North is given sole credit for 'scam'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Intelligence Committee chairman says he is convinced after 12 days of testimony that Oliver North on his own pulled off the "scam" of diverting Iran arms sales profits to Nicaraguan rebels.

The chairman, Sen. David Durenberger, R-Minn., listened Tuesday to closed-door testimony by White House Chief of Staff Donald T. Regan, then told reporters he was convinced that the president "had nothing to do with" the diversion of funds.

"On every lever in this operation was Ollie North's hand," Durenberger said.

The panel prepared to question Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger today about the secret transfer of U.S. weapons to Iran and the extent of CIA involvement in those transfers.

And the bipartisan leadership of the House was prepared to follow the lead of the Senate and announce the membership of its own 15-member committee being created to investigate the Iran-Contra connection.

Durenberger said Regan has made it clear to him "that whoever pulled it off, did it without proper, appropriate or other authority."

"And that person is Ollie North," Durenberger said.

North, a Marine lieutenant colonel, was fired from his job as an aide on President Reagan's National Security Council on Nov. 25, when Attorney General Edwin Meese III announced that up to $30 million in profits from the secret arms sales had been diverted to the Nicaraguan rebels, or Contras. North's superior on the council, Vice Adm. John Poindexter, resigned.

Asked about the nature of Poindexter's role, Durenberger said: "Poindexter didn't pull off the scam. That's Ollie North's work."

"It is clear to me that (North) acted totally without proper authority in this matter and it's up to him to come forward now and produce the rest of the piece of the puzzle, and we'll have it done," Durenberger said.

Reagan is urging the Senate panel to grant North and Poindexter limited immunity from prosecution so they can testify fully, a proposal that was rebuffed by committee leaders.

Some senators said they found essential elements of the chief of staff's story difficult to accept at face value.

Reagan slated for additional surgery

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan will undergo prostate surgery in January to relieve what a spokesman called "mild, recurring discomfort" caused by an enlarged prostate, the White House announced today.

Spokesman Larry Speakes said Reagan would have what is technically called a transurethral resection of the prostate performed by two civilian physicians at Bethesda Naval Hospital outside Washington on Jan. 5.

Reagan underwent a similar procedure 20 years ago and was told he probably would have to have it done again at some time, Speakes said.

The prostate is a sex gland surrounding the urethra at the base of the bladder. It often becomes enlarged in men as they grow older and sometimes can be cancerous.

Speakes said there is no evidence Reagan has cancer of the prostate, although examination of tissue removed during the procedure is normal in such cases to determine whether any malignancy is present.

During the same visit to the hospital, the president also will undergo a colonoscopy examination to check for any recurrence of the colon cancer discovered and removed in July 1985, Speakes said. He is expected to be hospitalized for three or four days.

The prostate procedure, to be performed by two Minnesota physicians recommended by a friend and associate of Nancy Reagan's late father, Dr. Loyal Davis, will be done under a spinal anesthetic, and Reagan is not expected to lose consciousness, Speakes said.

He said the physicians, Dr. David Utz of the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., and Dr. J.R. Behrs, expect the procedure to take about 30 to 40 minutes.

Chamber budgets 'smaller'

Faced with a projected budget deficit this year of some $11,500--a shortfall which will reduce its reserves to some $22,000--Snyder chamber officials unveiled Tuesday a 1987 operating budget substantially cutback from its predecessor.

These scaled down features involve both expenses, to include some $10,000 less in salaries, and income, with member dues projected at 21 percent below 1986's.

At the recommendation of Chamber Manager Mort Ewing, the board voted to study the proposed 1987 budget for one month before making final approval.

Ewing explained this will allow time for study by both outgoing and incoming board members. The budget's approval will now be scheduled as an agenda item in January.

The facts and figures for both '86 and '87 were noted as part of a year-end report presented by Ewing.

The year saw the chamber's supply of reserve funds dwindled by both a shortfall of some $18,000 in membership dues--a fact attributed to a large share of "new" members failing to honor pledges--and the losses of some special projects.

The membership dues deficit was attributed to a chamber membership drive which generated many new members but ultimately failed to produce payment of annual dues.

Regarding special projects, events such as the chamber banquet and the 1986 version of White Buffalo Days made money. These ended with surpluses of $1,100 and $5,800 respectively, money which is carried forward for the 1987 version of each.

As reported Tuesday, the deficits of other 1986 projects

Retirement to begin for Cogdell manager

Wednesday marked Don Sealy's last day as business manager for Cogdell Memorial Hospital — a position he has held since 1972.

Born in Gail, Sealy has lived in Hermleigh, Fluvanna and Snyder most of his life. He served in the Army from 1942-1945 primarily in the European Theater during World War II including the Battle of the Bulge. A first sergeant, he returned to the Army in 1951 to serve one year in Korea.

Hired by Feather Printing when he returned to Snyder in 1959, he worked as a linotype operator for the "Scurry County Times" until 1969. He was also briefly employed by the "Abilene Reporter-News."

After a three-year stint with the county auditor's office, he transferred to the hospital.

Noting that he has enjoyed his work with the institution, Sealy plans to farm and raise cattle following retirement. He also plans to "play a lot of golf and do some fishing."

He and his wife Gwen have three daughters, Phyllis Dietrich of Dallas, Sue Schiller of Dallas and Jini Grimmett of Snyder. The couple also has three grandchildren.

Winter signup to pass

Thursday is the final day to register for a mid-winter session planned at Western Texas College Jan. 5-14.

Last week's bone-chilling weather saw many local residents with dead car batteries and other items that made the family buggy hard to start.

Art Feinsod and Jack Greene are both antique car buffs, and the cold weather resulted in a story told Art about cold weather and cars.

Some fifty years ago, Greene's dad owned a Model T touring car in which he had removed the rear section of the car and replaced it with a wooden pickup box.

As a youngster, Jack recalls riding in the box part for many miles. Life was tough in Snyder during those days--at times even grim as employment was scarce.

Jack's dad would often go to the town dump and retrieve old Model T car and truck frames. He would then knock off the rivets and sell the frame pieces for fence pots for 50 cents to local farmers.

Jack remembers on cold winter evenings, to ensure that the car would start easier the next morning, his dad would drain the water and oil from the Model T and heat them on the family stove before pouring the fluids back into the Ford the next morning.

The oil had a strong odor that spread thoughout the family home. Jack also recalls that his dad often jacked up the rear wheels in order to make cold-weather cranking easier.

KITTY HAWK, N.C. (AP) — Pioneering pilot Chuck Yeager set yet another aviation mark today, flying from the California desert to Kitty Hawk to establish a speed record and mark the anniversary of the Wright brothers' famed flight.

"It'll never replace sex," a smiling Yeager said as he emerged from the Piper Cheyenne 400LS twin-engine turboprop at 7:05 a.m. "I'd been waiting all morning to say that."

Yeager, a retired Air Force general, took off Tuesday night from Edwards Air Force Base, where he broke the sound barrier in 1947. He reached Kitty Hawk five hours and 15 minutes later.

Yeager said his average speed was 450 mph.

Top 3 resign

HANOI, Vietnam (AP) — The country's top three officials, who had guided the Communists through more than half a century of war and revolution, stepped down today after months of self-criticism over failings in leadership.

Party Secretary General Truong Chinh, Prime Minister Pham Van Dong and key Politburo member Le Duc Tho will not seek reelection to the party Central Committee, Vice Premier Pham Hung told the Sixth Party Congress in announcing their resignations.

Chinh, 79, Dong, 80, and Tho, 75, were the last of a core of revolutionaries who helped Ho Chi Minh found the party in 1930, drive out the Japanese, French and then Americans and reunify Vietnam under the Communist banner in April 1975.

New clashes

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — Pakistani Pathans battled immigrant groups for the fourth day today, and two more victims of the violence raised the death toll to 152. Bulldozers flattened areas where some of the worst rioting occurred and soldiers enforced a curfew.

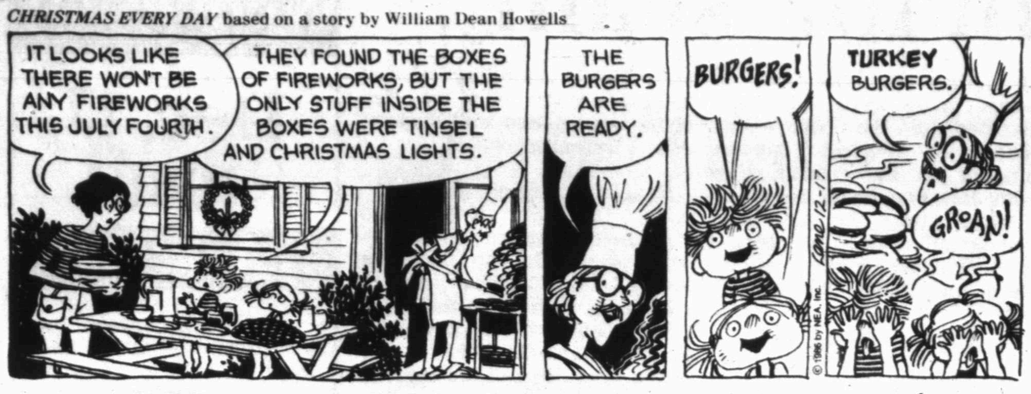

The rioting, the worst since independence in 1947, began Sunday when Pathans went on a rampage against immigrant Mohajirs and Biharis after police conducted drug and weapons raids in Pathan areas.

Decision dismays industry

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sugar industry leader predicts consumers will pay higher prices and may even run into some shortages as a result of the Reagan administration's decision to cut import quotas 41 percent for 1987.

Nicholas Kominus, president of the U.S. Cane Sugar Refiners Association, said Tuesday that the reduction in the amount of raw sugar that can be imported into the United States will be devastating to an "already battered cane sugar refining industry."

Kominus asked that the cutback be reconsidered. If not, he said, "the tight quota is going to push sugar prices up. There will be disruptions and there could be shortages."

The 1987 quota should be increased by 200,000 to 300,000 tons from the level of slightly more than 1 million tons announced on Monday by Agriculture Secretary Richard E. Lyng, said Kominus. That represented a 41 percent reduction from this year's quota of more than 1.7 million tons.

Annual quotas are spread among sugar-producing countries, and for many, those are primary earners of foreign exchange. Foreign raw sugar then is refined for the U.S. domestic market.

"Eight refineries have been shut down since 1981," Kominus said in a statement. "And unless a realistic import quota is established, more will close."

In his announcement on Monday, Lyng said the high U.S. sugar support prices are to blame, along with a decline in the consumption of cane and beet sugar, and a continued rise in the use of sweeteners from corn.

Lyng said the administration will seek an overhaul of the sugar program, including a lowering of government price supports for sugar beets and sugar cane.

But Kominus said that USDA's sugar quota decision "is a classic example of overkill" and that "it far exceeds the mandate from the Congress that the sugar program be operated at no cost to the government. It totally ignores the congressional intent that further reductions in refining capacity be avoided."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's milk output may rise to a record level this year but then decline by as much as 3 percent in 1987, according to an Agriculture Department report.

Spirit of the Season Won't Soothe Party Guest's Rancor

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1986 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I have one of those awkward "don't want to hurt anyone's feelings" situations, and I don't know quite how to handle it.

I have a very good friend (I'll call her Mary) who tends to get depressed over the holidays because her family is scattered across the country, and she's alone. My parents are planning a Christmas dinner for family and friends, so I asked my mother if I could invite Mary. She said, "Certainly." I invited Mary, and she was thrilled to accept.

It seems Mother had invited her friend, "Rita," for that evening. Yesterday Mother saw Rita. She asked Mother who else was coming to her party, and Mother told her, adding, "My daughter's friend, Mary, will be there." Rita said, "I'm sorry, I am not coming. I know Mary, and I refuse to be in the same room with her!"

You can see the quandary. I didn't know that Mary and Rita even knew each other. Mother said she tried to persuade Rita to tolerate Mary's presence for the one evening, but she flatly refused.

My mom and I are caught in the middle. I don't want to rescind the invitation to Mary because of Rita, and my mom feels terrible that Rita will not come because of Mary.

Help! Comfort, consolation, or some workable solution, please.

IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: The solution is simple. Mary is in, and Rita — by her own refusal to attend if Mary does — is out. No guest has the right to disinvite another guest. I don't know Rita, but I'm sure the party will not suffer for her absence.

DEAR ABBY: My nephew and I have this bet on, and we need you to help us settle it. If a gentleman invites a lady to go to the dog track with him, isn't it only proper that he pay for the lady's betting costs? I say it is.

Please rush your answer, because I am going to the track as soon as I win this bet.

V. IN COUNCIL BLUFFS, IOWA

DEAR V.: There is no need for me to rush my answer because you've lost the bet.

When a gentleman invites a lady to the track, Monte Carlo, Las Vegas or anywhere else people go to gamble, he pays the admission fee — if there is one — but unless he has agreed in advance to stake her, she's on her own.

DEAR ABBY: It seems that the more things change, the more they stay the same. As I was driving to work last week, I heard a young, pregnant girl (on the radio) talking about how her teen-age boyfriend talked her into it. She said he told her, "If you loved me, you would." So she did.

When I was a young girl (25 years ago), the same line was being used. In one of your columns I read the perfect comeback. I remember this one so well because I used it a few times.

He said, "If you loved me, you would," and I said, "If you loved me, you wouldn't ask me to." It worked every time.

GOOD MEMORY

DEAR GOOD: Some of my advice is as good as new because it hasn't been used much. I'm glad this comeback came back to mind. Thanks for the memories.

elected to play the five-four heart fit and try for 10 tricks. That was a good decision, since a diamond lead would have easily beaten three no-trump.

East won the ace of hearts and played a club. When South played low, West won the jack and played back another. South won the queen, played another round of trumps and then led a diamond. West took the ace of diamonds and now fell from grace by playing the spade queen. That looked harmless, but watch what happened. Declarer took the king of spades, cashed the club ace and then ran all the trumps. On the last trump South threw a low spade. West now had to reduce to three cards, unguarding either the spade or the diamond jack. If West threw a diamond, the king would be played from dummy and declarer would get to his hand to take the now good 10. If West threw a spade, declarer would take the spade ace and get to dummy with the high diamond to take the good spade 10. All of this could never have happened if West had returned a diamond after taking the ace.

Agoraphobia is a genuine problem

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — People in my town don't believe that there is such a thing as agoraphobia. Please set them straight and explain that it's no fun for those of us who suffer from it.

DEAR READER — Agoraphobia is the irrational fear of being alone and isolated in an open, crowded or public place. The condition is real and, as you point out, it is no fun. A person with agoraphobia can experience panic when in a tunnel, on a bridge, in a store, on a busy street — in virtually an unlimited array of situations that most of us take for granted. To the agoraphobic, seemingly inconsequential daily activities may become intolerable burdens. Fortunately, the ailment can be treated with counseling and psychiatric help.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My sister died last year and we suspect that myofibrositis may have contributed to her heart attack. For 10 years she attempted to get a diagnosis of the problem, which caused great pain in her neck and shoulders and caused small hard nodes to form. Could the myofibrositis have contributed to her heart attack?

DEAR READER — Myofibrositis (or fibromyositis) is a low-grade inflammation and swelling of strands of connective tissue, the material that connects our organs. Fibromyositis usually affects the muscles and ligaments of the shoulder and neck, causing pain, stiffness and tender trigger points. It is more common in middle age than before or after. To my knowledge, it does not affect the heart.

I don't believe that fibromyositis caused or contributed to your sister's heart attack; they are two independent problems. Fibromyositis can be treated with a variety of methods, including massage, ultrasound, myotherapy and aspirin-like medicines.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My sister and I have been told that our insomnia is due to lack of serotonin in the brain. What is the function of this chemical?

DEAR READER — Serotonin, a chemical occurring naturally in brain and intestinal tissue, causes constriction of blood vessels and acts as a neurotransmitter (chemical messenger).

The amino acid tryptophan is a serotonin precursor — that is, it is turned into serotonin by the body. Some insomniacs discover that they sleep better after taking tryptophan at bedtime. Perhaps this is why milk, which contains tryptophan, is useful in helping some people to fall asleep. Naturally, one could conclude that a serotonin deficiency is the cause of insomnia in such cases. However, this may not be so. A natural serotonin deficiency probably is unusual.

However, some drugs (such as the anti-Parkinson medicine L-dopa) are known to inhibit serotonin synthesis and release in the body. Therefore, drug-induced insomnia is quite common in patients on this (and other) medicine. If you and your sister are taking prescription drugs that may be causing insomnia, ask your doctor to consider changing them.

2 SHS graduates are Navy bound

DALLAS--Bradley N. McSpadden, a graduate of Snyder High School, recently enlisted in the U. S. Navy's Delayed Entry Program. After completing eight weeks of boot camp training, he will receive further training in the radioman program.

Manuel Salagen, also a Snyder graduate, recently enlisted in the same program. He will receive additional training in the engineman program.

Nine judged 'outstanding men'

The following people have been named "Outstanding Young Men of America."

They are Michael Brooks Dennis, Williams Robert Harper, Gary Neil Sisson, David Charles Wickline, Stockton Edward Roberts, Jack Streety Gorman, Kent Horsley, Paul Frank Zeck, Michael Blane Monroe, all of Snyder.

Carl Hubbell stopped the New York Yankees, 6-1, in the first game of the 1936 World Series between the Giants and Yanks, ending a 12-game winning streak for the Yankees.

2 students earn scholarships

LUBBOCK--More than 350 scholarship recipients were recognized during the Texas Tech University College of Agricultural Sciences 59th Annual Pig Roast Nov. 20.

More than $250,000 in scholarships were announced during the dinner.

Recipients from Snyder included Bryan Limmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Limmer. He is a senior animal science major and received the $1,000 Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo Association Scholarship and the $400 Panhandle South Plains Fair Scholarship.

The recipient from Hermleigh is Brent McFarland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy McFarland, who received the $300 Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo endowment Scholarship. He is a freshman park administration and landscape architecture major.

In sweeping the 1938 World Series with the Cubs, the New York Yankees used only four pitchers, starters Red Ruffing, Lefty Gomez and Monte Pearson and reliever Johnny Murphy.

Defendants get 20 years each

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — A Starr County man is facing 20 years in prison for his part in a multimillion dollar cocaine smuggling ring that prosecutors allege brought three tons of Colombian cocaine into the United States.

Librado Perez received the 20-year sentence Tuesday in U.S. District Court. He earlier had pleaded guilty to conspiring to import 851 pounds of cocaine into the Rio Grande Valley.

Perez was arrested in the Valley in August when federal agents intercepted a plane carrying the cocaine across Mexico and forced it to land in the Valley, said U.S. Assistant Attorney Jack Wolfe.

Perez was associated with an illegal drug ring that prosecutors allege brought the three tons of Colombian cocaine into the United States via Mexico between July 1 and Aug. 11, the day Perez was arrested.

"We're talking uncut, undiluted (cocaine), the way it comes from the factory," Wolfe said.

Wolfe said Perez pleaded guilty in November to a charge of conspiring to possess 851 pounds of cocaine in Mexico knowing it would be imported it into the United States.

A co-defendent, Gilardo Aranda, a Mexican national, was sentenced Monday to two concurrent 20-year terms after entering guilty pleas in November, Wolfe said.

U. S. aid to Iraq puts Reagan in curious position

WASHINGTON (AP) — Revelations that the United States provided military intelligence to Iraq have put the Reagan administration in the awkward position of helping both sides in the Persian Gulf war — and undercutting petroleum supplies to the West from the strategic region.

While the aim evidently is a negotiated settlement of the protracted Gulf conflict, helping Iraq knock out Iranian petroleum installations conflicts with another long-standing U.S. goal: keeping as much oil as possible flowing to Western homes and industries.

Administration credibility, already damaged by controversial American weapons shipments to so-called moderates in Tehran, could slip even further.

Only last April, Vice President George Bush was sent to the region to affirm the administration's intention to keep the Persian Gulf open.

He said the United States had "common security objectives" with the countries in the area and he pledged to help combat aggression.

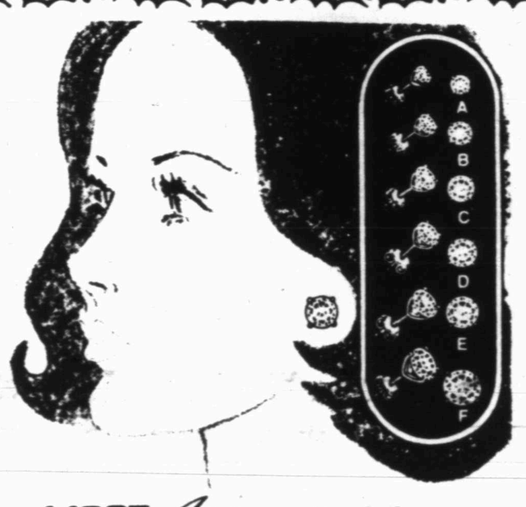

Together, Iran and Iraq, both members of the international oil cartel, produce about 11.5 percent of the petroleum imported by Western Europe. Iranian supplies are roughly at the pre-war level of about 1.4 million barrels a day, while Iraqi exports declined from 3 million barrels daily to 1.6 million barrels last month.

The world is floating on an abundance of oil, forcing prices down for industries and individual consumers. But a cutback in production, as contemplated by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries cartel or through the Iran-Iraq war, could cause them to inch up again.

In October, Iraqi bombing raids on Iranian installations forced a 30 percent cut in Tehran's output. Exports from Iraq, which go mostly through pipelines in Saudi Arabia and Turkey, are also slipping because the Saudis are in the midst of remodeling their facilities.

The U.S. help to Iraq, confirmed on Monday by two Reagan administration officials, is based on American satellite reconnaissance photography of Iranian defenses.

New bank to be largest in Southwest; $35 billion assets

DALLAS (AP) — First RepublicBank Corp., to be formed next year by the second- and third-largest banking organizations in Texas, will be the largest bank holding company in the Southwest, company officials said.

RepublicBank Corp. and InterFirst Corp. will form a $35 billion banking organization, executives of the Dallas-based companies said Tuesday at a joint news conference Tuesday.

The new company will be the 12th largest bank holding company in the United States, they said.

Although the executives called the deal a merger, the new firm's charter will retain the name of RepublicBank Corp., said InterFirst spokesman Joe Bowles.

"As a matter of accounting procedure, this is being treated as a purchase (of InterFirst)," Bowles said.

Bowles acknowledged that InterFirst's non-performing loans were one factor in structuring the deal.

"Otherwise, you wouldn't be able to write off any of the bad loans," said Frank Anderson, senior vice president with Ferguson & Co., a banking management consulting firm.

The all-stock transaction, subject to approval by shareholders of each company, as well as federal regulatory agencies, is expected to be final sometime during the second quarter of next year, said Robert W. Stewart, chairman and chief executive officer of InterFirst.

The transaction required no assistance from bank regulators, he said.

Stewart will be chairman of First RepublicBank, and Gerald W. Fronterhouse, who is chairman and chief executive of RepublicBank, will be the president and chief executive of the new company.

"While having a regional orientation, it will also be able to compete on a national basis with anyone," Fronterhouse said.

Fronterhouse said First RepublicBank will save $600 million in overhead over the next few years, largely by merging operations in cities where both companies have banks. He said the companies will probably close about 25 branches and lay off about 3,000 employees, 18 percent of the combined workforce, over the next two years.

Under the merger agreement, each common share of RepublicBank will be converted into one common share of First RepublicBank. RepublicBank has about 27.4 million common shares outstanding.

In addition, each InterFirst common share will be converted into 0.08 of a share of First RepublicBank, 0.1 of a share of a new convertible common share and 0.02 of a share of preferred stock with a declared value of $100.

Anderson said the transaction is structured in a way that InterFirst shareholders do not stand to gain much in the short term.

RepublicBank stock closed Tuesday down ¼ at 21¾.

AIDS victim to be allowed to return to Lubbock school

LUBBOCK (AP) — A child diagnosed as the first Texas elementary school student having AIDS will be allowed to return to school.

The student whose name, age, sex and school have not been released by school officials, was diagnosed as having the disease in early June, and subsequently was voluntarily withdrawn from summer school after attending the first two days of classes.

The readmission will be subject to at least six guidelines designed to protect the AIDS victims and his or her classmates from medical dangers, as well as to address the public's concerns, said Vicki Shadden, Lubbock Independent School District's director of nursing.

The school board Tuesday night unanimously concurred with a review committee's recommendation that the AIDS victim be readmitted, noting that there is no medical evidence to justify barring the child from school.

The guidelines, to which the child's parents agreed, require that the AIDS victim use a separate restroom, bring his or her lunch or eat at home, be monitored daily by a school nurse and submit to other rules as necessary.

They also require that the school staff will be notified of the child's medical condition on a "need-to-know" basis and that transfer requests from teachers and students at the child's school be given no special consideration.

Under the policy, the AIDS victim may be removed from school at any time by the school principal, the school nurse, his or her family or physician. The child would not be allowed to return to school unless the school board then again voted to allow readmission.

AIDS, acquired immune deficiency syndrome, is a fatal illness in which the body's immune system no longer has the ability to fight off certain cancers and infections.

Brian Quinn, LISD attorney, cited precedents involving school attendance by AIDS victims that all have ended with courts ordering school districts to allow the children to attend classes.

According to the district's AIDS attendance policy, a victim of the disease may be allowed to attend classes provided "his-her presence does not pose a substantial threat or danger to that individual or other persons within the facility or a substantial threat to the academic process."

Tigers outlast Fort Stockton in district roundball opener

FORT STOCKTON – Snyder's Tigers won their third ballgame in a row - and more importantly, their District 2-4A opener - as they defeated Fort Stockton 67-44 here Tuesday.

Though Coach Larry Scott said the Tigers "started out slow," Snyder led 15-11 after eight minutes and was in front 35-27 at halftime. The victory leaves the Tigers at 7-6 on the season and 1-0, of course, in district play. Snyder will entertain Pecos this Friday night at Scurry County Coliseum at 7:30.

"We started off real slow," said Coach Scott. "They full court pressed. We ended up with 16 turnovers in the first half. We were playing good defense, we just couldn't get the ball across halfcourt. If we did, we scored."

Snyder cut the turnovers in half for the final 16 minutes. Good defense kept the Panthers off balance. Snyder outscored the hosts 13-6 in the third period and 19-10 in the fourth.

Fort Stockton got off 76 shots from the field but connected on just 18 of them.

"We had 24 turnovers so we gave them an opportunity to shoot a bunch," said Coach Scott. "But we didn't give them any good shots."

Ronnie Mesa, a 5-8 senior guard, led Fort Stockton with 13 points.

Terry Garza paced Snyder's game with 26 points. Chris Garrett hit the hoop for 17 points and pulled down 20 rebounds. Garza also had 5 assists.

Daniel Chasteen offered 8 points and Reynaldo Gomez and Dennis Martinez chipped in 4 apiece. Snyder hit 28 of 57 shots for the game.

In loss to Panthers...

Ladies can't locate offensive firepower

Fort Stockton's Lady Panthers took advantage of winter weather in Snyder High School Gym to defeat the Tigers 44-40 here Tuesday in a District 2-4A basketball game.

The weather wasn't noticably cold unless you were a member of Coach Ken Housden's Lady Tigers. Then it was freezing.

"We just couldn't hit anything," said the coach. "We scored only four field goals in the first half."

Fort Stockton used its size advantage inside to build a 9-5 lead in the first quarter. The Lady Panthers went on to lead 21-11 at the half.

Snyder played good defense throughout the game, however, and kept close because of it. Finally, in the third period, Snyder began to locate its offense. Stephanie McKnight scored a couple of buckets, Melody Pickering added one, and Christi Comer hit a medium-range jump shot as the Tigers eventually caught the visitors.

The lead traded hands several times but Fort Stockton came away with the advantage. Some timely scoring by Jill Stichler and D'Anne Bailey paced the effort. Comer, Angie Housden and Rhonda Echols all fouled out in the final minutes for the Tigers. The strategy didn't work as Laura Lannom bagged a pair of free throws in the final seconds to insure the Fort Stockton victory.

Lannom scored 10 points in a 10-of-14 effort from the free throw line.

Snyder hit only 10 of 23 free throws in the contest.

"Basically we played good defense although they beat us on the boards. Our hustle was good, though. We just couldn't get the ball to fall. We couldn't make a basket from outside or inside or the free throw line, it seemed," said Coach Housden.

Snyder was led by Stephanie McKnight's 12 points. Pickering scored 9, Teri Sue Henry 8 and Comer 6.

Fort Stockton, 11-1 and 2-0, got 14 from Stichler and 9 from Bailey.

Snyder, 6-5 now and 2-1 in 2-4A play, will bus to Pecos to play the Lady Eagles this Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Pro cage report...

Griffith shoots Jazz past Washington

by The Associated Press

Utah Coach Frank Layden looked up at the scoreboard at the Capital Centre Tuesday night, saw three seconds remaining with the score tied at 106, and told the Jazz to not to worry about anything.

"Three things can happen," Layden told his players during a timeout. "Either we'll get a foul, or get a shot, and if it doesn't go in we'll beat them in overtime."

Overtime was not necessary, however, because Darrell Griffith made a 26-foot jump shot at the buzzer to lead Utah to its seventh straight NBA victory, 109-106 over the Washington Bullets.

"It's a play we'd run a few times already ... and it worked just the way we wanted it to," said Kelly Tripucka, who inbounded the ball. "As soon as it left his hands, it looked good to me."

Moses Malone had 38 points and Jeff Malone 29 for Washington.

Elsewhere in the NBA, it was Boston 107, New York 96; Los Angeles Lakers 121, Cleveland 116; Milwaukee 103, Philadelphia 91; Detroit 111, Atlanta 100; Chicago 99, New Jersey 98; Dallas 101, San Antonio 98; Phoenix 106, Houston 102; Golden State 119, Los Angeles Clippers 117; Denver 120, Sacramento 119, and Portland 126, Seattle 118.

Bulls 99, Nets 98

Chicago's Michael Jordan scored 41 points, but it was one of his shots that went awry — resulting in Mike Brown's last-second game-winning tip-in — that ultimately made the difference in the eyes of most.

Not New Jersey Coach David Wohl, however, who termed it "as controversial as were several other calls that went against us because the ball definitely was on the cylinder."

Jordan, who went over the 40-point mark for the 14th time in 22 games this season, took an inbounds pass with six seconds left and drove the lane. The 6-foot-9, 250-pound Brown was there to convert it.

New Jersey, a loser in 12 of 13 road games, was led by Mike Gminski with 24 points.

Celtics 107, Knicks 96

Boston's Larry Bird hit 11 of 18 shots from the floor, dished out nine assists, pulled down 10 rebounds, scored 29 points and left New York Coach Bob Hill shaking his head.

"Bird was absolutely incredible," Hill said. "He's a totally unselfish player."

Kevin McHale also scored 29 for the Celtics in the fight-interrupted game that featured an exchange between New York's Patrick Ewing and Boston's Greg Kite in the second period.

Lakers 121, Cavaliers 116

Magic Johnson scored 25 points, added 14 assists and 11 rebounds to lead Los Angeles. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar added 25 points and James Worthy 22.

John Williams led Cleveland with 22 points.

Pistons 111, Hawks 100

Bill Laimbeer scored 14 of his 28 points in the first quarter, grabbed 20 rebounds, and scored on both ends of a double technical foul in the final minutes as Detroit beat flu-ridden Atlanta to end the NBA's last home

Here's a theory...

Giants-Browns Super Bowl?

By DAVE GOLDBERG
AP Football Writer

And so, with one weekend left in the 1986 NFL regular season, we come down to the projected Super Bowl matchup of the moment:

The New York Giants and Cleveland Browns, rekindling visions of Sam Huff shadowing Jim Brown and Pat Summerall kicking field goals through the snow as the two battled yearly for the title in what was then the NFL's Eastern Conference.

Premature?

Of course.

But what's to keep fans of these two title-starved teams from dreaming.

If the Giants beat Green Bay on Saturday, they will clinch the home-field advantage for the entire playoffs. The last five NFC teams to have earned that honor went all the way to the big one and four of them won it.

Cleveland will also be at home throughout the playoffs if it beats San Diego on Sunday. With the AFC's speed horses - the New York Jets, New England Patriots and (to some extent) the Denver Broncos - gasping for breath at the finish line, the Browns are coming up fast on the outside.

Allowing that two AFC playoff spots have yet to be finalized, here's what the road to Pasadena looks like entering the final week of the regular season:

NFC

"They sure look like a Super Bowl team to me," Cardinals Coach Gene Stallings said after the Giants toyed with his team 27-7 last week. Other football people think the same. "A very, very good team," says Jack Faulkner, director of football operations for the Los Angeles Rams.

But they're no sure thing in a conference where all five playoff teams are legitimate Super Bowl contenders. The Giants have played close to the edge all year and they know it. "A couple of plays one way and we could be 16-0; a few plays the other and we could be 8-8 or 9-7," says guard Billy Ard.

They've also done it against one of the NFL's toughest schedules and did what seemed impossible beforehand - beat San Francisco on the West Coast on a Monday night, then handled Washington relatively easily at RFK Stadium six days later.

In fact, San Francisco and Washington may be New York's biggest obstacles, particularly the Redskins - beating them twice in one season is tough; beating them three times even tougher.

The Bears? The defense is still intimidating, but will the offense be able to steamroll playoff teams they way it did in the fourth quarter against Detroit in another of those three-point victories over mediocre opposition? Without a proven quarterback, probably not.

The Rams may have the same problem. Jim Everett shows all the signs of becoming a Super Bowl quarterback some day. But with less than half a season of NFL experience, how will he react under pressure from the likes of Lawrence Taylor, Dexter Manley or Dan Hampton-Richard Dent.

AFC

Who wants it?

If Notre Dame declines bowl bids, why not the Jets, who are in the playoffs despite four straight losses with a chance of a fifth Sunday in Cincinnati. The same goes for the banged-up Patriots with one difference - if they lose to Miami Monday night, they are likely to miss the playoffs.

The two leading contenders appear to be the two teams (along with the Jets) who have clinched spots - Denver and Cleveland.

The Broncos started 6-0 but are just 5-4 since.

Their running game has faltered, quarterback John Elway has been erratic, and the quick-but-light defense may have become a bit worn by a tough schedule. But with a week off to recover before the first home game and the possiblity of a Mile High Stadium advantage, the Broncos still enter the playoffs as at least a co-favorite.

The Browns have won seven of their last eight, but until Sunday's 34-3 victory in Cincinnati, they had been winning like the Bears - narrowly against mediocre opposition. Still, the mere fact that they've been winning adds to the snowball effect.

"We're gaining confidence as we go along," says tight end Ozzie Newsome, one of the few survivors from Cleveland's 1980 division champions.

Of the rest, Cincinnati's offense makes it dangerous - if it gets in. But it's hard to see a team starting three rookies on defense in the Super Bowl.

The Seahawks might also have a shot - if they make it, they'll be coming in with five straight victories. But their penchant for up-and-down football might bring them down in the playoffs.

The Chiefs are probably a year away; the Raiders a year late and the Jets and Patriots ... Only if you turn the clock back six weeks and bring back the lame.

Hedeman, others coach upcoming rodeo school

Tuff Hedeman, who won the 1986 World Champion Bull Riding title, will be an instructor for the Western Texas College rodeo school scheduled here Dec. 29-31.

Rodeo fans who watched the National Finals Rodeo on television over the weekend saw Hedeman in action along with Dave Appleton and Cody Lambert, who will also be instructors in WTC's rodeo school. Appleton is a former WTC student. Hedeman and Lambert attended Sul Ross State University and came to Snyder as students to participate in NIRA rodoes.

The WTC rodeo school will offer instruction in bull riding, saddle bronc riding, bareback riding and steer riding. Tuition is $255 per event, with a $75 deposit due by Thursday, Dec. 18.

Information can be obtained by calling Bob Doty, WTC rodeo coach, or Wanda Falls, at WTC, 573-8511.

"I attend many rodeos each year at all levels, from PRCA to open kid rodeos," Doty commented. "It never fails to amaze me when I see a young person pay from $25 to $50 to get on bucking stock and not know the proper techniques. When I ask if they have been to a riding school, they say no, the schools are too expensive.

"I feel that a riding school such as ours would save them money in the future by helping them learn the best and safest techniques. With a little help from instructors such as Tuff, Dave and Cody, they could be top hands. I encourage youngsters to seriously consider attending our school or another school with a good reputation."

unbeaten streak.

"They were 9-0 on their home court ... and we wanted to make sure they had lost one, too," Laimbeer said.

The Hawks, already missing guard Spud Webb with a knee injury, lost scoring ace Dominique Wilkins to the flu. Five others played despite being ill.

Bucks 103, 76ers 91

Milwaukee got 24 points from Ricky Pierce and 20 from Terry Cummings to hand Philadelphia its third straight loss.

The 76ers were led by Charles Barkley with 27 points.

Mavericks 101, Spurs 98

Dallas won for the ninth time in 10 home games, with Derek Harper scoring 22 points, and making a key steal in the final minute.

Harper scored five of Dallas' last seven points and stole the ball with 53 seconds left to set up a basket by Rolando Blackman that increased the Mavericks' lead to 99-95.

Dallas got a game-high 26 points from Mark Aguirre.

Suns 106, Rockets 102

Walter Davis scored nine of his 24 points in the final 2:41 to lead Phoenix. With his team trailing 98-94, Davis hit two field goals and connected on five of six free throws to secure the victory.

Akeem Olajuwon led Houston with 24 points and 20 rebounds, while Ralph Sampson had 22 points and 13 rebounds.

Warriors 119, Clippers 117

Joe Barry Carroll scored 13 of his 33 points in the fourth quarter as Golden State handed Los Angeles its 15th loss in the last 16 games.

Eric Floyd added 22 points for the Warriors, who have won nine of 12.

For Dallas Cowboys...

Collier could start Sunday

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Now it's Reggie Collier's turn to bring a silver lining to the Dallas Cowboys' disastrous 1986 season.

Collier, a third-string quarterback who has thrown only six NFL passes, will put his strong arm and quick feet on display Sunday at 3 p.m. against the defending Super Bowl champion Chicago Bears.

"You learn a lot about people when you play the Bears," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry. "We'll probably get him in right off. We'll probably start him."

Collier, a three-year starter for the USFL Orlando Renegades, has completed four passes for 52 yards and one touchdown, all against the Washington Redskins.

Landry said Collier's start "will take some of the pressure off Steve Pelluer. We'll probably use both of them but it's an opportunity to see a player. We'll have Steve ready as a backup."

Landry said Collier, who was a sixth round draft choice in 1983, "has a lot of work ahead of him and he knows it."

Landry has criticized Collier for sloppy work habits.

"He might be a player some day but he's not as dedicated as he should be," Landry said. "We'll have to cut our offense down to plays we think he can handle best. He's more comfortable back there when he's moving."

Collier rushed for 606 yards and scored 12 touchdowns his last season with the Renegades. For Dallas, he's run one time for 21 yards.

Pelluer has had a rough season as the starter after Danny White suffered a broken wrist in the ninth game against the New York Giants.

Pelluer, who was lustily booed last week, has suffered 16 interceptions against only 7 touchdown passes.

"It's not Steve's fault we're down where we are," Landry said. "His confidence may be down a little but he made the play that got us ahead against Philadelphia then the defense let down."

Paul McDonald, a former Cleveland Browns quarterback who was obtained as a free agent, also was available.

"McDonald could play if needed," Landry said. "He's a smart quarterback."

The 7-8 Cowboys are faced with the possibility of their first losing season since 1964.

Their 20-year streak of winning seasons ended Sunday with a 23-21 loss to the Philadelphia Eagles.

"This is an important game for us," Landry said. "You want to win it if you can. A win gives you a better outlook for next year. We don't want to start next season on a downslope."

Chicago blasted the Cowboys 44-0 last year.

"The Bears are still the best team in football and it's exciting to play them," Landry said. "Of course, we didn't like getting pushed around last year. Some of our players still remember it."

Landry is already making plans for next year and said there will be changes in the Cowboys' personnel.

"There is no question there will be changes in this team," Landry said. "There has to be. Everyone will have to prove themselves next season."

Asked if he would be back next year, Landry laughed and answered tongue-in-cheek: "I don't want to comment on that right now. I don't want to disappoint the ones who want me to leave."

Landry has said he loves a challenge.

"And we have a big one next year," he said.

Bryant award will honor college coach of the year

HOUSTON (AP) - Former Alabama Coach Bear Bryant never was named national coach of the year by the Football Writers Association of America, but now the annual honor will carry his name.

Miami's Jimmy Johnson, Penn State's Joe Paterno, Arizona State's John Cooper or North Carolina State's Dick Sheridan will be named winner of the Bear Bryant Coach of the Year Award tonight.

The award has been presented annually by the FWAA since 1957 but this is the first year it has been named in honor for the former Alabama coach.

Proceeds from the $125 per plate dinner will go to the American Heart Association.

Bryant's Alabama teams won or shared six national titles, had four undefeated seasons and from 1971 to 1980 his teams averaged 11 victories per season.

But Bryant never won the FWAA coach of the year award that was first presented to Ohio State's Woody Hayes in 1957.

John David Crow, a former player on Bryant's 1957 team at Texas A&M, and former University of Texas Coach Darrell Royal will be key speakers at the awards dinner.

Miami and Penn State, ranked No. 1 and 2 in the Associated Press College Football Poll, will meet Jan. 2 in the Fiesta Bowl at Tempe, Ariz. for the national championship.

Each team posted an 11-0 record to set up the national championship showdown.

Miami, led by Heisman Trophy winner Vinny Testaverde, is making its third straight bowl appearance under Johnson.

Cooper, completing his first season as head coach, led Arizona State to a Pac-10 title with a 9-1-1 record and will play Big 10 champion Michigan, 11-1, in the Rose Bowl.

Sheridan completed his first season at North Carolina State with an 8-2-1 record, good enough for a tie for second place in the Atlantic Coast Conference. The Wolfpack will play Virginia Tech in the Peach Bowl Dec. 31 in Atlanta.

Witherspoon fails to pass drug tests

NEW YORK (AP) - Tim Witherspoon, who lost the World Boxing Association heavyweight title on first-round knockout to James "Bonecrusher" Smith last Friday, failed both pre and post-fight drug tests, Jose Torres, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, said today.

Torres said the tests revealed marijuana in Witherspoon's system and that he would take action against the former champion next week.

After Witherspoon won the title on a 15-round decision over Tony Tubbs last Jan. 19 at Atlanta, a post-fight test revealed marijuana in Witherspoon's system. He was fined $25,000 by the WBA and ordered to give Tubbs a rematch.

The rematch was to have been held Friday night at Madison Square Garden, but Tubbs withdrew, saying he had injured his left shoulder in training.

Tubbs has failed to complete an examination given by an orthopedic specialist here last week, Torres said. Torres already has suspended Tubbs and his manager Carl King for failing to notifty the commission of the injury.

Parenting skills class begins second phase

A parenting skills course, offered through the combined efforts of the Noah Project of Snyder and Catholic Family Services of Lubbock, will take place at 11 a.m. Thursday at 2707 College.

Thursday's session is the second half of a two part course, offering young parents ideas to improve communication skills with children, proper discipline techniques and more.

Rebecca Funderburk, Family Life Caseworker with CFS, will instruct the course. Mrs. Funderburk stresses that those who were unable to attend the first half of the course on Dec. 4 are urged to attend Part Two, and learn the practical application of proper parenting methods.

Participants are asked to bring a "brown bag" lunch. Classes are free, but participants are asked to provide their own child-care during the session. Registration is not necessary, but more information is available by calling the Noah Project at 573-1822.

Noah Project is a family violence center, offering services to victims of family violence. CFS is an ecumenical agency, providing such services as the parenting skills course, counseling for young, unwed mothers and other family services.

Driver education classes begin here on January 12

A driver education course for high school students who have passed their 15th birthday will be offered through the Continuing Education Department of Western Texas College in classes starting Jan. 12.

Students are to call the Continuing Education office at WTC to pre-register. Fees will be $150 per student. The class will be limited to 30 students.

Students will go to room 202 at Snyder High School at 4 p.m. on Jan. 12 for the first class meeting. Classes will meet from 4-6 p.m. Monday through Thursday until Feb. 5. Simulator time will be scheduled through the instructor, Rick Howard. Driving time will follow completion of the 32 classroom hours.

Additional information about the course can be obtained by calling the Continuing Education office at WTC. The office will close at 4 p.m. on Dec. 19 and reopen at 8 a.m. on Jan. 5 for a combined Christmas-New Year holiday.

Stolen weapon report is cleared Wednesday

Police investigated and cleared a vehicle burglary early Tuesday morning.

At 6:30 a.m., Bill Lee of the Arah Rt. reported the theft of a .223 caliber semi-automatic rifle from the cab of his 1981 Ford pickup.

The rifle was thought taken from the vehicle before midnight Monday while it was parked at the Plaza Truck Stop at the intersection of Huffman Ave. and U.S. Hwy. 84.

At 6:50 a.m., police on routine patrol stopped a vehicle in the 4000 Block of College Ave. on suspicion of drunk driving and discovered the missing rifle in the car.

Guadalupe Alfaro, 35, of Loraine and Gilberto Ramirez, 29, of China Grove were arrested at that time and charged with burglary of a motor vehicle.

Both remained in the Scurry County Jail Wednesday morning in lieu of bonds set at $2,000 on the felony charges.

In addition to the burglary, Alfaro was charged with one count of driving while intoxicated and Ramirez was charged with one count of public intoxication.

The missing rifle was returned to Lee later Tuesday morning.

Garage fire doused here

Units of the Snyder Fire Department were dispatched to a garage fire in the 2900 Block of College Ave. at 12:43 p.m. Tuesday.

Fire officials report a garage behind a vacant house at 2905 College sustained minor damage to one wall. A quantity of sheetrock stored in the building was also said damaged by water.

The cause of the blaze remained under investigation Wednesday.

The house is owned by Susan Spires of the Clairemont Rt.

Jury acquits police officer

DALLAS (AP) — A jury deliberated more than five hours before acquitting Charles Tillis Jr. of a murder charge in the slaying of a Dallas policeman.

During closing arguments Tuesday, defense lawyers argued that Tillis, who is black, was merely attempting to help a friend who was being provoked by a police officer with a history of confrontations with the public.

"I just want to work and just live," said Tillis, who cried after the verdict was returned about 10:30 p.m. by an all-white jury in state district court.

Shoplifting arrests made

Police logged five misdemeanor arrests Tuesday including a man and woman arrested for shoplifting at the Lawrence IGA Supermarket on College Ave.

Those suspects, both in their 60's, were charged with attempting to steal six packs of cigarettes from the store. The arrests came around 11 a.m. after store employees called police reporting having a shoplifting suspect in custody.

Other arrests included two men jailed for soliciting without a permit and one man jailed for public intoxication.

Obituaries

Joe Eaton

Services for Joe Everett Eaton, 88, of 406 32nd will be at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Bell-Cypert-Seale Chapel with the Rev. Miller Robinson officiating. He died at 12:42 a.m. Wednesday at Cogdell Memorial Hospital. He was born April 29, 1898 in Comanche, Tex.

He was a member of the First Baptist Church and a retired plumber. He had lived in Snyder since 1928, moving from Sweetwater.

He married Ruth Gist Nov. 3, 1923 in Zephyr, Tex. She survives.

He is survived by a daughter, Pat Rutherford of Ft. Worth; a son, Joe. G. Eaton of Lubbock; one sister, Lera Yantas of Bangs; four grandchildren, Mark Patterson, Kay Alloway, and Lisa Rockwell, all of Ft. Worth; and Cindy Frisbie of Lubbock.

Ethel Steveson

LEVELLAND--Services for Ethel Steveson, 96, of Snyder were held Wednesday in the First Assembly of God Church with the Rev. Bill Kay of Loraine officiating. The Rev. Haskell Rogers of Lubbock assisted. Burial followed in City of Levelland Cemetery under the direction of Geo. C. Price Funeral directors.

She died at 3:30 a.m. Monday in Snyder Nursing Center after a lengthy illness.

She was born in Arkansas and had lived in Snyder since 1971, moving from Levelland. She married Ransom Thomas Steveson on Jan. 22, 1918. He died in 1971. She was a homemaker and a member of the Assembly of God Church. A son, Selvin, died in 1963.

Survivors include a daughter, Charlsie Hinson of Snyder; four grandchildren; and eight great-grandchildren.

Pallbeares were Edward Ascock, Bob Tucker, C. A. Kitchens, Floyd Ward, M. L. Collins and W. C. Ford.

Chamber budget report offered

totaled approximately $15,000, although it was pointed out that almost $7,000 of this may yet be recouped.

These recoupable funds are linked to some $4,000 expected to be received from a sponsor of the AJRA filming effort, and another $2,900 which the chamber is to receive assuming the 1987 AJRA filming makes at least this amount in profit.

Other special projects considered finalized and losing money included some $4,400 for this summer's July 4th celebration; $2,400 for the AJRA finals here; $700 for the chamber-sponsored leadership program; and some $500 for basketball playoffs last winter.

The proposed budget for 1987 totals just over $81,000. To finance this, the chamber is projecting some $50,000 in membership dues. This is down from the projected $63,000 during 1986.

The total budget for 1986 equaled some $104,000, but some large budget items included in it have been removed without effectively reducing the cost of operating the chamber for another year.

These include $7,500 carried as legal expenses, money which will be carried forward from 1986 to 1987; and some $1,700 for general liability insurance, an item which is not budgeted for the new year since such insurance is not currently available.

Rather than the "general" liability insurance plan, however, such insurance must be obtained "per project" for each of the chamber-planned special events during the year.

The net result will be an expected overall cost increase for such coverage. Although it is now removed from the general operating portion of the budget, it will be moved into individual special project budgets during the year.

The reduction in salaries accounted for some $10,000 of the overall reduction. Ewing said this was accomplished by not replacing one fulltime staff member who resigned her post this fall.

Otherwise, chamber staff salaries are frozen, he noted.

At Tuesday's meeting, directors heard also from Marci Dennis, who reported regarding this past weekend's performance of Ballet Lubbock here.

She noted receipts for the two performances now total some $6,399 in ticket sales and another $1,200 from motel tax monies.

L.C. Greene, who will join the chamber board effective in January, reported also that the chamber business development committee currently has some 44 merchants participating in a "Shop Snyder for the Holidays" campaign.

Tuesday's session marked the final meeting to be chaired by this year's President Jack Denman. Denman's efforts on behalf of the chamber were complimented by several board members.

Directors attending were Max von Roeder and Jerry Vestal, both in their final meeting as members of the board, and Harley Bynum, Barbara Williamson, Mike Banta, John Daniel, Donna Gray, Fred Castillo and Elizabeth Potts. Margaret Drum was absent.

Youngster has minor injuries

A six-year-old Snyder girl was treated for minor injuries and released from Cogdell Memorial Hospital Tuesday morning following the first of three traffic accidents reported in the city for the day.

According to police reports, Christine Michelle Arnold of Rt. 2, Snyder sustained minor injuries when a 1985 GMC Suburban driven by her mother — Mary Ann Arnold — collided with the rear of a 1981 International tractor-trailer rig.

The truck is owned by the Dr. Pepper Bottling Co. of Sweetwater and was driven by Paul DeLeon of Sweetwater.

Both vehicles were westbound on U.S. Highway 180 at the traffic circle in east Snyder at the time of the 8:37 a.m. mishap.

The traffic circle was also the scene of Tuesday's second accident at 9:22 a.m.

Involved in it were a 1981 Chevrolet driven by Sulema Berlanga Garza of 2403 40th St. and a 1982 Ford driven by John Zalman III of Hermleigh.

No injuries resulted from that mishap.

Tuesday's final accident occurred at 5:19 p.m. at the intersection of 25th St. and Ave. R.

Involved in it were a 1984 Ford driven by Brad Edward Vincent of 2702 42nd St. and a 1984 Volvo driven by Thomas Harrell Seaborn of Rt. 2, Snyder.

Fatigue worries Voyager officials

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Voyager flew into towering rain clouds today near the Philippines, and supporters worried that the pilot was wearing himself out in the unprecedented quest to circle the globe nonstop on one tank of fuel.

Traversing the Leyte Gulf near the southernmost island of Mindanao in the Philippines late Tuesday, co-pilot Jeana Yeager guided the experimental craft toward Thailand and Malaysia.

On Tuesday, the plane winged its way through the spiraling arms of Typhoon Marge, a 12-hour ordeal during which pilot Dick Rutan, a 48-year-old former Air Force fighter pilot, stayed at the controls.

cept for the weekend of Jan. 10-11.

Because of the stringent demands of the class, the classes are not recommended for students with grade point averages below 3.0, WTC officials note.

Students registering are to furnish a current Texas driver's license or Texas voter registration card as proof of residence, a new state law requirement.
