Friday update

Soviets Send Regrets

TOKYO (AP)-The Soviet Embassy in Peking expressed regret over an intrusion by Russian troops into Chinese territory earlier this week, an incident in which China charged that more than a dozen local residents were injured, a Japanese report from Peking said today.

A spokesman for the Soviet embassy denied that any Chinese were hurt, Kyodo news service reported.

Residents Evacuated

CANTON (AP)-Deputies donned gas masks early today to move into an area near this East Texas town to evacuate residents who live near a "sour" gas well leaking poisonous gas.

A spokesman for the Henderson County sheriff's office said about 80 persons living within a five-mile radius of the well have been moved to a National Guard armory at Athens. It was not immediately known how many people live within the evacuation area, but more were expected to be moved to safety today.

7th 'Kneecapping'

ROME (AP)-Terrorists shot an official of the Christian Democratic Party in the legs today in the seventh "kneecapping" attack in Italy in seven days.

A telephone caller said the attack in Milan on Tito Berardini, a 41-year-old bank clerk, was the work of the Red Brigades, the urban terrorist army that kidnapped former Premier Aldo Moro on March 16 and murdered him last Tuesday.

Manhunt Resumes

ADA, Okla. (AP)-An extensive manhunt resumed near here this morning for two Oklahoma prison escapees being sought as suspects in a Texas killing and abduction, authorities said.

Authorities found a stolen car the escapees were believed to have been travelling in abandoned on a county road at about 7:30 a.m. today near Roth, southwest of this Ponotoc County city.

Lillian In Denmark

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) - Lillian Carter wound up a 10-day visit to Denmark today saying she was annoyed at the State Department for vetoing her plan for a trip to terror-plagued Italy.

President Carter's mother came here last week with a group of 379 Americans from Westchester County, New York, on an exchange tour organized by Friendship Force.

Keeping tab on our neighbors:

It's the season for snake stories.

The Big Spring Herald published a warning on its front page this week that "a large rattlesnake with 12 or 13 rattlers was killed in the 700 block of W. 17th."

Area residents were advised to take heed, since the snakes usually travel in pairs, and warmer weather is expected to bring the reptiles out in increasing numbers.

But Lynn Brisendine of the Brownfield News has a better snake story than that, which he said came from Marian Rodgers of the Monahans News.

Seems that this man was explaining why he had been in the hospital. He said that late last night his wife had brought a bunch of pot plants and hanging baskets in the house to keep them from freezing and it happened that a little green snake had hidden himself in one of those plants and it got carried inside.

When the snake warmed up, it came slithering out of the plant and went under the sofa. Fellow's wife saw it and let out a great scream. He happened to be taking a bath at the time, but he leaped out of the tub and ran to see what the matter was.

Wife said a snake was under the sofa. He got down on the floor to look for it and here came the dog and cold-nosed him from the rear. He thought it was the snake and fainted.

His wife thought he'd had a heart attack and called an ambulance. The ambulance attendants rushed in and loaded him on a stretcher and started carrying him out and about that time the snake came slithering from under the sofa and the ambulance men saw it and dropped the stretcher, breaking the fellow's leg and that's why he had been in the hospital.

WTC Grads Told They Will Bring On Changes

"Your view of the world will change. The world will change you and you will change the world," said Dr. Kenneth Ashworth, commissioner of the Coordinating Board of the Texas College and University System, the keynote speaker at graduation ceremonies held Thursday night at Western Texas College.

Graduated in the ceremonies were 108 students with associate degrees and an additional 16 students with certificate of technology degrees. The commencement exercises were held in the WTC courtyard.

Ashworth said education is a never ending aspect of human development. "If education is successful," he said, "It takes place inside every individual."

But it must be remembered, he cautioned the WTC graduates, that "it is only through human beings that facts have any meaning."

"Too many of us treat education as only something to get us a job in the real world," Ashworth said. He added it does not have to be that way.

"Education can be enjoyable," he emphasized It should not be viewed as only something only for profit, he pointed out.

Education, he continued, can aid in an individual's personal growth.

"Education is not used up, it is not worn out. It will do great things for you if you keep coming back to it," he summed up.

Ashworth was introduced by Dr. Robert L. Clinton, president of WTC. The diplomas were presented by Dr. Ben Brock, WTC vice president, and by Dr. Gene McClurg, dean of occupational education and technology.

Carter May Scale Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)-House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill today indicated President Carter is scaling back his tax-cut proposal from $24 billion to $19.4 billion.

O'Neill said he had talked Thursday with Carter after the president met with the chairmen of the two congressional budget committees and that Carter told him he hoped Congress would approve a non-biding preliminary federal budget with a $19.4 billion tax.

'Ask Us' If You Have A Question

The Snyder Daily News will start a new local, daily feature in Sunday's issue.

It will be called "Ask Us," and will deal with questions asked by readers. Questions concerning the community, government agencies, topics in the news, sports, or any other subjects that might arise may be submitted by readers and the Snyder Daily News staff will try to come up with the answers from its own sources, or by contacting appropriate agencies.

Questions may be mailed to "Ask Us," in care of The Snyder Daily news, Box 949, Snyder 79549, or they may be phoned in.

CC To Pay Off Building Debt

The disposition of $24,200 the Snyder Chamber of Commerce received from the sale of a plot of land occupied most of the discussion at Thursday night's meeting of the chamber's Board of Directors.

The land, situated directly west of the chamber at the intersection 23rd St. and Ave. R, was donated to the chamber by Charles Noble and sold through the city, which technically owns the chamber building and the land on which the chamber is located.

The board members decided to spend $16,000 to pay off the remaining debt on the chamber building. Other monies will be spent to construct a concrete fill-in between the street and the sidewalk on chamber grounds. The board members also agreed to award a parking lot paving contract to Price Construction Co.

In appreciation for the land donated to the chamber by Noble, and for the support given to the chamber by Roger B. Mize, a local banker and businessman, the chamber directors decided to have portraits of the two men made at chamber expense to hang on the wall of the conference room.

In reports last night, board members were told that everything is still "go" for the national finals of the American Junior Rodeo Association. The finals are scheduled for the second week in August, Aug. 8-12.

Chamber manager Bill Henry also informed board members on the latest industrial prospects that may someday locate in Snyder.

The directors then discussed the latest information they had received on chamber manager applicants. Henry, who has been chamber manager since 1976, has resigned effective June 1.

AT&T On Verge Of Realignment

By MARTIN MERZER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP)-American Telephone & Telegraph Co., which furnishes about 80 percent of the nation's telephone service, is on the verge of a major corporate realignment, company officials said today.

Donald F. McLaughlin, a company spokesman, confirmed rumors sweeping the firm's New York headquarters building that the company's operations would be realigned nationwide to "provide one-stop service."

Under the realignment the company plans to set up one office to handle all residential customers and another to deal with all business customers. Other customers, such as public services, would also have their own office.

McLaughlin said that the firm has been organized along divisional lines, with one division responsible for all installation, another for billing and others for such things as repairs and commercial accounts.

"Rather than be organized in that direction, we're taking all functions and combining them by markets," he said. "In other words, you won't have to contact one person for installation, another for repair and so on.

He said no timetable had been completed, but he estimated that the change would take place within three months.

The reshuffling decision was foreshadowed last month when chairman John D. de Butts told the company's annual meeting:

"We are currently in the process of a fundamental restructuring of AT&T's operating and marketing departments. Up until now, these departments have been organized along functional lines. Now our aim is to match their structure to the major market sectors we serve."

AT&T and its subsidiaries comprising the Bell System operates more than 121 million telephones and provides nationwide interstate service.

Storms Hit North Texas

By The Associated Press

Forecasters warned of the possibility of more severe storms in North Texas today as residents of Northeast Texas cleared away debris from devastating tornadoes and thunderstorms that injured 11 persons and inflicted heavy property damage.

The storm included a wind gust recorded at 104 mph at the Gregg County Airport.

The 45-mile wide storms system built up in North Central Texas and roared its way across into East Texas during the evening.

Some of the heaviest damage was at Longview where five persons were injured, five airplanes at the Gregg County Airport were destroyed, several mobile homes were heavily damaged and the downtown area suffered serious glass breakage. Electricity was out for about two and a half hours.

Five other persons were injured at nearby Kilgore and another East Texas man was hospitalized after he was struck by lightning while working to repair storm damage on the roof of his home.

Most of the damage was confined to Rusk, Gregg, Upshur, Harris and Marion Counties.

During the evening, tornadoes were sighted at Longview, Athens, Canton, Tyler, Waxahachie, Midlothian and Hillsboro.

Service Awards Go To Teachers

A special performance of the Snyder High School Drama Department's one-act play and presentation of service pin awards highlighted the annual meeting of the Scurry County unit of Texas State Teachers Association and Snyder Classroom Teachers Association last night.

The drama group, under direction of Jerry Worsham, received a standing ovation following their performance of "The Corn Is Green," the one-act play which won them second place in the University Interscholastic League state contest at Austin a week ago.

Bobbie Box, president of the TSTA unit, and Francene Allen, CTA president, presided over the program in the Snyder High School auditorium which this year took the place of the annual TSTA-CTA banquet.

Supt. Bill J. Hood and Board President Max von Roeder, presented service pins and recognized retiring personnel.

Receiving 25-year pins were Texa Jones, June McGlaun, Dan Martin, Helen Martin, Carol Miller, William E. Raburn and Rose Nell Walker.

Twenty-year service pins went to Marshall Parham, Bea Trevey, James Wesson and Dora White.

Those receiving 10-year pins were David Bailey, Ted Bigham, Jimmie Cooper, Don Gressett, Jessie Guthrie, Virginia Johnston, Hope Lopez, Shirley McDaniels, Mary Petkovsek, John Short, Vernell Thompson, Vera Ubanda, Anice Wallace, Patsy Williams and Bernard Weems.

Retirees recognized were Anice Wallace and Curtis Hamm, and three who are taking early retirement are Frances Groseclose, Bea Trevey and Elizabeth Hall.

Following the program in the auditorium, refreshments were served in the Snyder High School cafeteria and student center.

City Reconsiders Bid For Tractor

The Snyder City Council approved a change in specifications of a tractor and backhoe it plans to purchase and granted a request by the Chamber of Commerce for approval of a fireworks display on July 4.

At its regular meeting May 1, the council had accepted a bid of Snyder Truck and Tractor for the purchase of a tractor and backhoe at a price of $13,280.27. Subsequently, it was determined that the machine would not be available with automatic transmission as provided in the specifications. Snyder Truck and Tractor also was low bidder on an alternate proposal calling for a manuel transmission, at a price of $12,534.77, and the alternate was accepted Thursday.

The council also approved on second and final reading an ordinance closing a portion of 26th Street as requested by Walter Cox. The property involved is between the Minute Market and the East Highway.

J.L. Moore was granted permission to use butane gas in a mobile home he is using as an office at a residential development in Park Place Addition. The request was granted for one year.

City Manager George Patterson discussed budget classifications which will be used for the first time the coming fiscal year, which will be the first city budget compiled since the city's computers were installed.

Democrats Set County Convention

Scurry County Democrats will hold their county convention at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Snyder Junior High School auditorium.

County Democratic Party Chairman Hilton Lambert said that 82 delegates have been named by the various precincts to represent them at the county convention.

Lambert said that several resolutions had been approved in precinct conventions and will be presented to the county convention.

Most of the resolutions deal with farm prices and with federal intervention in local schools, Lambert said. The county convention will name delegates to represent Scurry County at the State Democratic Party Convention next fall.

primary sidelights

Saturday's Democratic primary will be remembered for a variety of reasons. Unexpected results in some races will be a favorite topic among second guessers. Outcome in the race for Attorney General was one of the more interesting developments. The magic of a name on Democratic ballots for 30 years wasn't enough to prevent victory for a newcomer to state politics when Mark White outpolled Price Daniel Jr.

Failure of Dolph Briscoe to prevent selection of Attorney General John Hill for the office of Governor proved several things. Long-tenure no doubt was the major factor in this contest. Also demonstrated was that money alone will not insure victory in Texas political contests.

Poor showing by former Gov. Preston Smith in this race demonstrated once more that dropouts from the political wars have little chance of making comebacks. It has been tried before in Texas and the result has been invariably the same as Smith's experience Saturday.

But once again the name of a candidate for the offices below Governor, Lieutenant Governor and Attorney General proved to be a factor in the voting. Jerry Sadler's excellent showing in the race for Railroad Commissioner illustrates the point. He did little more than file for a place on the official ballot. But his name was best known in a field of four. That was enough.

Outcome in the race for Judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals Place 2 was no doubt due to the historically famous first name of Sam Houston of the winning candidate.

Campaign spending should be of some concern to members of the 66th Legislature when the session begins next January. What, if anything, should be done about imposing ceilings is not clear. There is some significance in the fact that the biggest spender of all didn't win, which provides some support for the belief that elections can't be bought.

But moving primaries to dates nearer the general election merits serious consideration. Lame duck incumbents will be making decisions in state affairs for nearly eight months. This situation is not good.

all that glitters

What's in a name?

If it applies to a metal and happens to be "gold," a near-magical effect on human psychology it would appear.

The United States Treasury has supplied us with a vivid case in point.

Its announcement that it would begin selling gold was promptly followed by a halt in the dollar's long decline on international exchange markets and an upsurge in value against the mark, yen and other major currencies. Not to mention an outpouring of optimistic comments by foreign bankers and traders and a fresh explosion of trading on an already hectic stock market.

Which only goes to show that it is considerably easier to go off the gold standard than it is to replace gold as the standard by which the international community measures the seriousness of a member's economic policies.

The Treasury will sell lots of some 300,000 ounces of gold each at six monthly auctions beginning May 23. At current free market rates, the Treasury can expect to realize between $300 and $400 million on the sales.

That is a lot of even depreciated dollars.

But it does not come even close to the U.S. trade deficit - $27 billion last year - or touch the reason for the deficit - the still-increasing excess of imports, particularly oil, over exports.

In fact, if the Treasury sold the entire Fort Knox gold hoard - currently some 277 million ounces - at optimum free market prices it could not realize more than about $50 billion, enough to cover the trade deficit for less than two years.

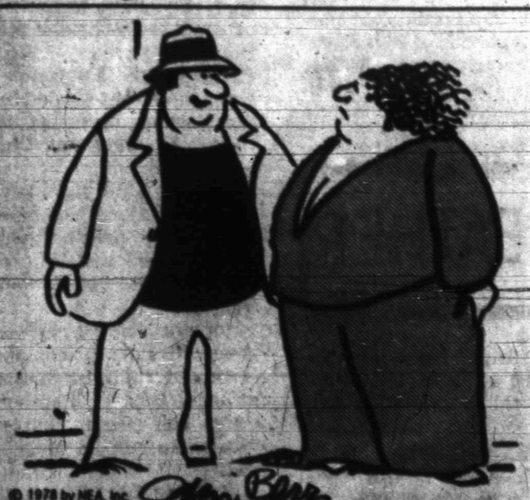

Optimum prices, of course, would not hold under such an avalanche - even the Treasury announcement of the limited sales caused a free market price drop from nearly $175 an ounce to $169. Washington must move carefully to avoid defeating its own purpose. Gold auctions, consequently, are unlikely to be a continuing means of supporting the dollar.

The importance of the sales is primarily symbolic. They are a signal of gold-dealing Europeans and oil-producing Arabs of a new willingness on the part of the Carter administration to take active measures in defense of the dollar.

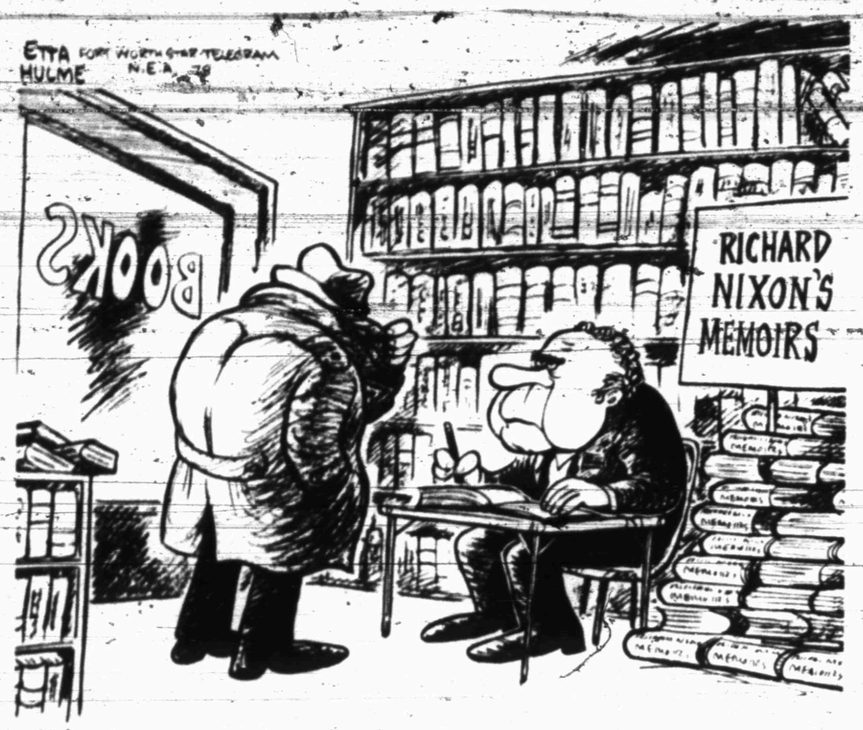

But the signal must be followed by additional and more far-reaching measures to bring U.S. imports and exports into something resembling balance.

Otherwise, all that glitters in this case will turn out to be fools gold.

My son came home from college last week and gave me his usual greeting. "Hi, Mom."

I gave him mine: "Get a haircut."

He dropped in a chair and said, "Okay."

"Whatya mean, 'Okay'?"

"I mean I've been meaning to get one. My hair is too long and hangs in my eyes and I'm always having to flip it back. Besides, it looks sleazy."

"And another thing," I said. "I hope you're going to shave off that ridiculous looking beard. You look like Abe Lincoln with a case of the frizzies."

"You're right. Besides, it always smells like pizza. Tomorrow it goes."

"Don't fight me, but if your suitcase has those jeans with the hole in the crotch that is mended with white thread and the zipper has a pin connecting it, you can toss them out."

"I did that already. Bought a couple pair of new slacks."

"To wear with those diseased-looking tennis shoes, I suppose."

"Nah. Threw those out too. No one wears dirty gym shoes with a sports coat."

"A sports coat? The last time you wore a sports coat you dribbled milk on it from your Yogi Bear cup. I'm giving you fair warning, you aren't going to sleep every day until the crack of noon."

"No problem, I'm into jogging now and I go about five miles before breakfast."

"You are into jogging? You, who never took out the garbage until I organized a car pool?"

"I know, but it's really good for you."

"And stay out of my refrigerator and all my junk food. You're not having a chip dip orgy with the stuff I'm saving for Saturday night."

"All that rich stuff breaks out your face. I'm into milk and yogurt now."

The next morning, I opened his door and peeked into the room. He was at his desk studying.

"I didn't know you were here," I said. "I didn't hear the stereo."

"I keep it low. After all, why should I inflict my taste in music on everyone else?"

As I started to leave I saw a gum wrapper on the floor.

I let it lay.

He is going to be home three more days and we had to leave something to talk about.

VOTER RESPONSE

Two big "upsets" were pulled by candidates in Saturday's Democratic Primary, but the biggest upset of them all occurred Monday.

The verdict might not have been a surprise, but the voter response was. No matter which way you voted on the wet-dry issue, all should be pleased with the turnout.

Over 72 percent of eligible city voters participated in maintaining Snyder's dry status. Compared with Saturday's 52 pecent turnout, your response Monday was great.

VOTING IMPORTANT

We've stated many times that our Democratic form of government is only as effective as those individuals who participate in the process. Laws are made by men--and women-whose power is given by the people.

Laws will be made whether or not you participate in the process because someone or some special interest group will make feelings known.

RESPONSE DOWN

Voter participation has slowly dwindled the past half century and we've seen the results. The "Silent Majority" has been aptly tabbed because of the failure to "get involved."

As the silent majority watch from the sidelines, special interest groups get involved--and vote. President Carter's victory a couple of years ago was credited to strong affinity by labor and racial minorities. John Hill's surprise non-runoff victory over Governor Briscoe was aided by the teacher and labor groups.

GET RESULTS

When these groups back a candidate and he (she) wins, concessions are made. Hill promised higher pay for teachers and Carter said he would not veto a Congressional repeal of the Taft-Hartley (Right-to-Work) Act.

The majority of us, however, do not belong to a special interest group, or we belong to many. The silent majority is not a special interest group, but a group of us who don't take public stands.

We wield no political clout because we're not involved. That's why we receive the brunt of many laws, acts and tax increases. We receive these "benefits" because politicians have not seen us fight back for misdeeds or abuses. Other groups fight, scream and demand beneficial laws or government actions--and receive them.

MUST BE HEARD

If the trend is to stop, the silent majority must be heard. The 72 percent wet-dry turnout we termed "great," still represents only 35 per cent of eligible voters. Saturday's 52 percent is about 25 per cent of those who have the privilege of voting.

Where does that leave the rest of us? Not registering and not bothering to vote. We have no voice and, thusly, no gripes coming if laws are made which we don't like.

RESOLUTION

It's not New Year's, but let's all make a resolution today. Let's register to vote. It's not difficult and it doesn't cost any money. You don't even have to go to the courthouse in person; you can register by mail. And when it's time, let's vote. If you're busy on the scheduled day, absentee voting is conducted three weeks prior to election day; and you can even vote absentee by mail.

There's no excuse not to vote. And, remember, if your voice is not heard at the polls, someone with differing views from your own will be.

REGISTER TODAY!!

martha angle and robert walters

WASHINGTON-(NEA)-A Carter administration effort to crack down on illegal gun traffic is in serious jeopardy as a result of a ferocious lobbying campaign by the National Rifle Association and other gun control foes.

The gun lobby, one of the most potent single-issue forces in politics today, has mounted a massive assault on proposed new Treasury Department regulations aimed at tightening enforcement of existing federal firearms laws.

In a propaganda blitz filled with distortions and outright falsehoods, the gun groups have accused the administration of seeking to impose by administrative action the sort of national gun registration which Congress has consistently declined to enact.

The proposed regulations do nothing of the sort, but the gun lobby has already succeeded in enlisting enough allies on Capitol Hill to put the squeeze on the Treasury Department by threatening deep cuts in the budget of the department's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms.

ATF did not seek any funds in its fiscal 1979 budget to implement the proposed new gun control regulations, since they would not become effective for some months yet, but it did tell inquiring legislators the program would cost about $4.2 million.

Treasury Department officials therefore knew it was not mere coincidence when a House Appropriations subcommittee stacked with gun control opponents chopped $4.2 million from the pending ATF budget late last month.

Unless the funds are restored by the entire Appropriations Committee or by the House itself, ATF's on-going enforcement activities will be crippled, never mind any new regulations which may be adopted.

House members unsympathetic to the agency's work are now seeking to have the funds restored, but Treasury officials remain nervous and upset by the vehemence of the gun lobby opposition and its obvious clout on Capitol Hill.

The ATF regulations which stirred up such a fuss are actually long overdue, and have been warmly acclaimed by the International Association of Chiefs of Police and other law enforcement organizations.

If adopted by Treasury, they would permit ATF to develop a computerized record of all commercial firearms transactions between and among manufacturers, importers, wholesalers and licensed gun dealers.

The regs would, for the first time, require that every gun imported or manufactured in this country bear a unique serial number. Licensed manufacturers, importers, wholesalers and dealers would be required to file quarterly reports with ATF on the disposition of every gun they handle.

What would not be reported, nor stored in the ATF computer, is the name of the ultimate individual purchase - the citizen who buys a gun from a licensed dealer. Hence, there is no way the reporting requirements can be described as "gun registration."

At present, when police take custody of a gun which has been used in the commission of a crime, the only way its origins can be traced is through a laborious series of phone calls from ATF to the manufacturer or importer, from there to the wholesalers, on to the dealer and so forth.

The process is cumbersome and time-consuming. In urgent cases, like the George Wallace assassination attempt, it can be completed in 24 hours. But routine traces take an average of two weeks and some 45 percent of 62,498 traces undertaken in 1977 could not be completed because of inadequate or missing records.

Furthermore, there is presently no requirement that licensed dealers and manufacturers report thefts of firearms although ATF estimates these total some 35,000 to 40,000 per year. The proposed regulations would require reporting of thefts within 24 hours.

Nothing in the ATF proposal would affect law-abiding gun owners. The only people with anything to fear would be criminals whose weapons fall into the hands of police.

evil is deficit

NEW YORK (AP)-"What we do in our pricing is not as important as a $60 billion budget deficit," said C. William "Bill" Verity, Jr., chairman of Armco Inc., in response to a question on inflation.

Verity permitted no misunderstanding. In his view, steel pricing was not a cause of inflation but a response to it. The source of inflation, he indicated, was in Washington-in the budget deficit.

His president, Harry Holiday, Jr., agreed. In a conversation earlier, he had commented on the dangers of running such a deficit while the country was at the peak of its most recent economic expansion.

Holiday blamed the situation on President Carter, and said he looked beyond to the day when a more decisive president would recognize that a deficit of such magnitude can only force prices higher.

"We have to balance the budget," Verity said again to the small audience of news people, gathered by Armco for a traditional annual dinner and presentation about steel and the economy's future.

"Washington's solution to everything is to spend more," he continued, after explaining that inflation is the top economic concern of his company. "The people will rebel," he said.

"In fact," he continued, proving by his emphasis that inflation and the budget were indeed of very great concern, "some of our economists tell us the deficit could be not just $60 billion but $80 billions."

Asked how he would correct it, Verity suggested a moratorium "until we can get inflation out of the system."

These weren't isolated views, but rather indicative of much business commentary. Business tends to view the budget as the inflation engine, and itself as the helpless victim tied to the railroad tracks.

The view suggests that public support for the President's anti-inflation efforts may be only a practical measure, not in comaraderie with the administration against a common evil.

The evil, business is saying over and over again, is the deficit. To blame business, they say, is to blame the victim for not breaking the shackles and getting off the railroad tracks.

Your Birthday

May 13, 1978

A sudden, dramatic change in your social lifestyle could occur this coming year. Be prepared to meet some unusual people, who will be quite different types from those you've known in the past.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20) Brace yourself for a little turbulence around the house today, because unexpected disruptions can get everyone on edge. Don't add to the disturbance. Find out who you're romantically suited to by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth sign.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20) Things you do in haste or out of anger today will be ill-fated. Keep a cool head. Pace yourself, or you'll wind up doing them over.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22) Financial risks you wouldn't normally consider are likely to tempt you today. Better study carefully any bargains offered you.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22) Your restlessness today could cause you to be brusque or abrasive with your family. Provoking their ire will only make you feel worse.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22) Usually you're quite good at keeping secrets. Today, in a fit of talkativeness, you're apt to blurt out much more than you should.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 23) Trying to keep up with extravagant friends could cause you to really blow the budget today. And you won't even have a good time doing it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22) If you don't get your way today you could throw a temper tantrum that would be damaging for your image. Practice self-control.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 21) Angry words that should have been left unspoken could be voiced if you debate any sensitive subjects today. Nothing will be gained.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19) Be leery of dealing with strangers today or you could find yourself in a complicated situation that will be difficult to unravel.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 19) Much to your embarrassment you could break your word on the spur of the moment today regarding something quite important to another.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - March 20) If working with tools today, be exceptionally cautious and follow all instructions. Serious problems could result from carelessness.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19) You tend to be a mite flirtatious now, and you may form an attachment suddenly that will end as abruptly as it began.

Baby Puts a Crimp In Sex-Change Plans

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1978 by Chicago Tribune N Y News Synd Inc

DEAR ABBY: Three months ago I finally accepted my yearnings to become a male and I began the necessary treatment in anticipation of having a sex change operation.

First I ended my affair with my boyfriend, and then I started the hormone treatments. Shortly afterward I felt that something was amiss; I was examined and learned that I was pregnant!

Determined to go ahead with the sex change surgery, I continued the hormone treatments, but being a devout Catholic I cannot consider an abortion. Yet, I don't want a child.

My former boyfriend is begging me to have the child, marry him, and forget about the sex change operation.

Abby, I was looking forward both physically and emotionally to a new life as a transsexual. What course should I take?

D.

DEAR D.: Since abortion is out, give birth to the child, then reconsider having a sex change operation.

If you still feel like a male emotionally and want a body that corresponds with your feelings, resume your original plan. If the motherhood experience tips the scale in favor of living as a woman, follow that inclination. But do not marry a male unless you feel totally female.

DEAR ABBY: I hope you won't think this is a stupid question for a 14-year-old girl to ask, but you are the only person I can ask who won't laugh at me.

Is it all right to kiss a fellow good-night on the first date?

B. IN BRANDON, FLA.

DEAR B. That depends. The kiss itself is not as important as the motivation behind it. If a good-night kiss is a mutual sign of affection, I see nothing wrong with it—even on the first date. But if there is no feeling for the other person—only a desire for self-gratification, it is cheap and meaningless.

A girl should never kiss a boy because she thinks she "owes" him something for having dated her. Neither should a boy expect a girl to kiss him for that reason.

DEAR ABBY: My wife is very careless about her appearance in the privacy of our home. She gets breakfast barefoot in her nightgown, with her hair uncombed, which is not very pretty. She knows better and can make herself strikingly beautiful if we're having guests or going out. It hurts to know she won't bother to make herself presentable for me.

Divorce is out because of the children, but believe me, it's crossed my mind. I start off my day in anger and disgust, and my mind (and eye) have begun to roam. She reads your column, Abby, so maybe if you print this, she'll see it, recognize herself and take the hint. Thank you.

NO NAME PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: I'll print it, but don't expect miracles. When something as important as one's marriage is at stake, the man who waits for his wife to read something in a newspaper column, "recognize herself and take the hint," may need more help than his wife. Lay it on the line, man, lay it on the line. Maybe she thinks YOU don't care how she looks.

Window Treatments

COLLEGE STATION--Turn a dull room into an interesting, exciting one with window treatments, suggests Sue Young, a housing and home furnishings specialist.

Treating one entire wall as a window is a space stretcher--for example, treat a picture window reaching from wall to wall, or a pane of windows, or a group of two or three unmatched windows as one wall, she continues.

Use draperies in a neutral color as an effective background.

Mrs. Young is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Three notrump is a wrap up since North would be sure of at least nine tricks, but South's steamroller bidding got right past three notrump and into four hearts.

Four hearts should make also after the diamond opening but South wasn't equal to the occasion. He didn't find the winning play.

At trick one East took his ace of diamonds and led back the jack. South drew trumps, led the three of clubs and played dummy's nine. East took his 10 and led back the queen. Because clubs broke 4-2, South finally had to lead a spade toward dummy and lose two spade tricks.

Here is the winning line of play. After drawing trumps South cashes his ace and dummy's king of clubs and leads the nine of diamonds. East takes the trick and South discards his last club. East is caught in an end play and South will only lose one spade.

Suppose East held three clubs? He could lead a third club. South would ruff, lead a trump to dummy, and get one spade discard on the last club.

Suppose East held four clubs? South would have been doomed to defeat on any line of play.

Carlton, Phillies Power Past Seaver, Reds

By The Associated Press

If there's one team that Steve Carlton enjoys beating, it's the Cincinnati Reds. If there's one pitcher, it's Tom Seaver.

Carlton has been thoroughly enjoying himself in recent days.

For the second time in less than two weeks, the Philadelphia Phillies lefthander tamed the Reds while facing Seaver. That inspired a genuine grin from the usually stoic Carlton.

"It was one of the sweetest victories of the year," said Carlton after pitching a six-hitter to whip the Reds 4-1 Thursday night. "I can't remember beating Tom very often."

It was only the second time he's beaten Seaver in their last 10 decisions. The first was last week, a 12-1 victory in Cininnati. Until then, Carlton had an 0-8 record against "Tom Terrific," dating back to 1970.

Elsewhere in the National League, the St. Louis Cardinals blanked the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-0; the San Francisco Giants trimmed the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-2; the Chicago Cubs edged the San Diego Padres 4-3 and the New York Mets nipped the Montreal Expos 3-2. The Boston Red Sox defeated the Baltimore Orioles 5-4 in the American League, which had two rainouts. California at Detroit and Minnesota at Chicago.

Greg Luzinski's home run and a two-run triple by Richie Hebner backed Carlton's pitching. In the third inning, Luzinski pounded a bases-empty homer, his seventh of the year. The Phillies knocked out Seaver in the eighth on Hebner's two-run triple.

In contrast to Carlton's euphoria was Seaver's dismay after losing his fourth game in five decisions.

"No matter what road you want to take," he told writers after the game, "I lost 4-1." The Cincinnati ace kept repeating the known fact in front of his locker. "I lost 4-1."

Cardinals 2, Dodgers 0

Bob Forsch fired a three-hitter for his third shutout of the season and Ted Simmons broke a scoreless tie with a seventh-inning home run as St. Louis defeated Los Angeles.

Giants 6, Pirates 2

Left-hander Bob Knepper pitched a six-hitter and Jack Clark and Willie McCovey belted run-scoring triples, carrying San Francisco past Pittsburgh. The victory was the Giants' fifth in their last six games.

Washington Needs To Blast Back Tonight

LANDOVER, Md. (AP)- Bobby Dandridge says that if the Washington Bullets lose tonight's playoff game to the Philadelphia 76ers, the seventh game will have to be "our best game of the season."

Once again the Bullets, holding a 3-2 edge, will try to wrap up the National Basketball Association Eastern Division series this time on their home court. If they lose, the final game of the series will be played in Philadelphia Sunday.

"This is a must game, no doubt about it," said Dandridge. "Okay, we can still win all by beating Philly up there Sunday, but it would take our best game of the season to do that."

Philadelphia Coach Billy Cunningham predicts doom for the Bullets if they fail to conquer his club at the Capital Centre.

"If they don't win Friday, they're in trouble," Cunningham said. "They'll have the home-court advantage Friday, but they had better make the most of it because there's no way they're gonna win back in Philly if it goes seven."

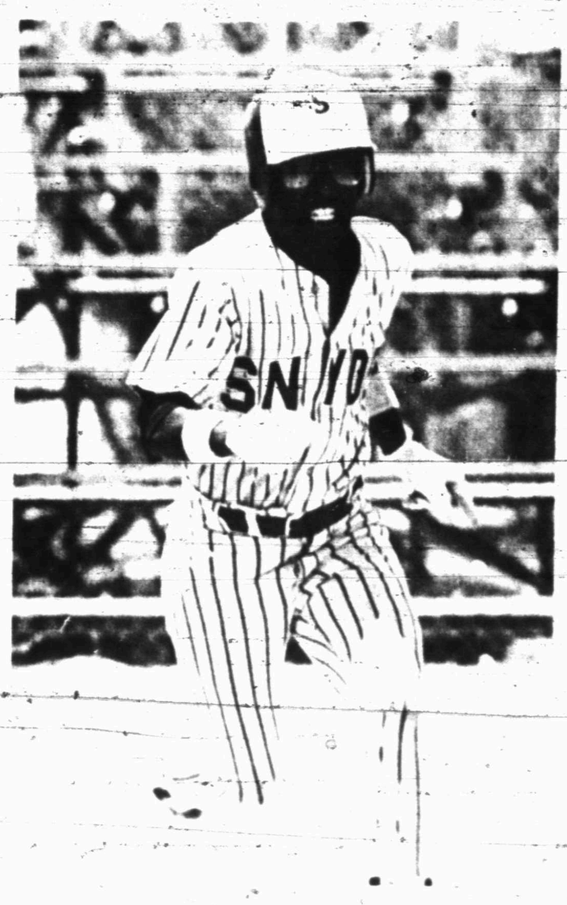

The Bullets had a chance to clinch the series Wednesday, but Cunningham's team fought a tough battle for a 107-94 win.

Bullets Coach Dick Motta said the secret to beating the 76ers is to play as a team.

"There isn't any mystery to what we have to do to win. We can't beat them playing one-on-one, playground basketball. But we can beat them playing better team ball. Every time we do that, we have been tough in the entire playoffs," he said.

Motta said his team was not sharp with Wes Unseld returning to the line-up Wednesday after being laid up with an ankle injury much of the series.

"It's good to get him back. I never thought he could possibly play so much Wednesday. Now I'm anxious to see what he can do with more work," Motta said.

3A 2nd Round Decided Today

Brownfield was to put its season on the chopping block here this afternoon, and the Snyder Tigers were hoping to do something about it.

Today's game, scheduled for 4 o'clock at Moffett Field, marked the final regular district baseball contest of the season barring playoffs, which will occur if the upstart Cubs come out victorious.

Snyder needed the win to lock up a second consecutive 3-AAA title, taking round one with a 5-1 mark, and squeaking through the second round with a 4-2 tally. Should the Tigers lose, the district second-round will go to Brownfield and a playoff situation, best of three, will begin next week. Both squads went into today's game with 3-2 records.

Snyder will open on the mound with left-hander Mitch Mackey (9-2, 1.95 ERA) while the Cubs were expected to start veteran Roy Lee Tealer.

While Snyder would be favored in a playoff situation, due to greater all-around strength and an edge in pitching, Coach Albert Lewis said the Tigers would "play like there is no tomorrow."

Little League Ceremonies Tonight

Little League ceremonies were to be held at Towle Park this evening, marking the beginning of another Little League-Farm League season.

The 6 p.m. ceremonies, held at the Little League Field, will introduce players, managers and coaches.

The first games of the season begin at 7 p.m. as the Braves take on the Athletics. Those games (Little League and Farm League) will be followed by 8:30 p.m. contests between the Indians and Cubs.

Borg May Be Out Of WCT Semifinals

DALLAS (AP)-The hard-luck World Championship of Tennis Finals, stung when defending champion Jimmy Connors refused to return, faces a possible semifinals default tonight by top-seeded Bjorn Borg, who is suffering from a painfully infected right thumb.

Borg, seeking his second WCT title, is scheduled for a semifinals match tonight at 6 p.m. with Vitas Gerulaitis. But he told one Swedish writer on Thursday night that the odds were "50-50" he would play.

Meanwhile, unheralded Carrado Barazzutti wore down second-seeded Brian Gottfried with his airtight baseline play and withering passing shots in the quarter-finals Thursday night for a marathon 6-4, 2-6, 1-6, 6-1, 6-3 upset victory.

The slender, 140 pound Italian meets Eddie Dibbs in tonight's other semi-final match. Dibbs needed only 85 minutes to crush lethargic Ilie Nastase, 6-3, 6-3, 6-0, in a peaceful rematch of last year's volatile quarter-finals confrontation between the two.

The hot-headed Barazzutti, who slipped into the elite eight-man field when Connors and Sandy Mayer refused berths, was overwhelmed by Gottfried in the second and third sets. Barazzutti's concentration slipped during that time as he angrily chastized himself and a linesman.

Local Threesome Ink With Sul Ross State

ALPINE-Three Snyder High School athletes have signed letters of intent to play football at Sul Ross State University this fall.

According to Head Coach Vernon Fewell, the players include Larry Gee and Douglas and Gary Hamilton.

Gee, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Smith, is a 1976 graduate of Snyder High School and lettered in football and track.

Douglas Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Park Hamilton, will graduate this month and has lettered in football.

Gary Hamilton is also the son of Mr. and Mrs. Park Hamilton, and has lettered in football.

The young men will compete in the Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association, a non-scholarship athletic conference comprised of Sul Ross, Trinity University, McMurry College, Austin College and Tarleton State University.

SWC Bat Meet Begins

AUSTIN (AP)-Burl Coker and Tim Lollar, two pitchers who have 15 victories and only two losses between them, will duel at 2 p.m. today as Baylor and Arkansas open the Southwest Conference double-elimination baseball tournament.

Texas A&M, which won the regular season, takes on Houston at 8 p.m. in today's other game of the league's second post-season tournament.

The first round losers will vie in Saturday's first game with the two winners meeting Saturday night. The tournament could last until Monday night.

Snyderite Ranger Football Mentor

RANGER-Tim Marcum, offensive co-ordinator at Ranger Junior College for the past two years, has been named head football coach of the Rangers.

Dr. Jack Elsom, president of the college, made the announcement recently following the acceptance of Carlos Mainord as linebacker coach at Rice University.

Mainord had been head coach at Ranger for six years after being an assistant for three seasons. Ranger's 9-1 record this past fall was the school's best in history.

Marcum is a graduate of Snyder High School and McMurry College. He coached at Lamesa and San Antonio MacArthur before coming to Ranger two years ago.

The Rangers have ranked high in the nation under Marcum. In 1976, they were No. 1 in rushing and No. 2 in total offense. Last fall, they were second in total offense, third in rushing and seventh in passing.

Teams Marcum has been associated with have posted 62 wins, 21 losses and 3 ties.

Marcum is also track coach at Ranger and he plans to keep that job. He will retain assistant coaches Charles Long, Gene Tutle and Bill Fox, and he's adding Jerry Trice, an assistant at San Antonio MacArthur.

Trice is from Hobbs, Texas, and played football at McMurry. He formerly coached at Ranger High School, Brownfield and Lubbock Dunbar. At Ranger, he'll coach the defensive line and linebackers.

Mainrod played high school football at Greenville and also at McMurry College.

Melnyk Takes 5-Under To Lead At Colonial

FORT WORTH (AP)- Steve Melnyk should have been a cat burglar. Or at least a pickpocket.

With the velvet touch of a safecracker, he one putted 12 consecutive holes Thursday and escaped with the first-round lead in the $200,000 Colonial National Invitational golf tournament.

"I'm embarrassed to tell you how many putts I had," the former U.S. Amateur champion grinned after posting a 5-under-par 65 that broke up a five-way deadlock at 66.

Against a background of lightning, thunder and semidarkness, Melnyk calmly dropped a 6-foot birdie putt on the final hole and beat a cloudburst by a long eyelash.

That putt was only his 22nd of the warm, windy afternoon and was the final indignity imposed upon the proud Colonial, which yielded a near-record 26 subpar rounds for openers.

The quartet at his heels included Lee Trevino, the 1976 Colonial champ, who flirted with first place until he took a bogey at the 17th and then narrowly missed a tying 30-foot birdie putt on the final green.

Spurs Sign Moe Again

SAN ANTONIO (AP)- Coach Doug Moe, who guided the San Antonio Spurs to their best record ever in the National Basketball Association this year, has signed a new contract with the club, team officials announced.

Terms of the contract were not disclosed Thursday, but Moe said he was pleased with the deal.

Moe coached the Spurs to 52 regular season victories this year, the most the franchise has won its history in the old ABA or NBA. The Spurs won the Central Division title by eight games, but fell to the Washington Bullets in the playoffs.

WTC Trio Grabs Judo Recognition

Three members of the Western Texas College Judo Team brought home trophies from the first annual Texas AAU Open Judo Championship meet held recently at Fort Hood.

Dr. Shel Hillis, judo instructor at WTC, placed first in the Lightweight Masters' Division I. Joyce Johnson was second in the women's 150-pound and under division. John Wake took third in the Masters' Division II (lightweight) and fourth in the Senior Men's 172-pound division.

Other contestants from WTC were John Utsman, Danny Ramos, Russell Ash, Cindy Hailes and Margaret Wake.

Loyalty Sunday At Grace Lutheran

Grace Lutheran Church will observe Loyalty Sunday for 1978 this Sunday at the regular 10:30 a.m. hour of worship.

Loyalty Sunday emphasizes attendance and participation with a sense of gratitude for the blessings of the congregational family.

REV. CRAWFORD

"We say thanks for our own church," explained The Rev. Jonathan Jensen, pastor. "And we are bold enough to suggest that this ought to be sufficient cause to bring out the kind of crowds we usually associate with Christmas and Easter.

"It is sometimes customary to have Loyalty Sundays to mark anniversary dates of the congregation," continued Jensen, "But this year our Loyalty Sunday coincides with Pentecost, the traditional anniversary date for the universal Christian faith."

Grace Lutheran Church was formally organized in Snyder on Dec. 9, 1956, and dedicated the present church structure on May 28, 1961. Including the Pastor-Mission Developer, the congregation has been served by six pastors during the 22 years of its history.

JOINS CHURCH STAFF — Randy Keen and his wife, Robbie, have moved here and he has joined Northside Baptist Church's staff as youth and music director. The Keens came to Snyder from Sheridan, Ark., where he has been music director for the past nine years at Ephesus Missionary Baptist Church. He attended the Missionary Baptist Seminary Institute for two years, where he received the ACME degree. The Keens live in Key Trailer Park.

Revival Set At Northside

The Rev. Luther Crawford of Corsicana will be the evangelist for a revival at Northside Baptist Church on May 15-21.

Rev. Crawford is secretary-treasurer of the Missionary Baptist Association of Texas.

Music for the revival will be under the direction of Randy Keen. Services will begin each evening at 7:30. Also, the nursery will be provided by the church during each service.

The public is invited to attend all of the revival services, said the Rev. George White, pastor.

Riding Clubs' Playday Set

A District 4 playday for the American Association of Sheriff's Posses and Riding Clubs will be held Saturday in Big Spring, reported members of the organization.

The event will be held at the arena on the Andrews Highway. Registration begins at 1 p.m., and competition is slated to start at 2 p.m. at 5:30 p.m. a jackpot barrel race will be held.

Participating in the playday will be members of the Scurry County Sheriff's Posse, the Junior Sheriff's Posse, and the Sundowner's Riding Club.

The playday is open for public viewing.

Mt. Olive Sets Special Service

The Rev. H.L. Stegar will be the speaker at special services set for 3 p.m. May 21 at Mount Olive Baptist Church.

Theme of the service will be "Progress for Christ," said the Rev. E.D. Toines, pastor of the church.

Rev. Stegar will be accompanied here by his gospel choir which will present a program of spiritual music.

The public is invited to attend the service.

WTC Magazine Now On Sale

The Western Texas College literary magazine, Unity, is on sale in the journalism department for 50 cents per copy.

The 20-page publication contains poetry, short stories and original art work by WTC students and faculty.

Editor is Reva Ferguson, and assistant editor is Laurel Mebane. Faculty adviser is Mike McBride, associate professor of journalism.

1st Baptist Schedules 8-Day Event

First Baptist Church in Snyder has scheduled an eight-day "Spiritual Encounter" which will feature messages from nine different ministers.

The revival will begin Sunday, with Dr. Jesse Fletcher leading off the series in the morning worship service. The Rev. Dwayne Martin will be the speaker for the Sunday evening service.

Then, beginning Monday at 7:30 p.m. and continuing through May 21, there will be a different message from a different speaker each evening.

The other speakers will be Dr. Ken Patrick, the Rev. Jack Riddlehoover, Dr. David Ray, Dr. Carlos McLeod, the Rev. Bill Austin, Dr. Clint Dunagan and the Rev. Price Mathieson.

Music for the "Spiritual Encounter" will be under the direction of Larry and Sharon Rice and Richard Campbell.

AARP Meets At WTC Monday

The American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) Chapter 2063 will meet Monday, May 15 at 2 p.m. at the Senior Center at Western Texas College. A director's meeting will be held.

Speaker will be Keith Jarrell of Dallas, consultant for the insurance plans AARP makes available to its members. He will explain the purposes and benefits of the plans. All members are urged to attend.

The mouth of a mature pig contains 44 teeth.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Early discovery is vital

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I read The Health Letter on the care of the skin and noted what you said about malignant melanoma. I went to the doctor because of a mole on my back which had turned black. He said I had a mole which needed to be taken off. I went to the surgeon and he asked me if it ever bled or if I ever had any discharge from it and I said no. He removed it and sent it to the lab for study. The next day he called me and told me it was melanoma and I would have to go into the hospital because he had to go deeper and wider.

After that operation he assured me everything was fine and I was very happy about it.

In your article you said that skin cancer, other than malignant melanoma, can usually be completely cured. Are you saying that malignant melanoma cannot be cured? I'd really appreciate your opinion.

DEAR READER — No. Malignant melanoma can be cured if it is found early enough. That is why it is so important for anyone who has a change of any type in a mole to go see the doctor at once.

Malignant melanoma is more dangerous than most skin cancers. The more common form of skin cancers change slowly and are easy to catch early enough to effect a complete cure, but you can't fool around with malignant melanoma. It tends to spread much earlier so it is imperative that you get treatment as early as possible. Since so many people with malignant melanoma do not go to the doctor soon enough the cure rate for it is far below the cure rate for ordinary skin cancer.

Your case points out the value of early detection and it also points out the value of being informed and getting an annual examination to detect such medical problems that can be cured if found and treated early. Other readers who want The Health Letter number 7-10, Your Skin: Sun, Aging, Spots and Cancer, can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — For years my neighbor has shared her vegetables from her home grown garden with us. This year I discovered they have been using their "dog-droppings" as part of their fertilizer. Now I've lost my appetite for their vegetables. Would you? Is this safe? Or is it bad?

DEAR READER — I never cease to be amazed at what I find in my mail. My first question is, have you ever been ill after eating the vegetables over the many years you have been doing this? The answer is no.

Although there are diseases that can be spread by dogs this doesn't happen because the manure is used as fertilizer. The fertilizer should be under the surface of the ground and is just as good as cow manure which people buy to use and farmers have used for centuries. No, I wouldn't hesitate to eat the vegetables after washing them. And all vegetables from any garden should be adequately washed regardless of what garden they come from.

I might remind you that the biggest danger in using natural fertilizers comes from human sources. That is because we are prone to pick up diseases from other humans. Many diseases of animals do not affect people and vice versa. The dangers from dog manure come from that on the surface of the ground, not that which is buried.

Owner Of Real Skinny Estate Sought

CONCORD, Calif. (AP) - A strip of land three-quarters of an inch wide has come between Concord and plans to renovate its downtown shopping area.

Ownership of the spaghetti-like property remains a mystery, because county land records show the lot but not the owner.

Nobody knows why surveyors shaped the lot three-quarters of an inch wide by 500 feet long.

The only certainty is that the parcel of land must be condemned to make way for a 103,000-square-foot business.

If the owner is found, city officials will have to bargain with him over value of the land. Some say it's worthless.

But City Councilman Richard La Pointe said, "You could make it a laser beam testing ground."

Passengers Overpower Hijacker

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao (AP)-Passengers overpowered an armed Colombian who had diverted a domestic jetliner to this Caribbean island and demanded fuel to continue a five-hour, three-stop hijack journey, police said today. They said they detained an accomplice after questioning the 86 passengers.

The passengers included at least two Americans, Peace Corps volunteer James Edwards of Oxnard, Calif., and his grandmother, officials said. The woman's identity was not available. Edwards is stationed in Santa Marta, Colombia.

Three persons - the captured hijacker, the flight engineer of the Avianca Airlines Boeing 727 and a Curacao policeman-were wounded. None were in serious condition.

Letter Rate Hike Is Cleared

By JEFFREY MILLS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - The cost of mailing a letter almost certainly will go from 13 cents to 15 cents around the end of May.

The Postal Rate Commission today threw out President Carter's suggestion that private individuals be spared the next postal rate increase, and cleared the way for a new, 15-cent postage stamp for first-class mail.

It will be the fifth increase in postal rates in the last decade.

The rate package, combined with congressional subsidies, is designed to bring in $17.5 billion annually for the deficit-plagued Postal Service. The total is $57 million less than the service had said it needed.

The service's governors are expected to approve the rate increase at a special meeting on May 19. Under law, the Postal Service could reject the independent rate commission's recommendation and stick with present rates, but that is considered unlikely.

Besides the boost for first-class mail, the commission recommended that the rate for post cards be increased from 9 cents to 10 cents, as requested by the Postal Service.

It also recommended that rates for second-class mail (newspapers and magazines) be increased by an average 29.6 per cent. Third-class mail (advertising circulars) would go up by 20.3 per cent and fourth-class (parcels) by 36.8 per cent.

The new rates are expected to take effect about the end of this month after final action by the Postal Service.

The rate commission action amounts to a rejection of President Carter's suggestion last July that private individuals be spared the next postal rate increase.

After Carter suggested a "citizen rate," the Postal Service proposed to the rate commission that the rate be set at 16 cents for businesses and other institutions while being kept at 13 cents for individuals.

But a coalition of business mail users organized and fought the "citizen rate" as unfair. They hired former Assistant Postmaster General Arthur Eden, who once was the Postal Service's expert on postal rates, to make their arguments before the rate commission.

Consumer groups hailed Carter's proposal as freeing citizens from the latest round of postal rate increases. The first class rate went from 5 cents to 6 cents in 1968, to 8 cents in 1971, 10 cents in 1974 and 13 cents in 1975.

The "citizen rate" was part of a package of Postal Service proposals that would have increased mail rates by an average 22 percent.

Sources at the rate commission said the "citizen rate" was rejected by 3-1 vote. Only Vice Chairman Simeon M. Bright, the lone Carter appointee on the commission, voted for the proposal. The three appointees of Republican presidents favored the 15-cent rate for all mailers, the sources said.

Fines Levied In Liquor Cases Here

The three men arrested by sheriff's deputies last month following three liquor raids were sentenced yesterday in county court.

Freddie Ray James, 55, and Norris Williams, 57, each pleaded guilty to dual charges of selling liquor in a dry area and possessing liquor for sale in a dry area. The third man arrested in the raids, Sammie Davis, 31, pleaded guilty to a single charge of selling liquor in a dry area.

Each charge brought the defendant a $1,000 fine plus court costs.

The raids were conducted April 20, deputies reported, after liquor buys were made by an undercover agent earlier in the month.

In other county court action Thursday, James Carl Webster pleaded guilty to two charges of driving while his license was suspended. He received a $25 fine and a 72-hour jail term on each charge.

The remaining case yesterday dealt with a guilty plea entered by J.N. Jones to a charge of driving while intoxicated. He was levied a $100 fine and a 30-day jail term, probated for six months.

More Diesel Cars, Pumps Seen

By MARTIN MERZER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - Oil companies say they will have plenty of diesel fuel to fill up new diesel-powered cars rolling off assembly lines next year. The catch is that you may have trouble finding it at your neighborhood pump.

Only about 19,000 of the nation's 175,000 service stations now sell diesel fuel.

"It's clear that some change in those numbers will have to take place soon," said gasoline retailing expert Mark Emond.

General Motors Corp. President E.M. Estes said this week that GM would triple its output of diesel-powered autos, from about 68,000 this year to 190,000 next year. The firm now produces three models of automobile for which diesel engines can be ordered.

No other U.S. automaker plans 1979-model diesel cars, but trade publications say Chrysler has one under development for the early 1980s. In addition, a few foreign-made cars now sold in the United States run on diesel fuel and about 1.5 million trucks use it.

As to overall diesel supply, Ray Young of the industry's American Petroleum Institute says: "I don't think there's going to be any trouble at all in supplying the diesel market. We have ample flexibility in refining to move whichever way is necessary."

The assessment is echoed by major U.S. oil firms. "We do not anticipate any problems in meeting increased diesel demand," Mobil spokesman Ken Peterson said Thursday.

Oil-industry officials say less than 2 percent of the autos currently on U.S. roads are operated on diesel fuel.

SS Rollback Clears Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) - Workers could find the government withholding less from their paychecks next year than they had expected if a partial rollback of higher Social Security taxes, narrowly cleared by a House committee, wins congressional approval.

But the rollback, approved by the House Ways and Means Committee Thursday, faces powerful opposition in the Senate, including that of Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

President Carter also supports the higher taxes, which became law last December.

If the rollback survives the long legislative road ahead of it, many higher-paid workers would find their paychecks $123 fatter for the full 1979 calendar year than they would be under the law Carter signed in December.

The committee voted 19-18 to use an estimated $14.5 billion in general income tax funds over the next two years.

Introducing the Great Summer Ice-Breaker.

When it's a hundred in the shade, you'll be breezin'. When vacation traffic starts to crawl, you'll already be rollin'... in a short, informal summer bowling league. Where the name of the game is cool.

You'll get away from it all without going too far, or spending too much.

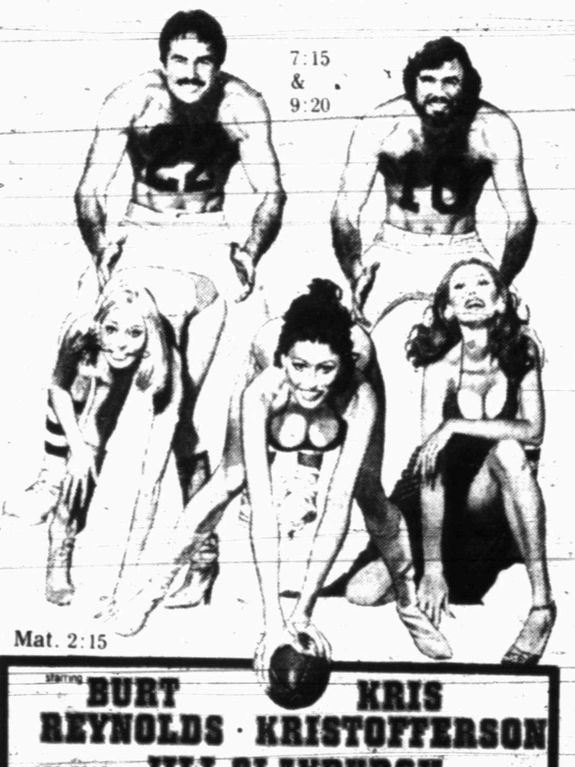

You'll get pumped up without all the pressure.

You'll get close to people you want to get close to. Without getting locked in.

If you're already on a team, let a summer league keep your game hot. If you haven't experienced that "league feeling" summer's a great time to get your feet wet.
