Loraine Faces McAdoo Playoff Set For Tuesday In Post

The Loraine Bulldogs, District 10-B champions, will travel to Post Tuesday night to take on McAdoo in a contest for the bi-district crown.

The game will get underway at 7:30 p.m.

Loraine and McAdoo both have strong teams and Tuesday night's game is expected to be a real thriller.

For Loraine fans, the game will be one in a series of thrillers.

Halfway through the district 10-B competition, Loraine was considered to be out of the district race, although the Bulldogs were in second place.

Highland was thought to be the odds on favorite to be district champions. Then Highland lost their last three games, one of which was against Loraine.

The three losses threw the district race into a tie between Loraine and Highland and in a playoff two weeks ago in Roscoe, Highland was simply no match for the determined Bulldogs.

Loraine won 79-72 and earned the right to meet McAdoo.

During the time since they won that honor, Loraine has been rehearsing for the big game by playing strong opponents such as Throckmorton, Wall and Hawley.

In a real thriller, Loraine downed arch-rival Wall by one point. However, things didn't go quite so well against Hawley, top rated Class "B" school in the state, and Loraine lost that game.

Friday night, Loraine downed Throckmorton by a sizeable margin.

Since McAdoo won the championship of its district, they also have been playing some rehearsal games one of which was also against Hawley and McAdoo lost.

Starters for the Loraine Bulldogs will include David Minton, Tanis Moreno, Michael Jones, Robert Darnell and Kenneth Rose.

Possibly the only weakness of the Loraine team is a tendency to get into foul trouble. During regular season play several starters fouled out in crucial games with only a short time to go and Loraine leading.

Despite some strong Loraine reserves, Loraine lost those games.

A lack of height on the part of the Loraine team has worried some Bulldog fans but it shouldn't as members of the Loraine team seem to have springs on their feet and can outjump other players many inches taller.

This past week, several of the Bulldogs have been hit by the flu bug but hopefully, they will have recovered by game time Tuesday.

Loraine's scoring attack is lead by Jones who has been swishing the nets regularly with anywhere between 20 and almost 40 points.

However, he is also supported by the strong outside shooting of Moreno, Minton and Rose.

Darnell stays inside to use his jumping ability to grab rebounds and tip the ball in.

Minton is considered playmaker for the team as he Rose and Moreno pass the ball around in an effort to get in a position to take a good shot or where they can pass inside to Jones or Darnell.

Three Candidates For Loraine School Board

Three candidates--with only one incumbent among them--definitely were in the race Saturday for 3 places on Loraine Independent School District board of trustees.

A fourth citizen was seriously considering the school board race, but had not decided.

Already filed officially for places on the April 1 ballot were Ronald Bruce, vice president of Loraine's First State Bank, who is candidate for a second term on the board, and Billy Cornutt, 34-year-old farmer, who is seeking his first elective office.

The third candidate is Weldon McCollum, 39, employee of Cosden Petroleum and Chemical Company, who revealed he "definitely would be a candidate" and planned to officially file for the ballot place Saturday.

Considering the race, but not committed was Bill Preston, bookkeeper for El Paso Natural Gas.

Two school leaders who have served a combined total of 30 years on the board will not be candidates for re-election. They are Dr. Joe Terry, who has been president of the board, and Loyd Brame.

Terry, who is completing 18 years as a school board member, indicated a year ago he was ready to retire from board service, made it official recently with a public statement that "after 18 years I believe it is time now to turn my job over to another." At the same time he said that through the years he had served "as best I could for the best interest" of Loraine schools.

Brame, who is ending 12 years as school trustee, said his decision not to run for re-election was based on reasons of health and other obligations. Although leaving the board, he emphasized that he will always want "the best" for Loraine schools.

Deadline for filing in the school election is only 3 days away--March 1.

All three of the definite candidates -- Bruce, Cornutt and McCollum -- and Preston, too, are parents of school age children.

Bruce is father of second and third grade pupils while Cornutt has a son in the fourth grade. McCollum has children in the sixth and eighth grades.

Preston is father of a daughter in the second grade and a boy, age 3.

Westbrook Election Scheduled

Three candidates have filed for ballot places in the April 1 school board election for Westbrook Rural High School District.

They are Rex T. McKenney, who will be a candidate for re-election; T. A. Whitesides and Floyd Ritchey.

Another incumbent who will not be on the ballot in Tommy Christian. He has moved from Westbrook and, therefore, will not be a candidate for re-election.

Deadline for candidates to file for a place on the April ballot is March 1.

TOWN TALK

By MAC MCKINNON

Colorado City should be the cleanest town in West Texas by spring.

The Mitchell County Boys Club board of directors met Thursday night and began formulating plans for a clean-up campaign.

Clean-up drives also are being planned by the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts.

The clean-up campaign was only one of many points of discussion during the Boys Club directors meeting.

Other items decided on included changing the meeting date from the last Thursday night of the month to the last Wednesday at noon at Wallace Center.

It seemed that the Thursday night date conflicted with the schedules of many directors of the Boys Club.

The directors also decided to give notice that an amendment to the Boys Club by-laws will be considered at the next meeting. Under the proposed amendment directors with three consecutive unexcused absences will be replaced.

The club is still trying to get on its feet and needs the ideas and support of as many people as possible.

And, like many other organizations, the Boys Club needs money. But instead of depending on contributions, the directors expressed interest in work projects for the boys.

One such project being considered is the printing of personalized stationery and envelopes.

Speaking of money reminds me of discussions I've heard around town lately regarding the re-establishment of some type of United Fund of Community Chest.

From time to time, Colorado City has had a type of United Fund drive that takes in money for almost all charitable organizations.

It seems that the many drives conducted individually by the many worthwhile organizations could be done much more simply all at one time.

There are a number of people who work on behalf of several of these organizations and they find themselves going in all directions at this time of year since many of the fund drives are conducted in the spring.

It seems that the same goal

Revoke Probation? Officers Upset With Verdict

Law enforcement officers are making no secret they are displeased with a jury verdict returned in County Court early in the week.

The verdict was "not guilty" in the case of Opal Rose, Loraine, charged with bootlegging.

Mrs. Rose, who is charged with another bootlegging case and is on probation from a jail sentence received in an earlier case, was found not guilty despite testimony by an undercover man who said he had made a purchase from Mrs. Rose.

Work of the undercover agent, hired by Sheriff Lewis Claxton, was a priming factor for raids last November which figured in the filing of charges against Mrs. Rose, her husband Sylvester Rose, of Loraine; their daughter Flora Rose, Loraine, and Fred Sam Snowden, Colorado City.

Officers make no secret of the fact that they consider the Rose family a thorn in their law enforcement work. Through the years officers have strived for evidence which would result in their conviction.

This week's not guilty verdict brought instant reaction and riled their tempers, to put it mildly.

County Attorney Danny Barber, who prosecuted Opal Rose's case before County Judge Bill F. Carter, has another legal strategy. He will seek to have Mrs. Rose's probation revoked.

He told the Record Friday he would ask for the revocation before County Judge Carter.

Opal Rose was tried this week for possession and sale in a dry area--a case filed last Nov. 24. Another possession and sale case, filed also Dec. 24, is pending against Mrs. Rose.

And, County Attorney Barber said he plans to prosecute that case, too, despite the not guilty verdict this week.

It is likely, however, that he will seek first to revoke Mrs. Rose's probation.

She was placed on 2-year probation from a 6-months jail term June 14, 1971, when she pleaded guilty to selling, delivering whiskey and beer in a dry area. In addition to the probated jail sentence, Mrs. Rose also was fined $250 plus $44 court costs.

Mrs. Rose's husband, Sylvester, also faces 2-counts alleging possession and sale of intoxicants in a dry area.

Both cases were filed also in November. A worthless check charge against Sylvester Rose was dismissed Jan. 19 in County Court because he had made restitution. And a felony case against him is pending in District Court, where he is accused of receiving stolen tires.

Their daughter, Flora, is another bootlegging defendant. She was charged Nov. 24 and her case has not yet been heard in court.

Snowden, the Colorado City man charged as a result of the November undercover work and raids, did not fare nearly so well as Mrs. Rose before a jury. A jury found him guilty in one case Thursday, a verdict that resulted in a $100 fine and 3 months in jail.

The same fine and jail term was pronounced in a second case the same day when he pleaded guilty.

BRUCE FLINT,
...assigned here.

Patrolman Assigned Here

Bruce Flint, 22, a native of San Angelo, is a new resident of Colorado City on his first assignment with the Texas Department of Public Safety.

He was assigned here following four months training at the DPS Academy.

A Navy veteran, Flint was graduated from San Angelo Central High School and attended Angelo State College.

Mrs. Flint is the former Peggy Hyatt of San Angelo. They have three children, Kenny, 7, David, 4, and Kimberly 2. The new Colorado City residents live at 1325 Pine.

He joins the DPS staff that includes Randy Wilkinson, Tommy Parker, Kent Cearley and Buddy Hertenberger.

Tryouts Set For Playhouse

The curtain fell on "Arsenic & Old Lace," Saturday night at the Colorado City Opera House before a sellout crowd after a five night stand.

The production of the Colorado City Playhouse, Inc., proved to be a huge success, despite small crowds for the first two nights.

Thursday and Saturday nights were the only sell-outs but Friday was a near sell-out.

There were many who did not get to see the smash comedy starring Bea Richards, Kent Womack, Jerry Evermon, Dennis Wright and Jennie Wright.

Officials of the Playhouse reported that there was a waiting list for Saturday night's show and from all indications there weren't going to be any cancellations of reservations.

Those who saw the show thoroughly enjoyed it and came out raving about performances by all members of the cast.

Other members of the cast were Everett Tiner, Mel Palmer, Timmy Bell, Rhonda Oliver, Pint Richards, Rick DeLaney, Don DeLaney, Bob Reilly, and Dub Baker.

The production was directed by Tandy Curlee.

"Arsenic & Old Lace," was the story of two whacky and aging sisters who believed they were doing a great service by poisoning elderly men to cure them of their loneliness.

Insanity ran in the family as one nephew who lived with the sisters believed he was Teddy Roosevelt and buried his aunts' victims in Panama Canal (the basement).

Then there was another crazy nephew who discovered his aunts had killed as many people (12) as he had. That drove him into a frenzy.

Then there was another nephew who was a theatrical critic. All the nephews were considered to be brothers but the critic turned out to be the son of a former cook for the aunts'.

NEXT PRODUCTION SET

Tryouts for the next Playhouse production, "All My Sons," an Arthur Miller drama, will be held at the Opera House Thursday and Friday nights.

There are parts for five men, four women and one young boy (about 10 - years - old).

Other productions scheduled by the Playhouse include "Barefoot In The Park," scheduled this fall, and "South Pacific," which will be the winter production.

Playhouse officials reminded that memberships in the Playhouse are still available.

School's Out Early Monday

Classes in Colorado City schools will be dismissed early Monday due to a presentation to teachers regarding special education.

The meeting will concern screening techniques used for special education purposes and there will also be discussion regarding plans for Plan A.

Plan A tentatively will be implemented in all grade levels in the Colorado City school system next year. Plan A is special education for all grade levels.

Due to this teachers workshop, kindergarten through the second grade will be dismissed at 1:15 p.m. Monday and grades 3-12 will get out of classes at 2 p.m.

Buses will run accordingly.

Census Takers Need Help

The Colorado Independent School District is taking a census of pre-school age children and they have asked for help in completing the program.

Anyone with pre-school age children not contacted by school census takers have been asked to phone 728-3955 as soon as possible.

The census is being taken to determine how many children will be entering school in coming years.

Brame, who is ending 12 years as school trustee, said his decision not to run for re-election was based on reasons of health and other obligations. Although leaving the board, he emphasized that he will always want "the best" for Loraine schools.

Deadline for filing in the school election is only 3 days away--March 1.

Ruth COFFEY'S CONVERSATION CORNER

THERE'S much confusion and comment these days about how to tell the male and the female apart since they both wear the pants.

But people can use the same old ways of telling whether any couple they see are married to each other or not.

Just observe a little. When a boy and girl or man and woman are dining out together do they talk to each other between bites or just sit there in silence except for little gems like "Please pass the sugar? If they smile and chatter and eat all at once and the same time they are not married. If they just sit there and eat with no conversation they're married.

DOES the male dash around, open the door for her and tenderly open all other doors for the female? They are not married. If he precedes her by a step or two and lets her go up steps and curbs without his loving arm to support her they're married.

Does he hold her coat for her? They're usually still single. If he just grabs his hat and hurries to the cash register with her bringing up the rear, they're married.

Do they cuddle in the picture show? They're not married. If they don't exchange more than two words or even hold hands they're married.

DO THEY love to dance together? They're single. If they'd rather stay home and not dance with anybody they're married.

Does she greet him with stars in her eyes? They're not married. Does she meet him with a recital of everything bad that's happened to her that day they're married.

Do they kiss and kiss and kiss each other goodnight? They're single. If a goodnight kiss on the forehead or left ear is considered sufficient they're married.

Do they ride on the same side of the car seat? They're single. If they ride so far apart there's room for one more in the middle, they're married.

DOES he tell her she's utterly beautiful every few minutes? They are not married. If he says "See you had your hair done," they're married.

Do they discuss the wonderful future all time? They are not married. Do they discuss current bills, the plumbing in the bathroom and what in the world to do next with the kids, they're married.

Are they jealous of anybody who so much as flirts a little with the other one? They're still single. If they don't even notice when a member of the opposite sex eyes the partner with interest or a gleam they're married and very sure of it.

DO they sometimes yell at each other over major or minor matters? They are married.

Does she cook the things he likes best? They're married. Does she admire his new shirts and ties? They're married. Does she adore his hair below his collar, wild slacks and way-out shirts with no tie, they're single.

Do they talk over the phone for hours and hours even if he's coming to see her in about half an hour? They are not married. If he calls and she says in two minutes flat "Bring some bread, milk, coffee and oleo," they are married.

IT MAY be trouble to always tell the boys from the girls in this generation but it's easy as apple pie to tell courting couples from married couples both at home and in public.

It probably does not mean anything much other than the fact that boys and girls get to be men and women, given time.

Or it could mean that once the courting days are over and the marriage takes place it's time to start counting money, children, and household chores such as who will take out the trash and who will dry the dishes.

It certainly is obvious all over the world that most single girls follow the old English ballad line, "I'd rather be Mrs. than Miss!"

NOTE that a little news reporter named Linda Cross who sometimes writes a column at Big Spring Herald has been writing off and on for weeks about her approaching wedding.

She admitted in print recently that after the wedding she was going to have to think up some other topics.

She will. She surely will. After she gets all the rice out of her wedding shoes, she'll be cooking rice.

After the wedding bouquet has faded she'll be planting flowers. And after the shine is gone from the wedding gifts she'll be polishing silverware. That's one of the facts of life.

And one of the main new topics she'll be concerned with is what to have for supper.

P.S. Had a beautiful, much appreciated letter from Lucille (Mrs. Oren) Trulock currently in Ft. Worth with a niece who is ill.

Lucille has been out of town most of the time since November when she first went to San Angelo to help with a sister who fell and fractured a hip.

Kitten Richardson, former Citian now of Austin, sent a gracious letter. It touched the heart and was so perfectly worded.

Was talking to Ruth Grantland via phone and guess who walked into Ruth's home? Kitten and her husband Jake right while we were talking about Kitten's sweet letter.

That's it for now. Been mostly house-bound with a crippled toe. Do think up the most peculiar ailments on occasion. Getting better, though. See you next time.

By the way Grace Doss Shelton (Mrs. Bob) of Tyler has been here several days. Bob and Peggy Ratliff have bought the W. L. Doss home and planned to move in Friday.

Americanism Day Program For Self Culture Study Club

Mrs. Lester Watson and Mrs. L. B. Elliott presented an American Day program recently for members of Self Culture Club in home of Mrs. C. P. Gary.

The two speakers talked of public affairs concerning America and freedom.

In Mrs. Elliott's talk of freedom, she reminded members that "for each of us freedom is as old as our first gasp, as young as our last."

She described the United States as being in convulsions, trembling with fevers of crime, war, poverty, racial injustice; it's pulse races with the drastic, dramatic, unparalleled change.

"In this day of unrest it is hard to be patient. It is easier to be the silent dissenter," Mrs. Elliott explained, "but to take the tempting easy way out is to destroy our system of government."

"The price paid for freedom has been costly, but in no way does it even approach the ultimate cost of giving freedom up," she concluded.

Mrs. Watson encouraged club members to become informed about public issues, social ills and movements that damage human relationship.

"Nearly every nation of the past has been destroyed by corruption of the cities," she reported.

One of the fundamental principles of early settlers of this country was Christianity, the speaker continued.

"When we say there is something wrong with our government, what we are really saying is that is neglect and moral decline in our people," Mrs. Watson concluded.

During a business session club members voted their support in preserving 100,000 acres of the Big Thicket for a national park, "helping Texas financially, as well as adding beauty and pleasure."

They issued a statement asking the public to lend support to Bill No. HR12335 by writing Secretary of the Interior, Roger Morton, Washington, D. C., 20515.

Mrs. Gary served refreshments to Mrs. George Admire, Mrs. Paul Beeman, Mrs. Earl Brown, Mrs. John Brown, Mrs. Billy Culwell, Mrs. Elliott.
