Belgrade And Sofia Targets In Heavy Blow

Budapest Raided Last Night After Daylight Attacks

TWO-WAY BLOWS RESUMED

LONDON, April 17 (U.P.) — Powerful American bombing fleets resumed the two-way bombardment of Axis Europe today as U. S. 8th Air force Liberators pounded the French invasion coast and Italian-based heavies struck in great strength at Sofia and Belgrade.

Liberators, a headquarters announcement said. In addition, aircraft components factories near Belgrade were hit.

The attack on Belgrade was the first assault of the war by Allied bombers on the Yugoslav capital itself, although nearby airdromes

ENEMY SHIP SUNK

CAIRO, April 17 (AP) — RAF Beaufighters sank an enemy supply ship with cannon fire in the harbor of Kerani in southern Greece and damaged another ship so badly she keeled over on her side, the Middle East Air command announced today in reporting continued attacks on Axis shipping.

and an aircraft factory were attacked yesterday by Liberators and Fortresses.

Several Planes Destroyed

First reports from returning fliers said some enemy planes were encountered and several destroyed in the blows against the two capitals.

A third Balkan capital, Budapest in Hungary, was attacked last night by Italy-based air forces, after daylight attacks Sunday against the Romanian rail centers of Brasov and Turnu-Severi.

Brasov, an industrial city also known as Kronstadt, is 50 miles north of the Romanian oil center of Ploesti and only 100 miles from the Red army front in Romania — the nearest American bombers have yet come to the Russian lines.

Brasov lies on the northern slope of the Transylvania Alps, athwart the rail line used by the Germans to supply their troops

RICH---FOR A WHILE—Andrew F. Howe knows what it's like to be a millionaire for a minute. The 67-year-old St. Louis inventor was awarded $1,958,240 in Springfield, Ill., Federal Court, in suit against Commonwealth Steel-General Castings Company. As court clerk handed him check, Judge Briggle read decree approving $794,038 fees for counsel and master in chancery. With mere $1,164,203, Howe returned to St. Louis, to await bad news from Treasury income tax authorities. Tax might be 80 per cent, leaving him but $132,840.60 out of almost two million.

Bond Is Made In Kidnaping

(Special To The Journal)

CROSBYTON, April 17. — A. J. Bell, 45, was released under bail Sunday afternoon when several sureties from his home town of Stamford came here with his wife and 22-year-old blind son and a brother.

The $5,000 bond binds him over to 72nd district grand jury action May 8, under a charge of kidnaping a 4-year-old Crosbyton girl Friday afternoon with intention to conceal her from her parents.

The department of Sheriff Roy E. Hillin said the child, her 6-year-old brother, her mother, her grandmother and a neighboring woman who had driven the car that overhauled Bell and the child on the highway a quarter-mile from Crosbyton had gone into the jail to look at the man for purpose of identifying him.

Each Identified Bell

Each, officials said, claimed Bell was the man who took the child into his car under a promise he would buy her ice cream.

Bell, who said he had done six months in Leavenworth federal prison in connection with a Jayton cotton case convicted several years ago and was a parolee from that institution, maintained he could not recall events hours before his arrest about 10:30 o'clock Friday night in a hotel in Lubbock.

He released the child, officials said, when the three women overhauled him. The child, it further was related, had the smell of liquor on its breath and clothing, and officials said that Bell had a bottle of whisky when arrested.

MacArthur Not Seeking Office

Sole Ambition Is To Help Win War

(By The Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, April 17—Gen. Douglas MacArthur today replied to public questions stirred by his letters to a Nebraska Republican congressman on the presidential campaign with the statement, "I have not sought the office nor do I seek it," and said his "sole ambition" is to help win the war.

MacArthur's written statement, however, left wide open the question of whether he would accept the Republican presidential nomination if it were offered or if he were "drafted" as a candidate. In this regard he was cryptically silent.

Not For Publication

His statement also declared that his letters to the Nebraskan, Rep. A. L. Miller, released for publication by the congressman who is active in the Draft-MacArthur campaign, "were never intended for publication."

"I entirely repudiate the sinister interpretation that they were intended as criticism of any political philosophy or of any personage in high office," MacArthur said.

The correspondence was made public by Miller last Thursday.

MacArthur said in his statement today that perusal of his letters "will show any fair minded person that they were neither politically inspired nor intended to convey blanket approval of the

City Bus Company Is Burglarized Today

City Bus company, at 1101 Main street, was burglarized early today by someone who "must have carried a tub with him," police said this morning.

"The intruder entered by the front door and left the same way, proceeded directly to where the money was kept from Sunday's recipts and left with $250 in currency and $358.85 in 'change'," said Aubrey Fawver, assistant chief of police.

"Much, if not most, of the change was in nickels—and $358.85 in change is a lot of weight and bulk."

Police said the person who took the money displayed "thorough" knowledge of the place, where the money was kept and how to break into a cabinet to get it.

The bus company did not close until 1 o'clock this morning, or slightly later.

Jap Casualties Heavy In India

Glider Maneuver Changes Outlook

(By The Associated Press)

KANDY, Ceylon, April 17 — Very heavy casualties have been inflicted on the enemy and important positions captured north of Imphal in counter-operations against the Japanese invasion of India, Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten announced today in a communique issued from his new operational headquarters here.

The British also improved their positions in the hills northeast of Imphal, beyond the 10-mile rice paddy belt protecting the vital Allied storehouse and supply base.

Meanwhile, official silence fell over the operations of the glider-borne Chindits whose new-found strategy of infiltration by air, was reported in yesterday's communique, appeared to have promised a new turn to the entire Burma-India campaign.

Bombers Support Offensive

The Sunday communique said "medium bombers of the air commando force of the tactical air force continued the offensive against enemy communications and in support of ground positions in daylight on April 14 in the Yeu, Shwebo and Mawlu areas."

Yeu and Shwebo are approximately 60 miles north of Mandalay where the Chindits — British and Indians formerly commanded by the late Maj. Gen. Orde C. Wingate — would be in position to cut the enemy's supply lines to the north, including those to the India invasion front.

Today, however, our official explanation said this section of the communique had deferred "erroneously and inadvertently" to ground positions in the Yeu and Shwebo areas.

(The official explanation did not specifically deny that ground

Mutilated Bodies Of Two Found In Lake

CAMDENTON, Mo., April 17 (U.P.)—The mutilated body of a second woman was found this morning by highway patrolmen searching the shores of the lake of the Ozarks for clues in the slaying of a woman whose body was discovered yesterday by three fishermen in the lake.

Neither woman has been identified. The body of the second was well up on the shore away from the water, Patrolman said. It is being left where it was found until laboratory technicians can arrive to examine it.

Both women's bodies had been cut and mutilated, and their heads cut off at the mouth. The second victim was believed to be a young woman about 26 years old.

The murdered woman found Sunday had been decapitated and her left leg severed between the knee and hip. Mrs. Abbie Woolery, coroner of Camden county, said the body had been in the lake "not more than 36 hours."

The victim was believed to have been about 50 years old, five feet six inches tall and weighing about 180 pounds. The body was clad only in brief underclothing and one stocking. A coroner's jury found she had been murdered by persons unknown.

Thirty-Eight Die, Over 300 Injured In Storm

At least 147 Homes Destroyed As Storm Hits Georgia, South Carolina Areas

(By The Associated Press)

ATLANTA, April 17.—Weary rescue workers, digging into the wreckage left by a tornado that roared over a 100-mile strip in northeastern Georgia and western South Carolina early Sunday, fixed the death toll today at 38, with more than 300 persons injured.

Twenty-one deaths were reported in Georgia—12 in the Royston area and nine in the Nuberg community of Hart county. Seventeen persons were killed in South Carolina.

American Red Cross representatives said that at least 147 homes were destroyed and 103 homes damaged.

Struck At Midnight

Striking around midnight, Sunday, the storm was likened by many as a gigantic, death-dealing ball, which bounded from one community to another, leaving

BUT NO CYCLONE HERE!

Yes, we've had a little sand blowing around in West Texas the past several days. BUT: We've had no tornado, killing two-score persons, injuring scores more and doing untold damage to property!

Oldtimers know "you can mark it down on your cuff" whenever West Texas has an unpleasant sandstorm, some other area has a tornado or a cyclone.

Sandstorms, though, are just unpleasant. They don't kill or maim people and they don't do great property damage.

untouched spaces between. Others said that it "roared like an express train," and was accompanied by heavy rain and electrical display.

The first area hit was in the vicinity of Gainesville, in Hall county, Ga., where in 1936 another tornado killed 183 persons and injured more than 200. The storm then rushed on across the Georgia line into South Carolina, striking at least seven places with resultant death and destruction of property.

Hits Row Of Houses

Residents of Royston, a town of 1,400 in Franklin county, Ga., where 12 were killed, said the storm dipped into a row of houses three blocks from the business section, levelling eight in line. Five persns died in one residence there.

Doctors, hampered by power failure, used flashlights in treating the injured. Mrs. Alvin Dove, brought to a hospital shortly before the tornado struck, gave birth to a baby during the storm.

Principal damage at Greenwood, S. C., aside from houses levelled, was to the two-story brick hospital. This building was unroofed and so heavily damaged that all patients, except a few on the first floor, had to be evacuated.

No patients in the hospital at the time the storm struck were injured.

Bill To Pay Draft Board Members Urged

WASHINGTON, April 17. (AP) — Senator Wiley (R-Wis) today called for legislation to provide compensation for members of the 6,441 local selective service boards throughout the country.

Asserting that "higher-ups are sitting on velvet cushions and drawing big pay, but the boys who do the work — the boys who get all the blame and damnation and criticism — get nothing," Wiley told the Senate:

"It is time that Congress does something about it."

He asked that the Senate military committee draft a bill to compensate the three to seven members usually functioning on local boards.

Nazi Blow At Anzio Smashed

Figures Given On Fighting In Area

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, April 17 (AP)—A small German attack on the northwestern sector of the Anzio beachhead collapsed today under Allied artillery fire which dispersed supporting infantry, British troops seized six prisoners.

The Anzio beachhead has been raided 277 times by a total of 2,472 enemy planes since the Allies landed below Rome on Jan. 22, headquarters revealed today as ground activity in Italy remained confined to aggressive patrol clashes on all fronts.

Allied anti-aircraft batteries downed 176 of the beachhead raiders, headquarters said, and 117 more probably were destroyed. The figures covered the period up to April 14.

4,000 Prisoners Taken

Allied troops seized nearly 4,000 prisoners during the 12 weeks and destroyed 200 tanks or self-propelled guns, headquarters added.

Commenting on the bold raid early Saturday by American troops and tanks against two German strong points in the coastal sector of the beachhead, headquarters said the Nazis had used the points for observation and a base for activities within the Allied lines.

A delayed dispatch from the beachhead yesterday said the Americans slashed to a depth of 2½ miles, capturing 61 prisoners. Two Allied tanks were destroyed during the raid and one man was wounded.

Fire Ammunition Dump

Another patrol set fire to an ammunition dump after penetrating deeply into enemy territory to a point two miles southwest of Cisterna and engaging in a fight with the Germans.

Patrols clashed among the rocky crags of Castle hill overlooking ruined Cassino and both sides intensified their artillery duels north of the town. The Germans also were active on the west slopes of Monastery hill.

Along the Adriatic front German patrols were extremely active. One party which penetrated Allied positions northeast of Orsigna was repulsed with light casualties.

MacArthur Opposed To Gift Of Liquor

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, April 17. (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur doesn't consider "liquor or spiritous wines as appropriate recognition" for Maj. Richard I. Bong's record-breaking feat of shooting down 27 enemy planes, so the Poplar, Wis., ace will not get the case of Scotch whisky promised by Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker to the first American pilot to exceed his World war I record of 26 planes shot down.

Instead, MacArthur indicated Bong's promotion from captain to major on the day his record was confirmed was a more proper recognition.

Finland Still Hoping For Acceptable Terms

LONDON, April 17. (AP) — Finland has rejected revised Russian peace terms but in a note to Moscow has sought to keep open the door to future negotiations, it was learned today.

Both the United States and Britain were believed informed of the decision. The fact that some time has elapsed since the negotiations started, during which the Russian Army has initiated no offensive on the Finnish front, was interpreted here as meaning there still was some chance for peace.

Cross Country Mark Bettered

Time Is Six Hours And 58 Minutes

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 17—The Lockheed Constellation, 57-passenger transport plane, arrived over the Washington airport at 12:54 p. m. (Central War time) today, only six hours and 58 minutes after leaving Burbank, Calif., on its maiden long-distance flight.

The time bettered the Los Angeles to Washington record for a transport plane, set in 1935, by three hours and 24 minutes, and the fastest time from coast-to-coast, set in 1937 by Howard Hughes, who was aboard the Constellation today, by 30 minutes.

The runway at Washington national airport was occupied by an Army plane and the Constellation circled once before landing at 12:58 p. m. Central War time.

Hughes, Frye Alternate

Howard Hughes, millionaire sportsman, movie maker and aviation enthusiast, and Jack Frye, TWA president, were alternating at the controls. Seventeen persons were aboard.

The Constellation left Burbank at 5:56 a. m., Central War Time.

A T. W. A. spokesman said the four engined aerial giant, built to carry 57 passengers, will be turned over to the Army Air Transport command. After the war T. W. A. plans to use Constellations in its transport service.

The plane carried gasoline enough for a non-stop flight, a TWA spokesman said, and any landings en route will depend upon weather and plane performance.

The ship's four 18-cylinder engines develop 2,200 horsepower each, and its speed is in excess of 300 miles an hour, Lockheed officials asserted. Its weight is 40 tons.

Price Control Renewal Urged

WASHINGTON, April 17. (AP)—Navy Secretary Knox testified today that failure to renew price controls "would have serious and unpredictable consequences for the Navy."

Knox told the Senate banking committee that price controls, which expire June 30 unless Congress extends them, had:

1. "Saved billions of dollars" on naval expenditures.

2. Helped insure "full and uninterrupted production."

3. Helped "sustain the morale" of Navy officers and men and their dependents back home.

Critical Year For Program

Knox said that "the next year is of critical importance to the Navy's production program," which he said, "is still on the upgrade.

"Last year alone the number of war ships was more than doubled. And the 1944 schedule calls for completion of substantially the same number of combatant ships as were completed last year."

Knox quoted OPA figures indicating that if price increases had followed the same trend as in the similar period of the last war, Navy expenditures of some $65,000,000,000 would have been $17,000,000,000 higher.

Labor Cost Held Down

"Stabilization of wage rates under the act has also held down the cost of labor embodied in our fighting equipment," Knox told the committee, adding this would not have been possible without control of workers' cost of living.

In the absence of national service legislation," he said, "this la-

Soviet Warships And Planes Lash Fleeing Enemy

Russians Smashing Through Suburbs Of Burning City; 40,000 Enemy Troops Are Captured In Lightning Crimean Drive

By HARRISON SALISBURY
United Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, April 17.—Russian shock troops were battering their way into Sevastopol today while Soviet dive bombers and artillery rained destruction on troop-laden transports trying to evacuate the burning Black sea naval base.

Sevastopol's north bay and naval anchorage were described in front dispatches as a "graveyard of sunken transports and power barges," many of them sunk with the cargoes of hundreds of German and Romanian soldiers as they struggled to put out from the flame-splashed waterfront.

Military observers predicted the fall of Sevastopol, and with it the virtual completion of the Crimean campaign, within 48 hours.

Gen. Feodor I. Tolbukhin's Fourth army of the Ukraine, smashing into Sevastopol from the north and northeast, had seized the city's main air fields, destroying Axis planes on the ground, and Soviet fighters shot down 10 planes evidently trying to evacuate key personnel by air.

FALL OF GREAT PORT APPEARS IMMINENT

LONDON, April 17. — The fall of burning Sevastopol, last major Axis bastion in southern Russia, appeared imminent today as Russian troops were reported smashing through the suburbs two miles from the heart of the city, while Soviet bombers and warships lashed at thousands of Germans and Romanians trying to escape by sea.

Field dispatches painted a scene of flaming chaos in the big Black sea port bombarded incessantly by Russian siege guns commanding the nearby hills and hounded by swarms of planes pouncing on Axis troops streaming for the last ships in a harbor strewn with wreckage and bodies.

Rushing on the besieged city from the southeast, a Soviet communique said, one Russian column early last night swept up Yalta, one summer residence of the czars, and today it was reported eating up the 30 miles of coastal highway separating it from Sevastopol.

Avoiding Nazi Minefields

Other troops were converging on Sevastopol from the mountains inland, moving along trails chosen to avoid elaborate German minefields and booby traps sowed along the roads in an attempt to gain time.

Altogether the Russians have seized 3,000 prisoners in the Crimea yesterday, the Soviet communique said, boosting to 40,000 the total captured in the lightning eight-day conquest which has left the Germans holding only 150

Jap Targets In Kuriles Raided

Overwater Missions Now Almost Routine

(By The United Press)

HEADQUARTERS, 11th Air Force, Alaska, April 17.—Army Liberators from this command, flying the 2,000 mile overwater missions with almost routine efficiency, blasted Onekotan and Paramushiro Friday, making the sixth successive strike last week against the Japanese strongholds in the Kurile island chain, a communique disclosed today.

The big four-motored bombers flew through barrages of flak, but no night fighters challenged them and all the planes returned undamaged. Pilots who participated in the mission included Lts. John A. Nixon, Omaha, Neb.; Chadbourne Steward, San Francisco, and James B. Volger, Charlotte, N. C.

Missions Easier Now

The airmen said these transoceanic missions seem almost easy, with the increased experience and skill of pilots and navigators. The bugaboos of weather and distance no longer are as formidable as they were during the aerial warfare over Kiska and Attu when a 700-mile strike was considered long and perilous.

These oceanic-ranging pilots have a new method of meeting the weather problem. They start at Matsuwa in the central Kuriles and prowl along the chain until they find a target unobscured by fog. They give it a shellacking and then start looking for another.

With the big warplanes roaring nightly half the length of the Kuriles, the Japs have been getting little sleep. They have been busy manning guns and search-

Engine-To-Caboose Radiophone Proved Complete Success

SALT LAKE CITY, April 17 (U.P.)—A new development in railroading, an engine-to-caboose radio telephone, was pronounced a complete success today following the arrival here of a "test run" freight train.

The new telephone was tested comprehensively for the first time on the 70-car freight which arrived here from Denver. Engineer A. C. Baggs said the radiophone would save 45 minutes every 100 miles in western mountain travel.

The telephone made possible clear conversations between engineer and brakemen, thereby eliminating the usual — and tedious — signalling procedure. Previously, brakemen often had to walk half the length of the train on twisting mountain roadbeds in order to signal to the engineer.

The train was to make a check-test today on its return trip to Denver.

Bills Would Change Court Procedure

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP)—Seven different bills designed to alter supreme court procedure in handling cases—chiefly with the intent of speeding consideration—are pending before the Senate and House judiciary committees.

One of the measures, offered by Rep. Welchel (D-Ga) and backed by several bar associations, would require the agreement of seven of the nine justices before a prior ruling could be reversed.

"This recent trend toward switching decisions is shaking the very foundations of jurisprudence," Welchel declared. "Something must be done to stop it."

He added he "certainly agreed" with Justice Roberts, who commented when the court overruled itself recently on the rights of negroes to participate in Democratic primaries, that such reversals put court decisions "in the same class with restricted railway tickets—good for this day and train only."

The bill most discussed publicly is one introduced by Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) and Chairman Sumners (D-Texas) of the House judiciary committee. Supported by Attorney General Francis Biddle and many other legal officials, it would allow five judges to constitute a quorum, instead of six, as at present.

Fiji Islanders Aiding In War Against Japs

WASHINGTON, April 17. (AP)—Fiji islanders, equipped with modern arms including automatic weapons, are helping the Allies exterminate Japanese in the South Pacific.

The War department reported today that in one continuing action the fierce warriors, led by New Zealand officers, penetrated deep into enemy territory in the Bougainville area and returned after killing 179 Japanese while losing only one killed and three wounded.

U. S. Raids Have Cost Germans 8,000 Planes Since Nov. 1

By EDWARD W. BEATTIE
United Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 17. — American air attacks have cost Germany's defensive fighter force more than 8,000 planes since last Nov. 1, according to up-to-date, reliable estimates today.

Something approaching 5,000 of the 8,000 were fighters which German factories would have turned out under an intensified production program had it not been for devastating United States raids. The remainder were shot down in aerial combat.

Since the turn of the year, American heavy bombers and their fighter escort, together with medium bombers and other fighters, have claimed a total of 3,560 German fighters destroyed in battle.

7,000 War Planes

The significance of the Nazi losses was evident when set against the fact that the German air force's front line strength, bombers and fighters combined, probably ran around 7,000 planes at the start of the war.

In those days the Germans probably had 100 per cent replace-

Fierce Counterattack Reported

(A German broadcast of a Rangoon dispatch declared a British division and two brigades, deeply dug in along the road south of Imphal, had opened a "fierce counterattack" to regain ground around Bishenpur and Moirang after strong preparatory fire from large caliber artillery and mortars.

(To the north, however, less than a mile northwest of Kohima, the broadcast said, a British artillery unit was compelled to begin a "general retreat" in the face of repeated bayonet charges. An adjoining unit on a height was facing "imminent annihilation," the radio asserted.)

Establishment of positions at Shwebo and Yeu would place Allied troops 120 miles deeper in enemy territory than they have been before. Headquarters previously had announced that Chindits were at Mawlu, on the railway 180 miles north of Mandalay.

Allies Hold Imphal Plain

Of the jungle fighting in northeastern India, a communique said flatly that "the Imphal plain is entirely in our hands" with Allied units attacking the enemy in neighboring hills after capturing one important height.

In other offensive operations to the north Allied forces have made "satisfactory progress" in a campaign to drive the Japanese from the 35-mile road from Kohima to Dimapur, a route linking up with the Allies' Bengal-Assam railroad, the communique said.

Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's Chinese-American offensive in northern Burma progressed steadily, the bulletin said, while on the Arakan front near the coast several enemy positions were overwhelmed in the Buthedaung area.

Reinforcements By Air

(The Germans broadcast a Rangoon dispatch saying Mountbatten was sending heavy forces of troops to the Imphal area by air, that the British-Indian fifth division was being transferred from the Arakan sector by plane and that other troops were being carried from Calcutta in the same way).

(Five correspondents reporting the Burma battle for a large part of the British press cabled London yesterday that they would file no further news until relaxation of censorship restrictions which they said have eliminated certain dispatches "for no apparent security reasons."

The Coliseum of Rome was built to accommodate approximately 50,000 people.

Museum Association To Honor Pioneers

Pioneers who came to the South Plains prior to 1901 will be honored at the fourteenth annual meeting of the West Texas Museum association Thursday which features an afternoon session at 4 o'clock at the museum building on Texas Technological college campus; a chuck wagon supper at 6:30 o'clock at Aggie grove and an evening session at 8:30 o'clock at the museum building.

Walter S. Posey will be chairman of the afternoon session which will be devoted to hearing reminiscences by the guests of honor. J. Evetts Haley will be main speaker at the evening program. Haley, who is ranching on the Canadian river near Spearman, is author of a number of historical books, including "The Life of Col. Charles Goodnight" and "The Life of George W. Littlefield."

The pioneers will be guests at the chuck wagon supper and others are to pay sixty cents each. Reservations for the meal may be made with Dean James G. Allen, Tech college, until Wednesday noon.

A board of directors luncheon has been scheduled Thursday noon at the Hilton hotel Aztec room.

Nazi Plane Losses

ments in reserve. Today, in the case of fighters, they probably must draw on their pipeline to the factories and on current output.

Experienced observers believed the destruction of the last three months already had created a dangerous "airlock" in the Nazi pipeline, and replacement will become increasingly difficult.

That was expected to be true especially when big land operations begin and the Germans are faced by a day in and day out challenge to combat from their front lines back to their industrial areas.

Full Picture Not Given

A statement last Wednesday by a Royal Air force commentator that the Germans now have 250 to 300 more fighters than they had in November caused considerable astonishment here, to put it mildly. It failed to give a full picture from the point of view of the men who are seeing the luftwaffe daily over Germany.

A high source said recently that in effective resistance the German air force efficiency had gone down around 30 per cent, largely because of a conservation campaign keeping the planes grounded unless conditions force them to give battle.

Estimates from other sources put the luftwaffe strength now at around 300 fighters fewer than in November and probably 500 to 600 fewer than in January.

The Germans still are capable of putting up serious combat when they cannot afford to gamble on staying aground, observers agreed.

Eighth Army Veteran To Address Club

Major Peter W. Rainier, who served on the British Eighth Army staff continuously from the days of Gen. Wavell to the final fall of Tunisia to the Allies, will address the Lubbock Knife and Fork club in its April dinner tonight at 7 o'clock at the Hilton hotel.

An excellent public speaker, Major Rainier knows military strategy and tactics as few other men available to American audiences today and presents an authoritative discussion of what is probably the most interesting question today in the minds of half of the people of the world.

His subject will be: "Pipeline to Battle."

American food shipments to England, Russia and other United Nations in 1944 are expected to total about 11 1-2 per cent of estimated supplies.

We The Women

BY RUTH MILLETT

"American veterans of long service in World War II may soon be coming home on furlough under a troop rotation plan to be inaugurated by the War Department."

That news is probably the best that many parents and wives have had since their men went out of the country two or more years ago.

Just how wonderful those furloughs will prove to be to the tired veterans who receive them will depend in large part on the thoughtfulness and consideration of their families.

The wives or parents who are fortunate enough to have a serviceman sent home on furlough from abroad should never lose sight of the fact that it is the man's furlough, not his family's, and that during it, nothing matters except that he gets out of his furlough just what he wanted.

His family shouldn't say, even to his oldest friends: "You must drop by and see Bill." They should wait and find out whether Bill wants to see people.

And they shouldn't let their natural politeness keep them from holding at a distance all the people he doesn't want to spend time on.

Nor should Mama say, when Bill says he doesn't want to get up and talk to the women's club, "Please, Bill. It would make me so happy. Why, I'd be so terribly proud of you."

DON'TS TO REMEMBER

Having to make a speech might very well ruin Bill's whole furlough.

Nor should there be a lot of talk of all that Bill's family has gone through worrying about him. He'll know without being told they have worried plenty.

And such talk as "I don't see how I can stand having you go away again" will just make his going that much harder for him.

Families are going to have to be unselfish, thoughtful and considerate—if the long-awaited furloughs servicemen receive are to be as wonderful as they dreamed they would be.

When the Crimean tallies are completed, the Moscow-announced toll of Axis troops killed or captured since March 4 is expected to exceed 500,000. It was raised to approximately 450,000 yesterday by a special communique announcing the death or capture of 145,793 men between March 6 and April 15 in the offensive which carried the Second Ukraine army 50 miles inside Romania.

1,800 Germans Killed

A midnight bulletin last night also announced that Russian troops on the mainland had killed 1,800 Germans in a new drive which forced the lower Dnestr river in the Tiraspol sector, outflanking the rail junctions of Tighina and Chisinau in Bessarabia.

A Tass dispatch broadcast from Moscow last night said that a "large-scale transfer of German troops from west to east is underway" and added that it was believed "the German general staff has been able to convince leading Nazi circles that from every point of view it would be more correct to weaken the western side of the European fortress."

The dispatch, which indicated Russian impatience for the opening of the invasion from Britain, quoted "private information" from Istanbul.

MacDonald Vetoed 2 Hoover Proposals

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP)—State department papers revealed today that British Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, at the last minute of his 1929 conference with President Herbert Hoover, eliminated from the final announcement the Hoover proposal to divide the world into two hemispheres for purposes of naval base limitation.

MacDonald became "troubled about public opinion" at home and "frightened" about possible repercussions of the naval base proposal which would have pledged the United States not to build new bases in the Far East and Great Britain not to build any in the western hemisphere.

He also eliminated all reference to another Hoover proposal designed to eliminate starvation of civilian populations by naval blockade as a weapon of war. Mr. Hoover wanted to grant food ships in wartime the same immunity from attack as hospital ships.

These hitherto unpublished proposals were made public by the State department in two volumes of papers on U. S. foreign relations for 1929. Each year the department publishes papers that are 15 years old.

GOP PARTY LEADERS READ BETWEEN LINES

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP)—Republican party leaders heading for a pre-convention session in Chicago sought today to read between the lines of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's disavowal of presidential ambitions in an effort to determine whether he still could be regarded as a "draft" possibility.

Most of them were inclined to think he could be. They quoted from his statement—"I have not sought the office nor do I seek it"—as a plain indication that he might not be averse to letting the office seek him.

In further support of their belief, they cited this additional passage:

"The high constitutional processes of our representative and republican form of government in which there resides with the people the sacred duty of choosing and electing their chief executive are of so imposing a nature as to be beyond the sphere of any individual's coercion or decision."

RAF Wellingtons hit the Budapest rail yards.

Making the first Allied raid of the war on the Belgrade area, Flying Fortresses and Liberators struck the Zemum and Pancevo airdromes to the west and also dropped a few bombs on the Rogsarski aircraft factory.

Heavy damage was spread through the rail yards at Turnu-Severin, bottleneck on the Romanian side of the vital Danubian "iron gate," by the Sunday daylight attack. RAF Wellingtons had hit similar, targets there only the night before.

Yugoslav City Hit

In a fourth daylight forway into the Balkans, other heavy bombers attacked the Yugoslav rail junction of Nis.

Seven heavy bombers and three fighters were lost in the Balkan raids. Three additional aircraft failed to return from other operations by the Mediterranean Allied air force during the day.

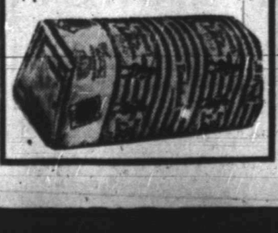

(While the Italy-based bombers were spreading out far and wide in the Balkans, their counterparts in Britain for the most part remained grounded. American long-range fighters from 500 to 750 strong, however, plunged out from Britain Saturday, fanned over Germany almost to Berlin. They shot down 18 German planes and destroyed about 40 others on the ground).

U. S. Couple Defies Maze Of Red Tape To Marry In Italy

BY KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

NAPLES, Italy, April 15 (Delayed) — Precisely at 4 p. m. today Mary Chandler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Chandler of Malden, Mass., became the bride of Capt. Max Harple, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Marple of Pawhuska, Okla., in a little Neapolitan Presbyterian church — whereupon both bride and groom heaved strictly un-newlywed-like sighs of relief.

The whole thing had been extremely complicated. The wedding was authorized by: the U. S. government, the U. S. Army, the North African theater of operations of the U. S. Army, U. S. Army Air force, American Red Cross (Mediterranean theater), the Italian government, the Neapolitan municipal government and the Presbyterian churches of both Italy and America.

Best Man Late!

Then after months of getting the whole thing approved, the best man was late.

But finally, everything went off practically on schedule, after which the happy couple headed for a honeymoon on the isle of Capri.

It started back in October when Max, who is an air force public relations officer and once edited the Pawhuska Daily Journal-Capital, appeared at the Red Cross office in Algiers about a little business loan. He was referred to Mary who had then been with the Red Cross about three months.

He got the loan, but having fallen for blonde Mary, he decided to "show off" by "paying it back in eight days — the quickest I ever paid back a loan in my life."

Overseas Matrimony Disfavored

By December the young couple, both in their late 20's decided to try to get married despite the discouraging red tape placed in the path of all overseas matrimony by frowning officials.

Getting permission of various superior officers through channels "all the way to the theater commander required hundreds of pages of paper work.

They were supposed to wait 90 days after this was done, but managed to get that shortened somewhat. Then his transfer from one branch of the air force to another delayed the nuptials.

Army Wedding Not Recognized

At the Neapolitan city hall they were told only "tourists" could be married here. In addition, a strictly Army wedding is not recognized here. On the other hand, a Neapolitan wedding is no good except in seven states back home, due to some legal quirk.

"Massachusetts is not one of those seven," grinned Mary. "I can just see me introducing Max to my parents, saying 'this is my husband — that is we are sort of married — sorry it's not legal here but it's good in Naples and seven states! Boy would the neighbors talk."

So they decided to have a dual wedding with a Neapolitan preacher and an Army chaplin saying the necessary words simultaneously.

They got Chaplin William P. Maxwell, Hartselle, Ala., plus a local Presbyterian preacher, plus an interpreter, because someone said the Italian pastor would pronounce the rites in German and they were somewhat interested in what he was saying.

Tech's Spring Play Will Be Presented Thursday Evening

Touching on international affairs, "Letters to Lucerne," a three-act play, will be presented as Texas Technological college's spring play at the Lubbock High school auditorium Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, sponsored by Tech's Speech department. Written by Rotter and Vincent, setting of the play is in neutral Lucerne, Switzerland. It concerns a school of girls from various countries.

Recent issue of the Saturday Evening Post printed a letter from Alice Orcutt, an American girl in the Buser Institute for girls in Switzerland. Situations described in the letter are almost identical with those presented in the play. Miss Orcutt's letter began . . . "As it is youth that does the dying in wartime and pays the bills afterward, it was only natural that we students in the Buser Institute for girls, in the Appensell canton of Switzerland, should be deeply concerned when the fragile peace of Europe was shattered in 1939. We were an international lot and, as the war progressed, the girls of the various combatant nations began to get restless. There were 120 of us, ranging in age from seven to twenty-two and representing forty or more nationalities. Quite a few of the girls were German, as Buser Institute is situated in German-speaking Switzerland, in the lovely Santisgebiet."

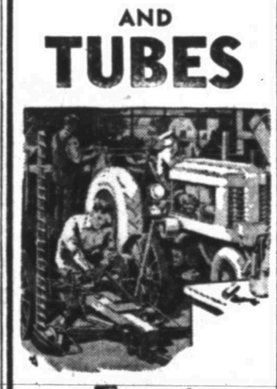

Other quotes from Miss Orcutt's letters include ". . . As the German victories increased throughout the spring of 1940, petty quarrels broke out among seemingly fast friends and it soon became evident that self-disciplinary measures would have to be taken by the student body. What we did may or may not interest the present planners of the coming peace, but we did manage to get along, and that is more than the nations themselves have ever done, for long periods, anyway." (Miss Orcutt is now doing volunteer farm work in Canada.)

Miss Helene Blattner, speech professor and director of the play, announced that students will be admitted through their students activities ticket and the play will be open to the general public. She announced the following cast: Olga Kirinski, Ned McCleskey; Gusta, Maxine Hennersdorf; Erna Schmidt, Louise Ince; Gertchen Linder, Wanita Hale; Margarethe, Mary Findley; Mrs. Hunter, Marguerite Nobles; Bingo Hill, Mary Mixon; Felice Renoir, Jodi Wofford; Sally Jackson, Fae Beth Hill; Marion Curwood, Marjorie Holmes; Francine, Lois Chambliss; and Fraulein Koppler, Jane Wilson.

Gas Outlook Is Gloomy Again

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP) — The shifting gasoline supply picture—now it's good, now it's bad—was back on the gloomy side today, but there was some cheer for essential motorists who need new tires.

Tabulation of March gasoline consumption figures shows, a spokesman for the Office of Price administration said, that an increase in the "B" ration is "not warranted in any part of the country."

The figures, he added, have not been presented yet to Col. Bryan Houston, OPA rationing chief, for a final decision but he said there seemed to be little doubt that an increase would have to be ruled out.

Consumption Equals Quota

Houston is known to have felt that on the basis of preliminary surveys the prospects for an increase in the "B" ration were good. But complete statistics reveal, the official said, that consumption was just about equal to quotas in the East and Midwest last month. No ration increase can be considered, he asserted, until consumption is running several thousand barrels a day under allocations.

Any increase now on the West coast "is definitely out of the question," he said.

Meantime it was learned that the ration quota of new synthetic passenger car tires will be boosted in May, probably by about 15 per cent over the 75,000 allocated this month. Indications are that nearly all of the larger supply will go to meet the needs of highly essential drivers, with few if any new tires available for non-preferred "B" book drivers and none for "A" card holders.

Tire quotas are being increased because manufacturers' and dealers' inventories, dangerously low a few months ago, are now at a safe margin. To build them up for any emergency, only three-quarters of monthly production of new synthetics has been rationed thus far.

lights, putting out fires and dodging bomb splinters and flying wreckage. They are finding that an ocean is undependable protection against aerial assaults.

Light Enemy Flak

Jap gunners have been sending up light to heavy flak, but no night fighter planes. Only one of the latter has been seen in the entire winter's campaign, leading to the belief here that the enemy is so hard pressed elsewhere that he simply hasn't the fighters to spare for his northern flank.

The Japanese have attempted no retaliatory bombing since Oct. 16 when they hit Attu with twin engined Misubishi "bettys," but with the beginning of the 60-day period of good spring weather, face-saving missions against the Aleutians are considered probably by air officers.

Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Bucker, jr., commanding general of the Alaskan department, has said that Aleutian garrisons must be ready for possible Japanese commando attacks as pressure against the Kuriles increases.

Ready For Jap Attack

Officers and men are ready for such an attack, but belive that if it develops it will be a suicide assault for the difficulty of landing on these rocky, surf-beaten beaches, makes a hit-run thrust unlikely.

In unopposed landings in the Aleutians, task force commanders have counted many of their landing boats damaged and turned over getting men and equipment ashore. Japanese, landing under fire, would lose so many boats it probably would be impossible for them to get away after the raid.

Scanlon (D-Pa), chairman of an unofficial congressional committee for the protection of the consumer, said the meeting, to be held Wednesday and Thursday, would be attended by 400 representatives of farmers, labor, war veterans, educators, religious groups and consumers. They will come, he said, from Illinois, Iowa, Kentucky, New York, Arkansas, Virginia, Michigan, Indiana, Ohio and Tennessee.

Speakers will include Rep. Patman (D-Tex), congressional champion of the administration's subsidy program, and individual opposed to what Scanlon described as a move seeking "emasculation of the price control program."

Over 100,000 Trained French Partisans Awaiting "D" Day

BY TAYLOR HENRY
Former Associated Press Bureau Chief At Vichy

NEW YORK, April 17 (AP)—More than 100,000 trained and organized French partisans will be operating behind and along the German lines when "D" day comes.

For months they have been trained in their duties, sabotage of essential German communication lines and rapid raids on key German administrators and their Vichy French sympathizers

The Germans are well aware of the situation and have tried unsuccessfully, along with their French friends, to halt the spreading movement.

Supplies Go To Coast

As I came through France on my way out of a German internment camp some few weeks ago, I saw train loads of German equipment already loaded on flat cars ready to roll towards the invasion coast. It will be the job of the French partisans to see that none or only a fraction of this equipment reaches its destination.

Their plans are already well laid. They have charts of the possible movement of all German troops and supplies and are ready to stike at a moment's notice to blow up bridges, rip up rails, cut telephone lines, attack radio communication centers, throw extemporized barricades across the roads over which the German divisions must, roll.

Guides For Allies

In addition they will be able to act as guides to paratroopers and glider infantry is such Allied forces are flung behind the German lines. It will make this task immeasurably easier when they land to meet French units ready to cooperate, with plans of operations already laid, with an intimate knowledge of roads and rivers and secret hideaways.

Other units of partisans in the French Alps will be able to strike to the south, cutting the power lines which originate in the electric stations along the Alpine streams, damaging seriously essential plants producing goods of war for Germany in that section of France.

Will Sabotage Shipments

Still other units in the agricultural center of France are primed to sabotage the shipment of food to German troops, much of which the Germans plan to draw from the heart of France in order to eliminate as much of the danger of transportation as possible.

There will be no question of their attempting to form a junction with the Allied invasion troops as fighting units until the territory in which they are operating as guerrillas has already been passed by the Allied armies.

They will be the unsung heroes, the men fighting behind the lines.

Sedition Case Goes On Trial

WASHINGTON, April 17 (U.P.)—The biggest sedition case of the war was called to trial in federal district court today to determine the fate of 28 men and two women accused of conspring to undermine morale of the armed forces and establish Nazism in the United States in a plot linked directly with Adolf Hitler.

Justice Edward C. Eicher presided in a courtroom almost too small to hold the staff of government attorneys, the 30 defendants, some 20 defense lawyers, witnesses and reporters. The trial, climaxing three years of investigation, was expected to continue for at least two months.

Among the defendants were Elizabeth Dilling, Chicago, author of "The Red Network"; William Dudley Pelley, Noblesville, Ind., leader of the silver shirts; Gerhard Wilhelm Kunze, New York City, national leader of the German-American bund; George E. Deatherage, St. Albans, W. Va., founder of the Knights of the White Camelia; Joseph E. McWilliams, New York and Chicago, who organized the Christian Mobilizers; and George Sylvester Viereck, New York City, now serving a 1 to 5 year sentence for violation of the foreign agents registration act.

Three Years In Preparation

O. John Rogge, special assistant to Attorney General Francis Biddle, will present the government's case. It has been in preparation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation for nearly three years and evidence has been presented to three grand juries.

An indictment returned last January charged that the 30 defendants violated section 9, title 18 of the U. S. code which forbids activities intended to "interfere with, impair and influence the loyalty, morale and discipline of the military and naval forces of the United States." Maximum penalty for violations is a $10,000 fine, ten years in prison, or both.

The conspiracy, according to the government, was in keeping with the fundamental Nazi tenet of destroying democracy wherever possible and setting up totalitarian regimes. In the United States, it took the form of a "systematic campaign of propaganda" to undermine the morale of the armed forces.

The 30 defendants were accused of joining in this campaign and to have "actively cooperated with each other and with leaders and members of the Nazi party to accomplish its objectives in the United States."

At Guadalcanal, he said, the fighting became tougher. The Japs had the cream of their fighting men in this campaign. While on this island Chadwick went through 157 air raids and 20 ship shellings. He said he went 19 days without eating when supply ships were delayed in getting through to Guadalcanal. On the nineteenth day his unit killed a pony and ate it and "it tasted pretty good."

Green Urges "Office Of Reconstruction"

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP)—William Green, American Federation of Labor president, urged Congress today to set up an "office of reconstruction" as a central economic post-war planning agency to provide for "full production" and continued high wages.

He recommended establishment of a board representing employers, workers and farmers to advise the central agency on policies.

Green told the House post-war committee, in response to a question, that he opposed revival of the WPA or dependence on public works programs.

The labor leader said some demobilized persons may "have to wait as long as 18 months" for a job unless the nation has an "integrated, coordinated" plan that operates speedily. Too long a wait, he said, would bring "a repetition of the depression of the '30s."

Peace Overtures Of Germany Revealed

LONDON, April 17 (AP) — The London Daily Mail said today in an Istanbul dispatch that Germany made peace overtures last December to the United States and Britain through a neutral diplomat.

The newspaper said the information was obtained by its correspondent, Noel Monks, direct from the diplomat, who was quoted as saying that Baron Manfred von Killinger, German minister to Romania, presented an eight-point program to him with the request that it be forwarded to Washington and London but not to Moscow.

The diplomat said Killinger represented himself as acting on instructions of Hitler. Monks quoted the diplomat as saying he had heard nothing further of the proposals beyond the fact that they had reached his government. Neither the diplomat nor his government was identified.

The British foreign office declined to confirm or deny that such proposals had reached London. The points were said to include elimination of the German Navy and Air force, maintenance of a defensive alliance with Britain, and German evacuation of all occupied territory.

Condition Of Wreck Victim Is Critical

The condition of E. J. Fulsom, 29, son of Mrs. Ed Fulsom of Ralls, was reported by West Texas hospital as critical this morning as a result of an automobile accident one mile west of Lorenzo on the Lubbock highway shortly before midnight Saturday.

Other occupants of the car, who suffered only minor injuries and shock, were released from West Texas hospital Sunday. They were Mrs. Paula Stacker and Mrs. R. P. Malone of Lorenzo.

Fulsom, who was recently discharged from the army, was enroute to Lubbock presumably to catch a train or bus to his home in National City, Calif., where his wife resides. He had been visiting his mother in Ralls.

According to Mrs. Malone the car overturned "five or six times" and came to rest in a field. She and Fulsom's wife are daughters of John Ogle of Lorenzo.

Hospital authorities said this morning that Fulsom's legs were paralized and was suffering from a terrific head injury.

Solons Endorse Military Rule

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 17—The American - British - Russian agreement reported in London for the postwar military government of Germany and her bitter-end satellites was endorsed informally by members of the Senate military committee today as a "wise and necessary" step.

"It would be impossible to handle Germany on any other basis, if the war is to be fought to a finish as it is absolutely certain to be," commented Senator Murry (D-Mont).

"Of course, if the German people took over, assassinated Hitler and formed a government, that might be a basis for an attempt to deal with them," he added. "But that is not in the picture at all."

Eisenhower Supreme Authority

The agreement for ruling occupied Germany, as reported by Wes Gallagher of the Associated Press in London this weekend, calls for Russian control over areas occupied by the Red army and for making U. S. General Dwight D. Eisenhower the supreme authority in areas occupied by American and British forces.

"Until after the defeat of Germany and until the establishment of a free popular government, it will be essential for the military authorities to maintain order," said Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo).

Temporary Arrangement

"Only out of order can a rational government develop," he contended. "What those arrangements for a permanent government are to be depend, of course, on conferences yet to take place."

Senator Thomas (D-Utah) called the announced agreement "all right," saying that it is in harmony with military plans "to keep complete control as long as we are at war."

Senator Bridges (R-NH) said it would be a "real relief" if a clear understanding has been worked out with Russia and Great Britain, because, he said, "our methods of handling the Italian, French and other situations have not promoted good will toward this country."

Baseball Season Is To Open Tuesday

Sport To Continue Despite Troubles

NEW YORK, April 17 (U.P.) — With only a few teams engaging in last minute exhibition games, the American and National leagues today awaited the cry of "play ball," scheduled to be heard in eight parks tomorrow, for the official launching of the 106th baseball season.

Baseball will enter its third season of World War II full of uncertainties but determined to carry on as long as possible without injury to the war effort.

Many of the game's stars have gone into the service and many more will follow as the season progresses. Lineups will be subject to change on a day by day basis as newcomers move up to take the place of those called into the services.

Playing Standards Lower

Just as the playing standards of 1943 were lower than those of 1942, so will those of this year be lower than last. The general effect of the drain on diamond personnel, however, has been to level off competition and should make for keen pennant races in both leagues. Will Harridge, president of the American league, predicted the closest pennant race since 1940, when the circuit broke all attendance records.

Ford Frick, president of the National league, said that not only had many players been taken away from the game, but that many faces would be missing from the grandstands and bleachers. Frick said the game must go on because of its "invisible audience" — the boys overseas who want baseball to continue.

Overseas Broadcast Planned

Arrangements have been made this season for a play by play account of at least one game a day to be beamed across the seas.

Weather permitting, more than 200,000 fans were expected to jam into the eight parks which hold their opening tomorrow and at Washington, Vice President Henry A. Wallace will officially open the season when he throws out the first ball.

Opening day contests in the National league include Boston at New York, Brooklyn at Philadelphia, Pittsburgh at St. Louis and Chicago at Cincinnati; in the American league, New York at Boston, Philadelphia at Washington, St. Louis at Detroit and Cleveland at Chicago.

POLO TEAM NAMED

MEXICO CITY, April 17 (AP) — Major W. F. Long, of Dallas, Captain, said today that Cecil Smith and Bill Bacry, of San Antonio; Bill Skidmore, of Dallas, and Ray Bell, of Los Angeles, will comprise the United States polo team that plays the Herradura team on Sunday in the first of an international series.

In a practice game yesterday the U. S. and Argentine teams tied, 1-1.

TWO BROWNS REJECTED

ST. LOUIS, April 17 (AP)—Pitchers Al Hollingsworth and Sid Peterson have been rejected for military service, the Browns were notified today. The team now has 18 players who are 4F in the draft and two who have medical discharges from the Army.

LIGHTWEIGHT MATCH

CHICAGO, April 17 (AP)—Joey Peralta, Tamaqua, Pa., lightweight, has accepted a 10-round bout with Bob Montgomery, holder of the New York version of the lightweight title, April 28 in the Chicago Coliseum, Matchmaker Jack Kearns said today.

Sports Roundup

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 17 — Another major league season opens tomorrow and in place of the usual words of wisdom about who'll win the pennants, this corner offers a different prediction: If baseball doesn't have a successful season financially, you can hang the blame on managers, club owners, baseball writers, etc., who keep bringing up the fact that the teams are far below the usual standards . . . Fans already have shown that they'll turn out in great numbers for almost any sort of a real contest, but they're likely to become discouraged if they hear repeatedly they can see only fourth-rate baseball . . . After all, this year's teams will be playing one another, not the 1940 clubs . . . Maybe Pete Krief of Washington, D. C., has the right idea when he says: "Wars may come and wars may go — but baseball will go on 4-F'er and 4-F'er."

MATERIAL GAINS

Shag Shaughnessy, International league prexy who used to be quite a football player, likes to tell how he applied knowledge acquired building dugouts in France to football . . . During the last war, doughboys discovered that if they left an air space between two layers of steel and dirt in a dugout roof, it would absorb the shock of a shell explosion . . . When he returned to football with a couple of bunged-up shoulders, Shag remembers that and designed shoulder pads with a similar shock-absorbing space. They're almost universally used now . . . One of the newest developments of this war, we hear, is a gunsight that automatically aims a machinegun the right distance ahead of a speeding plane . . . Now if that could only be adapted to duck shooting.

MONDAY MATINEE

Bob Coleman, Braves manager, made his big league debut with Pittsburgh June 13, 1913, and handled 13 chances against the Giants. Naturally his club lost . . . The first year the National Collegiate A. A. basketball tournament was held it went into the red for about $2,500 out of a $7,000 bankroll that represented the accumulation of years in the treasury. It all has been paid back now with plenty of interest . . . The Boston Yankees, with no coach and no players, already have a one-boy football team in 12-year-old Parker Dwelley of Belmont, Mass., who pestered Ted Collins with applications for the job of mascot until Ted signed him up.

GIANTS, CADETS PLAY

Owls Pep Up SWC Baseball

Aggies, Longhorns Face Opposition

(By The Associated Press)

The Rice Owls have given Southwest conference baseball a shot in the arm.

For the first time in years it's not just a race between Texas A. and M. and Texas for the championship with the other teams interested onlookers.

Year before last Rice won a couple of games but last season when there were only three teams in the race — Texas, A. and M. and Rice — the Owls didn't scratch.

This year the same three are making the race but Rice already has won a game and the Owls toppled the favored Aggies to do it, so the race looks like a free-for-all down to the wire.

Three Games Played

Three games have been played to date with the Aggies holding decisions over Texas and Rice and with Rice holding one win over the Aggies. The standing:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Texas A. and M.	2	1	.667
Rice	1	1	.500
Texas	0	1	.000

Last week Rice and A. and M. hooked up in a two-game series with the Aggies winning the opener 13-8 but Rice taking the second 4-3 with a four-run rally in the eighth inning and behind eight-hit pitching by Tom Hopkins.

Texas meanwhile was dropping two practice games — to Brooks and Randolph fields at San Antonio.

This week-end Rice goes to Austin for a two-game series against Texas while A. and M. is playing Brooks and Randolph fields at San Antonio.

Sens' Latins Not Subject To Draft

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP)—Joe Cambria, baseball scout for the Washington Senators, said today that all Latin American players on the Washington roster entered the United States on six-month visas and were immune to any draft regulations in this country.

The selective service commission here last Sunday night ordered all the Latin American ball players in this country to register for the U. S. draft or leave by June 12.

A selective service official today told newsmen that persons in this country on six-month visas could not be drafted and might remain the full time, return to their native land and return to the United States next year without a draft threat.

Paul Waner Predicts Year Of Extremes In Hitting, Pitching

By JACK CUDDY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 17. — Paul Waner of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who has been around long enough to know, predicts that the 1944 baseball season will produce extremes in the contrasting figures of high batting averages and low allowed-earned-run averages for pitchers.

"There may be records in both departments before the season is over," said potent Paul, who celebrated his 41st birthday yesterday at the hotel New Yorker.

"Poison" Paul, the agile little giant who packs 150 pounds on a five - foot - eight - and - one - half frame, said, "I'm in the best shape I've been for five years, because I trained in the South, and did plenty of work. I'm going out after the batting championship of the National league this season; and I'm sure I'll beat the .357 with which Stan Musial of the Cardinals won it last year—even if Musial lasts out the season."

Lifetime Average .334

Waner, who has played every season in the National league since 1926 — a feat equaled among current performers only by little Mel Ott of the Giants — points to his own lifetime batting average of .334, registered against the best flingers the senior circuit could produce.

"If I can find my hitting stride, I may go .400 this season," Paul declared during an interview. "I may do this for three reasons: (1) The pitchers generally will be off, with most of the good ones in service; 2) The fielding, out and in, will be below par; and (3) The ball is livelier than last season."

Waner emphasized that, should he fail to click as expected, he is certain that some other stand-out batsman will take advantage of conditions to roll up a batting mark that will approach the modern record of .424, registered by Rogers Hornsby in 1924.

Good Pitching Foreseen

In similar fashion, he said, some top-flight pitcher should come through with an amazing allowed-earned-run-average because: (1) Most of the good hitters are in service, and (2) The runs achieved will be on errors — through the fault of poor fielding and stupid infield play.

Poison Paul, who won the National league batting championship three times while with Pittsburgh—in '27, '34, and '36—said "because I predict extremes in the batting and pitching championships, don't think for a minute that I mean the average brand of major league play will be far below par. It will not. The average of play will hold up well — thanks to the youngsters coming in, and thanks to the veterans on hand who can govern their enthusiasm.

"The only difference is this: The youngsters of 1944 in the majors will not have had the usual minor circuit seasoning; and the veterans who guid them may be a bit slow on the up-take. Speaking of veterans, I'm wondering about my brother Lloyd, who is due to report to the Dodgers tomorrow—after a year out of the game. I hope Lloyd comes through alright; because it will be a pleasure to play with him another season."

Hank Wallace All Set To Toss Out First Ball Tuesday

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP) — Henry Agard Wallace flexed the muscles of his right arm today and declared himself ready to take over a traditional American role which William Howard Taft inaugurated more than 30 years ago.

It'll be Wallace's second appearance in pinch-pitching for President Roosevelt when he tosses out the first ball at the American league opener here tomorrow. He sailed a ball from the presidential box into short centerfield two years ago.

President Taft, back in 1911, accepted the idea that the White House occupant, as the No. 1 American citizen, should perform the No. 1 job on the No. 1 day of the No. 1 American sport.

Taft, according to oldtimers hereabouts, let loose with a heave that practically bowled over the would-be catchers and gave him such a charley-horse that he couldn't sign legislation for three weeks.

It is estimated that 200,000 automobiles are disappearing from U. S. roads every month.

Yanks Favored To Take Flag

Writers Predict Three-Way Scrap

NEW YORK, April 17 (AP) — A three-way scrap for the 1944 American league pennant with the world champion New York Yankees finally nosing out Washington and Chicago, was predicted today by the country's baseball writers for the season starting tomorrow.

Of 64 writers taking part in the annual "pick 'em" poll of the Associated Press, 30 designated the Yanks to take their fourth straight junior league championship. Chicago drew 17 first place ballots, and Washington 14, but the Senators nosed out the White Sox for second place in the overall voting under which the clubs received eight points for a first-place selection, seven for second, etc.

In the overall race New York was given 453 of a possible 512 votes. Washington 424 and Chicago 413. Other teams were picked to finish in this order: Cleveland, St. Louis, Boston, Detroit, and Philadelphia. Last year's pennant race wound up like this: New York, Washington, Cleveland, Chicago, Detroit, St. Louis, Boston and Philadelphia.

In the National league poll St. Louis was a standout to take its third straight pennant, getting 57 of 67 first place votes. Cincinnati was picked for second, followed by the others in this order: Chicago, Pittsburgh, Brooklyn, New York, Philadelphia and Boston.

The scribes had a tough time spotting the St. Louis Browns and Boston Red Sox in the American loop survey, each drawing votes for all eight positions, while Chicago was tabbed for all except the last berth, and Cleveland for all except first and last positions.

Hughson And Peacock Boost Red Sox Hopes

BOSTON, April 17. (U.P.) — The Boston Red Sox hopes for a first division berth in the American league were bolstered today when it was learned that Pitcher Tex Hughson and Catcher Johnny Peacock were on their way to join the club.

Both were inducted recently into the armed service but now plan to play as long as possible. Hughson originally was scheduled to enter the Navy on April 27 and Peacock's Army call has been pending since February. Hughson is the Sox's ace hurler and Peacock their best catcher.

Brewers Favored To Repeat Pennant Win

COLUMBUS, O., April 17 (AP)—Fighting the handicap of wartime player shortages and cold spring training weather, the American Association opens its 43rd baseball season Wednesday with Milwaukee's Brewers favored to make it two pennants in a row.

Aging veterans, many of whom had been considered "through," 4-F's and a few 17-year-olds replace scores of known stars in the military service.

SUDDEN death here the other day of the Rev. Walter P. Jennings removed from the Lubbock scene one of the kindest, most sincere and altogether lovable men ever to live in this city. His capacity for service to his fellow man was so great that his influence and prestige transcended the membership of his denomination and enveloped hundreds of others of all denominations, especially during the period of his 10 years pastorate of First Christian church.

No man of the cloth, within The Plainsman's experience, at least, ever followed more closely the gentlest teachings of the Man of Galilee; no man of the cloth within our ken lived more exactly in the teachings of the Christian religion. Because he was so kind, so understanding, so generous; because he was a living example of the principles laid down by the Book he followed and interpreted, the Rev. Mr. Jennings was able to leave upon this community an imprint which will last for years to come.

The passing of this retired minister leaves us saddened, of course, just as it leaves many others saddened.

Yet mingled with the sadness is a sort of strange and unusual feeling of comfort, because the Rev. Mr. Jennings' long life was so symbolic of a better life to come that we know he is today sharing in that life and is enjoying the well-earned "peace which passeth all understanding."

Respectfully, we salute the memory of this man who was great because of his devotion to the simple truths and to weak humanity which can only be made stronger by following the example of the few men who are like him.

ASSUMING, as everyone must, that the New Deal would operate its plan of "socialized medicine" in the same degree of efficiency and dispatch with which it administers to Selective service and the 109,304.2 other governmental agencies, a recent piece in the Greenbriar, W. Va., Independent is certainly worthy of contemplation.

The West Virginia paper offers its conception of the average obituary story in the average American newspaper if the Roosevelt administration's plan to take over the medical profession is successful.

It is:

"Henry Jones, 41, a farmer of the South Bend community, died late yesterday from a complication of diseases in the office of John J. Doe, chairman of the county Democratic executive committee. Mr. Jones had been confined in Mr. Doe's office since a week ago last Wednesday and was near the top of the surgical waiting list when the end came.

"Mr. Jones first became ill 12 days ago while returning home with his children following a Federal Health program at Wolf Creek. The government's case investigator, located while passing out federal forms to be filled out by left-handed lighthouse-keepers, was notified and two days later the district supervisor—a nephew of the state Democratic chairman—was called in.

"When it was discovered that Mr Jones' condition was rapidly becoming worse, a field nurse was contacted but she was unable to report for three days since she had already worked 22 hours during the preceding week. However, when the visiting nurse was permitted, under federal regulations, to see the case, she advised calling in Dr. A-406,-N-202-5 for professional counsel. The doctor already had filled his quota of four visits on that day but was able to see Mr. Jones the next morning immediately after his day officially started at 10:30 a. m.

"Dr. A-406,N-202-5 diagnosed the case as appendicitis and sent the necessary forms to Washington.

UNFORTUNATELY, the forms did not receive attention immediately upon being received in Washington, due to the long week-end which starts there on Thursday noons and continues until Tuesday morning. Had they been received here Friday, instead of Saturday, Mr. Jones could have been operated immediately, since each Friday is 'Appendectomy Day.' But they didn't arrive until Saturday and there is no more allotment for appendectomies until Friday of this week.

"Funeral arrangements have not yet been made by the Jones family, since government records must be filled in and sent to Washington for approval by the Surgeon General's department and interment ordered by presidential directive.

"However, the family hopes it will be possible to hold the rites by the middle of next month."

Of course, all that's pretty far-fetched and exaggerated.

But if there's anybody in the country who'd like to have the medical profession handled as Selective service affairs are kicked around, he ought to have his head examined.

Washington's a wow on theory, but when it comes to practice, that's something else!

SMALL WORLD Dept. — Bill Slater, formerly manager of the Firestone store here, accidentally ran across a copy of Lubbock Evening Journal in New Guinea a couple of weeks back, so he took his pen in hand and wrote Mr. and Mrs. Hub Lee about it, enclosing a clipping of an advertisement of Mr. Lee's business which had traveled, as Bill put it, "only about 13,000 or 14,000 miles from home." Slater, now a Pfc. in his Uncle's Sam's Army, apologized to Mr. Lee for being unable to respond to the suggestion of the advertisement and order a few tire retreads from Mr. Lee's establishment.

You probably saw mention of this happening in an advertisement in the paper the other day. But we call attention to it here, because it shows how much a touch of home means to the men fighting far, far away. In his letter, Pvt. Slater urged the Lees to write and his feeling is typical of that of every man in the service, both at home and overseas.

So if you know a man in uniform, wherever he may be write to him. Letters mean more than anything to members of our armed forces.

Something we should all think about: "What Americans must be aware of is the peace propaganda of the junkers and the German industrialists and bankers. If Americans make the mistake of sympathizing with this group, and with 'the poor German people' as they did after 1918, their sons will have to fight a third world war."—Emil Ludwig, German-born author but U. S. resident for many years.

That Man on Avenue Q says there's no place like home—except, sometimes, a madhouse.

Human nature is funny. The people who have the least cause for being cheerful usually are the ones who are.

DESPITE all the sound and the fury regarding "Texas bragging," and the retorts of uniformed "duration guests," the Lone Star state is attracting attention all over the country and it's the right kind of attention, too. At least that's the report of Bob Hoyt, of Fort Worth.

Mr. Hoyt's work as general passenger agent of the Fort Worth & Denver lines takes him over considerable of the country and he finds that people in the East and the Midwest have their eyes on Texas and are impressed with the state's all-around contribution to the war effort.

He told The Plainsman the other day that the war has attracted the attention of many Americans to Texas; that they look upon this state as a sort of "promised land" of the post-war era. Mr. Hoyt started out to try to "sell" officials of his railroad on post-war Texas and found they were "way ahead of him" in thinking along that line.

He predicts, and says Northern and Eastern business men do, too, that the years immediately following Victory will bring to Texas the greatest period of growth and expansion in the state's history.

Night For The Morrow

"RELIEF"
XVIII

"LITTLE Jan?" my grandfather called. He was fumbling to light a lamp.

"What is it?" I asked

"Dirt," Old Jan said. The lamp when lighted made the room far from bright. The air was filled with dirt that filtered through the windows and around the door. Mother was sitting, pale, trembling.

"It's more like the end of the world," she said. She looked sick in the ghastly glow of the lamp.

"Did you ever see anything like this before?" I asked my grandfather. He hadn't.

"It's punishment for our sins," moaned my mother.

"Be quiet, Anna," my grandfather ordered. He told her to get towels. We soaked them in water and stuffed them into the cracks around the windows and under the door, but the dust seemed to penetrate the room in spite of all we did. After that we just sat, or moved about restlessly, peering out the windows into the solid blackness. My mother began to read the Bible.

Then, almost as suddenly as it began, the storm was ended. My grandfather and I went out to look around.

Soil to the depth of several inches had been whipped from the tops of the fields. It was piled in drifts along fence rows and against buildings. It was heaped around the farm machinery. Here was disaster such as man seldom witnesses, for here was the destruction of that upon which life depends—the soil.

MY grandfather had never seen a "black blizzard" before, nor had anyone in the neighborhood. But they came frequently after that, and land which had poured forth its abundance a decade before became desolate, the "dust bowl" of the nation.

There was a general migration from southeastern Colorado. Tenant farmers were the first to go, abandoning the landlord's acres to the ravages of wind and drought. But what were we to do? This was our land, even though the mortgage on it might now be worth more than the land. It was our property and the only property we had. It was our home. We would stay to the last. Old Jan made that clear. Furthermore, he had an uncommon feeling of responsibility in the matter.

"We'll keep trying," he would say. "Next year, the drought may be ended. It can't last forever. Then this old farm will come back. I just can't walk out. 'What did Jan Mesrik accomplish on this earth?' someone might ask. 'Oh, he ruined some of God's best acres. Then he quit.' No, that won't be it."

So we stayed on while others fled. Nor was the heart-tearing futility of our farming the worst of it. It became increasingly apparent that the frequent "black blizzards" were weighing heavily on my mother's spirits. Never herself after her separation from my father, she became increasingly morose. She was suffering physically as well. She developed a persistent cough from the dust-laden air.

One morning she was too ill to get up.

We called a doctor out from town. My mother had pneumonia. The doctor called it "dust-storm" pneumonia, said there was a lot of it in southeastern Colorado.

We did everything we could for her, but when the doctor came out the second time he said that her condition was very serious. He held out little hope for her.

My grandfather berated himself.

"Anna, Anna, look what I have done to you," he would say when out of her hearing. The night she died he cried bitterly and long.

MY mother was buried in the town cemetery. Her friends of the years in which she lived in town were most sympathetic and helpful, although they shied away from my grandfather. After the burial grandfather and I returned to the farm, now more lonely and desolate than ever.

Another spring, and we tried to farm it again. This time we were forced to borrow from the government for our seed.

The planting of the seed that dry spring seemed hopeless, and proved to be futile. But it was certain that there could be no crop if nothing were planted, and there was always the possibility that rain would come. When it didn't, we were forced to go again to the government for loans with which to purchase feed for the livestock.

The problem of the mortgage on the farm no longer was the pressing consideration. We were concerned wholly with fundamentals, keeping the soil, seeking to make it produce, feeding our stock, and getting enough food for ourselves.

Nor were we particularly successful even in the latter endeavor. I can recall many a night when we went to bed hungry. This was partially my grandfather's fault because he was loathe to accept charity, although relief to drouth-stricken farmers was being doled out to an amazingly high proportion of the rural population.

"It is bad business, this relief," Old Jan would say. "I have always been independent. Maybe we can hold out a little longer. Things can't get worse. They're bound to get better."

I believed that it was not only Old Jan's pride, but an actual fear of relief, that made his jaw set against help.

"It will make drones of many people, Little Jan. We will not be drones."

But we had to eat, if we wanted to live.

This Curious World

BY WILLIAM FERGUSON

Today's Journal Editorial

WPB'S NEWEST DIRECTIVE

No American whose opinion is worthy of consideration will criticise the War Production board for having placed limitations of production for civilians, if the action actually resulted from the necessity of manufacturing more materials of war.

Despite the smug pretenses of some of those connected with the administration, the masses of the American people never have objected to restrictions that furthered the victory effort. Their objections have been made to restrictions which have been presented in the guise of war measures but which, clearly, have had little or no connection with the war.

Thus, few objections may be expected to the new WPB order unless events occur which tend to sustain the suspicion that the step was not necessitated by the needs of war. This suspicion will be furthered if it should appear that WPB has attempted, by imposing limitations on civilian production, to drum up sentiment in favor of the administration-sponsored National Labor Draft act.

This sort of sequel may not follow the WPB order. The WPB is entitled to the presumption that its action was dictated by necessity. The supposition that there might have been some concealed motive in the order is based upon the extreme lengths to which administration has gone on occasions in its efforts to further its own ends.

COASTERS expect C. Chaplain Jr., and Patricia Englan, will soon announce their betrothal . . . That young lady in the Broadway arena who procures "models" for playboys was visited by the vice-squaders at her mid-town hotel . . . The local sportsmen hear that Lucky Luciano at Comstock is comforted by religion . . . Alfred Lunt, the star, is trying to get into the armed forces (at his age!) while in England entertaining troops with La Fontanne . . . Dave Apollon, the Russian maestro, who once had his accent insured for $100,000, has let the policy lapse.

The networks should air Noro Morales' delightful rhumband. Morales' Latin hits are played by Cugat and other big-timers — who inherit all the credit . . . Paul Whiteman is back on his strenuous jet. When he once shelved 90 pounds Paul wearied of all the folks who asked him how he did it . . . "You just suffer!" he said . . . The Ronald Colmans are so thrilled over the image they are breathlessly waiting for . . . "Skating Vanities" (due in June at the Garden) comes with exciting reports from Philly . . . M. Berle's punch-line for bonds: "Buy More War Bonds and Make Sure Our Country Isn't Japardized!"

NAVAL Lt. Billy Leeds, the millionaire, now has a Javanese Mynah bird which cost $500 . . . Jane Pickens is back in town, which makes Maj. Wm. Walling mighty happy . . . Bob Hope's having considerable script trouble from Army buttinskys . . . Peggy Stewart, who just divorced Don Barry, will try a comeback in Movieburg . . . Lily Pons is studying Russian for a planned tour in the Soviet with Kostelanetz . . . The furor over putting 4Fs to work in defense plants has forced many night club workers to grab daytime defense jobs . . . Barbara Bennett and Groom Addison Randall are hoping to get a break with an overseas group . . . Don't let your eyebrows fly too high when you learn that a number of OPA officials (throughout the land) are indicted for complicity in gas coupon thefts . . . New Yorkers are still grabbing about the presidential citation for the heroic Destroyer O'Bannon, which was nicknamed "The Little Helena" . . . This heroic ship was nicknamed for the great cruiser "Helena," which also distinguished itself in battle, but never even received an invite to a White House press conference.

WE hear the Long Island R. R. will equip conductors with "excuse notes" to hand passengers when trains are delayed. So train cleaners will have more sweeping to do . . . The new Pullman coach-sleeper will have berths running from side to side instead of lengthwise. During the day the "sofa" will accommodate three sitters . . . The dance schools have doubled their biz over last year . . . The N. Y. Times now carries a 9-col'm classified ad page instead of the traditional 8. The idea was started by the Miama News many months ago and copied by many gazettes . . . There's a wave of indignation in one group of the Press Photographers ass'n because a member told Gov. Even The Generals Are Saluting Ernie Now!

BY ERNIE PYLE
Journal War Correspondent

WITH Fifth Army Beachhead Forces In Italy, April 17—(By Wireless) — The other day Wick Fowler, war correspondent of The Dallas News, and I were walking along the road to Nettuno. I saw a jeep coming with a one-star plate on the front bumper, indicating that the occupant was a brigadier general. I peered intently, trying to make out who the general was.

ERNIE PYLE

While I was absorbed in this endeavor, the jeep drew abreast and the general suddenly saluted us. I don't know why he saluted—maybe he thought I was the Secretary of War. At any rate I was so startled, and so unaccustomed to being saluted by generals, that I fumbled a second and then returned the salute with my left hand.

Wick says he'll be glad to appear at my court-martial and put in a plea of insanity for me. On the other hand, I did try, while Wick never raised an arm. So I don't think even a plea of insanity will save him. Wick was a nice fellow, too.

We still don't know, incidentally, who the general was.

Accidents Will Happen

You've read about Cub planes that fly slowly around over the front lines, doing artillery spotting for us. They're a wonderful little branch of the service, and the risks they take are tremendous.

The Germans try to shoot them down with ack-ack, and occasionally a German fighter will sneak in and take a pass at them. But the Cub is so slow that the fighters usually overshoot, and the Cub can drop down and land immediately.

The saddest story I've heard about a Cub happened here on the Fifth Army beachhead. A "Long Tom"—or 155 rifle—was the unwitting villian in this case.

This certain gun fired only one shell that entire day—but that one shell, with all the sky to travel in, made a direct hit on one of our Cubs in the air and blew it to smithereens. It was one of those incredible one-in-ten-billion possibilities, but it happened.

IN my column the other day about our experience when the war correspondents' villa was bombed, I said that after it was over I didn't feel shaky or nervous.

Since then, little memories of the bombing have gradually come back into my consciousness. I recall now that I went to take my pocket comb out of my shirt pocket to comb my hair, but instead actually took my handkerchief out of my hip pocket and started combing my hair with the handkerchief.

And at noon I realized I had smoked a whole pack of cigarets since 7:30 a. m.

Me nervous? Why, I should say not!

Thanks Are Proffered

The day after the bombing, I got a little package of chewing gum and lifesavers and what-not. I tore the return address off the package and put it on my table in order to write a note of thanks to the sender.

The package and address were both lost in the bombing. All I remember is that it was from Spencer, Ia. So will whoever sent it please accept my thanks?

I'VE spoken of soldiers' wartime pets so many times that you're probably bored with the subject. But here's one more.

The headquarters of a certain tank regiment where I have many friends had a beautiful police dog named "Sergeant." He belonged to everybody, was a lovable dog, liked to go through a whole repertoire of tricks, and was almost human in his sensitiveness.

He had even become plane-raid conscious, and when he heard planes in the sky would run and get in his own private foxhole—or any foxhole, if he were away from home.

"Sergeant" was dutifully in his foxhole yesterday when he died. Shrapnel from an airburst got him. He wasn't killed instantly, and they had to destroy him.

The outfit lost two officers, four men and a dog in that raid. It is not belittling the men who died to say that "Sergeant's" death shared a high place in the grief of those who were left.

DO YOU HAVE AN IRRIGATION WELL?

And would you invest $114 now for a good chance to realize $471.00 profit off one acre in three months?

Onions grow well in West Texas but seed onions have the multiple hazards of wind damage, freezing, hail, and late maturity, while onions transplanted have only the hail hazard. We have onions out which have 100% survived the conditions of the past three weeks, including the 16 degree freeze. Bermuda onions are all right transplanted up to May 1st, and Spanish Onions to May 15th. The Bermudas mature about July 10th, the Spanish around August 1st.

The country has had an onion famine and it will take hundreds of carloads to give everybody a sample. In May the supply will be more plentiful, but the June prospects in North Texas are estimated at 20% to 25% of normal. That gives the market about 40 days to clean up before the maturity date of Bermudas out here. I have yellow Spanish on hand now, and will have yellow and white Bermudas and White Spanish for sale at the Three Circle Farm, 3 miles west of Shallowater, in a few days.

It takes 18 crates to set an acre in 20 inch rows. Yellow Spanish are $4.50 per crate of 6000, yellow Bermudas $3.00, White Bermudas and Spanish $3.50.

We are getting them set out for an overall cost of 35c per thousand.

The ceiling prices set by the O.P.A. are liberal and already buyers are offering high prices for acreage around Farmersville

Come out and look the deal over We are transplanting about 50 acres and should wind up about May 1st. You can't sell onions high next summer unless you take a chance NOW.

Soldier On Trial For Aiding Nazis

OMAHA, April 17 (AP) — Pvt. Dale H. Maple, accused of aiding the escape of two German prisoners of war and believed to be the first American soldier in history charged with the equivalent of treason, went on trial today at Ft. Leavenworth, Kans.

The 23-year-old Harvard graduate is charged with violation of the 58th article of war, which covers desertion, and the 81st, under which he is accused of helping two German war prisoners escape from Camp Hale, Colo., last February. The death penalty is possible under either.

The strictest secrecy surrounded the trial, press and radio representatives being barred. The Army announced that such information "as will not be contrary to national security" will be made public at the Seventh Service Command headquarters here.

Both civilian and military counsel represented Maple. It was announced that after today's preliminary arraignment court will adjourn until April 24 "to afford accused and his counsel an opportunity to challenge the court."

Maple was apprehended in Mexico in the company of prisoners of war, the Army said.

3 Keys to HIGH EGG PRODUCTION

1. Buy Good Chicks
2. Practice Good Management
3. Feed Stanton's Manamar Chick Starter

Most poultry authorities agree that profitable poultry raising depends largely on three important factors . . . good chicks, good management and good feed. Our job is to produce good feed that will combine with your good chicks and good management to get your flocks off to a flying start on the road to high production and profit. We have just such a feed in Stanton's ManAmar Chick Starter. A blend of locally-grown grains, ManAmar and B-G Plus, it is rich in the vitamins minerals and proteins which promote vigorous growth in baby chicks.

B-G PLUS is a patented vacuum concentrated extract from fish, resulting from ten years of ceaseless research and experiment. It supplies extra trace minerals and vitamins in Stanton's ManAmar Chick Starter.

MANAMAR in Stanton's ManAmar Chick Starter supplies the hard-to-get feeding essentials—fish proteins, food minerals and vitamins, including the important Vitamin B "Complex," necessary for fast growth.

ManAmar and B-G Plus have been developed and are produced in the laboratories of Philip R. Park, famed live-stock nutrition authority. These laboratories have approved the formula for Stanton's ManAmar Chick Starter. Let the records of users tell the rest of the story. Get all the facts today.

Eyes Of World On Fighting Russians

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The bloody exhibition of warfare at close quarters, now being staged in the environs of the great Crimean naval base of Sevastopol as the Red forces fling themselves upon the cornered Hitlerites, naturally claims the main attention of a world which never ceases to thrill over brave deeds.

When historic Sevastopol falls —as fall it must—it will restore to the Muscovites the Crimean peninsula, which has provided the Nazi dictator with a powerful air, naval and military base that has been a mighty asset to him in three ways:

Three Main Assets

It has shielded his right flank on the mainland. It long enabled him to continue his efforts (though ineffectually) to break into the Caucasian oil fields which he so badly needed. It has permitted him to control the northern waters of the Black sea and the vital coasts of Romania and Bulgaria.

Still, despite the claim of Sevastopol to the liemlight, there's another great Red victory up on the southeastern Polish front which we must nio toverlook. That's the capture of the strategic railway junction of Tarnopol after 38 days of fierce fighting in which the German garrison of 16,000 was annihilated, barring 2,400 who surrendered.

Bulwark For Hitler

Tarnopol has been the chief bulwark of the Hitlerian line between the Pripet marshes on the north and the Carpathians on the south. That line has been a barrier to the heart of Poland—on the road to Berlin.

The capture of Tarnopol uncovers another even bigger prize—the great railway junction of Lwow a little to the west. This will be the next main objective of the Muscovites in that sector. The capture of Lwow should go far towards forcing the Germans to fall back to the line of the Vistula. It also certainly would expedite the Red drive through the Carpathians into Czechoslovakia at the extreme southern end of the Nazi battleline.

Cutbacks Are Coming In War Production

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP) — Chairman Paul V. McNutt told regional directors of the War Manpower commission today that although some war production cutbacks are coming, "we anticipate little unemployment in the near future."

At a later date, however, "orderly demobilization and orderly reconversion will be essential to prevent widespread unemployment," McNutt said at conclusion of a three-day meeting of the regional chiefs here.

McNutt reviewed in summary the manpower situation in WMC regions as follows:

"Region X (Louisiana, New Mexico, Texas)—increased utilization and productivity are meeting increased demands in shipbuilding and the aircraft industry. Agriculture, lumber and pulpwood and high octane gas production present manpower problems."

Draftees' Chances For Quick Army Commissions Slim Now

By MARLOW and ZIELKE
Associated Press Staff Writers

WASHINGTON, April 17—Hundreds of thousands of men, soon to be drafted, must be thinking:

Do I have much chance of quickly getting an Army commission by going to officers' candidate school?

To which the Army says: Very little chance so long as you are in this country and anyway from now on the number of candidates will be very small.

Veterans Given Preference

Here's why:

Most of the officer candidates will be men sent back here to school from abroad where they have had overseas experience or seen action.

The schools reached their peak in December, 1942, when they turned out 23,000 officers. They are graduating monthly now between 2,000 and 2,500. Even that number may decrease as time goes on.

Why? When the Army was growing and creating new units, it needed officers in a hurry and a lot of them. It was an inexperienced army and had to be content with inexperienced officers unproved in battle.

Army Is Complete Now

Now the Army is complete. Its units are formed. It doesn't need new officers for new units. It needs only replacements. Now, from the ranks of non-commissioned men who have proved their leadership in war theaters, the Army can confidently pick officer candidates.

So far about 250,000 men have been graduated as officers from the schools here and abroad. Back in 1942 there were 26 schools in this country, four in England, one in Australia.

Now there are only 15 schools here, the schools in England have been abandoned. The school in Australia remains.

Fifteen thousand men sent back here from abroad already have been commissioned. Some men, but very few, are commissioned right in the battle zone by their superior officers for leadership under fire.

The Army still is commissioning doctors and dentists directly out of civilian life and, in rare cases, is commissioning men with some special skill.

Free Business Threats Cited

LONGVIEW, April 17. (AP)—P. B. Doty of Beaumont, president of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, asserted at the annual convention of that organization today that the federal government had "become an instrument of forces alien to the enterprise principle of American life and work."

"The chief responsibility for leadership and action rests now with business management," Doty said in an address prepared for delivery to the 19th yearly meeting of the ETCC.

"The enterprise principle and its potentialities for the future prosperity and progress of the American people can and will be preserved if they understand what it implies, recognize the forces that threaten it, and have the will to deal with them promptly and decisively."

Government Factors Vital

Doty prefaced his discussion of the enterprise principle with advice that "however wisely we may plan and spend our energies here in East Texas it will prove profitable or unprofitable through the determination of national factors. We here in East Texas can and must help decide on wise national policies."

In support of his statements he declared that "forces alien to the enterprise principle" desired "to replace it by the principle of absolute subjection to the state," and asserted:

"The state now controls the management and cost of labor in production of commodities, services, and construction purchased by it from private enterprise.

Controls Costs, Prices

"The state not only controls the cost of production but it controls prices and practices and terms of trade in vital channels of distribution of commodities.

"The state now controls the financial management of corporations and their access to the capital market and to sources of credit.

"This governmental machine has an automatic device for creating and supplying credit and capital to operate the productive organization when private savings shall have been dissipated and destroyed and private capital and credit resources exhausted.

"The state is now accumulating a gigantic capital fund in its own hands through a comprehensive system of compulsory saving in the form of taxes on wages and payrolls, now covering more than half the working population.

Broad System Of Control

"Through this system of forced saving the state will be able not only to make the aged and the unemployed dependent upon it, but also to provide employment compulsory upon worker and employer by acquiring controlling ownership of business concerns, or lending them working capital under specified conditions regarding wages, salaries, working hours and management."

"Today the shadow of the state sits at the elbow of every business executive at his desk and is the invisible voter in every directors meeting."

SUMNERS FOR REELECTION

DALLAS, April 17 (AP)—Representative Hatton W. Sumners, chairman of the House judiciary committee who is serving his thirty-second year in Congress, filed with the Dallas county Democratic executive committee today as a candidate for renomination. He gave his age at 68.

President Of Brazil Pledges Democracy

RIO DE JANEIRO, April 17 (AP) —A democratic, representative government for Brazil following the war was promised today by President Getulio Vargas at a press luncheon.

Vargas became Brazil's president on Nov. 3, 1930, following the overthrow of the preceding government. He was elected president in 1934 for a four-year term but a new constitution proclaimed in 1937 increased his term to six years and his tenure has since been extended until a plebecite is held.

Re-pledging Brazil's active assistance to the Allied cause, President Vargas told the newspapermen that when the war is over "we shall complete those institutional organs which are not yet functioning."

"By the fullest and freest means our people will then be able to manifest themselves without any fears whatever and choose their leaders and representatives democratically within laws and provisions," he continued.

Cooperation In Draft Is Asked Of Farmers

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP)—Selective Director Lewis B. Hershey told farmers today their "first duty" is to make available for Army or Navy service every possible draft-deferred man under 26.

Deferments in agriculture cover 350,000 to 400,000 physically fit youths, the nation's largest group of this type so urgently needed by the Army and the Navy," Hershey said in a broadcast address.

He declared farm deferments should not be continued except when the young farmers meet the "strict requirements of the Tydings amendment to the selective service act, providing for the occupational deferment of men essential to food production.

Some Ammunition For Hunting Is Planned

WASHINGTON, April 17 (AP) — The War Production board today notified ammunition manufacturers that it proposes to release a limited amount of ammunition for hunting next fall, if civilian ammunition production is adequate.

Sales will be made through ordinary dealers, but will be restricted to farmers, ranchers, public safety agencies, and official pre-induction training programs, WPB said. If production can be maintained at desired levels these restrictions will be relaxed for the benefit of hunters later in the year, the agency added.
