ONLY A THREAD HOLDS LIFE TO CITY FIREMAN

H. D. Jobe, Wounded Thursday Night, Has Small Chance of Recovery

"CONSTABLE" IS HELD

Clay County to Turn Salisbury Over to Wichita In Case Jobe Dies

With L. C. Salisbury, Clay county farmer, at liberty on two bonds of $500 each on aggravated assault charges, Wichita and Clay county officials are awaiting the outcome of a wound sustained by H. D. Jobe, city fireman now lying at the point of death in the general hospital. Jobe who was shot in the head late Thursday night in an altercation with Salisbury, was declared following an operation yesterday to have but slight chance for recovery.

Wounded in Forehead.

First examinations of the wound in his forehead caused by a glancing bullet from Salisbury's gun, did not reveal the gravity of the fracture. It was thought that the man was not seriously hurt, but late Friday morning he took a turn for the worse and an emergency operation was performed by Dr. M. M. Walker.

It was found that the bullet had ranged upward just under the skin cutting a painful but superficial gash. The lead did not stay in the head, but in striking Jobe, it chipped a piece of bone from the skull, driving it backward into the brain. The operation removed this but attending physicians declare that it will in all probability result in death.

Discovery of the bone in the brain was not made until x-ray pictures had been made yesterday. It was known that the shot itself had not lodged in the head since a bullet hole was found in the top of Jobe's car just over the spot on which he was sitting when shot.

Sought to Arrest Him.

Salisbury, self-styled deputy constable whose gun inflicted the wound when he sought to arrest Jobe and a woman companion near the McKee school in Clay county, was taken back to Henrietta Friday morning. The shooting occurred just over the line in Clay county, but should Jobe die, Salisbury will be tried here by grace of the statute which allows the defendant in a homicide case to be tried in the county in which his victim dies. The district attorney's office announced yesterday that Henrietta officials would be asked to turn Salisbury over to them for prosecution. It was intimated, also, that this would be done.

Just what charge can be lodged against him in event of Jobe's death is a matter of disagreement among attorneys. It was stated at the district attorney's office that a murder charge would probably be filed, but belief was expressed in some quarters that such a complaint could not properly be made. Manslaughter or negligent homicide, it was suggested, might more logically be alleged.

Verbally Commissioned.

At Henrietta yesterday morning Salisbury is said to have admitted his commission was only a verbal one, given, so he contends, by a Clay county constable who wished him to patrol county roads in the vicinity of his home. It was while doing this, he said, that he found the Jobe car and sought to arrest Jobe and his companion. When the girl resisted, he said, he struck her. Ida Lee Smith, who was with Jobe at the time, declared that when Salisbury struck her the gun was accidentally discharged, the bullet striking Jobe. Salisbury, however, asserts that he also struck Jobe and that it was this latter blow which resulted in the shot. Salisbury and Miss Smith both agreed that only one shot was fired.

Salisbury was involved in another shooting scrape about three years ago when an oil field worker was shot in the leg as he passed Salisbury's house one night. Salisbury was tried in district court, fined $500 and the case appealed. The higher court affirmed the verdict.

Thief Took No Chances On Burial

A large quantity of drugs, stolen a few weeks ago from the Ellis drug store here, was recovered Friday in Riverside cemetery by a park department employee who found the stuff hidden in some brush.

Several bottles of strychnine and other poisonous drugs were included in the lot.

Officers believe that the thief, who they think was in search of morphine or cocain, extracted these drugs from his loot and threw the rest away.

"Anyway," said one officer, "the thief was taking no chances on not being buried."

C. L. DAVIS NO. 2 SHOWS FOR BEST SO. ARCHER WELL

What looks like far and away the best well ever completed in south Archer county began to show itself last night about 10 o'clock when the C. L. Davis No. 2, of the Panhandle Refining company and Consolidated Oil company, after being drilled to 1,099 feet, 25 feet in the sand, began to flow and broke away from the crew, shooting oil into the slush pit and earthen storage at a rate calculated at about 35 barrels an hour

At a late hour last night the well had not been brought under control. There was a strong gas showing. The well had been swabbed earlier in the day and showed a steady stream of oil ahead of the swab, but it was not until late last night that the well began to show itself for its real value.

DENVER AIDS THE ORIENT

Special Differential of $7.50 Per Car Once More in Effect

W. F. Sterley, general freight agent of the Fort Worth and Denver City and Wichita Valley railways, announces that the companies which he represents have again come to the assistance of the Orient railroad lines by agreeing to extend the so-called special differential of $7.50 per car under the standard rates, upon traffic moving to or from points beyond the lines of the Orient railroad.

This differential was to have expired on September 30, 1924, and by special permission granted by the interstate commerce commission it will remain in effect until November 1. Effective on and after that date the standard rates will be applied upon traffic routed in connection with the Orient lines, unless a further extension is made.

The action taken at previous times and at this time by the Denver road has been of considerable assistance to the Orient railroad and indirectly to the farmers, merchants and other industries located along that line. The special differential does not apply upon traffic moving between points in Texas nor does it apply upon traffic destined to or originating at a point on the Orient lines.

CITY'S TAX ROLL INCREASED BY 21-2 MILLIONS

Unrendered Roll Less By $127,810 as Compared With that of 1923

A GOOD SHOWING

Actual Gain in Value Of Taxable Property Named At $2,687,630

An increase of more than two and one-half million dollars on the total city tax roll for the present year, and a decrease of $127,810 in the unrendered roll for 1924 over that of 1923 is shown on this year's city tax rolls. The figures were revealed by Tax Assessor and Collector W. R. Hyer yesterday when typing of the current rolls was finished.

School Roll Unfinished.

Final figures on the school roll are not yet available since they have not been balanced. They will be completed within the next few days, however.

The actual gain in the values of taxable property this year over last is $2,687,630. The 1923 roll showed valuations of $31,409,540 and the 1924 totals $34,097,170. Real estate on the rendered roll in 1923 was $21,858,110 and in 1924 $22,685,690, or a gain for this year over last of $727,580. Personal property for the two years was $7,773,550 in 1923 and $9,761,410 in 1924, or a gain of $1,987,860.

On the basis of a $1.50 tax rate now to effect, the city's taxes for the present year will amount to $511,457. In 1923, on the same tax rate schedule, they were $471,143, or a gain of $40,314.

An analysis of the figures for the two years reveals two important facts; one that about $2,000,000 in new values have been added to the city since 1923 rolls were compiled and the other that a larger percent of the total taxable property is being turned in to the tax assessor.

A Building City.

This latter, of course, increases the city's taxable valuation in direct proportion to the amount lopped off the unrendered roll. Since the unrendered roll decrease is only $127,810, however, and the total valuation rises approximately two and one-half million, no other explanation can be offered other than that new structures have been built, more land added to the city and improvements made on that already here.

The unrendered roll's valuation decrease is the part of the report bringing most glee to city officials. The base of municipal existence, it might be explained, is the property owner who through ignorance, carelessness or perversity, fails to turn in his holdings for tax assessment.

Listing the Debit.

This and the property owner who makes his assessment and then fails to pay up are listed almost side by side on the debit side of the tax collector's moral ledger. Wichita Falls in the past had its full share of the unrendered evil, and the improvement noted proclaims not only careful and patient work on the part of the tax assessor and his deputies who have spared no pains to obtain renditions of every possible piece of property, but also a quickened interest on the part of property owners who show a willingness to turn in their renditions.

BEAUMONT LOSES MILLION.

Steamer-Choked Channel Is Proving Costly to Texas Port.

BEAUMONT, Texas, Sept. 26.—The port of Beaumont is still blockaded by the wrecked Italian motorship Izonzo, which is sunk in the Sabine-Neches canal to extinguish flames in her fuel tanks. Government engineers have been in charge for several days, but at 4 o'clock when the crew "knocked off" for the day, the promise was made to try and raise the vessel tomorrow. The loss to the port of Beaumont and steamship owners has been more than a half million dollars. Eight steamers are bottled up and 30 or more are lying outside or have been diverted to other ports. The city wharves are piled high with freight waiting for the ships to arrive.

PETROGRAD IS SALVAGING

Flood Subsides in Russian Capital After Heavy Damage.

LENINKRAD, Russia, Sept. 26.—With a subsidence in part of the flood caused by last Tuesday's storm, the stricken population of Leningrad (Petrograd) began today the task of salvaging the wreckage. By nightfall 2,000 persons had been rescued from inundated buildings. More than 200 of these persons were unconscious. Twenty-five dead bodies also were found.

There is destruction, debris and desolation everywhere throughout the city. Thousands are homeless, and the hospitals are crowded.

The flooded area covers 30 square miles. S me estimates place the property damage as high as $100,000,000.

50,000 Kids To Get In the T-OFair Free

Many school children have called at the down town office of the fair association for tickets to the Texas-Oklahoma fair, which opens Monday, which will be "Children's Day." Every school in the city and county will benefit by the use of the tickets to the exposition, according to Burl Bryant, head of the educational department of the exposition.

A total of 50,000 children's tickets was ordered for "Children's Day" and of this number more than 40,000 have been distributed to school in southern Oklahoma and northwest Texas, R. E. Shepherd, fair secretary stated.

The procedure was used during the 1922 and 1923 expositions, and "Children's Day" has been very popular with the juveniles.

WASHINGTON'S LEAD REDUCED ONE FULL GAME

Senators Falter on Threshold Of Their First Major League Pennant

Details and box score on the sports page.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Washington's lead in the American league was reduced to one full game today when the Senators faltered on the threshold of their first major league pennant and lost to the Boston Red Sox 2 to 1 while the Yankees were winning from Connie Mack's Athletics 7 to 1.

With three games yet to be played by each team it is certain the pennant cannot be decisively won by either team now before Monday, neither team being scheduled to play a Sunday game.

If Washington wins its full slate of three games yet to be played with the Red Sox it cannot be knocked from its supreme perch despite a similar performance by the Yankees over the Athletics, but if Washington's foot slips again in Boston the Yankees may yet slide under the wire ahead.

The Senators can still lose one game to the Sox and break even with the Yankees if the American league champs sweep the series against the Athletics.

The situation in the National league remained constant today neither the Giants nor Brooklyn being scheduled to play.

JUDGES' STAND IS READY.

Jockey Room Also in Shape for Opening Fair Races.

The judges' stand and jockey room at the race track of the Texas-Oklahoma fair, which opens Monday, has been put in first class condition. Several of the leading jockeys of the mid west fair circuit are due to arrive Sunday with the stables of several well known turfmen, according to W. F. Weeks, director of speed of the exposition.

Turfmen who are now at the fair grounds state the race course here is one of the best in the entire middle west or southwest. Excellent time will be made in the races as the track is considered fast.

VITRIOLIC WORD IN FASHION OF KIND FOR BUTTE

Cummings Gives Bitter Assailment of Democrat Who Bolts Party

YIELDS NO QUARTER

Speakers Likewise Use City Situation as Target For Their Remarks

A contemptible nondescript in the political pasture today is the "Butt democrat" who, a traitor to all party traditions and principles, is prepared to bolt the democratic ticket in November and support Dr. George C. Butte for governor.

This was the opinion expressed last night by B. Y. Cummings who, in an address at a Wichita county democratic club rally held in the legion arena, bitterly assailed the republican party and then just doubled his renunciation for those democrats who propose to back the republican nominee for governor. Judge Cummings delivered the principal address of a series that brought more brief but equally vitriolic condemnation from Judge P. A. Martin, Judge R. D. Sartin and J. B. Hatchitt.

Calls Him "Butt."

Referring continuously to Dr. Butte as "Professor Butt," Judge Cummings did not mince matters in his arraignment of the man or his supporters.

"I do not believe there can ever be a serious issue between the republican and democratic parties in Texas," he said in opening. "I believe that because I know that every Texas man whose father or grandfather walked between rows of bayonets in the hands of negroes to cast their freemen's votes will never allow the principles of the republican party to supplant those of democracy. Therefore I will never debate that the republican party is an issue in Texas.

"I am not opposed to the honest republican. If he believes in his party honestly and sincerely he has my supreme admiration. I have far more respect for him than I have for these 'Butt democrats' who are behind Davis and Bryan on the national ticket and Professor Butte in the state. They way of thinking, they are the most contemptible whelps living today."

Throughout the length of his talk which ran the whole gamut of political activity in the state and national fields, Judge Cummings reiterated his utter abhorrence of the "traitorous," "weak-kneed", and "conscienceless" subscribers to the "Butt democratic slate."

Commenting on Dr. Butte's qualifications, Judge Cummings assailed the former's promises to retain all the competent public officials now in Austin. Such a pledge, he said, was in direct conflict with the state constitution which provides that the governor's oath of office shall exact from the incumbent that he, during his candidncy had offered no political reward to his supporters. In making such a promise, the speaker said, Dr. Butte revealed "his lack of understanding of the constitution which he professes to support."

Expects Ma to Win.

Regarding the legal proceedings held recently in Austin in an effort to bar Mrs. Miriam Ferguson's name from the ballot in November, Judge Cummings declared that he entertained no doubts or misgivings. He prefaced his remarks along this line by referring to the courts of the country as the "bulwarks that safeguard human interests," and then said in part:

"If Judge Calhoun next Monday renders a decision adverse to Mrs. Ferguson, here is one man in Texas who will not condemn him or the courts of our country because of that decision. I know it will be his honest opinion, honestly and sincerely arrived at. And I believe that we, as citizens of Texas, will accept the verdict.

"But believing that I am also entitled to the belief that such a decision would be wrong; I believe it would be dead wrong, and while I am not prone to speculate on judicial decisions, I do not believe that Judge Calhoun will be misled into the error of opposing the duly elected nominee of the democratic party in Texas."

The ku klux klan, Judge Cummings believed, is going to vote in support of Mrs. Ferguson "by at least 75 per cent." Their obligations as democrats, he said, would prompt them to do this.

At one point in his address the speaker digressed from the principal business of the evening and touched on some of the things the Wichita

Two Ministers In Illinois Ejected From Pastorates

By The Associated Press.

CARBONDALE, Ills., Sept. 26.—Two Methodist Episcopal ministers were expelled tonight from the ministry at the annual meeting of the Southern Illinois conference in session here. In both cases women were involved in the charges brought against the expelled clergymen.

Lawrence M. Hight of Ina, Illinois, confessed poisoner of his wife, not only was banished from the ministry, but from membership of the church, on charges of having killed his wife and instigated the poisoning of Wilford Sweetin, a member of his congregation, so that he could marry Mrs. Sweetin.

C. B. Latimer, who held a pastorate at Fairfield, was stripped of his ministrul credentials on a charge of conduct unbecoming a minister. A letter, written in endearing terms to a woman of his congregation, forged the basis of the charge upon which Latimer was expelled.

Hight was banished from the church by a committee, known as the "select number" was unanimous and a report of its findings will be submitted to the conference tomorrow. It was explained, however, that this was a mere formality, and that the action of the "select number" was final.

WASHINGTON HAS A MYSTERY

System of Underground Tunnels Starts a Hum of Excitement

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—The capital city hummed tonight with unrestrained excitement over a little mystery all its own—the discovery of a net work of underground tunnels, or a labyrinth of catacombs in the exclusive northwest section of the city.

This much is known: The tunnels were discovered yesterday when a truck wheel broke a hole in what appeared to be just plain earth. Some one entered this hole found it dropped into a passageway about four feet wide and seven feet high. The passageway was lined with brick. This tunnel leads in one direction for several yards only, to end in a concrete barricade.

Apparently this passage descends but it is blocked with rubbish.

A third tunnel starts near the basement door of a private dwelling. It can be traversed about ten yards when loose earth and bricks prevent further passage.

What is it? No one knows.

Hoof and Mouth Disease Appears In Harris County

By The Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Texas, Sept. 26.—Infection of a part of a herd of cattle near Ellington field a short distance from Houston, in Harris county, with what is diagnosed by state and federal officials as the foot and mouth disease, has caused a temporary quarantine to be laid around Harris and four adjoining counties.

The state quarantine was declared against the movement of cattle, sheep and swine this afternoon by the Texas state livestock and sanitary commission.

It has been known for two or three days that the cattle on the ranch of Rev. William S. Jacobs were affected with a disease resembling the foot and mouth disease. It was definitely diagnosed as this yesterday but the matter was not made public.

In addition to the quarantine against livestock, everyone leaving the quarantine area must first be fumigated. Special officers have been sworn in for this purpose. A federal inspector will arrive tomorrow to inspect other cattle in this section

Would Have Council Act Despite Ruling Of Justice Court

By The Associated Press.

GENEVA, Sept. 26.—A somewhat delicate situation has arisen in the peace discussions at Geneva growing out of a proposed amendment to the protocol of arbitration offered by the Japanese. This, in effect, called upon the council of the league of nations to endeavor to conciliate and mediate in disputes between countries, even if the world court of justice previously had ruled that the disputes have arisen over matters which were solely within the domestic jurisdiction of the states involved.

Refers to Immigration

The situation is delicate because all the delegates interpret the Japanese amendment, which was subsequently withdrawn, as referring to the problem of immigration, and hence especially interesting to such countries as the United States, Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

In withdrawing the amendment, M. Adatchi, the Japanese minister to Belgium, said that in consequence of the attitude of the disarmament commission, he would have to make express reservations concerning the whole of the arbitration and security which is now being drafted.

A private meeting of several of the delegates, including the Japanese, was called for late tonight in an endeavor to reach a compromise agreement satisfactory to the Japanese.

Article V of the proposed protocol, as newly drafted, declares that if, in the course of arbitration proceedings, one of the parties claims that a dispute arises over a matter which by international law is solely within the domestic jurisdiction of that party, the arbitrators shall, on this point, take the advice of the world court of justice through the intermediary of the council of the league of nations.

Opinion Is Binding

It adds that the court's opinion shall be binding on the arbitrators and that the arbitrators shall confine themselves to so declaring in their award. This article has extreme importance, because a subsequent article of the protocol declares that any state shall be regarded an aggressor and hence subject to punitive sanctions, if it disregards and arbitral award recognizing that a dispute concerns a question which is solely domestic in nature. M. Adatchi's amendment was that the provisions of Article V should leave unaffected the council's duty of endeavoring to conciliate the parties in disputes, so as to assure the maintenance of peace and of good understanding between nations.

Time Between Life and Death Ticks For "Iron Jaw" Circus Performer

One of those tense moments that tell the tale between life and death came to a trapeze actress at the circus last night, when feeling herself slipping high in the air from a precarious perch between a swinging ladder and slender rope, she held herself by sheer will power until the ladder had reached a point where her fall was easiest and the danger less.

Then when fear told her death might result in letting go, but judgment demanded she release her hold while the ladder was not moving so swiftly she let her foot slip from the noose in which it was fastened and tumbled a full 25 feet to the ground.

The audience hardly knew what had happened. She was picked up, a bundle in blue, and carried out, seemingly unconscious. A dash of water on her face revived her, and after a moment's rest she was back in the ring to do her "iron-jaw" act, one of the most hazardous things a trapeze actor is called upon to perform.

There was not a hitch, and at the end of the show she appeared none the worse for the tumble that might easily have cost her her life; and which as it was thrilled through and through her initiated ring mates knew what was happening.

Mrs. Babe Lloyd, Robbins Brothers circus, was the victim. According to her story she felt herself slipping on the swinging ladder and rope just when the trick began it's upward climp. She knew that if she let herself fall, she would be catapulted into space; she held on until the ladder had reached the height of its flight and the moment it was just starting to go back dropped, uninjured save for a slight shock.

Few Delegates Remain At Kansas City for Final Klan Meet

By The Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 26.—N. C. Jewett, grand dragon of the ku klux klan in Oklahoma, has not been removed from office according to notice served upon the Oklahoma realm here today by Dr. Hiram W. Evans, imperial wizard. Dr. Evans said that rumors being circulated that Jewett had been removed were without foundation.

By The Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 26.—A promise that state realms hereafter will have a voice in the selection of the grand dragons appointed to rule over them, was made to delegates attending the imperial klonvokation of the ku klux klan here yesterday by Imperial Wizard H. W. Evans.

"I am going to tell you something that will make you feel mighty good," the imperial wizard told the delegates. "Hereafter each grand dragon whom I appoint will be subject to the ratification of the klan in the state where he is appointed. Now, isn't that democratic, boys?

"The militant klankraft gives the wizard the right to appoint the grand dragons, but I'm going to do more than that. I'm going to let you boys say whether you want the grand dragon I appoint."

Newspaper men were admitted to the klonvokation yesterday at what klan officials said really constituted the final session. Most of the delegates had departed for their homes today, but those remaining, it was said, would hold a brief meeting to wind up some unfinished business.

Partial Victory Is Claimed.

By The Associated Press.

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 26.—The concession of Dr. Hiram W. Evans, imperial wizard of the ku klux klan, in permitting the ratification of grand dragons by state realms after their appointment by him, today was termed a "partial victory for the reform element in the organization" by State Senator Wash Hudson, who instigated a "klan cleanup kommittee" after he had been suspended from membership by N. C. Jewett, grand dragon of the Oklahoma realm.

GET READY FOR FORD

T. & P. Takes no Chances on Caring for His Dallas Factory

By The Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 26.—In anticipation of the completion of the Ford Motor company's huge assembly plant at Dallas in December, and because of the increased demand for equipment from other sources the Texas & Pacific railway has ordered 1,000 steel underframe automobile cars, it was announced today by A. P. Smirl, assistant traffic manager. Mr. Smirl said the contract specifies southern pine timber and lumber shall be used in contructing the cars, although the outlay would have been considerably less had other wood been used.

The new Ford plant under construction at Dallas covers approximately 20 acres. The initial cost has been placed at $5,000,000.

BAPTIST WOMEN APPROVE

Missionary Union, Meeting in Dallas O. K.'s Boards' Work

By The Associated Press.

DALLAS, Sept. 26.—The work of the board of ministerial relief and annuities of the Southern Baptist convention was endorsed and plans for cooperating in the board's efforts to finance relief work among superannuated preachers were formulated at the final day's session of the Women's Missionary union here today.

The work of the ministerial relief was endorsed after a lengthy address by Dr. William Lunsford of Dallas, its secretary. He was introduced by Mrs. F. S. Davis of Dallas, president of the union, which is affiliated with the Texas Baptist convention.

The convention was held here to plan for the union's part in the Texas Baptist convention scheduled for Dallas Nov. 29. A nominating committee of 18 was appointed.

INVESTIGATE PENNSYLVANIA.

Philadelphia's Enforcement League Charges Are Taken Up.

By The Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26.—The statement of the Law Enforcement league made in a telegram to President Coolidge that it "possesses signed documentary evidence charging political corruption all down the line in the state of Pennsylvania by federal office holders and that it is the worst spot in the union," is being investigated by United States Attorney General Stone by direction of the president, according to information given out here.

TIPS OFF THE OFFICERS.

Using Crawford's Name They Try To Smuggle in Saws.

By The Associated Press.

DALLAS, Sept. 26.—Four men and a woman were under detention for questioning today in connection with an attempt last night to smuggle twelve saw blades into the Dallas county jail in a box of fruit consigned to William Lester Crawford under indictment for the slaying of Paul O'Day, a Dallas attorney. Crawford tipped off officers that the attempt might be made, his name being used, Crawford said, because he is well known to Dallas officials and the package might not be inspected.

DAVIS SEES A VICTORY

Nominee Says Dems to Ticket In New York to Be Elected.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—The renomination of Governor Smith makes the election of the entire democratic ticket in New York state "a foregone conclusion," said a statement by John W. Davis, democratic presidential candidate, issued at the eastern headquarters of the party's national committee here today.

MOTHER JONES IS G. O. P.

Union Labor Leader Likes Coolidge and Tells Him So

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Mother Jones, long connected with the union labor movement among coal mine workers, called on President Coolidge today to assure him of her support in the campaign.

"I have been watching you for a long time," Mrs. Jones said she told the president, "and I want to say that I like you for you don't blow off steam. You don't talk too much."

SEARCH FOR BANK GUARD

He Disappears With $100,000 All in $20 Bills

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Sept. 26.—Chief William J. Quilty and the entire local detective bureau augmented by private forces are scouting the city of New Haven, Conn., in search of William J. Hanifin, bank guard, who yesterday disappeared with $100,000 in $20 bills. Hanifin was seen to board a train and pay a cash fare to New Haven.

GOVERNOR ROSS THE SAME

Condition of Wyoming Chief Executive Good as Expected.

By The Associated Press.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Sept. 26.—A bulletin issued today by Dr. G. P. Johnston, chief physician attending Governor William B. Ross, said the governor "had comfortable night" and that his condition was as good as could be expected under the circumstances. Every indication points to his complete recovery, the bulletin said. Governor Ross yesterday was operated on for appendicitis.

500 PICKERS WANTED

Seagraves Sends Urgent Call to Ft. Worth Bureau.

By The Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, Texas, Sept. 26.—Call for 500 cotton pickers was received today from the Seagraves chamber of commerce in Gaines county by C. W. Woodman, in charge of the United States employment bureau at Fort Worth. This is the first call ever sent from that county for cotton pickers, Woodman said.

FAKE BONDS BRING ARREST

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Two men were placed under arrest today in connection with the circulation of several hundred thousand dollars worth of bonds made in imitation of the bonds of the Steel & Tube company of America. One of the prisoners was alleged to have confessed.

Bandits Derail Express, Killing 15 Near Moscow

Disconnect Rails, Piling Up Locomotive and 10 Coaches

SECOND IN MONTH

Marauders Make Escape After Viewing Wanton Destruction

By The Associated Press.

ODESSA, Sept. 26.—Fifteen persons were killed 25 mortally injured and 43 seriously hurt today when the Moscow to Odessa express was derailed by bandits about 300 miles from Moscow.

Five women were among the 15 killed.

The bandits disconnected the rails, causing the locomotive and ten coaches and baggage cars to jump the track. With the exception of the last three coaches the entire train, which was traveling at high speed, was completely wrecked, the engineer, fireman and conductor being instantly killed. The rails were torn up for a distance of nearly 1,000 feet. The injured were rushed to Moscow by a special train. The bandits escaped.

The wreck was the second in less than a month caused by the wanton destruction of the track, 40 passengers having been killed in an exactly similar disaster about 200 miles from Odessa August 28.

Klan Denounced By New Yorkers In Demo Confab

"Republican Corporation" Comes in for Condemnation at Assembly

AL SMITH NAMED

Democratic Platform Promised When Empire State Hosts Meet

By The Associated Press.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 26.—William Church Osborn, in his address as permanent chairman of the democratic state convention today attacked what he termed the "flagrant corruption of the republican national administration and declared that if John W. Davis, was elected president he would be neither cool nor cautious."

The speaker contrasted the administrations at Washington and at Albany.

"No one can deny that Al Smith is a stout two handed fighter, but he has so conducted himself that his bearest blows have left no bitterness because he has ever been just. He has been indeed a fighter without bitterness and a friend without favorites."

By The Associated Press.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 26.—A vigorous denunciation of the ku klux klan and demand for modification of the Volstead act to permit sale of light wines and beers were the salient features of the democratic platform adopted at the state convention today.

In naming the klan reference was made to the pledge of the national democratic platform, "to defend and maintain the constitutional liberties of all citizens, of all races, of all classes and of all religions."

"Republican corruption," in Washington was attacked with particular reference to the oil disclosures and the Fordney-McCumber tariff act.

There was also included a plank favoring extension of the soldiers' bonus law to "provide for the dependents of men who gave their lives overseas for our country."

The platform insists that congress enact "such modification of the Volstead act as shall legilize, subject to approval of the people of the state of New York, the use of beer and light wines."

Governor Alfred E. Smith and the entire roster of state elective officials were re-nominated unanimously by the democratic state convention today. The ticket includes:

Lieutenant Governor George R. Lunn, Schenectady; Secretary of State James A. Hamilton, the Bronx.

The convention, the first in many years that had not been marked by at least one bitter contest, was the epitome of harmony.

It was a Smith demonstration all the way, every reference to the governor provoking renewed enthusiasm.

When the governor appeared in person the assemblage gave him one of the greatest ovations in his career.

The principal seconding speech was made by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, a cousin of the republican gubernatorial nominee Theodore Roosevelt.

The only other business transacted at the convention was the adoption of party platform which in the main follows closely along the lines of previous state platforms. It openly denounces the ku klux klan and calls for modification of the Volstead act.

Queen Victoria was taught court etiquette in her nursery as the court was too corrupt for her mother to allow her to attend it.

Vengeance Is Mine, Hint Of Flock In Elopement

By The Associated Press.

DURANT, Okla., Sept. 26.—Friends of the Rev. J. G. Miller, aged pastor of a leading Durant church, who killed himself recently rather than face the disgrace of a church trial on charges of being intimate with a woman of his congregation, today watched with eagerness the search for the Rev. Joseph B. Yates, pastor of a church at Alluwee, Okla., who is reported to have eloped with a 14-year-old school girl.

Yates formerly was assistant to Rev. Miller and it was his charge that Miller had been interested in Mrs. Yates that caused the minister to take his life.

A note left by Rev. Miller, who was 68 years old, branded Yates' charge as blackmail and friends of the dead man today declared his memory vindicated by the reported elopement.

Yates, after leaving Durant, obtained a divorce from his wife who had not been living with him for several months.

Rev. Miller was prominent in civic enterprises and was one of the most popular ministers in Durant. His funeral, one of the largest ever held in Durant, was attended by thousands and was marked by testimonials of many men well known in the life of the city. He once was a presiding elder in Texas and was buried at Abilene.

Sacrament Wine Permits Probed In Illinois Office

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—A grand jury investigation of alleged fraud in the issuance of sacramental wine permits has been ordered by District Attorney Olson, who has been authorized by Federal Judge Cliffe to seize all records relating to wine permits in the office of Percy Owen, state prohibition director. The records will be impounded for use of the grand jury.

Enormous use of sacramental wine here last year as compared with New York and other cities with large Jewish populations directed attention to probable fraud, officials said. Permits here last year totalled 1,200,000 gallons while those in New York amounted to 80,000.

Two dealers charged with attempting to bribe government agents have been held under bond for grand jury action.

TRIAL AWAITS PRISONER.

Ohio Bootleg King to Face Five Indictments When Freed.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Department of justice officials announced today they intended to hold five indictments, now pending against George Remus, Ohio bootleg king, who recently repudiated his testimony before the Daugherty committee and to try them when he completes his two-year prison sentence in the Atlanta federal penitentiary.

GAS STOVE—$125,000.

Two Blocks of Disastrous Fires Suffered at Smackover.

By The Associated Press.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 26.—Fire said to have been started from a gas stove destroyed nearly two blocks of buildings in the business section of Smackover in the center of the south Arkansas oil fields, early today, according to a report received by the Southwestern Bell company. The loss was estimated at $125,000.

ROOSEVELT SEES COOLIDGE.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Theodore Roosevelt, who was nominated yesterday as the republican nominee for governor of New York, called on President Coolidge today and formally presented his resignation as assistant secretary of the navy, which was accepted by the president.

Officers Scouring Territory Of Two States to Find Trace of Pair

By The Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, Texas, Sept. 26.—Mrs. J. E. Yates, wife of Rev. J. E. Yates, for whom officers in Oklahoma are looking on an abduction charge, was employed as waitress in a Fort Worth cafe until a few days ago when she was transferred to an Austin hotel.

By The Associated Press.

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 26.—Officers throughout northeastern Oklahoma and southern Kansas are searching for Rev. Joseph E. Yates, until Monday a Methodist minister at Alluwee, Okla., a small town near Nowata, who is wanted on a charge of abduction of a 14-year-old girl.

The minister called at school for the girl and they were seen to leave in his automobile.

MAINE.

Now that the official court of the votes cast in the recent election in Maine has been announced the figures are interesting. First for the reason that the vote was the largest polled in the history of Maine. Total vote for governor was 251,834. Total vote for senator, 244,218. Almost eight thousand voters scratched the name of the two candidates for governor. William R. Pattangall, who went down in defeat, gets some consolation. He received a vote fifty percent larger than any previously given to a democratic candidate for governor of Maine.

COPPER.

Domestic consumption of American copper metal increased ten percent in the first half of 1924. Prior to the world war the yearly consumption of copper in the United States had never touched a billion pounds. In 1923 the consumption of copper in this country reached 1,465,900,000 pounds.

A tremndous increase is predicted in the near future. This gain is attributable to a twenty-five percent increase in the use of copper in the electrical industry and a twelve and one-half percent increase in building constructions. All the American copper kings are republicans, all are for the Mellon plan of taxation and all are hoping that Calvin Coolidge will be elected president.

Lawrence Phipps of Colorado and Ralph Cameron of Arizona are said to be copper senators. They are republicans. In addition to being coppered, Senator Phipps is said to represent the House of Steel. Just as Magnus Johnson of Minnesota represents the dirt farmer.

There are very few copper kings. There are many millions who till the soil. Most of the tillers buy copper and they pay the price. Grand old country.

MAN WHO MADE COUZENS.

Governor Alex Grosebeck of Michigan is the man who made Senator James A. Couzens. Truman H. Newberry resigned from the senate to escape expulsion. Governor Grosebeck named Couzens to fill the vacancy. Grosebeck was a candidate for a third term in the recent Michigan primary. He had a plurality of 200,000 over the next highest man, James Hamilton of Detroit, initiator of the movement to have an anti-parochial school amendment made to the state constitution. Hamilton ran with the klan endorsement.

Governor Grosebeck is strong for Coolidge. Couzens isn't. Couzens will vote for Coolidge but this is as far as he will go. He is of the opinion that Andrew W. Mellon should be ousted from office and never hesitates to say so.

A plurality nomination wins in Michigan. In the old days the plurality nomination won the prize in Texas but Governor Oscar B. Colquitt prevailed upon a legislature to change the law from a plurality to a majority namination and Colquitt was the first victim.

He ran for United States senator, he won a large plurality with Culberson as the runner-up. Then the friends of all the defeated candidates voted for Culberson and Colquitt lost the prize.

DID YOU KNOW

That branches of the National League of Young Democrats have been organized in thirty-five of the forty-eight states and the work of extending similar organizations in the remaining states has been started by William H. Edwards of New York, national chairman of the league.

That Chairman Edwards says the league intends to show the young men and women voters of the country that it is the aim of the democratic party to vitalize the politics of the country by inducing the activities of men of heart and conscience.

That Republican Chairman William M. Butler says there is no widespread unemployment in the United States today while there are five million people in Europe receiving unemployment doles from their governments, while the 4,500,000 unemployed in the United States four years ago were all returned to a job in just twelve months and many of them earlier.

If you can't go to Europe to study the grand manner, you can observe floorwalkers.

You can estimate your standing in a hick town by the number who try to borrow money from you.

Perhaps the most unfortunate man is the one who marries for money and can't get enough of it to buy a divorce.

If you are thrifty you may accumulate a fortune by the time you lose the capacity to enjoy spending it.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

By MARY BLAKE

LIBRA

Today's planetary aspects are fairly good until the eventide, when they become distinctly adverse. During the favorable period, they stimulate and indicate optimism, and work of an aggressive nature can be attempted successfully. They portend more success in collective energy, rather than in individual enterprise, and reflect a very encouraging atmosphere for all public gatherings. In the evening, great restraint must be exercised, and all argument or discussion, especially of a personal nature, should be avoided.

A child born today will suffer, but in no unusual degree, the ordinary ailments of infancy; but, with loving care and good surroundings, will develop into strong and healthy maturity. Its character will be determined; its disposition more stubborn than pliant; its mentality complex. As this child will inherently be a strong character, with a will of its own, no effort must be spared in order to inculcate correct mental processes, so that its determination and will power shall be only directed along the right lines. It will develop exceptional brilliancy in some lines of study, whereas, in others, it will display an inability to absorb. The former lines should be stressed, whereas the latter should not be unduly emphasized.

If today is your brithday, you have the ability and the opportunity to achieve unlimited success, but will not attain same unless you change your mental outlook, and acquire good will, as a substitute for uncharitableness.

Goodwill is just as important an asset for an individual, as for a corporation. Goodwill—which usually means reputation—has to be earned by merit; by genuine, honest worth; by giving full value. There are two species—that within our hearts, that which we feel towards and extend to others, and that which others feel for us. To gain good will, we must exude good will. You must sow, before you reap.

Goodwill is a virtue worth cultivating and practicing, not merely at Christmas, but from January to December. It will help you to be successful in business; it will help you to succeed socially; it will help you to be successful in your own eyes and in your own conscience.

Successful people born on this date are:

Wm. B. Hazen, soldier and chief signal officer.

Wm. D. Mann, soldier, manufacturer and editor.

Alfred T. Mahan, naval officer and author.

Thomas Nast, carcicaturist.

Myrtle Reed, author.

Henry Phipps, manufacturer.

HOW IT STARTED

THE ALARM CLOCK

How many of you, when the alarm calls you from bed, perhaps before sunrise have great curiosity as to the origin of the mechanism? Anyway this little column is not seen until after the chill has worn-off—so we are safe.

The alarm in clocks is just a further development of the striking apparatus which had its origin in the earliest days of the clock itself. As a matter of fact, the principal function of a clock, according to medaieval conception, was that it automatically call out the hours, particularly the hours for devotion. This is proven by the word itself which originally ment "bell"—a meaning which has been retained in the French word "cloche."

The first alarm was merely the striking of each hour, or such hours as were designated by the priest-hood to rouse them for morning devotion. For centuries the hours at which the clock struck could not be varied after it was built.

The mechanism which permits setting in for a certain time is the result of constant development and improvement which fructified in modern inventive genius.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THERE'S LIFE IN HIM YET

It wasn't any Persian grit
That bowed the Grecian pride,
And made their glorious armies quit
The conquest they had tried.
Mosquitoes got so bad one year
That, driven to despair,
Each valiant Greek threw down his spear
And fled away from there.

The Romans ruled all Europe once
And then, there fell a day
As, on a dozen different fronts
J. Caesar pushed his way,
Mosquitoes gathered in a cloud,
And not a son of Rome
Was so heroic or so proud
But he lit out for home.

We think at last we've beat the skeet;
Our homes from him we screen,
And we set out for him to eat
Great cans of kerosene.
We beard him in his baffled beak
And say to him: "It's true
You licked the Roman and the Greek,
But we're too much for you!

But when a single one of him
Can wing his questing flight
About our bedroom, still and dim
And keep us up all night.
His final rout we can't predict
As surely as we should,
For though the critter may be licked
He still is pretty good!

TRUTH IN ADVERTISING

The American delegates to the advertising convention in England were cordially received. Many things were said at this convention to indicate that the subject of advertising has passed from the region of extraordinary and unusual things into the realm of laws and customs.

Most emphasis perhaps was laid upon the slogan, "Truth in Advertising." This recognizes the great law of business which is that anyone who expects to remain in business must depend very largely upon the good will of his customers and that will cannot be obtained unless his performance is equal to his profession.

The old motto, "caveat emptor"—let the buyer beware—has passed. Now the seller defends and protects his customer, it is a part of his calling. The good business man recognizes that unless he faithfully fulfills his promise he cannot remain in business.

I received, sometime ago, a book from a mail order concern in Chicago. It was a large book and upon its front page was the statement that any of the goods advertised in it could be returned, at the expense of the house, for no matter what reason. This is a novel and unusual statement. Fifty years ago it would have been unheard of. The merchant at that time barricaded himself behind his privilege and held that the buyer must take all the consequences of his purchase no matter how disappointing it was.

Business is made up largely of good will, which has been defined as the disposition of any purchaser to return to the seller from whom he has purchased before. This good will cannot be obtained unless it is founded upon the fact that the merchant's representations have always been truthful.

Naturally the buyer is skeptical and, notwithstanding all that has been done, he is often deluded by extravagant advertising. The wise merchant, therefore, will take care that his advertisements habitually understate and do not overstate his case.

Little by little, fraud and chicanery eliminate themselves. It is demonstrated that, as business rises to the dignity of a profession, it must be based upon truth and honesty. In so doing it attracts to itself the best portion of the people and, more and more, business becomes a preferred career.

There is no doubt that the era of the priest and the soldier is past and the era of the business man is at hand. For business remains the one calling above all others because it is engaged in the great business of supplying mankind its needs in administering to the life of the people and not to their death.

GLEANINGS FROM THE BOOK OF LIFE

BY CLARK KINNAIRD

THAT SENSE OF HUMOR

Nothing is more significant of men's character than what they find laughable, Goethe observed.

It is pointed out by George Eliot (in an essay on Heine) that the truth of this observation would perhaps have been more apparent if he had said culture instead of character.

The last thing in which the cultivated man can have community with the vulgar is their jocularity; and we can hardly exhibit more strikingly the wide gulf which separates him from them than by comparing the object which shakes the diaphragm of a coal-heaver with the highly complex pleasure derived from real witticism.

That any high order of wit is exceedingly complex and demands a ripe and strong mental development has one evidence in the fact that we do not find it in boys at all in proportion to their manifestation of other powers. It was pointed out by George Eliot (the pseudonym, you know, of a woman).

Clever boys generally aspire to the heroic and poetic rather than the comic, it seemed to her, and the crudest of all their efforts are their jokes.

"Many a witty man will remember how in his schooldays a practical joke; more or less Rabelaisian, was for him the ne plus ultra of the ludicrous."

It seems to have been the same with the boyhood of mankind.

The fun of early races was Eliot fancies, of the after-dinner kind—loudthroated laughter over the wine cup, taken too little account of in sober moments to enter as an element in their art. (There is nothing in prehistoric remains that gives a clue to when man developed a sense of humor).

UNCOMMON SENSE

The speedometer on a car serves two good purposes.

First it tells the driver how far he has gone.

That is important, for it enables him to check up his progress.

Second it tells him how fast he is going.

That is still more important, for it permits him to be sure that he is not going faster than he ought to be going.

You see a good many cars piled up beside the road which would be safely in the home garages if the drivers had paid a little more attention to the speedometers.

Never was the adage about more haste and less speed more applicable than it is to the case of the reckless motorist who didn't get where he was going or anywhere else simply because he disregarded the story that the little dial on the instrument board in front of him was telling him.

Nothing that is worth while in life can be "rushed."

Business demands that a man work not only accurately but rapidly. In the mind of every intelligent man is a speedometer which will tell him just how fast he can work and at the same time keep out of the ditch, or out of the hands of the various sorts of policemen who are on the lookout for the get-rich-quick men.

It is just as pleasureable to get along rapidly in business in a profession as it is to move rapidly over a smooth and a safe road while motoring.

Naturally everyone wants to "get on." There is much to be seen in life, and he who does the best in his calling gets the best view.

But it is never wise to be in a hurry, nor is it very wise to move at such a rate that one must keep his eyes constantly on the road ahead, with never an opportunity to look at the hills and valleys through which he is passing.

All normal people can tell by some hidden sense inside them whether they are going too slow to get anywhere, or whether they are going too fast for safety.

If they will consult these internal speedometers constantly they will find life, if not always pleasant going, at least comfortable. And they will be reasonably sure to reach some worthwhile destination before the machine wears out, and is, as we all hope, traded in for a new one on the other side of that mysterious bourn from which neither motorist nor pedestrian has ever returned.

Life is only a journey. Often it is dangerous. But he who drives most carefully finds it safest.

Irrigation

By A. M. McPHERSON

WATER.

Just What Is Good Water?

You often hear water spoken of as good water or bad. Just what is good water and what is bad water? It all depends upon the use that water is to be put whether it is good or bad.

If we took distilled water and boiled it we would then have pure water free from all air, bacteria or mineral water. This would not be good water to drink. It would taste flat and be very unpalatable to most people. It would, however, be first class water for use in a boiler, for a storage battery, or for use in a laundry, but it would not be as good for irrigation as some other kinds of water.

Oftentimes you will have a clear, sparkling water of good taste, excellent for use in a boiler or in a laundry and perfectly suitable for irrigation, but on account of the presence of disease germs a very bad water from a health standpoint.

The laundry man, the housewife and the steam engineer all want water that is free from all mineral matter, especially lime. In other words they want soft water. They want water that will make lather easily and that will not deposit scale in a boiler.

As a contrast to what these people want the irrigationist wants water that carries lime. Taste, color and bacterial content are immaterial so far as he is concerned, but lime is important. With plenty of lime in his water he will find that his soils will improve and he will raise better crops.

From the above it will be seen that there is no fixed standard for determining just what is good water and what is bad water. It all depends upon what use is to be made of it.

Dorothy Dix

The Young Girl Who Is the Victim of Selfish Mother Love—Is It Fair to Charm Away a Man From Another Girl?—The Wife Whose Husband Is Besieged by a Young Vamp.

Dear Dorothy Dix—People are always blaming the mother who neglects her children. Believe me, the mother who loves her children so well that she tries to absorb their every thought and never lets them out of her sight is worse.

I am the victim of one of these overly devoted mothers. She has kept me right in her pocket all of my life. I have never been allowed to go off to school or pay a visit, or do anything that she didn't do, because she couldn't bear to be separated from me. I have never had a girl friend because my mother was so afraid I would care more for some girl than I did for her that she separated me as much as possible from other girls.

Now I am twenty-one, and she keeps all men away from me as effectually as if I were shut up in a harem. No young man is ever encouraged to come to see me or made welcome at the house, and if one shows me any attention elsewhere mother attaches herself to my other side, and stays until she drives the youth away.

Mother says that the idea of my marrying just breaks her heart, and she will never give me up, but I am fed up on mother love and want some other kind for a change. What can I do? DAUGHTER.

Answer:

Your only salvation is to free yourself from the tender arms that are choking you to death. And that is the hardest thing in the world to do. We can fight those who are our enemies and give back blow for blow to those who hate us and despitefully use us, but it takes superhuman courage to break away from the clinging hands of those who love us. Yet often love is crueler than hate and those who would die for us slay us.

We glorify mother love, but often it is a selfish passion that puts the gratification of itself above the good of the child.

There are plenty of other cases like yours, Daughter, in which a mother denies a child all association with companions of its own age in order that she may monopolize its society.

All of us know mothers who have kept their children from marrying, who have kept them from love and home building and the joys of fatherhood and motherhood because they could not bear to see themselves superseded in their children's lives by husbands and wives and babies. All of us know mothers who insist on living with their married children when they know that they are wrecking the peace of their homes, because they cannot bear to be separated even a block or two from them. And all of us know mothers who have wrecked their children's lives by keeping them at home and preventing them from following the careers for which nature destined them.

There is only one way to deal with a selfish mother, Daughter. You have to fight selfishness with selfishness and look out for your own welfare and happiness. It is not right for the old parasitic vine to wrap itself so closely around the young oak that it stunts its growth and kills it.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—Some months ago I met a very nice young man who has been coming to see me and showing me a good deal of attention ever since, although he goes to see another girl with whom he has been keeping company for three years. Do you think that if he cared for this other girl he would be wasting time on me? I would not like to interfere between them, but I like this man very much. What do you think about it?

ROSE.

Answer:

All is fair in love and war, Rose, and until a man is married he is fair game. You need not have any twinges of conscience about cutting the other girl out, for a man who can be won away from his allegiance cares but little for the girl he forsakes. If he really loves her, he is vamp proof.

It often happens that a man thinks he is in love with a girl, but when he gets to know her better finds that her charm disappears for him like mist in the sunshine. He may find that she has characteristics that are obnoxious, tastes that are antagonistic and she may even come to bore him.

Under such conditions a marriage would be a fatal mistake and bring hapiness to neither.

Any man may mistake liking for love and not know the difference until he meets some girl who sets his pulses thrilling, who fires his fancy, and whom he knows almost at sight for his mate. This is no fault of his or the girl's. It is just nature, and under such conditions it would be criminal to all concerned for the man to go on and marry the first girl.

The matter of loving or not loving is not in our hands. It lies on the knees of the gods and all we can do is to take what they send.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—What shall I do? I have a husband and a child which I dearly love, but there is a girl who runs after my husband. He can't go anywhere that she doesn't follow him. He cannot go off on a business trip for a day that he doesn't find her on the train when he is coming back. He tells me that he doesn't care for her and tries to avoid her, but he cannot help her following him. I feel like shooting her down, like a dog and I have worried over it so that it makes me sick. My husband goes wild when I tell him that I am going to leave him, and says that he will kill himself if I do. What shall I do?

WORRIED.

Answer:

Why, I think your best plan would be to call your husband's little bluff. Take your baby and go away, and break up his home for a bit. If he really loves you, and means to run straight, he will get rid of the girl.

Any man can protect himself against a woman if he so desires. He has only to tell the police that a woman is annoying him and they will lock her up. And, as a matter of fact, no woman pursues a man long unless he encourages her.

But for heaven's sake don't let your mad jealousy cause you to do such a crazy thing as to kill the woman. You wouldn't make yourself happier by staining your hands with blood and disgracing your child by becoming a murderess. Your poor, weak, infatuated husband isn't worth it. Besides if you will just be patient and wait, he'll come home. That sort always does.

THE CHAMPION

BY RING LARDNER

Dan moistened his lips and murmured an embarrassed reply, but it was lost on the young gladiator.

"Leave me take twenty," Midge was saying. "I prob'ly won't need it, but I don't like to be caught short."

Tommy parted with a twenty dollar bill and recorded the transaction in a small black book the insurance company had given him for Christmas.

"But," he said, "it won't cost you no twenty to look at them fish. Want me to go along?"

"No," said Midge hastily. "You and your brother here prob'ly got a lot to say to each other."

"Well," said Tommy, "don't take no bad money and don't get lost. And you better be back at four o'clock and lay down a while."

"I don't need no rest to beat this guy," said Midge. He'll do enough layin' down for the both of us."

And laughing even more than the jest called for, he strode out through the fire of admiring and startled glances.

The corner of Boylston and Tremont was the nearest Midge got to the wharf, but the lady awaiting him was doubtless a more dazzling sight than the catch of the luckiest Massachusetts fisherman. She could talk, too—probably better than the fish.

"O you kid!" she said flashing a few silver teeth among the gold. "O you fighting man!"

Midge smiled up at her.

"We'll go somewheres and get a drink," he said. "One won't hurt."

In New Orleans, five months after he had rearranged the map of Bud Cross for the third time, Midge finished training for his championship bout with the Dutchman.

Back in his hotel after the final workout, Midge stopped to chat with some of the boys from up north, who had made the long trip to see a champion dethroned, for the result of this bout was so nearly a foregone conclusion that even the experts had guessed it.

Tommy Haley secured the key and the mail and ascended to the Kelly suite. He was bathing when Midge came in, half an hour later.

"Any mail?" asked Midge.

"There on the bed," replied Tommy from the tub.

Midge picked up the stack of letters and postcards and glanced them over. From the pile he sorted out three letters and laid them on the table. The rest he tossed into the wastebasket. Then he picked up the three and sat for a few moments holding them, while his eyes gazed off into space. At length he looked again at the three unopened letters in his hand; then he put one in his pocket and tossed the other two at the basket. They missed their target and fell on the floor.

"Hell!" said Midge, and stooping over picked them up.

He opened one postmarked Milwaukee and read:

Dear husband:

I have wrote to you so manny times and got no anser and I dont know if you ever got them, so I am writeing again in the hopes you will get this letter and anser. I dont like to bother you with my trubles and I would not only for the baby and I am not asking you should write to me but only send a little money and I am not asking for myself but the baby has not been well a day sence last Aug. and the dr. told me she cant live much longer unless I give her better food and thats impossible the ways things are. Lou has not been working for a year and what I made dont hardley pay for the rent. I am not asking for you to give me any money, but only you should send what I loaned when convenient and I think it amts. to about $36.00. Please try and send that amt. and it will help me, but if you cant send the whole amt. try and send me something.

Your wife,

Emma.

Midge tore the letter into a hundred pieces and scattered them over the floor.

"Money, money, money!" he said. "They must think I'm made o' money. I s'pose the old woman's after it too."

He opened his mother's letter:

dear Michael Connie wonted me to rite and say you must beet the dutchman and he is sur you will and wonted me to say we wont you to rite and tell us about it, but I gess you havent no time to rite or we herd from you long beffore this but I wish you would rite jest a line or 2 boy becaus it wud be better for Connie then a barl of medisin. It wuld help me to keep things going if you send me money now and then when you can spair it but if you cant send no money try and fine time to rite a letter onley a few lines and it will please Connie. jest think boy he hasnt got out of bed in over 3 yrs. Connie says good luck.

Your Mother,

Ellen F. Kelly.

"I thought so," said Midge. "They're all alike."

The third letter was from New York. It read:

Hon:—This is the last letter you will get from me before your champ, but I will send you a telegram Saturday, but I can't say as much in a telegram as in a letter and I am writing this to let you know I am thinking of you and praying for good luck.

Lick him good hon and don't wait no longer than you have to and don't forget to wire me as soon as its over. Give him that little old left of yours on the nose hon and don't be afraid of spoiling his good looks because he couldn't be no homlier than he is. But don't let him spoil my baby's pretty face. You won't will you hon.

Well hon I would give anything to be there and see it, but I guess you love Haley better than me or you wouldn't let him keep me away. But when your champ hon we can do as we please and tell Haley to go to the devil.

Well hon I'll send you a telegram Saturday and I almost forgot to tell you I will need some more money, a couple hundred say and you will have to wire it to me as soon as you get this. You will won't you hon.

I will send you a telegram Saturday and remember hon I am pulling for you.

Well good-by sweetheart and good luck. Grace.

"They're all alike," said Midge. "Money, money, money."

Tommy Haley, shining from his ablutions, came in from the adjoining room.

"Thought you'd be layin' down," he said.

"I'm goin' to," said Midge unbuttoning his orange shoes.

"I'll call you at six and you can eat up here without no bugs to pester you. I got to go down and give them birds their tickets."

"Did you hear from Goldberg?" asked Midge.

"Didn't I tell you? Sure; fifteen weeks at five hundred, if we will. And we can get a guarantee o' twelve thousand, with privileges either in New York or Milwaukee."

"Who with?"

"Anybody that'll stand up in front of you. You don't care who it is, do you?"

"Not me. I'll make 'em all look like a monkey."

"Well you better lay down awhile."

"Oh say, wire two hundred to Grace for me, will you? Right away; the New York address."

"Two hundred! You just sent her three hundred last Sunday."

"Well, what the hell do you care?"

"All right, all right. Don't get sore about it. Anything else?"

"That's all," said Midge, and dropped onto the bed.

"And I want the deed done before I come back," said Grace as she rose from the table. "You won't fall down on me, will you, hon?"

"Leave it to me," said Midge. "And don't spend no more than you have to."

Grace smiled a farewell and left the cafe. Midge continued to sip his coffee and read his paper.

They were in Chicago and they were in the middle of Midge's first week in vaudeville. He had come straight north to reap the rewards of his glorious victory over the broken down Dutchman. A fortnight had been spent in learning his act, which consisted of a gymnastic exhibition and a ten minute's monologue on the various excellences of Midge Kelly. And now he was twice daily turning 'em away from the Madison Theatre.

His breakfast over and his paper read, Midge sauntered into the lobby and asked for his key. He then beckoned to a bell-boy, who had been hoping for that very honor.

"Find Haley, Tommy Haley," said Midge. "Tell him to come up to my room."

"Yes, sir, Mr. Kelly," said the boy, and proceeded to break all his former records for dilligence.

Midge was looking out of his seventh story window when Tommy answered the summons.

"What'll it be?" inquired his manager.

There was a pause before Midge replied.

"Haley," he said, "twenty-five percent's a whole lot o' money."

"I guess I got it comin', ain't I?" said Tommy.

"I don't see how you figger it. I don't see where you're worth it to me."

"Well," said Tommy, "I didn' expect nothin' like this. I thought you was satisfied with the bargain. I don't want to beat nobody out o' nothin' but I don't see where you could have got anybody else that would of did all I done for you."

"Sure, that's all right," said the champion. "You done a lot for me in Philly. And you got good money for it, didn't you?"

"I ain't makin' no holler. Still and all, the big money's still ahead of us as yet. And if it hadn't of been for me, you wouldn't of never got within grabbin' distance."

"Oh I guess I could of went along all right," said Midge. "Who was it that hung that left on the Dutchman's jaw, me or you?"

"Yes, but you wouldn't been in the ring with the Dutchman if it wasn't for how I handled you."

"Well, this won't get us nowheres. The idear is that you ain't worth no twenty-five per cent now and it don't make no diff'rence what come off a year or two ago."

"Don't it?" said Tommy. "I'd say it made a whole lot of difference."

"Well, I say it don't and I guess that settles it."

"Look here, Midge," Tommy said. "I thought I was fair with you, but if you don't think so, I'm willin' to hear what you think is fair. I don't want nobody callin' me Sherlock. Let's go down to business and sign up a contrac'. What's your figger?"

"I ain't namin' no figger," said Midge. "I'm sayin' that twenty-five's too much. Now what are you willin' to take?"

"How about twenty?"

"Twenty's too much," said Kelly.

"What ain't too much?" asked Tommy.

"Well, Haley, I might as well give it to you straight. They ain't nothin' that ain't too much."

"You mean you don't want me at no figger?"

"That's the idear."

There was a minute's silence. Then Tommy Haley walked toward the door.

Looking Forward.

I feel like writing "stop" in capital letters. I feel like putting my hand on your shoulder and saying "I will arrest your attention for a moment, and ask you a question. Aren't you waiting for something. Aren't you waiting for something to happen, or something to take place—or dreading something that might happen, or fearing the future aren't your thoughts way ahead of the present day?"

Why not stop right now, and notice the things around you? Why not concentrate on the present, and let the future take care of itself?

The day we are living—in—the now—that we have this moment needs all of our attention.

We so often neglect the duties about us, thinking that at some future date our job will be easier. Let's hope it will, but the way to make the present job easier is to put all our thoughts on it.

Tomorrow—next week—next month—who knows? Who can tell what will happen?

Often when something unpleasant does happen to us we look back and say, "Why wasn't I happy then?—"Why didn't I rejoice before this thing came upon me?"

I always feel that way when I get a flat tire or have the toothache.

And I have heard married people say that they always had this "Looking Forward" habit, and tried to live in the future instead of enjoying the present.

If I tell you you could be worse off, you will say I am not very comforting—but I am, because I want you to enjoy the present day—to enjoy your health and your friends, your family and your surroundings.

Even if the anticipated good that you expect does happen you may not have those who are dear to you with you—and you might look back when the great day arrives and say, "I was happier then—but I could not appreciate it."

Our grand business is, not to see what lies dimly at a distance, but to do what lies clearly at hand."

Progressive Party Head Claims Present Filings Are Not Genuine

THREE WRITS SWORN

Differences Arise Over Right Of Representatives For La Follette Candidacy

By The Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 26.—Court action in an effort to have the names of Senator La Follette and Wheeler placed on the ballot in Louisiana was threatened today by La Follette leaders as a result of a ruling by Assistant Attorney General Ogden relative to the qualifications of those voters who sign the petitions to have them placed on the ticket.

By The Associated Press.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Sept. 26.—Three petitions for alternative writs of mandamus to prevent the secretary of state from certifying names of presidential electors of the "LaFollette independent progressive" and the "independent" parties the names of candidates for state officers nominated by the "LaFollette state party" were filed today with the clerk of the supreme court.

Petitions were filed by Edgar C. Snyder, member of the state executive committee of the progressive party of Washington state and set forth that the progressive party of the state of Washington is the only genuine ticket in the state in behalf of the presidential candidacy of Robert M. LaFollette.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—A petition for a rehearing of the court's decision denying the La Follette electors in California a place on the November ballot was denied today by the state supreme court.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Senator Robert M. La Follette, independent presidential candidate, has decided to make a swing across the continent, carrying his fight for votes into at least a score of states before the close of the campaign.

The senator's itinerary will carry him into the middle west early in October, on through the northwest and into Pacific coast states. He intends to wage warfare with particular vigor in California, where electors pledged to him have been ruled off the ballot, forcing his supporters to vote for electors listed under the socialist party designation.

A Rehearing Is Asked.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—Outstanding in the developments of the situation caused by the refusal of the California supreme court to allow the names of the 13 LaFollette electors to be placed upon the ballot in November is the announcement made by Senator LaFollette in Washington that he will tour the state of California because "the will of the people has been thwarted by one man."

Frank Havenar, manager of the LaFollette campaign in California, filed yesterday in behalf of the LaFollette-Wheeler committee a petition for a rehearing in the California supreme court on seven objections to its ruling by the committee.

MARION IN LAST TRIBUTE.

Many Notables Attend Funeral of Dr. Charles Sawyer.

By The Associated Press.

MARION, Ohio, Sept. 26.—All Marion this afternoon suspended activities for the funeral of Dr. Charles Elmer Sawyer, personal physician to the late President Warren G. Harding. It marked the second time within little more than a year that Marion paid tribute to a distinguished citizen, the previous occasion having been for President Harding.

Funeral services at White Oaks farm, the Sawyer home, near here, and at the Marion cemetery, at which Dr. Jesse Swank, pastor of Epworth M. E. church, officiated, were of a simple but impressive nature.

Mrs. Florence Kling Harding, widow of the late president, who has been spending most of her time at the Sawyer home since the death of her husband, attended the funeral.

Burial was in the Sawyer plot in the Marion cemetery, not far from where the body of President Harding lies entombed.

Dr. Sawyer died suddenly of heart disease last Tuesday afternoon.

DARKIES VS. STUBBORN MULE

Fair to Offer High Powered Comedy Act for Fun Lovers

Take three darkies and a stubborn mule, and what happens?

The greatest laugh-distributing cyclone of mirth in the universe, and if you don't believe it, visit the Texas-Oklahoma fair any afternoon or evening, September 29 to October 5, and you will be convinced.

For the fair directors announce that they have added this 100 per cent Afro-American all southern feature, which rejoices in the name of Gunpowder and company to the other platform attractions at the fair they can guarantee patrons the most original southern negroes, full of fun and frolic, attempting to ride the most stubborn-doggoned-kicking-biting-chasing-rearing-devilish mule in captivity.

And then some. Its the T. N. T. of all the comedy mule acts.

FAIR GROUNDS RUSHING

Workmen Busy Getting Everything In Shape for Exposition

A babel of voices and much noise from the workmen at the various booths in the hangers greets fair officials as they examine the progress being made in preparation for the opening of the Texas-Oklahoma fair. Exhibitors are taking great interest in decorating the booths in all the buildings.

Artisans and painters are touching up several booths to give a distinctive appearance. Fresh paint, minus the "Fresh paint" signs, is everywhere about the interior of the exhibit buildings.

All streets and practically all parts of the fair grounds will present an attractive appearance.

SERVICE FOR CONCESSIONERS

Local Merchants to Have Chance To Deliver Products to Fair

Local manufacturers and wholesale dealers will serve concessioners during the Texas-Oklahoma fair, which opens Monday and continues until midnight October 5. A vehicle gate will be used for this sort of traffic, according to R. E. Shepherd, fair secretary.

During the 1922 and 1923 expositions some little difficulty was experienced in delivering products to the fair grounds, as such wagons had to bid their time and await their turn in getting into the fair grounds.

The opening of the new entrance will lessen the delay and give all concerns interested better service.

WOMEN'S BUILDING OPENED

Exhibits Can Be Entered Today Or Sunday for T-O Fair.

The women's building at the grounds of the Texas-Oklahoma fair will be open today and Sunday afternoon. Exhibits may be placed or entered at the building before Monday, the opening day of the exposition, according to Mrs. Chas. R. Hartsook, director of the women's department.

An unusually large number of entries for the textile department has arrived from various cities of the east and north. Oklahoma towns have sent many exhibits and the local entries, as well as entries from other parts of the state are arriving at the fair grounds.

The children's department will have several hundred entries.

MORE BABIES ENTERED

Bigger Registration For Fair Than Ever Before, Goodner Says

More better babies will probably be examined this year during the Texas-Oklahoma fair than at either of the two previous expositions. Registerations to date have broken the record for southern Oklahoma and northwest Texas, according to E. S. Goodner, director of the Better Baby Show of the fair.

Registration for examination of the babies during the exposition can be made at Red Cross headquarters in the court house all day Saturday or at the quarters of the organization at the fair grounds, Monday, September 29, opening day of the exposition, Goodner stated.

Georgia Lady Says Cardui Proved To Be Just What She Needed and Her Strength Has Become Normal Again.

TY TY, Ga.—After having taken Cardui on several occasions in the last eight years, Mrs. J. D. Lamb, of this place, says she is glad to tell how she was benefited.

"I have taken Cardui both before and after the birth of my last four children," she says, "and I have found it to be just what I needed at that time.

"Before my children came I would be weak and sickly—looked as if my strength slipped away.

"After they were born, I did not pick up right at first somehow. I was slow in getting back my strength.

"The first time I took Cardui was eight years ago. . . . I read what other women said and decided to try it myself. I found it was just what I needed. It filled the bill exactly, so I have taken it since. It gives me strength and builds me up so that I can do my work and care for my family.

"Lately I have been troubled with irregularity. This has been very weakening and troublesome. I sent for a bottle of Cardui and I had not finished taking it before I felt much better. I continued to take it and my health has become normal."

Cardui should help you. Try it.

New York Police Believe Gang of Murderers Has Been Apprehended

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Detectives of the homicide squad declared today that solution of the murders of Dorothy Keenan and Louise Lawson, "Broadway butterflies," was near as a result of the arrest of John Feinstein as one of the four men who robbed the home of Miss Edith Bobo, modiste, two weeks ago. Miss Bobo and her companion, Robert Hague, an official of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, were robbed of jewelry valued at $50,000.

Feinstein was held without bail for hearing October 2 on charges of robbery. The prisoner, known as an habitue of Broadway, was identified by Miss Bobo's negro maid as the assailant who knocked her over the head when the robbers entered the apartment.

In addition the Keenan, Lawson and Bobo cases the police believe they also would be able to clear up other robberies of similar nature in the past year or two.

Memphis Repeats 2 to 1 Victory Over Fort Worth

Veteran Rogers Shades Youthful Jimmy Walkup

Double by Sears Leads To Scoring of Lone Cat Marker

FUMBLES LOSE TILT

Prothro Again Produces Punch for Winning Counter

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 20.—The Memphis Chickasaws, southern association pennant winners, clipped the claws of the Fort Worth Panthers today for the second time in succession, shading the Texas league champs 2 to 1 in the third game of the Dixie series for the baseball championship of the south—a play-off of the initial game of the series which ended as a tie.

Tonight the Panthers and Chickasaws were journeying to Fort Worth to resume hostilities tomorrow in the Panther's lair—Fort Worth confident of overcoming the two-game lead gained by the Chickasaws on their home grounds and Memphis with equal confidence, the heritage of the double victory here.

Today's game was a nip and tuck pitchers' battle with the youthful left hander, Jimmy Walkup, battling against Tom Rogers, seasoned campaigner and so far as pitching honors go, the count was about even and in scoring the advantage was with Ft. Worth until the seventh when Memphis put over its first tally—the tying run—as a result of a double, single a base on balls and an error.

Prothro Starts It.

The deciding run came in the eighth when Prothro, Chick infielder, who had singled and advanced to second on Carlyle's grounder, scored on Yaryan's clean single to center.

Rogers, who pitched seven innings and gave way to a pinch hitter—a bit of baseball strategy that proved the turning point in the game—allowed five hits, and Harry Kelly, Parkin, Ark., youth who succeeded him permitted only one in the last two innings. Walkup allowed seven but struck out two Memphis batters, the hard hitting Carlyle and Anderson, both in the same inning while neither of the Memphis pitchers had a strike out. Rogers allowed one base on balls and so did Walkup.

The hits Rogers allowed were scattered through four innings while Walkup was hit safely in five innings. Two of the five Fort Worth hits while Rogers was pitching, came in the fourth, in which the Panthers scored, and Memphis made two in each of the two innings in which they put over runs. Two of the Memphis hits were doubles, both by Carr Smith.

Cats Score In Fourth.

Ft. Worth put the first run over in the fourth inning, when Sears, the only Panther to connect for an extra base, smashed a two-bagger to the right field fence, advanced to third on Palmer's single and crossed the rubber on the throw in of Edington's fly to deep right.

Memphis evened the count when with one out, Smith drove out his second two-base hit of the day, went to third when Anderson grounded to Phelan and Yaryan, who had preceded Smith with a single, was being run down between third and home, Lamotte, next up, was purposely walked, filling the bases with Rogers due to come to bat next. But instead, Walter Barbare, utility player, was sent to face Walkup, and with this strategy came the break, that tied the score—Phelan fumbling his grounder and allowing Smith to cross the plate.

In the eighth Prothro, second man up, singled through the box, was safe on second when Tavener dropped Kraft's throw of Carlyle's grounder and scored on Yaryan's single to center That ended the scoring with the count 2 to 1 in favor of Memphis—the same score that gave yesterday's game to the Chickasaws.

Attendance 6,971.

Cloudy weather prevailed throughout the game.

Both teams left tonight on special trains for the Texas city. The Panther special, which got away at 7:30, took back to Fort Worth a delegation of several hundred supporters who came to Memphis for the opening games, and the train with the Chickasaws aboard left at 9 o'clock, and also carried several hundred of the faithful fans of the Southern association. Doak Roberts, president of the Texas league, and John D. Martin, president of the Southern circuit, accompanied the team.

The attendance at today's game was 6,971, and the receipts $9,860.31. The players' share of today's receipts was $4,721.15; the leagues' shares $1,975.06, and the club owners' shares $3,164.10.

The total receipts for the three games played here was $36,258.38; the players' share $17,392.23; leagues' shares $7,254.67, and club owners' share $11,611.48.

Yanks Pull Up To Within Game Of Flying Nats

Huggins Crew Runs Over Macks When Defense Breaks

GRIFFMEN LOSE OUT

Red Sox Best Nationals In Mound Battle, 2 to 1

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26.—Their backs to the wall and fighting desperately, in the hope of overtaking the Washington Senators, New York pounded its way to victory when Philadelphia's defense weakened in the fifth inning. The final score was seven to one.

For four innings "Texas" Dolly Gray baffled the Yanken attempts to break through his delivery. But Pennock was sailing along just as smoothly.

The first break in the hurling duel came in the fifth inning when Dykes and Miller collided in a chase for Pennock's pop fly. The ball fell between them before it could be recovered. Pennock was dusting himself off on second base. Witt followed with a grounder that Dykes fumbled and men were on first and third with only one out.

Dugan picked out one to his liking and knocked it down the left field foul line for two bases. Pennock crossed the pan and Witt pulled up at third. Ruth was purposely passed, filling the bases, but Pipp singled, sending two more runs across the plate. The fourth and fifth runs of the inning were counted on Meusel's single and Ward's groundout.

BOSTON, Sept. 26.—Washington pennant aspirations received a rude jolt today when Ferguson pitched Boston to a 2 to 1 victory over the Senators in the first game of four scheduled to be played here. New York's victory while Washington lost reduced the Senators' lead in the pennant race to one full game. The league leaders made only seven hits.

Another blow to Washington's hopes came when Walter Johnson, the club's pitching ace, was hit on the left elbow by a pitched ball in the fifth and apparently severely injured.

WALT RECEIVES TOUGHEST BLOW YET

WALTER JOHNSON in action

Washington fans have waited long for a pennant and with the flag almost in their grasp Capital city followers of the hectic American league race suffered yesterday probably the most cruel blow of all Fate's left and right hooks dealt them. The veteran Walter Johnson, supreme in the annals of the big league hurlers, was injured severely by a batted ball which hit him on the arm during the fifth inning of Friday's Washington-Boston game.

The Senators lost the contest while the Yanks were defeating Philadelphia, thereby narrowing the gap between the New York team and the league-leading Nationals. Should Washington manage to squeeze through and capture the American league gonfalon anyhow, it is doubtful, according to dispatches last night, as to whether the great pitcher will be able to participate effectively in the world's series.

Marston Loses To Von Elm By 7 and 6 Count

ARDMORE, Pa., Sept. 26.—Youth was served in large measure in the semi final round of the national amateur golf tournament today. George von Elm of Los Angeles, dethroned the champion, Max Marston of Philadelphia, by 7 and 6, and Bobby Jones of Atlanta eliminated Francis Ouimet of Boston, 11 and 10.

Either Jones or Von Elm will become champion as the result of the final 36 hole round tomorrow. They never have met before in the national tournament. Jones, second in the qualifying round with a score of 144, has had the more formidable foes to eliminate. Marston excepted. Von Elm, tied for eighth place in the qualifying list with a score of 150, has attracted attention all the week by the lowness of his medal scores in match plays, although Jones, with a 73, had the better medal today by three strokes.

LITTLE ROCK CATCHER ENTERS DIXIE SERIES.

MEMPHIS, Sept. 26.—Doc Smith, catcher last season with the Little Rock club, was made eligible to participate in the Dixie series as a Memphis catcher under an agreement reached today between Manager Dobbs of Memphis and Manager Atz of Fort Worth, because on an injury to Frank Kohlbecker, Memphis catcher, in the opening game Wednesday. Smith reported today.

EPINARD RACES AGAIN

French Thoroughbred Competes Today With Six American Horses

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Epinard, Pierre Werthimer's crack four-year-old French thoroughbred will face six American thoroughbreds tomorrow at Acqueduct in the second of the series of international specials for which the foreign horse was brought to this country.

Beaten by a narrow margin by Wise Counsellor in the first race on Labor Day, Epinard, improving steadily in training, will go to the post with and excellent prospect of victory, critics believe. The invader is expected to share popular support with Ladkin, Major August Belmont's three-year-old.

GAME CALLED 3.30

Supreme Early Season Test for McCallum's Machine

The supreme test of the Coyote grid machine during the early season contests is slated this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in Spudder park when Wichita Falls steps out of its class to do battle with Decatur Baptist college's Texas junior college championship aspiring eleven.

Although this is the initial tilt of the year for Decatus and the Coyotes have mixed it in two more or less practice affairs with other high school clubs, the Baptists are doped as in better condition than Bud McCallum's youths.

Decatur More Experienced.

Decatur possibly is heavier, in better shape physically following a period of gruelling training in camp at Lake Worth and later on the campus gridiron, and is comprised of more experienced units than the Coyotes. Should the rebuilt Wichita Falls team manage to squeeze through for a victory here at the vury start of the 1924 campaign it will have added one of the neatest of laurels to its crown. Should the Coyotes lose nothing will be lost in the way of prestige whereas the home team will have gained by far more experience of real value than could have been gathered in during at least a week of stiff practice.

This contest will serve not only as a test for the Coyotes but will give McCallum a better line on his moleskinners in regards to what men he can depend on through the season and the players who should be cut from the squad, for at present the throng which turns out for daily practice on the Coyote field is far too topheavy for a coach to accomplish much with.

Seventeen of the Decatur athletes arrived in Wichita Falls last night prepared for action, and about ten more will join the advance detachment here this morning.

Starting Lineups.

Possible starting lineups announced by the respective coaches are:

Coyotes		Decatur
Patton	Right End	Lyles
Pierce	Right Tackle	Hodgkins
Copeland (C)	Right Guard	Stall
Haley	Center	J. Smith
Duke	Left Guard	Sebastian
Shaw	Left End	Awbrey (C)
D. Woodson	Right Half	Scott
Lawson	Left Half	Green
Curtain	Fullback	Sims
Deems	Quarter	Petty

BRASSCOS DRUB RICHMOND

Eastern League Champs Win Series Opener by 5-1 Count.

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 26.—The Waterbury Brasscos, Eastern league champions, defeated the Richmond Colts, Virginia league pennant winners, 5 to 1, in the first game of a three game series here today.

Brillheart was unsteady at the start but he tightened up as the game progressed and held the New Englanders in check. Rush had the Colts at his mercy at all times.

STIGLER SCORES 219 POINTS IN GRID TILT

STIGLER, Okla., Sept. 26.—Scoring 219 points while holding their opponents scoreless, the Stigler football team today is believed to have established a scoring record for high schools. Fort Gibson was the defeated team. The Stigler eleven has scored 390 points in three games this season. The team held the high scoring record for the state last year.

Pittsburgh Takes Both Ends Twin Bill From Cubs

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 26.—The Pittsburgh Pirates took both games of a double header from Chicago today in the last series of the season. The scores were 9 to 3 and 10 to 6.

The Pirates won the first game with ease. Don Songer, a recruit, recently obtained from Oklahoma City, made his first major league start in the second game. The Cubs bombarded him in the second and fifth innings, scoring all their runs off his delivery.

Thud of Pigskin Rivals Crack Of Base Hit Today

The thud of the pigskin will rival the crack of the base hit today when the 1924 college football season gets under way.

Moleskin wearers in all parts of the country, representing approximately 300 colleges and universities will line up for the opening battles of what promises to be one of the most interesting seasons on record.

All the frays that have become traditional to the gridiron again will attract their full share of attention this fall while many important additions to the calendar of rivalry, together with an impressive list of intersectional contests are expected to serve as magnets in establishing new attendance records.

Last year football gained greater heights of popularity than ever before. Conservative estimate placed the country wide attendance for college games at close to five million, with the western conference elevens drawing one million alone. With new stadiums springing up on all campuses over the country to meet this growing demand, these marks are likely to be eclipsed in 1924.

While the opening tests may not be conclusive for most of the elevens of major colleges and universities, swinging into action, they will be watched with interest. The effect of a number of new regulations going into use for the first time also will be closely observed, notably the result of the rule abolishing all kicking tees.

WEST ELEVENS OPEN FIRE.

Three Conference Clubs Billed For Opening Contests Today.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Three Western Conference elevens come out to lacerate the landscape tomorrow in the first game of th 1924 gridiron campaign.

Indians open with Rose Poly at Bloomington, while Wisconsin meets North Dakota at Madison and Purdue plays Wabash at La Fayette. Of the trio of games, the Purdue-Wabash encounter and the clash between the Badgers and North Dakota is holding center of interest.

Or Else a Baked Custard Would Go Fine Just After 'Rithretic

The season in which school begins again presents an added problem to the mother of children living a sufficient distance from school to necessitate the carrying of lunches for the noon hour. The type of lunch which has been used for so many years, consisting of sliced biscuits and meat, and probably a baked potato, either Irish or sweet, has been found to be lacking in the food requirement of the child, and is probably one source of the undernourished condition of the children who carry lunches. In studying the problem of the lunch box the department of foods of The College of Industrial Arts has endeavored to plan lunches which are compact in form, appetizing and adequate in supplying one-third of the day's protein and mineral matter. Menus have been planned so as to use left-over foods for sandwich filling, cookies and only such fruits as are in season and easily obtained.

Recipes.

Bride's Sweet Potatoes — Half-cup mashed sweet potatoes, half-teaspoon sugar, two walnut halves, half teaspoon butter.

Method—Beat potatoes with butter and sugar until very light. Add nuts and bake in hot oven until brown on top.

Oatmeal Cookies.

One egg, half cup cream, one-fourth cup sugar, half-cup oatmeal, two cups flour.

Method — Beat egg until very light, add sugar and cream, and flour a little at a time, with the oatmeal. Roll out on a board until very thin, cut and bake in moderate oven.

Stuffed Apples.

Remove top of eating apple, and with a sharp spoon remove the inside of the apple, leaving only the skin. (Be careful so as not to break the apple skin.) Chop the apple, add an equal amount of chopped (two halves). Moisten with mayonnaise and refill the apple shell.

Orange Biscuit.

Use the ordinary baking powder biscuit recipe, and when ready to bake place a small cube of brown sugar on top of each, then bake in moderate oven.

SEES U. S. RUSS AGREEMENT.

By The Associated Press.

MOSCOW, Sept. 26.—All the facts indicate that a compromise between the interests of the United States and the Russian soviet government is to be desired and that it is quite within reach, Foreign Minister Tchitcherin of Russia declared today in a belated reply to the pronouncement of American policy toward Russia made by Secretary of State Hughes.

WORLD FLIERS ARE RESTING.

They Will Leave 'Frisco Tomorrow For Eugene, Oregon.

By The Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—Lieutenants Lowell H. Smith, Eric Nelson and Leigh Wade, the three United States globe-encircling fliers who arrived here yesterday afternoon from Clover Field, Santa Monica, were resting today. With their mechanics, Lieutenants L. P. Arnold, John Harding and H. H. Ogden, the aviators planned to inspect their planes to see that all is in readiness for the next hop.

The fliers plan to leave San Francisco tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, the delay of 24 hours being occasioned by the forcing down of Lieutenant Wade's plane at South San Francisco due to a defective battery.

Eugene, Oregon, is the next and last official stop of the flight which will terminate in Seattle, Wash.

THE 3 NOMINEES AT ONCE

Washington Will Be Visited By All of Them Simultaneously.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—The White House will be viewed Saturday by three personages, each aspiring to live there for the four years starting next March 4.

The trio of presidential candidates will be made up of President Coolidge, Senator LaFollette, who at present is making Washington his headquarters, and John W. Davis, who will stop here enroute from a speaking trip in West Virginia.

This is the first time in the campaign that one city has been host to three presidential nominees at one time, but it is predicted that Washington is large enough to prevent their trails crossing.

Davis Closes His Virginia Trip In Bluefield Speech

Responsibilities of America To Service of Mankind Is Stressed

PARTIES DENOUNCED

He Mentions Oil Reserves, Veterans Bureau And Justice Dept.

By The Associated Press.

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., Sept. 26.—John W. Davis, democratic standard bearer, closed a two days campaign of his native state of West Virginia here tonight with an address to an audience, not only of West Virginians, but included many from the "mother state," Virginia.

Discussions of the responsibilities of the American people to be of service to all mankind, the denunciation of government of special privilege and the declaration that his observances in the western campaign gave him assurance of victory, marked speeches from his train during the two days. After a meeting in Huntington last night, where he spoke to one of the largest audiences in his campaign at the close of a day spent in crossing the state from its eastern to its western border, today carried the candidate along the Tug river that separates West Virginia and Kentucky and here to the Virginia border. Ten stops were made during the day but at few was there time for discussion of political topics, Mr. Davis contenting himself mainly with expressing the pleasure he and Mrs. Davis felt at being again among the home people and with introducing candidates on the state ticket, who accompanied him.

Speaking at Williamson, he likened the presidential election to a session of stock holders deciding whether to re-elect their board of directors.

"If their service has been satisfactory and the board is faithful and intelligent, they re-elect them," he said. "If the management has been inefficient and the board of directors has been unsatisfactory as sensible people they call for a change."

Mentioning oil reserve, the veterans bureau and the department of justice he renewed his insistence that every political party must answer for the deeds or failures of men they put in office.

$80,000 ALASKAN FIRE.

Lin's Agreement With Soviet Subject of a New Memorandum.

By The Associated Press.

PEKING, Sept. 26.—The Chinese foreign office has lodged a protest with the Russian ambassador here against the reported signing of an agreement by Russia with General Chang Tso-Lin, the Manchurian leader, now engaged in a war with the Peking government.

According to reports received by the foreign office, General Chang was accorded recognition in exchange for a pledge to Russia that he would not interfere with the operation of the Chinese Eastern railway, which was built by Russia during the czarist regime.

ORLEANS TO FREE PORT

Treasury Department Approves Estimate on Its Facilities.

By The Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 26.—The foreign trade bureau of the New Orleans association of commerce announced today that the treasury department at Washington had approved the estimate of facilities at this port which would give New Orleans virtually all the advantages of a free port and incidentally make it the first city among the Atlantic and gulf ports provided with similar export facilities.

AFTER PULLMAN SURCHARGE.

Traveling Men Say Its Emergency Cause No Longer Exists.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Final argument for and against abolition of the railroad surcharge on Pullman travel was heard today by the interstate commerce commission. Representatives of the nation's railroads contending that the carriers render a service to the Pullman passenger for which they are not otherwise reimbursed, claimed that to end the surcharge would add a burden to them which would be unjustified in view of the present passenger earnings.

Spokesmen for national traveling men's orgainzations based their opposition to continuance of the surcharge mainly on the contention that it was created for an emergency which no longer exists.

RUSSIAN GRAIN WITHHELD

As Result Latvia Increases Its Demand on American Market.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Exportation of grain from Russia has been suspended, according to a statement by Minister of Commerce Kamenev, transmitted to the commerce department today from Acting Commercial Attache C. J. Mayer of Figa, Letivia. As a result of this action the cablegram said, the Latvia demand for American grain is increasing.

By FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY.

Toodles, the shetland pony, went on to tell more of the wonders of the moving picture studio.

"The thing that will strike you as being the strangest is when they take people they show a peculiar purplish-green light on them which makes them look as if they had been buried and then dug up. But they have to do this to soften the shadows.

"And all around the big rooms or studios are the backgrounds of painted scenes and scenery of houses, trees and mountains to be used in the picture they are setting up at the time.

"I have been taking part in a picture where there were mountains and rocks and hushing streams in the background. To make it look more real in the picture, instead of having painted sheep on hills they had a flock of real sheep and lambs in the foreground and real rocks and trees, and when the picture was finished you could not tell for the life of you where the painted sheep began and the real ones left off.

"But I must stop here long enough to tell you what a funny thing happened—just one of those things that are always occurring when a picture is being taken.

They had driven in the flock of sheep, shut them in a fenced off place to look as if they were grazing on the side of the mountain, and the camera man had called out "all ready" and had begun to wind off the reel when one old sheep jumped the fence and quicker than a wink all the other sheep that could jump out did so and those that could not crawled under the fence. Well, such a time as they had getting those sheep back! They ran behind screens, under electric standing lamps and into the electric dynamo room where they might have been killed instantly had they touched some of the live wires in the room. Up the steps they went into the gallery where an artist was painting angels, upsetting his big cans of paint and causing him to speak and act not at all like a man who could paint angels. They ran everywhere, upsetting thing generally. It took all hands in the studio and from the other studios too to get them back into the pen. So much for that story.

"In other rooms are big vats where the film is developed and washed and the machines where it was put on big rolls to dry. It is also colored and cut and put together in this part of the building. If they don't like part of a film, they simply cut it out and piece it together again or insert another scene in the place of the one they discarded. Oh, it is a wonderful business! But the most wonderful and marvelous thing to me is how they can get mountains, rivers and a whole army of men on horseback in a little piece of film only an inch and a half long by one inch wide, even if they do magnify it."

(Billy uses his strong horns on another tormentor in the next story.)

Color Cut-Out

"Let me wheel her down to the station. It's so near," begged Betty Cut-out, as her aunt was dressing the little cousin. They were leaving on the morning train.

"But you forgot I didn't bring a baby buggy with me," laughed Aunt Kitty.

"I know, but I can borrow one down in the next block," insisted Betty. She ran off to get the cab and soon was wheeling her little cousin down to the train. "Good-bye," choked Betty, "come again very soon before the baby gets all grown up and isn't so much fun to play with."

The baby's cab is cream color, and the blanket and pillow are light blue. Cut along the dotted line in the cab and you can slip the baby inside, all ready to go for a ride.

65 AUTOMOBILES BURNED.

By The Associated Press.

DALLAS, Sept. 26.—Sixty-five automobiles, property of the Nash McCarty Motor Car company, and an airplane hangar where they were stored at Love field, were destroyed by fire early today. Loss was placed at $45,000.

Mothers

AND THEIR CHILDREN

The Question of "Why."

One Mother Says:

I believe in teaching children the "why" of things, but not when they ask after being told to do a certain thing or not to do it. When it's a matter of securing obedience I do not explain my reasoning to them. Of course they cannot see things from an adult viewpoint and they are sure to express a difference of opinion, thereby starting an argument which ends in loss of influence. When I tell my child to do a thing, he asks why, and I say, "When you have done it I'll tell you why."

WAS ONCE WITH PEARY.

Herbert Bridgman, Arctic Traveler, Passes Away Off Bermuda.

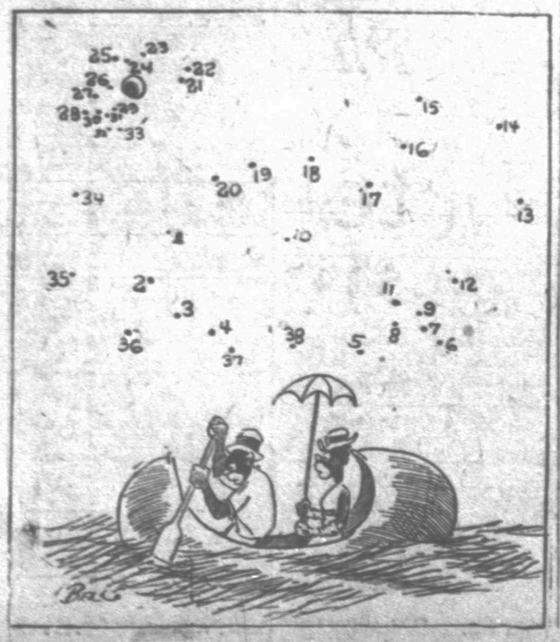

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Herbert L. Bridgman, business manager of the Brooklyn Standard Union, died Wednesday aboard the naval training ship New York off Bermuda, it was announced in a radio message received here.

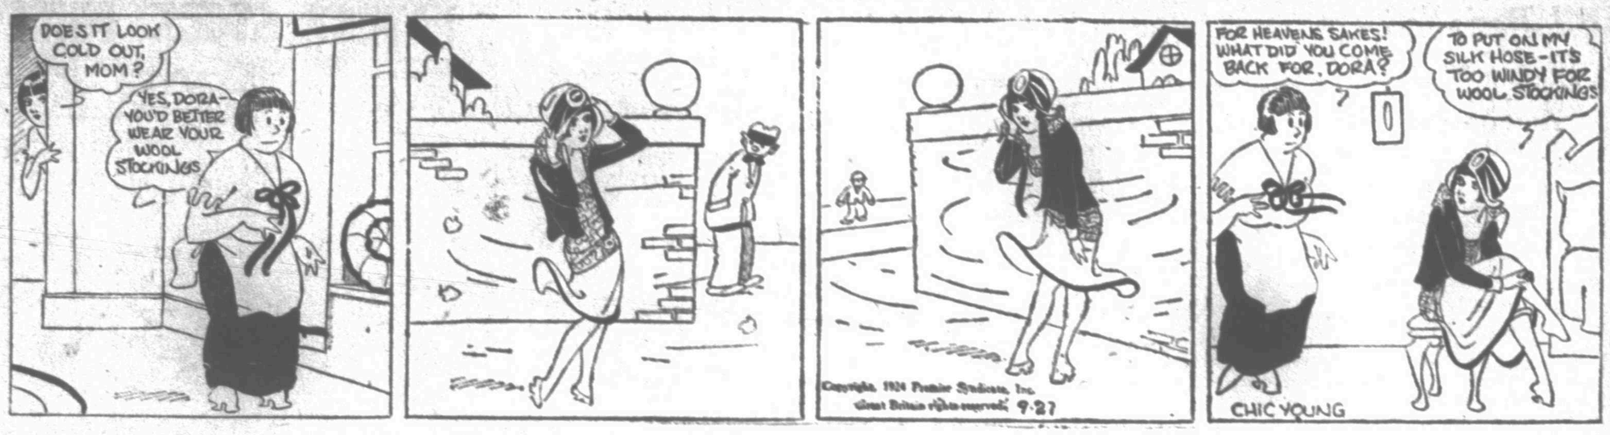

Mr. Bridgman, who was 87 years old, was president of the American Newspaper Publishers' association in 1914-16 and had been with the Standard Union since 1889. Previously he had been with the Springfield Republican, the Boston Advertiser and the New York Tribune. He was a regent of the New York State university.

Mr. Bridgman was interested in Arctic explorations, having been in the command of the Peary auxiliary expedition ship "Diana" in 1899 and of the "Erik" in 1901. He was also historian of the Peary expedition. He was assistant to Professor William Tibbey in scaling Mesa Encantado, New Mexico, several years ago.

C. L. Davis No. 2 Placed on Swab And Shows Well

Well Lacks Show of No. 1, But Shows for Same Type Producer

BOREN WELL GOOD

Shamrock Oil Company Completes for 300-Foot Extention to Pool

Completion for two more good wells made yesterday a banner day in Panhandle-Knight-Hines area north of Olney. The Panhandle Consolidated started swabbing their No. 2 C. L. Davis, 300 feet west of their No. 1, north of the other production, yesterday afternoon into the slush-pit and although the well lacked some of the show of its sister to the east it flowed ahead of the swab and looked as good as the No. 1, now placed on the pump and making around 190 barrels daily. There was considerable gas pressure.

Shamrock

The Shamrock started swabbing their No. 1, Boren, furtherest south of the group, yesterday afternoon, and last night estimated probable production at around 150 barrels, the oil being placed into storage. It was stated that the well showed up better even than the north offset, Panhandle-Consolidated B-2, which for a while after completion flowed at a rate of approximately 150 barrels a day.

Sand Depths.

The Panhandle-Sonsolidated are understood to be about 12 or 13 feet in the sand in their No. 2, Davis, with casing set at 1,059 feet. The Shamrock is about ten feet in the sand encountered at 1,064 feet. The completion of this well extends the pool a location south.

Oil was standing 936 feet deep in the hole of the Davis well when swabbing started.

Just to the west of the Shamrock well Lee Wilson is drilling on his Nos. 1 and 2, and Knight-Hines-Panhandle on their Nos. 1 and 2, Beardon.

OIL—CORRECTION

The Texas company posted price for oil of 33 degrees gravity and above is $1.25 a barrel instead of $1.35 as quoted by mistake in this paper yesterday morning. The $1.35 quotation is the Humble Oil and Refining company quotation.

Berlin Crowds Cheer Enthusiastically When ZR-3 Soars Over City

By The Associated Press.

BERLIN, Sept. 26.—Not since the mobilization days of 1914 have the streets of Berlin witnessed such an outbreak of patriotic enthusiastic applause which greeted the ZR-3 today when the great dirigible, set off against an early morning pale grey sky, majestically floated into view of the multitudes which jammed every section of the capital.

From soon after dawn the crowds had been gathering, awaiting a chance to greet the great airship built by the Zeppelin works at Friedrichshafen for the United States navy to which it will be consigned after a trans-Atlantic flight to Lakehurst, N. J.

WRECKED THE GOLDEN STATE

15-Year-Old Wanted to See the Cars Pile Up in Iowa.

By The Associated Press.

ROCK ISLAND, Ills., Sept. 26.—William Chatterton, 15, today confessed to wrecking the Golden State Limited on the Rock Island lines at Fairport, Iowa, last night, causing derailment of two sleepers and injury of a number of passengers. The boy removed bolts from a switch and caused the car tracks to divide. He did it, he said, "just to see the cars pile up." The boy is under arrest.

News of the Fields

Cranfill-Skinner

Cranfill and Skinner have made a location and expect to move on at once in the southeast corner of the west 80 acres of the north 320 acres, section 2 G. W. Dugan land, G. W. Dugan survey, abstract 1193, Archer county, northeast of the Daniels-Rutis test on the Parkey land.

Derrick for this test has been skidded off of the old Cranfill-Petroleum Producers on the Llewellyn land, north of the Comac group. Casing in this test was set and cemented at about 1,400 feet and had to be shot before some thousand feet could be loosened and salvaged a day or so ago.

Olney Prod. Co., Kemp

The Olney Production company is skidding off their rotary and will move a Star machine on to drill in their No. 1 Kemp, located about 700 feet north of the production in the Peter-Kemp shallow field, southwest of Olney, north Young county.

There is some oil standing in the hole, although the sand was only entered one and a half feet. It is believed that completion will not take place now until about the middle of next week, some time being required to move off and get a Star rigged up on the location.

Sand was encountered at 1,009 feet.

Jean Test Gets Show

R. F. Grant et al have drilled through a sand showing plenty of oil in their No. 1 A. C. Casey, northeast of Jean, north Young county, at a depth of 550 feet. Bailing produced oil in sufficient quantities to bottle up and carry away. This is the second good showing that has been encountered in this well, the first coming at about 478 feet.

Well is located in block 1,906 TE&LCO survey, abstract 980, north Young county, and is being drilled with a Star machine.

Texhoma-Carey

The Texhoma Oil and Refining company has consummated a deal with E. S. Carey, details of which were not made public by which that company obtains the eighty acres of the E. A. Hausler land, block 16, Thomas McCoy survey, on which the well is located, and the well itself.

A standard rig is being built over this well and it is believed that it can be placed on the pump some time today and production ascertained.

Shamrock Location

Shamrock Oil company has made a location for their No. 2, Boren and is skidding derrick south for the test which will be 528 feet south of the No. 1, and 150 feet from the west line of their Boren lease, R. Neman survey, abstract 330, south Archer county.

Shaw-Rathke et al

Shaw and Rathke et al have spudded and are drilling on their No. 1, W. T. Waggoner, northeast corner of the northwest quarter of section 34, block 5, H&TCRR survey, south Electra.

Gulf, Wilson

The Gulf Production company is drilling past a depth of 1,564 feet in their No. 1, T. B. Wilson, south line of SPRR survey, abstract 1072, north and east of the Waite Phillips well, and have no sand worth setting casing on as yet.

Texhoma, Cullum

The Texhoma Oil and Refining company have placed their No. 2-A Burnett, SA&MGRR survey, abstract 271, south of Fowlkes Station on the pump, and have a guage of 110 barrels for the first 24 hours pumping from an 1,800-foot sand.

May-Turner, Lindsay

May and Turner have made a location near the north line of section 2, L. M. Collins survey, abstract 405, James Lindsay land, south of Burkburnett, Wichita county.

Burns-Maxon, Neale

Burns and Maxon are moving on for a test on the A. P. Neale land, southwest corner of the west 20 acres of the south 40 acres of the north 60 of the east half of the D. White survey, A. P. Neale land, north and west of the Knight-Hines-Panhandle production, south Archer county.

Maer-Staniforth

Maer and Staniforth have made a location for a test and expect to get started as soon as title can be straightened out on their No. 1, G. B. Ray (map wrong for ownership, shows E. A. Hausler), test to be in the northwest corner of the south forty-seven acres of block 7, Thomas McCoy survey, a short distance north of the Carey well.

Nine-Hundred Oil Co.

The Nine-Hundred Oil company is preparing to place their No. 3 Benson on the pump for an estimated production of 50-75 barrels from a few feet of sand topped at 870 feet. Well is located in block 1,397 TE&LCO survey, Archer-Young county line, abstract 475.

Dry Hole, Parkey

Everest, Maxwell, Netherton, et al have abandoned as dry their No. 1, Parkey, southeast forty acres of section 1, SPRR survey, abstract 423, north of the Sunshine State pool, total depth of the hole given as 1,802 feet.

G. B. Ray, Location

G. B. Ray has made a location for a test in the northeast corner of the northwest 37 acres of block 5, B. R. Jeske land, Thomas McCoy survey, offsetting the Texhoma fifty acres to the west. It is not expected to drill this well until after the Texhoma has finished their Jeske test.

Young, DeMoss

W. C. Young has abandoned and made application to plug his test on the Mrs. M. A. DeMoss land, block 2, C. Smith survey, abstract 1,219, just southeast of Archer City, Archer county. Total depth is given as 1,395 feet.

John O'Neil, Clay Co.

John O'Neil is drilling at a depth past 1,375 in his No. 1 O. A. Ross, HT&BRR survey, abstract 231, about seven miles southeast of Wichita Falls, Clay county.

Mooers, Wilson

Clifford Mooers is drilling past a depth of 1,598 feet on their No. 1, T. B. Wilson, section 2, S. P. Ellis survey, just north of the Waite Phillips well, and although formations ran high during most of the drilling there has been no good sand yet.

Sanders-Taylor

Sanders and Taylor have made a location and are preparing to offset the Evangeline Petroleum company's No. 1, Farmer to the south, the Sanders-Taylor test to be in the J. M. Taylor survey, abstract 654, block 22, J. L. Logan land, south Archer county.

Burns-Maxon

Burns and Maxon have made a location for a test and expect to start up within thirty days, 750 feet each way from the southwest corner of the east one-half of TE&LCO survey, block 81, north Young county, about two miles and a half northwest of the Peter-Kemp field.

Skinner Location

F. E. Skinner has made a location and expects to get started by the 15th of October on a test on the Addickes and Callendar land southwest of Thornberry, Clay county, section 45, southeast corner, test to go to 2,000 feet.

IMITATION PEARLS STOLEN

Armour President's Daughter Says Burglar Missed Real Ones

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—The string of "181 matched pearls" taken from Miss Hester White, daughter of F. Edsen White, president of Armour & company, by an armed burglar in the White home Wednesday night are imitations, the victim says.

The genuine pearls, which the stolen string duplicated in paste, are kept in a safe deposit vault, according to Miss White. The rings, valued at $1,500 taken by the robbers, are genuine.

DEATH FACES JAYWALKERS

New York Adopts Unique System Of Warning the Careless

NEW YORK, Sept. 26. — Death with outstretched hands greeted Jaywalkers last night at Fifth avenue and 42nd street, one of New York's busiest corners. A transparent lamp, adorned on four sides with pictures of death, warns against crossing the streets in a careless manner.

While thousands of pleasure cars and busses rolled by the lamp flashed at regular intervals such warnings as "you are mine—Jaywalker!" "I want you, Careless man!" and "Wait a minute, save a life!"

Oil Companies File Answer To Government Suit

Texas Company and Forty Other Defendants Deny Trust Allegations

CRACKING SUIT

Say Unable to Use Patent Without Certain Trade Restriction

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—The government's charges of unlawful combination through the pooling of oil cracking and other patents filed against the Standard Oil company of Indiana, the Texas company, and more than 40 other oil companies are denied in the answer of the Texas company, filed late yesterday, it was disclosed today. The Texas company is the first of the defendants named in the government's suit filed on June 25 last to make answer. The defendants originally were given until September 20 to make answer and later the time was extended to October 20.

Major Defendants.

The government attacked the alleged pooling of patents under the Sherman act. The major defendants named are the Standard Oil of Indiana, the Standard Oil of New Jersey, Standard Development company, Gasoline Products company and the Texas company. The government asserted in its bill of complaint that the pressure process known as cracking had been in use 300 years and was not patentable, although improvements and developments have been patented from time to time and other applications are pending.

It is charged that the exchange of patent pledges were limiting the sale of one company within the territory of another in restraint of trade.

The Texas company's answer denies any unlawful combination or conspiracy or that it is a party to any contracts in violation of the Sherman act.

The Texas Company.

The Texas company denies, the answer states, "that the secondary defendants have been unable to secure manufacturing privileges under said patent rights without agreeing to trade restrictions and denies that secondary defendants have accepted licenses because they were unwilling to incur the hostility of the primary defendants, but alleges that they have done so because of their desire to utilize the inventions and improvements made by this defendant and the other primary defendants."

The company denies that the patented processes are the same "as those known and employed prior to the application" for the patents and "avers that the process employed by the defendants are analogous to the early prior art solely in the mere general utilization of heat and pressure," but that they involve "other important and commercially indispensable features."

Wool Rises

By The Associated Press.

BOSTON, Sept. 26.—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say:

"Steadily the price of wool rises, both here and abroad. Business has been fairly general in the local market with all qualities in demand at slight advances, both manufacturers and dealers buying. The fall wools also are slightly dearer in Texas.

"The opening of light weight woman's lines by the American Woolen company has been about on a parity with the prices for men's wear last month. A better responsive, however, appears to have been made than a month ago; in fact, the market seems to be in a healthier situation all around.

"The foreign markets are all up approximately 5 points for the week.

"Mohair is steady with limited demand.

Quotations:

Scoured bases, Texas fine 12 months (selected) 1.45@1.50; fine 8 months 1.30@1.35.

Mohair: Best combings 75@80; best carding 65@70.

Floweree Letter

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Despite heavy scattered heavy buying of wheat by exporers and spreading, there was liquidation that held back the advance.

Longs in corn have large sellers of late and prices are down to the lowest in months. Close observers believe that shorts have been eliminated and those who tried to buy late found pressure light.

One of the largest handlers of rye says there has been more export business in rye of late than the trade is aware of, while there was liberal selling with prices under 100, foreigners picked up the offerings. At the rate rye is being picked up in the northwest, it will be no surprise to see stocks there well cleaned up soon. TRIBUNE.

Corn Leads

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Corn led the grain market to higher levels today in a manner that bordered on the sensational. Broadened speculative demand for corn came about chiefly from a summary issued by the United States department of agriculture, saying that for this time of the year the corn crop is at present more backward than a month ago. After scoring in some cases, an extreme upturn of six cents, the corn market closed strong at 3.3⅝ to 5¼ cents net gain, December 106⅛ to 106¼; wheat finished firm, 1⅝ to 3¼ cents up, December 1.38⅝ to 1.38¾ and May 1.44⅛, oats showing ⅝ cents to ⅞ cent@1¼ cent advance, and provisions varying from 15 cents decline to a rise of 35 cents.

Wheat owed much of its advance to cold weather in Canada, aided by reports that cash wheat at Winnipeg was above $1.50 a bushel.

Oats were moderately active and higher with other grain.

Excellent cash demand for lard was the main feature in the provision market.

Market Letters

R. E. Flowerree and Company
New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 26.—Outside and local buying and cotton advanced 137 points. Unceded rains in the eastern belt, forecast of showers for the west to be followed by a cold wave, with possibility temperatures near the frost line in the northwest portion of the belt caused the advance. Crop ideas are shrinking and the public is more inclined to accept reports of deterioration. The tendency at the moment seems to be forward, and there seems to be little confidence in the last government bureau report as to accuracy.

Crop ideas are shrinking rapidly. The advance was due partially to large sales in Fall River, and also to better spot news. Local factors say there is a good demand for spots, and the spot basis is rising and shippers are apparently trying to cover their commitments before prices go higher.

Much of the late buying was attributed to reports of a cold wave coming down from the Rocky mountains and private predictions of frost in the grain belt owing to fear it might reach the northwest part of the cotton belt.

FENNER AND BEANE (By Shannon)

New York Cotton

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—It has been an interesting day with buyers far out-numbering seller and the market scored an advance of 100 points or more. Sentiment has squarely changed and the disposition is now to expect gradual lowering of crop idea by the several private reports that are due and an official statement by the next government report.

The second advance which carried prices to the highest of the day was on talk of frost prediction, but map readers here refused to become alarmed over such predictions. It is to be assumed that the extent of the advance has completely changed the technical position and while believing cotton should be bought on all good breaks, but would not follow such large advances too much, until better idea is had of the real production and the effect this rise might have on the dry-goods market.

FENNER AND BEANE (By Julian).

Spot News

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 26.—Local factors say spot situation has undergone radical change in the past few days and there are now several buyers for every lot of cotton offered. Local mills are good buyers.

FALLS RIVER, Mass., Sept. 26.—Owing to advance in cotton, Fall River factories are taking on activity, and apparently are beginning to buy spot cotton.

Basis over eastern belt states has climbed 20 to 25 points since government bureau report.

Bradstreets

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

"Trading is fully fair, better than last week in some areas, but there are cross currents visible, while a note of hesitation is found in reports that many buyers, having filled immediate needs, are inclined to wait or go ahead cautiously. Examples of the cross currents visible are found in the continued ease in steel prices, reports that September buying of that product has not gained over that of August, and that the change in basing prices due to the abandonment of the Pittsburgh Plus system with the nearer approach of the election has made for a little quieter tone in the big metal trades, and a disposition to buy for prompt needs only. On the other hand, the rally of three cents a pound in cotton on latest government reports had stiffened cotton manufacturers' prices; the buying of coal, aided by cooler weather, is swelling production and shipments of that product and carloadings for the second week of September are the largest of the year and only three per cent below the peak of last September.

Weekly bank clearings $1,143,040,000.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 26.—The cotton market experienced another sharp upturn in today's active trading which carried October up 137 points compared with yesterday's close. Although October showed the greatest gain owing to the eagerness of shorts in that position to cover, December gained almost as much and reached the 25 cent level and May crossed it to 25.10 at the highest. The highest levels of the day were reached just before close and final results showed net gains for the day of 115 to 136 points.

At the start Liverpool was not up to expectations, but it was not long before shorts covered vigorously, alarmed by the continued rainy weather in the eastern belt which was reported to be injuring the crop. An official forecast for generally unsettled weather and rain for virtually the entire belt induced not only further covering, but an active demand from the trade and from outside speculative interests.

Before noon December had advanced 95 points to 24.32 and at this level there was a mild reaction on selling based on the idea that some recession was due after such an advance as during the past two days. During the last half hour of trading, however, a new buying wave was started by advices from Dallas predicting much colder weather and possible new highs on this, December reaching 24.78 and the gains were sustained to the end.

Although the weekly statistics were bearish as to the movement into sight and the visible supply, they were bullish as far as mill takings and exports were concerned. Secretary Hester made mill takings 200,000 bales for the week against 173,000 last year. Exports for the day totalled 39,439 bales and the total for the week reached 130,347 against 132,810 last year.

The first impetus upward near the opening was due to Fall River advices reporting estimated sales there for the week of 75,000 pieces of print cloths as compared with only 15,000 last week.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Stock prices displayed a firm undertone in today's irregular market which was featured by bullish demonstrations in a few public utilities, rails, and industrial specialties. Trading in standard industrials was quiet with a tendency to heaviness in the late dealings. Lehigh Valley led the upward movement in the railroad shares, rising three points to 61. Frisco issues sold at the highest prices since 1916 on reports of an early inauguration of dividends on the preferred, which rose 3⅝ points to 65, while the common closed 1⅝ higher to 30⅝.

U. S. Steel common failed to respond to reports of an increase in operations, closing unchanged at 108⅝.

Call money ruled unchanged at 2 per cent. Time money and commercial paper rates held steady with business quiet.

Foreign exchange rates showed little change.

Nash motors jumped 6½ points to a new top at 1.50 on reports of increasing sales.

Cosden Oil was again under pressure, dropping 1⅛ points to 23½ and then rallying feebly.

Cattle Slow

By The Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, Sept. 26.—Cattle sold on a slow, uninteresting market today but prices were not quotably lower. Good calves remained about steady, but inferior and mixed grades were mostly 25 cents down. Stockers were weak. The supply amounted to 3,000 head of cattle and 1,000 calves. Steers were about steady, bringing 4.00 to 5.25.

Hog receipts were too small to make a market quotable, but the trade was called steady to five cents higher. Only 800 head were available. Most of the run cleared at 9.25 to 9.75.

Receipts in the sheep house amount to 500 head, most of the run being on through billing. Market conditions were unchanged.

LEGAL NOTICE

CITATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS.

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Wichita county, greeting: You are hereby commanded to cause to be published once each week for a period of ten days before the return day hereof, in a newspaper of general circulation, which has been continuously and regularly published for a period of not less than one year in said Wichita county, a copy of the following notice.

The State of Texas: To all persons interested in the welfare of James Edward Haney, a boy 17 years old and, Lemuel Haney, a boy 9 years old, minors: Know ye that James E. Haney has filed in the county court of Wichita county, an application for letters of guardianship upon the persons and estate of said minors, which said application will be heard at the next term of said court, commencing on the first Monday in October A. D. 1924, the same being the 6th day of October A. D. 1924, at the court house thereof in Wichita Falls, Texas, at which time all persons interested in the welfare of said minors, may appear and contest said application, if they see proper to do so.

Herein fail not, but have you before said court, on the said first day of the next term thereof, this writ, with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said court at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this the 18th day of September A. D. 1924.

ALMA Y. MILLER, Clerk.
County Court Wichita Co., Texas.
(Seal) By M. F. Yeager, Deputy.

Weeks' Offer Of Site For Park Is Accepted By City

Tract Inspected Friday And Pronounced Ideal By Committee

NEEDS DEVELOPING

Surveying and Grading To Be Necessary Before Land is Finished

The park offered the city by Fred Weeks has been accepted with certain necessary provisions, according to announcement made at the business council of the chamber of commerce.

The announcement followed an inspection made of the site Friday morning by W. B. Hamilton and members of the city plan committee of the chamber of commerce, members of the highway committee, and city and county officials.

Mr. Weeks' offer depended on the paving of Holliday street out past the Wichita Falls Golf and Country club, through the park which was also suggested as a municipal golf course and into the lake road near the North Texas Insane asylum. It was announced by Mr. Hamilton that Mr. Weeks has agreed to the proposal that the park be accepted for two years and developed by the park commission, with a dirt road laid out and graded. At the end of this period it is believed that means of securing a paved road will have been worked out through the cooperation of the city, county and state highway departments and interested citizens. If not it will revert to Mr. Weeks or the time will be extended.

Is Ideal Site.

The site offered by Mr. Weeks was described as being ideal for a park and surprisingly beautiful with more and larger trees than are to be found in other parts of the territory surrounding the city.

The action of the committee and officials in accepting the offer under the stated plan was approved by the business council in a resolution of approbation unanimously voted by the body.

Members of the council were urged to inspect the site and see for themselves its advantages.

Julian Montgomery, member of the committee offered his services in laying off the tract and in cooperating with city and county engineers in surveying and grading the road which will be the same to be eventually paved.

Legislation which is to be presented at the next session of the legislature forcing counties to give up their part of the automobile tax and placing a higher state tax on gasoline to go into the state fund, thus leaving the county without additional maintenance funds here-to-fore enjoyed, was discussed and action referred to the legislative committee of the chamber.

Report On Tour.

A report was made on the success of the tour of the irrigated valley made by business men under the direction of the agricultural committee, last Wednesday and it was suggested that such a trip be made an annual affair.

Claud Miller announced that the five toll bridges over the Red River into Oklahoma have agreed to give a fifty cent rate over the bridges during the Texas-Oklahoma fair as a result of efforts of the business council committee. This will be good for round-trip providing the return is made the same day, it was stated. Various towns in Oklahoma have been notified of the cut in rates it was announced.

FIRE TRUCK AT FAIR.

Ample Protection to be Given Valuable Exhibits.

Space has been provided in one of the buildings at the fair grounds for fire engine and chemical wagons to be ready for service during the Texas-Oklahoma Fair. The fire fighting equipment will be in charge of L. J. McClure, fire chief, and men from the central fire station.

Fire protection is absolutely necessary, Mr. Shepherd has stated. Hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of valuable products will be displayed and exhibited during the exposition, only a part of which is insured.

A six-inch water main has been extended to the fair grounds to furnish water for fire protection and other purposes. The line was extended from the city mains to the hangars when the government built the various buildings.

CAN HE STEAL FROM WIFE?

New York Trying to Get Man From Texas; Defense Unique.

By The Associated Press.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Sept. 26.—The state of New York is seeking to take Fred W. Farris back to Poughkeepsie to try him for stealing from his own wife, which is no offense in New York, nor Texas, W. C. Linden, attorney for Farris, who is fighting extradition in district court here, declared today.

The old doctrine of "what is my wife's is mine" seems to be the law in such cases, according to Mr. Linden.

Farris is fighting against return to Poughkeepsie to answer a charge of grand larceny of a check of $1,500 belonging to his wife.

Judge Hogan indicated he would order Farris released unless it can be shown that he is bound by matters appearing upon the face of the governor's warrant and the complaint accompanying it.

BUTTE

County Democratic club "and Joe Hatchitt" had done and proposed to do. He mentioned some accusations that foes of the club had made concerning the "strife" it was stirring up, and then flatly declared that the "strife" it intended to stir up was to "find out why such an inequitable system of taxation existed in Wichita Falls."

The need of party loyalty in the present year was stressed by both Judge Martin and Judge Bartin in their short talks. Both urged their hearers to "vote the straight" and "remain true to the teachings of our fathers."

Dancing Sweethearts Are Headliners at Wichita

The Lorner Girls, two dancing sweethearts of vaudeville, led the bill at the Wichita theatre last night. The act was ably supplemented by Phil Sheppard at the piano. The Lorner girls are two winsome and talented maids who do a lot of dancing and some singing. The act contains a variety of dances, including a Spanish dance. There are four changes of costumes, and the intervals between costume changes are filled by Phil Sheppard at the piano, who lends a good voice. The act was well applauded by the audience.

Can Sing Either Way.

Margaret Ford, in "Voicing Sentiment," won approval from the audience with a number of catchy songs sang alternatively in soprano and a tenor voice. Her voice rang as true in the role of a man singing as that of a woman.

The third place on the bill was well filled by Hall and Dexter in "Her First Lesson." This act is built up around clever lines and jokes which brought many a laugh from the audience. The girl, who has brilliant red hair, capitalizes on it and dishes out mirth with clever answers to her partner's thrusts. The act draws to a jazzy close, when the pair play the saxophone and trombone.

McCormick and Wallace, ventriloquists, present "The Little Red School House." The schoolroom setting is peopled with a number of large dolls who are made to sing and answer the school teacher. Many clever answers issue from their mouths.

Clever chatter and singing was given an appreciative audience by two dandy comedians, Hurst and Vogt, in "Profiteering in Fun." Their overdrawn impersonation of a public speaker, one making the gestures and the other doing the talking, won them an encore.

Then the Elephants.

Power's dancing elephants, Jennie, Lena, Rozie and Julia, a quartet of trained pachyderms, was an attraction quite out of the ordinary. The elephants play baseball, dance, keeping perfect time to the music of the orchestra, carry their supposedly dead master off the stage and perform numerous other tricks. These well trained animals came to the interstate vaudeville circuit after spending 18 years in the New York hippodrome.

Sportlights of Grantland Rice and Felix Cat preceded the vaudeville performance.

The same bill will be presented three times today, at 2:30, 7:30 and 9:30 p. m.

Circus in Town, Yet Not a Single Arrest

City cops had little to do yesterday. From 8 o'clock in the morning until 5 in the afternoon, not a single arrest was made and the blotter remained unscratched.

Technical Club Will Aid City In Sewer Problem

Council Accepts Offer At Meeting Yesterday In This Matter

STEPS TO BE TAKEN

Byers Residents Recently Complained of Emptage Into Wichita

Advice and services of members of the Wichita Falls Technical club have been offered the city council in its efforts to find a solution of the sewage problem in Wichita Falls. At a recent meeting of the club it was decided to offer such services to the municipal authorities, and at a meeting of the council yesterday, these were accepted.

Inasmuch as the Tech club membership includes many engineers and others of highly specialized technical training, such services may be of considerable help in the future.

No steps are being taken now toward clearing up conditions caused by emptying the city's sewage into the Wichita river. A protest was made against this to the state board of health by Byers residents, and a promise made that a state engineer would be sent up here to look the matter over and offer suggestions. Until he comes the city is merely marking time.

$50,000 in Taxes Prior to 1921 To Be Gathered In

E. M. Mann, Former City Attorney, Directed To Go Get 'Em

TO START AT ONCE

Present City Attorney Already at Work on Delinquencies 1922-1923

Another offensive in the city's campaign to collect delinquent taxes was started Friday when the city council authorized E. M. Mann, formerly city attorney and now retained by the city as special counsel on tax matters, to start filing of suits against property owners delinquent prior to the year 1921. W. E. George, present city attorney, is already at work on suits against delinquents for the years 1922 and 1923.

No delinquents are shown on the city's rolls prior to the year 1900, but from then up until 1921, assessments approximating $50,000 remain unpaid. This total was much larger several months ago but earnest solicitation on the part of the city and its attorneys has brought in a large amount without court action. It now appears, however, that no more can be collected without invoking the law.

Mr. Mann has announced that he will start at once on preparation of suits. Mr. George has been busy for several days in preparing papers for proceedings he is to institute.

BIKE RACES AT T-O FAIR.

Contests for Youngsters to be Feature of Mornings.

Bicycle races will be a morning feature September 29, "Children's Day" at the Texas-Oklahoma Fair. A number of races are scheduled and several cash purses and prizes are to be offered by the fair association and Grover Bullington company, according to R. E. Shepherd, fair secretary.

One of the races is to determine the bicycle racing championship of southern Oklahoma and northwest Texas. Races for boys of various ages are scheduled.

It is estimated that approximately 10,000 bicycle owners are in southern Oklahoma and northwest Texas, and from this number a list of speedy bicycle riders are to compete. There will be about ten races, Bullington stated.

FAIR GROUNDS IN SHAPE.

Workmen Busy Putting Last Touches On Buildings.

A buble of voices and much noise from the workmen at the various booths in the hangers greets fair officials as they examine the progress being made in preparation for the opening of the Texas-Oklahoma fair. Exhibitors are taking great interest in decorating the booths in all the buildings.

Artisans and painters are touching up several booths to give a distinctive appearance. Fresh paint minus the "fresh paint" signs, is everywhere about the interior of the exhibit buildings.

All streets and practically all parts of the fair grounds will present an attractive appearance. Wagons have hauled off all the old lumber and the other rubbish, for the fair heads have decreed the grounds will be clean and sanitary during the week of the exposition.

FRUIT COMPANY HEAD DIES.

Deed Dated 1892 Is Not Yet On File

Efforts of city officials to obtain records of all lots in Riverside cemetery are meeting with considerable success. A number of deeds that have never been recorded but which were given out years ago have been brought in and the records, which have been somewhat inaccurate, are gradually being straightened out.

A deed issued in 1892 was brought in Friday by a man to whom it was issued. It had never been recorded, however, and the city, which controls the cemetery, had no idea as to who the lot in question belonged to.
