OKLAHOMA POLITICS HASKELL'S VENTURES STATE FOR DEMOS OIL AND POLITCS

By H. N. Fitzgerald
Record News Staff.

NEW YORK, July 21.—Oklahoma is the step-daughter of Texas and the Oklahoma delegates and leaders played a prominent part in the convention game. Gov. M. E. Trapp and his fellow delegates after flirting with McAdoo and Owen, through the weary hours, landed on the Davis band wagon.

National Committeeman Scott Ferris was one of the big leaders. He was defeated for senator four years ago by J. W. Harreld, republican. It will be recalled that the oil men of Oklahoma landed in the republican camp that year because they had been promised that Mexican crude would be taken from the free list. It wasn't and thousands of independent oil men went broke.

* * *

FORMER GOVERNOR CHARLES N. HASKELL, for the first time in years was not in evidence. Disaster appears to have overtaken Haskell in his Wall street ventures. Another Texan who played an important part was Capt. Reginald Stafford Healy, well known in the Mid-Continent field and an officer on General [illegible] his staff in the world war.

Captain Healy was sergeant at arms and had charge of the speaker's platform, and remarked at the close of the convention that when Gen. W. T. Sherman said that war was hell, he knew nothing of the terrors and hardships of a deadlocked convention of wild and [illegible] democrats.

Captain Healy is one former Texan who has been successful in the financial district. Scott Ferris and the captain are in business on their own hook and they may go far in New York. By the way, the captain married a charming daughter of Texas. They have a pretty summer home at Lake Mahopac, where they entertained Texas friends during and after the convention.

* * *

FORMER GOVERNOR HASKELL came to New York, rated as a multi-millionaire and the head of a great oil corporation. Now some say that he is down and out while others say that in the days of prosperity he buried a pot of gold to keep the wolf from the door, should misfortune point a finger of scorn in his direction. In oil circles here, it is whispered that the garbage man will get all that is left of the fortunes of independent refiners and producers and that in the spring of 1925 the petroleum industry will boom as it has never boomed before.

* * *

POLITICALLY speaking, they say, that Oklahoma will land in the democratic column in November for the reason that William Gibbs McAdoo, William J. Bryan, Scott Ferris and all the state leaders of the democratic factions have declared for Davis and Bryan and will walk together in the middle of the road to bring about a democratic victory.

Captain Healy was strong for Gov. Al Smith. He looks upon the New York governor as one of the most remarkable men the nation has yet produced and predicts that Smith will be the democratic standard bearer in 1928 or 1932 as age will not bar him.

Smith will be only 62 in 1932 and if his star of destiny does not fade this soldier who won all the war medals of the allied countries, is confident that the leader who began life a newsboy will climb to the highest rung of the political ladder.

But back to petroleum—the big titan is the standard. It controls the western world. In the wide world the Dutch shells is its only rival and it is rumored in the street that the foreign titan has plans for making Aransas Pass a great deep water port.

Men may say that oil and water will not mix. This writer says that petroleum and politics are easily mixed by expert manipulators who are artists in their line. After a stormy career Haskell may come back. Time will tell.

DRIVER CHARGED WITH HOMICIDE

By The Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, Texas, July 21.—Charges of negligent homicide were filed today in the county court against Pat Corbin, 24, driver of the automobile in which Edwin White, 21, was killed Saturday night. It is alleged that he was driving at an excessive rate when his roadster struck another car, injuring ten persons.

WICHITA YOUTH SERIOUSLY HURT BY WILD HORSE

Milton Brown, Stepson Of Dr. J. R. Belt, Dragged Three Blocks.

RECOVERY IMPROBABLE

Lacerated Skull, Bruises On Face, Body Wounds Sustained.

Milton Brown, age 14, is at the General hospital in a dying condition as the result of an accident near the poor farm Monday afternoon at 6:15 o'clock. Young Brown, who is the stepson of Dr. J. R. Belt, and who lives on a place near the poor farm, was taking a half grown colt to water at the irrigation ditch late Monday afternoon when the line which was attached to the colt's neck became wrapped around the wrist of the boy and in some way formed a perfect hitch knot.

Dragged Three Blocks

The colt became frightened at something, broke and ran, and the boy was jerked from his feet and dragged nearly three blocks.

Neighbors living in the vicinity of the accident attempted to stop the horse but were unable to do so before the boy had been dragged several blocks and probably injured fatally. The youth is suffering from a lacerated skull which is probably fractured, bruises about the face, and a bruised stomach.

Frank Stephens, one of the neighbors of the boy, and who finally stopped the horse related the experiences to the Record News:

Tells of Accident.

"I saw the colt dashing down the road dragging something and heard one of the women scream that he was dragging a boy. Then I saw several women attempt to stop him but the colt eluded them and came dashing on down the road. In some way I stopped him and took the strap from the boy's wrist. A perfect hitch knot had been formed and when I untied the knot the strap unwrapped itself from the boy's wrist. His head was hanging under his arm and he looked like persons that I have seen that have been drowned."

Stephens placed the boy in his car and rushed him to town and from there he was carried to the local hospital.

HOUSTON WOMAN HELD IN MURDER

Husband Shot In Dark; Friends of Wife Accuse Burglar.

By the Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Texas, July 21.—Mrs. George D. Cook is at liberty on $5,000 bond here following the fatal shooting of her husband, a local contractor, early yesterday. Charges of murder were filed against her four hours after the tragedy by an investigation for the district attorney's office.

Acceding to a statement made by Mrs. Cook she was awakened about 3 o'clock Sunday morning by a shot and when she sought to turn on the lights in her room found the current off. She screamed for help and succeeded in attracting a neighbor who came to the house. Together they located the trouble in the light circuit—a disconnected switch in the kitchen—and when the lights had been turned on found the body of her husband in his room with a bullet wound through his head.

The couple had had trouble numerous times, according to officers and neighbors, and one divorce hearing was dismissed just before trial.

The dead man was 40 years old.

Friends advance a burglary theory, believing that Cook was shot by an intruder. Color is lent that theory by the statement of Cook's two daughters who said that immediately after the shot they saw a man rush through their room from the room occupied by their father.

Fate of Franks' Slayers Left Up to Chicago Judge

Life Imprisonment or Hanging Only Alternatives For Kidnaper Pair.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 21.—The fate of Richard Loeb and Nathan F. Leopold Jr., kidnapers and slayers of 13 year old Robert Franks, was today placed in the hands of one man, John R. Caverly, chief justice of the criminal court of Cook county, when they pleaded guilty.

Life Term or Death.

Apparently the only question remaining to be decided is whether they shall hang or be imprisoned for crime without parallel in this jurisdiction. Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, reiterated his intention of asking the death penalty for the two college students.

Clarence S. Darrow and Benjamin Bachrach, attorneys for the defense, announced in court their purpose to see their clients "safely incarcerated for life."

"We have had no intention of trying to restore them to freedom," explained Mr. Darrow.

Will Not Use Power.

Thus he answered a question that had been widely discussed since the killing, whether the combined wealth of two of the oldest and richest fami-

5-YEAR-OLD BOY MANIAC VICTIM

Quick Work Of Officers Prevents Hanging Of Youth, 17.

By The Associated Press.

PICHER, Okla., July 21.—Picher went about its regular affairs today with nothing to indicate that last night only prompt steps taken by officers prevented mob action against Jud Parsons, 17, who, according to Joe Nolan, assistant chief of police, confessed to having attacked and killed Floyd Smith, five year old, through a criminal assault.

Parsons is in Ottawa county jail at Miami today, Nolan said, where he was rushed after a crowd of about 200 persons last night milled about the automobile after Parsons had been taken to a morgue to view the boy's body. Officers fearing the temper of the throng sped from the city instead of returning the prisoner to the Picher city jail.

The dead boy was the son of Joe Smith, an ore hauler in the mines nearby. Early Saturday morning he ran to his home crying to his mother that he had been injured by a man who lured him to a box car on a pretext of giving him a watch.

According to the assistant chief Parsons was once confined in the state hospital for the insane at Vinita.

USED AIRPLANE TO DELIVER RUM FROM STILL, SAID

Notorious Alleged Moonshiner Taken at Belton By Authorities.

HAS EIGHT YEAR TERM

Convicted But Turns Up Missing For Last Six Months

Special to The Record News.

STAMFORD, Texas, July 21.—[illegible] Katy train [illegible] at 7:40 p. m. brought in Sam Tanner, [illegible] one of the notables of [illegible] according to charges, which have been proven in court.

Sam has been convicted, put under bond and then left the country, [illegible] ing up at or near Belton, where the chief of police of Belton [illegible] Sam was accompanied here by Sheriff Boswell of Jones county, who went to Waco where Sam Tanner was being kept in the county jail, and he [illegible] in jail at Anson.

Faces 8-Year Term

Sam Tanner [illegible] of making whiskey [illegible]. He was arrested [illegible] and jumped his bond [illegible] ago. For about six months he was missing, but now he has to take [illegible] years in one case and [illegible]. Sam is accepting his fate like an [illegible]. He is a man of more than ordinary intelligence, is well read and has a fine family of children and a wife, all of whom are as true to him as the needle is to the north pole.

There have been better days for Sam Tanner, morally. He has seen the day that he stood well. He never was a drinking man, so he told the sheriff, relating his whole life story to him. All the booze he ever drank in his life, it is alleged, would not make a quart.

Owns Much Land

He owns several [illegible] of fine land [illegible] of here. He has a fine home in Dallas where his wife and children live. He has the [illegible] of many men who look over his one fault, [illegible] making booze.

He said: "I never had a quarrel [illegible] with a man in my life. I have always been peaceable. My only fault, that amounts to anything, is making whiskey and I just got in [illegible] by degrees, perhaps [illegible] I could not withstand the temptation, it seems, of putting seven or eight dollars into a barrel and taking out eighty or ninety. I went on and on, even though I did [illegible] whiskey as I was pretty well fixed. I was in the clutches [illegible] it seemed, I could not get [illegible].

"No, my wife and I are not separated. Not by a long [illegible]. I educated my children in Stamford [illegible] to the schools [illegible] there. I then moved them to Dallas, where they finished. I stayed on the farm and ran it and something got me started at making 'quor.' Influence [illegible] thing led me off. It's got to be a lesson to all.

"Yes, I have eight years to serve in the state penitentiary and I am glad this running around is over and that I have a chance to go and serve that sentence. No, I would never have jumped my bond under any considerations. I was trying to get a loan of $10,000 on my property in Stonewall county."

Airplane Delivery.

In the days when he was supposed to be making booze an airship could be seen every few days coming over Stamford or some of these towns out here, bound for some other place and those who thought they knew said that Sam Tanner's fast express was working again. The whole story reads like a book of fiction, but the half of the real truth has not been told here, for all the things charged to Sam would make a large volume.

Record News Milk and Ice Fund Passes $500 Mark, But Many Children Here Are Still Unfed

RECORD NEWS MILK AND ICE FUND.

Community Band	$22.05
C. S. A. Camp	5.00
W. E. McKinney	1.06
Seventh Day Adventist Church	6.04
Cash	1.00
Previously acknowledged	480.15
Total	$515.31

Hearing the crys of hungry children and sick mothers in Wichita Falls several people contributed money to The Record News milk and ice fund over the week end, and the fund went above the $500 mark. One of the donations was given by the Seventh Day Adventists church who turned over the evening collection to the fund. The Community Band turned over a free will offering of $22.05 taken at its Sunday concert.

With Wichita Falls experiencing the warmest days of the summer the demand for ice and milk is increasing daily. In practically every case little hungry children call for the milk and the eagerness shown by them in securing a little bread and ice is pathetic. They are undernourished children, not the type that are seen on the downtown streets, but the type that one may see by going down near the river and in the poorer section across the tracks. One only needs to see one of these little fellows, perhaps not coming from a high class family, but not responsible for his condition, one only needs to see one of these and he will contribute and contribute every penny that he can spare.

Every dollar and every cent is needed in carrying on the work of feeding the sick of the city and should anyone desire to aid in the work he may send donations to the Record News milk and ice fund for distribution among the worthy cases.

Champ Gets Severe Beating When Swiped By Auto.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, July 21.—Jack Dempsey's famous right arm, the one that has contributed so largely to his world heavyweight pugilistic crown, is out of commission following an automobile accident Sunday night, according to attending physicians.

The fighter's list of injuries suffered in the automobile smash up at San Juan Capistrano, south of here, include:

Dislocated right elbow, strained ligaments in neck, abrasions on right knee, cut on scalp.

Hit By Auto

Dempsey will be confined to his room several days, the physicians said. The champion admits that he escaped death "by a miracle" when his heavy sedan carrying himself and two or three friends was side swiped by a speeding motorist who kept going after he had tilted the Dempsey car from the highway into the ditch.

"It was winner's luck, that's all," Dempsey remarked.

Others in Hospital

The party in the wrecked automobile including a man and woman who gave their names as "Mr. and Mrs. Fee," were taken to the Santa Ana hospital and later came on to Los Angeles.

Collins Predicts He Will Win By 40,000; All Agree Big Vote Is Due

Candidates for governor of Texas Monday began their final whirlwind campaign before the primary election scheduled for Saturday night, with each claiming an overwhelming victory.

Several went so far as to name the runner up with whom they expect to contest for the [illegible] in the August primary.

Lynch Davidson Ranks 'Em

Lynch Davidson, for instance, ranked the candidates thus: Lynch Davidson first, Felix Robertson of Dallas, second; Mrs. Miriam Ferguson and T. W. Davidson fighting for third place, and Collins, Barton, Pope, Burkett and Dixon in the order named. Lynch Davidson [illegible] some political observers are predicting that he may win the office without a second primary being necessary. Lynch Davidson asserted Whit Davidson has lost strength in a territory [illegible] during the last week with awakening of the state to realization of what adoption of the [illegible] league platform for which Whit Davidson has been campaigning would mean to the state. Removal of the tax limit [illegible] championed by T. W. [illegible] would bring evils to the state, Lynch asserts.

Lynch Davidson also gave cognizance to the rumors flitting about the state that pressure might be brought to bear on T. W. Davidson to withdraw from the race as he did against the late W. A. Johnson of Memphis in a contest for lieutenant governor in event he should get into the primary.

Two Women And Babe Hurt In Auto Turnover

Mrs. A. J. Jorman and Mrs. J. N. Kilgore are at the general hospital in a bruised condition as the result of an accident on the Charley road 15 miles north of Wichita Falls, Monday night at 9 o'clock.

The women in company with two men, whose names were not obtainable as they stayed with the car, were driving toward Lawton, Oklahoma, when the car in which they were riding overturned and threw the women and an infant daughter of Mrs. Kilgore to the road.

The Hines Undertaking company's ambulance was summoned and the women and the baby were rushed to the General hospital for medical attention. It was at first feared that Mrs. Jorman was injured seriously but an examination revealed that she was only painfully bruised.

Fog Blamed For Collision Of Excursion Steamer Off New England Coast.

By The Associated Press.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 22.—(Tuesday)—The loss of four passengers in a collision early today between the passenger liner Boston of the Eastern Steamship company's Boston-New York service and the [illegible] Arrow, [illegible] two and one half miles southeast of Point Judith early today was reported in radiograms.

900 Passengers Imperiled.

It was stated that all the other passengers, who may number from 900 to 1000, were off the stricken steamship. The Boston was without light, without steam and unable to use her signal whistle.

The steamer Boston normally carries [illegible] persons and the traffic between Boston and New York at this season of the year is at its height. Calls were sent to a steamer referred to as the "C. A. Smith," apparently in the vicinity, to come up to the Boston's position, with the request that she whistle when she approached.

This was accepted as indications aboard were not serious at the moment.

Heavy Fog on Coast

The collision apparently was due to fog which was reported heavy along the Block Island sound waters.

The coast guard cutter Acushnet released herself from duty along Rum Row in Block Island sound and hastened to the Boston's aid.

Word was received from the Boston navy yard giving the location of the Boston as two and a half miles southeast from Point Judith.

MOTOR CAR ON INITIAL TRIP

W. F. and S. Starts First Car Off On Trip To Breckenridge.

A new and novel system of transportation finding favor with many railroads of the country was introduced to Wichita Falls Monday when the Wichita Falls and Southern railway supplanted its afternoon train from here to Breckenridge with a railway motor car. The machine will make daily trips hereafter between this city and the Young county oil field.

The car is to all appearances a medium-sized interurban. It rides on four-wheels, trucks at either end, is equipped with air brakes, pilot and all the other accouterments of an electrically propelled vehicle. Motive power is supplied by a four cylinder Brill engine placed over the front trucks to which the motor's power is geared. It can maintain a maximum speed of 50 miles an hour with full load.

Regulation.

The passenger compartment is furnished like any ordinary railway car with upholstered seats, water coolers and heating and ventilating devices. A large baggage compartment is carried at the front end.

Officials of the Southern declare that the economy of operation will, of course, be tremendously cut. Whereas a steam train requires a crew of four or five men, the motor car is operated by two. Saving in fuel and ease of handling are also important factors. Thirty-five or 40 passengers can be carried comfortably by the car and if necessary a trailer can be attached.

Crowd Sees Motor.

The new motor was placed on exhibition at the union station all Monday afternoon prior to its departure at 4 o'clock for Breckenridge and was viewed by a large and interested crowd.

Early Morn Fire Destroys Home Of Charles Cook

An early morning fire at the home occupied by Charles Cook, 2206 Eighth street, caused a property loss of over $2,000 yesterday. The residence was practically destroyed, while an adjoining house occupied by O. B. Womack, 2204 Eighth, was slightly damaged.

The blaze started about 3 o'clock and had spread through the entire house before it was discovered. The Cook family was in Dallas at the time.

It was reported the fire probably started from a water heater that had been left burning.

The house was owned by R. O. Harvey and was partly insured.

Photos Show Leopold's Personality

lies of Chicago, estimated to have resources of more than $10,000,000, would be used to try to set free their two minor sons.

The unexpected denouncement stunned a court room crowd of attorneys, newspaper men, court attaches and a few privileged spectators, and upset all plans for the trial which had been scheduled to begin August 4.

Instead of starting Wednesday, there will be a judicial hearing before an empty jury box.

Defense Is Silent.

That the defense was content to await the developments from his hearing was emphasized by the stony silence that was maintained by all concerned with the defendants. The boys themselves, their parents, special counsel of the families and the active defense attorneys also declined to discuss the proceedings. The prosecution was a bit more communicative. "The plea of guilty admits the sanity of the defendants," said Mr. Crowe tonight. "The question of insanity is entirely out of the case now. All the defense can offer at the hearing is evidence tending to mitigate the punishment. Whether they can establish that remains to be seen.

"I am going to ask the death penalty in the interest of society. I have about 75 witnesses and will present all the facts in the possession of the state so that the court may be fully advised as to the exact nature of the crime. It will take from 10 days to two weeks to do this."

In their statements to the court today, the defense attorneys acknowledged the correctness of the facts in the case "substantially as published in the nwspaprs." By this they admitted formally that their client on May 21 enticed Roberts Franks into a rented automobile, stunned him with a blow from a tape-wound chisel and strangled him to death. They thus admitted, too, that the body was conveyed to a lonely spot across the Indiana line and there thrust, nude, into a small culvert under a railroad track. They formally acknowledged that the two young men destroyed the clothing of their victim, posted a letter demanding $10,000 ransom from the boy's father, and tossed into a park lagoon the typewriter on which the missive was written.

Alienists To Testify.

Alienists' testimony is expected to play a big part in the hearing which starts Wednesday.

If at any time in the bearing Judge Caverly decides there is a possibility that Leopold and Loeb are insane he may enter a court order for a "sanity hearing" by jury.

If the jury decides that the boys are insane then Judge Caverly will resume his hearing and pass sentence; if the jury finds them insane, then incarceration for life will be ordered.

A further possibility is in sight, however. If the Judge sentences the boys to death, either with or without a sanity hearing, then their attorneys may ask for a new hearing on the ground that insanity came to the boys after judgment; that is, that Leopold and Loeb after the hearing and after sentence may have become insane for the first time.

GERMAN OGRE IS INDICTED

Seventeen Murders Laid At Door; Eight More Considered.

HANOVER, Germany, July 21. — Fritz Haarmann, known as the "vampire murderer," has been charged with 17 murders in an indictment just filed. The police believe they will be able to prove his guilt in at least eight other cases. Numerous disappearances reported in various parts of Germany are being traced to his home where the crimes were committed.

Eight officials at police headquarters have been dismissed from the service because of allegations that they were involved in the Haarmann orgies.

Dr. Kopp, criminologist of the ministry of interior, says that Haarmann "is unquestionably strangely psychopathic and presents a bewildering combination of unnatural impulses." Haarmann claims that he was unconscious when slaying his victims. Most of the murdered men were said to have been "floaters" who were grateful for a night's lodging or a drink of brandy with which Haarmann is said to have drugged them. Haarmann admitted that he usually strangled the men while they were asleep.

BUTLER PUSHES CLEAN-UP DRIVE

Shifts Police In Face Of Threats; Says "Out" To Politics.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, July 21.—Despite reports that his resignation as director of public safety would be requested by Mayor Kendrick unless he discontinued the redistricting of police stations, Brigadier General Smedley D. Butler issued orders today for the biggest police shakeup since he assumed the office last January. More than 30 patrolmen and 20 street sergeants attached to the central districts whom the director declared had "double crossed" their lieutenants will be transferred to outlying sections from which other men will be brought to take their places.

The director said he nad learned of a plot by certain politicians to discredit his system of cutting down the number of police stations under his redistricting plan which he declared was the most effective method of eliminating political control of the police.

"I have learned," he said, "they are going to stage a holdup right in front of one of these deserted stations to show the public that a mistake was made in wiping them out. I have instructed the inspector of detectives to keep a policeman on duty outside of every station."

Officials close to the director asserted that he knew his resignation was to be demanded and that he had "mapped out his own line of campaign." These officials said the general planned to ask Governor Pinchot to enroll in the state police 500 men picked from the Philadelphia police force and continue the work of ridding the city of vice and crime.

Near 50 Shriners Going to Reunion

Al Ellis, local Shriner, said Monday that approximately 50 local Shriners and their families from this vicinity will attend the Shrine reunion which will be held in Galveston from August fourth to fourteenth, inclusive. Many of those who plan to make the trip have thus far failed to sign up but as several days remain and as they may register in Galveston this does not indicate that a small number will make the trip from Wichita Falls.

Arrangements are being made in Galveston to accommodate Shriners from all over the state and it is expected that thousands will be in attendance.

Hardened Bandits, 8 and 9, Laugh At Law and Rattle Dungeon Bars

A cradle-roll department seems to be the next pequisite at the police station.

Young America, aged 9, and Young America Jr., aged 8, unperturbed by their incarceration, smilingly admitting the defalcations charged up to them, and apparently resigned to whatever fate may hold in store, brought gasps from "the law" yesterday when they were brought in on a varied array of serious charges.

Both youngsters were barefooted and were about knee high to a duck. The elder of the two, also, was the smaller physically and seemed to be the ring-leader.

Auto Bandits

They were picked up by a business man whose auto they had attempted to steal and which was partly wrecked in the get-a-way. In emerging from a garage near the Lamar and Third street intersection they jammed the machine in a door and damaged it considerably. Another car in the same neighborhood was also tampered with but was uninjured.

Shooting Iron

It later developed that a week or so ago they had entered a house near their homes at Austin and Thirteenth, had stolen a revolver and then returned it after shooting up all the cartridges in the magazine.

Officers also said that they had made away with several bicycles recently and that some stores had lost a number of eggs through the light-fingered skill of the pair.

Nonchalant

It was plainly a problem what to do with the pair. They laughingly admitted the charges against them and seemed wholly unconcerned because they were in jail. Some sandwiches, pie and cold drinks furnished by the jailer were devoured eagerly. Asked if they didn't think they needed a good spanking, they "reckoned they'd get it plenty when they got home."

Officers were still holding them last night, debating as to what should be done.

New Insurance Company in This City Organized

A new insurance company was recently organized in Wichita Falls and at a recent meeting officers and directors were elected. The Mutual Security Aid association has several of the prominent business men of the city as officers and plan to do an extensive business in this vicinity in the future.

The officers elected were: R. E. Shepherd, secretary of the Texas-Oklahoma Fair, president and director; O. A. Jones, cashier City National bank, vice-president and director; James R. Robertson, investments, vice-president and director; J. A. Brown, of Nicholson-Brown, attorneys, secretary and director; W. L. Robertson, vice-president City National bank, treasurer; Bert King, of Carrigan, Montgomery, Britain, Morgan and King, director; Dr. C. A. Guest, director.

WILL ASK BIDS ON TAX SYSTEM

Expect More Equitable Assessing Of Values On City Property.

Bids will be called for at once by the city clerk for installation of some new system of tax assessment and equalization, it was decided Monday night by the city council. Recommendation of specifications drawn up by Mayor Collier, City Clerk McBroom and Assessor and Collector Hyer were approved.

The specifications call for unit maps of the entire city, index maps, records cards, files, rate sheets, special tables for the assessing of public utilities and oil refineries and other items necessary. They also provide for instruction in applicaiton of the system and for all clerical help needed for the complete installation of the system. It is also demanded that the successful bidder post a bond of 50% of the contract price for faithful carrying out of the contract.

This new system, which may cost as high as $10,000 will, it is believed, result in a much more equitable taxation program here and will save both city and tax payers money.

Appearance Of Junior College Now Attractive

Anyone passing near the new Junior college building will be surprised at the change that has taken place in the appearance of the campus during the past few weeks. Several weeks ago grass was scattered at different parts of the campus, but with a continual flow of water on the grass the entire campus is now covered with a green carpet and with the addition of some green trees the local college's campus will rank in beauty with any in the state.

The tennis courts are being kept in good shape with the knowledge that many of the pupils will desire to play tennis during the warm fall months.

According to members of the school board there is only one educational building in the state that will compare with the local Junior college and that is a building at Rice institute. The local building has many of the modern conveniences that the Rice institute cannot boast and with one of the most beautiful auditoriums in the south the local building stands forth as one of the most beautiful in the southwest.

Variety of Game In Palo Duro Canyon Brings Idea of Preserve

PROTECTION HAS MADE INCREASE

Some Large Game; Look Forward To Big Park.

Special to The Record News

CLARENDON, Texas, July 21.—Hunters announce that blue quail, bob whites and other birds are considerably more in evidence in this section of the Panhandle at present than for several years. This is accredited to the fact that of late years ranchers have taken it upon themselves more or less to protect the birds and have posted their land against hunters. This action was taken by reason of the fact that of recent years the average huntsman refuses to give the birds so much as even a sporting chance.

It is further believed that birds have been attracted to the fastnesses of Palo Duro and are migrating here of their own accord seeking safety from the destructive guns of huntsmen in the cedar brakes. Practically all lands in that section are posted and it is believed that within a few years game birds will be plentiful throughout the reaches of Palo Duro and smaller sections of rough country. That the damage wrought by grass hoppers was considerably lighter here than in other less favored portions of the state is given as evidence that the county which permits the wholesale destruction of birds is doing itself considerable harm. Larger game is still to be found in the canyon, though very scarce. That it has survived as long as it has goes to prove the advantages of Palo Duro as a state or national park and the whole of the Panhandle is looking forward in anticipation of the day when it will be proclaimed as such.

Don River Center In Huge Blaze

By The Associated Press

KHARKOV, July 21.—Destruction by fire of the town of Bakhmut, administrative center of the Don basin, was threatened today.

Messages said the entire shopping district, the editorial offices of the local newspaper and the government's supply store had been destroyed. The property loss is already heavy and the huge stocks of merchandise of the foreign trade commissariat are in danger, the advices said.

The fire is believed to have been of incendiary origin.

A special sanitary commission of the league of nations had just left Bakhmut after completing a survey of the malarial epidemic.

FARMER DIES NEAR NOCONA

Special to the Record News.

NOCONA, July 21.—After being confined to his bed about two weeks, C. B. Carlton, farmer near Nocona, died at his home Sunday. He was 72 years of age.

Cerosis of the liver was cause of his death, according to physician who attended Mr. Carlton.

Mr. Carlton came to Montague county from Denton county, Texas, about six years ago, and bought a small farm of R. W. Gentry, which was located near the city limits of Nocona.

Funeral services were held today and interment at Nocona cemetery.

WAR ON GAS PRICE STARTS IN MO.

By The Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., July 21. The first legal step in a war on gasoline prices in Missouri was taken today by Attorney General Jess W. Barrett when he filed an application with the Missouri supreme court asking that a special commissioner be appointed to take testimony regarding the Standard Oil company of Indiana.

The action is an investigation and not a prosecution, it was said.

The first hearing will be held here August 11.

GEORGIA HOUSE IS SILENT ON ACTION

By The Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Ga., July 21. — The Georgia house of representatives today by a vote of 14 to 67 refused to state its reason for recently rejecting the proposed child labor amendment to the constitution of the United States. The state senate had passed an amendment explaining its action in the child labor case and this the house today declined to accept.

Black River Lays Claim to Third Victim In Week

By the Associated Press.

HOXIE, Ark., July 21.—The third tragic drowning within a week in Black river, near here, occurred last night when Mrs. A. G. Albright, wife of the cashier of the bank of Hoxie, backed an automobile off the bank into the stream, drowning her five year-old son, Billy, who was pinned under the car. The woman and two other children were thrown clear.

The accident was at the scene of the double drowning Thursday of Clarence Matthews and Miss Vivian Clay, both 26 years old. The body of Miss Clay had not been recovered today.

U. S. FLYERS ARE COMMENDED

British Aviation Man Is Struck With Their Attitude.

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, July 21.—The intense energy with which the American around-the-world fliers have attacked the task of refitting their planes for the last lap of their glob-encircling trip, has drawn a statement of the highest praise and admiration from H. G. Bentley, manager of the Blackburn Aviation company of Brough, where the work is being done. The Evening News of Brough quotes Mr. Bentley as follows:

"We simply admire and admire and admire these Americans. Their thoroughness and the fierce manner in which they attack the dirty work which they know must be done in connection with the refitting and adjusting of their machines is wonderful."

"Since they arrived here they literally have never taken off their overalls. Dinners have been given in their honors and perhaps one or two have gone merely to represent the squadron. The rest have stayed behind. They wanted to continue to do work on their machien which they know must be done while they are here, or not at all. I have never seen men take their work so seriously."

One Survival Of Jap Freighter

By The Associated Press.

TOKIO, July 21.—Fifty seven persons were drowned when the Nippon Yusen Kaisha freighter Matsuyama Maru foundered off Gotto Island near Kyiushu July 11, according to a report received here today from the Kobe office of the company.

The freighter was an old vessel without radio and carried no passengers. The last port made by the vessel was Keelung, Formosa, from which it sailed for Yokohama July 9.

The ship carried down with her all her officers and crew except one fireman, who was picked up by a trawler and brought to Kobe. Her owners had vessels searching for her for several days along her regular route between Formosa and Japan.

Sergeant Narrowly Escapes Great Divide

"Before I started taking Karnak I firmly believed I was ready to cross the Great Divide," says C. O. Worthy, civilian foreman of the quartermaster's warehouse, Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Texas.

"I had suffered from stomach trouble for 10 years, and had gotten so bad off that all the nourishment I could take was a little milk and crackers. Five weeks ago they carried me home from my office and I wasn't able to hit a lick of work until I began taking Karnak.

"Well, this medicine has ended my troubles, built me up twelve pounds, and put me back on the job feeling fine. Everyone is talking about my remarkable recovery, and I feel it a duty to tell others about Karnak."

Karnak is sold in Wichita Falls by the Ben Smith Drug Co., and in Burkburnett by the Burkburnett Pharmacy.

Grain Companies Offer to Sell

By The Associated Press.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 21.—Thirty six grain companies of the northwest today offered to sell their entire holdings, including 1062 country elevators in Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Montana, to the American Farm Bureau federation.

These holdings also include 22 terminal elevators in Minneapolis and 12 in Duluth, with a total capacity approximating 65,000,000 bushels, according to the grain companies' announcement.

The offer was made in a letter to O. F. Bradfute, president of the farm bureau federation and one of the leaders of the new grain handling company, recently incorporated in Illinois, to take over five of the largest grain firms in Chicago.

Man Confesses, Denies Murder

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 21.—Milton Ware, arrested in Newark last night on a charge of assult on a young boy there, is said by the jailer there to have confessed to the murder of Frances McDonnell, eight-year-old son of a policeman, whose mutilated body was found in a lonely spot on Staten Island last Tuesday.

Questioning by two New York detectives is said to have brought out an acknowledgment of the confession because of the stories which he had read concerning the McDonnell murder.

Three Banquet At "Feast of Death"

By The Associated Press.

STILLWATER, Minn., July 21.—With only three of the four surviving mmebers able to attend, the annual banquet of the famous Last Man's club was held here today.

John S. Goff, 81, came from St. Paul, for the reunion. Charles F. Lockwood, 79, made the trip from Chamberlain, S. D., and Peter Hall, 83, journeyed from Atwater, Minn. The other member, Emil Graff, 83, was unable to leave his home at St. Cloud, but sent a letter expressing his regrets.

The Last Man's club was formed here in 1886 by 34 survivors of B company, Minnesota volunteers, who fought in the Civil war. A bottle of wine was purchased at the first meeting and it was agreed that the last member should drink a toast to their departed comrades.

This year's meeting was held in the First National bank building. Thirty chairs draped in black were grouped about the banquet table in memory of members who had died.

HOBART CASE DRAWS INTEREST

Wife of Man Killed At Amarillo Wants Release.

By The Associated Press.

AMARILLO, Texas, July 21.—With the court room jammed with spectators, mostly women, the habeas corpus proceedings to obtain the release from the county jail of Mrs. Ruth Hobart, wife of E. W. Hobart, Plainview traveling man, slain here a week ago, were reopened this morning.

Mrs. Hobart faces a murder charge in connection with her husband's death.

E. T. Miller, local lawyer and former county prosecutor, also charged with murder, in connection with the case, still is held in the county jail awaiting arraignment.

Mrs. Jessie Ross, former police matron, testified this morning concerning a recent automobile accident in which Mrs. Hobart was injured.

Willis Gill, truck driver for an oil company, testified that on Saturday, July 12, two days before Hobart was slain, he saw Miller and a woman, who he said, resembles Mrs. Hobart, in an automobile at Wildorado, 21 miles from Amarillo.

TEXAS COTTON MEN TO GET ADVANCE

By the Associated Press.

DALLAS, July 21. — The Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association will make an initial advance to its membership of $70 a bale on cotton averaging 500 pounds or more per bale of the new crop, the association announced here today. Fourteen cents per pound will be advanced on bales weighing 450 pounds or less. On estimates that the bureau will handle 400,000 bales for members this year the first advance will approximate $28,000,000, C. O. Moser, secretary, said.

WOMAN ARRESTED ON FAMILY DEATHS

By The Associated Press.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, July 21.—Mrs. William Hauptriem, 30, wife of William Hauptriem, 55, wealthy rancher of Hays county, has been arrested in San Marcos, charged with poisoning her husband. Mr. Hauptriem is recovering from poisoning at a hospital there, according to officers. The couple have been married for two years and a half. Officers are now investigating the death of the four step children of Mrs. Hauptriem, all of whom have died within the last year.

WHEAT

Is wheat coming back? In the Chicago markets the other day, wheat for July delivery, which late in March was selling at $1.02 a bushel, sold at $1.26. Why the advance? In June the federal department of agriculture estimated an American crop of only 693 million bushels, which would have been the smallest for any year since 1917. On Monday of last week, the bureau of statistics at Ottawa estimated the Canadian wheat crop for this year at 318,640,000 bushels, a decline of about 32 percent from the crop of 1923.

Many of the foremost American dealers in wheat then predicted that the crop for the three Canadian wheat provinces will be less than half what it was a year ago. On the heels of this came telegrams from Moscow that the Russian wheat yield this year would show a reduction of thirty percent compared with the yield of last year. If all these reports or estimates are not misleading, there will be no surplus of American wheat this year, the Canadian yield will show a heavy decrease and in the markets of the world the demand for American wheat will be very strong

Political blocs are not responsible for the recent advances in wheat and corn prices. Congressional blocs are not responsible nor should those blcos be given the credit. This year the angry elements played into the hands of the wheat growers. Should the price of wheat go to $1.50 per bushel, what effect will it have on the wheat farmers of the northwest?

They have been running amuck, politically speaking. They have been swelling the ranks of the non-partisan party. They have broken away from the republican and democratic parties. Before wheat began to jump, an admirer of Senator La Follette invaded Wall Street with an offer of one thousand dollars to ten thousand dollars or an offer of one to ten, that the Wisconsin senator would receive a larger popular vote in the elections next November than the candidate of the democratic party.

What happened to Bryan is ancient history. Most of the wheat and corn growers returned to the republican camp and voted for William McKinley. If wheat hits $1.50 a bushel in October of this year what will be its political effect in the wheat belt of America?

WHAT MEN SAY

That the federal Reserve Board at Washington and reserve banks in New York and other cities are wondering what to do with the rapidly increasing gold supply of the United States.

That America is in danger of getting too much gold and the picture drawn by some European economist of the United States standing in danger of the same fate suffered by Midas can become true figuratively if not literally.

That American gold shipped abroad in the last fiscal year rose to $4,311,625,797, and that imports fell down $223,000,000.

That gold brought into America totaled $418,000,000 while the gold sent out was $10,250,000.

That President John Fitzpatrick of the Chicago Federation of Labor says a political movement based on the theory of gaining control by violence can never come in the United States as the people of America are too highly developed.

That President Fitzpatrick warned his followers that if there is a political job to be done labor must do that job with the ballot and not with the bullet.

That the national commmitee of the LaFollett party needs a fund of $250,000, that LaFollette electors are to be put up in every state in the Union; that with the exception of Ohio, Oklahoma, Georgia and South Carolina, petitions are necessary in all states to make this possible; that the work of getting the signatures required by state laws is under way and is being handled largely by the state organizations supporting the Wisconsin senator.

That the plan for a nation wide drive for one dollar contributions to the La Follette campaign fund has been approved by the La Follette national committee.

That Senator Joseph Robinson of Arkansas, expelled by the Chevy Chase Club, for hitting a doctor, has the sympathy of many of his fellow senators and they may resign,

COMING HOME.

Ambassador Charles B. Warren has returned from Mexico and will resign at an early date. His task was finished. His Mexican mission had been crowned with success. He brought about a resumption of diplomatic relations between the two republics. He announced before his departure from Mexico City that the relations now existing between the United States and Mexico are most friendly and cordial and that both peoples desire that justice shall prevail in all their relations.

Since 1881 there had been no treaty of amity and commerce between United States and Mexico but Ambassador Warren says we have now agreed to negotiate such a treaty when the United States determines its policy regarding such treaty. This policy will be determined by the action on the treaty of amity and commerce with Germany now before the senate for approval.

Charles B. Warren is a many sided man. He is an adroit politician as well as a finished diplomat. He came to the United States from Mexico to carry a draft of the Coolidge platform to the Cleveland convention. It was adopted without emasculation.

Now Diplomat Warren will pluhge into the campaign, as one of the advisors of the president and his work will be cut out for him in the middle west and the northwest, where he is very much at home, knows men and conditions and is in close touch with the leaders of all the political parties.

"The Woman He Desired"

The hoot of his horn reached Desiree as she sat on the terrace, dressed and ready, with a white cloak on a chair beside her. On this occasion she did not start and tremble. Somewhere within the house a clock had just struck half past two, and she knew who the visitor was.

When she came out he helped her into the car, into the seat next the driver's. She arranged herself in the slow way he was accustomed to now, as if she had not strength to hurry. Seating himself beside Desiree, he set off down the drive.

Once out on the high road they raced along, with a wealth of peaceful hills and shady valleys on either side, and a stretch of azure sea in the distance.

In course of time Nice was left behind. The car mounted the hills on the other side, climbing upward along a road that curled among the mountains, giving glimpses of deep clefts full of pipes and eucalyptus trees.

All at once the sea burst into view again far below a glorious stretch, in streaks and patches of sapphire, jade and navy, that melted away into distance, where Corsica lay like a shadow on the horizon.

A turn in the road brought a bald gray, buttress like road into view, standing well below them but high above the sea. On it a tiny village huddled, looking as if hewn out of the solid rock, so at one with it that the place could easily have been overlooked

"That must be Eze," Wilson said.

"Juliette has a married daughter living there," Desiree volunteered.

"Don't those mountains look a treat with the sun on them?" he remarked.

"Yes," she said, her voice a whisper.

On arriving at Monte Carlo, Wilson drew up before the finest hotel in the place.

"Shall we have tea here?" he asked.

"Oh no," she said quickly.

At once he started the car again.

"Of course we won't, if you'd rather not, little girl," he said, his mind on her relatives, his one desire to gain her confidence. "I'm only out to do what you want. I'll get a box of chocolates at the next shop we pass, and we'll make that do instead."

"I haven't eaten a quarter of what you brought yesterday," she said in a relieved tone of voice.

"You must nibble your way through them quicker than that, for I'm coming to see you again tomorrow afternoon and I shall bring you another box."

"Are you coming tomorrow?" she exclaimed, like a pleased child. "It is so nice to have a friend."

As Wilson drove along, he wondered how long the time would be before he could propose. A three days' acquaintance seemed a trifle hurried, a week unthinkably long. So he decided to wait another two days. Then he brought it down to one.

It would be just as well to make sure of the little countess before her guardian arrived.

CHAPTER VIII

The Gilberts

Late that night there was the sound of a car drawing up near the terrace, followed almost immediately by a loud knock on the front door, and a few moments later two Gilberts entered.

Desiree turned to meet the newcomers.

"I hope you had a pleasant journey," said she dutifully, after greeting her uncle.

"A pleasant journey!" he snapped. "How could it have been a pleasant journey with this strike on?"

Eugene came forward, flicking his leather gloves playfully against her face, yet with a sting that streaked her cheek with red and made her wince with pain.

"Well, Bassino will be here any day now, my child," he said.

So, Desiree, you're twenty-one?" the count broke in.

"Yes, Uncle."

"And did old Froillet bring you the family heirloom, according to the terms of your grandfather's will?"

"Yes, Uncle."

"Then let us have a look at it. I want to see what the de Mailly curse is really like," he said, a parched, covetious note in his voice.

"I'm sorry, uncle, but it isn't here."

There was a moment of tense silence.

"Isn't here? What do you mean?" he asked sharply.

"I showed it to an English gentleman, and he said it wasn't safe to keep is here in this lonely place. He asked me to let him look after it until you came, so I did, because I knew you wouldn't like to have it stolen."

The Count de Gilbert just stared at the girl, but Eugene laughed.

"You little fool! You little fool!" the Count cried savagely.

"It proves the necklace was worth having, or this Englishman wouldn't have gone off with it," Eugene remarked.

Then he turned to his cousin.

"Where is he staying, Desiree, my innocent?"

"I don't know. I never asked him."

"I told you that necklace would prove a fraud, but it's even more of a sell than I expected," he said, this time addressing his father.

"There's no need for you to be so angry, uncle," Desiree broke in. "The gentleman is coming here tomorrow afternoon, and I know he will give you the necklace when you ask him for it."

Eugene glanced at her sharply.

"You seem to know a lot about him, Desiree, even if you don't know his name and address. You prefer him to Bassino, eh?"

His comment brought a flood of color to her thin cheeks, and had the effect of silencing her completely.

The following afternoon when Wilson entered his paradise he found the serpent there. Eugene heard Wilson's approach. He glanced round and surveyed the newcomer in a supercilious manner

"So this is the man little Desiree fancies," he remarked, sotto voce.

His comment made her color deepen.

With trembling voice she greeted Wilson.

"This is the English gentleman who so kindly took charge of my necklace," she said, introducing him to her relatives.

Then she turned toward him again

"Monsieur, this is my uncle, the Count de Gilbert, and my cousin, Eugene. They both speak English," she said.

After that she sat in silence, obviously ill at ease.

The Gilberts greeted Wilson cordially; nevertheless, he was made to feel that, but for the fact of the necklace being in his possession, they would be quite equal to calling him "my good man."

The count's voice attracted Wilson's attention.

"My niece tells me you very kindly volunteered to take charge of her necklace until I came."

Wilson agreed he had. Then he explained how he had met Desiree and the circumstances that led up to the necklace being in his keeping.

During his speech a slight smile lingered on Eugene's face.

He paused, expecting Wilson to hand over the necklace there and then. Although Wilson knew this was expected of him, he showed no signs of producing the heirloom.

"Now that we are here," Eugene put it suavely, "it'll be quite safe for my cousin to have her necklace."

"Im sorry, but I haven't it with me," Wilson said smoothly. "For safety's sake I deposited it with my banker."

This was not true. At that moment the necklace was lying in a little washleather bag in one of his inner pockets. Although her uncle and cousin had greeted him with affability and friendliness, he did not trust them. His one idea was not to let the necklace fall into their possession, and the only excuse he could think of was to pretend it was at the bank.

At his reply there was a moment's pause, and the Count de Gilbert's throat jerked with a peculiar choking movement.

"We'll come around to your hotel for it tomorrow," he said, 'at about 11 in the morning."

Wilson could find no excuse for keeping it longer.

"Eleven will suit me all right," he said. I shall be quite glad to get rid of the responsibility and know it's in safe keeping."

"You must stay and have chocolate with us," the elder Gilbert went on. "Or tea, if you prefer it."

Wilson looked at Desiree, hoping she would second the invitation.

Since the introduction she had not addressed a word to him. She sat with her eyes downcast knitting and every now and again her hands stumbled over the work.

Since Desiree did not second her uncle's invitation, Wilson rose to go.

"I'm sorry I can't stay," he said, "but I have to be back at half-past 4."

So saying, he made his adieux.

He went back to his car, at odds with the whole world.

As he turned out of the garden, he saw Desiree coming along one of the tangled paths. He stopped at once, for it seemed as if she had come purposely to waylay him.

"You won't fail to let my uncle have the necklace?" she said anxiously.

It seemed to Wilson that counter influences were already at work, coming between him and his ideal.

There was a brief pause.

"Can I see you tomorrow morning, quite early?" he asked suddenly.

"Oh, yes," she said at once. "My uncle and Eugene are never here in the morning.

The average man doesn't like to admit it.

Lizzie Frizzle says instead of taking a vacation she is going to let hers come to her. That's independence for you.

Is it possible, after all that activity in Madison Square Garden that there isn't any "inside story" of the convention?

Another reason a third party is so brave is because it knows it has nothing to lose except the election, and that is foregone conclusion.

Are we to assume that the invitation from Houston to the advertising men of Europe were marked: B. Y. O. L.?

Another thing that shows that La Follette knows the way of the bosses he is out to fight, is demonstrated by the manner in which he wrote his own platform and nominated himself.

It is pointed out that the man whose wife has bobbed hair should be careful not to show up at home with any long hairs on his coat.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

By MARY BLAKE

LEO

Only until noon are the vibrations favorable, and, during this period, the business or work of outstanding importance should receive your undivided and energetic attention. After noon, the aspects change and gradually become malign as the day passes. An adverse saturnine influence developing until midnight warns against risks and matters requiring quick judgment or speedy decision; this same influence counsels delay, as otherwise loss will be incurred.

A child born today will, with ordinary care and normal environment, develop into a physically vigorous maturity. Its disposition will become boistrous, and it will be rather indifferent and callous to those who are not endowed with the same degree of good health, and self assertiveness. It behooves you, if you are the parent of this child, to instruct it assiduously in the ways of gentleness, forbearance, and a becoming modesty. Discourage, in early childhood, flamboyancy of character and overbearingness of disposition.

If today is your birthday, you will, on self-analysis, be willing to concede that in spite of your many good characteristics, your besetting weakness is lack of accuracy. Accuracy in observation, accuracy in speech, accuracy in the transaction of business.

It is astonishing how few people can define a fact accurately, in business affairs especially it is the manner in which small matters are transacted that often decides people for or against you. Nothwithstanding all your other good points, you cannot be trusted if you are habitually inaccurate; as inaccuracy causes annoyance, vexation and trouble.

Coupled with your inaccuracy, attributable to carelessness, is lack of method the latter which is essential and enables a large amount of work to be got through with satisfaction. Method is like packing things in a box; a good packer will get in half as much again as a bad one.

Promptitude in action is not one of your virtues. This, however, may be stimulated by a due consideration of the value of time.

Miscalculation of time involves us in perpetual hurry, confusion, and difficulties; life becomes a mere shuffle of expedients.

Successful people born on this date are:

Calling It a "Derrick."

The derrick is familiar wherever blasting or building operations are under way, as the apparatus which hoists a load and with a swinging motion disposes of it, returning to lift another. It is built on the principle of a tackle rigged on the end of a spar or beam and resembles—what? A gallows! And that is whence it has its name.

The original derrick was one Derrick, a hangman at Tyburn, prior to 1783 the chief place of execution in London, and frequently mentioned in English history and literature. So well known was Derrick in the day when hanging was a more frequent occurrence than it is today, and one which people paid to witness, that an execution came to be personified. Londoners of the day using his name to signify the fate of a condemned prisoner.

"Derrick" became synonymous with gallows. And when the hoisting device appeared which with its high mast so closely resembled a gallows this fell heir to the latter's complimentary name.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

A DIFFERENCE

The wry-faced gnomes have left their homes
  Among the forest trees,
The naughty mites of water sprites
  Have left the singing streams,
The goblins bad have sped like mad
  Astride the big bumblebees,
To lark about and yell and shout
  Through little Tommy's dreams.

For Tommy's been a naughty child;
  He stamped his little feet,
And very wickedly reviled
  The things he had to eat.
And when a child has misbehaved,
  Though even once or twice,
And whined and snarled and fought and quarreled,
  His dreams are never nice.

The fairy folk that in the oak
  Have built a cosy nest,
Are on their way at fall of day
  Within the shadows deep,
To sing and dance to tuneful chants
  That lull a child to rest;
And all night long will sound their song
  Through little Tommy's sleep.

For Tommy has been very good,
  And home has been a joy;
He's done the very best he could
  To be a model boy.
And when one doesn't cry or whine,
  Or stamp his little feet,
But goes to bed when told instead,
  His dreams are always sweet!

Dr. Frank Crane's Daily Editorial

Bring That Book Back

It is a strange kink in the human conscience that people who will not steal anything else will steal a book.

Perhaps it is an offshoot of the general idea that books, and the intellectual labor that goes to produce them, really count for nothing compared to beef steak and potatoes.

Whatever may be the reason, the fact is that almost every man's library contains one or more rebranded mavericks which are liable to rise up and say a few words on the day of judgment, unless he gives them back.

Some are so lost to all sense of shame in this matter that the books they have purloined are the ones they value most. In fact, they do not seem to enjoy a book thoroughly unless it belongs to somebody else.

From what Freudian abyss this impulse comes we leave it to the psychologist to determine.

However, we ran across a bit of history the other day which is here set down as a warning to all book thieves.

About 1836 the people of Barcelona were living in a sort of terror. One mysterious crime succeeded another. A priest, a student, a writer and five other persons successively were assassinated.

The victim, in each case, was stabbed by a poignard, but nothing was stolen from him, neither was his money nor his valuables.

Why all these murders?

Suspicion, by and by, fell upon a man who kept a secondhand book store. He was seized. Some proofs were found of his guilt and finally he confessed.

It seems that he had sold each of his victims some volume which he loved and then had murdered them so as to get the precious books back.

He was condemned to death and executed.

This story resembles that of the famous jeweler whom Hoffman describes in his story, "Mlle. Scudery." This jeweler assassinated, at night, a client who had bought during the day some beautiful stone with which the jeweler was in love.

The moral of all this is simply to show those persons who fail to return books that do not belong to them that there is such a thing as loving a book, and that this love also can rise to such a passionate height as to eventuate in violence.

And if a man who has bought a book is liable to be murdered by the man who sold it to him, how much more danger do they run who borrow books with or without the owner's knowledge, and neglect to bring them back!

SOILS AND PHYSICS

Soil Poisoned by Plant Growth.

After crops have been grown continuously on a particular soil for a number of years, it is generally found, despite application of fertilizer and the use of good cultural methods, that the yield has become less and less.

It is rare indeed that a chemical anaylysis will show any reason why a crop should not grow in such a soil. However the fact that they do not grow well has led scientists to make further investigations.

These investigations have led to the conclusion that the roots of any plant give off an excretia or poisonous substance which is harmful to that plant.

It is only the small roots of plants that have the power of absorbing food and water from the soil. In fact, it is only a small portion of the tip of these roots that has this power.

As these small roots develop and push their tips further and further, they clothe that portion of the root behind with a bark made up of a multitude of small balloon-like cells which serve to protect the root from absorbing the poison that has been given off by the tip in passing through the soil.

The soils and the substances in it are generally of the most complex chemical nature. The poisons which are given off by the roots of a plant have not yet been definitely identified and analyzed by the chemists. They are probably of a highly complex nature, easily broken down and destroyed by exposure to the air.

Continually growing the same crops year after year on the same tract of land causes the soil to become permeated with the partciular poison thrown off by that crop to such an extent that the soil is actually poisonous so far as that crop is concerned.

Wichita Falls Group Return From Delightful House Party at Waco

Seth Mayfield Is Host For His Annual Affair On Banks of the Brazos'

FOLLOWING the breaking up of a most delightful house party at "Camp Wildwood" 12 miles from Waco on the Brazos river, with Seth Mayfield, one of Waco's prominent citizens and former Wichitan, host, a group from this city who have been there a week, returned home Sunday night.

In the party from Wichita Falls were Judge and Mrs. C. B. Felder and son Elton, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Bell and son, Mrs. Alma Y. Miller and daughters, Virginia and Mildred, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Greenwood and children, Paul Rutledge and Mr. and Mrs. Gough, Dr. W. H. Feeder and son and daughter of Dallas. Mrs. Gough a former Wichita Falls girl, and Miss Jac King of Corsicana, a recent visitor here.

Mr. and Mrs. Greenwood and children went from the camp to San Antonio, Austin and other south Texas points for a visit before returning home, and Miss Virginia Miller returned to Corsicana with Miss King for a visit.

Mr. Mayfield who is secretary and treasurer of the Cotton Palace at Waco, is also owner of several pools in Waco, where the party enjoyed many delightful swimming parties.

Besides those from this city, prominent local people were also members of the house party, and the entire group furnished inspiration for many of the most enjoyable social affairs of the summer season in Waco.

Mr. Mayfield is a occasional visitor here where he formerly made his home and was popular in Wichita Falls social and business circles.

The camp broke up with a big barbecue Saturday. Mr. Mayfield's summer place, where this house party is an annual affair, is a lovely estate with a large three story camp house furnished with every modern convenience and situated on the Brazos river on a bluff.

His house parties each summer are looked forward to with great pleasure by his friends from Wichita Falls, who return full of entusiasm over their good times.

Color Cut-Outs

"I'm going to take a canoe trip," announced Ted importantly. "My grandfather sent me the canoe, because he thinks boys ought to be independent and do things. Come on in the house and I'll show you all the things I'm getting ready."

Betty and Billy Cut-out followed him inside and stood looking enviously at all the things Ted had bought to take on his trip. Ted's rich grandfather spoiled him, and Ted was very vain. "I'm going to take a canoe trip all by myself," boasted Ted, "down the river to my Uncle's cabin at Oak Nook. Come over day after tomorrow and I'll let you see me off."

Cut a pair of pasteboard oars from the pattern given here, so you can have them for the canoe you made yesterday. Then color the green basket and cut it out, with all the other boxes and cans Ted is taking. You can fit the beans and sardines into the basket by cutting on the dotted line. In the same way you can put the field glasses in their case.

Dorothy Dix

The Girl Who Hates to See Her Fiance Smoking—Should a Mother Choose Her Daughter's Husband? The Farmer's Son Whose Fiancee Won't Live In the Country.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am engaged to a young man whom I love very much and who seems to love me. I made him promise to stop smoking, and he did for quite a while. But the other evening we went to a dance and while we were sitting among our crowd, and all the other boys were smoking, he cooly brought out a cigarette case filled with cigarettes and lighted one.

I was so angry I didn't speak to him the latter part of the evening, and he has not been to see me since. Whenever he gets angry he nearly always stays away until I do the making up. Must I make up with him the first time I have a chance or wait for him to make up with me and promise once more to quit smoking?

SOMEBODY SAD.

Answer:

Inasmuch as you are entirely in the wrong, you should be the one to make the overtures toward a reconciliation. You are wrong because you had no right to force him to promise you to quit smoking because you happen to have a foolish prejudice against it.

Of course, smoking becomes a vice if it is carried to excess. So does eating, so does water drinking, so does exercise, so does every good thing. But the most learned scientists, and those who have given the greatest study to the effect of the use of tobacco on the human system, are agreed that smoking is moderation is harmless and often beneficial. So before you ask a man to sacrifice a pleasure find out first if you are justified in depriving him of it.

I know that many women feel as you do about smoking. They resent the money that a man spends on tobacco that they might spend on bead chains or chocolate creams. They get peeved over dropped ashes and cigarette stubs and burned matches. Some women don't like the smell of tobacco smoke, and it gets on the nerves of other women to see their husbands placidly smoking and enjoying something in which they have no part.

An anti-tobacco wife will fight with her husband every day for 40 years over his pipe without any result except irritating him and alienating him from her. And this poor, foolish, narrow woman can't see that something infinitely more important than tobacco goes up in smoke and that is the peace of the home. While she doesn't break him of the tobacco habit, she does break him of the habit of loving her.

Believe me, my dear girl, when women make a great mistake when they try to force their petty tyrannies on men and when they make men give up doing the innocent little things they like. The wise woman interferes as little as possible with a man's tastes and habits. She gives him large liberty and as a consequence he does not have to lie to her nor deceive her.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix: Do you think that a mother should choose her daughter's husband? My mother refuses to let me marry the man I love simply because he is not rich. She says she does not want me to have as hard a time as she did. I do not desire wealth and I like to work. Do you not think that my mother is wrong?

PUZZLED.

Answer:

I certainly do. If a mother knows that her daughter is going to marry an immoral, a dissipated or a lazy man she does right to do everything in her power to break off the match, but there her right of veto ends. If a young man is upright and industrious, and has some settled way of making a living his lack of money is no drawback to him. Most of the middle-aged women who are rolling around in limousines with real pearls around their fat necks were poor girls who married poor boys and began housekeeping with a handful of furniture in two rooms.

And nine of these [illegible] out of 10 will tell you that the happiest time of their lives is not now, when they have an English butler to pass them a slice of gluten bread and a bit of lean toast, but the days when they did their own cooking and sewing and baby tending and watched for John, who is now the head of a trust, to come back with his dinnerpail from the mill or the factory.

It is natural that the mother who has had to work hard and pinch and economize, and who saw her own romance killed long ago by the struggle to make ends meet in a family where the husband had not the gift for money making would feel that she could not bear to see her daughter risk such a fate and would try to save her from it.

But she forgets, or perhaps she does not know, that money does not buy happiness, and that a woman can be hungrier for love than she can be for bread, and that her soul can go in rags, while her body is clothed in silk and velvet. [illegible] wife surely should have the privilege of doing the picking.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix: I am the son of a very prosperous [illegible] and have every chance of making good on a 300-acre farm. I am engaged to a girl whom I love very much, but she says I must quit the farm and go to town to live. I do not know any way of making a living except farming and if I go to town I will not be able to provide for her as well as if I stayed on the farm. I think the girl will break the engagement rather than live in the country. What shall I do?

T. I.

Answer:

If the girl really loves you and has any conception of the duties of a wife she will go where your interests are. The man is the bread-winner, and a woman who is a good wife and a good sport will follow his fortunes, even if it leads him into foreign lands and places where the living is hard.

Mothers

AND THEIR CHILDREN

A Comfortable Swing.

One Mother Says:

I had a woven wire bed spring not in use. I painted both frame and wire a soft, cool gray. In the tool house there were a lot of chains used about a wagon. I hung the bed by means of these under the trees in the yard, painting the chains gray, also. A gray blanket and some bright pillows made it a splendid resting place. A tiny brass chain with a small snap on the end hung from a bough above, to hold up the mosquito netting when needed.

THIS WOMAN'S MARVELLOUS RECOVERY

All Due to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Truman, Minn.—"I was badly run-down and had pains in my side and back; sometimes I couldn't hardly move around in bed. My husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and after taking it I was so much better I could do all my work again. I do my housework, have a garden, raise chickens, and in harvest time I worked in the field and helped pick corn. Sometimes I do chores and milk. I took the Vegetable Compound before and after my four-months-old baby was born, and it has always helped me wonderfully. I believe there is no better medicine made for women, and I hope every woman will give it a fair trial."—Mrs. AUGUST R. WIEDERHOFT, R. No. 2, Box 84, Truman, Minnesota.

Women suffering from troubles so common to their sex should give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

The Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has relieved women of such troubles for the past fifty years. For sale by druggists everywhere.

DALLAS, July 21.—Wearing home uniforms of the Wichita Falls club to replace their own suits which were burned yesterday, the Steers today defeated Wichita Falls in both ends fo a double header, 20 to 9, 11 to 4. The games were played in the park of the local negro team.

Dallas got to Osborn, Spudder right hander, in the late innings of the first game with a vengeance, and drove him from the hill. Wright a southpaw who relieved him, fared still worse. In the sixth, the locals drove over nine runs. Bauman got an infield hit to short. Bauman stole second. Vache walked. Griffin got an infield hit to first, filling the bases. Segrist walked, forcing Bauman in. Wright went to the mound. Rader singled to center, scoring Vache and Griffith. Lingle hit a home run over the left field fence, scoring Segrist and Rader ahead of him. Thormahlen singled to center. Barnes walked. Donohue hit to Turgeon who tried to catch Thormahlen at second, but the throw was wild and the bases were again filled. Bauman singled to center scoring Thormahlen and Barnes and sending Donohue to second. Vache fouled out to the catcher. Griffin forced Bauman at second, second to short. Donohue going to third. Griffin was caught off first and Donohue scored while the Spudders were running Griffin down. He was out pitcher to second to first. Nine runs.

Spuds Score in Seventh

Wichita Falls, undaunted by the huge Dallas lead, came back in the seventh, and drove over six runs off the delivery of Thormahlen. Weis singled to center. Turgeon walked. Alley doubled to left scoring Weis and Turgeon. White fouled out to the catcher. Smith singled to right scoring Alley. Wright hit to second and the ball rolled through Bauman. Smith taking third. Fitzgerald forced Wright at second, pitcher to short; Smith scoring on the play. Coombs hit a home run over the left field fence scoring Fitzgerald ahead of him. Locker popped out to short.

Steers Four More

Dallas got four more in the eighth. Barnes hit to Alley who threw wide to first and Barnes was safe. Donohue doubled to center, sending Barnes to third. Bauman walked. Vache tripled to left scoring Barnes, Donohue and Bauman. Griffin was out, short to first and Vache was held at third. Segrist singled to left scoring Vache. Rader flied to center. Wright balked and Segrist was sent to second. Lingle lined out to the pitcher.

Spuds Rally

The visitors came through in the ninth with a rally, netting them two runs to close the weird contest. Smith was out, third to first. Tanner, batting for Wright, doubled to center. Fitzgerald doubled to left scoring Tanner. Coombs doubled to center scoring Fitzgerald. Locker singled to center and Coombs was stopped at third. Weis hit into a double play, short to second to first.

Mausser Has Tough Time

In the second game, Musser, Wichita Falls spit ball twirler, had two very bad innings, the first and fifth in which Dallas got five runs each.

Six hits accounted for Dallas' first five runs. Barnes doubled to left. Donohue singled to center, scoring Barnes. Bauman bunted down the third base line and beat it out for an infield hit. Donohue taking second. Vache bunted down third base line and beat it out, filling the bases. Griffin doubled to center, scoring Donohue, Bauman and Vache. Segrist sacrificed and Griffin took third. Rader doubled to left scoring Griffin. Withrow walked. Love fanned. Barnes was out second to first.

Dallas scored one in the second inning. Wichita Falls got across for a run in the second, another in the third, and two in the fifth. Dallas came back in the fifth and with four hits garnered five more runs. Rader walked. Withrow was called out when he bunted on the last strike and it was a foul. Mitchell singled to left sending Rader to second. Barnes singled to center, scoring Rader and sending Mitchell to second. Donohue doubled to right scoring Mitchell and sending Barnes to third. Bauman flew out to left and Barnes scored after the catch. Donohue was held at second. Vache hit a home run over the left field fence scoring Donohue ahead of him. Griffin was out second to first.

EXPORTERS POUR IT GALVESTON, 11 TO 1

BEAUMONT, July 21.—Beaumont returned home barely in time to play when delayed by a train wreck, and fattened batting averages off Perryman, winning from Galveston 11 to 1. Matteson pitched well after the first inning to win his third consecutive game. Umpire Fanning retired in the ninth when struck on the knee by a foul tip.

LANDIS OKEHS TRIP ABROAD OF WHITE SOX AND GIANTS

CINCINNATI, July 21.—Permission to tour Europe was granted the New York Giants and Chicago White Sox today by Commissioner K. M. Landis, Manager John J. McGraw of the New York team announced here tonight. The trip abroad by the two teams had been technically agreed upon some time ago, but consent of the baseball commissioner was held up pending a vote of the members of both leagues. This vote, Mr. McGraw said, was unanimously in favor of the proposed tour.

FEMININE TENNIS ENTRIES MUST BE IN BY WEDNESDAY

The committee of the all-city feminine tennis tournament scheduled for Thursday of this week issued an urgent request that all players intending to enter make known these intentions immediately to either Miss Margie Bright or Mrs. H. B. Van Emden.

There is talk of holding a mixed doubles play along with the tournament proper should enough players show themselves interested in this form of competition.

Nobody is barred from this tournament, but all entries must have their names in by Wednesday noon. Drawings will then be attended to and announced Thursday morning in The Record News. First rounds will begin on that day, too.

United States Captures All Major Branches of Olympic Competition

PARIS, July 21.—The United States by completing its tennis triumph today, not only made a clean sweep of all of the major branches of the Olympic competition but rolled up a point total which clinches the all-around championship of the games.

The completed tabulation tonight of points for the 16 events thus far completed shows that America is far in the lead with 95 points, double that of the nearest rival, France, which was 47 points and connot overhaul the United States even if triumphant in the remaining four sports which are to be completed this week.

France jumped to second place by scoring heavily in tennis, gymnastics, fencing and the modern pentathlon. Great Britain is now third with 38 points and Finland fourth with 34 points. The United States added 10 points under the Olympic scoring system for tennis, and two more for gymnastics, the tabulation tonight reveals.

Championships have been carried off by the United States in eight fields of rivalry including track and field, rowing, swimming, tennis, boxing, catch-as-catch-can wrestling, rugby and target shooting. Norway with victoriies in the winter sports and the hunting shooting is the only other nation to take two Olympic crowns. The other six championships are distributed among France in fencing, Sweden with the modern pentathlon, Finland with Greco-Roman wrestling, Argentina with polo, Uruguary with soccer and Italy with gymnastics.

Altogether 22 of the 45 competing nations gained places in the scoring column with the only remaining contests in yachting, weight lifting, cycling and the esquestrian games.

Behind the first four in the point column are the Scandinavian countries, Sweden and Norway, the former with 3 31-2 points and the latter with 21 1-4 points. Switzerland has 18, Italy 17 3-4. While Argentina ranks tenth with 13 points, only 3-4 of a point behind Denmark. Uruguary with 10 points is eleventh

CINCY DEFEATS GIANTS, 8 TO 7

See-Saw Affair Captured With 11th Round Rally.

CINCINNATI, July 21.—Cincinnati won one of the hardest fought battles of the season from New York today 8 to 7, in 11 innings. Watson was knocked out in the first round, but Nehf pitched well and Luque allowed a tie score in the seventh without a hit, on his wildness and an error by Critz. In the ninth New York scored three runs off May on three hits and an error by Roush but the Reds tied it in their half on four hits, two passes and a wild pitch by Bentley. In the eleventh the Giants scored a run, Frisch's triple and a single by Kelly, the first time Rixey had been scored on in 34 innings. In the last half of the eleventh, Roush reached third on a pass, a balk by Jonnard and an out. With two out, Kelly took his foot off the bag before receiving Jackson's good throw on Fonseca's grounder, which would have retired the side without scoring. The error of omission allowed Roush to score the tying run, and then Penelli put Fonseca over with a triple to right.

Methodists Wop Presbyterians In Easy Win, 14-3

The First Methodists won Monday from the Floral Heights Presbyterians by the score of 14 to 3. McDuffey pitched in his usual form and gained an easy victory. He didn't have to extend himself at any time, however, as his mates piled up a large count in the third.

Malonee was hit hard after striking out four men. Stevens who finished the game for the losers, pitched well.

Whatley's all around playing was the feature of the game. He hit a home run and a single, and stole second, third and home in the sixth after being walked.

"Gabe" Harris and Highfill also played excellent ball for the winners.

J. Kelley's bunt on the third strike in the final inning completely crossed up the Methodists and he finally scored on an error.

M'MULLEN EXPECTED IN WICHITA FALLS TODAY FOR TITULAR BOUT

Speedy Sparks to Arrive Wednesday Says Wofford—Promoter Believes There Will Be Knockout

Elmer McMullen, Kansas battler who tangles with Speedy Sparks Thursday on the legion card for the middleweight championship of the southwest, is expected to arrive in Wichita Falls today, said Promoter Don Wofford Monday. McMullen wrote to Wofford telling him that he hoped to be in Wichita Falls in time to work out at the legion hall this afternoon, but that if he did not get here by them, would positively be on hand before Tuesday night.

Sparks, over long distance telephone yesterday, declared that he expected to be in the city some time Wednesday, said that he has been training hard all along and is already in toptop shape for the coming embroglio.

Should Be Kayo.

The title bout is to be over the 12-round route, three minutes to a round. Heretofore a number of legion main events have been only two minutes each round, but this will not be the case Thursday. Promoters expect a knockout in this bout, because both scrappers pack terrific punches. A general average on knockouts taken over the country shows that in a greater majority of cases the sleep punch always comes after two minutes of fighting in a round. It is believed in this case that with the regular three-minute rounds, fans can be fairly well assured of a knockout.

Monte Meets Tough One.

A number of fighters billed on the card are already in Wichita Falls, and working daily. Wildcat Monte who just last Friday decisively outpointed Dick Bowers of Vernon in ten rounds is here, and in condition for his bout with Jimmy Thompson of Houston. Monte has bitten off a pretty tough chunk in accepting Thompson as an opponent, believe the critics. Thompson, a veteran of many years standing, may prove entirely too clever for the Amarillo youth. It is not believed that the Houston battler will manage to slip over a kayo on Monte, but ringsiders declare that he will probably give Monte a real boxing lesson. This stands to be seen, of course. The bout is scheduled for ten rounds.

Moko in Shape.

Moko Carpentier of Wichita Falls is training diligently for his tilt with Young Altus of Altus, Okla., said Wofford. Altus is the lad who put up such a hard fight with Red Lewis on the legion card last week. He will not arrive in this city until Thursday morning, but is training daily in his home town. Carpentier is a new one as far as local fistic fans are concerned, but promoters are of opinion that he will give Altus quite a hard go of it. The boys are billed for a six-rounder.

Jimmy Riley of Altus, who pleased Wichita fandom highly last week, and Willie Wyatt of Oklahoma City are both expected to arrive Thursday morning. These boys will fight a four-rounder, said Wofford.

Red Lewis is training at the legion hall for his fight at Ada with Archie Cooper the 28th and will leave Wichita Falls either Wednesday or Thursday to wind up his preparations on the scene of the impending conflict.

Waite Phillips' No 1, L. F. Wilson Causing Big Sensation Here

WELL WILL BE STANDARDIZED

Estimates Now Place Well In 200-250-Barrel Class.

Since its semi-completion Saturday afternoon Waite Phillip's No. 1 L. F. Wilson, section 2, William Harris survey, abstract 646, four miles southwest of the Sunshine pool, Archer county, has stirred a sensation in oil circles here. The well appears even better than was at first believed, and estimates placed on its potential production now vary between 200 and 250 barrels a day.

The well has made three flows, into the slush pit, one from about 1 to 2 o'clock Sunday morning, 12 to 1:35 that afternoon, and 3 to 4 this afternoon. In addition it swabbed in excess of 60 barrels during three hours that it was placed on the swab, a rate of more than 20 barrels an hour.

The sand, encountered at 1,533 feet, has been penetrated to 1,534½ feet, or approximately 16 inches. The rig will be moved off the location today and a standard rig moved in.

In the ring of dry holes that encircle this well some mile or more away in every instance, this sand was picked up at around the same depth, surface levels accounted for, but showed water after being penetrated more than one foot.

Down a mile to the south and east Cranfill failed to make a well on the M. L. Swing survey, abstract 448, lot 110, after getting one foot of rich oil sand at 1,556 feet and drilling into water immediately below. A mile to the north, Moore, Stump and others, encountered a similar sand at 1,575, but drilled into water sand at 1,576 feet. This well was located about the center of the north line of section 1, BBB&CRR survey, abstract 39, section 1. About 900 feet to the west of this well Moore encountered a similar sand at 1,591 feet, the 16 feet difference between it and the Stump well being accounted for by surface level exactly. To the north still further Irwin and associates had six inches of oil sand and had oil in large quantities in the hole when a fishing job caused them to break through to the water sand. The depth here was 1,637 feet. To the east Waite Phillips, Moores and Stump drilled another in the northeast corner of the south 80 acres of the southwest 160 acres of section 193, L. F. Wilson land, the same story coming here for a sand picked up at 1,568 feet.

Waite Phillips has the acreage in the vicinity of the well pretty well blocked up and prohibitive prices are being asked for most of what is left. Conditions in the industry at present will hold down other drilling temporarily, perhaps, but the section should receive a great deal of play as soon as conditions permit.

Texhoma No. 4, Kemp & Kempner Swabs 220 Bbls.

The Texhoma Oil and Refining company's No. 4 Kemp and Kempner, north offset to the Panhandle Refining company's No. 1 R. Orton 40-barrel producer from the 1580-foot sand, swabbed 220 barrels by actual guage in 24 hours from the sand below the casing seat at 1776 feet.

STUMP PAST 1,000 FT. NEAR BODY FARM

E. J. Stump is drilling past 1,000 feet on his test on the Ashland farm, Clay county, northwest of Petrolia, offsetting the Body farm and the old well of Henry Body and associates about 900 feet to the east. A rotary is being used.

About a half mile to the north of the Body well on the Body farm a cable tool test has picked up two oil showings each figured as able to make a small 5 or 6 barrel well at depths of 130 and 260 feet, and is now drilling at about 500 feet.

TEXAS COMPANY RESEATING, ORTON

The Texas company is reseating at 1789 feet in its No. 1 E. Orton, west of Holliday, northwest quarter of section 2, SPRR survey, abstract 1209, Archer county, after failing to get a good seat at 1787 feet. It is expected to bail today.

MAGNOLIA BELOW 1460, PORTWOOD

The Magnloia Petroleum company has reamed down to 1460 feet, lowered 6 5-8-inch casing to that depth and is drilling deeper on their No. 1 Portwood, west of Megargel, in Baylor county, offsetting the old Cranfill well.

PANHANDLE TREASURER LEAVES ON VACATION

Five Children Die In Burning Home

By The Associated Press.

SHARON, Pa., July 21.—Trapped in their second story home near Sandy Lake 20 miles from here five children of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hedge, ranging in age from nine months to nine years, were burned to death when the home was destroyed by fire early today. Evans, 7, escaped death when he heeded his mother's plea to jump from the second tosry.

CORRECTION.

In an advertisement of E. R. Boyles and B. H. Rankin relating to the sale of certain acreage in the Falls county school lands, south Archer county, the tract was quoted as being only 400 feet from production. The ad should have read 4,000 feet from production.

MONEY At Work

EXCELLENT PLANS CAN BE HAD WITHOUT COST FROM
UP TO DATE DEALERS IN LUMBER AND MATERIALS
Mr. J. P. Jones Mission Home

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

In building the small home a way is now available to cut the cost from two hundred to six hundred dollars without skimping anything.

The way to save this amount of money in building the small home is to dispense with the architect. Sounds impossible and peculiar at first but it is not and here is why.

So many lumber and material companies of today have employed architects to design small and inexpensive houses for their advertising campaigns that the design of this type of structure has undergone intensive study and improvement.

These lumber and material companies are ready and willing to let people use these plans without charging any royalties. The plans which these companies have evolved are so clever and well done that an average man building an average small home would have to pay an architect a great deal to work up plans which were the equal to those which can now be obtained for nothing.

Send for some of these plans if you are thinking of building a home. You will be surprised at the ingenuousness and beauty of them. In addition, every effort has been made in these plans and specifications toward a reduction of costs without a reduction in quality or value.

NO WELL, 1600 FT. SAND, ORTON

Panhandle Sets Casing And Tests Intermediate Sand, No. 3, Orton.

The Panhandle Refining company is drilling again in its No. 3 R. Orton, section 2, SPRR survey, abstract 1209, Archer county, just west of Holliday, after setting casing and testing a sand picked up at 1640 feet. Salt water showed when the sand had been drilled into and casing was pulled and drilling deeper commenced. Last night a depth fo 1692 had been reached and the water sand not through yet. Drilling will continue to the 1780-foot pay of the No. 2, 200-barrel producer on the lease.

This is the second time that casing has been set and a test made of an oil bearing sand in this well, once of the 1580-foot sand where only a small producer was possible, and once here where water ruined the well. This 1600-foot sand has been passed in other wells in the district but never tested before.

1,500 Feet Of Open Hole, New Artesia Well

Photographs and data concerning the recently completed No. 1 well of the Illinois Producing company no the east side of the Pecos river southeast of Artesia in New Mexico have been received here and give some interesting information in regard to the well, the completion of which is causing a great deal of activity in that part of the country.

The total depth of the hole is 1993 feet. A 130-quart shot was made in the sand at 1887-1950 feet, after which oil flowed over the top of the derrick for six minutes. There is only 400 feet of 8 1-4-inch casing in the hole, the rest of the hole being open and not started to cave yet.

Various estimates have been made on the potential production of the well, running from 500 to 1000 barrels a day. It is said that the Illinois Producing company has signified their intention of putting a pipeline to the area, in which case real development should begin.

UNITED CENTRAL SETS CASING ON McCARTY NO. 8

The United Central Oil company has set casing on its No. 8 McCarty, Beaver Creek district, southwest of Iowa Park, total depth being given as 1679 feet. It is expected to bail today.

Drilling on the No. 9, offsetting Hammond-Lee newly completed small producer is past the 1050-foot mark.

PANHANDLE GETS SAND, McCARTY 6

The Panhandle Refining company has reached the sand and is setting casing at a depth of 1683 feet in its No. 6 McCarty on its McCarty lease in the Beaver Creek district, southeast of Electra, Wichita county.

NEW ORLEANS, July 21.—The cotton market today was one of the most exciting and active in a long while. The government's condition report proved a surprise to the trade as it had made the average 68.5, or 2.7 points below the condition of June 25, whereas the trade had been looking for an improvement. The indicated crop of 11,934,000 bales was almost as great a surprise as the indicated crop of 12,400,000 bales at least had been expected. The immediate result of the report was a frenzied advance which carried prices up to the full limit of 200 points above the lows of the morning within three minutes.

All of the new crop months advanced the full limit, October from 24.80, the price touched at the lowest of the morning, to 26.80. December advanced from 24.56 to 26.56. July, owing to the small interest in that option remaining unliquidated in the local market, was not much affected at first but later advanced to 28.55, or 155 points.

As the advance was automatically checked when the 200 point limit was reached many satisfied longs took advantage of the situation to liquidate at a profit and price eased off under this pressure about 55 to 60 points from the top but there was a prompt rally as soon as the realizing let up, prices recovering about 30 points. The close showed net gains for the day of 90 points on July and 147 to 148 points on new crop months.

COTTON IS HIT HARD LATELY

Decrease 210,000 Bales, By Government Report; Texas Fair.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—A decrease of 210,000 bales in the cotton crop forecast during the last three weeks was shown today in the first semi-monthly report of the department of agriculture which indicated production this year will be 11,934,000 equivalent 500-pound bales.

There was a heavy deterioration in the crop in North Carolina and South Carolina due to excessive rainfall and in Louisiana because of drought in the northern part of the state.

New Terror.

The boll weevil, a department statement said, is losing its supremacy as the most destructive pest this year to the cotton "flea" which was described as doing more damage at present and working farther north than last year. The boll weevils are very numerous in most of the southern portions of the central and southeastern sections, the department said, but elsewhere the hot, dry, weather is holding them back.

The crop report board issued the following comment on the crop: "The condition of the crop deteriorated 2.7 points from June 25 to July 16.

"The crop in Texas is in all stages of development, from a few inches to over waist high. The early planted part of the crop is in the balance. Unless rain comes soon this young crop will not amount to much. Most of the state has had no rain since early in June, but rains have been excessive in south Texas."

Southern Oklahoma.

"The weather conditions have been fairly favorable to the growth of the cotton plants during the past two weeks in Oklahoma, although rain is needed badly in the southern part of the state. Little damage by the boll weevil is reported, but considerable by grasshoppers."

NEW YORK, July 21.—The upward movement of stock prices today entered upon its sixth consecutive week with favorable reparations news and western reports of reviving business activity providing the stimulus for the day's advances. Trading was on a broad scale, 52 issues, including 30 railroads and eight coppers, establishing new high records for the year.

Heavy investment buying of high grade carriers stocks was one of the day's features, New York Central, Atchison, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Great Northern preferred, Rock Island 7 per cent preferred and Atlantic Coast Line all bettering their previous top prices of the year.

"Big Four" jumped five points to a new top at 135 1-2.

U. S. Steel common regained the leadership of the standard industrials by moving up to 102, up two points, a new high on the movement. Baldwin, Studebaker, and American Can each gained about a point.

Stewart Warner climbed nearly five points to 56 on the payment of quarterly dividend of $1.50, Wall Street apparently having expected a sharper reduction.

Oil shares displayed a firm tone despite the further readjustment of crude and gasoline prices. Cosden, Houston, Skelly and Sheel union each closed about a point higher and a number of others improved fractionally.

RAIN AGAIN LOWERS WHEAT

Corn Also Finishes With Setback From Opening.

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 21.—Rain both north and south of the Canadian boundary led to lower prices for wheat today and the market here closed 7-8 to 1 3-8 cents net decline, September 1.25 5-8 to 1.25 3-4 and December 1.28 3-8 to 1.28 1-2. Corn finished 1 1-4 to 2 1-4 cents down, oats 1 1-4 to 1 1-2 cents off, and provisions a set back of 20 to 50 cents.

High temperatures had been a decided bearish influence on new crop months in the corn market. Nearby deliveries were meanwhile depressed by enlarged receipts. Oats lower with corn and wheat.

Provisions were buoyant, hogs having touched the highest point today since October 1918.

Billy Whiskers

By FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY.

The chums were planning to attack the boys.

On came the boys, whooping and hallooing with all the power of their lungs. But when they were within twenty feet of the trees and bushes that concealed the chums, they jumped out at them. The leader stopped in his tracks, too dazed and surprised to move at seeing a strange goat come flying out of the bushes straight toward him. He scarcely had time to know he was surprised when he was hit in the pit of the stomach and sent sprawling in the sand fifteen feet away. As he picked himself up he saw a funny sight—a big boy running straight for the lake with a big, black cat sitting on his shoulders scratching the shirt off his back. Button never moved, but stuck to him as the boy swam farther and farther out. At last it seemed to occur to the boy to dive, which he did and Button, hating the water as all cats do, jumped for a big rock that was sticking out of the water. There he sat and meowed for Billy to swim out and carry him to shore on his back as he had often done before. But Billy was nowhere in sight. After butting the boy he had disappeared as completely as if the earth had opened and swallowed him.

As for Stubby, he had chased all the boys up town, first biting one boy's shins and then attacking another until he had driven them howling two or three blocks from where they started. When he saw he had gotten the boys so far away, he stopped chasing them and went back to see what Billy and Button were doing. But when he reached the old spot neither Billy nor Button was anywhere in sight. All he could see was a black object on a rock sticking out of the water. It looked like some one's wet muff or old coat. He did not know that the same wet muff was his own beloved Button.

Button was meowing as loudly as he could for Stubby to swim out and rescue him, but the wind was in the wrong direction to carry his voice to Stubby. Stubby looked around and even set up a howl, trying to find out where Billy and Button had gone, but no answering came back. He sniffed around but could get no scent of them. Then all of a sudden he saw a boy come out of the lake and run up the shore. He started after him on a dead run, thinking that perhaps he would lead him to some boys who might have captured Billy. He was running with his head down when all of a sudden he pitched headlong into a dry well. What was his surprise on opening his eyes after the shock to find himself staring into Billy Whiskers' eyes!

"How in green gooseberries did you get here?" he asked.

(But we shall have to wait until tomorrow to hear about it.)

Death Overtakes River Gambler

By The Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, July 21. — Joe Harrington, 30, gambler, better known as Joe "Never Smile," was found shot to death in his automobile two blocks from his home here early today. On his person was found $1,300 in currency, money the police said he had won on the Southern association baseball game yesterday in addition to his winnings in a dice game that lasted far into the night. He left a gambling house shortly before 2 a. m. enroute home, police said, and his body was found a half hour later, the engine of his machine still running. The police theory is Harrington was shot for robbery, but the assassins became frightened and did not take the money.

DODGE CITY, Kans., July 21.—Eight steel pullmans of the second section of the Santa Fe California limited train No. 4 were derailed at Holcomb, 58 miles west of here, this morning. The train was east-bound. None of the cars overturned and no one was injured.

Burial of Heavy Woman Is Task

By the Associated Press.

ANSONIA, Conn., July 21.—Mrs. Catherine Bristol, 49, whose funeral was held here yesterday, weighed in excess of 600 pounds and was buried in a casket weighing 430 pounds, the largest ever used in the state, according to the undertaker who supervised the burial.

The woman's death occurred on the third story of a main street building and a block and fall was used in lowering the casket from the rooms.

Ten men acting as pall bearers carried the casket from the hearse to the grave, a distance of one hundred feet. They were obliged twice to put it down for rest during the short journey.

Mrs. Bristol's death, physicians say, was caused by her increasing weight.

City Council May Designate Boulevards and Relieve Traffic

HEAVILY USED STREETS HELPED

Vehicles On Eighth, Ninth, Tenth and Eleventh Would Benefit.

Recommendations made recently by the Wichita Falls Automotive Dealers association that Eighth, Ninth, Tenth and Eleventh streets be designated as boulevards and automobile traffic over those thoroughfares be given right-of-way over intersecting streets will probably be adopted by the city council.

Hodgins Proposes Move.

This was indicated last night after the matter had been called to the attention of the commissioners by Chief of Police George H. Hodgins, who stated that the police department endorsed the idea and favored its adoption. Mayor Collier and the three commissioners at the session seemed to take kindly to the suggestion, and while no definite action was taken, City Attorney W. E. George was instructed to look up the legal angles of the case and ascertain whether or not the city could order such a change. A conflict with state laws on traffic might be encountered, it was thought, and for this reason the legal opinion will be rendered.

The recommendation of the auto dealers pointed out that the four streets named were the principal arteries of travel between the business district and the thickly populated residential sections in the western part of the city. Eighth street from the business section to Brook, Ninth from Brook west, Tenth from down town to the city limits and Eleventh from down town to Tyler carry 90 per cent of the inbound and outbound traffic, while the intersecting streets running north and south are used only infrequently.

Woud Reduce Dangers

For this reason it is believed that north and south traffic west of Lamar should be forced to give way to that on the more heavily used streets. Thus, it is thought, the danger of intersections collissions would be greatly reduced. Chief Hodgins declared that signs could be erected ordering north and south bound traffic to slow down for the boulevards and that there would then be no more excuse for further mishaps.

If the plan is adopted, it will probably affect Eighth, Ninth, Tenth and eleventh west of Lamar and as far out at least as Kemp boulevard.

Forger Here Gets Suspended Term

A two-year suspended sentence was assessed Monday against R. K. Lancaster when he entered a plea of guilty to forgery charges after his case was called for trial by Judge H. R. Wilson of the 30th district court. He admitted having forged a check for about $6 on a local business firm.

On the strength of his plea that his wife and several small children had no means of support if he were taken from them, Assistant District Attorney Robert K. Crain recommended to the jury that suspended sentence be given against him.

New Water Mains Are Authorized

New water main extensions to cost $1,590 were authorized Monday night by the city council following their recommendation by F. N. Lawton, manager of the city water department. They include the laying of 790 feet of 6 inch main on the Burkburnett road from North street to Houston street, with a connection at the Texhoma refinery. A fire plug will also go in at the Burkburnett road and Houston street intersection.

The other main will consist of 800 feet of 2 inch pipe on Patterson street between Third and Fifth.

M'CLURE REAPPOINTED CITY FIRE MARSHAL

Fire Chief J. L. McClure was reappointed Monday night as fire marshall for Wichita Falls, this action being taken by the city council on recommendation of City Attorney W. E. George who found that the appointment had not been made in compliance with provisions of a new ordinance recently passed by the commissioners.

Chief McClure has been serving as fire marshal for several years, but a few weeks ago a new ordinance was adopted creating the official position of marshal. It supplanted an old ordinance which was found to be defective.

The fire mashal is empowered to make arrests, swear witnesses and conduct investigations of blazes supposed to be of incendiary origin.

WHITE FOLKS GO TO DARKEY MEETING

Hundreds of cars are parked nightly around the negro holy roller tabernacle on the Henrietta pike at which place meeting is now in progress. There are more white people attending the meeting that there are negroes and the darkies make up a large collection among the white brethren by passing the collection plate through the cars. Some of the white people, unwilling to miss any of the sights, leave their cars and take a seat in the back of the tabernacle and the darkies respect them by not taking any of the back seats.

LAST CHANCE FOR ABSENTEE VOTERS

With only two more days remaining in which absentee voters may file their ballots with the county clerk, a few more are expected to be made for the elections next Saturday. Most of the Wichitans who plan to be out of the city next Saturday have already gone, it is believed.

Wednesday night is the last date on which the ballots may be marked and filed with the county clerk.

FERGUSON GREAT BLESSING, SAYS

Judge R. O. Kenley Declares Jim "Brought 'Em" To Polls.

"Jim Ferguson has been the greatest blessing the state of Texas has ever had," asserted Judge R. O. Kenley in speaking before the Kiwanis club at their luncheon yesterday. "I say that and mean that he has got more people out to the polls to vote against him than any other man ever got out expressly to vote for him. Some things slip by the people and they find it necessary to get out and vote a second time to get that thing out of office. It is so with the ku klux klan, and other evils that have come into our political systems."

Each voter is a sovering until he deposits his balot. That instant he becomes a subject, a subject to the man that is elected possibly of the man whom he voted for. The power we delegate to the men we vote for is too great for us to consider casting our vote too lightly. We should consider the matter in the light of the stockholder of a bank, electing the directors for his concern. He may vote against a friend but you may depend upon it he will give the casting of his vote due consideration. He pays for it in a slumping business if he does not and if he errs this judgment. Government is the same sort of thing, not to be regarded lightly, and due every consideration on the part of the voter. The taxpayers pay the bills going and coming and it is up to them to say how much.

Examples of Voting.

"The average voter today reminds me of good old Texas jurors. A man plead his case before them and they rendered their decision exactly in according with their personal opinion of the opposing lawyer. I know once back in such a community we swapped votes; we gave a man running for congress from another section of the county our votes and received in turn the votes of his section for our candidate for constable. There is too much of this sort of thing. Our government is suffering for mistakes that have been made in the past."

Votes Important Now.

"This a year when your votes will be especially important. Taxes are now very burdensome. The poorest man among us feels them weighing down upon them with no prospect for readjustment. There is no use in praying for anything which we cannot be instrumental in bringing about. By voting we are doing the primary thing in helping to bring about the reforms we advocate and believe to be needed."

"Don't leave it to the other fellow. Go vote yourself. That is the only remedy for the evils you know now exist."

Injunction Ends In Rental Case

A judgment denying perpetuation of the injunction and which was, in effect a verdict for the defendant, was rendered Monday afternoon by Judge E. W. Napier, of the 78th district court in the case of W. R. Browning vs. Robert McClure.

The case involved a rental contract on a farm owned by R. M. Waggoner and occupied by the defendant. The plaintiff claimed that be had purchased the contract, but that the defendant refused to move. The suit was then brought in the nature of an injunction to prevent his continued living on the place.

After hearing evidence in the case, Judge Napier held that the plaintiff had no valid claim to the property.

Miss Emily Duren Buried Monday

Funeral services for Miss Emily Duren, age 30, who died at the home of her mother, Mrs. C. A. Duren, Call Field, at noon Sunday, were held from the Hines undertaking parlors Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock with Rev. Milo Atkinson officiating. Miss Duren had lived in Wichita Falls for the past 10 years and had a large number of friends in this city.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. C. A. Duren; two brothers, George Duren of Burkburnett and Jim Duren of Wichita Falls; two sisters, Mrs. Lily Vincent, New Mexico, and Mrs. Ella Roberts of Wichita Falls.

TWO PAVING PROJECTS ARE UP

Seymour Stretch Is Accepted; Giddings Hearings Close.

Only two paving matters were brought up for attention of the city council Monday night, one of these consisting of acceptance of the Seymour road between Hayes street and Santa Fe avenue, and the other closing of hearings on Giddings street between Avenues C and G.

The Seymour road stretch has been completed by the L. F. Whitham company and passed by the city engineer. One protest was recorded against the Giddings street improvement, but the paving was declared a necessity and ordered in.

Street Commissioner Clifford was authorized to make a trade with county and paving company officials regarding grading a part of the Seymour road that fringes the city limits on the western edge of the city. The paving is really not in the city limits, but since it abutts the limit line and will afford service to residents in the city, the latter will take the rough grading down to the city depth.

CANDIDATES RUN IN BY SHOWER

Iowa Park Speeches Put Off Till Wednesday As Clouds Weep.

Rain and wind broke up campaign thunder at Iowa Park Monday night when a number of candidates for office in the coming primary were forced to flee before they could deliver their orations. The session was then postponed until next Wednesday night when the speakers denied an appearance last night will present themselves again.

A large crowd was out for the meeting.

The two candidates for constable of precinct three, both candidates for county commissioner from Iowa Park, Kuntz and Lawrence, three of the four candidates for tax assessor and four of the seven for sheriff gave their addresses before the elements interfered. The assessor aspirants who spoke were Deaton, Johnson and Thomasson and the sheriffs, Baines, Murphy, Bralley and Smith.

BAG WORMS GET IN BAD WORK

Warning Unheeded Proven By Many Leafless Trees.

Predictions made several weeks ago by the city park department heads that bag worms would cause serious loss in this city if trees were not protected from them, are being borne out.

Insistent calls are now being made for sprayers to get to work on trees that have lost most of their foliage and are in a fair way to lose the rest of it. It seems that persons owning property on which shade trees are located are now realizing, for the first time, that the bag worms are capable of doing tremendous damage and that conditions are ripe for them to do that very thing.

Spraying has been found an effecive method of exterminating the worms and those that have made use of this are enjoying immunity. Others, however, are making frantic last-minute calls for the park department to come save trees that are already hopelessly eaten up.

CLARA ELECTION ATTACKED AGAIN

Opposition Asks Court Of Commissions to Throw It Out.

Another move seeking to invalidate the election recently in which residents of the Clara school district voted a $50,000 bond issue for improvement purposes was made Monday when Clara tax payers opposing the bonds appeared before the commissioners court asking that another election be called to knock out the original ballots. The matter was taken under advisement by the court, which stated that it would look up the law regarding the matter. The petition presented by those opposing the bond issue was tabled for the time being, however.

The original election was held about a month ago. By a majority of 15 votes, the $50,000 bond issue was carried. Shortly afterward a petition was filed in the 30th district court asking that the election be declared illegal. A long list of illegal regularities in the voting was set forth as a basis for the plea.

At the hearing, however, Judge H. R. Wilson denied the petition and held the election was held legally.

RANKIN FAMILY IN REUNION HERE

A large family reunion picnic dinner was held at Havener park when relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Rankin of the city assembled Sunday morning in a family reunion. A delightful picnic dinner was served at noon. Many out-of-town relatives were present.

Those present at the picnic were: Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rankin and two children, Mary Frances and Joseph Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Counts and two daughters, Lorene and Annette; Mr. and Mrs. Luther Counts, and children, Thelma, Cleo, Ornee, and Ralph; and Miss Winnie Brumbelow, all of Wichita Falls; Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Rumage and daughter, Lola; Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Goegen and daughter, Inez, all of Lawton, Oklahoma; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Counts and daughter, Lillian; Mr. and Mrs. G. Klum and daughter, Effie Mae; Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Wilson and daughter, Myra and Fena, and son Homer; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rankin and son, J. L., all of Whitesborough, Texas.

LIQUOR CHARGES AGAINST MAN HERE

Charges of possession of intoxicating liquor were filed Monday against J. E. Walker following his arrest Sunday by officers of the federal, state and precinct offices. Deputy U. S. Marshal John Saye, State Ranger Aldredge and Deputy Constables Lile and Allen Johnson took the man in custody with a quantity of whiskey in his possession.

Bond of $500 was set by U. S. Commissioner Lantz before the hearing was held.

CRIMINAL CASES SET FOR TODAY

Trial of criminal cases will be resumed in the 30th district court today, it was announced Monday evening by the district attorney's office. Several cases were disposed of Monday and a large number of others are on the docket scheduled for trial in the near futuure.

The defendants involved are now prisoners in the county jail and are under indictments returned by the last grand jury.

Shriners Return From Organizing

Al Ellis, Charles Featherstone and George Ray, this city, returned Monday from Jaytown where they have been for the past several days organizing a Shrine club. The club was organized Friday and at that time 21 members joined. First regular meeting was held Friday night. The following night the regular Blue Lodge meeting was held and Mr. Ellis made a talk and at a dinner served to the three visitors from Wichita Falls.

Judge W. Sullivan of Jaytown, presented Mr. Featherstone with a beautiful jewelled fezz as a gift from the newly organized Shrine club.

LOCAL YOUTHS GIVEN 5 YEARS

Buddy Lyons and Robert Brown Sentenced For Theft of Auto.

Sentence of five years each in the state penitentiary were assessed Monday on Buddy Lyons and Robert Brown, two Wichita Falls youths who went on trial before Judge H. R. Wilson on charges of authmobile theft. They entered pleas of not guilty to the indictments.

Both were arrested about a month ago after they were alleged to have stolen a car at Electra and secreted it in a garage there. They were indicted by the last grand judy.

STOLEN CAR FOUND IN RECORD TIME

In less than three hours from the time it was stolen Monday noon from its parking place in front of the county court house, an automobile owned by J. M. Isbell, county engineer, was recovered in Waurika, Okla. Local officers phoned word of the theft to a number of points outside of Wichita Falls and word came back late in the afternoon that the machine had been located in the Oklahoma border town.

It will be returned to this city and turned over to the owner.

MANY VOTERS CHANGE BOXES

Yesterday Last For Residents; Today Closes On Nonresidents.

A tremendous number of residences have been changed by both resident and non-resident voters of Wichita Falls in the past six months, according to the number of alterations made on poll taxes. Monday, which was the last day in which city residents of Wichita Falls could change their precinct voting places before the July 26 primaries, saw the county tax collector's office besieged with prospective voters seeking to have the proper change made.

Tuesday is the last day in which non-residents of Wichita Falls may make the alterations. Statutes provide that city residents may change their voting places five days before the primary and county residents four days before the same date.

Pimples

BLOOD impurities are pumped by the heart into the face. That is what causes that grainy appearance, that muddiness, sallowness, pimples, blackheads, acne, red spots, and that impossible "something" which no face cream, massage, or face powder can cover up or beautify! The foundation for a beautiful skin simply is not there, and no face treatment can give it to you. But increase your red-blood-cells,—and quickly the ruby tint of purity begins to glow in the cheeks, the complexion becomes venus-like and immaculate! Try it. It will do it every time. S. S. S. builds the red-blood-cells you need for a beautiful complexion. Begin using S. S. S. at once, and give yourself what you have been working for, for years

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.
