Purse Thief Gets $1,500 In Gems Here

THEFT of a purse containing $1,500 in jewelry headed a growing list of complaints reaching police Saturday as crime activity in and near the city took a definite upswing.

Mrs. J. B. McCorkle of 2615 Twenty-fourth told police that her purse containing the jewelry, had been stolen from the Baptist Book store at 1212 Ave. Q at midmorning Saturday.

Missing with the $15 green leather handbag were a diamond-mounted white-gold wrist watch, a diamond-set wedding band and engagement ring and $2 in cash.

Peanuts Are Taken

Mrs. McCorkle said she missed her purse soon after laying it down in the store.

Other thefts reported to officials ranged from $1 worth of peanuts to a car taken at Idalou.

C. Koen, who has a fruit stand at 415 Ave. H, told police the peanuts were taken in a burglary there. Also believed to be missing were a half-dozen sandwiches.

Mrs. Alfred Pena of 1010 Edna, manager of the Mexican Labor camp, told police that 40 pounds of sausage valued at $26 had been stolen from an icebox at the camp sometime Saturday afternoon.

Jack Grant, of 1318 Ave. H reported theft of a wrist watch from the restroom of the Brown Tire company at that address. The timepiece was valued at $65.

A $30 bike was reported stolen from Floyd Read of 2513 Twenty-ninth, and E. Y. Gibbs of 1410 East Fifteenth told sheriff's officers that a 50,000 btu floor furnace had been stolen from him.

Man Posts $500 Bond

The car, a black 1941 Ford bearing license AS 2942, was stolen from B. H. Underwood in Idalou about 8 p. m. Saturday.

Othol Blair Cunnyngham, 41, amusement place operator here, posted a $500 bond Saturday morning in the court of Justice of the Peace C. E. Lynn, but found himself under a 99th District court injunction restraining him from going about, telephoning or molesting in any manner his former wife Willie Mae or her children.

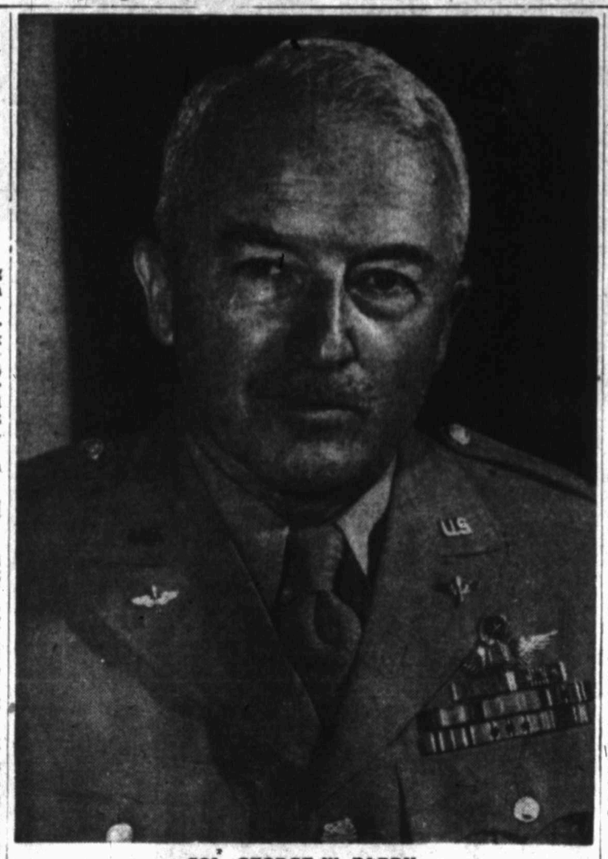

Judge G. V. Perdue signed a permanent injunction in the case. Several days earlier he had granted a temporary restraining order.

In her application to have Cunnyngham placed under a peace bond, Mrs. Cunnyngham, since divorced from him, swore the defendant had threatened to kill her.

In a similar case sheriff's officers Saturday night arrested Danny Ross, 35, of the Sunray courts after his wife complained that he had threatened to kill her.

Full Training To Start At Base Soon

LAFB Personnel To Complete Transfer

By C. W. RATLIFF
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

TRANSFER of military personnel of the 3500th Pilot Training Wing from Barksdale Air Force base at Shreveport, La., to Lubbock Air Force base will be completed this weekend and with the exception of a small group of men who will remain behind at Barksdale as a rear echelon, the full complement of officers and airmen assigned to the wing will be at LAFB.

The first class of cadets is due to arrive on Nov. 1 and after that date the base will be in full operation.

Col. George W. Pardy, base commander, will arrive Wednesday to take up his duties. Since he took command of the pilot training in July, Col. Pardy has directed LAFB activities from Barksdale through Col. Hugh D. Wallace, his deputy commander, here. Col. Wallace, upon Col. Pardy's arrival, becomes commanding officer of the Pilot Training Group, and will be responsible for the primary mission of the base, that of training officers and cadets to become USAF pilots.

Commissioned In 1917

Col. Pardy has relinquished command of the Barksdale Air Force base to Col. Thomas W. Steed, commander of Strategic Air Command's 91st Photo Reconnaissance Wing which will occupy that air installation.

Other members of Col. Pardy's staff at LAFB will include: Col. George H. Blase, executive officer; Lt.-Col. Andre R. Brousseau, commanding officer of the Air Base group; Lt.-Col. Robert L. Matthews, commanding officer of the Maintenance and Supply group; and Lt.-Col. I. Louis Hoffman, commanding officer of the Medical group, and base surgeon.

Col. Pardy, the commanding officer, volunteered for military service shortly after America declared war in 1917 and earned his commission as a second lieutenant in the then Aviation section, Signal Officers corps, "reserve military aviator" wings at Call field, Wichita Falls. He later was commissioned a first lieutenant in the Regular Army.

He participated in the Mexican border and western forest patrols during 1919-21 and in the Philippine islands in 1921 and 1922, flying landing field surveys and bombing sorties against fanatical Moro tribes. In 1921, while at Mather field, Sacramento, Calif., he piloted what is believed to have been the first mass parachute jump ever made in the

New Tropical Storm Moving Northward In Gulf Of Mexico

(By The Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 1.—The Weather bureau here said at 10 p.m. (CST) that a storm brewing in the Southwest Gulf was located about 240 miles west of Merida, Mexico or about 650 to 700 miles south of Lake Charles, La.

The bureau said reports on the storm are meager as no planes have been in the area and only one ship is near the center.

However, the bureau estimated highest winds at the center of the disturbance were between 40 and 50 miles per hour and the bureau said the storm probably would increase in intensity during the night.

The 10 p.m. (CST) advisory predicted the storm would progress north-northwestwardly for the next 12 hours.

Ten Airmen Die In Crash Of Bomber

TRINIDAD, Colo., Oct. 1. (INS)—Bodies of ten airmen were found today in the mangled and twisted remnants of their Air Force B-17 ten miles south of Trinidad.

Air Force officials identified the dead as Maj. Frank M. Kackstetter, Capt. James L. Reddinger, First Lt. Walter C. Williams, First Lt. Arthur L. Gaudieault, Capt. F. C. Melton, jr., Master Sgt. Melvin C. Crock, and Sgt. Martin L. Murray. All seven were stationed at Lowry and lived in the Denver area. The three other victims were attached to Biggs base. They were First Lt. James R. Irby, First Lt. Melvin R. Truman, and Staff Sgt. Carl A. Hill.

Harmony Rules Demos' Ranks

By DAVE CHEAVENS

LUFKIN, Oct. 1. — Outward harmony ruled the State Democratic executive committee again today after months of bitter feuding over who rightfully should be national committeeman from Texas.

Leaders of the faction backing Wright Morrow of Houston for the post and those who fought him in favor of Byron Skelton of Temple came to an understanding under which the matter was not even mentioned.

While it was a victory for Morrow—already seated by the national committee—his opponents had announced they were ready to fight any resolution dealing with the red-hot topic.

It actually amounted to an armistice. The net result was the most peaceful session of the committee in years. Members who had anticipated the usual battle pinched themselves to be sure they weren't dreaming.

103,000 Turn Out For Fair

By H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

THE most successful Panhandle-South Plains fair since the war came to a close last night after recording the biggest final day attendance in the history of the event.

A last day turnout of 25,862 pushed the total attendance during the week to 103,733, slightly more than the 102,859 last year. It was short of the 107,817 visitors to the 1947 fair, but well above the 84,214 in 1946—the first of the postwar fairs.

The Saturday attendance was the largest of the week, and the turnout during the last three days, totaling 63,253, was among the largest at any fair during the past 25 years. Closing day last year drew only 8,642 visitors.

Attendance Is Impressive

Officials of the fair association agreed that the attendance figures this year were far more impressive than those of 1947 and 1948.

In both of those years, highly publicized attractions drew large crowds on single days. In 1948, the Ringling Brothers-Barnum and Bailey circus pulled 47,913 persons into the grounds, accounting for nearly half of the week's attendance. In 1947, a giant balloon parade was the magnet for the largest opening day "gate" in history—23,046. Attendance during the remainder of each of those fairs suffered because of the single big days they featured.

This year, the attendance was spread as evenly through the week as at any fair in history. There were no tremendous turnouts on any day. None was extremely small.

However, all the postwar attendances have been far below those of fairs held before the war. In 1941, the last of the prewar fairs, 136,734 persons entered the grounds. In 1935, attendance set an all-time record of 145,273. War forced suspension of the expositions after 1941.

One of the biggest attractions of most of the prewar fairs were give-away prizes aggregating many thousands of dollars in value. They were discontinued several years ago.

As the 1949 exposition came to

Atomic 'Gamble' Planned By U. S.

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1—An all-out gamble for "enormous stakes"—the production of atomic power for airplanes and submarines—may be a major Atomic Energy commission answer to Russia's possession of the A-bomb, it was indicated today.

The AEC is known to have under discussion with the Senate-House Atomic Energy committee proposals to expand and speed up the construction of reactors—atomic piles—aimed at developing aerial and undersea power plants.

Two Solons Protest

Involved are what a proposed report of the Senate-House committee on its investigation of commission operations called "enormous stakes."

The document, which said that Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) failed to prove his "incredible mismanagement" charges against the AEC and Chairman David E. Lilienthal, represents the views of Committee Chairman McMahon (D-Conn) and Vice Chairman Durham (D-NC).

Hickenlooper and Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) protested that the draft does not reflect majority opinion of the committee on its lengthy inquiry into AEC management.

There was every sign, however, that they agreed with McMahon and Durham in the latters' criticism of what they called the commission's "overslow" development of the reactor program.

Potential Energy High

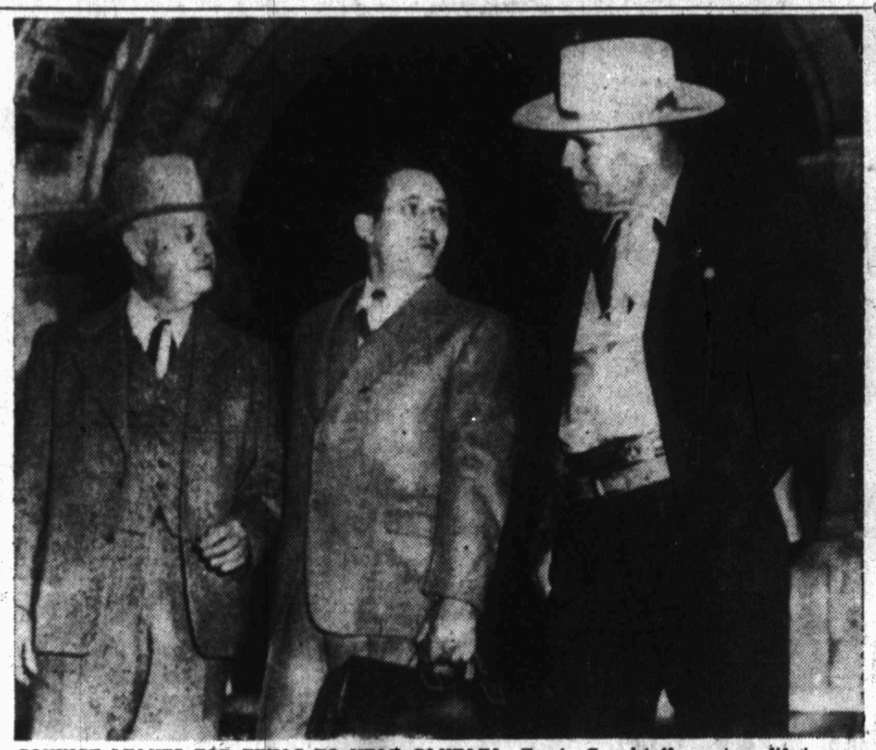

Authors of the report noted that one pound of U-235, material used in producing atomic explosions, "has a potential fuel value, if it can be tapped, equal to many BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Oct. 1. Unconfirmed reports said tonight Yugoslavia has bolstered her troop strength in the east. On the diplomatic front Bulgaria joined three other Cominform countries and Russia in denouncing friendship and mutual aid treaties with Yugoslavia.

An official report said Premier Marshal Tito had reviewed "grand maneuvers" of his troops and pledged to defend that country against all comers.

Tito snapped back at Russia. In a bitterly phrased note Yugoslavia accused Russia of warmongering, bullying and treachery.

Cool Weather May Reach Area Monday

The weatherman promised generally fair weather for the South Plains area today, possibly marred by winds from the south ranging from 16 to 20 miles per hour, and lightly clouded skies most of the day.

Low this morning will be only about 52, and the high today around 80, the meteorologist at the Weather bureau at the Municipal airport predicted, but temperatures might drop somewhat Monday.

A cold front, more or less stationary at midnight last night, was reported in the Dakotas, Nebraska, and Wyoming. If it moves south South Plains residents can look for cooler weather in a day or so.

Prisoner Gets Leave To Hear Cantata

Big Spring Host To Tennessee Convict

(By The Associated Press)

BIG SPRING, Oct. 1—Lifetimer Frank Grandstaff, who scribbled a cantata in his cell, stepped off a plane today, ending a journey he had traveled many times in his prison dreams.

Tomorrow afternoon, for the first time, Grandstaff will hear the words and music of "Big Spring" performed. He composed the cantata in the Tennessee state prison at Nashville after reading a book about Big Spring by druggist Earl (Shine) Phillips.

"Every man hangs on to a few dreams," he said, "and this was one of mine."

Cantata Published

Trading his stripes for a gray tweed suit, the 47-year-old Grandstaff walked out the gate of the prison this morning. Phillips met him there.

Pilot Roy Primm and Sheriff Bob Wolf of Big Spring joined them, and they boarded a plane for this West Texas City. They arrived here shortly after 3 p. m.

Big Spring citizens got permission from Tennessee Governor Gordon Browning to bring Grandstaff here for their six-day centennial celebration.

Grandstaff wrote the cantata in 1947. Phillips learned of it and had it published. The Texas & Pacific male chorus of Dallas performed the work that year, but efforts to free Grandstaff long enough to hear it then failed.

The T & P chorus will sing the cantata again tomorrow.

Grandstaff said he tried to say in the cantata "that a man must have hope."

He said he could think of no better way to express this than in the story of Big Spring's struggle to grow from a pioneer village to a modern cattle, farming and oil city of 20,000 people. That is the story told by Phillips in his book, "Big Spring."

Grandstaff said his music is

Three Injured In Auto Mishap

Three members of a Lubbock family were injured in a collision at Sixteenth and Ave. L about 9 p. m. Saturday in one of 11 wrecks investigated by city police during the day.

The injured were identified at West Texas hospital as Mr. and Mrs. Will Dean Nichols of Lubbock route 2, and their young daughter, Lenda Jean. None were believed to be seriously hurt, but further examination of both Mr. and Mrs. Nichols will be necessary to determine the extent of their injuries, hospital attendants said.

Child Suffers Cuts

Nichols, 27, suffered an injury to his right shoulder. His wife, 24, suffered injury to her back and cuts on both knees. The child was treated for minor cuts on the face and left knee.

Police said Nichols was driving his 1941 Chrysler east on Sixteenth when his car was in collision with a 1947 Cadillac driven by Harold N. Hensley, 30, of Midland. The front of the Chrysler and the entire right side of the Cadillac were badly damaged.

Hensley was given a ticket for

Murray Gives 'Final' Terms

By ARTHUR EDSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 1.—The steel strike tightly tied up America's basic industry today and Philip Murray said he'd loosen the stranglehold only on his own terms.

Here are developments in the first day of the walkout:

1. Murray, president of the CIO United Steelworkers, gave his price for getting his half million unionists back on the job. His terms are exactly those which the industry already turned down.

2. Irving S. Olds, chairman of the United States Steel corporation's board of directors, told his stockholders:

HST Plans No Action

3. The White House once more reported President Truman did not intend to intervene in the dispute again.

4. There was no violence of any sort. In fact, the strike was so orderly it was dull—a decided change from the days when a steel strike meant that skulls would be cracked and blood would flow.

Murray called a news conference to deny charges made by Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the United States Steel corporation. Fairless had said that the union clearly indicated "its unwillingness to attempt in good faith to reach a fair and reasonable settlement."

Proposals Given

Asked for his price for peace, Murray said the union had made three proposals. These were:

1. The original demand that steel companies accept the presidential fact finding board's recommendations that the industry pay for workers' pensions and insurance.

(U. S. Steel made an offer on insurance and pensions but insisted that the workers help pay the bill).

2. A proposal for settling on the basis of the board's social security recommendations, plus a 12 1/2 cent an hour wage increase.

3. A proposal that the company pay out an additional 30 cents an hour. This would be allocated

Lewis To Reopen Hard Coal Pits

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 1. (AP)— A flame of relief flickered today in the nation's strike-stripped coal bin.

Pennsylvania's hard coal miners go to the pits Monday on orders of their leader, John L. Lewis.

Coal-dependent industries and homes in other sections will still have to depend largely on the bituminous supply unearthed by the United Mine Workers before they launched their "no day week" Sept. 19.

Stockpile Is High

That stockpile is fairly high—48-days-worth by normal reckoning.

It promises to last longer than that — depending on how long the CIO United Steel Workers carry on their day-old shutdown of the coal-gobbling steel industry.

Helping to stave off rapid and complete depletion of the above-ground supply will be the return of 22,000 soft coal miners who work west of the Mississippi. Lewis included them in his return-to-work command.

But the bulk of the bituminous miners — nearly 400,000 UMW members who dig in the coal rich bituminous belts in the northern

Use Of Chemical In Marshall's Water Supply Cuts Tooth Decay

(By The Associated Press)

MARSHALL, Oct. 1 — A state health official said today a special chemical added to Marshall's city water has reduced tooth decay an average of 23 per cent among 500 observed children.

Dr. Edward Taylor, director of the State Health department's dental division, announced the findings of a 41-month test. He said any Texas cities that want to use the chemical may now do so and the health department will help them keep tabs on the results.

The chemical is sodium flouride, a white, crystalline salt. When added to water, it turns into a gas, flourine. This gas helps prevent tooth decay.

Taylor said an artificial fluroination program already has been approved for Corpus Christi.

The value of fluorine in the warding off tooth decay has been known to some degree for a number of years. The Marshall test—and others, outside Texas—were made to get accurate figures on the effect of fluorine.

Scientists found that at Marshall, not only did the fluorine cut down decay an average of 23 per cent in the observed children—it reduced it 47 per cent among

Lubbock And South Plains Residents Contribute To Fund To Aid Small Infant In Hospital Here

By TOM DAVIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

BILLIE Eugene Williams got his chance for health and life Saturday as Lubbock and South Plains residents loosed a flood of generosity to insure past and future medical treatment for the eight-month-old infant with a defective heart.

Phone calls, cash and checks began to flow into The Avalanche-Journal offices early Saturday for the infant under oxygen treatment at West Texas hospital. A story telling of the baby's plight appeared in Saturday's Morning Avalanche. Late last night, the spontaneous fund totaled $232.35.

Then came a guarantee of plane transportation and expense money to Galveston for an examination which may lead to a corrective operation.

The Salvation Army, which had secured hospital admission for the infant two weeks ago, announced that it would guarantee payment of hospital bills here if the parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Williams, are unable to make time payments.

Gerald V. Fulton, of 2703 Twenty-first street, said his brother R. H. Fulton, of the Levelland highway, agreed to fly the child and mother to Galveston in his twin-engine Beechcraft. Gerald Fulton said he would give $100 for expense money "and raise more if needed among my friends." This would be added to the total above.

Dr. J. D. Donaldson, jr., assisting Dr. Carey B. Batson in the case, explained that while examination and treatment would be free at the University of Texas diagnostic center in Galveston, the mother or an attendant would have to stay there during examination.

The Williams hospital bill stood

COUNTY PROVIDES ADEQUATE AID

Town Of Plains Unburdened By Cost Of Municipal Government

By EDWARD WELSH
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

PLAINS, Oct. 1.—Plains, a town with an estimated population of 750, is unique among South Plains county seats. Plains is not incorporated. It has no mayor or municipal government.

Furthermore the people of Plains are content to let matters rest exactly as they are. They have several good reasons for desiring the "status quo."

For one thing an excellent county administration is well equipped to supervise the affairs of the community. Then too they have more than adequate funds for accomplishing the job in an efficient and business-like manner. Plains people just can't see any argument for burdening themselves with more government employes, and, of course, added taxes.

Some 96 per cent of the taxes acruing in Yoakum county are derived from the giant oil industry in the Wasson pool. Since the entire population of the county is about 6,000 their needs are modest and are easily met. A substantial fund has been built up to provide for most any contingency.

A tour of Plains and Denver City, the metropolis of Yoakum county, reveals outstandingly modern school buildings, hospitals, a new city hall and court house, churches, and many other structures, most of which have been completed within the last two or three years.

As one man puts it; "Just look at all these fine buildings. They're paid for, too. Why put out more money for a government we don't need when we can put it into something of permanent and universal value."

Another man with a lot valued around $1,000 pays only a few cents a year in taxes on his unimproved property.

A $40,000 swimming pool is just now being completed in Plains. It is an addition to an attractive city park that nestles in a draw in the northwest corner of the town.

County Commissioner Clyde Hartwick points to the new Yoakum county court house. This $300,000 structure was completed this summer and accepted by the commissioner's court, on July 1.

School Superintendent R. B. Ellis (former Hockley county judge) has as modern a plant for Plains scholastics as can be found in the state. The $250,000 grade school has just been completed and a $300,000 high school building is in the process of construction. It will probably be ready for the spring term.

Alvin Wolfenberger is principal of the elementary school and heads a teaching staff of nine. Travis Mason is the high school principal. He has eight teachers. The scholastic enrollment for both schools is 300.

Plans for a new football field and stadium are on the drafting boards. Construction will start early next year if all goes well and the project should be ready for the 1950 season. Ellis says he believes adequate funds will be available and no bond issue will be required to do the job.

Plains is situated at the junction of state highway 214 and 380. Farm-to-Market road 1077 brings in added traffic.

Public Utilities Adequate

Hartwick is also owner and operator of the Plains Power and Light Company. He was 202 meter connections on his 12,500 volt line that comes up from the Southwestern Public Service company plant in Denver City.

P. W. St. Romaine operates the Plains Telephone and Water company. A large standpipe insures a steady supply of good water. Telephone connections can be made with any part of the company.

There are more than 40 blocks of paved streets in Plains and more paving is under consideration.

"We have everything you would expect to find in towns much larger than Plains", one citizen said. "We have all of this without a lot of unnecessary taxes. Is it any wonder we don't want to incorporate?"

John Derryberry is county judge and the county commissioners are; C. W. Brown, H. J. Scown, A. M. Price and Hartwick.

Refugees Fleeing From Reds Welcomed By City In Ireland

COBH, Ireland, Oct. 1. (AP)—The kindly folk of this seaport city opened their gates today to 466 refugees making a desperate flight from Communism in an old British landing craft.

It reached here yesterday after a hazardous four-day crossing of the North Sea from Goteborg, Sweden. Authorities there had refused to give it a license of seaworthiness.

The vessel's goal is Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Among those aboard are 50 children.

One of the passengers told newsmen the refugees are of 11 nationalities, but that the bulk are Latvians, Estonians, Poles and Hungarians.

He said one thing they have in common is a burning desire "to get as far as possible from Russia."

Lubbock Children Exhibit Indian Costumes Made While In School

Third grade students at George M. Hunt school went home Friday afternoon in elaborate Indian costumes which they had made themselves during an Indian unit.

As a climax to their Indian study children were allowed to visit all other rooms at Hunt school to show their head dress, tom-toms, beads, and head bands which they had made. As students studied Indians, reading, writing, art, geography, and history were integrated into the unit. Miss Aileene Turley and Mrs. J. L. Holt are third grade teachers at Hunt. Principal is P. E. Visiting Ministers To Hold All-Day Meeting Here Today

The Bethel temple at 223 North Ave. N, today will be the site of an all-day conference of visiting ministers from El Paso, and from parts of New Mexico and Arizona, it was announced today.

The conference will begin at 10 a. m., and will end sometime this evening. The Rev. Macedonio Garcia of El Paso, will preside. Ten delegates are expected to be present.

The Rev. Manuel D. Ibarra, pastor, said the revival which started last Sunday would continue through this week. The Rev. Manuel J. Davilia, sr., of Texas City, is conducting the revival.

Florence, Italy, has an anti-noise campaign to avoid annoyance to tourists.

Two-Year-Old Child Found In Woods By Search Party

HONESDALE, Pa., Oct. 1. (AP)—Two-year-old Betty Quinman was found today alive and well in thick woods nearly a mile from her home. She had been missing for 24 hours.

The child, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Quinman, disappeared yesterday afternoon from the farm of Emery Marks, near Galilee, close to the New York border about 25 miles northeast of here. Her parents are employed at the farm.

More than 150 men, led by state police, searched the woods throughout the night for the child.

Kerr Congratulates State On Dry Vote

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP) — Senator Kerr (D-Okla) congratulated Oklahoma today on voting last Wednesday to remain dry.

"I congratulate Oklahoma on its courageous, far-reaching action of retaining its 42-year-old constitutional prohibition," he said in a statement.

Kerr sent a transcribed speech urging Oklahomans to vote dry to several Oklahoma radio stations during the campaign leading up to the state-wide vote.

He declined comment on a statement issued Thursday by the Justice department saying it and the internal revenue bureau plan test cases to obtain a court decision as to whether the federal liquor enforcement act is again applicable to shipments of liquor into Oklahoma under present state laws.

Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okla) also had no comment on the department's statement.

COLLEGE TO EXHIBIT MACHINERY

Tech To Show Weaving Process With Display At State Fair

By KENNETH MAY
Avalanche Staff Writer

So you've lived in a cotton section all your life. So what? There's a man at Texas Technological college that'll lay you 10 to one you don't know beans about cotton after it leaves the gin.

In fact, L. E. Parsons, head of the Textile engineering department, is so sure Texans don't know a carding machine from a drawing frame, that he has been instrumental in establishing a booth at the state fair in Dallas, Oct. 8 to 21, to explain the textile industry.

Loom To Be Displayed

Not that Parsons thinks Texans are ignorant about cotton. He just thinks they should know more about the product which is the basis of their economy after it is ginned.

The particular exhibit at the fair will be a loom weaving towels with the words, "Texas Tech" down the center. Parsons said also that there will be a couple of students on hand to tell about the department and try to attract more students.

Tech is one of 10 textile schools in the United States and the only one west of the Mississippi. In other words it's the only one really available to Texas' cotton growers.

Complete mill machinery for the cleaning and weaving of cotton fibers is provided at the college and students get practical experience in such fields as yarn manufacture, weaving and design, and textile chemistry.

But to pick a little cotton knowledge from the yarn Parsons wove about the department, one can unravel enough to find out that there are about eight or 10 steps in the process of preparing a cotton yarn.

All these steps are carried out by students at the college, Parsons pointed out, even from the opening of the bale to allow the cotton to expand. From there it is rolled into a lap and weighed to make certain there is the right amount per yard.

'Soft' Future Noted

Parsons is a firm believer that cotton provides a "soft" future for persons interested in textile work. He doesn't mean that it provides easy work; it is just an uncrowded field with plenty of room to move up to the top.

After the cotton is in lap form, the carding machine comes in. Fibers are thoroughly separated, emerging in a very thin web which is then condensed into a cord sliver and coiled into a fiber can 36 inches deep and 12 inches wide.

The drawing frame is then fed six of these slivers at a time. It reduces them into one sliver and places them back in a can. A "roving" process then further drafts out the fibers and loosely twists them into a highly attenuated strand onto a wooden bobbin.

Mills Located In East

The bobbins are later taken to a spinning frame and the cotton is drawn off and twisted tightly into a finished yarn. From there it may be wound onto cones and prepared for weaving.

Textile engineering was one of the basic principles behind the establishment of Tech in 1924. Enrollment in the division is still small today with only about 50 students and three instructors, but Parsons points out that most industrial textile mills are in the East where the other schools are located.

Work in the Tech department is divided between instruction and research. Research is constantly carried on at the college for additional uses for better grades of cotton as well as for better means of utilizing poorer grades.

Graduates Make Good

Dyeing of cotton fabric can be done either as it comes out of the bale, when it is in the form of yarn, or piece dyed after it is woven, the textile head said.

That, together with knowledge of mill machinery and training in how to manage an establishment, is just another part of the instruction offered textile majors at Tech.

Students in the department come from a wide background and from many foreign countries, Parsons said. They are given opportunity to work with full-scale equipment for cotton manufacture and most graduates are now holding high-salaried administrative jobs in industrial plants, he said.

71 Felony Cases Face Grand Jury

A grand jury will be impaneled Monday morning by 99th District Judge G. V. Pardue to inquire into 71 felony complaints on file with justices of peace, as well as into whatever other instances of violation of law and order might come to its attention.

The cases filed include three capital felony charges of murder with malice, one murder without malice, and three rape, A. W. Salyars, assistant district attorney, said.

No special charge will be given to the grand jury, it was indicated Saturday by Judge Pardue.

The grand jury panel, from which the 12-member grand jury will be qualified, is composed of A. G. Payne and W. A. Martin, jr., both of Lubbock route 5; L. V. Preston of Hurlwood; Milton E. Granville, a negro, W. T. Davis, and W. Howard Hoffman, all of Slaton; J. M. Burnman, Foy Hudson and G. E. Lawson, all of Idalou; Frank L. Adams and Bob Crump, both of Shallowater; B. Sherrod of 2105 Sixteenth, Parker F. Prouty of 3019 Twenty-first, Oscar Nislar of 1722 Thirty-third, O. W. McLeod of 1901 Thirty-third, and William C. O'Mara of 3005 Twenty-first, all of Lubbock.

It will report at 10 a.m.

The panel was named by a grand jury commission of H. T. Swanner, Bailey Guess, Henry Mahoney, S. E. McWhorter, and Chas. Whitacre on June 18, to serve for duration of the July term of court.

Whatever the Price Class

—"Buick's the Buy"

Car owners in three different price classes—all happy about the same thing.

Another will tell you there's nothing like the SUPER'S "happy medium" of size and comfort, power and easy handling, style and standing.

And if you're looking for prestige, where is your money going to buy so much as in that handsome 18-footer, the ROADMASTER, with its 150-hp performance and really royal bearing?

But all these good folks get together on this:

There's no ride quite so soft and cushiony as the Buick ride, whatever the size and series. There's no power quite so satisfyingly lively as Buick's high-compression, high-pressure Fireball power.

Above all, there's no "buy" like a Buick—no car that gives you such a rich dollar's worth of smartness, handling, comfort and liveliness for every dollar you pay.

So why not look the whole line over? Your Buick dealer has these grand travel-mates in a baker's dozen of different body types and sizes. Start your shopping in his showroom—and you'll find that even on delivery he has exactly what you want.

BUICK alone has all these features

Silk-smooth DYNAFLOW DRIVE* • FULL-VIEW VISION from enlarged glass area • SWING-EASY DOORS and easy access • "LIVING SPACE" INTERIORS with Deep-Cradle cushions • Buoyant-riding QUADRUFLEX COIL SPRINGING • Lively FIREBALL STRAIGHT-EIGHT POWER with SELF-SETTING VALVE LIFTERS (Dynaflow Models) plus HI-POISED ENGINE MOUNTINGS • Low-pressure tires on SAFETY-RIDE RIMS • Double-Duty VENTIPORTS • DUREX BEARINGS, main and connecting rods • BODY BY FISHER

LEGISLATION WILL BE ASKED

Bar Group To Push Plans For Lubbock County Court-At-Law

Plans for a Lubbock county court-at-law were furthered Saturday when Lubbock County Bar association unanimously authorized a committee to complete its draft of a bill which the association hopes can be presented for legislative action in January.

Thomas B. Duggan, jr., appointed the committee several months ago, before he retired as president of the local bar group. He named George Berry as chairman, James Milam, C. L. Harris, John Lee Smith, and G. H. Nelson. He asked that the committee investigate conditions in Lubbock county court, which the bar recognized as swamped with multifarious duties devolving upon County Judge Walter Davies, and make recommendations.

Dockets Grow Thicker

The committee found that Judge Davies' dockets, through no fault of his, continue to get thicker. The necessity for his devoting increased time to administrative duties also was recognized, as well as to probate work, trial of lunacy cases, juvenile matters, and numerous other tasks.

Most counties, when they approximate a population of 100,000 persons, find it imperative to relieve their county judges of some of their work, it was found. Such a result has been noted in Grayson county (Sherman-Denison), to name a county approximating the Lubbock county population index. One or more county courts-at-law have been established in Tarrant, Dallas, Harris, Fannin, El Paso and Jefferson counties, to mention some.

Figures Are Cited

Berry was instructed by his committee, after initial study of county court conditions, to draw the bill. He reported Saturday to the bar group suggestions of his committee, and the bar adopted them and instructed the committee to complete the bill.

Judge Davies and some members of the county commissioners court were in attendance when Berry made reference to figures worked up by the county judge.

In the year ending July 1, for instance, Judge Davies disposed of 1,694 criminal cases. But 2,173 new cases were filed in that period.

He disposed of 174 civil actions, but 341 new ones were filed.

Judge Davies disposed of 266 probate cases: 191 were filed; 1,181 orders were signed; and 399 active cases are on the docket.

There were 55 juvenile cases disposed of, either by paroling or sentencing, and 91 other cases handled by reprimand.

One hundred ten lunacy cases were disposed of.

Many Other Duties

The court, in addition, had to handle much miscellaneous office work, as reflected in the following figures: delayed birth certificates handled, 266; tuberculosis applications mailed to sanitorium, 54; child labor permits, issued, 192; child necessity affidavits issued, 78; permit affidavits to allow minors to take examination for driver's license, 240; feeble-minded applications to Austin State school, 6.

In addition, the county judge is chairman of the commissioners court, which meets twice a month in regular session, and often in special called session; must conduct numerous conferences with the public, and attend to correspondence of his office.

It was recognized that duties of the county judge are increasing every year.

New Court Needed

A county court-at-law would have concurrent jurisdiction with the county court on civil and criminal matters, trial of which now is delayed because of duties beyond control of anyone.

"The condition is a product of progress reflected in this county," it was explained. "It happens to all counties that grow like this one."

All the present duties of the county judge, execpt trial work, would be continued under the proposal which, if realized, would save time and money for litigants, attorneys and busines men in general, it was recognized.

The bar association also voted to sponsor, in conjunction with the state bar association, a legal institute to be held here Dec. 10. Attorneys from a wide area would be invited. Attorney Roy Bass was named by George W .McCleskey as chairman of a committee to make plans for the institute.

Amarillo Beautician Joins State Board

AMARILLO, Oct. 1. (Special)—Mrs. Jean Tomberlin, well-known Amarillo cosmetologist, today was sworn in as a member of the state board of cosmetologists and hairdressers.

Mrs. Tomberlin recently was appointed for a six-year term by Gov. Allan Shivers. She plans to arrive in Austin Monday to assume her duties as a member of the board.

She operated her own beauty shop here for eight years, and has been a member of the hairdresser's association since 1932. Because of her appointment, she had to resign a position as state inspector for beauty shops in the Panhandle area. No replacement has been announced.

Mrs. E. M. Hughes of Lubbock, state inspector for that district, was present for the ceremony. Mrs. Tomberlin replaces Mrs. E. L. Avery of Llano. Lee Self of El Paso, and Mrs. Ella Mae Murphy of Austin, are the other members of the board.

PROCLAMATION SIGNED BY MAYOR

Lubbock Sets Observation Of Employ The Handicapped Week

Lubbock employment and veterans organizations are going "all out" in observance of National Employ the Physically Handicapped week, which begins today, it was announced Saturday by Tommy Harrell, chairman of the committee in charge of the observance and assistant veterans employment representative for the Texas Veterans Employment service here.

Mayor W. H. Rodgers Saturday signed a proclamation naming Oct. 2-8 Employ the Physically Handicapped Week in Lubbock. Similar proclamations signed by Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas and President Truman make the observance nation-wide.

More employers should give handicapped persons an opportunity to prove their Worth, Harrell believes.

Employment Rises

"The rise in national employment to new high peaks has improved job opportunities for disabled veterans and other handicapped workers, but has not supplied sufficient job openings to assure gainful employment to disabled veterans as rapidly as they are ready for jobs," Harrell explained.

"The backlog of disabled veterans seeking employment through the 82 local offices of the Texas Employment commission amounts to approximately 4,000, this being a decrease of nearly 2,000 over the estimated figure this time a year ago.

"However, a word of caution is necessary. There is a tremendous job to be done—finding employment for 4,000 handicapped workers now registered for work and for the 1,400 to 1,600 handicapped workers who register each month.

Window Displays Set

"Also, there is a rapidly increasing demand on the part of veterans for job counseling service at local offices of the TEC. About three out of four disabled veterans apply for jobs at the local offices of TEC Request Job Counseling Service.

"The Veterans Employment service appeals to all employers, labor unions, veterans organizations and the public to cooperate in order that every veteran disabled in the service of our country may have the opportunity to work in a suitable job."

Several stores have arranged window displays promoting Employ the Physically Handicapped week, radio stations are cooperating with spot announcements, and Lubbock veterans organizations are publicizing and promoting observance of the week.

Resident Of Lubbock Is Leading Useful, Active Life Despite Physical Handicap

As employers this week are urged to employ physically handicapped persons, the case of Larry Kennedy of Lubbock stands out as vivid proof that a physical handicap does not mean loss of a useful and happy life.

Back in 1936 Kennedy was in southern Colorado, near Pueblo, driving along a road in a closed coupe.

Discouraged but undaunted, Kennedy refused to give up.

"I looked around for a profession that I could carry out suitably, and finally hit upon watchmaking," Mr. Kennedy explains. "I went to the Elgin watchmakers school and learned the profession."

He came to Lubbock and worked for Anderson Bros. for six years before establishing his own business.

His eminence in his field is evidenced by a certificate from the U. S. Bureau of Standards naming him a certified watchmaker. His standing among his fellow professional men is indicated by the fact that he was first president of the South Plains Watchmakers Guild.

Leads Active Life

He leads an active life, being a member of American Business club. He and his wife, and two sons, Johnny, 8, and Dick 9, live at 2208 Thirtieth street.

He has hobbies. One is being a "rock hound", or fashioning gemstones from raw stones. Another is photography.

Kennedy was asked for a word of advice and encouragement for handicapped people who might be discouraged.

"I have a proverb that was passed on to me, and whenever I become discouraged I think about it. It goes like this: 'I had no shoes, and I complained—until I met a man who had no feet.'"

Iraq's Government plans to buy a mobile film unit for each of the 14 districts in the country, for use during the dry summer months when roads are passable.

British "Inventor" Slightly Puzzled About Own Invention

LONDON Oct. 1 (AP)—The British Air Ministry was intrigued. Midway in the war, an inventor wrote in to say he needed minor technical assistance on an invention that would keep airplanes from exploding when they crashed. John Edwards, parliamentary secretary to the Board of Trade, told a conference of scientists the ministry quickly offered help.

"He then wrote back to say his idea was that there should be in each petrol tank a capsule containing a substance which would render petrol non- inflammable, the capsule to be made so it would melt when the petrol reached a certain temperature, thus releasing the contents.

The two details on which he needed assistance: What the capsule should be made of and what it should contain."

CARVES PRESIDENTS

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP)—Starting from scratch and without previous experience, Murdock Ferguson has carved out busts of all the presidents for the benefit of his 9-year-old daughter Wendy. He used a penknife and blocks of redwood, took only seven months for the job.

AUSTIN, Oct. 1. (Special)—Clerical, stenographic and secretarial positions with the State Department of Health are now open on a competitive examination basis.

Applications and information may be obtained from the Merit System Council, 805 Littlefield Building, Austin, Russell E. Shrader, council supervisor, announced.

Examinations will consist of a written test and a performance test in the kind of work applied for, each part counting 50 per cent. Examinations may be taken for the following classifications: junior clerk, clerk, clerk-typist, clerk-stenographer, stenographer, senior clerk, secretary, senior secretary, technical clerical assistant, junior and senior bookkeeper, and chief clerk.

All applicants must be high school graduates, and up to six years experience is required for top classifications. No experience is required for lower classifications.

OVERCOMES PHYSICAL HANDICAP—Larry Kennedy, above, partner of Gumm and Kennedy Jewelers at 1212 Ave. K, has forged a happy life for himself although he lost a leg as result of a flash flood in Colorado years ago. When he suffered his handicap he set out to find a job he could do well, and he settled on watchmaking. See story in Column 6 above. (Staff Photo.)

Kaiser-Frazer Reported Asking Loan From Government Agency

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP) — Reports circulated in Washington today that Kaiser-Frazer corporation is seeking a multi-million dollar loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Officials of the RFC said they had no statement to make except that "there is no application pending before the board and no loan has been granted" to the motor manufacturer.

There was no direct denial, however, that discussions are going on. Edgar Kaiser, president of the automobile concern, was reported to have been in Washington earlier in the week in connection with the deal.

Egypt Allots $60,000,000 To Egyptian-Occupied Palestine

CAIRO, Oct. 1 (AP) — The responsible daily "Al Ahram," quoting Ministry of Finance sources, said Egypt will allot $60,000,000 for administration of Egyptian- occupied Palestine.

The Egyptian Army holds the narrow coastal strip in the Gaza Peninsula, occupied during the Palestine war. The money would be included in Egypt's forthcoming annual budget, "Al Ahram" said.

DEFINITE ASSIGNMENTS NEEDED

Truman Urged To Name Group To Study Air Force-Navy Feud

BY LEON SHLOSS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1. — A key figure in the Air Force-Navy feud today urged President Truman to "take it out of politics" by naming an impartial commission to outline the functions of each service in case of war.

The "commission plan" was put forward by a high-ranking naval officer who said:

"If the President appointed such a commission he could assure the people that the government is doing its utmost to see that every defense dollar is wisely spent."

Swift Decision Essential

The officer warned that Russian attainment of the atomic bomb makes essential a quick and decisive determination of the problem because America can no longer count on overseas bases from which to attack an enemy. He explained:

"The countries owning the bases certainly will not be willing to submit to obliteration by the A-bomb just so the U. S. can operate aircraft from its bases."

The Navy feels its aircraft carriers assure America of "floating overseas bases" from which atomic attack can be carried to the enemy but flattop strength is being reduced.

Mr. Truman has ample precedent for creation of such a commission. Shortly after the war he appointed a five-man panel headed by Thomas K. Finleter to make recommendations for the Future of American aviation.

Red A-Bomb Predicted

The Finletter commission's report was highlighted by prediction that Russia would have the atomic bomb by 1952 and recommendations for expansion of naval and air force aviation, the latter to 70 groups.

The officer expressed the belief that the House Armed Services committee, which reopens hearings into the Air Force-Navy roles and missions feuds on Wednesday, would not do anything about the carrier situation. He said:

"The budget situation is too far gone for them to undertake all the work that revision would require.

"But the President could appoint a commission of fair-minded, competent citizens to study the situation and decide what assignments each service should be given."

Czech Police Try To Catch Man For Fleeing Country Illegally

They were ordered to apprehend on sight a certain Josef Dvorak, who has been outlawed and dispossessed for illegally fleeing abroad in August, 1948.

The government admitted it didn't know where Dvorak might be found and even that "description of the person is not known." Nevertheless it ordered that "the courts and security organs to which this warrant is being sent must arrest the accused."

Feud Among Somali Tribes Of Africa Breaks Into Warfare

ASHMARA, Eritrea, Oct. 1—(AP) A blood feud between two Somali tribes flared into open warfare recently. Eighty werekilled and 120 wounded before French Somaliland authorities intervened, according to reliable information reaching here.

For years at harvest time there have been outbreaks between the Gadabussied and Issas tribes, near Djibouti. Basis for their difference is that the Issas claim local autonomy while the Gadabussied favor complete French control.

Then both sides started fighting, using modern weapons smuggled in from British Somaliland during the war. In 40 minutes the battle was over and the field was litered with dead and wounded. The situation now is described as normal again.

Tech Students Plan Pep Rally Dance To Be Presented Friday

Texas Tech students will have an opportunity Friday night to attend a pep rally-dance and join the Tech Chamber of Commerce all at the same time, reports Bill McCasland, president of the group.

The dance, scheduled to begin immediately after the Texas Tech-Tulsa pre-game pep rally that evening, will feature Ted Crager and his nine-piece band, he said.

Admission of one dollar per couple also will enroll them as members of the Tech Chamber of Commerce. Present members will not be required to pay admission to the dance, McCasland said.

Ticket Sale Scheduled

He said proceeds from the dance would be added to a fund to pay for a lighted softball field on the campus. About $2,000, already has been put in the fund, saved by last year's group, he said.

Tickets will be on sale Thursday and Friday in the Administration building, or may be purchased from present Chamber of Commerce members. They also will be on sale at the door Friday night, McCasland added.

Wilmer J. Luke, vice-president of the organization, is chairman of the dance committee. Dale Thut procured the band, and Alice Hix is in charge of decorations. Carroll Sanders is in charge of publicity. John Huckabay is business manager.

Plans also are being made for the traditional "Howdy Week," Oct. 10 to 14, designed to help the students become better acquainted with each other. Dale Thut heads the planning committee.

The Tech Chamber of Commerce is a comparatively new thing in college activities, having been started three years ago to publicize the college and promote worthwhile projects on the campus, McCasland explained.

Two meetings are scheduled during October for junior high teachers of the Lubbock Public schools to continue their study of problems begun last year, according to Miss Dorothy Lomax, director of secondary education in the Lubbock Public schools.

He left there in 1948 to go to Maxwell Air Force base to attend the Air Command and Staff school, accepting the Barksdale assignment upon completion of the course.

In 1944, he was brought back to Wright field to engage in research on booby, armour and combat wounds at the Aerial Medical laboratory there. Later he served as assistant chief of medicine and base surgeon at several air force bases, coming to Lubbock from Stewart Air Force base, New York.

Col. and Mrs. Hoffman and their daughter, Lois Jean 4, reside at 2630 Twenty-sixth.

The staff officers will be charged with the responsibility of welding the entire wing into a closely-knit unit which will enable the base to fulfill its primary mission.

The 3500th Pilot Training Wing came into existence on Aug. 28, 1948, when all the former base units were converted within the Air Training command. The plan of organization was recommended by Headquarters USAF, after a thorough testing in picked units.

One of the advantages of a wing plan is that each individual is clothed, housed, paid, promoted and administered by his immediate commander thus eliminating split jurisdiction and responsibility. A strong central control is effected, but responsibility is divided and rountine work decentralized.

The wing is divided into four groups, each with its group commander, and each group in turn is comprised of a headquarters squadron, and other necessary squadrons essential to operations.

The pilot training group includes all student squadrons, and the activities of director of flying, academic sections and research, and development.

The air base group is in actuality the "housekeeping" group and the operation of includes personnel services, officer's club, noncommissioned officer's club, food service, Air Force exchange and theatre.

The medical group operates all medical facilities on the base which includes the station hospital. The group is made up entirely of medical personnel.

The Maintenance and Supply group is responsible for all repair work on LAFB planes, its [illegible] their general upkeep and maintenance. They also operate the base motor pool, which furnishes automotive transportation for the base, and the principal supply unit.

Since the wing is an advaned multi-engine flying school, the cadets and student officers trained here will be instructed in the operation of the famous North American B-25 Mitchell bomber. The students will, upon arrival at Lubbock, have already graduated from their basic flying stages received at other Air Force bases throughout the Air Training command. Through intensive training in the twin engined planes given by top-notch pilot instructors, the students will emerge from LAFB as rated Air Force pilots.

The flying phase is only part of the training that will be accomplished at the base. Academic studies and military instruction play an important part in the turning out of the graduate. The Air Force wants the man to be a proficient pilot, but also requires that he first of all be an officer, who can readily assume responsibility. After leaving this base, the graduates become second lieutenants and take their places as officer-pilots in the Air Force and are assigned to stations all over the world.

The only other base in the USAF giving similar training in multi-engine craft, is located at Enid, Okla.

NEW TYPE TEST TO BE USED

Tuberculin Testing Program To Start In Schools Here Monday

Under sponsorship of Lubbock County Tuberculosis association, the annual tuberculin testing program will be held in Lubbock city schools, beginning Monday.

All students of the first, sixth and 12th grades with permission slips signed by parents will be tested. Application of tests will be made by Mrs. Bobbie McLeod, nurse for the association, and nurses of the city and county school systems and the City-County Department of Public Health and other nurses.

Members of Parent-Teacher associations will assist.

New Test Will Be Used

Dr. Arthur Jenkins will instruct nurses in correct application of the tests Monday morning at the association office.

A new type tuberculin test will be tried this year. It was developed by Dr. H. J. Corper in the research department of the National Jewish hospital in Denver. It is called the Plasto test and is applied to the skin by a wooden applicator stick, forming a plastic coating. Patches were applied under the former method.

The Tuberculosis association expressed hopes the test would eliminate the number of retests necessary with former type of patches, which sometimes became loosened or lost.

Results To Be Read Friday

The Plasto test is to be kept dry and the test coating left in place 48 hours. If, however, a marked reaction becomes visible through the film, the coating may be removed. If no reaction is noticed at the end of 48 hours, the patch may be left for additional time.

The film is to be removed by peeling or washing with acetone or alcohol.

Results of tests will be read in the schools by doctors Friday.

Reactions will be interpreted as positive, negative or doubtful. In case of a doubtful reaction, the test is repeated. If the reaction is positive, the parents will be advised to have the child's chest x-rayed.

Nine-Year-Old Beaumont Boy Dies In Louisiana Car Crash

BEAUMONT, Oct. 1. (AP)—Earl Wade Anderson, 9, of Beaumont, was killed last night in an auto crash near Oberlin, La.

The boy was one of 11 passengers in a car driven by his father, G. F. Anderson. Anderson told state police the lights of an approaching car blinded him. The car struck a horse and crashed into a tree.

Three others were hospitalized in Lake Charles, La. The party was enroute to Glenmore, La., at the time of the accident.

Sale Of Safety Seals By Legion Members Begins Here Monday

Safety in the home, on the streets, and at work will be stressed through the annual sale of safety seals by the Allen Bros. Post - American Legion beginning Monday.

Forty-six different suggestions for safety are included in the messages presented by the seals, designed for use on letters and packages. Proceeds will be used for welfare and safety work by the local post.

The seventh annual sale of the stamps is conducted by the veterans' organization, composed of men "who know what it means to be hurt and who know that no sacrifice is too great if it will reduce the useless waste of life," Wayne Groce, post commander, asserted Saturday.

"We hope that every resident of this area will support us in this safety campaign," Groce continued. A two-fold result will be obtained, he declared, since persons buying the stamps will not only spread the message of safety, but the money will be used for various worthy causes.

Sales headquarters for the seal campaign will be the post hall, 910 Texas Avenue. Persons desiring further information may contact Groce or Jack Hall, service officer. Bert Starnes is in charge of the sales and may be reached at the post, phone 2-3675.

Lubbock Cafeterias Explained In Article

"Cafeterias by the Dozen —and Then Some" is the title of the article on school cafeterias in Lubbock in the October issue of The Nation's Schools, foremost educational magazine. The article was written by Mrs. Dora Nell Carroll, director of cafeterias, and Mrs. Ross Ayers, with architectural drawings by Haynes and Kirby, Lubbock architects, and five photographs taken by Reeves.

The article gives an account of the installation of five master kitchens and nineteen school lunchrooms in the schools of Lubbock. It tells of Lubbock's unique experience of opening and setting into operation fourteen of its cafeterias in fourteen months and how modern practices and modern equipment were combined for service from the start of school cafeterias.

Advantages of the staggered lunch period, begun in Lubbock from the first cafeterias, are enumerated. Operation of the five master kitchens is also explained, along with interesting facts for other administrators and cafeteria directors on the number of children served per man hour, labor costs, and percentage of enrollment served.

Textile Department Head Leaves Today To Visit England

L. E. Parsons, head of the textile engineering department at Texas Technological college, will leave Lubbock today for a three-week visit to England with nine other textile school deans.

Trips to British industrial cotton and other textile mills will be the main function of the trip, designated to broaden knowledge of textile educational concepts.

The group will leave the United States Thursday aboard the Queen Elizabeth to become the guests of the Cotton Board of Manchester and attend the Harrogate meetings of British textile manufactures. Keynote of the sessions will be "The Cotton Manufacturing Industry in a Changing World."

Visit In France Set

A brief visit across the English channel to France is also on the agenda for the deans, who are largely financing the trip themselves, with supplementary aid from various textile firms, individuals, and organizations.

A large number of British educators and members of textile school faculties as well as manufacturers will accompany the American delegation when they are the guests of Sir Raymond Street, chairman of the Cotton Board at Buxton.

This is the first time in 17 semi-annual meetings that the American deans have crossed the Atlantic for sessions. Previous meetings have been held at various cities between New Orleans and Quebec, Canada.

Papers by British and American educators on such topics as "The Place of Research in Textile Schools," will be presented during this meeting. General purpose of the papers will be to acquaint the textile leaders with methods and principles employed in several systems.

Parsons will travel farther than any of the other deans to attend the meeting, since Tech is the only textile school west of the Mississippi. He expects to return to Lubbock around Oct. 23.

A MEMORY BOOK OF PROGRESS OF LUBBOCK AND THE SOUTH PLAINS
1873 — 1949

Maps published as late as the 1850's showed the South Plains as a portion of the vast area between the Missouri Mississippi rivers and the Rocky Mountains known as the "Great American Desert." The popular imagination pictured it as a wasteland comparable to the Sahara of Africa or the Gobi of Asia.

This fallacy persisted for a long time — until relatively recent years. Indeed, it lingers in some degree now.

The first visitors to the South Plains knew differently, of course. They saw the luxuriant native vegetation and the abundance of game. They found innumerable springs bubbling from the walls of the Caprock and other breaks in the Plains terrain. They concluded, and quickly confirmed, that well water would be obtained at shallow depths.

History does not record just who dug the first well in this area. Probably it was the first settler who came to this region to make his home. But, regardless of who it was, he was the first to tap one of the largest natural reserves of underground water now known to exist on the American continent.

HOUSE GROUP BLOCKS ACTION

Truman Urges Legislation To Subsidize Scientific Research

By FELIX COTTEN
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—President Truman is applying intensive pressure for passage of legislation to subsidize scientific research to bolster national defense.

The House Rules committee at present is blocking a bill which would establish a national science foundation for such basic research.

House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) revealed today that a renewed attempt would be made to obtain from the adamant committee a rule permitting the measure to be brought up on the House floor for passage.

Legislation Blocked

The President has continued to insist in private conferences with House members that the bill is needed urgently to keep the United States in the forefront of scientific progress.

But, despite the President's pleas, to both Democratic and Republican leaders, the all-powerful Rules committee has refused to give the legislation the green light.

The leader in the fight against the measure is Rep. Wadsworth (R-NY) who contends that the U. S. is gaining now in the scientific research race and that government expansion and rising taxpayer costs must stop.

Action Claimed Vital

Rayburn said he thought the Rules committee will reconsider its refusal to grant the bill a rule, despite the insistence of committee opponents that their action last Tuesday was final. At that time the committee pigeonholed the bill by a 5 to 4 vote.

The speaker described the legislation as "tremendously important at this time." Although he added that the fact Russia has achieved an atomic explosion "makes no difference."

The bill, which has powerful backing from a number of scientists, would promote basic scientific research through government subsidies. This would be done through special contract arrangements, scholarships and fellowships, and the like.

Concerts, Operas Scheduled To Provide Fall Entertainment For Tech Programs

Season tickets go on sale Monday for admission to eight presentations this year by the Texas Technological college artist course group, featuring world-known pianists, soloists, violinists, and operas.

Beginning with a piano concert Oct. 18 by Texas-born Jacques Abram in the Lubbock High school auditorium, the eight presentations will charge $7.50 for season tickets. Single admission will be $1.80 to non-students. Season ducats may be bought at the Adair Music company, according to R. A. Mills, head of the artists course.

Two Open As Slated

Abram's recital will be followed Nov. 15 and 16 with a Charles L. Wagner production of the operas "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "I Pagliacci." Licia Albanese, Metropolitan soprano will appear in recital Dec. 6 and Jan Peerce, Met tenor Feb. 23.

Peerce will be closely followed March 6 by Russian-born Igor Gorin, concert and opera baritone, and March 27 by the famous Vitya Vronsky and Victor Babin piano team. Violinist Isaac Stern will wind up the year's presentations on April 24.

Born in Lufkin, Abram's piano career began in 1938, highlighted that year by an appearance in Carnegie hall. His first public recital had come long before that, however, when as an eight-year-old boy he had rushed backstage after a Houston concert by pianist Ernest Hutcheson to ask for a chance to play.

Large Cast Included

Hutcheson agreed and many of those present were re-seated when he announced there would be a second recital. Local papers carried the boy's name in headlines alongside the established star the following day.

The operatic double bill, "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "I Pagliacci" ("Rustic Cavalier" and "The Players"), which is scheduled for a two-night stand Nov. 15 and 16, will include a company of 80 persons. This year marks the tenth season Wagner has produced a traveling opera and the second in succession in which he presents a twin bill.

Both productions to be staged here have been termed quite similar in many respects and actually termed the "ham and eggs" of the opera business. Nearly 60 years old, the operas were both immediate hits upon their composition and, oddly enough, are the only successes turned out by their respective authors. Both deal with the lives, loves and death of simple Italian peasants.

Peerce To Appear

Songs in Italian, French, Spanish and English will be included in Licia Albanese's recital Dec. 6. The prima donna soprano of the Metropolitan opera was born in Italy and became an American citizen in 1945, after her American debut in 1940 in "Madame Butterfly." She is heard each Saturday afternoon on the weekly Treasure Hour of Song.

Famous for his recording of Bluebird of Happiness, Jan Peerce, the Feb. 23 presentation by the artists course, is recognized as one of the nation's foremost Metropolitan tenors. He has appeared twelve times within the last decade as soloist under Arturo Toscanini, who has called him his "favorite tenor."

Ukranian-born Igor Gorin, slated for a March 6 baritone recital, knew America only through the movies when he decided to come here from the Vienna Conservatory of music after hearing Adolph Hitler speak in the 1930's. He has since become widely known as a concert, opera, and radio star, having been granted American citizenship in 1940.

Termed by Newsweek magazine as "the most brilliant two-piano team of our generation," Vronsky and Babin, who are actually man and wife, were also born in Russia but have since become American citizens.

The Babin's now call Santa Fe, N. M., their home. They made their American debut in 1937 at Town Hall in New York and have toured widely in Europe and the United States.

Twenty-eight-year-old Isaac Stern will complete the artist course presentations with a violin recital April 24. Making his New York debut in 1937, Stern has since toured the United States in concert six times, after giving a Carnegie hall appearance and gaining recognition for the first time in 1943.

Stern has appeared with almost all major symphony orchestras in the nation. He was brought to this country from Russia by his parents at the age of one.

All of the season's artists productions will begin at 8 p. m. in the high school auditorium, according to Mills. Texas Tech students will be admitted free upon presentation of their activity tickets.

Hopes Fade For Early Settlement

among such features as wages, pensions and insurance.

Stockholders Notified

All these proposals have been rejected by U. S. Steel, which sets the wage pattern for the industry.

U. S. Steel officials said there would be no reply to Murray's statements.

In his letter to U. S. Steel stockholders, Olds repeated the company's contention that the employes should share the cost of any social security program.

The iron and steel supply will last three weeks or a month—time enough for the CIO United Steelworkers and the industry to settle their dispute over who should pay for an insurance and pension program.

Strike Is Orderly

The industry insists the workers should help pay the bill; the union says the plan should be paid by the industry alone.

President Philip Murray called the walkout officially last midnight.

Some plants were picketed. Some weren't.

There was no violence—a decided change in this industry where a strike once meant skulls would be cracked and blood would flow.

The shutdown was almost complete.

A few plants have come to terms with the union, a few have contracts which don't expire until later, and a few—such as Weirton Steel company with 12,000 workers—have independent unions.

Stock Reaction Slight

Corn cribs, for instance.

The agriculture department said it hoped fabricators who make storage bins had enough steel on hand to finish the job.

The bins must be ready by Nov. 1.

The largest user of steel is the auto industry. Ford, General Motors and Chrysler report they have enough to run three to four weeks.

The stock market, that sensitive reporter of trends, seemed to indicate the strike wouldn't last long. U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic fell off only 1/2 point.

Here in Pittsburgh, the world's steel capital, some plants were not picketed; others had only a few.

The strikers got some international help. The 50,000 members of the Canadian branch of the CIO United Steelworkers will support the strike.

Other Contracts In Force

Another 500,000 steelworkers—those who take the iron and steel and turn it into everything from refrigerators to hairpins—are still on the job.

Their contracts run out between Oct. 15 and Dec. 1. These companies will be presented with the same demands handed the basic steel industries.

Even if these fabricating companies accept the union's terms, it meant nothing unless the basic steel dispute is settled. For they soon would run out of raw steel and be forced to close.

A White House report said President Truman does not plan to intervene.

This means Murray and the steel companies will have to work out the settlement themselves. There are no plans now to get together again.

In line with a presidential fact finding board report, Murray has asked for a company paid insurance and pension program. This would cost the companies 10 cents for each hour worked.

Murray says that to ask the workers to help pay for pensions and insurance would be, in effect, a pay cut.

Four basic steel plants are operating. They are Portsmouth (Ohio) Steel company, Alleghany-Ludlum Steel corp., Kaiser company and Harrisburg Steel co. Together they use 21,500 men.

Some scattered plants, such as Weirton, which have independent unions.

Those plants struck:

Fifty-three basic steel companies and 50 iron ore mining firms in 27 steel-producing states. Their total employment: 513,000.

treaty, Tito replied, makes it certain the Russians are organizing "a propaganda witchhunt of lies and slander against Yugoslavia unparalleled in its fury."

Indications were that Czechoslovakia soon would join the parade of Communits nations breaking off the mutual aid treaties. It appeared that Russia and her Cominform partners were building up toward a full break in diplomatic relations.

Insults Charged

All the Cominform nations — Tito's note called them countries upon which Russia imposed unequal relations — are expected to follow Russia's example in this heightening world war. Hungary and Poland did so yesterday.

Tito's reply to Russia made

1. The USSR used "insults" and threats, followed by demonstrative Soviet troop movements" on the borders of Yugoslavia in an attempt to intimidate the Yugoslav people.

2. The USSR tried to organize its agents within the Yugoslav army and government in an attempt to overthrow the Tito regime and this constituted "rank interference" with a sovereign nation.

3. The USSR deliberately engineered the trial in Hungary of Laszlo Rajk, that country's former Communist police boss who has been condemned to death, as a means of slandering Yugoslavia's government.

4. Russia's Stalin reneged on his explicit promise in an address of Nov. 6, 1941, in which he said "there can be no interference in the internal affairs of other peoples."

Light Plane Endurance Fliers Near Setting New World Record

YUMA, Oct. 1 (INS) — At 11 p.m. (MST) today endurance flyers Bob Woodhouse and Woody Jongeward had 94 hours to go to better the world's flight record of 1,008 hours for light planes.

The two former Navy flyers expected to shatter the existing endurance record next Wednesday at 7:15 p.m. (MST).

mous adoption of resolutions praising the late Gov. Beauford H. Jester and Secretary Tom L. Tyson for their public services and their devotion to the party.

J. E. Wheat of Woodville, close friend of Gov. Allan Shivers, was named secretary to succeed Tyson. The committee also voted to hold its next meeting at McAllen some time in February, and sent telegrams commending President Truman and Vice President Alben W. Barkley for their leadership. A proposed resolution deploring splinter parties was never formally introduced.

Committee Merry

Morrow himself appeared before the committee twice: Once at a breakfast and again at the formal meeting. He commended the federal housing program and this led Chairman John C. Calhoun to begin a series of quips that set the tone of the gay session.

"The New Deal is coming into its own when you get men like Wright Morrow to advocate federal housing," he said. "The party is safe. The New Deal is taking on him—his vaccination is showing."

This brought howls from the committee, some of whose members at times had questioned Morrow's party allegiance. Morrow has repeatedly affirmed his party loyalty, but has not been known as a New Dealer.

Strong Party Urged

In his breakfast speech, Morrow urged Texas Democrats to keep the party strong so that it might move forward on a constructive basis. It was a speech, he said, in which he wished to make a "plain statement" of how he felt about the party in Texas and the nation.

"The Democratic party is the party of the Constitution," Morrow said. "It embraces the ideals and hopes to us all. The Democratic party can be strong or weak depending on what we do and how we work and how we fulfill our duties as citizens and members of the party.

"Let us invigorate it with our own strength, with our own personality."

Morrow said it was his purpose to do all he could to "bring the Texas Democratic party forward to uphold the administration and to carry on the ideals of the party."

Tooth Decay Cut

six-year-olds who had been on fluorinated water half their lives.

Dr. Taylor and others first discovered the value of fluorine in Deaf Smith county, in West Texas. Deaf Smith county water naturally contains fluorine. Native residents of the county have almost no decayed teeth.

500 Children Tested

But that wasn't good enough for the scientists. To get acceptable figures—and to prove it's fluorine that does the trick—the State Health department chose Marshall as its testing ground. It picked Jacksonville, about 60 miles southwest of here, as the control point.

Both East Texas cities have the same sort of water supply. Neither supply contains natural fluorine.

When the test began, Taylor and his helpers picked 500 children who had lived here since birth in each city.

In each town, the testers found nearly eight decayed teeth per child 41 months ago.

Then they added enough sodium fluroide to Marshall's water to make one part of fluorine to each million parts of water. Jacksonvill agreed to keep fluorine out of its water.

While Marshall's rate of decay dropped sharply with the treated water, Dr. Taylor said, Jacksonville's stayed about the same.

All this time, similar, independent tests were being made by health officials at Newburgh, N.Y.; Grand Rapids, Mich., and Brantford, Ont., Canada.

The results at each of those places checked closely with results here, Dr. Taylor said.

He said the health department first worked out its percentage figures on the effectiveness of fluorine here one year ago, after the test had been going on 29 months. The doctors couldn't believe their figures, he said. They decided to try it another year.

The figures didn't change. The doctors' opinion did.

Dr. Taylor came here today with Dr. F. B. Wiebusch and Miss Carolyn Cocke of the dental division to announce the results.

But now what's going to happen to Jacksonville, the city that agreed to keep its water just plain water?

Dr. Taylor said the health department hopes Jacksonville will decide to go on that way—so the program can be tested at even greater length.

But, he said, the health department's contract with Jacksonville says that any time the city decides it wants to bathe its teeth in more healthful water, it can notify the department and call off the deal.

Fund For Infant

at nearly $400 Saturday, but the cash contributions sent to The Avalanche-Journal, together with the Salvation Army guarantee, removes that worry from their mind.

Parents Express Thanks

However, Williams said last night that he would arrange to make payments for any portion of the hospital bill not covered by contributions.

Capt. Tom Gregory, Salvation Army commanding officer, said that while hospital funds of his organization are exhausted, the Salvation Army would stand by the child and meet bills not paid for by the gift fund.

"There aren't words to thank these people enough," the father said when informed of the outpouring of generosity. "We think it's pretty wonderful. Lubbock has been more than nice to us."

The Williams family came here from Fort Smith, Ark., about six weeks ago. The parents, with three other children, live in "Trailertown" on the Plainview highway. The father works 12-hour shifts, seven days a week, for the Lubbock Cotton Oil Mill.

Billie Eugene spent most of Saturday out from under the oxygen tent that has kept him alive the past two weeks. He suffers from periodic blueness apparently caused by faulty circulation. Physicians believe his lungs are not fully expanded in addition to the heart condition.

Dr. Donaldson said last night that the child currently has a high temperature, and that the Galveston trip would be delayed until the fever is curbed. He said the trip might be made Monday or Tuesday, possibly later.

The Salvation Army came into the case when it was learned that the family had not been here the required six months to come under the provisions of the city-county welfare program.

Contributions for the infant came in although The Morning Avalanche story explaining the case Saturday did not announce a fund-raising campaign.

Wally Jackson, 10-year-old son of Mrs. T. B. Simpson, of 1715 Ave. G, came to the newspaper office early Saturday morning with $11.35 he had collected from friends and neighbors.

Mrs. C. T. Links, of 322 Ave. H, came in with $35 she had collected from 38 persons in two hours Saturday morning.

One anonymous contributor came to the newspaper office and said he wanted to give $5. While change was being made for his $20 bill, he changed his mind and hiked his gift to $10. There was one other donor asking that his name be withheld.

Other contributors were W. D. McClain, Miss Ruth Norton, Mrs. Alma Wilson, Mrs. W. W. Leach, Mrs. B. M. Stribling, Frank Rogers, Mrs. B. L. hundred thousands of tons of coal."

The authors left unmentioned the obvious value of harnessing a fuel which might eliminate the heavy loading of airplanes with gasoline and permit almost unlimited ranges for submarines and ships without refueling.

The proposed report made it clear, however, that a tremendous gamble is involved. Discussing the reactor program, it said:

"The results may conceivably range anywhere from startling progress to expensive radiation accidents, or even both."

NEWS BRIEFS

William A. Skaggs, 20, of Portsmouth, O., who was seriously hurt when struck by two cars while crossing a downtown street Friday night, late Saturday was reported in "fairly good" condidtion in West Texas hospital. The youth suffered a broken collar-bone and breaks of the left shoulder, left arm and left leg when he was struck by a taxicab, then hurtled into the path of another car at Broadway and Ave. N.

City firemen answered two alarms Saturday afternoon: from Kimbro courts on East Broadway, where a fire was out on arrival; and from near the intersection of the railway and Plainview-Clovis highway cutoff. There was slight damage, firemen said.

bock negro, was taken into custody by sheriff's officers on a charge of check law violation. Lyons is alleged to have passed a $10 worthless check at Montgomery Ward's Friday.

A 23-year-old Tech student was lodged in county jail on a charge of failure to leave information at the scene of an accident shortly after his car was reportedly involved in a minor collision at Thirty-fourth and Ave. P.

Highway patrolmen who made the arrest said the young man's car had skidded into another vehicle, then had driven off. The front license plate of the student's car was found at the scene of the accident, officers said.

Young county officials accepted custody of Hobard Wickens, 17, of Kansas City, Mo., and left with him for Graham. The youth, arrested here Friday morning after wrecking a pickup truck, has been charged with theft of the vehicle there, it was announced. He told arresting authorities he was under parole growing out of a burglary conviction in Kansas.

The following county court judgments were taken, officials said:

Charles E. Rucker, about 23, $15 and costs, check law violation; B. L. Rhoderick, about 32, $200 and costs, liquor law violation; Harold Long, a negro, $350 and costs, violation Aug. 6 of liquor laws; and T. G. Sims $400 and costs, violation of liquor law July 31

The UMW miners refused to work after payments under the union's welfare fund were suspended. The fund's trustees — they include Lewis — said the money nearly had run out because southern operators failed to pay their 20-cents-a-ton royalty.

UMW and northern and western operators representatives met, to no avail, at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. They have been haggling since last June over a new contract.

Violence which flared sporadically during the week dried up.

El Paso City Government Splits Over Dismissing Police Officers

EL PASO, Oct. 1 (AP)—El Paso's city government was badly shaken Saturday after the entire city council demanded that Mayor Dan Duke dismiss the three top-ranking police officials for having failed to act to stop gambling.

When Mayor Duke refused the demands, the council threatened grand jury action and has asked an investigation by the civil service commission. Two of the council members were elected with Duke last spring and the two others are from the previous administration.

Fair Attendance Is Impressive

a close, officials already were planning a bigger and better exposition in 1950. The planning necessarily is in a nebulous stage, but association president Neil H. Wright, jr., said high priority will be given the effort to stimulate interest in the livestock departments.

In 1948, the agricultural exhibits were below par—due in considerable degree to unfavorable growing conditions.

Fair association officials concentrated this year upon trying to arouse more interest in the agricultural department. As a result, farm exhibits were the finest ever shown in this portion of the southwest. This showing was credited, in some degree, to the unusually favorable growing conditions. But stimulated interest also had much to do with the excellent displays in the agricultural building.

Officials of the fair association expressed confidence that something of similar nature can be accomplished for the livestock departments next year. Contributing to their optimism is the prospect that livestock feeding on South Plains farms on a large scale will result from the virtually assured cotton acreage controls.

Although the last day crowd was large—particularly last night, it was orderly. No disturbances of consequence were reported to police either during the day or during the week.

Attendances at both grandstand events Saturday were disappointing, although they were up to average for the current fair. The stands were about half filled—they hold 4,000 spectators—for the Lucky Lott "Hell Drivers" during the afternoon and for the musical revue, "A Trip to Wonderland," at night.

Most of the visitors remained late on the Forsythe & Dowis carnival midway, which closed another satisfactory engagement at the local fairs. The exhibit buildings also were well patronized—particularly the third annual Panhandle-South Plains rabbit and cavy show.

Crowd Of 120,000 Gathers For Parade At Tyler Rose Festival

TYLER, Oct. 1. (AP)— Fragrant roses of many hues, smiling beauties and October's bright blue weather gave a perfect setting today for one of the main events of Tyler's rose festival.

A colorful parade made up of rose-decked floats, marching bands and prancing ponies was witnessed by an estmiated 120,000.

All agreed it was a spectacle worth driving miles to see.

Heading the line of march was Texas' smiling Governor Allan Shivers and the state's first lady.

Crowds strolled through the cut flowers exhibition in downtown Tyler and made tours into the mammoth rose fields that perfume the countryside.

The day ended with the rose ball.

The three-day festival will close tomorrow.

"semi-modern."

"A man enclosed in four walls doesn't have much opportunity to keep up with all the trends," he said.

He said he has studied musical theory and composition off and on and used to play the piano, accordion and organ before he got out of practice in prison.

Grandstaff said all his convictions have been for burglary, larceny or receiving stolen property. He said he had done time in the Michigan state prison, the Wisconsin prison, a workhouse in Buffalo, N. Y., and the Texas state prison.

He was sent to the Tennessee prison in 1939 as an habitual criminal.

Grandstaff said there is no such thing as an habitual criminal. "Most any man can change," he said.

He did not say he had changed, and he said there was no chance for him to receive a full pardon.

Mayor G. W. Dabney and about 150 other officials and citizens met him at the airport here.

In Nashville, Prison Warden Glenn Swafford pumped his hand in farewell. "It's wonderful—really wonderful," said Grandstaff, peering at the warden through rimless glasses.

"Now, be careful," said the warden to the slightly stooped prisoner, enjoying the first freedom he has experienced since he was sent up from Memphis nine years ago under the habitual criminal law.

"I will, sir," he replied quietly.

The party made an early afternoon stop in Dallas. "I sure am glad to be back in Texas," Grandstaff said.

He was once a piano salesman in West Texas. He said that—except for court appearances—he hadn't been outside prison walls since Dec. 6, 1939. "That's a mighty long time," said Grandstaff.

Grandstaff will be guest as the citizens of Big Spring hold their celebration.

He will remain at night under a "partial guard" and during the day will be with Phillips. Next Thursday or Friday he will be returned to prison.

And after that?

There was an undercurrent of talk among his Texas friends of asking the Tennessee governor to give Grandstaff a full pardon. That's the only way he could escape spending the rest of his life at the penitentiary.

Bootlegger Suspect Sought By Police

Lubbock Police last night launched a city-wide search for a bootlegger suspect who fled amid a hail of police bullets as officers who had surprised him while delivering whiskey grappled with the man's "customer."

Four shots were fired at the man who fled in a 1941 Plymouth later recovered, by police along with a gun.

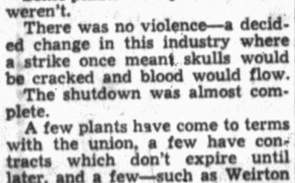

Patrolmen J. M. Clark and Cecil Dickey who had attempted to arrest the bootlegger after police had been tipped to the delivery earlier, gave this account of the affair:

The patrolmen, on arriving at the address supplied by the informant about 9:50 p.m. found the bootlegger and the occupant of the house arguing. The bootlegger had four four-fifth quarts of whiskey.

The officers told the bootlegger he was under arrest, and at that point the customer objected and began grappling with the officers, enabling the bootlegger to get to his car. There, Dickey said, the man drew an automatic pistol. The two patrolmen ducked behind a car, and the man sped off. Later, the bootlegger's car and gun were found abandoned.

To guard against hoof and mouth disease, Erie is prohibiting landing of goods there packed in hay, straw or peat moss litter.

Youth Admits Attack On Girl

BLANCHESTER, O., Oct. 1 (AP)—A 16-year-old ex-reform school inmate, Martin Snell, confessed today that he raped a young girl in the shadow of church steps last night and coldly shot and killed a policeman who came to her aid, Prosecutor George L. Schilling said.

Schilling said first degree murder charges would be filed against Snell for the killing of Patrolman Burdette Lee, 45.

Snell admitted that he committed criminal assault on the 13-year-old girl after forcing her to accompany him to the Methodist church from a gay street carnival a short distance away where most of the townspeople were frolicking.

The youth, who spent nine months in the boys' industrial school for larceny, was held in Clinton county jail. He is the son of Roy Snell, Wilmington.

The alleged killer told police he met the girl and her eight-year-old sister as they were leaving the carnival. He sent the younger girl home displaying a gun, forced the older girl to walk to the church with him.

He said he threatened to shoot the girl unless she went without causing trouble. The younger sister rushed home and her parents called the police.

Patrolman Lee discovered Snell and the girl in the darkness of the church steps and ordered them to come out. The youth lunged out and during a scuffle drew a .22 automatic and fired seven times at Lee. Three of the shots hit the patrolman.

Raiders Grind Out 35 To 19 Win Over WTSC

BY JOE KELLY
Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor

Ability to move consistently behind the hard running of a score of backs gave Texas Tech's Red Raiders a 35-19 victory over the Buffaloes of West Texas State college last night in Jones Stadium before a crowd of approximately 16,800, who saw a wide open game in the 14th renewal of the old rivalry.

The Raiders jumped into the lead after seven minutes of play when Cal Steveson of Brownfield climaxed a 52-yard march with a 19-yard run good for the initial score. Halfback Tim Hatch calmly booted the first of his five successful conversions and the Raiders led 7-0.

Conley Goes Over

Exactly six minutes later Fullback Bud Conley plunged over from the one-yard line for Tech's second score and the Raiders went into a lead they never gave up, although pressed badly by the Buffs for the remaining 47 minutes of the game.

Other backs took over the burden of scoring, spearheaded by Fullback Earl Jackson's brilliant 50-yard run on the first play of the second quarter. In the third stanza, Halfback Bobby Close took a seven-yard pass from Quarterback Milton Rathbone to score and in the final canto, End Elbert Johnson caught a 12-yard aerial from Rathbone for the last Raider marker.

The Buffs made the game a little too interesting from a Tech standpoint. They roared back from a 21-0 deficit to march 58 yards for a counter, with Fullback Bill Cross pounding five yards over tackle. Junior Melton converted and the Buffs trailed with almost six minutes gone.

Buffs Pound 58 Yards

Late in the same quarter the Buffs pounded another 58 yards to cut Tech's lead to 21-13 at the half. Quarterback Gene Mayfield pitched to End Charley Kitchens, who took the ball in the end zone for the score. Melton's kick was wide.

Tech chalked up the only score of the third period when, with 12 minutes gone, Rathbone hit Close in the right end zone to run Tech's lead up to 28-13.

Five plays after the final stanza opened, the Buffs went 26 yards for their final marker, with Mayfield going over from the two on a quarterback sneak. Again Melton's kick was wide, after Ernest Hawkins had blocked the first attempt and Tech was penalized for holding.

WTSC Fights Hard

The Raiders were in a marching mood last night. They went 52 yards on eight plays for their first score; 64 yards on 10 plays for their second tally; picked up their third on Jackson's great 50-yard romp; went 70 yards on 12 plays for their fourth score; and punched over their final tally on a 59 yard parade in 10 plays.

It was a battling West Texas team that they had to beat last night, a team that didn't know when it was beaten. Mayfield was a constant threat with his passing, while Cross and Charley Wright were a pair of hard-running backs that Tech found hard to stop.

Tech dominated play in the first quarter, failed to enter Buff territory in the second, when the visitors commanded the action, took back leadership in the third and traded action in the fourth.

Both Flub Opportunities

West Texas and Tech both flubbed scoring opportunities in the fourth stanza and both were on passes. Mayfield hit Back Joe Ogden in the open on the Tech 10, but Ogden dropped the ball. Later, when Tech was on its touchdown drive, Johnson dropped a perfect pass from Rathborne when he also was in the clear on the Buff 10.

The Buffs almost hit pay dirt again in the fourth quarter, when End John Cardinal recovered a fumble by an unidentified Tech-san on the Raider 25 following the kickoff by West Texas after their third score. Five plays carried the ball to the Raider one-yard line, but the Buffs were offside and penalized to the six. On the first play, Mayfield fumbled and Guard Dan Pursel and Earl Jackson covered the ball.

That was the last threat by the Buffs. Halfback Ike Stuver punt-

Yanks Beat Bosox; Cards, Brooks Lose

Red Sox Lose 5 To 4 Game

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. (AP)— Big Johnny Lindell's 400-foot blast into the gaping customers in left field in the eighth inning today shot the New York Yankees into a tie for the American league lead with one game to go on a throbbing 5-4 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Lindell's awesome clout off Joe Dobson backed up another eye-filling relief job by fireman Joe Page who once again stopped the brawny Red Sox in a 6 2/3 innings chore.

SOX-YANKS ON AIR

Radio Station KCBD, in conjunction with the Liberty Broadcasting System, will bring the Boston Red Sox-New York Yankee baseball game to the listening audience today at 1 p. m. KCBD cleared its afternoon schedule to bring the game, which will decide the American League race, to the public.

Trailing 4-0 in the early innings, the plucky Yanks made Joe DiMaggio Day an afternoon long to be remembered by the 69,551 present by erupting against Mel Parnell in a game-tying rally. Two big hits by Jolting Joe helped chase Boston's 25-game winner.

Now it all hangs on one game, to be played tomorrow in the Yankee Stadium.

Raschi May Start

Vic Raschi (20-10) is due to be the Yanks' best bet for the big money game that will decide the league's World Series entrant. Marse Joe McCarthy of the Red Sox is expected to start Ellis Kinder, his 23-game winner with 13 consecutive victories.

The Yanks were trailing 4-0, in the fourth with DiMaggio, who struck out in the first inning, leading off, Joe sliced a drive that bounced into the right field seats for a double and the Yank revival had started. Before the inning was over, a pair of singles by Hank Bauer and Lindell and a fly by Jerry Coleman sliced the Sox's lead in half.

Page Invincible

Again the fifth, after Parnell retired in favor of Joe Dobson with the score 4-3 it was Joe D. rapping a single off Dobson's glove that loaded the bases with one out. Eventually they tied the score when Billy Johnson banged into a double-play, letting in Tom Henrich with the fourth run.

Page Walked Al Zarilla and Billy Goodman with the bases loaded in the third forcing across the last two runs for Boston.

After that he was invincible.

Missouri Bows To SMU, 28 To 27

DALLAS, Oct. 1. (AP)—Doak Walker piloted a blistering Southern Methodist ground offensive to a thrill-a-minute 28-27 victory over Missouri tonight.

The great Walker not only was the game's leading yards-gainer but he made three touchdowns and kicked four extra points.

A crowd of 58,000 roared as witnesses to one of the wildest offensive games ever played in the southwest.

Southern Methodist had to come from behind but did it in big league fashion. Spotting Missouri a touchdown in the first quarter, Walker got the Methodists going in the second period and SMU led 14-7 at the half.

Southern Methodist never was behind from then on but in the fading minutes the Tigers missed a chance to gain a tie when burly Jack Halliday, SMU guard, crashed through to block John Glorioso's try for extra point.

It was Missouri's second straight one-point defeat. Last week the Tigers lost to Ohio State, 35-34.

Southern Methodist, known as a passing team, used the overhead sparingly. Instead, the Methodists rolled along the ground for an awesome 284 yards with only 66 in the air.

Missouri whipped out 206 yards rushing and 99 passing.

Walker vied with Dick Braznell of Missouri for individual honors and won out. Doak made 105 yards rushing and passed for 68. Brazzell got 114 on the ground and 41 in the air.

BAKER, LUTHERAN TIE

SEGUIN, Oct. 1. (AP)—Daniel Baker college and Texas Lutheran battled to a 6-6 tie tonight, both scores coming in the final period. Texas Lutheran tallied first, on a 35 yard run by Marvin Stephens. Ed Cantwell passed to Ed Willingham for the Hillbillies' touchdown.

Phils Gain 6-4 Victory

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1. (INS)—The Brooklyn Dodgers booted a chance to clinch the National league pennant today when they lost to the Philadelphia Phillies, 6 to 4.

However, the Dodgers were assured of at least a tie for the flag as St. Louis also lost at Chicago, 3 to 1.

Brooks Blow Lead

The Dodgers jumped off to a 3-0 lead, blew it, pulled even again at 4-all then lost when the Phillies scored twice in the eighth.

Had they won, the Dodgers would have claimed the pennant.

By losing, they prolonged the Cardinals' chances until tomorrow's windup of the schedule. Only a combination of another Brooklyn loss and a St. Louis victory can give the Cards even a share in the lead.

If that should happen, a three-game playoff is scheduled, beginning in St. Louis.

A dramatic series of homeruns won for the Phils. The payoff in the eighth was a two-run circuit smash by third sacker Willie Jones.

Before that, Del Ennis had homered with a mate aboard and Andy Seminick had followed with another roundtripper to put the Quakers ahead in the sixth.

Branca Good Till Fifth

Those two clouts finished Ralph Branca, the starting Dodger hurler, who had been called from Manager Barney Shotton's doghouse to try to clinch the flag.

Branca was going great guns until the fifth. Philadelphia got its first run then, but the Dodgers still led, 3 to 1, thanks to Luis Olmo and Duke Snider.

Snider drove Luis home twice with a double and single.

Ken Heintzelman started for the Phils. He gave way to Robin Roberts in the fifth with Curt Simmons coming on the next inning.

Simmons was tagged for the tying run in the top of the eighth, but then Manager Eddie Sawyer's ace reliefer, Jim Konstanty, hog-tied the Dodgers.

Between the Lines by Joe Kelly

There was a great to do in the San Antonio papers last week about Texas Tech and Texas A&M taking their annual grid game to Dallas. At that time there was nothing definite, but it had been no secret for months that there was that possibility. We reported the proposed move, although it was tempered with the announcement that Tech officials would rather see the game played on a home and home basis. And Tech officials believe that, deep down underneath, Aggie officials also want the game on the home and home basis.

Now that it has been announced officially that the game will be played in the Cotton Bowl in 1951, San Antonio is left high and dry. Not even the scheduling of Nevada as a foe of the Aggies in San Antonio can recapture the color of the Aggie-Raider game. It was always a good game, no matter what the score was, and alumnae of both schools enjoyed the opportunity to get together, either singly or in groups. Now that has been washed by the boards. The shift to the Cotton Bowl does give both colleges a chance to realize more profit. The Alamo Stadium, despite the fact that it is a beautiful arena, never was filled and couldn't hold over 24,000 at most. It's highly doubtful that the Tech-Aggie game will come close to filling the Cotton Bowl, but at least it should draw more of a crowd.

We look for a crowd of some 30 to 40,000 in the Cotton Bowl. Maybe that's being generous, but both Tech and the Aggies have a lot of supporters in the East Texas area and they'll be there in strength. We don't look for too much Dallas support. After all, the big crowds will hold off to see the Southwest Conference games and the one or two big intersectional games certain to be played. One of the big reasons for the change from San Antonio, of course, was the pressure of Aggie Alumni. Just as the alumni of every school want to see their team in action, the Farmers do also. The only thing is that they have the numbers in the Dallas area—and in West Texas—to get the game switched. They finally succeeded. Whether they have enough strength to get the game played on a home and home basis is something else.

Tech supporters, of course, are more eager to see the game on a home and home basis because it would give the Raiders more of a chance every other year. Dallas isn't much cooler than San Antonio and San Antonio was only one hinge cooler than Austin—although this year there was nothing wrong with the weather. But year to year, it's a handicap for the Raiders to go down into a lower, humid climate in September. And it would be a slight handicap for the Aggies to come to Lubbock's higher altitude every other year. There also would be more revenue for both schools if the game were played on a home and home basis, but the Aggies are fighting their alumni still and it may be some time before the series is placed on that basis.

You've got to hand it to the dying Yankees. Crippled and hobbled, given next to no chance to beat the onrushing Boston Red Sox, the never-say-die (and what other phrase, hackneyed as it is, covers them?) Yankees fought against tremendous odds to send the American League pennant race into one of its most thrilling climaxes. Today, tied for first, the less certain Red Sox face the Yanks in Yankee Stadium in the game that must decide what has been a great race. It's been an uphill climb for the millionaire-backed Red Sox. It's been a fight against injuries for the equally wealthy New Yorkers. Now it resolves into a dog-eat-dog finish that will have millions literally glued to their radios.

Joe DiMaggio, whom they said looked weak, gaunt and 15 pounds underweight, made his return to the Yank lineup another smashing success. His double ignited the spark that he and the other Yanks fanned into victory. His single, scratchy as it was, kept another rally alive. And when the blue chips were on the line, it was another, old pro, Johnny Lindell, who blasted the home run that exploded the ball game in the Red Sox's face. And all the winner's scoring took place after they were behind 4-0. That's the true test of a ball club and the Stengelers came through in typical Yankee fashion. Two races and both will be decided on the final day of the year. It's a blazing finish for baseball in 1949 and not even the World Series will be able to surpass it for thrills.

• • •

Our choice as manager of the year couldn't be anyone else than Casey Stengel. The Yankee skipper has done a marvelous job with a team that wasn't considered as a pennant contender any time during spring training. A large part of the credit, of course, goes to the players who never thought they were anything else but a contender. They remained on top through a string of injuries that would have sent most teams reeling into oblivion. They never were beaten until the final out. Stengel, of course, was the man who kept that spirit alive, who inflamed inferior players into blazing symbols of victory, who shuffled his pitchers and reformed Joe Page into possibly the top relief hurler of all time. Win, lose or draw, Stengel deserves the plaudits of the crowd, most of whom pull for

Tech's Williams Still In Hospital

The junior from Phillips had his left knee torn up in the Texas Tech-Texas A&M game Sept. 24. He was taken from the field to Baptist Memorial hospital, where an emergency operation was performed Sunday, the day following.

During the week, minor complications set in and the cast, which extended from ankle to thigh, had to be opened to allow form swelling in the leg. He is making reasonable progress.

But Bobby Hawkins, Lamesa assistant student manager, who stayed on with Williams, reported Friday night to Coach G. B. Morris that Williams' spirit wasn't too good. He was downcast and longing to be back in Lubbock with the Tech football team.

His mother was flown to San Antonio Saturday by Texas Tech and missed the Texas Tech-West Texas State game in which she had two sons playing, Bobby, a center for Tech, and Clint, a tackle for the Buffaloes.

If Lubbock sport fans would like to write or wire Williams, he is in Room 207 at the Baptist Memorial hospital, San Antonio. Letters and telegrams might do as much to cheer him as the Tech defeat of West Texas State college last night.

Corpus Christi Gains 9 To 5 Win Over Big Spring In Series

CORPUS CHRISTI, Oct. 1. (AP)—Corpus Christi of the Rio Grande Valley baseball league stopped Big Spring of the Longhorn circuit 9-5 here tonight.

The win gave Corpus Christi a two to one lead on the best four out of seven series being played by champions of the two leagues.

Steers Open Up In Third Period

Longhorns Walk Over Idaho Vandals, 56-7

AUSTIN, Oct. 1. (AP)—A devastating University of Texas air and ground attack wrecked the University of Idaho today, 56-7.

Tied 7-7 at the half, the Longhorns came back in the third period to manhandle Idaho in merciless fashion.

Texas scored from close in and far out, ramming over four touchdowns and a safety in the third quarter and three more touchdowns in the final 15 minutes.

Two sophomores each got two tallies for Texas. Byron Townsend, bruising left half, collected his in the third quarter and Carl (Red) Mayes hit pay dirt twice in the fourth.

Idaho's lone touchdown knotted the count 1 minute and 25 seconds before the gun ended the first half. After muffing one chance when they were down on the Longhorn's three-yard line, the Vandals came back again from the midfield marker.

Jerry Diehl went to the four on a Statue of Liberty and King Block went over three plays later from the 1-foot line. Tackle Will Overgaard converted.

Paul Campbell's passing and quarterbacking, coupled with Townsend's pulverizing power, then set the Longhorn scoring machine in action.

BUFFALOES SCORE—Fullback Bill Cross climaxed a 58-yard march down the field for West Texas State college with the first Buffalo touchdown early in the second quarter at Jones Stadium last night. Cross is caught here as he completed a five-yard sprint to go across the Red Raider goal for the first of three visitor scores. Quarterback Ernest Hawkins (17) of Tech is making the tackle, while Halfback Bobby Close comes up to lend support that came too late. Also in the picture is Guard Doc Bates (63) coming up to lend a helping hand for Cross, while Center Bobby Williams (50), Tech linebacker, is too far away to do anything. Wingback Eddie Conner (10) successfully lured other Tech tacklers out of the way. (Staff Photo.)

Arkansas Routs TCU, 27-7

Don Logue Stars For Razorbacks

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 1. (AP)— Stocky Don Logue, sophomore quarterback who was supposed to be crippled, and a terrific Arkansas line routed Texas Christian university, 27 to 7, in a Southwest Conference football game here today.

A Fayetteville boy who had practiced only two days this week because of a groin injufy, Logue completely out-dazzled the Christians highly-touted Lindy Berry when it counted most as he passed for two touchdowns and ran for the other two.

A crowd of about 16,000 watched as Logue called and executed plays that produced two touchdowns in the first quarter and two more in the fourth. Two apparent touchdowns for the winners were nullified by penalities.

Pass Defense Good

Arkansas' heretofore poor pass defense was superb today, allowing the loose-armed Berry and Dan Wilde to complete only seven of 24 tosses. Four of Berry's flips were intercepted.

With two to seven Razorbacks bearing down on him nearly every time, Berry had to hurry his passes too much to be accurate, several times he was trapped for long losses.

Even so, Berry was the heart of the Frog offense, running with the ball 13 times for a net of 26 yards, and completing seven of 22 passes for 89 yards.

Campbell Makes 85 Yards

Texas Christian led in first downs, 14 to 9, and in passing 89 yards to 46, but on the ground Arkansas netted 156 while holding the Frogs to sixty two. Leon (Muscles) Campbell made 85 of Arkansas rushing yards on 17 carries and it was he who ran for the called back T-Ds.

The game was only seven minutes old when Logue, who completed four of nine passes for the day, chunked 15 yards to End Bill Hix for the first touchdown. Three and a half minutes later, after Louie Schaufele intercepted one of Berry's throws, the Porker quarterback jumped-passed five yards to soph End Pat Summerall for another six-pointer.

Berry Leads Drive

Berry, running for 20 yards and passing for 38, led an 80 yard TCU drive late in the second quarter, John Morton crashing over from the two.

Logue went over again in the fourth quarter, sneaking over from a yard out for one tally and skirting end ten yards for the other.

It was the first Conference game for both teams and marked Arkansas fifth straight victory over TCU.

"Are the New York Yankees 'the team of destiny?'"

That's the big question that will be answered at Yankee stadium, where the Yanks—crippled and battered, but not yet beaten—make their last stand against Boston's power-laden Red Sox.

Throughout the season, the Yankees rolled on, although plagued by more than 70 injuries which necessitated lineup shifts. "The team of destiny," the sports writers tagged them, and for weeks it seemed appropriate. But then New York folded, in the face of Boston's great stretch run.

A Yankee is a Yankee, however, and all of them are fighters. Swimming against the tide, they climbed back into the American league pennant picture yesterday on Joe Page's superb relief pitching.

Today's tilt tells the tale, and no matter who wins, it's a shame that there has to be a loser in this one. New York deserves to win, in reward for its never-say-die fight to overcome countless handicaps. Boston, on the other hand, is due the title because of its great comeback, after once being 12 full games off the pace.

It's a perfect finish to an unsurpassed season of thrills, if ever there was one, and this afternoon the figurative eyes of the nation will be on "the house that Ruth built."

Lubbock's Westerners rolled merrily along Friday night at Plainview, although they yielded their first 1949 score. After the game, Coach Pat Pattison expressed general satisfaction with his team's performance. Pattison was only slightly disappointed that Lubbock's goal line was crossed, but of course he realized that those things can't go on forever.

In my book, Coach Dub Harris' Plainview squad rates a bouquet for its all-out effort against a team which had the Bulldogs outclassed physically. Although beaten from the beginning, Plainview never gave up the ghost. Moreover, the Harrismen obviously were playing to win—and not to "hold down the score," as some observers had expected. Plainview gambled repeatedly with its aerial attack, and one of these risks paid off with a touchdown.

In short, the game went according to blueprint, with the Westerner first string staging an awesome display of power, and Plainview battling gamely to the end.

Barnes, who still plays a classy game despite his age (he was national pro doubles champ as long ago as 1932) and his small stature, states without reservation that he considers Bill Tilden the greatest netter he ever saw.

"Tilden had everything," Barnes said Saturday. "He could put the ball on a dime, any place on the court."

Behind Tilden, Barnes rated Don Budge, Ellsworth Vines and Fred Perry, in that order, remarking that Perry, the Britisher, possibly was the best "natural" player of them all.

"Perry had the knack of being at the right place at the right time, and of anticipating his opponent's moves. He lacked the mechanical perfection of Budge or Vines, but he had terrific natural ability," Barnes said.

Now a traveling sales representative of the Pennsylvania Rubber company (whose products include tennis balls), Barnes commented that he thinks young tennis prospects should do their playing on "fast" concerte courts, rather than on clay.

"The game is much slower on clay," he explained, "and today's national rankings are based largely on grass-court performances. For that reason, youngsters should accustom themselves to 'fast' courts."

After playing two warm-up sets with A. J. (Jake) Broyles, Tech's No. 1 netter, Barnes remarked that the Techsan had improved considerably in the last two years. He discussed court strategy with Broyles and other members of the Tech squad, passing along helpful hints.

Because he turned professional at an early age, Barnes, a native Texan, never made a "name" for himself in amateur ranks. After winning the ntional intercollegiate doubles title, he joined Tilden's pro troupe in the early 1930's.

As a pro, he ranked with the very best for years. Once, in 1943, he won the national singles crown, after being runner-up in 1937 and 1938. He was a member of the national championship doubles team in 1932 (with Tilden), 1934 (with Emmett Pare), 1939 (with Keith Gledhill), and 1943 (with Gene Mako).

Michigan Curbs Stanford, 27-7

STANFORD STADIUM, PALO ALTO, Calif., Oct. 1 (INS).— Michigan's powerhouse football team rolled over Stanford by a 27-7 score this afternoon to get its 25th consecutive victory since 1946.

A previously undefeated Stanford eleven, fighting to the last, held the Michigan juggernaut to one touchdown in the first half but then virtually collapsed under the constant sledgehammer blows of the Wolverine line.

Ortman Goes To Work

With five minutes remaining in the first period the Michigan machine took the ball on their own 40 and with left Halfback Charley Ortmann doing most of the work moved 60 yards down the field in nine plays. The touchdown was scored by Right Half Leo Koceski who took the ball around right end on a reverse. End Harry Allis kicked the extra point.

Michigan continued to dominate the game in the second period tearing gaping holes in the Indian line but couldn't quite move the ball into paydirt. The half ended with Michigan leading 7-0.

In the third quarter Michigan ran away with the ball game.

Ortmann, Koceski and Tom Peterson behind the tremendous Wolverine line ripped the Stanford forward wall to shreds.

Wolverines Take To Air

Michigan kicked off to start the second half. Stanford after three futile tries kicked to Ortmann who ran the ball back from the fifty to the Stanford 37.

In just ten plays they took the ball over for the second Michigan touchdown. Don Dufek carried it on the final four yard thrust and Allis again converted to make it 14-0 with less than five minutes gone in the third period.

The Wolverines started their next march on their own 47 and Dick Kempthorne topped it off with a three-yard smash over right guard and the dependable Allis made it 21-0.

Whenever Stanford went into a tight line and stopped the Michigan ground plays, Ortmann took to the air to keep the Wolverine machine moving.

Indians Score Late

Ortmann intercepted his second vital pass late in the third period, snatching the ball out of the air on the Stanford 41 and running it downfield 25 yards to the 16. On the third shot at the line Koceski took it over right tackle for six yards and the final Michigan touchdown. Allis then missed his first conversion.

Baylor Defeats Maroons, 14 To 6

STARKVILLE, Miss., Oct. 1. (AP)—Baylor ran up yardage but couldn't run up the score and defeated penalty - ridden, fumbling Mississippi State 14-6 in a Southwest-Southeastern inter - conference football game.

A disappointingly small homecoming crowd of 15,000 in Mississippi State's newly enalrged stadium watched a second-rate line game and at times a first-rate running battle.

Baylor did a great part of the running and practically all the good passing. The Texans hogged the ball throughout the first half and only after intermission did Mississippi State get a sustained grip on the offensive.

Three minor Mississippi State drives ended with fumbles.

The game was supposed to have been a pass lovers' romp but it turned out that way only when Baylor got near the goal. Both Baylor touchdowns were scored on beautiful passes while Mississippi State's touchdown came on a 69-yard punt return by Don Robinson.

Mississippi State took penalty after penalty and moved for only one first down to Baylor's 11 during the first half.

The half lacked 50 seconds when Baylor got its first touchdown. Quarterback Adrian Burk threw to End J. D. Ison in the end zone for the score. The play covered 24 yards. End Henry Dickerson added the placement.

The third period was a listless up-and-down battle.

However, the final quarter was offensive. Ison intercepted a pass and ran it from Mississippi State's 44 to the 18. Burk tossed to Dudley Parker who ran it across and Dickerson converted.

Three minutes later Mississippi State Quarterback Don Robinson took in a punt and ran like a knitting needle through Baylor for 69 yards and a touchdown. The point after try flopped with a fumble from center.

University Of Florida Wallops Tulsa University Eleven, 40-7

TULSA, Okla., Oct 1 (AP) — The University of Florida, held to a one-touchdown edge in the first half, turned on the power to cross Tulsa's goal line four times in the final two periods today and score an easy 40-7 triumph.

The visitors—led by hard-running Halfback Chuck Hunsinger—blasted almost at will through the Tulsa forwards in the last half to turn the game into a rout.

Hunsinger scored three of the six Gator touchdowns.

Gordon Wyatt Keeps Owls' Offense Rolling

Louisiana State's Tigers Upset Favored Rice Owl Eleven, 14-7

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 1 (AP) —Louisiana State's hungry Tigers gobbled up favored Rice tonight, 14-7, in a major football upset, thanks to a blistering offense and a rugged line.

The surprising Bengals, who have gained a reputation for fumbling, even made a third quarter bobble payoff. It was a heart breaker for a few seconds, but Tackle Charlie Cusimano came up with the ball on the right side of the goal.

That was the Tigers first tally. It came when Bengal Back Chet Freeman,. a bat-em-down sophomore, was hit hard on the five and let fly the pigskin. Cusimano was Johnny-on-the-spot. He had helped set up the score by clearing the way for Fullback Ebert Van Buren on an earlier 26 yard canter.

Rice's vaunted Tobin Rote did not look at all like the passer the Tigers expected. It was Rice Back Gordon Wyatt who kept the Owls' offense rolling on line charges and sweeps. Louisiana State's forwards piled up on Rote nearly every time he faded. Short passes were his best.

Wyatt struck first, on a beautifully executed off tackle play that sent him untouched for 71 yards and the score. The Owls line opened up a huge hole and left not a LSU man standing.

Louisiana State's second tally came midway of the last period. Sophomore Freeman had been bashing through Rice's line for lusty gains. He finally carried the ball over from the four after Jim Roshto, another sophomore recovered a Rice fumble.

Clemson Tigers Best North Carolina State

RALEIGH, N. C., Oct. 1 (INS)— Clemson's Tigers hopped back into the victory column tonight by edging out North Carolina State 7-6 at Raleigh.

It was the Tigers' 16th win in the last 17 games—a record marred only by last week's loss to Rice.

Fullback Fred Cone climaxed a 75-yard drive in the second period by booming over for the Clemson score.

Guard Tommy Chandler added the crucial extra point.

North Carolina State's strongest effort came early in the third period when Wingback Paul Dinan returned a punt 77 yards to the Clemson nine. Three downs later Tailback Bill Thompson eased into the end zone for the Wolfpack tally.

Clemson stopped two Wolfpack thrusts in the last period, after rife-accurate passing by Ogden Smith and Ed Mooney had carried to the Tiger 12.

GOLF TOURNEY SET

TEXARKANA, Oct. 1. (AP)—The Texarkana Country club's 14th annual Four States Invitational golf tournament will be held Oct. 21-23, pro Don Murphy said today.

Because he felt high-spirited Allan Pitt, who flew 1,354 accident-free wartime hours, dived a plane over his home at Bristol, England, and was fined $100.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 1. (INS)— Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler today announced that following umpires to officiate at the 1949 World Series.

PENNSYLVANIA WINS

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1. (AP)— Gaining strength along the way, Pennsylvania trounced a surprisingly feeble Dartmouth football team today, 21 to 0. A crowd of 36,850 saw a very dull game marked by an unending string of fumbles, pass interceptions and blocked kicks.

Oklahoma Defeats Texas Aggies, 33-13

Nicholas, Smith Pace A-M Eleven

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 1. (AP)—The University of Oklahoma football powerhouse was ragged and fumbling today, but still ground down the Texas Aggies 33-13 before a crowd of 32,000.

Oklahoma, appearling off-form after its fine showing against Boston College last week, amassed 340 net yards rushing and 153 passing that should have paid off in many more scores.

A fierce Aggie defense and two brilliant performers in passing Quarterback Don Nicholas and smashing Fullback Bob Smith gave Oklahoma more than it bargained for from the underdog Texans.

Oklahoma scored in all four quarters, with halfbacks Lindell Pearson and George Thomas each making two touchdowns and End Bobby Goad getting the other.

Thomas made three extra point kicks. The victory was the 12th straight for the Big Seven and Sugar Bowl champions.

Oklahoma's first touchdown was practically a gift when a Texas Aggie punt from the A&M 24 was caught by the wind and blown back to the 19. Five plays later, Pearson cut around right end for the score.

The Sooners got what proved to be the winning touchdown nine minutes through the second quarter after a 75-yard march. Again Pearson spearheaded the drive and scored from the 12.

The Aggies turned a fumble by Leon Heath into a scoring opportunity late in the first half. Jim Flowers smothered the ball on his 45 and Nicholas and Smith went to work. Smith ran to the Oklahoma 31 and three times Nicholas hit passes to move the ball to the three. Bob Schaeffer then banged over.

Quarterback Darrell Royal started the next touchdown drive midway in the third quarter when he threw a spot pass to End Frankie Anderson, who sped 37 yards to the 11 before being pulled down from behind. Thomas carried to the five, Royal picked up four and then Thomas scored standing up.

An eighty-yard drive in the same period ended with Pearson passing over the goal to Thomas for eight yards.

Nicholas took to the air in the fourth period for the Aggies' second touchdown, hitting his target four times to move the Aggies 50 yards to the 11. Four plays later Smith scored over right guard and Shaeffer made the extra point kick.

CHILDRESS, Oct. 1. (AP)—Hardin college packed four touchdowns in the first half and picked up a late period safety tonight to roll over Austin college of Sherman 28-0.

Late in the first quarter End Raymond Smith took a 37-yard pass from J. D. Roland in the end zone for the first Hardin score.

Then in the next period Halfback Ray Gene Smith went over from the ten; Bobby Rogers scored off tackle from the 21, and Smith counted from the 14 after End Leroy Montgomery grabbed an Austin fumble.

Justice, Hayes, Weiner Save Tarheel Game

Late Pass Gives North Carolina 21-14 Win Over Georgia Team

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Oct. 1. (INS)—A pummeled North Carolina team won a story-book 21-14 victory from the University of Georgia at Chapel Hill today when injured Art Weiner collected a pass from battered Billy Hayes and ran 18 yards for a touchdown with less than two minutes to play.

The Tarheel score came a minute after Eli Maricich swiveled 88 yards through the Carolina club to earn for Georgia what appeared certain to be a 14-14 draw.

A big Bulldog line and the long heaving of Quarterback Ray Prosperi kept Carolina in trouble throughout the first half until, with a minute to go, Charlie Justice and Weiner unveiled their passing act.

Once again the Tarheels relied on the always reliable Justice, who passed to Weiner in the end zone. Eggy Williams' conversion was good and the half ended on the spot with the Tarheels leading a dazed Georgia squad 7-0.

In the third quarter, Justice's 35-yard pass complete to Weiner carried the Tarheels to the Georgia 34-yard line. Justice carried to the 21 for a first down and followed up with a short pass to Weiner on the Bulldog 17. Justice carried it over.

Georgia bounded back in one-two fashion when Prosperi passed to Bob Walston from the Georgia 40. Walston took the fine heave on the Carolina 15 and carried it over. Walston took complete charge of the score by kicking the extra point.

They played tit-for-tat in the fourth quarter until Maricich took a Justice punt on his own 12 and skipped down the left sideline for the day's marathon run. Walston again kicked the extra point.

It looked dark for Carolina for precisely a minute—Justice, Weiner, Powell, Knox and Kosiniki had all been hurt.

Then Hayes threw a desperation pass from the Georgia 34. Weiner hauled it down on the 15 and edged over for the last score.

We doubt if Bill Serena will be dislodged from third base next spring after his performance with the Chicago Cubs so far. The Brooklyn Dodgers ought to pay him a bonus for his bases-loaded single against the Cards Friday and for his circus catch that ended a Redbird rally in the ninth inning of that game. His two-run single won the game for the Cubs and his spectacular catch sent the Birds into oblivion. Willie the Whip must be enshrined in the hearts of Cubdom by now and he will be a strong bet to start the season with the revived and revitalized Cubs next Spring. Lubbock will be following his every move with interest and with loyal support to a former Hubber making good in the big time.

Frank Junell, administrative assistant to the president at Texas Tech, manages time to read the papers—all of them. He sent us this week a cartoon by Jeff Keate, nationally known artist, which appeared in a Dallas paper. We enjoyed it so much that we're passing the cutlines along to you for your enjoyment. The cut shows a manager patting a nattily dressed player, who is wearing a sad look, and the cutlines read: "Don't think of it as being sent down from the Majors to Lubbock, Lefty— think of it as being sent up to the glorious State of Texas."

The cartoon reminds us in a large degree of our own situation. It was just two years ago yesterday that we stepped off a plane at the airport and made for the Hilton hotel and The Avalanche-Journal. They've been two fine years, two years in which we hope we've grown with Lubbock. We know that we've enjoyed every minute on the frenzied sport scene here and we look forward to enjoying many, many more. To our many grand, warm friends who have been so kind to us as we staggered along, we'd like to say thanks. We might ape the cartoon and say that we think we've been sent up to the glorious State of Texas—and we love it.

BATTLE-WEARY CARDS BOW TO CHICAGO CUBS, 3 TO 1

CHICAGO, Oct. 1. (AP)—St. Louis' battle-weary Cardinals fumbled a glorious opportunity to hurl the National league pennant race into a final deadlock today. They succumbed to the cellar-dwelling Chicago Cubs for the second straight time, 3-1.

Given a big boost by Philadelphia's 6-4 triumph over Brooklyn, the Cards could have tied the Dodgers for first place today had they won. Instead, the Birds are still in second place, one full game behind, with no chance to win the flag during regular play.

Today they made nine hits off lefty Bob Chipman and drew four walks, but only one of them crossed the plate.

Howie Pollet, a 19-game winner this year, will represent the Cards' last hope tomorrow, when he opposes Chicago's Johnny Schmitz in another southpaw duel.

ed out of danger and two plays later Tackle Bobby Broyles recovered a fumble by Back Jimmie Draper, who had just caught a pass from Mayfield on the Tech 41. That started Tech's final touchdown drive.

Raider Line Leaks

It wasn't an entirely satisfactory performance by the Raiders, whose line leaked miserably at times. Conley was a great back on offense, with able assistance from Close and Stuver. Both Rathbone and Quarterback Bill Lyman were completing passes in good shape and ran the Raiders smoothly.

In the line, several Raiders turned in fine performances. Tackles Marshall Gettys and Jerrell Price, Guard Dan Pursel and Ends Dick Pirtle and Johnson were in on many of the tackles. Center Bobby Williams was outstanding backing up the line.

Wrestle Royal Set Wednesday

All six contestants will enter the ring at Sled Allen's arena Wednesday night, with a wrestle royal providing the excitement in the opener.

In the ring with the referee will be Al Getz, Bill Brooks, Billy Sandow, Vic Weber, Pat O'Dowdy and Rod Fenton, with each one taking with him years of wrestling skill.

At the outset things will be rather congested, but not for long as each wrestler becomes intent on downing one of the others. Out of this mess of "scrambled eggs" will come the pairings for the other two events.

Getz, O'Dowdy and Fenton all care little for rules and science, choosing to win by the quickest method available, and Brooks and Sandow are inclined to tag along with the first threesomes. That leaves only Weber who prefers science and skill.

The first two men to be downed will be eliminated for the evening, leaving the other four to wrestle for the semi-final and final events.

The second two men out will wrestle in the semi-final event, two out of three falls with a 45-minute limit, and the two remaining in the ring the longest will tangle in the main event, two out of three falls with an hour time limit.

Matches start Wednesday at 8:30 p.m., and tickets will be on sale that day from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Oklahoma Aggies Sweep Over Denver University, 48 To 0

DENVER, Oct. 1. (INS)—High-powered Oklahoma Aggies swept over Denver university's Pioneers tonight in an expected victory but a slightly sorry score of 48 to 0.

The A. & M. powerhouse from Stillwater ran up two touchdowns in the first period and then fought off a Denver threat led by the Denver passing serisation Sam Etcheverry of Carlsbad, N. M.

In the second half the game became progressively one-sided until it became a case of how heavy the score was to be.

Broncho Bees Come From Behind

Odessa B Defeats Cowhands, 31 To 19

ODESSA, Oct. 1. (Special) — The win streak of the Lubbock High school Cowhands came to an abrupt end here tonight as the Odessa B team came from behind a 7-12 deficit to win, 31-19, at Broncho Stadium.

The Lubbock squad previously downed Plainview, 31-0, and Lamesa, 32-0, but could not cope with the Odessa team in the last quarter when the Broncho Bees scored 18 points.

Both squads struck early, with Lubbock commanding a 12-7 lead at the end of the first quarter on touchdowns by Charles Hodges on a sweep around right end for eight yards, with another touchdown run by Bobby Sexton from nine yards out, again around end.

Odessa struck back with Gene for nine yards and Felix Fernandez running for the extra point.

Neither side was able to score in the second frame, but Odessa went ahead, 13-12, in the third quarter on a six-pointer by Fernandez, who took a pass standing in the end zone.

The final Lubbock tally came on a 53-yard pass play, with End Don Jones grabbing the aerial and outdistancing the opposition.

Odessa registered 18 first downs to only nine for Lubbock and rushed 129 yards on the ground to 83 for the Cowhands. Odessa completed eight of 12 passes for 93 yards and had three intercepted. Lubbock's four completions in nine attempts went for 43 yards, and four were intercepted by Odessa.

O. L. SLATON JUNIORS BEATEN BY ODESSA, 12-7

ODESSA, Oct. 1. (Special) — The Odessa Juniors scored once in each of second and third quarters to defeat O. L. Slaton, 12-7, here this afternoon in a South Plains Junior High football game.

Jimmy Clark went over in the second quarter for the first Odessa score to climax a 48-yard drive, with Tommy Harris plunging for the second marker for the winners in the third period from the two-yard line to finish a 63-yard march.

Jimmy Wells scored for Slaton in the final quarter when Jerry Martin blocked a kick on the Slaton 40 and recovered it on the 20. The score came from the seven-yard line. Richard Lindsey converted.

Mighty Notre Dame Rolls Over University Of Washington, 27-7

Irish Run Victory Streak To Thirty

SEATTLE, Oct. 1. (INS)—Notre Dame surged to a 27-7 victory over the University of Washington's football squad today to run the Irish winning streak to 30 games before a record crowd of 41,500 in Seattle.

The defeat was the second for the Huskies in three preconference contests. The Husklies lost 48-20 to Minnesota at Minneapolis last Saturday. Washington won over the University of Utah 14-7 two weeks ago.

The powerful Irish rolled to victory after coming out of a 7-7 halftime tie.

The underdog Huskies scored the first touchdown of the contest when quarterback Don Heinrich tossed a pass to halfback Roland Kirkby.

Irish Even Count

Notre Dame grounded to the Husky 20-yard line at which point Quarterback Bob Williams flipped a pass to End Leon Hart who took the ball on the Washington two and went over to score.

Notre Dame took a 13-7 lead in the opening minutes of the third quarter. Irish Tackle Milt Toneff recovered a fumble on the Washington 13-yard line.

Sitko Goes To Six

Fullback Emil Sitko took the ball to the Husky six from where Hart scored on an end-around play.

Guard Steve Oracko's conversion attempt failed.

Guard John Helwig started the Irish on the way to a third Notre Dame touchdown when he recovered another fumble on the Husky 36-yard line.

Husky Fumbles Hurt

The Irish scored their last touchdown in the fourth quarter after recovering another Washington fumble on the Husky 18-yard line. Hart carried to the Washington five-yard line from where Halfback Frank Staniel pushed to the two-yard stripe.

William And Mary Indians Beat Virginia Tech, 39-13

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., Oct. 1 (INS) — William and Mary's football forces overpowered the Virginia Tech Gobblers today, 39-13, at Williamsburg.

Led by Jack (The Flying) Cloud at the fullback spot and giant Lou Creekmur, All-American candidate at tackle, the Braves rolled to scores in every period.

WRECK'S FORWARD WALL FAILS

Tulane's Green Wave Defeats Georgia Tech Eleven, 18 To 0

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 1 (INS)—Tulane university's Green Wave never seemed pressed as it chalked up an 18-0 victory over a highly-polished fighting squad from Georgia Tech today before 55,000 fans.

That was the ball game—the finding of the key. The Greenies did and took over on their own nine-yard stripe.

Fast-breaking Eddie Price, Bill Svoboda and George Kinek began tearing through that Tech forward wall. Kinek picked his way for 19 yards, Price seven and it all added up to a series of first downs that carried to the Tech 39 yard line.

Then, with Tech watching for another line play, Tulane's quarterback, Joe Ernst dropped back, tossed a lopping pass which George Kinek gathered in on the 30. He cut diagonally across the field and went over for the touchdown.

The Georgia Tech squad couldn't get started after that.

Later in the third period Greenie Quarterback Joe Ernst punted out of bounds on the Georgia Tech three. The Tech kickback was good for only 25 yards, and Tulane put their second touchdown move in action on the Yellow Jackets 28.

Ernst picked up a first down, and two plays later Price barreled to the one foot line. He handed it off to Svoboda who went over.

Army Rallies To Beat Penn State

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 1. (INS)—Army awoke with a mighty roar in the second half today and crushed Penn State, 42 to 7, before a record 27,000 fans at little Michie Stadium.

The somnambulent Cadets trailed, 7 to 0, at halftime.

After the intermission, they were a different team as they ran their string of consecutive games without defeat to 13.

With Penn State fumbling twice at crucial moments and having three passes intercepted, the Cadet attack gathered momentum as it went along. Army scored twice in the third period and four times in the final quarter.

Arnold Galiffa scored twice and Gil Stephenson, Jimmy Cain, Frank Fischl and Herb Johnson added one touchdown apiece. Jack Mackmull, a precisionist who measures his kicking stride with a tape, booted all six extra points.

Houston Gains 26-6 Win Over Wichita

HOUSTON, Oct. 1. (AP)—University of Houston held Wichita University to 10 net yards rushing today while grinding out a sloppy 26 to 6 victory over the Kansas eleven.

Sixteen fumbles, 11 by Houston, cut the longest touchdown drive of the day to 42 yards.

Max Clark accounted for the third Houston score returning a punt to the Wichita 39 and breaking through right tackle to go all the way.

Alan Neveux made good on two extra point attempts.

Wichita's touchdown came in the third.

Lamesa 'B' Team Gains 6-0 Win Over Brownfield Eleven

BROWNFIELD, Oct. 1. (Special) The Lamesa B team took advantage of a Brownfield fumble on the opening kickoff to score in the first quarter and hold the margin to win, 6-0, here tonight.

Halfback Billy Miers scored the only tally with a 15-yard end run, and from that point the two teams battled back and forth with Brownfield holding a slight edge, being halted once on the Lamesa six-yard line.

Standouts for Brownfield were Willis McNeil, Ray Nelson and Bobby Lathum in the blackfield, with Obray Rowden doing good end work.

Records Fall In Shoot At El Paso

She broke 99 of 100 targets with a 28 gauge gun in the open-gauge handicap of the first annual Paso Del Norte Open skeet shoot.

Her 99 targets eclipsed the former women's small bore mark of 98. But it could net her only second place in the handicap. She was behind George Glass, jr., of Midland, Tex., 18-year-old New Mexico Military Institute student. He shattered 100 straight for the title.

D. W. Conway of Clint, president of the host Del Norte Trap and Skeet Club, tied an existing national sub-small bore mark by breaking 99 of 100 birds in the handicap event.

Conway, member of the national champion five-man team, used a 410 gauge gun in equalling marks previously set by H. Lutcher Brown of San Antonio and Alex Kerr of Los Angeles.

Miss Martin was awarded second because she went 81 targets before missing, while Conway's first miss came before his 75th bird.

Shooting began today in the women's, industrial, two and five-man team championship. The first 50 targets were shot. The remaining 100 targets, coupled with junior and sub-junior competition, concludes the shooting tomorrow.

Hecker fired a perfect 50x50 to win the 28 gauge event which opened the shoot yesterday. George Glass, sr., of Midland grabbed the 20-gauge, 100-target open event with a score of 99x100.

Guillotine Captures Belmont's Futurity

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. (INS)—Guillotine, a gruesomely named colt from the Greentree Stable, raced to a surprisingly easy victory today in the 60th running of the Futurity at Belmont Park.

With Jockey Ted Atkinson sitting as still as an image of Buddha, the slender son of Bimelech led every foot of the six and a half furlong dash down the famed Widener chute, and crossed the line three-quarters ahead of the favored Theory from the Calumet barn.

Theory in turn had two lengths on Russell Firestone's colt The Diver.

Guillotine returned $19.60, $6.40 and $3.40.

This was the first stake the colt ever won and it was the first Futurity victory for both Atkinson and Greentree.

Guillotine earned $87,585 which moved the stable's purses for the year to a handy $531,787. Theory picked up $10,000, which Warren Wright needs like a porcupine needs another quill. Firestone, who also is in no danger of visiting a poorhouse, picked up $5,000 for the Diver's efforts.

The time, 1:15 3/5, was as slow as the crowd, 35,586, was small.

Californians Roll In Second Half

USC's Trojans Down Cougar Squad, 35-7

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 1. (INS)—The University of Southern California's grid machine, stalled in the first half, roared into action in the final two quarters today to defeat Washington State College, 35 to 7.

A crowd of 36,243 basked under sunny skies in Memorial Coliseum and watched the Trojans, Pacific Coast conference pennant favorites, annex their initial loop win.

The Cougars, undismayed by the 28-point underdog role they were cast in, scored the first time they got the ball. They took the opening kickoff and roared 72 yards in 11 plays for their score.

The Trojan offensive couldn't click as Washington State threw up a baffling defense throughout the first and most of the second quarters.

With three minutes to go in the first half, USC recovered a Cougar fumble on the Washington State 28-yard line and eight plays later the Trojans tied the score at 7 to 7.

After the intermission the Trojans began to roll. They scored their second touchdown with three minutes gone in the third period, climaxing a 52-yard drive when Fullback Billy Martin hit over from the one.

Minutes later the Trojans had another tally—on a 48-yard pass from Quarterback Jim Powers to Halfback Bill Bowers.

Sophomore Frank Goffard guided the Trojans to a pair of TDs in the final quarter to end the scoring. They were made by End Dan Zimmerman on a pass and by Halfback Al Cantor on a two-yard plunge.

HARVARD LOSES GAME

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (INS) — Columbia engineered an unrehearsed touchdown play in the last 40 seconds today to defeat Harvard, 14 to 7.

Jake Broyles Beats Ex-Pro Bruce Barnes

Jake Broyles, Texas Tech's No. 1 tennis player, Saturday trounced Bruce Barnes, ex-pro champion, by 6-2, 6-4 in an exhibition match on the Tech courts.

A crowd of more than 50 persons saw the younger Broyles play some of his finest tennis to down the former University of Texas star.

Barnes, winner of the national pro singles crown in 1943, has been out of competitive tennis for several years, but he displayed amazing caginess at stages of his match with Broyles. However, the Tech netter played a sparkling, offensive-minded game that kept him in command most of the way.

In a doubles match after the singles contest, Broyles teamed with Emil Beck to defeat Barnes and Joe Wheatley in one set, 6-3.

Golf Exhibition Slated Friday

Middlecoff To Meet Stranahan

National Open Champion Cary Middlecoff will be featured in a golf match to be played at the Lubbock County club Friday under the sponsorship of the American Business Club, with Frank Stranahan, one of the nation's top amateurs, opposing him.

Middlecoff's victory in the Open this past June at Chicago's Medinah County club climaxed a meteoric rise that is unequalled in the history of professional golf. He has, in fact, been one of the top figures in the game almost from the day he turned pro in March, 1947. He won his first tournament and a $2,000 prize less than two weeks after dropping his amateur status.

Beat Ben Hogan

But even before he won the Charlotte Open, he had shown the golfing world that it could expect fabulous deeds from him. While still an amateur and Army dentist in 1945, he became the first and only amateur to win the North-South Open. In doing so, he battled and decisively beat Ben Hogan during the last 36 holes.

Middlecoff reached his peak as an amateur in 1946 when he finished low amateur in the Master's tournament. And in the same year he tied a first day qualifying record in the National Amateur with a 68, but bowed out in the quarter-finals. Early in 1947 he was named to America's Walker Cup team to play against Great Britain's best in England, but declined in order to turn pro.

Continued Winning

It is indicative of the kind of golfer Middlecoff is that, since the Open title fell to him, he has continued to win the big tournaments despite the added strain of being champion. Moreover, he has done it despite the added strains of demand on his time.

Stranahan, who will match shots with him Friday, is one of the best and easily the most colorful golfer today. He has won dozens of amateur tournaments and has often more than held his own against the touring pros.

Holds British Amateur

His amateur conquests include the British Amateur, called by Bobby Jones the hardest tournament in the world to win. In addition, he has won the Canadian Amateur twice and the Western Amateur. Against the pros he won the Miami Open this year, the Mobile Open in 1945 and tied for second in the 1945 Masters of Augusta.

Stranahan usually has his galleries sprinkled liberally with adoring bobby-soxers. But he also has the true golf fan backing him strictly because he is one of the best shotmakers of the day.

Stranahan, in addition to recently winning the Western Amateur again, played a starring role in the Walker Cup matches against England. He was a winner in both the two-ball foursomes and the singles. His play prompted his English opponent to observe that "Stranahan's recoveries from traps were quite the most astonishing he had seen."

Tickets for the match will sell for $1 each and may be obtained from members of the ABC. No one will be allowed on the course unless the sticket is in sight.

GOLF'S FAMOUS SMILE—It's a dental smile, of course, and is worn by Dr. Cary Middlecoff, who won the National Open tournament only this summer. The Memphis dentist has had a meteoric rise to the top in the short time since March, 1947, when he first turned professional. He will team with Frank Stranahan to present an exhibition at the Lubbock Country club Friday afternoon.

BEARS SHOW CHAMPIONSHIP FORM

California Downs Flu-Weakened Oregon State Eleven, 41 To 0

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 1. (INS) —California's Golden Bears steamrollered a flu-weakened Oregon State college football team for a 41-0 triumph in their Coast Conference game at Portland today.

The Bears showed championship form and scored in every quarter as 18,000 fans watched in perfect indian summer weather.

Coach Lynn "Pappy" Waldorf, son of a methodist bishop, put his second string in for the second half and used every man but one on his bench before the game ended.

California's hefty line methodically tore gaping holes in the OSC defense and threw back two drives in the shadows of the Bear goalposts.

Three Oregon State regulars did not play at all because of flu. Two others saw only a few minutes of action. Among the casualties were two of the Beavers' best line backers, Rudy Ruppe and Don Mast.

The Californians held a decided edge in the statistics. They powered to 291 yards gained on the ground and gained 205 through the air while holding the Beavers to 98 on the ground and 95 through the air.

The Bears chalked up 21 first downs to the Beavers' 12.

Oregon State, weak on the ground, threw 28 passes completing only six. The Bears completed eight out of 12 for a .666 average.

The Bears were forced to punt only twice in the entire game, once in each half. One rolled out on Oregon State's nine-yard line and the other on the four.

California sealed Oregon State's doom for sure with its fifth touchdown four minutes after the second half got underway. Reserve Halfback Jerry Scott took the ball over from the one-foot line.

In the final quarter, Oregon State got down to the Bear six before losing the ball on downs.

The Bears began to claw again in the fourth when second string Quarterback Charlie Erb passed to End Bob Cummings in a play that carried to Oregon's State's 40.

A series of pass plays with Boots Erb heaving, mixed with enough line play to make a variety, brought the Bears down to the Oregon State 11 where Erb tossed to End Glenn Stern for the score.

Iowa Takes 21-7 Win From Purdue

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 1. (INS) A surprising Iowa eleven, taking full advantage of Purdue errors, established itself as a contender for first division honors, in the Big Ten race as it defeated the slightly favored Boilermakers today 21-7.

Performing before a Dad's Day crowd of 32,000, the Hawkeyes struck back with fury to score three touchdowns in 10½ minutes after the Boilermakers had taken an early 7 to 0 lead.

John Kerestes scored the only Boilermaker touchdown when he rounded end for 10 yards after Leo Sugar had recovered Don Woodhouse's fumble of a punt.

Four minutes later, Iowa tied it up when Glenn Drahn, the individual star of the afternoon, tossed a pass to Bob McKenzie that was good for 28 yards and a touchdown.

Starting the second period, Iowa's Ruck scored from the two yard line on a quarterback sneak, and five minutes later scored on another pass from Drahn to Jack Dittmer that was good for 24 yards. Bill Reichardt added the extra point after all three Hawkeye markers.

The second half was a stalemate, as the Boilermakers attack proved futile in scoring territory.

Boilermakers enjoyed an edge in first downs, 11 to 7, and in yards gained rushing, 235 yards to 148.

The return to action of Harry Szulborski, who was obviously far from his normal self, failed to produce the expected results. Harry carried the ball four times without gain.

Power-Laden Tyler Junior College Downs Los Angeles

TYLER, Oct. 1 (INS) — Powerful Tyler Junior college rolled over Los Angeles City college, 49 to 0, today at Tyler before 13,000 Texas Rose Festival spectators.

The Apaches, paced by Bernard Lemmons, scored in every quarter and held a 35 to 0 halftime advantage.

Los Angeles' Cubs took to the air in the last half with a barrage of passes but failed to threaten seriously. Their only goalward drive was stopped on the Tyler 20.

Tyler piled up 330 yards by rushing to the Cubs' 40. The losers passed 44 times, completing 17 for 131 yards.

Badgers Tie With Illini

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. Oct. 1. (INS)— The Fighting Illini were all their name implies today when they used a late last quarter touchdown to tie Wisconsin, 13-13, in the Big Ten opener for both teams.

Some 38,332 fans saw Sam Piazza, of Chicago, score the deadlocking touchdown with three minutes and 35 seconds of play remaining.

It could have been the winning margin if Lou Levantik, senior center who specializes in booting extra points, had found his target. But his kick was high and wide of the uprights.

Last week the Illini fought to a 20-20 tie with Iowa State.

Illinois scored early and late, but it was the Badgers who dominated play throughout the contest. Wisconsin held a 15-9 edge on first downs and out-gained the Illini, 275-267 in the yardage department.

At halftime the battling Badgers rolled up a 13-7 lead and it took the Illini until the closing minutes of play to ring up the tieing touchdown.

Time was running out when Bernie Krueger passed 42 yards to Piazza to the Badger 15. Then Krueger hit Walt Kersulis with a nine-yard pitch and Burt Schmidt picked up a yard to set the stage for Piazza's five-yard plunge for the tieing score.

Vanderbilt Drops Alabama, 14 To 7

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 1. (INS) Vanderbilt's defensive line made a final minute stand this afternoon to stave off a sustained Alabama drive on the Vandy 12 and save a 14-7 victory for the Commodores at Nashville's Dudley Stadium.

Before a capacity crowd of 27,400, Vanderbilt flashed over its first touchdown midway in the second quarter on a drive that began on their own three-yard line.

Four plays after Quarterback Jamie Wade tossed a 51-yard pass to End Bucky Curtis on the Alabama 43, Fullback Dean Davidson streaked through the middle for 23 yards and six points.

Vanderbilt's second score came early in the final period after a 7-yard thrust.

'Bama's lone tally followed the first Vandy touchdown. Crimson Tide End Al Lary ran the Commodore kickoff from the nine to his own 36. From there Halfback Ed Salem faded back to the 20 and tossed a long spiral to Lary on the Vandy 19. Two plays later Tom Calvin bulled his way over Vandy safety man Lee Nalley and across the goal stripe. Salem booted the extra point.

ROSE BOWL CHAMPIONS UPSET

Underdog Pittsburgh Gains 16-7 Win Over Northwestern Eleven

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 1 (INS)— Underdog Pittsburgh upset vaunted Northwestern, 16-7, today at Dyche Stadium before 41,000 football fans.

Rated 21 points behind the 1949 Rose Bowl champions, Mike Milligan's resurgent Panthers stepped out to a 10-0 halftime lead and pushed on to another touchdown and an extra point before the Wildcats tallied their only points in the closing stages of the game.

The victory was Pittsburgh's second straight. Northwestern won its opener by beating Purdue in a Big Ten tilt last week.

Pittsburgh began a 64-yard running and passing march nine minutes after the game started. The payoff play was a 14-yard toss from Lou (Bimbo) Cecconi to Jimmy Robinson. Nick Bolkovac kicked the extra point.

Pittsburgh shattered any remaining hope of victory the Wildcats may have had when Rudy Andabaker intercepted a pass on Northwestern's 24 yard line just before the third period ended. Robinson skirted around end for the TD from the 12 two play after the final quarter began.

Northwestern tallied in the final minutes on a 12-yard run by Johnny Miller. A Pitt fumble on the Wildcats' 26-yard line permitted the score. Eddie Nemeth converted.

Pittsburgh dominated the game statistically as well as everyother way. The Panthers had 16 first downs to Northwestern's 7, and gained 157 yards rushing to the Wildcats' 66.

Kansas State College Blasts Colorado University, 27-13

MANHATTAN, Kans., Oct. 1 (INS) — Kansas State college broke out of a five year rut today by winning its first Big Seven Conference game since 1944 with a smashing 27 to 13 victory over Colorado university.

Left half Hi Faubion scored three of Kansas State's four touchdowns and passed to Elmer Creiston for the fourth score.

Colorado set up one touchdown by a pass from Malcolm Miller to Charley Mosher. Harry Narcissian later tossed to miller on the three from where the Buffaloes scored again.

Navy Smashes Tigers, 28-7

BALTIMORE, Oct. 1. (AP)— A crew of slick sophomores ended Navy's long victory drought today with a smashing 28-7 triumph over Princeton before a crowd of 36,736 in Babe Ruth Stadium.

It was the first time in 16 games, dating back to 1947, that the Middies came out on top. It also was the first win in 11 games since George Sauer took over the coaching job last year.

Navy was in control of the entire game after scoring in the first four minutes. In addition to its four touchdowns it had another recalled and two more "sure" scores killed by penalties.

Bob Zastrow, a 209 pound soph quarterback from Algoma, Wis., brilliantly directed the Navy attack. He passed for two touchdowns and personally plunged over for a third.

Princeton's only touchdown came in the second period as result of a fumble — which Tackle Holland Donan recovered.

Penn Opens 1949 Season With 21-0 Victory Over Darlmouth

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1 (INS)— Penn opened its 1949 grid season today with an impressive display of speed and power and a 21-0 victory over Dartmouth.

Bruiser Bob Graham, bucking six straight times for 21 yards, scored the first Penn touchdown late in the second quarter.

FAMOUS SAN LUIS VALLEY

I will sell you any size tracts from 160 acres to 70,000 acres. 160 acres to a section. Prices will range from $25.00 to $35.00 per acre. It is nearly all level land; in proven shallow water belt. Well located to paved highways, all-weather roads, railroads, schools and churches and is as good land as there is in the San Luis Valley.

There is not to exceed 10% of land in San Luis Valley as good as this land. This has no alkali, is well-drained. Some of the biggest crops in the valley is near this land.

Average lift of water in this territory will be about 60 feet and the depth 80 to 200 feet.

Located in a fishermans' and hunters' paradise; good climate; great summer resort; no sand storms; very little snow in the winter; very little wind; clear still, dry cold. Cattle can run all winter without sheds.

According to my judgment, this land is worth three times what it's now selling for; based on the price of irrigated lands on the plains of Texas. $30.00 to $35.00 per acre will put this land under irrigation and in cultivation with the necessary leveling. This is one of the best farming countries in America and if you want to buy land you had better get it quick, because according to my judgment, the best bargains will advance 50% in the next 60 days and over 100% in twelve months. Live agents wanted a liberal commission paid.

If you want to come by yourself to see lands in this country come through the Millyard Land Office in Alamosa, Colorado. If you want big tracts, write me c/o Capitol Hotel, Amarillo, Texas.

Sniper Shoots Tulsa Night Club Operator

TULSA, Oct. 1. (U.P.)—Two-gun Willis Newton, one of four cowboy brothers who aided in a $2,050,011 train mail robbery at Rondout, Ill., in 1924, was in critical condition today after being shot by a hidden sniper.

"Call the police, I've been shot," Newton yelled to his wife, who had retired.

Mrs. Newton said she heard a "scratching sound on the bedroom screen just before the shots sounded. Outside the home, police found an empty cartridge from a German Luger pistol.

Detective Sgt. L. N. Hedgpath identified Newton as a member of the family which conspired with several other criminals, including a postal inspector, to pull the 1924 robbery of the Milwaukee road's fast mail train No. 57 near Chicago.

Hedgpath said he doubted that the shooting had anything to do with the old robbery, although $75,000 worth of loot in cash and bonds was never recovered.

He said it was more likely that Newton was shot as result of a gambling feud here.

MARKET IGNORES STRIKE

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. (AP)—A strike of 500,000 steel workers did not affect the stock market today.

Leading shares dipped fractionally, a few as much as a point or so. Thirteen issues established new highs. Crown Cork and Seal was the lone stock to set a low.

Selling pressure was less than usual. Demand was equally skimpy.

Traders sat tight. More than a few are still convinced the strike will be settled in short order.

Only 310,000 shares changed hands in the first Saturday session since summer.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped .3 of one point to 65.6—exactly .1 of one point higher than the close a week earlier.

U. S. Steel lost ⅛ at 23 and Bethlehem dipped ½ to 27⅞. Youngstown showed the largest setback—a point at 65⅛.

Also down slightly were General Motors, Chrysler, American Telephone, American Smelting, Du Pont, Southern Pacific, and Texas Co.

Gains were posted for Consumers Power, Texas Pacific Land Trust and Philco.

The market during the week had to contend with some of the most unsettling labor news since turbulent 1946. Wall Street, by and large, considered the market's reaction highly satisfactory.

Sorghums No. 2 yellow milo per 100 pounds 2.05-2.12.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Oct. 1. (AP)—Grains worked lower on the board of trade today while lard, after a barely steady start, moved upward toward the close. Dealings were not active.

Easiness in other markets seemed to have some influence on cereals. Moderate hedging pressure entered soybeans and wheat. A decline in parity prices between mid-August and mid-September also brought out a little selling.

Wheat closed ⅝-1⅝ lower, December $2.13⅜-⅝, corn was ⅝-½ lower, December $1.17¼-⅜, oats were unchanged to 1 cent lower, December 67½, rye was unchanged to ¾ higher, December $1.45¾.

Cotton

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. (AP)—Cotton futures, following a spurt of activity on and shortly after the opening, turned quiet today. A major portion of the dealings involved hedges which were absorbed by textile mill price fixing. However, there was scattered liquidation induced by the government mid-September cotton parity price which was 12 points below a month ago. The grade had anticipated a modest increase over the mid-August parity.

Futures closed 10 to 50 cents a bale lower than the previous close.

Trading was quiet throughout the two-hour short Saturday session.

Spot cotton declined 50 cents a bale with middling 15/16ths-inch quoted at 29.35 cents a pound. Local sales totaled 12,311 bales.

RETALIATION IS ONLY FEAR

Hitler Proved Dictators Will Make Use Of Banned Weapons

By PIERRE J. HUSS
INS Staff Correspondent

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Oct. 1—Adolf Hitler proved that dictators are not above using any terrible weapon in war—be it poison gas or the atom bomb—provided the victim can not strike back in kind.

International convention was not a deterrent but the fear of swift retaliation caused the Nazi decision to refrain from using poison gas.

Leaned On Air Power

Hitler was led to believe his Luftwaffe was an all-powerful, sky-dominating weapon and he launched the fearful blitz against London in September of 1940.

Exactly eight years ago—on Oct. 1, 1941—the disillusioned Hitler was forced to scream in high fury from the rostrum of the huge sports-palast in Berlin that for every bomb dropped on Germany by the British he would drop tens and hundreds more powerful.

He shouted that ten British cities would be razed for every Germany hamlet or town attacked by the RAF.

Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering's boast that his name would be Meyer if an enemy bomb ever dropped on Berlin became the macabre joke of the day.

The reason was that RAF bombers were coming almost nightly. On Nov. 7, 1941, some 300 of them carried out the first large-scale raid.

Hitler Was Frantic

I ducked hither and thither in that roaring night, able to read my notes by the red light of fires in various blocks. But many a German of my acquaintance whispered to me: "Well, now we're getting back what we gave them last year. It was bound to come."

Hitler was frantic and demanded that the luftwaffe accomplish the impossible by recapturing domination of the sky. Goering (as I discovered in secret documents found by me in 1945 at Berchtesgaden) bluntly informed Hitler that the war with Russia drained off all striking power of the luftwaffe.

Documentary evidence brought out at the Nuremberg trials of the top Nazis and the records of secret Hitler conferences with his generals which came into my hands prove that Hitler in his desperation soon looked for new weapons. Atomic research by the German laboratories was still far from the goal of cracking the atom and the "buzz bombs"—better known as the V-1 and V-II—were still two years away from realization.

Germans Were Warned

The documents disclosed that Hitler called a conference at his headquarters in East Prussia and laid it on the line that London, Paris and Moscow must be blanketed with the super-deadly and undetectable new poison gas stored in underground depots.

But the German generals took their courage in hand and dissuaded him. Meantime, the Allies somehow got wind of the mad Hitler plan and let him know he would get back dose for dose of poison gas—and worse.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin confirmed this in his assembly speech last Monday. He revealed that Premier Stalin asked the British government to issue an announcement that should Germany resort to gas warfare, all the Allied powers would retaliate to the fullest.

The documents subsequently revealed that even Hitler realized the frightfulness of gas warfare and that above all the Allies were ready for it with gas probably as deadly and undetectable as his own. He never gave a written order to use it.

I have questioned many top diplomats among the 23 foreign ministers attending the 59-nation UN assembly. Most of them agree that the Truman announcement on Russia's atom bomb served an implicit warning on Stalin that the West knows exactly what point has been reached in his atom bomb "know how." Bluff no longer counts.

They believe each side now knows where it stands and even a dictator will shrink from using a horror weapon which can be used against him ten-fold.

Hotel Lubbock Is Modernized

A major rehabilitation program, started about June 15, is nearing completion in Hotel Lubbock, which will completely modernize the structure, Ford Montgomery, manager, revealed Saturday.

In the thorough program, 67 rooms, formerly without baths or connecting baths, will now have private baths. The hotel had a number of small rooms in which the room area has been doubled by removing partitions and making two rooms into one large bedroom. There are 16 of these new extra large rooms and each has combination tub and shower baths. The bathrooms are modern to every detail, having ceramic tile floors and walls and latest type trim plumbing. Every room is equipped with running ice water.

Approximately 200 rooms have been newly-refurnished and modernized with soft pastel redecoration, new carpet, drapes, Venetian blinds and modern furniture. Seventy-seven spacious clothes closets have been installed to further guest convenience.

Montgomery also revealed that plans have been drawn for a new front office in the lobby, which will complete the modern motif of the hotel. The new office will extend nearer the entrance but not as far out into the lobby as the present office. A new telephone switchboard will be installed and the office will be air- conditioned.

A new elevator to accommodate freight, in order that the present two elevators can be devoted to guest service only, will be installed and both of the present elevators will be remodeled and modernized.

Bake Show Presented By Hale County HD Women, 4-H Girls

By OPAL DIXON
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

PLAINVIEW, Oct. 1. — Approximately 175 Hale county home demonstration women and 4-H club girls today attended a bake show conducted in Plainview City auditorium and exhibited scores of cakes, cookies, biscuits, muffins and bread loaves.

One of the features of the show attracting interest was an exhibit of muffins, biscuits and cookies made from sorghum flour by Hale county home demonstration women who are cooperating with Texas Technological college in research on the baking qualities of flour milled from grain sorghums. Mrs. J. N. Michie and Miss Fay Hattox of the Texas Tech home economics faculty, who are conducting the research, attended the show.

Products Are Auctioned

Products exhibited in the show were auctioned by Ray Pritchett, sales manager of Harvest Queen mills, after judging had been completed and a program presented.

USES YEAST TWENTY-ONE YEARS—Hundreds of women have received a starter in everlasting yeast from Mrs. W. H. Tilson of Bellview community in Hale county, who has been using everlasting yeast 21 years without ever having to have a new starter. She is pictured with a loaf of bread she entered Saturday in the bake show at Plainview. She keeps the yeast in a fruit jar with a lid, which she leaves in the refrigerator but not in a place where it will freeze. She adds potato to the starter to keep it renewed. "It's a slow process. It takes at least 12 hours in the winter to double the bulk of the bread," she said. She and many other women like the everlasting yeast, which became popular when it was difficult for many women to go into town to buy yeast. (Staff Photo.)

South Plains Press Group Meets Here

Approximately 30 members of the South Plains Press association gathered in Lubbock Saturday to attend a luncheon and the Panhandle-South Plains Fair as guests of the fair's directors.

Neil H. Wright, jr., president of the fair, was master of ceremonies at the luncheon, held at the Hilton hotel. He welcomed the visitors and thanked them for their support of the fair.

"We've been coming here so long that we feel that we're a part of Lubbock and that it's our fair," H. G. Richards, president of the association, declared in a brief response.

Miss Joyce Wendborn, "Miss Lubbock" of 1949, entertained with two vocal numbers, accompanied by Jack Burgess at the piano; and the Three Debutantes from the fair's "A Trip Through Wonderland," also sang several numbers, accompanied by Sam Baker at the piano. Don Boldon, emcee for the show, did a juggling and acrobatic act and tap-danced on his hands. Randolph Avery, manager of the show, spoke briefly.

Iowa Man Has Engaged In Melon Growing Business For 56 Years

DES MOINES, Ia., Oct. 1 (AP)— If any man could tell a good melon by thumping and looking at it that man should be Hal Wolford. For 56 years, Wolford has been in the melon business at Conesville which claims the title of "Melon Capital of the Middlewest."

Wolford can recall back at the turn of the century when as many as 800 railroad cars of melons were shipped from the town. They sold then for $50 a carload.

The season this year was near perfect. More than 150 acres of watermelons were grown along with 80 acres of cantaloupes in the sandy flat between the Iowa and Cedar Rivers.

Most of the melons now are shipped by truck. They have been sent this year as far as Kentucky and Georgia.

Coral Doors Through The

Howdy Folks!

Found a bit o' the tropics behind the coral doors when I made my visit to Decorators Studio this week. Those folks are getting mighty fancy—they are having flowers and greenery sent to the Studio direct from Hawaii every week! Josie and Bee have made some beautiful arrangements of "Royal Satin Ti" leaves and "Woodroses." There's always something new going on at Decorators Studio!

While I was there a salesman came in, and all of us sat down on a soft "Harvey Probber" couch to look at the lines he was selling. Sure was fun to look through pictures and see finish samples of pretty furniture and lamps. The most exciting thing he had was a French Provincial line that was really something to rave about. All the pieces were so graceful and important looking. He had about fifteen different finishes to show us with different colored leather tops. One finish was in a mellow gray-green, combined with antiqued coral leather—Oh, my goodness—it was pretty! You will get a chance to see it too, Folks, 'cause they ordered a table for stock in a parchment finish with turquoise leather top. The salesman assured everyone that they would have a complete set of pictures and wood and leather finishes soon. You French Provincial lovers go by and check on that—it should be in pretty soon.

Everyone was happy and busy at my favorite hangout. Talked to Lilie and Lena on the phone just long enough to know they are getting along fine. Their busy fingers certainly make the perfect touches in a home planned with Decorators Studio's help. It's a real pleasure to see the beautiful work of their draperies and their slipcovers that fit like a glove—But then, it's a pleasure to see everything at Decorators Studio and to visit with my favorite folks.

See 'ya there, Broadway and Avenue N.

The Woman's Angle

By Margaret Turner

FALL and winter in Lubbock will be a rich time for lovers of musical entertainment. Artists signed for the Tech Artists course and Lubbock Symphony programs represent the most finely balanced and most talented group ever to be presented here. Detailed stories concerning the programs are to be found in today's paper.

Lubbock Symphony orchestra will start its season with two concerts, Oct. 24-25, presenting Leonard Warren, baritone of the Metropolitan Opera company. Dec. 5, Robert Pipkin, concert master of the symphony, will appear as guest violinist and Mary Lou Colvin, scholarship piano student, will play the famous Rachmaninoff's concerto popularized several years ago by Rubinstein.

The 1950 season opens Feb. 7 with presentation of Nina Luckie, soprano; Bill and Pat Medley, duo piano team, will be presented March 14 and the season will close with a concert featuring Mrs. Frank C. Goodwin and Gordon Gaines.

JACQUES ABRAM, pianist, will appear on the first Artists course Oct. 18; two operas, "Cavalleria Rusticana and "I, Pagliacci" will be presented Nov. 15-16; and Licia Albanese, Met, soprano, sings Dec. 6. The new year will include concerts by Jan Peerce, Met. tenor: Igor Gorin, baritone, who sang here several seasons ago; Vronsky and Babin, piano team, and Isaac Stern, violinist.

The American Legion is sponsoring the Boston Grand Opera touring company in "Carmen" and "La Traviata" Dec. 7-8.

All of the programs will be given at Senior High school auditorium. You'll notice that the operas will be given the same week that the symphony and Tech artist course have concerts, which should set a record for musical entertainments here.

SCATTERINGS

WE'RE glad that Shakespeare did not live to hear people in the 20th century refer to a cheap, doddering old swindler of widows as a "Romeo." . . . So you think you have some friends? Pause right naw and attempt to list the number of friends you could count on to come through with $1,000 fast for an emergency and no questions asked. If you think that $1,000 is high, try the same deal with $500. How'd you come out? . . . Latest wrinkle in recordings are platters used to teach youngsters how to tell time and an album on arithmetic which explains the rudiments of addition, subtraction and multiplication . . . Blue, according to the products sold, is the most popular color in the country today.

After seeing this statistic we decided we're not so smart over here: There are 2,800,000 Americans over 14 who can neither read nor write. . . A Colorado sports good store opens charge accounts for youngsters beginning at the age of eight. The deal is strictly between the store and the moppet and the dealer has found the kids to be strictly honest and exceedingly prompt, in most cases. . . . It's reported that Ingrid Bergman did more than romance on the island of Stromboli, where she made her last picture and the headlines. The village belles now wear their hair in the windblown style of Miss Bergman instead of the carefully braided coiffures of their mothers and grandmothers.

THERE are three black and smoke colored long-haired kittens to be given away at 2105 Twentieth, telephone 4914. . . . Come the holiday season and you will hear a lot of "All I Want for Christmas Is My Two Front Teeth." But Spike Jones won't have it alone this year. Danny Kaye and Patti Andrews have recorded it. Jones' version sold over 1,000,000 discs last year. . . . Lewis Stoelzing, West Texas State orchestra conductor, and former member of the Lubbock Public school faculty and Lubbock Symphony orchestra, has collaborated in furnishing Amarillo High with a new fight song. Written by Stoelzing, it was arranged for band by M. J. Newman, director of the Buffalo Band. Recordings have been made of the composition which is called "Sandie Fight Song."

TO STAGE FAIRY TALE

Children's Theatre Opens Season Here This Week

In the Lubbock Senior High school auditorium Monday and Tuesday at 3:45 p. m., children of the 15 Lubbock elementary schools will view the first 1949 production of the Children's Theater, sponsored by the City Parent-Teacher council.

The three act play to be given is "The Princess And The Swineherd" adapted from the fairy tale of the same name and starring Harriet Henderson as the princess and Robert Bratcher as the swineherd.

The settings are in the palace and at the pigpen of an eccentric and forgetful monarch, King Cheerio (Jimmy Gott), who is Princess Rosalie's father. In the palace, dwell the king; the princess, a very vain and selfish young lady; her ladies-in-waiting who are at her every beck and command, Lisette (Rossi Ann Stiles), Vivien (Theola Leonard); Eisbeth (Palmer June Anderson); Miss Primm, the governess (Bettie Brown); Nimble, the clever and lively court jester (Milton Beach) among others.

When the princess refuses his gifts, the prince of the Little Kingdom disguises himself as a swineherd in charge of the Royal pigpen. In order to test the princess, he sells to her for kisses a magic teapot which plays the Princess's favorite tune and from whose spout all dinners in the countryside may be sniffed, and a talking lute named "Dame Gossip" which tells all the latest gossip.

During the receipt of the kisses, they are discovered by the king and Miss Primm, and the swineherd-prince is banished from the kingdom. Trouble sobers the princess, however, and proves her worth, and in a charming romantic ending she is reunited with the handsome prince.

D. M. Howell, dramatics director of the Children's Theater, is in charge of the play. Kenneth Owen is in charge of sound effects; Marshall Pharr takes care of the lights; and Joyce Rendall is the bookholder. Other members of the Children's Theatre have worked on props, settings, and costumes.

Elementary school children have been purchasing tickets the past week from their schools. Season tickets are $1.00, and single admission is 40 cents. Soon to follow "The Princess and the Swineherd" will be "Hansel and Gretel" on Oct. 31, and Nov. 1, and on Dec. 12 and 13, will be "Jack and the Beanstalk."

TO LIVE IN MEXICO—Mrs. C. H. Gay, who has been visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Blanche Dysart, is leaving today for Mexico City to join her husband, who is with the Department of Agriculture. The former Wanda Lee Dysart, she is a graduate of Lubbock High school.

For a quick and delicious dessert put canned peach halves in a shallow baking dish, pour a little cooking sherry over each, and broil. Serve with a meat dish or as a dessert.

SEASON tickets to Lubbock Symphony orchestra concerts go on sale Monday and continue through the week at the Adair Music store, 1207 Main, under the combined sponsorship of Allegro and Lubbock Music clubs.

Mrs. A. C. Bowden, president of the Lubbock Music club and a member of the board of directors of the symphony, is chairman of tickets sales.

First artist, Oct. 24-25, will be Leonard Warren, baritone who has appeared in 22 starring roles with the Metropolitan Opera company. Warren starred on opening nights in Atlanta, Ga., Dallas and Los Angeles for the traveling Met and then flew to Mexico City to open the opera season with a long and successful engagement. A winner of the Metropolitan Auditions of the Air in 1938, the singer has steadily advanced his career.

LEONARD WARREN

Second event on Dec. 5 will be presentation of Robert Pipkin, concert master and violinist, and Mary Lou Colvin, scholarship piano student at North Texas State college, as guest soloists.

Pipkin, who began the study of violin when he was five, was assistant concert master of the Wichita Falls Symphony before he moved to Lubbock and has appeared as guest soloist with the North Texas State College Symphony orchestra and as soloist with their sinfonietta while on tour.

Miss Calvin, who won a scholarship offered by the Texas Federation of Music clubs through her brilliant playing, will be heard in Rachmaninoff's "Piano Concerto No. 2 in C Minor."

Soprano To Appear

Nina Luckie, soprano, whose home formerly was Hartford, Conn., where she began the study of voice and opera, will appear with the orchestra Feb. 7. She has sung professionally with the Lyric Grand Opera company of New York City and is a Texan by marriage, at present making her home at Brownfield.

Third event will be a duo-piano team, Bill and Pat Medley, who have appeared in over 30 engagements since they teamed with their talented fingers. They are professional students at Tulsa university.

The season will close April 27 with guest appearances of Mrs. Frank C. Goodwin of Lubbock, soprano, and Gordon Gaines, baritone. They will combine their talents in the latter portion of the program and assisted by the orchestra and a chorus of forty will present famous solos, duets and choruses from the beloved music of Victor Herbert and Sigmund Romberg.

Mrs. Goodwin is a mid-westerner and began her singing career by winning the soprano scholarship in a city-wide contest of all the Chicago schools and a solo spot on an NBC program. She has appeared as guest soloist with the University of Chicago choir.

Gaines has had a wide experience in radio, concert stage and television, as well as winning acclaim this past summer when he was a member of the Lake Chautauqua, N. Y. Opera company. This winter he is studying on a full time fellowship with the Juilliard Foundation in New York City.

ADRIAN, Mich., Oct. 1 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Albert Langenderfer were to celebrate the 54th anniversary of a long and happy marriage next month.

They had invited their 12 children and 52 grandchildren to join them Nov. 12 at their farm on the Michigan border near Metamora, O.

Yesterday, the family was called to the old homestead ahead of time. Langenderfer had become seriously ill.

His wife and many of the children and grandchildren, filled with grief, gathered by his bedside. Solemnly, a priest began to administer the last rites of the Catholic church.

As he spoke, Mrs. Langenderfer dropped to the floor.

The marriage of Miss Nancy Jane McIlhaney and Clois Miles Rainwater of Galveston was performed Saturday night at 8 o'clock at First Baptist church. Dr. J. Ralph Grant read a double ring ceremony before a background of palms and woodwardia fern. White chrysanthemums in large baskets tied with blue satin ribbon, and tapers burning in wrought iron candelabra completed the altar arrangement. Large blue and white satin bows and tapers marked the bridal aisle.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Joe S. McIlhaney of 2006 Seventeenth and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Rainwater of Vernon.

Miss Imogene Webster, organist, played "Clair de Lune" and "Through the Years," and accompanied Neil Davidson, cousin of the bride, as he sang, "Thine Alone" and "Because." "The Lord's Prayer" was offered as a musical benediction by Mr. Davidson and "Always" was played by the organist as vows were read.

Mr. McIlhaney gave his daughter in marriage. She wore an ice blue slipper satin gown fashioned with a nylon marquisette yoke edged with beads and mother of pearl banding. Tiny self covered buttons extended from the neckline in the back to the bustle bow. Her long pointed sleeves were fastened with satin buttons and her circular, hooped skirt swept into a chapel length train. Her tiara of beads and mother of pearl held a fingertip veil of illusion and her bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis was carried on a white Bible given to her by her mother. Carrying out tradition, she wore a neckline belonging to her paternal grandmother, a hooped lace petticoat was borrowed from Miss Mary Lou Lindsey, and a penny was worn in her white satin shoe for good luck.

MRS. CLOIS RAINWATER

Attendants To Bride

The bridesmaids, Miss Camille Conely, Miss Laura Jo McCracken, Miss Mary Lou Lindsey and Mrs. Charles McDaniel of Albuquerque, N. M., cousin of the bride, wore powder blue taffeta dresses identical to the maid of honor's. Their French colonial bouquets were of yellow roses.

Jerry Wayne Rainwater of Vernon, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She wore a dress similar to the maid of honor's and carried a dress of net and lace. David Lee McIlhaney, brother of the bride, was ring bearer.

John W. Rainwater of Vernon, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man and George Morris, Harold D. Pickens, W. E. (Gene) Rainwater of Vernon, brother of the bridegroom, and W. Carl Schoeffler were ushers. Dick McIlhaney and Joe S. McIlhaney, jr., brothers of the bride, lighted candles.

The bride's table was decorated with a white bridal cake, white flowers and blue ribbon streamers.

Out-of-town guests were from Vernon, Denton, Albuquerque, Roswell, El Paso, Beaumont, Nacogdoches and Milam.

After a trip to various points of Texas, the couple will be at home in Texas City. Mr. Rainwater is a field executive of the Boy Scouts of America with offices in Galveston. He is a graduate of Vernon High school, Texas Technological college and the National Training school of the Boy Scouts. He served more than four years with the U. S. Air Forces. Mrs. Rainwater is a graduate of Lubbock High school and is a former student of Tech. Both she and the bridegroom have been members of the Baptist Student union.

Girl To Be Allowed To Stay In America

PARSONS, Kan., Oct. 1 (U.P.)—A 25-year-old Czechoslovakian girl was indebted to a group of new friends and a senator today for the right to stay in the United States at least six months longer.

Miss Georgia Zizkovska was notified yesterday that Congress may decide to let her become a permanent citizen.

Miss Zizkovska came to Kansas in July with plans to marry a GI who had been stationed near her home in Czechoslovakia. The wedding plans failed to materialize and she went to work in a Parsons restaurant.

It was there that she met the friends who interceded with Sen. Clyde M. Reed for permission for her stay beyond her Oct. 5 deadline.

If you want to heat hamburgers or Parkerhouse rolls in hot weather without turning on the oven put them in the top part of a double boiler set over simmering water. Turn the rolls once to heat on both sides.

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 1 (AP) — The reborn Czech village of Lidice, wiped out by the Nazis in 1942, has named its main street "United Nations Avenue."

The village is being rebuilt on modern lines with the help of voluntary brigades from other countries. Appreciation of their aid prompted the U. N. name for the main street.

It is often necessary to use two extra tablespoons of liquid for every cup called for in regular recipes when using cake flour to bake a cake in a dry climate.

SHAVING IT FINE

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Oct. 1 (AP)—Metal shavings so thin that they are transparent can be produced on a machine developed here.

The device is the work of Dr. E. F. Fullam of the General Electric laboratories, and it will produce a metal slice 1/500,000th of an inch thick.

Decline In Building Costs Revealed In College Report

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 1 (U.P.) The time to build is now, a Texas A. & M. agricultural engineers report said today.

The reason for fall building, said the report, was the fact that costs were down six to eight per cent from a year ago.

Lumber had dropped about 10 per cent from last year's level; brick was down one per cent; cement prices unchanged, paint lower; heating and plumbing down about two per cent.

The report added that little or no further saving will be made by waiting until next year.

Deficiency In Elementary And Secondary Teachers' Education Revealed By Survey

CHICAGO, Oct. 1, (U.P.) — More than 40 per cent of the 753,933 elementary and secondary public school teachers do not have college degrees, according to a study by the Council of State Governments.

The study, "The Forty-eight State School System," also said that 3.2 per cent of the teachers have had no college preparation at all.

Fourteen states reported having some teachers with no college training. Mississippi, New York, Tennessee, Illinois, North Dakota, Georgia, Nebraska and Colorado each reported more than 1,000 teachers in this category.

More than one-eighth of all teachers employed in the 48 states have less than two years of college teaching, the study said.

California ranks first in the number of teachers with graduate degrees. Fifty-two per cent of its public school teachers hold masters' or higher degrees.

Five other states—Arizona, Indiana, New York, Missouri and Oregon—reported as high as 20 per cent of their teachers with graduate degrees.

Although teachers' salaries have increased sharply over the past 10 years, they have not kept pace with the salaries and wages of other groups, the council reported.

States reporting the highest average annual salaries paid to their teachers in 1947-48 were:

California, $3,500; New York, $3,450; Maryland, $3,335; Washington, $3,313; Arizona, $3,398; Rhode Island, $3,085; New Jersey, $3,073; Connecticut, $3,067; Nevada, $3,018, and Massachusetts, $2,960.

The study added that only 21 states reported a majority of teachers receiving salaries as high as $2,400.

Totally Deaf Motorist Not Deaf To Safety; He's Going To Be Driver Training Teacher

By EDWARD H. HOFFMAN
NEA Staff Correspondent

AMES, Iowa, Oct. 1—Pleasant, 43-year-old Leonard Lau probably is one of the nation's safest drivers, although he's been stone deaf since infancy.

The industrial arts instructor just completed the driver training course at Iowa State College in Ames. Now he hopes to become an instructor in driver training for other deaf persons.

Fully Qualified Driver

During classroom lectures, Lau copied the legible and full notes made by a student who sat next to him. When he had a question to ask, he wrote it on the blackboard.

Tom Hannum, phychology instructor under whom Lau took most of his driver training work, knows a little sign language and "talked" to Lau with his hands. Hannum says his deaf pupil easily mastered correct driving procedure and now is a fully-qualified driver.

Dr. A. R. Lauer, professor of psychology and head of the Iowa State driver training program, has this to say:

"Deaf persons can become equally as good drivers as those with full hearing capacities. The deaf are often better drivers because of their handicap. They are apt to stay more alert at the wheel and to use their other senses to more than compensate for their lack of hearing."

Lau uses mainly his eyes to make up for his loss of hearing. He watches the road more carefully, of course, and makes a lot of use of rear-view mirrors on both the inside and outside of the car.

DEAF LEAD THE DEAF: Leonard Lau tests his wife's field of vision at Iowa State College. He's deaf and she's hard of hearing, so both must rely largely on vision for driving.

Couple Arrested In Arkansas After New Jersey Indictment

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Oct. 1 (U.P.)—Federal authorities were waiting to see today if Harold A. Brand, 60, could make $35,000 bond on charges which FBI agents said involved the concealment of more than $900,000 in Camden, N. J., bankruptcy proceedings.

Brand and his wife, Jane M. Brand, 30, were arrested at a dude ranch near here Thursday. A New Jersey federal grand jury indictment on charges of transporting stolen property and conspiracy to conceal assets in bankruptcy proceedings were returned Thursday against the pair, according to special agent Edwin J. Foltz of the Little Rock FBI office.

Upon the request of the U. S. district court in New Jersey, Brand's bond was raised to $35,000 by U. S. Commissioner Elmer Tacket here. Mrs. Brand made bond of $5,000.

FILIPINO VETS GET PAID

MANILA, Oct. 1 (AP) — The United States will pay Filipino war veterans and their beneficiaries more than $50,000,000 this year.

Brig. Gen. Ralph Lovett, manager of the U. S. veterans administration program in the Philippines, says the payments represent death and disability benefits for Filipino soldiers who fought under Gen. MacArthur.

Payments last year ran to $36,178,000, but about 17,000 were added to the rolls since then.

Maid Of Cotton To Wear Most Outstanding Cotton Wardrobe In History Of The Fiber

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 1 (Special)—The 1950 Maid of Cotton will don the most outstanding cotton wardrobe in the history of the fiber, according to Margot Herzog, fashion director for the National Cotton Council. The lucky Maid will tour the nation as one of the best-dressed young ladies of the year, wearing beautiful cotton originals presented to her by prominent American designers.

Miss Herzog, who is working closely with name designers from New York, California, St. Louis, Dallas, and Florida in planning the Maid of Cotton's wardrobe, reports that the special collection will include new cotton fabrics slated to win an unparalleled position for cotton as a fashion leader for 1950.

Some Making First Appearance

Among the weaves, patterns, and finishes likely to be included—some of which were introduced in recent seasons and will be more siginificant than ever, and others which will make a first appearance—are blistered, wrinkled, or crinkled cottons in double-cloth matelasses, crisp piques in novelty variations, combination waffle-weaves with clustered fine wales, blown-up barathea constructions, permanently wrinkled muslin, plisses in lighter, finer qualities; needlework effects in chambray and broadcloth dobbies, companion schemes with satin stripes; inspired prints from airy effects for voiles to big themes for lightweights and resort fabrics.

Bagpiper plaids in denims, extra-soft and narrow wale corduroys, luxurious velveteen, taffetas, tweeds, damask tone-on-tones, and wrinkle-resistant cottons will be important consideration for the Maid's wardrobe.

To Prove Cotton's Versatility

The lavish wardrobe, representing all style centers of the nation, will prove cotton's versatility as a fashion fabric for all seasons and all occasions. As the Maid takes the fashion story of cotton to the nation, she will demonstrate, too, that cotton is a travel fabric, retaining its fresh appearance despite hard wear and constant packing and unpacking.

Miss Herzog states that the complete list of designers for the 1950 wardrobe will be released when final co-ordination is completed, including accessories for each costume all the way from shoes to cotton hats, handbags, and gloves. In past years the Maid's wardrobe has included such important designer names as Claire McCardell, Ceil Chapman, Dorothy Cox, Adele Simpson, Herbert Sondheim, Louella Ballerino, and Carolyn Schnurer.

To Meet Famous Designers

When the Maid spends a month in New York after her selection, she will meet the famous designers who contribute to her wardrobe, and she will have an opportunity to learn much about fashion photography as she poses for pictures in each costume.

The Maid of Cotton contest is now open to any single girl who is between 19 and 25, born in a cotton-growing state, and at least five feet five inches tall. The 1950 contest and tour, sponsored by the National Cotton Council, will be the twelfth in cotton's history, with six months of exciting travel in store for King Cotton's ambassador.

Entry blanks may be obtained from the National Cotton Council, P. O. Box 18, Memphis 1, Tennessee. Completed applications must be postmarked no later than midnight, December 1.

Experts Say "This Is Not The Year"

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE
INS Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. — Some Paris designers want to drop a hide-bound fashion tradition—girdle-wearing — but American stylists say this is not the season for it!

Concerning girdles, the Americans remain firm. In attitude and latitude.

"This is not the year," they say, "to let loose. With slim skirts and straight figures making a comeback, it's essential for figures to be compact, longer and straighter than ever."

Face Slick Competition

Furthermore, they add, the French designers who are reportedly crusading for a corsetless winter will have to face a slick type of competition. The new slogan for America's undergarment industry is:

"Corset yourself with the uncorseted look!"

The biggest (figuratively) booster for the retention of detention for the womanly curve is Mrs. Annette Simpson, world famous designer and fashion authority.

She points out that a woman can be breathable and pinch-free in this fall's newest foundation garments because the fashionable "silhouette" has changed.

Smooth Figure Sought

There are no more cinched-in waists, fewer tightly-boned diaphragms, and a negleible number of the strained uplift bras.

Mrs. Simpson's rescription of a "well-corsetted 1949-'50 figure" includes smaller, less pointed bra; a long, but not deeply indtented, waistline; smooth, unswelling hips, and a flat line in back.

"Without a corset," she says, "a woman cannot have the new silhouette. French women may go completely uncorseted to suit a whim of fashion. But the vast majority of us the world over prefer to be trimly molded."

Girdles this year will be longer and more betrimmed, giving the woman more for her money. Corselettes (combined bra and girdles) are being turned out in double the quantity of last year, since waistlines are long, smooth and not pinched-in.

Girdles are almost as colorful as outerwear—with a gen-oo-ine (not tearosey) pink as the top highfishion shade. Bronze, navy and brown are runners, with black still the ultra.

As for the fancy fixin's—girdles and corselettes now have such frivolities as: 1) Hearts on the hipline, 2) Thistles over the thigh, and 3) Pretty net panels, strategically located.

Most of the new girdles are being made of nylon, the most flexible and lightweight of confining agents. The chief trimmery is satin applique and silk emboidery.

Although the trend is undoubtedly toward beautifying this first layer of feminine body-covering, few designers are going all out for ruffles at the bottom or lace at the top of a corset—a trend that was popular during the pre-war years.

State Convention Of Texas Gideons Will End In Dallas Today

DALLAS, Oct. 1 (AP)—A stocky, 48-year-old man put a silverplated cornet to his lips at a busy downtown street corner and blew chow call.

Then Otto Drachenberg, ex-Army bugler who now owns an Amarillo building materials firm, put his instrument aside. A companion loosened his coat and spoke.

"It's chow call—for the food that gives the bread of life," said Robert Ferguson, a Dallas food broker.

Ferguson explained that he, Drachenberg and about 17 others on the corner were Gideons, here for their annual state convention.

Gideons are best known for their distribution of Bibles to hotels, schools, jails and servicemen.

To Preach In Churches

Their convention began Thursday night. It will end tomorrow. Many of the Gideons will preach in Dallas churches.

For about an hour, the Gideons took turns speaking, singing and passing out gospel tracts to passersby.

R. L. Saunders, 36, owner of an Amarillo auto parts firm and state Gideon president, was one of those handing out tracts.

J. F. Dellis of Abilene, a civil engineer, was asked if preaching on the street and passing out tracts didn't embarrass the Gideons.

"It would ordinary men," said Dellis. "But we're saved."

Jobless Job-Hunter Gets Job Looking For Job; Discovers Jobs Are Mighty Scarce

By JACK HARR
NEA Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—"There's one thing I have learned in the past few months—jobs are mighty tough to find." So says Howard Hagermann, 23, who calls himself "the most professional-looking unemployed man on Michigan Boulevard."

Hagemann graduated from Beloit (Wis.) college early in June. He started to hunt for a job, but he did it in an especially businesslike manner. First he commandeered a desk and a secretary in his father's office. Then he began a rigorous schedule of making contacts, writing letters, seeing people, filling out forms.

No Prospects Yet

Hagemann's "working day" would rival that of a working-for-pay businessman, and his nattily-dressed form, hurrying along to keep an appointment, is becoming familiar along Michigan Boulevard.

But, after two months without missing a day on the job, Hagemann has no prospects of employment.

"Yep," he sighed, "I work as hard as anybody. There's only one difference—no pay. This routine is really getting me. Sometimes when I'm tired at night I find myself saying to my wife, 'Gosh, honey, I don't feel like going to work tomorrow!'"

Wants To Get Into Advertising

Hagemann attributes his lack of success so far to the fact that he's trying to connect in a tough business—advertising.

"I know what I'm up against when I see men with two to ten years of experience in advertising pounding the pavement just like me. And all sorts of people want to get into the advertising business because they think it's glamorous, which makes it tough on those who are dead serious about it. This has been one of the main concerns of advertising executives. I've talked to."

An Army Air Force veteran, Hagemann continued: "We knew it would be tough before we even got out of school. Only about 20 out of a graduating class of 209 had jobs lined up before graduation. And a much higher percentage than usual—about 30 per cent—went on to graduate school which indicates a desire to avoid getting out in the cold world right now."

He's Not Discouraged

Though he hasn't actually landed a job, Hagemann is not discouraged and considers his eight-hour-day efforts well worth while.

"This has been better than any course I could have taken in school," he said. "I've been able to meet and talk to important people with advertising agencies and trade journals, radio and television stations all across the city. When I couldn't get anywhere talking about jobs I was always able to get some good advice. I feel now that I have a clearer picture of the field.

"Something has to break pretty soon, though. My wife and baby daughter have to eat!"

Hagemann is confident that he will get a job soon. "If nothing else, I will try to get a laboring job in a television or radio studio. That way I can learn the practical end of the business with an eye to future advertising possibilities.

"But," he added with a rueful smile, "I hope I don't end up laboring over on the railroad docks as a stevedore!"

Investigation Of Gambling In New Orleans To Be Continued

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 1 (AP)—An investigation of gambling activities in New Orleans by the parish grand jury has recessed until Thursday.

Jury Foreman L.J. Gottschalk said that "the matter is open and we will continue our discussion next week."

The special session was called Thursday after reports were published that racing handbooks were operating wide open again.

AWARDED SCHOLARSHIP—Richard Chamberlain, who returned to his native New York after completing his service in the Army Air Forces, has been granted a three-year scholarship in any school in that state, awarded by competitive examinations. The young tenor was stationed at Lubbock Army Air field during the war and sang in Lubbock churches and on a number of civic programs. This summer he continued his vocal study on a scholarship at the Opera Workshop at Columbia university and prepared character roles in opera with Peter Paul Fuchs, one of the assistant conductors of the Metropolitan Opera company. Chamberlain also coaches and plays piano accompaniment for young Mat stars.

FORD AGREEMENT BOOSTS PLAN

Union Labor Leaders Expected To Press Demands For Pension

BY JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 — The problem of pensions for workers now has moved into the front row of labor unions' thinking. You can be sure it will stay there.

John L. Lewis gave the problem a big push through the pension plan he got for coal miners from the mine owners over the past three years. It called for a pension of $100 a month.

This became a goal for other labor leaders who, if they wanted to retain leadership, could hardly seek less for their people than Lewis won for his.

Reuther Gets Pension

Now Walter Reuther, head of the CIO Auto workers, has obtained a $100-a-month pension for his members from the Ford Motor company. The CIO Steelworkers are trying to get the same from the steel firms.

So the Lewis and Reuther pension plans have set a goal and a challenge for other labor leaders. Therefore, it's logical to expect a continued drive for pensions in the years ahead.

Then, once the pension door is wide open, will come the drive for better pensions. This will explain why.

Under the Reuther plan Ford will not hand out a $100 monthly pension to his retired workers. He'll give them only the difference between $100 and whatever Social Security pension they get from the government.

(The average Social Security pension being paid a retired worker in this country today is around $25 a month. The maximum anyone can get is $44.80. A retired worker's wife, when she reaches 65, gets a pension of her own, half as much as her husband's.

(So the wife of a man who got the maximum of $44.80, would get $22.40, giving the couple a combined pension of $67.20. But Ford pays a pension to a retired worker only, not his wife.)

Ford Pays Diference

Since the maximum Social Security payment is $44.80, the least Ford has to pay a retiring worker is $63.20 to bring his total pension to $100.

But Congress may pass a law —probably not before next year— increasing Social Security pensions as much as 70 per cent.

Suppose that happens and a retiring Ford worker — who under the present law got the maximum Social Security pension of $44.80 —got a Social Security pension of $76.

What would that mean to Ford? Ford would have to pay less to bring the worker's total pension up to $100. If a man gets $44.80, Ford has to pay him $63.20. If he gets $76, Ford pays him only $24.

Would the auto workers in the Ford plant be content to let Ford's contribution to the pension plan grow less because the government pension got bigger? Or would they want the same — or a larger — contribution from Ford to make the total pension larger?

The present agreement with Ford runs till 1955 and may not be reopened till then.

Pension Hike Seen

But between now and 1955 the government pension may be increased.

If that happens, union leaders, with the job of trying to get as much for their members as they can, will undoubtedly attempt to push up the total size of their pension where and when they can.

The President's three-man special board which studied the steel dispute with the CIO gave union leaders ammunition by holding that the steel companies could afford a pension for their workers.

The board also gave union leaders ammunition for the future when they said this in their report:

"Even if the increases (in the Social Security pension) now being discussed in Congress were enacted, they still would not materially increase the purchasing power of workers' pensions over the original purchasing power provided in 1935."

The board said the present Social Security pension rates, fixed back in 1935, were not high enough even then to provide a minimum living standard and are far less than sufficient now, since living costs have risen so much.

DOROTHY HERBERT

Dorothy Herbert One Of Featured Stars Of Clyde Beatty Circus Coming To City

They call her the madcap rider of the Clyde Beatty Circus—the Eva Tanguay of the side-saddle, the equestrian "whirling dernish," but Dorothy Herbert, triple star equestrienne of the huge Clyde Beatty circus coming to Lubbock Oct. 11 for performances at 2:30 and 8 p. m. on east Broadway at rear of Parkview lodge, is first of all the most thoroughly schooled rider ever to electrify American Big Top artists.

Dorothy, who heads the high school and jumping horse displays this year, is but 26 years old, yet she has been in the saddle 14 years. She was taught horsemanship and equitation by masters practically from infancy.

She's Not Forgotten

The foremost trainers in the circus world, including her father, vied with one another to make her the finest riding star of the age. She has more than justified their efforts, for nobody who sees her breathtaking feats forgets her.

In addition to Clyde Beatty, the most daring wild animal trainer the world has ever known, and his sensational wild animal display, the 1949 program lists several of the most outstanding spangleland attractions of the present day.

Circus patrons will see the Great Thommens, a troup of sensational high-perch performers, in their first tour of this country; Harriett Beatty, the most daring woman wild animal trainer of all times in a display featuring a giant elephant and a ferocious tiger, two of the jungle's deadliest enemies; the flying LaForms, high-trapeze performers; Rita Nevarra, the death-defying aerial star from France and many other top-flight features.

The performances, scheduled to begin at 2:30 and 8 p. m. each day, open with a gorgeously produced processional pageant, "The Circus On Parade" in which great masses of people and animals take part.

GOAL IS REACHED

HOUSTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—A goal of $163,000 for the Houston Symphony orchestra has been reached, Stanley Shipnes, chairman of fund raising campaign, announced.

THREE NEW PATIENTS

GONZALES, Oct. 1 (AP)—Three young patients were admitted to Gonzales Warm Spring foundation yesterday for treatment of polio. They are Joyce Marie Roach, 17, Miles; Helen Jones, 18, San Angelo, and Samuel David Brooks, 10 months, Odessa. Judy Tietz, 9, of Fredericksburg was admitted earlier this week.

One out of four children repeats the first grade, usually because he is slow in learning to read says a Temple University professor.

OCTOBER ALLOWABLES BOOSTED

Coal Strike And Approaching Winter Hiking Oil Production

BY MAX B. SKELTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOUSTON, Oct. 1 — Striking coal miners and approaching winter are aiding the oil industry in recovering from early year production slumps.

Domestic crude output last week jumped upward an average of 30,100 barrels daily. Refineries increased operations by 1.2 per cent over the previous week.

Three States—Oklahoma, Louisiana and Kansas—this week boosted October crude production allowables by a total of 112-972 barrels daily. Texas already had upped its October allowables by 32,044 barrels daily.

There are indications an even larger Texas increase will be set when November's allowables are determined October 12.

Crude purchasers have been asked to make careful estimates of their November needs and advise the Texas Railroad commission of their findings this week.

Increased Demand Seen

Said Lieut. Gen. Ernest O. Thompson, senior member of the commission:

"It is entirely possible there will be increasing demand for Texas crude in the months of November and December . . . the coal miners are turning out to be oil's best salesmen. It would seem wise to get ready for a big demand for oil."

He said the oil industry must be ready in that "the public will tolerate no shortages of heating oil this winter.

Daily domestic crude output still ye[ar]me 470,000 barrels below a ing [fo]o. Oilmen still are clamor- limitati[o]vernment action toward ports. T[he] of foreign crude im- Wednesday Bureau of Mines on imports the [re]ported that these of the year apt[o] seven months 000 barrels, abo[ut]imated 87,580,- above the same 194[8] 31.2 percent

Import Cuts Pro[po]sed

Rep. Ed Gossett (D-[Te]d week proposed legislation [to] this imports to 5 per cent of do[me]stic production. Such a plan, in [th]e form of a proposed amendment to the Reciprocal Trade Agreements act, was defeated two weeks ago in the Senate, 40-41.

Foreign oil operations received a boost this week as the Economic Cooperation administration granted $21,420,500 in Marshall plan money for expansion of three French and two British refineries.

ECA also released a preliminary report on the findings of a survey of future production plans of all oil companies operating outside North America and Soviet dominated nations.

The report indicates there is to be a strong upward trend continuing through 1953.

An ECA petroleum branch official emphasized that the survey has not been analyzed, but he added:

"It appears there will be a world surplus in 1952 and 1953."

Statistics Reported

Earl Irving, United States geological survey expert, has predicted the Philippine islands soon will be producing oil . . . A Kansas judge has upheld the authority of the state's corporation commission to set the price of wellhead gas in the huge Hugoton field . . . the Senate interior committee on Tuesday begins a hearing on several tidelands ownership bills.

Bureau of Mines; aviation gasoline demand totaled 25,539,000 barrels the first seven months of the year, an increase of 9.3 per cent from the same period last year; refined petroleum products pipeline deliveries over the seven months totaled 193,537,000 barrels, 11.5 per cent above the 1948 period . . . American Petroleum Institute: oil and gas leases at the end of 1948 totaled 206,567,000 acres, with landowners and royalty interest holders receiving bonus payments and royalties of more than $1,200,000,000 during the year.

Tourists Use Every Method Of Getting Into Movie Studio

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 1.—So far no tourist has used a Trojan horse to get within film studio walls. But they've tried about everything else.

Take if from Bab Callender. He guards the gate that leads through the publicity department and into MGM studios.

"Everybody wants to get into the plant," he says. "I get well-dressed men who look as though they have the highest Dun and Bradstreet ratings in the country. And men with tattered coats and holes in their soles."

Want Screen Tests

Getting inside a movie studio is almost as hard as peeking into the Kremlin—if you don't have a friend or relation within the industry. That's why the theme song of Callender's job is "no, no, 1,000 times no."

"People think I make up the rules," he remarked. "They think they can wheedle or bribe me and gain entrance."

The question he hears most often is "may we see the studio?" Next comes "how about a screen test?"

"I pass the buck on that one," said Callender. "I send them next door to the casting department. They can hear the 'no' there."

Scads of job seekers drop in. They prefer acting jobs, but nowadays they'll take anything. They seem to think if they can land any studio position, stardom will inevitably result.

Girls Seek Jobs

"During the war, we had to replace our messenger boys with girls," Callender recalled. "The reception room overflowed with young applicants. When we asked if they were interested in acting, the answer was always 'yes.'"

The word got around that the studio didn't want its messagetoters to be budding actresses, so the girls — wearing inch-thick makeup—began murmuring "dear, no, we want to be stenographers."

Naturally, healthy gams are important to messengers, so Callender always asked applicants: "How are your legs?" one girl misunderstood. She lifted her skirt and glided around the room like a Powers model.

READS TESTAMENT IN JAIL—Sandra Peterson reads from a Testament in the McCulloch county jail in Brady where she is being held on charges of murdering Lewis E. Patterson, Brady real estate dealer, on August 25. A McCulloch county grand jury recently "passed for further investigation" Sandra's case. A birth certificate in her home town of Somerville, Mass., shows she will not be 18 years of age until December 11, 1949. (AP Photo).

Postman And Small Son Die In Plunge From High Building

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Oct. 1 (AP)—A 44-year-old postman tossed his five-year-son off the top floor of a 14-story building here yesterday, then took the plunge himself.

The bodies of Claude S. Hatton and his son, David, landed a few feet from the city's busiest downtown corner at a time when the sidewalk was crowded with shoppers and workers on their lunch hour.

Prescription Found

Hatton's body hit the pavement close to Miss Helen Adkins of Barboursville, a passerby. Police said every bone in the little boy's body appeared to be broken by the 220-foot fall.

Hatton had been absent from work because of illness, a superior in the postoffice reported. However, his physician said his ailment had been diagnosed as simple indigestion.

Medical Group Issues Warning On Eating Of Polar Bear Meat

CHICAGO, Oct. 1 (U.P.) — The American Veterinary Medical Association has just issued a warning which is sure to interest almost everyone.

"Watch out," says the association, "for polar bear and walrus meat."

It seems the association is concerned about refugees from Indian summer heat who venture northward. It doesn't want any of them getting trichinosis from raw or rare polar bear steak.

PRIDE OF WOMEN'S DIVISION

Wife Of Secretary Brannan Is Valuable Speaker For Demos

By MARTHA KEARNEY
INS Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1—Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan is one real, live husband who is actually happy that his wife is the talkingest woman in town.

Tiny, tireless Eda Brannan has made more political speeches than any other wife of an administration official. Her warm and vivacious personality has also made her just about the most popular of the official wives.

She is, too, the pride and joy of the women's division of the Democratic national committee which boasts that during the last campaign Mrs. Brannan was invited back for an encore everywhere that she made a campaign speech.

On Way To Denver

To realize the significance of that record you have to understand not only the passive resistance with which most political speakers are greeted but the fact that the trim brunette spoke in almost every state within a few months.

Right now Mrs. Brannan is on her way to Denver to fulfill a two-week schedule of speaking dates in Colorado. She climbed into the family car and got underway shortly after making a speech to mark Democratic women's day.

She is breaking her trip today in order to watch the football game between Northwestern university and the University of Pittsburgh.

The agriculture secretary, who has himself been making speeches in Kentucky and New Jersey in the last few weeks, hopes to meet her in time to see the game and finish the trip with her.

While in Colorado, both husband and wife will make speeches on behalf of the Truman administration.

Appeal Is Slated

Eda Brannan will speak to women's groups for the main part. She plans to tell her audiences that the 1950 election campaign affecting 435 congressional seats is actually underway at the present time.

She will appeal to the women to study the issues carefully but, above all, to get out the vote on election day.

There is no likelihood that Mrs. Brannan will be at a loss for a few thousand words on that subject for the next year or so—and her husband loves it.

Venezuela's newest lady diplomat would need a duenna with nerves of steel if the popular conception of Latin-American womanhood had any basis in fact.

Petite, feminine Ana Luisa Branger, the Venezuelan cultural attache in Washington, holds a pilot's license, is lightning on skis and, in the artistic department, can write poetry and paint with the best of them.

To Enter Races

Immediately on her arrival in the capital she arranged to spend her winter weekends at Sun Valley, Ida., and Mont Tremblant in Canada competing in ski races.

Senorita Branger was the first woman in Venezuela ever to hold a pilot's license and one of a very few aviators permitted to do acrobatic flying.

She has recently been notified that her most recent poetic works are being included in an anthology now being printed in Uruguay—surely a dramatic change of pace.

Regretfully and demurely, however, the little senorita with the sparkling eyes admits that with one thing and another she has never learned to cook.

As though anyone would worry about a little thing like that.

Trips Into Australian "Wilds" May Be Available To Tourists

SYDNEY, Australia, Oct. 1 (AP)—The "top end" of Australia's northern territory may be seen by Americans who want to get away from it all, if present plans work out. Plane and motor trips into the wild territory are being worked out.

E. J. Connellan, an airline operator, says wild Malayan type buffalo swarm in the area. Crocodile hunting is also said to be good sport.

Incidentally, the crocodiles make good hunting for commercial hunters. Some hunters are reported to earn 3000 pounds in six months by selling skins. It is estimated that this sum would buy as much in Australia as $25,000 would in the United States.

PRICE FOR SHOW

Recently the Prague Karlin Umoni Lidu theater put on a performance with two big dance bands called "entertainment for five bottles."

Relics Of Early-American Man Uncovered By Anthropology Students In New Mexico

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 1. (U.P.)—Eight anthropology students from the University of New Mexico won a battle with rattlesnakes and desert drouth this summer to uncover a 1,500-year-old anthropological jackpot in New Mexico.

The students worked with tools ranging from picks and shovels to delicate dental instruments to salvage relics of early-American man from a 30-foot pit in a remote area 40 miles west of Albuquerque.

Anthropologists throughout the nation have agreed on the importance of the discoveries made by the venturesome students, who spent several weeks in a four-tent camp five miles from the nearest water supply.

Sigfried Sandberg, anthropology rgaduate who directed the excavating said more than 15 rattlesnakes were shot at the diggings. Water was carried to the site by truck from a railroad siding five miles away.

Hit Jackpot

The pit yielded 3,000 arrow and spear shafts dating back to 500 A. D., the remains of a prehistoric mastodon, hundreds of beads, and shells brought to the Indian village by traders from the Gulf of Mexico 1,000 miles away.

Dr. Paul A. Reiter, director of field trips at the university, said the find posed one mystery. Only 30 points were found among the thousands of fragments of arrow and spear shafts.

The discrepancy suggests the possibility that skilled craftsmen were kept prisoner in the cave to make the wooden rods.

Reiter said the discovery will require more than a year for analysis and classification. Scientific work of the University of New Mexico will be augmented by special tests at the University of Chicago and the Smithsonian at Washington.

The students who took part were Ethel Nurge, Union City, N. J.; Doris Gruber, Utica, N. Y.; Anne Willis, Stanford, N. Y.; Ruth Schmidt, East Aurora, N. Y.; Dave Brugge, Jamestown, N. Y.; James Alexander, Clemson, S. C., and Fred Sanderson, Red Bank, N. J.

B-12 Vitamins Slash Poultry Feed Prices

ST. PAUL, Oct. 1 (U.P.)—Simple, low-cost poultry rations enriched with vitamin B-12 soon will be available throughout the nation, University of Minnesota research workers announced.

Dr. George M. Briggs, associate poultry professor, has directed a year-long project on B-12, an animal protein factor acclaimed by scientists everywhere.

Briggs said he has found B-12 concentrate cheaper than either fish meal or meat scraps, the main sources of animal protein today. He said the vitamin also standardizes the amount of animal protein in the feed, thus increasing efficiency.

Studies to date, he said, show that $2.50 worth of B-12 will do the same job as $7.50 worth of fish meal and meat scraps per ton of feed.

Briggs started his experiments on animal protein factor with 2,500 chicks. Six-weeks-old chicks that received the B-12 ration weighed nearly one pound. Those that did not receive the ration weighed only half that, he said.

B-12 is not necessarily better than other animal proteins, Briggs pointed out. In a concentrated form, however, he said, it is cheaper than "often-scarce" items such as meat scraps and fish meal suitable for adding to chicken feed.

SPOONER NEVER DID BETTER

MELBOURNE, Australia (U.P.)—I. J. Greenwood, president of the students' representative council at Melbourne University, will have a time living down his words of welcove to overseas students. Flustered Greenwood called them "overstewed seedents."

REOPENING OF SCHOOLS CREDITED

Unemployment In U. S. Is Cut For Second Month In A Row

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—The reopening of schools and a spurt in production were credited today with cutting down unemployment in September for the second month in a row.

While much of the 338,000 decline estimated by the census bureau was traced to youngsters who gave up the job hunt to resume school work, the bureau found "some evidence" that adult unemployment shrank too.

On the other hand, "the return to school of numerous summer workers" also caused a 536,000 drop in employment from the 1949 peak reached in August.

Totals for September were placed at 59,411,000 civilian employed and 3,351,000 unemployed. With 1,459,000 armed forces personnel added to civilian workers, the number of jobs was 60,870,000.

Trend Gratifying

"Gratifying," Secretary of Commerce Sawyer commented, adding that the census bureau report "further bolsters accumulating evidence that general business conditions are improving."

Along that line, the Agriculture department reported that farm prices went up an average of almost two per cent from mid-August to mid-September — the first upturn since March.

Despite the rise—which was led by meats, truck crops, poultry, eggs and dairy products—the level of farm prices still is 14 per cent below a year ago.

But some declines in the wholesale prices of agricultural products were reported by the bureau of labor statistics for the week ending Sept. 27. Wholesale prices as a whole, the bureau said, dropped 1.1 per cent in that week, bringing them 9.2 per cent below the corresponding week of last year.

Drops were noted in hog, steer and cotton wholesale prices, while grain prices climbed slightly.

Farm Work Declines

In the employment picture, the census bureau said non-agricultural industries accounted for 51,254,000 of the nation's workers in September.

Employment in that field was off only 187,000 from August—the month in which seasonal job opportunities generally hit their high point.

Farm employment, at a total of 8,158,000, was down 349,000 from August. The census bureau said slow maturity of the cotton and tobacco crops had slowed the usual demand for harvest workers when these figures were obtained in the week ended September 10.

The job situation stood out more clearly when examined from the standpoint of the 12-month period which ended with September than it did when surveyed against the month-to-month ups and downs.

Over the course of an entire year, the number of job seekers rose by 551,000 while the number of jobs available was decreasing by 901,000. The two developments combined to produce a 1,452,000 increase in unemployment.

The decrease in available jobs was greater on the farm than in industry. Farm job opportunities were down 565,000, while non-farm openings fell only 336,000.

Brazil sold $14,286,000 of carnauba wax in 1948, mostly in the United States.

Veteran's Student Allowance Goes Whole Lot Farther In Mexico Than It Does In U. S.

By LAWRENCE F. STUNTZ
Associated Press Staff Writer

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 1 — Take it from Joe Burstein, that veteran's student allowance goes a whole lot farther in Mexico than it does in the U. S.

Burstein, studying Spanish literature at the Mexico City College, is only one of about a thousand veterans now enrolled in schools in Mexico. The U. S. government pays their tuition and gives Burstein, his wife, Geraldine, and young daughter, Delilah, $120 a month to live on.

Served 31 Months Overseas

Burstein won his right to the grant by 31 months of overseas duty in North Africa and Europe with the 591st Engineer Regiment. Contact with Spanish-speaking people in North Africa gave him the idea for his intended career—teaching Spanish in U. S. schools. He had had three years of Spanish in high school "but I really learned to speak it in Africa."

He was born in Shanghai 26 years ago, the son of a refugee White Russian furniture auctioneer. His father brought him to the U. S. when he was 10, stopping two years along the way in Ciudad Juarez, Mexico. But he had forgotten all the Spanish he learned there. He grew up in Marin City, Calif., near San Francisco.

1,038 Pesos A Month

After the war he went back to Marin City, married his wife, Geraldine Percy.

Burstein's allowance amounts to 1,038 pesos a month. Of this, 300 pesos—about $35—goes for a penthouse apartment and another 300 goes for food. Other household expenses take up 150 pesos more and the rest goes for books, clothing and incidentals.

The penthouse apartment has a big terrace where Delilah plays and a good view of the snow-capped Ixtaccihuatl and Popocatapetl mountains. The couple had a series of servants, but couldn't find one they liked. They finally gave up and Geraldine does her own housework now. It's harder than it would be in the U. S., since she washes vegetables in a germacide. And water has to be boiled for drinking. They shop in a super-market, but buy Mexican products to make the food money go farther.

Walks To School

Burstein's day goes something like this:

Up at 6:30; breakfast on orange juice, oatmeal, toast and cocoa or tea. Walk a mile to school and classes until 1 p. m.

Then home for a heavy lunch—the Bursteins find that in Mexico City's 7,500-foot altitude their main meal should be in the middle of the day. Lunch is usually meat and two vegetables and dessert. Also on account of the altitude, a siesta is necessary.

Takes In Sports

After that, Joe either studies or goes to a sports club nearby for basketball, swimming, tennis or the Spanish game of "fronton," known in Cuba as "jai-alai." He says he's not very good at it.

Supper is a light meal, frequently just tea and cookies or cake. After that comes more study until bedtime.

Burstein will graduate this year and then go to San Francisco State College for a year of pedagogical training to get his teacher's certificate.

Mexico has more GI students than any other foreign country except France. There are 1,322 in France. Mexico, incidentally, is the only Latin American country which has a formal "veterans' attache" in its embassy.

WORKING CLOTHES

CHICAGO, Oct. 1 (AP) — Dr. James M. Lively, pastor of the First Baptist Church, made a good investment back in 1911. He paid $8 for a cap and gown, wore them while he got his diploma from James Millikin university, then laid them away carefully. He figured they would come in handy. Since then the academic attire has been worn eight times by members of the family. The latest was Dr. Lively's son-in-law, Harold Christensen, who recently received a degree at the University of Chicago.

Sixty-five per cent of the pedestrians killed in cities, according to a survey, were using the roadway in an unauthorized or unsafe manner.

BIBLES FOR THE WORLD—IT MAKES HARD WORK

Translation Of The Bible Into Many Languages Still Goes On; Bible Still Unwritten In 1,000 Languages

By SHERRY BOWEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 1—Suppose you tried to translate the Bible into a language in which you could find no word for "love."

That was the problem one man faced,, says Miss Margaret Hills, librarian of the American Bible Society. He finally heard a mother use a word when she talked to her child. She said, "This is the word I use when I mean that I care so much for this little girl of mine that when I think of what is going to befall her when she grows up it hurts me." He had found his word. It meant, literally, "To care so much it hurts."

And how would you translate the vines of the Bible in a land where vines are useless? In one language "tasting death" would mean "chewing a corpse." In another "will of the flesh" denotes a prostitute. In another, a word in one tone means "to laugh." When another tone is used it means "to weep."

The man who first writes the Bible in a language has one of the hardest tasks in the world, says Dr. Eugene A. Nida, the Bible Society secretary for versions. "He is handling the very souls of his fellow men."

Would Have No Meaning

Some people have no food made of wheat. Thus "Give us this day our daily bread" would have no meaning. Dr. Nida says ancient Greeks lay down to eat. In the Greek text people "recline to eat." The English text says they "sat down to eat." In the same way texts must gain meaning from the life of the people. Sometimes they have no beds, no chairs. Thus, in some cases, the throne of God becomes a "stool." In one tribe men sit on stools, but rest their feet on sticks. And "God's footstools" becomes "God's footstick."

Last year, the American Bible Society had almost 10 million Bibles and parts of Bibles printed, says Dr. Eric M. North, the secretary. The society works with the United Bible Societies in which 24 groups from all over the world, distributed 17,508,484 Bibles and parts of Bibles. The society also works with 40 denominations in America. Church missionaries use society books. Church funds help the society. Church men do much of the translating.

The most important work of the society is not at Bible House on Park Avenue here, says Dr. North. Nor is it found in other Bible Houses in many cities of the world. "The major work is done where the man without the Scriptures is met by the man with the Scriptures."

That meeting may come on the frozen tundra north of the Arctic Circle. It may be in the rain and heat of the jungle or among the towering peaks of the Andes. It may be in the streets and offices of great cities or between the corn or cotton rows on the farm.

But for those meetings to take place there must be the books. It may be the whole Bible. It may be a translation of one of the Gospels or just the Sermon on the Mount.

In some cases, salesmen from the society are in the field long before missions are there. In other cases faith comes only after men have read their Bibles for themselves in their own language. Hence the need for translations. Some part of the Bible has been translated into 1,108 languages. These languages are used by nine tenths of the people of the world, says Miss Hill.

But there is still much work to be done. Most people in the world have never heard that there is a published Word of God, she says. And there are still about 1,000 languages which do not have Bibles and in which they may some day be printed. Some part of the Bible is put into about 10 new languages a year.

Another vital part of the work is to teach people to read so that they can read their Bibles once they are in print, says Miss Hill. And of the 1,108 languages in which the Bible has been translated, most were first written down for the Bible. Thus, she sees one phase of the work as making men more modern. They are given a written language and taught to read it.

"And the Bible in print is a machine product," says Dr. North. "Often we try to take it to countries where people are primitive or whose economy is farm centered. It can have a fabulous cost for a man who never sees more than $70 a year."

A milder example is Brazil. There, he says, a day's wage is 70 cents. A Portuguese Bible there costs $1.25. In America an English Bible can be printed for $1.00 or less. "If a man here paid in proportion his Bible would cost $14 or $15 or more. This is one of the reasons for Bible societies," he says. "We try to wipe out some of that difference."

He says the sales price of the books pays about one third of the society's costs. Some Bibles are given to poor people who want them. This is done often for those who lost all in the war. But most Bibles are sold. The aim is to make people want te Bible. If they pay, they show they want it even if they pay less than the cost.

World Shortage Exists

And in spite of all the work of Bible societies there is a world wide shortage of Bibles, Dr. North says. From China, Japan, Germany, from jungles, mountains and plains men are calling for more books. In China last year Bibles were flown in to areas cut off by Red drives. "Please send us scriptures," was the word sent out from Loyang which had been cut off for months. "Bibles were put ahead of money to relieve their poverty," says Dr. North.

There are even black markets in Bibles, he says. Sometimes ment write to Americans whose names they learn and beg for Bibles. In some cases they use the Bibles they get just as something to sell. The latest rash of such letters has come from Liberia. But other countries may get the idea. Dr. North suggests that those who wish to give Bibles do so through their own church or through a Bible society they know to be reliable.

Man's Double-Talk Puzzle To Doctors And Acquaintances

By PETER HAYES
United Press Staff Writer

SPOKANE, Wash., Oct. 1.—Speaking to Ronald Sversen, lock and safe salesman, is a painful operation; he talks right along with you, just like like this this. Only faster.

Ever since he was a nipper of seven, Severson has been going around having the last word on everybody. Last by about a 50th of a second. Briefly Severson can talk, sing or yodel right along with anyone, no matter what language is used—from French to Norwegian, from pig-Latin to tobacco auctioneer.

"I don't know how I picked it up," he says. "I guess it was just a kid trick. But it didn't go over too well with my folks after the first few times so I didn't get much practice at home."

Severson tells how it used to be great sport during high school assemblies to talk right along with the guest speaker from his seat in the audience.

"That is, it was sport until the principal decided to let me sit in the office whenever we had an assembly," he grinned.

Puzzles Medicos

Psychiatrists and neurologists shake their heads when this 33-year-old human echo "gives 'em the works," as he puts it. They offer all sorts of explanations, i. e., "you have a short cut between your hearing and speaking organs; you are gifted with mental telepathy, etc."

"But then they say those things are impossible and they don't know how I do it," Severson says. "I think I just have extra sharp hearing."

One of his favorite gags is to get himself picked for an audience-participation radio show in which the master of ceremonies considers himself capable of coping with anybody.

"The first thing that happens when I start talking along with him is the quickened interest of the engineers. They think they're getting a feed-back and go nuts trying to find it."

When Severson was single, women were his favorite victims.

"First they'd get nervous, then they'd get flustered, then some would get hysterical until tears streamed down their face as I talked along with them. Invariably they would swear I was reading their minds. Unfortunately, I couldn't.

Severson claims to have steered at least four toss-pots back onto the path of sobriety.

"I'd give 'em the business when they were pretty far gone and you'd be surprised how quickly they'd swear off at least for that night," he said. "But then sometimes I'll talk along with a drunk and he'll whirl on the bartender and accuse him of slipping him a mickey."

East Texas C-C Sponsors High School Chambers Of Commerce

LONGVIEW, Oct. 1 (INS)—The East Texas chamber of commerce has announced a plan to set up high school chambers of commerce.

Hubert M. Harrison, general manager of the E. T. C. C., believes that such a plan would satisfy the need to "train the young people in civic endeavor and leadership" and would also serve to "assist our young people in citizenship training, vocational guidance and community development."

Henry M. Bell, Tyler, president of the East Texas Chamber, has urged school people of East Texas to give the program full support. He has invited officials of all high school chambers to attend the annual convention in Tyler next April.

Actress Jean Wallace Obtains Divorce From Franchot Tone

The action severed the last tie of a marriage that took place in 1941 and it apparently put an end to Hollywood reports that the couple might reconcile.

Custody of the couple's two children, Pascal, 6, and Thomas, 3, has been granted to Tone.

War Vet Joins Girls In Child Training Class At University

WACO, Oct. 1. (AP)—They laughed when Big Bill Galt, a 25-year-old war veteran sat down in home economics class in child training at Baylor university.

But Bill was serious. He's the father of a two-year-old daughter. He's also the first man in Baylor's 105-year-old history to ever take a home economics course.

Out of hundreds of contestants in the Texas Farm and Home Egg Laying Contest ending July 31, sponsored by the Texas Poultry Council and conducted by the Poultry Extension Service at A & M College, laying flocks fed on the Red Chain Feeding Program finished in the first eight places . . . and in 11th and 15th places.

This again confirms leadership of Red Chain Feeds.

Red Chain Egg Mash is properly balanced for both body maintenance and top egg production. That's why feeders who want high production in contest competition, or for greater profits, choose Red Chain. They know they can depend on Red Chain Quality.

The 1949-50 contest begins October 1, 1949. Start your flock on Red Chain Feed not later than December 1, 1949.

Army Sets New Personnel Plan

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP) — The Army is setting up a new program designed to give all its personnel equal treatment and opportunity, regardless of race or color.

The plan was announced last night by Secretary of the Army Gray, with the approval of Secretary of Defense Johnson.

The Navy and Air Force already have put similar programs into effect in line with President Truman's order to break down discrimination in the military forces, but a plan previously submitted by the Army had been turned down by Johnson.

Under the program disclosed by Gray the Army will not follow the lead of the other two services in scattering its negro personnel among white units.

All To Get Chance

Negroes, including those in existing units, will have the opportunity to learn those skills previously unavailable to them. Hereafter, negroes who acquire skills will be assigned to positions where their specialities may be applied in the manner most useful to the Army."

Under the five-point program—

1. All qualified personnel, regardless of race or color, will get a chance at military occupational specialties; 2. the same applies to selection for Army schools; 3. All promotions in the career guidance program will be decided by Army-wide competition without regard to race or color; 4. ROTC school units will remain intact for summer training, regardless of race or color; 5. a board of senior Army officers will keep tab on the program, suggesting changes if they seem indicated.

"Peace Campaign" Is Launched By Russian Press In Germany

BERLIN, Oct. 1 (AP)—The entire Russian press in Germany broke out today in a chorus of editorials for peace.

The drive was based on tomorrow's Soviet celebration of "world peace day." Rallies are planned in the Soviet zone and in the satellite countries to the east.

MANEUVERS SET

Teaching Of Safety To Children Urged

AUSTIN, Oct. 1 — "Teach your child safety as you would good manners."

This was the plea today of Mrs. Jud Collier, state safety chairman, Texas Federation of Women's clubs, one of the sponsoring organizations of the "Back to School Safely" month campaign in Texas.

"Up to a certain age," Mrs. Collier said, "the child really knows very little about what is expected of him in traffic. But, by school age, if he is still ignorant of safety rules, the parents are criminally negligent in his training."

"The Texas Federation of Women's clubs points out that more than 200 school children are killed each year in Texas in traffic accidents and 6,000 injured. Out of every three children killed in accidents each year, one is a traffic victim.

"For his own sake the child must be taught safety, but even then the motorist must also realize that a child is a creature of whims and prepare for the forgetfulness and carelessness of immaturity," Mrs. Collier said.

The Texas Federation of Women's clubs outlined the following tips for parents.

1. Do not allow your children to play in the street under any circumstances.

2. Insist that he cross the street only at intersections when no cars are coming.

3. Do not allow him to ride a bicycle in traffic until he has demonstrated to your satisfaction that he has the necessary skill.

4. Impress upon him the fact that bicycle riding is subject to the same rules of safety and courtesy that actual driving is.

5. Confine his play with tricycles, skates, scooters, and wagons to the sidewalk—and well away from alleys and driveways.

"If parents will emphasize these points they will materially reduce the possibility that they may someday suffer the heartbreak of seeing their child killed or maimed in the streets," Mrs. Collier said.

CHAMP GUZZLER—The number one drinker—of milk—at the Los Angeles County Fair in Pomona, Calif., was Allen Prosser, age 15, above. "Pasteurized" Prosser—as he was nicknamed—put away almost a gallon during the fast-flowing 10-minute contest.

West Virginia Factory Produces Most Of Animal Whips Used In The United States

By VIC JACOBS
United Press Staff Writer

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Oct. 1.—In the frowning shadows of the state penitentiary there's a busy little plant where whips are forever being cracked.

For it is at this plant that 90 per cent of all animal whips are made—products ranging from the 65-foot lash especially styled in the early 1920's for Douglas Fairbanks' use in the "Mark of Zorro" to the riding crops toted by the horsey set.

The "whip factory" is what they've labelled the plant but for all official intents and purposes it's the J. C. Bardall Co. Here T. L. Rogerson and his 45 employes — eschewing modern assembly line methods—braid and fashion by hand the leather "persuaders."

Admiral Richard F. Byrd used specially made dog whips on his first trip to the North Pole and the two succeeding expeditions to the South Pole. Roy Rogers, a top celluloid cowboy, uses Bardall whips in his flickers.

For Dog Training

Most of the leather ropes used in teaching dogs for military service during World War II were also turned out here. The greater portion were airmailed to overseas K-9 training centers.

Although it supplies the globe, the plant's business is concentrated principally in the west. Ranchers—both dude and orthodox—beat a steady path to the whip factory's door bringing orders for singular designs.

One of the more recent specials was a 35-foot rodeo whip for a Wyoming rancher that took almost a day to make. Four hours was required for the braiding job alone. In 1939, a 65-foot whip was fashioned for the Ringling Bros., Barnum & Bailey Circus' ringmaster.

The plant maintains its own tannery using grease, oil and soap to make the leather going into its products soft and pliable.

Old Hands

Every worker in the factory—some with as much as 25 years' service—is a specialist in his field. That includes the cutters, braiders, sewers and button makers.

"String" cutting in which a razor-sharp knife is used is the most intricate part of the process because of the uniform thickness in which strips must be cut from the tanned hides.

The plant also produces nose bands, lariats, dog leashes, canes, riding quirts, lanyards, blackjacks and policemen's billies.

In business nearly three-quarters of a century, the Bardall enterprise operated inside the state penitentiary until 1935, when Congress passed the Hawes-Cooper law forbidding the operation of private industry inside penal institutions.

Doe And Fawn Are Reported As Daily Visitors To Rifle Range

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 1 (U.P.) —Deer in western Washington and Oregon are noted for [illegible] audacity, especially during the off-season, but a doe and fawn near here top anything one police captain has ever seen.

Percy Gregg, head of the police instructional school, says a doe and her fawn are daily visitors to the police rifle range. Gregg says they often meander directly across the line of fire.

Detroit Judge Asks Retirement Plan In Place Of Salary Raise

DETROIT, Oct. 1 (AP) — Probate Judge William F. Cotter believes judgese should be in step with the times.

He broke with five colleagues who seek pay raises, pointing out that most industries and unions are concentrating on pension plans this year.

He suggested that Wayne county (Detroit) consider a retirement plan for judges.

Cotter and three other jurists now get maximum $15,500 salaries. The rest of the probate judges will get the same if re-elected in 1951. They now receive $13,500 because their salary can't be raised during an elected term.

WOE IS THE FAT MAN

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 1 (U.P.) — Telephone Repairman Frank McAlister reported today that when he investigated to see why a booth phone was off the hook for an hour, he found a fat man had slipped from the seat and wedged himself between it and the door. He and police ripped off a wall of the booth and freed the man.

Italy welcomed 235,000 foreign visitors in the first two months of this year.

Morton Downey Seeks Distribution Rights

One Match For Carton Of Fags Planned For Market

BY THEODORE KOSLOW
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 1—If Morton Downey is correct the following will soon be heard in American smoke shops:

One "Morton Downey match," the singer claims, will be enough to light up the 200 smokes in the carton.

The "repeater," differing only from the ordinary match in that it is a trifle thicker, has been developed and patented in Sweden. Downey in association with a small group is seeking exclusive distribution rights in the United States.

Three Inches Long

The head of the repeater looks like the sharpened edge of a pencil. It contains a chemical core running its full length. This functions as the sulphur does on the ordinary match.

Those who have seen the repeater say it's about three inches long and burns down to about a half-inch as it is lit and relit.

Naturally, the longer the match is kept lighted the more it burns down so that in some tests it may not repeat the 200 times its sponsors claim for it.

The repeater was developed by a Swedish financial group headed by the international financier Axel Wennergren. They believe it is now perfected and ready for marketing.

When financial arrangements are made with the Swedish group Downey and his associates plan to put the matches up in packages for the American consumer—one match to a package—and produce the repeaters in different shapes and sizes.

Cost Favorable

The cost of a repeater is expected to be less than that of the book matches now usually given free with a pack of cigarets.

The first patent on what was then termed an "everlasting match" was applied for in Switzerland in 1928 by a chemist named Ringer.

A company was organized to manufacture and sell the "everlasting match" and a small factory was built in Holland a few years later.

Although sales were large at first, the public refused to continue buying after the initial novelty wore off, and the company finally went into bankruptcy.

Those familiar with the old "everlasting" match said it was good for a maximum of 40 lights. A major drawback, however, was the fact that the match gave off such a strong smell that it could not be used indoors.

Odor Problem Solved

However, the Swedish organization controlling the world rights to the repeater has apparently overcome the odor problem.

Its backers claim it has thus far proved to be as odorless as the ordinary match now in popular use.

This has been attributed in part to the fact that during the past three years a total of 3,376,000 electric ranges were produced.

One can't use matches on these ranges.

In addition, most of the new gas stoves are equipped with pilot lights. These little perpetual flames do away with the necessity for using matches.

All to these, the millions upon millions of cigaret lighters that have been turned out since the war, and it comes as small surprise that the American match industry finds itself with excess capacity today.

Man, 83, To Marry 60-Year-Old Widow

CHICAGO, Oct. 1 (AP) — Peter Wolf, 83-year-old widower, "sure is a fast worker," says his bride-to-be, Mrs. Ida Fishman.

"Why, he even kissed me on our very first date," said Mrs. Fishman, 60-year-old widow.

That was three months ago when they met. And, they said yesterday as they obtained a marriage license, it was love at first sight. Their wedding was set for tonight.

STATES CONSIDER WAR MEASURES

U. S. Defense Planning Group Is Small With No Authority

By ELTON C. FAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 — If American cities were attacked tomorrow the federal government would be ready with two civil defense planning organizations totaling about a dozen men who have no authority whatsoever.

Some states and communities have gone ahead with their own plans for rescue and protection of civilian populations in event of atomic or other aerial attack under plans tentatively outlined by the federal government a year ago and since put aside for new studies.

But the only civil defense planning groups in the federal set-up now are study unit within the National Security Resources board consisting of a coordinator and one assistant, and a civil defense liaison office in the Defense Department made up of about ten men.

In a directive earlier this year, President Truman ended the office of civil defense planning created in March 1948 by the late Secretary of Defense James Forrestal. The directive transferred responsibility for planning a national civil defense system to the NSRB, with William H. Gill named coordinator.

The office of civil defense planning was headed by Russell J. Hopelay, Omaha telephone company executive, and consisted of members and committees representing a cross-section of civilian and military life.

In November 1948, seven months after it was officially dissolved, this agency issued a report recommending that civil defense be a primary responsibility of local civilian organizations, with a federal agency guiding the program.

In addition, the office, working with state and municipal groups, prepared a program of legislation for introduction in Congress and in state legislatures.

The report and program were turned over to the secretary of defense and to the President. The program was not introduced in Congress. The matter remained dormant until Mr. Truman's directive ordered new studies to be made by NSRB.

There has been no indication whether the announcement that Russia has set off an atomic explosion will mean a speed-up in efforts to get a new program before Congress.

When the Hopley report was issued it was announced that technical training manuals instructing civil workers in defense against atomic and other types of air attack would be issued "after passage of appropriate legislation by Congress and the states."

No Training Manuals

In answer to a question, civil defense planners said today that because the legislation was not enacted, no training manuals have gone forth.

The civil defense liaison office headed by Lt. Col. Barnet W. Beers is attempting to aid state and local defense organizations wherever possible through consultations and correspondence.

The NSRB unit is getting organized to expand its study staff for the preparation of new plans, some of which presumably will retain features of the Hopley recommendations.

Other nations already have revived skeleton organizations for civil defense.

Britain has reactivated her civil defense law, placing primary responsibility in the office of the home secretary but with other agencies of government participating. Schools to train key men in civil defense techniques have been opened.

Similar skeleton national organizations have been inaugurated in several Scandinavian countries, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg and France.

Tourist Cabin Operator Aids Man With Return Of Wallet

MILFORD, N. H., Oct. 1 (U.P.)—When a Massachusetts tourist asked directions to a restaurant, Policeman William White handed him a money-filled wallet to pay for the meal.

The wallet belonged to the tourist. An overnight cabin operator had just turned it over to White, who recognized the tourist's automobile, thanks to car registration papers in the wallet.

CLAIMED BY DEATH

HOUSTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—Earl Stanley Foust, 62, assistant chief time keeper for the Southern Pacific railroad, died yesterday. He had been ill several months.

PLAY NEAR BOMB SHELTER—Youngsters play in the shadow of one of the largest Berlin bomb shelters. The walls, 12 feet thick, were wrecked by three charges of explosive.

Animal Trainer Eddie Kuhn Featured In Rogers Brothers Circus Here On Oct. 11

The deep guttural chant of hurry, hurry, hurry, will be hot and heavy Tuesday, Oct. 11. The Rogers Brothers circus will be playing at the Fair grounds under the auspices of the Lubbock Jaycees.

Featuring a full two-hour show with more than 24 acts, the threering Rogers Brothers circus will entertain Lubbockites with the traditional daring aerial acts and unusually terrifying animal exhibitions.

Of course, there will be clowns, elephants and girls on horseback to appeal to the tastes of all age groups.

"Peanuts, popcorn and sode pop will be sold for only 10 cents," as the old circus saying goes and a side show will be available for those who are interested in the freaks of nature.

The much mauled veteran from Edison, Ga., takes his chances in a cage of lions, leopards, pumas and bears. He then deliberately tempts the beasts by parading a goat under their noses.

"Ive lost three goats that way," he said, "and in recent months I have had my arms and one of my hands badly lacerated by the jungle creatures."

His badly scarred body is a testimany to his veracity. Forty-two stitches were taken in his left hand after a lion mistook his limb for a beefsteak.

Riding Acts Slated

Another feature attraction of the circus is Margaret Ann Robinson. The 32-year-old performer is billed as "The World's Smallest Woman" because of her height—21 inches. She weighs 18 pounds.

Horse fans will be interested in the Roman riding and dare-devil acts of Jimmie Alexander while air minded individuals will probably take a fancy to the five "Flying Vienas" who laugh at death with blindfolded somersaults in midair.

The motorized circus and its 230 workers and performers will arrive in Lubbock about 5 a. m. on the day of the show. The afternoon performance will commence about 4 p. m. or as soon as school children arrive.

Jaycees Are Sponsors

Night performance will begin at 8 p. m. Ticket prices are 65 cents for children and $1.30 for adults. Reserved seats cost 65 cents more. All prices include tax.

The Jaycees will receive 50 per cent of proceeds from all tickets sold in advance of the show and 10 per cent of all tickets sold at the circus.

R. S. Wilkinson, president of the Jaycees, says proceeds will go to the Youth Welfare program of the organization. Tickets can be purchased at the Jaycee office in the Chamber of Commerce building, according to Wilkinson.

The Jaycee president also pointed out that the circus can seat 3,000 person comfortably.

Mother's Little "Imp" Speaks Truth

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 1. (INS)—There's probably one little three-year old girl in San Antonio who was sent to bed early tonight with a spanking instead of her supper.

Constable Ed Shaefer said he stopped a 30-year-old woman for running through a red stop light.

When the woman insisted she didn't drive through the signal, her daughter, sitting beside her, spoke up, "you're wrong, mama, I saw you go by the light."

The constable gave the mother a ticket.

New Laws Fail To Change Status Of Untouchable Class In India

BOMBAY, Oct. 1. (U.P.) — India's law against untouchability which received so much publicity a year ago is still only a clause in the draft constitution. It won't take effect until January 26, 1950, birthday of the new Republic of India.

B. R. Ambedkar, 56, India's leading untouchable and Minister of Law in the Indian Cabinet, is credited with writing most of the monumental constitution. He and Mahatma Gandhi were leaders of the long campaign against Hindu religious prejudice that resulted in a clause outlawing untouchability.

All Indian provinces and the major Indian states already have passed similar prohibitions during the past year.

Ambedkar realizes that legislation alone cannot solve the problems of his people—any more than legislation alone has solved the American Negro problem.

"Problems like this are rooted deep in psychology and they take generations to wipe out, maybe hundreds of years," Ambedkar said recently. "Racial and religious prejudices are not rational things, and it would be foolish to imagine that they could be eliminated overnight by the passing of a law.

No Color Question

"But the problem of the Indian untouchable will be easier to solve than the Negro problem in America because the color question does not arise here. All Indians are colored, whether they are Brahmins or Harijans." (Note: The term "Harijan," meaning "Elect of God," was coined by Gandhi.)

Ambedkar estimated the Harijan population of India "between 30,000,000 and 40,000,000."

Introduction of provincial laws designed to end discrimination against untouchables has been far from successful. Hundreds of Hindu temples, previously out-of-bounds to untouchables, have been thrown open to untouchables recently. But the opening ceremonies in most cases have been guarded by heavy detachments of police, and according to Ambedkar, "most untouchables still would rather not enter a temple."

An Harijan woman was beaten to death in the East Punjab because she joined a banquet of upper caste Hindus. Many public eating places still refuse to serve food or even water to Harijans. In many places Harijans are forbidden to draw water from wells used by upper caste Hindus.

The Harijan problem is worse in the villages than in the big cities, according to Ambedkar. He says that Harijans are steadily drifting to the cities, adopting the dress and customs of other Hindus, and being accepted. This is impossible in most villages, he says, because everyone knows who the Harijans are. In villages the untouchables are segrated and can speak to caste Hindus only at a distance of several yards.

Lack Qualified Men

The Harijans have a percentage of posts in governments reserved for them, but many of the positions remain vacant because there are not enough qualified men among the untouchables.

Under the Indian government system, as established by the British before independence, certain percentages of jobs in the government were reserved for each community, including Hindus, Moslems, Indian Christians, Anglo-Indians and "Scheduled Castes" (untouchables). Although freedom has come, this percentage still exists as far the untouchables are concerned.

Harijan leaders feel that the present government is proceeding too slowly in the matter of improving their lot. They feel they will eventually have to back a political party that will bring them up to the level of the other communities. Some Harijan leaders believe it will take 25 or 50 years before their community can get out of its fear complex and assert itself as an integral part of the country. Other observers feel it will take much longer.

Truck Driver Goes On Driving Jag; Lands In Hospital

BRISBANE, Oct. 1 (AP) — One-legged John Edmund Page, 23, drove a truck through Brisbane one night. He says he can't remember the drive. But the prosecutor in the police court, jogged Pace's memory when he described the drive to the magistrate. The prosecutor got the story from a policeman who chased Page's truck on a motorcycle.

Passed a tram, grazing the front cabin. Passed a stationary tram on the wrong side at a speed of between 60 and 70 mph. Ignored a stop order from the pursuing policeman.

Overtook two cars driving side-by-side. Knocked another car off the road. Passed another stationary tram on the wrong side. Hit another car off the road. Struck still another car and capsized it. Hit the rear of a stationary truck outside the Brisbane hospital. Forced the stationary truck into a car front, which was pushed onto the footpath. Was thrown out of his own truck by the jolt. Landed on his head. Was taken into the hospital.

Page plead guilty to a charge of dangerous driving. He was fined $166.

WANTS HER DUE

FUN IN BED was the objective of Engineer Meyer Katz when he invented this board to help him play solitaire.

IT'S A "BOOCHIEBOARD"

Bed-Ridden Engineer Invents Gadget That Makes It Easy To Play Solitaire In Bed

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., Oct. 1 — Bedridden and bored, a card-loving engineer invented a gadget which will enable people to play solitaire in a bed, a wheelchair, or even a moving car.

The device, a square board with slots which hold standard playing cards, rests on the player's lap. Thus the necessity of having a flat playing surface is eliminated.

Applies For Patents

Meyer Katz, the inventor, said he has applied for patents and will put the board into production soon. He calls it the "Boochieboard," named for his wife, Ruth, whose nickname is Boochie.

He plans to test the board on patients in veterans hospitals before putting them on the market.

Uses Regular Sized Cards

"The long hours dragged," Katz recalled, "and reading got tiresome. I love cards, but couldn't play them. Then I conceived the Boochieboard."

Katz first designed a small board on which miniature cards were used. But he now has a larger model for regular-sized cards. The board has a series of horizontal cardboard slots running across it, in which cards may be inserted in any arrangement. The cards are held firmly in place regardless of the board's position.

Architect Changes Word To Aid "Art"

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 1. (U.P.)—Webster's dictionary may spell it "courthouse" but art has taken the upper hand here. It prefers two words, "court house."

The new St. Louis County courthouse, or court house, has art on its side on the inscription over the entrance.

"We thought the two short words looked better than the one long single word," Raymond Herbert, architect, said.

"Esthetic considerations are more important than puristic considerations of style usage here," he added when the chisled "Court House" was challenged.

Herbert had his facts accumulated, He said.

"Court house is the spelling for federal buildings in Philadelphia and Denver, county construction in Phoenix, Ariz.; Racing, Wis.; Nashville, Tenn.; Harrisburg, Pa., and a parish court building in Shreveport, La. It's even the form used in the seat of learning, New Haven, Conn., where Yale is situated."

CAUGHT IN OWN NET

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn. (U.P.)—Mayor Howard Patrick grinned sheepishly when he paid a $3 fine in City Court for violating a new regulation restricting parking to five minutes in certain downtown zones. Patrick had sponsored the regulation.

COLIDES WITH DOE

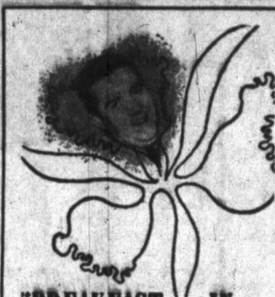

MALDEN, Mass. (U.P.)—Motorist Leonard J. Clark looked twice when a deer bounded out of the woods bordering the busy Newburyport Turnpike just four miles from downtown Boston. The doe crashed into his outomobile and Clark killed it with a pistol.

JOAN PROUTY

THE QUESTION

What improvements do you think could be made to make a better Panhandle-South Plains fair?

THE ANSWERS

MRS. V. M. TUCKER, Los Alamos, Col., housewife: "If they'd do something to keep the flies down, I think it would help a lot. With the food and everything in the open, it would be much more sanitary; especially with so much polio going around."

MRS. E. R. SIMMONS, O'Donnell, snow cone operator: "I don't see anything wrong with this fair. The only thing might be that there aren't enough people. There are some awfully nice exhibits here. The shows look like they're good, too."

JOHN GORMLEY, 1502 Ave. L, student at Draughon's Business college: "I guess just find out what the people like to see and have more of it. I would like to see horse racing, but they don't have it this year."

ROY BALLEW, O'Donnell, salesman of Myrick Appliance Co.: "I think that we have a very fine display all over. I haven't been out in the midway yet, but everything in here is fine."

L. L. WALDEN, Enochs, farmer: "I think that they need more shade and more seats where you can sit down and rest. That's about all. Out in California they have lots of seats and lots of shade at their fairs. I think more people would come more often if there was more shade here."

JEANETTE HACKNEY, Route 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Hackney: "They show the same things over and over in the women's building every year. Some things they've been showing as long as they've had fairs. They have the same shows on the Midway, too."

PUSH COAL EXPORTS

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia is trying to increase its foreign exchange holdings by pushing exports of coal. Another objective is to exchange coal for raw materials needed by Czech industries.

The government recently announced that coal exports had exceeded target figures for the first eight months of the year by 102.4 per cent but demanded still more production from the mines, chiefly by reducing absenteeism.

Historic Church Bell Echoes At Bottom Of Grand Canyon

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 1 (AP)—A historic church bell that made its way into Arizona in 1860 by way of an overland freight now echoes in Supai land at the bottom of Arizona's Grand Canyon.

The bell, which once served as the fire alarm at the little community of Chloride in Mohave county, hangs in St. Andrew's Episcopal chapel in the Indian settlement. It was taken down the trail into the canyon by pack train.

The chapel in which it hangs, a quonset hut, was lowered into the canyon last spring by helicopter. Stone quarried from the sides of the canyon were used for the sides and front of the chapel.

Animal Shelter In Los Angeles Plays Soft Music For Inmates

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 1. (AP) — Now it's soft music for the inmates of the new animal shelter of the Los Angeles Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

The shelter, opened to the public today, also includes bunk beds, a diet kitchen and germicidal lamps. And a drinking fountain which dispenses fresh water to dogs on the street outside is labeled a "dog bar."

"Organ music is best suited for the dogs," said Alex Tilley, general manager of the society. "The selection must not hit high C or the dogs will begin howling. And be-bop—well, that's out, too."

Rail Rates Hike Ups Living Costs

—By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The recent increase in railroad freight rates bring about a double-barreled bost in living costs.

It raises the ordinary charges for shipments of goods, which results in increasing the amount paid in federal excise taxes on the transportation of property. These extra charges customarily increase the prices paid by consumers for those goods.

Tax Is 3 Per Cent

The federal tax on transportation of property is three per cent of the regular transportation charge. (The 15 per cent on passenger fares is not affected by the new rate increase.)

The Interstate Commerce Commission granted the railroads a general four per cent increase in freight rates to compensate for the costs of installing a five-day week schedule for non-operating employes Sept. 1.

It is expected that Congress will give primary attention to the property transportation tax when it tackles the excise levy issue at next year's session. Tax specialists say it is the one tax which virtually everyone favors abolishing.

That's because it tends to increase living costs more than any other single excise tax. One reason is that it applies to all kinds of commodities and another is that it often keeps pyramiding.

Taxes Are Tripled

For example, it is applied first to raw materials being shipped to an assembly plant. Second, these materials are taxed again when shipped in a semi-finished state. Finally, there is a tax on shipments of the finished product.

President Truman generally has opposed the elimination of excise taxes, but in his midyear economic report he said the property transportation tax should be wiped out. He didn't advocate repealing the 15 per cent tax on passenger travel.

However, there will be pressure for abolishing the passenger tax when Congress tackles the property transportation levy. Many Congressmen contend that much travel is in the necessity rather than the pleasure class.

The 15 per cent bite is considered particularly rough on persons who regularly ride commuter trains to and from work.

Two Peak Hours Of Industrial Accidents Reported By Group

CHICAGO, Oct. 1 (U.P.)—Accidents don't punch a time clock on the job—but they hit their peak during certain hours of the day.

According to the National Safety Council, more workers suffer disabling industrial injuries between 10 and 11 o'clock in the morning and between three and four o'clock in the afternoon than at any other hours of the day.

20 Cars Worn Out On Rural Mail Route

Harve Kendrick Ends 26 Years Of Postal Service

HARVE KENDRICK

The 600 or more families living on Route 5 were a little late getting their mail Friday but not a complaint was uttered.

Because as Harve J. Kendrick traveled along the 71-mile mail route, he had to stop his 1946 Ford sedan occasionally to chat with old friends and tell them he will no longer leave them mail.

"I'm retiring today," the 55-year-old veteran disclosed as he slipped envelopes and parcels into the rural mail boxes.

Friday ended more than 26 years of postal service for Kendrick, who lives at 4015 Twenty-first.

Worn Out 20 Cars

His first day of postal work was Nov. 1, 1922. He began his rural route career in June, 1923 on old Route A. In 1928, Route A was split into two routes and Kendrick took the half that is now Route 5.

Since that time, he has worn out 20 cars traveling on the route. He began with a Model T.

Kendrick, a native of Trussville, Ala., came to Texas in 1910 to farm at Hubbard City. "I heard money grew on trees out here," he mused, "but the only trouble was that I couldn't find any trees."

So, he took up insurance selling and was doing right well until World War 1 came along. "I enlisted and was assigned to a medical detachment," he said.

Helped Organize Club

After his discharge, he came to Lubbock in January 1922.

"I've met many fine people on my route," Kendrick said proudly, "however, only five families still live on the route that lived on it when I began."

E. F. Alford, R. O. Short, N. A. Payne, J. W. Bush and survivors of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Price have been Kendrick's "steady customers" since 1928.

Kendrick has found time to follow three hobbies since he became a carrier.

He collects new stamps, raises flowers and makes fishing flies from six of his own patterns. "I like to give beginners tips on fishing," he said.

Gardening led him to help organize the Lubbock Garden club Sept. 20, 1929. "This project alone has resulted in much pleasure to me," Kendrick said, "because the club has been instrumental in making the city a clean and beautiful place."

Kendrick has also found time to raise three sons, Harold L., Lowell O. and Alton R. Kendrick. Alton is a senior at Tech and his two brothers are graduates of the college.

Lowell, who lives in Fort Worth, is the father of Gary Kendrick, the only grandson so far of the elder Kendrick.

Kendrick would probably have carried his route another 10 years had it not been for an accident May 3 when a basket of mail toppled on him. "I suffered internal injuries and my physician told me to retire," he said sadly.

Free Lunch With Each Beer Turns Up In Cairo, Egypt

CAIRO, Oct. 1 (AP)—Found in Egypt: the free lunch which disappeared from the corner bar in Grandpa's day.

A local bar serves with each beer: a plate containing tuna fish, roast beef and liver; two rolls; plates of olives, peanuts and cucumber squares; a heap of thin, dry Arab bread, and a plate of tehena ,delicious oily grain sauce Arabs dip their bread into.

Finch Is Named Acting Head Of Southwestern University

GEORGETOWN, Oct. 1. (AP)—Dr. William C. Finch has been named acting president of Southwestern university by the institution's board of trustees until a successor to the late Dr. J. N. R. Score is chosen.

Dr. Finch has been administrative assistant for the university the past three years.

Boston Artist Draws To Music

BOSTON, Oct. 1. (U.P.)—A Boston girl reported on the trials of playing "first pencil" with a symphony orchestra.

Already possessed of an ear for music, Martha Burnham Humphrey set out to acquire an "eye for music" with pencil sketches of smphonic conductors in action.

Perched on the vacant seat of a harpist, she started drawing to music. Sitting with the orchestra was the only way to get a front view of the conductor, but it was too close to follow his full, sweeping movements.

The only solution was to work with the music. She kept at least four drawings going at once—a profile view, a back view, front and three-quarters.

A Line At A Time

Then as the conductor, Serge Koussevitzky, turned and gestured, she'd add a line. First it would be one sketch, then another, until all the essential parts were down on each drawing.

One time, she said, she would get the angle of the shoulder. Then it would be the swing of an arm. Another time the tilt of the head, or the position and gesture of a hand.

"Particularly rhythmic compositions tended to produce larger drawings," Mrs. Humphrey said, "with emphasis on wide, sweeping motions and elimination of detail. Slow movements of symphonies resulted in more detailed drawings."

Classics Helped

Irregular rhythms made the work difficult, she said, but the music of Bach, Beethoven, Brahms and Haydn helped her to draw "better than I knew."

Mrs. Humphrey sketched Koussevitzky, Leopold Stokowski, Charles Munch, Leonard Bernstein, Burno Walter, Fritz Reiner and scores of others in rehearsal or in formal action. And each had distinctive characteristics that the musical pencil.

All required swift, sure strokes. All but Duke Ellington, who also conducted his orchestra at Boston's Symphony Hall.

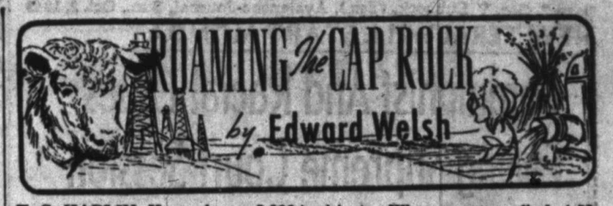

He limited his conducting motions to his wrists, Mrs. Humphrey said, "as if lifting an arm would have required too much effort."

POWER RATES DISCUSSED

VIENNA (AP)—A group of United States power experts are in Vienna to make a study of Austrian electrical power rates.

Members of the power mission include Nevin E. Funk, an exvice president of the Philadelphia Electric Co.; Gabriel G. Wessenhauer, director of power, Tennessee Valley Authority; Harry I. Miller, manager, rate research department, Wisconsin Public Service Co.; John Mortgomery, State department, recorder; and Lt. Col. S. Chittick, escort officer.

The alligator has a transparent eyelid.

J. S. HARLIN, Kress, has a 2,000 pound milking shorthorn bull that he is justly proud of and exhibits it at every opportunity. It took honors this year at the Plainview Dairy Show and was named grand champion at the Panhandle-South Plains Fair last week. The animal is young yet and by the time it fills out it will be well over the ton mark. Harlin says, "few men have as much bull as I have."

Levelland's new $400,000 hotel has advanced to the engineering stages but a definite site is still holding up the first drafting plans, Sam Billingsley, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce says. "When we get set on the location things ought to move fast," he says.

Schools Are Modern

There won't be any members of this generation living on the South Plains who can look back on the little "red school house." No matter where you go you will find the most modern construction in school buildings. Many of them are not quite completed, some were finished this year and a large number have been built within the last two or three years. Outstanding examples can be found in Lamesa, Plains, Levelland, Abernathy and Denver City. That is only mentioning a few.

YOAKUM County Commissioner Clyde Hartwick says Plains now has apopulation of 750 persons. As the owner and operator of the Plains Power and Light company he is in a position to make a reliable estimate based on his 202 meter connections. He is a staunch booster for his home town and will take plenty of time to tell you of the many attractions to be found in the Yoakum county seat.

A Short Course

The extension service exhibit at the Panhandle-South Plains Fair which attracted so much attention was the work of County Agents Homer E. Thompson, Cochran; H. G. Sprawls. Yoakum; D. F. Eaton, Lamb; Jack Carothers, Lubbock; and Louis Herron, Garza. Weeds and grasses, most of which we see every day but couldn't identify to save our lives, were clearly labeled. The exhibit amounted to a short course for interested persons.

Scotty directs the bulk of his attention to boys who are interested in agricultural subjects. Wherever you find 4-H and F.F.A. activities in Garza county you will find Scotty. His work as superintendent of the agricultural products division at the Panhandle-South Plains Fair last week was outstanding.

Jesuit Priest Is Delegate From India To UN Assembly

NEW DELHI, Oct. 1 (AP) — A Jesuit priest from Madras is a member of the Indian delegation to the United Nations General Assembly at Lake Success. The Rev. Father Jerome De'Souza, principal of Loyola College at Madras and a member of the Indian Constituent Assembly by special permission of the Pope, has accepted his second governmental assignment in agreeing to join the Indian UN representatives.

Father De'Souza has long been recognized as one of the keenest supporters of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru's "secular government" program and a leading opponent of "communal politics," the Indian practice of basing political factions on religious and racial communities.

In the Constituent Assembly he has been a leader of the bloc which has pushed through constitutional guarantees for religious and racial minorities in India and was among the first to applaud India's decision to remain in the Commonwealth.

Communist And Racial Issues Facing Supreme Court Session

BY PAUL M. YOST
AP Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1—The Supreme Court returns from vacaton Monday to face an unusually diffucult stack of appeals involving Communist and racial segregation issues.

Communists and alleged Communist sympathizers have placed before the highest tribunal complaints that their rights under the U. S. Constitution have been violated. They emphasize the rights of free speech and assembly, and the right against self-incrimination.

The court in other appeals is asked to declare that segregation of negroes is discrimination and a violation of the constitution's guarantee of equal protection of the laws.

Chief Justice Vinson took an advance look at all the appeals and tipped off his associate justices that they will have to "wrestle with weighty, knotty problems."

He passed out the tip while addressing the American Bar association. Vinson added it was inevitable that "the troubled days through which we are passing, with their swift and unpredictable changes of social and political climate, will produce problems of extraordinary diffilculty and delicacy."

One Seat Vacant

Vinson viewed the storm signals as a veteran of three terms in the chief's chair. He begins his fourth term Monday with one new justice on the bench, and one seat temporarily vacant.

Tom C. Clark, the former attorney general, will take the seat of the late Justice Frank Murphy. Sherman Minton, nominated to succeed the late Justice Wiley B. Rutledge, has not yet been confirmed by the Senate. Minton has been a judge on the U.S. circuit court in Chicago.

Outstanding among the appeals pending are those by movie writers John Howard Lawson and Dalton Trumbo. For refusing to tell the House committee on un-American activities whether they were members of the Communist party, they were convicted of contempt of Congress. Each was fined $1,000 and given a year in jail.

Action in contempt cases against eight other Hollywood personalities has been deferred pending the Supreme Court's disposition of the Lawson Trumbo appeals.

The court has agreed to rule on constitutionality of the Taft-Hatrley law requirement that union officials must file non-Communist affidavits if they wish to use machinery of the National Labor relations board.

Communists Ask Hearing

It also has granted a hearing to Eugene Dennis, general secretary of the Communist party in the United States. Dennis was convicted of contempt of Congress for disobeying a subpoena to appear before the House committee on un-American acctivities. He got the same sentence as Lawson and Trumbo.

The justices also have promised a ruling on constitutionality of an anti-Communist program adopted by the Los Angeles county board of supervisors. The program is intended to determine the loyalty of county employes.

A new petitioner now demanding a high court hearing is James Zarichny, a student who says he was thrownout of Michigan State college because he attended a meeting addressed by a Communist party official.

Three Communists jailed by Judge Harold R. Medina during the New York trial of leading Communist party officials also demand the help of the Supreme Court. The trio—Gus Hall, Henry Winston and Gilbert Green—assert Judge Medina's action in jailing them had the effect of pre-assuring them to hurry the closing of their defense at the trial.

To Study Racial Issues

The racial issue is involved in various appeals taken to the high court. Two negroes have filed suits asking that state universities be required to admit them on a non-segregated basis.They are:

Heman Marion Sweatt, Houston, who wants to be admitted to the white law school of the University of Texas. Texas state courts ruled that a separate law school set up for negroes offers him equal advantages.

G. W. McLaurin, who wants the high court to strike down a decision by a special three-judge court in Oklahoma City. The decision was that the University of Oklahoma may require him to sit apart from white students.

The two appeals involve a doctrine laid down years ago by the Supreme Court—that a state must admit negroes to its public schools, or provide separate ones equally good. Attorneys for Sweatt say 17 states and the District of Columbia now make separation of races in schools mandatory by law.

Negro Charges Equality

The Supreme Court has agreed to review a California state court decision that negroes may be prohibited from picketing a store where their purpose is to induce the store to hire more negro workers.

A decision also was promised in the new term on a Baltimore negro's complaint that dining car regulations on southern railroads discriminate against members of his race.

A federal court in Baltimore ruled against the negro, Elmer W. Henderson. It said racial segregation of interstate passengers is not forbidden by law, provided there is no real inequality of treatment. Henderson objected to a railroad policy of setting aside a table or two for negroes in a curtained or partitioned section of dining cars.

Family Not Hurt In Crossing Collision

GENEVA, N. Y., Oct. 1 (AP) While a freight train bore down on them, Mrs. Fenton Stevens of Stanley, N. Y., and her four young children huddled in their automobile last night.

Fenton tried in vain to push the stalled car off the grade crossing.

All lived to tell about it.

Mrs. Fenton, who is expecting another child, said she kept the children in the car because she feared the train would run over them if they jumped out. The children range in age from one to five.

The 25-year-old mother and the children were taken to a hospital. Attendants said no injuries were apparent.

Proposal For County Financing Of Hillsboro College Defeated

HILLSBORO, Oct. 1 (AP)—A proposal for county support of Hillsboro Junior college was rejected, 1105 to 905, unofficial returns showed yesterday.

Officials of the school had asked county help because the city supported school was losing money. Read Dawson, president of the college, said it is expected to close at the end of this year.

MOSCOW (AP) — Volume 25 of the Works of Lenin—including seven articles which have not appeared before—has been published. Announcing this, "Pravda" said the volume contains the celebrated work, "The State and Revolution."

All the works in the volume relating to the period after the July days of 1917 were written underground when Lenin had to hide from the Provisional Government.

Phil's Ranch House Reopened For Business After Remodeling; Reception Lounge Added

Phil's Ranch House, which has newly reopened after remodeling, is the culmination of a 10-year dream for Phil and Rose Eskin, owners, they said Saturday.

The restaurant, at 1621 nineteenth, was designed for a home-like, quiet atmosphere. Red and white checkered table cloths, knotty pine walls, fireplaces and rustic appointments add charm to the eating place.

The Eskins came to Lubbock 12 years ago, but moved to Levelland in 1939. He went into his first cafe there with eight stools and two booths. The next year he bought the largest place in town with a seating capacity of 175.

Gradually Expanded Service

In 1942 the Eskins closed up so that Phil could engage in war work at Philadelphia Navy yard. Returning to Levelland in the latter part of 1944, they operated the Club cafe until they sold it July 31, 1946.

Moving back to Lubbock, they opened a lunchwagon known as Phil's Grill where the Masonic Temple building now stands. In 1948 they moved the lunchwagon to the present location and added a dining room, opening Feb. 26, 1948.

In the current remodeling program, a sizeable reception lounge was added.

The restaurant specializes in Italian, Chinese, Mexican dinners seafood and steaks. Although quality is the first consideration, the ... have managed to hold their menu to popular prices. Their seafood specialty is rainbow trout, which they have flown in from Denver three times a week.

Uses Of High Sound Waves Developed

CLEVELAND, Oct. 1 (AP) — The use of sound waves so high they cannot be heard by the human ear is opening up the mechanical world to new fronts comparable to the discovery of the steam engine.

That statement was made by Frank Massa, head of the Massa Laboratories, after reviewing some of the accomplishments of sound.

Among the great seeps sound has made, he said, are:

Aging of whisky that formerly took five years in only three hours.

Pasteurizing milk without heat, which takes some of the taste from the fluid.

"But we really know very little about inaudible sound waves except that they open up entirely new frontiers and the possibilities for use of supersonics in chemistry and industry is tremendous," Massa said.

The Star Spangled Banner was legally designated as the national anthem by act of Congress on March 3, 1931—117 years after it was written.

Cigaret Revenue Stamp Sales For September Show Increase

AUSTIN, Oct. 1 (AP) — Texans apparently were smoking more and drinking less last month.

State revenue stamp sales showed September increases over the comparable month a year ago in both cigaret and prescription categories but dips for liquor, wine and beer.

Total sales for the month were reported by state Treasurer Jesse James at $3,342,974, down $205,427 from September, 1948.

SPECIAL SERVICES TO BE HELD

Observance Of Yom Kippur To Start Here At Sundown Today

Services are to be conducted tonight, Monday morning and Monday afternoon at Congregation Shaareth Israel in observance of the Jewish holiady of Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement.

The most sacred holiday in the Jewish calendar, Yom Kippur is kept solemnly as a day of fasting and prayer for Jews throughout the world.

Observance will begin at sundown today and will close at sundown Monday.

To Open With Prayer

Services begin with chanting of the solemn Kol Nidrei prayer, the words and music of which are buried in the mists of legend.

Rabbi Julius Kerman will deliver a sermon on "Looking at Ourselves" at a service at 8 o'clock tonight at Congregation Shaareth Israel, Twenty-third and Ave. Q. At 9:30 o'clock Monday morning, Rabbi Kerman will deliver a sermon on "Penitence."

A memorial service in tribute to members or relatives of members of the congregation is to be conducted Monday at 3 p. m.

Tech students and service men will be welcome at the services, it was announced.

Keynote Is Prayer

For more than 2,000 years, Yom Kippur has united Jews once a year in a spiritual effort of self-purification and rededication to higher motives and nobler purposes. The keynote of the day is found in the prayer which embodies the divine assurance that guilt can be atoned for by penitence, prayer and righteous action.

From ancient times to the present, Yom Kippur has played a significant role in the religious life of the Jew. Tradition says that on this day the fate of every creature on earth is sealed for another year by the Supreme Judge.

Remnants of ancient temple ritual are found in the present day Yom Kippur worship. The concluding service of the day is known as "Ne'ilah," "the closing of the gates," referring no doubt to closing of the temple gates. Today, it has taken on the added symbological meaning that with the closing of the gates of the day of tears and supplication comes the opening of the gates of God's mercy.

CHURCH Briefs

The board of stewards of the First Methodist church will meet at 6:30 o'clock tonight in Fellowship hall at the church to consider important business, L. E. Davis, chairman, has announced. "A special effort is being made to assure attendance of every member of the board," he said. The meeting was changed from Tuesday night, regular meeting night.

Yorkshire Sow Hits Record By Producing An All-Male Litter

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 1 (AP) A feat comparable to the birth of human quintuplets has been performed by a pure bred Yorkshire sow "Maxine," owned by the University of British Columbia.

Maxine produced a litter of 15 piglets, all males. Livestock specialists said pigs usually run about 52 per cent female.

TO HOLD SERVICES—Dr. J. P. McBeth, author, lecturer, and evangelist, will begin a series of revival meetings Monday at College Avenue Baptist church. The revival will continue through Oct. 9. Services are to begin at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. each day, said Rev. Abe Hester, jr., pastor of the host church. Dr. McBeth is noted as a Bible scholar. He has written an outstanding commentary on the Book of Romans.

DUEL IS FOUGHT

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 1 (AP)—Two opposing members of Argentina's congress fought a pistol duel today over a political argument which developed in the closing sessions of parliament. Neither was injured.

A HOLLYWOOD Column

BY ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 1—Behind the Screen: There's talk of remaking Mack Sennett's biggest film hit, "Molly O," which starred Mabel Normand. How about Ann Blythe for the new version? Mack paid Harold Lloyd a wonderful compliment after seeing the re-issue of "Movie Crazy." He wrote Harold:

Johnson

"'Movie Crazy' has that lost formula so often missing on the screen. I enjoyed it and so did the audience."

Hollywood's lost formula? Motion pictures that talk instead of talking pictures. Movies seldom move anymore.

Anna Maganini, Ingrid Bergman's rival for the affections of Rosellini, will make a U. S. personal appearance tour this winter. Ingrid is still concentrating on her personal dis-appearance.

Now it's a blonde Indian in "Annie Get Your Gun." Although Annie Oakley was part Indian, Betty Hutton will play her with her own blonde hair. They tested her in a black wig but it wasn't the same Hutton.

The censors blinked and rushed to the set when they heard Joan Caulfield was doing a "Trinidad strip tease" for "The Petty Girl." But it was a false alarm—a dancing partner was unwinding five yards of silk from a turban around Joan's head. That's the "Trinidad strip."

Walking On Water

NOW I've seen everything. Three beautiful dolls in bathing suits were walking on the water of a Beverly Hills swimming pool.

Well, at least it looked that way. There was an almost invisible lucite runway just beneath the water. The gals hardly got their feet wet. Quite an illusion.

Water - - color illusions—that's what Fred Cole called his annual fashion show—bathing suits for the summer of 1950. And I've got a flash for you. The big Cole line next summer features sheared velvet.

There were also suits with deep sea bras—"gives the impression you can see deeper than you can."

My wife made me go home early. Probably just as well.

And while I'm on the subject of fashions, Walter Florell just sent me a note announcing his new fall hats. In line with the current economy, he added: "We cash annuities."

Gorgeous George turned out to be such a good actor (TV audiences knew it all along) in "Pardon My Toe Hold," that Republic is talking about doing his life story. Hmmm—I wonder how Don Ameche would look in golden curls?

Johnson On TV

ACE cameraman Coy Watson and I have teamed up for a weekly TV movie reel about movietown titled, "Hollywood Reel." We hope it will show you the real Hollywood—news, features, fashions and faces. It's a new twist for television.

David Niven goes back to England for retakes on "The Return of the Scarlet Pimpernel." . . . Janies Carter has written the music—and Frankie Laine the lyrics—for a song titled, "Christmas Is a Happy Time." It'll be out in December, natch . . . Ed Wynn is after Barbara Britton for his new TV show after she completes "Champagne for Caesar."

Big dramatic role for Robert Young in "Here Lies Love." He'll do an architect battling a persecution complex . . . CBS and Eve Arden are on the verge of getting together to televise her radio show, "Our Miss Brooks."

Bob Hope is back on the air and the merry go 'round is going even faster. Bob is in films, radio and four other different kinds of businesses, but he still isn't satisfied. Now he wants to produce pictures—other stars' pictures. His deal with Bill Boyd for a Hopalong Cassidy in color is still cooking.

"I've got lots of time," Bob told me. "Look at Crosby. Keeps him busy just trying to spend his money. He just bought another $75,000 home up in Idaho and he needs another home like I need another ride on a wooden horse."

HERE'S HOW IT'S DONE—Postmaster General Jesse Donaldson shows little Gail St. Clair, seven-year-old polio victim, how the Post Office Department in Washington is helping in an emergency drive for funds to fight the disease. The record number of polio cases has depleted the March of Dimes fund, making a special money campaign necessary. Contributions may be mailed to "POLIO," care of any U. S. Post Office.

"Nest Method" Of Planting Is Tried On Russian Forrests

MOSCOW, Oct. 1 (AP)—Russians in putting into effect their large forestation program are relying heavily on the "nest method" of tree planting.

This method was proposed by Academician Trofim Lysenko, Russia's leading agronomist, who declares that it is based on the principles of Michurinist biology.

The nest method of tree planting involves the planting in a small circle of a number of seedlings. It is claimed that within this group of seedlings there is no conflict and that they assist each other in mutual defense against their enemies—weeds and grass. Experiments have shown, papers declare here, that the survival of tree seedlings is much higher in "nest planting' 'than is the case with individual planting.

American Motorists Learning Safe Driving, Council Says

CHICAGO, Oct. 1 (U.P.)—American motorists are learning to drive more safely, the National Safety Council announced.

There were more cars on the road last year than at any time in the nation's history, yet the mileage death rate was the lowest on record.

There were 32,000 traffic deaths in the U. S. in 1948—700 fewer than in 1947.

Two-Year-Old Boy Desperate For Trip

WATERLOO, Ia., Oct. 1 (INS)—A two-year-old Waterloo boy had a desperate yen to "take a trip" today.

Wayne Green, son of Mrs. Florence Green, of Waterloo, was returned home by police who found him going from door to door trying to sell his puppy to get enough money for a train ticket.

He had been reported missing by his mother and when located by authorities, he said he wanted to "take a trip."

Minneapolis People Are Honest Says Parking-Lot Market Owner

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 1 (U.P.)—Frank V. Hemstreet, credit man for Powers Dry Goods Co. here, operates an "On Your Honor" vegetable market on the back of his car.

He opens up in a parking lot each morning with the vegetables racked and wrapped in cellophane with the prices marked. Then he goes to his department store job. Customers are requested to drop money in a box.

"So far I haven't lost any money," Hemstreet says, "and it proves my theory that Minneapolis people are honest."

Actress Billie Burke At 64 Seeking New Roles To Play

BY HAL BOYLE
AP Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct.1 Mary William Ethelbert Appleton Burke is an ageless girl.

She starred back in 1907 with the late John Drew, played Ophelia to John Barrymore's Hamlet, spent 18 glittering years as the wife of Flo Ziegfield, and has acted in more than 100 motion pictures.

Yet this week this busy lass of 64 years spent four minutes smooching with 37-year-old Milt Berlinger.

M.W.E.A.B. is better known, of course, as Billie Burke, and Berlinger is recognizable to many video viewers as Milton Berle.

Seeks Broadway Role

I went over the other day to interview her at Sardi's restaurant, and it was like talking to a restless greyhound. She was all over the place.

On the screen Billie is famous for playing the role of a silly, fluttery woman. But in real life she doesn't flutter—she vibrates.

She burrowed for a moment in a huge lettuce salad. She said she'd just finished "And Baby Makes Three" for Columbia pictures, and now was looking for a Broadway play.

Then she saw Producer John Golden and whipped over to his table, had a few bites there, and whipped back.

"I can't find the right kind of play," she said. "I don't want to play a crude, low woman, but it seems like only plays about thwarted, frustrated people are popular now. Failure isn't part of my philosophy."

Knew Mark Twain

A Press agent came over to ask if she'd pose for pictures illustrating an article on geriatrics, the science of old age.

"No," she said definately, "That's not for me."

She said that "Mr. Ziegfeld was the nicest man she'd met in her life—and Mark Twain was next.

"I know people so far back," she complained. "I liked Mark because he was fond of red-haired people. The biggest regret of my life is that I never had a red-haired son."

INDIA STUDIES POLIO

NEW DELHI (AP) — The government of India has decided to start immediately research into the methods of spread and control of poliomylitis (infantile paralysis) at the Haffkin institute in Bombay.

A few cases of poliomylitis were reported recently in some of the Indian cities. The world Health Organization has dispatched five iron lungs for use in India.

Honest Girl Awarded Money In Court Case

TOPEKA, Kan., Oct. 1. (AP) — Honesty brought its reward, a bankroll of $1,794 to Cecilia Blodgett.

A court decided she was entitled to that sum, the amount in currency she found in a dresser drawer in a hospital sickroom.

The room was occupied by her father, Michael Blodgett. His condition was too critical to learn from him if the money was his, and he died without being questioned.

Instead of putting the cash in her purse and keeping quiet about it, Miss Blodgett turned the money over to the hospital for safekeeping.

After a year, without anyone establishing ownership, she asked the hospital for the money, and found she had to file a suit for it.

Heirs of Joseph Schmidt, who also had died in room 202, claimed the currency. Some of the claimants were relatives in Germany.

Judge Dean McElhenny ruled in favor of the finder. He said evidence did not point toward the money have been Schmidt's.

India To Ignore Space Ships; Regulation Of Them Rejected

NEW DELHI, India, Oct. 1 (AP) —A suggestion that the Indian constitution provide the government with powers to regulate inter-planetary travel died like a damp rocket in the Constituent Assembly here.

Most members kept their feet on the ground as H. V. Kamath argued that inter-planetary travel was a scientific possibility. He was supported only by Naziruddin Ahmed, who thought the government ought to have powers over travel between planets and their satellites as well.

Law Minister B. R. Ambedkar who drafted the constitution now under discussion ended the debate by remarking that if the proposal related to matters unknown, the assembly was wasting its time in discussing it. None of the members was prepared to explain how inter-planetary travel might be achieved.

SKILL PAYS OFF

SYDNEY (AP)—There's a 64 a week skill margin for bottle washers in Australia. This margin is on top of the basic wage—$20.80 in Sydney.

The rate was set by Conciliation Commissioner D. V. Morrison on the application of the Liquor and Allied Trades Employees Union. Morrison said the award will apply to persons employed in bottle stores or bottle yards.

Locations For Wildcat Explorations In Yoakum, Terry And Borden Counties Reported; Oil Developed In Borden Test

Locations were reported during the past seven days for wildcat petroleum explorations in central-east Yoakum county, central Terry county and in extreme southeast Borden county.

Honolulu Oil corporation is to start drilling soon on its No. 1 Paul Cobb and others, scheduled 8,000-foot wildcat to test the lower Permian in central-east Yoakum county, 12 miles east of Plains.

The drillsite will be 1,980 feet from west and 660 feet from south lines of section 381, block D, J. H. Gibson survey.

Drilling will be with rotary tools.

To Test Permian

Lynn D. Durham No. 1 M. B. Snyder is to be a 5,500-foot wildcat in central Terry county, five miles south of Brownfield.

Contracted depth will carry the venture to the San Andres of the Permian, using rotary tools.

This prospector will be 1,980 feet from west and 660 feet from south lines of section 123, block T, D&WRR survey.

Amerada Petroleum corporation is to start operations at once on its No. 1 N. C. Von Roeder, contracted 7,000-foot wildcat in extreme southeast Borden county to explore the Canyon reef lime.

It is two miles southeast of Amerada's No. 1 Canning and about eight miles southwest of nearest production in the Sheron Ridge-Canyon field of southwest Scurry county.

Drilling In Lime

Amerada No. 1 Canning, 667 feet from north and 653 feet from east lines of section 117, block 25, H&TC survey and five miles west of Knapp, is now drilling past 7,965 feet in lime and has had no shows of production up to now. It developed water in the Canyon lime.

It is contracted to drill to 9,000 feet.

A step-out from the discovery for Ellenburger production in the Borden field of northwest Borden county has developed its first free oil on a drillstem test in the top of the horizon to which it was projected.

Sinclair Oil & Gas company No. 1 Reynolds, 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 33, block 32, T-6-N, EL&RR survey, and one and one-quarter miles west of the company's No. 1 Williams, the discovery of the Borden field, recovered 20 feet of 31.5-gravity oil on a drillstem test at 9,839 feet.

The tool was open one hour and 50 minutes. There was a light blow of air at the surface throughout the period. A 540-foot water blanket was recovered, plus the free oil.

Operator is now drilling ahead in lime and chert past 9,915 feet and toward the zone at which commercial production was found by No. 1 Williams.

Recovery on a drillstem test at Sinclair No. 1 Ross Pratt, one mile west and a quarter of a mile south of the discovery, was the 540-foot water blanket, with no shows of oil or gas.

The drillstem test was at 9,872 feet. It is now drilling past 10,010 feet and thought to be in the Ellenburger.

No Reports Given

Another offset to the No. 1 Williams, Sinclair No. 1 Bryan, was coring in lime at 9,835 feet.

No reports of any tests have been given on this project, 660 feet from south and east lines of section 40, block 32, T-6-N, TP survey.

The other offset, Sinclair No. 1 Turner, one location to the east of the discovery, was continuing to make hole past 9,850 feet.

So far it has reported no tests.

Seaboard Oil company of Delaware No. 1 Mart Barrow, contracted 10,000-foot wildcat in northeast Dawson county, three and one half miles northeast of Lamesa was making more hole past 9,671 feet in lime and shale.

This project is 11 miles northwest of the Spraberry field which has production above 5,000 feet and above 7,000 feet from the Clear Fork of the Permian, and 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 8, block 35, T-6-N, TP survey.

The same company's No. 7-A-D J. H. Robinson, north stepout to production in the Spraberry field to 7,000 feet, was drilling past 5,953 feet in lime and shale.

Offset Is Completed

Seaboard has completed its No. 7-D Spraberry, an east offset to the operator's No. 6-D Spraberry, a completed producer in the Spraberry field, and 660 feet from south and west lines of section 37, block 34, T-5-N, TP survey.

It made a calculated 24-hour potential of 638 barrels of oil flowing through a three-eighths inch tubing choke. Flowing tubing pressure was 325 pounds.

Seaboard and others No. 3-D S. E. Lee, a south offset to the discovery in the Spraberry-Deep field, and 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 47, block 34, TP survey, was fishing for lost tools after drilling to 3,038 feet in lime and anhydrite.

After fish is recovered it will drill ahead to about 7,000 feet.

Cabot Carbon company and others, No. 2 Bice, Northeast Gaines county wildcat between the Cedar Lake and Welch fields, was bottomed at 4,955 feet in San Andres Permian lime and was to have began production tests at the end of the week.

This exploration located 660 feet from south and east lines of section 2, block C-31, psl survey, logged good porosity and some oil stains in cores between 4,904 feet and 4,954 feet.

No formation water was encountered in that zone. A string of 5½ inch casing has been cemented at 4,925 feet with 100 sacks.

The plug was to have been drilled and testing started Friday. An idea of the Petroleum yielding ability of the development should be available in a few days.

Water Is Found

Samedan Oil corporation and W. D. and R. S. Anderson No. 1-E-A Andrews, Central-South Gaines county wildcat adjacent to the Robertson field, found water in the Devonian after logging a 35-foot pay section in that formation which showed for a possible production of 40 barrels of oil per day of a drillstem test.

The discovery is to drill ahead to about 12,500 feet to explore the the Ellenburger. At the time this report was prepared it was making hole past 10,560 feet in lime.

The exploration is 15 miles southwest of Seminole, and 660 feet from north and west lines of the northeast quarter of section 19, block A-24, psl survey, and about three miles northwest of the Flanagan field, where there is some flowing production from the Devonian.

The show for production in No. 1-E-A Andrews came in a drillstem test at 10,062-090 feet. The tool was open three hours.

There was a strong blow of air throughout the period, and the drill pipe started to flow oil at the top at the end of three hours. Total recovery was the 2,000 foot water blanket, and 8,000 feet of clean oil.

Operator representatives estimated that the oil in the pipe represented a fill up of 40 barrels of oil per hour.

Drillstem Test Plan

Another drillstem test was run at 10,092-125 feet. The tool was open three hours. The recovery was the 2,000 foot water blanket, and 7,625 feet of sulphur water. There were no signs of oil or gas.

Top of the Devonian is picked at 10,055 feet on an elevation of 3,332 feet.

Forest Oil corporation and Anderson-Prichard Oil corporation were drilling past 9,758 feet in lime and shale at their No. 1-A Parmer county school land fee, contracted 15,000 foot wildcat in Southeast Gaines county.

Location is 860 feet from west and 660 feet from south lines of labor 12, league 317, Parmer county school land survey.

Mid-Continent Petroleum corporation No. 1 Nichols, slated 8,000-foot wildcat in Central-West Gaines county, 23 miles west of Seminole, had progressed past 4,276 feet in anhydrite and shale and was making more hole.

This venture called the top of the anhydrite at 1,880 feet and the top of the Yates at 3,040 feet. Elevation is 3,584 feet.

Producer Is Assured

The second producer from the Pennsylvanian lime for the Mound Lake area of Northeast Terry county has practically been assured at Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware No. 2 E. M. Hinson.

That venture, located one-quarter of a mile south of the initial producer in the Mound Lake field, and 660 feet from south and west lines of the northwest quarter of section 91, block 4-X, EL & RR survey, is bottomed at 9,435 feet in lime and has cemented a string of 7-inch casing at 9,400 feet.

The plugs will be drilled and a production test started on the open hole at 9,400-35 feet by the first of the week.

This exploration showed for production in a drillstem test at 9,406-35 feet. Gas came to the surface in nine minutes and oil started flowing out at the top in one hour and 50 minutes.

During one hour of flowing in to tanks the well made 16½ barrels of oil. After the tester was closed the drill pipe unloaded an additional eight barrels of clean oil.

No water has been encountered and it is expected that the exploration will be completed and put on production in a short time. It is approximately eight miles northeast of Brownfield.

To Test Devonian

Tide Water Associated Oil company No. 1 J. P. Nystel, slated 12,500-foot wildcat four miles east of the Adair pool in Southeast Terry county, was drilling past 7,780 in lime and sand.

This prospector is 660 feet from north and west lines of section of block C-38, psl survey, and 14 miles south of Brownfield.

Stanolind Oil & Gas company No. 3 Bertie T. Brown is to be a 12,200-exploration to test the Devonian in the Landon-Deep field of Central-South Cochran county, about 25 miles south and slightly west of Lehman.

It is located 1,320 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 14, block L, psl survey. Operations are to start at once.

Stanolind No. 1 Grollman, a Devonian prospector in the Landon-west and 407 feet from south lines Deep region, and 660 feet from of section 4, block L, psl survey, had reached 11,125 in lime and shale and was making more hole. It is to go to 12,000 feet and possibly deeper to test the Devonian.

Stanolind No. 2 Holt, which has shown for some sort of production from the Devonian in the Landon area, and which is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 3, block L, psl survey, continues to swab at the interval at 11,747-794 feet.

That section had been treated with acid, through casing perforations. On the last report the exploration swabbed 20 barrels of water and 63 barrels of oil in 20 hours.

There is a possibility that the perforations now being tested will be squeezed off and then the pipe will be perforated slightly higher.

Stepout Is Planned

Lion Oil company No. 1 Masten is to be a three-quarter of a mile southwest stepout from the nearest production from the San Andres-Permian on the southwest side of the Levelland field in Central Cochran county.

It is 440 feet from north and east lines of labor 12, league 132, Carson county school land survey.

Drilling to 5,200 feet is to begin at once.

In the Anton-Irish field of southeast Lamb county, Anton Oil Corporation No. 2 Richardson-Cuba has been completed as a pumper with a daily production of 23.45 barrels of 28.7 gravity oil in 24 hours. The gas-oil ratio of the oil was not reported.

It also made 4.2 per cent water.

The production was from open hole between the top of the pay at 5,475 feet and the total depth at 6,100 feet. The pay zone was treated with 1,000 gallons of acid.

This new well is 660 feet from east and 1,980 feet from north lines of the lease in section 32, block 1, R. M. Thompson survey.

Gulf Oil corporation No. 12-T E. K. Hufstedler, in the Anton-Irish field of southwest Hale county, was completed.

The new pumper made calculated daily production of 309 barrels of 30.8-gravity oil with a gas-oil ratio of 70-1. There was no formation water.

It was completed from open hole between the top of the pay at 5,680 feet and the total depth at 5,970 feet. The pay zone was acidized with 8,000 gallons of acid.

This new well is 880 feet from east and 2,238 feet from south lines of section 16, block DT, HE&WT survey.

Seaboard Oil company of Delaware No. 1 OS Ranch, scheduled 8,250-foot prospector to explore the Ellenburger in central-south Garza county, and at the center of the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 2, block 5, GH&H survey was making hole past 6,760 feet in shale.

It is 15 miles south of Post.

Rogers Brothers and Stewart of Wichita Falls No. 1 Wahlenmaier, central-south Crosby county wildcat, had treated open hole between 2,806 feet and the total depth at 2,817 feet with 2,000 gallons of acid and was swabbing approximately one barrel of oil per hour after the acid residue was swabbed out.

Operator was continuing to swab while considering whether or not to re-treat the pay section to try to increase the oil production.

Location is 330 feet from south and east lines of the northeast quarter of section 3, block D-15 WTRR survey.

Tobe Foster and others of Lubbock No. 1 G. A. Harrell, wildcat to 7,000 feet in central-northwest Hale county, was drilling past 4,087 feet in lime and was making more hole.

Poisoning For Locusts Being Conducted Throughout Iraq

BAGHDAD, Iraq, Oct. 1 (AP)—A new type of locust control program in Iraq has reduced field crop destruction to practically nothing from one-time losses of more than $25,000,000 annually. Locusts have been the traditional scourge of farmers in this Tigris-Euphrates area since time immemorial.

In years when the locusts struck in heavy numbers, starvation and death often followed. The program is unique in this respect. Instead of using poison bran bait, it used poison mixed in animal manure. The manure-poison combination spread in the fields also serves as fertilizer.

Two helicopters and 700 vehicles, including 40 jeeps used in areas of bad roads ,distributes the poison and manure. The anti-locust campaign will continue to be waged against the few locusts scattered about. Flying units keep a close eye on suspected hatching areas.

Smaller Baseball Crowds Cause Vendor To Pay Reduced Alimony

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP) — Kenneth Garmes, a soda vendor at the ball park, asked the court to reduce his alimony payments. He complained that the last-place Washington Nats were drawing such small crowds that he couldn't make any money on a commission basis.

Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough, a baseball fan himself, sympathized with Garmes. He ruled that from now on the vendor will have to pay his wife only $30 a month instead of $50.

LACK OF OXYGEN, TERRIFIC PRESSURE DANGERS

Aviation Medical Expert Says Ten Problems Need Solving To Achieve Outer Space Travel

By ROBERT N. SCHWARTZ
INS Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Oct. 1—An expert in aviation medicine said today that modern research has lifted interplanetary travel out of the realm of phantasy but declared ten problems must be solved before man makes his first trip into the world of outer space.

Dr. John Marberger, research director of the aeromedical laboratory of the University of Illinois College of medicine, said:

"We can no longer think of interplanetary travel as just idle chatter, because of the progress that modern research has brought in physics, astronomy and engineering. But there are still some knotty problems to solve."

Oxygen, Gravity Problems

Dr. Marberger, who directed the aviation medicine research program at Wright field during the war, listed the medical problems as follows:

1. Lack of oxygen and atmospheric pressure.

"Man could not exist for even a moment outside his space ship because of the complete vacuum which exists in space. The difference in pressures would burst the human body like a rubber balloon.

"Engineers will have to build space ships so that they will have the proper amount of oxygen under proper tension constantly available."

2. Absence of gravity.

"The absence of gravity would be another new and frightening problem. For example, a pencil or book extended at arms length and then released would not fall, but would remain suspended in space.

"Engineers believe they can solve this problem within the ship by mechanical means, such as rotating it at a fixed speed."

3. The danger of radiation.

"Space is filled with deadly radiation, which is filtered before it reaches earth by the atmosphere. The space ship would have to be coated with materials that absorb or deflect these rays."

4. Temperature.

"The problem of maintaining suitable temperatures within the space ship will also be a tough one.

Terific Speed Necessary

"I believe, however, that the necessary consumption of precious fuel for interior heating or cooling can be reduced by painting the exterior surface of the ship with substances that reflect heat rays—either solar radiation from without, or radiation from the occupants inside."

5. Velocity.

"This problem," said Dr. Marberger, "is the relation between the speed at which the space ship will have to travel and the velocity limits of human nervous processes and reflexes.

"It has been estimated that in order to travel to a point beyond the earth's atmosphere, a peak velocity of up to 125 miles per second might have to be attained in order that the trip might be made within from 10 to 20 days. At that speed the ship will travel 25 miles in the time it takes the individual to perceive that he is moving."

"The space ship will have to remain within the limits of the human body in acceleration and deceleration."

7. Food.

"If the estimated time for travel into space is a week, two weeks or longer, considerable attention must be given to the nutritional requirements of the persons within the ship.

Collisions Danger

"The best type of food necessary as well as the best method of preserving and storing it in limited space must be determined."

8. Danger of meteors.

"The danger of collision with meteors," said Dr. Marberger, "is the greatest to which the space travelers will be exposed.

"Space is full of white-hot meteorites. If the ship were struck with a particle one-fourth of an inch in diameter, the pressure inside would quickly be lost, leaving a complete vacuum and bringing speedy death to those in the ship.

"Self-sealing walls in the ship would possibly minimize the danger from small meteorites, but large ones would make the ship disintegrate instantly and completely."

9. Fatigue.

"Another problem—and one already being studied in aviation medicine—is how to combat fatigue in personnel. Fatigue will be particularly dangerous because of the difficult navigation problems in outer space."

First Flight Considered

10. Selection of personnel.

"The final problem," Dr. Marberger said, "is drawing up a series of physical and psychic aptitude tests, to find persons best suited to withstand the rigors of interplanetary travel."

The medical expert said there are many other problems, such as construction and fuel, but these are for the engineer and physicist. Navigation will have to be worked out by astronomers.

As for the possible destination of the first flight, Dr. Marberger pointed out that of all the planets, only Mars seems to hold out some hope for the interplanetary traveler.

He said, "astronomers, have found on Mars traces of oxygen, nitrogen, water vapor and other gases. In addition, temperature changes on Mars are less extreme than on any other planet but earth.

"For all this," he added, "it still may not be habitable."

The medical expert said that perhaps the most important form of space travel at first, will be simply from one point on the earth to another. He explained:

"We'll fly up there because it's the fastest way to travel."

As for his own inclinations, Dr. Marberger said:

"You can have your trips to the moon or Mars. I'll stay right here on earth."

Movie Firm Warehouse Janitor Is Held In Stabbing Of Man

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 1 (AP)—One man is in a hospital and another in jail today after a fight in a movie costume company warehouse with a heavy cavalry saber.

Police said Richard Jones, 30, a janitor, seized the weapon and stabbed Melbert J. Caplan, 32, secretary-treasurer of Local 705, costumers union, after they became involved in an argument over income tax deductions from Jones' salary check.

Witnesses said Jones chased Caplan down a long hall and stabbed him in the stomach. Caplan seized the blade and pulled it from his body, cutting both hands deeply. Jones was booked on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder.

Mexican Red Tape Cuts Farm Labor Supply; Connally Temper Resented

BUT EVEN SO:

Crop Will Come In

SURPRISE and disappointment have been professed in some quarters because so many Texas farmers have not attempted to obtain cotton pickers from the interior of Mexico.

Actually, surprise is not justified. Several reasons why many farmers have not attempted to tap this source of labor supply are apparent to the most casual observation. One is that too much red tape is involved in getting such workers. Another is that it takes too much time—several weeks at the least—to secure the labor.

A third is the bond of $25 for each worker the farmer must post to guarantee the return of the laborer to the custody of the Mexican government. If a worker runs away, as many are likely to do, the farmer loses his $25. The farmer could not keep the laborers who might be allotted to him under constant guard, and wouldn't do it if he had the authority.

Then there is another important consideration. Texas cotton farmers have grown huge cotton crops before. In 1926, they harvested 5,628,000 bales from 17,749,000 acres with less labor than they have in sight now. Many times they have faced the problem of getting more cotton out of larger fields than this year, with its estimated crop of 5,000,000 bales from somewhat more than 10,000,000 acres.

That, unquestionably, will be an enormous crop from a huge acreage. Most farmers undoubtedly could use more pickers than they are likely to get. But they are not tearing their hair in despair over the labor prospect for the excellent reason that most of them know from personal experience that they will manage in some way to get their cotton out of the fields.

They have done bigger jobs before. They aren't going to let the one immediately ahead stump them.

The 1949 Fair

MOST visitors to the 32nd annual Panhandle-South Plains fair which closed last night appeared to agree that it was a pretty good fair.

The agricultural exhibits were truly outstanding. So were those in the Women's building. Grandstand entertainment was spectacular and of superior quality. The carnival midway was above average. Premiums were paid in full, to maintain an unbroken precedent for the fair.

But the exposition would fail in one major purpose if it did not point to improvements which should be made in the next fair. One obvious need of the 1950 and future expositions is more entries in the cattle and swine departments. They were disappointingly few this year. We are sure officials of the fair association will do what they can to arouse more interest in these departments and will come up with other ideas looking to improvements of the 1950 exposition.

Meanwhile, those who prepared and staged the 1949 fair are due credit for having done an excellent job—one of which they and the community can take justifiable pride.

Keep Our Secrets!

RECENT disclosures concerning Russia and the atom bomb naturally and properly are causing Uncle Sam and the world to study this problem with intensified interest. People generally recognize that many revisions of atomic policies may have become a vital necessity.

But it is safe to say that the average American remains to be convinced that it now has become advisable for Uncle Sam to share his secrets with any other nation. And even the so-called experts admit doubts as to how much Russia knows and has in the way of atomic knowledge and weapons. Certainly there is the possibility that Russian spokesmen could be attempting to run a mighty big bluff with a mighty weak hole-card in an attempt to gain possession of information they do not have now.

The average American, readily admitting his lack of expert knowledge, probably would be inclined to go slow in handing precious secrets around where they might leak until he is better satisfied that the atomic danger from Russia contains more reality than hot air.

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE AIDS UNDERSTANDING

Texas Solons Make Studies In European Nations

By SARAH McCLENDON
Special Corresdondent

STOCKHOLM, (Delayed en route)—What a Texas congressman faces when he attends one of these international conferences which have been current in Europe for several months now was demonstrated at the Inter-Parliamentary Union in Sweden.

Texas has had several congressmen traveling in Europe the past summer. Some attended these conferences. Others came to observe conditions.

Rep. W. R. Poage, Waco, of Texas' 11th district, was again a delegate this year to the 60-year-old Inter-parlimentary union, one of the oldest deliberative bodies in the world and one high upon the list of those organizations which are bringing nations closer together. Poage had previously attended sessions in Cairo and Rome.

Poage was also checking on the cotton trade situation while in Europe on the wheat production, the Marshall Plan, the farm production, and of course Russia.

Given Broader Viewpoints

Rep. Lindley Beckworth, chairman of the House sub-committee on transportation, went there with a group of fellow committee members to study this question and also the broader ones of health and petroleum which also come before the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce committee.

Rep. Frank Wilson, Dallas, member of a House Judiciary sub-committee, went to study the displaced persons situation. How to ease pressures on the U. S. from those favoring more immigration was one angle he pursued, also how to improve present legislation pertaining to displaced persons, how to handle repatriation and resettlement matters.

Rep. Eugene Worley, Shamrock, who like Poage, is a membe rof the House Agriculture committee, studied the foot-and-mouth disease question in Germany, England and Sweden.

Many of the visiting congressmen from the U. S. including Congressmen and Mrs. Poage also attended the Moral Re-Armament Conference in Caux, Switzerland.

Although the announced purposes of their visits were important, still the important thing seemed to be that each congressman broadened his scope of knowledge and viewpoint.

The Inter-Parliamentary Union was the conference we observed. This body is made up only of members of parliaments throughout the world. Some day this may become the world parliament.

Impressive Group Named

ANNUALLY a group of serious-minded members of House and Senate are named to attend the conference by the Vice-President, Senator Estes Kefauver, D., Tenn., Senator Raymond Baldwin, R., Coonn., Senator Homer Ferguson, R., Michigan, Senator Owen Brewster, R., Maine, Rep. Harold Cooley, D., N. C., chairman of the House Agriculture committee, Rep. Cliff Hope, R., Kan., former chairman, Rep. Albert Gore, D., Tenn., and others were in the American delegation.

We were privileged to sit on the floor with the American delegation and had the chance to see them make some of their most important decisions and cast their votes on the final day. Meetings were held in the great Parliament house of Sweden which is well equipped to handle an international meeting of such consequences. The building had the Americans worried as to how they would entertain a like conference in Washington—probable the House floor in the capitol would be the only place, sometime when the body is not in session, if that time comes. But as for entertainment halls for larger dinners, the Americans realized that even Washington cannot cope so far with events of such magnitude.

At each desk were earphones. Officially, only two languages were spoken at the conference, English and French. If a speaker began in French, then over the earphones would come at once the translation as he went along in English. If he spoke in English, the French translation would sound.

Two figures stood out in the Conference hall. One was the black robed figure of Abbe Pierre of France, one of the most colorful and active characters there and apparently a great student of parliamentary law and world events. Another was the Yugoslav delegate, who this year was significantly not opposing everything the western nations advocated. Sometimes he just did not vote. But it was vastly different from the Yugoslav member's actions last year, the Americans assured us.

Various Problems Studied

Debate was brisk. In fact, members often referred to the Union as a debating society. Some seemed to feel so much at home in the body they debated as they would have had they been Democrats or Republicans. But to me that did not seem half as important as the fact that they got together. Members of the American, British, Irish, Finnish and other delegations to which I spoke said they felt the conference more worthwhile from the standpoint of friendships made between nationals. The fact that members of the various parliaments could come together, get to know one another and learn to operate as an interantional body was most interesting. Everywhere, too, I noticed the delegates were not only talking the agenda for the day but were discussing the United Nations, the World Food and Agriculture organization, the dollar, markets, trade, tariff walls, socialized medicine, the welfare state, taxes, standards of living, etc. Law makers of many land were "fronting" like diplomats for their countries, framing though and seeking to sell other nations on their own country's ideologies.

Of course the U. S. was backing the United Nations and wanted such discussions as the defense and consolidation of peace taken care of in the framework of the United Nations. The Union, however, voted to become "the watchful guardians of peace at the side of their respective governments" and by legislation and public opinion "to try to iron out disputes

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

YOU HAVE all read or heard that bewhiskered old wheeze about ship news reporters interviewing celebrities arriving in the United States for the first time, and asking them, before they have even set foot on land: "How do you like America?"

BRANDEIS

If the celebrity happens to be an author, he rushes madly through our forty-eight states in two weeks, with, perhaps, a quick airplane trip to Honolulu, and then writes a book entitled "America As I Know Her."

I have spent just four days in Eastern Canada so far, yet I am not going to write a book about the country.

But I shall tell you a few things about Canada with the same authority as my colleagues of the writing game who write those books about America after a fortnight's sojourn.

First of all I promise you that you will enjoy Canada.

It is chockful of interesting sights. It is truly foreign in character, yet you don't feel strange in it.

The thing that impressed me particularly was the courtesy of almost everybody with whom we came in contact.

Waiters and waitresses actually thank you as if they mean it when you give them even a modest tip.

The people in the stores are polite and anxious to please.

I had always dreamed of some day owning a cashmere top coat, but they were too expensive for my pocketbook. I knew Canada was the place to get one reasonably.

In went into at least a half dozen stores in Montreal and to as many in Quebec, without finding just what I wanted.

None of the clerks seemed to mind it when I went out without buying. As a matter of fact most of them suggested "Why don't you try the Soandso store? They may have just what you want.

It reminded me of that movie "Miracle on Thirty-Fourth Street" where "Macy's actually does tell Gimbel's."

I finally found that coat—at about half of what it would have cost me in the United States.

But don't think that you can rush to Canada and find a lot of bargains—except in woolens and tweeds.

Wherever we went there were signs in the better stores "Import from New York."

This noon we drove out to famous Montmorency Falls.

There was a lovely wood-carved pieced named "Habitant Peasant."

The wife loved it. Just the thing for our mantelpiece. So quaint. So typically French-Canadian!

I was about to buy it, when something told me to turn it over and look at the bottom.

There, sure enough, was a little label "Made in New London, Conn."

WE ENJOYED Canada and I hope you will visit it. You will enjoy it too, and if you have been there you will want to go again.

But remember this: We kick about our sales tax. In Canada you pay a five per cent "hospital tax" on every meal you eat. On clothes you pay a four per cent tax. Cigarettes are forty cents a package. Scotch whiskey, if you are interested, costs much more than in the States. So do wines and other beverages.

Have you heard the howls because our government wants to raise the price of postal cards from one to two cents? In Canada the postage on cards is three cents, on letters four cents.

By the way, I was told that a girl here is not allowed to go to a movie until she is 16, but she may get married at 14. Thus she can celebrate her second wedding anniversary by going to a movie for the first time.

Yes, Canada is a great country—and thank God for the United States!

SOLONS NEAR REVOLT

Texan Unreasonable

By DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—When history looks over the long record of Senator Tom Connally of Texas, both in the House and the Senate, it will write at the bottom of the page: "He served his country well."

But because Tom has been a fine public servant, it is a pity that the climaxing chapters should be marred by an irascibility that sometimes jars one of the most important things in the nation—our bi-partisan foreign policy.

PEARSON

Real fact is that Senator Connally, non chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, has let his snapping-turtle disposition get so bad that some members of the committee are near revolt. Those who have served with the senator from Texas a long time don't let this bother them. "Sure, Tom is a little harsh at times," explains one veteran senator, "but he has a fine old heart and he doesn't mean it."

One senator who doesn't know Connally so well, however, says: "I can't put up with his bullying much longer."

Connally's latest explosion almost broke up a critical, joint session of the foreign relations and armed services committees, working behind closed doors on military aid for Europe.

The loyal Texan faithfully fought for the bill as if defending the Alamo, but he treated some of his fellow senators like school kids.

Tom Makes 'Em Jump

Freshman bill Knowland, California Republican, suggested voting on an Amendment to deal in China for military aid.

"I'm not ready to vote!" snorted Connally, and he heckled Knowland the rest of the meeting.

But the worst outburst came like a thunderclap when timid Alex Smith, New Jersey Republican, mentioned that he was going to Japan.

"By God, you're not going as a representative of this committee!" roared Connally.

The startled senator from New Jersey mumbled innocently that he didn't intend to.

"You fellows get 5,000 miles away, and thump yourself on the chest and claim to represent the foreign relations committee!" Connally thundered. He thumped his chest to give sound effects.

After the meeting adjourned, Georgia's fair-minded Senator Dick Russell, who was visiting with the armed services committee, whispered: "I wouldn't serve under that man."

Connally takes out his wrath on anyone who crosses his path. But a favorite victim is Arkansas' Senator Bill Fulbright, who has been plugging for a United States of Europe. To malso shows his dislike for Senator Vandenberg, an essential and faithful advocate of a bi-partisan foreign policy.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN had one overpowering problem more than ever on his mind after announcing to his cabinet that Russia had exploded an atomic bomb—namely how to keep the peace of the world.

One of the first men he saw after the historic announcement was Sen. Burnett Maybank, South Carolina Democrat. Truman greeted Maybank gravely.

"I wanted to talk to you," said Maybank, "about point four."

This is the President's plan to develop backward areas of the Earth. Just an idea tossed to Congress in a presidential message at first, this has now been boiled down into a bill authorizing the Export-Import bank to insure private investments in overseas projects up to $3,500,000,000. The bill was before Maybank's banking and currency committee.

The President's eyes lighted up.

Then, pulling the senator from South Carolina over to the world globe, Truman began spinning it from country to country. Enthusiastically, he pointed to East Africa, Madagascar, the Middle East, India, Pakistan, Paraguay, the South American interior—showing how rivers could be harnessed and the land could be turned into productive work.

"The surest way to have peace in the world is to have satisfied people," Truman explained. He stressed that private enterprise must be encouraged to take the initiative; otherwise governments will take over, as in Russia.

The President showed special concern over the Middle East—a fertile field for American investors or Soviet agents, whoever gets there first. By bringing prosperity to the Middle East, Truman hoped to wipe out a Communist breeding ground. He also was anxious to keep Communism out of the western hemisphere by helping Our South American neighbors.

As a parting argument for helping the rest of the world achieve prosperity, the President observed: "There was no fighting in the Garden of Eden."

NOTE — Maybank was so impressed with the President's earnestness that he pushed the point-four bill through his Senate banking and currency committee the next day.

SENATORS who want to keep up with the machine age are now entitled to two streamlined, electric typewriters. But, as with all new machines, it will mean kicking someone out of a job. This doesn't mean that the machine replaces the typist, but that the Senate budget isn't big enough for both.

Believing that economy begins at home, the Senate rules committee has authorized two electric typewriters for each Senate office, but the cost must be deducted from the office payroll. The purchase price for two of these fancy typewriters is $1,920, which will mean laying off a bottom-rung clerk for several months.

Though this offer has just been announced, two senators have already put in their orders. They are Arthur Watkins of Utah and John Stennis of Mississippi, who don't happen to be using their full payroll anyhow. Two other senators—Lyndon Johnson of Texas and Russell Long of Louisiana—have bought electric typewriters out of their own pockets, and the Senate rules committee is now willing to reimburse them—provided they will fire someone from their staffs first.

Strangers With Wings

Dear Friends
and Gentle Hearts:

A MAN in the Bible once entertained certain strangers in his house, and he did not find out until after they had left that they were messengers of God. It was 3,000 years ago that the old Israelite received those angels, unaware, and ever since then history has been repeating itself.

OURSLER

We meet a stranger; he may be a legless beggar at the corner, or a loud-mouthed traveler on a Pullman—no matter how he rubs us the wrong way, we must treat him kindly because he may have a message important to our peace of mind, our health, our duty or even our worldly prosperity, if we will only listen. In any case, whether your strangers are celestial messengers, or merely accidental companions on their way, a surprise may be in store if you treat them well.

I often remember with pleasure, an encounter, one stormy night, many years ago, when an elderly man and his wife entered the lobby of a small hotel in Philadelphia. The couple had no luggage.

"All the big places are filled up," said the man. "Can you possibly give us a room here?"

The clerk replied that there were three conventions in town, and no accomodations anywhere.

"Every guest room is taken," he next explained. "But still I simply can't send a nice couple like you out in the rain at one o'clock in the morning. Would you perhaps be willing to sleep in my room? . . . Oh, I'll make out just fine; don't worry about me."

NEXT morning, as he paid his bill, the elderly man said to the clerk:

"You are the kind of manager who should be the boss of the best hotel in the United States. Maybe some day I'll build one for you!"

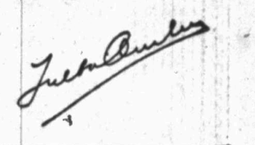

The clerk laughed. And he laughed again, when, after two years had passed, he received a letter containing a round-trip ticket to New York and a request that he call up his guest of that rainy night. In the metropolis, the old man led the young clerk to the corner of Fifth Avenue and 34th Street and pointed to a vast new building there, a palace of reddish stone, with turrets and watchtowers, like a castle from fairyland cleaving the New York sky.

"That," he declared, "is the hotel I have just built, for you to manage."

As if hit by lightning, the young man, George C. Boldt, stood fixed to the ground. His benefactor was William Waldorf Astor—and the hotel the most famous of its day, the original Waldorf-Astoria.

We should treat well all strangers who seek our help. Under a ragged coat, they may hide their wings!

Faithfully yours,

On The Brighter Side

"CERTAIN medical scientists are working towards lengthening the human life span to 150 years." Unless something is done to reduce the cost of living considerably, it is doubted if anybody could afford to live that long.

It never seems to occur to the President and Congress that government, like anything else, can be priced out of the market.

It has been suggested that an annual "Old Maid's Day" be observed. Perhaps the old maids would rather have a night.

A SENATOR says an item of $33,000 in an appropriations bill has been earmarked for dredging an allegedly non-existent river. The taxpayer hopes Congress will not set a precedent in authorizing an appropriation for dredging a non-existent river, as there are said to be a large number of such rivers in the country.

Faced with eviction, an Ohio tenant killed himself. Although because of the housing shortage it is much easier to find a place to die than one in which to live, suicide is scarcely to be recommended.

Government Tightens Controls On Crops As Surpluses Mount

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP) —The government is clamping more and more production and marketing controls on American farmers in an effort to cope with surpluses that are piling up. It hasn't stirred up much controversy, one reason being that it meets with the approval of a majority of the farmers.

In general, there are two types of controls: 1. Acreage allotments and marketing quotas for the basic crops—wheat, corn, rice, cotton, peanuts and tobacco. These are designed to hold down burdensome surpluses of price-supported commodities so the government's price support bill won't run too high. The law guarantees price support for all basic crops. 2. Federal marketing programs for certain fruits and nuts, aimed at limiting the amount that can be marketed to that which will return a "fair" price. The price-depressing "surplus" is dumped, left to rot, sold as livestock feed at cut-rate prices or otherwise diverted.

Controls May Fail

There is general concern among farm experts in government and out of government that the farm allotment and quota system may not provide the answer to the problem of surpluses. These controls did not solve the pre-war surplus problem. It took a devastating war to wipe out the surplus stocks of corn, wheat and cotton tht had piled up in the 1930's.

With hunger stalking Europe, the United States rushed record-shattering shipments of foodstuffs abroad to meet the emergency. A large share of these exports were "given away" because foreign nations couldn't pay for them. But some of the exports were bought and paid for by the foreign countries themselves out of their scarce supplies of dollars.

Europe Competes

But now foreign agriculture is recovering from war devastation. Foreign countries are trying desperately to spend as few of their own dollars as possible for American farm products. They are trying to boost their own farm output, or to buy farm products from other foreign countries which don't demand dollars in payment. They want to conserve their dwindling dollar supply to spend on U. S. industrial equipment which they can't get elsewhere.

At the same time the American farm plant is continuing to produce one-third more than pre-war in its total output. Even with huge government-subsidized exports under the multi-billion dollar recovery and foreign occupation programs, U. S. farm surpluses are beginning to pile up again.

Sorghum Grain Being Grown In Australia For England

SYDNEY, Oct. 1 (AP)—The harvest has been disappointing at the Peak Downs Food for Britain Farm, near Emerald, Queensland. The 29,000 acre crop of grain sorghum gave only 320,000 bushels. One million bushels were expected earlier in the season.

Heavy frost early in May damaged the crop. But the Queensland Government and the British Food Corporation, which run the farm as a joint venture, are not discouraged. Next year 100,000 acres will be planted. Ploughing already is under way.

The sorghum grain grown at the farm eventually ends up as bacon on the British breakfast table. It is shipped to England and used to fatten pigs.

Curbs On Press Opposed

The Americans had to be on their toes to watch any wording put forward by those with Communistic leanings.

The Americans leaped to defend a clause which Poage, Cooley, Ferguson and Brewster thought was decidely limiting to freedom of the press. The proposal was that "members assist with all the means at their disposal in achieving an improvement in the general moral atmosphere by combatting every form of propaganda in favour of aggressive war or calculated to produce a state of war hysteria, and by taking effective measures to oppose any tendency of the press or radio to engage in such activities." The American delegation was voted down by 129 to 153.

When the conference adopts a proposal, then progress made along these lines must be reported at the next meeting.

The conference ended at the formal dinner in the gold room of the famous Town Hall of Stockholm, the building which the picture postcards show stands by the sea, with a tower, topped by three gold crowns representing the time when Sweden ruled other nations.

This was the most formal party I had ever crashed and probably it was the most splendid occasion that I shall ever be privileged to recount.

The entire walls were mosaic and all was shiny gold except for the colored murals done in mosaic, depicting the meeting of the East and the West in the great crossroads which is Stockholm. There was an American flag, the statute of Liberty, and life-sized figures of the West.

Congressman and Mrs. Poage and I amused ourselves by noting the expensive outlay of costs, both material and labor, during service of the meal, which was excellent. However, as Poage pointed out, Americans probably would have cut the price of the meal down by helping the plate at least partially in the kitchen before putting it on the table, by not giving the guest a fresh plate after each course and by doing away with the army of waiters who served each person individually.

Some of the Americans amused me when they began to show how they learned the Scandinavian custom of skoling—inviting your guest to drink with you. There is considerable etiquette which must be followed. You never skol your host. You must wait for your host to skol first before you can drink. He catches your eye, you both drink, you meet the eye again, and he drops his glass to the third button of his coat. It's a nice way to visit across a long table, however.

Directly across the table from us sat the Danish delegation. A Danish woman, having finished her meal, pulled out a cigar and smoked it. She consumed several during the after dinner speeches. Mrs. Poage became slightly nauseated, sitting there looking at her, and I could not help but think of Bonnie Parker.
