We have been bemoaning the decline and fall of English grammar in the United States. Every news story we read has "the woman that" or "the man that," that instead of who. We find it deplorable, but we see it so much we are beginning to wonder if it won't become acceptable in the future.

To "continue on" has become acceptable apparently. We hear it on the tube and read it in the paper. However, we maintain to "continue" is quiet sufficient.

We've seen "it's" used so often as possessive, we've become absolutely paranoid. We are going to use it's as the contraction for it is as long as we are able, and hope we never forget that "its" is the possessive for it. Example, "the chair with its broken leg," and "it's time to go."

We've had to accept "Ms." for Miss or Mrs. due to limited space in headlines, but we don't like it. It's just an irritating convenience, like hiway for highway.

Other often misused forms are bad and badly, good and well, real and really. So often you hear "I'm sorry you feel badly." It would be just as well to say "sorry you feel ily or sickly." To feel badly" is to imply you are feeling something in an imperfect manner. When one is sick, they feel bad. A good rule to remember is "adjectives never modify adjectives, adverbs modify adjectives."

Good grief how on earth did I get off on this English lesson. I believe it is time I continue on.

We have a wealth of "letters to the editor" this week. You'll find them on pages 2 and 8. They are all from members of the hospital staff. Perhaps some of you with a different opinion might like to write next week.

Ozona firemen deal with hazardous chemical leak

Ozona volunteer firemen had an opportunity to put their knowledge of hazardous chemicals to work Saturday evening and night when a truck driver discovered a drum of Ethylenediamine had ruptured in his van loaded with drums of the chemical.

The chemical, which is used in permanent press fabrics as well as a preservative for mayonnaise, is among the most hazardous chemicals known to man in its concentrated form. Firemen were required to use air masks, hats, gloves and other protective clothing and unloaded one-third of the truck before they found the leading drum. Highly corrosive, flammable, and toxic, it must neither be breathed nor

The call from the Circle Bar Truck Corral came into the Fire Department around 5:26 Saturday afternoon. The driver of the truck discovered the leaking chemical while on I-10, pulled off and stopped on the caliche in front of the Circle Bar, immediately abandoning the truck.

Ozona firemen, who had learned about hazardous chemicals at A&M fire school, got their first chance to deal with that kind of situation. They called Chem-Trex, a nationwide organization with expertise in the field, and were told what procedures to follow.

A subsequent call to Dow Chemical sent men with equipment to seal the drum by jet out of Houston.

Meanwhile Ozona firemen were running out of air packs. These were replaced by the Delta plant, and the Big Lake and Sonora fire departments. Cecil Hedrick, with the Highway Department, brought sand to bury the drum, and the Crockett County Ambulance stood by. Members of the department returned to the fire station at 3:15 Sunday morning after securing the area.

During the chemical alert, another crew was called out at 7:32 p.m. Saturday where a fire had been reported behind the Mt. Zion Baptist Church at a workshop. The fire was out when the truck arrived. Returning to town smoke was reported in the tax collector's office in the courthouse annex. Firemen found a ballast shorted out in the fluorescent lights. Firemen repaired the light with no harm done. Sonora lost a room in the courthouse last week under these same conditions.

Saturday morning firemen answered their third call from a small boy who called in a water heater explosion. This time the false alarm was reported at Al Ramirez grocery. They returned to the station after checking it out.

Classes start Monday

Classes start Monday at all Ozona schools. Registration was completed by the end of last week for all classes. Officials declined to give registration figures until the first day of classes are completed, in order the count may be more accurate.

Generous rain for Ozona and county

Good general rains over West Texas during the weekend left a fair share for Ozona and Crockett County. The official rainfall for Ozona amounted to 1.56 inches, according to the Water District gauge.

However, many parts of the county reported more rainfall. The Kenley ranch in extreme south Crockett County recorded 4.5 inches, and ranches in the north reported 3 inches and more in places. There were no reports from the western section of the county, but rainfall generally amounted to around two inches east of town.

Coming on the heels of the inch and a half rainfall the previous week, the slow drenching rain did much to alleviate the drought. Lightning displays late Saturday night signaled the rain to come. Booming thunder and brilliant displays of lightning sounded the onset of the storm, but by 5:00 a.m. Sunday the rain had settled down to a gentle downpour which cleared around noon. The temperatures also dropped, but were hot and muggy by mid-afternoon Sunday.

So far August has been the second best month of the year for rainfall. In May, the biggest rainfall month, a total of 3.06 inches was recorded. The only other month when as much as an inch of rain fell was January, when exactly one inch was recorded. Other months fell far short of normal, with not even a trace of rain in July when record heat was recorded. A total of .57 of an inch was recorded the first part of June, but record heat and dry weather made the last half of the month one for the records.

February contributed .39 of an inch of rainfall, followed by March with .45 of an inch. April showers only brought .20 of an inch, for an annual total of 8.63 inches so far.

The long term outlook calls for more hot, dry weather before the first cold snap, but Texans in general and West Texans in particular are hoping the worst part of summer is over.

Three arrested; one sentenced

Three men were arrested and one sentenced to prison this week in cases related to crimes committed in Crockett County.

Joaquin Medina, charged with connection in the June 19 fire at the Crockett County Jail, was sentenced to two years in the State Penitentiary in Huntsville. Medina and William Copenhaver had been arrested at the Circle Bar, June 19, where they were taken off the bus and charged with disorderly conduct and public intoxication. Medina was the first man rescued from the burning jail by county firemen when Sheriff Billy Mills discovered the early-morning blaze, which fire officials determined was set in a stack of mattresses. The two prisoners were treated for smoke inhalation at Shannon Hospital in San Angelo. Copenhaver is still undergoing treatment at John Sealy Hospital in Galveston, where skin grafts are being done. In other action, Crockett County Sheriff's Department officials assisted Roundrock Police officers in apprehending a kidnapper on Lancaster Hill, Friday. Charles E. Padgett was arrested and charged with kidnapping in connection with the disappearance of an 18 year old female. The woman was with Padgett at the time of the arrest, according to Roundrock officials.

Unofficial reports said Padgett, from El Paso, had kidnapped two girls in a tear across central Texas, but only one young woman was with Padgett at the time of his arrest, and the report was unconfirmed by the sheriff's department. Also unconfirmed was a report that Padgett was armed and dangerous at the time of his arrest near a roadside park on Lancaster Hill.

Over the weekend, two Ozona men were sentenced to 90 days in the Crockett County jail on charges of resisting arrest. Jailed were Beto Vargas and John Fierro, Jr., who were arrested for unexplained "acts committed," according to a sheriff's department official.

Businesses change hands here

Several Ozona businesses have changed hands recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Skains have taken over Carlisle Motor Co. from Dub Carlisle and have named it Skains Motor Co.

Charlie and Becky Sizemore purchased Sheppard Funeral Home which will be Sizemore Funeral Home in the future.

Mrs. Sonny Kirklen purchased the Montgomery Ward agency from Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Robinson.

Pet Show Saturday

The Annual Chamber of Commerce Pet Show will be held Saturday, August 23, at 9:30 a.m. in the downtown park. All children 12 years of age and under are eligible.

Four trophies will be given. They will go to the prettiest, ugliest, best dressed and most unusual.

Lions begin practice for football season

A total of 77 aspiring football players reported August 11 for the first two-day workout sessions. Among this number are 16 returning lettermen, which should give the Lions a boost toward the district title this year.

Fans will have their first glimpse of the Lions Friday night when both the junior varsity and the varsity will scrimmage with their Coahoma rivals on the local field.

Led by head coach Don Sessom, with assistants Tommy Wilson, Wayne Palmer, David Porter, David McWilliams and Pete Maldonado, the Ozona Lions have displayed a positive attitude, and excellent determination and a desire to make this a year to be remembered.

Joining the coaching staff this year are coaches Don

Payne, who will be assisting head junior high coach Gene Hood, and Basil Freeman, who along with Thomas DeHoyos, will be working with the junior high football program.

Weaver services Sunday

Funeral services for Mayme Lee Weaver, 71, were held Sunday at Ozona United Methodist Church with burial in Cedar Hill Cemetery under the direction of Sizemore Funeral Home. Mrs. Weaver died Friday in Crockett County Hospital. She was born Sept. 24, 1908 in San Angelo and worked at the Diagnostic Hospital in Houston until her retirement a few years ago, when she moved to Ozona.

Survivors include her daughter, Mrs. Roy (Margie) Coates of Ozona, two sisters, Mrs. C.D. Smoote and Mrs. J.H. Davidson, both of San Angelo, 3 grandchildren and 6 great grandchildren.

Season tickets for the six home games will be on sale at the Superintendent's office after August 22. Tickets will be $12 per seat for the 6 home games.

The first game will be against Sonora, here, Sept. 5. The first district game will be with Junction, Oct. 3, also here. Other district opponents will be Wall, Eldorado, Mason, Menard and Big Lake.

Services for gunshot victim

Funeral services for Sam Cope, 18, were held Monday afternoon at First Baptist Church in Lamesa.

Young Cope was killed in a gun accident about 7:30 Saturday evening while he, his brother and a friend were target practicing.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Cope of Lamesa, and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Fowler of Floydada. Mrs. Pete North and Mrs. Joe Friend are great aunts.

THE PROGRESSIVE MAJORITY

By Edwin Feulner

Yes, people are for progress — at least in principle. Yet, what they have been getting in recent years is the antithesis of progress — a stable-state, no-growth society tied to the idea that America has reached its zenith and now has to make do with less. It's an idea that's unfortunately beginning to catch on.

In his new book, The War Against Progress (Storm King Publisher, New York), Fortune magazine's Herbert E. Meyer argues that this drift into despair has been carefully orchestrated by a small, but very powerful and determined band of new-class social activists, who for both sincere and other reasons reject the essential components of progress: scientific discovery, technological innovation, and economic growth.

Meyer disagrees with the belief of these people (dubbed the "conservator cult" in another recent book, Power Grab by James A. Weber, Arlington House), that we have exhausted our resources, and abused our ability to control the environment in which we live. He also disagrees with the cultist view that scientists and engineers — the architects of modern society — are responsible for creating a dirty and dangerous world; and with the view that the world is quickly running out of resources and room.

Still, these ideas persist, and are given ample opportunity to flourish, both by the political process and by the apparent resignation of the progressive majority, which is just now starting to organize itself the way the other side has been organized for years (witness the 1,000 in attendance at the recent National Conference on Energy Advocacy in Chicago).

What does the scorecard look like right now?

Well, Meyer says, at best it's a stalemate, but even that's arguable.

What at first seems like a string of unconnected incidents is all part of the systematic "no-growth" strategy, Meyer says.

For example, Alaska's resource-rich lands may never be rationally developed. Both by litigation and through political arm-twisting, the no-growthers have prevented exploration and development of many other areas thought to hold significant energy deposits. Their objection to technology resulted in the death of America's entry into supersonic transportation (an opportunity quickly seized upon by the British and French with their joint construction of "Concorde"), and threatens to do the same to nuclear power. Science is under attack. And even housing is now coming under restrictive quotas in some areas, where the no-growthers have convinced people that they are already overcrowded.

Social activists want more than a clean and safe world. Their concerns lie beyond natural resources and room that people need. They advocate collective or governmental ownership and control of the means of production and distribution of goods.

Meyer points out that expanded opportunities for people are a by-product of jobs, jobs a by-product of economic growth, growth a by-product of technological innovation, and technology a by-product of scientific research. Just as a rising tide lifts all boats, he says, economic growth helps everyone.

The War Against Progress is a war against us all. It's one that we can't afford to lose.

(Feulner is president of The Heritage Foundation, a Washington-based public policy research organization.)

AUSTIN — As expected, the Texas delegation to the Democratic National Convention stood firm in supporting the renomination of President Jimmy Carter.

A question to be asked now is, will Texas backers of Mass. Sen. Ted Kennedy come to join Carter's reelection bid.

Several Texas black leaders are reportedly disillusioned, not at Carter, but at leaders of the Texas delegation.

And among Kennedy liberals, grumblings may be heard that the race should be thrown to Republican nominee Ronald Reagan, who they feel will botch things so badly by 1984 that the Oval Office then could go only to Kennedy.

On the other hand, some Carter supporters feel the President stands ready to carry this state in the Nov. 4 general election, whether Kennedy campaigns for him here or not. According to one, "Reagan picked one Texan, George Bush, but Carter has filled the federal government with appointed Texans. If he will turn them loose on the campaign trail, he will carry Texas."

The political drama will unfold by itself during the next two-and-a-half months. Meanwhile, Texas Republicans stand cool and alert, ready for the fray.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

August 12, 1980

Dear Kitty,

I sure did miss my Ozona paper last week, so from now on I'll make a point of getting my subscription in on time, even if I'm out of town (Overton).

I really enjoy reading about old friends and the people I've worked with all those years.

We really miss our friends from Ozona. You know its true what the people who have moved from Ozona say, "we really miss everyone we knew."

Tell everyone hello for us. Bill and Paula Blackburn Overton, Texas

Dear Kitty,

Crockett County Hospital is no different than any other hospital, all hospitals have problems.

The problem in Ozona is that if a small mistake is made, the whole town has had the version passed around until you would think there was a major catastrophe. On the other hand, you let the hospital do something good for people, you never hear a word. For instance, can you recall the article written to you concerning the local physician, who repaired a young man's badly mangled hand a year ago New Years' Day? The man's plastic surgeon (a specialist) stated the hand had been repaired beautifully and that the patient would be able to regain function of his hand.

I, myself, have never seen the likes of Ozona, where a portion of the community had such strong feelings about closing the hospital verses keeping it not only open, but productive and beneficial to the people.

For the people who have been patient and understanding of the needs of the hospital I would like to thank you. Believe me, we are trying to improve patient care, nursing education, and with keeping expenses conceivably low, which is not easy when you need new and improved equipment.

The people who feel that we have been losing money uselessly, I wish could realize that to up-date a hospital, which has not been kept up-to-date for the last 10 years or maybe even longer, it is going to mean many dollars!

I hope that those so strongly opposed to keeping the hospital open, will keep in mind these few thoughts:

1. That your two year old child or grandchild does not accidentally ingest a corrosive poison;

2. That you, your spouse, or parent does not have a Cardiac Arrest;

3. That you or your employees are not seriously injured on the job;

4. That you or your loved ones are never seriously burned;

5. That you are not in a serious car accident;

Because if you don't have this hospital to stabilize and treat your critical injuries; you might find that in that hour to an hour and a half, it will take you to get to San Angelo to see your specialist, it might be too late!

Thanks for your support to your local hospital.

Marge Baggett RN

P.S. Remember, if you should have a Cardiac Arrest or any other critical condition, we won't say, Sorry, Mr. McKinzie or Mr. Curtis, we can't do a thing for you. You will have to go another 84 miles to see a Cardiologist or any specialist. We will give you a second chance though, if you want it!

To the Editor:

I am one voice of the hospital who resents the statement of Mr. Larry Curtis, on the quality of medical care that can be given at, quote "the local hospital in Ozona." To Ozonans we are a proper noun, "Crockett County Hospital."

Before the first of the year, C.Sections, gall bladders, appendix, resuscitation, and etc; were sent to out of town medical care hospitals. No more, we have done them here and we will continue doing them here.

I realize that Mr. Curtis is not educated in the medical field as I am not educated in electronics but, I am educated somewhat in the oil-patch. This oil-patch is where I grew up. My father being a drilling contractor and owning 3 wells of his own.

You cannot take a birds eye view of any constructive value. Oil is a constructive value--Human life is the root of being to oil.

We are here for total patient care. Our only problem-we cannot give total patient care if we do not have the necessary equipment. However we have been upgraded since the first of the year with some equipment that is compared to medical centers.

We planted a seed in January, sure it cost money. The crop has not come to harvest, it takes months to reap what you have sown. Give us time and we will produce the almighty dollar.

True many hospitals are faced with the problem such as qualified medical care. What is qualified medical care? Who are specialists? Someone who diagnoses and treats a special injury or disease. Someone that needs open heart surgery, someone that is dying of cancer and needs Chemotherapy, someone who needs to have a brain scan or nuclear medicine. No, we cannot provide you the people of Ozona with this total patient care. But how many people need this kind of specialists in Ozona. We are talking of the every day needs of hospital care. Your child falling from his bike and getting a cut on the head, your parents choking on food, rig accidents, car wrecks, heart attacks, common diseases, giving birth, gallbladder surgery, emergency appendectomy, this could go on all day. Because of the nature of some onsets of illness and pain the patient has little time and cannot be transported to larger more equipped hospitals.

Until you are placed in the shoes of these individuals, only then will you know the meaning of the need of a hospital in Ozona.

Now we come to the salaries of personnel in the hospital. R.N.'s, we have three; we only have five L.V.N.'s who make the sum of $5.00 and $5.50 an hour. The aides make no more than $3.50 an hour. Housekeeping makes below the aides, depending on the length of time here.

Let it be known that food has to be catered out to the hospital in order that employees may eat. There is no lounge for breaks. We do have a dining room, but personnel are unable to leave the floor, so breaks if any, are usually taken in the boiler room.

Oh yes, the almighty dollar. Doesn't buy much anymore does it? Especially when the patient has been treated and cured from his illness or life saved and he forgets to pay his medical bill. If you bought a car and didn't pay for it what do you expect would happen. The finance company would come and tow it away. Would you take groceries from your grocery without paying? How do you like your beer? What kind of recreation do you enjoy? Money is used for all these necessities. This is the American way of life. Have you ever asked yourself, "What value do I put on my life? Do I have money set aside in case of injury or disease? You should, because your dollar keeps the hospitals working for your life. You can buy another car, beer and etc.; You can't buy another life.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club
by
Mrs. Bailey Post

The most welcome and delightful showers of last week gave us all cause to greet everyone with a happy greeting and broad smile. Our feelings can change so quickly, and so can our country when we have a most needed rain. This timely moisture should help our area green up again before fall. It has been such a pleasure to be able to miss watering for a few days, and to see the clean, green foliage of shrubs and trees again.

Keep feeding chrysanthemums, about every ten days until color shows, also give plenty of moisture if no more rain soon.

Roses given a light pruning in August will produce beautiful fall roses. The colors seem to be deeper and more beautiful in the fall than in the spring. Plan to feed your roses the last of this month or early next month.

Annuals as well as perennials benefit from pruning now to remove all faded or long branches with no buds. Sometimes these will flower again in early autumn, (petunias, snapdragons, and marigolds).

For late fall and winter geranium blooms indoors, start cuttings now. Healthy cuttings taken at this time will grow and mature into blooming size plants to enjoy during the winter.

For spring blooms, especially in a native garden area, sow seeds of Indian blanket and bluebonnets now through late fall. Also known as firewheel and native to almost every region of Texas, Indian blanket bears masses of red and yellow daisylike blossoms that are spectacular in garden beds and borders and may also be used as cut flowers. Broadcast the seeds over a well-prepared seedbed; next spring, thin the plants to 18 inches apart.

It is time to plant pansyseed if you want these colorful blooms this fall. Plant the seeds in flats filled with a good soil mix. Sow the seed in rows spaced three inches apart, with about eight seeds per inch. Cover the seed with one-eighth inch of coarse sand and moisten frequently with a mister. When the plants have formed two sets of leaves, transplant them to a larger flat. In October the plants can be moved into the garden.

Houseguests of Mrs. Bailey Post this week are her great grandchildren, Bobby and Nicole Bryan of Houston.

Whites celebrate 50th Wedding date

Mr. and Mrs. Ted White celebrated their 50th Wedding Anniversary Saturday, August 16, with a family reunion and reception at Ozona United Methodist Church fellowship hall.

Their children Mark and Patsy White, and grandchildren, Kay Lynn and Ted Mark, hosted the affair. Mark paid tribute to his parents in a short summary of their 50 years in West Texas.

Jessie Ray and Ted M. White were married August 16, 1930, at 8:00 p.m. in a candlelight ceremony performed by the Rev. G.C. Schurman, pastor of the First Christian Church in Brownwood, in the bride's home at the Ray Farm in Brown County.

The fellowship hall was filled with flowers, from friends of 49 years in Ozona. Mr. White coached in Ozona High School from 1931 until 1940. Mrs. White taught from 1934 until 1940 and then again from 1946 to 1966. Their lives touched two generations of Ozona school students.

Theme song for the affair was "Love's Old Sweet Song," sang by Julie Reagor and accompanied by Catherine Russell at the piano and Sandy Stokes on the violin.

Pictures were taken of all couples married 50 years or over.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. John S. White of El Paso, Dr. W.O. Walker, Jr., Dr. and Mrs. James C. Martin, Jeremy and Blake, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Childress, all of San Antonio.

Accept a challenge to stop heating and start cooking with microwaves.

Explore all of the basic cooking possibilities, and use microwaves for roasting, simmering and baking.

First, experiment with recipes and techniques in the microwave oven user's manual. Learn how to use the oven to perform all these techniques.

Then progress to an easy-to-follow cookbook or simple recipes.

Be sure to use appropriate microwave utensils.

A variety of cooking utensils go directly from the microwave to the table, saving both serving and cleanup times. These include glass, plastic and glass-ceramic accessories.

Or use pressed paper products for preparing foods which contain little liquid or fats.

Also, use plastic-coated paper board containers for moist foods.

As you progress, experiment and make notes about results for future reference. Don't be afraid to write in recipe books or user's manuals. These are often notes that can prevent costly mistakes of time and money.

Finally, enroll in a microwave cooking class taught by a knowledgeable, experienced microwave instructor.

Also, inquire at the local county Extension agent's office for more information on microwave cooking.

FOLDOVER TACOS WITH GUACAMOLE TOPPING

1 lb. ground beef
2 teaspoons chili powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
pepper to taste
1/4 cup water
1 cup American process cheese

lettuce
1 package soft flour tortillas

Cooking time; 10 minutes at high power. Crumble ground beef in a 1-quart casserole. Microwave on high for 6 minutes. Cover dish to prevent splattering of fat onto oven walls. Drain thoroughly. Stir in water and seasonings. Microwave an additional 2 minutes or until meat is well done. Stir in cheese and microwave 2 minutes, stirring after 1 minute.

GUACAMOLE TOPPING

1 large avocado
2 green onions, chopped
1 small tomato, chopped
1/2 teaspoon lime or lemon juice

1/2 teaspoon garlic or salt
Remove meat of avocado from shell and mash into a smooth pulp. Add remaining ingredients and mix well.

To serve, open one end of tortilla package. Microwave on high in the package for 30 seconds. Spoon meat mixture onto tortilla and top with guacamole topping and lettuce. For ease of serving, let family members prepare their own as desired at the table.

Think Safety...
...Think Christianity

We can't miss them — these signs along the intersections of our streets. They protect our school children from physical harm. We see the sign . . . and slow down.

Most of us are deeply concerned about the safety of our youngsters . . . and these signs can be a reminder of a further obligation our society has to its youth. There are dangers in life for which only religious training and faith can prepare us.

Boys and girls approaching maturity deserve the spiritual protection which Christian education provides.

Whenever you approach a school crossing, slow down! But, just don't think safety — think CHRISTIANITY.

Crockett County Care Center News

by Joan Nicholas-Director of Activities & Social Care

By the time this goes to press, I will be participating in an art workshop at Fort Davis, so I am trying to come up with a column to turn in before I leave at the weekend.

We had a filled room for Bible class on Wednesday morning and Evie Kaeding, our newest resident, joined us. We continued study into the same period, around 526 B.C., taking texts from the books of Haggaai and Zechariah. Then everyone joined in the exercises with gusto and then we had the best hymn singing session we have had in a long time, around the piano in the lobby.

In reading and discussion Thursday afternoon I read from McCall's "Bess and Harry: A Love Story" by Jhan Robbins, about the 33rd president and "the Boss" as he always fondly called his wife. Everyone found this interesting and entertaining. We then went on to "Yes-teryear" by Vic Pierce, and completed Part I. Bertha Miller always has some interesting anecdotes to add to the subject matter, and Frances Borrego and others recalled the days when neighbors became really close. Some remembered the dances and happy times in the community.

In the last column I was telling about Louise McWilliams, but a couple of lines were accidentally omitted. It should have read that Louise told how her mother and father were both adopted by the same family. The family had one natural child and raised 21 more adopted children. Quite an admirable accomplishment!

I want to express thanks and appreciation to Annie Belle Patrick for bringing more manicure and hair supplies for the beauty shop; to Winnie Harvey who made ten more very colorful throw pillows, and to the Church of Christ Bible Class for furnishing the materials for these.

About a week ago I found a large box of yarn and miscellaneous sewing items on my backdoor step with no sign of who brought it. I have now discovered that the mystery donor is Crystelle Childress. These materials are now at the Center and will be put to good use. Thanks so much.

During my absence, the Rev. Larry Bailey will teach the Bible class and Dorothy Montgomery will again be in charge of reading and discussion. Alma Wilson will head up the crafts session and, by the way, we still need volunteers for this Tuesday mornings at 10 a.m. please, may I hear from you? The Ybarra Band was here Wednesday night and Bertha, Maude Pettit, and Tomasa Ramos were up dancing I hear; I was sorry that I missed the fun this time around.

Bingo winner of the week was Frances Borrego, and second prizes went to Evelyn Bryant, Louise McWilliams, Verna Talley, Seferino Garcia, Tomasa Ramos.

Volunteers serving during the past couple of months are: Beth Boyd, Mattie Cooper, Maudie Couch, Blanca Castro, Mena Dowdy, Grace Dorsey, Ruth Dorris, Rosa Fierro, Alma James, Earline Jones, Doris Karr, Don Kilgore, Jamie Knox, Ollie and Jean Ann Sudduth, Georgia Kirby, Sophie Kyle, Lupe Longoria, Gloria Moran, Dorothy Montgomery, Jean North, Annie Belle Patrick, Liz Mary Pipes, Alice Ross, Hazel and Kathy Storms, Maria Vitela, Blanche Walker, the Williford Family, Sadie Whitehurst, Santiago, Joe and Boy Ybarra. The ministers of our churches and accompanying groups of members for the Sunday services. We thank you all!

Family feelings clash

Parents and children must learn to bend with their feelings, or they will "break," says Dorothy Taylor, a family life education specialist.

"Parents are challenged by the need to find a healthy balance between the expression and suppression of emotions—for all family members.

"This is necessary so the family becomes a 'place' in which all its members can learn and grow.

"It's especially necessary for the children, because when this balance is achieved, children learn to understand and respect their own feelings," Ms. Taylor explains.

The specialist is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Bending is not easy. It takes lots of practice and patience. Also, it is an 'essential' for strengthening families that needs constant attention," Ms. Taylor says.

Everyday events, as well as disasters, evoke emotions in all family members.

Often parents and children allow themselves to get pushed to the point where they cannot manage their feelings, she points out.

Parents can guide, but not control, the feelings of their children.

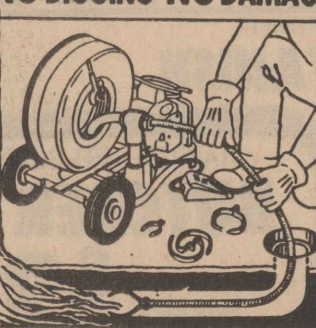

Also, parents can provide an environment for harmony—well-balanced food, enough sleep and pleasant surroundings all contribute to a pleasant mood.

SBA gets disaster funds

T.A. Aboussie, Branch Manager of the Small Business Administration Lubbock Disaster Office announced today that money has been received for disaster assistance to farmers, ranchers, and agriculture-related businesses who have filed applications for losses sustained during the 1979 crop disasters covered under SBA declarations.

"Since April 25, 1980, when the programs coffers were emptied due to the number of nation wide natural disasters which have occurred, approximately 430 approved loans have been on 'stand-by' status. When disbursed, these approved loans will bring 28 million dollars into the Texas economy", stated Aboussie. "There still remains approximately 1350 applications filed from the 1979 declarations to be processed which we plan to have completed within the next ten to twelve weeks".

It is also announced the deadline for agriculture-related businesses to file for Economic Injury Disaster Loan assistance for injury sustained during the periods covered under declaration #1744 is September 26, 1980. All other filing deadlines for declarations handled through the Lubbock Disaster Office have expired.

Insects and drought to dent Texas pecan crop

The second generation of pecan nut casebearers and dry weather are combining to put a dent in the 1980 Texas pecan crop.

Second generation casebearers are currently hitting pecan trees in South Texas and spray programs are in progress, points out John N. Cooper, pecan pest management agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Egg lays have ranged from light to heavy over southern sections, so growers need to check nutlets closely and to start spraying two to three days after the first eggs hatch. Cooper recommends a control program when the 2 percent egg lay level is reached (eggs on two nutlet clusters out of every 100 checked).

According to the Extension agent, the second generation of casebearers normally occurs about 42 days after first generation eggs are found. Growers in central and eastern areas currently should be on the lookout for the second generation of the pest.

Drought conditions in some sections of Texas are starting to take their toll of the young pecan crop, adds the pest management agent. Many pecan trees on sandy or shallow soils are particularly under moisture stress and are starting to shed young nutlets. Trees in dry areas should be irrigated as soon as possible, and weeds around trees should be controlled since they use up valuable moisture.

With recent hot, dry weather over most of the State Comptroller Bob Bullock will have a representative from his San Angelo office in Ozona on August 21, 1980 to assist local taxpayers and answer questions about state taxes.

Bullock said Enforcement Officer Steve Mercer will meet with local taxpayers in the Law Library of the Crockett County Courthouse Annex from 1:00 to 2:00 p.m.

state, disease pressure on pecans has let up considerably, notes Cooper. Most growers in southern areas have applied a fungicide with the second generation casebearer spray and should be in good shape. Elsewhere, growers need to be aware of changing weather conditions that might bring increased humidity that is conducive to disease development.

CATTLE DOGS ARE MAKING A COMEBACK

Cattle dogs, a relic of another era, are on the way back, says Professor Charles Long of Texas A&M University's Department of Animal Science.

Driven by inflation, high production costs and dropping cattle prices, many ranchers are more than willing to pay big money for a well-trained, 2-year-old cattle dog. A well-trained dog sells for $1,000 to $2,000. Puppies go for about $100.

Professor Long, a veteran dog trainer and expert on cattle production, said handling stock is nothing but the right pressure in the right place, and a dog is one of the best at putting on the right pressure.

Wildfire threat to rangeland

Drouth and the extremely hot summer have greatly increased the threat of wildfires. Better managed ranges are especially vulnerable as there is an abundant supply of fuel.

"Everyone stands to lose from wildfires," points out Dr. B.J. Ragsdale, range specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Forage crops are lost, wildlife habitats are damaged, air and water quality is lowered, recreational value of the burned area is altered, and the burned area is an eyesore."

Prevention is the best cure for wildfires. Ragsdale urges extreme caution in using fire of any kind. Lightning can cause fire and little can be done to prevent it. But people who work outdoors as well as travelers should be careful to prevent fires.

"Should you discover a wildfire, report it immediately to the nearest authority," advises Ragsdale. "County rural fire fighting plans should be updated so wildfires can be controlled efficiently. Equipment should be in order and easily located."

Ragsdale recommends that ranchers defer burned areas from grazing until forage plants are reestablished. Seeding may be necessary to insure a ground cover.

"Fire is a natural phenomena that had a major influence in developing and maintaining grasslands and savannas," points out Ragsdale. "It is being proven as a valuable range improvement tool and is a valuable asset when used under proper conditions."

However, when it occurs as a wildfire, untold damage is done."

Emergency feed assistance up

Livestock producers may receive 3 cents per pound of hay or other feed grain equivalent in cost share payments to help maintain their livestock operations through the current drought period, Howard W. Hjort, director of economics, policy analysis and budget of the U.S. Department of Agriculture announced today.

Such assistance had been 2 cents per pound.

By law, cost-share payments cannot exceed 50 percent of the cost of the feed. Today's adjustment reflects this year's stronger prices for hay and other feeds.

The emergency livestock feed program provides payments to eligible livestock owners to cover a portion of the cost of feed purchased to replace feed that normally would be produced on the farm had no natural disaster taken place.

Producers may apply for assistance at local USDA Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service offices.

Although the Emergency Feed Program feeding period expired May 31 in Crockett County and to date has not been reinstated, it is an ongoing program and producers who feel that their pastures have suffered a 40% or more loss due to drought and who are now having to feed above normal for this period may come to the ASCS Office and file an application for consideration.

Cattle numbers up at mid-year count

A cattle inventory estimate for mid-year shows total numbers up 4 percent from a year ago, with beef cows up even more.

"These numbers indicate that U.S. cattlemen are again rebuilding their herds and that we are well into a new cattle cycle," points out Dr. Ed Uvacek, economist in livestock marketing with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Current drought conditions over Texas and the Midwest, however, have already caused some cut-back in cattle numbers, and the situation may become even more critical in the weeks ahead."

The mid-year inventory showed cattle and calf totals at 123.2 million head. Beef cow numbers were up 6 percent at 39.3 million while beef replacement heifers totaled almost 5.9 million, up 2 percent.

Calves under 500 pounds on farms and ranches were up 6 percent at almost 36 million head, and the total 1980 calf crop is expected to be up 6 percent at 45.5 million.

"The expected increase in the calf crop represents the first year-to-year increase since the record number of 1974," notes Uvacek. "Unfortunately, low feedlot placements during the first half of this year leave many additional yearling cattle for feeding in the remainder of 1980. This situation, along with the fact that many calves are currently being dumped on the market due to drought conditions, could keep the pressure on feeder prices in the short run."

but a clean filter saves energy, money.

The purpose of a filter on your air conditioning or heating air blower is to help catch dust and dirt before it can enter your unit. In time, the filter will accumulate dust and dirt... if it gets clogged, it can't do the cleaning job it's supposed to and uses more electricity. To avoid damage to your unit and to save energy and money, be sure filters are clean. Permanent types can be cleaned according to the manufacturer's instruction. Non-permanent types should be replaced. It is wise to check filters every 30 days.

PBPA belives windfall profits tax based on lie

Jimmy Carter campaigned for the office of the Presidency in 1976 on a platform of personal honesty. He said, "Trust Me. I will never lie to you."

The Permian Basin Petroleum Association believes the so-called Windfall Profits Tax is bad for the petroleum industry primarily because it's bad for the country. We also strongly believe the tax is bad for the American people because the President lied about what the money would be used for, and who would pay for it. When President Carter first proposed the tax, he said the money was needed to produce alternate energy sources for the future. Well, when the liberal, anti-free-enterprise got through with the bill, only 15% of the $227 billion dollars was set aside for energy development. And, 95% of that will go to major oil companies, while 85%, or 193 billion dollars, can be spent by future Congresses anyway they want to.

The President also said the big oil companies would pay the tax. He knew that was not true. Along with the tax, prices for crude oil produced in the United States are being allowed to gradually rise to world oil prices. Thus, the oil companies are paying the tax with the increased income from the rising oil prices, and the public is paying for the higher priced oil.

The oil producer is realizing about 20c on every extra dollar of income from decontrolled prices. The Federal Government gets the excise tax profits. We think it's time the American people demand the excise tax be repealed, and let the energy producers go full steam ahead with this important task.

Plan to be a parent

Plan and prepare for parenting to make the transition period smoother and conducive to rapid adjustment, says Diane Welch, a family life education specialist.

TEXAS WILL SURVIVE CURRENT RECESSION, ECONOMISTS PREDICT

Texas and most of the South will weather this recession almost as well as the last, predict two Texas A&M University economists.

The current recession will affect the automobile and construction industries and the areas of the country where those businesses are heavily concentrated, agreed Dr. Charles Maurice and Dr. John Allen.

The two economists predict the structure of industry in the South and especially in Texas specialization in highly technical companies and energy will keep the Southern economy from suffering severely.

"This period involves changes in relationships, roles and lifestyles," she points out.

Mrs. Welch is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Since most first-time parents receive little preparation for their new roles, many are in for a rude awakening when they find that life will never be the same."

"However, there are some factors that can ease and even facilitate the transition into parenthood," Mrs. Welch says.

Here are some suggestions.

Seek information about child development, basic parenting skills and potential changes in family life. Enroll in community courses if available.

Take advantage of supportive extra help from family and friends. However, try to avoid social overloads that can occur when family and friends wish to visit after the newborn arrives.

Seek information about work policies. Check out maternity benefits available for working mothers and paternity leave for fathers. See if there are provisions for flex-time.

Agree on respective roles and responsibilities, as well as division of labor. Added tasks of parenting can overwhelm during the first months after the baby's arrival.

Withholding Taxes On Savings and Investments? Not If I Have Anything To Say About It!

One of the more alarming indicators of the state of the economy is today's rate of personal savings.

It represents more than just a statistic. It tells us just how Americans are coping with the high cost of living during a recession.

The lower the rate of savings, the more serious an indication that individuals are having to dip into savings to make ends meet. This rate has been declining for months. During 1979, for example, personal savings as a percentage of disposable income stood at 4.6%. In February of this year, the percentage had dropped even more, to 3.7%. With the economy slackening even further, the ability of Americans to invest, or to save for a rainy day will diminish even further.

Increases in personal incomes have not come close to matching the double-digit annual inflation we have been experiencing. So, the end result is a tragic commentary on our times.

Americans are being forced to live on less, and further lower their expectations.

Government has only made a bad situation worse. The President proposed a budget for the next fiscal year with the largest taxes in the country's history.

Part of his plan was a proposal to withhold 15% of the income earned from savings and other investments.

I cannot think of a more cruel, misguided or counterproductive policy. At precisely the time the government should be encouraging capital formation through incentives for increased personal savings, the President says the Internal Revenue Service should collect its tax share first.

Well, not if I have anything to say about it!

Before any such proposal could carry the force of law, it would have to be introduced as legislation. The House Ways and Means Committee has considered the President's proposal. But that is all. Nineteen votes in that committee would be required to bring the measure to the House Floor for a vote.

Even the most optimistic vote counters say there are no more than 12 possible votes for such a proposal in the Ways and Means Committee. It has received no consideration at all in the Senate.

It is my firm opinion the Congress is not about to accept the President's 15% withholding tax recommendation. Quite the contrary, in fact. Several resolutions introduced in the House and Senate express the strong sense of the Congress that any such withholding tax proposal would be to the extreme detriment of our economic well-being—and must not be enacted.

I have cosponsored one of these resolutions—House Concurrent Resolution 344.

If we expect personal savings in this country to continue to provide capital for investment in plant and equipment—and the real and lasting jobs so desperately needed—there must be more of an incentive to save and invest—not penalties for doing so.

In no uncertain terms, Congress and the American people are saying "No" to the idea of a withholding tax on our savings and investments.

This is a message that must be sent loud and clear to the White House.

The average woman worker earns only about three-fifths of what a man does—even when she works full-time year round.

BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Jerry Lay

Amazingly, a pitcher could be BOTH the winner AND loser in the SAME baseball game. Let's say a pitcher is losing a game 1-0 going into the last of the 9th and the game is suspended because of a light failure. The game is to be completed the next time the teams meet in the same park a month later. During the interim, the pitcher is traded to the other team. When the game is resumed, his new team brings him in to pitch the last of the 9th, and he gives up 2 runs. That makes him both the winner and loser in the same game. It's never happened in the majors, but under the rules, it could.

Here's an oddity. Football is often called the "pigskin" sport, and the football itself is called the "pigskin", but footballs aren't made from pigskin anymore. Most footballs today are made from cowhide.

It's hard to believe now, but a big league baseball team once won 14 PENNANTS IN ONE 16-YEAR STRETCH. The Yankees won the American League pennant in 1949-50-51-52-53-55-56-57-58-60-61-62-63-64. No other major league team has ever come close to that record, before or since.

LETTERS

August 18, 1980

Dear Editor,

Somewhat, I have the feeling that you are going to be receiving a lot of mail with comments concerning the article in last week's paper covering the Commissioner's Court versus Crockett County Hospital. I, myself, am appalled by the phrase "Court vs. Hospital"; but that is what it has come down to. Governments, especially in Democratic Countries, are created to serve the majority needs of the people and are not created to be served by them. Now think about that. That is a true statement. Unfortunately, in today's bureaucratic world, we lose sight of that, all too often, which doesn't make it right: Which leads me to my first point. It is to me, unbelievable, that the people of Ozona, who are blessed with more natural resources, including doctors, than any other comparable town in West Texas, should have to live with a second-rate hospital. I certainly don't think that the other departments in the county; Sheriff, Road, School, Water should suffer because of some contrived shortage of tax dollars, using the hospital as a scapegoat dividing the people of Ozona against each other.

I think that if the hospital is such a burden on the court, then they should allow it to form a hospital district, as has been suggested before, and manage its own affairs. To me, it makes sense. If I were going to drill an oil well, I would hire a driller and not a doctor to do it. Conversely, if I wanted to manage a hospital, who would be the logical choice for management? I think it is time for the people of Ozona, to let the Commissioner's Court know that they are tired of shoe-string budgets affecting services which could mean life or death to them. I am not asking for any charity hand-outs, I am merely asking for a just tax dollar return from the companies who are taking the natural wealth from this country, and have been for the past 50 years; wealth when gone, can never be replaced. If Mr. Curtis and Mr. McKinzie, disagrees, then let them move out to Ozona, Texas, get honest work here, and see if they don't regret their time. See if they don't regret recommending decreasing the Sheriff's budget when his wife and child are home alone, and there comes a strange noise in the middle of the night! Or see if they don't regret recommending severely cutting back on the operating capital of the hospital, when one of their children trips and splits his head open on a table corner and it is ninety minutes to San Angelo. This is the meat of the question. The 4,000 plus people of Ozona live here. Should not they have more influence in their county government than Mr. Curtis and Mr. McKinzie, who don't even live here?

An outsider could never know about our own particular needs. I say once again, that the Commissioner's Court of Crockett County, should represent the people of Crockett County, and not a minority of out of town Big Businesses.

One last point. I take personal offense to the remarks made by Mr. Curtis and/or Mr. McKinzie, concerning the quality of medical care available here in Ozona. I disagree strongly, that the majority of people leave town for medical care; that just isn't true. As far as people wanting to go to specialists, I don't blame them. I do too, when I am ill. What they fail to state, though, is that West Texas towns do attract specialists. I myself, have four years of post-graduate training and a gold-framed piece of paper hanging on my office wall, that says that I am a specialist, a Board Certified Family Practitioner. A fact of life, Mr. Curtis and Mr. McKinzie. The difference between Crockett County Hospital and the "medical centers Mr. Curtis/Mr. McKinzie, want to transport our people to, is dollars available for specialized, expensive equipment, and not physician quality. Before people start making rash statements, as in last week's article, they had better: Get their facts straight. Also Tell the truth.

Sincerely,
Patrick D. Dwyer, M.D.

Protect children with immunizations

Children's immunizations are important, and now's the time for "all good parents" to review their records and update their children's protection from diseases, says a health education specialist.

Immunizations are "tedious business" to many people, but they don't have to be especially if you know what's needed and keep updated records, Mary Ann Shirer stresses.

First, know what your children should be protected against, and then be sure to keep immunization records in a safe, organized file—make photocopies before sending the record to school or to a child-care facility, the specialist advises.

Here's what children need to enter first grade or kindergarten:

--at least three doses of diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis--(DPT)--with one dose received after the fourth birthday. --or tetanus-diphtheria (TD) vaccine--with one dose received after the fourth birthday.

--three doses of polio vaccine (one dose must be received after the fourth birthday)

---one dose of measles vaccine (must be received after the first birthday)

--one dose of mumps vaccine

--one dose of rubella vaccine.

Remember, all public school children in Texas must show a validated record of their immunizations upon entering school.

Last year, mumps immunization was required for first graders only, but each year the grade requirement will increase.

Here's how that will work: For the 1980-81 school year, all first and second graders must have mumps immunization.

For the 1981-82 year, all first, second and third graders must have mumps immunization.

This age progression in requirements for mumps immunization will continue through the next 11 years, so that, finally, mumps immunization will be required of all students grades one through 12.

However, remember, once a child age 15 months or over has received the mumps vaccine, he is thought to be immunized for life--so just the one dose of mumps vaccine is required in most cases.

Also, measles immunization will eventually be required for all public school students in Texas, grades one through 12.

For the 1979-80 school year, measles immunization was required for children in grades one through six.

This year, grade seven will be added to the requirement, and each year another grade will be added until the progressions reach grade 12.

Rubella immunization is required for students up to their twelfth birthday.

Because of measles outbreaks among junior and senior high school students recently, parents may want to ask their private physicians about immunizations for children beyond the official age requirements for this current school year--especially measles immunization and, perhaps, mumps immunization.

Measles can be a serious illness, Dr. Shirer warns. It causes ear infection or pneumonia in nearly one of every 10 students who contract it.

Encephalitis--inflammation of the brain--results from measles in one child of every 1,000 who contract it. This can lead to convulsions, deafness or mental retardation.

Finally, measles is fatal to one child of every 10,000 who contract it.

Mumps also can cause serious complications.

Mumps causes a mild type of meningitis in about one of every 20 children who contract it.

Meningitis is inflammation of the membranes which envelop the brain and spinal cord.

Mumps also can cause encephalitis and deafness.

Even though rubella immunization is not required past the twelfth birthday, the Texas Department of Health recommends it for non-pregnant students who haven't had the immunization.

If a pregnant woman contracts rubella, there is a high percentage chance that her child will be born crippled, blind or with other defects, especially if the disease is contracted in the first trimester of pregnancy (the first three months).

Distances that men are willing to travel to buy clothes relate to income level--those with lower incomes travel the shortest distances. Thirty-seven percent of all men travel three miles or less, 40 percent travel between three and 10 miles, and 21 percent will travel more than 10 miles.

4-H Dist. leader retreat

The District 6 4-H Adult Leaders' Association is conducting a fall retreat for 4-H leaders, September 27-28 at Indian Lodge near Fort Davis, Texas. Leaders will participate in workshops on crafts, fund raising ideas, and party planning. All Crockett County leaders are welcome to attend.

Children are welcome to attend. Babysitters will be provided. Sights of interest near the park include Old Fort Davis, McDonald Observatory, and a scenic drive.

Motel reservations need to be made by September 12. Expenses for the retreat will include motel, food, and a $5.00 registration fee.

Please contact the County Extension Office if you want to make reservations.

4-H lamb feeding scheduled

According to Billy Reagor, County Extension Agent, local youths will begin lamb feeding projects during the month of September. Lambs will be sheared, tagged, weighed on feed around the middle of September and the show will be the first Saturday in January. The exact starting date has not been set because some ranchmen are still shopping lambs.

Any boy or girl between the ages of 9-19 who is interested in feeding lambs should contact Mr. Reagor at the County Extension Office or his residence.

All programs and information on the Agricultural Extension Service are available without regard to race, ethnic origin, religion, or sex.

nales, Gillespie County, Nueces-Frio-Sabinal, Edwards Plateau, Mason County, Devil's River, Upper Llanos, Medina Valley, Maverick, Bandera, Llano County, Crockett, West Nueces-Las Moras, Upper Nueces-Frio, and Hill Country.

Current officers of the organization are: Bob Caruthers, president, Sonora; Charles D. Clark, vice-president, Menard; John M. Davis, Jr., secretary, Rock-springs; and Harold Kneese, treasurer, Fredericksburg.

4-H food projects to begin

The 4-H food projects will begin in September. Anyone 9-19 years of age that would like to learn how to cook should call the Extension Office (2-2721) to enroll. All youth are welcome to join the food projects.

Also, any adult leader that would like to help 4 or 5 youth should contact Debra Price. 4-H member and leader books are available from the Extension Service. The purpose of the food and nutrition projects are teaching youth to become better citizens, to prepare food, to develop good eating habits, do comparison shopping, and to store foods properly.

A 4-H project consists of six 45 minute sessions conducted in a sequence of time. At the conclusion of the project the 4-H members prepare a recipe and enter the food in the county food show.

Chemical abusers in for trouble

The executive who downs large amounts of scotch before bedtime and the high school drop-out sniffing glue in a drainage ditch have something in common--they both abuse chemicals.

The chemicals in alcohol, glue or other substances are different but they all can cause the body's central nervous system to function badly. This problem can show up as a driving-while-intoxicated charge, prolonged depression or a large number of other symptoms, says a physician who works with patients who abuse alcohol or other drugs. Physical effects vary with different drugs but ultimately they all cause problems in relating to people, making decisions and acting appropriately in a variety of situations, according to an article by Stuart Nemir, M.D., and Shirley Skaggs, Ph.D., of Austin, in the August issue of Texas Medicine, the Texas Medical Association's monthly journal.

Losing control of the amount of drugs used follows closely behind inappropriate words and actions as early signs of abuse problems.

Then personal relationships suffer because abusers cannot communicate feelings and thoughts properly. Having a distorted view of physical surroundings adds to the difficulties and can result in danger to abusers themselves.

The first step in recovery is to stop using the chemicals that are causing mental and physical difficulties. Then the abusers need to learn proper actions that tear down excessive emotional defenses, build up ways of coping besides using drugs and restore relationships with people. Professional help and a support group is very important to help the abuser and family members handle all these changes and maintain a changed lifestyle, Dr. Nemir says.

Congratulations to the winners of the "Minnow War." I believe this is the first time I ever heard of public opinion winning out over a government agency. Don't rest on your laurels, though, they'll find another way to gain control of the watershed. Bureaucrats need almost constant watching.

The above is the result of the removal of the Devil's River Minnow from the endangered species list, or I might say keeping the little rascal from being placed on the list and having the government take over half the rivers and dry creeks in the area.

The Endangered Species Act has without any doubt been responsible for some of the silliest actions of government, rivaled only by OSHA for sheer stupidity.

When I heard President Carter's chief of staff say Ronald Reagan's tax cut proposal would do away with most government agencies, I became firm in my resolve to give him my vote come November. If he gets rid of just half of the bureaucrats in Washington, it will be well worth it.

School starts next week and most of the clubs will be meeting for the fall sessions, so it's time for my annual warning about the deadline, which is before noon Tuesday. We used to say "noon Tuesday," but everybody waited until noon to bring everything in, and it really put us in a bind. Also, try to remember we endeavor to be a newspaper, not a historical periodical. If it happened last week, it's news. If it happened last month, it's history. Thanks for listening.

County Extension Agent Billy Reagor was notified last week of the entry winning first place at the State Pecan Show held in Abilene in July.
