High Water Forces Laredo Residents To Leave Homes

(By The Associated Press)

High water following torrential rains temporarily marooned Governor Jester and his family south of Austin today. At Laredo, many citizens were forced by high water from their homes.

Fast-rising waters of the San Marcos river had marooned the governor, his wife, mother and son on a ranch in the San Marcos river bottoms. Today the highway patrol escorted the Jester party from the ranch, near Martindale south of Austin, to safety and back to Austin.

The governor's office in Austin said the rescue was without incident, and that the party had not been in danger during their overnight stay at the ranchhouse.

Residents Evacuated

Laredo's entire police force, with the help of volunteers, manned trucks, patrol cars and other conveyances to take residents out of areas flooded to a depth of two to three feet. The inundated area was in South Laredo.

The Jesters had been on an outing arranged by Rep. William George Richards of Lockhart when flooding waters of the San Marcos river marooned them at a ranch house. The party was on its way back from Jester's historic meeting at Matamoros with President Miguel Aleman of Mexico.

Same Story Elsewhere

Elsewhere in Texas it was the same story: hit-and-miss rains of near-cloudburst proportions, some flooding, and inevitably some damage to crops by washing. But the moisture was welcome.

The forecast called for the same conditions to prevail through tomorrow.

Blanco had 7.74 inches of rain in the 24 hours ending at 6:30 a.m. today—the state's heaviest rainfall for the period. Laredo recorded 4.81 inches. San Antonio recorded 1.79 inches, Austin 1.54.

In the Waco and Temple areas, both the Leon and Little rivers were on the rise after heavy weekend rains.

Are In No Danger

In the Jester party were the governor, his wife, his mother, and his son, Beauford, jr. The governor's office in Austin said they were in no danger although marooned at a ranch house in the

Truck Demolished By Speeding Train At Grade Crossing

(By The Associated Press)

CARTHAGE, Tenn., April 25—A fast freight train rammed a truck crowded with Sunday worshippers at a crossing near here last night, killing 10 persons—nine in the one family—and seriously injuring another.

The truck burst into flames and was dragged some 100 yards down the track before the speeding Tennessee Central diesel could come to a halt.

Scattered Along Tracks

Some of the dead were scattered along the tracks, while the rest were pinned in the cab of the truck.

All evelen were returning from church services to their homes at Hogan's Creek when the accident occurred at the Gordonsville-Lancaster road crossing about eight miles south of here.

Instantly killed were:

Jess Bennett, 50, driver; his wife, Mattie Bell Bennett, 45, and their sons, Douglas, 12, U. L., 10, and Melvin Earl, eight.

Mrs. Pauline Bennett Dickens, 24, daughter of the Bennet's; her husband, Paulie Dickens, 27, and their one-year-old daughter, Catherine.

W. E. (Coonie) Bennett, 49, Jess Bennett's brother.

Miss Linnie Gibbs, 17, died shortly after arriving at a hospital at nearby Lebanon.

Only One Survivor

Ruth Robinson, the sole survivor, was hospitalized at Lebanon. Doctors said she suffered a broken pelvic bone.

An immediate investigation of the accident was being conducted by J. T. Waddell, general manager of the railroad.

State Safety Commissioner Sam Neal, who hurried to the scene, said the train ripped the ton and a half farm truck in two. He said it appeared five persons were seated in the cab and six on chairs set up in the back.

A son-in-law of the Bennett's, John Overstreet, told Commissioner Neal he had stopped his car at the crossing to let some passengers out when the truck came up behind him.

"I knew the train was coming," he told Neal. "I tried to wave the truck down, but my father-in-law

57-Year "Fill-In" Job Finally Ends

LEAD, S. D., April 25 (U.P.)—E. M. Ryan has retired after "filling-in" for another man for 57 years and seven months at the Homestake gold mine.

During the early days, whenever, a miner wanted a day off, he got another man to take his place.

One day in 1891, Ryan recalled, he was asked to fill-in for another man for a day.

"I said I would, and while on the job next day, the foreman asked me whom I was working for. I said 'Albert Nobb.' Thereupon, the foreman said, 'you had better come out tomorrow, and on second thought, you better continue coming out until Nobb gets back.'

"Well, Nobb hasn't returned yet, nearly 57 years later, and I've been coming out every shift since."

House Passes Medical Bill

AUSTIN, April 25 (AP) — The House today concurred in Senate amendments to the basic science bill, sending the measure to the governor for signature.

It also concurred in Senate changes in a proposed constitutional amendment calling for annual meetings of the legislature and annual salaries for members. The vote was 106 to 24.

The vote of the basic science concurrence was 115-8.

Controversy Is Ended

House action on the basic science bill finally disposed of it and the controversial chiropractic regulation measure, which the Senate sent to the governor last week under a compromise ending a long filibuster, unless the governor should veto them.

Rep. Jack Ridgeway of San Antonio moved the House accept the Senate changes in the basic science bill. House approval ended one of the session's hottest controversies. Medical doctors had fought the chiropractor-licensing act, chiropractors had backed it. Chiropractors battled the basic science measure, doctors wanted it.

Annual Sessions Sought

The Senate started moving in high also. By a vote of 21 to 7 it finally passed and sent to the House the bill by Senator George Moffett of Chillicothe, the unitization bill providing for cooperative development of oil fields. A similar measure is pending in the House.

The proposed constitutional amendment was the first ordered submitted to the people by the 51st legislature. It would have to be adopted at an election Sept. 24 to go into effect. It calls for annual sessions on even-numbered years to consider appropriations. Regular sessions, a snow would be held each odd-numbered year. It would be effective Jan. 1, 1950.

Rich Chinese Hoping To Get Out By Plane

Vast Communist Forces Are Set For Payoff Push

(By The United Press)

SHANGHAI, April 25 — The U. S. Navy and wealthy Chinese started getting out of Shanghai today as it awaited the Communist invader and a peace movement to keep the great city from becoming a battle-ground was reported gaining momentum.

Rear Admiral George C. Crawford, U. S. naval commander in Shanghai waters, announced that his dozen or so ships were moving to the lower reaches of the Yangtze, about eight miles north of Shanghai, to offset any chance of being trapped in the narrow waters of the Whangpoo river.

Have No Protection

The Navy urged the 2,479 Americans in Shanghai to board the ships and get out while the getting was good. Those who stay were warned that they would have no protection at all by U. S. forces.

American ships now in Shanghai include the El Dorado, flagship of Vice Admiral Oscar C. Badger, commander of U. S. forces in the western Pacific, the hospital ship Repose, the destroyer Duncan and the troop transport Chilton, now used as quarters for 700 U. S. Third Marines.

Somewhere to the west vast Sommunist forces, victory-flushed with the easy seizure of Nanking, meneuvered for the payoff push against this city called "the Pearl of the Orient.

A tour of the western environs of the city showed no sign of any big scale or determined plans for opposing the prospective onrush of the Communists. A United Press correspondent found beyond the western outskirts many grass-covered pillboxes. Built months ago, they now stood abandoned and useless.

Orders Are Awaited

Bands of soldiers lounging in outlying suburbs said they were awaiting orders to fight or withdraw. They didn't seem to be worrying over which order they got.

Repeated pledges by officials that Shanghai would be defend-

McGee Gets Tired Of His Handcuffs

By EDWARD WELSH
Journal Staff Writer

There was a marked change in the demeanor of the defendant as the murder trial of Richard W. McGee, 24, resumed in Judge Dan Blair's 72nd district court today.

Until today, McGee, who is charged by indictment with the murder of R. L. Allston, 42, Lubbock grocery executive, July 7, 1948, has been sullen and uncommunicative. Today he has been calling his guards by their first names, conversing with defense attorneys Burton S. Burks and Col. E. A. Simpson, and has been keenly observing everything that is going on around him.

As he was being placed on the elevator to go to the court room McGee saw Judge Blair enter the court house and cheerfully called to him:

Wants Handcuffs Off

"Judge I'm all right now how about taking these handcuffs off of me?" The judge smiled but did not answer. McGee also turned to Burks after the resumption of the trial and said:

"I'm not going to give any more trouble. How about getting these cuffs off of me?" They were not removed during the morning session and the extra guards remained in the courtroom.

Dr. Roy C. Sloan, Lubbock specialist who was last to testify Saturday afternoon, was brought back to the stand this morning. The cross-examination was conducted by special prosecutor George Dupree who kept the audience hanging onto each word he asked.

Is Paid $100 Per Day

Dr. Sloan admitted that he was being paid $100 per day by the defense for giving his expert testimony. The doctor also admitted he was nervous and uncomfortable under the barrage of questions that were being fired at him. He kept a handkerchief in his hands the entire morning and kept wiping the perspiration from his face at frequent intervals.

A large part of the time was taken up by explaining to the jury and the court the definition of the many technical terms being used in the testimony such as: "Behavior," "normal," "right and wrong" and phychiatric terminology from

Farmer Kills Two Officers

ABILENE, Kas., April 25 (AP)—A 65-year-old farmer shot to death two officers and wounded three other persons at his home five miles southeast of here.

The farmer, Charles K. Rush, then perished in his burning house.

County Attorney John Rugh said Rush killed Sheriff E. F. Davis, 38, and his deputy, Milton L. Davis, 58. The officers were brothers.

Rugh said the farmer apparently went bersek early in the morning, wounded his housekeeper, Mrs. Mae Pettriess, and his brother-in-law, Mervin Franks, and then set afire two outbuildings.

Woman Gets Aid

Mrs. Pettriess, about 65, ran to a neighboring farm for aid. Franks said he "played dead" for about half an hour after being shot and fled from th house when it began to burn.

A neighbor, Fred Uhl, 30, was shot as he came to the Rush farm, attracted by the flames.

The sheriff and his deputy also were shot as they approached the house.

The county attorney said Rush poured gasoline around his two story home, set it afire and perished in the flames.

Lubbock Men Injured In Highway Accident

Clinton Gee, 65-year-old Lubbock man; his son, O. B. Gee, 37; and Richard S. Pike, also of Lubbock, were injured in a two-car collision at the intersection of U. S. Highway 277 and state highway 25 in Mankins, just west of Wichita Falls, Saturday afternoon at 1:45 o'clock.

The elder Gee suffered several fractured ribs and possibly other internal injuries. His son received emergency treatment for arm. head and leg lacerations and Pike was also treated in a Wichita Falls hospital for minor lacerations.

Most seriously injured in the wreck was Mrs. Joe Morgan, 20, of Mineral Wells, who suffered a brain concussion, back injury and a fractured arm and leg.

The Lubbock men were returning home from Wichita Falls when the accident occurred. Mr. Gee and his son still remained in a Wichita General hospital today, but Mr. Pike had been returned to Lubbock.

Public Health Bill Lands In Congress

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Legislation to carry out President Truman's far-reaching health program was introduced in Congress today.

The bill calls for payroll-tax insurance to provide medical, hospital and dental care for about 120,000,000 Americans at a sponsor-estimated cost of around $6,000,000,000 a year.

The administration measure also would put into effect all the other phases of Mr. Truman's program.

Federal Grants Included

Those include federal grants for medical education, hospital construction, public health services and research. The bill also authorizes an experimental program of federal aid to farmers' health cooperatives.

The sponsors of the administration bill made no estimate of the overall cost of the Truman program, nor can one be made on the basis of the bill itself.

In some cases specific appropriations are called for, but in many other cases the bill simply says that whatever sum Congress finds is necessary to carry our particular plans is "hereby authorized."

The sponsors did estimate the annual cost of the health insurance plan at about $6,000,000,000 a year, most of which would come from a three per cent tax on payrolls, split between workers and employers.

Double Federal Aid

Federal aid for construction of hospitals would be doubled under the bill, going from the present $75,000,000 a year to $150,000,000.

A program for training practical nurses would cost $15,000,000 annually, while $10,000,000 the first year and $15,000,000 each of the next four would be available to farmers' health cooperatives.

A new child life research program would get $10,000,000 the first year and "the sums necessary

Former Convict Admits Slaying

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP)—A man released from prison less than three weeks ago has admitted the strangulation slaying of an eight-year-old boy, Bronx assistant District Attorney Edward F. Breslin says.

The prisoner, John Saiu, 36, denied, however, that there was any sex perversion motive for the killing of Jack Goldsmith eleven days ago, the district attorney's office said Sunday. The medical examiner's office previously had reported that an autopsy showed the boy was the victim of a sex attack.

Saiu, booked on a homicide charge, was quoted as saying he killed the boy after an argument. The body of the youngster, who had been garroted with his own belt, was found in deserted Starlight amusement park in the Bronx, where he had been on an Easter holiday fishing trip.

Booked On Suspicion

Police picked up Saiu on suspicion shortly after the boy's body was found April 15, but after questioning announced that he had been cleared of suspicion. He was held, however, on a charge of possession of burglar tools.

Not knowing he had been cleared of suspicion in the slaying, Saiu attempted to escape from

GOP Leader Claims Party Must Be Smart To Win '52 Election

WASHINGTON, April 25. (AP)—A Republican leader conceded today his party will have to be "a lot smarter than we were in 1948" if it expects to win the presidency in the 1952 election.

This observation came from Chairman Hugh D. Scott, jr., as the GOP national committee's executive group met to pass on proposals for regional party conferences next fall.

These conferences were approved yesterday by a 23-member strategy committee. The idea is that the Republicans thus will get grass root opinion on the GOP attitude toward national issues in the forthcoming 1950 congressional elections.

Scott told reporters the executive group, of which he is chairman, will study plans for a Republican centennial celebration in 1954, this will be 100 years after the party started in Ripon, Wisc., or in Jackson, Mich., depending on the historian involved.

"It will be a celebration of the 1952 election results if we are a lot smarter than we were in 1948," Scott said.

There have been many statements by members of Congress that the Republicans feel they lost last year's election because they failed to "weld" their political product. In this connection, Scott said the party may hold a public relations conference later in the year to which state GOP publicity men will be invited to study the latest ideas in putting across the party's program.

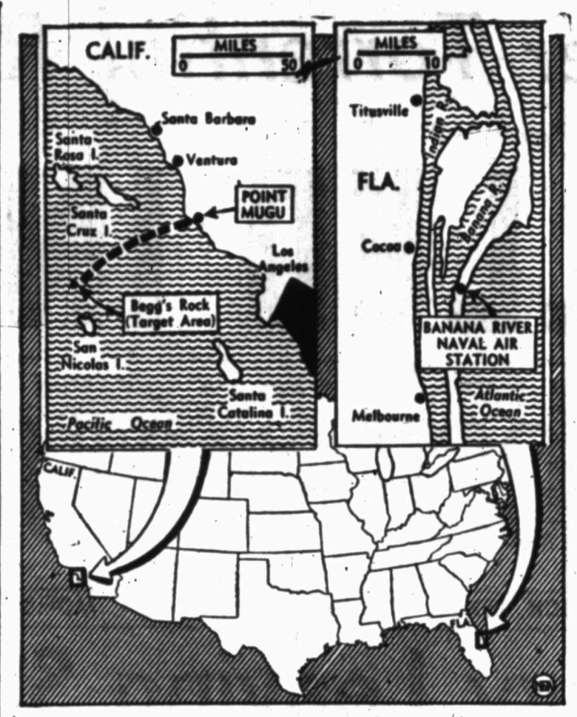

The strategy group, electing Thomas E. Coleman of Wisconsin as vice chairman, decided on holding a series of regional conferences.

Plan For Conference

Scott said the first of these may be a mid-west meeting dealing with farm problems. The national committee's farm sub-group, headed by Axel J. Beck of South Dakota, will meet here Wednesday to set up preliminary plans for this conference. It probably will be held in September, Scott said.

The steering committee yesterday authorized Scott to name a six-member continuing group which will coordinate the national committee's efforts with the Senate and House campaign committees. Scott as head of this committee, is expected to name Senator Brewster of Maine, the senatorial campaign chairman, and Rep. Leonard Hall of New York, the House campaign head, as members of the group.

The Notre Dame football team will enter the 1949 season with a record of 28 straight games without a defeat.

POSSIBLE SITES FOR NEW TEST CENTER—These maps show closeups of the Point Mugu, Calif., and Banana River Naval Air Station, Fla., areas, which Defense officials are considering as sites for the proposed $200,000,000 guided missile test center. Both sites are now used as test ranges but are inadequate for longer range missiles. Point Mugu uses Begg's Rock for its present target area, as shown. The proposed, extreme long range test center eventually would have a community of 13,000 persons.

Sahara Once Covered Africa Experts Say

BERKELEY, Calif., April 25 (U.P.) Findings by a University of California expedition into South Africa reveal that the Sahara Desert, in recent geological time, may have extended thousands of miles south of its present boundaries.

Scientists making the trip discovered a species of beetle that was known to exist in the Sahara Desert but never had been seen before in South Africa.

The beetles are said to be "surviving semi-fossils" which have been separated from their Sahara evolution center several thousand miles distant.

Fish Being Taught To Beware Of Hooks

URBAN, Ill., April 25, (U.P.) — Arthur Witt, Jr., a University of Illinois student, goes fishing daily in a fish bowl. He hopes to determine how long it takes a fish to learn the difference between a worm that's free and a worm that's attached to a hook.

Witt tosses a free worm into the bowl. It is gobbled by the fish. Then he lowers a worm attached to a wire. If the fish grabs for this one he gets the "shock of his life," for the wire is hooked to a battery.

Witt has been testing the fish since September. Some of them have learned their lessons, he says.

Pen Pal Directory In Denmark Links World Youngsters

By BENT JENSEN
United Press Staff Correspondent

COPENHAGEN, April 25. (U.P.)—More than 1,000,000 young people from all parts of the world have made pen pals during the past 12 or 14 years through Dr. Sven V. Kundsen's office, The Directory of Boys and Girls of All Nations, Copenhagen.

The scheme grows daily and now may be described as an institution of world-wide imporaance.

Since World War II, 48,000 English young people between 14 and 21 contacted 144,000 "pen friends" in 156 states.

Schools and universities have obtained names from Dr. Knudsen's office, but in spite of many applications, he has never yielded to many requests to arrange something for individuals on a professional basis.

"When people are over 21 years old, you can almost see them grow stiff," Dr. Knudsen told the United Press. Knudsen, incidentally, is 50.

Contacts Continue

When asked about his continued personal contact with the people he introduces, Knudsen, who has been the intermediary between 9,000 American schools and foreign countries, read a letter from an Englishman from Sheffield who is now 27. It said:

"About nine years ago, I got into contact with two Americans through your office, and we have been friends ever since, although we have never seen each other. One of them died in the war against the Japanese, but I am still corresponding with his mother."

Dr. Knudsen said 85 per cent of his customers all over the world have chosen English as their correspondence language, and added that it seems that the English-speaking peoples are the most interested in learning about foreign countries and customs. Eire, for instance, has shown more interest in the work than Bulgaria, with approximately the same population.

The scheme began in 1926, in the United States, Dr. Knudsen, who always was interested in youth work, got the idea during several years stay in the United States. He invited young people to write and tell him which country would interest them.

For a small fee—the price of a stamp—Dr. Knudsen provided the names and addresses of other young persons, who had the same wish to learn about foreign countries through the eyes of the native youth instead of geography books.

After a few years of good luck, Dr. Knudsen's originally modest office was moved to Copenhagen, and this city can now brag of being the center of an international youth organization.

A LUBBOCK LITTLE THEATRE PLAY

The Bob Lairds have a

Boom-Town Baby!

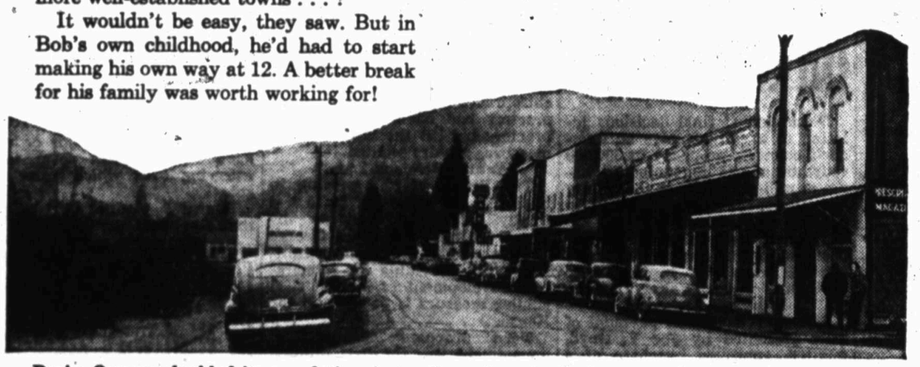

—But they're winning for their family what every child needs...

Problem enough . . . bringing up a family in today's world. But when Bob and Florence Laird brought little Stuart home to Drain, Oregon, they faced still another problem. The Lairds live in a town that's having "growing pains" of its own! How were they to give their youngsters the advantages that children get in more well-established towns . . . ?

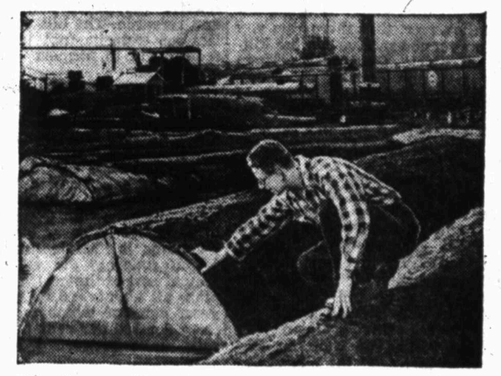

It wouldn't be easy, they saw. But in Bob's own childhood, he'd had to start making his own way at 12. A better break for his family was worth working for!

Though 10½-lb. Stuart arrived at an overcrowded house in a crowded town, he was a welcome addition to the family!

Drain, Oregon, doubled its population during the war! From a "wide place in the road" it became a booming lumber center. Overnight, housing was short, schools overcrowded; and no play center for children.

Heading production for a local lumber company, Bob Laird is a busy man. Yet he's pitched in on town affairs, too. He's clerk of the school board, treasurer of a drive for a recreation center, active in scouting and church work—all things that help make Drain a town their children will be proud of!

Kathie and Eddie help their parents beat "boom town" prices! They tend family cow, chickens. The Lairds grow vegetables, too. Florence does the baking, feeds 5 for $100 a month. Parties are "potluck."

Even a crowded house has advantages! The young Lairds like being in on all the family affairs. But Bob plans a bigger house for the future. "To feel secure, every child needs a home that can be a center of fun for family and friends," the Lairds believe. The life insurance coverage Bob gets for $50.00 a month has been so well planned by his agent that it provides both protection for his family and educational funds for his children.

And "when we are through paying the bills for the new baby," says Bob, "I'm going to get my agent's advice about more life insurance." Meanwhile Stuart, like his brother and sister, is growing up in the kind of happy home that hard work and good planning provide!

Big plans for these kids! "I didn't get to college," Bob says, "but they're not going to miss out, too!"

THE LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES AND THEIR AGENTS

The Lairds, like other American families, prove to all of us that the only way we really solve our problems is by our own efforts!

These stories of real families much like yours also show how much more success, how much more happiness is possible when you have peace of mind . . . the sort of peace of mind that comes from wise management of money now, and from knowing that future security has been adequately provided for.

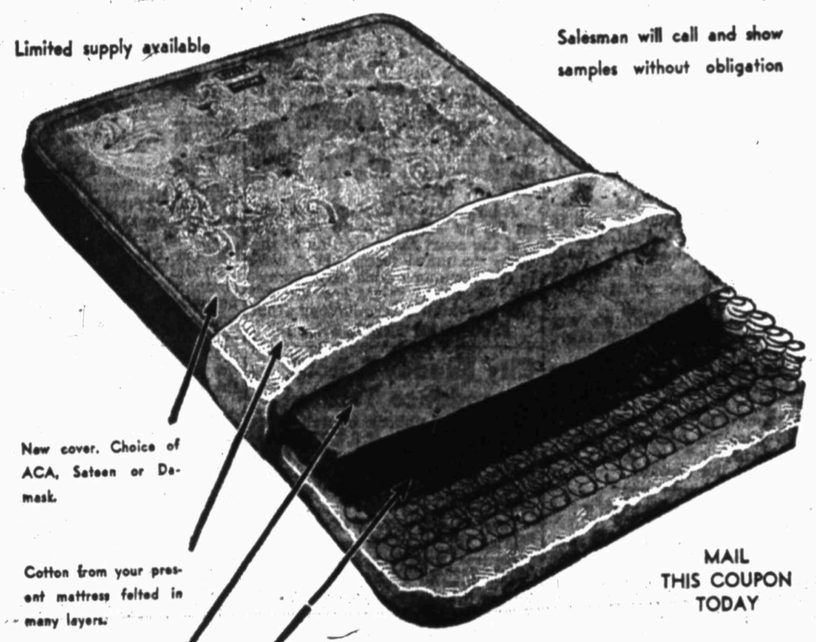

The Life Insurance Companies and their Agents bring you these American family close-ups because what this country amounts to depends upon what happens to its homes!

Secret Sessions Held As Time Nears For Labor Law Showdown

By HOWARD DOBSON

WASHINGTON, April 25. (AP)— House Republican leaders called a final strategy session behind locked doors today to get ready for the kickoff of congress' labor law debate.

The debate is scheduled to start tomorrow, and it may last the rest of the week. The house has scheduled no other major bills.

Backers of the administration bill to repeal the Taft-Hartley act were also mobilizing their forces, but the Republicans mapped out the busier schedule. Plans developed at the GOP leadership meeting were to be outlined to a later gathering of all house Republicans.

Many prominent Republicans predicted the party's support, officially or unofficially, will be centered behind a bill introduced 10 days ago by Rep. Wood (D-Ga), a member of the house labor committee. It has considerable backing among southern Democrats.

Replaces T-H Act

The administration bill, generally endorsed by labor unions, would replace the Taft-Hartley law with an expanded and slightly overhauled Wagner act. It was written by Labor department attorneys.

The Wood bill would repeal the Taft-Hartley law, but at the same time would re-enact most of it.

The present fight goes back to last July in Philadelphia when the Democratic national convention adopted a platform advocating repeal of the Republican-sponsored T-H law.

The act had been passed only a little more than a year before by the 80th congress under Republican control. It became law over President Truman's veto, and plenty of Democrats helped Republicans do the job.

The administration sent its labor bill to Capital Hill late in January this year, with congress back under Democratic control, and the Senate and House labor committees held lengthy public hearings on the measure. Both approved it last month without changing a line.

Introduced Before Recess

The new Wood bill was introduced the day the house left town for its Easter recess, which has now ended. Wood did not introduce it personally, but a statement issued in his name explained it was intended to meet objections of labor unions to his original bill.

The statement said the new bill "incorporates the best features" of the Taft-Hartley law, and all of the changes proposed in the present law "are of a liberalizing nature."

Chairman Lesinski (D-Mich) of the house labor committee immediately countered with a rebuttal claiming Wood's bill "actually would stiffen the Taft-Hartley law" in several respects.

In New York Sunday President William Green of the American Federation of Labor said orginazed labor's patience "will not last indefinitely." He said "we are going to get action out of this congress or we are going to know the reason why."

George Meany, AFL secretary-treasurer, in a week-end speech described the Wood bill as "a transparent disguise for Taft-Hartleyism at it worst." He called it "vicious and malicious — against organized labor." The CIO has denounced it similarly.

Max Zaslofsky of the Chicago stags set a new Basketball Association of America foul-shooting record recently when he dropped in 35 straight free throws over a six-game span.

All In A Lifetime — Life's Little Tragedies

Inventor Of First Ice-Making Device To Be Recognized

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 25 (U.P.) — Recognition is forthcoming for Florida's Dr. John Gorrie, nearly 100 years after he invented the first machine for making ice.

Thanks to the efforts of Mrs. Laural Buxton Hobbes, English teacher at a junior high school in Jacksonville, Dr. Gorrie's life story will be taught in public schools.

Mrs. Hobbes has been notified that her article on "John Gorrie; an Unsung Benefactor" will be included in the next revision of "Literature and Life," textbook for ninth grade students.

In treating yellow fever victims, Dr. Gorrie found that sleeping in cool rooms gave them relief. He hung a block of ice beneath a vent in a hospital ward and thus devised the first-known air conditioning system.

In those days ice was brought in by schooner and cost from 50 cents to $1 a pound.

Discovery Accidental

Improving on the apparatus, the doctor installed a pump to force air into the room. A nurse forgot to turn off the pump one night and moisture on pipes, into which air had been drawn by the cooling system, froze because of increased atmospheric pressure.

Seeing what had happened, Dr. Gorrie perfected a machine that would make ice and patented it in 1851.

Dr. Gorrie was unable to get funds to finance his invention before his death in 1855. In about 20 years, however, mechanical refrigeration was a reality, for the doctor had left behind the basic process that provides comfort for millions of people throughout the world today.

Mrs. Hobbes has been fighting for the recognition of Dr. Gorrie for 10 years. Finding nothing about the inventor in the Encyclopedia Britannica, she wrote the publishers, but they didn't seem interested.

Legislature Acts

She got endorsements of Dr. Gorrie from state officials and the Florida congressional delegation, but that didn't influence the Britannica people. In 1941, she finally prepared a resolution which passed the Florida legislature, calling on the encyclopedia to include Gorrie's biography. That did the trick.

The English teacher is working on another honor for the discoverer of the ice-making process. She thinks he is entitled to a place in New York University's Hall of Fame and is circulating petitions endorsing such a move.

Florida paid homage to Dr. Gorrie in 1914 when the state placed his statue in the Capitol in Washington. The school where Mrs. Hobbes teaches was named for the benefactor 25 years ago.

A monument to Dr. Gorrie is located at Apalachicola, Fla., where he invented the ice machine, practiced medicine and was mayor of the town for a while.

Approximately 1,500 persons filled the auditorium of the First Baptist church Sunday night when orchids were awarded to three Baptist Training union members and Dr. J. Ralph Grant, pastor, showed motion pictures made in Hawaii prior to the evening worship service.

Officers Are Installed

Singing was led by Rev. Melvin C. Ratheal, pastor of Spur Baptist church, who later installed officers of the BTU during the evening worship hour.

Lattimore Ewing, educational director, determined winners of the orchids by asking members of the crowd to stand if they came within sertain groups, then determing the winners by elimination.

Cards distributed to individuals attending totaled 1,407, and that will be the figure used in comparison with attendance in other BTU meetings in the state Sunday, although additional persons attended. Sunday was "High Attendance day" in the BTU in the state.

EMBASSY OFFICIAL BACKS REDS

U.S. "Control" Of Britain Is Assailed

(By The Associated Press)

MOSCOW, April 25.—A British embassy official is quoted in the Communist party newspaper here as charging the British government with preparing the British people "to be slaves of American masters."

He was further quoted as saying the Atlantic pact is "a war bloc of imperialist states" and that "the Soviet union is the leading force in the struggle for peace."

The official was identified by Pravda, the Communist newspaper, as Archibald R. Johnston, editor-in-chief of the Russian language newspaper Britanski Soyuznik (British Ally), published by the British foreign office for distribution in Russia.

Letter Is Printed

Pravda yesterday printed a lengthy letter over Johnston's signature. The letter declared the British embassy was not interested in improving British-Soviet relations "but in fact does everything to worsen these relations."

Johnston was quoted as saying he had decided to remain in Russia to devote all of his "energy and talents to the question of peace."

The British embassy began an investigation of the case but did not issue any statement.

(In London, the foreign office said it had received no report. A spokesman said informally, however, that "apparently there is nothing to be done about it and no comment seems necessary. Johnston is, of course, free to give up his job if he doesn't like it for any reason.")

Man Is Quoted

The letter in Pravda said:

"For the English people which avoided at the price of sacrifices the fate of slaves of Hitler's hordes there now is being prepared no less horrible fate—to be slaves of American masters.

"Now on the streets of London there are American soldiers and officers. In the restaurants are American businessmen, traders, traveling salesmen and agents."

Johnston was quoted as saying that the press attache of the British embassy informed him about two weeks ago that a campaign of "power projection" must be begun in Britanski Soyuznik. The letter added.

"I must explain this in an English term. It means that Britanski Soyuznik must print articles and photographs demonstrating the military and economic power of America and England in order to frighten the Soviet people and to prove to them the western 'democracies' possess invincible arms."

"The workers in the British embassy in Moscow met this proposal without enthusiasm, but it would be naive to suppose their opposition was founded on a peace-loving basis. Notwithstanding their convictions, they recognize with regrets that the Soviet people cannot be terrorized."

Russians Approve Berlin Food Train

FRANKFURT, April 25 (U.P.)—The Russians eased the Berlin blockade minutely today by giving permission for a Swiss food train to pass through the Soviet zone to this city.

Swiss authorities announced the Soviet decision amid persistent reports that the Russians were seeking a way to lift the Berlin blockade without loss of prestige.

A Swiss spokesman said the train was a one-shot project, and so far as he knew had nothing to do with the rumors that the blockade might be removed.

Hike In Business Is Reported By Pioneer

Substantial increases in first-quarter business were reported by Pioneer Air Lines this year, according to reports received by Jack Boydston, local manager, from Eugene W. Bailey, company secretary-treasurer.

Pioneer transported some 20,110 passengers during the first quarter of this year in comparison to 14,493 during the same period of 1948, an increase of 38 per cent, the report said.

Revenue passenger miles increased from 3,669,295 to 5,478,616 miles.

Severe winter conditions caused lower passenger loads in January, but in February the company's planes carried 6,225 passengers and in March 8,732 passengers. In March, 1948, 6,184 passengers were carried, which gives the company a 41 per cent increase on this year's operations.

Mail carried during the first quarter of last year amounted to 90,805 pounds in comparison to 181,841 pounds for the 1949 first quarter for an increase of 100 per cent.

Air express showed a 74 per cent increase and air freight a 314 per cent increase.

The average distance traveled by Pioneer's passengers during the first quarter of this year was 272 miles, the highest in the feeder airline industry.

Pioneer operates into 25 Texas and New Mexico cities over more than 2,200 system miles.

Informal Program Closes "Ham" Meet

An informal "awards" program Sunday afternoon concluded a two-day "hamfest" in which more than 200 amateur radio operators from the western half of Texas partisipated here Saturday and Sunday.

Every man and woman attending the dinner received an award of some kind, said E. C. Pool, member of the arrangements committee. Prizes were contributed by Lubbock merchants.

The informal convention began Saturday afternoon with registration. A program, buffet supper and dance were held at the Naval Reserve Training Center, Eighth and College Ave., Saturday night.

A coffee for XYL members, the women's auxiliary, was held at the Pine room of Lubbock hotel Sunday morning.

No officers are elected at hamfests like this one, it was explained. Purpose of such meetings is to allow radio amateurs who know each other over the air waves to become personally acquainted.

Married Veteran Feels Urge To Disappear And Start Anew In Strange Surroundings

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am a veteran. I served more than a year in Europe and was discharged three years ago. I am now in college, have majored in a subject that deeply interests me, and will graduate soon.

I am happily married, and my wife and I have many friends whom I enjoy very much. On the whole, life is not bad at all. That's why I cannot understand why I am possessed by an urge to break completely away from present ties, go elsewhere and start a new life.

For the past 18 months I have fought this urge and twice have been on the verge of leaving, only to change my mind at the last minute. This feeling of restlessness is ever-present and I seem to have no control of it.

Norma knows I am restless most of the time, but I haven't told her the seriousness of it. I can't even explain it to myself, so I have no way of explaining it to her. I have honestly tried to thresh it out with myself, but can't reach any conclusions. If you can offer any suggestion, on the basis of this meager outline, I shall be most grateful. Signed R.B.

MAN IS HANKERING TO ESCAPE HIMSELF

DEAR R. B.: Your restless urge to break away from everything and start anew, in strange surroundings, suggests a desire to "escape from self," i. e., from chronic anxiety that you cannot account for.

In all probability you are psycho-neurotic, assailed by inner conflicts, the meaning of which cannot be plumbed by solitary self-questioning. The "unconscious," where the trouble brews, is very devious in sending up false alarms, to camouflage the forbidden impulses that press for outlet. Thus you can hardly get at the source-reasons for your maladjustment without expert guidance that knows the signals.

However, it may help to know that, in general, a history of emotional hardships in early life—such as being orphaned, for instance; or neglected; or published for failure to achieve "model" conduct — instigates this anxiety pattern.

BETTER STAND PAT. UNRAVEL ANXIETIES

ALSO, THE person thus beset may have a frail or sensitive physical heritage, one that required a gentle clime in which to thrive. And if, from such a background, he is pushed prematurely into stressful experience with life—such as fighting a war, when he craves opportunity for peaceful pursuits—it is hardly surprising if he feels, at last, that nothing makes sense to him, and that he wants to "get away from everything.

Essentially, who you want and need is to find yourself, to come to terms with yourself, as the saying goes; to get rid of "unconscious" blocks to peace of mind: and then decide how to work out a satisfactory synthesis of talents, opportunities and major interests—so that your life will make sense to you. And to bring this about, you should "wade in" to yourself with a good psychiatrist's help. M.H.

Maid To Be Chief Witness In Probe Of Millionaire's Death

RIVERSIDE, Calif., April 25. (AP)—The maid who found millionaire John E. Owens dying will be chief witness today at an inquest into the bedroom slaying of the 68-year-old friend of actress Irene Rich.

Owen was slain Friday night at his palatial Riverside ranch. He is president of the National Association of Apartment House Owners and a former state representative in Michigan.

Mrs. Agnes E. Garnier, 53, divorcee mother and Owen's secretary, is booked on suspicion of murder. District Attorney William Mackey said she has admitted the slaying in a statement. Through her counsel, she related that the killing took place because of a spat over some cocktail glasses that Miss Rich gave Owen. The counsel's account said that Owen was drinking heavily and that he lunged at her with a gun. In a scuffle, she said, the gun went off.

Maid Bathed Wounds

Coroner Ben White said Mrs. Garnier then called Miss Edna Austin, the maid, who bathed her dying employer's wounds. White said Miss Austin will be "chief witness" at the inquest today (4 p. m. P. S. T.)

Mackey said filing of formal charges against Mrs. Garnier would await the inquest. She is now held in the Riverside county jail.

In New York where Miss Rich is appearing on the stage, the thrice-married actress said she had gone out with Owen when he visited New York between appearances at recent congressional rent control hearings. She said they have known each other for five years because of the nearness of their ranches and a mutual interest in cattle raising.

Miss Rich denied, however, that Owen, estranged from his wife, ever had proposed except kiddingly.

Telegram Sent

Miss Garnier, meanwhile, through her counsel, released a copy of an apologetic telegram to Miss Rich.

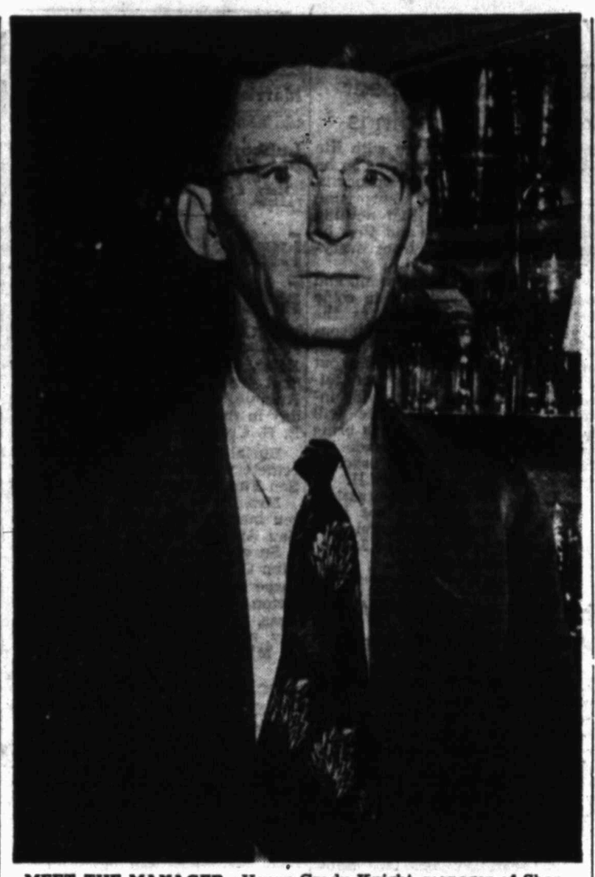

The wire said Mrs. Garnier regretted that the actress became involved in the case "due to incorrect statements and interpretations of the part of others."

Her attorney, Sam Houston Allen, said he may obtain a court order for his client to attend the inquest in a suit instead of the customary jail garb. At any event, he added, she will not testify at the inquest.

Allen said Mrs. Garnier related that Owen went into a rage when she told him she was tired looking at the cocktail glasses. As she left his downstairs bedroom, she said Owen told her "Why don't you go home?" She returned, she said, to find him with a gun and remarking:

"Well, you're not going to go home."

Aide Is Shot, Divorcee Held

CHICAGO, April 26 (AP) — A pretty science instructor and divorcee was charged Saturday with assault with intent to kill in the shooting of a male hospital aide, found abandoned in a lonely roadside ditch.

The charge was filed against Mrs. Judith Elkins, 30, after police sergeant Harold Leeds said she had signed a statement admitting that she shot Jay L. Shaw, 26, four times. The officer said jealousy was motive for the shooting.

Shaw, employed at Downey Veterans Hospital, is in serious condition but expected to recover.

Fired Four Shots

Shaw was quoted by police as saying the woman fired the four .38 caliber bullets into him Friday night when he got out of her car at her request to inspect the tires.

Shaw said he had gone to Augustina hospital that evening to keep a date with a student nurse there, Miss Leona Lindberg. Near the nurses' home, he said, he met Mrs. Elkins, science structor at the hospital. Shaw added that Mrs. Elkins told his Miss Lindberg had gone to her home and that she offered to drive him there. The shooting occurred, he told police, enroute to Miss Lindberg's home.

Lt. Maurice Green said the woman told him that Shaw had molester her. Mrs. Elkins was released last night on $5,000 bond, pending police court hearing Wednesday.

Search For Red Agents Again Is Started By House Probers

WASHINGTON, April 25. (AP)—The House un-American activities committee bundled a key witness in secrecy today in its search for Communist agents. It concentrated on the American Slav Congress and CIO-United Electrical Workers Union (UE).

The committee took this turn after releasing, over the weekend, copies of documents and sworn testimony that the Polish embassy here was used for Communist spying.

Turned On Party

A committee official said it was necessary to withhold any advance identification of one of three "friendly" witnesses in order to protect him. This witness was said to have turned on the Communist party after having once been a card-carrying member.

These are the first hearings the committee has staged since the 81st Congress opened for business under Democratic control in January. They were expected to be opened to the public later on—maybe today, maybe tomorrow. The first phase is expected to put the emphasis on the Slav congress and allied organizations.

But there will be a build-up for shifting the inquiry later to the UE.

Judge Gives Hand

The committee called in Judge Blair F. Gunther of the common pleas court of Pittsburgh to give it a hand in investigating the Slav Congress. Gunther was one of its early leaders but dropped out in 1944 after word began getting around that Reds had infiltrated the organization.

John Sherman, a lawyer for several UE local unions in Pittsburgh, was listed as the third friendly witness.

Committee publications say the Slav congress has been cited by Attorney General Clark as subversive and Communist and that "Communists are still in the saddle" in the UE.

One report on Communist and labor sayse that in the event of war, many important plants are at the mercy of the union.

The Slav congress started out in 1941 by combining several other organizations of Serbs, Croats, Slovaks and other Slav groups with a membership of several hundred thousand people. Former Attorney General Biddle took part in the first convention in Detroit in 1942 and the late President Roosevelt sent a message of greeting.

Orders For Espionage

A committee report published over the weekend says the president of the Slav congress is Leo Krzycki of Wilwaukee and that a Polish general sent over to this country with written orders to spy was told to contact Leon Krzycki and other persons. The report said Leon is Polish for Leo.

The main purpose of the report was to present copies of documents and testimony about spying from the Polish embassy.

Both the documents and testimony came from Gen. Izyador Rudolf Modelski. During the war he was undersecretary of war in the exiled Polish government.

He was sent here in May, 1946, as military attache. He resigned in August, 1948, and stayed in America. All that time, he said, he cooperated with American military intelligence.

Modelski testified he had spying orders given him in writing before he left Warsaw. One "top secret" order he produced for the committee listed 89 kinds of information for him to pick up, 28 of them involving the armed services and several dealing with war industry.

Oklahomans Unhurt When Plane Hits Car

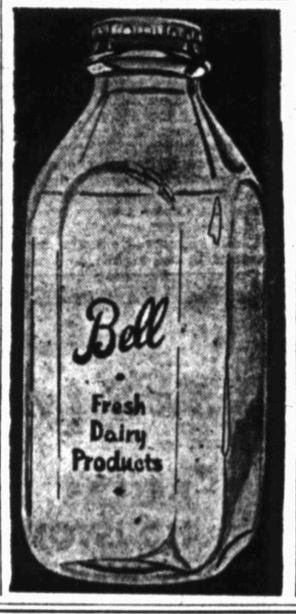

CAMDEN, N. J., April 25. (U.P.)—Two Oklahoma airmen escaped injury when their twin-engined Lockheed Ventura struck an automobile and a fence in a landing at the central airport.

One of the plane's landing wheels struck the top of a parked auto and ripped away a section of fence Sunday. The plane reached the runway, spun three times and then stopped.

Pilot Kenneth Holloway and copilot John Gentry, both of Tulsa, were delivering the plane to the airport hangars of the Spartan Aero Repairs Co.

PLANE IS FOUND

LAS ANIMAS, Colo., April 26 (AP)—The crashed plane of Floyd W. McCoy, 42, prominent Denver businessman missing since last Tuesday, was found Sunday in eastern Colorado. McCoy was dead.

Fingers And Faces Sticky As England Ends Candy Ration

LONDON, April 25. (AP)—Candy rationing ended Sunday and not since 1942 has the United Kingdom seen so many smeared faces and sticky little fingers.

There was only one unpleasant thought about it for Britain's juveniles. There may be a lot of stomach aches today after the orgy—and castor oil.

But Sunday was fine and sunny and if anyone was unhappy it was not within sound of Bow Bells, where everyone was full of gumdrops. That is the region where the true Cockney dwells.

Everybody Buys

In the West End, gentlemen with dates bought chocolates with ribbon around them.

At the resorts by the sea, everyone was licking fluffy clouds of syrup spun on sticks.

Naturally, the confectioners' shops took a beating. While rationing was abolished, many merchants had to impose a limit of a pound or two to a customer to protect themselves.

But in this new free age for youngsters there's no law against going to other shops. Hence there was a lot of bustling about for a Sunday.

Former Philippine President Charged

MANILA, April 25. (AP)—The Philippine Senate today suspended former senate president Jose Avelino for a year on charges of misconduct, 11 to 8.

Avalino was accused of income tax evasion, unconstitutional use of his office for personal gain, advocating graft and corruption and tolerating election fraunds.

The senate voted that evidence gathered in the investigation be heanded over to the secretary of justice for criminal prosecution.

Hubbers Batter Albuquerque Dukes For 12 To 6 Triumph

Dooley, Dunabeitia Pound Out Homers To Pace Lubbock Club

A home run barrage such as was seen yesterday afternoon at Rosenthal Field hardly could be expected to be duplicated tonight, when the Albuquerque Dukes, stinging from a 12 to 6 humiliation at the hands of the Lubbock Hubbers, attempt to even the series.

The Dukes almost shot their power in the first frame, when Len Attyd, pesky third baseman, slammed Don Hensiek's second pitch 370 feet over the left centerfield fence. But from that time on the home run power was all Lubbock's

And what a display it was! Mike Dooley slammed a four-ply swat to drive in four runs; Pedro Dunabeitia, on option from Greenville and making his fire appearance in the lineup, cracked out two home runs; and Chick Fowler, Donabeitia and Nelson Davis hit successive home runs in the seventh inning.

Dukes Are Held

All in all, the 1,500 fans on hand enjoyed the game immensely, while Hensiek and Cotton Russell combined to hold the visiting Dukes completely under control.

Elsewhere in the league, the Lamesa Loboes put all their eggs in one basket, coming up with a six-run seventh inning rally to smother Clovis under a 10 to 5 deficit. And Amarillo handed Manager Grover Seitz a decisive 8 to 3 beating. Borger ran into rain at Abilene and couldn't play.

Stan Grzywacz possibly became the first hurler of the year to win two games, helping his own cause with a three-run homer in the seventh. He pitched creditable ball and gained the nod on big George Matthews, the old left-hander.

Matthews held a 5-4 lead going into the seventh and might have escaped trouble, except for poor support afield. His downfall was brought on by an ex-Lobo, I. B. Palmer, whose wide throw to first set up the big inning.

Given Good Support

Grzywacz allowed 11 hits, same number as Matthews, but he was supported without error and the Loboes turned in three fast double plays. Grzywacz performed before a crowd of 1,169 fans, who watched the Loboes push their way up to a tie for second.

Lefthander Leon Hayes will go against the Pioneers in the final game of the set Monday night at 8.

History wasn't made yesterday with those three home runs in succession, but it tied a mark that was set by Julian Pressley, Joe Beran and Frank Means on Aug. 3, 1947, here. Several players have hit home runs in successive innings, but this was one of the few times that three men in order have slammed the ball over the fence.

Fowler led off the seventh to set the pace and both other blows followed to almost exactly the same spot in leftfield. Dick Spence was the victim of the blows. He had a count of three balls and one strike on Fowler, one ball and no strikes on Dunabeitia and no balls and one strike against Davis.

The records for last year show that no succession home runs were hit at Rosenthal Field, but two players hit for the circuit in succession — all Lubbock batters — three times. Virgil Richardson and Manager Jackie Sullivan pulled the feat twice, Frank McAlexander and Charley Scarborough did it once.

Dooley Gets Homer

Dooley's clout was one of the longest and highest homers to be hit here in the past two years. It was so high that the leftfielder didn't even turn to follow it and three runners preceded Dooley across the plate. It came on a two-one pitch and gave Dick Mordido, the only righthander, a rude welcome to the game. Mordido had come in to relieve Southpaw Don Ferrarese, who had started the game.

Dunabeitia, who quickly became accustomed to the local orchard, drove his second homer out of the park in the eighth inning, scoring Fowler, who had singled, ahead of him. The blow was a line drive that cleared the leftfield fence by no more than a foot and barely rose on its way to the outfield.

Tonight in the concluding game of the home stand, Righthander Bill Grafton, optioned to Lubbock from Greenville yesterday, will attempt to notch his first win. The game begins at 8 p. m.

Ted Schroeder Wins River Oaks Tourney

HOUSTON, April 25 (AP)—Ted Schroeder, La Crescenta, Calif., is the new men's singles champion of the River Oaks tennis tournament at Houston. Mrs. Virginia Kovacs, San Francisco, is the women's singles titlist.

Schroeder, Davis Cup player and the nation's No. 2 amateur star, defeated fourth ranked Bill Talbert of Wilmington, Del., for the championship. The score yesterday read 6-4, 4-6, 6-1, 6-4.

Mrs. Kovacs won her title with a 6-1, 6-4 victory over Miss Dorothy Head, also of San Francisco.

They teamed Saturday to win the women's doubles championship.

National singles champion Richard (Pancho) Gonzales, Los Angeles, and Talbert won the men's doubles trophy. They defeated Schroeder and Wimbledon champion Bob Flakenburg, Beverly Hills, Calif., 6-1, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4.

Other championship winners were J. Gilbert Hall, East Orange, N. J., veteran singles: Hall and Jack Norton, Corsicana, Tex., veteran doubles, and Hamilton Richardson, Baton Rouge, La., junior singles.

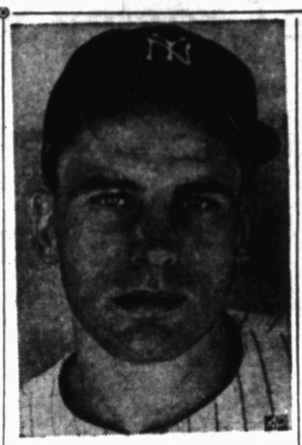

RECORD IS TIED

CHISOX HURLER — Randy Gumpert, above, hurled brilliantly for the Chicago White Sox Sunday as the Windy City club swept both ends of a double bill from the St. Louis Browns.

Boxers Close Drills Today

The stage is all but set for Tuesday night's return battle between Bill Henderson and the only professional fighter ever to defeat him, Jean Mougin.

Henderson, the pride of Levelland and Lubbock's "adopted son," and Mougin, former lightweight titleholder of France, tangle in the ten-round main event of the Jaycee-sponsored fight card at Chapman fieldhouse.

Interest in the bout mounted this weekend with the arrival of Mougin, who handed Henderson a ninth-round knockout in their first meeting in El Paso several weeks ago.

Mougin Arrives Here

Mougin, a battle-marked veteran noted for his gameness, reported here in top physical condition. He went through a light workout Sunday, and is expected to taper off his training program with a similar drill today.

Henderson likewise is near peak condition, having gone through a strenous training program at Foster's gym for the last few weeks.

Both fighters were introduced at Sunday's Lubbock-Albuquerque baseball game.

Tuesday night's fight will offer Henderson a chance to avenge the only setback of his professional career. Since losing to Moutory trail with a six-round TKO gin, he has returned to the vic- of Paul Guerrera, Mexican lightweight, and his followers feel that he will turn the tables on the blond Mougin.

Appears On Coast

Mougin has done most of his campaigning on the Pacific coast and Southwest. He has appeared recently in Oakland, Los Angeles, Phoenix and El Paso.

In all, 28 rounds of boxing are listed on Tuesday night's program. The semi-final, slated for six rounds, sends Sammy Galvin of El Paso against Chino Alonzo of Douglas, Ariz., in a featherweight match.

Both Galvan and Alonzo sport winning records, although Galvan twice has been a TKO victim of Henderson.

James To Fight

In another bout, Lubbock's Gene James goes against Dickie Brown of Amarillo in a four-round heavyweight match. James launched his pro career early this month with a TKO over another Amarilloan, James Wortham, and will be favored over Brown. In 1948, he handed Brown a thorough lacing while both were fighting as amateurs.

Tony Olivas, speedy featherweight who made an impressive appearance here on last summer's Jaycee outdoor fight card, is pitted against Bobby Malacara of Mexico City in another four-rounder. Olivas, who in his first Lubbock showing was beating Jose Andres of Fort Worth on points until a disqualification stopped the fight, will be a slight local favorite over Malacara.

The opening bout matches another pair of featherweights, Freddie Marquez of El Paso and Ruben Salazar of Mexico City. Neither has ever shown his boxing wares in this area, but both are experienced in the professional ranks.

About 1,000 of the 2,500 available seats remain unsold, Jaycee officials said today. Of those remaining, fewer than 20 are ringside, about 250 are reserved, and about 725 are general admission. Prices are $4.80 ringside, $3.60 reserved, and $2.40 general admission. Tickets will be on sale all day Tuesday at the Jaycee booth in the lobby of the Hilton hotel.

ERRORS COST SNEAD VICTORY

Wood Shot Control Needed By Golfers

By BEN HOGAN

At the same time, however, don't underestimate the value of learning how to control your wood shots. The errors you make on the tee probably won't impress you as to just how much they have cost you in strokes as much as errors you have committed much closer to the green. But break down your scores and you will find your tee shot errors are costly enough.

For instance, I covered my own experiences while seeking a new driver to fit my game in the chapter. Clubs . . . Selection and Use. However, the value of having a driver which fits your game and thus enables you to control your tee shots was never more powerfully illustrated than in the playoff between Lew Worsham and Sam Snead for the 1947 United States Open Golf Championship at St. Louis, won by Worsham, so let's discuss that match. Snead, like yours truly, elected to use a brassie off the tee in the Open because he had been having trouble with his drives in the tournaments prior to that event. Sam drove beautifully with that club during the course of the regular matches, but the gamble he made when he drove with a brassie in lieu of a driver caught up with him in the playoff.

The brassie has more loft than a driver. It gives you more height, which means that if the wind happens to be blowing at all you are more at its mercy than you would be with a driver.

Tees Troubled Snead

During the Snead-Worsham playoff it seemed that every time Snead assumed a commanding margin his tee shots betrayed him. For instance, stepping onto the sixth tee he had a two stroke lead on Worsham, but drove into the rough. By the time he got the ball into the cup at that hole he was over par for it and had lost his margin of lead. Again at the tenth, eleventh, thirteenth, fifteenth and seventeenth, Snead's tee shots strayed off line. That is a lot of tee shot errors to make in a match for the U. S. Open Championship and I have to think that they cost Sam the title.

Sam's miscue at the fifteenth tee was particularly disastrous. Going to that hole Sam had a one stroke lead, but after he drove into the rough he bogeyed the hole and lost his advantage. Snead and Worsham were all even at the eighteenth and Lew won the title, by one shot, when he went into the lead for the first time during the match.

While Worsham is a long hitter off the tee, getting plenty of roll on his ball after it lands on the fairways, I am not sure that he would be able to consistently outdrive Snead the way he did during that playoff if Sam had been able to find a driver to fit his game in time for that event. The golfing moral of this, of course, is to be sure you pick a driver to fit you when selecting your clubs and to keep working to retain your sharpness with this club.

CONCENTRATE on combining accuracy and consistency with distance when playing your wood clubs. Starting with the grip, I play my wood clubs with The Full Swing I have outlined in the chapter of that title on that department of my game. The stance I favor for my wood clubs, and, in fact, for all my long clubs from the three iron right on up through the driver, however, is a slightly closed stance because it provides more traction and better balance.

This stance enables you to strike the more powerful blow required to get the most out of these clubs. In order to get real distance with them you have to be firmly anchored. Another reason why I favor this stance on these shots is that it enables you to turn your body more freely and freedom of body turn permits you to lengthen the arc of your swing for the longer shots.

Remember when taking up this stance to turn both toes out slightly. It will aid you to keep your balance during the full swing and at the same time permit you freedom of the body and legs for the body turn used to get a little something extra into distance shots.

When playing a tee shot, a fairway wood shot, or any long iron shot that I can afford to cut loose on, I get a little something extra into them by the manner in which I utilize my right foot. (Described in the chapter, Stance Gives You Balance.) During the course of my swing I dig in with the cleats on the inside edge of the sole of my right shoe. During the course of the downswing, and just before impact, a decided push is given with this foot which helps to speed up the club.

Hook, Slices Help

Naturally, it will come in mighty handy if you are able to slice and hook at will with a wood club and still retain control of the ball. These are variations, however, which require a little more finesse and a little more knowledge of the mechanics of the golf swing than the average duffer has acquired.

One of the first steps you can take toward learning how to play variation shots with your wood clubs is to learn to control the flight of the ball, high or low, at will. This will come in mighty handy when there is a strong wind blowing because a high shot in a strong wind is absolutely at the mercy of the wind and can be extremely costly when you total up your strokes.

When the wind is blowing a low shot, or quail high as we say in Texas, will bite right into the wind and cover more distance than you would ordinarily get under the same conditions with a normal flight of the ball. The technique on how to play this shot is discussed in the chapter Stormy Weather Golf in the section on wind shots.

Fundementally, the brassie is the longest club off the fairway, but you will probably get better results, in most instances, with a No. 3 wood. Tournament professionals generally use the No. 3 wood. They seldom take a brassie unless it is in desperation.

If you are playing a course with wonderful fairways, where the ball always sits up, and a maximum of distance is required, the brassie is the club to use. I would also qualify its use further, however, by stating that even in such circumstances you should be very proficient with a straight faced club before you resort to the brassie.

Using No. 3 And No. 4 Woods

BEFORE you attempt to use the No. 3 and No. 4 wood clubs you should have a good idea of where and when to use each to an advantage. For instance, I use my No. 3 wood club as a general utility club off the fairways. Wherever the shot calls for length and accuracy I take my trusty No. 3 out of the bag. However, when I have to gamble, the No. 4 wood is my selection.

I also take my No. 4 wood when length is required and the ball is in a lie that is not too good. When the bunker in front of me is not too high and distance is required, I gamble by taking my No. 4 wood to play a shot out of a trap. By the way, when using the No. 4 wood out of a bunker be sure you hit the ball, not the sand behind it. It is amazing what distance you will get out of the rough with the No. 4 wood.

The reason you get distance out of the rough with the No. 4 wood is that, like all wood clubs, it has a knoblike head and doesn't cut the grass like an iron club, but spreads it. When you cut the grass, as you can't help doing with an iron club because of its blade, some of the club action speed is lost. This doesn't happen with the wood club. Another reason why the No. 4 wood is so effective when used to get the ball up out of the grass is because it has so much loft on the clubface. It might surprise you to know, for instance, that the No. 4 wood has more loft than a No. 3 iron.

Amarillo Tops Bowling Meet

Amarillo bowlers dominated the first week end of kegling activity in the Annual West Texas-New Mexico Bowling tournament at the Lubbock Bowling club alleys Saturday and Sunday.

The visiting Amarillo delegations—17 teams were here—went into first place in Class A and Class B team bowling, took over first place in Class A doubles and shot two men into the top spot in Class A singles and Class B singles.

Lubbock also was represented Sunday, with first place in Class B doubles going to a local pair, Class C singles remaining in Lubbock and Class C singles also endbock bowler so far to scratch in Class B singles, going into fifth place on 557 pins.

But two Lubbock men did all right in Class C singles. Wickson

Chisox Defeat Brownies Twice To Deadlock For Second Place

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Hold off on those flowers—the patient is far from dead.

The patient, of course, is the Chicago White Sox, the club that was doomed by the experts to die of lineliness in the dreary confines of the American league basement.

Apparently the White Sox have different ideas on the subject. Judging from today's standings, the Sox not only are very much alive, but are making some of the other teams foll over and play dead.

The end of the first week of play finds the Sox tied with the Philadelphia Athletics for second place, only half a game behind the fast-moving New York Yankees. They have won five and lost only two, all their victories coming in a row.

Splendid pitching by Bill Wight and Randy Gumpert yesterday enabled the White Sox to whip the St. Louis Browns twice, 2-1 and 4-0, giving them a sweep of the four-game series. Wight needed the help of some swell relief pitching by Matt Surkont, Rochester draftee, and a two-run ninth inning rally by his mates to escape being charged with a 1-0 setback. Surkout, who worked the ninth, got the victory. Gumpert's performance was more gilt-edged. He permitted only three singles and allowed no Brownie runner to pass second base.

The Athletics continued to fatten up at the expense of Washington pitchers, combing Sid Hudson and two reliefers for 12 hits to whip the Senators 8-3. It marked the sixth straight loss for the Nats, who have not won since opening day. Lou Brissie went the distance for the second time in a row, notching his second triumph on a five hitter.

The Boston Red Sox continued to flounder around, dropping their fourth game in six starts, when the Yankees came from behind to defeat them, 9-4. Trailing 4-0, the Bronx Bombers scored six runs in the eighth, and added three more in the ninth to salt away their fifth triumph against only one loss.

Brooklyn's scrappy Dodgers retained their half-game margin in the National league race, splitting a doubleheader with the Phillies in Philadelphia. The Phils won the opener, 7-4, and the Dodgers took the second, 6-5. Home runs by Richie Ashburn, Stan Lopata and Eddie Miller highlighted the Phils' victory.

The Cincinnati Reds fell into a second place tie with the New York Giants when they divided a twin bill with the Pirates in Pittsburgh. The Reds won the first game, 3-2, in 10 innings with Charley Kress singling home Johnny Wyrostek with the winning run. Eddie Bockman drove in all Pittsburgh's runs with a pair of home runs in the Pirates' 3-1 second game victory.

Sheldon Jones went all the way, scattering seven hits, as the Giants defeated the Boston Braves 6-2. Bobby Thomson provided the winning margin in the first inning with a three-run homer, off Vern Bickford.

Joe Garagiola doubled home Enos Slaughter with the run that gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 5-4 triumph over the Chicago Cubs. The blow came in the last half of the ninth with two out.

The scheduled game between Cleveland and Detroit was postponed by rain and cold weather.

Longhorn Nine Tops Southwest Flag Race

(By The Associated Press)

They might as well brush off a place in the Southwest conference throne room for Texas' baseball team.

The Longhorns have just about sewed up the championship although not half through the campaign.

Last week Texas beat off another challenger and did it convincingly as the Longhorns strapped Texas A. and M. 14-4 to remain undefeated for the season.

The first week of the baseball season isn't over yet and already there's talk that Lubbock's Hubbers will do well to finish in the first division. It's a view that we might go along with on the basis of four games (this is being written Saturday night). Certainly the chronic complainer is in the position of having a field day in view of the fact that the Hubbers have won only one of four games played. They've made errors, they haven't busted the fences down with their hitting and their pitchers have almost met themselves going and coming.

If you wanted to, you could really rake the club over the coals. A lot of people are, of course, all of which is not the reason we're writing this. We write what we think, not the opinion of others. Maybe you agree, maybe you don't. And if we thought the ball club fundamentally was as rotten as it appears in spots, we wouldn't hesitate to say so. Like everyone else, we could be wrong. Certainly the Hubbers at this point are a disappointment. In fact, they don't even look like the club we saw in spring training. Strangely enough, it isn't the same club.

The infield has two new faces in it and the outfield at this point has only one member that was there in Greenville. The pitching staff hasn't changed, even though the complexion of the club has. Okay, so what's wrong? We think that the biggest trouble is the pitching, not only the mound jobs that the Hubbers have been getting, but also the ones they have been facing. Clovis shot the only two top pitchers on the staff at the Hubbers. Borger threw two of the best on the Gasser crew. In return, Hubber pitching has been short of brilliant.

In the opener, George Matthews went the route for Clovis, while Don Hensiek had to withdraw after four and two hirds innings. The next night Mel Kramer went through nine innings, while Manager Jackie Sullivan had to use three hurlers. Cotton Russell went over nine, but look what happened to him, while Hugh King, in his eight innings, gave a first rate performance and indicated that nine innings wouldn't have bothered him. Jackie used two hurlers that ight. Saturday, Jim Cain turned in a fine job, while three hurlers had to toil for the Hubbers.

What about the hitting power in those four games? All right, visiting clubs have gotten a total of 57 hits, or an average of 14 a game. Those hits have been good for 83 total bases, on 42 singles, 11 doubles, one triple and four home runs. The Hubbers, meanwhile, have had a total of 38 hits, or an average of only 9.5 per game. Those hits have been good for 61 total bases on 24 singles, nine doubles, one triple and four home runs. Since the extra-base power is about equal, it indicates that the general hitting power of the Hubbers is weaker than the visiting clubs.

So far as fielding is concerned, even with a patchwork lineup, the Hubbers have held their own. They have accepted 161 chances, compared to 156, turning in 43 assists to 41 and making 10 errors compared to seven They have a wide edge in double plays Actually, it hasn't been the fielding of the Hubbers that has been weak. It has been at the plate that the Hubbers have suffered most. That they are a team of opportunities is shown by the way they have rallied to score after two were out. We like that in this team. We noticed it in their exhibition games and it's the mark of a champion.

Hensiek is a fine pitcher and should, over the course of the season, prove valuable. He is alert, intelligent and capable of pitching good ball, but he can't do it with a sore arm. Royce Mills had it one night, he didn't two nights later. Cotton Russell could be a winner if he'd trim off that excess baggage around his waist. Had he been in better condition Friday night, he would have won his ball game in nine innings, instead of losing in the tenth. Herby Pitts just didn't have it Thursday night, but should round into form. If and when he does, he'll win a lot of games. Charley Willis is a rookie and not ready for firing line duty, but he's got to learn and should improve. Also, Jackie has to use him, at the rate he's been forced to throw hurlers into the fray. Bob Covington is another rookie who shows a lot of promise.

The outlook isn't all dismal, so don't give up on a club that isn't set yet. Al Duarte's loss is felt—heavily—and so is Joe Wisniewski's. Nelson Davis and Buddy McCallum haven't had any chance to work with the club, other than in regular games and that's tough. The Hubbers have been using pitchers as outfielders and that robs the club of power. Sure, you can go right ahead cussing the club. Do so, but keep right on going to see the games. You have a chance to get on the bandwagon now, or come along later wishing you had. Right now we have nothing but sympathy for Jackie and the Hubbers, who are trying their best with insufficient weapons.

Hubs Get Two New Players

Pedro Dunabeitia, an outfielder, and Bill Grafton, a pitcher, yesterday were optioned to the Lubbock Hubbers by the Greenville Majors of the Big State League.

The Hubbers rented a plane in which to fly the two players to Lubbock in time for yesterday afternoon's game. Dunabeitia was the only one to see action, but Grafton is expected to hurl tonight's game against Albuquerque.

M'ALEXANDER

Dunabeitia is a Cuban who speaks no English. He is a veteran and last year played for Greenville, where he hit in the middle .300 bracket.

Grafton is a limited service player. He signed with Texarkana in 1947, played part of the season there and finished with Marshall. He was bought by Greenville and spent the 1948 season with the Majors.

Duarte Is Disabled

Al Duarte, veteran outfielder, Saturday night was placed on the disabled list. He will be replaced by Dunabeitia. Duarte injured his ankle at the start of the season and has had to favor it. Doctors advised complete rest, so Dunabeitia was secured as his replacement.

Joe Wisniewski, limited service outfielder in the hospital with flu, will not make the approaching nine-game road trip with the Hubbers. He will be kept here in an effort to build up his strength.

Frank McAlexander, third baseman for the Hubbers last year, left this morning by private plane for Sherman, where he will join the Greenville Majors. McAlexander, a veteran, was one of four players that the Hubbers had to take off the active playing list before the season started. His contract was sold outright to Greenville, owned by Hubber General Manager George Schepps.

Dallas Blanks Tulsa

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

If oilman Dick Burnett has his way about it his Dallas Eagles will take 154 games—the limit—in this year's Texas league race.

He talked pretty ruthless today after the $100,000 ball club he has placed on the field won its eleventh straight without defeat—a new opening season record.

His general manager, Bobby Goff, didn't quite echo Burnett but he did say he'd like for the Eagles to cop 100 games.

Except for San Antonio, the other clubs are a rather sorry lot thus far compared to the Eagles splurge. San Antonio, in second place, has won nine while losing three. The other clubs all are no better than 50-50.

Dallas won yesterday in the usual way—with long hits. Tulsa was the victim as the Eagles came in with a 7-0 cerdict. The Eagles got four runs in the third inning featured by Jerry Witte's home run. Bill Serena clouted one out of the park in the fourth. Reuben Fischer gave Tulsa nine scattered hits.

San Antonio's Missions clipped Beaumont in a double-header, taking the first game 5-3 and the second 4-2. Southpaw Al Gerheauser won his second game of the season in the opener. San Antonio jumped out to three runs in the third inning of the nightcap to clinch the verdict early. George Hooks allowed the Exporters six hits.

Fort Worth sank Oklahoma City deeper into the cellar with a 13-9 triumph. It was a pitcher's parade but the Cat chunkers lasted longer. Vic Johnson and Len Gilmore of Oklahoma City were pounded for six runs in the first two innings. Bob Houghton lasted until the seventh for Fort Worth when a five-run splurge brought in Chris Van Cuyk to finish. Wally Fiala, Fort Worth second baseman, drove in six runs.

Shreveport licked the Houston Buffs the second time in a row, taking the decision 9-4. Les Burge led a Shreveport attack that included 10 hits. Burge hit a homer, triple and double. Jack Cusick and Hal Epps of Houston were thumbed out of the game for getting sassy with the umpires.

Johnny Parsons Cops Arlington Auto Race

DALLAS, April 25 (U.P.)—Johnny Parsons, 30-year-old Van Nuys, Calif., racing driver, had the jump on the rest of the field toward the American Automobile association's national race care championship today after a daring drive and a welcome nod from lady luck.

Parsons won the AAA's opening 100-mile grind of the season at nearby Arlington Downs yesterday and the skill he exhibited in keeping his Kurtis Kraft Special in the race after roaring up onto the wall on a turn and almost overturning, indicated he may have to be reckoned with in the 500-mile classic at Indianapolis May 30.

Where do we get the money?...

During 1948, the Humble Company spent about $138,000,000 to help provide the oil you and other Americans needed in that year of unprecedented demand, and to develop the oil resources which will provide the oil you need not only today, but next year, the year after — 10 or 20 years from now. The 1948 investment by the entire oil industry was approximately 2 billion dollars. That is a lot of money! Where did it come from?

The larger part of it is reinvested profits. In other words, American oil companies have such confidence in the future of their industry in this country that they have plowed their profits back into the business, just as a farmer plows under a good green cover crop.

And for the same reason: the farmer thus assures the continuing fertility of his soil; the oil companies assure the continuing success of their business . . . the security of the jobs of their employees, a continuing supply of oil for your needs, the immediate availability of oil for national emergencies. The major portion of profits made in the oil country stay in the oil country to develop its resources, and to supply a market for its industries.

In the last 10 years, over half of all the profits of oil companies have been reinvested in the business.

In 1948, Humble's investment in exploration and production was $110,000,000; investments in refining and research and in marketing, plus Humble Pipe Line Company's investment in pipe lines, amounted to about $28,000,000. All this money came from earnings retained in the business.

Parley Averts Auto Walkout

DETROIT, April 25 (AP)—Eleventh-hour peace talks that continued even after picket lines wese set up prevented a shutdown of the big Packard Motor Car Co. plant early today.

Some 9,000 Packard workers who had been alerted for a strike starting at midnight Sunday were told by CIO United Auto Workers officers to report on their regular shifts.

Agreement Is Made

Settlement of assorted differences between the company and union was achieved by a group of representatives of both sides who got together at 11 p. m.—an hour after pickets had been called for the Packard plant.

When they broke up three hours later there was written agreement on 16 disputed points. Then UAW then withdrew about 70 men and women pickets who had jumped the gun on the midnight strike hour and had been marching in front of the plant's four entrances for several hours.

The only Packard workers affected by the brief picketing were 200 members of a skeleton night crew who reported for work at midnight but did not enter the plant.

Points Are Listed

Ralph Urban, president of Packard local 190 of the auto workers union, said management agreed to:

Reinstate five of six discharged employes.

Allow the sixth to resign instead of firing him. The worker was charged with falsifying his employment application.

Permit members of the union bargaining committee to enter the plant with special badges.

Investigate certain alleged health hazards within 60 days.

Strike action was voted at a meeting of the Packard local yesterday afternoon. Local officers decided to go ahead with the walkout immediately, without waiting for the customary approval of the UAW-CIO executive board.

Health Law

there after to carry out the program." Grants and loans totalling $35,000,000 the first year would be authorized to encourage doctors and nurses to settle in rural and other shortage areas.

To push medical education, existing medical schools would get $300 for each student enrolled on the basis of average past enrollment, plus $1,700 for each student above that average.

Others To Be Helped

Dental schools would get $250 and $1,300 on that same basis, while nursing, public health and sanitary engineering schools would get grants in varying amounts.

Under the bill, the national health insurance program would not go into effect until July 1, 1951.

The insurance program, designed to cover about 85 per cent of the nation's population, calls for a three per cent payroll tax, split between worker and employer, on income up to $4,800 a year.

For example, on income of that amount the worker would be taxed 1½ per cent, or $72 a year. The employer would pay a like amount. If the worker earned only $2,400 a year, he would be taxed $36. So would the employer. The self-employed would pay the entire three per cent levy.

Besides the worker-employer contributions, the federal government would put in, out of general tax receipts, one half of one per cent of the nation's payroll each year through 1954. For the next three years the government would supply an amount equal to one per cent of the payroll.

McGee Trial

Freud and others.

In discussing Freud (father of modern psychiatry), Dr. Sloan testified that love and sex life has:

"A terrific bearing, influence and effect on the individual conflicts."

Gave An Examination

In the testimony it was brought out that Dr. Sloan had only seen Richard McGee, the defendant, for one hour on January 27, 1947. At that time, he said, he gave McGee an examination and checked over a few of his records. Although Dr. Sloan has already testified that in his opinion McGee was and is insane, he signed a report on the above date in which he wrote:

"This lad is above average intelligence. He is alert, overproductive and only slightly irrelevant."

Attorney Dupree quoted from Shakespeare, "All the world is queer except thee and me, and sometimes I think thee art queer."

The intent of the quotation, he said, was to show that even among doctors and experts the consensus is that everybody deviates from the normal at some time or another.

Party Is Mentioned

Dupree asked Dr. Sloan if McGee had told him about a drunken party during which time he got married. The party he said, took place in Austin in 1946.

Col. Simpson objected to the question on the ground that the facts of drinking or drunkenness had not been introduced into the record. The objection was sustained and the words stricken from the record.

District Attorney Lloyd Croslin said that they would introduce evidence to support the legality of the question as the trial continues.

The trial continued at 1:30 with Dr. Sloan being returned to the stand.

Stock Market

MARKET DRIFTS LOWER

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP) — The stock market drifted lower by fractions to around a point.

It was one of the slowest trading days in about a month with the volume around 700,000 shares for the full day.

A few individual issues resisted the downward slide and moved forward.

Oils were lower with Richfield losing more than a point after its sharp run-up of last week. Humble Oil & Refining Co., an affiliate of Standard Oil (NJ), posted a 25 cent per barrel cut in crude oil in its East Central Texas field. The reduction was a reflection of lower fuel oil prices.

Vanadium Corp. and Texas Pacific Land Trust both reached new highs for the year on a movement that took them more than a point higher in active trading. Douglas Aircraft gained more than 2 points on a few transactions.

Rails metals and chemicals were mixed. Farm implements and mail order and retail shares drifted lower. Utilities were irregular. Steels were lower most of the day but came back in late trading.

Leaning to the downside were General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Great Northern preferred, Illinois Central, Southern Railway, Sinclair Oil, Standard Oil (NJ), Pacific Western Oil, Kennecott Copper, Dupont, Union Carbide, American Woolen, International Paper, Sears Roebuck, and International Harvester.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP) — Cotton futures were irregular today. Old crop deliveries were firm on short covering in May prior to first notice day Tuesday, with a large volume of contracts still to be liquidated in the spot month. Shippers covered the nearby July position against sales of cotton to the army destined for Japan. The army made awards on the cotton Saturday of last week. New crop deliveries lagged and at one time were more than 50 cents a bale under the previous close.

Futures closed $1.25 a bale higher to 35 cents lower than the previous close.

Bill Henderson, Jean Mougin Guests At Jaycee Luncheon

Bill Henderson met Jean Mougin again today—but the encounter was a friendly one, at the weekly Jaycee luncheon in the Hilton hotel.

Tuesday night, at Chapman fieldhouse, the meeting of the two fighters likely will be under less hospitable circumstances. For Henderson will be out to avenge the only loss of his professional fighting career.

But at today's luncheon, both Henderson and Mougin were all smiles as they made brief speeches to a Jaycee "ladies day" gathering of 115 persons.

First Fight Recalled

Henderson, recalling his first clash with Mougin in El Paso last month (in which the Texan was a ninth-round TKO victim of the Frenchman), commented, "As usual, I'm scared to death. He's a good boy, I know, because he's proved that to me. But I think we can put on a good show tomorrow night."

Later, Henderson added that he expects to enter the ring weighing about 132, and in peak physical form.

Mougin, his English marked by a noticeable accent, expressed his thanks to the Jaycees and citizens of Lubbock for the hospitable reception he received here this weekend.

"I'm in good shape, and hope to make a nice fight for you," he said. Mougin said he weighed 135 pounds.

The Frenchman's manager, Andre Dupre, added his appreciation of the reception given him and his fighter.

Songs Are Featured

Babe Ritchie, manager of Henderson, also was introduced.

The luncheon program featured 11 songs by the talented O. L. Slaton Junior High school mixed choirs, the Songsters and the Gleesters. The 106-voice group was under the direction of Miss Imogene Webster, with Wanda Roberts as piano accompanist. Johnny Tatum was narrator.

Selections presented were "Some Folks," "I'm A-Rollin'," "Get on Board, Little Children," "Water Boy," with James Sides as soloist, "Dry Bones," "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," "Over the Rainbow," "Lullaby," "Stodola Pumpa," "Send Out Thy Light," and "Vesper Hymn."

Approximately 45 wives of Jaycee members attended the ladies day program. Allen Todd briefly welcomed them to the luncheon.

Gordon Sanders presented Horace Gearhart, club president, with a check representing the Jaycees' share of opening day Lubbock Hubber ticket sale receipts. The Jaycees netted slightly more than $160, Sanders announced.

Gearhart presided, with invocation by J. P. Watt, jr.

News Briefs

Boys in a pickup truck drove up beside the car of James Grover of Lubbock route 6 and broke out a window with a small guitar, police said they had been informed. Partial description of the suspects' car was supplied to them.

Jerald McMillan of Plainview informed police that a leather case containing a camera flash attachment and eight flash blubs, as well as a woman's sports coat and a zipper jacket were stolen from his car parked Sunday in Mackenzie State park. He valued the property at $70.

Vernon L. Jackson, assistant director of Lubbock Boys club, will leave Wednesday for Chicago and the 43rd annual national convention of the organization. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Jackson and their two daughters, Mary Vernon, 5, and Linda Lee, 3, and by Mrs. Jackson's parents, Dr. and Mrs. I. W. Hicks. The party expects to be home by May 11.

The rehearsal of Lubbock Symphony orchestra for tonight at 7:30 will be at Corroll Thompson Junior High school, Fourteenth and Ave. T, according to William A. Harrod, conductor.

owners involved agreed to move fences and give right-of-way without cost to the county.

The commissioners approved a plat of McMath subdivision, described as the southeast one-fourth and part of the southwest one-fourth of block 9, Lubbock View addition to the city of Lubbock.

Condemnation proceedings were authorized to be filed against Mrs. Bessie Marie McCollum of Okra, Texas, in connection with widening the right-of-way for the Lubbock-Shallowater highway.

The court reconvened shortly afternoon with L. H. Kirby of the architectural firm of Haynes and Kirby for discussion of final details in connection with the courthouse.

At a meeting two weeks ago, the court had expected to set a date this afternoon for receiving bids for construction of the six-story structure.

ed were countered with almost as persistent reports that a well organized movement for local peace on the Peiping pattern was being promoted. The Peiping pattern called for welcoming the Communists and turning over the city to them.

Persistent reports said powerful business and economic interests were organizing to study the possibilities of keeping the city's 6,000,000 out of the battle zone.

Evacuation Studied

Shanghai garrison headquarters announced that it was drafting plans for the civilian evacuation of Shanghai in case of emergency. The only detail available was that all traffic except outbound would be forbidden.

Reports of the vast Communist movement west and northwest of Shanghai were thin and sometimes contradictory.

One that generated keen interest said a column of Communists who reached Wusih, 60-odd miles from Shanghai on the trunk railway, had struck out eastward—toward this city. Authorities insisted that the movement appeared to be little more than a scouting expedition.

In Shanghai itself, a depressing rain fell from lowering skies. The international airport was thronged with wealthy Chinese waiting and hoping for evacution by air in any direction.

police last Monday and was brought down by a detective with a bullet in the thigh. Saiu's attempted break for freedom led police to resume questioning him.

Police said Saiu was released April 6 from Eastview penitentiary in suburban Westchester county after serving a year on a burglary conviction. They said he had a record of five previous arrests, including a conviction on a charge of indecent assault upon a child.

Tells Of Slaying

Breslin said Saiu gave this version of the slaying:

He met the boy in Starlight park, and the two played along the banks of the Bronx river. The boy wanted to go swimming and insisted that Saiu join him in the water. Saiu refused, and the boy taunted him, saying "you're yellow." Angered, Saiu seized the boy and throttled him. Later Saiu dragged the body toward a swimming pool in the park and stuffed it behind a tank.

A conductor on the train, the TC No. 81, said none of the crew saw the truck until it loomed up before the lights of the engine.

The wreck, one of the worst such disasters in this area in years, brought all available ambulances from Carthage and Gordonsville.

Attendants worked feverishly for more than an hour to remove bodies from the wreckage.

And workers toiled into the morning with crowbars and acetylene torches to cut the body of the smashed cab from beneath the engine of the train.

Texas Threatened By Bubonic Plague

AUSTIN, April 25 (AP)—Typhus and bubonic plague are real dangers to Texans, the state health department warns

While there have been no reported cases of bubonic plague in man for many years in this state, the health department's weekly bulletin said, there have been "repeated findings of plague in rodents and their fleas in West Texas."

This, it said, points to a "grave danger of human infection."

Reports for the week ended April 16 indicated a big increase in typhus. There were 13 cases, compared with the average of 6 for this time of year.

Poliomyelitis was also among communicable diseases showing greater than usual incidence during the April 16 period. There were 12 cases reported, compared to the median of 4.

Texas Weather

San Marcos river bottom.

Heavy rains fell in the Martindale area and along the San Marcos river after the Jesters reached the ranch for the outing. The flooded creek prevented the governor's party from returning home.

The weather bureau said a "moderate rise" is expected on the San Marcos, Blanco and Guadalupe rivers from rains at Blanco, San Marcos and Kerrville, but that no serious flooding was indicated.

With only four months of 1949 gone, Austin's rainfall for the year came to 14 inches, just six inches short of the entire 1948 total.

Heavy showers continued falling over the Austin area. The Lower Colorado River Authority reported that the Colorado river was up eight feet at Ilano and still rising. Recent rains raised the level of Lake Buchanan near Austin by five feet.

Rainfall at Kingsville last night totaled 2.75 inches, bringing to 5.70 the fall since last Thursday. There was some damage to cotton from water standing in fields but lesser damage to other crops. Ranchers were happy.

A compilation of rainfall during the 24-hour period ending at 6:30 a. m. showed Wichita Falls .83 and hail yesterday; Waco .75, Del Rio .74; San Angelo .67, Ozona .11 and Abilene .05.

Terrifying lightning and thunder accompanied the two distinct storms at Laredo, from 8 to 11 p. m. Sunday night and 1 to 4 a. m. Monday. The Laredo-San Antonio highway, a main artery, was inundated. Many drivers were stranded because they could not see underwater obstacles marking highway boundaries.

Many residents were marooned in their homes in the south part of Laredo, only two to three blocks north of the Rio Grande.

All the area surrounding Laredo was soaked, including farms, ranches, bermuda onion and cantaloupe fields. Storage tanks were filled to overflowing. Telephone service at Laredo was knocked out of commission temporarily. Laredo's rainfall for the past 48 hours totaled 6.50 inches.

Texas Child Killed By Fall Into Well

MERTENS, Tex April 25 (AP)—An abandoned water well on a vacant lot here claimed the life of a six-year-old child.

Thomas Britton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Britton of Mertens, was dragged from the water well about 2:30 p. m. yesterday. He apparently fell into the well about 12:30 p. m.

The well, on a lot 50 yards from the Britton home, had a curbing about the height of a brick. It was three feet in diameter.

Thomas, who had been picking flowers with friends, was pronounced dead by drowning when his body was recovered.

Lower Prices Are Explained

WASHINGTON, April 23. (U.P.)—Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan told Congress today how his proposed farm program could result in lower prices for consumers on milk, meat, eggs and potatoes and still hold farm income up.

He said it was impossible to put a price tag in advance on his proposed direct farm subsidy program because "our economy is so complex and dynamic."

But he described as "reckless" statements by some critics that the overall program would cost $10,000,000,000 a year.

Examples Are Given

However, Brannan gave the House agriculture committee some examples of how his program would operate to give the consumer a price break.

As an illustration, Brannan said that cash payments of $777,000,000 to farmers could result under certain assumed conditions in cutting consumer prices as follows:

Potatoes by $1 a bushel; eggs by four cents a dozen; pork, a seven per cent price cut; and milk by one cent a quart.

Under the administration's program, the government instead of buying up foods and taking them off the market to hold the price at the support level would let prices of certain consumer products be set by supply and demand. It would let prices fall in the market place and would make up the difference to the farmer in cash.

Would Permit Saving

Under this system, Brannan said his program would permit a saving of $1 a bushel on potatoes for consumers, if the government should spend $225,000,000, the actual estimated cost of supporting the 1948 potato crop under the old system.

His assumption of savings was based on disbursements of $172,000,000 for eggs; $230,000,000 for pork, and $150,000,000 for milk.

Sheriff Not Scared, Recaptures Prisoner

MARLIN, April 25. (AP)—Sheriff Gaston Boykin of Comanche doesn't scare easily.

He was escorting a prisoner, Gilbert Clearly, back to state prison at Huntsville when Clearly pulled a pistol and said: "I've got you covered."

The sheriff dived for his captive, who fired three shots. One hit constable Joe Fritts, who was in the car, in a finger.

Boykin and Fritts subdued the man, handcuffed him and delivered him to Huntsville. Clearly had been in Comanche on a reprieve. Fritts' injury was termed minor.

HOBBS, April 25. (Special)—A double funeral service was scheduled here today for a Hobbs man and his son who were killed late Saturday in a two-truck collision near Seagraves.

Services for Ben John Lackey, 51, and his son, John Ben Lackey, 21, were to be at 3:30 p. m. today in Immanuel Baptist church. Rev. Hardcastle, pastor, was to officiate.

Nelson Green Funeral home was to direct burial in Hobbs cemetery.

The two died in a crash which also took the life of James Earl Gunn, 25, of Seagraves. Gunn's body has been sent to Putnam, his former home, for services and burial there.

The two Hobbs men, both employes of Ralph Johnson Rig company, were returning to Hobbs from a cement construction job in the Adair oil field, east of Loop, when their half-ton truck collided head-on with a pickup truck driven by Gunn.

Truck Burned

The heavier truck burst into flame and the two lackeys, trapped in the cab, were burned almost beyonnd recognition.

Identification of the two bodies was made by Ralph Johnson, the victims' employer.

Johnson said the elder Lackey had been a construction gang foreman with the company about three years. The son was employed by the company about six months ago after being discharged from the Army.

The Lackey family resided in Pampa before moving to Hobbs, Johnson said.

Ben John Lackey, the father, is sirvived by his wife, two sons and a daughter. All reside in Hobbs. In addition to the mother, two brothers and sister, John Ben Lackey is survived by his wife, also of Hobbs.

Unification Asked For Reserve Units

CORPUS CHRISTI, April 25 (U.P.)—A resolution calling for unification of all reserve officers associations—Army, Navy, Marines and Air Force—was passed Sunday by the Texas department of the Reserve Officers association.

It was the first such resolution passed by any state organization in the traditionally bitter rivalry between services. The delegates chose Houston as the site for their next convention and elected the following officers:

Maj. F. G. Bray, Houston, president; Lt. Cmdr. Ray Edson, Corpus Christi, senior vice-president; Lt. Col. Haskell H. Cooper, Dallas, vice-president for air; Lt. Wallace Masters, Wichita Falls, vice-president for Navy and Marine corps, and Col. E. Wayne Wood, San Antonio, vice-president for Army.

Endurance Fliers To Come Down Tuesday

FULLERTON, Calif., April 25. (AP)Weary Bill Barris and Dick Riedel have the endurance flying field to themselves today.

Bob Woodhouse and Woodrow Jongward were forced down at Yuma, Ariz., Sunday only 74 hours and 21 minutes on their way toward cracking the Fullerton fliers' hark.

Barris and Riedel plan to descend in their single-engine Sunkist Lady at 11:44 a. m. tomorrow. At that time they will have been aloft 1,008 hours—six full weeks. The old mark, set 10 years ago, was 726 hours.

They're getting mighty sleepy and have caught themselves nodding over the controls. By way of variety, they droned down to San Diego Sunday to ply over the Gold Cup air races.

Meantime, Woodhouse and Jongward are undecided whether to have another try at the endurance record. A clogged gasoline line ended their first attempt.

Steel Staples Used To Control Growth

MILWAUKEE, April 25 (U.P.) — Two doctors have developed a method of controlling bone growth in children by using stainless steel staples.

Dr. Walter P. Blount and Dr. George R. Clarke say their process has proved its effectiveness in equalizing the length of legs and correcting such deformities as knock knee, bow leg and back knee deformity resulting from infantile paralysis.

In controlling leg growth, the staples are driven into the bone, bridging the growth zone, mechanically halting growth. X-rays are made regularly, ad when the desired correction is attained, the staples are withdrawn.

Gardening Claimed Bar To Delinquency

CHICAGO, April 25 (U.P.)—Gardening is a weapon against juvenile delinquency because it keeps children busy, according to the head of the National Garden Institute.

Rodney H. Brandon, president of the organization, says gardening has become "America's most favorite sport as well as its most popular hobby."

Gardening has proven itself a weapont against juvenile delinquency by keeping children busy in a worthy endeavor," Brandon says. And, he adds, "it enhances the general beauty of the nation."

Mine Leaders Gather To Set 1949 Bargaining Patterns

Coal Contract To Be Studied

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—John L. Lewis met with top aides today to frame new soft coal contract demands tha may set a 1949 bargaining pattern for other labor unions.

Lewis summoned his United Mine Workers' 200-man policy committee to decide on changes the union wants in the bituminous agreement due to expire June 30.

Coal, like many other industries, has drifted into relative economic doldrums after the wartime and postwar booms.

Trend Is Anticipated

Recognizing this, Lewis is expected to put more accent on requests for shorter working hours and higher miner security benefits than any boost in wages.

This is a trend many labor relations experts have anticipated. CIO President Philip Murray has called his steelworkers' union policy committee into session next week at Pittsburgh to set a bargaining policy, too. And it is reported Muray will put pension improvements ahead of other demands.

Lewis has permitted a fairly clear advance indication of what his demands will be.

Only last week in Pittsburgh Thomas Kennedy, UMC vice president, outlined three major aims: A shorter work week, a better sharing of available work among the miners, and some "improvement" in the present 20-cents-a-ton royalty on coal production for the union's welfare fund.

Fund Is Going Fast

There have been indications that the $100,000,000-a-year fund is being spent on pensions, sickness, death and other benefits faster than it is taking in revenues.

And this was even before the recent decision to lower from 62 to 60 the age at which miners can retire at $100 monthly pensions.

Miners now get a basic $14.05 daily wage for an eight-hour day. Out of the eight hours, however, only 6½ are in productive work, because the miner is paid as if he had worked for one hour travel underground and a half-hour lunch period.

There has been speculation Lewis may ask for a seven-hour, or even a six-hour day, at the same $14.05 daily wage—a step designed to combat unemployment now that coal production has lessened. Lewis also wants some plan for balancing production between mines. Some miners now work only a day or two a week, others four or five.

The operators, incidentally, are disagreed on how to deal with Lewis this year. The southern producers recently asked the un-

OPAL DIXON

THE QUESTION
Why do you think square dancing has returned to popularity?

THE ANSWERS

MRS. TRUMAN HUTSON, 3409 Twentieth, housewife: "I guess it's because there is so much participation on the part of everybody. It sort of takes the place of jitterbugging for the young dancers who liked to jitterbug. It provides a little more activity than ballroom dancing."

J. F. BOTIK, 3016 Thirty-first, office manager of Ralston Purina Co.: "I'd say one of the reasons is the variety in the number of steps and routines. It keeps you guessing what you're going to do next."

BETTY JO M'CLENDON, Texas Tech women's dormitory No. 4, student: "Everything surrounding it is simple and ballroom dancing doesn't appeal to them as much as square dancing or party games. The Big Apple and Charleston probably will return to popularity, too."

AUBREY WOODFIN, 2610 Twenty-fifth, owner of Woodfin's Boot & Shoe Shop: "It seems to me that people are just searching for something new and different that everybody can take part in. A lot of people take part in it because there's not supposed to be any drinking. There could hardly be any drinking for people to carry on with it."

JACK BOREN, 2704 Thirty-second, owner of Jack Boren Insurance agency: "It's an excuse for people to get together and have fun. Very few people know how to do it and it's something to get together to learn. It's complicated and partly in the fact that old time music has become popular again."

JANE HYER, Texas Tech Women's dormitory No. 3, student: "I think that square dancing, just like old songs, is making a comeback. More people are becoming interested in it and it is fun. It is a change from regular ballroom dancing and it's something that people of all ages can do."

Airlift Puts Weight On Hungry Berliners

BERLIN, April 25. (AP)—Western Berlin's 2,250,000 people have come through the winter in better health than they began it, despite the Russian blockade's interference with many normal means of supplying food and medicine.

Maj. Richmond S. Paine, chief of the American military government's public health branch, disclosed that information today.

He said the rates for most contagious diseases were the lowest since the war and were lower than in 1938, the last normal pre-war year.

He added that Berliners, fed by the airlift, have been gaining weight right through the winter and into spring.

German and allies health authorities meanwhile announced completion of the vast operation of flying west Berlin children and sick persons out of the blockaded city.

Nearly 15,000 children and some 1,500 sick, mostly tubercular patients, were moved to the western zones.

Mob Menaces Red Exponent

PLYMOUTH, England, April 25. (AP)—Britain's top Communist came to this naval port last night and ran into a menacing crowd of 3,000 that smashed doors, threw chairs, and besieged him in a hall for almost four hours.

Harry Pollitt, secretary-general of the British Communist party, caught the full force of Plymouth's wrath at the loss of 43 British sailors aboard four vessels that came under Chinese Red fire in the Yangtze. Three of the craft were registered at this channel city.

Crowd Kept At Bay

Some 300 police kept the crowd—including many sailors and women reserves (Wrens)—at bay around the old corn exchange auditorium where he tried to speak. He finally slipped out a basement window and down an alley to safety. Pollitt caught a sleeper back to London.

The Communist leader had come to this area to speak for Communist candidates in the approaching local elections.

Friday night at Darmouth—home of the Royal Naval college—he had to dodge eggs and fruit and take refuge for almost five and one half hours in a friend's house.

Saturday night in Dartington parish, Totnes, he was heckled and heard shouts of "put a rope around him."

Several Are Arrested

Last night about a dozen persons were arrested for resisting police attempts to clear the streets.

Pollitt urged the crowd to withhold judgment on "the tragic happenings of the past few days." He said no one, no matter what their politics, could help but be sorry for the relatives of the dead sailors.

"I believe," he declared, "that events may prove that this grievous sacrifice of life has been unnecessary."

Jester Meets With Aleman

MATAMOROS, Mexico, April 25. (U.P.)—Mexican President Miguel Aleman told Texas Gov. Beauford Jester yesterday that he had hopes Texas soon would be removed from the blacklist which forbids importation of badly needed Mexican agricultural workers to the state.

Jester and Aleman held a 95-minute conference here on vital problems affecting Mexico and the Lone State state.

Laborers Are Needed

Eagerly watching developments of the meeting were cotton farmers in the lower Rio Grande valley of Texas, just across the river to the north. They hope to harvest a 500,000 bale cotton crop this year and must have Mexican farm laborers to gather the crop.

Jester expressed to Aleman his personal regrets for several "unfortunate incidents" of discrimination against Latin Americans in Texas. The Texas governor pledged his official and personal efforts toward elimination of such incidents.

An air of goodwill surrounded the meeting, as Aleman promised to pay an official visit to Texas before the end of Jester's administration. Jester reciprocated by pledging to visit the governors of various Mexican states during 1950 to discuss mutual problems.

Cooperation Is Praised

Jester complimented the Mexican chief of state on the cooperation his country has shown in fighting the foot and mouth disease among Mexican cattle.

In Jester's official party were State Sen. Rogers Kelley of Edinburg, St. John Garwood of Houston, associate justice of the Texas Supreme court, John Vancronkite of Houston and Robin Pate, Oscar Longnecker, Bascom Cox and Ygnacio Garcia of Brownsville.

Aleman was attended by Ramon Beteta, secretary for finance and kingpin of the Aleman cabinet, and about 20 other Mexican officials.

Beteta, a 1923 graduate of the University of Texas, served as interpreter.

The meeting was arranged by Kelley.

MRS. E. A. GILLIS IS HONORED

Texan Is Selected "Mother Of Year"

FORT WORTH, April 25. (U.P.)—America's mother of the year was named today as Mrs. E. A. Gillis, 60, of Fort Worth, wife of a U. S. postal department worker who raised her six children on music and religion.

Mrs. Gillis was chosen by the National American Mothers' committee of the Golden Rule foundation. She not only raised her own children, now ranging in age from 21 to 38, but she also adopted into her family at various times eight boys who needed assistance to complete their educations.

Award Is Revealed

"In all phases of life Mrs. Gillis has been the exponent of the indefatigable spirit of motherhood, generous, kind and full of faith in God and man and the future," the committee said in announcing the award from its headquarters in New York.

Of Mrs. Gillis' four boys and two girls, the best known is Don Gillis, production manager of the National Broadcasting company network. He has written several symphonies, among them "symphony 5½" or "symphony For Fun" which was introduced by Arturo Toscanini.

All of the children showed the effect of the musical training which their mother believes is important in esthetic and moral training. The children all studied music from earliest chidhood.

The lives of the Gillis family revolved as much around religion as music; they all became members of the Polytechnic Baptist church in Fort Worth where Mrs. Gillis taugh Sunday school. A daughter became a church pianist at the age of 13. A son volunteered for foreign missionary service through the church.

Her other children are:

Dr. Carroll O. Gillis, 38, in the foreign mission service in Buenos Aires, Argentina.

Dr. Everett A. Gillis, 35, assistant professor of English in Texas Colleges of Arts and Industries, Kingsville, Tex.

Eileen Giles Plemons, 29, the oldest daughter, is a pianist and cellist.

Before returning to take a bow Munro chalked a message on the off-stage floor which got him a doctor:

Sec. Sullivan May Quit Post

WASHINGTON, April 25. (AP)—John L. Sullivan's decision whether to resign as Secretary of the Navy appeared today to rest with President Truman.

Sullivan's intimates indicated he would seek a heart-to-heart talk with the chief executive on the Navy's future role in defense strategy as the aftermath of work stoppage on the 65,000-ton super aircraft carrier "United States."

He Has No Comment

Sullivan himself said only that he had no comment on the decision pending study of Secretary of Defanse Johnson's order Saturday discontinuing work on the $189,000,000 vessel.

He is known to hold grave doubts whether he can stay on at his post in view of his differences with Johnson on security policies.

Top White House aides expressed the view that the knocking out of the carrier was "the straw that broke the camel's back" so far as Sullivan is concerned.

He had already been reported to have felt aggrieved by what he considered lack of consultation with him in the drafting of amendments to the armed services unification act.

Still Feels Loyal

At the same time, his friends say that he still feels loyal to President Truman and doesn't want to leave government service unless his position in the Navy is too untenable to permit him to stay on. He came into the government in 1939 when Britain and France declared war on Germany.

His associates say he is fearful that discontinuance of construction of the carrier may be followed by other steps leading even to abandonment of the Marine corps and the Navy's air arm.

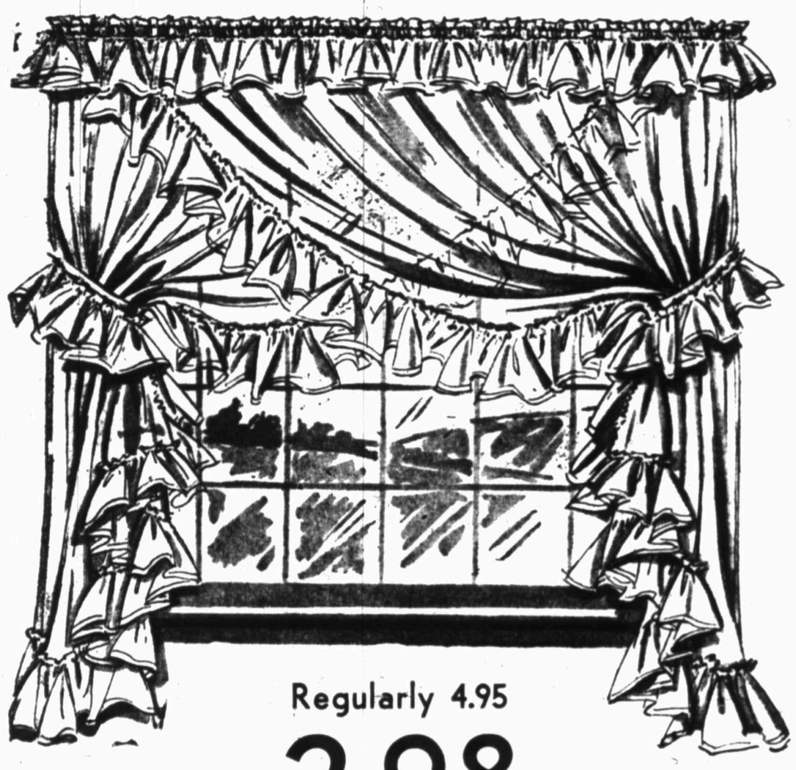

The giant carrier was to have been built at Newport News, Va., and its keel was laid only last Monday. The order for discontinuing work represented a victory for the United States Air Force in its claims to the responsibility for strategic bombing. The carrier would have been big enough to handle planes capable of carrying atomic bombs.

Harold Davies, Laborite member of the British Parliament, says the principal difference between the U. S. and Britain is that we have good business men and poor politicians, while Britain has good politicians and poor business men.

British business men, we may assume from that, are to blame for the fact that the socialist form of government in England has made taxes so high people can't afford to buy what they need to eat and wear.

That Man on Avenue Q says people have to be constantly on the alert these days to avoid mistaking statistics for facts and propaganda for truth.

Opportunity still knocks but most of us have become so indolent that we don't want to get up and answer the door.

EVER since the announcement of the reactivation of Lubbock Air Force Base came out, people have been talking about the economic aspects of the action.

The papers have been fair-to-middlin' full of figures and statistics, showing that the Air Force's coming home will mean considerable to the butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker.

To be sure, the economic impact of the reactivation will be important.

In San Angelo, after three months reactivation of Goodfellow Air Force base business there was up 25 per cent, according to the Concho city's leading banker. That indicates that the impact here will be from 10 to 15 per cent, since Lubbock is twice as large as San Angelo and does more than twice as much retail and wholesale business.

But important as the economic aspects of LAFB's reactivation are, there are other aspects worth considering, too.

These are the social and cultural aspects.

Those in Lubbock who remember the war days, when we had LAAF, SPAAF, the Engineers and Pre-Flighters at Tech and the West Texas Recruiting and Induction Center running full blast, will remember that service people became part and parcel of daily life here. We remember that many of them made valuable contributions to our living, apart from the economic angle.

JUST as the war put Army people into our churches, Sunday schools, P-TA's, civic and study clubs and made them a part of our casual social life, so can reactivation of LAFB bring about general intermingling of military and civilian personnel all over Lubbock.

The extent of the intermingling is up to us who live here permanently. We can make it general, if we choose—and as we should: or we can make it little.

If we show interest in the Air Force people, they'll show interest in us and in our problems.

If we don't, the military people will pretty much stick to their own circles and leave the home-owners pretty much alone.

We'll be able to learn a good deal from some of the people who come in here with the Air Force—if we want to learn from them.

From Portland, Maine, and from San Diego; from Savannah and from Dubuque will come educated, intelligent people whose civic thinking can stimulate us.

Some of those people may be able to save Lubbock considerable expense and disappointment by telling us of mistakes made in various public projects in their home towns, or in communities where they have been based as part of the Air Force. Others may be able to give us the benefit of improvement features they have noted elsewhere and thus help Lubbock become a better city in which to live.

All the brains, all the experience, all the good ideas in this country aren't centered in New York, in Washington, or even in Lubbock.

We can benefit greatly, if we choose, from the newcomers who soon will be with us, and from those who take their places from time to time in the years to come.

AS for the purely social standpoint, our temporary Air Force citizens will find their own stratas, just as any of us would if we, as civilians, moved from Lubbock to some other city.

A man in uniform is the very same man he would be if he were wearing mufti.

The woman married to a military man isn't any different than she'd be if she were married to a barber, a plumber, a lawyer, or a newspaperman.

Their children are just like the children of persons in civilian pursuits.

The idea some people have that all military people are either completely attractive, or completely unattractive, is a fallacy.

They're just like the rest of us in that they range from one extreme to the other, but mostly are pretty much run-of-the-mine folks.

We doubt if anyone in Lubbock had more, or more frequent, connections—business and social—with the Air Force than we did when LAAF and SPAAF were running here.

As civilian public relations advisor, we first had numerous and constant business contacts at both bases. These business contacts continued, but many also became social contacts at official Air Force affairs and in private get-togethers.

We met a great many interesting and attractive people that way, and, of course, some who were neither interesting, nor attractive.

The ratio was the same, no doubt, as it would have been with a group of civilians of comparable size.

There were a few bums here with the Air Force—both officers and enlisted men—during the war. But there were many very pleasant, agreeable and, in some instances, very wonderful people.

The same can be said of all of us who were born and raised here; who have lived here a long time, or the civilian newcomers. A few of us are lousy; most of us are all right; a few are super.

Everyone knows people he puts in these various categories, although, of course, it is a happy circumstance that all of us do not agree about which are good people and who are bad people.

JUST as there will be a housing problem to solve in connection with the Air Force's return to Lubbock, there will be cultural and sociological problems.

But as in the economic phase, the sociological and cultural benefits we can gain from Air Force people will far overshadow the liabilities.

If Lubbock takes up where it left off in the matter of co-operation with the military — which point was an important one in the Air Force's decision to return to Lubbock—we'll have a better city in every way. Most of us can be much happier and live more interestingly.

There is not a civic, social, cultural, or religious organization in Lubbock which cannot gain from the acceptance of Air Force people interested in them—just as during the war our military people contributed support all along the line.

It is certain that Lubbock will not fail to work this new mine for good citizenship. Friendly, cooperative Lubbock would never fail in anything of that nature. To fail isn't Lubbock's way.

Therefore, it is safe to say that the return of the Air Forces is going to be a big thing for our city. Over all, it will be good for Lubbock in every way.

BY DREW PEARSON: AUSTRALIA'S DR. HERBERT EVATT IS FOR PEACE AT ALL COSTS

Capital Lobbyists Range From Cradle To Grave

WASHINGTON. — Keep your eyes on the stubby little man with the gavel in his hand at Lake Success. Herbert V. Evatt, foreign minister of Australia and president of the U. N. general assembly, is the quiet center of the East-West cyclone. He is not afraid to make enemies for himself in his efforts to make peace.

PEARSON

Evatt used to be the trigger-man in counter-attacking the Soviets. Now he is leaning over backward to be fair, and bangs his gavel to protect the Russians as well as the Anglo-Saxons.

One day last week Evatt refused to let U. S. Ambassador Austin come to the defense of the Atlantic pact, after Soviet Gromyko had attacked it. Reason: Austin had just spoken on another subject, and Evatt made him wait his turn.

The Australian is a human dynamo, and sometimes a grouchy one. When he rides from the Drake hotel in Manhattan to Lake Success in the Cadillac limousine assigned to him, he sits up front with the chauffeur, writhing with impatience when they get stuck in crosstown traffic.

But he is even more impatient to get the chariots of peace out of the traffic jam. He thinks the big powers have got themselves worked up to a psychopathic state, wants to knock their heads together.

"Doc" Evatt is one of the few persons who know how close the "neutrals" came to lifting the Berlin blockade during the the U. N. session at Paris last fall. At that time he got himself called unprintable names for meddling in the cold war.

But if the cold war is thawed out this spring, it will be partly thanks to the efforts of "intruders" like "Doc" Evatt, who hates war more than he hates the Soviets.

The Diaper Lobby

You can now find registered lobbyists on Capitol hill from the cradle to the grave.

Beginning at the cradle, the National Institute of Diaper services of New York retains a lobbyist, Stanley Posner, at $5,000 a year. On the other end of life, William C. Henning of Clumbus, Ohio, gets $6,000 for looking after the legislative interests of the American Cemetery association.

Even the family wash gets into the lobbying act through Richard A. Tilden of Washington, D. C., who represents clothespin manufacturers for $100 a day—when he works.

Lobbyists' earnings also vary widely, some working for nothing, while others haul down elaborate sums running into five and six figures. Thomas E. McGrath, address "General Delivery," Washington, D. C., is the self-appointed, nonpaid agents for an outfit which he calls, "taxpayers, U.S.A."

This rugged individualist informs Congress in his registration form that he pays all his overhead out of his own pocket—including "thinking" expenses. Burton Clark of Washington, a "retired explorer and university professor," also is a nonpaid spokesman for interests ambiguously described as "strictly personal."

HOWEVER, MOST of the boys who have registered since the 81st Congress convened last January get big folding money. The American Medical association employs several lobbyists with five-digit incomes, including Frank E. Wilson ($12,000 a year, plus $2,400 expenses), and the husband-and-wife firm of Clem Whitaker and Leone Baxter Whitaker, hot-shot west coast publicists. Together they are paid $100,00 a year to unsell Congress on national health insurance.

Gerard D. Reilly, ex-labor department solicitor and National Labor Relations board member, makes over $50,000 a year lobbying against certain phases of labor legislation he used to champion. His clients include General Motors ($36,000), the printing industry of America ($4,800) and General Electric (salary to be revealed in a later report to Congress).

Other blue-chip lobbyists are Sherlock Davis, who gets $20,000 a year, plus a fancy expense account, from U.S.-Cuban sugar interests, and the New York public-relations firm of Bell, Jones and Taylor, which lobbies for a string of five-and-dime and variety stores.

Bell, Jones and Taylor is paid $10,000 a year by S. H. Kress and Co., $3,000 a year by McCrory stores, plus $100 a day by these and other clients, including the G. C. Murphy Co., for keeping tab on legislation affecting retail trade.

The Diplomatic Cables

The British high command has taken the highly unusual step of permitting French and Belgian factories to begin building British-type fighters—the highly secret British Vampire and meteor models. These are the only allied planes which have any chance of keeping up with the 600-mile an hour Russian jets. . . Stanton Griffis, the U. S. envoy who once admired Hitler, has informed the President he's not anxious to return to the U. S. embassy in Cairo. He has a strong yen for the much-coveted job of ambassador to the court of St. James. . . Admiral Hillenkoetter's tour of duty is about up as chief of all American intelligence. Truman is looking for a replacement. . . . Freeman Matthews, U. S. ambassador to Sweden, heads the list of candidates for the job of assistant secretary of state in charge of Latin-American relations. The job was first offered to able Walter Donnelly, ambassador to Venezuela, but he turned it down on the advice of doctors. . . The Italian government has begun to modernize its big military airbase at Foggia—even though it isn't allowed military planes under the peace treaty. Reason behind this is simple: Foggia is the nearest allied base from which American B-36's could atom-bomb Russia. Italian troops and police have posted a 24-hour-a-day guard around the airfield while the work is going on. . . The United Nations will put off any decision on the Italian colonies until fall. Dr. Herbert Evatt, president of the assembly, will appoint a United Nations commission to investigate the colonies and report back next September.

He'd Get Out Were It Not So Embarrassing

BY ROBERT C. RUARK

New Styles In Navy Uniforms Are Hailed As "Streamlined"

NEW YORK, April 25.—I trust I will not be giving aid and comfort to the enemy if I reveal some vital Navy preparations for the maintenance of its forces, against the day of the great conflict. I tell you, I'm proud of my old alma mater. They're streamlining like mad.

RUARK

Only the other day you saw where a Wave was at sea on actual duty for the first time in history, indicating that future sea duty may be co-educational. But there are some juicy tidbits in the Reservist, a monthly poop-sheet for the gallant alumni, that should be retailed. As somebody said once, damn the security! Full speed ahead!

A notice, for instance, in this seagoing Harper's Bazaar, that the new trend in service ribbons is in three-eighths of an inch lengths, instead of in half-inch lengths as is the present custom for fruit-salad. This new look in decorations becomes mandatory after Oct. 1, 1951, and woe betide the luckless hero who ventures one with a half-inch ribbon after that date. Court-martial, suh. Disgrace. Rip off his buttons, and whip him through the fleet.

New Saluting Regulation

Then there is the thing about saluting. Scorning Mahan, Navy has met the challenbe of a new era in warfare. Sayeth the book:

"A hand salute by a person uncovered was prohibited under the old rules. Article 2110, Par. 3, now states that 'persons uncovered shall not salute, except when failure to do so would cause embarrassment or misunderstanding.'

"This means that an ncovered officer may return a salute, but not initiate it. For example, if an uncovered naval officer were saluted by Army or Air Force personnel, he would return the salute to avoid embarrassing all concerned."

Unification, we are here.

EMANCIPATION IN dress is showing all down the line. We see that chief petty officers and stewards "may replace the old-style four-button blue coat and overcoat with officer-style blue coat and overcoat. The old type of overcoat may be altered to conform with the new requirements by replacing the black buttons with gilt buttons and adding a half-belt to the back of the overcoat with two gilt buttons sewed thereon."

And then, chief, while you've got your needle and palm, you might run up a peekaboo blouse for the commanding officer. This democratic Navy is a great thing.

We see also that "authority for the officers to wear gold lace stripes only on the outer side of the sleeve is now canceled. The stripe must encircle the sleeve!" Economy be blowed! It's only gold.

And. . . "the uniform consisting of white coat and blue trousers, formerly authorized for officers as service dress, E, has been abolished."

Changes Are Revealed

And. . . "the enlisted man's overcoat has been altered to include a new convertible type collar."

And. . . "the khaki cotton coat has been abolished khaki uniforms made of tropical worsted, wool or rayon gabardine shall be worn and have been designated service dress, khaki,) except for liberty on foreign shores where dry cleaning facilities are not available. . ."

Oh, the fashion notes are limitless. You can't wear black shoes with khaki any more. That horrible gray uniform Ernie King wished on us is out, except for dirty work at sea. White gloves are de rigeur with women officers and enlisted men with service dress blue on formal or social occasions. The dark gray uniforms and the gray corde purse of the nurse corps has had it.

I am intrigued by all this fashion talk, but a little puzzled. Looks as if a fugitive from Vogue has penetrated Adm. Denfeld's top command. Right now it's hard to say whether the Navy is girding for war or first honors in a fashion parade.

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

A WOMAN reader wants to know what I think of a daughter-in-law who never invites her husband's parents over for a meal—even though the mother-in-law has the young couple to dinner often.

What I think about that situation, I'm sure, will not make me popular with any mother-in-law who, like the woman who wrote me, blame the daughter-in-law for all such neglect.

MILLETT

If parents are never invited to their married son's home, isn't it the son's fault and his alone? After all, he brings home the friends he wants to. He tells his wife when he wants the boss or a client invited to dinner. He can certainly be just as explicit about wanting his mother and father invited to his house.

So if either of the young couple is to blame in such a case, it's the child of the parents, not the in-law.

But taking the situation as it stands, why bother blaming anyone? That doesn't make the parents-in-law any happier and it doesn't make the relationship with the young folks any more rewarding.

FACE IT REALISTICALLY

WOULDN'T it be better for the parents, in such cases, to be completely realistic? To say to themselves, "All right, we are doing more for our children than they are doing for us. We are making all the effort to stay close to them through the years, to share their companionship. So what? It's worth the effort, isn't it?"

Perhaps the young folks seem callous and indifferent in not doing their part to foster the relationship. But rather than blame them for their neglect, how about trying to discover what is behind it?

Maybe the parents aren't leaving the young people alone enough. Maybe they are too free with criticism and suggestions. Maybe they try to be too helpful. It's a sad but true fact that young couples usually come to resent the parents who are always helping them out in money matters, because such parents usually feel that if they're helping the young folks out with money, they have a right to help them out with advice.

So my advice to parents who think they aren't welcome in a married son's home is to look to their own conduct to see if in it they can find a reason for the neglect. If they can't, then they should face the bitter truth that it's their child who is to blame, not the outsider who married into the family.

"Try And Stop Me"

HOWARD CULLMAN, the play backer, hired a new butler recently, named Jenkins, whose deportment on his first morning proclaimed him a gem. Cullman's clothes were laid out beautifully, breakfast was ready, and as he was leaving, Jenkins handed him his hat and newspaper.

There was a short flight of stairs to descend, and unfortunately, Cullman tripped over something on the top step. When he tripped again the following morning at the same spot he became suspicious. The third morning he caught Jenkins red-handed, or red-footed, slyly preparing to trip him deliberately again.

Cullman figured that the butler needed a psychiatrist more than an employer and fired him. A week later Dick Rodgers telephoned. "I've been interviewing a butler named Jenkins. He's given you as a reference."

"He's a fine butler," Cullman answered, "but I warn you: he'll trip you up. I think he's nuts." Rodgers laughed indulgently and hung up. A few days later Rodgers met Cullman at the Ritz Grill. The composer had a black eye and a bruised lip. "You guessed it, Howard," he told Cullman. "I hired your butler."

Today's Journal Editorial

A SOUND SAFE DRIVING IDEA

A proposal the other day that an annual statewide competition in safe driving be arranged for high school students, probably under the supervision of the Texas Interscholastic league, deserves serious study.

Kenneth Davis, of Fort Worth, a regional vice president of the Texas Safety association, made the suggestion, arguing that such a contest would stimulate interest in the safe driving courses which, increasingly and commendably, are becoming parts of school curricula.

The interscholastic league sponsors contests of many other kinds, of athletic and scholastic nature. Safe driving competitions, starting with schools and carrying them through counties, districts and to statewide finals, should prove more valuable than most of those now held.

The idea certainly is worth considering and, if practical, should be acted upon without unnecessary delay.

Caraway Starting 9,000 Foot Wildcat Well In Borden County

Operations have started on a 9,000-foot wildcat in northwestern Borden county, 12 miles northwest of Gail, by Caraway Drilling company of Big Spring.

It is the concern's No. 1 Cantrell, located 660 feet from north and east lines of section 22, block 32, EL&RR survey. Projected depth is calculated to allow an exploration into the Pennsylvanian. Drilling is with rotary tools.

This is an old wildcat drilled by Thomas W. Doswell in 1945. It was plugged and abandoned on total depth of 5,024 feet. Caraway now has taken over the venture, drilled out cement, and has made new hole to 7,336 feet. It was shutdown for repairs on that depth. Drillsite elevation is 2,957.

Good Flowing

Good flowing production has been proven for the second well in the Sharon Ridge-Canyon field southwest Scurry county. Humble Oil & Refining company No. 1 Huddleston, offset to the same company's No. 1 Bishop, discovery well of the pool, perforated casing at 6,680-6,703 feet opposite the Canyon and ran two-inch tubing to 6,665 feet.

Upon swabbing, the well kicked off and flowed 12 hours, making 530.2 barrels, gravity was 43.6 degreees. Gas-oil ratio was 890-1. The fluid had a shakeout of two per cent mud and water.

The well was waiting on a potential test. Total depth is 6,743 feet. It is 660 feet from south and 573 feet from east lines of section 437, block 97, H&TC survey.

Ellenburger prospects apparently have faded for Humble No. 1 Edmondson, northwest Scurry county wildcat, eight and one-half miles northeast of Snyder and 330 feet from north and east lines of section 437, block 97, H&TC survey.

A one-hour and 15-minute drillstem test at 8,145-8,170 feet recovered 590 feet of gas and 50 feet of heavily oil and gas cut drilling mud. The venture drilled ahead to 8,195 feet, set a packer at 8,170 feet and drillstem tested for 40 minutes, showing a slight blow of air for six minutes. Recovery was 10 feet of drilling mud with no shows of oil, gas or water.

On last report, the exploration was bottomed on 8,255 feet, preparing to run another drillstem test. Top of the Ellenburger was picked at 8,101 feet. The formation has shown slight oil and gas signs, but none sufficient to indicate commercial production.

Failure Evident

A failure in the Canyon-Pennsylvanian of northwest Scurry county is evident at Humble No. 1-B Edmondson, wildcat one and one-quarter miles west of the north Snyder area and 760 feet from north, 1,980 feet from east lines of section 437, block 97, H&TC survey.

Top of the Canyon was called at 7,111 feet. The venture drillstem tested for one hour at 7,160-80 feet and recovered 50 feet of drilling mud with no shows.

Another test was taken at 7,180-7,205 feet, with the tool open one hour. Recovery was 30 feet of drilling mud and 210 feet of salt water. A Schlumberger survey was being run on last report.

Test Scheduled

A potential test was scheduled at Humble No. 1-B Moore, pumping discovery from the Ellenburger in northwest Scurry county, 10 miles northwest of Snyder and 1,880 feet from north, 1,980 feet from east lines of section 492, block 97, H&TC survey.

Production is from casing perforations at 8,200-40 feet opposite the Ellenburger. Last pumping gauge reported showed 39.5 barrels of luid in 24 hours. Total depth is 8,405 feet. Plug-back depth is 8,350 feet.

Lone Star Producing company ran two drillstem tests on its No. 1 Maule, deep wildcat adjacent to the north Snyder area of north-central Scurry county.

Some Oil And Gas

The first was for one hour at 8,116-40 feet, showing a slight blow of air for five minutes and recovering 800 feet of drilling mud very slightly cut with oil and gas.

Operator then drillstem tested at 8,127-8,177 feet. The tool was open 45 minutes. Recovery was 630 feet of drilling mud, with no shows of oil, gas or water.

This prospector, 660 feet from south and east lines of section 451, block 97, H&TC survey, was drilling ahead in lime and chert.

Expert Says Chinese Reds May Lose All By Not Keeping Word

By RICHARD G. HARRIS
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, April 25 — Even though the Chinese Communists conquer the lower Yangtze river delta, they may lose all by failing to keep their promises to the people, an agricultural research expert who spent 13 years in China said today.

Dr. Gerald F. Winfield, author of the recently published book, "China, The Land And The People," said even with the fall of Nanking, Shanghai and a large area south of the Yangtze, the Chinese Communists still will be far short of their goal in that vast land.

He said that after the delta is overrun, the Red forces will have to "stop, digest what they have won and reorganize." Military activity will end and the lull may last for months before the Reds attempt to move southward, he said.

Resistence May Stiffen

During that period, Dr. Winfield said he believes, the Nationalists in the south may have time to stiffen their resistance, particularly if they are favored by continued Communist failure to fulfill propaganda boasts.

"During the lull the Communists will step up their propaganda," Dr. Winfield said. "But they are fast moving from the stage where propaganda is sufficient to one where delivery must be made. The Chinese are a patient people, but they already are beginning to be disillusioned in north China. They cannot understand the requirements to modernize a nation."

He said the Communists face the same problem that has plagued Chiang Kai-Shek — "over-population and under-productivity."

Must Have Capital

The Communists must acquire not only the scientific knowledge and means to double the productivity of farms, but they must also somehow obtain the capital to create industries which will draw 180,000,000 persons away from the farm.

"If China is to become industrialized in the next 50 years," he said, "she must accumulate $200,000,000,000 in capital plant. The national income is now $10,000,000,000 annually, or five per cent of what is needed. Thus, even if the entire national income were devoted to acquiring industrial plants, the investment would take 20 years.

"That situation, in China, could be called the 'squeeze.'"

Will Turn To U. S.

Dr. Winfield said it was the "squeeze" which will make the ruling group in China, Red dominated or not, turn again to the United States for the capital the country must have to survive.

The situation, he said, calls for private Amelcan interests to keep their channels open to China and for the economic cooperation adminitstration to continue there.

"The will realize they cannot solve their economic problems if they remain isolated from the west," he said.

Even should the delta be overrun, he said, "that does not mean the end."

He pointed out with that area in their hands the Communists still will not have occupied as much of China as did the Japanese during the last war.

UAW Pickets Inspect Parts

SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 25 —Union pickets established themselves as inspectors today as two major automobile manufacturers removed machinery from the strike-bound Bendix Aviation Corporation plant.

Members of Local 9, CIO United Automobile Workers, took stations on the loading dock at the company's products division plant to check equipment loaded into trucks.

The machinery, dies for Ford and General Motors cars, was to be moved from the plant at 10 a. m. (Eastern standard time). The decision to remove the equipment was reached after a day-long conference Sunday between company and union representatives.

Parts Agreed Upon

Stanley Ladd, president of the local, said union members would be on hand to permit only those machines agreed upon to leave the factory.

He said all dies specifically asked for by the two companies would be removed, along with 10,000 backing plates used in brakes of cars made at Ford's Lincoln division. Some General Motors supplies will remain in the closed-down Bendix plant.

Two auto companies had obtained a court order permitting them to remove the dies and parts, but loading plans were halted last Saturday when the pickets resisted operations.

George N. Beamer of South Bend, attorney for Bendix and the two auto firms, said no efforts were made to settlement of the strike at Sunday's conferences.

The plant has been closed since last Wednesday when its 7,500 workers walked out in accordance with a strike vote taken the week before.

Revolt Plot In Peru Is Claimed Crushed

LIMA, Peru, April 25 (AP)—The Peruvian military junta claims it has crushed a plot for a revolt which had been scheduled for last night or today.

A government statement said the revolt had been planned by the outlaw APRA party, a leftist group.

No Job Openings At LAFB Available Now

Lt. J. E. Critz, in charge of Lubbock Air Force Base until its reactivation begins, asks civilians seeking work there to "please, please wait until official notice is given that job applicants will be given hearings."

Lieutenant Critz says ever since the announcement of the reactivation of LAFB he has been besieged by job-seekers. "It is a waste of time for both the jobseeker and myself," he said this morning, "for applications to be lodged now. Most of the jobs at LAFB will be filled from the Civil Service register anyway, and I have no information concerning the number of jobs to be filled, of the kind of jobs they are."

He said the press would be informed when base authorities are here and ready to talk to job applicants.

Lieutenant Critz has been in charge of Lubbock Air Force Base ever since its reactivation but has not yet been advised when the first cadre of officers will arrive from Barksdale Air Force Base, Shreveport, to begin reactivation.
