Ginsburg's nomination still stands

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan said today he will not withdraw the Supreme Court nomination of Douglas H. Ginsburg, who admitted he had smoked marijuana, and said his candidate will survive "if there's any justice in Washington."

Reagan said, "He was not an addict ... nothing of that kind."

On Capitol Hill, however, Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., said Ginsburg "should give very, very serious consideration" to withdrawing his nomination.

Byrd said Ginsburg's revelation was "one more drop, cumulative drop, on the stone," referring to conflict-of-interest allegations already raised.

"I'm concerned about the image this presents to our young people. I know it must be very embarrassing to the Reagans in view of the campaign they have carried on against drugs."

The president said "I'm old enough to have seen that era in which his generation and generations earlier" had regarded drugs.

"How many of us would like to have everything we did when we were younger put on the books."

Asked if Ginsburg should have "Just Said No," the theme of Nancy Reagan's anti-drug campaign, Reagan chuckled but did not answer.

He said Ginsburg's drug use was limited to "a few experimentations. I'm sure there were a great many people who did that, at that particular period."

Contrary to Byrd's assertion that it sends a negative message to young people, Reagan said, "I think it's a helpful message." He said, "I think the message it sends is that he regrets and shouldn't have done it."

Asked if the nomination could survive, Reagan replied, "If there's any justice in Washington he can." He said that "converts (against drugs) are sometimes the most devoted."

Ginsburg, 41, revealed Thursday that he used the drug once in the 1960s and on a few occasions in the 1970s, adding, "It was a mistake and I regret it."

The statement followed National Public Radio's request for his comment on NPR interviews in which a half-dozen people indicated Ginsburg used marijuana while teaching at Harvard Law School.

TEA rescinds ranking

Report affects TEAMS at SHS

By DONNY BROWN
SDN Managing Editor

A controversial ranking of Texas school campuses--using a combination of last year's TEAMS test scores and a "projected" performance level based on the number of low income or minority students--has been rescinded by the state agency which initially released it.

The listing, with the "projected" formula figured in, ranked Snyder High School as among the state's lower 25 percent in test score rankings.

In actual test scores, two classes taking the TEAMS test at SHS last year ranked in the 43 percent level or slightly below average.

With the state's formula figure in, the campus was ranked in the 22 percent level. This formula has now been rescinded by the Texas Education Agency.

In a letter sent to all Texas school superintendents, Commissioner of Education W.N. Kirby wrote, "The calls, letters and personal visits from school administrators expressing serious concern over the (TEAMS) ranking have caused us to look carefully at these materials.

"Both the concern over the possible misuse of the ranking data and the possibility of some inaccurate data in the predictive scores have proven to be valid concerns.

"Because of the potential for misunderstanding, I have directed the staff not to use these printouts," Kirby wrote.

When the first TEA ranking was released, it was noted the agency took into account actual test scores of last year's TEAMS test, taken by freshman and junior class members at SHS, in addition to four factors related to low income and minority students.

The factors included the number of students per campus, their ethnic makeup and how many of them were either low income students--based on the

GETTING STARTED — Bobby Trimble of Midland discusses the "Christmas in April" program he began organizing in 1973 in his home city. He met with Snyder civic leaders Thursday, who then laid plans for inaugurating the clean-up, fix-up effort here. It is designed to aid the elderly or handicapped. (SDN Staff Photo)

'Christmas in April'...

Project to assist elderly initiated

Snyder has launched its own "Christmas in April" program, patterned after all-volunteer programs in numerous cities around the state and nation to repair the homes of the elderly and handicapped.

Nationally recognized Christmas in April leader Bobby Trimble of Midland met with 21 representatives of 19 Snyder civic clubs and organizations Thursday afternoon, and officers were elected afterwards to begin raising money for the project to start next spring.

Trimble said people "won't ask" for help to fix up their homes but usually will allow volunteer groups to re-roof, fix plumbing and repair windows and doors.

Trimble said many of his Midland volunteers have complained at first that they were unskilled but have rapidly developed skills and been very useful.

"Women are a lot better painters than men," he said, adding that teenagers have also proved valuable in cleaning up trash and other types of work.

He said carpenters, plumbers, electricians and other skilled persons are usually enlisted to oversee projects.

Sam Robertson of the Snyder Rotary Club opened the 4 p.m.

Runway extended to one mile-plus

The Winston Field runway has been leveled and extended to 5,600 feet, longer than 1 mile, but it still has to be paved — a development awaiting the approval of the Federal Aviation Administration regarding the content of the asphalt.

The extra length and a width of 100 feet will make the field suitable for jet airplanes.

"A corporate jet can come in here and land now, and his insurance is good," said airport manager Darrell Mize.

Project overseer Ken Turner of a San Antonio engineering company said he hopes to have Price Construction Co. of Big Spring begin paving the week of Nov. 16.

The "resiliency" requirement of runway asphalt is much higher than it is for highways, he explained.

Workmen have moved 80,000 cubic yards of earth and have moved in 20,000 cubic yards of caliche and gravel base material since the project began on the last day of July, Turner said.

The runway has been dropped by 3 ½ feet on the north end, and a 3 ½-foot "valley" in the middle of the runway has been raised to eliminate the "roller-coaster" effect out of the landing strip.

Tearing up the asphalt on the taxi-way and repaving it will come after the runway is paved, Turner said. This segment of the project is to be undertaken next spring if the weather becomes prohibitive.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Etc. is a three-letter word used to make people think you know more than you do."

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

Do you get the feeling that folks in Washington are sometimes more than a little out of touch with the rest of the nation. The Odessa American says it's true.

"The city that uses the words 'compassion' and 'fairness' more than any other in America is also the nation's wealthiest. In and around Washington, D. C., after-tax household income averages $47,273--42 percent higher than the nation as a whole.

"The Washington metropolitan area also has the largest proportion of residents with stock market investments. A Washingtonian is 30 percent more likely to own a BMW or Mercedes than the average American, and 70 percent more likely to have a Volvo. One retail executive calls the place 'the height of yuppidom.'

"The Washington Post delightedly reports that 55 percent of Washington-area households are considered affluent, compared with 16 percent elsewhere. Other Americans may not be so pleased. One-fourth of the wealth they produce passes through Washington. Apparently quite a bit of it stays there."

Gene Dow, in the Colorado City Record, had several matrimonial comments:

"A women never knows what kind of husband she doesn't want until she marries him.

"It has been revealed that today's widows prefer their current lives over what they remember. From this a man should vow that, as a husband, he should live in such a way that his widow will want to remarry.

"In a recent poll of single fellows, most believe that 27 is the ideal age for a man to marry."

And according to statistical studies done at the University of Chicago, marriages have the best chance of survival if neither the bride or groom was an only child, if it was a church wedding, both have rural backgrounds, both like their own parents, the bride worked before marriage, the family doesn't move often, and the wife is at least a year older than her husband."

Student efforts honored

Both the Snyder High School newspaper, Tiger's Tale, and yearbook, Tiger's Lair, were named to the list of top six entrants for SHS's enrollment category recently at the 1987 Texas High School Press Association convention.

The event was held in Denton at Texas Woman's University.

Both the paper and yearbook were among five entrants named to the All Texas with Special Honorable Mention list in their respective competition category.

For newspapers, the Tiger's Tale was ranked along with Taylor High School, Whitehouse High School, Barbers Hill High School in Mont Belview and

A. — The honor rolls for both Snyder High School and junior high will be run in Sunday's edition.

In Brief

Illegal calls

DALLAS (AP) — A scam that has been thriving on college campuses has found its way behind bars in the Dallas County Jail, authorities say.

Inmates in the Dallas County lockup have used confidential access codes to make $83,000 worth of unauthorized long-distance telephone calls from behind bars in recent weeks, Detective Capt. Terry Baker of the Dallas County Sheriff's Department said Thursday.

Felony charges of credit card abuse are being prepared against a former inmate following a three-week investigation, Baker said.

Jobless rate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The jobless rate edged up to 6.0 percent in October — the first increase in 18 months — despite the creation of more than 500,000 jobs and significant growth in manufacturing employment, the government said today.

The Labor Department's survey of households showed 415,000 more Americans at work last month than in September. But the civilian labor force grew by 500,000, raising the jobless rate by 0.1 percentage point.

September's 5.9 percent rate had been the lowest in nearly eight years.

Both overall employment and the size of the civilian labor force had dropped in September as hundreds of thousands of students returned to school after summer vacations. It was that drop that largely accounted for September's 0.1 percentage point drop from the 6.0 percent rate of July and August.

Sharp dip

DALLAS (AP) — Unemployment in Texas dipped sharply in October while the jobless rate nationwide edged upward as students returned to school after summer vacations, federal officials said today.

The percentage of Texans out of work dropped to 7.8 last month, compared with 8.5 percent in September, according to figures released by the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics in Dallas.

Economic analyst Nic Santangelo said about 653,0000 Texans were out of work in October, compared with about 716,000 the month before.

Last month's unemployment rate also represented a dramatic improvement over October 1986, when 9.4 percent of the Texas work force was unemployed, Santangelo said.

Weather

Snyder Area Forecast: Tonight, a 20 percent chance of thunderstorms with a low in the mid 50s. Southeast wind 10 to 20 mph.

Snyder Temperatures: High Thursday, 73 degrees; low, 44 degrees; reading at 7 a.m. Friday, 58 degrees; no precipitation; total precipitation for 1987 to date, 18.16 inches.

Strong defense advocated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger is retiring with a final plea to Congress not to reduce President Reagan's defense buildup, but lawmakers say money problems will be one of the main headaches of his successor, Frank C. Carlucci.

"For the life of me, I don't see what the reluctance is to voting the amounts that are necessary for the nation's security," Weinberger told a Pentagon news conference Thursday, echoing appeals he made for seven years as he pushed for ever-rising defense budgets.

Weinberger's long-expected resignation was announced earlier in the day by Reagan in a White House ceremony during which the president praised his old friend as "the finest secretary of defense in the history of our nation."

Carlucci, Weinberger's deputy during Reagan's first term and currently Reagan's national security adviser, was named to succeed Weinberger. Reagan also promoted Army Lt. Gen. Colin Powell, the second-ranking man on the National Security Council staff, to succeed Carlucci.

Weinberger, 70, will remain in office until Carlucci is confirmed by the Senate, a process which is expected to be quick and smooth.

"I can assure the president we will act expeditiously on this excellent nomination to insure a timely transition," said Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, which will hold hearings on Carlucci's nomination.

Sen. John Warner, R-Va., ranking Republican on the panel, said, "I anticipate that those hearings will go smoothly and that the Senate will confirm Mr. Carlucci very shortly." Nunn agreed with that assessment.

Weinberger was the architect of Reagan's plan to "rearm America" and battled, often successfully, to win sharp increases from Congress in the defense budget. Weinberger often flatly refused to negotiate with legislators about defense budgets, insisting instead that the entire amount was needed. Pentagon spending doubled during his tenure.

Fired auditor will not vacate office

BASTROP, Texas (AP) — Bastrop County commissioners said they would instruct sheriff's deputies to evict fired County Auditor Rosemary Jones if she refused again today to vacate her office.

She refused on Thursday, for the fourth day, to leave, despite a warning that she could be jailed for violating a court order.

Two state district judges told her on Oct. 16 that she should resign, Ms. Jones said, because "they had too many complaints from the courthouse." When she refused, she received a letter, signed by one of the judges, State District Harold Towslee, notifying her that she had been fired.

The letter said she was being fired because she did not abide by her agreement to resign. But she said Thursday she never made such an agreement.

She contends Towslee and State District Judge John Placke acted illegally — firing her without due process and without giving a satisfactory reason for her dismissal.

Ms. Jones, who has been auditor since September 1985, said she never heard specifics on the complaints against her. She said she believes she can be fired only for incompetence or official misconduct. Neither reason has been alleged, she said.

Neither judge was available for comment Thursday.

The county auditor is appointed by the district judges, but runs the office independently of them, she said. County commissioners approve the auditor's budget.

Ms. Jones said she is staying in office to prove the autonomy of the auditor's job.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Because you are likely to be ambitious today in an area where others fail to get moving, the lion's share of the spoils could be yours.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) In social activities with friends today, make it a point to put yourself out a little more than usual. Make sure that everyone is having a good time.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) There are strong indications that you could reap material benefits today. They will come in two areas that you do not normally depend on as sources of personal gain.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It's time to stop talking about what you intend to do and start taking action. Do something about it today, before both time and your inclinations run out.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're a competent, capable person, but if something comes up that you can't manage today, don't be too proud to let someone who is more skilled take over.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It's OK to delegate certain assignments to others today, but to be on the safe side, you'd be wise to do the one that has lots of critical details yourself.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Others will be responsive to your requests today because they'll know you won't ask anything of them that you could not or would not do yourself.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Lessons you've learned from experience will greatly benefit you at this time. It looks like you are going to profit today from yesterday's mistakes.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your possibilities for success will be greatly enhanced today if you proceed one step at a time. Impulsive or erratic actions could retard your progress.

Modern Myths Run Forever Without A Leg to Stand On

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1987 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: You recently printed a letter from a lady regarding the horrible consequences suffered by a young woman when she overused the facilities at a tanning salon. The story she told was obviously farfetched. Why did you print the lady's name? You must have known it would embarrass her.

I have read your column for many years, and while I don't always agree with you, I have always looked forward to seeing what you had to say. No longer. I think printing the lady's name, when you knew it would make her look foolish, was just plain mean. Now every time I read your column, I feel resentment. Please notice, I am not signing my name. You are not to be trusted with it.

UNSIGNED IN OREGON

DEAR UNSIGNED: I'm glad you wrote because other readers may have felt as you did, and I welcome the opportunity to publicly state that before I published the woman's letter, I obtained permission to use her name. Furthermore, if I had thought she might be embarrassed by the publicity, I would not have identified her.

Incidentally, after that item appeared, I heard from folklorist Jan Harold Brunvand, author, columnist and professor in the Department of English at the University of Utah in Salt Lake City.

He wrote (in part): "I was pleased to see that you debunked the tanning story. I have heard many different versions of that legend — it's been around for a long time.

"I have published three books on 'urban legends' in which I used a few letters from your column. Generally, you are very good at spotting phony letters, but at times you have taken them at face value. My favorite of the legends you have published is the one about the Civil War 'virgin birth.' It ran in November 1982."

The item to which Dr. Brunvand refers, I titled: "Unknown Soldier Fires Shot Heard Nine Months Later." And here it is:

DEAR ABBY: You said it is possible for a woman to become pregnant and still remain a virgin. It sounds impossible, but I know it's true, which reminds me of a similar story I read in a reputable magazine some years ago.

It seems that during the Civil War (May 12, 1863, to be exact), a young Virginia farm girl was standing on her front porch when a stray bullet first passed through the scrotum of a young Union cavalryman, then lodged in the reproductive tract of the young woman, who thus became pregnant by a man she had not been within 100 feet of. And nine months later she gave birth to a healthy baby.

You don't believe it? If it hadn't been published in the very reliable American Heritage magazine (December 1971, page 99, in a story titled, "The Case of the Miraculous Bullet"), I wouldn't have believed it either.

LELAND E. SMITH
NASHVILLE, TENN.

DEAR MR. SMITH: Several years ago I ran that item in this space, which brought me a letter from a 90-year-old South Dakota Indian. He said he had heard a different version of the same story. Only the girl wasn't a Virginia farm girl, she was an Indian maiden who claimed she had been impregnated by a bow and arrow.

Maybe that's where the traditional Indian greeting "How?" originated.

Baylor head allows showing of films

WACO, Texas (AP) — Baylor University's president will allow the Baylor Film Society to show "Long Day's Journey Into Night" and "This is Spinal Tap," two films he earlier said he found questionable.

Herbert Reynolds approved the controversial films after a month of conflict with the film society, school spokesman Keith Randall said Thursday.

"Long Day's Journey Into Night" is a 1962 movie written by Eugene O'Neill in which Katharine Hepburn plays the drug addict wife of a self-centered actor.

"This is Spinal Tap" is a 1984 satirical film directed by Rob Reiner that tells the story of Spinal Tap, an over-the-hill British heavy-metal rock group.

In a story in The Lariat, Baylor student newspaper, Reynolds said he approved "Long Day's Journey Into Night" because the film society ordered a shorter version of the film that does not "use the Lord's name in vain."

Questions? Questions!

What are educational requirements and training for prison guards?

Applicants must have high school diploma or GED. Applications are taken at the TDC and 3 week training course given at Huntsville. Guards make up the bulk of personnel at a prison.

What are salaries of guards and supervisors?

Guards	$13,000 - $22,000
Supervisors	$30,000
Assistant Wardens	$34,000-$38,000
Warden	$47,000-$55,000

The payroll is paid out of Austin - would not be deposited by the state in local banks.

The Economic Development Committee said earlier this year that no more maximum security units would be built - Why the change?

This article by Texas Research League might explain why-

Prison Violence

In 1984, 25 prisoners were killed. In the first 10 months of 1985, 27 inmates have been slain, and there have been 185 non-fatal incidents. During one eight-day period in September, eight slayings were recorded. The magnitude of inmate-to-inmate violence is so alarming that Prison Director McCotter has declared: "We're at war!"

Inmate Against Inmate

Violence is not new in the prison system. The Ruiz decision states: "The evidence makes it clear that the climate in TDC is one of fear and trepidation, engendered by the occurrence of frequent physical and sexual assaults, intimidation, bribery, and rule by threats and violence." Violence against inmates by building tenders (inmates given supervisory authority) and by security officers is described as "nothing short of routine."

The recent wave of violence, however, is between inmates. Rivalry between inmate gangs is believed to be the cause of at least half of prison deaths and many nonfatal stabbings. Prison officials report that gangs are organized by ethnic origin and race—Hispanic, Anglo and Black. Rivalry between two Hispanic gangs, the Texas Syndicate and the Mexican Mafia, is the most intense. So far this year, eleven Hispanics have been killed and five others were victims of non-fatal attacks.

Causes of Violence

There has been much speculation about the causes of the increased prison violence. It is commonly believed that prison gangs are moving into a vacuum created by the abandonment of the building tender system and the failure to hire sufficient staff to replace the tenders.

There are other important factors in the violence equation. First, prison overcrowding is known to increase inmate violence. Second, the general prison population is becoming more violent. Each year, more inmates enter TDC with "aggravated" sentences which require that a mandatory minimum length of sentence be served (one-third of the maximum sentence or 20 calendar years—whichever is less) before the inmate can begin to earn goodtime credits toward parole. These inmates have less to lose by violent behavior—they behave as they did on the "outside." And finally, TDC is now a far more open system, its problems are now public.

Close the door to ringworm

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Two weeks ago red rings appeared on my groin and my arms. My doctor said that I had ringworm and told me to get rid of my cat. Fine, except I have no cat. However, my neighbor's eight cats use my garage for their bathroom and I'm in and out of there several times a day. How do I clear up the ringworm? What is it?

DEAR READER — Ringworm is a term that refers to a group of skin diseases caused by fungus. The lesions are typically itchy and scaly and tend to spread centrifugally in ever-enlarging circles. Several over-the-counter lotions and creams, including Tinactin and Desenex, are useful in curing the infection, which by itself is a harmless annoyance.

Ringworm is a common affliction of domestic animals; humans can catch the infection from dogs and cats.

I think that your fungus condition is going to prove to be less of a problem than your neighbor's eight cats. Allowing them to use your garage is inappropriate, unsanitary and probably places a lot of social pressure on your relations with your neighbor. I suggest that you close your garage door and inform your neighbor that you're no longer in the business of operating a public feline restroom. If your neighbor has such a hankering for cats, let him assume the responsibility for their care. It seems to me that your garage could be put to better use.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My grandson roughhouses with his son, age 2. He takes him by the ankles and swings him 360 degrees. How much is too much?

DEAR READER — I believe that 360 degrees is too much. Children are amazingly adaptive in putting up with adults' wacky behavior. However, swinging a 2-year-old by the ankles in a circle exceeds the boundary of fun and games, unless your grandson is training the youngster for circus work or to be an astronaut.

From a medical standpoint, this activity has the potential for increasing pressure in the brain because of the centrifugal forces generated during swinging. This could cause headaches, blood vessel rupture and head injury (should the child accidentally strike a hard object). An occasional scary swing performed cautiously is probably not harmful. However, I worry that in his enthusiasm, your grandson might inadvertently hurt the child. I suggest that he investigate other, less dangerous recreation.

Dr. Gott's new Health Report on IRRITABLE BOWEL SYNDROME explains the symptoms and management of this common problem. Send $1 and your name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

CRMWD notes deliveries up

BIG SPRING — If water deliveries constitute an economic barometer, things are looking up in the Permian Basin.

Deliveries by the Colorado River Municipal Water District rose by 19.29 percent during October over the same month in 1986. Before too much solace can be taken in this jump, it should be noted that October 1986 was abnormally wet whereas this past October was exceptionally dry. However, October did mark the third consecutive month of gain in deliveries.

Municipal deliveries of 1,321,719,845 gallons were up 27.62 percent, but those of oil companies for secondary recovery were down 29.36 percent at 116,691,627 gallons. Nearly twice the amount of decline is represented in the big SACROC unit in Scurry County ceasing to take water.

During October, Big Spring received 196,815,845 gallons of water, up 9.49 percent; Midland 416,091,300, up 20.35 percent; Snyder 86,119,000 gallons, up 25.56 percent; Odessa 518,815,600 gallons, up 44.23 percent; Stanton 8,659,000, up 68.56 percent.

Universities gain enrollment

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Texas A&M University and the University of Texas at Austin led the nation's largest colleges in enrollment gains this fall, an A&M telephone survey indicates.

Texas A&M had the largest increase among institutions that traditionally lead the nation in student-body size with a gain of 2,531 students for a record enrollment of 39,079, according to the survey released Thursday.

UT, with 1,603 more students for a total of 47,743, compiled the nation's second-largest increase and was in second place. Texas is the only state with two universities in the top 10, the survey showed.

The survey was initiated earlier in the fall, but official enrollment figures for several eastern and midwestern universities have just been released, survey coordinators noted.

The poll showed A&M advanced from 10th last year to eighth among the nation's largest single-campus universities.

Of the eight other institutions that are among the 10 largest in the nation, five reported lower enrollments this year, including Ohio State University which has the largest student body. Ohio State reported a 1987 fall enrollment of 53,115, down 765 from last year.

Other universities among the 10 largest are Rutgers, which slipped to third with a drop of 820 students to 47,719; University of Minnesota-Twin Cities, 44,293, down 713; and University of Wisconsin-Madison, 43,368, down 1,216.

Also, Arizona State, 42,953, up 1,405; Michigan State, 42,096, up 199; University of Maryland-College Park, 38,058, down 581; and Penn State, 36,175, up 1,010.

Included as well in the Texas A&M survey were San Diego State, 35,945, up 1,268; University of Michigan, 35,495, up 648; UCLA, 35,435, up 1,012; University of Florida, 34,060, down 1,034; Indiana University, 33,457, up 1,007; and Purdue, 33,174, up 931.

Prairie View A&M, a Texas A&M University System institution with an enrollment of predominantly black students, registered a student gain of 17.8 percent this fall, for a total enrollment of 5,301.

That was the largest percentage increase in Texas, and the informal survey revealed no larger increases among any of the nation's senior colleges or universities.

Texas and Texas A&M also registered their gains against a backdrop of higher academic standards instituted within the past few years, and both schools adopted policies within the past six weeks to raise standards again as a means of controlling future growth.

Quadriplegic dies in mother's home

HOUSTON (AP) — A quadriplegic who was accused of killing his bride two months ago with a wheelchair-mounted gun triggered by a string in his mouth has died in his home, apparently of natural causes, police say.

James B. Burns died Thursday in the home he shared with his mother, homicide Sgt. H.L. Meyer said.

Although the official cause of death has not been determined, Meyer said it appeared he died of hardening of the arteries and blockage to the heart. Toxicology tests were performed, but results will not be ready for a few days.

Burns had been charged with murder in the Sept. 7 death of his wife Bertha Mae Burns, 37, and was free on bond, police spokesman Dan Turner said. He had been charged in the shooting death on Sept. 10 when a judge set bond at $10,000.

Mrs. Burns was shot in the neck at a bar where she and her husband of two weeks had been talking. Witnesses told police that Mrs. Burns had placed the string in her husband's mouth.

Police said Burns, who was left a quadriplegic after being shot by a previous wife, said he was upset because Mrs. Burns was planning to go to California where her daughter lived.

Burns had told police he jerked his head back accidentally. Three shots fired from the apparatus hit Mrs. Burns, who was sitting directly across from her husband.

Coming down to two cards

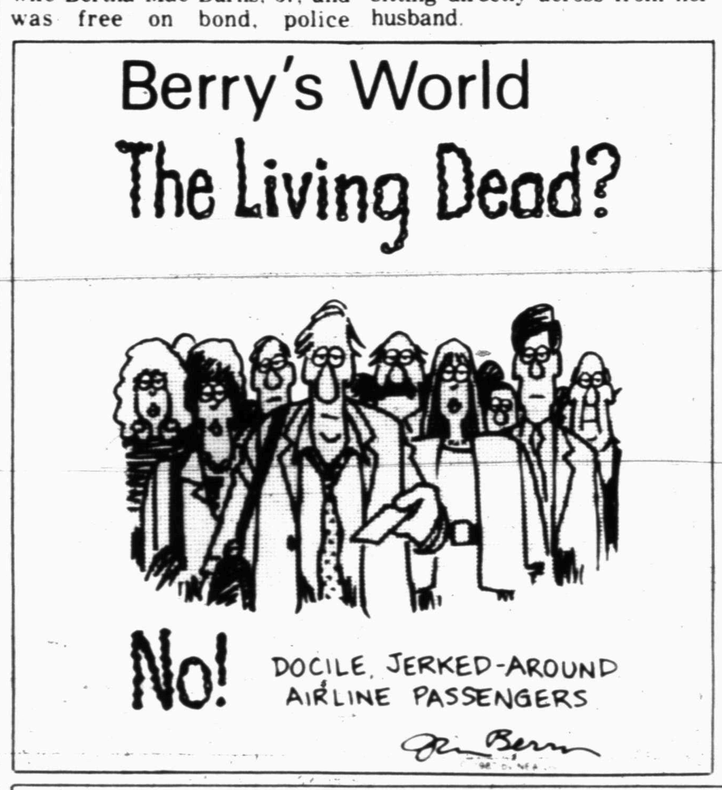

By James Jacoby

Dr. Harold Hays, declarer in today's grand slam contract, wrote a bridge article years ago in which he claimed that doctors are above-average players because they have analytical and problem-solving minds. It's fair to state that his own play of today's deal bears out his contention.

It was reasonable for the doctor to bid the grand slam. Partner could have had the jack of clubs, dummy might have had a doubleton diamond, or the club suit might not have divided so badly. Even so, Dr. Hays proved his mettle in the play. He won his king of clubs and cashed two spades. Then he played a club to dummy's ace, cashed the queen of clubs on which he pitched a diamond, and then cashed his two high diamonds. He next began playing his long trumps, discarding first a diamond and then a club from dummy. Finally came the last trump from declarer. West had to come down to two cards. Since he certainly had to hold on to the high club to keep dummy's seven from being a winner, he blanked his heart queen. That discard enabled declarer to throw the last club from dummy. Now it was up to East. He still had the queen of diamonds and the K-9 of hearts. What should he throw? If a diamond, declarer would cash the seven; if the nine of hearts, declarer would play to dummy's ace, both the queen and the king falling, and the jack would take the 13th trick.

A new book by James Jacoby and his father, the late Oswald Jacoby, is now available at bookstores. It is "Jacoby on Card Games," published by Pharos Books.

WTC falls to Dixie, 112-104; plays Thunderbirds tonight

HOBBS, N.M. -- Dixie College of Utah used a strong transition game to outgun Western Texas College's Westerners 112-104 in the New Mexico Junior College Classic here Thursday night.

"In the second half we were about to tie the game on some free throws and the next time I look up we're 12 points down," said WTC Coach Tony Mauldin. "We'd have a turnover or miss a shot and they would convert it into points. It seemed like we would miss a shot and get our heads down and they would lay it up at the other end."

Western Texas led most of the first half but Dixie edged in front. Leading 54-52, the Utah squad hit a long three-pointer to go up by five at intermission.

"We got down by 18 points in the second half and came back. The kids never quit. We've just got to learn to keep our heads up after we miss a shot or have a turnover and get back on defense," said the coach.

Mauldin said 6-7 sophomore forward-post Harvey Marshman, who has fluid on the knee, is doubtful for tonight's 8 p.m. (MST) ballgame.

Marshman scored 22 points and yanked down 14 rebounds for the Westerners on Thursday. The squad was led offensively by Darrell Nelson's 38 points. Walter Martin notched 14. Leading in assists was Frank Bailey with 7.

Pacing Dixie with 35 points was Richard Ramey. Darrel White had 15, Darwin Russell and Steve Andrus 14 each, Bob Barnes 11 and James Williams 10.

The Westerners are scheduled against tournament host New Mexico Junior College tonight.

"They are going to be tough. They've got a lot of talent," said Mauldin.

WTC Dusters press Lady Pioneers into submission, 71-48

LEVELLAND -- Western Texas College's Lady Dusters bricked up a defensive wall that allowed only 16 second-half points here Thursday and defeated Western Oklahoma in their season opener, 71-48.

Western will continue play in the South Plains Lady Texan Classic through Saturday. The Lady Dusters are scheduled against Seward County today at 4 p.m. and against Northern Oklahoma at 6 p.m. Saturday.

The first half of Thursday's game was a battle between the Dusters' pressing defense and the Western Oklahoma Lady Pioneers' hot shooting.

"Everything they shot went in in the first half," said WTC Coach Kelly Chadwick. "I thought once I was able to talk to the girls at halftime our defense really got better and that made a difference."

Western Oklahoma led as much as 10-7 early in the game but a free throw from Julie Roewe and consecutive baskets from Kayla Thompson, Nickey Allen, Staci Smith and Lisa Houston gave WTC a 16-10 advantage and put the Lady Dusters in front to stay. The lead grew to as many as 10 points, but Oklahoma hit six-of-six free throws in the final 3:25 of the half to stay in the ballgame.

Western Texas led 36-32 at intermission.

Western Oklahoma stayed with the Dusters through the first 11 minutes of the second half. With 8:10 remaining, Jackie Reed put together a three-point play that broke the 10-point barrier, 55-44, and Western Oklahoma was never in the ballgame again. WTC, which had led only 50-44 moments earlier, reeled off 16 unanswered points for a 66-44 advantage.

"For the first game, I didn't think we played all that bad," said Coach Chadwick. "I looked up and a lot of times we had five freshmen on the floor. I thought Julie Roewe and Lisa Houston played well offensively and Staci Smith played really well offensively and defensively."

Western Texas took 11 girls to the game. Erica Bunce was home nursing an ankle sprain and all 11 scored. Roewe led with 15 points while Smith had 12. Thompson 11 and Houston 10.

Crowley, a 5-10 freshmen, had 14 for the Lady Pioneers. Bolz added 8.

Rockets sign Purvis Short

HOUSTON (AP) -- Veteran NBA forward Purvis Short, newly acquired by the Houston Rockets from the Golden State Warriors, says he can't think of a better team to go to under a trade.

The Rockets, sorely in need of a potent outside shooter to take some inside pressure off center Akeem Olajuwon and fellow Twin Tower Ralph Sampson, acquired Short Thursday in exchange for second-year backup center Dave Feitl, a future No. 1 draft choice and cash.

"Purvis is a quality player with a deluxe outside shot," Houston Coach Bill Fitch said. "We are fortunate to obtain a player of his stature, which is evident from the trading price."

Besides Feitl and an undisclosed amount of money, the Rockets are surrendering their top draft pick in either 1989, 1990 or 1991. The pick depends on whether the Rockets are in the draft lottery in any of those years.

"I'm very excited about it. I look forward to playing with the Houston Rockets," Short said. "They're one of the top teams in the league. If a trade had to happen, I couldn't be in a better place."

Short, 30, has averaged 19.4 points per game over a nine-year career with the Warriors, who made him the fifth pick overall in the 1978 draft. He is sixth on the all-time Warriors scoring list with 11,894 points, second in steals with 710 and 10th in assists with 1,709.

Thinks Cougs might turn spoiler...

Upset time is ripe, feels McWilliams

by The Associated Press

David McWilliams is worried that the University of Houston will pick this week to become a spoiler.

"It's probably the most worrisome game a coach can have," the University of Texas coach said. "You're playing in the home of a team that hasn't won a Southwest Conference game, yet they've played a lot of people tough."

The Longhorns, who are 3-0 in SWC play 4-3 overall, are 10-point favorites over the Cougars (1-6, 0-4), who have yet to win a league game for new Coach Jack Pardee. But Houston has played Baylor, Texas A&M and Arkansas close.

"You just know Houston is going to be a spoiler somewhere down the line," McWilliams said. "I just hope it isn't this week. We're going to have to play with a good deal of emotion to make sure that doesn't happen."

Texas and Houston tangle at the Astrodome in the only night game - 7 p.m. CST - on the SWC schedule this week.

In other games that feature Arkansas and Texas Christian trying to stay alive in the SWC chase, the Razorbacks (6-2, 4-1) host Baylor (5-3, 2-2) at 1 p.m. in Fayetteville, while the Horned Frogs (5-3, 3-1) are on the road for a noon (Raycom regional TV) meeting with Texas Tech in Lubbock.

Arkansas rated a 14-point favorite over well-rested Baylor, which was idle last week.

TCU was a one-point pick over the Red Raiders, who play tough in Jones Stadium where they upset defending champion Texas A&M in September.

The Aggies and the Rice Owls are idle this week.

Arkansas has a bone to pick with Baylor. The Bears knocked the Hogs out of the Cotton Bowl race last year with 17 points in the fourth quarter for a 29-14 victory in Waco.

"Baylor has a typically physical team," said Arkansas Coach Ken Hatfield. "Every game we've played against them has gone to the wire. I don't expect this to be any different."

He added, "I'm sure Baylor welcomed the open date. They got off to a great start then slipped in their last two conference games. The week off gave them time to regroup and get healthy."

The TCU-Tech series couldn't be closer. It's knotted at 20-20-3. The Red Raiders have won the last two times, defeating TCU 36-14 last year in Fort Worth and 63-7 in Lubbock in 1985.

"It's kinda hard to have very many fond memories of Texas Tech in Lubbock," said TCU defensive tackle Kent Tramel. "The last time we played out there, I think (Tech quarterback) Billy Joe Tolliver set about every imagineable passing record except those in the NFL."

Snyder junior varsity dumps Steers from Big Spring, 21-7

Snyder junior varsity came up with a strong second-half effort to nail Big Spring here Thursday night, 21-7 at Travis Field.

Big Spring scored first on a 6-yard run in the first quarter to take a 7-0 lead. Snyder came back to tie the game on a 15-yard pass from Toby Goodwin to Greg Kiker and an extra-point boot by Bert Merritt.

The young Tigers took control with the first offensive play of the second half when Jason Presley snapped free on a 50-yard touchdown run. Merritt's kick-after made it a 14-7 ballgame.

Snyder finished out the scoring late in the game when Presley crossed over on a 15-yard scamper. Merritt again kicked the extra point.

"We came out and dominated the ballgame the second half," said Snyder Coach Kenneth Pruitt. "Offensively, Kevin Murdock was responsible for two of our touchdowns with blocks he made. We just had a super effort defensively and offensively the second half."

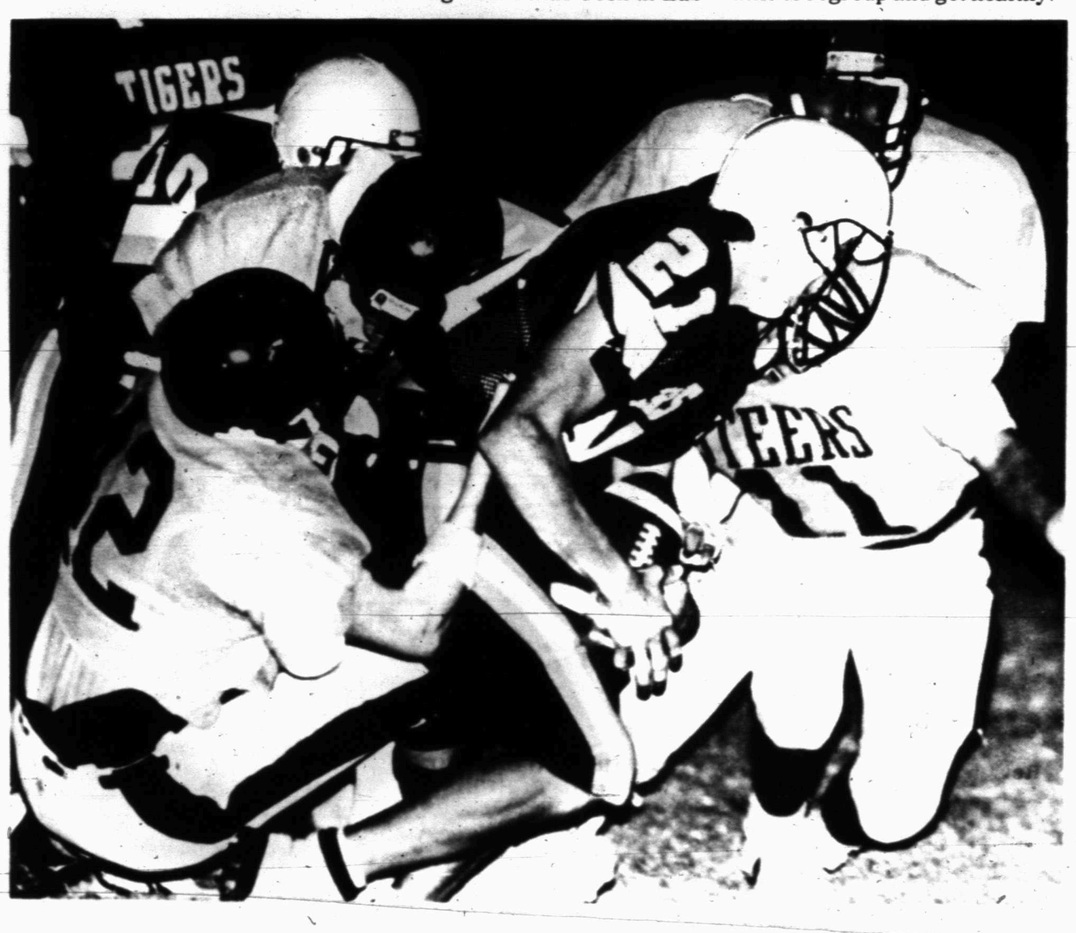

Presley ran up 118 yards worth of yards in the game while Charles Guynes had 40. The Tigers notched 240 rushing and hit 3 of 11 passes for 40 yards.

Big Spring managed 152 rushing and 47 passing on a 4 of 17 effort.

Both teams had 12 first downs.

Jody Iglehart intercepted a Steers pass. Merritt recovered a fumble to stop a late Big Spring drive and Trey Wilson picked up a loose ball to set up Snyder's first score.

Snyder, now 6-2 on the season, plays in Lamesa next Thursday, Nov. 12.

Ladies give good effort in scrimmage

LUBBOCK -- Coach Ken Housden's Lady Tigers squared off against Lubbock in basketball scrimmage action here Thursday and the Snyder mentor was pleased with the results.

"It went real well. We played seven quarters. We won five of them and Lubbock High won two," said Housden. "They had a large ballclub and it got real physical but we out-rebounded them. Some of these girls had only worked out three times and I was pleased."

Housden looked at a dozen girls during the scrimmage, five of whom were moved up from last year's varsity team.

"Our press worked pretty well, I thought. Especially considering we're still a little out of shape," he noted.

Next scrimmage action for the girls will be Thursday, Nov. 12, when Snyder entertains Klondike and Roscoe beginning at 4:45 p.m. in the high school gym.

Frosh shut out Steers to post another victory

BIG SPRING -- Snyder scored from long distance to defeat Big Spring in a freshmen football game here Thursday, 26-0.

The young Tigers got on the scoreboard early in the first quarter when Paul Anderson shook loose for a 50-yard TD scamper. The PAT failed.

In the second quarter, Shelby Bufkin broke free on a 42-yard run. The try-for-two was successful as Terry Stephens connected on a pass with Terry Snyder.

The Tigers' third touchdown came on another 50-yard run - this time by Dewayne Cato. The point-after try was no good.

The visitor's final TD was scored by Terry Snyder on a 45-yard pass interception return.

"We came up with the big play once again," said Coach Albert Lewis. "Our defense came through. We stopped Big Spring three times inside the 5-yard line. It was nice to revenge the loss we had to Big Spring earlier this year (14-0). We've improved a whole lot since then."

Bufkin had 75 yards on seven carries while Anderson managed 72 yards on 10 carries. Cato picked up 59 yards on five tries, Terry Snyder 25 on four and Stephens 12 on two.

Anderson caught one pass for 10 yards. Carlton Sanders snared one for 15 yards.

Now 3-5 on the season, Snyder will entertain Lamesa at Travis Field next Thursday, Nov. 12.

Suit may delay 3A playoffs

PORT ISABEL, Texas (AP) - Tonight's football games in District 32-3A would normally produce a clear champion, but a continuing dispute threatens to throw the 3A playoffs into limbo statewide.

Port Isabel's Tarpons have filed suit in state district court over a two-game penalty the University Interscholastic League imposed on them. The school obtained a temporary injunction to prevent the UIL from enforcing the penalty which threatens its chances of entering the Class 3A playoffs.

The local dispute could end up delaying the statewide Class 3A playoffs, which are set to begin a week from today, said Bill Farney, the UIL's athletic director.

Port Isabel received the penalty after admitting it held illegal 11-on-11 scrimmages last spring. UIL rules prohibit schools from holding early full practices before a given date so they won't gain unfair advantage over their opponents.

The temporary restraining order kept 5-0-1 Port Isabel in the running tonight, when the district title is supposed to be decided.

It did not sit well, however, with the third-place 5-1-1 Sharyland of Mission, whose chances would rise considerably with Port Isabel out of the race.

Sharyland Rattlers head coach Bucky Rodriguez said he thinks the Port Isabel litigation endangers high school football across the state.

"We feel the rules were made by UIL," Rodriguez said. "They govern our sports and everything. If we're going to appeal, it should be to them instead of somebody on the outside who doesn't really understand.

"It's a big thing for the UIL, because it would take away all their power if they don't win," Rodriguez said.

He said some individuals are considering legal action of their own to have the penalty enforced.

"The reason we started the whole thing was we felt the penalty was too harsh," said Superintendent Martin Pena with Port Isabel's Point Isabel Independent School District.

He said the district considers the order to forfeit two games excessive, since it assisted in reporting the violations.

"We felt imposing a two-game penalty on us had all the potential of it resulting in eliminating us from the playoffs," Pena said.

Third-place Sharyland still has a chance Friday if it beats La Feria and if Port Isabel is out of the running.

Tonight in Big Spring...

Snyder expects to find Steers tough

BIG SPRING -- Snyder Coach Dennis Tomlin says his Tigers will be going against an underrated team here tonight when they kickoff against the Big Spring Steers in a District 2-4A gridiron matchup.

The game is scheduled for an 8 p.m. start.

"They have a real good football team. If they put it all together, they are probably one of the two or three best teams in the district. I see signs of them being as good as they were last year," he said. "You know, they were picked to win the district."

Big Spring is 4-4 overall and 3-3 in district play. The primary reason the Steers haven't made a run at the playoffs this season is they haven't been able to hang on to the football. They have fumbled 46 times and recovered 28 of them. They also have seven interceptions.

"I'm not sure they are not the best defensive team against the run that we will have played so far," lauded Tomlin. "They are giving up 255 yards (running and passing) a game, but that's because those turnovers have given people a lot more tries at them."

Defensive standouts are tackle Kyle Carroll and linebackers Kenneth Banks and Matt Burrow. All three weigh in at 210 pounds. Carroll and Banks are returning starters.

Offensively, the Steers revolve around senior tailback Charles White, a 6-0, 195-pounder who has 744 yards and eight touchdowns on 135 carries. White has also caught 11 passes for 67 steps.

In the backfield with him will be Bruce Jones, who has 406 yards on 78 carries.

Snyder goes into the contest looking for its second win of the season. The Ragin' Tigers are 1-7 overall and 1-5 in loop competition. The season ends next week as the Tigers entertain Lamesa.

In other 2-4A contests this evening, Sweetwater hosts Andrews, Pecos treks to Fort Stockton and Lamesa reluctantly welcomes Monahans.

TEA rescinds TEAMS ranking

number applying for the free lunch program--or classified as "limited" in their use of the English language.

The formula came about, school officials noted, after the TEAMS test ranking was released last year. Those scores prompted complaints from districts with predominantly minority students, who appealed to the state that they were being unfairly singled out since the factors of students with poor English usage was not being considered.

The updated state formula taking into account minority and low income students was an apparent effort to counteract this.

The resulting outcry of other school districts has now apparently negated this action.

In the release from TEA, it was noted the agency will return to using the actual TEAMS test scores for its ranking. It was noted the agency would focus on campuses scoring below a certain level on an "average TEAMS scaled score."

Dr. Tom Scannicchio, assistant superintendent for curriculum, noted this score is not necessarily associated with actual test score ranking.

As to what factors are included in the "scaled score," he said this was another state-generated formula.

The state indicated it would particularly focus on districts with a scaled score below 718, targeting "special technical assistance" for these districts.

Regarding Snyder High School, Scannicchio said its scaled score was 797, which he described as "well above" the state's level for "technical assistance."

Runway repairs awaiting asphalt

Turner said the runway paving will take about two weeks. He noted he is hoping for good weather because the temperature must be at least 45 degrees and rising for runway asphalt to be laid.

He said he is satisfied with the smoothness of the runway, having driven its length at 75 and 80 mph with one finger on the steering wheel as a test.

meeting in the TU Electric Reddy Room and was later elected president of the new organization. Rick Hall of the American Heart Association was elected vice president, Barbara Williamson of the American Business Women secretary and Lee McNair of the Rotary Club treasurer.

Robertson said Friday that a meeting to elect a board of directors will be at 4 p.m. next Thursday at TU Electric.

Robertson and Trimble made a quick tour of low-income areas in Snyder Thursday and noted about 30 homes that appeared to need new roofs, he said.

He said fund-raising will be all local and that he expects to need a minimum of $600 to $1,000 per home.

SHERI LYN SMITH

Smith named to HPU court

BROWNWOOD--Sheri Lyn Smith, a 1985 graduate of Snyder High School, was named a member of the 1987 homecoming court at Howard Payne University, during a recent campus-wide election.

Smith, the daughter of Dan Smith of Colorado City and Lilith Smith of Snyder, was formally presented during halftime activities of HPU's homecoming football game against Panhandle State University October 31.

Smith is currently a junior accounting major. She stays active with the Baptist Student Union, intramural sports and co-chairman of orientation.

Her honors include sophomore class favorite nominee and Sumners Scholar.

After graduation, Smith hopes to obtain a CPA license and own her own accounting firm.

Placid sale now possible

DALLAS (AP) — Placid Oil Co., the Dallas Hunt brothers' firm that is one of the world's largest independent oil firms, might have to be sold to a major oil company to satisfy its enormous $803 million bank debt.

U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Harold Abramson made that solution a possibility Thursday by allowing the banks to file their own plan of debt reorganization for the company.

Abramson stopped short of permitting the banks to actively seek bids for Placid, however. The banks asked that they be allowed to use Shearson Lehman Brothers Inc., a New York investment banking firm, to find a buyer for Placid.

Abramson declined that suggestion, saying solicitation without the support of Placid would only drive down the bid price.

"It's destructive to let the banks and Shearson start shopping, unless both sides can work together on that," Abramson said.

Later in the hearing, Abramson again cautioned the banks against the disruptive influence of soliciting hostile bids for Placid.

"Unless you two get together, ... you'll have people all over (Wall) Street saying, 'Can I buy all of it for junk bonds?' or 'Can I assume part of the debt?'" Abramson said. "I do want to see the banks' plan ... but I don't want to destroy the process with a lot of scavengers."

The Dallas Hunt brothers — Nelson Bunker, William Herbert and Lamar — filed Placid and Herbert's trust in bankruptcy last August to block their 23 bank creditors from foreclosing on the collateral.

Yeutter calls trade accord historical

MEXICO CITY (AP) — U.S. Trade Representative Clayton K. Yeutter, traveling to Mexico City to sign a new trade agreement between the United States and Mexico, said the measure had "historical significance" in improving ties between the two neighbors.

"It places our nations on the road to better trade relations for what I hope will be many years to come," Yeutter said Thursday in a statement prepared for delivery on his arrival at Mexico City's international airport.

"Improved trade relations hold the prospect for future economic growth and stability and jobs for workers on both sides of the border," he said in the statement released by the U.S. Embassy.

Yeutter and Mexican Commerce Secretary Hector Hernandez were scheduled Friday morning to sign the agreement, which sets up a framework for consultations between the two countries on troublesome trade issues.

Officials have said the two countries currently have no way to require the other side to discuss a thorny issue.

The United States, which runs a trade deficit with Mexico, is Mexico's largest trading partner. U.S producers exported $12.4 billion worth of goods to Mexico last year and imported $17.6 billion from Mexico.

Under the new trade agreement, either country may ask for consultations with the other "on any matter concerning bilateral trade and investment relations, including trade and investment opportunities and problems."

According to the agreement, a copy of which was released by the embassy, the discussions must be held within 30 days of the request, unless a later date is agreed on.

If a trade dispute is not resolved within 30 days of the first meeting, it said, either country "may seek other means of settlement," including through the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade. GATT is the world's main multilateral trading system to which more than 90 countries belong.

If a dispute over investment practices is not settled within 30 days of the first meeting, it said, either country "may use other means consistent with its domestic law and international obligations."

The agreement also calls for annual discussions to review the countries' trade and investment relationships.

In addition, the measure lists 14 principles guiding the countries' trading partnership.

They include the recognition that Mexico is a developing country, export earnings are important for paying foreign debts, and foreign investment helps economic growth, jobs creation and technology transfer.

Attached to the agreement is an "immediate action agenda" that sets out seven areas for discussions within 90 days of the signing of the agreement.

The issues are: textiles, steel, agricultural products, investment matters, technology transfer and intellectual property rights, electronics and services.

Some of the areas have been particularly troublesome for the trading partners.

U.S. officials, for example, have complained about Mexican rules that limit foreign investment, generally to 49 percent ownership of companies in Mexico. They also are unhappy with a lack of protection provided under Mexican law for intellectual property rights, such as patents and copyrights.

Mexico wants the United States to reduce its import quotas and other restrictions on textile, steel and agricultural products so that Mexican exporters can send more of their goods across the border.

Serious discussions on the measure began in February, and negotiators for both sides reached agreement on Oct. 20.

Final results say 50 counties okayed local option betting

DALLAS (AP) — Fifty of 56 Texas counties voting on the issue have decided to let their residents place pari-mutuel bets, final results from this week's general election show.

Both local and statewide approval is needed before the legalized gambling at the race track can be allowed in a county. The statewide referendum passed with a 57 percent to 43 percent margin, but approval came by margins of more than 2-to-1 in Bexar and Travis counties.

Final results from Tuesday's election, as compiled by the Secretary of State's office, showed a vote of 85,111 to 30,742 in Bexar County, which includes San Antonio, and a vote of 71,640 to 32,162 in Travis County, where Austin is located.

In Harris County, the vote was 217,119 to 162,249 in favor, and in Tarrant County, the measure passed 97,620 to 76,068.

Voting was conducted simultaneously Tuesday in 56 Texas counties on the local option question, and it passed in all but six rural counties — Grayson, Lipscomb, Nacogdoches, Shelby, Swisher and Van Zandt.

Because pari-mutuel passed at the state level and local voters approved the option, large race tracks may be established near Houston, San Antonio, and Dallas-Fort Worth, where the measure won overwhelming approval.

Smaller race tracks in counties which approved the local option also may have pari-mutuel betting, but will likely have shorter racing seasons.

A state racing commission, to be appointed by Gov. Bill Clements, will have to approve track permits in the counties that opted for betting.

Many counties that decided the local-option question already had horse tracks without legalized gambling.

Cameron County — the only county voting on both greyhound and horse betting — gave the nod to each. Greyhound betting also was approved by voters in two other coastal counties, Galveston and Nueces.

Lioness will become part of special display

CRYSTAL BEACH, Texas (AP) — A lioness almost put to death after biting a man will be part of a zoological garden exhibit being built by her owner.

Mike Kujawa bought the 310-pound African lioness, named Shanda, for a pet 17 months ago when she was 4 weeks old. But five months later, Galveston County officials told him he couldn't keep her as a pet.

Instead of getting rid of the animal, Kujawa decided to build the Crystal Beach Zoological Gardens, where he plans to display Shanda along with alligators, armadillos and peacocks. He hopes to open the zoo in time for next summer's tourist season.

"After five months, I wouldn't give her up when they said I couldn't keep her as a pet," Kujawa said Thursday. "This is the only way I could keep her and not call her a pet, so I'll display her."

In October, Shanda bit one of Kujawa's former employees several times after he fell on her. Although the bites were minor, Galveston County Health District officials wanted Shanda destroyed so her brain could be examined for rabies.

Kujawa obtained a temporary restraining order until an Oct. 22 court hearing when the former employee agreed to take rabies immunization shots.

As part of the agreement with county officials, Kujawa must keep Shanda from human contact for just over six weeks.

"It's better than having to put her to sleep," Kujawa said.

A few days before the incident, a lion mauled a little girl at a Houston flea market. The lion was put to sleep after the attack.

"If it hadn't been for the Houston incident, I don't think this would have been a major incident," Kujawa claims.

Until the Oct. 13 incident, Kujawa said he had no problems with Shanda. He said he doubts Shanda would ever attack him, but he won't take chances when he enters her cage or the loft.

"I have a 50,000-volt stun gun to use if I saw blood flying and couldn't get out," he said. "But I don't think I could ever get her to bite me."

Shanda's diet includes vitamins and six to eight chicken leg quarters a day.

Join Us To Help Snyder Grow

In an ideal world there would be no need for prisons - let alone a prison in Snyder.

In an ideal world each person would have a job (or oil royalties, or cattle, etc.), and be able to support their family.

But we live in the real world - where the oil downturn has left many husbands and fathers out of work.

Where businesses have been forced to close or go bankrupt.

Where people are leaving to find jobs elsewhere.

Snyder cannot be allowed to become a ghost town, inhabited by a few independently wealthy people. That's not the "Progress" so many have worked for over the years.

Snyder with a prison won't be Gatesville, or Huntsville, or anywhere else. It will still be Snyder. And we can make it the best "prison town" or the worst "prison town." It's up to us.

After all, prisoners are still people. And Snyder has always been a good place for people.

Maybe with our schools, and churches, and library and citizens, we can be good for the prison, - while the prison can be good for us.

Join with us to help Snyder grow...
