THREATS FOLLOW GANG MURDERS

MELLETT MURDERER ESCAPES FROM OHIO PRISON

DARING DASH MADE DURING DRIVING SNOW

AT McDERMOTT, WHO KILLED CANTON EDITOR FLEES

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 9.—Five prisoners, including Pat McDermott, slayer of Don R. Mellett, Canton editor, sawed their way to freedom from the Ohio penitentiary today.

Warden Preston E. Thomas said the men sawed their way from their cells, went to the roof of the cell block, climbed over his house and down into the street by a rope ladder. The escape was discovered about 7 a. m. by a guard who saw the rope hanging over the wall.

Besides McDermott those who escaped are: James A. Walton, 28, serving sentence from Cuyahoga county for robbery.

Mike Jackow, 19, Cuyahoga county, serving life sentence for murder.

William W. Young, 36, Washington county, serving a life term for murder.

Joe Russo, 23, a Clevelander, serving sentence for robbery.

Guards In Ignorance

None of the guards who were on duty in the cell house at the time of the escape were aware of the fact that the men had gone over "the wall."

McDermott, "trigger man" in the Mellett murder, was sentenced to die on Christmas eve in 1926 after a trial which lasted several weeks.

The delivery was made from the third tier of the new cell block. Mattress material was used to make the ladder the prisoners used in descending to the ground.

Warden Thomas said that one bar one each of the three cells was sawed in two, permitting the prisoners to get through. He said he believed the bars had been sawed with a hack saw that was probably taken from a plumber's tool kit.

Seven other men held in the three cells, each of which housed four

They estimated the storm would delay the mat least a day.

ROME PLACES APPROVAL ON ROTARY IDEA

CHURCH WITHDRAWS OBJECTIONS AGAINST SERVICE GROUPS

(By The Associated Press)

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 19—It was learned in Vatican circles today that opposition to the principles of "Rotary" has been withdrawn by the church authorities.

I. D. Sutton of Tampico, Mexico, president of Rotary International, has had numerous consultations with ecclesiastics. Mr. Sutton arrived in Rome on Feb. 15.

Previously the consistoral congregation handed down an opinion that Catholic clergymen would not be allowed to belong to Rotary clubs. Not long before that osservatore Romana decried the "negative" attitude of Rotary as regards religion.

It is understood that Mr. Sutton will communicate the decision to withdraw opposition together with a complete statement of Rotary ideals and activities which will be reprinted in full in Civilto Cattolica, the Jesuit organ which launched the first atack against Rotary in Italy. Civilta will state that in view of this communication it no longer considers Rotary Anti-Catholic.

KEY WEST, Fla., Feb. 19 (AP)—Two fearless members of a submarine crew, who yesterday braved the crushing force of the sea at a depth of 120 feet clad only in bathing suits and equipped with oxygen-inflated lungs, today were none the worse for their experience.

Descending to that depth yesterday in the submarine S-4, Lieut. C. B. Momsen and Chief Torpedoman Edward Kalinowski left the submersible and came to the surface without outside aid. A physician pronounced them unharmed by the terrific pressure.

ROAD SCHEME GETS CHANGE

AMENDMENTS CAUSE OF BIG ALTERATION IN ORIGINAL PLANS

AUSTIN, Feb. 19 — So patched up with amendments was the resolution calling for a constitutional amendment to permit the legislature to issue $175,000,000 bonds for highway construction, that when the Senate adjourned yesterday friends of the plan were putting their heads together to devise means of rescuing it.

Senator J. W. Stevnson of Victoria said he might offer an entire substitute for the resolution with hopes of getting it back to near its original form when the Senate started whacking away at it.

While the senate was deliberating on the road bond issue proposal the house heard a message from Governor Moody advocating penitentiary concentration legislation.

Under an amendment put across by Senator Thomas B. Love of Dallas, the highway bond resolution would permit expenditure of proceeds from the state securities on lateral roads as well as designated arteries on the highway system. With but one exception, those who are said to be opposed to the bond issue voted for the Love amendment.

Senator Tom Pollard of Tyler, secured adoption of an amendment which would fix the annual maximum of bonds to be authorized for highway construction at $20,000,000, and would provide that no bonds be sold for less than par and that the securities shall not bear more than four percent interest.

MR. TELEXOX IS AID TO PILOTS

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 19 (AP)—Mr. Telexox, the mechanical man, has come to the aid of aviators by making dangerous landings on unlighted flying fields unnecessary.

In obedience to the note of a siren on an approaching plane the mechanical man turned on the flood lights at the Newark airport last night without the aid of human hands.

Mr. Televox, whose name, freely translated, from the Greek and Latin means" distant voice," demonstrated his ability as an airfield attendant when in repeated tests he flooded the new airport with 24,000,000 candle power in response to the distant voice of a plane high in the air.

Pete Branson, airmail pilot, approached the field from various directions and at different altitudes in the tests, turning on a wind driven siren as he neared.

STREAM GIVES UP REPORTER'S BODY

MYSTERY SURROUNDING LAREDO DEATH IS STILL INTACT

(By Associated Press)

LAREDO, Tex., Feb. 19—A seemingly unanswerable engima, characteristic of many Mexican border disappearances and killings, today faced officers seeking an explanation of the death of Harry Williams, 24, Laredo newspaperman, who disappeared on Jan. 19 and me death in an unexplainable manner.

Williams' body, without a single external knife, bullet or bludgeon mark, but bearing what physicians believed were unmistakable evidences of violence, was found in the Rio Grande, near here yesterday by Marcus Wormer, well-to-do American onion grower. Examining doctors said absence of water in the lungs was conclusive that Williams was dead when his body was thrown into the river.

Body Buried in Laredo

In the thin hope that future developments may furnish tenable leads, the authorities ordered the body buried in the city cemetery, despite the request of Williams' Muncie, Ind., relatives that it be sent there. They expect to disinter it when, and if, they find evidence pointing to the slayer.

Meanwhile, American Consul Stephen Aguirre at Laredo expects to send officers and secret service men into Mexico to search for Williams' assailant. He telegraphed Washington for the necessary permission.

Coatless and hatless, and with but 30 cents in his pocket, Williams walked out of a hotel here Jan. 19, on his failure to return, friends, alarmed by knowledge of previous and unexplainable deaths "Across the River", set about a private search. This futile, they called in officers and eventually the United States government ordered its patrol and immigration officers along the Rio Grande to join the investigation.

One theory, previously discarded

HIS BODY FOUND

HARRY B. WILLIAMS

but somewhat revived in some quarters with the discovery of the body, was that Williams had been kidnaped by ransom seeking bandits on the erroneous assumption that he was a son of A. L. Kitserman, Muncie millionaire in Laredo directing his oil properties. The newspaperman had been killed by a motorist who, fearing prosecution, threw the body into the Rio Grande.

Williams came here about six weeks before his disappearance and joined the staff of the Laredo Times. Previously he had worked on the Muncie Press for about two and a half years. His parents live in Muncie.

SPECTACULAR DEBATE BETWEEN REED AND BORAH IS FFATURE IN CONGRESS

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 — Those who hoped that the Seventieth Congress would not end without a debate between those two mighty orators, Reed of Missouri, and Borah of Idaho, have had their wish. The two gave the contraversial subject of prohibition an airing yesterday before a gallery that took all the seats and standing room.

The anti-climax came after the speeches had ended. Senator Reed threatened Saturday to make public a list of senators and representatives who "vote dry and drink wet" but yesterday he assured his hearers he was joking. All the members of the house did not know of this assurance and someone last night spread the news at the capitol that the names of certain representatives were on the list that the Missouri senator intended to give out. There were many telephone calls and a number of hurried visits to Reed's office before those concerned learned that no list was to be issued.

Reed is a democrat and a wet. Borah is a republican and a dry. Discussion on the Jones bill to increase penalties for liquor law violations laid the setting for the clash.

Argues State Control

Reed argued that control of liquor should fall to the states. Borah contended that prohibition was a part of the constitution and should be observed. Around these central themes the speakers brought wit, sarcasm and logic into play.

The Missourian began by describing the prohibition laws as a "hideous crime." He declared that the prohibition law was an unjust law and that there had followed in its train corruption and debasement.

Borah in his reply to Reed said that there had been corruption and violations of the law.

"I know that," he declared. "I call the Senator's attention to the fact, however, that there never has been a law placed upon the statute books of any civilized nation on earth with reference to liquor that the liquor forces did not undertake to break it down, to violate it, to undermine it, to corrupt the officials. It is the history of liquor legislation from the beginning until this hour."

Borah termed those who have advocated that it is every man's right to observe those laws which he cares to observe as traitors and he said that under the system of state control that the dry states had to maintain an army of officers to protect themselves from liquor from wet states.

CHURCHES ABLE TO MAKE PEACE, SAID

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 19 (AP)—Acting Secretary of Interior Canales told Mexican Roman Catholics in a statement published in Mexico City newspapers today that the church authorities had it within their power to restore peace in Mexico.

It was merely necessary, he said, to comply with the constitutional regulations on religious subjects.

The statement is an answer to that published yesterday from Msgr. Miguel De La Mora, bishop of San Luis Potosi, and spokesman for the Mexican episcopate, which denied participation and responsibility in recent Mexican bomb outrages. This responsibility had been alleged by President Portes Gil.

'FOUR PARTY' RAIL CONFAB IS BROKEN

CLEVELAND, Feb. 19 (AP)—The Cleveland Plain Dealer says today that the Van Sweringens and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad have withdrawn from the "Four Party" conferences of the eastern rail systems looking toward a division of the lines into a four-trunk system, and that a brief will be filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission this week advancing new plans for railroad consodidation.

Failure to arrive at an agreement with the New York Central and the Pennsylvania railroads after three years of negotiations have compelled the Van Sweringens and the Baltimore and Ohio to advance from other quarters, says the newspaper. In the negotiations which they inaugurated the Van Sweringens advocated establishment of a "Four Party" agreement giving the Pennsylvania and the Baltimore and Ohio a gateway to the Atlantic Seaboard through Pittsburgh, leaving Buffalo as the gap through which the New York Central and the Van Sweringen lines were to reach the East.

"If you want to keep slender (and who doesn't in these days) avoid sweets and smoke Lucky Strikes. There seems to be something about them; possibly the flavor, that satisfies the craving for the rich things that add weight.

"'Voila', reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet—the trim figure is always fashionable. Advertisements that I saw when I recently arrived in America, said:—'The best way for sugar to be eaten is as a flavorer of foods'. They are quite correct in cautioning a modified use of sugar. Sweets to excess are bad. I advocate a few puffs of the Lucky Strike toasted flavor when sweets tempt.

Reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet.

Note: Authorities attribute the enormous increase in Cigarette smoking to the improvement in the process of Cigarette manufacture by the application of heat. It is true that during 1928, Lucky Strike Cigarettes showed a greater increase than all other Cigarettes combined. This surely confirms the public's confidence in the superiority of Lucky Strike.

Duplicate Of Famous J-A Chuck Wagon Is On Display At Museum In Canyon

CANYON, Feb. 19—A miniature J. A. outfit, designed and made by men who have known chuck wagons for a long period of years, and so well made that it is pronounced a work of art by both artists and ranch men, is the work of Clinton Henry and Jimmie Moore, who have placed the model in the museum of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society at this place.

For five months these two men who have worked for years on the famous J A Ranch gave all spare time to the construction of a complete chuck wagon outfit which would be a perfect reproduction of the one used on the ranch.

Every piece, from the wagon to the butcher knives, coffee cups, and Dutch ovens, and from the sacks of feed to the cow pony which stands idly by, is made to scale, and one of the requests of the makers of the outfit was that no one be allowed to measure or copy the model into which they had ut so much careful work and study.

The small outfit is placed in a glass case, the bottom of which is covered with sand exactly like that of the great canyon in which the J A outfit frequently camps. To add to the sense of reality, the makers provided tiny boot and horse track models to give the sand the tramped appearance it should have.

In the midst of this stands the chuck wagon; on one side hangs the quarter of beef, the water barrel, and stake ropes and pins. On the other side of the wagon there are mounted the coffee grinder, a small mirror, and a tool box.

Terracing Adopted In Dickens County

SPUR, Feb. 19.—E. W. Holmgreen, poultry specialist, and E. R. Eudaly, feed specialist, from A. & M. College of Texas will be in Dickens county for four days of instruction to the farmers of this section. These men are doubtless the most efficient in their lines of any individuals in the state, and working with E. L. Tanner, county agent of Dickens county they will be able to create new interest in the feeding of livestock, and the selection of better birds for farm flocks.

You don't have to cream Snowdrift

It's a lot easier to make a cake on the spur of the moment than it used to be before you had Snowdrift.

For Snowdrift is all creamed ready to blend, and it stays that way. You don't have to set it out of the ice box to soften—it takes up the sugar just the way it is. Just put Snowdrift and sugar in the bowl together—twirl your spoon around a few times, and you're ready to stir in the other ingredients.

Creamy Snowdrift is unusually easy to measure too. And it's now packed in an attractive new blue and white can that is as easy to spoon out of as your own mixing bowl.

Cake—and indeed whatever you bake is more delicious with Snowdrift.

It's nice for frying too, because it's so slow to smoke or scorch, and because food fried in Snowdrift is always wholesome.

Your grocer has Snowdrift now in two new large sizes, three pound and six pound.

YOUNG TEAM WILL CARRY FORT WORTH BID THIS YEAR

BOOTED BALL DEAD AT SPOT OF RECOVERY

FOUR RULE CHANGES MADE AT MEETING OF COMMITTEE

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Fumbling has been reduced from a felony to a mere misdemeanor in the statute books of football.

The National football rules committee announced today adoption of a new provision which makes a fumbled ball recovered by the defensive side dead at the point of recovery.

Possession of the ball under such circumstances still will be lost by the fumbling team, but gone will be the heart-ache of seeing an opportunist ball-hawk on the other side tear through, scoop the oval and scamper through a clear field to a touchdown.

In announcing the change the committee stated it took into consideration "the fact that in the great majority of cases the actual fumble of the ball is the error of a single player and not the fault of the team as a whole."

This rule will not apply in cases of forward passes nor to backward passes intercepted before striking the ground, nor will it apply to blocked kicks which will be played as heretofore, it was emphasized.

Of the four rules changes, all important, announced as the result of a secret session of the gridiron legislators in Absecon, N. J. Friday, Saturday and Sunday, a second similarly barred the door against some consequences of a fumbled kick. Rules of 1928 provided that when a player fumbles in the act of receiving a punt the ball is dead at the point of recovery by the opposing team. The revised code lists all kinds of booted balls in the same category-kick-offs, placements and drop kicks as well as punts.

By a third rule the position from which the try for point after touchdown is to be made was moved from the three to the two-yard-line in the hope that the try for the extra point may more often constitute a triple threat play.

Restrict Screen Pass

Deciding that restrictions on use of the "screened" forward pass adopted in 1928 were not sufficient, the committee's fourth decision amplifies the rule to provide that no player of a side attempting a forward pass "who has crossed the line of scrimmage shall either before or after the pass has been made interfere with an opponent until the ball has been touched except in an actual attempt to catch the ball. Except on passes completed behind the line of scrimmage, such players as are in eligible shall be penalized for interference, if they in any way obstruct the right of way or defensive players."

"In case of doubt as to such interference," the rule adds parenthetically, "the penalty shall be inflicted."

The only other legislation was a provision, under which secondary schools may be permitted "a more liberal practice in the matter of substitutions than that allowed under the standard rules," by mutual agreement of the teams.

On the many other possible rule changes suggested in various quarters, the gridiron legislators took no action.

NEW T. C. U. MENTOR WAS NEVER PLAYER

F. A. SCHMIDT

COACH SCHMIDT

SCHMIDT'S SHOWING IS MORE OUTSTANDING DUE TO FACT

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. Feb. 19.(AP)—Coach Francis A. Schmidt, who has just announced his resignation as director of athletics at the University of Arkansas to become head mentor at Texas Christian university at Fort Worth, Texas, leaves the Razorback institution with an unusual record. And the record is all the more unusual because Schmidt, whose Razorback quintets of the last three years have won the Southwest conference championship, never played college basketball.

In that respect, Schmidt is in the same boat with C. M. (Nibs) Price, California's footbal coach, who never participated in the gridiron sport, and Henry F. (Indian) Schulte, Nebraska's track mentor, who never performed on the cinder path.

Schmidt was a stellar halfback on Cornhusker elevens and exhibited considerable skill on the baseball field during his undergraduate days at the University of Nebraska. But his participation in basketball has been limited to a brief period of playing on an independent team at Arkansas City, Kan., some years ago.

Schmidt became head coach at the University of Arkansas seven years ago, having come here from Henry Kendall college, now Tulsa university. Basketball at that time was played on a dirt court at Arkansas. Schmidt managed to have a gymnasium built and a varsity squad of basketeers competed in conference games for the first time in 1924. The next year, Arkansas was third in the title race and in 1926, 1927 and 1928, won the championship with big margins. The team did not lose a game last year in the conference and this year is well on its way to a fourth crown.

When Schmidt took up his coaching duties at Kendall, he became a close student of basketball. Although he is not a player, he has attended coaching schools in various sections of the country and knows the ins and outs of the cage sport as it is played in the east, mid-west and the south.

Schmidt is partial to big men. He believes that basketball as played today demands both height and speed, as evidenced by his crew of Razorback cagemen practically all of whom are more than six feet tall.

RIVALRY KEEN FOR HOUSTON GOLF TOURNEY

250 TEE OFF TODAY IN FIRST ROUND OF LINKS GO

(By Associated Press)

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 19—Since only 16 berths were available in the championship bracket, and more than a score of outstanding players were entered, rivalry was keen today as 250 golfers got away for the qualifying rounds of the fifteenth annual Houston Country Club invitation golf tournament.

Four former Texas amateur champions, the present amateur title-holder, four former winners in the invitation tourney, and former amateur champions from Louisiana and Oklahoma were among the starters.

In addition there were Don Armstrong, former Pan-American champion; Walter Crowe, Illinois state champion, and John Dawson, most active of the amateurs in the winter circuit, all from Chicago, Joe Greenwood of Houston, Texas junior champion, Earle Gammage, city champion and a number of crack college players.

The reigning amateur in the state Jake Speer, faced four men who had held his title before him, Ossie Carlton and George Rotan of Houston, Lewis Levinson of San Antonio, and Tommy Cochran of Wichita Falls, Edwin McClure, former Louisiana champion and Keefe Carter, Oklahoma titleholder, completed the list of luminaries.

ST. Rickey said it is probable another would be added this spring.

Back came a letter from Riegels the other day thanking her for her kind words. The two are above.

GIANTS WILL HAVE CHANCE, PILOT AVERS

McGRAW SEES CLOSE RACE; SAYS CUBS ARE POWERFUL

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 19 (AP)—John McGraw, about to start his twenty-eighth year as manager of the New York Giants, has no predictions to make about winning his eleventh pennant but he looks for a "tight race with the Giants in there."

The Giants were "in there" last season, faltering only in the last strides, and not a few critics predict they will lead the chase this season, even though the Chicago Cubs are expected to start as favorites for the first time since the days of the peerless leader, Frank Chance.

"The Cubs look good," McGraw admits, calculating on the added all-around strength furnished by Rogers Hornsby. "But the Pirates and Cardinals will have to be figured on and so will our club. I don't know much about Boston but Cincinnati will be strong and both Brooklyn and Philadelphia seem improved."

Pilot Has Worries

Second base and the outfield are about the only problems McGraw has to solve when he takes charge of his men at San Antonio, probably the early part of next week. But he does not consider either as a source of worry. At second base it is a question of choosing between the hard-hitting Andy Reese or the smooth-fielding Andy Cohen. The outfield offers more juggling possibilities and McGraw may be obliged to employ a reversible out defense, as he did last year.

McGraw makes no secret that he is counting strongly upon Carl Hubbell, the young Oklahoma south paw who pitched sensationally last season after coming up from the Texas League. He expects Hubbell to win around 18 or 20 games and share the main pitching burden with Larry Benton, the redheaded right-hander.

EAGLES DOWN LUBBOCK FIVE IN FIRST TILT

WESTERNERS ARRIVE IN CANYON JUST AT GAME TIME

(Special to The Journal)

CANYON, Feb. 19—Arriving in Canyon just twenty minutes before the opening whistle, the Lubbock high school Westerners took the floor under a decided handicap here last night and were nosed out by the Eagles of Canyon high, 23 to 22, in a fast basketball contest. Coach Morgan's cagers had a cold drive across country in open cars and were forced to start the game before eating.

A free throw in the closing minute of play decided the hard fought tilt for the Eagles. Both teams had been alternating with the lead throughout the game, neither side holding more than a six point advantage at any time. Canyon led 11 to 5 at the half, but Westerners came back with their usual scoring spree to knot the count before many minutes had passed.

Dowell and Holmes led the scoring assault for the South Plains basketeers while Wiggins, Canyon's rangy center, was the mainspring of the Eagles' attack.

The teams play here again tonight. Last night's win gave the Eagles two wins out of three games with the Lubbock quintet this season.

Loughran, Walker To Meet March 13

The average annual rainfall in Egypt amounts to only two or three inches.

FORMER NOTRE DAME HALFBACK DEFEATS VANCOUVER MAN

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—A heavily muscled football star has come out of the Middle West to beat Percy Williams, Vancouver sprinter, at his own game.

Jack Elder, halfback on the last Notre Dame football team, furnished the track season with a sensation last night when he conquered Williams in a 60-yard dash at the annual New York A. C. games in Madison Square Garden.

It was the first defeat of Williams' career. The double Olympic sprint champion, up to last night, had met the greatest sprinters in the world at varying distances and always with the same success. The time, six and two-fifths seconds, failed by one-fifth of a second to equal the world's record.

The games developed two new world's records and an amazing pole vault of 14 feet by Fred Sturdy of Yale.

UNCERTAINTY HOVERS OVER CAT OUTLOOK

ATZ WILL BE FORCED TO WORK MIRACLE IF TEAM WINS

By FLEML R. HALL
Star-Telegram Sports Editor
Written for the Associated Press

FORT WORTH, Feb. 19 — Fort Worth will be represented in the Texas league's 1929 pennant race a young team. It does not necessarily follow that the team will be weak, but at the present that is the prospect.

Other players may be obtained and by the middle of April, when the season opens, the Cats may loom a formidable contender for championship. But with the present material, the veteran manager Jake Atz, will have to turn a miracle or two if he gets any place particular.

It is fairly certain the Cats will get help. The business office has connections with five AA and two major league teams, and when the cutting down time comes late in March and early in April, some of the surplus material from those organizations may find its way here.

Team is Gamble

"Juts now the greater part of the team is a gamble. The catching is uncertain; the pitching will be all right only if some youngsters continue to deliver as they did late last season when brought in from class D leagues. The infield is a big question mark, and Eddie Moore is the only sure thing in the outfield.

There are six men on the roster as catchers. They are: George Bischoff, Joe Cobb, Del Baker, Joe Alloway, George Rensa and Byron Bowman. Bischoff and Cobb are holdovers of last season, and both are slated for sale or trade. Baker recently was bought from Oakland of the Pacific Coast league and probably will be the first-string receiver. Rensa, from Toronto, and Alloway from the Arizona State league, are expected to battle it out for the second-string job. Bowman is a rookie from the semi-pro ranks of Sikeston, Mo.

Dozen Moundsmen Ready

The pitchers number an even dozen. Jimmy Walkup and Paul Wachtel are the veteran holdovers. Don Songer is a seasoned southpaw who has had varying success. Charlie Sullivan has visited Detroit and Seattle since he left Fort Worth in 1927. Buzz Phillips was with Beaumont last year. Vincent Dovaney, Bill Goff, Noel Haynes, Bob Weaver and Leo Fitterer are all young hurlers who were here the latter part of last year. Ruf Meadows trained with the Cats in '27 and '28, but couldn't hold on. Charles Kearney is a semi-pro from Columbus, Texas.

Jim Riley's only competition so far is Jim Dougherty, young cousin of Manager Atz, who has been playing independent baseball around Washington.

Harrington at Second

Andy Harrington, who played second last year with a lame arm, is reported to be fully recovered, as

BATTLE OVER ARBITRER ON

RUMBLE OF WAR ABOUT REFEREES STIRS UP SOCKLAND

BY EDWARD J. NEIL

MIAMI Beach Fla., Feb. 19 (AP)—The ballyhoo or not the ballyhoo seemed to be the question today as the rumblings of a war over referees broke the calm of Sockland by the Sea, where fighters and their cohorts rub elbows with society.

Along the boulevards, opinion was general that Johnny Brassil, forty-year-old veteran of New England rings, would referee the fracas on February 27 between Jack Sharkey, the silent sailor, and Young Stribling, clean cut Georgian. Every one seems certain of this despite "Pa" Stribling's outraged declaration that he didn't raise his boy to fight Boston heavyweights with a Boston referee in the ring.

All the shooting, whether real or feigned, hinges on the interpretations of the contracts the two fighters hold directly with the Madison Square Garden Corporation and indirectly with Jack Dempsey, former champion who is learning about fight promotion from two contenders for his old crown. Johnny Buckley, plump little manager of the Bostonian, says the issue is settled by the naming of Brassil and Jack Sheehan, both Boston referees to the disputed post by the Massachusetts State Athletic Commission. Pa Stribling says the fight has just begun.

EASTLAND YOUTH KILLED

RANGER, Tex., Feb. 19 (AP)—J. Porter Wyly, 24, Eastland, was killed last night when his automobile he was driving collided with another machine on the Bankhead Highway. Joe Niver of Eastland was riding with Wyly and escaped uninjured.

may play either second or third.

Karl (Nick) Urban, a veteran from Rochester, is counted on to play short, but Fay Pierce, who was with Fort Smith last year, will be given a trial.

Clarence Freitag, from the Three-I league, and John Smith, a star of the New Orleans' Winter league, are the third base prospects.

Bill Ramage, a youngster who served as utility infielder in '28, will be back.

In the outfield Eddie Moore, the dashing little ball hawk who thrilled the Texas league with his feats the last three seasons, is a cinch for the middle position. The others are wide open. Larmon Cox, a Southwestern university product who came here from the Arizona State league last August, will try to retain his right field berth. Jim Bryant and Herbert Kregal are two hopefuls who played with Fort Smith last summer. Clyde Howard is a rookie from the amateur ranks.

second off the indoor mark for the 60-yard high hurdles, clearing the barriers in 7 2-5 seconds in one of the trial heats.

A Newark prep school relay team shaded the interscholastic record for the mile in 3:30 2-5, a second faster than the former mark.

Sturdy came within an inch of Sabin Carr's indoor world's record of 14 feet, one inch.

Paavo Numi turned in the fastest two miles of the season to beat a mediocre handicap field. The Finn's time was 9:15 2-5, far behind his world's record of 8:58 1-5.

PAYNE SENDS MATADORS THROUGH FAST PRACTICE TILT MONDAY EVENING

Coach Victor Payne sent his Matadwor cagers through a strenuous practice session last night in rebuilding the offense that will be used against the Canyon Buffaloes Wednesday and Thursday for the final basketball series of the current season. Tonight the crimson sharpshooters will take a short workout as a final tuning up for the return series with the Herd.

Concentrating on a fast passing attack by which he hopes to outscore the Teachers, Coach Payne spent the majority of last night's session iron out the defects in the team's offense. The recent showing of Tadlock at center during the absence of Fisher from the lineup may shift the latter to a guard position to team with Walker or Vinzant. Fisher's side court shots marks him as a dangerous scoring threat even in a guard position.

Reports from Canyon indicate the Burtonmen are pointing all efforts to the series this week with Tech. Although counted out of the T. I. A. A. race, the Buffs are still clinging to their high percentage of wins for the season.

Looks Kinda Mean

Bert Niehoff, former manager of the Atlanta Southern Association club, was signed as coach of the New York Giants to be held as bait for a deal with the Boston Braves, according to a story passed around by the southern magnates and believed, apparently, by some of them.

It seems, according to the story, that Judge Emil Fuchs, owner of the Braves, was going after Niehoff to manage his club but the Giants were one move ahead of him. The Judge then signed Johnny Evers as an assistant manager and announced that he, himself, personally would manage his own team.

McGraw, according to the tale, believes that he can make a deal with the Braves for Niehoff and if he is not successful he will not be holding the bag, as Niehoff ought to be a mighty valuable assistant.

Giants Nice That Way

Or if you believe the stories about the real nature of the various acts of friendship that have been displayed between the Boston and New York owners you might figure that the Giants were helping the Braves to get a manager under cover to step into Boston if the Judge finds out that his training on the judicial bench did not qualify him for a gavel swinging job on a seat in the dugout.

Cards Will Not Learn

The St. Louis Cardinals learned that some difficulties could be encountered in doing business with a big business man when they allowed Rogers Hornsby to become a business man in their own firm.

Another slight difficulty of similar nature was encountered when the Cardinals signed Fred Haney, a former big league infielder, from the minors.

Haney notified the Cards that he was elated at getting back into the majors and that he was flattered to get back with such a good ball club—but he said he couldn't join the Cardinals unless he got a clause in the contract giving him the right to purchase his release or assuring him of a release to a Pacific Coast League club if he didn't make good in St. Louis.

His reason was that he had an insurance business with 29 branches in California and that if he couldn't be a major leaguer he would have to be a minor leaguer near his own business.

Sign This Fellow, Dempsey

Dick Cox, who used to occupy some of the Brooklyn outfield, threatened the Shreveport club that he was going to retire and take up the prize fight business. Rather, he said he was going to resume the prize fight business.

He pointed out that he was a good middleweight fighter and that he had decided to go into baseball on the flip of a coin. Cox was in the Texas League when Art Shires, the White Sox first baseman, was there, and Shires is rated as the best man in the league with his fists.

Cox, however, insists that Shires never even offered him an argument and he denies the story heard several years ago that Frank Snyder, then catching for the Giants, cleaned him.

BUSINESS GIRLS NOSE OUT MYRICK

In the only game played last night in the City league basketball race, the Business college girls nosed out the Myrick building aggregation, 13 to 11, in a hard fought contest. It was the closest call the leaders have had this season.

Ellison and Matthews, the leading scorers in the woman's division of the league, were held to a minimum number of baskets by the aggressive defense of the Myrick cakers. Although the college girls held the lead throughout the game, it was none too comfortable. Franklin, Hopping and Logan played strong defensive games for the losers.

In scoring, Ellison was high with nine points while Murray of the Myrick sextet was close behind with seven.

Portland Marksman Wins In Trapshoot

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 19 (AP)—Winters trapshooting classic, the 25th annual interstate tournament, closed here, after awarding its Richester prize to Frank Troeh, veteran Portland, Ore., marksman.

Troeh won the international flyer event and $1175 with a score of 96 out of a possible 100 from a field of 47 crack shots over a period of three days.

The Texas team took highest honors in the team target cup race while a Texan, H. E. Woodward, of Houston, won the individual competition staged along with that event.

Youths Disappear Police On Lookout

NEWTON, Kas., Feb. 19 (AP)—Authorities in this section are seeking Wilmot Millham, 15, and Gerald Smith, 18, who disappeared from their homes here February 16. An unsigned letter received by Millham's parents Monday contained veiled threats, leading them to fear foul play. The youths were traced as far as Wichita. They were traveling in an old motor car.

Eleven Homeless Parisians Perish

PARIS, Feb. 19 (AP)—Eleven homeless Parisians who sought refuge from the bitter cold in a house in the Batignolles quarter were found dead today from asphyxiation resulting from a broken gas pipe. A twelfth was found unconscious but was reanimated after considerable effort. Two mothers in the group were poisoned to a lesser degree.

DADS HONORED AT FLOYDADA

FARM STUDENTS HOLD BANQUET FOR FATHERS

FLOYDADA, Feb. 19.—Fifty seven future farmers of Texas, members of the vocational agricultural class of the Floydada high school, had their fathers as their guests at a banquet held at the First Baptist church here Thursday evening and received the compliments and commendation of Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of Texas Technological college; Kenneth Bain, district judge of the newly created 110th judicial district; members of the Floydada school board and W. E. Patty, superintendent of the Floydada high school.

The Floydada class, which is the largest in the state of Texas, has a list of projects that include every phase of agricultural, poultry and livestock production. As a part of the program at the "father and son banquet" each member of the class was introduced and in turn gave the number of years of agricultural work he had had, introduced his father and expressed appreciation of the work of O. T. Williams, instructor.

Martin True, secretary of the local organization and a member of the team that went to A. and M. last year, told of his project of 15 acres of cotton and ten acres of milo maize. The maize for True's project was furnished by the Floydada Chamber of Commerce and was selected from pure bred pedigreed seed furnished by a well known state agricultural exhibitor. A substantial profit was realized by this future farmer from his project of maize even though hail damage amounted to almost 50 per cent.

In the introduction of the members Marvin Williamson, who is vice president of the club, was mentioned as the state champion saw filer of Texas. This honor was won by Williamson at College Station last year.

Builds Up Class

Beginning his work as instructor in agriculture at the local school in 1926-27, Mr. Williams has built a class from a start of less than twenty members to the largest class in the state, and in accomplishing this feat has performed a service that is resulting in a more diversified farming program and in increased interest in dairying and poultry production in Floyd County.

"It is very noticeable that while each future farmer took pride in introducing his dad that the father, when he arsoe to acknowledge the introduction, could not prevent a feeling of pride that expressed itself upon his face," Dr. Horn said in commenting on the work, "and I believe farming was lifted to a higher plane by this occasion."

Here Is That

New Rare Coffee Flavor People are Changing to

It Comes From The West Coast of Central America

FROM the western mountain slopes of Central America comes a coffee flavor that is captivating the taste of the world. We don't want to tell you how good it is. We want you to try it yourself and see.

In the little spots shown on the map are grown coffees that leading experts the world over concede have the tangiest flavor, the fullest, mellow body of probably any coffee known today.

This coffee was first served in the famous Bohemian restaurants of San Francisco, where it was brought by Folger.

Travelers who discovered it there wrote for shipments. Because this coffee was unobtainable anywhere else. But, today, Folger has brought it to your door packed in vacuum tins.

The Truth About Coffee

There is no mystery about coffee. Nature herself puts the flavor in the coffee berry. Expert blending and roasting merely bring out the flavor that's already there.

70% of the coffee sold today in America (regardless of what is said in advertising) is of one common type, grown in the same general region. That is why you note so little difference when you change from one brand to another.

The marked difference that you will note in the flavor of Folger's Coffee is in the coffee berries themselves. Due to the coffees that are utterly different in type. When you break the vacuum seal of your first can of Folger's you'll instantly be struck by the richer fragrance. When the clear amber coffee is poured in the cup you'll find it has a rare, spicy flavor, pungent and full-bodied. It comes from the "high type" coffees grown on the high western slopes of the mountains of Central America!

The Famous Folger Test

Get a pound of Folger's Coffee from your grocer today. Drink it tomorrow morning. The next morning drink the coffee you have been using. The third morning drink Folger's again. Then decide which you like best. If, for any reason, you do not choose Folger's, your grocer will gladly refund the full purchase price. We will pay him. That's fair, isn't it? You risk nothing—so why not order Folger's now for the test? Folger Coffee Co., Kansas City, Mo.

Thought For Today

Proud and haughty scorner is his name, who dealeth in proud wrath. —Prov. 21:24.

There are no friends more inseperable than pride and hardness of heart, humility and love, falsehood and impudence.—Lavater.

150 Years

A group of men in the middle west have organized what they call the 'Century-and-a-Half Club.' It is the aim of each member to guard his health so carefully that he will reach an age of 150 years.

No one—except, possibly, the dupe of a medieval alchemist—would have dared try such a thing in any age but the present. So much has been said recently, however, about the possibility of lengthening life by proper care that these men have decided to try it.

If they should succeed it probably would be a fine thing for medical science. Case histories would be written on each man, and life insurance companies would issue charts telling everybody just how the thing was done.

Yet the whole experiment, somehow, is a bit depressing to think about. To shoot at the age of 150, one would have to make the business of keeping alive his major interest in life. And if some one should ask him, "For what?" he might be stumped.

There is a good deal of misconception about the whole business of long lives, anyway. To live twice as long as the average man might be a great blessing it might also be a great curse. If it could be done only by a strict ascetic'sm, in which every action, every day, was made to fit a certain pattern, it would be worth doing.

For length of days, by itself, isn't worth a continental. The newspapers recently unearthed a venerable Turkish peasant as the world's oldest man. This white-bearded gaffer had existed for something like 115 years. But who, reading the story, envied the old chap? He had been a boy when Waterloo was fought, he had seen the map of Europe change half a dozen times, he had seen the world turn from the cumbersome tools of antiquity to the lightning-fast machines of the twentieth century—but none of it had meant anything to him. Colonel Lindbergh, not yet thirty, has had ten times as much real life as this aged Turk has had in a century.

How long you live doesn't count greatly. What matters is what you put into the time you have. If longevity is the best goal, we're all licked, before we start. If it isn't what's the use worrying about it?

The Century-and-a-Half Club is probably a fine thing; but someone ought to start a club in which the aim would be, not to live long, but to live fully. To die with any of your powers for experience, expression, joy or creation unused is a tragedy, whether death comes at the age of 10 or 100. The army sergeant, profanely urging his men across a shell-riven wheat field with the cautic "Do you bums want to live forever?" had the right idea.

Death can be staved off for only a few years, at best. To make its postponement one's main job in life is to miss the whole point of living.

Reclamation

The activities of the federal government's Reclamation Bureau are often attacked these days on the ground that they cost far more money than they were worth. It is charged that the arid lands reclaimed for cultivation were not needed and, in many cases, are not used.

Figures just issued by the Department of the Interior are interesting, in that connection.

They show that more than 600,000 people live on federal reclamation projects. Last year these people raised crops worth $135,000,000.

THE PLAINSMAN

That Girl on Broadway says most of us never realize what a good schedule we're riding on until something happens to wreck the gravy train.

Comes now one State Senator W. E. Thomason, of Nadogdoches, Texas, with a bill which defines "membership in a Greek letter fraternity, sorority or club" a misdemeanor punishible by a fine of not more than $200 or a jail sentence not to exceed six months! Aha—another noble experiment is knocking at the door of Texas!

Here's a fine opportunity for service to the nation. Yes sir! Up in Michigan they're sending widowed mothers of ten children to the penitentiary for life for selling a pint of gin. Chicago's traffic laws are said to be the most strictly enforced in the world while 'round the corner the gunmen make merry among themselves. The bill offered by the august Senator Thomason offers to the Lone Star State its chance to do something big toward the prevention of crime!

* * *

Now according to Senator Thomason's bill only Greek letter orders are to be barred. Students may belong to clubs with French, Jewish or Swedish names but whenever they delve into the language of the classics they are urged to be without the law! Here's something to be taken up by the next convention of the Amalgamated Order of Restauranteurs.

As most newspaper readers will remember, a Houston lad lost his life in fraternity "horse-play" last fall—a most regrettable instance. The stunt which snuffed out the life of Nolte McElroy, freshman gridster at University of Texas, in the Delta Kappa Epsilon house, had been successfully passed through by seven youngsters prior to the accident. Grief-stricken, the parents of the lad absolved his fraternity brothers from any guilt in the matter because it happened to occur in a Greek letter fraternity the reformers immediately got busy.

It so happens that The Plainsman is conversant with having practices of both fraternity and non-fraternity men at college. And it further so happens that there is little, if any difference between the two. Had the Texas University tragedy occurred during "horse-play" in a dormitory this writer makes bold to state that the legislature would never had had the urge to discuss the matter. Since it happened among "the Greeks", however, there is plenty of room and a dire need as some see it, for immediate reform.

There are many things about the college fraternity system which are basically and fundamentally wrong. The same may be said about the operation of our lodges, our schools, our churches and all other man-made institutions. Yet there are many other things about the system which are fine and inspiring to the collegiate youth of our nation—which should be taken into consideration by those who wish to convey the intimation that college fraternities are all wrong.

Ban fraternities at University of Texas if you so please but don't expect the action to make a Utopia of the historic Austin campus. As sure as boys and girls are human you'll find them banding together in cliques and clubs regardless of the source of their orders' names. Their fathers do it in the social and business world. Their mothers do it. It has always been done. Senator Thomason, who might be busying himself about the more important problems which confront Texas, may be successful in signing the death warrant of organiations to which he never belonged while a student at Austin, but as long as human nature remains as it is he won't have a great deal of luck in the long run.

A man was sentenced to life in the penitentiary in Michigan for stealing twenty bags of beans. Bet he won't ever want to steal any more beans.

A headline in the Seattle Star intrigues and puzzles: "Moore Winter Says Summers."

The local food products which these districts supply have helped to open mining districts and keep mines in operation, and have strengthened the range stock industry by providing winter feed for stock. In addition, the crops grown on these areas have cheapened railway freight rates by providing an immense amount of local business for the transcontinental roads.

Such figures indicate that the Reclamation Bureau can be rather proud of its record.

Who Will Champion Wet Element In Senate After Reed And Bruce Depart? This Is Subject of Discussion Now

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—Two old men, William Cabell Bruce of Maryland and James A. Reed of Missouri, now leave the Senate. Those two represent the sole claim of the wet to leadership in the upper house of Congress.

Whether they will have worth successors is a speculative question. There has been no rivalry for leadership of the minority bloc. Bruce and Reed appeared to be the only ones who had their hearts in it.

This writer expects that the coming wet leader will be Senator Blair of Wisconsin. Bruce doesn't know but he has hopes for Senator David I Walsh of Massachusetts and his present colleague, Senator Millard Tydings of Maryland.

Reed has been a worthy foeman to any cause he has opposed. His handling of the famous beer hearings was the most terrific attack on prohibition that the Volstead era has produced. And if its effect was merely cumulative, one may observe that certainly no man and perhaps no combination of men ever will defeat prohibition.

But Reed has many other interests and many other fights. Prohibition is only one of his numerous hates. Then again, from the viewpoint of the wets, Reed fell by the wayside last spring when he hid away their banner and in effect asked the drys of the democratic party to let bygones be bygones while they supported him for the presidential nomination.

It is "old Senator Bruce," now 68 and a year older than Reed, who has devoted himself unflaggingly and almost exclusively to the restoration of what he considers personal liberty. For six years Senator Bruce has delivered speech after speech on the floor, designed to expose prohibition as a most damnable thing in all its effects. Fate, figures and personal views he has hurled at empty seats with sublime disregard of the Senate's nearly complete disinterest.

Senator Bruce has not been exactly an inspirational figure. He is a kindly person, a man of culture and high ethical sensibilities who has written worthy biographies, but there are those who regard him as rather a bore. As an orator he invariably sounds as if he were contending against a mouth full of hot mush and he has a noteworthy record for driving senators to the cloakroom for the duration of his lengthy anti-prohibition speeches.

Nevertheless, for sincerity and persistency Senator Bruce has had no superior. He knows the anti-prohibition case by heart and is filled with the urge to speak it out. His social position is high and his son married Secretary of the Treasury Mellon's daughter, but he has never hesitated to blat loudly of Washington society's drinking habits or even to assert, as he once did, that he could put all the personally dry senators into a taxicab.

Failure of his politically wet comrades to support him vigorously has been a disappointment to "old Senator Bruce." Elected as wets, they proceed to forget all about the prohibition issue, he says, and he regards that as dereliction in duty to their constituents. But he admits that many of them must think of reelection and realie that the only strongly organied force against them is the drys. Bruce feels that this lack of organization is the great wet weakness and he intends to become actively interested in the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment when he leaves office. He will also resume law practice and writing.

He does not profess to know what will happen to prohibition, but he submits that it can not remain as at present indefinitely.

"Things are coming to a crisis," says Bruce. "It has been demonstrated that only huge expenditures can prevent the situation from becoming even worse and some of the wisest prohibitionists fear the effects of increased cost.

"All I hope now is that Hoover will appoint a splendid commission. If the commission goes into every phase of the situation I think some good practical results will follow, for the investigation will show a steady rise in the arrests for drunkenness, deaths from alcoholism and official graft.

"Any honest report is bound to make Hoover call for a change in the law. I hope that he will recommend a change in the Volstead act allowing palatable and non-intoxicating beer. Then I think we will come to the Canadian plan of handling the liquor problem, which I have always supported.

"If the president makes no attempt to modify prohibition, conditions will merely get worse before they get better."

NEW PROBLEMS IN RECLAMATION

For a number of years the United States government has been devoting a great deal of effort and money to the reclamation for agricultural purposes of arid lands in the west. Its work has borne fruit; there are today more than half a million people living within the boundaries of federal reclamation projects. But new problems have arisen that may force a different method of procedure in the future.

Mr. Elwood Mead, commissioner of the bureau of reclamation in the department of the interior, discusses the subject in a recent bulletin.

To begin with, he points out, the pioneering spirt is diminished in America, and the open country no longer appeals as it used to. Furthermore, the reclamation of arid lands now costs far more than it used to, since originally many projects could be completed without the construction of vast reservoirs. The result is that the settler has to pay far more than was formerly required.

"A mistaken opinion once precalled," says Dr. Mead, "that any kind of a farmer could succeed on a reclamation project; that if he would work he could get along without capital, or with very little money, with poor tools and with inferior livestock. Exactly the reverse is true today. Payments on the large acre cost of reclamation works, the yearly expense of operating those works and the heavy local taxes required to build and maintain roads and schools require that the land be cultivated intensively, that crops of high acre value be grown and that the land be properly prepared for applying water.

"We must strive, therefore, to enable settlers to improve and equip their farms so that from the outset the results in yield and value of products will be above the average of the whole country. . . . The projects being developed should afford to farmers of intelligence and skill an opportunity equal to that of any other section of the country. If this is done, and if settlers of this type are selected, it is believed the results will amply justify the large outlay that reclamation requires."

Reclamation work, obviously must continue. Eventually we shall need every acre of farming land that we possess. With Dr. Mead, however, we must realize that new conditions are involved, and that the old methods must be revised.—Ranger Times.

McCloskey Hearing In Progress Today

AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 18 (AP)—Judge Augustus McCloskey, congressman-elect, of San Antonio, again faced trial today on indictments charging alteration of returns in the last general election. First called at San Antonio, the case recently was transferred here on a change of venue.

Judge McCloskey's secretary, Carles Ramirez, and Elmer Wernette, were indicted for the same offense.

In New York

By Swan

Gilbert Swan

NEW YORK, Feb. 19—It happened in one of those cheap, drab looking mid-Manhattan rooming houses which seem strangely caught in the midst of elegant, towering neighbors.

The exteriors have a barren similarity, a suggestion of incrusted cobwebs and ingrained soot; the window curtains have become a dirty gray, either through lack of laundering or years of worthy service. Somehow the windows never seem clean or clear, and generally they look out into the monotony of a light well, an alleyway or a nearby blank wall.

There is a definite depression about them that one knows instinctively will be continued upon entering. One knows instinctively that there will be a battered, scruffed bit of rug running up the stairway; that the stairs will be a bit off-kilter; that the desk will bea narrow square hoop, which seems candlelit even when an electric are flickers above. A sence of darkness and dampness pervades the place.

One knows instinctively, also, that there will be one bath to a floor and that girls and women in cheap kimonos will patter down the hallway; that the hallway will be dimly lit and that the people who live therein will, somehow, reflect their environs.

One knows, too, that there will be a sign outside reading "Transient" —and that these people are transient. They are among the thousands —the clerks, the typists, the waitresses, the laundresses and such— who find themselves jobless in the city. Here of cold nights you'll see desperate girls—girls so desperate for life, food, shelter and security that they'll do desperate things. . . they'll break your heart too, if you listen to their stories.

You'll see a woman with a baby in her arms come for a room and a week later you'll see her come in to clean up your room and you'll know that she couldn't pay her rent and went to work for $5 a week and a roof over her head.

GUARANTEED GAINING TABLETS COST PATIENT EIGHT POUNDS

BY LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.
Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children."

Tablets for Gaining?

Mrs. W., who weighs 112 pounds and should weigh 15 pounds more, wanting to gain took eight bottles of advertised, guaranteed gain-tablets. When she finished the eight bottles, instead of gaining, she had lost eight pounds. She asked the druggist for a refund of her money, but he said they did not stand back of the advertising company's guarantee. As soon as she stopped taking the tablets she went back to former weight.

You should write to the concern that puts out these tablets, Mrs. M., but you probably will not get your money back from them, either. Then you should write to the United States public health service at Washington.

I realize that I have started something. All of my overweight followers will want the name of these "gaining" tablets! But don't write in for it, for I won't give it. The reason that such nostrums reduce is that they upset the health.

You have the Peterizing pamphlet by now, Mrs. W., as you sent in 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope, so I hope to hear from you soon with the news that you have gained your 15 pounds.

"I wrote you six months ago, but as yet have not seen my answer in the paper, and naturally I am very much disappointed. You have written on many subjects that are more uncommon than mine is, and I can't see why my question wasn't considered. This is my trouble:

"I have proud flesh in the passage from the bladder, which is very painful. I have had many treatments of silver nitrate, and the electric needle used on it once, but neither seemed to do it any good. Must I carry this around all my life? This inflammation does not extend into the bladder, only around the opening. I have had it for five years, so you can imagine how discouraged I am. I am 28 years old. The inflamation is very painful and causes frequent urination. Please, will you answer my question? MRS. G."

It is impossible for me to answer all of the question I get in the column—some because they are of a nature that they can not be written on in a newspaper, and others because they are rare diseases which must have the personal supervision of a physician. However, Mrs. G., I had recently answered a similar question to yours, but evidently you missed it. I'm sorry.

Your trouble is known as a caruncle. A caruncle may be a normal growth; for instance, the little red mass in the corner of the eye is known as the lachrymal caruncle. Your growth is a urethral caruncle, and is not a normal growth. The cause is not known. Sometimes it is associated with chronic inflammation of the uretha, but as may come from an infection, or be the result of a too concentrated or irritating urines.

My textbooks say that the only treatment for the urethral caruncle is the removal of the cautery, or by the knife. This condition is not a cancer.

Go to a specialist in women's disorders—a gyneologist—or to a surgeon, for indeed it is not necessary for you to carry this painful thing all your life.

Editor's Note: Dr. Peters can not diagnose, nor give personal advice. Your questions, if of general interest, will be answered in the column, in turn. Requests for articles must be accompanied by a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope and 2 cents in coin for each article, to cover cost of printing and handling. For the pamphlet on reducing and gaining, 10 cents in coin, with fully self-addressed, stamped envelope, must be enclosed. Address Dr. Peters, in care of this paper.

The World And All

BY CHARLES B. DRISCOLL

EINSTEIN AND AFTER

Recently I saw a play called "Wings Over Europe." Not a great play, perhaps, and not faultlessly done, but provocative of thought. Well, a few nights earlier I had seen a completely worthless play called "One Way Street." It was so utterly empty and unsatisfying, and so badly acted, that I thought I had come upon quite a treat in "Wings Over Europe."

This play, as you may have heard, has no woman in it, and is practically devoid of action. It has a great deal of talk, the usual admixture of hokum, and, of course, one pistolshot.

But there is a young man in the play who talks a great deal about his newly discovered mastery over the atom. He can rearrange the molecules or the electrons or something such, and so he can do anything. He can turn wood into gold, sugar into dynamite. He can suddenly rearrange the atoms making up the earth, thus instantly turning this planet into chaos and blotting out what we know as civilization and society and the world.

Coming back from the play, I happened to fall upon Einstein's latest pronouncements, with explanations by sundry learned men.

It seems that there is a good deal of thinking to be done presently.

I have before me a typewriter, which I have always considered a marvelous mechanism. Anyway, it has me wholly buffaloed.

But it it a typewriter after all? It seems, in the light of a few new formulae and a thought or two, that it is merely matter in very small quantity, just now functioning as a typewriter. Or seeming so to function.

If someone with the secret of the atom should happen along, perhaps he might instantly change this typewriter into a glowing starbeam, a nightshirt with pearl buttons, a book of poetry, a day in June, or a happy thought.

Now, we begin to be mixed up. Could the secret of the atom result in the conversion of a pound of apples into a great thought? Could the miracle of the atom-doctor change a cold chisel into a love affair?

This may be a bit post-Einstein.

I know that somehow, by a subtle alchemy we only think we know something about, thoughts, good and evil, proved from a something that seems to reside in a human body and function through a human brain and that apples and meat and carrots are somehow changed into the life and energy that seem to make the thought possible. And I think I'll sleep on that.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19 (AP)—The stabilized retail gasoline price, for which large production companies lowered wholesale prices to 14 1-2 cents per gallon last week, was shattered today when retailers reopened the "gasoline war," shooting their prices down to 14 1-2 cents, state tax included.

THE RIGHT WAY TO BANISH FAT

Combat a cause which modern research has discovered. Turn food into fuel and energy, rather than into fat. Supply a natural element which your system lacks. That is the method embodied in Marmola prescription tablets.

People have used Marmola for 20 years—millions of boxes of it. They have told others the results. Now, in almost every circle, you can see the results in new beauty and new vim. Why not learn the way to attain them?

A book in each box of Marmola tells you the formula, also the reasons for results. You will know why the effects come, and why they are beneficial. Go ask your druggist—in fairness to yourself—for a $1 box of Marmola.

RECOVERY THAT OPENED MONDAY, KEPT UP TUESDAY

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—The recovery in stock prices, which started yesterday, was resumed at the opening of today's market when a long list of issues were marked up 1 to 3 points. Nash Motors was one of the few exceptions, dropping back 2 points. General Electric advanced 3 points and opening gains of 2 points or more were registered by Curtiss Aeroplane, International Combustion, United Fruit and National Cash Register.

Radio was the leader of the early advance, soaring 11 points to 354, or 21 points above yesterday's low mark. Allied Chemical, Du Pont and Granby Copper quickly extended their initial gains to 4 points or more. American and Foreign Power continued its sensational advance by climbing 3 1-4 points to a new high record at 131 1-2 and Andes Copper moved up 1 1-2 points to a new top at 62.

Early gains of 2 points or more were recorded by a wide assortment of specialties including Johns Manville, American Tobacco B, American Radiator, Commercial Solvents, Motor Products and Inland Steel.

Foreign exchanges opened easier, with cables down 1-16 of a cent to $4.85 7-32.

Barfield In Jail After Conviction

TEXARKANA, Tex. Feb. 19 (AP)—Cato Barfield, assessed 25 years imprisonment by a jury at New Boston, upon conviction for the murder of Ray Palmer, remained in jail today while attorneys sought a new trial. A verdict was returned yesterday after four hours deliberation.

"I Just Can Not Tell How Grateful I Am" Says Miss Bell

Prominent Lubbock Co., Farmer's Daughter Is Now Well And Happy Since Taking Orgatone

"I suffered with liver trouble and heart trouble for two years and found no relief until I began taking Orgatone," said Miss Ruby Bell, daughter of a well known farmer residing on rural Route 1, Lubbock, Texas, in an interesting interview a few days ago.

"Everything I would eat," continued Miss Bell, "no matter how little or how much, would ferment and fill my stomach with gas and misery. I was continually belching up sour undigested food, had severe heart burns and in a general run-down condition. I felt terrible a great deal of the time and was often so nervous that I thought I would go distracted. I got so I dreaded to eat, everything bothered me so, in fact, I could hardly find anything in the way of dieting that would agree with me. I tell you I was all undone and my condition was anything but comfortable. No treatment or medicine did me any good and I was getting worse all the time.

"One of my personal friends had found relief from troubles like mine by taking Orgatone so I decided to try it myself. Three or four weeks ago I bought a bottle and in a few days I noticed I was getting better, and from that time on I improved rapidly. A few doses relieved me of all the gas and every sign of indigestion and gave me a fine appetite. All my nervous feelings left me and I sleep like a baby every night. I have no more heart burns and I can eat anything I want now, even to the richest of food, and I never have a pain or uncomfortable feeling after my meals. I feel perfectly well all the time, and anyone who knows me can readily see the change Orgatone has made in me. I can't understand it, neither can my family, how it is that I have gotten such complete relief from my two years of suffering in so short a time, but I have, and I just can't tell you how grateful I am for what Orgatone has done for me."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific treatment containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs and is sold in Lubbock exclusively by the Bowen's Drug Store, under the personal direction of the special Orgatone representative. Adv.

GOOD CABLES HELP COTTON

SMALL OPENING BOOST MADE ON MARKET TUESDAY

(By Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 19.—Favorable Liverpool cables were responsible for an opening gain of 1 to 2 points in the cotton market. The improvement brought out further March liquidation as well as selling in an effort to even commitments for the holiday Friday.

May traded down from 19.50 to 19.45 and July from 19.53 to 19.48, or 5 points under the highs and 3 points under yesterday's close. At the end of the first hour the market was steady and 2 points above the lows.

The market ruled quiet and barely steady with the approaching holiday holding support in check while selling was being restrained by promise of more bad weather in the belt. At one time March sold off to 19.27, or 7 points under the early highs but toward noon the market was quiet and steady and about 3 points under the previous close.

NEW YORK MARKET ALSO IS HIGHER

NEW YORK, Feb. 19 (AP)—Cotton opened steady at an advance of 1 to 2 points in response to steady Liverpool cables.

May which had sold up to 20.08 at the start, declined to 20.04.

Prices were within a point or two of yesterday's closing quotations at the end of the first half hour.

The market was very quiet in the morning, with business confined largely to switching from near to late months. There was some commission house or local liquidation, however, and prices sagged off. The midday market was about net unchanged to 3 points lower.

Corn averaged lower, starting at 1-4c off to 1-4c up, and subsequently undergoing something of a sag all around. Oats were firm. Provisions held about steady.

Dickson To Talk At Kansas Farm Depot

SPUR, Feb. 19.— Superintendent R. E. Dickson of the state Experiment station at Spur has been called to Manhattan, Kansas, to explain detailed work of his station to the authorities of the Kansas State Agricultural College of Manhattan. The Kansas station is making plans to duplicate the work done at Spur relative to the soil and moisture problems that have proved so beneficial in this locality. Mr. Dickson has had many visitors to study the work done here, and it takes but little time to convince the most skeptical farmer or business man of the merits of the level terrace and properly contoured rows. Mr. Dickson will stop at Abilene on his return trip to address the Texas Bankers Association, which convenes in Abilene February 22.

PRODUCTION IN OIL DECREASES

OUTPUT SHOWS DECLINE FOR FIRST TIME SINCE NOV. 3

(By Associated Press)

TULSA, Okla., Feb. 19.—For the first time since the week ending November 3, 1928, production of heavy and light crude oil in the United States registered a decline during the past week, the decrease in total production averaging 22,832 barrels daily and the drop in light oil production being 22,720 barrels daily according to the Oil and Gas Journal.

Since the first of last December there has been a steady and substantial increase in the daily average production of the United States, the daily average for the week ending December 1, 1928, being 2,509,163 barrels while for the week ending February 9, 1929 it was 2,690,350 barrels, or 181,187 barrels a day more.

Chief reason for the decrease in production last week was the placing into effect of the conservation agreement affecting the Greater Seminole area in Oklahoma. Although curtailment of production in that area was only effective about two days last week, it resulted in a decrease of more than 20,000 barrels daily in the Oklahoma weekly average.

The West Texas daily average decreased slightly more than 3,000 barrels; mid continent fields more than 28,000 barrels. Other fields showed nominal decreases. California's Santa Fe Springs area continued to increase, with only about six thousand barrels, but this failed to make up the week's deficit.

The estimated daily average production during the week ending February 16 was 1,667,518 barrels.

Texas Republicans To Give Testimony

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. Feb. 19 (AP)—Stirred by statements before the senate election investigations committee, a party of 10 to 20 Texas Republicans will visit Washington March 2 with a request that they be allowed to testify, R. B. Creager, republican national committeeman from Texas, advised Chairman Brookhart of the committee in a telegram yesterday. Members of the party want to testify regarding charges of irregularities in prohibition enforcement and methods used in obtaining campaign contributions.

Pulverator Given Test On Campus Of Tech College

Mechanical cultivating machinery was demonstrated to several score interested farmers on the west part of the Tech College campus yesterday afternoon.

The machine demonstrated was the Wallace Pulverator, a combination plow and disc harrow, which plows, breaks the ground, and pulverizes the soil at the same time.

In cooperating with Sherrod Brothers ,local dealers, the Massie-Harris company, formerly the J. I. Case Plow Works, sponsored the demonstration.

Preacher, Aged 9

NEW YORK—Helen Anna Smith of Brooklyn, nine years old, is a preacher. She took the place of Helen Campbell, 13 year old California evangelist, who cancelled an engagement at Jamacia tabernacle. Members of the congregation were indignant over the elder Helen, but the youngster pleaded that something must have happened to prevent her coming.

AUSTIN, Feb. 19—After six weeks of minor legislation the house today turned its attention toward the Young penitentiary bill providing for centralization of the system on either the Darrington farm in Brazoria county or the Ramsey farm in Fort Bend county.

Proponents of Governor Moody's penitentiary plan, which would leave relocation in the hands of a prison commission, will offer the governor's program as a substitute for representative Young's bill, they said.

Three changes in the Young bill, passed out by the committee on penitentiaries in preference to that advocated by the governor, were offered as amendments by the authors today. The measure originally called for establishing the penal institution on the Darrington farm only. Another change in the original bill would delete sections relating to the establishment of a reformatory, and a third provides that present prison properties may be sold by the commissioner of the general land office after a request for their disposal has been certified by the commissioner.

Representative Frank Baldwin of Waco, leader for the Moody plan, flayed Representative Young for failing to make reference to "4,000 prisoners whose welfare is concerned."

Baldwin charged that advocates of the plan to establish the system in the southeast Texas counties had paid no attention climatic conditions, and maintained that a survey should be made by experts before deciding on a location.

Young replied that authorities of the United States department of agriculture and Texas A. and M. college had prepared a report which was before the house for consideration.

FLOODS FORM FRESH MENACE

FEAR INUNDATIONS TO TAKE TOLL HEAVY AS COLD WAVE

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, Feb. 19.—Flood terrors replaced rigors of bitter cold over a large part of Europe today. It was feared that when the toll of the inundations, real and prospective, was complete, it would equal or surpass that of the cold.

The Danube and its tributaries swelled over their banks and forced many from their homes. Melting snow and ice caused disastrous floods in Macedonia and Thrace. Bavarian rivers overflowed, while rising temperatures in northern Italy foreshadowed rapid swelling of rivers there.

Temperatures were less extreme than they have been, but in many localities the thermometer had not risen to above zero, or freezing, centrigrade.

Advices from the Danube district, where ice and snow have been piled six feet thick over the surface of the river, indicated a worse situation, possibly, there than elsewhere. The Danube and its tributaries had not only to carry off the huge load of melting ice and snow but faced the hazard of ice dams which spread its waters over wide areas before they could be broken.

Widespread havoc was reported from Thrace and Macedonia where the Struma and others rivers overflowed, sweeping away bridges and hundreds of cattle and flooding homes. A number of peasants were drowned. Part of the city of Cavilla, site of an American tobacco depot, was submerged, while Heraclia was transformed into a vast lake with inhabitants being fed by merchants who plied their trade in boats. Jugoslavia and Grecian soldiers co-operated to save lives and property.

JOHNSTON

R. Armstrong, and George D. Key, democratic state chairman, were dubbed a "triumvirate" with alleged control over Johnston, in argument yesterday by R. H. Stanley, member of the board of managers. H. E. Sullivan, Johnston's private secretary, in answer to a question which subsequently was withdrawn, told the Senate court he considered Johnston incompetent in view of what he declared was the domination of the three over the governor. The court later voted its disapproval of that form of testimony.

Wheeler said he overheard the conversation between Dr. Hammonds and his wife when his own presence in the governor's office late at night was unobserved.

Dr. Hammonds, Wheeler declared, protested to his wife that "your affairs with the governor have gone far enough."

"Shut your mouth," Wheeler quoted Mrs. Hammonds as responding.

Under cross examination, Wheeler said Mrs. Hammonds added:

"We're going to get our while we can. We'll be politically dead in two or four years."

Reed-Borah Debate Has Echoes Today

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP).—Echoes of the Reed-Borah prohibition debate sounded in the senate today as Senator Bruce, Democrat, Maryland, described prohibition conditions in Borah's state of Idaho as "shocking."

Borah, who defended prohibition in an hour's speech yesterday in reply to an attack by Reed of Missouri, sat smilingly silent as Bruce read a newspaper article whose headline said:

"Idaho drowns dry problem in moonshine."

DELAY VOTING ON TOLL SPAN

OPPOSITION TO ROAD BOARD CAUSE OF POSTPONEMENT

(By Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 19.—Opposition to the present highway commission today caused postponement of the consideration of house bill 241, providing for acquisition or construction of interstate toll bridges over Red River.

After R. H. Stanley, Choctaw county, had objected to committing the present highway commissioners to spend the money under terms of the measure, the house re-committed the bill to the roads and highways committee.

A similar measure already has been adopted in Texas with a view to joining Oklahoma and the federal government in taking over the bridges.

A delegation from the Texas legislature recently visited the roads and highways committee of this state and expressed its willingness to go more than half way in purchasing the bridges.

The bill proposed in the house authorizes the state highway department to expend money from the construction and maintenance fund to acquire or construct and maintain the structures.

Congress would be memoralized to enact legislation which would permit federal aid to be given the two states.

James Nance, speaker of the house, informed the members that one half of the expense of the bridges would be borne by the federal government, one fourth by Texas and one fourth by Oklahoma if the legislation planned was adopted.

Jury Unreported In Train Robbery Case

FORT WORTH, Feb. 19.—A jury had not returned a verdict at noon today in the case of Travis H. Wilson, Mrs. Ottie Bridges and M. E. Pruett, charged in connection with a $53,000 Texas & Pacific mail robbery on last November 9. The case was given to the jury yesterday at 4:30 p. m.

Four of the original six charges in the indictment on which the defendants were tried were abandoned yesterday, leaving them facing only two counts.

One count charges the actual robbery of the train and alleges that the life of Paul Carney, mail clerk, was placed in jeopardy by a loaded pistol. The maximum penalty is 25 years imprisonment.

SELECT JURY TO HEAR M'CLOSKEY

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 19 (AP)—The tedious process of selecting a jury for the criminal trial of Congressman-elect Augustus J. McCloskey of San Antonio went ahead at a good pace today. Three of the first four veniremen interrogated were passed as prospective jurors.

Only the attitude of the veniremen towards the case and the law governing the matter were gone into. Neither religion nor political affiliation was touched upon.

McCloskey, democrat and Catholic, was certified to have defeated Harry M. Wurzbach, Texas' only republican members of congress, in the November 6 election, after which five indictments charging McCloskey with altering returns were voted. At the time of the election McCloskey was county judge of Bexar county (San Antonio) and the returns passed through his hands.

28 Out of 160

Of 160 men summoned in the regular panel, excuses reduced the number to 28 today. With only that number available the calling of a special panel was rendered necessary, since the legal custom is to qualify 32 tentative jurors and then permit prosecution and defense to eliminate ten men each, leaving the twelve who will sit in judgment.

Chicago Murder Probe Goes On New Track

CHICAGO, Feb. 19 (AP)—Every detective squad member on the Chicago police force was called in for questioning in the gang massacre investigation today. Each was asked:

"Where were you last Thursday morning between 10 and 11 o'clock?"

That was the hour in which seven of George (Bugs) Moran's men were lined up in a North Clark street garage and slain.

State's Attorney John A. Swenson issued the order for questioning of the policemen.

"It isn't because Swanson believes the gang killers were led by city detectives," one of his aides explained. "It is because he is not absolutely sure that they were not."

Most witnesses have mentioned the slayers were using a detective bureau squad car. Several said two of the five men in the automobile wore police uniforms.

Police Commissioner William Russell is convinced that no policemen were involved, but he is lending his assistance to the state's attorney's to clear up the mystery. It is the commissioner's theory that if any of the slayers wore uniforms it was a disguise.

JONES LAUDS TERRACE MOVE

SECTION TO 'CASH IN' ON MOVEMENT DUE TO NEW SOIL

Don L. Jones, superintendent of the state experiment station east of the city, today declared that the South Plains would "cash in" unlimited results from the county-wide terracing campaign now under way because of the vast amount of new soil in this section.

Mr. Jones explained the purpose of terracing as not only to hold the moisture but to hold the fertile soil as well. "Old land that has been under cultivation for many years has lost the best part of its soil by washing," he said, "while here on the plains with our thousands of acres of virgin soil we now have the best opportunity in the world of beginning terracing."

He commended the work being done by Lubbock County Agent D. F. Eaton and John Patterson, terracing expert, who is aiding the county campaign.

House Follows Up Other Testimony

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 19 (AP).—Abandoning efforts to secure testimony of several witnesses relative to their opinion as to the competency of Henry S. Johnston, suspended governor, to conduct affairs of state, the house board of managers, prosecuting Johnston before a senate court of impeachment, indicated intent to follow up other testimony today.

House managers turned to other subjects after the senate court had excluded the opinion of H. E. Sullivan, Johnston's secretary, who had expressed the conclusion the governor was incompetent under circumstances he said had prevailed during Johnston's administration.
