Half Of Louisiana Town Is Wiped Out

Entire World Asking: How Much Further Will Hitler Go?

Austrian Move Raises Host Of Questions

Will Austria, Keystone Of Europe's Arch Of Peace, Be Pulled Down By Nazi Leader

By JOHN EVANS
Associated Press General Foreign Editor

REICHSFUEHRER Adolf Hitler has put his hand on Austria. He compelled the appointment of five friendly men in that little country's cabinet, perhaps the first step toward union.

How much further will he go? How did he do it? Why did he do it and why did he do it now?

Probably Still Some Unrest

Germany has just gone through a "purge" of the army. Hitler took resignations right and left and announced the military would be Nazified. Probably there still is unrest among the officers.

Hitler, facing that, diverted world attention. His bold step made it impossible for the army to waver in its loyalty.

Austria is called the keystone of Europe's arch of peace. Will Hitler steady it or pull it down.

Entire World Worried

Nearly every country in the world is concerned and most of them are worried. They wonder what Hitler will do wit hhis new and growing power. Already he has precipitated a world armament race that has reached to the United States through its complications. Hitler determines the pace because neither Great Britain nor France nor any other power calls "halt" with intent to make it stick.

What's it all about?

Last Saturday Hitler 'invited' or summoned Austria's Chancellor, Kurt Schuschnigg, to Berchtesgaden, De Fuehrer's mountain home close to Austria's frontier. Hitler demanded and obtained reorganization of the Austrian cabinet to include five Nazi sympathizers and freedom for 3,200 political prisoners in Austrian jails. The new cabinet was formed only when Hitler marked it "O.K." Schuschnigg had to submit three lists before the last was approved.

Austria apparently got only re-

They planned to leave for Buenos Aires within four hours. The planes and their 49 men are to take part in ceremonies there Sunday attending the inauguration of Roberto M. Ortiz as president of Argentina.

Ex-Convict Caught After Wild Chase

(By The Associated Press)

CAMERON, Feb. 17.—W. E. Garner, an ex-convict, from Newton county, was shot and captured today a short time after an unsuspecting state highway patrolman was wounded as he aided an injured woman hitch-hiker.

Patrolman Charles H. Kirby, bending over a first-aid kit, was shot twice by Garner, who slipped up behind him and grabbed his pistol, District Attorney Emory Camp said.

Had Chased Machine

Key had chased Garner's speeding machine and the shooting occurred a few minutes after the car had overturned on a side road about four miles from Cearne.

Key was recovering in a Bryan hospital. Garner, nabbed at Buckholts near here by officers who quickly blocked all avenues of escape, was taken to Austin, Camp said, for questioning by the state public safety department.

Watch Is Identified

The district attorney also reported a wrist watch with the name "W. C. Nelson" on it was worn by Garner. Nelson and his wife were robbery victims last night near Beaumont.

Camp said a clipping of the robbery of the Houston couple also was found in Garner's possession.

Garner, 25-year-old convicted burglar had served about a year of a two-year sentence when he was paroled in 1935, Camp said.

Reconstructing the case from his conversations with officers and witnesses, Camp said Garner had stolen a car at Huntsville today and picked up Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Willis, of Cape Girardeau, Mo., a short distance from Huntsville on the Madisonville road.

Picked Up Three More

A little farther on he picked up Mr. and Mrs. William Trippe, of Reno, Nev., and E. D. Blalock of Aransas Pass.

Key started after Garner on the Bryan-Hearne road, and when the car turned over on a slick stretch of the side road into which Garner had driven, got out of his car to render first aid.

Mrs. Willis had suffered an injured leg, and as Key bent over his first aid kit, Garner grabbed the gun. The patrolman turned, started

More Exploring To Be Made In New Cavern

(By The Associated Press)

CARLSBAD, N. M., Feb. 17.—Hoping to plumb the depths of a new subterranean world, a little party of explorers made ready tonight for a dawn start into a newly discovered cavern which might one day claim the title of the world's biggest hole in the ground.

Not far from the great Carlsbad cavern—itself not yet wholly explored after many years—the new cave was first entered by R. P. Burnet, curator of the Carlsbad museum.

Concealed By Large Rock

Burnet was led to the tiny, hidden entrance deep in the Guadalupe mountains by Tom Tucker, a sheep rancher who stumbled upon it 700 feet up the mountainside and concealed by a large jutting rock.

Burnet pushed into the depths for three miles yesterday before turning back, and tomorrow he will attempt to go further in company with others, including Floyd Rigdon, publisher of the Current Argus.

Myriad Of Catacombs

Burnet said there were so many corridors leading off the first great vault of the cavern, passager leading to lower levels, and a myriad of catacombs, that weeks would be required to explore it at all thoroughly.

Col. Thomas Boles, superintendent of Carlsbad Caverns national park, said it was possible the new cave may connect with the caverns, of which 27 miles have been explored without any one having reached the end. The mouth of the new cave is only about 12 miles from the Caverns entrance.

Cover Three Miles

On the original venture into the new cave, Burnet and his group pushed ahead six hours, covering about three miles, without reaching the end of the first chamber—a fairyland of snow white stalagmites which he reported were even larger than the 100-foot monoliths of the Caverns.

The original room, Burnet said, was 700 feet wide with a ceiling so high his flashlights could not reach its outlines.

Stopped by a sharp curve at the end of the main chamber, Burnet turned back on his original venture, but hopes to progress beyond there tomorrow.

Two Train Robbers Enter Guilty Pleas

LAS CRUCES, N. M., Feb. 17. (AP)—A week before their schedule trial, Henry Lorenz and Harry Dwyer, youthful "Wild West" train robbers, unexpectedly entered pleas of guilty to second degree murder today for their fantastic attempt to hold up a Southern Pacific flier Thanksgiving day.

Lorenz, 22, and Dwyer, 27, told District Judge Numa Frenger in his chambers they were willing to take their "medicine" and entered pleas of guilty to second degree murder of W. L. Smith, El Paso switchman, who was shot and killed in the holdup.

With the boys in their conference with Judge Fenger were Loreng' sister, Margaret, who came here from Milwaukee, and his father, German-speaking Conrad Lorenz of Maywood, Ill.

Either Saturday or Monday, Judge Frenger said, he would pronounce sentence. Under New Mexico law, the penalty may range from three years to life imprisonment. Both charges, murder and train robbery, under which they would have stood trial carried the death penalty.

County court officials said the plea would save the county approximately $3,000 in expense, and Newell said Lorenz' sister was actually unable to bear the heavy burden of a defense.

Two-Year Prison Sentence Is Given For Race Bookmaking

DALLAS, Feb. 17. (AP)—A two-year prison sentence was assessed here today for accepting bets on horse races.

A Dallas county district court jury convicted M. B. Cox in the first trial here since bookmaking was made a felony. The jury was out 15 minutes.

The new law provides a fine of from $100 to $1,000, or 10 days to one year in jail, or from one to five years in the penitentiary.

Four Killed, 13 Injured As Two Trains Collide

Colorado And Southern Freight And Passenger Meet Headon Near Folsom, New Mexico

(By The Associated Press)

FOLSOM, N. M., Feb. 17.—Two speeding trains smashed headon last midnight at a fog-shrouded curve two miles north of Folsom, killing four trainmen and injuring 13 persons, and surviving railroad men told reporters today a mixup in orders was responsible.

J. T. Poirier, conductor of the freight, which was southbound, and C. H. Dinit man, brakeman of the passenger train, which was enroute north from Dallas, Tex., to Denver, made the statements of the accident.

Orders Were Mixed

Poirier said the freight was ordered to meet the passenger at Folsom, northeast New Mexico hamlet, at 11:55 p. m. last night. He said the passenger was instructed to meet the freight at Tiowanda, N. M several miles north of the crash scene, at the same time. The crash, he said, occurred at 11:42 p. m., mountain standard time, between Tiowanda and Folsom.

The Colorado and Southern railroad, which operated both trains, launched an investigation of its own under direction of A. J. Horton, division superintendent at Trinidad, Colo., and declined to comment on possible causes of the accident until this was completed.

Strike With Terrific Force

The trains struck with terrific force and both locomotives toppled down an eight-foot embankment, jerking several other cars off the rails.

Only one of the four men in the cabs of the two locomotives escaped alive. He was Charles E. Greenwade, freight fir man, who was thrown clear of the wreckage and suffered a broken leg.

Passengers, many of them asleep, were thrown from their berths by force of the crash. Eleven were injured, but only one seriously.

One Passenger Paralyzed

She was Miss Jane Rook of Colorado Springs, Colo. Railroad officials at Trinidad said she was paralyzed from the waist down and had been taken to a Clayton, N. M., hospital.

The dead, all residents of Trinidad, Colo., were:

Gus H. Diemer, 49, engineer of the passenger train and a railroad veteran of 25 years.

R. E. Selders, 49, fireman of the passenger train, with 20 years of railroading experience.

Clyde E. Hatton, 50, engineer of the freight, who had been on the line for 30 years.

C. H. Cook, freight train brakeman and a Colorado and Southern

Townsend Leaves To Face Jail Sentence

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 17. (AP) — Several hundred singing followers were at the train tonight as Dr. Francis E. Townsend, old age pension leader, left for Washington, D. C., to serve a jail term for contempt.

Several of the elderly women wept and all followers joined in singing "I'm grateful to you."

Dr. Towsend was sentenced to serve 30 days in jail and pay a $100 fine for refusing to testify before a house investigating committee about his promotion of the $200 a month pension plan.

Long-Predicted 'Norther' Hits Area Thursday

Rain, Snow, Sleet Accompany Cold North Wind; Snow Falls At Midnight In Lubbock

A LONG-PREDICTED cold wave swept down upon Lubbock and the South Plains late Thursday, bringing with it rain, snow, sleet, and a cold "norther."

And no relief was promised by government forecasters for this area before Saturday, and then only a slight moderation.

Snow Falling At Midnight

Snow which began falling early in the night and fell intermittently until late, then began steadily had covered the ground with nearly two inches at midnight. Rain and mist preceded the snow.

At midnight the main line station of the West Texas Gas company said the temperature had dropped to 26 degrees from a maximum of 35 degrees in midafternoon. The mercury dropped steadily until midnight and continued to fall, the main line station said.

Throughout the South Plains moisture of various kinds was reported, ranging from only mist to as much as four inches of snow. Freezing temperatures gripped the entire area.

Cold North Wind Blowing

The Lubbock Municipal airport at 12:30 o'clock this morning measured the precipitation at .17 of an inch, the snow at two inches and the temperature at 23 degrees. A cold north wind was blowing.

Plainview at midnight reported between three and four inches of snow and "it was really snowing." The temperature at 11:45 o'clock Thursday night was 27 degrees.

Floydada reported about an inch of moisture with sleet turning into rain near midnight. Skies were heavy with mist. Spur estimated its moisture at three-quarters of an inch with continued rain.

Judge Atwell Rules Brownsville Must Have Tax Rate Of $1.90

DALLAS, Feb. 17. (AP)—Federal Judge W. H. Atwell ruled today that the City of Brownsville will have a tax rate of $1.90 fixed in 1936 instead of a rate of $1.12 recently fixed by the city commission.

The decision was in the case of W. J. Meredith and others against the City of Brownsville. The plaintiffs said they represented the holders of bonds amounting to $1,805,000 and warrants of $531,000.

Attorneys argued that the tax levy should be sufficient to insure payment of the indebtedness.

DISTRICT Attorney Burton S. Burks early today said a charge of assault with intent to murder would be filed against Frank Undray, 22-year-old Henderson negro, in connection with the shooting Wednesday night of R. M. O'Neal, farmer of near Wolfforth.

The investigations Thursday, participated in by Burks, Lindsey, Harrist, Sheriff Tom Abel, Chief Deputy Jas. P. Funeral Will Be Held Today For Three Victims

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 o'clock this morning at Sanders Funeral chapel for three asphyxiation victims whose bodies were found in a trailer house in the 500-block Fifteenth, street early Thursday.

Justice of Peace and Coroner Walter Davies said he would render a verdict of accidental death by asphyxiation from gas from a cook stove in the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. James McMullan, 19 and 21, respectively, and their six-weeks-old son, David DeWayne.

Burial In Ralls

Rev. Robert M. Hocker, pastor of the Nazarene church here, will conduct rites and burial will be in Ralls cemetery. Services for all three will be conducted at the same time, the funeral home said.

Becoming alarmed when he called at the tiny house for the second time to learn why McMullan had not reported for work, Winston Bumpass went to the home of McMullan's mother, Mrs. Ollie McMullan. They looked through the window. They later summoned W. H. Reid, owner of the property, and broke into the house.

Smelled Odor Of Gas

They found the bodies of the mother and infant in the bed and the man's body on the floor. They smelled the strong odor of gas and found gas emerging from three open jets on a cook stove.

Investigators surmised that the man had got up to light a fire early that morning and had gone back to

Japanese Poised In Smashing Advance

SHANGHAI, Feb. 18. (Friday) (AP) Japanese declared today their forces were poised for a smashing thrust south of the Yellow river in the western sector of the central China front, a drive which is expected to become more critical than any since the fall of Nanking.

If the Japanese can cross the Yellow river, the western half of the Lunghai lifeline through China's "bread basket" will fall under their control. They will have taken long strides toward joining their conquered territories in North and Central China and toward bottling up 400,000 Chinese central army troops in the 180-mile-wide Lunghai corridor.

Military observers believe the developments of the next two weeks may have tremendous bearing on the future course of the war.

RULES FOR SMARTNESS

ALICIA HART, staff writer for the NEA service, has composed ten rules for composing a picture of personal smartness. She thinks one would be a more attractive person if she would:

Try to get eight hours sleep every night. And when you simply cannot, figure out a system whereby you pay back the sleep you owe yourself as promptly as does any honest debtor. Say to yourself, "I lost two hours last night, so I'll sleep ten instead of eight tonight."

Do limbering and stretching exercises for five minutes every morning.

Decide right now how much weight you want to lose before Easter, then plan sensible diet and exercise schedules. This way, you won't be tempted to try to lose pounds and pounds during the week just before you plan to buy spring clothes.

Have a shampoo once a week, and brush your hair every night.

Eat more green salads and more fresh vegetables. Drink more fruit juice.

Change your coiffure once a year.

Devise ways and means to keep fingernails from splitting cracking, chipping, breaking. (More milk and orange juice in the diet, more gentle manicures, more appreciation of special cuticle oils and creams are suggestions that may help you with your plans.)

* * *

Refuse ever to buy a dress or an accessory you aren't sure you like or can combine successfully with other items in your wardrobe. Don't let a high-pressure sales person talk you into ordering anything you aren't perfectly convinced you want.

Realize that it's smarter to economize on the dress than on the accessories.

Carry your head high, chest up, stomach in. And keep your backbone straight.

School Bands Will Receive Benefits

Time for the silver Colonial tea, to be given tonight in the Senior high school home economics department, has been changed to 7 until 9 o'clock at the request of several parents, the arrangements committee has announced. The tea, given by parents of Junior and high school band members to benefit both bands, was scheduled originally for 7:30 o'clock.

Red, white, and blue will be the colors used in table decorations, and girls of the home economics department who serve will be dressed in Colonial costumes. Miss Elma Miller, foods teacher, is in charge of the serving.

Orchestra To Play

The Senior high orchestra, directed by Miss Beulah Dunn, will play throughout the evening.

Mrs. George W. Dupree will stand at the head of the receiving line and introduce guests to W. B. Irvin, school superintendent, and Mesdames D. O. Wiley, Gordon Flenniken, G. A. Brown and Messrs. J. Ray Dickey, R. W. Matthews, Carroll Thompson, H. A. Anderson and Joe Haddon. Other members of the house party are Mesdames L. E. Grimes, W. L. Morrison, J. C. Abbott, A. W. May and C. W. York, and Messrs. Dupree, D. O. Wiley and W. H. Edgett.

At Tea Table

Presiding at the tea table during the evening will be Mrs. Irvin and Mrs. Edgett, and Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Roscoe Wilson.

Registration, which began Thursday, is being held from 9 a. m. until 6 p. m. today and Saturday in Hemphill-Wells store. Any baby under 5 years of age may be registered without charge.

Judging of the candidates, March 5, will be solely on the basis of face and form after physical examinations have been passed, officials have announced. All competing babies will receive health certificates. Winning babies in the various classes will receive loving cups, medals and ribbons.

The committee in charge consists of Miss Standefer, Mrs. Huddleston, Mrs. G. H. Ater, Mrs. R. A. Thompson, Mrs. Tom Cannon and Mrs. Elmo Payne.

Mathematician Elicits Records Of 47-Year Old Timepiece

HILLSBORO, Feb. 17. (AP) — The clock in the courthouse tower here, which has told the hour to generations of citizens of the capital of Hill county for 47 years, recently inspired a clock maker to higher mathematics.

After an inspection, the clockman computed the old timepiece had ticked off 41,720 hours, 20,703,200 minutes and 1,482,192,000 (billion) seconds.

The revolutions made by the bell governor controlling the striking of the hours was 26,785,300. The escapement roller on the control regulating the strike of the clock, originally a half inch in diameter, has worn down to about the size of a ten-penny nail.

This record was made working 24-hours daily, amid storm and calm, high temperature and low, blue northers and balmy southers to accomodate the wayfarer and sojourner for two score and seven years.

Arguments For And Against 'Dutch' Dating Given In YM-YWCA Debate At Tech Last Night

Arguments both for and against "Dutch" dating were presented in a YMCA-YWCA sponsored debate Thursday night in the administration building at Texas Technological college. More than 25 persons attended the student debate.

Adoption of "Dutch" dates on the campus likely would terminate in a society similar to the Bureau of Escorts in New York, said a student in the open discussion after the formal arguments.

Sharing Little Premature

"Boys don't have to marry every girl they go with, and talk of sharing expenses is a little premature unless the couple is going steady," contributed another student.

"Very often the girl is better fixed financially than the boy, and the boy hesitates to ask her for dates because of money matters," said Ernestine Story, affirmative debater.

Differing, Geraldine Conner, negative, insisted that Dutch dating would tear down the tradition of gallantry; that girls need the extra money to better her appearance and "make herself beautiful for the man of the moment;" that a boy has more to spend for amusement purposes; and a little sacrifice causes the boy to be more appreciative of his company.

Has Different Viewpoint

William Holt, affirmative, argued that "Dutch" dates would remedy a fellow's financial troubles and aid more discreet spending.

"It would be unladylike for girls to share expenses, and would make weaklings and dependents out of the men," Robert Wilson, negative and president of the organization, said. "It would place women on an equal basis with men and make thm too business-like, causing confusion."

Experience in financial matters for both would be beneficial to later married life, and extra money would be invested toward men's careers, it was mentioned. "We live ridiculously because we fear being though of as ridiculous," Holt said.

Texas Congressmen Say New Farm Bill Is At Least Move In Right Direction

Act Is Said Far From Perfect

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Texas congressmen from principal agricultural districts in the state agreed generally today that the new farm bill, while being far from perfect, is at least a move forward in the quest of economic justice for the farmer.

Typical of their opinions was that of Rep. Marvin Jones of Amarillo, chairman of the house agricultural committee, who said:

Best Under Circumstances

"The bill is the best that could be worked out under the circumstances. I do not believe it is perfect, but I think it is a step in the right direction."

Among the most outspoken opponents of the measure was Rep. Richard Kleberg of Corpus Christi, a member of the agricultural committee, who described it as "unworkable, impractical and unconstitutional," and a step toward loss of democratic self government in this country.

Mahon Gives Opinion

Representative Mahon of Colorado gave his opinion:

"The farmer wants an adequate price for at least a portion of his crop. This bill does not insure such a price, and therefore can not be wholly satisfactory.

"Mere reduction in the production of American cotton by marketing quotas or otherwise will not adequately raise the price of cotton in view of enormous production abroad.

"Some provisions of the bill represent a distinct improvement over the old AAA program."

Compared With Old AAA

Representative McFarlane of Graham also compared generally the new bill with the old AAA and said he thought the 1938 act was an improvement over the former.

Representative Luther Johnson of Corsicana, whose district is in one of the main cotton sections of the state, said:

"I think the psychology of the bill will of itself tend to favorably affect prices, and if properly and judiciously administered will benefit the farmer."

Irrigated Park Near Eagle Pass Is Planned; Lake To Be Center

EAGLE PASS, Feb. 17. (AP)—Because canal construction in 1937 brings water within two miles of Eagle Pass, plans are being made to create an irrigated park near the city. Civic and recreational organizations have been granted permission to landscape 320 acres of county land near the canal, laying off a sodded polo field, stables and corrals, a golf course with grass greens, and a 30-acre lake in the center, which will receive water from the canal to maintain a constant depth throughout the year.

The polo field has been cleared and is ready for leveling. An engineer is designing the golf course, which is expected to be built by the county with WPA labor. Officials say that on account of a number of large draglines used in the canal construction being in the vicinity, the cost of building a dam for the lake is within the county's means. It also is planned to erect a country clubhouse for dancing and dining. The county park land is a mile and a half east of the city, near the paved highway to San Antonio.

Gen. John Burgoyne, commander of the English forces at Saratoga in the Revolutionary war, was the author of "The Heiress," a successful comedy drama.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Kentuckyian Is Quite A Cut-Up For His Age; Been Whittling On Same Bench 40 Years

HENDERSON, Ky., Feb. 17. — When a feller likes to whittle so much that he cuts up his own peg leg—then he's, some whittler.

And that's exactly the description for James M. Smith, who has been sitting on the same bench in Henderson for 40 years, doing nothing but whittling, and whittling nothing but shavings.

Smith, who is 64 years old, began his career with a pocketknife away back in 1888. Four years previously, he had been injured in an accident in which a telephone pole fell on his leg. After numerous operations, including an amputation, Smith settled down on his outdoor bench and took up whittling in a really serious way.

Fancy whittling? Oh, no! None of this curlycue, making-wooden-chains-out-of-a-board for Smith. He just takes a chunk of wood, slices it up into pieces about the size of a lead pencil, then shaves them down to nothing.

For a while he wore a plain wooden peg leg, but later bought an artificial limb because, according to his cronies, he whittled away the peg leg one day when he ran out of knife fuel.

Smith likes best to whittle on cedar wood and, perhaps understandably, he prefers to work on pieces of cedar telephone poles like the one which injured him.

When he can spare time from whittling, Smith takes care of the boiler at a greenhouse operated by his wife, daughter-in-law and grandson. He once ran a grocery store, but closed it up.

"It interferred with my whittling," he says.

Clarendon Man Uses Mesquite Wood For Home Furnishings

CLARENDON, Feb. 17. (AP)—Earl Hill, 25, of Clarendon is employing his skill in wood working and carving to make small home furnishing from West Texas mesquite. He worked in wood since 13, his only instructor being one year of manual training at the Hedley High school.

Objects he has fashioned from mesquite with hand tools and lathe include lamp stands, book ends, several types of table, and stools. He also makes buttons, buckles, conchos and pipes, finishing the articles to bring out the mottled warm colors of the wood. When heavier wood is required he obtains it from mesquite grown farther south, or uses the roots, which, he says, are readily workable and are the largest parts of the prairie shrub.

Museum Is Given Doll By Heiress Of "Alice In Wonderland"

PORT ARTHUR, Feb. 17. (AP) — Miss Mary Jane Hargreaves of Westerham, England, granddaughter of the original of "Alice in Wonderland," recently contributed "Mary Jane," a walking doll, to the Sprig of Green Memorial museum founded here by Mrs. C. M. Redman as a memorial to Lewis Carroll, author of the famous fantasy.

"Mary Jane" was accompanied by a small Persian doll. Presentation of the two figures followed receipt of the Sprig of Green Memorial fund Capt. Caryl Uk Hargreaves, only surviving son of "Alice."

Dutch Engineer To Seek Lost Treasure With His Invention

GLASGOW, Feb. 17. (AP)—A Dutch engineer and his mechanical "clutching hand" are going after the 30,000,000 gold ducats that may have been resting at the bottom of Tobermory bay since the Spanish Armada.

The inventor, Herr Van Wiener, will attempt to find the gold in the wreckage of the Galleon Duque Florenca, off the Isle of Mull, early in the year.

The galleon, part of the mighty Armada of Phillip of Spain, sailed to war with Queen Elizabeth's fleet in 1588.

When the Armada was annihilated, the Duque Florenca was swept by a gale toward the Scottish coast, where the indignant islanders of Mull scuttled her because her master refused to pay for stores he got.

There she has lain ever since, defying the efforts of many the treasure seeker who based his hopes on the story that a Greenrock diver in 1665 found "one paper of Lattin extracts out of the Spanish records that there were 30 millions of Cashe on board the said Ship, and it tells it lay under ye Sell of the Gunroome."

A fine piece of plate in silver and gold, daggers, scabbards, bones, a few coins and a cannon ball have been taken from the galleon at various times — but never the thirty million.

Lenient Law In Country Beaten

(By The Associated Press)

TIJUANA, Mexico, Feb. 17.—An army firing squad dealt death to a sex killer today to beat a relatively lenient Mexican civil law and to ease mob tension which had gripped Tijuana for 72 hours.

Thirty soldiers, appearing suddenly at the Tijuana jail just before dawn, took charge of Juan Castillo Morales, 24, one of their comrades who allegedly had confessed attacking and killing an 8-year-old girl. They marched him to a cemetery where he was put to death with bullets.

Court Martial Held

Military authorities said a court martial, sitting throughout the night, had convicted Morales and decreed the death sentence.

Tijuana officials said the execution had eased the unusual mob spirit which swept the city Tuesday night as a mob of 800 set fire to the city jail, police station and federal building in an unsuccessful attempt to seize the killer.

Morales allegedly confessed attacking and killing little Olga Conzuelo Comancho, daughter of a bartender.

Modern Hotels To Be Built In Antiquated Mexican Pueblos

LAREDO, Feb. 17. (AP)—Manuel Alonzo Florida, manager of an insurance company at Mexico City, announced here recently his company was building two modern tourist hotels at Morelia and Lake Patzcuaro, two of the most ancient towns in southern Mexico. Known as "towns of eternal spring," the inhabitants of Morelia and Lake Patzcuaro adhere to the customs prevailing 400 years ago when the Spaniards came.

Florida said the buildings, costing 500,000 pesos each, would be inaugurated by President Lazaro Cardenas upon completion of paved highways to the towns this spring.

TEST IS ANNOUNCED

SPUR, Feb. 17. (Special)—Thas A. Bryant announces the A. A. House No. 1 wildcat oil test on the House lands in the Red Mud community has been spudded in, but operations stopped until utles are cleared. The test is about 12 miles southwest of Spur, in Kent county.

World Of Tomorrow Begins To Rise On Reclaimed Marsh Near New York City

(By Associated Press Feature Service)

FLUSHING, L. I., Feb. 17.—The New York World's Fair 1939 is rising in steel and stone from what were the marshes of Flushing Meadow.

On April 30, 1939, it will open with unprecedented fanfare and pageantry; for the present, the only sounds are the steam song of the pile-driver and the riveter's counterpoint.

Steel from Pittsburgh, granite from Minnesota, copper from Arizona, elms from New England, giant piles from the forests of the Northwest and the South—the nation is furnishing materials. The world is furnishing participants.

The World Tomorrow

Completed and occupied is the administration building where the fair's complex business is being handled by President Grover A. Whalen and a corps of experts. It is modernistic, suited to the theme of the fair, "building the world of tomorrow."

Going up are the steel skeletons of exhibit buildings which will be grouped in "functional zones" featuring community interests, government, food, clothing, production, distribution, transportation, business administration and communication.

Dominant in the fair's 1 216 1-2 acres of exhibits will be the Theme Center, containing an 18-story-high perisphere and a 700-foot trylon. From them will radiate the exhibit zones.

Cost $125,000,000

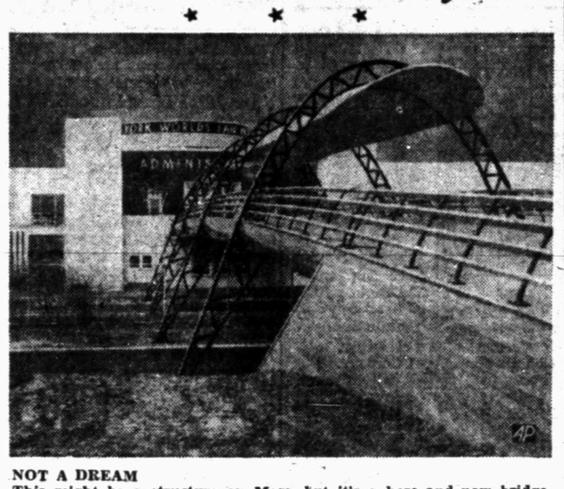

There will be no midway. In its place will be a 280-acre amusement zone in which every concession will be equally accessible.

The estimated cost of the fair exceeds $125,000,000, divided as follows: Fair Corporation, $47,000,000 for construction and operation; federal, state and city governments, $34,000,000 for exhibits and permanent improvements (Flushing Meadow will become part of New York City's park system after the fair); exhibitors and concessionaires, $50,000,000. Pre-fair costs are being met by a $27,829,500 bond issue, plus space charges.

"We of the Fair Corporation," says Mr. Whalen, "believe that business and industry possess today most of the implements and materials necessary to fabricate a new World of Tomorrow. We believe that what are needed at present are not so much new inventions and new products as new and improved ways of utilizing existing inventions and existing products. We believe that an exposition offers the only medium for effective development of these new methods."

Fifty million visitors are expected to come to the fair.

The opening will mark the 150th anniversary of the inauguration of George Washington.

NOT A DREAM
This might be a structure on Mars, but it's a here-and-now bridge from the completed administration building of the New York World's Fair 1939.

District Session Of Rotary Is Scheduled

(Special To The Avalanche)

RALLS, Feb. 17.—Rotarians of district 127 of Rotary International will hold their annual district meeting at Breckenridge, May 8-10, J. Edd McLaughlin, district governor, announced today.

McLaughlin will preside over the session. The Breckenridge club has named a general committee and other groups to make arrangements.

Wichita Falls has put forward the name of Linton Estes, its past president, and an outstanding worker in the club, as a candidate for district governor next year.

The district has 47 clubs with a total membership of over 2,050. Fort Worth has the largest club, 264 members; Amarillo is second with 126; Wichita Falls has 106 and Lubbock fourth with 95.

Abilene has 87 members in the club there. Lockney is the smallest one, 16 members. There are three clubs with over 50 members; eight between 40 and 50; 13 between 30 and 40 and 17 between 20 and 30.

Two Outstanding Americans Are Cited As Examples For Club

Two outstanding Americans, Washington and Lincoln, whose service to their country was of a type to inspire all men, were pointed to as example for Kiwanians to follow, by Walter S. Posey, banker-philosopher, in a talk at the club luncheon yesterday noon in the Lubbock hotel. It was a dual anniversary occasion.

Four new members were given a glimpse of club ideals by Dr, Jack M. Lewis, of the Kiwanis Education committee, at the request of President O. W. English. They were: Preston Lee Smith, A. N. Gamble, J. Neil Fleming and Jeff D. Watson.

George Berry was in charge of the day's program, as a member of the public affairs committee.

W L. Stangel announced the second annual lamb feeders' day program Saturday at Texas Technological college and invited the Kiwanians to attend. H. O. Gantz, new pastor of the First Christian church and a former Fort Worth Kiwanian, spoke briefly on work of service clubs in civic affairs.

Parley On Employment Of Aged People Planned By Perkins

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17. (AP) — Dr. Isador Lubin, commissioner of labor statistics, has told the house appropriations committee that Secretary Perkins will call a conference of large employers to discuss the question of employing older people.

"The reemployment of older workers," he said, "is one of the most difficult problems we have to face. We cannot legislate about it. We cannot make somebody hire a man if he does not want to do so. . . .

"Are we going to be faced with an unemployment group between 45 and 65 years of age that will not be taken care of?"

He testified at hearings on the four-department appropriation bill, made public today.

EXCESS RESERVE DECREASE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17. (AP)—The lendable excess reserve of the nation's banks decreased $50,000,000 to $1,360,000,000 in week ended Feb. 16, the Federal Reserve board said today.

Total reserve increased $11,000,000 to $7,216,000,000 principally because of a decrease in treasury cash and an increase in gold stocks.

"JUST A-RIDIN'"

Oh, for me a horse and saddle
Every day without a change,
With the desert sun a blazin'
On a hundred miles o' range.

Just a-ridin', just a-ridin',
Desert ripplin' in the sun,
Mountains blue along the skyline,—
I don't envy anyone.

When my feet are in the stirrups
And my horse is on the bust,
When his hoofs are flashin' lightnin'
From a golden cloud of dust;
And the bawlin' of the cattle
Is a-comin' down the wind,—
Oh, a finer life than ridin'
Would be might hard to find.

Just a-ridin', just a-ridin',
Splittin' long cracks in the air,
Stirrin' up a baby cyclone,
Rootin' up the prickly pear.

—from JUST A-RIDIN'

The Texas cowboy ends every "ridin'" day with a pot of coffee brought to steaming fragrance by the embers of his camp fire. The chances are more than even that, today, he fills his pot with Admiration, because this Texas coffee has become the largest selling brand in the state. Such sales can mean only one thing—people LIKE it. And whether you buy it at a commissary or at your corner grocery, Admiration is fresh, delivered to the point of sale direct from one of the roasting plants, by fast truck. You, too, should try Admiration .... it's the thing in Texas.

This is one of a series of advertisements finding inspiration in the authentic, original cowboy ballads. Selections are from the John A. Lomax collections.

Two New Grocery Stores Opened In Lubbock Today By Davis And Humphries

Parking Space Is Being Provided

Two new grocery stores, equipped with the very latest thing in fixtures for that type of merchandising, will be formally opened today and Saturday by Davis and Humphries. They are the new Piggly-Wiggly stores: No. 3 at 2422 Broadway, in the Green building and No. 7 at 2420 Nineteenth street, in the Merrill building.

Both locations are much larger than those of the former business places; both are built along the same line with plenty of natural and artificial light, an abundant parking space for cars and lots of room for shopping.

Latest Equipment Included

Piggly-Wiggly corporation designed and built the equipment for the Lubbock locations. Floor and fixtures have an oak finish, with trimmings in green and black. The market fixtures are white, the Frederick Floating Air type and the last thing in conserving meats and all kinds of perishable foods.

In the rear of the store are spacious storage facilities for surplus stock.

The Broadway store is the first to occupy the W. D. Green building at Broadway and College. It is 35 by 80 feet. Winfred W. Stout is the store manager and R. S. Wilkinson is manager of the market. The former has been with the company for seven years, five years at the former location at 1105 College avenue as manager. Wilkinson has been with the company for as long.

Has Seven Regular Employes

There are seven regular employes at No. 3, with five extra men for Fridays and Saturdays. The store was located on College avenue for ten years.

J. Edwin Sowell is manager of No. 7 and has spent ten years with the company. Hugh Cordell is market manager and has been with the firm for four years. The store has a space 50 by 100 feet, in a building that is being completed. Bob Merrill, Slaton, is the owner of the structure.

There are seven regular employes at this store and five extra men for special days. It has been at 2426 Nineteenth street for the past eight years.

Demonstrations To Be Held

For all day Saturday a demonstration of several food products will be held at both stores. Folgers coffee, Libby's pineapple juice and tomato juice, Heinz soup and Ratliff's chili and tomales will be served free.

Davis and Humphries own the Piggly-Wiggly franchise for Lubbock and in six towns in this section, Brownfield, Floydada, Lamesa, Post, Slaton and Big Spring. J. M. Davis and W. E. Humphries began in business here in 1924. They operate five stores in Lubbock besides the wholesale house and the six stores in other towns.

Besides delivering merchandise from their wholesale house to their stores, here and out of town, they operate trucks into the Rio Grande valley and also to California and Arizona, bringing in fresh citrus fruits and fruits and vegetables. Some 200 people are employed in all the stores.

Opening of the new locations here marks the remodeling of four of the five Lubbock stores within the past year; the fifth, No. 1 store, was opened new a little over a year ago. In four of the six towns the store buildings have been remodeled.

Interior Views And Employes Of New Piggly-Wiggly Stores

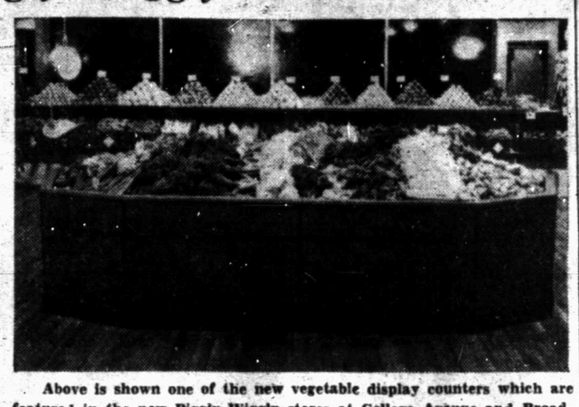

Interior of Davis and Humphries' new Piggly-Wiggly store at 2420 Nineteenth street is shown above. Note the neat appearance of the store and convenient arrangement of merchandise.

A QUART OF MILK A DAY FOR EVERY WOMAN, MAN, AND CHILD

IS NOT

THE IDEA OF A MILK ADVERTISING MAN

NOTICE

The following paragraphs were copied from the article written by Dr. Walter H. Eddy, published in the February Good Housekeeping, under the title of "The Good New Days."

AS PUBLISHED IN GOOD HOUSEKEEPING

Dr. Walter H. Eddy points out the following:

Dr. Henry C. Sherman studies the 150 typical American diets back in 1917, to determine their mineral adequacy and his discovery that our daily intake of lime was more apt to be inadequate than any other mineral element. What did Sherman and others do about this lime deficiency?

They taught us that we need at least 1-28th of an ounce of lime per day; that milk, or milk products, vegetables, and fruits supply it; that milk above all other sources provides it in most easily utilizable form. The slogan which almost everybody has heard today, "A quart of milk a day for every man, woman, and child," is not the result of a milk advertising man's urge to use his product; it is a truth based on the discovery that a quart of milk holds 1-28th of an ounce of lime and that therefore consuming that quantity of milk is your insurance of proper daily supply of lime.

Today I find on the market not only safe pasteurized milk to supply the lime quota, but irradiated milks, metabolized milks, fortified milks. These latter provide a still further insurance of lime adequacy, for they contain vitamin D, which we need to utilize properly the lime we eat—for our teeth and bones.

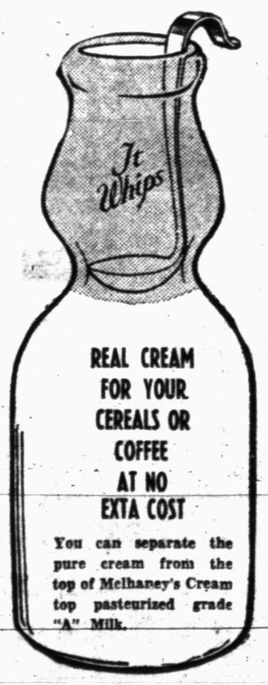

Dr. Eddy Quotes:

Of the results in diarrhea and enteritis Dr. Dublin comments as follows: "The downward trend from diarrhea and enteritis marks a triumph for the public health movement. It reflects the advances in sanitary science and the generally rising standard of living over the quarter century. Other factors have been the pasteurization of milk, better refrigeration of foods, and the purification of water supplies.

This Ad is designed to urge every one to drink more milk!

Total Of $130,081,105 Asked For Four Federal Departments And Judiciary

Increase Made In Requests

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—A recommendation for a $130,081,105 appropriation to run the state, justice, commerce and labor departments and the federal judiciary in the year starting July 1 reach the house today from its appropriations committee.

The committee proposed that the money be divided this way: state department, $16,608,750; justice $42,229,745 (including the judiciary); commerce $16,899,660 and labor $24,332,950.

Increase Is Shown

The total represents an increase of $2,172,799 over the appropriations for the present year, although it is $1,888,546 less than the budget bureau suggested.

The inclusion of funds to pay obligations made under commerce department contracts for the installation of additional air-navigation aids accounted for $2,000,000 of the increase. The commerce department was the only one for which the committee approved more than the budget bureau recommended.

The department would receive $3,511,318 more than it obtained this year and $116,940 more than the budget estimate.

The committee proposed to trim the state department fund $2,731,963 under the current appropriation and $409,220 under the budget.

Justice was listed for $742,415 more than the present appropriation and labor for $651,030 additional, but these departments would get $1,433,456 and $112,810 respectively less than the budget figure.

Ch. Pillico Rumpelstilskin Selected As Champ Canine

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—It is only natural, and pardonable, for you to guess this is a disguised wrestler, hidden behind a fuzzy black beard. But you're wrong. It is Ch. Pillico Rumpelstilskin, C.D. We'll agree the name isn't much of a clue. So, brace yourself—it's a dog. In fact, the American Kennel club says he is the best dog in America. It's a custom for the A.K.C. to name the year's best dog and this time this is it.

Ch. Pillico Rumpelstilskin, C.D., is a poodle. He looks like an agitated muff. He is two and a half years old. Even aristocrats have nicknames and, to his intimates, Ch. Pillico Rumpelstilskin, C.D., is just plain Curley.

His owner, Mrs. Milton Erlanger of Elberon, N. J., says: "He's a standout." Charles T. Inglee, of the A.K.C., says: "He's wonderful. He has won non-sporting groups at 20 shows."

The Ch. stands for champion. The C.D. is a sort of degree given dogs that have passed certain obedience tests. You'll have to guess where the Pillico Rumpelstilskin comes from. It isn't very clear at this end.

Fred Smiths Launch Presidential Boom For One Of Their Members In 1940; Claim Bloc

NEW YORK, Feb. 17. (AP) — Fred Smiths of the nation rallied today behind the slogan "Fred Smith for president in 1940."

The presidential boom was launched last night at the second annual banquet of the B.P.C.U.O. of F.S.A.—otherwise known as the Benovolent and Protective and Completely Universal Order of Fred Smiths or America.

Similar banquets were held in Chicago, Detroit, Dallas and Kansas City by the "Fred Smiths."

"There are 3,000 of us organized throughout the country," said Fred Smith, New York advertising man, who founded the order in 1936 because he was tired of being mistaken for some other Fred Smith.

"That means 3,000 cells of influence," he said. "That is a terrific political bloc. And we're growing all the time. By 1940 we may be able to swing the election.

Silver Lining In Recession; Prophets See Food Prices Dip

Food prices to December 15, 1937 (solid line), are based on figures of the U. S. Department of Labor from 51 cities. The forecast for 1938 (broken line) is the unofficial consensus of government experts canvassed by The AP Feature Service.

(By Associated Press Feature Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17. — Bright spot in the 1938 outlook for the American consumer is the prospect that this year's food dollar will go further than 1937's.

Unusually large foodstuff supplies presage continuation of the current "breathing spell" from mounting food costs. Barring a severe drouth government food supply experts see a trend to a lower general price level of 5 to 8 per cent below last year is regarded a reasonable estimate.

Between last May, when prices were at the highest level since the spring of 1931, and December 14, when the last official survey was taken, the decline was 4.6 per cent. Since then there has been a break in meat prices, particularly in better grade beef.

Here are some of the factors on which government officials base their unofficial forecast: Potatoes, No. 1 item on the poor man's budget, now 36 per cent below prices of a a year ago, probably will continue at that level at least through first half of 1938; oranges are ticketed for the "bargain counter"; seasonal decline of butter prices from the December peak probably will be greater than average; dry edible beans are slated to be cheaper than last year; cereals and bakery products may go somewhat lower; fats and oils are declining in price; rice supplies will exceed any other year on record; total supplies of canned vegetbles are indicated to be the largest recorded.

Southampton's Dry Docks Are 'Beauty Parlors' For Ships

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Feb. 17. (AP)—Southampton's dry docks—"beauty parlors" for ships—are doing a rush business these days with liners which have come in to get "the works."

Many of the big boats have to "turn around" in 16 hours during the tourist season and don't have time to knock off for a "toning up" until the slack winter months arrive.

Examination and cleaning of the underwater parts takes about two weeks. Southampton experts expect to handle a record total of 400,000 tons this winter.

Zoo Keeper Claims No Prophetic Powers, But That Old Rooster Tolls Him Spring Is Close

HOUSTON, Feb. 17. (AP)—Hans Nagel, keeper of the Houston zoo, claims no skill in prophecy, yet predicts an early spring.

The basis of his forecast, Nagel says, is that the Hawaiian game rooster is making eyes at the Falfurrias tree duck in the zoo.

"It never fails," he says, "when that game rooster begins to show interest in that old duck, spring is not far away."

Goose Creek Fire Department Has Unusual Division—Navy

GOOSE CREEK, Feb. 17. (AP) — Goose Creek's volunteer fire department has an unusual division—a "navy." Equipped with a regulation driving helmet and a boat from which to operate the apparatus, the fire fighters are active in rescue work in the ship channel, and in the day and bayou waters around the town.

Recently the department added another activity, the establishment of student safety patrols through the schools. The firemen sponsor safety exhibits and deliver lectures in the classrooms.

Red Raiders Drop First Game Of Series To Aggies; Teams Play Again Tonigh

Tech Ace Leaves Hospital Bed To Enter Contest

By REEVES HENLY

New Mexico State College's Aggie cagers rolled along the unbeaten trail toward another Border conference championship Thursday night as they took Texas Tech's Red Raiders into camp 44-36 at the Tech gymnasium.

The Raiders, held to their lowest score of the current roundball season, missed greatly the full services of their "one man basketball band," Frank "Butch" Sachse. The brilliant forward, who ran up his total score 148 points in a recent swing around the Border circuit, had been confined to a Lubbock hospital with influenza until late Wednesday afternoon. Clearly off-form and being sent into the game only intermittently, Sachse basketed 4 field goals and 4 free tosses to boost his team's tally 12 points.

Tarbox Is High

To little Elmer Tarbox went high point honors of the fray. Scratching only once—a field goal—in the initial half, the streaking Raider forward looped five field goals and one free toss in the second round for a 13-point game total.

Trailing 14 to 4 in the middle of the first installment, Tech's scorers began to locate the basket and by half-time had raised the tally to 13 chalk marks against 24 for the Aggies. From the fifth point till the end of the first stanza, seven of the points belonged to Sachse.

Threat Comes Late

It was the middle of the second canto before Coach Berl Huffman's Matador hardwooders again hit their stride. New Mexico paced the Techmen 40 to 19 when forwards Elmer Tarbox and "Butch" Sachse opened up their sample case of goal shooting. Between them they raised the Red and White total six points before the Aggies countered once. From that point on, it was Tech all the way, the unbeaten Aggies sinking only one bell-ringer in the last four minutes of play.

Heralded as the greatest meshmarksman on the New Mexico squad, Olympic Cager Kiko Martinez, forward, bowed to his running mate, Pecos Finley, who won high point honors among his teammates by dropping 12 points through the barrel hoop. Wood, at guard, drew second honors for the State college men with five field goals, while Martinez sunk four for eight points. Both Finley and Wood were removed from the game late in the second half due to excessive personal fouls.

Play Again Tonight

Joe Jackson, another scoring leader in Border conference circles, failed to register as a cage great by netting only one field goal the entire evening.

Defensively, the New Mexico aggregation roundly outclassed the Matadors until well in the second half. The guard work of Wood and Ritchey spoiled many a Tech scoring threat, while Wood's passing gave Finley the needed advantage for scoring.

Tonight at Texas Tech gymnasium the Aggies and Raiders clash for the section game of the current series. Monday and Tuesday night Tech engages the Flagstaff, Ariz., Teachers in a two-game series that will terminate the Matadors' cage season. All games are called for eight o'clock.

Girls District Cage Tourney Dates Set

Plans for a district tournament for girls basketball teams were formulated in a meeting of member school representatives Thursday night at Hilton hotel.

Meadow High school was awarded the tourney to be held Feb. 25 and 26, Supt. Homer Franklin said. Thirteen county champions are eligible to compete. Entries should reach Franklin at Meadow not later than Monday.

Interscholastic rules for boys tournaments will be used. Trophies will be awarded to teams finishing first, second and third in the meet. Gate receipts will be prorated among teams. Squads traveling more than 40 miles will be furnished sleeping quarters and will receive breakfast the second morning of play.

Pairing made at the drawing Thursday night were as follows, according to counties:

Lamb vs. Terry, Lynn vs. Hale, Dawson vs. Dickens, Lubbock vs. Crosby, Cochran vs. Bailey, Garza vs. Floyd, and Hockley vs. bye.

Winners in all counties had not been learned, Franklin said.

Lamesa Quintet Hands Slaton Oilers Second Straight Loss

LAMESA, Feb. 17. (Special)—Lamesa Modern Dry Cleaners annexed their second victory of the season over the Slaton Oilers here tonight in the Lamesa gymnasium, defeating the Southwestern AAU champs, 36 to 33.

Myers led the Lamesa onslaught with 11 points, followed by Crews of Slaton and Strudivant of Lamesa with 10 each. The game was hard fought throughout, featuring defensive play of both teams.

The count was knotted at 17-all at the intermission.

Four Lubbock Fighters Fall By Wayside In Golden Gloves Tilts At Fort Worth

Techs Come Close

By COLLIER PARRIS
Avalanche Sports Editor

WILL ROGERS MEMORIAL COLISEUM, Fort Worth, Feb. 17.—Four Lubbock District Golden Gloves battlers were eliminated from the State tournament here tonight. Only one victory was recorded by a Lubbock fighter during the first session, then he too was defeated.

Last Lubbock hopeful left in the second round of the matches, Jack Lovin, Avalanche-Journal district champ, in the featherweight division after winning his first round bout by a kayo in the first setto, succumbed to Alec Parrish, champ from the Wichita Falls district. Knocked down three times in the first round of the battle, Lovin took terrific punishment in the second, going down three times. Parrish was awarded an easy decision.

The fight removed the last Lubbock threat in the four light weight divisions.

Four Others Open Tonight

Four other champs of the Lubbock district open competition in the State tournament Friday night. Drawings are to be made at noon tomorrow and the four heavier weight boxers will start opening rounds. Buck Gregory, welterweight; John Buck, middleweight; Bob Ritchie, light heavyweight; and Babe Ritchie, heavyweight, make their 1938 debuts Friday night.

Wagering hereabouts favors Babe Ritchie to repeat his state heavyweight victory. Winners here represent the state in the Tournament of Champions at Chicago starting Feb. 27.

Russell Is Defeated

First two of the Lubbock champions to box faded from the picture, Rudy Russell, classy flyweight from Crowell and Texas Tech going down to the punches of Johnny Page of Dallas in the first round. Page weighed in at 112, Russell at 105, six pounds below his usual fighting weight. Caught by surprise and by a long-distance haymaker, he went down early.

Tommy Coats was the second Lubbock ace to be eliminated. Third on the bantamweight program, Coats, weighing 118, gave Donald Harper of Galveston a rough battle for three rounds. But when the points were counted, Coats was on the short end.

The tide changed when Jack Lovin, who worked here last year as Lubbock's district lightweight champion, now competing as a featherweight swung a variety of punches that had James Skalicky of Big Spring groggy after the first few seconds. Skalicky went down for the count soon afterward.

Martin Is Overmatched

Plucky L. B. Martin, the Lubbock district lightweight champ from Floydada, had too much to handle in Lon McMillina of Abilene. Martin was swarmed at the start, and went down twice under hard right-hand punches. The referee stopped the fight after the second knockdown.

Martin was not hurt seriously, although bleeding. McMillina, taller and rangier, worked exceptionally fast from the start.

Thus, after the first round of fighting in the four light weight divisions, Lubbock's district responded with one delegate to the second round.

Benny Moore, formerly of Shamrock but who resided at Brownfield long enough to compete in the Lubbock City tournament, then entered the district tournament at Pampa, drew a first round bye, then met Wayne Templton of Fort Worth Stripling High. Bennie gave Templeton trouble for all three rounds. But Templeton won unanimous decision of judges on points.

New Yorkers Will Go Indoors To Look At The Great Outdoors

NEW YORK, Feb. 17. (AP)—Paradoxical as it may sound, New Yorkers will go indoors to see the great outdoors tomorrow.

The occasion will be the unveiling of the National Sportsmen's eight-day show—a huge panorama of the North woods, the Grand banks, tropical resorts and even equatorial Africa.

In a space of a few minutes, the tired New Yorker will be able to leave behind the noise and bustle of the city and travel to the "land of his dreams."

All The Game There

He can see tempting trout in their natural habitat, watch deer and bear roam the woods, see the Eskimo, Indian and north woods guide at work and play, loll beneath the pines in a luxuriously furnished cabin or enjoy the "White Hunter's paradise" in West Africa.

To aid the sportsman in enjoying his brief vacation, there are the many needed accessories — fishing tackle, guns, boats, cooking utensils, automobiles and what have you. He can even test his eyesight on one of the several rifle ranges.

The three floors of the Grand Central palace looked more like a League of Nations today as the exhibits were completed. On the big "lake" and nearby, the men of the north practiced for the many novel contests—log chopping, sawing, canoe tilting, log rolling and fly and bait-casting.

Adamick And Thomas Tangle Tonight In 'Tuneup' At Garden

NEW YORK, Feb. 17. (AP)—Jimmy Adamick, youthful Detroit heavyweight, and Harry Thomas of Eagle Bend, Minn., meet over the ten-round route in Madison Square garden tomorrow night, with a "tuneup" shot at Champion Joe Louis promised the winner.

Two-ton Tony Galento, Newark's more or less famous "night stick," was originally billed to oppose Thomas but eliminated himself ten days ago when he pleaded an injured hand. Adamick, a protege of Jack (Doc) Kearns, was selected to substitute.

If Louis disposes of Nathan Mann in a 15-round title match booked for the garden next Wednesday night, it is Promoter Mike Jacobs' plan to pit the brown Bomber against the Adamick-Thomas winner on April 8. The scene would be Detroit's Olympia arena, if Adamick wins; Chicago, if Thomas emerges the winner. Louis, under contract to fight four times a year under Jacobs' direction, has agreed to this program.

What little betting is being done favors the young, fast-hitting Detroiter at odds of 8 to 5.

DICKEY TO PORTLAND

BOSTON, Feb. 17. (AP)—The Boston Red Sox tonight announced that George Dickey, catcher and brother of the New York Yankees' Bill Dickey, had been released on option to the Portland, Ore., baseball club of the Pacific coast league.

Lord Cornwallis, who surrendered to Washington at Yorktown in the Revolutionary war, later became governor-general of India.

Out Of Uniform

These men of sport usually are pictured in athletic garb and the odds are you won't recognize all of them in evening attire. They offer a fashion note, too—four of the six favor soft shirts with turned-down collars:

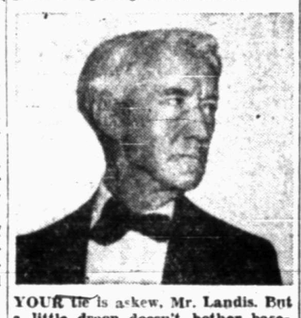

THAT'S a quisical smile. Perhaps Joe DiMaggio is wondering about his Yankee contract.

MAYFAIR'S boxerman-about town, Thomas Farr, sports a white tie for night-club warbling.

JAMES J. BRADDOCK, retired ex-heavyweight boxing champion, gives a fighting man's smile.

YOUR tie is askew, Mr. Landis. But a little droop doesn't bother baseball's commissioner.

Bruins Work On Defense; Hope To Stop Hogs

WACO, Feb. 17. (AP)—Baylor university, lusting after a Southwest conference championship which beckoned a few short games away, worked out briskly today on a man-to-man defense it hoped would prick the bubble of Arkansas' basketball greatness tomorrow and Saturday nights.

Baylor is on the spot. It already has lost one game this season and another defeat might drop it from contention. Undefeated Arkansas, on the other hand, is coasting along behind a fine record, and a single loss, although damaging, would not prove fatal.

Must Match Whole Team

Coach Ralph Wolf stressed in practice sessions that it would be foolhardy for the Bears to concentrate on high-scoring gentlemen such as Don Lockard, the league leader, and Guard Jack Robbins.

"If you're watching them, Jim Benton and Ray Hamilton will run away from you," he said.

Therefore, on a man-to-man defense and the scoring prowess of Hub Kirkpatrick, great center, will go Baylor's chances.

Southern Methodist university, defending champion, would profit most if Baylor managed to subdue Arkansas at least once. The Mustangs then could go into their series with Arkansas next week on even terms providing the Mustangs, as expected, get by Rice and Texas in their next games.

Wolf Watches Razorbacks

Wolf visited Arkansas last week to watch the Arkansas-Texas series and came back with a fine collection of Bear stories. The Arkansas cagers, it seemed, couldn't miss that little net.

"However, if the Bears catch the Razorbacks on an off night on foreign soil, and if Baylor is hitting like it can when in the best of form, we might win."

That hardly could be termed a prediction of victory, but coming from Coach Wolf, it's quite a luminous statement.

Mustangs Play Rice

The series will bring into action a rare collection of marksmen, headed by Lockard and Kirkpatrick, who are running neck and neck in a race for the season scoring leadership. Robbins and Gernand, Baylor guard and captain.

Southern Methodist, whose only loss was an early-season fall before Baylor, meets Rice at Dallas in the other conference fray tomorrow night. Rice is improving with the season but should give the Methodists little trouble. Rice had its hands full beating Texas Christians earlier in the week, and T. C. U. has lost eight straight games.

War Admiral To Run First Race Of His Fourth Year Saturday

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 17. (AP) — War Admiral, unbeaten as a three-year-old, will run the first race of his fourth year in the $7,500 McLennan Memorial stakes at Hialeah park Saturday.

Definite announcement that the bay son of Man O'War would start was made after a conference between Owner Samuel D. Riddle and Trainer George Conway despite Riddle's dissatisfaction at the heavy impost of 130 pounds assigned to his horse.

The race will furnish a preview of the $50,000 Widener cup event March 5 since 16 of the 26 horses nominated for the McLennan also are eligible for the Widener.

Belgium's defense minister has ordered the clearing of 30 concrete shelters, built by Germans along the North Sea coast during the World war, for defense against air attacks.

Jake Atz Denies Report He Is To Manage Harlingen

GALVESTON, Feb. 17. (AP)—Jake Atz today had entered a denial that he had accepted the managerial post of the Harlingen baseball club is the Texas Valley baseball league.

Reports from Harlingen yesterday were that Atz, former Texas league club manager, had accepted the post.

"Just say I don't know anything about it," Atz said.

TRAFFIC POSTCARDS

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The police plan to join the tourists in mailing postcards here.

But the officers won't say "Having a fine time." They will inform motorists their cars have been seen violating traffic regulations and ask them to be more careful in the future.

District Cage Meet Opens At Tech Gymnasium This Morning; Ralls Favored

Starting time is 8:30 o'clock this morning; the place is Texas Tech gymnasium, and after two rounds are played today and tonight and semi-finals and finals run off Saturday and Saturday night one of 15 high schools will emerge winner of district 3 Interscholastic league championship in basketball.

Fourteen county titlists and Lubbock High school, which did not have to qualify, are entered for the two-day tourney. Another team, Plainview, was dropped from the meet when Interscholastic league officials found the Bulldog entry with the state body had been three days late in arriving.

Eleven Games Today

Only four teams will remain in the tournament after eleven games are unreeled today and tonight. Games will start 30 minutes after the hour throughout the day.

Since Plainview's demise, favoritism has been sighted at the strong Ralls High school Jackrabbits, who annexed two games of a three-contest Class B playoff with Lamesa, also considered quite potent. Plainview copped honors in the Big Five league, composed of class A schools of football district 1, and had showed enough class to rate top ranking in competition here.

Meadow Defends Title

Lubbock High school's Westerners bowled over the Bulldogs in one of four melees and is considered strong enough to give other teams a battle for the district title. Coach Goober Keyes has developed a combination that is expected to be far better than it was in Big Five play.

Southland, winner of the second half of the South Plains league last night loomed as a darkhorse among smaller schools. Coach W. W. Mills has brought the Garza county school along fast since early season. He took Ropesville to the state meet in 1932.

Meadow High school came through the district meet as champion last year after a surprise display of strength. The team again represents Terry county this year. Other finalist, Floydada, will fly the colors of Floyd county again here.

Coach Berl Huffman of Texas Tech, who is directing the district event, has urged that all coaches have their teams ready to play at designated times in order that play may not be interrupted.

Officials Are Named

Three officials will work the games. Ed Hambright of Lubbock and North Texas Teachers college, Kermit Laabs of Belen, N. M., and Wisconsin university, and Finis Vaughan of Plainview and Abilene Christian college will referee contests.

High school teams will be guests at the Texas Tech-New Mexico Aggie game tonight at 8 o'clock when presented at the door by their coaches, Huffman said.

Semi-final games are slated for 9 and 10 a. m. Saturday. Champion will be determined in finals at 8 o'clock that night.

Schedule of games today:

8:30 a. m.—Slaton vs. Meadow.
9:30 a. m.—Plains vs. Southland.
10:30 a. m.—Westerners vs. Spade.
11:30 a. m.—New Home vs. Abernathy.
1:30 p. m.—Morton vs. Ralls.
2:30 p. m.—Muleshoe vs. Lamesa.
3:30 p. m.—Floydada vs. Dickens county champion.

Petuit draws a bye. Second round starts at 4:30 p. m.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 17. (AP) Nineteen members of the New York Giants moved into Hot Springs today for 10 days of preliminary conditioning before starting regular training at Baton Rouge, La. Reporting to Manager Bill Terry were 11 pitchers, four catchers, two infielders and an outfielder.

White May Take As Long As He Likes On Grid Contract

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 17. (AP)—Byron (Whizzer) White, Colorado's great athlete-scholar, may take as long as he likes to decide about playing professional football with the Pittsburgh Pirates for $15,000 next fall, the club announced tonight.

Johnny Maher, Pirate secretary, said the dealine of February 18 had been extended indefinitely and that he would mail White a letter tomorrow advising him to take his time.

Previously White had replied that his answer would be no if it had to be made by tomorrow. However, he asked if he later were to change his mind about accepting a Rhodes scholarship to Oxford, would the offer still be open?

The answer, when he gets it, yes.

Par Braced For Crescent City Open Tourney

NEW ORLEANS, La., Feb. 17. —Par braced itself for an old-fashioned thumping from the touring golf professionals as play started today in the $5,000 Crescent City open tournament with the 18-hole pro-amateur event.

Not one of the nomadic band doubted that City park's par 35—72 would stand the slightest chance against a field that included all but two or three of the big-timers.

The pros had a familiar enemy on hand, however, in the weatherman.

Twice fooled in his moisture predictions, the weather man again forecast rain for tonight. Only a light sprinkle now and then marred the pro-amateur day.

So laid out that a fast start is there for the taking of the low hitters, the City park layout, if in its entirety, could become troublesome should prevailing wind of the past three days shift and rain starts falling. Three of the first six holes are par-fives, but them easy wood-and-iron shots birdie holes for the distance boys.

Dapper Dick Metz of Chicago walked off the eighteenth green with a subpar round of 71 and sized up the course with:

"Get your drop on par on the first six holes—it's tough from there on in. I was four under at the start, but it is almost too easy to drop a shot here and there on the last 12 holes."

Absent from the California tour is Big Ed Dudley, Augusta, Ga., iron stylist, carved out a fine round of 69 as a result of an amazing start that included an eagle and three birdies on the first six holes.

Sammy Snead, the clouting West Virginian, was among the entries driving in from California late today.

Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., was absent, but Johnny Revolta, leading money winner of the winter and packing the lowest stroke average for the tour, teed off.

Allen's Demands So High There Is No Grounds For Negotiations

CLEVELAND, Feb. 17. (AP)—President Alva Bradley of the Cleveland Indians said today that Pitcher Johnny Allen demands a salary high above the club's offer that there is no common ground for negotiations.

Frank Pytlak, veteran of five years as Cleveland's first string catcher, today signed his 1938 contract calling for approximately $8,000.

Blalock tried to intervene on behalf of the patrolman, but Garner backed him off, and forced the entire party, with the exception of Key, into the officer's car.

A few miles outside of Hearne, Garner put out Willis and Blalock. The latter reported to officers immediately. Four miles beyond Cameron, Garner forced out Trippe and a few miles farther on, put out the women.

Trippe reported back to Cameron officers and was riding with a group which located Garner as he came through Buckholts.

Deputy Sheriff C. D. McCall and Deputy Constable Jim Perkins of Buckholts tried to halt the car but were forced to shoot. Garner still had Key's gun when he was captured.

Key, about 30, was reported in "good condition" at the Bryan hospital. One of the bullets broke his leg and he was weak from loss of blood but physicians said he would recover.

Garner was not seriously wounded. He suffered flesh wounds in the chest and left leg.

Railroad men on a rescue train rushed to the scene from Trinidad worked for hours to cut the bodies from the debris, using blow torches.

They said all the victims had died instantly.

Physicians and nurses accompanied the rescue train and gave first aid to the injured at the scene of the crash, then took them to Trinidad. Greenwade and Courtney were sent to a hospital. Two passengers were given additional treatment at a hospital, but were released.

The injured passengers included: Mrs. [illegible] Gregory, Slaton, Texas, neck sprained; David H. Wood, Amarillo, Texas, back injured; J. J. Carson, Dallas, broken ribs; Mrs. D.... Palley, Amarillo, head and leg injured; Mrs. T. O. Wiggins, Port Arthur, head injured.

Service on the line, the Colorado and Southern main line, was interrupted for hours and trains were routed over Santa Fe railroad tracks via Boise City, Okla.

the South would be eligible to cast secret ballots on this question:

"Do you favor marketing quotas for cotton (or tobacco) in 1938?"

If two-thirds of the farmers casting ballots vote "yes," the secretary will set up machinery to limit 1938 cotton marketing to around 10,750,000 bales. The 1937 crop totaled 18,747,000 bales.

Designed To Hold Supplies
Under the marketing system—A mechanism designed to hold surplus supplies off the market until they are needed—each farmer would be permitted to market only an amount assigned him. If he sold more, he would be subject to a penalty tax of 2 cents a pound, in the case of cotton, and 50 per cent of the market price, on tobacco. He also would lose federal benefit payments.

The marketing quota provision of the new act, which President Roosevelt signed into law yesterday, was defended by Secretary Wallace in a radio address as "a really effective" and "democratic mechanism" to deal with surpluses.

The department of agriculture expects the United States to be the largest exporter of wheat this year in contrast to last year when the wheat crop in this country was barely equal to normal domestic consumption.

Schroeder and other residents of that and tracted tracks from the small house to the group of tents occupied by negroes on the McCollum farm. Shoes believed to have made the tracks, Undray admitted, were worn by him.

Both the sheriff's office and the district attorney's office expressed gratitute to the farmers who assisted in the search for the gun, in other investigations, and in giving information.

Hitler's Plans World Puzzle

newed assurance of independence.

What of the future?

Statesmen take for granted the Polish corridor will disappear. That is the strip that cuts off that part of Germany known as East Prussia.

They think Hitler will try to dominate his other neighbor Czechoslovakia, where there are 3,000,000 Germans, one-fifth of the population.

Will Swing Eastward
They think if he succeeds there he will swing confidently eastward and control in some way all the rest of southeastern Europe.

Some even wonder if Hitler won't reach across the neck of Poland into the Soviet Ukraine, richest wheat field in the world.

All know that Hitler has demanded that German colonies lost in the war be returned and most statesmen agree eventually something must be done about that.

Where Will Is Stop
And many wonder where expansion might stop if it ever really gets well started.

What puzzles most people is why Hitler should and can tell Austria what to do.

If it happened here it would mean the United States could tell Mexico who should be in the Mexican cabinet.

In Europe it is different.

There are many Nazis in Austria. All the people speak German. They fought alongside Germans in the war. They have many common interests. There has been talk of union for generations. And finally Austria is weak and Germany is strong. If Austria were part of Germany she would make a bigger Germany and have no present fear of outside pressure.

Understand Each Other
Once, in 1934, Italy mobilized a big army on the Austrian frontier to protect Austria against a Nazi uprising but now Mussolini and Hitler understand each other and Italy approves Germany's effort to run Austria.

How Hitler could control Austria through a few cabinet ministers is explained by the ministers' powers. The Hitlerite minister of the interior in Austria controls the police which can forbid political rallies or enforce many measures to stamp out opposition. He also controls election machinery and a mass of minor officials.

Chose Lesser Of Two Evils
Schuschnigg went to Hitler because Germany is the big neighbor with a big army and a big idea. Schuschnigg chose the lesser of two evils.

Here is why Hitler thinks he should do this:

German-Austrian union or 'anschluss' is an old story. A thousand years ago there began a series of alliances and federations that grouped together for strength the many little countries of middle Europe. Often they quarrelled but they got together again when danger threatened.

Anschluss in its modern sense arose in 1848 when there was an effort to make a federation of some 300 principalities. It failed but the idea persisted.

Declare Themselves Republics
After the great war, Germany and Austria declared themselves republics. Both wrote into their constitutions provisions for anschluss. All principal political parties in both countries approved it. The peace conference at Versailles forbade it.

Yet anschluss as an idea thrived. Germany and Austria, March 19, 1931, two years before Hitler came to power, agreed on a customs union, which the world in general called anschluss because it was the first step toward that.

Great Britain protested and the world court at the Hague forbade the union by an eight to seven decision.

Hitler Is Carrying On
All this shows that German-Austrian union is an ancient idea which Hitler is only carrying on.

Why Hitler can tell Austria what to do is simple.

Germany struggled out of defeat while the war victors bickered. Progress was slow until Hitler took command January 30, 1933. Hitler defied the old allies on point after point of the peace treaty until it was all but gone.

Great Britain and France kept hammering at everyone to disarm. Each in turn agreed to limit arms in ways the others didn't like. Disarmament was a pledge in the peace treaty and Hitler finally reminded the allies they had failed to keep their word and he felt free to do what they did. The race was on.

Hitler grew stronger until today British and French foreign offices frankly admit they aren't ready to go to war to stop Hitler from tampering with Austria.

Asphyxiation Victims

bed to wait for the room to warm. As a result the blaze went out and gas escaped through the open jets, they theorized.

No Leaks In Connections
Thorough tests made by the West Texas Gas company showed no leaks in the connections. Early reports were that gas had escaped from a connection near a wall in the trailer.

Speculation arose as to possibility of the deaths being caused by a lack of oxygen in the room.

It was pointed out by H. B. Hamilton, plumbing and gas inspector, that in a small airtight room with a fire burning the oxygen will be exhausted in a short period. When the oxygen supply has been used, the blaze will die.

Practically Airtight
Investigators said the trailer house was closed and was practically airtight. With the gas burning and three persons in the room, investigators theorized that the oxygen supply could not last long.

Government statistics show that burning of a subic foot of gas requires the oxygen from 10 cubic feet of air. As a result, the fire in the trailer house, 7 by 8 bay 18 feet, could not have burned long, in view of the fact three persons in the room also were using the oxygen supply.

Warnings Are Issued
From several official sources came the warning of the dangers of asphyxiation either from gas or from lack of oxygen in small, tight rooms or in trailer houses.

It was believed the gas fires were not blown out by wind because the windows and doors in the trailer were closed tightly.

Reid quoted a neighbor saying a light was seen turned on in the trailer about 6 o'clock Thursday morning. Another said the baby was heard crying about that time. The couple had moved into the trailer Wednesday night. Assisting in the investigations were Bill Mabray and Jess Hardy of the police department, and Dr. Rollo, city health officer.

Had Visited Them Wednesday
Dr. Rollo told Davies he would sign a statement to the effect death was accidental and caused by asphyxiation. Mrs. McMullan, mother of James McMullan, said she was at their place late Wednesday night and all three of the occupants of the trailer were mentally and physically "all right" at that time.

Bumpass told reporters of his visits to the house. McMullan was to have called at the Bumpass home to ride to Hub Laundry, where he is a checker. When he did not arrive at the usual time, 5 minutes to 7 o'clock. Bumpass went to the trailer house. Lights were on. Through a window he could see Mrs. McMullan in bed and he left, thinking McMullan on the way to the Bumpass home.

Again at 8 he called at the house. This time he became alarmed and went for McMullan's mother. They returned at 8:15 a'clock and became further alarmed when they looked through a window and saw the empty crib and still bodies.

Bumpass said he assumed McMullan had attempted to fight the overpowering fumes and reach the door but had fallen before reaching it.

Mrs. I. T. Roberts, grandmother of Reid and who lives in a house on the lot on which the trailer house is located, said members of the family had noticed lights in the tiny house at 6:30 o'clock Thursday morning. Lights still were on when the party entered the house.

Mr. and Mrs. McMullan and son, who was born Jan. 2, had moved Wednesday night from a residence at Fifteenth street and Avenue F.

Mrs. D. F. Sutton, who lived two cabins from that into which the McMullans had moved, said she and her husband heard hammering in the death cabin until about 9 p. m., then all was quiet. They had noticed lights burning early today, when Sutton went to work.

Mrs. McMullan was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ehrlich. She was the former Miss Sybil Ehrlich.

West Texas Tornado

lenced here.

Most of the injured were struck by flying timbers, or caught in their beds. Many persons were cut and bruised, not reporting their injuries. Eight were taken to San Angelo, 36 miles distant, for hospitalization.

In addition to Davis, Mrs. Martinez and the child, the most seriously injured were:

Ramona Martinez, four, serve contusions about chest and shoulders.

John Gerken, 32, of Enid, Okla., clashed foot, abrasions.

Jim Long, bruises and cuts.

James Childress, 28, crushed hand.

Struck At 3:30 A. M.
The whirling wind struck about 3:30 a. m. and the town was isolated until a night watchman made his way to Tankersley, about midway between Mertzon and San Angelo.

Six ambulances with doctors and nurses from San Angelo, firemen and officers were the first to respond. They gave first aid to the injured and rushed those most seriously hurt to San Angelo hospitals.

Five Buildings Wrecked
Volunteer workers searched the debris for additional victims, finding none. Five buildings were wrecked and a dozen others badly damaged. Two big wool warehouses were badly damaged, but the new $110,000 Irion county courthouse was untouched by the wind.

The old courthouse building stood, but its windows were knocked out.

There were many seemingly miraculous escapes. Mr. and Mrs. Chester Cunningham emerged without injury from the wreckage of their apartment at the rear of a business building. A garage was lifted from its foundations and deposited in a tangled mass nearby, but an automobile standing in its was not damaged. One man was carried 25 yards from his room when the wind tore it loose from the building. The bed was left upright, stripped of its coverings. A truck was turned bottomside up, and the driver was not hurt.

McKINNEY, Feb. 17. (AP)—Roofs were blown off homes, garages lifted into the air and large shade trees uprooted by a heavy wind accompanying a terrific rainstorm here this afternoon.

The south portion of the city in the vicinity of the Texas Textile mill, bore the brunt of the storm which traveled in an easterly direction. Roofs were blown from a large band hall and the textile mill.

which ambulances were requested.

Six doctors, 10 nurses, three ambulances and medical supplies were rushed from Charity hospital before 10:30 p. m. Dr. E. L. Sanderson, hospital superintendent, said reports made to him indicated that numerous persons were missing at Rodessa, and that scores were injured.

"Many" Bodies Seen
The Shreveport Times was informed by long distance telephone at 11:40 p. m. Thursday by an eyewitness she had seen "many" bodies and that numerous persons were injured.

Scores of the injured were brought to the White Drug store, Vivian, and then transferred to hospitals at Atlanta, Texas, and Shreveport.

According to Dr. Galloway, injuries of the victims ranged from superficial scalp and body wounds to compound fractures of arms, legs, and hips. Many of the bodies were so mangled, Dr. Galloway said, that the victims cannot be identified, and that some bodies he saw were decapitated.

Doctors J. L. Page and J. W. Mobley, Vivian, immediately went to Rodessa to assist in administering to the injured as well as aid in recovering bodies from the wreckage.

Weather In Area

It had rained possibly more than an inch in the day.

Sleet and snow were reported at Littlefield late Thursday. The wind was blowing and it snowed slightly. The ground had been covered at Levelland. There was wind and dropping temperatures.

Snow and rain at Brownfield turned to sleet and the moisture was estimated at a quarter-inch. A reading of 28 degrees was reported. Only mist with no rain and snow was reported from Tahoka. Temperatures were dropping with little wind.

Weather Cuts Up Elsewhere
Weather reports from other sections of the state included tornadic winds, heavy rains, freezing temperatures and flood waters which left 15 towns without natural gas service, according to the Associated Press.

Service was not expected to be restored until today to the area, which included the towns of Paris, Clarksville, Honey Grove, Dodd City, Blossom, Deport, and others.

Wheat Is Benefitted
The Panhandle was covered with ice but the rest of the state escaped generally the cold wave which had been forecast. Wheat in the Panhandle was benefitted greatly by the rain, snow, sleet and hail of this week.

The Dallas-Fort Worth region appeared hardest hit by rains which blocked the highway between those cities, washed out numerous small bridges, routed some persons from their homes, and brought traffic almost to a standstill.

Coleman Fears For Fruit
Coleman's spring-like weather ended with arrival of the wintry blast and a freeze expected Thursday night would kill 80 per cent of the county's fruit trees, which were in full bloom.

Other reports: Tyler, rain; Temple, almost an inch of rain; Corsicana, light norther; Longview, windy and warmer; Austin, warm but cooler weather forecast.

A snow covering ranging up to 14 inches was a belated winter legacy to New Mexico after 24 hours of rain, snow, fog and sleet.

"If you can not trade with us, buy your products from one of our competitors in the section rather than send to other markets for them," Lawrence told the dealers.

Nunn Electric company established a branch wholesale office here late last year, after serving the territory from its Amarillo office for a number of years.

Several representative of electric appliance supply firms, who had displays at the hotel for the show throughout Thursday, were present and talked briefly.

Company representatives were:

H. J. Fonda of Arrow, Hart and Hegeman company; Bill Reynolds of Flexible Shaft company; Hollis Johnson of Appleton Electric company; E. K. Anderson of Cutler-Hamer company; James A. (Speed) Flood of National Electric Products company; C. D. Belt of Benjamin Manufacturing company; H. L. MARKET SHOWS RALLY

NEW YORK, Feb. 17. (AP)—Stocks turned the tables on sloppy forces in today's market and rallied fractions to 3 or more points.

With business news exhibiting little if any improvement, brokers attributed the day's happier performance mainly to more pronounced inflationary thinking and the revival of hopes congress would act quickly to revise or repeal the undistributed profits and capital gains tax laws.

Transfers amounted to 856,790 shares compared with 472,040 yesterday. It was the largest day's turnover since Feb. 3. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 1.1 points at 44.7.

Much attention was given to reports the president, at his press conference tomorrow, would crystallize his ideas regarding the general price level fog commodities. Sellers, seeing a possible drop here for the shaky industrial structure, were exceptionally timid with offerings.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 17. (AP) — Bullish forces took hold of the cotton market here today and when the final gong rang active positions were 14 to 21 points above the previous close.

Buying came from local and foreign interests and was for trade and investment account.

Short interests were forced to cover as advancing prices and found contracts scarce with the result that the market reached its best prices in final trading.

March closed at 9.10, May at 9.19, July at 9.25, Oct. at 9.35, Dec. at 9.38, and Jan. at 9.40.

Spots followed futures on the upgrade and advanced 17 points with middling at 9.29. Sales totalled 1,118 bales.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 17. (AP)—The average price of middling cotton at 10 southern markets today was 9.08 cents a pound; for the past 30 market days 8.67 cents a pound.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 17. (AP)—Cotton advances were extended $1.00 a bale today as commodity prices generally moved higher. May sold up from 8.95@9.07 and closed at 9.06, with final quotations 17 to 20 points net higher.

The market opened 6 to 9 points higher in sympathy with steadier cables and on foreign and commission house buying.

Although there was considerable profit taking, prices closed at practically the best for the day.

All deliveries but March sold above 9 cents today.

Grains . .

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Feb. 17. (AP)—In a sudden outburst of flurried buying, wheat values shot straight skyward almost three cents a bushel from an early low level today.

Nervousness over trade talk of inflation possibilities inspired much of the buying. The inflation talk was an accompaniment of Washington official conferences which were assumed to be dealing with proposed hoisting of commodity price levels.

The chief flare-up in the wheat market came after announcement that Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau had been invited to appear before the senate military affairs committee relative to a war loan bill. Later, however, something of a wet blanket was thrown on the market by evidence export demand for North American wheat had dwindled to nearly zero.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures showed moderate reactions from the day's top quotations but were 1 cent to 1¾ cents above yesterday's finish. May 94@94⅛, July 89⅝@89⅞, corn 1¼ to 1⅝ up, May 60⅝@60⅞, July 61⅝@61¾, oats ⅛ to ⅜ advanced, rye showing 1 cent to 1⅜ bulge, and provisions 2 cents to 25 cents jump.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Feb. 17. (AP)—Demand for grain was slow here today.

Prepayment Coupons Increase Tax Collections In Canada

REGINA, Sask., Feb. 17. (AP)—Tax prepayment coupons, used by Regina's civic government, are described by tax officials as an efficient and popular collection scheme.

"People are beginning to realize the advantage of including their tax payments in their monthly budgets," says L. G. Geernaert, tax collector. "Making provision each month for a part of the year's taxes is a much easier way of meeting them than waiting to the end of the year."

As another collection aid, a Regina official personally interviews owners of all business blocks and rented buildings upon which taxes are in arrears.

Science Makes Hatteras Safe

By E. N. THOMPSON
Associated Press Feature Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Science has ruined the reputation of Cape Hatteras as "the graveyard of the Atlantic."

No longer is there terror in the warning of old salts of the square-rigger days: "If Bermuda lets you pass, then look out for Hatteras."

The credit goes to radio beacons, steam power and navigation instruments.

Commander Merlin O'Neill of the U. S. Coast Guard says the eastern seaboard, from Hatteras to Maine, can be dangerous when winter storms whip the Atlantic. But modern mariners are equipped to cope with Hatteras—and those other danger points, Cape Cod and Nantucket shoals.

Radio's Long Tongue

Disasters like the sinking of the Tzenny Chandris off Hatteras last November are rare nowadays, although back in 1888 a single March blizzard swept more than 200 ships ashore on the Atlantic Coast.

Huir-adjustment navigation instruments tell pilots their exact locations while navigators in the days of sail frequently had to sight land to tell where they were.

There are 127 marine radio beacons along the Atlantic seaboard throwing exact direction signals 200 miles out to sea. Old-time lighthouses, though still useful, are visible only 18 miles in clear weather.

Sailing ships from the South usually rode the Gulf Stream which flows up the Atlantic Coast at the rate of three or four miles an hour. The current helped the ship and there was little danger until it approached Hatteras. But there, "Nor'easters," gales from across the Atlantic, blow against the Gulf Stream current, whipping up mountainous seas. They pile wave after wave on Diamond Shoals, which juts 14 miles into the sea off Hatteras.

Hurricanes, Too

Steam vessels can easily change course to avoid this peril. Sailing ships, depending partly on the wind for direction, couldn't sail straight into a gale to escape the shoals.

Old-timers feared Hatteras, too, because it was in the hurricane belt. They had their weather lore in rhyme: "June, too soon; July, stand by; August, look out; September, remember; October, all over."

But modern sea captains know hurricanes may come early in the summer and later than November. Warnings are sent by radio from Navy stations in co-operation with the Weather Bureau. They plot the paths of these sea storms so ships can get out of their way.

Hurricanes—sweeping past the West Indies often swirl up the Atlantic Coast turning back to sea only after they pass Hatteras. Because the winds whirl counter-clockwise toward the coast they used to blow sailing vessels on the rocks. Steamship can often steer clear, and aided by modern weather charts, plot a course in calmer seas.

Science-minded seafarers can still doff their caps to Hatteras for its winds and currents. But they find it no more dangerous in a "blow" than Nantucket Shoals, Cape Cod, the Florida reefs or other parts of the Atlantic Coast. Old time sailing yarns just make it seem so.

Texans Claim Record By Making Personal Delivery Of Goats

JUNCTION, Feb. 17. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Jack Turner, living near here, believe they have set a record for personal delivery of a small lot of goats.

A. Merrett of Palaschia, Tenn., ordered six good grade nannies from Turner's angora flock. Merrett started figuring and found the express bill would be around $4.50 per head, about $2 per head more than the purchase cost so he wired the Turners, "just bring 'em up."

The Turners did so and at home again found they had traveled 3,074 miles in delivering the six animals.

Alaskan Indians Find Paradise

(By The Associated Press)

METLAKATIA, Alberta, Feb. 17.—After 50 years, the Metlakatla Indians have found their happy hunting ground in a white man's world.

Their good luck has resulted from salmon fishing and the practical-mindedness of an early-day missionary who led them out of the forests of British Columbia to settle on Annette Island, 14 miles south of Ketchikan.

Happy Indeed

These are the benefits they enjoy:

Approximately a quarter of a million dollars income last year.

No taxes. Nor was a nickel of relief money needed.

Free water, light and power. Electric washing machines, ranges, heaters and radios in large quantities. Free medical treatment, including trips to Seattle for a specialist if needed.

A church modeled after Westminster Abbey, the towers of which loom high above the wooden houses and planked sidewalks and streets.

A large well-equipped community hall. A commonly-owned and operated sawmill. The finest seining fleet in Alaska.

A salmon cannery, leased for the colony by the government to a packing company, is the source of the wealth. The company paid some $140,000 last year, half in wages and the remainder for fish and the like, to members individually, and $111,694 to the Bureau of Indian Affairs as a share of the profits, for the credit of the Metlakatlans.

"Not 40 per cent of the people of the United States are as well off," says W. A. Pries, Ketchikan banker and president of the Annette Island Canning Company.

14 Miles To A Movie

All the adults are literate and the government school, presided over by E. R. Stone, Bureau of Indian Affairs representative, and his assistants, trains children so well that for several years pupils have won all the prizes in the all-Alaska oration and essay contests.

Four white families live on the island.

"The natives dress well," Pries said. "There's even a beauty parlor for the girls. The favorite diversion is a trip to Ketchikan to the movies, as there are none on the island. They play bridge and other card games, but they do not gamble."

The colony got its start half a century ago. Father William Duncan, worked among the British Columbia Indians. Winning their confidence, led a band to Annette Island. The perilous migration was made in canoes.

No Liquor Allowed

Free from the influence of fur traders, whiskey dealers, soldiers and "bad" Indians, the colony thrived and Father Duncan, a sound business man, made them build a sawmill and till the soil. In 1891, the United States set the island aside as a permanent reserve.

As an Indian reserve, no liquor is permitted. There's only one motor car, a truck owned by the cannery. A town council of 12 members, all Indians, a mayor (now David Leask, who is also a school teacher), and a treasurer and city clerk are elected. For expenditures, like street work, ordinances are passed, requesting money from the account with the government.

And—no collections are taken at church, a fund takes care of that.

Security Agent Cites Benefits

Failure to comprehend their rights under the social security act has caused an arresting percentage of persons in the Lubbock-Amarillo district eligible for benefits not to present claims.

So announced Lang E. Holt, assistant manager of the Amarillo field office of the social security board, in Lubbock Thursday. He will be here through today.

With rare exceptions, he added, the amount of the benefit payment to those eligible is well worth the trouble of filing the claim. Last year, for example, he said, was the first year of operation of the act, yet payments for the nation taken as a whole averaged $24, and in Lubbock-Amarillo district they ranged from 10 cents to more than $300.

Invitation Extended

He invited anyone who may wish to confer with him relative to the social security act to contact him through the chamber of commerce, telephone 2083.

Those now eligible to lump-sum payments, he said, are workers in "covered" employment who have reached the age of 65 since Jan. 1, 1937, and the heirs of such workers who have died since Dec. 31, 1936, before reaching the age of 65. "Covered" employment was described as being that in which stated portions of the worker's wages were deducted for social security insurance.

Employers were urged by Holt to check their records to ascertain whether there are persons in their employ who may be eligible to file claim for benefits. Many workers who have reached the age of 65, he explained, and particularly relatives of workers who have died are not aware of their eligibility to file claims.

The payment, he said, is 3 1-2 per cent of all wages received for work performed from Dec. 31, 1936, to date of death or attainment of the age of 65.

Tahoka Daisy Getting Publicity In Seed House Catalogues

TAHOKA, Feb. 17. (Special)—The Tahoka daisy, first found at Tahoka lake, near here, is receiving publicity among seed men. Two large seed houses are featuring it.

The daisy is found growing over the Plains, but nowhere as profusely as in Lynn county, E. I. Hill, editor of the Lynn County News, says. "Last summer there were acres and acres of purple and lavender near Tahoka, the flower growing with the same luxuriance here as characterizes the bluebonnett in South Texas," he said. "Great masses of it were found also in the pastures and along the fringes of the fields in many parts of the county."

Mrs. W. H. Myrick, Lubbock was the first to recognize its possibilities. She plucked some specimens and transplanted them in her garden. After some years she sent some to New York florists. Seeds were sent and gardeners asked to experiment in growing them.

According to Dreer's Garden book, the flower is now found in some European flower gardens. Dreer recommends it as a garden plant and also for cut flowers.

M. L. Penn Is Chosen Head Of Garza Unit Of Teachers Body

Holman and Dean Robinson, county superintendent, will represent the association at Big Spring at the district convention. Next meeting is March 4.

Oil Industry Is In Adjustments

By ALFRED WALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

TULSA, Feb. 17.—Broad adjustments to hold down increasing stocks during the buying slump still were the order of the day today in the petroleum industry.

The bright spots in the picture were that each day was bringing the spring upturn and heavy consumption period closer and that extensive measures to hold down overproduction of crude and refined products were taking effect.

Prices About Same

So far as the actual price structure was concerned, executives agreed, the situation was unchanged materially for the week. If anything, the crude oil market was a bit stronger through cut-backs in heavy producing states, the latest of which was in Oklahoma when the state allowable was cut to 500,000 barrels daily.

Natural gasoline was regarded as particularly weak, having dropped to an average of around 1 3-4 cents in Texas and two cents in Oklahoma.

Marketers reported motor fuel in light demand.

While the output of crude oil remained about stationary after the big cuts of the few weeks preceding, the refinery output, so far as the Mid-Continent was concerned, was cut sharply through the shutdown of more than two dozen independent refineries.

KMA Field Watched

Oilmen concerned with field operations had their attention focused on the expanding K. M. A. field, Wichita county, Texas.

The Oil and Gas Journal's weekly drilling survey labeled that area the most active in the nation, with 151 wells drilling toward deep producing sands. An extension three miles westward was productive. Lea county, N. M., next active drilling spot, had 109 active operations.

The number of wells completed in the nation during the week was 89, two less than the wek before.

Blackie Gets Cash With His Front Paw; 'Endorsement' Is Made With His Footprint

CANBY, Minn., Feb. 17. (AP) — Blackie is a leading "financier" in the canine world, he'll have you understand — he "endorses" his checks himself.

Blaskie, a dog now staying at the William Schoenenbach home here, went straight to the bank, when a check for $2, made out to "Blackie Schoenenbach," was received here from his owner, P. E. Schoen, former Canby jeweler, now at Pullman, Wash.

His right front paw inked, Blackie "endorsed" the paper with his footprint and the National Citizens bank of Canby paid off. Schoenenbach was around to prevent any squandering.

No Objections, But---

FEW clear-thinking citizens will have any objection to steps taken within the navy to preserve secrecy concerning our naval defenses. The advisibility of attempting to keep from nations we may have to fight some day information which would be vitally destructive to us is self evident.

There is one thing to remember, however, in connection with the new naval policy. It is that secrecy becomes censorship. It is a type of censorship, we agree, which should be imposed for our national welfare. But still it is censorship—and nothing more dangerous to our inherent rights of freedom can be conceived than an abuse of the power of censorship.

Thus we must be constantly on the alert—more so now perhaps than ever before—that the new power given to the navy is not abused. We must not let the new authority become the inch which some of the nation's military may attempt to stretch over the proverbial mile. We must never let our armed branch become so powerful as to be answerable only to itself. If we wish to retain any semblance of liberty, the military must forever remain subordinate and answerable to the civil branch of the government.

The fact that alertness is necessary and that there are tendencies to exceed authority already has been demonstrated. The incident occurred following the crash of a naval plane. News and motion picture photographers, as usual, were on the job. Then some self-important nincompoop who holds a naval commission warned that if the pictures were published they would be liable to a huge fine and a long term in jail. The newspaper and news reel executives promptly went to headquarters at Washington with such a roar of indignation that the underling was set right. The pictures were printed.

There will be other attempted abuses of censorship. Some of the abuses will have no purpose other than to shield the navy or naval men in errors or in wrong-doing. So we always must be prepared to roar and roar loudly when there is abuse of authority. Otherwise, such cities as Lubbock may some day find themselves under the arrogant boot heel of a smart aleck shavetail who would be answerable only to his chief who, in turn, would be answerable only to God.

Townspeople Can Assist

IMPETUS has been given rural electrification on the South Plains by the start of the Lubbock county unit followed by renewed activities, in Lynn, Garza, Terry and Lamb counties.

It is splendid for the farmers of these counties to plan utilities for their homes, but what they need right now more than anything else is the support of the towns and cities. If the business men in the counties, especially in Lubbock, will write their congressman and senators to push the claims before the proper powers, it may help.

Towns and cities look to their rural population for many things. Now the rural population is looking to the towns and cities for support, and they are entitled to it.

Life in the rural areas should be made more pleasant than now is possible. Women and children are entitled to the better living conditions, the easier life and the opportunity for cultural improvement which electrical equipment would make possible for them. If Lubbock and other towns can assist them to those attainments, it should be done.

With Our Contemporaries

"The weaker the argument the stronger the words," Homer Steen says in the Floyd County Hesperian.

* * *

"Speaking of our mutual friendly enemy, the Hon. Sharley Armor Guy of the Rambulance-Shurnal, did you notice that they had a one man crime wave one day last week, when a man committed the crime of womannapping in broad daylight," Old Andy Jack Stricklin the good pointer outer of big news, says in the Terry County Herald to Col. Editor Jay See Estlack of Clarendon. "The next day or so, hell broke out in a new place, and this time it was mannapping and burglary all combined. They are expecting a tong war to start up there any day, now."

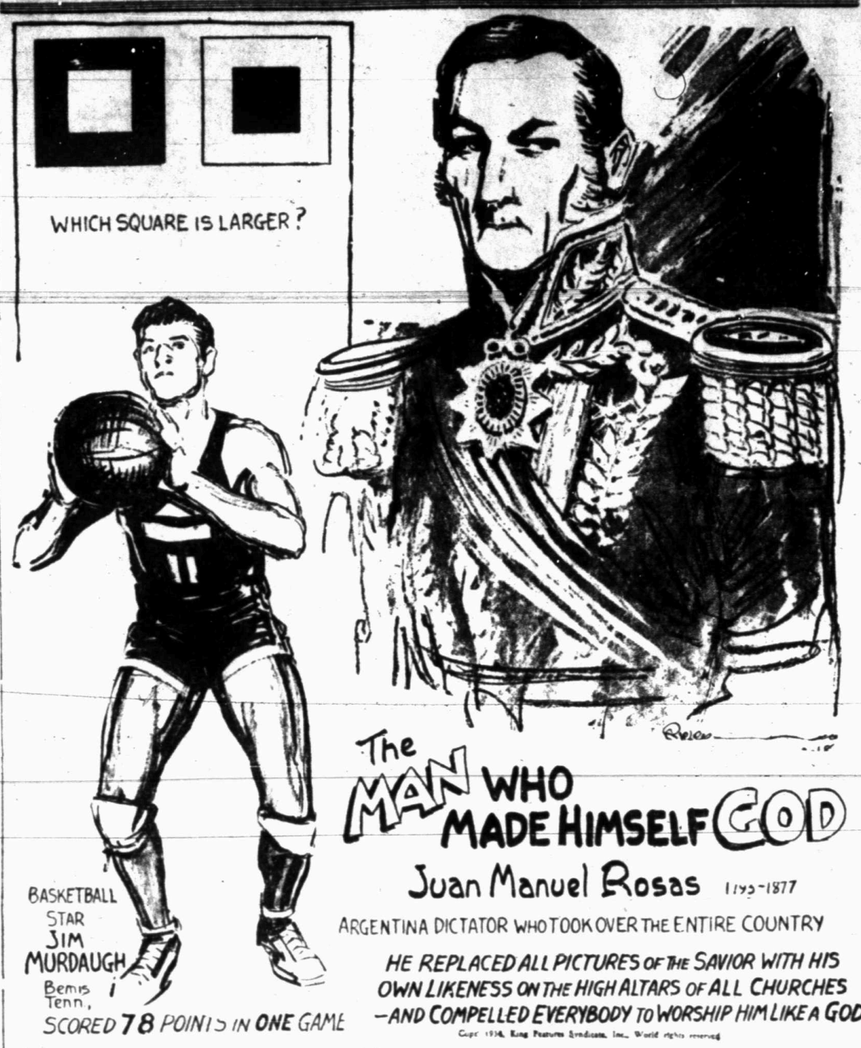

The One-Minute Sermon

If ye shall ask any thing in my name, I will do it.

If ye love me, keep my commandments.

And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever.—St. John 14; 15 through 17.

Believe It Or Not---By Robert Ripley

EXPLANATION OF CARTOON

THE MAN WHO MADE HIMSELF GOD

Juan Manuel Rosas (1793-1877) Argentine dictator for 23 years (1829-1852), was the prototype of the modern dictators. He abolished a free press and parliament, and ruled by terror, espionage, prison, concentration camps, torture, poison, assassinations and phony plebiscites. He organized an army of cut-throats whom he dressed in brown shirts and who were his henchmen. He forbade the wearing or display of black, blue and green under pain of death. Every one was compelled to say and write at least once a day "Viva el restaurador de los leyes" (Long live the restorer of laws) in allusion to himself. He ordered that the name of the third month (Marzo or March) be changed to Rosas in his honor.

In only one respect did he go further than his modern imitators. He removed the picture of the Saviour from the high altar of all churches and replaced them with his own likeness, forcing the clergy and citizenry to worship him like a god.

He was finally deposed and fled to England where he lived in retirement for 25 years.

Empire For A Lady

By Alan LeMay
C. By The Associated Press

SYNOPSIS: Two ships at anchor in tropical Balingong bay; our fortified gun-runner, the Linkang, and the Forresters' defenseless Avon. The island of Sumantang is seething with a Dyak revolt against the Malays, but Christine Forrester and her brother refuse to leave the danger spot. My uncle, James Clyde, decides to reach his besieged client, Rajah Mantusen, up-river. Pursued by Dyak war canoes, our whaleboat arrives at the town of Balingong, and we are led to the rajah. Looking at Mantusen, I know we are trapped.

Chapter 10
Whispers Of Death

I cannot describe the awful feeling of danger conveyed to me when Mantusen stood up. It meant that there was no friendliness here, nor even the form of friendliness.

For there could be no unintentional rudeness upon the part of this Malay prince. This was no naked Dyak with trash in his hair, but a man who could speak four languages and as many dialects, and read Arabic as well; who dressed in silk and was a master judge of pearls; whose race had in some ways a more intricate cultural code than my own.

Mantusen was very tall for a Malay. I suppose he stood five-eleven; and this, since the Malays are a short statured race, showed strong infusions of Arab and Spanish blood. It is a strange thing, but it is true, that cross breeding of Malays with other races produces only finer Malays, tempering the redoubtable Malay character without bringing it confusion.

Thus the face of the Rajah Mantusen was proud and finely made, high-bridged in the nose, and clean-featured. He wore no beard nor mustache—few Malays can—and he was young, so that his face was unmarked. Its expression was grave and serene. And his color, though of Malay yellow-bronze, was lighter than the color my own skin had turned under two years of tropic sun.

James Clyde and the Rajah Mantusen exchanged the toneless sentences of a formal Malay greeting. But for once in the history of the Malays, Mantusen was coming to his point without deliberation or delay for parley. Even while the meaningless words of greeting were falling from his lips, his hands were unwinding the silk wrappings from a long object which was handed him out of the dark.

"I have something to show you," Mantusen said in English.

There was a sense of unreality about that, from the fact that this man's words always came with unexpected correctness. Some of his speech could be strangely Oxonian, with only an odd, implacable corruption of accent to link the voice with the conscienceless things he said. This time, too, he must have thought out his scene beforehand with some care, rehearsing it in his mind.

English Rifles

The wrappings fell way, disclosing a rifle which Mantusen extended to Clyde with an abrupt motion of both hands.

"It is guns like this," Mantusen said, "that now speak from the jungle. They are well shot. We have no defense against such guns. Today I have lost 23 men."

Quickly my uncle began an exclamatory speech in Malay, and even without understanding it, I knew it was one of regret. Mantusen, however, did not wish to listen. He raised his voice sharply, cutting Clyde off.

"I thought white men or Malays must be shooting,' Mantusen said. "Dyaks always shoot very bad before. But the Dyaks shoot now. I send four men into the jungle to catch one of the guns. Two are killed. The other two killed one Dyak, after hunting in the jungle a long time. They took this gun."

My uncle took the rifle into his hands and examined it with unnecessary care. One glance was enough to tell us what that gun was. It was an English rifle of an excellent pattern, very hard to get—the model which later became known in the islands, incorrectly, as the Tower gun. It was built to use the new fixed ammunition, and we knew that the model had fired some splendid tests. Clyde had tried to get a few of these for the Linkang's own use, but had failed.

One thing more about that gun. From the breech block suspended by a braided metallic cord, swung a curious little amulet, intricately cut from sheet brass. It represented the figure of a hornbill, highly formalized in a primitive manner, but recognizable as one of the Dyak sacred birds. Had we known nothing else about that weapon, the hornbill amulet would have told us that a Dyak had owned this gun.

"How many of these are there out there?"

"More every day. Today there must be 200."

The Head In The Basket

I saw it then. I saw what was queer about this war, and what was strange about the English yawl. The Avon, converted into a gun-runner by Anthony Forrester's heirs, was supplying the Dyak guns—and we were held answerable to the Malays!

"This is a spendid weapon," my uncle said, handing it back.

Mantusen's answer was dark with unwholesome meaning. "You should know," he said.

"What do you mean by that?"

Mantusen smiled unpleasantly but did not answer directly. "I have something else to show you," he said. He lifted a basket which was covered with an embroidered cloth, and drawing back the cloth showed us what the basket held.

The thing was a newly taken head, bloody and horrible. The top of the skull had been stripped to the bone, and upon the fresh skull plate an incised tracery had been begun. Mantusen lifted one of the little lamps so that all could see this. Unfinished but plainly carved in outline was another formalized representation of a hornbill, identical in pattern with that which hung upon the rifle.

"It goes with the gun, you see," Mantusen said in a tone that was a terrible mockery of the urbane. "This is the head of the first man I sent to get this gun. This Dyak sits in a nibung palm and makes this little picture while he waits to get a shot."

Mantusen covered the basket again and set it aside. Then, without any change of expression, quite as if it were an incidental afterthought, he added five more words. "That is my brother's head."

Clyde said something slowly, gravely, in Malay. Mantusen listened absently, and the slant-shadowed faces of his counsellors wore a sated look, as if they already watched our ceremonial torment and slaughter. Death whispered at us from along the nipa walls, and from the flooring of split-bamboo under the rugs at our feet. This thing was sweeping us out, like a black tidal wave.

It was a dream that had got out of hand and became a life-or-death nightmare.

How will Clyde answer Mantusen, tomorrow?

NEW RAVEN ON JOB

LONDON (AP) — Jimi, one of the ravens at the Tower of London, broke his leg somehow and had to be destroyed. But there still are four ravens at the tower, the minimum number required by tradition. Tower officials keep an extra bird on hand for just such emergencies.

Ravens have lived at the tower for centuries and, according to legend, were attracted originally from the Essex marshes whenever there was an execution.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

RESPONSIBLE officials whose job it is to know confide that danger of a war involving the United States seems to be vanishing. The tension which gripped key figures at the White House, Army, Navy, and State departments has relaxed temporarily.

The present mood of officialdom graphically illustrates the slender hold the world has on peace. In mid-December, when the Japs were attacking British and American ships and soldiers, and Italy was sinking and bombing neutral ships in the Mediterranean, there was every expectation that an outbreak was imminent. Hitler, though quiescent, was supposed to be waiting for the right moment to leap into the fight. It was then that Washington and London got tough, and for the first time showed reluctant readiness for a trial at arms.

Now—mid-February—Tokyo admits that Chinese guerillas are holding up her advance into the interior. Coups in the Balkans that may deprive the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo axis of alliances have calmed down Mussolini, Germany is in the throes of internal dissension fomented by army higherups. It's an armed and angry truce, but Washington figures that every minute of peace is a gain these days. F. D. R.'s aggressive attitude may have blocked a blowup for a while.

PLANS: Jittery G. O. P.-ers sighed with relief when Herbert Hoover stepped aboard a ship outward bound to Europe. They hoped that revisiting scenes of old honors would afford him such peace of mind that he wouldn't disturb theirs any longer.

They must have forgotten that ex-Presidents on a comeback trip often take the longest way 'round. Teddy Roosevelt did it by going hunting for lions in the African jungle and writing nasty letters about Successor Taft to Gifford Pinchot as soon as he came out of the woods. H. H. may get more favorable publicity in Europe than he has in the United States—he could not get less. And unless well-laid plans miscary, new stories of the honors accorded him will be relayed in generous gobs to his homeland.

The only Quaker to sit in the White House may also look in on old friends in world chancellories, and obtain politically interesting slants on the Roosevelt foreign policy. He still hates war and believes that New Deal economic medicine has sickened rather than strengthened the patient. Privately his friends figure his European sojourn will keep him in the public eye—and ear.

PROTESTS: International propaganda machines clattering in downtown buildings here sometimes go haywire—or screwy. They stimulate more good clean fun than foreign fanaticism.

Latest mixup involves publicity houses engaged at rich fees to promote Chinese and Japanese good-will. A New York advertising frim has been reportedly equipped with $500,000 to make American hearts bleed for the Chinese, although the majority seem to be doing that without expense. The same agency's Washington representative is working the other side of the street. It repersents silk manufacturers and workers who insist that anti-Japanese boycotts will ruin their business. Radical unions and "economic royalists" have allied in favor of Japan.

Typical American strategy has been employed by both sides. When Washington women staged a "Life without Silk" show that included Junior League and New Deal members in the cotton cast, the Japs' publicists imported feminine hosiery workers from New York and Philadelphia to stage a protest march. The silkless ladies were placarded as "beautiful society women who neither toil nor spin", but the union demonstrators outside would have won in a beauty contest. It's suspected that some were Jobless "chairnes" willing to earn an honest nickel. Just a case of "dollar diplomacy" all around, maybe.

AGE: New Justice Stanley F. Reed got a foretaste of Charles Evans Hughes' good-natured but penetrating humor when he paid his first courtesy call on the Chief Justice. With a roguish twinkle in his eye Mr. Hughes made this comment anent the advent of young Messrs. Black and Reed into the circle of the "nine old men":

"Well, your appointment inclines me to believe that soon we will become a juvenile court."

Age is always an embarrassing topic—even with members of the Supreme Court of the United States.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

THERE are a number of popular misconceptions about the manufacture and sale of armaments. When an arms maker has a new weapon or projectile he attempts to sell it—not from a heavy stock of completed implements of war—but usually from a record of the performance or demonstration of a few samples.

Blue prints and figures are the salesman's chief arguments. Manufacturers rarely invest much money in a new weapon until a definite order—backed by a 50 per cent down payment—is placed.

Very few companies in the United States are engaged exclusively in the making of munitions—American Armament Corp., American Ordinance Corp., Federal Laboratories, Inc., and a couple of others. Bethlehem Steel, for instance, is not in the arms business as a regular line. It will forge heavy guns, etc., if supplied with drawings and specifications, but it has no ordnance designers on its payroll.

OUTBID: Military experts of all nations are constantly alert to discover whether superior equipment is being manufactured elsewhere. It is almost impossible to keep improvements in weapons a secret. When such a discovery is made, the bidding starts. Sometimes the country which first developed or exploited the new ordnance is frozen out.

For example, the British recently contracted to purchase from Bofors—a Swedish ordnance company which is partly owned by the German government—its entire output of 40 milimeter anti-aircraft guns for the next five years. Britain outbid the rest of the world, paying $32,000,000, to sew up a monopoly on this type of weapon.

These guns, in the hands of German gunners, have been the military sensation of the Spanish Civil War. But now the Germans can get no more of them for several years at least. Just one more sample of the bitter bit.

DEAD: The Federal Reserve Board recently announced that the number of bank holding companies in the country has declined from 95 to 52 from 1932 to 1937, while the number of banks they control has dropped from 978 to 479 in the same period.

This high-spots the contention of informed New Yorkers that President Roosevelt, in demanding legislation to abolish bank holding companies, is picking on a dead horse. Chain banks under holding company control have not stood adversity too well, and this form of organization has been drifting towards extinction by the operation of natural economic forces.

Comment runs that it's smart politics to take credit for something that's going to happen anyhow.

Side Glances---By George Clark

"Now show Daddy the new steps you've learned. He wants to see what he's getting for all that money he pays the dancing teacher."

The Plainsman Says:

AUSTIN, Feb. 17—Isn't the average citizen of Lubbock kidding himself?

Why does he look forward to the day when his home town will have a population of 40,000, or 50,000, or even 75,000?

Why hasn't he realized that the Lubbock of its present size may be a better place to live and a better place in which to raise a family than if it were a metropolis?

If you ask The Plainsman, it is because he has never sat down and carefully studied the situation.

* * *

As one of those who has been a victim of the "big city" fever, The Plainsman has a confession to make.

He has come to the point where he finds that he has been all wrong in being too ambitious for Lubbock as a population center.

In becoming one of those who has put more stress upon quantity than upon quality, he has let himself become all burned up over the idea that the Lubbock of 40,000 or 50,000 will be a better Lubbock than it is today with its 30,000 souls.

And that is poor thinking.

IF The Plainsman had his way about the matter, he would leave Lubbock just as it is, as far as size is concerned.

Instead of adding to our population by noise and numbers, he would prefer to see the people living there improve themselves from standpoints of culture, education and general outlook on life.

Then we'd have an even better place in which to live.

Possibly some leaders will think we have gone crazy.

Yet before they decide that, let them stop a minute and recall just how well we are getting along as we are.

Since we have a good town in which to live; since we have a good town in which to rear a family; since we have nearly everything essential to happy living, why should we alter the picture?

Why should we run the chance of wholly or partially ruining what we have in exchange for more noise and numbers?

* * *

THIS thought came to The Plainsman the other day when he gazed upon Fort Worth from a window high in the Texas hotel.

It further was accentuated this morning, as he looked over a portion of Austin from another window, high in the Driskill hotel.

We have a cleaner, brighter, more inviting looking city than either Fort Worth or Austin—and most of us will be happier if we can keep it that way.

* * *

The Plainsman can remember Fort Worth when it was considerably smaller than it is today.

He can remember Austin when it wasn't a whole lot bigger than the Lubbock of today.

And comparing those cities today with what they were then, he believes added population and added industries have detracted from, rather than added to either municipality.

* * *

SOME fellow who was pretty wise said "when everything is going all right, let it alone—don't change it."

That's the way The Plainsman feels about Lubbock.

The great majority of our people are getting along all right.

They aren't rich, but they aren't destitute.

Around almost any corner in town there is a fine school where from kindergarten to a master's degree anyone can get learning.

And within our community we have at our fingertips anything and everything we need to live happily and well.

Why should we want more?

Of course, The Plainsman's thoughts and ideas on the subject are not going to change Lubbock's fate.

Beyond doubt, our attractive Plains city is on its way to becoming a much, much larger place and a much more important post in Texas' business setup.

But never-the-less, we'll make a prediction:

That the Lubbock of 1940, or 1950, or 1960 will not be nearly as good a place in which to live as the Lubbock of today.

And after all, what more can be said of any city than that it is a good place to spend one's precious life?

THE Plainsman scooted in here from the north after dark last night and for the first time saw the capitol's lighted dome from far off.

And when it came into view a thrill ran up and down his spine—despite the fact that Austin is symbolic of almost everything that is unfair to West Texas.

We felt like we felt the first time we saw Washington's monument in the national capital.

There is something about this state; something about this old capital city that awakes in any Texan a feeling of pride.

The Plainsman doesn't believe there is any Texan who can gaze upon Austin without feeling he is a part of it.

* * *

TALKING to different people in Fort Worth, Dallas and Austin about this and about that, The Plainsman has picked up an interesting story.

It may not be true. It may be as false as Santa Claus's whiskers.

Yet the boys here and about say that Representative Clarence Farmer, of Fort Worth, has been planted in the governor's race to take the hide off Bill McCraw and to enable McCraw's No. 1 opponent, Col. Ernest O. Thompson, to direct all his time, thought and physical efforts to getting support for himself.

Some of the smartest and best informed men in Fort Worth warned us not to sell Clarence Farmer short.

They say he is a rabble rouser of the first water, one of the best campaign speakers Texas has even seen and that he will really pour it on "Bed Sheet Bill", as he calls McCraw, alluding to the attorney-general's alleged klan membership in Dallas more than a decade ago.

* * *

IF Farmer is a "plant" in the race, it's nothing new. Practically every governor's race finds similar "trial horses" in the first primary whose sole candidacy is based upon centering fire on—and away from—real candidates for the job.

Yet in the case of Farmer, the smart politicians may have made a grave error.

He might—he MIGHT—do his job too well and become, himself, an important candidate.

He might even become so politically powerful as to get into the run-off in the place of either McCraw or Thompson.

SMITH SHAW WRITES

Editor of The Avalanche:

I have read the letter of Mr. James Rosco of Dickens, Texas, in last Saturday's Avalanche in which he advocates a burial plan for the old folks. It is indeed a very humane and novel plan. Bury them and get them out of the way. He suggests that this plan pass through Austin and the legislature and be disbursed from there.

That is the trouble with the pension fund now—the passing through. Never gets through. By the time the pension fund got past Austin and the legislature there would not be enough left to bury a good sized grasshopper.

Our old folks are not concerned about being buried but how they are going to live up to that time. If they depend on the little pension they get, there will not be much to bury. I consider an old man now without a visible means of support the greatest nuisance on the face of the earth.

Yes, bury them or let their bones rot and bleach upon the earth to be gathered up with other bones for fertilizer. What do they care? It is only while they try to live that they need not charity, not assistance, not help, not a donation, not a bonus, but a payment of a debt that the State of Texas justly owes them for services rendered and ordered paid by the voters of Texas and by our honest and worthy President Franklin Roosevelt.

As for the final "wind up", it will be provided for in some way, and even if the little they receive in pensions is all they get, they will not just dry up or mumify and no doubt no one about burial expenses.

The Bible says flesh and blood cannot enter Heaven, but it does not say a thing against skin and bones, so the old folks are safe.

New Gly-Cas Is Greatest Ever"

Finds New Herbal Remedy For Giving Her Results That Were Almost Miraculous

"It was almost a miracle the way stubborn case," said Mrs. O. J. Johnston, which Gly-Cas took hold of my system. Johnston, 142 Franklin St., Hot Springs, Arkansas. "For eight years I had been badly constipated and my entire system had become clogged with poisons and I was bothered greatly with awful headaches. My stomach became disordered and I could hardly eat anything without suffering afterwards with gas, nerves choking and smothering spells, and heart palpitation. I would get down in bed every few days and become so nervous I could hardly stand it. A good nights rest was out of the question for me. Kidneys and bladder trouble added to my distress and my feet and limbs swelled terribly. Then I got this with those sharp stabbing pains settled over my body. But soon I learned of Gly-Cas and gave it the opportunity of helping me. Its results were wonderful.

"Gly-Cas seemed made for cases just like mine," continued Mrs. Johnston. "My stomach and bowels are easily regulated and I can now enjoy my meals again. My nerves are greatly improved and those attacks of neuritis have been greatly relieved. It is wonderful that people can get such a medicine of merit. Gly-Cas has proven its ability in my case beyond all doubt."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by all the leading drug stores in surrounding towns.—Adv.

TARZAN THE MAGNIFICENT No. 29 — By Edgar Rice Burroughs

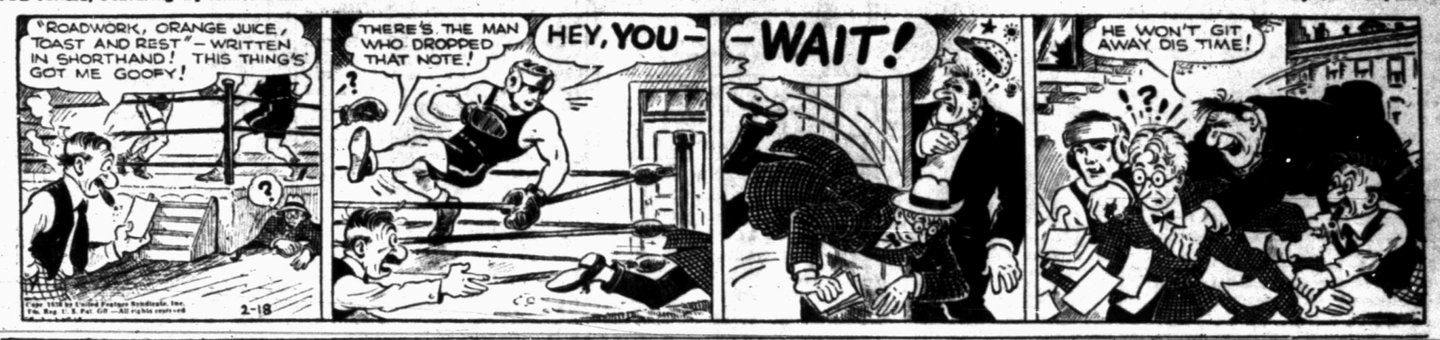

Tarzan stood at the headwaters of the stream that divided the countries of the Kaji and Zuli. And from the summit of the ridge behind him, a band of warriors watched him through appraising eyes that disappeared when he turned in their direction.

The ape-man went down into the river gorge to slake his thirst. Then he stretched wearily. For three days he had scaled cliffs and crags, descended into abysses, clambered to lofty summits. And last night his rest had been broken by hunting leopards.

Though the sun was still high in the heavens, he lay down behind a bush to sleep. The strange warriors spoke in low whispers which could not carry against the wind to Tarzan's ears. One, whose companions called him Lord, spoke most often. He was the leader.

Cautiously they crept forward. Ordinarily Tarzan would have been alert to the faint sounds they made, even though he slept; but now fatigue dulled his senses. Presently the warriors formed a close circle about him and fixed their spears above his unprotected body!

Break In East Texas Gasoline Market Is Blamed On Railroad Commission

Discrimination Cited By Solon

AUSTIN, Feb. 17.—Sen. Joe L. Hill of Henderson today laid the blame for the break in the East Texas gasoline market squarely on the state railroad commission.

In a strongly worded press statement, he accused the commission of discriminating against the famed East Texas field in oil production allowances and of holding "star chamber" sessions after the regular proration hearings to boost allowables in other areas.

Prompted By Report

The statement of the East Texas senator was prompted by a commission report to the senate general investigating committee of which he is a member. He did not indicate what action he would ask the investigators to take on the report, which detailed the allowable raises authorized after issuance of statewide proration orders.

"Purchasing companies have set prices for oil in fields competing with East Texas," Hill said, "at a figure far below that set for East Texas crude. With the policy of the commission to permit other sections to fill their increased demand with cheaper oil from increased allowables, East Texas becomes faced with an oil glut.

Bonus Paid Year Ago

"A year ago well connections in East Texas were at a premium. Today such is not the case. A year ago a bonus was being paid for East Texas crude. Today, I am informed, East Texas crude is being marketed at seaboard at less than the posted price, plus the usual charge for gathering and transportation."

"The same people who set the market for the purpose of destroying their competitors in East Texas, both producers and refiners, have also brought about a complete demoralization in the interstate and intrastate price of gasoline. The effect of the situation, as it presently exists in East Texas, is simply this: practically all of the refiners in this section have been forced either to shut down or curtail their activity to an alarming extent, not being able to refine gasoline at the prevailing price and break even . . .

"If the commission would promulgate equitable orders in open hearing and allow the wells of the state to produce on a basis of their ability without discrimination as to sections, East Texas could maintain its rightful place in the economic picture. By reason of the present policy of the commission hundreds of producers in this section face extermination and ruin."

Change Of Venue Plea Denied In Suit Against Hale Officer

PLAINVIEW, Feb. 17. (Special)—Plea of privilege of Sheriff J. K. Hooper to secure a change of venue to Hale county in a suit for damage brought by O. O. Deisher, Plainview, was denied by the state court of civil appeals at Amarillo.

Deisher asked $2,500 damages in a suit filed at Post for alleged false arrest. He claims he was transported from Plainview to Abilene in custody, without a warrant being filed, in connection with the murder of P. P. Hamner, a filling station operator near here. Later he was released when Lawrence Brady confessed to the slaying.

The Garza court overruled the plea and Hooper appealed.

TO ENLARGE POOL

MORTON, Feb. 17. (Special)—J. L. York, owner of a swimming pool here, announced he plans to enlarge his pool in the spring. The pool was 50 by 210 feet. A cave in last fall ruined the walls. Work will start as soon as danger of freeze is past.

Oral Navajo Language Is Put Into Writing At Last

(By Associated Press Feature Service)

GALLUP, N. M., Feb. 17.—It has taken 37 years and the job isn't complete, but Father Berard Haile of St. Michaels, Ariz., is giving the Navajo Indian a written language.

The Catholic priest, a leading authority on the Navajo tongue, has just completed the second Navajo-English catechism to be published. He hopes it may enable a few more Navajos to learn to read and write their native language.

Begun In 1902

Father Berard was assigned to Indian territory in 1900. The St. Michaels Mission had been established only two years and priests and nuns were attempting to familiarize themselves with Navajo phonetics.

"There was practically nothing of the language in print," said Father Berard. "So we set out with native help to transcribe the language."

He recalled that an Irishman foreman of a gang of railroad track-laying Navajos, and a sightless Navajo known as Blind Luke, were the first interpreters.

Natives were invited to partake at the meagre table Father Berard and his associates set and the white men enlarged their vocabulary by making each visitor pronounce the Navajo words for objects and subjects that came into discussion.

The priest wrote the sounds down as well as he could by means of the English alphabet. Sounds for which he had no equivalents were indicated by symbols.

Dictionary Ready

By 1910 the priest was able to publish a dictionary of the Navajo language. A vocabulary of the language followed in two years. Then an effort was made to print a catechism. For this Father Berard invented many symbols and words to cover religious terminology the spoken Navajo language did not embrace. It's this catechism which has just been elaborated.

The alphabet used in the new catechism is not entirely the work of Father Berard and his associates. At Yale university a group of scholars evolved an alphabet applicable to all Athapascan languages and this helped the priest.

Father Berard said his experiments indicated the Navajo was extremely interested in learning to read and write his own language.

Many druggists of this section say they never saw anything like the way reliable people praise Van-Tage. This is the Amazing New Medicine which is being sold in great quantities here. Recently Mr. James Campbell, of 6645 Ave. H, Houston, Tex., endorsed it.

Mr. Campbell

"For at least 15 years I had been troubled by constipation, stomach gas and sluggish kidneys," says Mr. Campbell. "My food would ferment and sour. My kidneys would make me get up as many as a dozen times a night. Constipation clogged my bowels and I had to use harsh laxatives continually. I read and heard so much about Van-Tage that I began to take it, and I want to say I am sorry I did not find it sooner! So much of that gas and bloat has been swept from my stomach that I can enjoy my meals. My sluggish kidneys have had such great relief that I can rest all night long and my bowels are working more regularly than in years and I am feeling fine now. Van-Tage is Great!"

VAN TAGE helps invigorate bowel, stomach and kidney action. Its 21 Great Herbs and Other Splendid medicinal Agents (over 30 Ingredients in all) have a surprising effect on suffering people. Due to the immense volume in which it sells, Van-Tage is NOT expensive, so get it—TODAY—at the Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1221 Broadway. Adv.

The Greeks Had A Word For It —Planning Board Coins Some Useful New Of Its Own, Too

AUSTIN, Feb. 17. (AP)—Planacea and parkitect.

New words?

"Yes," say Texas Planning authorities.

The word "planacea," as they use it, means a well-defined plan to remedy some condition in a community would act as a panacea.

A "parkitect" is to parks what a forester is to forests.

Baylor Co-Eds Enjoy Freedom Now In Comparison To Crinolined Predecessors

(By The Associated Press)

WACO, Feb. 17.—Baylor university co-eds, although required by rules to be in their rooms by 10:45 p. m., enjoy a broad freedom compared with their crinolined predecessors of 1845 when the university was established at Old Independence.

A folio of the rules governing students conduct at the infant Baylor, discovered recently, stipulated girls should be in their dormitory rooms at the "fall of dark," and that "absence from rooms after dark warrants a penalty of five demerits. Absence after 5 p. m., ten demerits."

President Had More Power

Much more direct control was vested in the president, the early records reveal. Students were called upon the "carpet" by the president himself, and the story has been told the carpets often were thread bare. In addition to handling financial and disciplinary problems, the president sent out monthly reports to parents on the "literary and moral standing" of each student.

No student was allowed to be connected with any society or social club without permission of the faculty. Use of profane language brought about a public reprimand and suspension at the third offense.

Couldn't Talk With Others

Any student found talking or associating with any suspended student was subject to suspension himself, the regulations said.

Eleven courses were offered in the school and any student passing all of them was granted a degree of bachelor of arts. The courses were instruction in Latin language and literature, Greek language and literature, mathematics, modern language, civil engineering, chemistry and physiology, natural physiology and philosophy, English language and literature, rhetoric and oratory, history of political economy, application of chemistry to the fine arts, intellectual philosophy, and evidences of christianity.

PLAINVIEW. (Special) — Lucien Morehead, attorney, was named Hale county Democratic committee chairman. He succeeds Frank Day, who resigned when he announced his candidacy for county judge.

Allred, Yoakum County's Newest Town, To Have Utilities Soon

PLAINS, Feb. 17. (Special)—Allred, newest oil field town in Yoakum county, is to have utilities, including a water system and a light plant, it is announced here. A large hotel is also planned.

The town is reported growing. Lots are being sold on condition that the owner will erect a building on them.

Watermelons, barley, tomatoes, snap beans, spinach, cabbage, sorghum hay, citrus fruits, potatoes, cucumbers, pecans, tame hay, peanuts, wild hay, peaches and onions yield annual returns of more than $1,500,000 each in Texas.
