Acheson Flies To Paris After Vishinsky Talk

By GEORGE DURNO
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Secretary of State Acheson held a 20-minute "cold war" talk with Russian Foreign Minister Vishinsky today and then left for a "Big Three" Paris conference with President Truman bidding him Godspeed.

Acheson took off in a Boeing Stratocruiser at 5:22 p. m. CST for the momentous meeting with the British and French foreign ministers which opens in Paris Wednesday.

Three hours before the secretary departed, he conferred with Vishinsky who emerged smiling from the State department meeting and said that his call was "a matter of substance."

Confers With Truman

Following the meeting with Vishinsky, Acheson conferred with Mr. Truman at the White House and the President later drove to the airport to say farewell to the secretary.

Mr. Truman, who left before the huge overseas airline plane took off, warmly clasped Acheson's hand at planeside. Newsmen asked the President whether he had given Acheson "any advice."

The President replied no, that Acheson instead, had given him some advice.

Departure Held Up

Acheson had been scheduled to leave at 3:15 p. m. but his departure was held up because of airplane mechanical difficulties. The Stratocruiser finally was substituted for a Constellation which he originally planned to use.

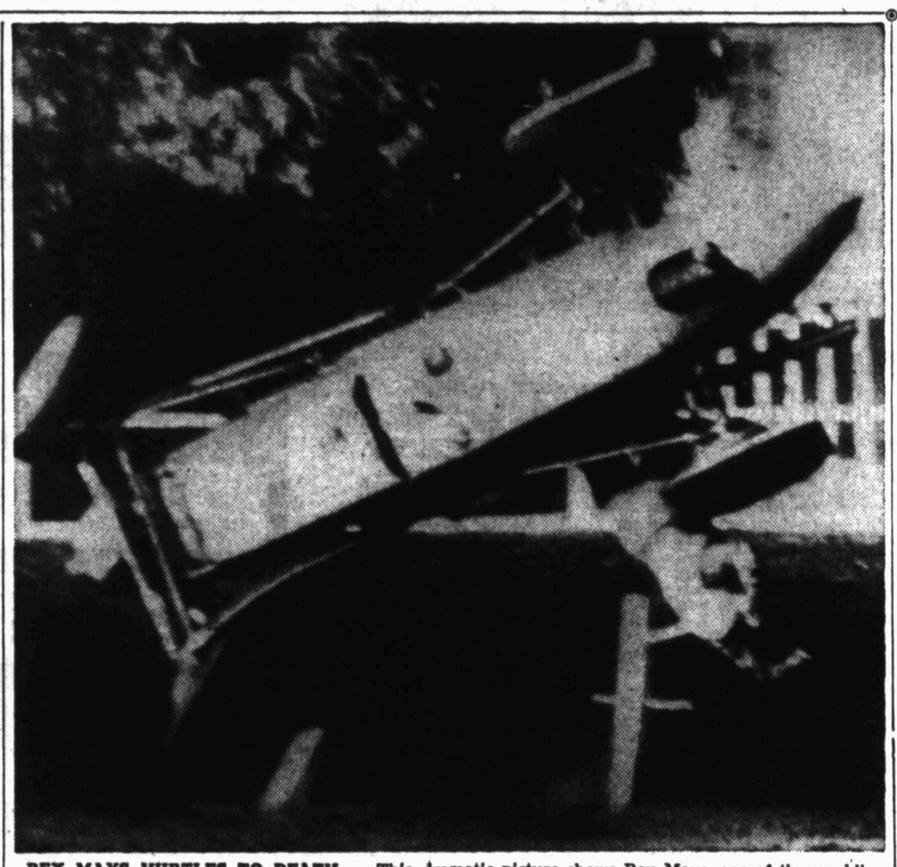

Vishinsky's comment on leaving the State department meeting with Acheson was brief. Other than his remark that his call was a "matter of substance," he refused to comment on reports that he had made a proposal for ending the cold war. The Russian told newsmen through an interpreter:

"I can only say what you already know. I paid my respects to the secretary of state of the United States."

Acheson left the building and went to the White House, where President Truman was waiting to drive with the cabinet member to the airport.

Shortly after the Acheson-Vishinsky conference, Foreign Aid

Russia Moves To Block 'Titoism'

BERLIN, Nov. 7 (AP)—Russia installed Soviet military chiefs in two top jobs today in an effort to insure that no new Tito challenges her grip on Eastern Europe.

This was the interpretation placed by western military men on the appointments of Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky of the Soviet army as Polish minister of defense and Gen. Vassily Chuikov as chief of the Soviet control commission for Eastern Germany.

The moves placed two of Russia's prominent soldiers on the front where Soviet troops rub elbows with western troops and along the direct line of communications with that front.

May Retain Control

It was expected here that Rokossovsky would not only head the Polish forces but also retain overall control of Soviet forces in eastern Germany—a job he has held as commander of the Soviet western armies.

Russia's most direct line of communications between the homeland and its 300,000 advance troops in Germany runs through Poland.

The Soviet Union has been making much propaganda about the freedom that was to be given the East German government. It was

Cadet Pilot Is Killed When Plane Crashes On Rural Road

BYNUM, Tex., Nov. 7—(AP)—An Air Force training plane crashed in the middle of a country road today, killing its cadet pilot.

The cadet was making a solo flight from Connally Air Force base at Waco. The base withheld his name until next of kin could be notified.

The two-seater T-6 plane hit nose first, dead center in the dirt road, about two miles southwest of here. The plane was torn to bits. It dug a 10-foot hole in the ground.

The craft left Connally about 1 p.m. and crashed about 2:30 p.m. Bynum is about eight miles southwest of Hillsboro.

Atom Control Plea Is Made

By PIERRE J. HUSS
INS Staff correspondent

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov. 7—Canada warned Russia and the United States today that the only assurance against a future "atomic Pearl Harbor" is full agreement on the Baruch control plan.

In a hard-hitting speech which launched the 59-nation UN special committee on its long-awaited battle over atomic control, Canadian Foreign Minister Lester B. Pearson said neither the United States nor Russia can win an atomic race which will be touched off if agreement fails.

Pearson said:

Can Remove Fear

"It is defeatism to think we can do nothing except sit back and hope that war won't occur. We can remove some of the fear and insecurity that breeds conflict by taking the development of atomic energy for destructive purposes out of the individual control of national governments and turning it over to an international agency

Truman Accusations Branded As 'Untrue'

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 7. (INS)—Harold E. Stassen branded as "vicious and untrue" today accusations made by President Truman in his recent St. Paul speech.

The contender for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination and present University of Pennsylvania president declared:

"I read that he used these historical references to wrap the cloak of Jefferson around himself and to play upon these two favorite themes of his: First, that all wealthy and successful men are selfish, shortsighted, cruel and heartless; second, that all who oppose his schemes are reactionary, shortsighted and heartless.

"The truth of the matter is that his historical references were in error, his accusations were vicious and untrue and he long ago trampled on the cloak of Jefferson.

"The President was wrong in his history and deceptive in his interpretations."

Lewis Moves To Crack Coal Deadlock

Major Steel Firms Study Peace Terms

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7—Further steel strike settlements seemed near tonight in a series of negotiations which officials hope will hasten the end of the whole steel-coal shutdown.

Meantime John L. Lewis, meeting in Chicagao with his big United Mine Workers policy committee, was reported aiming anew at cracking the operators' front by reaching contracts with segments of the industry. But operators appeared indifferent.

Chances glowed bright for an early peace between the CIO Steelworkers and two big producers—Republic Steel, third largest, and Jones and Laughlin, fourth in

"Big Steel" Still Out

But "Big Steel," U.S. Steel Corp., was still out of the settlement picture.

Lewis called his 200-man policy committee together at Chicago today but no announcements were forthcoming from the meeting.

Lewis, who has been trying to arrange settlements with the Illinois and Indiana operators, blamed New York business interests with blocking agreements.

He expressed belief that George

Three Business Operators Fined

Three Lubbock men charged with operating businesses without city licenses were fined $25 each in corporation court Monday after entering pleas of guilty.

One of the men, B. L. Rhoderick, charged with operating a business in new and used merchandise in the 1400 block Ave. F, also paid a $25 fine after pleading guilty to a charge of failure to keep a record of purchases of used merchandise.

Others charged were Noble S. McDaniel, operating a business in the 700 block Thirteenth street, and J. M. Haggard, operating a business in the 12$$ block Ave F.

Agencies Kept Busy

In addition, law enforcement authorities and courts in Lubbock were kept busy with a variety of cases, including several thefts.

Two Lubbock negroes told police that their room at 1806 Ave. A had been burglarized sometime Monday after they left to pick cotton around 6 a. m.

Bartmas Hicks said he lost a coat, two shirts, two pair of pants and a suitcase, all valued at $74, business in the 1200 block Ave. F. while Isaiah Fields reported a pair of trousers and a billfold were missing.

Nelson Terry, of 1901 Thirtieth street, reported to police that his 1937 Dodge sedan had been stolen from its parking place in the 1300

Soviets Display Military Might In Gigantic Parade In Moscow

By EDDIE GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Nov. 7.—Soviet Russia saluted the 1917 revolution today with a traditional military demonstration and gigantic parade of a million persons through Red square.

Maj. E. K. Walters, acting American air attache, said the military show included "a fine display of first line air equipment." But foreign military observers agreed the Russians had put less emphasis than usual on the military side of the observance of the 32nd anniversary.

Stalin's son, Lt. Gen. Vasily Stalin, led a squadron of fighter planes over the square in a procession that included 22 four-engined bombers and 91 jet fighters.

Lt. Col. Wynne-Pope, British military attache, said "there seemed to be less accent on the military."

Capt. Commodore Madsen, Danish naval attache, said "I did not see anything particularly new." L. H. Randall, Canadian air attache, also commented "I saw very little new."

The military parade, formed by Moscow garrison troops and led by massed drums and cymbals, be-

Senate Race In New York Top Contest

(By The Associated Press)

SOME 5,500,000 New York voters are expected to turn out today to give their verdict on a bitterly contested senatorial race heralded as a test of President Truman's "fair deal."

The fight betweer Senator John Foster Dulles, Republican, and former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, Democrat, brought the first major showdown between the administration's domestic policies and GOP charges of "statism."

The issue was clear cut because Lehman upheld and Dulles attacked the "fair deal" program. The contest offers a curtain raiser for the 1950 campaign for control of Congress. Lawmakers confronted with the Truman proposals in next January's Congress session will watch the returns for public reaction.

Odds Favor Lehman

The race, highlighting a series of scattered elections over the nation, came to its climax with quoted odds favoring Lehman. Victory was claimed by both sides. The furious pace of the campaign continued to the last, featured by a personal appeal to the voters by President Truman Saturday night.

Republican leaders over the country several weeks ago began slapping the "statism" label on Mr. Truman's administration and his program of welfare and social legislation. They charged in general that a central government was taking too much control over too many things. Democrats retorted that the Truman policies were meeting the vital needs.

The New York winner will finish out the one-year un-expired term of Robert F. Wagner who resigned last summer. Dulles was appointed to fill the post until this special election.

House Seats At Stake

Aside from the headline battle, there are at stake one House seat each in California and New York; governorships for New Jersey and Virginia; and a number of mayor posts in such strategic cities as New York, Detroit, Boston, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Scranton, Bridgeport, Louisville, Albany and Buffalo.

Two other issues—poll tax repeal and veterans' bonuses—also come before the voters. Virginia and Texas will vote on proposed constitutional amendments to junk the poll tax, while Pennsylvania and New Jersey have bonus propositions.

In the New York state congressional scrap, Republicans conceded that a Democratic triumph is in the cards. The contest in the heavily Democratic 10th District pits Mrs. Edna F. Kelly, Democrat, against George H. Fankuchen, Republican, and Jules Cohen, liberal.

Democrats have a substantial edge in registrations in California's Fifth district (San Francisco) which has been represented

INFORMATION FOR VOTERS

Those Amendments

THE citizens of Texas will have opportunity today to participate in deciding the fate of 10 proposed amendments to their Constitution—the chief bulwark of their democratic form of government. It is a most important election, one in which every qualified elector should participate. We earnestly urge everyone qualified to vote. The act of voting, we feel, is more important than how the individual may vote.

Most people understandably are vague as to some, if not most, of the issues involved. So The Avalanche-Journal is re-stating, briefly, it's attitude toward the propositions—an attitude based, in each instance, upon sincere conviction as to what would be best for Texas.

The Avalanche-Journal recommends voting for these amendments, listed in the order they appear on the official ballot:

No. 1, civil service for county employes; No. 3, authorizing hospital districts; No. 5, authorizing city-county health units; and No. 8, authorizing rural fire prevention districts. None of these provisions could be put into operation without a vote of the people who would be affected. This safeguard seems ample as an offset to any objectionable features of these proposed amendments.

WE BELIEVE the best interests of Texas demand the defeat of the other six amendments, as follows, for the reasons stated:

No. 2, $3,600 annual salaries and annual sessions of the Legislature. There is no good reason for believing the higher salaries would mean better legislators and annual sessions assuredly would mean higher taxes.

No. 4, eliminating poll taxes and substituting a registration system, and fee. This would correct none of the objections to the poll tax system and would create an additional fee, involve more inconvenience and might be attended by other political evils.

No. 6, pensions for county employes. This would mean additional legislative intrusion into county affairs and open the door to additional taxation.

No. 7, affecting procedure of district courts and qualifications of district judges. This would give the legal profession even more control than it now has over the inefficient state judiciary.

No. 9, lunacy trials without juries. A jury in such a case is an additional safeguard against "railroading" unwanted persons into insane asylums. Why weaken that safeguard?

No. 10 qualifing women for jury service. Certainly women are as competent for jury service as men. But why impose an unpleasant duty upon them when no one contends that the results would be a material improvement in the administration of justice? Let's leave this unpleasant task in the hands of the menfolk.

THE Avalanche-Journal has no axes to grind insofar as any of the amendments is concerned.

It is stating its position as to to the various amendments out of a desire to render a public service and as a matter of information to those who have not had the time, opportunity, or obligation to study the proposals closely.

5,000 VOTE SEEN IN COUNTY

School Post And Legislative Races In Area Spotlight

By ROGER SOUTHALL
Avalanche Staff Writer

SOUTH Plains voters today will join those in all other parts of the state in accepting or rejecting 10 proposed amendments to the constitution, and in electing a representative to a 21-member board of education.

In several sections of Texas—including one area of the South Plains—voters also will fill vacant seats in the House of Representatives and the Senate.

And while today's election may bring to mind another election on a November day in 1948, it will be different in several respects, primarily because today's election is statewide only; and total vote over the state is expected to be relatively light, as is the usual case in "off-year" elections.

Light Vote Indicated

In fact, political observers here have found no reason to modify original estimates of a vote no greater than 5,000 for Lubbock county, and for corresponding small votes in other counties over the South Plains.

In counties comprising District 120, observers said voting might be slightly heavier, since a three-way contest has been waged to fill the House membership vacated by Rep. I. B. Holt, who resigned to accept the Olton postmastership. Candidates include Tom Deen of Floydada, and Harold M. Lafont and Joe Jennings, both of Plainview.

The 21 persons who will be named members of the state board of education will be the first to be elected to this board, which was set up as another step in making effective the Gilmer-Aikin bills for reorganizing the state public school system.

Candidates for the seat from the 19th Congressional district are E. H. Boulter of Lubbock and J. M. Rankin of Ralls.

Boulter, who has been engaged in various phases of public school work and administration for more than 30 years, moved to Lubbock with his family eight years ago to become state deputy district superintendent of public instruction in this area. He held that post until entering the insurance busi-

Jubilee Minstrels Again Makes Hit; Show Set Tonight

The Lions Club Jubilee Minstrels are back in town—and as good as ever!

That was the consensus of a good turnout of Texas Tech students and military personnel who warmly applauded the opening night of a three-night performance of the 1949 show at Lubbock High school auditorium last night.

The first of two performances for the public will be presented tonight. The curtain goes up on the song-filled, action-packed, laugh hit at 8 p. m. Wednesday night's final performance also starts at 8 o'clock.

Fourth Annual Show

The show, the fourth annual Lions Club Jubilee Minstrels by one of the world's largest Lions club organizations, last night came up with numerous oldtime song favorites and new routines.

Dr. Doyle D. Jackson, as interlocutor, kept the jokes popping throughout the show, between the songs of the chorus under the direction of Dr. Clyde C. Craig.

Featured in the show are George Dale in a solo part and the Lions club octet of Lawrence Clark, Ivor "Tiny" Jones, Robert Dennis, O. R. Wells, jr., Richard G. Richards, J. Ray Dickey, George Dale and Jim Black.

Directing the music for the show is Richard G. Richards. The musical score has been arranged by Ted Crager.

The show is being given for the benefit of the Girl Scouts camp at Buffalo Lakes, and a near capacity crowd is expected for the two performances tonight and Wednesday, according to Groves Denman, Lions president and coordinator of the show.

Seats are still available, however, and tickets may be obtained in the lobby of the

Texas Voters Ballot On 10 Amendments

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

LAST-MINUTE blasts on proposed amendments and a stir over local issues in some areas kicked up interest in today's statewide special election.

Texans will use the new super-secret ballot for the first time in a statewide election when they vote on these matters:

Ten proposed constitutional amendments.

A 21-member state board of education to replace the nine-member appointive board.

One state senator and four members of the house of Representatives.

Turnout Guesses Vary

Anybody's guess was good on how many voters would turn out. Since 1880, from three to 83 per cent of the potential electorate have taken part in special constitutional amendment elections.

Politicians guessed 200,000 to 300,000 votes of a possible million and a half would be cast. Gov. Allan Shivers has urged a big turnout. As governor he would not speak on the proposed changes in the state's fundamental law.

Montague and Jones counties were in an uproar over whether or not an official wolf-trapper would be hired. The scrap was expected to boost balloting in both counties.

Wolf Hunters Fight Plan

In Jones county, the wolf hunters club was fighting the proposal and urging a bounty system on predators. A farmers' committee argued an official trapper would cut down on wolf attacks on chickens, stock and game birds.

A red-hot liquor prohibition issue was expected to boost the vote in Nueces county (Corpus Christi.)

A total of 479 votes were cast absentee compared with 415 in the last general election when a record of 21,700 ballots were tallied in the South Texas county.

Statewide Campaigns Waged

In other areas, there has been considerable campaigning in board of education races. Statewide campaigns have been staged on the controversial amendment calling for annual sessions of the legislature and annual $3,600 pay for members; on the poll tax abolition amendment; and on the amendment giving the legislature authority to provide for trials without a

South Plains voters won't be able to blame the weather if they fail to show up at polling places today for the Weather station at Municipal airport forecast continued mild weather for today and Wednesday.

A careful check of the weather map early today failed to indicate any bad weather in sight for this area, although skies may become partly cloudy Wednesday, the weatherman said.

The same mild temperatures and fair skies are expected to hold for the rest of the state, the Associated Press reported, as thousands of voters go to the polls to ballot on 10 proposed constitutional amendments, 21 members to the newly created state board of education, and a scattering of state senatorial and legislative contests.

GANG FLOURISHES IN CALIFORNIA

Juvenile Hoodlums Terrorize Students In Extortion Racket

(By The Associated Press)

VALLEJO, Calif., Nov. 7. — Terror lurks in the hallways of Vallejo's high and junior high schools.

Freedom from the terror can be bought for 50 cents a week — or two "good, white shirts." Failure to pay means a cruel, bruising beating.

The News-Chronicle today told how a strong organized gang of juvenile hoodlums is conducting a flourishing extortion racket in the schools.

Members of the gang, estimated at about 150, demand 50 cents weekly tribute — or two good, white shirts — from boys attending the two junior high schools and the high school. The demand brings a warning that failure to pay means a beating.

The gang members themselves are students. They wear identifying tattoo marks. They call themselves "The Pachuco Gang." Nationalities are mixed.

Already at least two boys have been so severely beaten they required medical attention. A third was so terrorized he collapsed and had to have medical treatment. The newspaper said there have been many beatings and

Seventh Victim Of Wrecks Claimed

The Sunday traffic death toll on the South Plains rose to seven Monday when Clifton Campbell, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Campbell of near Tahoka, died at 12:10 p.m. in Prohl clinic in Tahoka of injuries received in one of the six automobile mishaps that marred the day.

Mrs. O. C. Campbell, 34, one of the 18 persons injured on the bloody day, remained in a critical condition in Prohl clinic late last night with a broken back, a fractured skull and cuts.

Nine others injured in the same mishap ten miles east of Tahoka were either in improved condition or had been dismissed, attendants at the Prohl clinic reported.

Two Show Improvement

Two other Sunday accident victims, previously reported in critical conditions, have shown enough improvement to be termed in serious conditions, attendants at Lubbock Memorial hospital said Monday night.

Wanda Reynolds, 12, of Abilene, was one of these. Her father, mother, a sister and a brother were killed in a two-car wreck near Justiceburg about 5:53 a.m. Sunday. Wanda received a brain concussion, broken leg and cuts and bruises.

The other Lubbock Memorial patient was Mrs. James D. Fair, 42, of Denison, who received a broken jaw, two broken arms and three broken ribs. Her husband, also 42, was killed when their car

Nehru Ends Tour Of U. S. Without Promising Active Aid In Cold War

By J. M. OBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

Jawaharlal Nehru has ended his goodwill tour with assurance that it will greatly improve relations between India and the United States, but State department officials undoubtedly wish that he had been more specific.

India, of which Nehru is prime minister, is the key to non-Communist Asia. The United States would like to see her take the initiative in building up a bloc designed to contain communism within the borders of China.

Nehru opposes Communism. But he is carefully avoiding participation in the cold war, prefers the middle role which some European countries including France thought they could play in the early post-war days.

India Willing To Fight

Nehru told Americans that India would fight against agression, but made no promises of political support in the meantime.

Some of his speeches were interpreted to mean that India would help steer Asia away from any Kremlin tieup. But no western tie-up was promised, either.

Nehru stressed that Asia is interested in food and the other necessities of life, not in ideologies. It may have been a hint that India would ultimately side actively with those who helped her materially. He didn't say for sure. He always stressed that friendship would be returned for friendship, but that no charity would be accepted with strings attached.

Nehru didn't ask for anything, but he did outline some of the things his country needs. He promised fair treatment for American investment in development of industry.

Trade Program Planned

While Nehru was here, Washington let it be known that work was going forward on a trade program under which India would get some of the things she needs in return for raw materials.

There was an unusual atmosphere about the visit of this man, one of the world's most powerful. One of his powers derives from the fact that he is adored by India's millions. Because of this he has the prospect of a continuity in office unique among republican governments. And because of India's position as the Orient's rapidly advancing industrial heart, he is a prime figure in all Asia.

For once, then, instead of carefully scrutinizing a visitor who needs help, the United States seemed herself to be under scrutiny. Newly independent peoples of the East want to take no chances on western ties which contain the slightest hint of revived imperialism.

Russia, World Kept Puzzled About Stalin's Successor By Shift In Politburo Positions

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7. — Suppose, in celebration of the American revolution, Washington was full of pictures of President Truman and his cabinet every year on the Fourth of July.

And suppose you knew that Mr. Truman was going to stay President so long as he lived—and that you couldn't do anything about it—and that when he died one of the cabinet was going to take over.

You weren't going to elect the new leader. That was going to be done by the President before he died, or by all the cabinet members after he died.

Close Look Probable

In a case like that you'd take a close gander at that picture of the cabinet around the President. You'd say to yourself: "Who's it going to be?" But the best you could do would be to guess because—

The lives of the President and the cabinet were pretty secret. Nothing ever got into the newspapers about them, except what they told the newspapers to print.

They ran the country, the President and the cabinet did, but because everything about them was so hush-hush you never knew how they ran it, by vote among themselves, or by what the President said or how.

Right Hand Significant

If you kept seeing Treasury Secretary Snyder always at the right hand of the President you might think: "I guess he's the one. He and the President have been pals for years. Snyder'll get it."

But maybe Snyder was there at the right hand only because of old friendship. Maybe it was the one on the left hand side who had the inside track.

Since you didn't know and could only guess, every year you'd look at the Fourth of July picture to see who was standing closest to Mr. Truman, and who was moved around.

That's just about what's happening today in Moscow, where the Russians are celebrating the 32nd anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution in 1917.

Pictures Made Public

Official pictures of Prime Minister Stalin and his Politburo—the 12 men who, with Stalin, run Russia—have been made public.

There, standing at his right hand is his old-time pal, V. M. Molotov, former foreign minister. They've been friends for years.

(Beria, who used to be chief of the secret police, now is reported to be head of Russia's atomic development. Malenkov is vice-chairman of the council of ministers.)

Beria is still in the picture, of course, but not where he was last May: at Stalin's left-hand. Because Malenkov has that spot, it's caused speculation that now Malenkov is closer to Stalin than Beria—but not so close as Molotov who's on the right hand.

Anyway, somebody in the Politburo probably will succeed Stalin before he dies, or through election by the other Politburo members, or after a riproaring internal struggle that might rip Russia open.

But, if Stalin lives, and enough pictures are taken, with some changing around in every picture, there'll be no end of talk which, after all, is a pretty good way of keeping people from talking about something else.

NEW U-BOAT 'KILLER' LAUNCHED

Navy Places Renewed Emphasis On Subs, Anti-U-Boat Defense

By WILLIAM F. MCMENAMIN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 — The Navy is placing renewed emphasis on submarines and anti-submarine warfare as part of its principal strategic role under the unified armed forces.

It got an added potent punch Saturday when it launched its first postwar anti-submarine "killer" destroyer at the Brooklyn Navy yard.

The "killer" destroyer is equipped with devices which are designed to detect the new high speed submarines developed in World War II by the Germans.

According to Navy sources, the Russian navy has between 250 and 300 submarines of which an undetermined number have been converted to the new "snorkel" type that can remain under water for long periods. The "snorkel" uses a long breather tube which permits it to operate 50 feet below the surface.

The Russians can be expected to expand this force of submarines in the event of a war with the western powers.

It is this menace that the new "killer" destroyer is designed to combat.

Hearing Reveals Preparedness

The Navy's anti-submarine preparedness came up for discussion at the recent congressional hearings on unification. At the time, some Navy witnesses complained that the Army and Air Force want to restrict the fleet to anti-U-boat warfare.

Defense department officials denied the charge. They said the Navy has been assigned a full and complete role in U. S. war strategy planning.

The hearings brought out other important defense data too. If any Soviet agent took copious notes, the Kremlin now has for the first time an official, up-to-the-minute picture of U. S. military might.

Here is the way the picture shapes up:

1. The United States has 1,594,000 men in the Army, Navy and Air Force. The total will drop 87,000 by June 30.

2. The Air Force and Navy have a total of 32,306 aircraft of all types, both in and out of storage. This includes 17,833 combat planes.

3. The Army now has 10 divisions on active duty — five overseas, and one armored, two airborne, and two infantry at home.

4. The Navy operates 268 warships and auxiliaries, of which more than half are destroyers and 18 are aircraft carriers. This total tentatively has been ordered cut to 237 this fiscal year.

Irishmen Puzzled By Disappearance Of Blarney Stone

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7. (U.P.)— Who took the Blarney stone from St. Mary's cathedral? And was it the Blarney stone, anyway?

It was a real puzzler for San Francisco's legion of professional Irishmen and politicians. The 15-pound chunk of rock vanished from under the eyes of 500 good Irishmen at a St. Mary's cathedral bazaar shortly before midnight Saturday.

And faith, the owner began to have a suspicion that maybe he hadn't got a real piece of stone from Blarney castle.

At any rate, whether the stone could impart the gift of gab to those who kissed it or not, the stone earned $472 for the cathedral bazaar. Adults — many of them candidates for municipal office in tomorrow's election — shelled out two bits, children a dime, to kiss the stone.

Jim Cummins, custodian of the celebrated hunk of limestone, went to rub off the lipstick about 11:30 p.m.

"I dismissed the guards as I was about to take the stone home for the night," he said. "I left Jim Flaherty, a plainclothesman, in charge of it, and there's where I made my mistake. Flaherty turned his back on it for a second. When he turned around again, it was gone."

Cummins said he thought at first the theft was a gag pulled by Flaherty or other local politicians. However, all denied it solemnly.

Cummins said he was informed the owner of Blarney castle, George Colethurst, denied the San Francisco stone was a piece of the original stone.

"I have documentary proof my stone is authentic," Cummins, said.

This proof consisted of correspondence with his cousin, Pat Collins of Cork City, eight miles from the castle. Cummins asked Collins to chip off a piece of Blarney stone and send it over. Sure enough, the stone arrived here last week at the airport.

"I also got a picture of Pat standing in front of the castle with the stone in his hand and a cow off to one side eating grass."

Father John Laily, director of the church festival, said he didn't see what possible use the stone could be to anyone.

"But then, if he uses it as intended, he might become talkative enough to give himself away!"

BRIDGE vs. CANASTA

OSWALD JACOBY, who has been an expert at card games since he was 6, predicted the other day that bridge is in for a full eclipse. It's being forced out of the picture by canasta. This is because the South American game has more skills and thrills than bridge ever did, calling for judgment and psychology, the expert explains. Good bridge is just a matter of mechanics, he says.

The few times in our life that we have made a grand slam we have had a feeling of elation, followed with a slight headache. The thrill that comes when, as a canasta player, you win a huge pile is even greater, Jacoby thinks. It's the only game in the world that is as much fun to play without stakes as with them, he believes.

HERE are two often asked questions in canasta:

When do you replace your red three? (At your first turn to play.)

If you have a closed canasta and the player on your right discards a matching card, can you pick it up? (Positively yes, says Jacoby.)

COLORED LEAVES

WE cannot remember a fall that has presented a more spectacular sight of colorful leaves in Lubbock. The sights of deep yellows, orange and red were caused by the frost and luckily we have not had to endure the hard driving winds that usually jerk the leaves from the branches before they have been dipped in Mother Nature's paints.

Some one called about a gorgeous cottonwood tree at 2102 Main that is particularly effective in street lighting. We think the 2000 and 2100-blocks are equally impressive and there are maple trees and even the lowly Chinese elm that present breath taking sights, especially for our part of the country that seldom sees such.

Britain Determined To Maintain Hong Kong As Vital Asiatic Post

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Lee Van Atta, writer on foreign affairs and former war correspondent, has arrived in London from Iceland on a tour of defense centers of the Democratic world. In the following article he discusses the military significance of Hong Kong, Asiatic outpost against the surge of Chinese Communists, and reports that British leaders are planning to use both a sea-lift and air-lift to sustain the vital island garrison.)

By LEE VAN ATTA
INS Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Nov. 1—Britain is determined to make of Hong Kong in the Far East what the United States made of Berlin in the West.

The United Kingdom has no intention of abandoning its China outpost and strongly believes it can sustain the important island garrison against anticipated China Communist pressure.

That is the consensus of top-ranking British officers in London as they outline their nation's policy in the light of Russia's possession of the atomic bomb.

Hongkong Essential

The British, even as their American allies, intend to pursue a hold-the-line program against Communist encroachment everywhere in the world. They regard Hong Kong as an essential part of this program.

It was emphasized that whether an air-lift or sea-lift, or both, are required they intend to keep the Union Jack over Hong Kong.

The Hong Kong decision is in line with the overall British defense pattern which, in order of priority, is as follows:

1. Defense of the United Kingdom (i.e., England) proper.
2. Defense of the Middle East.
3. Maintenance of empire lines of communication.

U. S. Planes Aid

To some extent at least, the presence of American bombers in England and U. S. fighters in Germany relieves the already over-taxed British national defense budget and program.

Heavy and inescapable overseas commitments, which it is assumed include Hong Kong, already have strained the monetary resources available for homeland security.

However, the decision of Britain to stick to its guns in the Far East, plus its already strong lines of communication and defense in the Mediterranean area, are expected to relieve the U. S. of heavy commitments in either money or manpower in these regions.

This, in effect, frees America to concentrate on the so-called polar concept of defense; on the rehabilitation of European arms and on the rebuilding of allied air-power wherever possible in Europe.

British Chiefs Surprised

British military chiefs, while naturally reticent to be directly quoted, were highly surprised at the volatile nature of the U. S. national defense hearings growing out of the Navy's charges it was being submerged by the Army and Air Force.

In England, a single consolidated national defense bill is presented to Parliament each year by the combined chiefs of staff and the defense minister. There is no item-by-item argument nor any audible interservice feuding. Such disagreements as there may be are settled at British cabinet level and before the defense budget is taken t. the floor of Parliament.

The effect of this policy is visible today in discussions with members of all three services. Public respect for the armed forces in England is at a post-war peak and, in spite of the pared military budgets, there is a general confidence that the proper balance of the services has been achieved.

Army Gets Most

Because of the heavy manpower commitments necessary to occupation and policing duties in Germany, the Middle East, Malaya and Hong Kong the army has been allotted the heaviest share of the budget.

Second is the air force which also is given the lion's share of research and development funds.

Third is the navy, trimmed substantially since the end of the war but still held important to the maintenance - of-communications mission. When the balance is reached the Royal navy will have a small carrier force and support and large and powerful submarine and anti-submarine units.

While individual national policies will continue to dictate the disposition and compostion of some forces, as in the case of Hong Kong, those forces are still an integral part of the common western military establishment facing any aggressor.

South Plains Grocers To Meet Wednesday

With the aim of achieving greater efficiency and convenience in the smaller retail food stores, the Lubbock district of the Texas Retail Grocers association will launch a "Better Stores Program" for independent retailers of the South Plains in a meeting to be held at 8 p. m. Wednesday at the Adair Music company's store.

The meeting is to be the first of a series of seven which will consider all phases of retail food store operation, Homer Hill, secretary of the association said. Store layout and equipment will be the subject of the initial meeting at which Clyde Stovall, Lubbock, president of the association will preside and in which local food retailers and store experts will participate.

A discussion, in which the participants will be outstanding operators of the area, followed by a question and answer period and the showing of a new factual color-sound slidefilm will make up the meeting program. The film has been recently produced by the National Association of Retail Grocers, of which the local dealers are affiliated.

Marriage Reunites Separated Couple

FORT WORTH, Nov. 7. (AP) — George Washington Bacon fell in love with Nancy Ophelia Kelley in Bowie in 1900.

Twenty years ago they quarrelled. George "fled in anger" to Seattle. Recently he wrote to Nancy. Amends were made. Today, the couple put the final patches on their damaged romance.

George, now 64, and Nancy, 70, exchanged vows in a marriage ceremony performed by Tarrant county Judge Gus Brown. They'll live in Bowie, where they first met.

Oxygen Treatment Believed To Have Limited Polio Death Rate

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 7 (AP)—The death rate of infantile paralysis victims given early oxygen treatment at Riley hospital has been only about half the national average, hospital authorities reported today.

Evidence is this must be due to a great extent to oxygen treatment, said Dr. Donald J. Casely, medical director of Indiana university medical center which supervises the hospital.

The hospital has had 277 poliomyelitis patients and 13 of these have died.

This is about half the average death expectancy in the nation and in Indiana as a whole.

This record was made despite the fact that the hospital took only serious or critical cases.

Dr. Casely pointed out that use of oxygen was not new, but that Riley hospital has facilities to try to experiment on a fairly large scale.

At the first indication of lack of oxygen the patient was treated with oxygen and placed in a respirator.

Legislator Disagrees With Liquor Board Announcement

AUSTIN, Nov. 7 (AP) — Rep. Blake Timmons of Amarillo took issue today with an announcement by the Texas Liquor Control board that tomorrow is not a "general election day" and thus beer taverns and liquor stores may remain open.

The board announced Saturday that the Tuesday election on 10 constitutional amendments and selection of 21 members of a new state board of education was not a "general election" as defined in the state's liquor law.

However, Timmons disagreed with the board's interpretation.

He urged Board Administrator Coke Stevenson, jr., to request a legal ruling from Attorney General Price Daniel.

Timmons said the Texas liquor control act stated that the law was to be "liberally construed" for the "protection of the welfare, health, peace, temperance and safety of the people of the state . . ."

Stevenson was not available for comment.

Would-Be Authors Stymied By Lack Of Nerve, Writer Claims

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Millions of Americans want to be successful authors. But only 5,000 really are.

What defeats the rest? Robert Penn Warren, Pulitzer prize winning novelist, says this is one of the chief reasons:

"Lack of nerve or hard work. You have to be willing to take a beating."

Warren is an expert at taking the beating of popular indifference to his work. For 20 years this Kentucky-born poet, editor and university professor has been hailed by critics as one of the nation's finer literary craftsmen.

Much Patience Required

But over a 17-year period he wrote a biography, three books of poetry, and three novels before the public woke up to his merit. He hit the jackpot with the third novel. "All the King's Men." This study of a southern political dictator won him the Pulitzer prize. Since 1946 it has sold more than 100,000 copies and has just been made into a movie by Columbia pictures.

"Some people say I patterned my dictator after Huey Long," grinned Warren, a lanky, red-haired man of 44. "But it could just as well be Bilbo, Mussolini, Hitler—or a thousand other dictators."

He is a slow writer and pecked out "All the King's Men" over a ten-year period.

"I know how it feels to be a frustrated writer—at least six days a week," he said. "I write with a typewriter. Can't read it if I don't.

Poetry Really Sound

"Poetry? Well, I do scribble a little bit of that by hand—then get it on the typewriter fast so I can look at it. But poetry is really sound. You compose it out loud as you pace the floor mumbling.

"Writing poetry is more pleasant than prose. You can lie on your back and mumble longer before you have to get up and go to the typewriter."

Warren has never made as much as $1,000 from a poetry book and doubts if any poet in America—except possibly Robert Frost—gets a liveable income from verse alone. In fact he thinks it's a mistake for serious young authors to try to earn their way from start by their writing.

"Get a job," he advises. "Then try to write and see what happens. I always had a teaching job.

"When you have a job, you can write the way you want to and hope for the best. You don't have to count on it for the groceries."

Barkley Urges Preservation Of Oil Reserves For Future Needs

BY JIM GALLOWAY
INS Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Nov. 7. — Vice-President Barkley tonight called for preservation of the nation's oil reserves and warned that they may be "vitally and dramatically" needed to ward off an enemy nation.

Speaking before an overflow crowd estimated at 3,000 attending the session of the American Petroleum institute in Chicago, the vice-president placed himself emphatically on record against a return of the rich oil tidelands to the states.

He told the nation's oil men that "we must conserve these resources against the day when they may be vitally and dramatically needed for use against those who threaten our liberties."

"We have taken action to preserve our democracy, our theory of government, our institutions, and it is in this spirit that I ask that we do not give back to any segment of our people these priceless lands because they happen to live along the borders of our seas and our gulfs."

The vice-president said that the best estimate available now sets the nation's underground oil reserves at 23 billion barrels. Barkley said that the nation used two billion barrels of crude oil last year and at that rate, the supply could last only 12 more years.

Barkley said that it is estimated that 10 billion barrels of oil lie in the tideland fields.

The former Kentucky senator said he is "opposed to giving back to the states the tidelands oil reserve which the U. S. Supreme court gave to the U. S. government in the California case."

The self-styled "veep" planned to have dinner tonight with friends in Chicago and then leave by private airplane early tomorrow for Paducah, Ky., where he will vote in the local election.

Barkley left the bedside of his attractive fiancee, Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley, early this morning to come to Chicago for the address before the API convention.

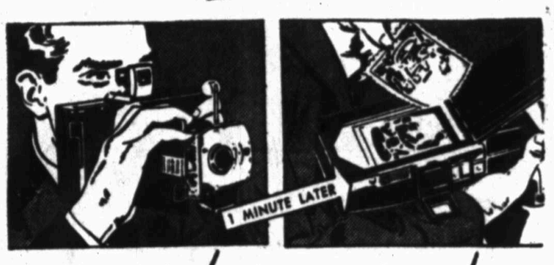

Mrs. Hadley, stricken with a mild attack of influenza, was reported "coming along fine," according to Barkley, but will be confined to St. Luke's hospital for four or five days more.

Judge Medina Hears Voice Of People On Issue Of Red Trial

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (U.P.)—Federal Judge Harold R. Medina revealed today that he had heard the voice of America.

The judge disclosed that since the end of the Communist conspiracy trial, over which he presided for nine months, he had received 50,000 messages from various cities and hamlets in the United States. There were scores from foreign countries, too, he said. He said he still received from 1,000 to 1,500 letters, telegrams, and telephone calls daily.

Letters Swamp Judge

"The trial was an ordeal," he said, "but this has just about put me under. I'm completely swamped and going around in a blue fog."

Medina said he planned to answer all of them.

He said that he had hired three stenographers and that even though he had dictated steadily for the past two weeks he made no progress in answering the 30,000 letters that arrived at his home in the first three days after the trial.

He said he received letters from famous movie stars, authors, and political figures.

Little People Write

"But the bulk are from the little people who really make up America, taxi drivers, mechanics, department store employes," he said. "Some of them almost made tears come into my eyes. None of them are the 'send the bums to jail' stuff I received during the trial. The astounding thing is that they nearly all stress fair play, the American tradition and the proper administration of justice. . .

"In many cases when there were married couples, they both signed; often it would be the whole family, including the kids. These people seem to have a sense of timing, a sense of fitness, as though they thought it improper to write until the job was over.

"I haven't read a single condemnation yet."

Medina said that he had first decided against publicizing receipt of the letters, but that he had received hundreds of invitations to speak before various organizations. He said he wanted to make it clear that he would be unable to accept any of the invitations to speak.

Baltimore Judge Bans Group Of Bobby Soxers From Trial

BALTIMORE, Nov. 7 — (AP) — Judge Robert France today called it "perfectly outrageous" and banned from his court room a group of bobby soxers who had come to listen to a rape trial.

Some 20 to 30 young girls and boys had taken front benches as the trial of several youths ranging between 15 and 18 years of age was about to begin.

Glaring their way, Judge France said "the court is much disturbed about these people possibly hooking school to come down here to listen to what they think will be dirty testimony."

After a parley between judge and lawyers; he ordered the youngsters out. There was a 10-minute recess as they shuffled off.

The seven defendants are charged with raping two young high school girls, 15 and 16, on the night of last Oct. 21 after a high school football game.

X-RAY CAN BE MORE DEADLY

Lack Of Atomic Radiation Danger At Oak Ridge Cited By Scientist

By IRWIN SAFCHIK
INS Staff Correspondent

ATLANTA, Nov. 7. — A chemistry professor who attended the birth of the A-bomb said today that atomic radiation is less of a danger to the employe at Oak Ridge than it is to a doctor working with X-rays and fluoroscopes.

Dr. William H. Jones pointed out that the average nuclear energy worker is exposed to no more than one-fifteenth of a permissable dose of the deadly rays in a year.

On the other hand, Dr. Jones said, an exposure of only two minutes before an industrial X-ray machine can be fatal.

Life Span Increased

In fact, the scientist said that two weeks is added to a man's life expectancy when he takes a job as an atomic worker. While the effects of radiation over a 20-year span have been found to deprive him of three weeks of life, he gains five weeks from the constant medical care he receives.

Dr. Jones, who is now a professor of chemistry at Emory university in Atlanta, was in charge of an Oak Ridge laboratory where the isotope ratio of uranium was studied. In that lab U-235 was separated from U-238.

He recalled that health-security measures at the "Manhattan project" were based on the premise that no chances were to be taken because so little was known about radiation from fissionable materials. But he said that the industrial hazards in nuclear stockpile areas are small.

Direct Exposure Needed

Dr. Jones explained that only direct exposure to a beta or gamma ray or any of their homicidal cousins would cause trouble. He added:

"Nobody gets himself that close to a cyclotron beam."

The chemist also said that scientists consider the probability of a machine going haywire "zero." Even if it did, he asserted, there was no chance that whole areas would be laid waste. There are too many safety devices for that.

Atomic energy plants do not relax, however, because of these reassuring facts. Dr. Jones explained that the atomic content of the atmosphere is constantly being checked by Geiger counters. All workers are frequently examined to make sure their blood count is all it should be for the kind of work they do.

Corsicana Airman Killed In Crash Of B-29 Weather Plane

CORSICANA, Nov. 7. (AP).—Capt. John C. (Sonny) Mays, Air Force officer killed in a plane crash off Bermuda last week, was a native of Corsicana.

Mays, about 35, was one of 11 men fatally injured when a B-29 weather observation plane crashed into the sea off Kindley field late last Thursday. Names of the dead were released by the Air Force yesterday.

During World War II, Mays won the Distinguished Flying Cross for what Gen. George Kenney called "lone, unescorted reconnaissance missions" over Lae and other Japanese strongholds.

He attended East Texas State college at Commerce and Hillsboro Junior college.

Survivors include his wife, his mother, Mrs. John Mays, and a sister, Miss Rosemary Mays.

Texas Airman Receives Highest Peacetime Award For Heroism

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 7 (AP)—Staff Sgt. Isabel Guzman of Laredo, Texa., has received the highest peacetime award of the Army and Air Forces.

The soldier's medal for heroism not involving combat was pinned on him Saturday for his conduct on Jan. 27, 1947. A B-29 crashed then in taking off from Kirkland field on the edge of Albuquerque.

Sgt. Guzman, an aircraft mechanic, happened to be near. Despite leaping flames and constant danger of an exploding gas tank he repeatedly entered the wreckage and carried crew members clear.

Sergeant Renews Pledge To Visit Families Of GI Dead

CARISLE, Pa., Nov. 7 (U.P.)—CARLISLE, Pa., Nov. 7 (U.P.)—rededicated himself today to keeping a wartime vow in behalf of 170 GI victims of a Nazi death march.

Konetsco, now stationed at the New Cumberland, Pa., Army base near here, saw his comrades driven to death by storm troopers after they were captured in the Battle of the Bulge. He vowed that if he got home alive he would visit the families of the 170 Americans whose death he recorded.

"That's not the kind of promise a guy goes back on—ever," he said

During the past four years he has spent $1,300 on the mercy mission, visiting the relatives of 40 of the victims.

"And I'll finish the job if it takes me a lifetime," he said.

A native of Monarch, Pa., Konetsco was a medical aid man with the 28th "Keystone" division when the Germans captured him and hundreds of his fellow soldiers in the Battle of the Bulge. Nazi storm troopers forced them on a killing 24-day march over the frozen countryside to German prison camps.

As the American prisoners died from exposure and lack of food and medical attention, Konetsco recorded the death toll in a makeshift notebook.

Minister Shoots Blank Cartridges To Oust Prowler

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (U.P.)—The Rev. Clarence Dawson, a 49-year-old Methodist minister, believes that the meek shall inherit the earth. And he's willing to back up his belief—for two shots anyway.

Awakened by a prowler on the ground floor of his parsonage, the Rev. Dawson grabbed his old World War I six shooter, turned on the lights and crept down stairs. The intruder took a quick look at the gun and darted out the door.

The minister let fly with two shots. The prowler got up a little more steam and whipped out of sight.

The Rev. Dawson explained it this way:

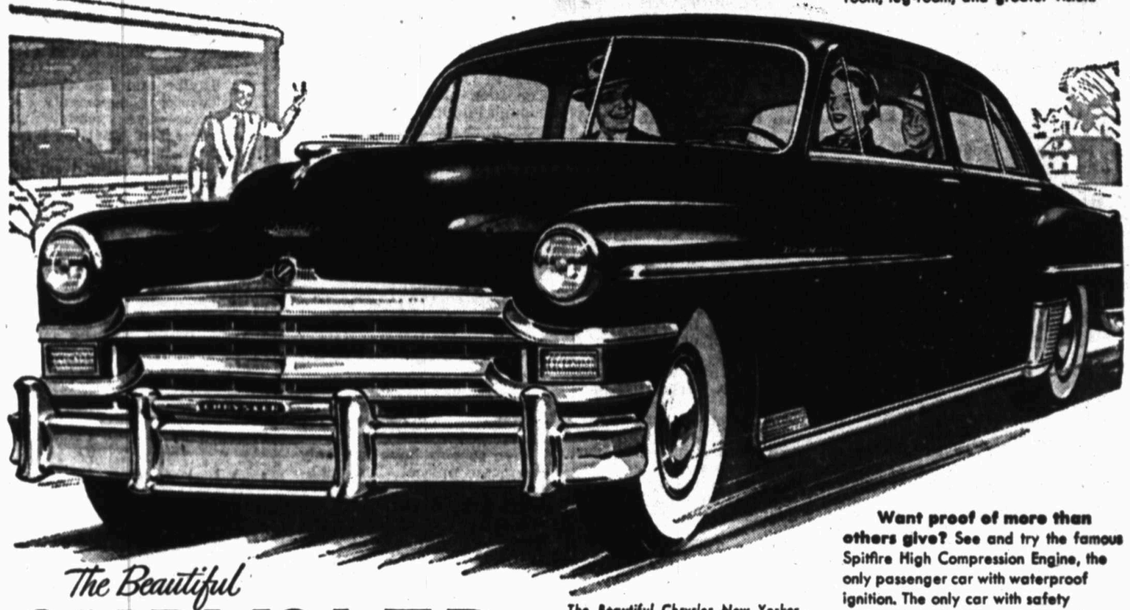

"I just wanted to scare him away. The first two chambers in the pistol are loaded with blank cartridges and I fired only two shots."

The other chambers?

They contained live ammunition.

Notre Dame Continues To Dominate Top Ten In Grid Poll

Michigan State Moves To Eighth

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 — (AP) — Notre Dame so completely dominates the top 10 college football ratings that even losing to the Irish moves a club up the ladder.

Michigan State, a shadowy tenth last week, hopped to eighth in the sixth weekly Associated Press rundown in which 163 sports writers participated. Notre dame beat Michigan State 34-21.

There were no shakeups in the ratings with Notre Dame still way out front on 137 of the 163 first place votes. That amounts to roughly 84 per cent of the ballots, about the same as it has been running for weeks. The Irish took over the lead from Michigan on the second week of the poll, and opened a wide gap in the third week.

Back of Notre Dame, it's Army, Oklahoma, California and Michigan in that order, just the same as last week. Cornell moved up a step to sixth and Rice advanced from eighth to seventh.

SMU Takes Twelfth

Southern Methodist took 12th place with 97 votes and Texas 13th with 90. Baylor was unplaced with only 12 votes.

Minnesota and Virginia are the only newcomers, displacing Baylor, which lost its first game to Texas, 20-0, and Southern Methodist, held to a surprising 27-27 tie by Texas Aggies.

The Minnesota Gophers' 55-7 romp over supposedly strong Iowa gave them a big lift and Virginia's convincing 26-14 decision over Penn lifted the unbeaten Cavaliers into the top ten.

Sooners Face Test

Nine experts tapped Oklahoma as the No. 1 team but they wound up third despite a 39-0 rout of Kansas State. The Sooners face their big test Saturday in strong Missouri.

Once again California held the fourth place with three firsts after drubbing Washington State, 33-14.

Rice, 14-0 conqueror of Arkansas, is right behind Cornell with 467 points. Rice meets Texas A&M next.

The total vote with points figured on a 10-9-8 etc. basis (first place votes in parenthesis)

1.	Notre Dame (137)	1378
2.	Army (13)	1144
3.	Oklahoma (9)	1108
4.	California (3)	943
5.	Michigan	605
6.	Cornell (1)	500
7.	Rice	467
8.	Michigan State	225
9.	Minnesota	200
10.	Virginia	199

The second ten—11. Ohio State, 188; 12. Southern Methodist, 97; 13. Texas, 90; 14. Kentucky, 79; 15. Boston University, 66; 16. Lousiana State, 44; 17. Stanford, 39; 18. Wake Forest, 33; 19. College Of Pacific, 30; 20. Santa Clara, 28.

Others receiving five or more votes:—Maryland, 25; Wyoming, 20; Dartmouth, 18; North Carolina, 16; Baylor, 12; Illinois, 8; Duke, 7; Villanova and Wisconsin, each 6.

Aggie Squad Tangles With Rice Saturday

HOUSTON, Nov. 7. (AP)—Few injuries were bothering Rice Institute today as the Owls began preparations for Saturday's game here with Texas A. & M.

Tackle Ralph Murphy and reserve Halfback Teddy Riggs were injured against Arkansas last week but are expected to be ready for the Aggies. S. J. Roberts, first string guard, who has been out of action since the Texas game three weeks ago, still is held idle by a rib separation.

Murphy sprained an ankle against the Porkers, while Riggs received a leg injury in the game's final seconds.

It is doubtful if Roberts will play Saturday.

Coach Jess Neely indicated he was not too pleased with the sluggish offense his Owls displayed in defeating Arkansas, 14 to 0, to take undisputed possession of first place in Southwest Conference standings.

He credited defensive play with collecting the victory.

Immediately after the Arkansas game he began warning the team about the unpredictable A. & M. club that played a 27-27 tie with Southern Methodist last Saturday.

Neely was impressed with scout reports on the Aggies' Fullback Robert Smith.

"We will have to work on defense this week and try to figure out a way of stopping Smith," he said.

Aggies' Dick Callendar Lost For Game With Rice Saturday

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 7. (AP)—Dick Callendar, one of Texas A&M's starting linebackers, has been lost for the Rice game Saturday and probably for the remainder of the season.

Callendar received a painful knee injury early in the SMU game and did not re-enter Saturday's battle. He is on crutches. Callendar's place probably will be taken by James Fowler of Temple or Clarence (Bull) Lawson. Both are sophomores. Other Aggies injured in the SMU game are expected to be ready for Rice.

Stroud, Brown And Reeves Lead Westerner Gridiron Offensive

Young, Williams Run Close Second

By AL WILLIAMS
Avalanche Sports Writer

Leading the Westerner offensive this year through the first seven games in running, passing and pass receiving departments are left Halfback Wayne Stroud, Quarterback Bobby Brown and End Garnet Reeves.

On the ground Stroud has carried the ball 42 times, picking up 509 yards and scoring 71 points. He leads the team in scoring also. Stroud's average is the best on the team for the regulars, 12.1 yards per carry.

Fullback Malcolm Young and Halfback Charlie Williams are close on the heels of Stroud in ground-gaining. Williams has carried for 432 yards on 47 attempts, an average of 9.2 yards per try, and has scored 30 points. Young has been the workhorse of the squad, averaging 6.7 yards per carry on 61 attempts for 418 yards. He has scored 10 touchdowns good for 60 points, second highest on the team.

Taylor Ranks Fourth

Substitute Mack Taylor is fourth in rushing. He has picked up 216 yards for a 7.4 average in 29 carries from scrimmage. Four touchdowns have given Taylor 24 points.

Passing chores have fallen to Brown and Morris Turner in the main, and each has come through admirably. Brown has an exceptional .629 completion record, hitting the mark 22 times in 35 attempts for 412 yards and five touchdowns. He has not had a single pass intercepted but has snared six passes from the opposition.

Turner, in relief of Brown, has completed 13 of 24 passes for 223 yards and three touchdowns, a .542 percentage. Turner has had two intercepted.

In pass receiving Reeves is the leader, catching 10 passes for 198 yards and three touchdowns. Two tallies on recovered fumbles have added 12 more points to Reeves' total to give him 30, a tie for third with Williams in the scoring department.

Player Averages

End Billy Wright has caught six passes for 90 yards; Taylor five for 78; Williams four for 90 and two touchdowns; Billy Tooke 3 for 36 and one score; Dean White two for 47 yards; Stroud two for 42; and Young, Charles McCown, Lyndell Ross, Wayne Noland and Bobby Day one pass each.

Other ball carriers and their averages are: Brown, 21 tries for 3.4; Turner, 16 tries for 2.1; Tooke, 14 tries for 4.1; Don Rawls, 16 tries for 4.6; McCowan, four carries for 4 yards average; Tommy Fisher, four tries for 12.5; and Jack Weldon, five tries for 6.4 yards per carry.

Top punter of the team is Young, and he has averaged 43.9 yards on 11 kicks for a 483 total. Wright has punted twice for 101 yards and a 50.5 average. Turner once for 43 yards and Taylor three times for a 16.6 average.

Presley Fifth In Scoring

Although not scoring a touchdown this year, Billy Presley is fifth in scoring on the Westerner squad. The young sophomore has done the place kicking on point after touchdown tries for the last five games, splitting the uprights on 25 of 30 attempts. Stroud has kicked five extra points and Turner two.

Punt return leader is Brown, and the flashy quarterback has returned eight boots a total of 269 yards, one for 85 yards and a touchdown and another for 80 yards and a score. Another return of 70 yards did not go all the way.

Stroud has carried five punts back 199 yards, scoring against Lamesa on a 98-yard run. Next high is Turner with four returns for 99 yards.

Seven players have handled kickoff returns, with Brown carrying three times for 47 yards, Fisher two for 43, Young two for 35, and Weldon, Wright, Rawls and Williams returning one kickoff each.

Leading pass interceptions is Brown with six. Stroud has snared five enemy aerials, Tooke two and Williams one.

Lubbock Faces Big Test Friday

Westerners Accent Offense In Drills

The Westerner football squad began training for the big game of the year—Odessa—Monday at Chapman field, and accent was on the offensive.

All last week was spent with defensive workouts, but now Coach Pat Pattison is readying a full-scale land and air attack to throw at the Bronchos at 2:30 p. m. Friday in Odessa.

Condition of the team is good. Although idle last week, the members of the squad appeared to be in good shape after the layoff and ran through their plays with vigor and enthusiasm.

The session got underway early and broke up at dark following play practice and defense by each of the three teams. After this a short tackling practice was held and wind sprints were run.

Before the whole squad got together in one bunch, end Coach Fred Taylor and line Coach Bill Floyd worked separately with their respective groups while Coach Pattison put the backs through their paces.

The Westerner squad set in on the Odessa-Lamesa near disaster last week, but neither the coach or the players are allowing themselves to become over confident after watching the Broncs stuble through the entire first half. What Odessa showed the last half of the game in scoring 32 points convinced the Lubbock team that a hard battle will be on their hands Friday, a battle that should decide District 3-AA.

Another fast workout is expected today at Chapman field, and it is doubtful that scrimmaging will be included in the bill of fare.

Walker Will Finish Grid Career At SMU

DALLAS, Nov. 7. (AP) — Doak Walker will furnish his grid career with Southern Methodist this year but his famous No. 37 will flash from jerseys of future Mustang players.

There have been rumors the All-America backfield star's numerals will be retired after Walker played his last game for SMU.

Walker settled the issue today. He requested No. 37 remain active.

Walker chose the numerals because they were worn by Harry Shuford, a Mustang star Walker idolized while he still was of kindergarten age.

Now Shuford has a youngster who idolizes Walker. In some future year No. 37 may join a Shuford-to-Walker-to Shuford formation.

Snead Named Golfer Of Year

CHICAGO, Nov. 7—(AP)—Sammy Snead, who barely missed a grand title slam, was selected the Golfer Of The Year in a national poll conducted by the Professional Golfers' Association of America.

Snead's selection was announced today by George Schneiter, manager of the P.G.A. tournament bureau.

Runner-up was the man who won golf's most coveted crown, National Open champion Cary Middlecoff. Third was Johnny Palmer, also third in cash-collecting behind Snead and Middlecoff. The National Open title eluded Snead but he copped the Masters, the P.G.A., and Western Open tournament victories to date, Snead finished in a tie for third or better in eight other meets, including a second-spot deadlock in the National Open here last June.

With the Miami Open (Dec. 8-11) to be reckoned in official P.G.A. money-winning for the year, Snead has a top grab of $30,893, followed by Middlecoff with $24,604.

For 69 rounds of tourney play, Snead has an impressive average of 69.49 strokes per round. Middlecoff's average is 69.92.

Ben Hogan, 1948 Golfer of the year, received mention again this year although he was sidelined by a serious highway accident in Texas.

Sammy's tourney victories this year also included the Greensboro Open, the Washington Star Open and Dapper Dan Open.

Besides his National Open runner-up tie, Snead also finished second in the Texas, Reading and All-American Opens; placed third in the Goodall Round Robin, inverness four-ball (with Dick Metz) and Tam O'Shanter world championship; and tied for third in the Pheonix Open.

Westerner Coach Shows No Hint Of Optimism To Quarterbackers

Pattison Says One Point Is Enough

There was no hint of optimism by Lubbock coaches last night at the Quarterback club meeting as Dell Morgan, Allie White, Pat Pattison and Damon Hill addressed the group of 200 persons.

Dunbar and Lubbock High school teams were idle last week, and talks by Coach Hill and Pattison were concerned with this week's games.

In speaking of the Friday afternoon clash with the Bronchos of Odessa in the crucial District 3AA tilt, Pattison said that he wished it were over and we had won by one point.

Faces Hardest Game

The Westerner squad was present at last week's Lamesa-Odessa contest, and Coach Pattison said that had never seen a good team as flat as were the Bronchos the first half. "If Lubbock is behind by 14 points and as flat as Odessa, I don't believe we could catch up," Pattison commented.

"Coach Joe Coleman has the type of team that can beat anyone in the state, and the game Friday will be the hardest game we have played or will play," he continued, adding that the game will not be over until the final gun because Odessa had a strong line and 12 or 13 hard-running backs.

Hill Expects Rough Tilt

Hill is expecting rough sledding in his contest here Friday afternoon at Chapman field with San Angelo, and he was singing the blues. The Panthers were beaten, 19-0, by Abilene, Hill declared, and the same Abilene team fell before San Angelo's Leopards, 26-7.

"We can give them an interesting time and try to hold the score down," Hill stated. He said that only 12 members of his team showed up for practice Monday, the rest being in the cotton fields. Coach Morgan was impressed by the fact that Texas Tech did not allow Texas Western to score as the Raiders banged out a 13-0 decision last week at El Paso. He said that the team was lucky to get out unhurt and that the Raiders goal-line stand when Western had the ball on the Tech five and four downs to score was very gratifying.

Holmes Gives Quiz

"I don't know what happened to the Picadors," was the statement given out by Coach White, "except that it was impossible to make a long drive because of penalties amounting to 125 yards, four fumbles, four pass interceptions and other things."

The Picadors play in Abilene this week, having lost to Odessa college, 13-0, last week after winning by the same score the week before.

High school coaches Pat Farris and Fred Brown introduced the members of the Cowhand squad to the crowd. The Cowhands have lost but one game, 31-19 to Odessa, but in a second contest Odessa lost, 39-0.

Joe Holmes, who is well known in this area as a football official, gave a short quiz of possible rulings that might come up in a game and then answered questions pertaining to rulings that were asked by those present at the meeting. Holmes' discussion was followed by pictures of the Rice-Tech game.

Future meeting will be held every Monday night at 8 o'clock in the East ballroom of Hotel Lubbock until further notice.

Total Of 390 Teams Will Be In Girls Basketball League

HILLSBORO, Nov. 7. (AP)—A total of 390 teams—40 more than last year's all-time high—will be in the High School Girls Basketball League of Texas.

L. C. McKamie, director-general, said today an advisory board meeting will be held soon to redistrict the state and consider a 1950 tournament site.

The tournament has been held here in the past but has grown so large Hillsboro does not have the facilities to handle it.

Mineral Wells and Dallas are bidding for the tournament.

10-Point Buck Deer Shot Near Carlsbad

EL PASO, Nov. 7. (AP).— An estimated 150 deer were killed in far West Texas in the first two days of deer season, a survey here showed tonight.

Two locker plants here checked in 110 bucks.

The largest buck reported was a 10-point blacktail weighing more than 300 pounds. It dressed out at 164 pounds. G. O. Walker of El Paso shot the buck from 350 yards on a semi-private range south of Carlsbad, N. M. Two others in the party with Walker reported bags.

Darrell York, 16-year-old Ysleta High school student, is the first to report getting his absolute limit. He killed an eight-point blacktail yesterday morning and a five-point whitetail yesterday afternoon on the Clovis Moore ranch in the Davis mountains.

Among those checking in was Johnny (Spider) Jorgensen, third baseman for the Brooklyn Dodgers, who bagged an eight-point buck dressing out at 120 pounds.

State Game Warden N. L. Chamberlain of El Paso reported two does were killed accidentally. He confiscated both.

The best results have been reported from the flats south of the Guadalupe Mountains.

The first deer reported killed was by Bill Matthews, Marfa High school student and son of Marfa Superintendent C. G. Matthews, on the Joe Bishop Ranch south of Marfa at 8:30 a.m. yesterday.

A later report credited Charles Griffin, Jim Larse and Zeke Melton, students at Texas Western college here, with bags in the Hueco Mountoins less than two hours drive from here at 6:50 a.m. yesterday.

OLD PROFESSOR LECTURES PILOTS

Baylor Coach Says Bears Made Mistakes In Game With Texas

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 7. — The old professor was patched like an old inner tube as he faced his Monday morning class of football coaches.

Old professor—Good Morning, Gentlemen. Please excuse my appearance. I got this way trying on a new overcoat. The man who owned it showed up. I don't feel too badly, though.

Eddie Anderson, Iowa—That's what I told my boys, Professor. Minnesota was good Saturday and we had one of those catastrophes. I just told my players to forget one like that one, and not to feel too badly about it.

Bernie Bierman, Minnesota—My boys came through when others didn't think they could play. They had a good day.

Old professor—Which is probably the understatement of the season, Mr. Bierman. Mr. Sauer, that's a pretty tie you're wearing.

George Sauer, Navy — Isn't it, though? We didn't win but we didn't lose, either. Tulane is a fine ball club with a lot of talent. Navy played one of its better games, just about the type of ball I had hoped they would play all season.

Henry Frnka, Tulane — Both teams showed spirit and drive right down to the final horn. I am very proud of my boys, and particularly Eddie Price, who played one of the greatest games of his career. Bob Zastrow's passing for Navy was one of the outstanding features.

Old Professor — Mr. Woodruff, complete this sentence: To err is—

Bob Woodruff, Baylor — To err is not to win. We made too many mistakes to win, that's all. However, our kids played a hard game. The Texas line did a very good job of rushing our passer, the best job that has been done against us. I was proud of our boys all the way.

Blair Cherry, Texas — That was a great game. The greatest player on the field was our Rudy Bauman, a substitute end. Baylor looked great early in the game and was fooling us with its shifting defense, but after that our boys caught on. Our team is tired. I'd like to pay the tribute to their courage and fighting spirit in winning the game.

Old Professor — A nice tribute, Mr. Cherry. Our time is up. Take care of yourselves, and I'll see you next week. Good Day, Gentlemen.

Oklahoma Pin Tourney Slated

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 7 (Special)—A total entry of 1,100 is expected for the Oklahoma City Times' twin bowling tournament here this winter, with prize money of probably $3,100.

Officials announced the seventeenth annual men's Classic would be held at Jenks' 16-alleys establishment January 14-15 and 21-22, men rolling six games scratch for a $5 entry fee.

The tenth annual women's Classic will be at Playmore's 12-alley emporium February 18-19 and 25-26, the handicap tournament calling for four games with a $4 entry fee.

Last year the women outdrew the men for the first time in history, 615 attending, and the winner was Betty Miller of Midwest City, Okla., with 852. Mrs. Fritz Williams of Anadarko was second by one pin and Mrs. Leo Whitwell of Dallas came in third with 847.

Ralph Gibson, 20-year-old Oklahoma City star, won the men's tournament with 1,292, ahead of Jim Black of Wichita, who had 1,284, and Jack Aydelotte of Tulsa, 1,282.

Again, first place in the men's Classic pays $150, with some 40 money positions paying down to $25. Women's winner will get $100, some 30-40 positions paying down to $25. Squad prizes as usual will be paid in both tournaments.

Entries are open now for both tournaments. Women can enter now and send in their averages after the handicap-setting deadline of January 1st. Entries and checks or money orders should be sent to Times Bowling Classic, Oklahoma City Times, Oklahoma City.

Baylor Skips Practice To Hear Wyoming Scout's Report

WACO, Nov. 7. (AP)— The Baylor Bears skipped practice today and heard a report from Pete Jones, who scouted Wyoming, Baylor's foe Saturday.

Wyoming blasted Colorado State, 103-0, Saturday at the same time Baylor was taking a 20-0 beating from Texas.

The Bruins are in the poorest physical condition of the season, their handlers say.

PLAYER IN HOSPITAL

BEAUMONT, Nov. 7. (AP)— Kilgore Junior college football player, D. L. Ashley, was in serious but not critical condition today. Ashley received a head injury in a game with Lamar Junior college Saturday night. Hospital attendants said he still was in a semi-conscious condition.

Cage Program Will Open At Boys Club

Play in the basketball program at Boys club gets underway Thursday with four games scheduled at the club.

Organization of teams will begin today. The Pee Wees, ages 10-11, meet at 4 p.m.; Midgets, 12-13, at 5 p.m.; Juniors, 14-15, at 6 p.m.; and Seniors, 16-17 at 7:30 p.m. In addition to these teams an independent team will play Barber college at 7:30 o'clock in the opening game of the year at the club.

A total of 61 boys turned out Monday at the first basketball meeting, and before the end of the week there will probably be twice that number.

In the past there have been regular games between Lubbock teams and out-of-town quintets.

Last year 22 teams were formed, and 274 boys played in at least one game before the season ended.

Campbell Leads In SWC Passing

DALLAS, Nov. 7. (AP).—Pitchin' Paul Campbell of Texas has pushed his way to the top in Southwest Conference passing.

The slender Longhorn quarterback has rolled up 1052 yards on 71 completions with 139 throws. He replaced Lindy Berry, Texas Christian quarterback, who was idle last week. Berry is second with 77 connections on 154 passes for 1047 yards. Adrian Burk of Baylor still is the leader in accuracy with a percentage of completions of .601. Burk has thrown 133 and completed 80 for 940 yards.

Smith Increases Lead

Bob Smith, the tank-like Texas Aggie fullback, increased his lead in ball-carrying last week as he smashed and plunged for 175 yards against Southern Methodist. Smith now has 626 yards on 120 carries. Bobby Lantrip, Rice fullback, moved into second place with 96 yards against Arkansas. Lantrip has gained 471 yards on 93 carries. Gordon Wyatt of Rice is third with 456 yards on 81 runs.

Kyle Rote, of Southern Methodist stayed out in front in punting. He averaged 44.0 on 14 punts.

Wilde Loses Top Spot

Dan Wilde of Texas Christian did not play last week, thus lost his lead in punt returns. Wilde has averaged 22.0 yards on six returns but seven returns are required to be included in the records. Bobby Dillon of Texas now leads with 158 yards on eight runs —an average of 19.8.

Ben Proctor of Texas continues to lead in pass receiving. The Longhorn wingman has taken 31 throws for 479 yards. Morris Bailey of Texas Christian is second with 29 for 417 yards.

Berry retained his lead in total offense with 1169 yards on 236 plays. Campbell is second with 989 on 167. And Burke is third with 893 on 154 plays.

West Texas State To Meet H-SU Saturday

CANYON, Nov. 7. (Special)—Collegiate gridiron fans of the Panhandle will flock to Conyon Saturday afternoon where an expected capacity crowd is expected to witness the important Border Conference struggle between West Texas State's Buffaloes and the always powerful Hardin-Simmons Cowboys.

Gaining power as the season progresses and displaying a running and passing attack that can explode into touchdowns at any moment, the West Texans are expecting to give the heralded Cowpokes more than a little bit of trouble.

It has been 26 years since a Buffalo team has come out victorious over a Hardin-Simmons eleven. Panhandle fans are saying that a jinx cannot last forever and that this may be the year.

Hopes for a victory will rest greatly on the passing of Gene Mayfield, Quitaque quarterback. Gene is presently leading the Border Conference in total offense having peeled off better than 800 yards this season.

Also expected to give great accounts of themselves are backs Bill Cross, Canadian; Charles Wright, and Tom Airhart, Canyon; Jimmie Draper, Spur; Wayne Sullivan, Phillips and Frank Wise, Coleman.

Chief problems for the Buffs will be in stopping the running antics of Wilton "Hook" Davis, celebrated back and the passing wizardry of John Ford, quarterback.

TIL Member Schools Will Vote On Question

Schoolboy Athletic Age Limit May Be Raised To 19 Years

AUSTIN, Nov. 7. (AP)— The question of raising the age limit for high school athletes may be submitted to a vote of the Interscholastic League's 1,500 member schools.

The league's advisory council today recommended submission of the question. The recommendation must win approval of the league's executive committee before the question can go to the schools.

The council's action specifically gave approval of a rule change to permit athletic participation during the school year of an athlete who was under 19 years of age on Sept. 1, if the athlete was otherwise eligible to compete under league rules. The present limit is 18 years.

There was an additional proposal to increase the eight-semester rule to a 10-semester rule of eligibility.

A league spokesman said both actions result from the new 12-grade system. If adopted the rules would become effective in the 1951-52 school year.

The council also recommended a limitation on the number of basketball games which a member school's team could play during a school year. The recommended limit was placed at 24 games, plus three invitational tournaments, plus district play during any one season.

Doubling of league membership fees won council approval. It voted to ask raising of Conference B fee from $4 to $8, Conference A from $10 to $20, Conference AA and City from $15 to $30, and Junior High from $3 to $6 per school year.

The council approved a motion to recommend that the league sponsor a state championship contest in golf.

Mighty Oklahoma To Meet Missouri Squad

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 7. (INS)—The mighty Oklahoma Sooners, authors of the longest current winning streak among the nation's major collegiate grid powers, were preparing today for their "Game Of The Year."

Riding on the crest of a 17-game victory record, Oklahoma is expected to decide the Big Seven Conference championship Saturday against the Missouri Tigers.

To Sooner coach Charles (Bud) Wilkinson, the Missouri game is the first of three mounting problems facing his gridders before they can claim their third Conference title and think about post season bowl bids.

The other two stumbling blocks, in order of necessary solution are:

1. Santa Clara's Broncos, who were the last team to defeat Oklahoma. The Broncs upset the Sooners, 20-17, in the first game of 1948.

2. The run-of-the-mill Oklahoma A & M eleven, which will probably be keyed for a big showing in the final game of the year.

Wilkinson, the big, blond former Minnesota star who certainly rests on football's coaching pinnacle in his third year at Oklahoma, refuses to predict the chances of his staff and team to solve all three of their problems.

Hawaii Baseball League Gets Charter In National Association

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 7. (INS)—A charter in the 1951 National Baseball Association was granted today to the Hawaii baseball league.

Announcement that Hawaii had obtained a charter in the Association expected to include three hundred sandlot circuits in the U. S. was made by J. G. Taylor Spink, "global commissioner" of the semi-pros.

As a result the Hawaiians will be eligible to compete in the 16th Wichita, Kan., next Aug. 18-31.

Hawaii was represented in the 1947 championship event and finished in a [illegible]h-place tie in the national ratings.

SPORTS Slants
BY CHOC HUTCHESON

Sunday's annual fall meeting of West Texas-New Mexico baseball league directors, held in the Hilton hotel here, was surprisingly serene.

Beforehand, there had been strong hints of some verbal fireworks at the session. But as things turned out, no one lit the fuse, and the affair was as harmonious as a gathering of well-trained SPEBQSA members.

The only note of discord came when the directors discussed a proposal to boost the league's active player limit from 16 to 17 players. Clubs favoring this move argued that addition of one player to each team roster would improve the caliber of WT-NM ball, while those opposing contended that they had ample difficulty in lining up 16 suitable players, let alone 17.

On the showdown vote, Abilene, Albuquerque, Borger and Lubbock voiced their approval, but Amarillo, Clovis, Lamesa and Pampa sounded off with a chorus of "No's" which brought a 4-4 deadlock and killed the proposal.

The "losing" delegation (led by voluble George Schepps, who came to the meeting in the role of guest, then took a major role in the discussions) promptly tried to rephrase the player limit proposal so that another vote could be taken. Whereupon R. L. Edmondson, sr., the Pampa prexy who would, I believe, argue with a fireplug, moved that the directors go into executive (closed) session.

This motion carried, so newsmen and other guests were hustled outside, while debate continued.

When the doors finally were unlocked, President Milton E. Price greeted returning reporters with word that the league's player limit would remain unchanged at 16, and that was that. It also developed that, during the closed session, Mr. Price had been re-elected to his 11th term as league president. This came as no shock, but there had been rumors to the effect that at least one director would voice opposition to Price's re-election. Whether there was a dissenting vote was not announced—and probably never will be. My personal guess, based on the day's harmonious tone, is that Price was chosen unanimously.

In all, there were 11 official motions. Nine of these carried unanimously, one (the player increase) was defeated, and one (the move to lengthen the 1950 schedule to 147 games) passed by a 7-1 margin, with only Pampa dissenting.

All of which indicates that, on the whole, the WT-NM bosses are fairly well pleased with the way the league is going and anticipate another profitable season in 1950.

WT-NM odds and ends, gathered at Sunday's meeting:

The number of baseballs used by league teams varied widely last season. Albuquerque used 154 dozen through the year, while Lubbock used only 80 dozen. . .All eight WT-NM clubs will have representatives at the national minor league convention in Baltimore Dec. 7-8-9. It will be the 25th trip to the annual meeting for Harry Faulkner, Hubber general manager. . .Of 106 Class C circuits, the WT-NM has drawn No. 2 position in the annual player draft. Clovis, the league's last-place club in 1949, will get second shot on any Class D player when draft - time for Class C loops rolls around. Borger is 16th in line, and Lubbock gets No. 30 choice. . .Albuquerque's H. G. (Cy) Fausett next year will experiment with a special student ticket, priced at 50 cents, for children 12 through 15 years of age. He thinks that youngsters in the 12-15 age range should be encouraged to attend games and that the full-fare rate of approximately 75 cents tends to cause them to lose interest in the national pastime.

Pheasant Hunter Has Rough Day On Trip For Small Game

At 3:15 p. m. He shot a pheasant.

At 3:45 He acquired another pheasant when his remaining dog found a crippled bird shot by some other hunter.

At 4:30 Mitchell tripped and sprained his ankle.

Attacks On Grid Officials Scored

AUSTIN, Nov. 7. (AP)— Athletic Director Rhea H. Williams of the Texas Interscholastic League today hit at fans, coaches and the press for their attacks on football officials.

Williams said "Rumors have even reached us to the effect that some of these people have accepted money, and to me that is the most absurd statement that can be made about such fine officials as these men are."

Declaring that "In my observation we have some of the finest officials that we have ever had in the history of the game," Williams said "I can assure you that it is getting more and more difficult to get the caliber of men that we desire into the officiating profession with the constant verbal attacks to which they are subjected, both by the coaches, the fans and the press."

Williams called on the press to support the officials and added that "The high school coach has that responsibility, because when he attacks the officials he is actually attacking the game which furnishes him a living."

Citing attacks that had been made on such officials as Pete Shands of North Texas State and L. D. Meyer of Fort Worth and others, Williams said "I know personally some of the men who have been attacked verbally and they are fine caliber men of the highest moral character traits."

Williams pointed out that all football officials are agreed upon prior to a game by both schools.

Williams quoted the football code which says the decisions of football officials are to be accepted without protest and that the officials are to be extended protection and courtesy by players, school personnel and laymen. This code is carried in the football plan of the Interscholastic League and every school agrees upon it before participating in football.

Lehman Leads In Final Survey For New York Senate Election

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 7—Using a new system of sampling, the Institute found the division of voter sentiment in its final survey of the New York Senatorial race to be:

Lehman	46%
Dulles	34
Undecided	20

Interviewing of voters began Oct. 17 and ended Friday, Nov. 4. Changes of sentiment resulting from speeches or events in the final week of the bitterly-fought senatorial campaign are therefore not reflected in the findings.

The new system of sampling is based upon area or probability sampling. Research experts will be watching to see whether it proves more accurate than the "quota" sampling system used in elections in the past 15 years with an overall error averaging 4 percentage points. The test is whether the new method will better this mark.

How Undecided Voters 'Lean'

To be meaningful in terms of the actual vote Tuesday, attention must be drawn to the large number of voters who remained undecided at the time they were interviewed. To get an indication of which way these people are "leaning," two additional questions were put to this group.

They were asked first, "Which way are you leaning at the present time—toward the Republican candidate Dulles, or the Democratic candidate Lehman" Those who still remained undecided were then asked, "If you HAD to decide TODAY, which man would you vote for?"

The results showed a close division of sentiment—7 per cent for Mr. Lehman and 6 per cent for Mr. Dulles, with 7 per cent still undecided.

Adding all these to the previous group the candidate standings become:

Lehman	53%
Dulles	40
Still undecided	7

How the group of 7 per cent who are still undecided will behave on election day cannot be ascertained with complete accuracy. One assumption is that if they vote they will divide their allegiance in approximately the same way as those who do state a preference.

Assuming that they will vote as the others, the standing of the candidates would be:

Lehman	57%
Dulles	43

Factors On Dulles' Side

In analyzing the Dulles figures, these factors must be taken into account:

Mr. Dulles will have a substantial advantage over his opponent in the traditionally Republican upstate section, particularly in the rural communities. The total potential vote upstate is considerably larger than in Democratic New York City. The city registration this year was 2,783,000 whereas upstate approximately 3,500,000 have registered for this election or are permanently registered.

The Republican upstate machine is reported making a record-breaking effort to get this large vote to the polls in order to offset Democratic votes for Mr. Lehman in New York.

If the Dulles campaign managers are able to make the upstate vote count for more than the usual 50 per cent of the total vote cast in the state, they obviously will improve their candidate's chances.

Another factor is the extent to which the American Labor party supporters in New York City will vote on the Senate race. Congressman Vito Marcantonio, A. L. P. candidate for mayor of New York, is urging followers not to vote in the Senate race at all. If an appreciable number follow his urging it will hurt Mr. Lehman. A.L.P. voters have in the past been strongly Democratic in their leanings, and in this particular race the majority of those stating a preference favor Mr. Lehman.

Factors On Lehman's Side

There are several factors which could increase the Lehman percentage. The hot three-cornered mayoralty race in New York may bring out a higher percentage of voters in the city than in the upstate area.

Since Mr. Lehman's stronghold is New York City any increase in the proportion of votes cast by the city as compared to upstate would increase his percentage for the whole state.

As the candidate who has President Truman's blessing and who favors outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act, Mr. Lehman is likely to have a marked advantage with the union labor vote. Because he favors Taft-Hartley repeal, union political workers may make a special effort to get out the vote of union members.

The new system of sampling which is being tried out in Tuesday's election is based upon the theory of probability sampling. Selection of persons interviewed is removed entirely from the discretion of the interviewer. People who comprise the sample are chosen by a procedure which gives every voter an approximately equal chance of being selected. The new system attempts to control not only the place of interviewing but the time of interviewing and has been described as Time-Place Sampling.

The Institute selected 80 areas throughout the State on a purely random, or probability, basis so that all areas throughout the State had an equal chance of being selected. These 80 areas were further divided into 240 sampling units which were composed of city blocks or small well-defined rural areas. A total of 2,366 persons were interviewed.

block, Ave. K around 3 p. m. Monday. He said the keys had been left in the car.

Two Lubbock youths were returned here Monday night from Amarillo on warrants charging car theft. They were Joe E. Brumfield, 17, and a 16-year-old boy who had been arrested Sunday by Amarillo police.

Complaints charging theft of a 1946 Plymouth from a used car lot of Dickinson Motor company of 1413 Ave. J, were sworn by Capt. of Detectives Pat Davidson before A. W Salyars, assistant district attorney and filed in the court of C. E. Lynn, justice of the peace.

Suspects Returned

Davidson and George Eubank, chief deputy sheriff, brought the pair to Lubbock from Amarillo.

A young Latin-American boy, about 5, rang up a $25 damage bill Monday afternoon when he turned the ignition key and stepped on the starter of a pickup truck parked in the alley behind Hodges Bros. Hardware, 1115 Ave. G.

The truck backed into a window, smashing iron window bars and the glass. Earl Carver, manager estimated damage at $25, and Mrs. Frank Trejo paid that amount police records showed.

Bond Is Set

Bond of $500 was set by County Judge Walter Davies for James M Payne, 43, of Lubbock, who pleaded innocent of aggravated assault upon his wife, Fannie.

Bond of $1,000 was set by D. W. Robertson, justice of the peace, for Frances L. Foley, 23, a negro woman charged with intent to murder James Taylor, a negro man who was stabbed in the neck early Monday.

The woman gave a statement to the district attorney's department saying she "stuck" Taylor when he attempted to push her around after informing her he had a new girl friend. She said she had been "going with" Taylor about a year.

Robertson set $750 bond for John D. McCraw, 31, who waived examining trial on a child desertion charge.

Lynn set $200 peace bond for James Conley, 31, a negro, after hearing an affidavit of Conley's wife, Edna Ruth, charging he had assaulted and threatened to kill her.

These judgments were signed Monday by County Judge Walter Davies: Eli Castillo, 22, of Lamesa, Phillip Leibas, 25 of Thurber, $75 and costs each after pleas of guilty of drunk driving; Alvin Armstrong, 21, of Smyer, $100 and costs on plea of guilty of illegal possession of a pistol; and Ellis White, 40, a Shallowater negro, $100 and costs, liquor law violation.

Burglary Reported

Burglary of Atkins Lumber company, of 1517 Ave. G, was under investigation of police after James E. Walker of the company had reported entrance gained at a window and listed loot as a stapling machine, business papers and a bottle of ink.

An attempt was made to break into Pacific Finance corporation at 1709 Texas Ave., but failed, police were told.

Several Car Thefts

Several other automobiles were reported stolen here, as well as a truck from a gin at Shallowater.

C. M. Neighbors of 1619 Tenth said his 1940 Chevrolet coach, AS 9048, had been stolen.

Three other cars were stolen, but were marked recovered. The driver of one ran it into a garage at 1900-block Twenty-seventh, got out and ran, a witness said.

A 1949 Plymouth sedan reported stolen from Fenner Tubbs company at 2205 Twenyt-eighth street was recovered by Lubbock police late Monday night. It was found parked in 800-Block Main. When stolen, the car contained shotgun shells, anti-freeze and new automobile parts valued at $150, and all but a portion of these items was recovered.

Keys had been left in three of the four cars, police reports showed.

The stolen truck was described as a green 1940 Chevrolet with a red bed and Colorado license 3T5415. Its owner, Francisco Garcia, had left it at the Shallowater cooperative gin.

There were numerous thefts from automobiles: A bag and clothing, total value $50, from Beryl Easley of 2224 Eighth; a bag filled with clothing from Roy Ferguson of Phillips; $25 worth of clothing and other property from Bert Snow of 2811 Maple; $38 worth of property from A. M. Burdine of 319 Ave. W: a $200 12 gauge automatic shotgun, a cigaret case, two coats and other property from R. A. Sanders of 2319 Twenty-ninth; shirts valued at $30 from Owen R. Gray of 1659 Main.

Clothesline Raided

Not even clotheslines were exempt from attention of thieves, it was reported from 3001 Ave. L, where a sheet and a half-dozen towels were taken.

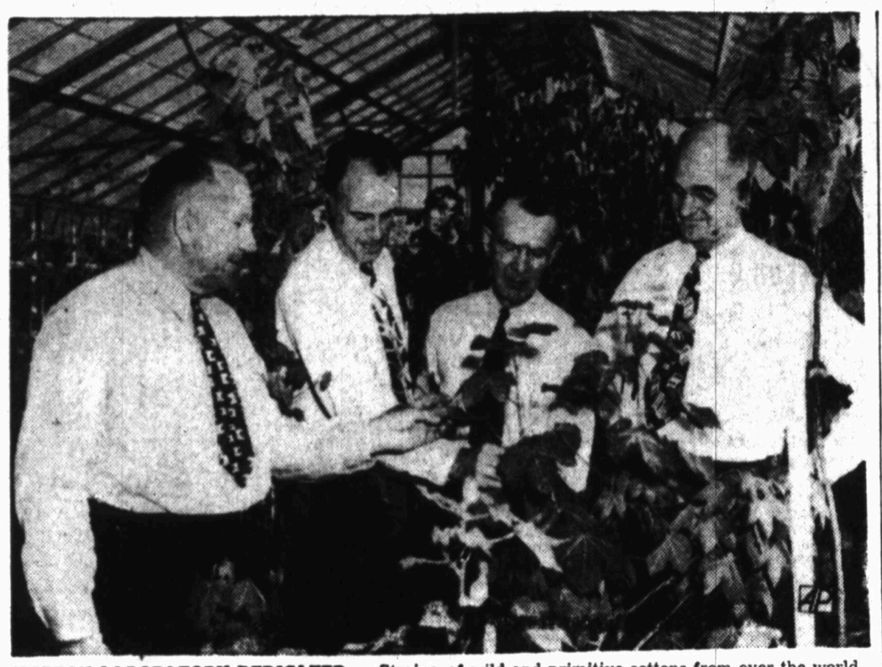

The White Ray Beason residence near Wolfforth was "stripped," the sheriff's department was informed, by a burglar who took a radio, four wool blankets, a pillow, bed spread, electric clock, silverware, pots and pans, dishes, and even dishtowels.

Former Clovis Minister May Enter Congressional Race

SANTA FE, Nov. 7 (INS)—Luther E. Sharpe, secretary-manager of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce, announced in Santa Fe today that he is "considering" entering the race for the Democratic nomination for congressman next year.

Sharpe, a former Presbyterian minister at Clovis, said "this is not a sudden decision. I have waited until I was in a position that would enable me to make it a full time and lifetime work."

In Clovis Sharpe arranged the completion of a $200,000 church before taking the chamber of commerce post in Artesia.

Acheson Leaves

Administrator Hoffman declared that as a result of 18 months of U. S. help Western Europe is "in no danger" of falling under Soviet control.

Hoffman, just back from Paris, said that when the Marshall plan came into being a year and a half ago Western Europe was in danger of "falling within the Russian orbit." He emphasized his belief that the threat has been removed.

Accompanied By Envoy

Vishinsky, in Washington for a Russian embassy reception, was accompanied by Soviet Ambassador Panyushkin.

Although his visit had been billed as a "courtesy call," United Nations sources had hinted that Vishinsky was prepared to advance a new proposal toward restoring East-West amity.

Acheson and Mr. Truman had conferred at the White House before Vishinsky's call at the State department.

During one of his busiest days in office, Acheson also talked with the envoys of Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Belgian Ambassador Baron Silvercruys said the three diplomats desired to impress upon Acheson "the importance which our government's attach to the deliberations which will take place in Paris."

At the Paris conference, Acheson is expected to tell Britain and France that Europe must hasten economic intergration, with an implied warning that unless this is done Marshall plan aid will be terminated.

Significant developments abroad and in the U. S. underscored the Acheson - Vishinsky conference. They include:

1. Assignument of Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky, one of Russia's top army commanders, to the Polish cabinet as minister of national defense. This was seen as a tightening of Soviet control over its Polish satellite.

2. A demonstration of Soviet military might in Moscow following the charge of Russian Deputy Premier Georgi M. Malekov that American "imperialists" are steering toward a new "blood war" in seeking to dominate the world.

3. A proposal by Rep. Poage (D-Tex) that the U. S. organize 23 divisions of German troops as part of a coordinated European defense plan against possible Russian aggression.

Seven Killed

collided with the side of a gasoline tank truck about 10:30 p. m. two miles northwest of Post.

The South Plains traffic death toll for the year rose to 71 with the seven Sunday dead. Fourteen persons have lost their lives in highway mishaps in the area during the past nine days, and 54 have been injured. For the year, the injury total now stands at more than 604.

C. Campbell, 33, under observation; and Joy Riley, 9, chest and back injuries.

Harry Duke, 53, of Post, who received a broken hip and several broken ribs in the mishap near Justiceburg, was transferred by plane to Oklahoma City after emergency treatment at Post clinic.

Amarillo Man Injured

Fred L. Padgett, 44, of Amarillo, one of two men injured in a collision near Plainview, was being held for observation at Plainview hospital.

Others who died in addition to the Campbell child and James D. Fair, were:

Funeral arrangements were being made Monday for the wreck victims, with services to be held in their home towns. Rites for the four members of the Reynolds family were scheduled for today in Abilene.

One other mishap resulted in minor injuries to John R. Hollins, 23, of 908 Ave. M, a taxicab driver, in a two-car wreck on the Littlefield highway at 1:30 a. m. Sunday.

Texans To Vote On Amendments jury in lunacy cases.

Five-county senatorial district six in north central Texas has been the scene of a battle between George Nokes of Corsicana and Phil Willis of Kaufman to succeed Jim Taylor of Kernes, who resigned.

Three contests for House vacancies were on in other areas.

Among the campaign wind-up charges on the annual session amendment was Senator Grady Hazlewood's that oil, gas and sulphur lobbies don't want the legislature to meet every year.

Rep. Blake Timmons of Amarillo made the same charge, adding pipeline lobbyists to the list.

Timmons also had taken issue with a liquor board announcement that the law does not require stopping of alcoholic beverage sales except where prohibited by local ordinances.

Coke Stevenson, jr., liquor board administrator, told Timmons he had overlooked an amendment adopted by the last legislature defining specifically what elections are covered by the closing law. Stevenson stood pat on his announcement, and liquor may be sold Tuesday under the new law, he said.

Most state offices will be closed under another law permitting them to shut down on legal holidays.

Auxiliary Plans For Armistice Breakfast

A regular meeting of the Allen Bros. American Legion Auxiliary was held last night in the Legion hall.

Final plans were mapped out for the Armistice Day breakfast which is to be held in the Junior ballroom of Hotel Lubbock at 7:30 a.m. Friday.

Reservations for the breakfast are to be made not later than Thursday, Auxiliary officers said. Reservations may be made by calling one of the following members: Mrs. Henry F. Evans, 2-2149; Mrs. H. J. Kendrick, 2-3985; Mrs. Sid Lowery, 2-6676.

Members voted to postpone regular luncheon meetings until after the first of the year.

They also made plans for sending gifts to the "Gift Shop" at the Waco Veterans hospital. The "Gift Shop" is set up so that patients can select Christmas gifts free of charge to send to their respective families.

The local Auxiliary asks that all persons who would like to donate gifts to send to the "Gift Shop" may bring them by the local Legion hall not later than Nov. 21. Gifts need not be wrapped, they said.

The Auxiliary also expresed gratitude to residents of Lubbock and surrounding area for their generous contributions to the Poppy sales on downtown streets Saturday.

extortions.

School authorities said that police have not been called into the case. They said the police were interested in the situation but had not acted because students and parents, fearful of gang reprisals, have not made official complaint.

"The situation is critical," says John R. Alltucker, superintendent of schools. "It has now reached a point where it is up to the parents to help us break this criminal element before it poisons the entire student body of our schools."

But one 15-year-old boy who failed to pay the 50 cents demanded was threatened within a school building by gang members armed with a knife. He asked his parents for the 50 cents. His father demurred and the boy finally broke down and told his story.

His parents took him to probation officers, the News-Chronicle said. The boy repeated his story. As a result one leader of the gang has been sent to the Preston School of industry.

Soviet Anniversary

gan after 10 a. m. and was over before 11 a. m.

It was viewed from a chestnut steed by Marshal Alexander M. Vasilevsky, minister of the armed forces, and by a group of Soviet leaders.

These leaders were headed by Vice-Premiers V. M. Molotov, former foreign minister, and Georgi M. Malenkov, who yesterday threatened in the anniversary speech that a new world blood bath would spell the end of capitalism.

A parade of workers immediately followed the military demonstration. A U. S. embassy count said more than 1,000,000 marched through Red square for five hours.

Artillery Salvos Fired

At the end 20 artillery salvos were fired in salute.

In an order of the day Vasilevsky charged that "imperialists and war-mongers" were inciting "provocateurs, spies and their loyal lackeys, the right-wing socialists and the base Tito gang" in preparations for aggression and a new war.

The Moscow celebration was accompanied by similar tributes in Bulgaria, Romania, Czechoslovakia, Berlin, Albania and elsewhere in the Soviet sphere.

Bucharest dispatches said about 200,000 paraded past government and Communist offcials of Romania. The day was a national holiday.

VISHINSKY FORECASTS NEW U. S., RED ACCORD

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7. (AP) — Andrei Vishinsky, Russian foreign minister, said tonight the common feeling of friendship between Russia and the United States has fallen asleep but some day it will awaken.

And when that happens, he declared, the enemies of freedom in the world will tremble.

Vishinsky made his comments to reporters as 1,400 persons forgot about the "cold war" and crowded into the Soviet embassy to help the Russians celebrate the Communist revolution.

Champagne and vodka flowed so freely that before the party was half-over the invited diplomats, government officials and newsmen found they had only scotch, liquers and choice wines to quench their thirst.

Vishinsky, who came from New York for the celebration, was the center of attraction. The white-haired foreign policy chief, dressed in a black single-breasted suit, smilingly shook hands with each visitor at the head of the stairs. Ambassador Alexander S. Panyushkin also greeted each guest.

And later, Vishinsky strolled among the drawing rooms, his interpreter at his side, to exchange quips and comments with his guests.

In a mellow mood—although he didn't have one drink—Vishinsky stressed to reporters the need for increased American-Soviet friendship.

Formula Given

His formula for better Soviet-American relations, he said, is this: Mutual respect for each nation according to its desire. No one country shoud hamper the other.

Vishinsky made the remarks to newsmen when questioned about what could be done to revive the close friendship that existed between the Soviet Union and the United States during the war.

At one point, Vishinsky noticed a reporter taking notes of what he said. He interrupted his remarks to say jokingly to a reporter that tomorrow when he saw his words in print he probably would not recognize them.

The reporter assured him that this was not so and that he would be quoted correctly.

Later, he jokingly put the remarks off-the-record. People shouldn't work on a holiday, he said, especially with their tongues.

There was an estimated 150 reporters and their wives among the guests.

One of the guests was David E. Lilienthal, atomic energy commissioner. He chatted briefly but earnestly with Vishinsky.

Later a reporter told Vishinsky he had been too far away to hear what he said. "I didn't hear anything about the atom bomb," the reporter said.

"Neither did I," Vishinsky answered quickly.

Steel Pacts Studied

B. Harrington, president of the Chicago, Wilmington and Franklin Coal company, was responsible.

Lewis said Stone and Webster "interests" of New York own the coal firm and are "anxious to have the coal company conform to the interests of the steel industry."

Demands Claimed Modest

The UMW head said Stone and Webster was an engineering and construction firm and a investment trust.

Lewis called the miners' demands modest and said the cost would be a production increase of 30 to 35 cents a ton.

Lewis suffered two major blows during the day while angling in the Midwest for a settlement of his strike with soft coal operators there.

The U.S. Supreme court refused to ease the $1,420,000 fines imposed against the United Mine Workers and their leader as a result of the pension strike of 1948. The levies, which included $20,000 against Lewis himself, were imposed by Federal District Justice T. Alan Goldsborough for contempt of a back-to-work order of the court.

The fine was just twice that slapped on Lewis and the union by the same judge in the strike of December of 1946.

The court refused the lower court decisions, in effect upholding the fines.

The other setback came from Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH), the neutral trustee of the miners' welfare fund who helped Lewis out of the pension strike in 1948.

Bridges and Lewis have split, it was revealed in a letter from Bridges to the trustees demanding that all payments from the once-fat welfare fund be halted.

Bridges expressed "concern" over the legal liabilities in keeping up payments for miners' medical and hospital bills in the absence of a contract which would require the operators to finance the fund.

The welfare fund was financed by a 20 cent per ton royalty on coal mined. The payments were provided for in a contract which expired June 30.

Available money in the fund diminished and in September the trustees stopped paying out pensions or anything else except emergency benefits such as medical and hospital expenses.

The suspension of payments was followed on Sept. 19 by the current coal strike.

Plains Contractors Group Holds Meeting In Lubbock

Approximately 25 members, associate members and guests of the South Plains chapter of the Painting and Decorating Contractors of America met at a regular monthly business meeting and dinner Monday night at the Hilton hotel.

Media for local chapter publicity and advertising was the main topic of discussion at the meeting's roundtable forum. The forum's results were turned over to the publicity committee, under Chairman George Warner, for action.

Ira Wilcox was the program chairman and James Atcheson, Lubbock architect, was the principal guest.

Organized in July 1947, the chapter is headed currently by G. E. Jones, with Edwin Merritt as vice-president and Marvin A. Fann as financial secretary.

Warner, of the Sansom Paint and Paper company, played piano selections at the dinner.

Pay Boost Granted Building Workers

GALVESTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—A 10-cent hourly raise for some 6,000 construction laborers here and in seven other Texas counties was announced today.

The increase took effect immediately. It affects directly, in the Galveston-Texas City area, about 3,000 members of the Construction Marine Shipyard and Maintenance laborers' union, AFL. Another 3,000 in Victoria, Lavaca, Calhoun, Brazoria, Chambers, Matagorda and Wharton counties also are directly affected.

Indirectly, the across-the-board raise affects another 4,000 workers, half of them in Galveston and Texas City.

The first announcement came from W. L. Rodgers, union business manager in Texas City. W. N. Newman, secretary and business agent of the Galveston labor council, confirmed Rodgers' announcement.

expected, therefore, that Russia might name a civilian to take over the new control commission in place of the old military government—thus following the lead of the United States in its western zone.

Chuikov's appointment indicated this is not to be. Chuikov is a rough, tough military man with no flare for politics and a reputation of deviating not an inch from Kremlin orders.

These Soviet moves coincided with the announcement by the American High Commissioner John J. McCloy, that he has invited U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson to visit Germany after his meeting in Paris this week with the French and British foreign ministers. Acheson was understood to be considering making the visit.

which will act, by agreement, as a trustee for the separate nations.

"This, to us, seems to be the only way to ensure that at least there will never be in the future an atomic Pearl Harbor or an atomic June 22nd, 1941 (the date on which Hitler invaded Russia.)

"It removes the menace of a sudden, surprise aggression. On this principle the 'majority plan' rests. It is also the principle that inspired the resolution which you have before you in the name of the French and Canadian delegations."

Pearson referred to a joint Canadian-French resolution which re-endorses the Baruch plan and asks all nations to sacrifice national sovereignty on the atomic question whenever such sovereignty rights "are incompatible with the promotion of world security and peace."

India at the same time offered a motion aimed at outlawing the use and production of atom weapons and restricting activity in the atomic field to peaceful purposes. The Indian resolution proposes that the international law commission be instructed to draft a pact covering both objectives by next July.

Sir Carl Berendsen of New Zealand bluntly declared that the world fears the Soviet Union and that the Soviet Union and her satellites alone remain unwilling to accept international atomic control and inspection.

In striking the keynote for the bitterest battle yet launched on the question of atomic control, Pearson told the special political committee that on the bright side of the atomic situation there is the fact that Russia's acknowledged atom bomb "know how" might bring East and West "closer together."

Woman Complains About Coal Strike; Home Is 'Wrecked'

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., Nov. 7 (AP)—A coal loader's wife who wrote that she was sick of strikes said today that retaliation had come in an attack on her home.

Mrs. Beeda Brown had written a letter to the editor of the Huntington Herald-Advertiser criticizing UMW President John L. Lewis and union policies.

She followed it up today with this telegram to the paper:

"Effect of letter first page Sunday home wrecked. Infant escapes injury. More will come."

The Brown's home was stoned and windows broken last night by someone not identified, and Chester Brown, 46, the husband, was advised by his friends not to work today.

Farmer, Cone Cotton Growers Set Uniform Harvesting Price

Farmers residing in the Farmer and Cone communities attended a meeting last night in the Farmer schoolhouse, at which time they set a uniform price of $1.75 per hundred pounds for cotton pulling. The price is for gin delivery.

The price will be effective Wednesday.

Another meeting will be held tonight at the Farmer school house. All farmers in Crosby county and surrounding area are urged to attend.

Wood County Yields Corn Crop Rivaling

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 7 (INS)—Texas is more famous for its heavily-producing cotton acreage, but there's at least one section of the state where corn is being produced in yields rivaling Midwestern farms.

From Wood county in deep East Texas comes a report from County Agent E. A. Spacek that corn yields of 100 bushels or more per acre are becoming quite common in his area.

Farmers Seek Solution

Spacek says that last year some of the farmers in his county decided to do something about the low per acre yields they were producing. The county average for years has been around 10 bushels an acre.

They visited the Lindale experiment station and got some timely advice from Superintendent P. R. Johnson. The result—the yields climbed up from 10 to between 40 and 60 bushels per acre.

Horace Bridges of Quitman showed the way with a 1,500 increase on one of his fields, Spacek says. Bridges jumped his per acre yield from 10 to 142 bushels.

Growing Procedure Outlined

Bridges outlined his growing procedure to Spacek for the benefit of other farmers. On the last day of March, he told the agent, he planted the field to Texas Twenty and spaced it 12 to 14 inches in three foot rows.

He applied 450 pounds of 5-10-5 fertilizer per acre at the time of planting, and later side-dressed it with 200 pounds of ammonium nitrate per acre.

UN Drive For World Harmony Is Urged

CHICAGO, Nov. 7. (INS)— UN General Assembly President Carlos P. Romulo declared tonight that the only alternative to continued disagreement between the United States and Russia is a shooting war.

Romulo, in a speech before the Chicago chapter of the American Association for the United Nations, added:

"The two camps into which the world is now divided must agree on a principle of co-existence. They must accept the hard fact that this planet has become too small for two embattled powers which are both armed with atomic bombs and biological weapons of mass destruction."

Romulo proposed that the United Nations move to prevent a third world war by isolating areas of East-West agreement and using them as launching sites of a campaign for international harmony.

He said the immediate objective of the United Nations "is to bring the cold war between East and West to an end . . . as quickly as possible."

by a Republican for about 40 years.

The Republicans have put up Floyd J. Cosgrove, an attorney. He is opposed by Democrat John F. Smelley, president of the California Federation of Labor (AFL), and Charles R. Garry, a Democrat who ran on the Wallace Progressive slate last year.

New Jersey has a ding-dong gubernatorial battle with Republican incumbant Gov. Alred E. Driscoll opposing Democratic State Senator Elmer H. Wene.

Republicans have made an issue of Wene's support by Frank Hague, state Democratic leader and national Democratic vice chairman. Wene said that he is "beholden to no man."

In Virginia, Democratic State Senator John S. Battle is regarded as a shoo-in over Republican Walter Johnson. State interest centers on the poll tax fight.

Mayoralty Race Watched

The New York mayoralty race is attracting attention. Democratic Mayor William O'Dwyer, seeking reelection has endeavored to make President Truman's "fair deal" an issue. Newbold Morris, Republican-Liberal-Fusion candidate, Rep. Vito Marcantonio, American Labor party, have concentrated largely on local issues.

The Pennsylvania bonus amendment to the state constitution calls for a $500,000,000 outlay for 1,300,000 World War II veterans on the basis of $15 monthly for overseas and $10 for home service.

New Jersey's bonus plan, one of three referenda on the ballot, would raise $105,000,000 for World War II veterans by a gross receipts tax on business.

Publication Comes Out With 158th Issue

Old Farmer's Almanac Sees Cold, Wet Winter For 1950

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—When the presses were ready to roll on one of the first Old Farmer's Almanacs, a nervous printer rushed up to the boss and said:

"What shall we put down for July 13th, sir?"

The boss, who at the time was up to his hairline in proof sheets, yelled back in thoughtless haste: "Anything, anything."

The printer, who knew how to follow a command, picked "anything" out of his typebox—"rain, hail and snow."

The record shows that in one town, at least, it rained, snowed and hailed that year on July 13.

The Old Farmer's Almanac, which has just come out with its 158th consecutive issue, is dog-gone near that accurate. The old-time weather prophet, which has been published these many years in Dublin, N. H., still gives you everything it did in long bygone days.

It still carries poetry, sassy letters to the editor and recipes for banana bread and pie. Plus what to do in case of snakebites. And the laws, by states, on when to take a pot shot at what migratory bird.

Not to mention the ads: "You, too, may be helped by internal baths." How to dye your hair if it's getting gray, and how to stop "foot pains."

The little homilies are interesting—as they have been across the many years. On Page 73, there is a paragraph about "wire recording your hens." It mentions the Nelson brothers of Kirkland, Wash. They wire-recorded their hen-house and had wonderful results. Brother Bert even rigged up a contraption where he could tell which hens were laying. He set a trap door that jailed a hen as she climbed up to hide in a nest. If she dropped an egg he could tell it when he released her.

Anyhow, here's what you can expect in 1950, according to the Old Farmer's Almanac: A "wet" winter. November and December, 1950 will be bitter cold and will give us more storms and rain than common. In this connection, Editor Robert Thomas says he sends a small boy out each year to measure the fur of the animals to tell about winter.

On Feb. 2—ground hog day—the little guy will come out of hiding and find the weather so nasty he'll duck back in. But Mr. Ground-hog will venture out again at night and will see his shadow by the light of the moon. Spring will be cool and late.

And here's what you can expect for holidays in 1950:

New Year's day will be cold. It's going to rain on Lincoln's birthday Feb. 12. You may expect eirther rain or snow on Washington's birthday, Feb. 22. Easter, April 9, will be windy, and on Memorial day, May 30th, it will be nice. Labor day will be clear on Sept. 4, and Thanksgiving and Christmas will be pleasant.

Thomas would like you to know that the almanac's headquarters have been moved in the village of Dublin.

Up to now the booklet has been put out in rented quarters on the so-called "Democratic side" of the street. Now the publication has its own permanent building "on the Republican side of the street."

Thomas says that won't have anything to do with the political side of the booklet "because we don't have any to begin with."

Reynolds Through Trying To Set Global Flight Record

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 7 (INS)—Milton Reynolds, Chicago pen manufacturer and aviation enthusiast, is through trying to set a round-the-forld flight record by commercial airline.

"Never again" Reynolds said after he had landed in Los Angeles today some three hours behind the old mark of six days, three hours and 15 minutes set by Col. Edward Egan, chairman of the New York Boxing commission.

Bad weather in London and engine trouble at Midway island delayed the globe-circler, who began his final crack at the record last Monday when he left Los Angeles.

Mother Is Adjudged Insane After Knife Attack On Children

STERLING, Ill., Nov. 7. (AP).—A 35-year-old mother said last night she slashed the throats of her four small children because a "saint kept telling her to do it.

The woman ,Mrs. James Moughan, made the statement at a hearing in which she was adjudged insane within three hours after her husband found her hacking one of the children.

Hospital attendants said all the children are expected to recover. They are Mary Ellen, age two months; Richard, 20 months; Michael, three years old next month, and James four.

Wore Bloody Clothes

Mrs. Moughan still wore the blouse and slacks splattered with the blood of her babies when she left the sanity hearing in a special night session of county court and was taken to the East Moline state hospital.

At the hearing before Judge Walter J. Stevens, she asked whether the children were still alive. Assured that they were, she said "it would be terrible—a disgrace—for them to go through life with scars."

Her husband, a steelworker, testified that Mrs. Moughan had not been well since the birth of their last baby.

Was Working Nearby

He was working in a shed at the rear of their three-room home, he said, when Mrs. Moughan began slashing the children with a kitchen butcher knife. He related that when he finished his work and returned to the house, Mrs. Moughan had James sprawled on a kitchen table and was slashing at his throat.

Moughan said his wife attempted to cut her own throat but inflicted only a minor scratch.

The couple came to Sterling about three and a half years ago. Moughan said they were married five years ago in Hugo, Minn.

Portraits Of 12 Politburo Members Shown In Moscow

MOSCOW, Nov. 7 (AP)—Portraits of all 12 members of the Politburo are on display for the 32nd anniversary of the Bolshevist revolution, including that of L M. Kaganovich, a deputy president of the council of ministers.

An Associated Press dispatch Saturday night, reporting omission of Kaganovich's portrait and listing but 11 members, was in error.

(On the basis of the list, the AP's New York foreign desk inserted bracketed comment that the absence of Kaganovich's portarit indicated he had been dropped from the Politburo—the political bureau of Central committee of the Soviet Union's Communist party. The fact his picture is up shows, instead, that he remains in good standing in that powerful organization. The exhibition of the portraits is a traditional clue to shifts in the Politburo's makeup.

(The last man to be dropped was Nikolai Voznesensky, who was replaced in March as chairman of the State Planning commission and relieved of his duties as a deputy prime minister. His picture did not appear for the May day celebration May 1.)

The picture of Prime Minister Stalin is at the center in the layouts for the anniversary of the revolution. The others, in addition to Kaganovich, are A. N. Kosygin, Marshal N. A. Bulganin, A. A. Andreyev, L. P. Beria, Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Georgi M. Malenkov, Marshal K. Y. Voroshilov, A. I. Mikoyan, N. S. Krushchev and N. M. Shvernik.

Recaptured Convict Enters Guilty Plea

PHEONIX, Nov. 7 (AP)—Jack Tatum, 27, recaptured after escaping Oct. 22 from county jail, pleaded guilty today to transporting a stolen car across state lines.

With a chain around his waist, handcuffed and linked with 10 other federal prisoners, Tatum was led back to the jail after entering his plea.

Tatum offered to enter a guilty plea without consulting an attorney, but Judge Dave Ling assigned him counsel. He then entered the plea on charges of driving a stolen car from Gridley, Calif., to Desert Grove, Nev., on Aug. 15. Sentencing was set for Nov. 21.

Tatum was recaptured in El Paso last week and returned here under heavy guard.

Earlier he had escaped from the Minden, Nev., jail and had been retaken at Florence Junction, Ariz., The jauntiness he exhibited then was gone today as he appeared before Judge Ling.

Tatum was the only escapee of the five men who tried the jail break here. Two were shot to death and two others recaptured before they could get out of the courthouse in midtown Pheonix.

One Killed, Two Injured In Fort Worth Auto Accident

FORT WORTH, Nov. 7 (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Jean McInirich, 21, was killed today in an automobile accident.

Her husband, Sgt. Austin Vernell McInirich, 24, of Purcell, Okla., and Sgt. William T. Chapmon, 26, of Fort Worth, were critically injured.

Their car crashed through a bridge guard rail.

Court Upholds Lake Charles Right To Expand City Limits

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 7. (AP)—Lake Charles won the right to triple its size when the supreme court today upheld a lower court verdict in favor of the expansion.

In a 5 to 2 opinion, the Supreme court praised the "well-written and well-reasoned opinion" of trial Judge John T. Hood, jr.

The case went to the Supreme court on appeal by Paul J. Barbe, and others, representing some property owners in certain districts of the proposed expansion area to the south and west.

Lake Charles seeks to expand from a five-square mile community to take in 10 more square miles and some 10,000 new residents.

Americans Eat Less Candy As Dime Bar Production Hiked

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7. (AP) — Americans are eating less candy this year than in 1948.

The Commerce department said today sales by manufacturers so far this year indicate that consumption will drop to 16.7 pounds per person from last year's average of 18.2 pounds.

Ten-cent candy bars "have become a major fixture in the industry," a department survey shows. Five-cent bars still ring up a greater number of sales, but candy makers cut production of these nickel numbers by 14 per cent in 1948 while increasing output of dime bars by 53 per cent.

Dry Ice Believed To Have Barred Storms

MEDFORD, Ore., Nov. 7. (AP).—A couple of pilots, armed with dry ice pellets, reported today that they have apparently staved off damaging hailstorms during an entire summer season from a rich agricultural valley.

The Rogue River valley of southern Oregon, which annually loses heavy pear crops to hail, had not one hailstorm this year.

The scientists cooperating in the weather-control experiment couldn't be certain that it was the artificial work that did it.

But the results, disclosed today by scientists and packers, were encouraging enough to make them decide to go right ahead with their "stop the hail" scheme.

Pilots Harvey Brandau and Eugene Kooser operated on the theory that hail comes from vertical stacking of cumulus clouds.

Each time that the cloud formation threatened to grow to dangerous heights, the pilots flew over, dropping ice pellets into the thunderheads and dispersing the high stack of clouds.

Lewis And UMW Must Pay Fines

Supreme Court Rejects Appeal

BY JAMES LEE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7. — The Supreme court ruled in effect today that John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers must pay the $1,420,000 in fines imposed on them for contempt of court in refusing to halt the 1948 coal strike.

The high tribunal refused to rule on legality of the federal court injunction against the strike, but turned down the appeals from the contempt convictions filed by Lewis and the union.

Lewis challenged the legality of the injunction by claiming that the Taft-Hartley act provision for court action against strikes affecting the national health and safety is unconstitutional.

Could Be Used By HST

This is the section of the Taft-Hartley law which could be used by President Truman if he chose to resort to it to end the present coal strike.

In Chicago, Lewis indicated he is convinced that he now has no recourse but to pay the $20,000 fine assessed against him and the $1,400,000 fine imposed on the union.

In announcing its stand, the court said that Justices Black, Reed and Douglas believed a review of the case should have been granted. Justice Clark, who was attorney general at the time the government obtained the injunction, took no part in the decision.

The Supreme court also refused to decide legality of the injunction through which the government blocked a nationwide railroad strike in May, 1948.

Contention Upheld

This had the effect of upholding the government's contention that dispute over the validity of the injunction is a "moot" or dead issue.

In other actions today, the court:

1. Refused to review the Kansas City vote fraud convictions of Morris Klein and Harry Burke, Democratic party workers. The convictions grew out of the 1945 "purge" election, in which President Truman successfully sought defeat of Rep. Slaughter (D.-Mo.).

2. Ruled that federal courts have the right to use injunctions against racial discrimination in labor unions.

Segregation Ruling Set

3. Agreed to decide whether racial segregation in state universities is constitutional. Two cases are involved, brought by negro students in Oklahoma and Texas who charge that educational facilities given them fail to meet constitutional requirements.

4. Reversed a U. S. appeals

LUBBOCK MORNING AVALANCHE

Lubbock, Texas, Tuesday, November 8, 1949

Lubbock Mail Volume Soars

Volume of mail in Lubbock is heavier than ever before in the city's history, with an estimated average of almost 90,000 pieces of mail going through the Lubbock postoffice daily, Postmaster Amos H. Howard said Monday.

He said that figure was conservative and the average might be much higher.

Daily averages since the fall mailing rush opened recently were estimated as follows First class mail, approximately 60,000; parcels, 2,472; second and third class, 25,800.

Considered Accurate

The estimate of number of parcels was considered accurate. First, second and third class mail might average thousands of pieces higher daily that the estimates, however, said the postmaster.

He attributed the heavy volume to several factors, including extension of city mail delivery areas within the last year; increased population; the fact Lubbock is a "white spot" on the national business map and receives considerable advertising for that reason, and to seasonal increase. Amount of mail increases each fall, but that this fall is heavier than the previous volume of fall mail.

Olton Board Seeks Bids On New School

OLTON, Nov. 7 (Special)—The board of trustees of Olton Independent school district has authorized a call for construction bids on its new $100,000-plus elementary school building, Supt J. T. Jones announced today.

Bids on the general contract, plumbing, heating and electrical work will be received at Jones' office Tuesday, Nov. 26, at 2:30 p. m., it was decided by G. T. Sides, president, and other members of the board.

Plans and specifications will be issued to bidders shortly by the Butler-Brasher company, Lubbock architects.

The new brick and tile, 10-classroom and cafeteria building is financed by a $145,000 bond issue which the district voters recently approved. Remainder of the bond issue will be used for a remodeling program on existing buildings.

Dinner To Honor Journalist Here Tonight

Famed Photographer To Speak At Tech

A famous woman photographer, Margaret Bourke-White, who is noted for the quality of her photography and for her hazardous feats in various parts of the globe, will arrive in Lubbock by airplane at 11:15 a. m. today to speak in the Texas Technological college Recreation hall at 7:15 p. m. today.

Miss Bourke-White has been a photographer for Life magazine since it first was published.

Interviewed Gandhi

She interviewed Mahatma Gandhi a few hours before he was assassinated. Her portrait of Gandhi adorns one of the Indian memorial stamps issued after his death. Her story and pictures of the funeral were featured in Life the week following his funeral. As a result of her trip to Asia, Miss Bourke-White wrote "Halfway To Freedom," a study of the Indian people newly freed from centuries of foreign domination.

She has been credited with contributing to the cause of international understanding. The citation for an honorary degree of doctor of letters awarded to her in 1948 by Rutgers university read, in part: "You have contributed greatly to a better understanding of contemporary events and trends through your writings and through your exceptional gift of imaginative and interpretive photography, and to the cause of international understanding. In these activities you have displayed exceptional imagination, courage and resourcefulness."

Photographed War

During the war, she was the first woman photographer credited to the U. S. Army Air forces. She photographed the siege of Moscow while serving as the only non-Russian photographer covering the first six month of the Russo-German conflict. She made Stalin's photograph. Out of her Russian observations came the book, "Shooting the Russian War."

She has been on the scene of battle before the shooting was over on more than one occasion. She went through a torpedoing during the North African campaign. From her coverage of the Fifth Army in the Italian campaign came "They Called It Purple Heart Valley." Following V-E day, she interviewed and photographed persons throughout Germany and results of her survey were incorporated in her book, "Dear Fatherland, Rest Quietly," which contained over 100 pictures and a full-length text of conditions in postwar Germany.

She is a native of New York. She was graduated from Cornell university.

Students will be admitted first to hear her tonight in the Recreation hall. If any seats remain, they will be available to members of the public for $1.20 each.

She will be guest of honor at a dinner to be sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi, honorary professional fraternity for women in journalism, in Colonial room at Hilton hotel following her speech on the campus.

NEW VOTING BOXES IN LUBBOCK — Shown above are the new voting boxes in Lubbock after the realignment of precincts from the old system which had become too involved. The alignment above shows the present 18 precincts with borders around those areas in which residents in each precinct will ballot.

Insurance Deputies Proposal Rejected

AUSTIN, Nov. 7 (AP)—A legislative committee studying insurance laws thumped a flat "no" today at a proposal to add three deputy insurance commissioners to the state's payroll.

The proposed deputies were envisioned as taking over the duties and responsibilities of the three regular commissioners when the regulars were required to be away from the office. Each regular would have named his own deputy.

Commissioners Joe P. Gibbs and Paul Brown told the interim committee at a public hearing that such deputies would be helpful to the public as well as the commissioners. Commission Chairman George Butler was absent from the hearing because of the serious illness of his mother.

ADULTS WITNESS SCHOOL LIFE

Lubbock Parents, Children Join In Education Week Observance

School rooms of Lubbock are becoming popular meeting places for students and parents as the third day of American Education week gets underway. "Responsible Citizenship" will be the theme stressed today as some schools observe special visiting days, some receive parents on a pre-arranged schedule, and others reiterate their "come anytime" invitation.

Dr. J. Ralph Grant, pastor of the First Baptist church, addressed all sixth grade pupils of Roscoe Wilson at a special assembly in the J. T. Hutchinson Junior high auditorium Monday morning on the general theme of the week, "Making Democracy Work".

Dr. Grant told students of his trip to Europe during the past summer and contrasted the way of life in non-democratic countries with the democracy in the United States. He cited ways in which students may help to preserve democracy, cautioning children to see that their parents vote in every election until they, the students, are old enough to vote. Dr. Grant also gave examples of how democracy begins with "give and take" in the home, continues as co-opera-

New Orleans Threatened By Second Mantle Of Smoke, Fog

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 7 (AP)—Residents of suburban New Orleans were keeping a watchful eye on a heavy cloud of smoke along Lake Pontchartrain tonight, wondering if there would be a second visitation of smog.

Smelly smoke-tainted fog settled over outlying areas last night, halting traffic on the air line highway to Baton Rouge and grounding planes whose passengers could not get to Moisant airport.

One of the halted vehicles was an ambulance carrying an expectant negro mother in a race with the stork. The stork won.

The heavy pall of smoke came from the lake front where swamp fires have been smouldering for several days. Last night a light wind wafted the smoke into the suburbs and then a dense fog settled, making it impossible to see as far as eight feet ahead.

Dramatic Attempt To Save Life Of Car Racer Fails By Five Seconds

DEL MAR, Calif., Nov. 7. (INS)—A dramatic attempt to save driver Rex Mays from death beneath the wheels of speeding race cars failed by a bare five seconds, it was disclosed today.

"Peewee" Distarce, noted race driver, was a bystander at the Del Mar track yesterday when Mays' Wolfe special flipped up on its nose and flung him onto the track.

Distarce leaped the crash rail and ran to the side of his injured buddy in a dramatic attempt to pull him to safety.

"If I'd had five more seconds before the other cars came at me, Rex would be alive today," Distarce said.

"I had hold of his body after he flipped out of the car, but two cars swept out of the back stretch and I had to get out of there fast. Rex was alive at that time.

"One car hit him on the head and the second hit him on the legs and that finished him."

At the same time as the attempt to save Mays' life was disclosed, racing officials began a secret probe into the crackup.

Witnesses said Mays' speeding car apparently struck a chuckhole on the horse racing track and then flung him into the path of oncoming vehicles.

Immediately after the accident another driver reportedly quit the race and told his mechanics:

"I've just run over Rex Mays—I can't go on!"

Officials of the American Automobile association clamped a complete censorship over details of the crash and refused to allow a public showing of the official moving pictures of the accident.

Some 17,000 horrified spectators, including Mays' wife, witnessed the accident which occurred during the 13th lap of a 100-mile AAA championship race. Mays was driving the Wolfe special in which he set the fastest qualifying lap at Indianapolis last spring.

At the time of his death Mays was a captain in the Air Force reserve. He was a service pilot during the war and had flown 1,700 hours with the Air Transport command in the Pacific area. He also had a 1,000-hour rating with the CAA as a private pilot.

Only last Saturday, the day before his death, Mays had flown with the 731st Bomb group in maneuvers at Long Beach. He had been a member of the Air Force reserve since May, 1943.

Air Force Team To Visit Tech Campus

A team of Air Force officers will be on the Texas Tech campus Nov. 14 to interview anyone in the area interested in a career in aviation in the Air Force.

The group will interview both men and women who have had as much as two years college education in room 110 of the Extension building.

Those who have completed their college work will have an opportunity to apply for an early training class, according to Col. David K. Lyster, jr., here to make advance arrangements. Others who meet qualifications will be examined so that they may enter Air Force training after graduation.

Three types of training are open to men, the aviation cadet pilot training program, the aviation cadet navigator training program and the officer canidate program. Only the last group is open to women, preparing them for non-flying executive duties in administrative and technical fields.

To qualify the applicant must be between the ages of 20 and 26½, must have completed at least two years of college and must meet physical and moral qualifications.

After a one year training course, graduates will receive commissions as second lieutenants in the Air Force and will have opportunity to compete for regular commissions during three years of active duty.

In any of the training programs a student who fails to complete the work is returned to civilian life.

Appointments for interviews may be obtained at the Placement office at Texas Tech or at the Lubbock Army and Air Force recruiting station.

Natural Gas Termed Threat To Fuel Oil

CHICAGO, Nov. 7 (AP)— The effect of natural gas sales on the kerosene and fuel oil business was termed today "the greatest single invasion of any fuel market in history."

E. Holley Poe, a New York marketing consultant told oil men attending the 29th annual meeting of the American Petroleum institute: "This is no bad dream which will pass, come tomorrow's dawn. It is real competition; it will grow instead of diminish; and it will certainly have a profound effect on your business—not only in marketing, but clear back to your refinery practices."

Poe cited an increase of 97 per cent in market requirements for natural gas from 1939 to 1948, compared with 66 percent for fuel oil. Water power requirements for heating were up 77 percent, bitiminous coal 50 percent and anthracite 11 percent, he said.

Despite the challenge of expansion in the natural gas industry, Poe said the oil industry has "been one of anticipation of, and adjustment to, new conditions." He said adjustments could be made to meet the new competition.

Another speaker told the convention that business needs clarification by Congress of the intents of the Sherman anti-trust act and the Patman act.

William Simon, a Chicago attorney and counsel for the Capehart committee of the 80th Congress, said the oil industry and other businesses aren't sure now that if they obey one law they aren't violating the other.

"Rigid prices in any industry are generally used to prove violations of the Sherman act, which makes all price-fixing illegal," Simon said. "But, on the other hand, flexibility of price is almost certain to result in a violation of the price-discrimination provisions of the Patman amendment to the Clayton act."

He urged support of an amendment proposed by Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) to clarify the price philosophies of the laws.

British Movie Magnate Warns He May Pull Out Of Industry

LONDON, Nov. 7 (AP)—J. Arthur Rank, biggest operator in Britain's ailing movie industry, reported heavy financial losses today and threatened to quit making films entirely.

The Yorkshire multi-millionaire said his group will make only six to 10 films in the six months ending June, 1950. And, he added, unless the government lowers its 40 per cent tax on movie tickets he will pull out.

Already, the organization has sold two of its studios to the British Broadcasting corporation for use in television.

Lubbock Man Is Named Head Of New Boys Club Grouping

Texas Area council of Boys Clubs of America, in session last week at Waco, voted to divide into north and south groupings to further competition in sports and other contests.

John W. Wilson, city-county juvenile counsellor of Lubbock, was made chairman of the north half, which includes Boys clubs at Lubbock, Amarillo, Wichita Falls, Dallas, Fort Worth and Paris.

The south half will comprise Waco, San Antonio, Laredo, El Paso, and Houston

The North district will run elimination contests in basketball and trampoline in late February, and the winners will meet those of the south half in March in Houston.

The second contest will be in Dallas in September, in softball, the third here in August, in swimming, Wilson said.

PLOT TO SLAY HUSBAND BARED

Love-Weary Wife Is Arraigned On Attempted Murder Charge

PORT ORCHARD, Wash., Nov. 7 (INS)—Love-weary Mrs. Margaret Susan Piatt who wanted to "get rid" of her too ardent spouse because he "made love to me every night" was arraigned in Kitsap county court today on a charge of attempted murder.

The tiny, 31-year-old mother of two children was given a week to enter a plea to the charge she hired two men to kill her spouse, 34-year-old unemployed restaurant worker Willford Piatt.

The two men named by Mrs. Piatt when she confessed the plot to police were arraigned at the same time on a charge of embezzlement.

Hollis D. Scott, the 23-year-old self-styled "private detective" first approached by the petite, brown haired housewife, pleaded innocent.

Wallace Mottern, 22, who Scott allegedly introduced to her as "your triggerman," was given a week to enter his plea.

Scott and Mottern, accused by Mrs. Piatt of "welching," claim "we were in on the deal only for the money."

Mrs. Piatt tearfully confessed the whole thing, which she now says "was all a mistake," after Scott allegedly planned to run away with her to Chicago and then "stood her up."

She appeared in court today garbed in a flowered dress brought to the jail by her husband who says "I still love her."

In his request for a delay in entering a plea, Mrs. Piatt's attorney, Ray R. Greenwood, attacked the charge against her saying:

"As it is now drawn, I do not believe it constitutes any crime."

Piatt himself, who told his wife at a two hour re-union in the county jail Saturday that he would stand by her, was not present in court.

The amorous husband said afterwards "it was an awful thing to do but we all make mistakes."

"The whole fantastic story was disclosed last Thursday when Mrs. Piatt admitted to police she had made a deal to get rid of her husband because "he was always making love and I got sick of it."

She said Piatt had refused her a divorce several times during the 15 years of their marriage and that in her "deal" with Scott, he agreed to "get rid" of her husband for $1,000.

Mrs. Piatt said she gave him $324 "down payment" and sold the the family automobile. She told police she and Scott later agreed to abandon the plot and go off together but that he "stood me up" and "I realized then I had been duped and doublecrossed."

But Saturday she said "it was wonderful to see my husband again," adding:

"I want to get this whole mess cleared up so I can concentrate on being a dutiful wife."

Publishers Group Files Motion To Appear In Anti-Trust Action

CLEVELAND, Nov. 7 (AP)—A motion to appear as "friend of the court" in the federal government's anti-trust suit against the Lorain (O.) Journal was filed in federal court today by the American Newspaper Publishers association.

In a civil action filed here Sept. 22, the Justice department accused the newspaper and four of its officers of combining "to restrain and monopolize the dissemination of news, advertising and other information in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law."

The suit claimed the newspaper refused to publish advertisements of business houses which advertised in the Sunday News, a weekly paper published in Lorain, and on WEOL and WEOL-FM, a radio station in Elyria.

The Lorain Journal Co. filed an answer Oct. 11, denying the charges, contending it is not in interstate commerce and that the facts in the government complaint do not present a case "within the Sherman act."

Hearing on a preliminary injunction is set for Nov. 15.

Signal Corps Plans Demonstration Here

A two-man signal demonstration team from Fourth Army Headquarters, San Antonio, will appear at 8 o'clock tonight in the Naval Reserve armory, Texas Tech campus, at the regular meeting of the 4226th Signal company.

Capt. R. M. Wood and Sgt./1st Class John D. McCoy, of Fourth Army headquarters, will demonstrate and display the latest Signal corps equipment. In addition, they will show new films and slides illustrating the development of Signal corps equipment through the years.

All members of the 4226th Signal company, commanded by Major L. B. Blackwell, have been urged to attend tonight's meeting.

Col. Louis B. Reed, commanding officer of the 4038th Infantry division, also has announced that tonight's signal demonstration will replace his unit's regular meeting, originally scheduled for Thursday night.

Duncan Dog Owners Must Curb Dogs' Yen For Mailmen

DUNCAN, Okla., Nov. 7 (U.P.)—Duncan's mail service is going to be curtailed unless local dog owners can curb their animals' appetite for mailmen, Acting Postmaster Gibson Smith warned today.

The city has 10 mail carriers. Nine of them have been dog-bitten while on their routes, three in the last week.

The carriers appealed to Smith, and he ran a notice in The Duncan Banner that mail service would be suspended to homes where vicious dogs reside if owners didn't step in.

"The only trouble," Smith said today, "is that the dogs didn't read that warning."

Smith said cutting off mail delivery at the homes of vicious dogs—as permitted by postal regulations — doesn't help much.

"We can cut a patron off, but the dog still runs next door when the mailman tries to deliver a letter there," he explained.

The postmaster said he would run the same risk as his carriers by going to see dog owners personally to persuade them to tie their animals.

"If that doesn't work," he said, "I've got another plan in mind. The poundmaster and I are good friends . . . After all, something has to be done. We can't equip our carriers with dog biscuits every day."

OCCUPATIONAL HAZARD

AUSTIN, Nov. 7 (U.P.)—An errant dice shooter who lingered too long over the galloping dominoes attempted to explain his minor head injuries as an occupational hazard by telling police yesterday:

"Someone yelled police, and I was trampled in the stampede."

With Marshall Plan funds, the Lille Institute of Cancer and other French medical laboratories have been able to purchase Autotechnicons, at $2,000 each, which process tissues for pathology tests, to diagnose cancer, doing in two days what formerly required eight days of hand processing.

BALONEY COMING UP!

An Election Certainty

A USUAL type of political baloney is sure to be dished out in large helpings as one inevitable aftermath of the several elections to be held around the country today. The more important officials to be named include a senator in New York, a governor in New Jersey, a few U. S. representatives and the mayors of several large cities.

No matter how they may turn out, spokesmen for both the Democratic and Republican parties will profess to see in them great and favorable significance for themselves. They will pretend to interpret the results as proof of the public indorsement of their own personalities and policies and a condemnation of those of the opposing political parties.

Actually, none of the elections is likely to have much significance in the congressional contests next year. Almost without exception, today's contests have been pitched upon localized issues which will not invlove an indication of attitude toward national policies nor of how the people voting today may cast their ballots a year from now.

The contest watched most closely naturally will be that of former Governor Lehman and Foster Dulles for the New York senate seat vacated by the resignation last June of Robert F. Wagner and to which Mr. Dulles, a Republican, was appointed. Lehman is a top-heavy favorite to win by a large majority because, as a three-times former governor, he is much more widely known among the people of New York than Senator Dulles. A Lehman victory, unless by a much larger majority than his supporters appear to expect, merely would be a testimonial to his personal strength and popularity. A Dulles victory, or even a close race, would be a rebuke for the national administration since President Truman has seen fit to join in the campaign for Mr. Lehman.

Even so, the outcome will indicate nothing more than that the majority of the voting electors in New York prefer one of the two candidates over the other. The same will be true in probably all of the political contests today.

They will supply no indication worthy of reliance as to how Americans generally feel toward official Washington nor as to how they may vote in 1950 in the 1950 elections which will determine whether the Democrats or Republicans will control Congress during the next two years.

Belated Coal Mediation

THE best that can be said of belated government efforts to settle the coal strike is, "It's about time." The mines have been idle for weeks and official Washington hardly has lifted a finger to try to get the operators and the miners together.

The mediation efforts now announced give little cause for optimism. The outlook results chiefly from the feeling of the operators, which has justifications, that the government agents do not participate in disputes of this kind as impartial umpires. The so-called "mediators" usually function as part of the labor team which attemps to force acceptance of the strikers' demands.

However, it is difficult to see how the mediation attempt can do any harm. The coal mines could not be closed much tighter than they have been for nearly two months. And there always is the possibility that, by drawing spokesmen for management and labor back into a huddle, something mutually acceptable can be worked out.

Some of the rocket experiments will soon be where they are completely out of this world.

"Students in Navy's Helicopter School Can Land on Dime." Thats quite a feat inasmuch as a dime isn't as big as it once was.

A congressman is a person who is either trying to mend his fence or if mended, he may be found sitting upon it.

One Minute Sermon

LIZ looked frightened after she slapped Tod. "I'm sorry, Tod!"

He rubbed his cheek, and got up from his train seat. "I'm glad you did it." He went out of the compartment and looked up the porter to see about his bags.

He knew now that he had had enough of Liz. He had taken a long, long time and the path behind him was strewn with wreckage. He left the train at Chicago and took a bus back to Capitol City.

That was the end of the Conover Agency job, naturally. He got another job. It wasn't a highly paid one, but it wasn't a "bought" job. Ma, sick and tired of the nursing home, found some rooms in her old neighborhood and moved in with him.

They were the usual sort of rooms Ma picked out. A tavern on the ground floor. A narrow stairway with chipped green plaster walls. A small kitchen with sagging cupboards and an ancient gas stove.

In February Harriet showed up unexpectedly. She'd had an awful time finding them, she said. She'd called Tod's phone number in the book and Jenny had told her they were divorced. She hadn't heard, for she had been living in Chicago.

"Good grief, what a place to live," she said, plumping her suitcase down on the studio couch. Tod was appalled at the change in Harriet. She looked old and weary. She was out of work and they had to let her stay. Ma wouldn't have turned her away for the world. Tod reasoned that at least there would be someone to look after Ma properly while he was at work. But Harriet wasn't home much, it turned out. She used the apartment for sleeping and that was about all.

"Ma says you're payin' for that fine house out on Riverside Road for Jenny while we live in a dump like this," Harriet said vindictively.

"Sure, I keep up payments on the house, that was the agreement. I pay no alimony or support for the kids."

"She don't need you to buy that house for her. She's makin' money hand over fist in her dress shop. You ought to see the way they've got the place fixed up. Some joint."

"It's nice she's doing well," Tod muttered. He had walked by the shop once on the opposite side of the street, just out of curiosity. He could see that it was a prospering business. If it hadn't been, he might have had the courage to at least try to see Jenny. As it was there wasn't much point in it. He did see Nina, though.

IT was one of those windy March days, with papers whirling in the gutters and stray hats cartwheeling across intersections. He was in a hurry, but when he saw Nina he stopped and called out to her.

He thought for an instant he saw a glem of malice in her eyes as she recognized him. He knew that Nina didn't like him, but he felt an overwhelming desire to talk to her, because she would surely speak of Jenny.

"How's—how's business, Nina?" The wind whipped past them, and the sidewalk was crowded at the intersection, so he took her arm and drew her over to the shelter of the building.

"Fine. The shop is doing even better than we expected. You should see the income tax we just got through paying."

"Uncle Sam takes quite a bite, eh?" He didn't want to know about the tax. All he wanted was to hear about Jenny.

"How are you doing, Tod?" Nina's sharp eyes caught his momentary hesitation. "Still with the Conover Agency, I presume," she said.

"No. I left there about the first of the year."

Her brows went up. "Oh? I hadn't heard."

"I've got a job with a furniture store. Pretty good future in it."

There was a painful pause.

"I've been expecting to see a layout in the rotogravures about you and Liz," Nina said. "I suppose you'll be getting married soon?"

"You haven't heard about that either? Liz and I are quits." He could feel his face reddening.

"Well, that's news. Did you know that Jenny's made up her mind to marry Rick?"

"No." Something heavy came into his chest. "But I had an idea they probably would sometime," he added.

"I'm happy about it. All Jenny's friends are," Nina rattled on. She tugged pensively at her gloves. "Jenny's such a good kid. She mooned around so long over you, I began to be afraid she was a 'one-man gal.' But we all get over these things, don't we?"

"I suppose we do." His voice cracked a little but he couldn't help it.

NINA went on. "Jenny's thinking of selling out her half of the shop after Easter, because Rick's got that lovely place in Centerville, and his mother says she'll take the cottage and let them have the big house."

"That's fine." He only wanted to escape from Nina now. He pulled up the collar of his overcoat. The wind blew furiously, and he couldn't hear what Nina was saying.

"Well, I guess I'd better be shoving along; it's my lunch hour, you know." He scarcely knew what he was saying.

Nina leaned closer. "I said, is there any message you'd like me to take to Jenny?"

"No. I'm just glad to know she's well and happy."

They parted. The wind seemed colder to him now. He felt cold all the way through, chilled to the bone, as though he would never be warm again.

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

WHAT is a Nation?

A nation is a number of individuals living together under one flag, one federal government, one set of laws.

What is a city or town?

BRANDEIS

A city or town is a number of individuals living together in a nation under one municipal government, a set of ordinances made by the town, within certain definite confines.

What is a family?

A family is a number of individuals living together in a municipality under not only the federal and municipal laws and ordinances but under the laws of decency, cooperation, mutual respect and consideration for one another.

What is an individual? . . . .

No, I am not going to go on with this forever, just like that old German song "Ist das nicht ein Schnitzelbank? Ja, das . . . . "

But there is a reason for this lengthy introduction.

Why is it that families, cities and towns, nations within themselves, seem to get along so well, at least as a general rule, but that there is so much INTERnational dissension

One of the earliest things we learn in school is that two plus two make four.

But in international relations there seems to be an ever-increasing attempt to make two plus two add up to five or six or as much as guns and tanks and atom bombs will increase the addition.

Some time ago I heard of a man whose wife gave him some plum pudding for dessert.

There wasn't quite enough brandy in it to suit his taste, so he asked for more.

Peeved, because her husband didn't like her cooking, she brought in the whole bottle and set it before him.

"Here," she said. "Suit yourself."

So, this ordinarily nice guy not only poured four times as much brandy on his pudding as he really liked, but now he had to show off.

He took several stiff drinks of the stuff, became drunk, hit his wife, chased the children out of the house, started a fight with his neighbor, and landed in jail.

COULD it possibly be that the fellows who become heads of countries and get to run their international affairs "pour too much brandy on their pudding" and get

Solons Plot Revolt

BY RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

ST. AUGUSTINE — Although Southern Democrats will not align themselves with the Republicans in national political contests or even threaten their party's supremacy with an independent movement of the abortive Thurmond-Wright variety, they have now evolved a definite strategy for thwarting those portions of the Truman program which threaten to upset Dixie's social and economic system.

Always assured of a comparatively conservative Senate representation of twenty or twenty-five members, the Southerners will rely on a loose but lively combination with at least that many Republicans, possibly more, to prevent passage of Administration measures which they consider obnoxious.

TUCKER

Nor will this alliance dedicate itself simply to defeat of so-called Civil Rights legislation. As heavily burdened by taxes as the rest of the nation, such leaders as George of Georgia, Holland of Florida, Byrd of Virginia and McKellar of Tennessee will lead the fight at the next session for a reduction of rates rather than for the increase which President Truman has mentioned, albeit rather timidly.

CREDIT: Former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes of South Carolina is given credit for suggesting this technique of loyal opposition. In announcing that he might run for Governor, he made clear that he had no idea of sponsoring or planting the seed for a Thurmond-Wright revolt. His aim is to build a local backfire against an extension of federal power that strikes, not merely at the states' handling of their own social and economic difficulties, but at their authority as constitutionally independent commonwealths.

As he would phrase it, he does not want the states to become "Balkan satellites of the federal government." And from his experience as one of the ablest Capital Hill legislators in modern times, he knows that Congress can always throw a Notre Dame block against even a heavyweight President, and he does not believe that Mr. Truman belongs in that category.

STATURE: The unrecognized fact is that the new, industralizing South has attained such stature that it no longer feels itself dependent upon the national Democratic party or on a Chief Executive of that political faith.

During World Wars I and II, when Woodrow Wilson and Franklin D. Roosevelt respectively, sat in the White House, Dixie grew to such maturity that it lost its historic, political and regional inferiority complex, as well as its sentimental atachment to questionable descendants of Thomas Jefferson at Washington.

STALEMATE: This is a phenomenon which President Truman, National Chairman William Boyle and White House Strategist Clark Clifford, Missourians all, are beginning to realize.

It may explain why Mr. Boyle, in his exuberant but confidential moments, says he intends to "build the kind of Democratic party that can elect Presidents without a single, Southern, electorial vote."

What he is building, however, in view of the Byrnes-Byrd-George strategy, is a complete stalemate between the White House and Congress, as demonstrated by the records of both the 80th and 81st sessions of Congress, when a Dixie-GOP coalition blocked every major Fair Deal proposal, and seriously modified those which became law.

PRO-NAVY: Incidentally, in view of the Denfeld row, Mr. Truman may be interested to learn that Southern Democrats are extremely pro-Navy, traditionally and practically.

The South has numerous large and small navy yards and stations, including those at Norfolk, Va., and Charleston, S. C. and the Marine base and training ground at Quantico, Va. It derives tremendous revenue and commerce and employment from the sale of "ship stores" to the fleet.

It is no accident that five of the seven Democrats on the Senate Armed Services Committee hail from southern states, or that eleven of the nineteen voting members of the similar House group come from below the Mason and Dixon line.

House Chairman Carl Vinson of Georgia is known as "the father of our modern Navy," and Senator Millard E. Tydings of Maryland is keen for that arm of our war machine.

BLOC: The anti-Truman combination does not derive solely from antagonism toward certain labor, social and economic portions of the White House program. It rests, in addition, on a definite and growing community of interest between the South and the Middle West and the West, including in the bloc both Republicans and Democrats.

The South, for instance, still holds to cotton and tobacco as major crops, but it is diversifying its agriculture. Florida claims to be the largest cattle-growing state east of the Mississippi. Besides fruits and vegetables, corn and other feed stuffs will be grown in increasing ovlume. Thus Dixie representatives demand an assured income for farmers, although they regard the Brannan-Truman, two-price plan as too rich for their blood.

Like the West, the South is strong for reclamation and power projects. The sum of $273,000,000 has been authorized for draining the Everglades and transforming it into farm lands. It is one of the most popular projects in this area. TVA and the atomic plant at Oak Ridge, Tenn., have helped to kindle the dream of cheap power, as it has in the Far West.

Thus, for these and other reasons, Southern statesmen and their constituencies may vote Democratic in national elections, but resort to rebellion on Capitol Hill.

Down Memory Lane

(Taken From The Files Of The Lubbock Morning Avalanche, Nov. 8, 1929.)

At an election of officers yesterday noon in Hotel Lubbock Clark M. Mullican, judge of the 99th district court, was elected to the presidency of the Lubbock Kiwanis club for the ensuing year. Other officers elected, with 10 directors, include:

Stangel, W. G. McMillan, T. E. Buckner, Garnet O. Reeves, J. . McCorkle, W. R. White, J. D. Hassell, jr., D. H. Bradley, and L. H. Quinn.

Two permits were issued Thursday totaling $3,000 to bring November building valuations in Lubbock to $9,215, for seven permits. Aggregate for the year is $3,070,698, representing 549 permits.

Yesterday's permits were: $1,900 for erection of two frame residences for John R. Coon at 1912 and 1912½ East Ave. B. J. J. Rozell, contractor; $3,000 for construction of a frame residence for Mr. Slagle at 2413 Third, Geroge Duvall, contractor.

Believe It Or Not -- By Robert Ripley

ATTACKS CLAIMED UNFOUNDED

HST Defends Right To Freedom

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—President Truman gave a good definition of our democracy in his speech at St. Paul — thus:

"We hold that all Americans are entitled to equal rights and equal opportunities under the law, and to equal participation in our national life, free from fear and discrimination."

Later, speaking of his own program, he said:

"These policies mean more Democracy in this country, and not less. They mean more personal freedom for all Americans, and not less."

This is his answer to the current onslaught on the Fair Deal to the effect that it would limit freedom, that he would build up something loosely called "statism" by which the federal government would completely run the lives of our people. It is not a new controversy. It goes back into our history. It's all gone on before.

STOKES

Source Is Considered

From whom in the past has this "destroying-freedom" talk come? Just the same sort of interests it comes from today, powerful aggregations of business and finance. It has been leveled at both Republican and Democratic presidents.

As such interests became more and more powerful they deprived others of freedom. It became necessary for the government, representing all the people, to step in and regulate them. They resented this and resisted it, naturally, and then, as now, cried out about "destruction of liberties" and such phrases.

THEY were speaking of their own particular "liberty," except it was not "liberty" at all, but license, and an interference with the liberties of many other people. A long time ago it was recognized that, in the general public interest, it was not healthy to have a few powerful corporations controlling production, fixing prices, crushing other smaller business, gouging consumers. So in 1890 we got the Sherman anti-trust act sponsored by a Republican, the object of which was to protect the freedom and liberty of small business and consumers.

Before that, also in a Republican administration, we got the Interstate Commerce act to regulate the railroads which were discriminating against small shippers, farmers and consumers. Later, in the Theodore Roosevelt Republican administration, we got power for the ICC to go into the railroads' books, a piece of legislation that had to be handled in the Senate by a South Carolina Democrat, "Pitchfork Ben" Tillman, as TR's Republican leaders refused. The first Roosevelt also sought the dissolution of great "trusts," as did William Howard Taft after him.

From "Teddy" Roosevelt, too, came the first broad statement of policy about the public interest in our rivers, how they belonged to all people, and how they should be developed in an integrated way for navigation, flood control, electric power under supervision of the federal government, and should not be exploited by private interests for their profit.

He, of course, was "destroying the liberties of the people," too.

And so on through the years up to now.

Does a man enjoy freedom when great monopolies can dictate how he can do business, whether he can do business at all, or when they conspire to charge more than necessary for a fair profit? Today they are still with us.

Is a man free when, as formerly, he could be thrown out of work for no reason, had no say in what his wages and working conditions should be? Se we got guaranteed collective bargaining finally. Is a man free and independent when, though working faithfully, he is thrown out of work because of depression or illness and has no means of support or, reaching old age, has not been able to lay by enough to sustain him? So we got social security finally, by which his government steps in to provide a way for him to protect himself.

IS a man free when, because of his color or race, he can't move about freely, or when, because of race or color, he is denied the most precious right of a Democracy, the right to vote—all involved in the civil rights program which a powerful element in the President's own party is fighting?

It is to remove the shackles and extend the freedom of individuals in our Democracy that this evolutionary process has gone on through the years, and must continue to go on. It is not a matter of politics. Whether we should do these things should not be a subject of controversy in these times, but only how we can do them best.

Some people today have a curious and distorted idea of freedom and liberty.

Raisin-Meat Ball Spaghetti

A McCall's Magazine Fail-Proof Recipe

Sauce	Meat Balls
1 slice salt pork	1½ lbs. chopped beef
1 small onion	1 tablespoon salt
1 No. 2½ can tomato puree	¼ cup cracker meal
2½ cups water	⅓ cup raisins
1 teaspoon salt	2 eggs, unbeaten

Place salt pork in skillet over low heat until fat is melted. Add chopped onion to fat and brown. Mix in tomato puree, water, salt and cook slowly for 15 minutes.

To make meat balls, mix all ingredients together thoroughly and shape into balls. Drop into sauce and simmer 1 hour and 15 minutes in uncovered pan. Serve sauce and meat balls over freshly cooked spaghetti. You'll be surprised at the good flavor the raisins give this recipe, a gift to us from one of our Italian friends. Enough sauce here for 6 staunch spaghetti lovers.

tion in the school, and expands into privileges and duties in city, state, and national government. Mrs. E. E. Key directed singing for the assembly program.

School Chorus Sings

Sunday afternoon between 2:30 and 3:30 aproximately 275 parents called at George R. Bean school to meet teachers, view the work of students, and enjoy a social hour. Monday at noon 90 students in the ninth grade chorus, directed by Mrs. Elois Elliott, sang songs in keeping with education week themes for the Junior Chamber of Commerce weekly luncheon. Carl Bailey, school principal, gave the address.

Two schools will hold special visiting times today. At the Walter Posey school parents are invited to visit anytime during the day.

At Sanders school, where parents are being invited to visit specific rooms at designated times, an open house will be held following the monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher association at 7:30 tonight. "Teamwork Between Fathers and the School" will be the topic of a panel to be given by John Wilson, I. M. McMillan, and W. E. Lorance.

Dinner To Be Held

Also to be held tonight will be the Administrative dinner honoring Superintendent and Mrs. R. W. Matthews and school board members and their wives at 6:30 o'clock at J. T. Hutchinson Junior High school.

More than 100 mothers and fathers went to Dupre school Monday to have lunch in the school cafeteria with their children and visit rooms afterwards. Several other schools were inviting parents to eat in the school cafeteria with their children either before or after they witnessed regular classroom work.

On Monday and Tuesday special radio programs, arranged by Mrs. Reuby S. Rhodes, were presented over local stations by students from Central Ward and speech students at Senior High. Wednesday and Thursday radio programs will be given by Sanders and Brown students.

Threatened Walkout Of Chicago Stockyards Workers Is Cancelled

CHICAGO, Nov. 7. (INS)—The threatened walkout of 450 livestock handlers at Chicago's stockyards was canceled tonight when the CIO Packinghouse workers reached an eleventh hour settlement with the stockyard management.

Pickets already had begun assembling outside the yards when William J. O'Connor, general manager of the Union Stockyard and Transit Co., emerged from the conference room a few moments before the 6 p. m. deadline to announce the settlement.

O'Connor said the livestock handlers would be granted a four and one-half cent hourly pay boost retroactive to Sept. 26. The union originally had asked a ten cent boost in addition to improved vacation clauses and a welfare plan.

The walkout would have idled approximately 25,000 persons in the meat packing industry if an agreement had not been reached.

SANTA FE, N. M., Nov. 7 (INS)—Santa Fe, the city different, is now a landlord. As a result of congressional action, the city has taken over a veterans housing project. The city will continue the same rent scale set by the Veterans administration.

MARKET Reports

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP) — Cotton future price movements were narrow in quiet dealings today. Most of the activity centered in nearby deliveries. Some short covering and evening-up, prior to first notice day on November 25, came into the December, 1949, delivery. Mill price fixing predominated in the March and May deliveries where contracts were supplied by hedges. Generally, however, traders were awaiting publication of the November 1 cotton crop estimate which will be released tomorrow.

Futures closed 5 to 30 cents a bale higher than the previous close.

Oats No. 2 white 90-91.
Corn No. 2 white, Texas only, 1.59-61.
Sorghums No. 2 yellow milo, per 100 lbs. 2.07-12.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Nov. 7 (AP) — Some traders who have been holding wheat in hopes of expansion in government buying decided to get out of the market today. As a result, the December futures contract fell around 2 cents at times and other contracts weakened.

The government did not buy any cash wheat anywhere last weekend and did not appear to be in the market today. Local supplies of red wheat discouraged buying sentiment in the December future.

Most of the rest of the market also was down, although corn provided an exception. Export demand smaller than expected receipts of cash corn and belief tomorrow's government crop report will show a decline in production prospects combined to hold corn firm.

Wheat closed ½-2⅜ lower, December $2.10¼-¼, corn was ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, December $1.18¼-⅜, oats were ¼-½ lower, December 73⅝.

MARKET SHOWS CAUTION

NEW YORK, Nov. 7. (AP) —Stock traders had pretty close ideas on the subject of prices in today's market.

Most leading issues moved only small fractions. Losses outnumbered gains although scarcely by a decisive amount.

A flurry of morning buying lifted several utility preferreds out of the price rut but the gains were later trimmed substantially. Coca-Cola common and "A" each cut back sharply, were among the few others which showed significant price changes.

Trading volume was a bit under the past few sessions at 1,170,000 shares, turnover compared with 1,390,000 Friday.

As in the past three sessions, caution has been inspired largely by the failure of the Bethlehem Steel strike settlement to follow through in the industry generally, as well as the continued lack of progress toward settlement of the coal strike.

Today, in addition, holiday influences played a part. Trading will recess Tuesday for election day and on Friday for Armistice Day.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost .3 of one point at 68.3. The industrial component showed the largest decline, trailed by railroads and utilities.

Trading narrowed to 1,063 individual issues, smallest for two weeks. Of these 433 lost ground and 332 advanced.

Forty-six stocks established new 1949 highs during the day while 3 touched bottom for the year.

General Motors was among the steadier issues as traders waited for dividend news after the close of the market. The price ended 1/4 higher at 69 1/8.

GM's announcement of a payment of $4.25 will raise 1949 disbursements to $8 from $4.50 paid in 1948.

The preferred issues of American and Foreign Power moved up fractions to 2 points in response to a short-lived burst of demand but later backed down from their new 1949 highs.

Standard Gas and Electric $4 preferred also enjoyed a moment of favor, rising 1⅛, but finished ⅛ ahead at 41⅝.

Coca-Cola common dropped 6½ point to 158½ and the "A" was chopped down 6¾ to 55.

Also lower were Packard, Bond Stores, American Power and Light, Tri-Continental Corp., U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, J. I. Case, Consolidated Natural Gas, Allied Chemical, Air Reduction, International Paper, Santa Fe, Southern Railway, Standard Oil (NJ), Texas Co.

U. S. Steel inched up ⅛ to 25 while Bethlehem remained at 30¼.

Higher were Goodyear, Caterpillar Tractor, Admiral Corp., Emerson Radio, American Telephone, Warner Bros., Northern American Co., Consolidated Vultee, Studebaker, Southern Co.

Corporate bonds moved narrowly. Long-term U. S. governments advanced an outside of 5/32 of a point in over-the-counter trading.

Wheat at Chicago finished ½ to 2⅜ cents a bushel lower, corn ⅛ down to ⅛ higher, and oats down 1/4 to 2. New York cotton futures gained 5 to 30 cents a bale.

Looking At Life

drunk with power?

Why can't nations think of themselves as families and co-operate as families usually do?

There were two wonderful examples of cooperation in the State of Pennsylvania recently.

In Hazleton, a city of 38,000, business was in a bad way after the war. The anthracite industry was almost at a standstill and more than 4,000 people were out of work. So a citizen's committee was formed and in three weeks $659,000 was raised and bank loan of $700,000 were guaranteed. With this sum a large factory is now being built by the Auto-Lite Company of Toledo, which will put another $2,300,000 worth of equipment into the enterprise. Thousands of people will be employed and prosperity once again is in the offing for Hazleton.

In 1760 Aaron Levy came to the United States from Amsterdam. He prospered and founded the little town of Aaronsburg in Pennsylvania. All his life he fought for religious and racial tolerance, and when he died he left a large plot of land to the town on which to build the Salem-Lutheran Church.

A few days ago a whole day was given over to the celebration of the 150th anniversary of the church. Present at the celebration were the Governor of the State and representatives of many creeds and races now living peacefully together in this country.

If it can be done in Hazleton and Aaronsburg, it can also be done in that greater community—the United Nations.

USDA Reports Thanksgiving Dinners Should Be Cheaper

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (U.P.)—Your Thanksgiving dinner should be cheaper this year than last.

Agriculture department officials said that the price of turkeys and many other holiday items have dropped since last year, chiefly because of increased supplies.

Turkeys, usually the most expensive item on the Thanksgiving dinner menu, are "considerably" creaper this year, these officials said. Cranberries are also less expensive.

In the vegetable line, cauliflower is said to be one of the "best buys." Sweet potatoes are about the same as a year ago, Irish potatoes are up slightly, but celery is somewhat lower.

For dessert, housewives will do better to stick to mince pie than pumpkin. Prices of raisins and apples—two chief ingredients of mincemeat—are lower this year and supplies plentiful. Pumpkins will probably be higher than last year.

Britain Plans Early Recognition Of Chinese Reds; Officials Claim

LONDON, Nov. 7 (AP)—Diplomatic officials reported tonight Britain is planning to give full recognition to the Chinese Communist regime "within weeks."

They said the Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin is expected to tell U.S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman so formally when he meets them in Paris Wednesday and Thursday.

Cash Income Of Farmers Shows Sharp Increase

AUSTIN, Nov. 7—(AP)—Cash income of Texas farmers increased 42 per cent in September over August, and 10 per cent over September a year ago.

The Bureau of Business research reported total cash income was $253,107,000 for the month.

The bureau also reported September cotton consumption at 12,898 bales, up five per cent from August but down 16 per cent in comparison with September a year ago.

Livestock shipments were up 17 per cent in September over August, but down 24 per cent compared with September, 1948.

Cotton was the greatest source of income, bringing farmers $163,980,000 in September. Income from cotton consumption totaled $22,855,000; and cattle, $16,591,000.

After adjustment for seasonal variation, the bureau's index of farm cash income rose to 677 per cent of the 1935-39 base period in September from 473 in August and 569 in September 1948.

August - to - September declines were registered in the lower Rio Grande valley, 95 percent; northern high plains, 41 percent; South Texas plains, 38 percent; and southern Texas praries, 25 percent.

The state supreme court found that the statute was justifiable.

Flomot Man Remains In Critical Condition After Severe Beating

MATADOR, Nov. 7. (Special)—The condition of Pearl Panner, 60-year-old Flomot bachelor who was severely beaten about the head by an unknown assailant as he slept early Sunday morning, remained unchanged late tonight at Stanley clinic here. Attendants reported that he had not yet recovered consciousness and his chances for recovery were "slight."

Sheriff's Deputy Jinks Wilson said they still had not discovered a motive for the beating and had no leads as to the assailant's identity. A search revealed that nothing had been taken from Panner's house.

Panner was moved to the clinic from his Flomot home after a neighbor discovered the man lying unconscious in his bed about 8 p. m. Hospital attendants said he had suffered a fractured skull.

North Texas State Homecoming To Be Held Friday-Saturday

DENTON, Nov. 7. (Special)—November 11-12 have been set as the dates for the North Texas State college's annual homecoming celebration when thousands of ex-students will return to the campus to take part in traditional festivities.

Activities on the two-day program will include the Gulf Coast conference gridiron battle between the University of Houston and NTSC Eagles, a barbecue for ex-students when graduates who finished in 1899, 1909, '19, '29, '39, and '49 will be given special recognition, a homecoming parade, and special dances for both students and exes.

Campus organizations will prepare floats for the parade through downtown Denton on Nov. 12. Kick-off time for the football game will be at 2:30 p.m. on the same day, with a capacity crowd expected to view the Eagles top game of the season. At half-time the 1949 football queen will be presented.

Stock Exchanges To Close For Elections

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP)—The country's stock exchanges, including the New York stock and curb exchanges, will be closed tomorrow, election day.

Because the federal government will issue its monthly crop report tomorrow, the New York and New Orleans cotton exchanges will be open. The New York wool and produce exchanges also will remain open, while other New York commodity exchanges will close.

Grain markets, including the Chicago board of trade, will be in operation. The Department of Agriculture will issue its livestock reports as usual.

Quirino Calls For Orderly Voting In Crucial Philippines Election

BY FRANK EMERY
INS Staff Correspondent

MANILA, Nov. 7—Philippines President Elpido Quirino appealed tonight for orderly balloting in tomorrow's crucial presidential elections amid elaborate precautions to prevent new violence in the bitter contest.

Eighteen thousand armed troops were alerted on the eve of the election after three Quirino supporters were killed by a burst of machine-gun fire and three others wounded yesterday.

Other Violence Flares

Isolated instances of other violence have flared repeatedly throughout the island republic as the campaign intensified. Opposing Quirino is Jose Laurel, a powerful contender despite his job as puppet governor during the Japanese occupation.

A third candidate, Jose Avelino, a bitter political foe of the administration, has attracted a large and passionate following.

Quirino, in his last major address on the eve of the balloting, told the republic the results will affect "generations after us." He called on the Filipino's to go to the polls without "being bulldozed into making a decision that would betray the common welfare."

18,000 Troops Alerted

Brig. Gen. Alberto Ramos, commander of the Philippine constabulary, moved into action at the same time. He said he will have 18,000 troops on duty or alert until the final returns have been tabulated.

He said the constabulary men have been pinpointed at strategic spots throughout the islands to prevent violence, riots and "ballot boxes from being stolen."

One constabulary man has been stationed at each polling place to supervise tabulation of the votes while election supervisors will do the actual counting.

Judge Vincente de Vera, chairman of the election commission, said the armed guards were necessary because the election code has loopholes and fails to give the commission "authority to insure honest elections."

The order to put police right into the polling places came after President Quirino rejected the commission's recommendation to suspend voting tomorrow in three provinces because of pre-election outbreaks of violence.

About 80 percent of more than 5,000,000 registered voters are expected to go to the polls.

The commission expects that the tabulation of the ballots will take at least a week.

U. S. Resumes Marshall Plan Aid To Indonesian Government

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (INS)—The United States tonight resumed Marshall plan aid to Indonesia as a result of settlement of the war between the Netherlands and the tiny Dutch colony.

The economic cooperation administration announced the action and said that about $40 million is available to Indonesia for spending until next Jan. 1.

ECA said that at the start of the new year, when Indonesia becomes an independent republic she will no longer be eligible for further American aid under the Marshall plan.

U. S. foreign aid to Indonesia was shut off last December at the height of the war between the Dutch and the colonial government.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP)—AFL white collar workers struck today against 75 commercial photo engraving shops in New York City.

The strike was called by local No. 1 of the AFL Photo Engravers Associate union which represents some 1,200 white collar employes. The union does not represent the shop's production workers.

The walkout was called last night after negotiations between the union and the New York photo engravers board of trade bogged down over the workers' demands for a union shop, seniority rights and improvements in minimum wages.

The board represents 50 of the 80 shops involved. The others invariably follow policies set by the board.

Present union wages range from $27 to $72 weekly. The union seeks a $37 to $100 minimum range.

Court Test Of New Mexico Share-The-Ride Law Filed

SANTA FE, Nov. 7 (INS)—The first court test of New Mexico's new share-the-ride law was filed today by the executive board of the share-the-ride committee.

The committee is made up of representatives of organizations throughout the state who have united to combat the law.

The suit seeks to have enforcement of the law restrained, and eventually to have it declared unconstitutional and void.

The suit also attacks New Mexico's motor transport law as it could affect share-the-ride operators.

Defendants named in the suit include the governor, members of the corporation commission and the State of New Mexico.

Organized resistance to the new law developed when share-the-riders learned they would have to pay $10 yearly license fees and take out insurance with annual premiums running to more than $300.

Bootlegger Identified As Boss Of Liquor Running Operation

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 7—(U.P.)—A skinny ex-convict today identified bootlegger Harold Byford as the man who called himself "the boss" of a liquor-running operation at Shreveport, La.

The government called Johnny Herring, 41, in its attempt to tie Byford to a $25,000 forged cashier's check passed at a Shreveport liquor store.

Herring said Byford was a moving figure in a "paper-hanging" deal, (underworld slang for forgery.)

He told the federal court jury he helped drive the truck that carried whisky purchased with the $25,000 check.

He said a man he identified as Byford came by the Tanglewood courts at Shreveport, and called himself "the boss." He gave Herring $20 expense money.

Also on the stand today was Paul Gardner, who said he piloted Byford's DC-3 airplane. He testified he took the plane to Shreveport about the time the check was passed.

Indonesia is taking steps to stop hoarding and price-rigging, Batavia reports.
