Cavalry And Infantry From Forts In Texas And Wyoming To Come; Air Force Numbers 18 Planes.

(By Associated Press)
SAN ANTONIO, April 10.—Moving to anticipate any trouble that may arise along the international border from the increase in the number of Mexican federal and rebel troops in Sonora near the Arizona border, Major General William Lassiter, commander of the eighth corps area, late today announced he had ordered a regiment of the infantry from Fort D. A. Russell, Wyoming, to El Paso, Arizona, and the remainder of the seventh cavalry, reinforced by a battalion of field artillery, from Fort Bliss to Hachita, N. M.

General Lassiter's statement follows:

"Information as to the Mexican situation indicates that the weight of the contending forces in Sonora may be greatly increased in the near future. With this increased number of contingents in Sonora, the problem of affording protection on our side of the border becomes increasingly difficult.

Approximately 1,500 men are included in the two movements. They will reinforce the commands stationed at Fort Huachuca and other border points in Arizona, and an air force of 18 attack observation planes that were ordered from San Antonio and Galveston to Fort Huachuca last Saturday.

(By Associated Press)

Testimony about Long's alleged activities in talks with legislators who approved his plans, his influence employed in reorganizing school boards and the alleged dismissal of the head of the state institution which he had just founded today.

Border Town Is Again Back Under Government Rule; Almazan To Arrive With 7,000 Men This Week

JUAREZ, Chihuahua, Mexico, April 10.—(Associated Press)—The administration of the battle-ridden international border town of Juarez was restored today as federal soldiers marched to the city on the heels of the insurgent command of General Jose Gonzalo Escobar, now in flight to Sonora, to make a final stand against the army of General P. Elias Calles.

Only a handful of the once powerful Escobar army remained in the Juarez garrison to surrender tomorrow.

AMERICANS CAPTURED
JUAREZ, Mex., April 10.—(P)—Two American youths, who said they joined the Mexican rebel army "just for the fun of it," were among 40 insurgent soldiers captured near Guadalupe late yesterday by federal soldiers advancing on Juarez.

The youths, Fred Wood, Richmond Hill, Long Island, New York, and Albert Holliday, Amarillo, Texas, were placed in jail with the other rebel captives tonight.

ally the city to General Manuel M. Prieto, who took possession with some 350 soldiers and began conferring to readjust the city government. A new slate of city officials was named.

City Has Reminders
Besides the twenty rebel soldiers and their commander, General Martinez, left in the city, Juarez had reminders of the insurgent occupation: the task of rehabilitating merchants and dealers whose stocks were depleted to replenish supplies of the rebels. All taxables and many other automobiles were confiscated by the insurgents to aid in the retreat to Sonora.

The citizenry held public meetings in front of the customs house and the police stations and were advised by federal army officers that life and property would be protected, and that public service systems would be placed in order as soon as possible.

Shortly after the departure yesterday of General Marcelino Escobar with the last of some 3,000 rebel soldiers to join General Escobar in Sonora, General Marcelino Huerta, former collector of customs, under

Eastland Man Tells Story Of Abduction By Mexican Rebels; Returned Safely

S. E. Gilbert And Companion Have Narrow Escape

(By Associated Press)
EL PASO, Apr. 10.—A tale of abduction by Mexican rebels, of near-starvation in a filthy Mexican prison while a mob outside clamored for his life and of being sentenced to death and then pardoned came from the lips of S. E. Gilbert, 25, an oil company attaché of Eastland, Texas, today.

Gilbert arrived here bedraggled and dirty from a 10-day involuntary sojourn in the heart of the rebel country with a companion whose boast of his prowess as an aviator nearly cost both their lives. Before his eventual trip Gilbert weighed 165 pounds, he said. Today he looked as if he might weigh a scant 140.

Had Little To Eat
"I had exactly four and one-half tortillas, half an apple and half an orange in the ten days they held me," Gilbert said. The worst of it was being sentenced to death. We had a close call and it all came about from my chance companion's boasting."

En route from Eastland to El Paso by automobile for an Easter holiday, Gilbert picked up a man whose name was Butler, he said, and together they went to Juarez on Easter night. There they met a Dr. Kay who learned Butler had been flying for the federales.

Having invited them to spend the night in his quarters in the hotel Rio Bravo since the international bridge was closed this mysterious Dr. Kay took them riding his car. They were taken to a place where Gilbert said, "But instead of heading toward El Paso the car sped south. 'For about 40 miles,' Gilbert said, 'we chased a train and when we caught up with it we were placed aboard and put in the caboose under heavy guard. That's where our serious trouble started.'

"It seemed as if Butler couldn't stop talking about flying for the federales. He told some of the officers we had flown a federal plane over Jimenez and had landed inside the rebel lines. It happened that a few days before a federal plane had bombed Jimenez and a woman and a child were killed. The rebels concluded we were the aviators who had done it. On Thursday we were informed we had been sentenced to death and were to be shot at sunrise Friday. Our arms

Jones Negress Is Granted New Trial

AUSTIN, April 10. (P)—Because the state had failed to prove that Charles Baker died from poisoning the court of criminal appeals today granted a new trial to Mrs. Clyde Baker, the widow, a negress, convicted of murder in Jones county and sentenced to 30 years.

Previously, the court had affirmed the conviction. It granted her motion for a rehearing and ordered the case remanded.

Believing that remarks of the district attorney constituted a "vile and covert appeal to race prejudice," the court reversed the murder conviction of Bennie Blocker, 26 years for killing George Williams, cut after he allegedly slapped Blocker for addressing another negro as "nigger."

Texan Proposes Stabilization Of Cotton Price Bill

Rep. Cross Advocates Fund Of $30,000,000 To Be Used By Department Of Agriculture In Work.

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 10.—A bill to create a $30,000,000 fund to be used by the secretary of agriculture to purchase the surplus cotton crop as a means of cotton price stabilization has been prepared for introduction at the extra session by Representative Cross, democrat, Texas. Mr. Cross, a new member, said he would press for action at that session.

The measure, the Texan explained, would authorize the secretary to purchase midding seven-eighths cotton whenever the price is 18 cents a pound and sell it whenever the price was 21 cents a pound. The bill would provide for higher purchase and sale prices for higher grades of cotton.

By this method Mr. Cross said the price of cotton would be stabilized by taking off the market the surplus during the years of over-production and placing the surplus back on the market during years of under-production.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10.—A crop damage of $55,000,000 in California from frost during the last few days was indicated today with receipt by the state agriculture department of detailed reports of losses. Frost coming at this time dealt what was declared to be the hardest blow ever received by California fruit growers.

Oil Rushed For Relief
Tank cars of oil were rushed by special trains to various districts tonight, to aid orchardists in their fight against further attacks by the ravaging frosts.

Mrs. Gann Wins Temporarily In Social Conflict

Vice-President's Sister To Be Accorded Regular Courtesies; Arrangement Is Temporary, However.

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 10.—By a provisional arrangement, Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, sister and official hostess of Vice-President Curtis, became temporary victor today in the battle for social status in Washington.

The diplomatic corps decided that Mrs. Gann, as the Vice-President's sister, henceforth would be conceded the social position at official and ceremonial diplomatic functions normally given the wife of the vice-president.

The decision transmitted to Secretary of State Stimson, was a result of the Secretary's letter to the corps Tuesday, placing on it the responsibility of determining what place Mrs. Gann would be accorded in entertainments in diplomatic homes.

Former Secretary of State Kellogg had ruled that Mrs. Gann, as the Vice-President's sister, did not have a social status comparable to that of a vice-president's wife, but merely one after the wives of the heads of the foreign missions.

The decision, Mrs. Gann's sister, henceforth would be conceded the social position at official and ceremonial diplomatic functions normally given the wife of the vice-president.

The corps decision emphasized, however, that today's ruling was considered to be only provisional and must be considered as being without prejudice to any final arrangement.

Three Farm Groups United For Relief

Four Principles Presented For Agricultural Measure To Be Given Congress; Issues Are Listed.

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 10.—Three national farm organizations long disagreeing over farm relief proposals, united today in laying before the house agriculture committee four principles they believe should be written into the new agricultural measure.

The proposal, made public by Chairman Hagen of the committee, was in the form of a letter signed by C. E. Huff, president of the Farmer's Educational and Co-operative Union; L. J. Taber, master of the National Grange, and S. H. Thompson, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Price Legislation Not Enough
The three declared that any legislation which stopped short of securing an American price for the farmers' products in order to maintain an American standard of living "will not suffice."

"There are, in our opinion," they added "four requisites which must be met by any legislation to permit it to qualify properly as farm relief."

These requisites were a system to make the tariff effective on all crops so that surpluses would not depress

"Bootlegging Doesn't Pay," Says Man Who Made Millions At It; Goes To Pen

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 10.—Take it from Frank De Mayo, king of the bootleggers of the southwest—it does not pay.

One may get rich selling liquor in defiance of Uncle Sam's laws, but always there is prison ahead, and always there is fear and worry. When the cell doors clanked together behind Frank De Mayo as he entered the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., recently, the receding noise carried the bootlegger king's new message.

Was Carload Dealer
For a dozen years Mr. De Mayo defied government prohibition enforcement officers. He shipped alcohol into Kansas City by the carload and shipped liquor out by the motor truck load in great numbers.

He piled up a million-dollar fortune and laughed at the law. But now the laugh has changed to lines of worry on the face of the rich bootlegger. He is serving two years behind the bars and, when he comes out, another seven-year sentence awaits.

In the long fight to "get" De Mayo, dozens of prohibition enforcement officers were sent to Kansas City by Washington. They worked for years.

It was back in 1922, after De Mayo had graduated from operating a small downtown restaurant into the wholesale bootlegging business, that the government first learned he was the kingpin of the illicit liquor business of Kansas City and the surrounding states. De Mayo already had piled up a comfortable business capital by operating a gambling joint on the outskirts of Camp Funston during the World War.

It was learned he was selling liquor in large lots.

Foils Woman Detective
A woman, working for Uncle Sam, drew up to the curb in front of De Mayo's place, and asked that she and a companion, another operative disguised as a "house" farmer, be permitted to purchase $300 worth of whiskey.

De Mayo, with his usual shrewdness, refused to make the sale but sent out an agent—one of dozens employed by him—who completed the deal.

The agent was arrested. On his person was found some of the $300 in marked currency. One marked bill was found in De Mayo's possession. But a jury let the bootlegger king go when it sentenced the drug dealer.

Then De Mayo opened up a drug store across the street from the federal building here. The government arrested and convicted Bennie Portman, in whose name the store was operated, but again it failed to "get" De Mayo.

Then De Mayo moved to the "south" floor of the Kansas City life building, directly opposite the federal building.

De Mayo's lieutenants were arrested and convicted but the "king" always slipped through the net.

Mrs. Mabel Walker Wilkerson, assistant attorney general, hearing in Washington of the steady flow of liquor from Kansas City into surrounding territory and mobs of dry agents descended upon Kansas City Agents loaded in drug stores and pool halls, frequently by De Mayo workers. Agents sought to buy liquor from De Mayo himself—but always the "king" was too wary.

Then gradually one of the government men, a Greek, began obtaining the confidence of De Mayo. James Komankas, the Greek, looked like a bootlegger and acted like one.

Finally De Mayo sold Komankas 50 gallons of alcohol, a supply counterfeited revenue stamps and several cases of "finished" liquor.

The government began prosecution.

But De Mayo was not whipped yet. He hired the smartest lawyers in Kansas City and in his trial the jury failed to agree.

Four trials were held and each time the jury was unable to agree. It began to appear that the government was beaten.

In the meantime the bootlegger king, an Italian, had applied for naturalization papers. The courts refused the grant him citizenship.

De Mayo had bought a palatial home on a Kansas City boulevard but neighbors refused to become acquainted with his family.

Hired guards accompanied De Mayo wherever he went and often accompanied members of his family. Always there was the fear that "mule men" would kidnap De Mayo or some of his dear ones for ransom.

Then came the surprise. De Mayo walked into court, pleaded guilty and within a half dozen hours started to the Leavenworth prison to serve his sentence.

"You can't beat this game," he said. "I want to do my time and be a free man. No more bootlegging for me."

How much of a private fortune the liquor king has laid away for use when he comes out of prison is a question. It is known, however, that his family remains comfortably cared for in a nice home while he serves his time.

Frank De Mayo... "Bootlegging doesn't pay."

HOW MUCH UP?
LONDON — Wireless waves are the latest things employed to tell an aviator the height he is flying above the ground. A machine sends out a wave to the ground, which rebounds and is picked up again in a series of lights. These lights, varying in color, flash according to the height of the plane above the ground.

Buys Him One Negro Boy Is Given New Automobile

BEAUMONT, April 10. (AP)—Apparently deciding the only way to keep his wayward son out of the penitentiary is to buy him an automobile, a negro father has given his son a car after the boy has served four years on two automobile theft charges.

INTERESTING
LONDON.—Of the strange clubs listed in London, among the strangest is the "Rum Straight club." Its members endeavor to help those who have been in prison keep on the straight and narrow path. One of the strangest schools is a tiny class room near Praed street where bachelors attend whenever they are in the district.

Club's Fund Declared To Be Good Business Proposition; New Directors Are Selected.

The activity of the loan fund account shows a surprising amount of satisfactory collections. Walter S. Posey, vice-president of the First National Bank and treasurer of the loan fund committee of the Rotary club, told the meeting, "It's a wonderful thing to have a part in giving some young men the needed push to get over the hill," he continued.

Hershey, of Haverford, Pa.; Jack Maddox, of Menard, and R. Y. Price, of Olathe, Kan. The students told of how the fund had helped them and other students to continue their studies and, in some instances, assisting several to complete their college courses when otherwise they would not have been permitted to so do.

Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of the Tech; Dean Gordon, Dean William Miller, Dean J. H. Lehigh, as well as Mr. Posey, spoke to the club on the loan fund subject, and a report was made of a number of loans and present condition of the fund. In the absence of Bob Murray, president of the club, Vice-president Jerry J. Clements presided. New members introduced were, Y. J. Aiken, by W. W. Rosally, Dan Daniels, by Charles A. Guy and George Meiner, by J. A. Raley. Five new directors were elected, including, George E. Benson, George W. Dupree, Paul W. Horn, Jack Parsons and Charles A. Guy.

An Airplane Oil For Tractor Use

West Texas (Near Vega) From a Phillips Airplane

A Group of Satisfied Users of Phillips Products

This map shows where Phillips Stations are located

IMAGINE driving your automobile 100 miles an hour for 16 hours without stopping. That's what an airplane engine must do. Only the finest oil can be used or the motor will go to pieces quickly.

The Phillips Petroleum Company uses Phillips tractor oil in their own airplanes which are used by Mr. A. M. Hughes and other company officials. These men have the same confidence in this oil that they want you to have. It's exactly the same oil that is ready for your car or tractor at any Phillips station. It warms up quickly, and fully lubricates in both hot and cold weather.

The picture at the top shows E. H. Simpson, H. D. Hill, O. J. Frazier, Geo. J. Rempel and their boys all seated on their farm machinery. These men all live in the neighborhood of Vega and Hereford, Texas. All of them use Phillips products.

This spring E. H. Simpson broke 220 acres of land with a gang plow. All of this land was worked over 3 times and 80 acres 4 times, ready for the drill. His total fuel and lubricating cost was 30c an acre. He used Phillips kerosene and oil. Many other west Texas farmers report great savings and complete satisfaction in using Phillips products. Write or talk to the Phillips agent when you need oil, kerosene or gasoline. They are quality products.

Tech Baseball Team Leaves For Series At Big Spring

IN THE REALM OF SPORTS

WITH ALLAN CARNEY
Avalanche Sports Editor

THE HEROES RETURN

The Athens High school sports national basketball champions, will return home Friday, after giving the greatest demonstration that a high school basketball team ever put on in the cage classic at the University of Chicago. Coach Jimmy Kitts' raring team has never before been accompanied by a basketball team from the Lone Star State.

A mammoth demonstration is awaiting the conquering heroes home town band and all the sirens in the city will blast forth their welcome when the six-footers arrive from the Windy City. The Athens are proud of the Hornets and well they might be. In winning the national title the Athens boys brought fame to Texas and even more to the East Texas city. Metropolitan newspapers in centers where the populace had never heard of an Athens, Texas, blared forth with glowing headlines about the brilliant performance of the Texas lads.

Jimmy Kitts directed his team to the championship over cage champions from thirty-three states, including the cream of the high school cage players. The superior height of the Hornets gave them an edge over the majority of the teams entered in the national meet. An uncanny overhead passing game did the rest. It was evident when the Athens team made its single appearance in Lubbock that the cage players were extending themselves to defeat the local high school five. But their playing was of championship caliber. Even the casual observer could see that here was a team that was destined to go somewhere.

MAY BE DIFFERENT

Tech baseballers had an easy time bowling over the Spur High school lads in their first practice game Tuesday afternoon but are likely to meet altogether different competition today when they tackle Big Spring of the West Texas League in the first of a two-game series. The Matadors apparently are to have strong pitching this season and if the sluggers come through as they should, the locals are almost certain to have a first class baseball club.

Coach Higginbotham has in Hobson a hurler that has all the earmarks of a first class moundman. Coming to the Matador squad for the first time this season, the young right-hander appears likely to develop into a winning pitcher under the tutelage of the Tech coach. Higginbotham was once a pitcher of no mean class himself and is capable of teaching his slabsmen plenty of tricks. Both Hobson and McCrary are newcomers on the Tech squad destined to go somewhere on the mound for the locals. Both have had considerable experience and should win their share of games for the Tech aggregation this season.

The Tech outfield this season is well fortified from every angle. Dewitt, Marshall, Brothers, and Hopper are all first class ball hawks and can swat the well-known pellet often and hard. Coach Higginbotham's gardeners are likely to furnish the batting punch for the collection this season. Dewitt and Marshall led the team on the spur aggregation Tuesday with home runs while Brothers had a perfect day at bat with three free passes.

Local fans will get their first opportunity to see the Matador nine in action next Tuesday when the Daniel Baker Hill Billies come here for a three game series. The Goats are probably the strongest team Tech will meet this season. Early games have marked them as dangerous contenders for the T. I. A. crown.

United States Ryder Cup Golf Team Sails For England Wednesday

Matadors Meet Class D Club In First Tilt Today

Two Game Series With West Texas League Team Will Give Locals First Test Of Season.

Fourteen Tech baseballers together with Coach Grady Higginbotham will leave at an early hour this morning for Big Spring where today and tomorrow the Matador nine will cross bats with the West Texas League club of that city.

Four pitchers and one extra infielder are included in the squad making the first trip of the season. The tilt with the Big Springs aggregation will furnish the first real test for the college crew. The locals made a race track out of the Tech diamond Tuesday afternoon in bowling over Spur High school, but are expecting tough sledding against the professional outfit.

Coach Higginbotham was unable to announce last night his choice for starting mound duty in the first game today. It will probably lie between Hill and Howell with Hobson a possibility.

Following is the squad that will make the trip. Catchers, Hodges and Burnett; infielders, Taylor, Rigney, Waller, Rainwater and Peterson; outfielders, Brothers, Dewitt and Marshall; pitchers, Hill, Howell, Hobson and McCrary.

Pavement Peggars Reach Waynesburg

WAYNEBURG, Pa. April 10. (P)—The eleventh day of pavement pounding today brought C. C. Pyle's cross-country pedestrians to this southwestern Pennsylvania town, with Paul Simpson of Burlington, N. C., leading the pack to the line. He jogged the Union-Waynesburg installment of 33 miles in four hours, 46 minutes and ten seconds.

The lead in elapsed time was retained by Ed Gardner, Seattle Negro, who finished in a tie for third place with Pete Garuzzi of England. His elapsed time now stands at 68.

BUD TAYLOR BEATEN PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 10. (P)—Young Montreal veteran Providence featherweight, scored a decision over Bud Taylor of Terre Haute in a 10-round bout here tonight. Montreal outsmarted and outboxed Taylor, scoring effectively with a left jab.

Bargain Days For Fair Sex Bring Fame To Chicago Fight Promoter With New Stadium

Chicago's stadium with inset of Paddy Harmon.

BY ROY GIBBONS Staff Writer for Central Press and the Avalanche

CHICAGO, April 10.—Take a tip from the ladies. Paddy Harmon has the lovely ladies—they're both enchanting and "edifying." Paddy will tell you that too.

To the tune of beaucoup millions Paddy has learned about winning. To them he attributes practically all his success, as an entrepreneur extraordinary by appointment to his majesty the sporting public.

Paddy, or more properly, P. T. Harmon, as a promoter, has been staging events for the Roman multitude since the days of the bicycle for two when he introduced the six-day classic hereabouts.

And now he has risen to glory. His life's ambition has come true. This is in the form of the new Chicago stadium, seating 25,000 and costing, so they say, seven million iron men.

Within this amphitheater the other night, and under Paddy's tutelage, the gentlemen Tommy Loughran and Mickey Walker had a go at each other with fistfuls for the lightweight championship of the world.

But if it hadn't been for the women, there might never have been such a bout—indeed, the resplendent new stadium, itself, might never have been built.

And this is how the ladies enter the picture. Paddy started out in life as a newboy. All successful men have been at some time or other in their early careers. And then upward in the battle for success, Paddy learned one thing well and he never forgot it. It was this: If you want to succeed—if you want to make a go of your business—you'll have to please the ladies first.

Paddy, figuring by ex-cology, reasoned it hadn't been so very long ago since little Lillie Storchel, the Louis Browns bunched five hits, including a homer by Jenkins, for five runs in the fifth inning and took the first game of a two game exhibition series with the Tulsa Oilers of the Western League here today 5 to 3.

RAIN STOPS INDIAN SAN ANTONIO, April 10. (P)—Rain and hail prevented baseball activities here today, and the fans were deprived of opportunity of seeing the San Antonio Indians in action in the Texas League opening game here next Wednesday with the Waco Cubs.

CUB-BUFFS DEADLOCKED HOUSTON, Apr. 10.—(P)—The Chicago Cubs and Houston Buffs of the Texas League battled to a four tie today, the game being called at the start of the fifteenth inning on account of darkness.

CHICAGO .003 001 000 000 00—4 2 Houston .010 003 000 000 00—4 7 Malone, Holley and Grace, Gonzalez, Freeze, Clough and Abbott.

BOGGS LEADS STEERS DALLAS, Apr. 10.—(P)—Dusty Boggs, demon utility man, laced a brace of doubles and a single to lead the Dallas Steers to a 9 to 1 victory today over the Lone Star Gassers, Texas amateur champions.

Lone Star .010 000 000—10 3 Dallas .110 000 100—9 12 Batteries: Victor, Harris and Price; Schuman and Mealey.

PIRATES SWEEP SERIES SHREVEPORT, Apr. 10.—(P)—Bartlett's home run with two on base in the seventh sewed up today's game for Pittsburgh and gave the Pirates a clean sweep of the two game series with Detroit 10 to 6.

Detroit .030 021 000—6 9 0 Pittsburgh .000 101 000—10 12 1 Sorrell, Olson, Page and Hargrave; Petty, Dawson and Hargrave.

YANKS DEFEAT BARONS BIRMINGHAM, April 10. (P)—The Yankees defeated the Birmingham Barons of the Southern Association 10 to 6 to before 8,000 fans here today.

New York (A) .003 030 103—10 16 2 Birmingham SA .010 110 300—6 12 0 Hoyt, Wells, and Dickey, Graoorski, Monell, W. Cooper, Love and Cooper Yaryan.

ATLANTA 6; BROOKLYN 2 ATLANTA, April 10. (P)—Two evenly matched ball teams met here today when Brooklyn squared off against Atlanta of the Southern Association, but the home team managed to win an exciting game 4 to 2. The victory of the Crackers gave them an even division of the two game series.

Brooklyn (N) .100 000 010—2 11 3 Atlanta (SA) .002 010 100—4 10 Dudley, Elliott and Deberry; Keifer and Lopez.

BLACKBERRY STARS FOR CUBS WACO, April 10. (P)—Geo. Blackberry made his 1929 debut with the Waco Cubs today and due mainly to his free hitting the Cubs won a 11 to 10 victory over the Fort Worth Cats.

The outfielder smacked out three singles all of which figured in the Cubs scoring, his final hit sending in the deciding run in the ninth. Fort Worth .003 070 000—10 12 4 Waco .230 010 023—11 15 4 Phillips, Devaney, Haynes and Baker; Gallivan, Polan, Brancheau and Loebe.

Lubbock To Have Four Club City Baseball League

Club Managers Perfect Plans at Meeting for Even Number of Teams; Season to Open May 14.

Plans for a four club City Baseball League in Lubbock were formulated at a meeting of club managers and league officials last night when final measures for the perfection of the twilight loop were taken. Failure of the two additional clubs to appear caused the action to be taken by the four teams present.

J. A. Raley, Jr. was named president of the local organization to succeed Allan Carney, resigned. Mr. Raley is one of Lubbock's leading baseball enthusiasts and is well versed in baseball rules and regulations. The newly elected president will take over the duties of promoting the loop immediately.

According to plans drawn up last night the four club league will be guided by a schedule in which four games per week will be played. This will give each team two games per week and allow each to see the other in action.

May 14 was selected as the opening date of the season. Games will be played on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of each week. A benefit contest between the Auto-Barbers and Carpenter-Painters has been set for next Sunday afternoon. These two clubs have tangled on several occasions during the training season and promise the fans a red hot battle. Proceeds from this tilt will go toward getting Merrill Park in shape for the opening of the season next month.

Schemling Likely To Fight In June West Texas High League Is Opened

(Special to the Avalanche) POST, April 10.—Five high schools of this section have formed a West Texas High School baseball league with a twenty game schedule. The following high school teams will be represented in the new organization: Spur, Roby, Rotan, Hamlin and Post.

Each team will play eight games during the abbreviated season. These games will be played on Tuesday and Friday of each week the season closing May 14. The winner will be awarded a loving cup by a Waco sporting goods house.

The schedule follows: April 9—Post at Spur; Hamlin at Roby; April 12—Roby at Post, Spur at Rotan; April 16—Rotan at Roby; Post at Hamlin; April 23—Hamlin at Rotan; Roby at Spur; April 26—Rotan at Post; Spur at Hamlin; April 30—Spur at Post; Roby at Hamlin; May 3—Post at Roby; Rotan at Spur; May 7—Roby at Rotan; Hamlin at Post; May 10—Rotan at Hamlin; Spur at Roby; May 14—Post at Rotan; Hamlin at Spur.

SPUDS WILL MEET SPORTS

WICHITA FALLS, April 10. (P)—Elmer George Payne or Milt Steen-grafe, veteran right handers, will occupy the mound for the Spudders in the Texas League opener against Shreveport next Wednesday. Manager Jim Galloway said today.

WIN NO-HIT-NO-RUN

MCKINNEY, April 10. (P)—The first no-hit, no-run game of the current baseball season in Texas was chalked up here today by Dickenson of the McKinney high school as he pitched his mates to a 11 to 0 victory over Highland Park of Dallas.

Neolithic flapper, sat applauding on a rock while before her on the green sward and purely for her edification and delight, two Pittsdown swains from a neighboring cave were going themselves to death with battle axes made of mastodon teeth just for the favor of her smile.

With that in mind and reasoning by Darwinian processes, Paddy figured that if he could get the ladies all steamed up on a bicycle race, a fight or any other sporting episode, then the ladies would drag mere husbands and such like for the entertainment later on.

Paddy's strategy must have been sound because he has gone gallumphing up the ladder of fame and success with no more to hold to than his petticoated hunch that unless you please the ladies, regardless of the business it's curtains and bankruptcy with plenty of red ink splashed over the ledgers.

So early in the game he started having free afternoon sessions and just as he expected the women used the free seats and then phoned their husbands that the show was so grand that they were staying down for the night sessions, too. Whereupon, any husband as in duty bound, just had to come down, buy a ticket and watch the show.

"If you want to run a business you've got to have a sale. That's why the department stores make so much money," Paddy says. "Women just love bargains and I've found that if you can attract the women that the men will come crowding after just as naturally as clockwork. No business can succeed unless you build it on feminine patronage."

Paddy failure to fill the new hall for the Loughran-Walker fight might be attributed to his failure to adhere to the bargain sale policy. Possibly lured by the tales of Tex Rickard's success with $25 and $40 seats, Paddy put top prices for the light heavyweight title "away up there." The result was that the ladies nor their husbands went shopping for front row tickets.

The Nut Cracker

By Joe Williams

People who believe there are no more cannibals should go see a game of water polo.

IN A RECENT GAME IN THE EAST ONE OF THE PLAYERS BIT AN ADVERSARY BECAUSE HE WAS HOLDING HIM UNDER THE WATER. IN EXPLAINING THE BIT THE PLAYER SAID HE PINCHED THE OTHER GUY FIRST AND THAT DIDN'T SEEM TO WORK SO HE SANK HIS BICIPEDS INTO THE ENEMY'S HAND.

The game is copied from a Boston bull dog's sportive way with a Persian kitten. It has been taken up rather widely by man-eating sharks, swordfish, lobsters and crabs.

But there is a code of conduct among the players. If a man pinches you, while you're holding him under water, that's a sign he is drowning and you're supposed to shove off and see if he comes up.

Water polo coaches are drawing considerable criticism from some of the fans. The mentors want to alter the rule and make it a foul to swallow a player's arm or leg after it has been bitten off.

SAINTS DOWN BILLIES

ST. EDWARDS TAKES FIRST OF SERIES, 5 TO 3.

BROWNWOOD, April 10. (P)—St. Edwards University won the first of a two-game series from the Daniel Baker Hill Billies today 5 to 3. Homers by J. James, Rivera and W. James accounted for four of the Saint's counters.

Unsets Feature Amateur Tourney

PINEHURST, N. C., April 10. (P)—Unsets were the order today in the North and South amateur golf tournament and three of the favored failed to survive the first round.

Eddie Held of New York, former Public Links champion, was defeated in an extra hole-match by B. P. Merriman of Waterbury, Conn., a former North and South champion, on the 15th green.

Eugene Homans of Englewood, N. J., Princeton star, lost to Richard Wilson of Pinehurst and Georgetown University after a match that took 21 holes to decide.

C. Ross Somerville, Canadian champion, was the victim of a scintillating sport by John D. Chapman of Greenwich, Conn. Chapman came home in 34, to round out a 70, two strokes under par and win by two up.

FOR SUFFERING HUMANITY

Much is being said and done regarding suffering humanity. There possibly may be more said than done, but it takes a good deal of talk sometimes to get things started. However the last session of the legislature seemed to have started something, but failed to complete the job. In other words they gave their consent for certain things to be done, but did not leave the wherewithal to do it. We refer to the establishment of an institution for the treatment of the diseases that are taking a heavy toll of human life. Cancer and pellagra are taking increased toll annually, and deserve to have the attention of the state medical authorities, and it would be far from any tax payer to complain at paying taxes to establish and maintain an institution of this kind. The legislature passed a resolution for the establishment of an institution of this kind somewhere in Texas, but they did not locate it, nor did they hang up a purse full of money to buy a site and put in buildings and equipment and maintain the institution. It seems to be a kind of a habit with the lawmakers to do things like this. Some years ago a resolution of a psychiatric hospital was authorized but nothing has been done about it because the Legislature uniformly finds it easier to build institutions on paper than on the ground. Both matters will be brought before the special session when it convenes this month, but in view of treasury conditions, present and prospective, it is doubtful if appropriations for either will be made. The establishment of this institution would doubtless be of inestimable value in the cure of pellagra and in the treatment and further study of cancer. It seems that a cure for pellagra has really been discovered, or at least a number of claims have been made to that effect. At any rate the cure for that disease is much nearer solution than a remedy for cancer. Cancer ranks with tuberculosis as the two most dreaded diseases not yet conquered. More people die from heart trouble than from either cancer or pellagra, or perhaps both. But in most cases the only remedy for heart trouble, according to medical authority, is rest and the common sense conduct of the patient himself. The truth is that with proper care most of us may live to a good old age. But most of us, by indiscretions innumerable, and by downright sins against bodily integrity, shorten the normal period of life materially. The average human constitution is good for a hundred years if it has a chance to function unhampered by indiscretions and bodily sins. Over-eating is one of the prime causes of premature death. Bad cooking is another, and when both are imposed upon the same individual, we need not expect long life. Fast living in many forms brings on ill health and ultimately early death. But this institution for curing pellagra and treating and studying cancer is a very humane enterprise. Sooner or later a real cure or preventive will be discovered for cancer. If it is a germ disease, the germ has never been isolated. If it is a matter of nutrition or malnutrition some prophylactic measure will be originated that will prevent its development in many cases and make it curable in many more. While the institution will cost the state heavily, it may be far cheaper to expend the required amount than to permit these diseases to take the ordinary course of inefficient treatment and the continued increase of both troubles. If, eventually, the institution should prove successful in discovering a cure for cancer, it will be worth a million times more than its costs, and Texas will go down in history as the greatest benefactor in legislative ventures.

OUR NATIONAL OPPORTUNITY

What will posterity think of the present generation? Will we be accorded a certain measure of honor and respect because of something we accomplished by the generations that are to come?

Ralph Hayes, prominent New York banker, in a speech upon this subject before an Eastern bankers' conference recently, was not at all optimistic. He frankly stated that he did not expect this generation to be given a very high rating by unemotional historians.

To architectural forms we added the skyscraper—potentially both beautiful and utilitarian. But we shall rate the condemnation of our descendants for having clustered these towers so closely and having so disregarded the leaving of sufficient space about them for light and circulation as to make existence in our dense urban centers harsh and difficult and perhaps eventually intolerable.

To art we gave futurism and the comic strip. To music our contribution was jazz. Our drama reached its apex of appeal in "Abie's Irish Rose." Our noblest political gesture was to give the drys all the laws they could write and to the wets all the liquor they could drink.

"Our administration of justice attained its popular pinnacle when we transformed a succession of criminal proceedings and divorce scandals into a series of hippodrome spectacles. We built machines so mammoth and so numerous that they turned on us and became our masters. In our frenzied rush to make a good living we were not much concerned about making a good life."

Naturally there will be many who will contend that this summation and judgment is harsh and unfair. However, it is rather difficult to advance some work of the present as worthy commemoration through the ages. Some might point to our progress toward permanent peace as something for which this age will be remembered. But have we accomplished much along that line? We have the unsupported signatures of a number of nations outlawing war as an instrument of national policy. It is for the future to develop an adequate substitute for war and perfect it. Former President Coolidge is authority for the declaration that peace is not to count with the present generation.

However, despite the prophecy of the former president, this seems to offer more toward winning a place in history than any of our many endeavors. If we are able to lay the foundations for an enduring peace we shall have done something meriting praise on through the ages. That is our great opportunity. It is to be hoped it will be fulfilled.

A Washington Bystander

STEWART THINKS STIMSON'S JOB WILL BE MAINLY TAKING ORDERS

(The twelfth and last of a series of word portraits of members of President Hoover's cabinet.)

By CHARLES F. STEWART
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Apr. 10.—"Please, Mr. Secretary, go through the motions of signing your name," said about two dozen newspaper photographers to Col. (another cabinet member) Henry L. Stimson the other day, following the colonel's wearing-in as head of the state department.

The new secretary obligingly picked up a pen and trailed it across a blotter, while the cameramen (movie and still) shot pictures galore of the operation.

Cynical folk say it was a significant ceremony. The impression in Washington is that President Hoover means to be "his own secretary of state." Even so, somebody else has to wear the title and "go through the motions."

Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg, who stepped out as Colonel Stimson stepped in, had an official mind of his own. He may have made mistakes but he was no rubber stamp.

He had opinions and policies. President Coolidge occasionally overruled him, but he acted on his individual initiative in the first place. For instance, he nearly got us into war with Mexico. The president stopped him at the last minute; nevertheless he did require stopping.

The other members of President Hoover's cabinet are specialists in their various lines of business.

Secretary of War Good and Postmaster General Brown supposedly were given their portfolios because they are more experienced politicians than Mr. Hoover himself and he needs them, to advise him.

The president not only asks Attorney General Mitchell to solve his legal problems for him, but does as Mitchell tells him to do.

Nobody understands financial technique like Secretary Mellon.

Secretary of the Navy Adams is a practical sailorman, and Secretary of Labor Davis carries a union card.

Secretary of Commerce Lamont is perhaps as able an engineer as his chief. Secretary of the Interior Wilbur's department deals, among other things, with education—and Dr. Wilbur is one of the foremost educators in the world. Secretary of Agriculture Hyde may not know how to relieve the farmers; however, neither does Mr. Hoover. He says frankly that he is leaving that to Congress.

All the cabinet members are in a position to make suggestions to the president—to explain matters to him that they are better acquainted with than he is.

With foreign affairs he is far more familiar than Secretary Stimson. Seemingly the latter's job will be simply to obey orders.

The colonel is a peppy-appearing individual. He has an air of extraordinary vigor. When Chief Justice Taft swore him in he shouted "I do" in a tone that made the rafters ring. This impression he gave was that the words "I do" amounted to a very original utterance.

The new secretary is lean and extremely erect—solidly.

He smiles a fixed, mechanical smile, with no particular mirth in it. He and retiring Secretary Kellogg, lined up alongside, presented a decided contrast.

Kellogg is very small and puckered-up. He looks like a 70-year-old man.

Stimson does not look his 60-odd. Without being especially tall, he makes the most of all the stature he does possess.

Kellogg is sentimental. He cried.

Stimson is the hard-boiled type—as if thunder-screws could not wring a tear out of him.

The colonel spent his first few days, just back from the Philippines, as President Hoover's guest at the White House, which is a great honor—but pretty hard work maybe.

The president, according to executive office chat, gave him a mighty intensive course of training in his secretarial duties.

That, of course, was the idea back of the invitation.

It was not a purely social visit. Official business was its main purpose.

Incidentally the colonel had to get up an hour or two ahead of his usual time in the morning, to play medicine ball with his host, Secretary Wilbur, Doc Boone and other members of Mr. Hoover's athletic cabinet.

Stimson was to have stayed a week at the executive mansion, as originally scheduled, but he cut it short by several days, for some reason or other, and moved into a hotel—until he has time to rent a home of his own and set up housekeeping with his family.

Query—Had he had about as much of the White House as he could stand, for one while?

TYING KNOTS IN STRING IS POOR CURE

FOR WARTS

By DR. MORRIS FISHER

Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Some people believe that warts can be removed by tying as many knots in string as there are warts on the hands and then burying the string at midnight in the light of the moon.

There are as many charms and magical formulas for the removal of warts as there are different races and tribes of human beings. All of these charms are based on the fact that warts sometimes disappear without any treatment whatever, going away as mysteriously as they have come.

Cause Unknown

The exact cause of warts is not definitely known. Some people believe that they have their origin in a nerve stimulus to the skin, others that they are associated with the action of some special germ.

All of the cures of warts that involve burying something at a distance or the reciting of charms of one sort or another are relics of the days when people believed in magic.

Among English country people warts are cured by touching them with stones, peas, rags and so on, and then throwing the substance away or burying it at a crossroad where the chance of someone else picking up the disease is good.

Bacon Treatment

In Cheshire, warts are rubbed with a piece of bacon and the bacon is then put under the bark of an ash tree. The villagers believe that the warts will appear as knots on the tree.

Modern scientific medicine gets rid of warts either by destroying the blood supply through the use of the electric needle, after which the wart will fall off; by treating the wart with the X-ray, or by the application of strong acids which burn away the extra tissue.

TOO MUCH, IF ANY

The Spatts had been at it again.

"And furthermore," said Mrs. Spatt, concluding her long tirade, "you certainly aren't much of a husband."

"Well, my dear," her husband retorted, wearily, "I can truthfully say you are a lot of wife."—TIT-BITS.

Blame It On The Two Black Crows

SO THINK WE

We think this is a time when the average home owner does not appreciate so much as he used to do around the house in order to keep up with the requirements required by the year. If a fellow does not plant something to grow around the premises, weeds will come along and make him work anyway.

We think it a mighty unkind example for a fellow to go to work in his yard every morning and evening on both sides of us. There is a friend on one side making his yard look nice, and there is Foster across the street working like a real yard builder and landscaper, and poor "we" just has to make a showing or else. A fellow should be very careful where he locates a home. Our advice would be to always find a location where everything looks ragged and weeds are growing like a weed. A fellow who is everlastingly working in the yard, for it means that you will everlastingly have to be at it.

We think people just can't be prominent any more without getting into some sort of mix up. Even the mother of Almeda is getting used to a big sum of money on an alleged heartbalm proposition.

We think business will be picking up again in the news columns. Congress reconvenes in a called session Monday, and then the Texas legislature comes along for a spell beginning on the 22nd of April in a special session.

We think that sudden prosperity is one of the best tests of human intelligence.

We think there are no wise South Plains farmers who will let this promise of farm relief interfere with their regular program of work on the farm. It might not be a prudent thing to do. We have known the matter of farm relief to fail to believe, and then the farmers might be in a rather bad plight.

We think that New York policemen who took a shot at a fleeing thief and shot himself in the arm should be commended for his bravery and shot of the gun club here, and he would have some records to show at.

We think these counties down on the coast find that they can get some mighty good ideas of progress from the fellows of the South Plains. The Big Spring dairy farmers association sent a large representation of dairy farmers over to Plainville to get some first hand information about dairying, and we imagine they got some valuable pointers, too.

We think there is one thing that air transportation will not have to bother about and that is the rail crossings, and if all of the deaths and accidents at the rail crossings had been charged up on one side of the ledger, and the accidents by planes on the other side there will be a considerable balance in favor of the air rides.

We think the insurance companies are straining a point when they ask every applicant for insurance if he or she have ever ridden in a plane or ever expect to. Why don't they ask them if they have ever ridden in an automobile or ever intend to.

We think the physician who said that the secret of health is the eating of onions, certainly needs to explain a lot, about that statement and the first thing we would like for him to explain is how a fellow can eat onions and still keep it a secret.

PUBLIC OPINION

TAX RECORD BROKEN

1927 a new world record in the amount of Federal taxes paid in the year. It was 12 percent of our national income. A two percent increase since 1923. It is believed that when the statistics for 1928 are gathered we will have definitely exceeded this former high mark. Tax records, unlike other records, seldom outlast their year. An interesting phase of affairs is that the increase in taxes can mainly be laid at the doors of state and local units of government. Federal taxes have kept fairly constant.

The solution, if we can find one, must deal with the unprecedented generosity—or perhaps prodigality—of legislators and state and municipal office holders.

Progress, of course, costs money and civic and state spirit that wants to do out everything ever done before is more or less commendable but community expenditures for luxuries and non-essentials may easily bury the tax payer under a mound of indebtedness that will make progress impossible.

This applies to the state of Texas and the county and city of Lubbock as well, and I as a taxpayer very forcefully this weighty burden. Still there are those among us who are constantly, consciously or unconsciously, urging us to increase this weighty burden, whether it be an absolute necessity or luxurious ambition, a matter for each individual citizen and tax payer to reason out for him or herself.

PRESS COMMENT

ANTARCTIC WEATHER

New York Evening Post: For those whose interest in Arctic or Antarctic expeditions is tempered by a feeling that they are of no practical value Sir Hubert Wilkins has some interesting things to say in a recent issue of the Southern Hemisphere. It is his idea that the establishment of 12 weather observation stations in the Antarctic and the sub-Antarctic will enable scientists to predict with 50 per cent accuracy general weather conditions in the countries of the Southern Hemisphere.

That this is not an altogether imaginary development for future meteorological studies is proved by the experience of the Argentine government. A station it has maintained in the Antarctic for 23 years has made observations which show a distinct relationship between weather conditions at that point and those in Australia, California, Egypt, India and Argentina. With 12 scattered stations Sir Hubert feels that a far more comprehensive idea of the weather conditions throughout the South will be obtained.

At all events a plan to put the theory to the test has been made which involves the expenditure of $10,000,000 over a 10-year period. It has received the endorsement of the world's leading meteorologists, sympathetic support of the government concerned and it is certainly an experiment worth making. For how ever improbable it may be that we shall ever learn to forecast weather with absolute accuracy, everything which tends to increase our efficiency in this respect is tremendously to the world of agriculture and commerce.

THIS HAS HAPPENED
"HANDSOME HARRY" BORDEN is shot between one and four o'clock Saturday afternoon. RUTH LESTER, his secretary, finds his body Monday morning sprawled beneath the arched window of his private office.

McMANN, detective sergeant, questions Ruth, MRS. BORDEN Borden's estranged wife and the mother of his two children; RITA DUBOIS, night club dancer, with whom Borden was infatuated; and JACK HAYWARD, Ruth's fiancé, whose office is across the narrow hallway from Borden's.

McMANN's belief in Jack's guilt is strengthened by his discovery that Jack's Colt .38 is missing; by Jack's own admission that he returned to the seventh floor Saturday afternoon and by the testimony of ELEVATOR BOYS MICKY MORAN and OTTO FLETCHER. BILL COWAN, Jack's friend, unwillingly tells McMANN he heard Jack threaten Borden's life Saturday morning.

JAKE BAILEY, Borden's bodyguard, is sent for. Meanwhile McMANN questions BENNY SMITH, Borden's office boy; ASHLEY, his man servant; MINNIE CASSIDY and LETTY MILLER, seventh floor scrubwomen; and CLEO GILMAN Borden's discarded mistress, who gives an ironical alibi. MARTHA MANNING, mother of Borden's illegitimate son, is visited by Ruth's own detective work. McMANN questions her mercifully about her relationship with Borden. She tells McMANN she called on Borden last on Friday night after following him and JAKE BAILEY, his bodyguard, into the building. She says she climbed the stairs to the seventh floor and saw Borden after Jake's departure. McMANN tells her she is lying and calls in Jake Bailey, waiting outside, to prove it.

his head toward Martha Manning. "I come up all right and we set here awhile, chavin' the rag—told me about this dancin' baby he was gonna take to Winter Haven with him Saturday if he could get her boys to let her off."

"How long were you with Borden?"

"Oh, 'bout half an hour, I guess." Jake answered readily. "I didn't have nothin' to do but kill time before my train left—9:24, that was. Must a-been 'round nine when I beat it—sure, that's when it was! Light-fifty-five! I remember askin' the elevator man what time it was, when he showed his book me so s'kin out. They make you write down the time and your name and the office you've been in."

"Please, Mr. McMann, may I ask a question?" Ruth spoke for the first time since Jake Bailey had entered the room. "I've just been wonderin' how Mr. Borden got in to his office since he'd given his key to Rita Dubois Friday afternoon and never did give it back."

"That's right!" McMann agreed, rather ungraciously. He did not enjoy having been caught napping. "How did Borden get in, Jake?"

"Check kid!" and Jake touched his forehead in a salute to Ruth. "Harry didn't remember till he got to his door that he didn't have a key and since I never had one myself he had to hunt up one of the old s'nes that cleans the office to let him in with her passkey. He couldn't find the old lady that took care of his office regular and had to prove who he was by showing a letter with his name on it to the woman I scouted around and found for him."

"Humm! Letty Miller, I suppose. She is the only other cleaning woman on the floor." McMann commented, as he made a note. "Where did you find her?"

"Down the hall," Bailey answered promptly. "Said she was not acquainted with the tenants on this corridor and was just helpin' out the old lady who belongs on this part of the floor."

"For the first time in many minutes McMann addressed a question to Martha Manning. "Did you see this scrubwoman yourself, Miss Manning?"

The contralto voice was quite ready. "No. As I told you before, I saw no one. I was alone while I waited for—this man"—and she nodded scornfully toward Jake Bailey—"to leave, and no one but myself was in the hall when I left after seeing Mr. Borden. The scrubwoman who admitted Mr. Borden must have finished her work on this corridor before I had walked up the stairs."

McMann's peremptory command seemed the lightest to obey. "You realize, Miss Manning, said to the now calm, but burning-eyed woman, "that if Letty Miller tells me she was working on this corridor while you claim you were in it your story will be blown sky-high?"

"You're not afraid of anything that this Letty Miller may say," Martha Manning retorted scornfully, for I am telling the truth. I was here—I did wait until—this man had left, I did have a talk with Mr. Borden—"

"Say!" Jake Bailey burst out, regardless of McMann's injunction. "Where were you? You wasn't in no hall when I come out of here to take the elevator—"

"No, I wasn't. I was behind the stairway door, holding it slightly ajar and watching you," Miss Manning assured him with cool triumph.

"Say!" Jake Bailey turned to McMann. "You got the goods on that dame, ain't you?—and she's trying to lie out of it, ain't she? You got proof she was in Harry's office, and she's trying to make you believe it was Friday night she was here and not Saturday? That's right, ain't it?"

McMann grinned wryly. "Substantially correct, Jake. We've got her fingerprints, left sometime between Friday afternoon and Monday morning on the glass panel of that door between the two offices. Miss Manning insists that those fingerprints were made on Friday night, that she followed you and Borden into the building, walked up the stairs, waited at the head of them on the seventh floor until you left Borden and then immediately knocked on Borden's door. Counting on his thinking it was you, returned for a last word."

"Heif!" Bailey spat contemptuously. "Claims Borden let her in—pretty and polite as you please, does she? Ho! Not Harry! Not this dame! He's as soon let a wildcat in—"

"Mr. Borden carelessly opened the door, wide, thinking it was you," Martha answered him, calmly. "Mister Bailey, you've just told Mr. McMann that you kept a sharp eye out for me and that you did not see me again after Christmas Eve. That's correct, isn't it?"

The man glared at her. "Well—what of it?"

"I couldn't have passed very close to you on the street without your seeing me?" she persisted.

"Then"—the lovely contralto voice vibrated with triumph. "I think I can convince both you and Mr. McMann that I watched you from the head of the stairs on Friday night!"

Abrupt Changes In Speculation Treat Wall Street Rough

Day Sees Many Losses When Bulls Fail To Attract Sentiment; Call Remains At Ten Per Cent.

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, April 10 (AP)—The stock market was buffeted about by abrupt changes in speculative sentiment today, as the bull forces were unable to attract a public following, in the face of a repetition of yesterday's 10 per cent. call money.

A sharp rally near the close reversed many of the day's losses, and left the list generally somewhat higher, although presenting a very uneven picture. Total sales fell off toward the 3,000,000 share level.

Time Money Stays
Call money renewed at 8 per cent. and mounted to 10 with moderate selling of loans. Time money showed no signs of descending from its perch of 8 per cent.

Business news accounted for some of the erratic shifts in sentiment. Although the U. S. Steel Corporation reported unfilled orders as of March 31, 266,377 tons higher than on Feb. 28, the steel trade reviews injected a note of uncertainty.

An upturn in crude oil production last week, cancelling the previous week's decrease, was balanced by reports that gasoline consumption was getting into its spring upturn. Merger of Marland and Continental was reported as nearing consummation. Copper smelters again reduced the price of copper about 2 cents a pound bringing it around 20 cent level.

Speculative confidence was unsettled by a number of sharp breaks during the forenoon. Kolster Radio dropped nearly 13 points to a new low at 31, in contrast to the 1928 high of 73-3-4, in selling attributed to weakened margin accounts. It regained about half its loss in short covering. Hugg Motors broke about 3 points to a new 1929 low. Wright tumbled 13 1-2 points, but regained its loss after its favorable report on first quarter operations.

Steel Is Slow
U. S. Steel was slow in responding to the unfilled orders report issued at noon, but promoted the general rally in the last half hour with a jump of more than 4 points. Steel generally were firm.

Merchandise and office equipment shares were strong. Underwood, Elliott, Fisher, Burroughs, Montgomery Ward, and Sears Roebuck mounted about 3 to 5 points. Commodities were inclined to heaviness, cotton losing from 60 cents to 42.35 a bale in profit taking, and grain sagging on the government crop report.

LAND IS TERRACED
Total of 1200 Acres Put Under Work In Howard

BIG SPRING, April 10.—During February and March a total of 1,200 acres of Howard county land was terraced and conserved for moisture conservation, under the supervision of J. V. Bush, county agricultural agent. During the month of March alone more than 400 acres were terraced. The terracing has been done principally in the communities of Oak Hill, Fairview, Center Point, Moore and R-Bar. B. M. Whitaker, agricultural director of the West Texas chamber of commerce, will visit Big Spring during the latter part of this week and with Mr. Bush will put on a one or two day terracing school, according to Bush.

Chicago scored 14.80 on choice medium weight steers and realized 14.80 on weight basis. Aggregate receipts were estimated at 27,500 a decrease of nearly 10,000 from last Wednesday and 12,000 short of the same day last year.

Hogs met a fairly active outlet at prices unevenly steady at 22c higher than Tuesday's market and market fairly higher than the dull close. The day's extreme top of 11.60 was paid in Chicago. Total offerings were around 75,500 as compared with 69,000 a week ago and 83,263 the corresponding day last year.

Sheep supply approximated 4,000 slightly less than a week ago but 2,400 more than a year ago. Most markets reported little change in fat lamb prices but at Omaha a 25 to 40c advance was enforced. Choice fed wooled lambs in Omaha scored 17.50 while both Omaha and Chicago realized 16.90 on clipper. Kansas City obtained 18.40 for choice Arizona spring lambs.

Moderate Trading Occurs Wednesday On Southern Mart

NEW ORLEANS, April 10. (AP)—Only moderate trading occurred in cotton in today's sessions with the trend of prices downward although the market was supported on the breaks by trade buying on the declining scale.

Unfavorable Liverpool cables, a bearish construction of the March textile report issued after the market closed yesterday, favorable weekly report and prospects for better weather in the belt were the influences which caused selling and liquidation.

Prices at the lowest were 11 to 14 points below the previous close and today's close was at the lowest. July which closed yesterday at 19.96 dropped to 19.87, down 13 points and closed at 19.84 or 12 points net lower for the day.

Liverpool came in as due to 1 point worse than due, cables reporting that there was liquidation on better weather in the south. First trades here showed losses of five points and by the end of the first hour owing to the cable report and good weather May traded at 19.85, July at 19.81 and October at 19.74, the same as the opening figures.

After rallying 4 to 6 points on some trade buying the market eased off again on a bearish weekly weather report and prospects for good weather. May finally dropped to 19.74, July to 19.82 and October to 19.70 or 9 to 14 points under the previous close.

Around noon prices rallied about 6 points on rather cheerful advices from Washington on rain relief legislation but prices eased off practically to the lows in the late trading and October made a new low at 19.68 or 11 points net down. The close was steady with May at 19.73, July at 19.84 and October at 19.68 or 11 to 12 points net lower for the day.

FORT WORTH, April 10. (AP)—All classes of cattle and calves sold fully steady here today. The supply was light but contained very good yearlings.

Light receipts prevailed for cows. Fat cows at 9.00 to 9.25, butchers around 7.75, few canners under .38.

Slaughter yearlings sold at 12.25 to 12.75, few good to choice 14.00.

METHOD IS CHANGED
Conley Stops Operation In Carnival "Joint"

Deputy Sheriff O. B. Conley announced yesterday of having stopped the plan of operations at one of the concessions at the carnival, now showing at a location north of the Santa Fe tracks on Avenue H, when an alleged gambling game was found to be in operation. The concession was not closed down, but the method of running it was changed, he said.

Price Of Cotton Declines Slightly On N. Y. Market

NEW YORK, April 10. (AP)—A more favorable weather map than had been expected and failure of the monthly cotton crop statistics to stimulate more active demand seemed responsible for a renewal of liquidation and declines in cotton today. July contracts sold off from 20.96 to 19.84 and closed at that figure. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 12 to 21 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 6 points to an advance of 1 point. Prices stiffened up a point or two but buying was comparatively limited.

Favorable features in the weekly weather report as well as disappointment over the failure of the cloth figures to bring in a more general buying movement evidently led to realizing or liquidation, and there was active selling of July through brokers with Wall Street connections.

This was accompanied by purchases of December by other brokers, but prices generally eased off with active months selling about 14 to 18 points net lower at mid-day. Offerings then tapered off. The market weakened again in the late trading when July liquidation was more active months sold about 14 to 21 points net lower.

At the close May was 62 points over July compared with a difference of 54 points at the previous close. Private cables reported foreign and local realizing in Liverpool on better weather reports from the south. Exports today 5,161 bales making 7,062.31 so far this season. Port receipts 7,062. U. S. port stocks 1,611,430.

Many Colorful Figures Missing From Ranks Of Next Congress; Host Of New Names Will Go Down On House Roster

By RAY E. HENLE
Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, April 10. (AP)—A host of new names will go on the rosters of congress at the special session April 15 to take place of many favorites who have been re-elected either by their own wish or by the fortunes of an election.

Women will invade the house of representatives in greater numbers; democratic states will send additions to the republican majorities; the first negro to be elected in years will claim a seat, and many old and well known faces will be supplanted by younger blood.

Two Women Present
In the house two seats will be turned over to daughters of men famous in American history. Mrs. Hanna McCormick, daughter of Mark Hanna, will be seated as representative-at-large from Illinois, and Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, daughter of William Jennings Bryan, will sit with the Florida delegation as representative from the Miami district.

Visitors to the senate no longer will find the silver-haired Jim Reed of Missouri but will see a republican, Doree C. Patterson, who has taken his place. Reed, who retired voluntarily, leaves the scene along with George P. McLean of Connecticut, also a third-term senator who has run again. McLean's seat has gone to Frederic C. Walcott, Connally comes in.

While the democratic side loses the oratorical powers of Reed, it receives a recruit in Tom Connally of Texas, who has distinguished himself, even under the limited sphere which strict rules circumscribe, during six terms in the house. The new Texas senator takes the place of Earle B. Mayfield.

Five democratic senators have turned their seats over to republicans who defeated them in the last election. Gerry of Rhode Island was supplanted by Felix Hebert; Bruce of Maryland by Phillips Lee Goldsborough, who comes over from the house, and Bayard of Delaware, a picturesque figure with his inevitable flowing black scarf in place of the usual tie, has given way to John G. Townsend.

Edwards of New Jersey has been succeeded by Hamilton F. Kean, and Neely of West Virginia by Henry D. Hatfield.

Bronson Cutting, after a brief absence, comes back as a senator from New Mexico elected for a full term. David A. Reed will continue to serve as Pennsylvania's only senator pending the disposition of the senate's case against William S. Vare.

House Has Changes
In the house many interesting changes will occur. Two well known leaders, Fins Garrett of Tennessee and Daniel P. Anthony of Kansas, both veterans, will retire.

Garrett, the democratic leader, was defeated in a race for the senate and now has become a judge of the court of customs appeals. Anthony quit of his own volition.

Also with Mrs. McCormick and Mrs. Owen, another woman will be added to the house roster in Mrs. Ruth Pratt of New York. These three, serving with Reps. Mary T. Norton of New Jersey, Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts, Katherine Langley of Kentucky, Florence P.

Kahn of California and Pearl Oldfield of Arkansas, bring the total number of women members to eight.

Delegations Split
The election made striking changes in the political makeup of a number of state delegations, notably those of Kentucky, Virginia and Missouri. The solid democratic Virginia delegation of ten members in the last congress will be reduced to seven democrats.

Six new republicans were elected as representatives from Kentucky, changing that state's line-up to nine republicans and two democrats. One of the new representatives, C. W. Roark, died April 5. Five new republicans came in from Missouri, swept in by the Hoover landslide which swamped the veteran Clement C. Dickinson.

For the first time since reconstruction days, a negro will claim a seat in the house. He is Oscar De Priest, elected in the first Illinois district as the successor to the veteran Martin Madden, who died during the first session of the last congress.

Clinton Nobles And H. L. McCandless Face Charges

Bonds of $250 each were made yesterday by Clinton Nobles and H. L. McCandless, about 20 and 25 years of age, following complaints filed against them in county court for unlawfully carrying pistols.

The two young men were arrested Tuesday night by Chief of Police John Lemond and Patrolman George Eubank, after they were said to have "shot up" Lubbock's negro section, known as "The Flats." The guns were found in their possession and a quantity of cartridges to fit were taken from them by the police.

Revolution

the rebel regime, Augustine Gallo, former mayor, and Edmundo Herrera, chief of police, crossed the border to El Paso. No resistance was encountered by federal soldiers in taking the former rebel stronghold General Jesus Triana, attached to the command of General Juan Andra Almazan, began the occupation late last night. He arrived with 250 cavalrymen from Villa Ahumada, between Juarez and Chihuahua City. General Triana expects General Almazan to arrive in Juarez in two or three days with his full command of about 7,000 men.

Federal officers announced that no military prisoners had been taken since they began occupation of the city. Except for the group of rebels left at the garrison, all rebel leaders in the city had fled to El Paso as political exiles or accompanied the rebellious command on their westward march which is taking the insurgent soldiers over a desolate stretch of sparsely settled mountain country.

Alberto Almedia has been named mayor of Juarez under the federal regime.

EL PASO, April 10. (AP)—Suit was filed here today to collect a bill for clothes purchased from a dry goods store by General Jose Gonzalo Escobar, supreme commander of the Mexican revolution and "provisional president" of Mexico. The company, in its complaint filed in district court, asks $1,665. The suit alleges Escobar bought the goods during the period from October 1928 to March, 1929. Some of the material was delivered in Juarez on March 9, and 11.

A writ of attachment was issued on property in El Paso said to be owned by the commander.

were bound behind our backs with wire. Gilbert exhibited scars on both arms which he said were caused by the shackles.

El Pasos Save Fair
The two Americans were saved from their predicament by the intervention of Robert Swain of El Paso, a member of General Escobar's staff, Gilbert said.

"I told him it was all a mistake and wrote down on a piece of paper the places I had been during the last year. When Swain returned after a conference with General Escobar he said the revolutionary commander-in-chief had said our sentence was not effective.

"About this time a mob assembled outside the calabozo where we were still held, and called for our lives. Swain came back and increased our guard. Butler called for a priest and swore he had been lying about being a federal aviator."

Held In Prison
After the rebel commander pardoned them, Gilbert said, the two men were brought to Juarez and held in a dark prison before they were released.

"I don't know what became of Butler," Gilbert said, "we were released today together, but in my desire to get on this side of the international border I lost track of him. I heard some rebel officers talking about the mysterious Dr. Kay being killed somewhere south of Chihuahua City last week."

Make Good Sailors Are Fussy About Their Food

HOUSTON, Apr. 10. (AP)—Capt. L. Sutherland, master of the British S. S. Larchbank touches Houston in its round the world calls has 56 Mohammedans on his crew who are "good sailors" but "peculiar."

These little brown men of India refuse to eat pork, and turn up their collective noses at beef or mutton unless it comes from India or unless they are allowed to perform the slaughtering rites themselves, the captain pointed out.

The skipper realizes that these Moslems are valuable sailors, and he takes no chances on antagonizing them. Their food is prepared by their own cooks. In foreign ports he purchases live sheep. The animals are kept in one of the holds and killed and eaten by the crew according to their customs.

was reported to have had several deaths but telephone and telegraph lines were down and the reports could not be verified.

Death Toll Increasing
At Swifton the rapidly with which the death toll was increasing caused predictions that it would reach forty or fifty when all communities in that section had been heard from.

All buildings in the little communities of New Home and Possum Trot with a few score habitations, were reported demolished and no information was available as to the number of dead or injured.

Truck loads of men left Swifton tonight to aid in relief work and search for bodies. Doctors and nurses were sent from Newport, the center of relief work.

Accurate reports were lacking because of crippled wires, but residents of Swifton, nearest the storm center, said it left a wide path of destruction. Farm houses were demolished and in some instances carried long distances.

Two or three entire families were buried under debris where their bodies were found later.

Relief work was difficult because the country is sparsely settled and the stricken settlements are miles apart. Roads were almost impassable, owing to a heavy rain which preceded the storm.

The tornado followed rain and hail storms in many sections of the state.
