

Iran Threatens Iraq With War

THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS

VOLUME 20 NUMBER 20 SNYDER, TEXAS THURSDAY, APRIL 11, 1980 40 PAGES 20

By The Associated Press
Iranian President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr today threatened war on Iraq and battles against Israel and warned America's oil thirsty allies they won't get "so much as snake's poison" from Iran if they back President Carter's sanctions to free the 50 American hostages seized 160 days ago.

Accusing Iraq of "dancing to any music that America played," Bani-Sadr warned "we will go to war" if there is a worsening in the scattershot border hostilities.

He spoke at a massive anti-Iraq and anti-U.S. rally in Tehran. Tehran Radio claimed the crowd numbered 3 million -- two-thirds of the city's population -- but Western reporters in the Iranian capital put the figure in the hundreds of thousands.

In an interview made public today, Bani-Sadr also sought to end his personal role in the hostage crisis.

"I do not want and cannot involve myself further in the hostages' affair," he was quoted as saying in the interview with the Italian weekly magazine L'Espresso.
"If Carter did not understand this and believes he could resolve the crisis following the traditional policy methods of a superpower, it is not my fault," he reportedly said.

In Moscow, Iran's Ambassador Mohammed Mokri asked the Soviet Union to cease supplying arms to Iraq. Western sources say Iraq has nearly 2,000 Soviet-made tanks and that most of its military aircraft are Soviet-made.

In his speech, which was broadcast by Tehran Radio, Bani-Sadr said, "If Iraqi forces stepped onto Iranian soil, the Iranian government would not be able to stop the Iranian armed forces from pouring into Iraq."
Bani-Sadr said he was confident the Iraqi people would topple the government of President Saddam Hussein.

Plans Readied For Evacuation

LIMA, Peru (AP)—Plans for the evacuation of thousands of Cubans from the Peruvian Embassy in Havana moved ahead as 6,300 were registered and other governments began to offer asylum.

Peru's foreign minister, Arturo García y García, said his nation would take 1,000 refugees and that offers of asylum had been made by countries outside the Andean Council—Ecuador, Peru, Bolivia, Venezuela and Colombia, but he would not elaborate. The council is the political arm of the Andean Group, a regional common market.

Volcano Shakes Into 3rd Week

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP)—With clouds of ash, two hearty earthquakes and a "weak" pair of harmonic tremors, Mount St. Helens has rumbled into its third week of eruptions.

Ash continued to spout from the 9,677-foot volcano Thursday, but eruptions were only visible to scientists and others flying above clouds which obscured the view from the ground, a U.S. Forest Service spokeswoman said.

Sadat Says Treaty Holding

WASHINGTON (AP)—As he challenged Israel to give ground on autonomy for Palestinian Arabs, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat said differences over the issue do not threaten the existing peace treaty between Egypt and Israel.

"The normalization between us is a fact and there is no going back," Sadat told reporters at Blair House before returning to Cairo late Thursday.

Nonetheless, Sadat's public message to Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin was clear: Soften the Israeli position on the Palestinian question or risk continued unease throughout the Mideast.

Sales Tax Rebates Down

AUSTIN (AP)—State Comptroller Bob Bullock said today city sales tax rebates for April totaled $24.1 million, about $10 million less than Texas cities received in April 1979.

Bullock said, however, it is too early to tell whether the lower monthly payment reflects a downward trend in taxable sales or is simply a seasonal adjustment.

"The next couple of months bear special attention and may give us a clear X-ray about what's happening and what to expect from the Texas economy," Bullock said in a statement.

On the eight point, Country Editor Sand Scales, the Monday blow rated a number seven.

"Hope everyone else around here did the same," said Nieman. "After all, we wouldn't want to miss out on all those government funds. We might as well go ahead and plan a new park or something so we'll have something to spend our money on. By the way, how many toilets do you have?" All those questions about plumbing and everything reminds me of the guy whose toilet caught fire and he said he was lucky because the flames didn't reach the house."

Calls For Free Energy Industry...

Clements Renews Vow To Veto Any Tax Hikes

Gov. Bill Clements renewed his pledge to veto any general tax increase legislation and reported on his program to install business-like procedures for operating the state government here Thursday night.

He addressed more than 700 persons who attended the annual banquet of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce in the Scurry County Coliseum.

Clements said the "management by objective" program, a new concept for state government, had met with good response among state agencies. It provides for setting goals, developing plans and then monitoring progress, in that order.

He called for government to get itself out of the energy business and turn it back to the people who developed it and know best how to operate it, and he predicted improved relations with Mexico, provided the federal government will permit the states to work out border problems.

He warned that Texas oil production declined by 21 percent and Texas natural gas production was off by 28 percent since 1970. This has led to imports of 52 percent of the nation's requirements, which in turn has caused an $83 billion imbalance in foreign trade. That is the cause of inflation and high interest rates today, Clements declared.

"We must unfetter all energy sources," the governor said. "We also must conserve and we must get the government out of the energy business."

He said conferences he has held with governors across the border were producing some agreements of mutual benefit. A meeting of all border state governors on both sides has been set for June in El Paso, and Clements predicts that some recommendations to Washington will come out of that session.

The governor also predicted that school legislation will be advanced at the 1981 legislative session to provide more basics and improved discipline. He also said he would veto any "check-off plan for union dues. He envisions a tough fight for his initiative and referendum proposal, but said it will be introduced and that he will fight for it. Several awards were See Clements, Page 9

Q—I found an old soft drink bottle that has the name "Snyder Bottling Works" on it. When did this firm operate here?

A—Bud Boren, local historian, and G.A. Parks, another historian and bottle collector, advise that bottling plants operated here off and on from the turn of the century into the thirties. Parks has bottles with this inscription in his collection. There is a 1915 newspaper ad for "Vivian's Mattress Factory" which noted that it was located "in the old bottling works building." Bottles in those days used the Hutchison stopper, which was punched down inside by hitting it with the hand, or against some other object. This stopper, says Parks, was patented in 1879 and was widely used well into the 1900s. An earlyday bottling plant was located beside the RSP railroad tracks just west of the old sawway building, and a later plant was located on 26th Street on what is now the West Texas State Bank parking lot.

Legionnaires Due For Session Here

A large number of delegates is expected here this weekend for the 17th District American Legion Convention, Sam Harris, commander of Layne-Kite Post 181, and Cecil Agee, convention chairman, have announced.

Rudy Proctor Jr., of Waco, American Legion Department of Texas Veterans Service Officer, and Dan Devers, Scurry County Service Officer, will be on hand Saturday afternoon at the post home to answer questions from delegates, and to explain any changes in veterans laws. Also, Tommy Robbins, 4th Division Commander, and Harvey Holcomb, past Department of Texas Commander, both of Odessa, will be here. There are 32 posts in the 17th District and we are hoping to have delegates from all of them," said Agee.

There will be a memorial service at 9:30 a.m. Sunday. It will be conducted by the Rev. Monte Jones, vicar of St. John's Episcopal Church. Mayor Milton Ham will welcome the guests, and after appointments are made to various committees by District Commander by W.B. Long, the main address will be delivered by Lee Guy of Breckenridge.

The noon meal will be served at the post home at 1802 Ave. R and the business session will begin at 1:30 p.m. All veterans in this area are urged to attend, and those who haven't paid their dues may do so at the convention and participate in the activities.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The few remaining big spenders who still don't appreciate the virtues of a balanced federal budget ought to take a close look at the government agency headed by a Bismarck, N.D., native named Hubert J. Hintgen.

In an era when political and governmental leaders regularly enjoy the celebrity status formerly reserved for movie stars, the 68-year-old Hintgen ought to be famous because he's responsible for managing more money than everyone else in the federal government spends in an entire year.

But practically nobody has ever heard of Hintgen — and his bosses at the Treasury Department undoubtedly prefer that anonymity because he presides over what surely is one of the most embarrassing operations being conducted by the government.

Hintgen's title is commissioner of the public debt. His agency, the Bureau of the Public Debt, is responsible for administering the legacy of years of deficit spending.

The gross public debt currently exceeds $857 billion. That's more than $3,850 for every man, woman and child now living in the United States. It grows every day and sometime in the mid-1980s (probably in 1984) will pass the $1 trillion mark.

Only six months ago, at the beginning of the current fiscal year, the debt stood at $833.8 billion. But six months from now, at the end of the fiscal year, it is expected to total $892.8 billion.

Most of that money is owed to holders of a mind-boggling assortment of securities issued by the Bureau of the Public Debt. Most citizens are familiar, for example, with the non-marketable securities known as Series E, H and HH Savings Bonds.

But those bonds are issued in denominations up to only $5,000. The real action is in marketable securities issued in denominations ranging up to $1 million apiece and known as Treasury

Bonds, Treasury Notes and Treasury Bills.

During every week of the year, billions of dollars worth of those loans are scheduled for repayment. But the government, already operating at a substantial deficit in the current fiscal year, obviously doesn't have the money to pay off even a small portion of the massive debt accumulated in prior years.

So Hintgen's agency is involved in an elaborate high-stakes robbing-Peter-to-pay-Paul operation in which it constantly "rolls over" the public debt. It issues new bonds, notes and bills, then uses the proceeds from those sales to pay off the securities that are about to come due.

On one typical day recently, the Treasury Department sold more than $6 billion worth of 37-day "T-bills" and $3.5 billion worth of two-year "T-notes." One the same day, it announced plans to sell $4 billion worth of one-year bills, $5 million worth of 33-day bills and $1.5 billion worth of 15-year bonds.

Those transactions require a great deal of paperwork, so the Bureau of the Public Debt employs more than 2,500 people to receive, store, issue, redeem, audit and account for all of its bonds, notes and bills.

Those people have to be paid and provided with offices and supplies, so the Bureau of the Public Debt must have its own operating budget — $186 million this year and almost $199 million next year.

Finally, there's the interest that must be paid to induce individuals and institutions to constantly loan money to a debt-ridden government. Interest last year amounted to $59.8 billion, but this year it will soar to $73.3 billion.

Those who aren't convinced of the need to balance the budget to reduce the debt might consider this what-might-have-been alternative to years of deficit spending.

If one item — interest paid on the public debt — were eliminated from this year's budget, the country could enjoy the benefits of all the domestic social programs yearned for by liberals, the balanced budget cherished by conservatives and billions of dollars worth of tax cuts for its citizenry.

tmi in perspective

Anniversaries usually are times for fond remembrances, but not always. Three Mile Island is one of those memories one would like to forget but can't.

It is now one year later. The first anniversary. Twelve months ago, the word came that there was trouble at a nuclear plant in Pennsylvania. The news came slowly at first. On a scale of one to 10, initial concern might have registered a low two. Hardly a ripple on the ocean of anxiety.

Twelve months later, however, that ripple has mushroomed into a mounting chorus of concern as people in this country and others have been calling for banning of all nuclear reactor plants.

Those 12 months have been time to reflect upon nuclear generating power plants generally, and Three Mile Island specifically.

Some casual observations strictly from afar:

The two independent commissions studying TMI verified that the worst accident in the history of commercial nuclear plants was caused by a minor, mechanical failure combined with confusion on the part of operators.

On the other hand, the studies emphasized that the severity of the accident was greatly exaggerated in terms of possible effects on public health.

The fact that the accident at TMI was very frightening to people did not make it very dangerous to the public.

The studies remind that:

The hydrogen in the reactor vessel bubble could not have exploded.

The "China Syndrome" is a movie, not a viable "what if" scenario of an accident at a nuclear power plant.

The equipment meant to protect the public did its job.

Even if there had been a complete core meltdown, the containment building would have remained intact, the Kemeny Commission said. It is no longer accurate to report that if a meltdown had occurred that large doses of deadly radiation would have been released into the atmosphere.

This is not to say that the accident was not serious and has not had severe consequences on the nuclear industry and the utilities which use atomic power to generate electricity. It was an extremely serious accident, and it has been given the attention that it deserves.

The TMI study groups found that safety procedures were designed to handle large scale problems; not small incidents that could grow large.

Operators were not able to recognize the early symptoms of trouble, to interpret conflicting data correctly and to act defensively to solve the problem. As the reactor heated up, scores of alarms and lights began flashing, adding to the confusion in the control room.

The Kemeny Commission said that the evidence showed that the accident was caused by people. Not just people who operated the plant but by the management that "runs the key organization and with the agency that is charged with assuring the safety of nuclear power plants."

Industry spokesmen have admitted that the safety record of the industry was so good that attitudes may have become complacent. But the Kemeny findings also laid blame on the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC). Once regulations become as voluminous and complex as those regulations now in place, they can serve as a negative factor in nuclear safety," Kemeny said in reference to NRC rules. Steps have been taken to eliminate that problem.

Twelve months later, the industry now finds itself in a much better position to handle such emergencies if they should arise again. Experience is the best teacher.

Now, with that experience leading the way, it is time to move ahead with the development of nuclear energy. The myths should be rejected, the realities accepted. Nuclear generated electricity is the least affected by inflation of fuel costs and will continue to be the cheapest form of new energy for American consumers.

He isn't chauvinistic so much as he's a product of his times, when women didn't make double plays and were "swell" to par a hole when the course was mammoth and the ball rolled right into the alligator's mouth.

As he is always saying, "Women just can't stand the pressure of sports."

Your Birthday

April 12, 1980

Your largest rewards this coming year could come from areas you least expect, so don't jump to quick conclusions concerning any opportunities. At least leave the door open.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Rather than go along with the ideas of someone you're peeved at, you could do something out of spite today that would be against your best interests.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be careful today about what you get involved in with a friend that could cost you out-of-pocket. The larger slice of the expenses could come from you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) It may be difficult to make a decision today concerning a loved one because you're apt to overemphasize both the pros and cons, and never reach an objective conclusion.

spring has changed

NEW YORK (AP)—Spring isn't what it used to be. Ask any baseball fan or corporation president. Each will tell you some of the fun is gone from their spring pastimes. The rites, duties and goals have changed.

At the ballpark, the players we once thought of as athletes rather than paid performers are torn between the luck and the ball, and, unwilling to accept management's dictates, they threaten a strike.

At the corporate annual meetings, which reach a peak this month, the once docile shareholder is raising the dickens about trading with South Africa, and about environment and radiation and the communists.

For the corporate chairman, president and other officers the annual meeting once was like a ball game — or even better, like the reunion of the class of 1947. No problems, just good fellowship and fun.

Always there were gadflies that briefly irritated management and entertained shareholders, but now they really sting, and you can't turn off their microphone, as bored chairmen were once inclined to do.

The flies have organized. Not only do they control voting shares, but they have learned how to vote them. They might sound to the chairman like a bug in his ear but he has to listen to them. And suffer.

The Council on Economic Priorities, which monitors corporate activity, reports at least 140 important, non-management resolutions have been introduced for voting, and probably for considerable discussion too.

All, or certainly the vast majority, will be defeated, but even in defeat some issues may force management to reconsider policies.

Approval of just 5 percent of shareholders, says Alice Tepper Marlin, the council's executive director, almost always forces management to respond. Approval by that percentage, she says, tells officers that a much larger percentage of customers and the public supports the measure.

Issues pursued by non-management groups fall into a pattern. Anti-nuclearism is foremost this year. Opposition to doing business in South Africa is common among church groups. Antagonism over corporate gifts to colleges employing Marxist professors is a big conservative issue.

For conservatives, the forcing of shareholder votes on pet issues is a relatively new tactic, and so also, says the council, is the activity of individual shareholders. Unions, too, seem to be more aggressive. It isn't at all like the old days, when an annual meeting was as relaxing as a spring day at the ballpark. Back then, that is, when a day at the park was a retreat from the real world of strikes and such.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

May not need surgery

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I read a column of yours about surgery to remove cataracts and you said that not everyone who has cataracts necessarily requires surgery. I had a cataract removed from one eye. Can I hold off on the other one until my vision gets to be 200 or until I can no longer read the newspaper? Is there any danger in waiting?

DEAR READER — One of the most important criteria in determining whether a person needs a cataract operation or not is how it is affecting his vision. If you can read and drive well (presuming you do drive), you may not require surgery. I know one very famous heart specialist who did delicate heart surgery for years even though he had cataracts.

I presume that the eye that has already been operated on provides rather good vision for you. That's a big plus.

I would send you The Health Letter number 13-6. Your Cataracts are Coming, if you had given me your name and address. Send it along and I'll send you one anyway. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

As that issue of The Health Letter explains, there are a number of considerations as to whether a person needs cataract surgery. Usually a cataract won't damage the rest of the eye, but if the cataract begins to interfere with the normal fluid pressure inside the eye, it can cause glaucoma. In most instances, glaucoma is caused by other problems but this should warn you that there is a point at which cataracts cannot be neglected. You have to depend on your ophthalmologist to tell you when is the right time to have them removed.

In general, I favor taking whatever measures are necessary to maintain the best possible vision. The fact that a person is older is no excuse for allowing him or her to develop poor vision. Avoiding some of the problems of aging depends on being able to use your special senses that provide information to the brain. It's not surprising that a person who can't see very well and can't hear very well soon won't be able to think very well. So if there's any significant change in your vision that can be corrected, it's important to do something about it.

DEAR DR. LAMB — What causes an enlarged heart? Any information will be appreciated.

DEAR READER — It's a physical finding and can be caused by many different things. A vigorous young athlete may develop a normal large heart so that he can run long distances or engage in whatever his particular athletic activity is.

High blood pressure increases the work of the heart and may cause it to enlarge. Disease of the heart valves can be the cause.

One of the more common causes of heart enlargement in older people is heart failure. This may be associated with coronary artery disease — the same disease that leads to heart attacks. The heart muscle weakens and the chambers dilate. This gives the appearance of an enlarged heart. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

An Opening Day Habit

CINCINNATI (AP) — When the Cincinnati Reds play the Atlanta Braves in the National League opener, it seems Susan Mouch gives birth to a child.

On Wednesday, the 30-year-old woman gave birth to her third Opening Day baby.

"You don't stand a chance in the family if you're not a baseball fan," she said Thursday night.

On April 5, 1971, when the Reds lost to the Braves, 7-4, Mrs. Mouch and her husband, Jerome, became the parents of a baby girl, Angela.

On April 4, 1974, Andrew was born to the suburban Wyoming couple as the Reds downed Atlanta, 7-6.

On Wednesday, Abby, a 7-pound, one-ounce baby girl was born. The Reds shut out the Braves 9-0.

"The first two were born right about 2 or 2:15 p.m., roughly about game time," said Mrs. Mouch. "But this one came later in the afternoon."

Noting that the first names of Angela, Andrew and Abby all start with the letter "a," she was asked if that was because the Braves are based in Atlanta. "No," she said, "that had nothing to do with it."

Newcomers' Week Proclaimed Here

Plans for observing "Newcomers' Week" in Snyder April 13-19 were made Wednesday at a meeting of the local Newcomers' Club.

The week has been officially designated by a proclamation signed by Mayor Milton Ham.

A highlight of the observance here will be a luncheon and style show honoring past members. The style show will be presented in cooperation with Margarets, Inc., of Snyder, at 11:30 a.m. Thursday, April 17. It will be held in the garden room of the First Baptist Church, and invitations are being prepared.

All former members of the Newcomers' Club are invited to attend.

The final event during the celebration, which also will mark the 10th anniversary of the Newcomers' Club of Snyder, will be a potluck supper at 7 p.m. Friday, April 18, in the Towle Park Barn.

Give the Professor a good spade suit and he will bid it indefinitely. Good bridge sense is involved in everything the Professor does. Thus, if he shows diamond support he has to do so at the five level and five diamonds just fails to make.

Thus, the Professor found himself in four spades. He ruffed the first heart. Entered dummy with a diamond, led the nine of trumps and played his queen after East followed low.

West took his king and led a second heart. The Professor ruffed again and promptly led the deuce of clubs. East won with the ace and forced South with a third heart to leave him with two trumps and dummy with one. A second club was led and West could do nothing better than to take his king and give up. That eight of trumps in dummy was there to protect South from having to use one of his trumps to ruff a fourth heart.

"Brilliant!" said the student. "I can see why you attacked clubs before playing a second spade, but why did you play your queen of spades when you led trumps at trick three?"

Newman Defends New Picture

NEW YORK (AP) Actor Paul Newman concedes the language in his new movie "Fort Apache, the Bronx," is pretty salty stuff. But Newman in a picture that is, promotes racism? No way, says the actor, despite what two New York newspapers say. Newman held a news conference Monday to refute charges in stories in the New York Post and the Village Voice that the $13 million epic life in the South Bronx ghetto is anti-black and anti-Puerto Rican.

Court Hears Guilty Pleas

Three guilty pleas were entered yesterday in 132nd District Court by persons indicted earlier this week following a meeting of the grand jury.

Receiving a five-year prison sentence that was probated five years was Jeffrey Lynn Brock, now a Haskell County resident. Brock was arrested March 14 on a possession of marijuana charge.

A charge of possession of a controlled substance netted Randy Alan Middleton a three-year prison term that was probated three years. Middleton, whose last officially-listed address was the American Motor Inn, was arrested Feb. 13.

The third case involved Nathan Edward Pullen on an unauthorized use of a motor vehicle charge. He received a two-year probation. Pullen, a Crane resident, had been arrested March 4 for the offense.

Two Suspects Are Arrested

Two of three persons previously not arrested at the time of the Monday meeting of the Scurry County grand jury have been taken into custody.

One of those William Delmer Vickers Jr., 2402 Sunset, Vickers was indicted on a possession of marijuana charge. The offense is alleged to have occurred March 14.

The other person recently arrested is Mozelle King, 3208 Ave. L. Ms. King was indicted on an assault charge for allegedly stabbing Billy N. Cobb March 22.

presented during the banquet program. Mayor Milton Ham presented the William A. Vestal Award to R.C. Patton, while Ed Mlcak presented the McLaughlin Award to Dalton Walton, Milton Stephens presented the Winston Award to Johnny Richardson and Chamber President Charlie Henderson presented the Goldcoater Award to Paul Sizemore, who won it the third year in a row.

Gary Terrell, master of ceremonies at the banquet, presented the governor with a souvenir belt buckle from the Scurry County Board of Development, and Mrs. Clements was presented a comforter made by senior citizens at the local Senior Citizen Center.

Clements, whose plane was delayed, causing him to arrive more than an hour behind schedule, was introduced by Gene L. Dulaney. The Rev. James Merrell, pastor of Trinity United Methodist Church, gave the invocation, and dinner music was presented by Jane Womack, who also led the audience in singing the national anthem at the outset of the program and "America the Beautiful" at the close.

Cinder Benders Scheduled For 3-AAA Meet Saturday

BROWNFIELD—District 3-AAA will separate its regionalists from its also-rans here Saturday, beginning at 10 a.m.

Snyder, Sweetwater, San Angelo Lake View, Brownfield and Lamesa will compete for the 3-AAA team title and individual berths to the girls' Region 4, Tournament.

Field events open the single-day show at 10 with the discus and long jump. The high jump is set for 11:15, followed by the triple jump and shot put at 1 p.m.

Running events begin with the 400 meter prelims at 10:30. Finals will start at 2 p.m.

San Angelo Lake View and Sweetwater have been picked as favorites in the meet. Individual athletes competing for top point-gatherer will include Cindy Golt of Lake View, Brenda Anderson of Snyder and Theresa West of Sweetwater.

Snyder's strengths lie in the 100 meter dash where defending champion, Pam Brown boasts a time of 12.2. Teammate Anderson has the second fastest recorded time of 12.4. Anderson will also compete in the shot put and triple jump. Both will be in the 400 and 800 meter relays. The Felines also have an opportunity to do well in the high jump, 800 meters, and long jump.

Though changes may be made prior to the meet, Coach Patty Grimmett had formed the following outline:

Discus—Taina Barrett, Joyce Wallace; Shot put—Anderson, Suzy Fisher, Wallace; Triple Jump—Anderson, Sherry Spells,

Betty Huntsman; Long Jump—Spells, Huntsman, Sabrina Robinson; High Jump—Barrett, Huntsman; 800 meters—Fisher, 400 Meters—Lisa Waller, Penny Wolfe, Patty Gleastine; 100 meters—Brown, Anderson, Robinson; 100 Meter Hurdles—Barrett, Gleastine, Susie Hernandez; 400 Relay—Brown, Anderson, Spells, Barrett; 800 Relay—Brown, Anderson, Spells Barrett; 1600 Relay—

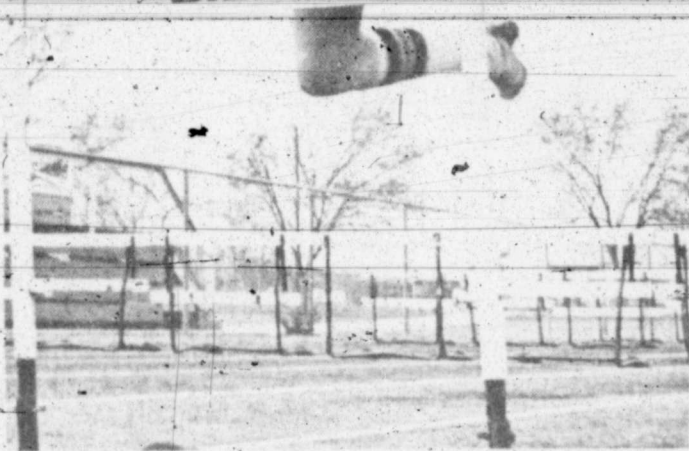

Gleastine, Waller, Wolfe, Spells.

Snyder had no one running in the 200 meters or 1600 meters as of Thursday, but there was speculation that Brown or Anderson might run the 200 instead of the 800 meter relay.

The top two individuals or teams (relays) in each event will qualify for the regional meet to be held next weekend in Odessa.

Tigers Short A Couple For Levelland Relays

LEVELLAND—A show of strength between Snyder's high-flying Tigers and the speed of Lubbock Dunbar and Estacado will apparently not materialize here this weekend.

Snyder will be here, no doubts about that. So will the Lubbock pair, along with teams from Levelland, Sweetwater, Lamesa and Brownfield.

But two of Snyder's top point-gatherers—sometimes accounting for more than 30 points a meet—will not make the trip.

The three-division meet will consist of teams from classes AAA, AAAA and area junior colleges. Field events begin at 9:30 with the pole vault, high jump and shot. Preliminaries in the high hurdles (110 meters) also begin at 9:30. Finals are set for 2:30 p.m.

Junior talent Lloyd Benson, who has been clocked at 48.83 in the quarter and 21.9 in the 200 meters, is one of two Tiger Coach Winfred Shipp has scratched from the meet.

"Lloyd was hurt slightly in the (last week's) meet at San Angelo. He didn't pull a muscle or anything like that we don't think, but we're going to keep him out of Saturday's meet."

The speedster holds the district's best times in the 400 and 200, and Tiger coaches obviously feel Benson needs to make that meet and not take any chances here Saturday. He also runs a leg in Snyder's mile relay team.

The other Tiger absent from the meet will be the region's best high jumper, Brad Richardson. Richardson, who missed last week also, has been given the okay to remain in El Paso with his family during the Easter or "summer break."

Though Snyder won't have the pair here, the team will still be formidable. The state's leading pole vaulter, Dale "The Kid" Jenkins will be going after 16-0, and stand-out long jumper Thomas Selmon will be trying to snap the 23-foot mark for the second time this year.

Other key entries include Tommy Peek in the shot; Glen Parham in the long jump, high jump and 800 meters; Keith McClain in the hurdles; and Keith Wallace in the hurdles and long jump.

One of the highlights should be the 300 meter hurdles, which pits Dunbar's Geoffery Crawford against McClain. Crawford has run a 38.2 while McClain has posted a 39.2—the region's two fastest times. Both should compete well in the 110 meter hurdles, along with Estacado's Anthony McGraw.

Other standouts include Kelvin White of Estacado who has run the 100 meters in a blazing 10.3. He'll be hard-pressed by Dunbar's Darren Holmes, who has a best of 10.6. Jeff McKinney of Estacado has run a 10.7. Dunbar's Charles Mitchell, a 10.3.

With Snyder "underweight" for the meet, either Dunbar or Estacado is expected to have an easier road to the crown. Both have exceptionally fast relay teams, especially Dunbar's 1600 meter staff, which has eclipsed the track in 3:18.6.

Tuesday Honors 'Nolan And Rose'

By Mayor Ham's proclamation, Tuesday has been deemed Nolan and Rose Richardson Day in Snyder. The proclamation honoring the successful Western Texas College coach and his wife, was signed this morning.

Highlighting the day will be an All-Sports Banquet at 7:30 p.m. in the WTC Student Center cafeteria. Athletes and coaches will be introduced at the banquet. Mrs. Richardson will be recognized as an outstanding morale builder and fan of the Westerners.

Texas Pair Open Season With Win

Compiled From AP Stories—

Texas opened the 1980 baseball season with a pair of victories yesterday. Tonight, the Lone Star state hopes to even things up in the world of professional basketball. With the bases loaded in the 12th inning yesterday, Mickey Rivers took advantage of a wild pitch by Rich Gossage and raced home to give the Texas Rangers a 1-0 win over the visiting New York Yankees. Sparky Lyle got the win after striking out three and allowing only one hit in 2 and two-thirds innings of relief.

In Houston, pitcher J.R. Richard pitched perfect baseball for 6 and one-third innings and fanned 13 batters as the Astros opened with a 3-2 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Snyder Entertains Cubs

Snyder's Tigers were to take on district-leader Brownfield High School in baseball action at 4:30 here today.

Brownfield holds a 2-0 loop record while Snyder is 2-1. A victory for the Tigers would place the district into a two-way tie. A loss would deny Snyder any chance of winning the first-round outright.

In an earlier meeting this year Snyder fell to the Cubs 4-0.

Play Night Set At SCC

Snyder Country Club will begin Play Night for its tennis members each Friday evening at 6:30. The first program will be held April 11.

The program will be "draw for partner" and is for all tennis players of all levels. Each team will have an equal chance to win.

In addition, tennis pro Margaret Sherrod will offer a short tip every Play Night preceding play.

All members are invited. Play should be finished by 8:30 so that members may attend the buffet.
