party which should assure success.

Scout Troop 36 Of Thrift Was In- stalled Feb. 16th

Boy Scout Troop 36 of Thrift, sponsored by the Men's Brotherhood of the First Baptist church of that community, was installed at the Fairview High school auditorium last Thursday evening.

The impressive installation services were in charge of Troop 16 of the First Baptist church of Wichita Falls and their Scoutmaster, S. M. Kenneth Irwin.

Invocation was delivered by Rev. G. W. Bales of the Thrift Baptist church. Scout Troop 25 of the First Baptist church in Burkburnett presented the colors.
They were led by their Scoutmaster, W. C. Kiesling. Following the singing of "America" by the audience, all lights were dimmed and members of the troop to receive their charter were led to the stage in two columns by two members of the Wichita Falls troop who bore candles in their hands.

When all had assembled on the stage, the boys conducted a service which was distinguished by simple dignity and an impressiveness which was unforgettable.
With appropriate words, four groups of three candles each, symbols of the twelve Scout laws were lighted. The service ended with the lighting of three red candles which symbolized the three points on the Scout badge, Honor, Duty, Help.

Members of the Thrift troop received their badges from the hands of their parents, who came to the stage to pin them on the young Scouts.

The charter was presented by R. K. Ayers, Field Executive of this area who also addressed the assembly on the significance of Scout training and the granting of a charter.

Okla., under the sponsorship of the University of Oklahoma.

ing his High school career as a

WHAT THE RAILROAD MEANS TO A TOWN

The chairman of the Merchants Committee received a letter recently from the officials of the M-K-T railway stating they were contemplating alternating the services on trains 53 and 54 which run through Burkburnett.

The chairman of this committee immediately called a special meeting of the business men to be held at the Chamber of Commerce to see if they wanted to protest this alternate service of the passenger trains. It was the general opinion of those present that they would not protest, as in all probability the town would receive a Star route, and it would not hamper our mail service.

This is all true enough, but that is only one of the many things to consider. If the railroad decides to alternate these trains that is only the first step. The next step would be to discontinue the mail service altogether, and then would come the third step which would eliminate the entire line. And where would Burkburnett be? Did you ever see an inland town that ever made a city?

The meeting of the officials of the Katy was originally scheduled to be held Feb. 20th, in Wichita Falls, but has been postponed until March 16, and the merchants of Burkburnett should reconsider and file a protest along with the other towns along this line who are affected by this alternate service.

The railroad problem has long been in the headlines. But it hasn't been there just because the public is interested in the personal troubles of the railroads. It has been there because of the fact that every phase of our national economic life is affected directly or indirectly by railroad prosperity and depression.

Are you a worker? Then it's very likely that the continued existence of an expanding railroad industry is vital to your job—the lines spend more than a billion a year for supplies, and hundreds of different kinds of businesses get the orders.

Do you own a savings account or a life insurance policy? Then the condition of the railroads has a great deal to do with the future safety of these savings—banks and insurance companies are among the largest holders of railroad securities.

Are you a farmer? Then you look to the railroads for quick, safe transport of perishables to distant markets.

Are you a parent with children in school? The railroad industry is one of the largest payers of school taxes in this country—taxes which would have to be made up by higher levies on all other property if the lines went bankrupt or were socialized.

Are you a taxpayer? Again, you have a vital interest in the railroads, which are assessed tremendous sums annually by all units of government, and pay a good share of the taxes which keep government services of all kinds going.

So it goes, throughout our entire economic society. All the railroads ask is a fair break with their competitors. And giving them that fair break would mean a better break for worker, manufacturer, farmer, investor—all of us.

SOME BIBLE FACTS

Dr. Thomas Horne, an English Bible scholar and critic who died in 1862, devoted several years to compiling interesting facts about the Bible, among them being the following:

The Bible is composed of 66 books containing 1,189 chapters, 41,173 verses, 774,746 words and 3,566,480 letters. The shortest verse is John 11:35 and contains only the two words, "Jesus Wept." The longest verse is Esther 8:9.

The word "Lord" occurs 1,853 times; "Jehovah" 5,845 times; the word "girl" only twice; "everlasting punishment," "eternity" and "reverend" occur only once each.

Several verses are duplicated, thus four verses of the 107th Psalm are identical, and the 36th chapter of Isaiah and the 19th chapter of II Kings are exactly alike.

No original manuscript of any portion of the Bible is in existence. The oldest manuscript known, a fragment of the 11th chapter of the Psalms, thought to have been written in the third century, is preserved in the British Museum. The Bible as we know it has come down to us through many translations, the first complete English translation having been made by John Wycliffe, who died in 1384, and his fellow workers, Nicholas and Purvey.

William Tyndale was the first to print the Bible in English, beginning in 1525. He printed all of the New Testament and a small portion of the Old, but his translation came under disapproval of the ecclesiastical authorities. After 15 months' imprisonment he was tried and burned at stake for heresy on October 6, 1536.

Ear-Tags Reveal Dairy Criminals

Humans are fingerprinted, but Texas cows are being ear-tagged under a system that reveals dairy cows and families that are enemies to profitable dairy farming.

Texas is one of the states co-operating with the USDA Bureau of Dairy Industry in permanently marking all animals in dairy herd improvement associations, according to G. G. Gibson, assistant dairyman of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service.

The purpose of the ear-tagging and records is not only to catch the dairy criminals, he says, but to eliminate their influence in the breeding of future dairy cattle. Every cow is put on her own production record and farmers get a complete check that shows the value of every bull in the dairy herd improvement herd.

Cows that show, on the basis of their record, that they are able to pay for their board bill and return a good profit are kept, while cows who are "just living with," the dairyman are culled out. The same applies to bulls, who are judged by their offspring. A herd sire that produces daughters with greater production than their dams is kept on; a sire whose daughters' production is less than their dams doesn't get another chance.

The ear-tag system is now being used in 141 Texas herds numbering 5,786 animals, Gibson says, and dairymen will be on a more profitable basis when they begin "finger-printing" their herds.

Clara Boys Acquire Prize Dairy Heifers

Harry Martin and Don Peed of Clara became owners Saturday of two registered dairy heifers selected at Fort Worth Friday by W. L. (Rip) Collins, assistant Wichita county agent.

Martin and Peed are members of the Wichita County Dairy club. Twenty-five other boys are members of the county dairy club, 12 of them owning 17 calves.

Child Development Is Work of Texas Demonstration Agt.

More than 23,700 pre-school children of Texas were affected by the child development work offered by Texas county home demonstration agents in 1938.

Eating, dressing, and playing habits were stressed, according to Dosca Hale, specialist in parent education and child development of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service.

In 1,100 communities, 101 home demonstration agents reached 16,500 families, either through programs on some phase of family relations or by training women and girls to give such programs.

Around 6,500 pieces of home made toys were made for family members and in many cases the children helped with the work.

Altogether, families in 101 Texas counties are being offered some phase of family life programs that aim to help family members to be happier as individuals and as a member of the family circle.

THE DOCTOR Tells the Story

by W.E. AUGHINBAUGH MD

Dental Anaesthesia

A man's genius cannot raise him from obscurity, no matter how brilliant it may be, unless it develops at the opportune time and is appreciated and recommended by men of advanced thought.

Perhaps the life of no one man illustrates the truthfulness of this statement so much as that of Dr. Horace Wells, of Hartford, Conn., to whom mankind is indebted for the use of nitrous oxide gas to eliminate pain, while extracting teeth.

Of course this gas was discovered in 1772 by Priestly, a chemist, but he never dreamed of using it to allay pain. In 1828, Dr. Geradni, read a paper before the Academy of Medicine in Paris, suggesting its use in minor operations, but no one ever ventured to employ it in surgery or dentistry.

Indeed its only use was by popular entertainers, administering it to venturesome individuals selected from the audience in order to see them make fools of themselves. A man named Colton traveled about the country giving such demonstrations, and charged twenty-five cents admission to his performances. He also advertised to give private entertainments before ladies clubs and church organizations.

Certain of its practical use in the field of surgery and dentistry, Dr. Horace Wells, before an audience of doctors and dentists, had a wisdom tooth extracted December 11, 1844, by a Dr. Riggs, and when he regained consciousness remarked, "I did not so much as feel the prick of a pin."

Immediately he was subject to ridicule by cartoonists and newspapers—so much so in fact that it was more than twenty years afterwards when the professional men recognized it and began its extensive use.

In the meantime, Dr. Wells became the butt of ridicule, was refused recognition, looked upon as a charlatan, and belittled. The public, inflamed by the prejudiced reports spread about nitrous oxide gas and Dr. Wells, ignored its use, when it was suggested by surgeons and dentists, despite the fact that many major surgical operations were performed, without the patient's feeling pain.

Finally, depressed and worn out by his struggle for recognition, Dr. Wells, aged 33, on January 22, 1848, committed suicide by slashing himself with a razor.

His short life was tragic for himself and his family, but he gave to humanity—Anaesthesia—the greatest gift of science. Today—far too late to do him any good—monuments, paintings, statues and bronze plates in colleges commemorate his donation to mankind.

Fried Chicken or Fat Pork

By T. C. RICHARDSON, Secretary
Breeder-Feeder Association

Chicken is a luxury for people willingly pay for. Probably not one ever had enough to get tired of it, able to buy it regularly, passes through the salers and caterers, yet who raise it and can on Sunday and in celebration of the money people, are too much great fried chicken as to be served when you set the hens on eggs, hatch them in a fitable activity for the hours not needed in crops, lose something that is irrecoverable.

Besides the good eating there is always some kind of a market for the surplus, and many a farm flock buys the fowl, coffee and other groceries which cannot be produced at home. If the market is low, housewives have learned to can the meat for future use or sale. I know a West Texas store which buys its canned chicken from the women's home demonstration club members in the community and sells it in chicken salad and sandwiches.

W. A. Painter, a tenant farmer in Hale county, Texas, rents a freezer-locker in town for $100 a year. If the fryer, broiler or turkey market is down when his fowls are ready, he dresses them at home and stores them in the locker to be sold after the rush season is over. Mr. Painter also has built up a good business in dressed turkeys direct to customers in Dallas and Ft. Worth, 300 miles away. "Where there's a will there's a way" is just as true as when it was first printed in the old Blue Back speller three generations ago.

The National Grandmothers Club is a Chicago organization for which Mrs. Marie K. Mrs. Brown, a grandmother herself, seeks to glorify the modern wide-awake type, the ones who go to conventions, scout around the country in their own cars, are healthy and energetic and are no longer ashamed to hide the fact of their grandmotherhood.

The New York City Federation of Women's Clubs is the first large woman's group to favor mixed orchestras. Mrs. Otta Hahn, chairman of its department of fine arts, has endorsed the principle of equal opportunity for qualified women musicians in opera, theatre and radio programs. Burkburnett History

As revealed by the files of The Star 10 years ago.

Joe H. Davis was installed as president of the Chamber of Commerce at an annual banquet held Wednesday night at the Christian church annex. Retiring president was W. S. Duvall. B. H. Preston, Ben McDonald, R. H. Henry, J. R. Chambers and G. R. Kincaid were installed as directors.

F. R. Knauth, Ed Williams and Rex Smith met Tuesday morning with committees from the Electra Chamber of Commerce and from the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce to discuss completing the seven mile gap between Burkburnett and Clara on the Electra highway.

Burkburnett delegates to the singing convention at Cooper on Sunday secured the next District Singing Convention which will be held here on March 17th at the Methodist church.

Construction on the cracking plant at the Noble refinery on the Church of Christ and the new Liberty has been suspended on account of the extremely cold weather.

The residence occupied by W. M. Green and family, on the corner of Second street and Holly avenue, was damaged by fire Wednesday morning. Quick work by the city volunteer fire department saved a total loss.

Officers Bill Garland and Dad Sanders arrested two boys about 13 years old Tuesday night after they had been apprehended taking articles from cars parked in front of the tabernacle where the revival is being held. They were released after a long talk with the officers and upon their promise to adhere to the "straight and narrow" from now on.

New Methods Are Urged In Caring For Fruit Trees

The old theory that heavy pruning of fruit trees results in increased yields has been blasted by J. F. Rosborough, horticulturist of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service.

He said recent experimental work has shown that young trees cut back too much have been forced to devote their season's growth to replacing the wood, rather than to producing fruit. Light pruning, with an even distribution of fruiting wood, is desirable. This will establish trees that will give maximum production and also result in longer life for the trees.

Peach trees should be held down to allow harvesting from the ground or from low ladders. "It is customary to head peach trees near the ground, with the increased use of tractors and heavy equipment, the trees are now being headed slightly higher than previously," Rosborough pointed out.

"Pecans require very little pruning. They are usually headed high enough from the ground to allow tractors and sprayers to be used under the lower branches. Spacing is more important with pecans than pruning. They should be spaced 12 or 15 to the acre, and when trees have been planted closer than 60 or 70 feet, it will usually be necessary to thin them later."

Plums, cherries, apples, and other tree fruits are usually treated with an intermediate method of pruning, between those used for peaches and pecans. Rosborough said most pruning should be done when the trees are planted to establish scaffold branches at the proper height. Later pruning should be mainly to remove dead or broken branches or slight cutting to keep the tree in balance.

In all, there are approximately 20,000 separate uses for gas.

"Mother" Toby Has Birthday

Years may come and years may go, but there is one in our town who has seemed to learn the secret of keeping young regardless, and that one we lovingly call "Mother" Toby.

Wednesday, February 15, was her 80th birthday and in celebration of the happy event her daughter, Mrs. S. A. M. Cooper, surprised her and Brother Toby by inviting a few of their friends in for a birthday dinner.

As friends arrived with gifts and birthday greetings, it was soon discovered that though Mother Toby had passed another milestone, she utterly disregards the years and continues to have the same youthful spirit looking forward with hope to the years to come.

The morning sped swiftly with reminiscences of the past as all entered into the spirit of the occasion. At noon the guests were invited to partake of a sumptuous meal featuring a large birthday cake which graced the center of the dining table.

O. L. Clark served as master of ceremonies, offering a prayer of thanksgiving and pronouncing the benediction.

Following the lovely luncheon, all the gifts were opened and the guests then gathered around the piano and all joined in singing hymns, among them being Mrs. Toby's favorite, "His Promise to Me."

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Jess Rice, Mrs. Claude Bowman, Mrs. H. S. Van Cleave, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Miller, Mrs. Sam Davis, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Cooper and their sons, Delbert, Howard, and Carol and Mr. and Mrs. Toby.

THE STUDENTS OF CLARA SCHOOL

Editor-in-Chief Frances Ramming
Assistant Editor Ruby Nelle McClure
Sports Editors Bonnie Lee James and Raymond Van Loh
Social Editor Mary Lois Ferguson

1st and 2nd Grade News
Bobbie Ann McClure was elected President of our News Club for this week.
We are sorry Patsy Gay is ill.

3rd and 4th Grade News
The Rhythm Band played for the P-T-A program Monday nite. The numbers they played were: "Jolly Little Raindrops," "Minuet in G," "Shoemaker's Dance," and "The Big Grizzly."

5th and 6th Grade News
Mary Frances Cozby and Wilma Butts are ill today.
We are working on our assembly program which will be given next Monday.

Freshman News
Some of the boys of the Freshman class are working hard trying to construct the radioes which we think will be a great lot of fun.
While the girls are trying, trying, mind you, to learn how to sew, the boys are learning how to build radioes.

Soph News
Sophs, be careful! The six weeks tests are just around the corner. They won't be as bad as the mid-term exams (we hope) but they will require work for each of us so that we can come out with flying colors—so, beware, Sophs!

Junior News
Didn't we tell you? That we would win the Queen's contest? Well, we did and led so far above that the Seniors would have had to have almost 500 more votes to beat us. This contest closed last Friday night, February the 10th. On this night the finals for the class basket ball and volley ball games were played also. Again in this contest the Juniors passed the Seniors in both volley ball and basket ball. The Junior boys came out with first place and the girls won third place.

We told you last week that our play has been selected—"Eyes of Love," by Lillian Mortimer. The characters are:
Carolina, Theresa Huestes, a negro servant.
Gailya, Virginia Rogers, an adopted daughter.
Reita, Ruby Nelle McClure, a two-faced friend.
Burt Wade, Artie Allred, Reita's brother.
Mrs. Barry, Nora Muller, Gail-

ya's foster mother.
Lora, Trevelyn Miller, a lively housemaid.
Clank, Troy Miller, a busy butler.

Judge Barry, Junior Johnston, Gailya's foster father.
Royal Marton, Raymond Van Loh, Burt's rival.
Jim Rankin, Johnnie Pounds, the manacled man.
The date has not been set but will be announced soon.

Senior News
Because of those things dreaded by all inmates of educational institutions called six weeks tests, the Clara Seniors have been gladly forced to put our play off until March 3rd. Remember the date for this noble exhibition of rural talent. The title? None other than, "The Taming of Tuffy." By the way, to keep that so able a debate spokesman, Mary Lois Ferguson, from having her feelings pricked, we must mention her brilliant success in this argumentative sport the week-end past. She is really quite eloquent, but no wonder. She is a Senior.

Sports News
The tennis bug seemed to have flown from out of nowhere and landed in the midst of Clara's ambitious tennis belles. Even the icy winter sleet doesn't stop them as long as the ball will bounce. They are practicing in earnest and by March they should be able to make a tennis ball "glide" through the air with the greatest of ease.
The girls' base ball team has also begun spring practice under the leadership of Mrs. Ralph Davis.

F F A Selects Sweethearts Enter In State Contest

The local chapter of F F A recently selected Peggy Gene Kemp and Doris Bean as club sweethearts.
Pictures of these girls have been sent to the Fort Worth Star Telegram where they will be entered in a contest with sweethearts from clubs all over the state.
Winners will represent Texas at the National F F A Convention to be held in Kansas City, Mo., sometime in the Fall.

Coldest Weather In 25 Months Tuesday Morning

The thermometer dropped to 13 degrees in Burkburnett early Tuesday morning for the coldest weather experienced here in 25 months. This was the lowest reading since 11 degrees was recorded in January, 1937.

The mercury had risen to 32 at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Skies were clear, with a bright sun and the forecast was for warmer weather.

The crest of the cold wave was passing this section, according to reports from railroad dispatchers. In northern Oklahoma the temperature was 16, while readings in the Texas Panhandle were: Texline, 12; and Childress, 15.

County Agent G. R. McNeil said he did not believe the hard freeze had hurt either winter wheat or spring oats. Light weekend precipitation had provided sufficient surface moisture to protect the grain from damage.

Relief Workers Must Obtain Affidavits

Affidavits of citizenship must be executed by all persons receiving employment under the terms of the Emergency Relief Appropriation Act of 1938 if their employment is to be continued after March 5, it was announced today by State Works Progress Administrator H. P. Drought.

Affecting an estimated 147,000 persons in Texas, the citizenship regulations written into the act by Congress requires the execution by all WPA and NYA project workers and student aid employees as well as supervisory and administrative personnel.

In releasing instructions on methods of obtaining affidavits, Drought expressed the hope that it will be possible for destitute workers employed in the works program to obtain notary service without cost. WPA administrative employees who are notaries public will be relieved of regular duties to the fullest possible extent so that they may devote their time to notarial work. WPA administrative officers are seeking the co-operation of counties, cities and other sponsoring agencies to assist in providing free notary service to project workers.

Project employees who lose working time in order to obtain citizenship affidavits will be given an opportunity to make up the time lost, Drought said.

After laundering washable gloves, stuff them with tissue paper while they are drying. This will preserve their shape and keep the color from running.

FARMERS STATE BANK

The Farmers State Bank was organized on October 15, 1913, with R. E. Moore and W. J. Johnson serving as first president and cashier. The new bank was installed in a wooden building where Thaxton's hardware store now stands.

In October, 1914, when the bank was only a year old, a called statement showed the total deposits to be $74,368.45.

In 1917, at the height of the oil boom, when Ben Schwieger was president and H. C. Cooper was cashier, a called statement in November showed deposits to be $455,276.41, which was a gain of $130,000 in less than thirty days.

In 1919 A. A. Kuehn of Wichita Falls was made president and W. D. Utts was made cashier, which position he held until his death in 1934, at which time he was rated as one of the most astute bankers in this area.

W. R. Hill, who had served the bank as active vice president for a good many years, assumed much of the responsibility of the bank at the death of Mr. Utts and replaced Mr. Kuehn as president this year.

The Farmers State Bank is now located in a brick building on the corner of Avenue C and Main, having occupied that building since 1924 when it was moved from the building which now houses Boyds' Store.

Officers now serving the institution are: W. R. Hill, president; Harold Van Loh, active vice-president; H. S. Grace, vice-president; Erwin Schwieger, cashier; and Mrs. Doris Cropper, assistant cashier.

This bank has come to mean a bulwark for many citizens of this and surrounding communities, who have had faith in it since its beginning; have watched it prosper during the boom days, survive the hectic aftermath, and come with safety and assurance through the darkest of the depression.

Big Rabbit Creek

February 19, 1939

Last Tuesday morning at 2:10 a. m., Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Martin and their little daughter, Margaret, drove in to the Owens' family residence from Hobbs, N. M. Mr. Martin came back to dispose of his home farm. They intend to leave for their New Mexico home about Tuesday.

The most part of this past week it's been very disagreeable; a little snow, a little hail, and some rain. At this writing the sun is shining, but the wind is blowing from the southwest and it's quite chilly.

Hawkeye accompanied Mrs. Jess Kinnaird, her son Arland, and the other children, over to Our Friendly Little City, Saturday. They all attended the big trades day event.

The grain crop is beginning to come out of her kinks since the light snow fell a few days past, also the little rain, which came Saturday. The amount which fell helped some but nothing like enough for an under-ground season.

Tobe Hardin is on the sick list slightly for the past few days, with a light attack of the rheumatism in both hip joints.

Mrs. Frooney Kinnaird, Henry's wife, one of their daughters, and also their little son, Toadie, have been bedfast the past week with bad colds and tonsillitis, but were some better at this writing.

Hawkeye was advised Saturday that Mrs. John Ashton was taken to the General Hospital down at Wichita Falls, Texas, one day last week. Her many friends in this neighborhood are hoping to see her back home again in the near future.

Hawkeye's brother, Johnny, has a slight case of tonsillitis, but is not bedfast.

Mrs. Ed Owens had her hubby, while he was in Our Friendly Little City Saturday, to go down to the Carver's big chick hatchery to get her a big bunch of those fine one day old Rhode Island chicks which Hawkeye did. Say, boy, the Carver Hatchery puts out the finest, most robust baby chicks I, Hawkeye, ever seen to come out of any hatchery at a living price.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Martin left Saturday at 10:40 a. m. for a long business trip up to Vinita, Okla., about 385 miles up near the Missouri line, but before leaving for this long round trip drive of 780 miles, they knew they had to make it with a good auto, so they drove down to Our Friendly Little City and went down to the Thompson Motor Co. and purchased a fine '35 model Studebaker car. All W. H. had to do is just to get into Mr. Studebaker and step on him and they were off for Vinita. They will return late Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Austin were shopping over in Our Friendly Little City Saturday.

Well, sir, Hawkeye just stood on one of the main street corners Saturday while it was raining hard and he was just astonished to see the thousands that were coming in to the city from 9:45 a. m. up 'till 5 p. m. The rain didn't stop the great mass of people coming to the City to do their shopping and to attend the big trades day event.

J. E. Wood was transacting business over in Our Friendly Little City Saturday afternoon.

Fully 3-4 of the Big Rabbit Creek population, the Valley View and the Randlett communities were Oklahoma representatives over in Our Friendly Little City all day Saturday.

Jess Kinnaird and his son, Arland, are cutting a nice lot of pecan and oak wood for K. D. Vaden over on Deep Red.

One of Burkburnett's leading business men, Henry Prinzing, alias, Little Henry, motored over in the Big Rabbit Creek neighborhood Sunday afternoon and called on the Owens family for a short visit.

Lee Thompson, the manager of the Thompson Motor Co. in Our Friendly Little City, motored over to the Owens family residence Sunday afternoon accompanied by his father. Yours truly, "Hawkeye" Owens Atchinson, Kansas, claims the first plant established in the United States for the manufacture of alcohol to be used as motor fuel.

Randlett Boys and Girls Are Making
Basketball Record

The Randlett boys and girls basketball team are well on their way to their first Big Pasture Conference championship.

The boys and girls have had a very successful season, the boys ringing up 19 victories to one defeat and the girls have won 15 games with one defeat.

The boys are leading the conference in the Sooner state, with six wins and one loss. The loss was to Union Valley in the early part of the season. They have defeated the Union Valley team three times since their first defeat by them.

The girls have been defeated once in the conference race, Victory being the team that defeated them. They later turned the tables on Victory and won by the large score of 49 to 18.

Randlett Lassies
Run Wild Over
Devol, 29 to 8

Almost equaling the boys' score of 29 to 9 the lassies from Randlett ran their score to 29 to 8, only one point shy of the boys' score.

Ashton led the high score for the night with 11 points with La Barre close behind with 10 points. Griffin paced them with 8 points to her credit.

Short for the Devol team rang up 4 points to her credit. The girls have been playing championship ball all year and the fans of Randlett should feel proud of the team they have.

IN SPRING TRAINING

The old gridiron sounded off to the chant of 42-31-82-72-hip-1-2-3-4-5-6, as the locals began their spring football practice on the High school field.

Quinton Howard looked good the other day kicking the ball for lots of yardage. That is what is needed now-day, is some one who can kick the ball for lots of yardage.

Fred Brown showed up to his old self by chanting the signals then running wide on fast plays. He is one of the fastest lads around here and will be of much service if—he doesn't throw his arm away slinging passes. Fred can pass and they are accurate, but be careful, Fred. Take care of that arm—they don't grow on trees.

John Duke sure did some running around the field without his football shoes the other day. This lad is fast without his football shoes and when he gets them he will show them his heels. Nice work, John, I like your shifty work, even though you are handicapped so far with only dress shoes.

Pete Grace is again arched over the ball and he can do a nice piece of centering work on any man's team. Pete, take it easy on the smaller lads for a while, will you?

Russell Clements is doing a nice piece of work on the end. It is nice to watch him block. With a little more polishing up he will develop where it will be hard to get over him or around him. Keep the hustle up, Clements—don't slack up for even one minute.

Melvin Turner is doing some nice pass slinging and he has a bullet pass that will prove worthy later on. Remember, a sore arm sometimes may never mend.

You have heard of the unsung heroes; well, credit should be given to James Walling and Wilfred Stubblefield for their work as managers. These boys check in the equipment of every athletic event and give out equipment for every event. These lads are responsible for everything in the gym and do a good job of it also. Even though the boys don't play, they do play an important part in the machine of the Bulldogs—nice work lads, keep it up.

The Double T on Hill's jacket brings back memories of Texas Tech and the coaches standing in Tech stadium barking orders to the huskies of Tech.

Mrs. Ralph Davis entertained the local R. A. group Tuesday afternoon by taking them to Iowa Park on a skating party. Those going on the party reported having a grand time and expressed their desire to go again soon.

Fairview Defeated In District Meet

In a hotly contested game at Hardin Junior College last Friday night, Fairview was defeated in their first game of the district play-off, losing to Ringgold.

The score was 22 to 20.

The score was tied 20 all at the end of the game, so an overtime period was necessary to break the tie. The Fairview lads have won the county basketball championship for four consecutive years and have won the district once, being defeated that year at Denton in the regional play-off by a strong team from Polytechnic High school in Fort Worth.

Fairview Girls to Play District

By virtue of winning the county championship from the Valley View girls, the Fairview team will compete in the district at Wichita Falls, Friday and Saturday. Their first game will be with Stoneburg, the Montague county champions. The games will be Friday afternoon.

Fairview girls won the round robin and lost to Valley View in the tournament, making a play-off necessary to determine the county championship. Valley View won the first game there; Fairview came back strong to win in their second meeting on their home court, and won the third game played on the court at Iowa Park last week.

The Fairview girls enter the district play-off with the determination to go further than the boys did. This is the first time the girls have ever won the county volleyball championship. Iowa Park has dominated this sport heretofore, but Wichita County has a new representative this time in the Fairview team.

100F Makes Contribution To Education Fund

Washington's birthday may mean hatchets and cherry trees to most Americans, but to Burkburnett Odd Fellows it means a boost to education.

Each year on February 22, 1,500,000 Odd Fellows in 25,000 lodges in the United States and Canada attend special meetings to contribute to the Order's educational foundation. Donations are entirely voluntary but over the years they have consistently produced a large sum of money.

These funds are reserved for the use of sons and daughters of Odd Fellows; particularly of deceased members, who desire higher education. The money is loaned to them and repaid, thus becoming a revolving fund that increases in size each year.

Washington's birthday was selected by the Odd Fellows as their "give-for-education" day because the Father of his country constantly stressed education as a keystone in America's national structure.

In accordance with this plan, the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs met Thursday night, February 23, in a social gathering during which time contributions were received for the educational fund of the Odd Fellows organization. Everybody enjoyed themselves by playing various games, after which refreshments were served to all the guests.

In cooking red and white vegetables such as beets, cauliflower, etc., cook with container covered as this holds the acid in and the vegetables keep their original color.

Twenty-Four Football Players Receive Special Awards Monday

Bulldogs Received Sweaters Monday Special Assembly

Twenty-four football players, the Bulldog manager and his two assistants received annual awards during a special assembly at the High School Monday morning. Coach Volney Hill made the awards and addressed the assembly briefly. He accompanied the presentations with words of praise and encouragement for his team.

Of the 24 who received their letters, 19 men will return for the 1939 season.

Five sun gold trophies were presented as special awards. Harry Elliott, as most loyal player; Buck Willett as best defensive player; Jack McKown, best on rushing passers; Pete Grace, for recovery of fumbles; Garth Landes for blocking most punts—all received trophies.

Kenneth (Buck) Willett, as co-captain, received a sweater with three service stripes. Harry Elliott, the other captain, received his sweater with four service stripes. Each sweater had the regulation captain's star above the service stripes.

Orto Elliott, Jack McKown, Pete Grace, J. D. Smith, W. P. Boydston, Winfred Stevens, and Garth Landes all received black jackets with orange letters and two service stripes.

Those who received jackets with one service stripe were: Quinton Howard, Bobby Hayes, Stanley Green, John Duke, Guy Chesney, Hugh Frank Brown, Louis Johnson, Russell Clements and Bennie Robinson.

Reserve letters went to E. J. Reed, Donald Wysinger, J. T. Hairston, and Bill Stoker.

Poll Tax Record Set This Year

Wichita county's voting strength this year is approximately 13,390, it was announced Tuesday by Jim Robinson, county tax assessor and collector.

Completion of the check on poll tax receipts showed 9,490 had been issued. Robinson estimates 3,900 exemption certificates for those over and under the age limits within which poll tax payments are required, are in effect.

The poll tax payment total was the highest on record for an off-year, when no general election is scheduled, and is only 1,363 under that of the last election year.

Courthouse political observers attribute the large number of polls paid to dual interest in state and county government this year. The county angle was caused by rumors of possible local option votes, while many believe amendments to the state constitution may be submitted to the people during 1939.

Rosebud seed planted in pots now will come up in the spring and be large enough to transplant to the yard in the fall. They grow from 10 to 20 inches the first year.

Optometry Bill Meets Opposition

Branding the proposed optometry law as class legislation and discriminatory against Texas business, many retail merchants, jewelers and optometrists throughout the state are planning to fight the measure to a finish.

The bill regulating optometrists has been introduced both in the senate and the house of representatives. Opponents of the bill claim that powerful interests—some of them from out of state, are trying to lobby the bill thru in a hurry.

In effect, the bill would put Texas optometrists under a board which is a virtual dictatorship. The board would have no accountability for its collected fees—and the present license fees on optometrists are doubled by its provisions—but can spend such money in any way they may desire. The board would be given absolute power over optometrists and can deprive any optometrist of his license to practice without any further or higher appeal. The board alone determines who can make a living as an optometrist in Texas. The provisions of the law, so its opponents claim, will put many optometrists out of business in the smaller communities of the state and greatly limit and handicap the following of this profession in the larger cities.

No optometrist is allowed to advertise or to announce any credit rates for the provision of eyeglasses. Newspapers, neon signs, optometrists displays in store windows, radio, billboards and all other mediums of advertising for optometrists are wiped off the map by this stringent statute. Poor people will not be able to pay for spectacles on terms unless specially arranged for with members of the selected group who will profit by this legislation. Many members of both houses in which the bill is pending will oppose it as being in restraint of trade.

THIS BOY SAYS:

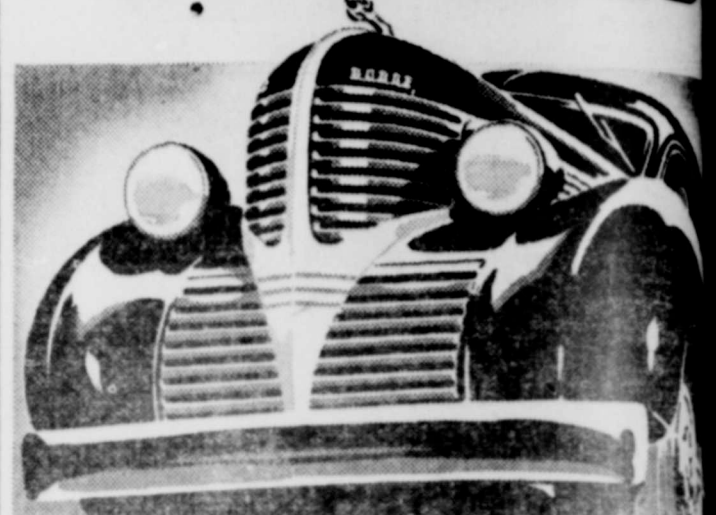

"I'm going to be a good football player because I'm building up my energy. I eat lots of MOTHER'S BREAD. It's made with milk and is a meal in itself."

was a man who never had very much education. He used bad English. He wore old clothes, he was lazy, he was almost always late to an appointment, and he loved to chew gum. His name was Will Rogers.

He got $375,000 a year for making three pictures; and he got $400 a day or $2,800 a week for his newspaper column. He got a thousand dollars for merely making a funny speech. He got $333 a minute for talking over the radio. Why, he could just pause between sentences and make ten or fifteen dollars.

He was born on Election Day and he made a half million dollars cracking jokes about Congress.

He was born in the Indian Territory near a little place called Oologah.

During the first part of his life, Will planned to go into the ministry. His mother was a great admirer of William Penn, so she named him William Penn Adair Rogers.

Both of his parents were part Indian—his mother one-fourth, and his father one-eighth. For years his father sat in the councils of the Cherokees as one of their wise men.

The first time Will ever came to New York he rode a freight train with a load of cattle. He fed and watered the cattle and slept sitting up in the caboose of the train all the way from Oklahoma to New York City.

He walked up Broadway with his cowboy boots and his country clothes and of course people laughed at him. One man snatched off his hat and jeered at him.

The last time he came by airplane, stopped at the Waldorf-Astoria and when he walked along the street, people stopped and stared at him and crowded around him, begging for his autograph.

When he was a young man, Rogers wanted to see the world, so he went to South America, traveling steerage to save money. He got a job there punching cattle at four dollars a month.

When the Boer War broke out, he went to South Africa on a cattle boat and got a job breaking wild horses for the British cavalry.

When the war was over, he was so hard up that he had to live with the soldiers in the army barracks and eat handouts that the cook gave him. Wanting to get back to America, he joined a small traveling circus as a

HOUSE and HOME

by Mary E. Dague

Author of Sister Mary's Kitchen

Winter days mean constant cleaning and "touching up" of house-furnishings, but we like to do it the easiest and quickest way.

Grimy and dull-looking Venetian blinds can be made fresh and new looking if you go over them with a cloth dampened in water to which 1 teaspoonful of glycerine has been added. This same treatment will brighten up parchment shades.

The tops of card tables that have been stained and perhaps scorched a bit will respond to sponging with a glycerine solution. For this solution add a teaspoonful of glycerine to a cup of warm water and rub the table top over with the mixture. Then go over the surface with a cloth dampened in a dry-cleaning fluid. Next rub the top lightly with a cloth moistened with pure glycerine and finish up with a clean dry cloth.

Now we can begin bringing in branches of the various spring flowering shrubs like Forsythia, to force them into bloom in the house. You may have forgotten that these shrubs need several sharp freezes and two or three months of actual dormancy before they will respond.

That is why we wait until late winter to bring them in. Cut the branches cleanly and keep the cut ends in plenty of fresh water. As a precaution against the buds drying out before they can open, it's a good idea to spray both the stems and buds once a day for the first couple of weeks.

The excessively dry atmosphere of the average house is most unnatural for the buds and extra care must be taken to prevent them from blighting.

The other day I saw a gadget that appealed to me as a valuable accessory on ironing day. A steel frame with edges turned up on three sides to hold the iron is firmly attached with screws to the bottom of the ironing board thus leaving all the board for actual ironing. There's no danger of scorching the ironing pad as we so often do when we let the hot iron rest for a few seconds and there's no crowding of garments against a hot iron, either.

Pleats and many gores are the fashion forecast for spring skirts and while they are predicted to be short, the length is arbitrary and should be determined by its becomingness to you. Young girls can wear skirts fourteen inches from the floor but every woman will find that she will have to choose the length best suited to her individually. One-fifth to one-sixth of one's height is a good rule to follow.

He married Miss Betty Blake, a girl who was born in Arkansas. The first time he ever saw her, she was sitting on a front porch in Claremore, Oklahoma, drinking lemonade. He had just bought a new bicycle, and wanted to show off; so he tried to do a bit of trick riding and fell off and hurt himself.

Miss Blake rushed out and picked him up and helped wash a cut on his hand. That is the way he met Betty Blake.

There were many astonishing things about Will Rogers; he met kings and queens and was entertained by the high and the mighty of this earth—and yet he never owned a long-tailed coat.

He wore old, dilapidated clothes and he frequently drove into Hollywood or Los Angeles without a necktie and wearing boots and old, blue denim overalls with brass rivets in them.

He was proud of his Indian ancestors. He said, "My folks didn't come over on the Mayflower, but when the Mayflower landed, we were there to meet them."

Many tears have been shed, figuratively speaking, about "of all sad words of tongue or pen, the saddest are these, 'It might have been.'" But Grantland Rice, the sports writer-poet, has a new slant:

Here's to 'the days that might have been';
Here's to 'the life I might have led';
The fame I might have gathered in—
The glory ways I might have sped.

Great 'Might Have Been,' I drink to you
Upon a throne where thousands hail—
And then—there looms another view—
I also 'might have been' in jail.

"There's nothing new under the sun," the philosopher of old declared. But Jerry Sadler, member of the State Railroad Commission since January 1, has proved that there is. He made history when, 10 days ago, he held an oil hearing in an oil field. The hearing, concerning the new Avoca townsite field in Jones County, began in Austin. "Where are the landowners who own the royalty?" Sadler inquired. "Many of them couldn't spare the money to come all the way to Austin," someone explained. "Then we'll take the hearing to them," the Railroad Commissioner declared.

And so the hearing was conducted in the Avoca schoolhouse. Two hundred fifty persons—cowboy boots and ten-gallon hats, calico dresses and overalls much in evidence—attended. Many owned only one or two lots in the townsite. Everybody was extended a chance to give his views and as much time as he wanted in order that the wishes of plain citizens as well as experts and oil companies could be heard. And everybody seemed to like Sadler's idea of taking the government to the people.

Probably you've seen that sketch entitled "Isms" that Mr. Anonymous wrote:

"Socialism—If you own two cows, you give one to your neighbor. Communism—You give both cows to the government and the government gives you back some of the milk. Fascism—You keep both cows but give the milk to the government, which sells some of the milk back to you. New Dealism—You shoot one cow, milk the other and then pour the milk down the sink." To which has been added: "Taxation—You give both cows to the government, which in turn uses the milk to make biscuits; the government then sells the biscuits to you, charging a 1.6 transaction tax."

The taxation shoe is pinching the feet of the members of the Texas Shoe Retailers Association who at a recent convention asserted that taxes now take a toll "of more than 25 per cent of our gross income" and are "the largest item entering into the cost of operating business." Vigorous opposition to "further increase in taxation of any kind or nature or the levying of any new tax" was expressed.

Entry in "oldest joke" contest: A white man presented a negro with a bottle of whiskey and, a few days later, he asked how the whiskey was.

"Just right, boss," the darkey

Best wisecrack on the transaction tax is that of Jack Hawkins in the Groesbeck Journal who said that last summer W. And, after all, nobody has figured out a way of doing without eating whereas a fellow could get along somehow without voting—Mr. O'Daniel did for several years.

Auditorium Has Been Improved By Moving Seats

The High school auditorium has been greatly improved by moving the seats out from under the balcony and putting them in the balcony. Under the balcony the seats were practically useless because those who sat in them could neither hear nor see satisfactorily. The seats in the balcony are now choice seats. They are now ideally located for both seeing and hearing, and for most performances they will be sold as reserved seats.

Several boys in the Junior Class under the direction of Mr. Pommerening, the Junior sponsor, did this work in preparation for the Junior play, March 3rd. James Walling, Robert Riddle, Horace Coley, and Boyd Anderson did much of this work last Saturday, and Hubert Ogilvy and Billy England worked Friday.

The Freshmen occupy these seats in assembly and they are especially glad that they have been moved off the concrete.

The recently coined word Chemurgic means literally, "putting chemistry to work" and it is generally used with reference to the benefit that results to agriculture and industry.

Hardin School Art Dept. Presented Orphanage Favors

The Art department of the Intermediate grades of the Burk Burnett school system, under the direction of Miss Kathryn Sharp, recently completed the table favors which were used at a banquet held at the State Orphan's Home at Corsicana on February 22.

The favors stressed the Washington motif, being little wooden hatchets cut out of white pine with coping saws and having clusters of cherries burned into the handles with the electric burning set which is the property of Hardin school.

It is customary for members of the American Junior Red Cross to exchange gifts, and, since the local schools have long been 100 per cent members of that organization, the table favors for the Orphan's Home were made and presented in accordance with that policy.

During the years of their membership in the American Junior Red Cross, the schools here have exchanged gifts with schools in the Hawaiian Islands, in Australia and many other remote places. The system of exchanging gifts is not confined to the Art departments, but includes every department in the school. They will continue to observe this custom which has found much favor with the students.

County Agent Is Transferred

Miss Leta Bennett, county home demonstration agent, has been transferred to McLennan county following refusal of the county commissioners court to meet the $200 per year increase in salary necessary to retain her services here.

Miss Vida Moore, district agent from College Station, who was in Wichita Falls Monday, said it probably would be several weeks before Miss Bennett leaves here, or her successor is announced.

Miss Bennett was offered the post in McLennan county at a salary to which that county would contribute $1,200 annually. Wichita county contributes only $1,000 to the county home demonstration agent's pay, and commissioners declined to meet the increase when the situation was presented them Monday by Miss Moore.

Ayers Addressed Open Forum Here

R. K. Ayers, Field Executive of Boy Scouts for this area, spoke to fifteen men who assembled for the open forum held at Hardin school last Friday evening. His subject was "What Scoutmasters Can Do To Encourage Development in the Community."

Frank Kelley was the only other speaker on the program. Discussion of a Parents' Night to be observed soon was held, but nothing definite decided. Announcement was made that another Open Forum will be held here on March 17.

Out of 600 members of the 1939 Smith's Winter Visitor club at St. Petersburg, Fla., 229 were named John Smith.

A survey indicated that only 1,000 of 4,200 North Carolina high school graduates planning in 1938 to attend college had as much as $500 a year each to spend for expenses.

Theatre Employees Heard Address On Fire Prevention

Herman Engelmann, as a representative of the Burk Burnett Fire Department, addressed employees of the Palace Theatre at their weekly meeting Saturday morning, February 18th.

Stressing the importance of fire prevention and of intelligent handling of crises, in case there is a fire, his talk was especially effective and was the occasion for much comment by the Palace force.

The program was only one of many which the local fire department is sponsoring in an effort to make citizens fire hazard conscious and to awaken them to their responsibility as a group and as individuals.

Farmers Who Failed To Get FSA Help May Now Re-Apply

Many farmers who were unable to obtain loans from the Farm Security Administration earlier in the year can now be served, and are urged to renew their applications at FSA's local offices.

It is announced that additional office and field help has been received, in order to push loans through promptly, and that assurance has been given by national headquarters that money will be available for every eligible farm family.

A statement has been received from C. M. Evans, regional director, that loans will be made covering a wide range, from a one-ton set-up in the Eastern portion of the State to the large operator in the West who may need several thousand dollars to lease grass land or to stock it.

Loans will be made to those who are unable to get adequate financing elsewhere, but only when they have or can get enough land to provide a reasonable living. Before a loan is made, a sound plan of farm and home management must be worked out through which the family will be able to grow most of its food and feed at home, and repay the loan over a period of one to five years.

Evans said that many farmers would still be able to obtain land this year if they could get livestock and equipment, who otherwise would be in destitute circumstances. He urged them to apply or renew their application promptly at the FSA office in this county, if they know of land they can rent. Many other farmers, he said, are slipping back each year because of insufficient land, livestock or equipment, when they could get upon a paying basis through FSA aid.

BEAM OF LIGHT GUIDES THREE SAFELY DOWN MT. WHITNEY, HIGHEST IN

REACHING the summit of Mt. Whitney, highest peak in the continental United States, after an all-day climb, three Californians were forced by cold to descend the mountain in darkness, a feat described by experienced climbers as "almost a miracle."

Cutting through snowbanks, fording streams and negotiating rocky trails covered with ice, they made their way down the famous California mountain. They owe their lives to flashlights, which made it possible for them to follow the trail and avoid disaster on cliffs hundreds of feet high.

John M. Conrad, of Inglewood, Calif., and two friends started on their adventure at 2:30 in the morning. They reached the base of the mountain after a five-hour trip, and at once began to climb. They made good progress up to 10,000 feet, but there the rare atmosphere began to affect their breathing. From then on, more time was spent resting than walking.

Near the top of the 14,495-foot mountain, Conrad became ill. His friends did what they could for him, but he did not respond rapidly. It looked as though the project would have to be abandoned. But, as the afternoon wore on Conrad recovered somewhat. Meanwhile the temperature was dropping sharply. The trio were now determined, however, to try to reach the summit. "At length we got there," said Conrad, "but by that time it was so cold and the wind was so high that we knew we had to start back down at once—or freeze to death. We also realized we were going to be up against it when it got dark, but we had to make the attempt. "We had a flashlight, and we saved this until darkness came down. Then we switched on and took our chance. With this single went safely along precipitous cliffs. We were not alone. Our light went out, but we had lost while fording through snow drifts, icy ledges, and stuck in. If our light went out, we for, but I had loaded batteries that I knew were they did a job for us. what saved our necks." In the course of their descent of Mt. Whitney, ers covered some things
