ETHIOPIAN EMPEROR SAYS ITALY 'IS DROWNING PEACE IN BLOOD, TEARS'

JAPAN SNARLS AT WAR PLANS OF MUSSOLINI

HAILE SELASSIE MAKES ANOTHER RINGING ATTACK

(By The Associated Press.)

The Italia-Ethiopian situation in brief:

Addis Ababa — Haile Selassie says Italy "drowning peace in blood and tears of war": promises defense to last man.

Rome—Italy protests Emperor's fighting speech before Ethiopian parliament; promotes 1,000 officers.

London—Britain stakes slender peace hope on forthcoming league council session; hopes Duce will modify demands.

Tokyo — Italo-Jap press exchanges snarl relations; Italy told Japan wants to keep Ethiopian markets.

Innsbruck, Austria — Deserters from Italian military service flee across border.

(Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press.)

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, July 20.—Emperor Haile Selassie flung another ringing challenge at Italy today as Italy's diplomatic representatives here vigorously protested the "bitter tone of attacks on Italy" in the emperor's fighting speech before parliament Thursday.

Count Vinci the Italian minister, called at the foreign office to protest verbally against the address without waiting for written instructions from Rome.

Appeals To World

Shortly before the emperor, citing the European nation's increasing preparations for war, appealed to the world to help avert the threatened Italo-Ethiopian war lest peace covenants become mere scraps of paper.

The king of kinds and conquering lion of Judah, whose stirring speech before parliament Thursday fired all Ethiopia's tribal lords to battle fervor, said in an interview:

"Ever since her crushing defeat by our army about 40 years ago, Italy has nourished the desire to attack up. This desire assumed today more acute and more menacing form, which Italy has proclaimed to all the world.

"All our advances for peace have been rejected and our sincere desire for conciliation has been rebuffed.

"Now, 2,000 years after the crucifixion, is peace to be drowned in the blood and tears of a war?"

Case Against Italy

Reiterating Ethiopia's unwavering determination to "defend its territory to the last man for the preservation of our deathless record of never having been conquered," the dark-skinned, curly-bearded emperor made these points in his case against Italy.

1. The Italian attitude threatens to destroy the efficacy of the League of Nations.

2. It promises to convert the Kellogg pact outlawing war into mere pious hopes.

3. "A drunken brawl between native employes of a commercial agency and local police" is the best excuse Italy can find for her apparently impending invasion.

4. Italy "is seeking a pretext for a campaign of villification with a view to eventual conquest."

Sea Gas Kills African Fish

CAPETOWN (AP)—A mysterious gas which rises from the seabed, causing the water to "boil," has killed hundreds of fish off this port. The victims have included several small sharks.

I Heard . .

This baseball gossip: That Pampa will finally get "sold" on baseball this week in the "ten-cent" and all-star games; that the Pewees, not so cocky since they got beat, will be burning up with a passion to get revenge this afternoon when they meet the Jack Rabbits who are determined to humble the Peewees again.

That Alex Schneider found one of the hotel kittens, lost for four days, in front of the Rex theater last night. The kitten started clawing at his pants leg as he left the show. Alex picked it up and took it back home.

Snell Says FDR Periously Near To Impeachment

Congress Resigned To Stay Until Labor Day; Guffey Coal Bill Is In Doubt.

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP)—President Roosevelt was accused today by House Republican Leader Snell of having come "periously close to what some people call impeachable ground."

In a statement palpably projected toward next year's election, Snell lashed the administration's entire legislative program and particularly the president's "latest vagary", the proposed taxes on wealth.

"No administration in the history of this country," he said, "has had such a confusion record and I hazard the guess that none ever will be so inconsiderate of the statutes, the constitution, and generally, what the people really want.

"Every effort has been made to circumvent the courts, a clear admission that the administration fears the worst for its legislation.

"In pursuing this headstrong course, Mr. Roosevelt has come perilously close to what some people call impeachable grounds."

Elaborating on the impeachment angle, Snell said the president was on the border line of violating his oath to preserve, protect and defend the constitution.

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP)—Sluggish from almost seven months of near-record activity, longress was resigned today to a possible stay until labor day.

Senator McNary, of Oregon, the republican leader, saw little hope of an adjournment before September 1 unless those who would broaden the administration tax program to take in smaller incomes and taxes outside the Roosevelt plan refrain from long debate.

Democratic leaders, including Senators Robinson of Arkansas, and Harrison of Mississippi, were more optimistic. Both believed congress could get away the middle of August if the house hurries along the tax bill.

Looking back over the record today, leaders found more than two dozen "major" bills on the statute books along with nearly 200 more public laws, 140 private and 36 public resolutions.

Contemplating the future, they saw only the AAA amendments, banking, second deficiency, taxes and gold-clause suit ban measures awaiting final action by either house. In senate-house conference committees were the utility holding company bill, Tennessee Valley authority amendments, social security and rivers and harbors improvement.

There were some well-founded predictions today that the Guffey

GARNER'S PALS SEND HIM BAIT TO COME HOME

Fish Biting Better Now Than In Years

UVALDE, July 20. (AP)—If the Honorable Cactus Jack, one of the "best darned cane pole fishermen in these parts," knew how catfish were playing sucker to worm bait in streams around Uvalde, he'd wind up his business and beat it for home.

At least, that's what Ross Brumfield and B. Morrison think John Nance Garner, vice-president of the United States, would do.

"Why the big uns are biting now better than in many years," Morrison said today. "The rains and floods in June have made fishing fine and its making 'em bite."

He produced a photograph of himself and three companions to prove it. A string of more than 50 bass, weighing from two to nearly four pounds each, was exhibited.

Just a a "teaser," County Judge M. B. (Pete) Wolcott mailed Mr. Garner one of the pictures.

Just as a "teaser," County Judge the folks back home are doing," he chuckled. It is the first time in years that Mr. Garner has stayed in Washington and missed his early summer fishing.

Brumfield and Morrison, the two famous cronies of the vice-president, after admitting they were a little more than impatient for their hunting and fishing companion to come home, contented themselves with talking about Mr. Garner's outdoor life.

The vice president enjoys the exercise he obtains as much, perhaps, as the fishing he does. His companions say he is no expert with a rod and reel. He prefers a can pole and a strong line.

He likes to "yank 'em out as quickly as they strike," it was explained.

British Trooper 9 Moslems Slain In Indian Riots

LAHORE, India, July 20 (AP)—A day and night of rioting in Lahore left nine moslems and one British trooper dead tonight, with further serious trouble expected before dawn.

Most of the deaths occurred when British troops, of the Royal Scots Guards, fired into 2,000 oslems charging toward Shahidguna Mosque in an effort to halt its demolition by Sikhs.

An undetermined number of persons were injured. Natives fleeing the hail of lead carried most of their dead and injured with them, leaving the bodies of only three of those killed.

The trooper was killed when he was knocked from his horse in the mad melee ranging around the mosque, which the Moslems claims.

Balked in their efforts to reach the heavily-guarded building, the natives adopted Mahatma Gandhi's "passive resistance" tactics, squatting in the streets in protest. The temper of the crowds continued ugly, and the situation was tense.

All entrances to shops were guarded, bazaars were closed and armored police cars patrolled the streets.

FUND PROVIDED FOR LIVESTOCK SHOW IN 1936

PLANS FOR HISTORICAL OBSERVANCES ARE 'CRIPPLED'

AUSTIN, July 20. (AP)—Two members of the Texas Centennial Historical Advisory board resigned today after the Centennial commission of control allocated $250,000 of a $575,000 fund for statewide observances to Fort Worth to aid in financing a livestock exposition as part of the state's 100th birthday celebration.

They were L. W. Kemp, chairman, and the Rev. Fr. Paul J. Folk, C. S. C., of St. Edward's university. Acceptance of their resignations was withheld by the control commission to ascertain if the fund will be supplemented by a portion of the federal Centennial grant. Kemp said the historical advisory board would continue to function until the financial structure was definitely determined. The historical board was established to advise the control commission on expending the $575,000.

Kemp said the allocation of such a large amount of the fund to Fort Worth would cripple the advisory board's plans for observances in smaller communities of historical importance.

The control commission also allocated $50,000 for an observance at Gonzales, the "Lexington of Texas" where the first gun in the war for independence was fired, and $50,000 for Goliad, the site of the bloody massacre of Fannin's company.

The state grant to Fort Worth was conditioned on the city raising an additional $1,250,000 for an adequate portrayal of the early history of the cattle empire of the southwest.

Under a supplemental resolution the state would be reimbursed by the city up to $250,000 if Fort Worth is granted a share of the federal appropriation. Fort Worth, however, would not reimburse the state if the control commission is reimbursed from the federal fund.

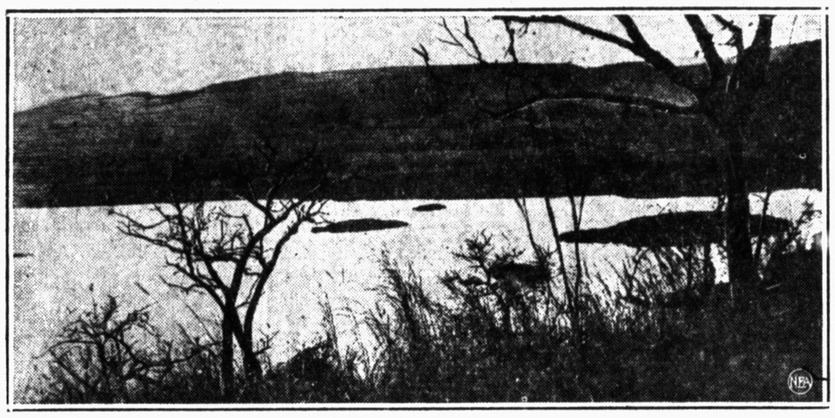

The control commission voted five to one for the Fort Worth appropriation it was reported.

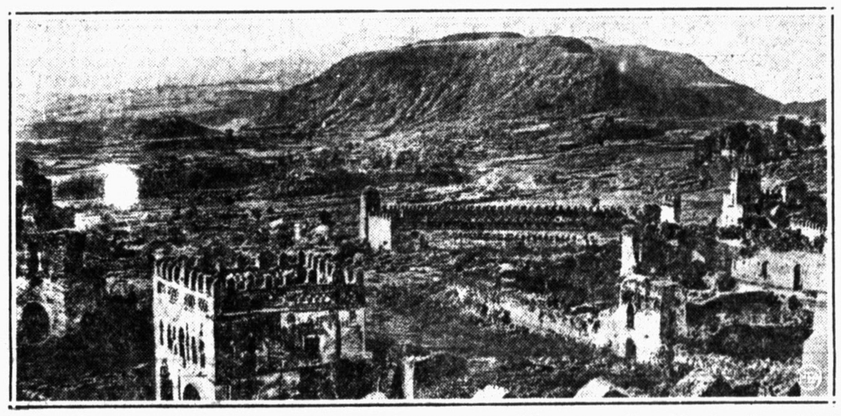

Kemp said he and Folk would withdraw their resignations if the fund for statewide observances is restored to its initial status.

Meanwhile the state board of control finally approved drawings for the "State of Texas" building to be erected at the central Centennial site at Dallas and ordered plans and specifications prepared immediately. The board indicated it would award contract soon for the

Governor's Sister Kidnaped

Claims Catholics 'Snached' Woman To Force Him To Disobey Mexican Laws.

MEXICO CITY, July 20 (AP)—Kidnapers held Maltide Torres, sister of the acting governor of Durango, tonight in what the state official asserted was an effort to force modification of anti-religious policies.

A dispatch to the newspaper El Dia quoted the acting-governor, Enrique Torres Sanchez, as saying, however:

"I declare I will be inflexible in the fulfillment of my duty and will enforce all laws, including those governing religious worship."

Torres was quoted as saying he feared the girl, who disappeared Thursday night, had been really kidnaped "to serve as an instrument for rebels opposing the religious laws with the intention of making me change my conduct."

A note received last night which, he said, bore his sister's signature but was not in her handwriting read:

"I am locked up and will continue so until Enrique returns the license to preach to the Reverend Pedro Andrade and gives his word of honor to work for change in the harmful and unconstitutional law of worship and make possible for all priests to return to their homes."

Torres said he had turned the case over to the attorney general.

MEXICO CITY, July 20. (AP)—Several clashes between peasants and red-shirted followers of Tomas Garrido Canabal, dictator of Tabasco, were reported in telegrams tonight from Villa Hermosa.

Rudolfo Brito Foucher, head of a student expedition fighting Garrido, asserted in telegrams that residents of Tabasco were beginning to come out openly against the former secretary of agriculture. No details of the clashes were given.

Two hundred and fifty students who left here yesterday to join the anti-Garrido forces at Villa Hermosa were stopped at Vera Cruz as they were about to board two ships they had chartered. The department of communications gave the order to prevent their sailing on the grounds the boats did not carry radios.

JAMBOREE DELEGATES TO BE TRAINED IN CANYON CAMP

A pre-Jamboree training camp for Boy Scouts will be held at Harding's ranch, 8 miles east of Amarillo in the canyons, on August 9, 10, and 11. The fee will be $1 per day for meals and water activities.

Each Scout must furnish his own transportation, tent, and bedding. Those who need camping experience to fit them for the big trip to Washington, D. C., are especially interested in the pre-Jamboree camp.

The Washington Jamboree will probably be reached by special train. Tentative plans are to leave Pampa August 18 at 1:40 p. m. The arrival in Chicago will be on the following day, with special sight-seeing. Washington will be reached August 20 and will be left August 30. The trippers will arrive back in Pampa September 1.

There is a Jamboree fee of $25. Other requirements are two complete uniforms at $8.40, train fare of $33.50, meals en route $7.50, personal expenses $10, and Jamboree insignia $1; total, $85.40. Boys who must have been First Class Scouts by July 1 with one full year of registered service; with at least 10 days camping experience including a 3-day pre-Jamboree camp.

The required personal equipment includes at least two uniforms consisting of two V-necked shirts, two pair of cotton shorts, two pair of cotton stockings, Scout hat, Scout belt, tan low-cut shoes, duffel bag, two face towels, two bath towels, comb, toothbrush, tooth paste, soap, soap box, wash cloth, nail file, shoe cloth, handkerchiefs, underwear, knife, fork, teaspoon, tablespoon, raincoat, cotton double blanket to be used as sheeting, one straw tick to be filled with straw at Washington.

The Adobe Walls council Jamboree committee is composed of A. G. Post, chairman; Chris B. Martin, A. W. Nelson of Borger. Paul Potter of Borger, John Shannon, Frank D. Keim, Zane E. Smith, Carl F. Benefiel, W. W. Nelson of Hooker, Okla. J. G. Schultz of Follett is Jamboree scoutmaster, with Mr. Martin as his assistant.

STUDER AND GRAHAM ASSURED BORGER ROAD WILL BE PAVED

Otto Studer and M. A. Graham, president of the Board of City Development, returned this week from a trip to Austin where they had gone in the interests of the Pampa-Borger highway. At Austin, they were joined by representatives of Carson and Hutchinson counties. The delegation went before the highway commission, and personal conversations were held with Harry Hines, chairman of the highway commission.

Results of this trip renewed expectation that the Pampa-Borger road will be put under construction contract during this year. The fact of the matter is that our local representatives made certain contacts that justified them in the belief that construction will start on this raod within a reasonable length of time.

The situation is such that it is difficult to get definite commitment from the State Highway comsion, as they have not yet received all instructions from Washington as to how to spend the federal money. However, it is known that quite a per cent of this money will be used in the elimination of dangerous railroad crossings, and the city is optimistic in getting the Cuyler street underpass constructed. Another percentage of this money goes into the construction of lateral roads, and will be expended through the relief organizations and used for work relief purposes. Under this plan, application has been made by the county commissioners' court for the construction of the LeFors to Alanreed road, in compliance with the bond issue of several years ago.

A large part of the money allocated to Texas will go into the construction of federal highways, and it has already been anounced that four federal highways crossing the Panhandle will be under construction within a short time, and the gaps across the Panhandle will be closed. These roads are U. S. 60 or state 33 on which there is a gap in Deaf Smith county, U. S. 66 passing through the southern part of this county in which there is a gap, and also west of Amarillo; U. S. 370 from Memphis to Amarillo, north to Dalhart, and U. S. 83 from Childress north to Canadian and Perryton is also to be completed. These and other federal allocations leave only a comparatively small amount of money for new construction on state highways.

Construction of the highway from Pampa to Borger carries with it the promise of later designating and constructing the road from Stinnett west to Dumas, and inasmuch as the road from Dumas and Hartley is under construction, ultimately Pampa will have a direct road northwest to Colorado.

On No. 152 east there is a gap from Laketon to Gray county line which will undoubtedly be taken care of as soon as possible.

The Highway committee has been

MANY ARRESTS OF CATHOLICS ARE PREDICTED

EVERY 'REACTIONARY' FOE OF HITLER IS 'ON SPOT'

(Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press.)

"BERLIN, July 20—A new nazi "purge" of "reactionary" opposition—thus far bloodless — swept through the Reich with increasing impetus today, its chief victims or threatened victims Jews, clergymen and war veterans.

Nazi publications and official spokesmen lumped Hebrews, Catholic and protestant men of the cloth, and members of the steel helmet veterans organization with hated communists and other "reactionary" or "subversive" elements in the determined fight to make national socialism the faith and the religion of unified Germany.

The day's developments included:

1. Julius Streicher, leading Jew-baiter and publisher of the bitterly anti-semitic newspaper "Stuermer," announced he himself would head the drive to oust all Jews from Berlin or segregate them in ghettoes.

2. A decree issued by the ministry of the interior warned Catholic priests to take care in what they said from their pulpits tomorrow concerning the nazi drive against "political Catholicism". Prosecutors were told "quick proof of misdeeds must be followed by even quicker punishment." Wholesale arrests of clergymen were predicted.

3. While Minister of Labor Franz Seldte, founder and leader of the Stamlheim, tried frantically to contact Adolf Hitler, reported "out of the country," it was said secret police who yesterday dissolved the veterans organization in Thuringia and parts of Silesia would strike next at Schleswig and Mecklenberg. A sweeping order abolishing the Stahlhelm was expected.

4. Secret police abolished the international organization of cabaret, vaudeville and circus artists—bringing them into the scope of the far-flung clean-up movement—because subversive elements allegedly were included in it.

Greek Ex-King Ready To Return

LONDON, July 20 (AP)—Whether ex-king George of Greece is or is not ready to fly back to Athens—that was the question here tonight.

An airplane pilot said he was. The king's aide said he was not. The monarch could not be found for comment.

The pilot, Capt. William Ledlie, asserted the former king, whose supporters back home have worked the country up to the verge of an election on the question of his restoration, had ordered him to keep an airliner at Croydon airfield ready to fly him to Athens, perhaps tomorrow.

A "lie" and "pure invention," the aide, Major Levides, retorted, declaring the monarch had no plans for an immediate return to Greece.

Nevertheless it was reported George, said to be staying with friends in the country, was awaiting the arrival of the mayor of Athens, M. Kotzias, expected here late today, before making up his mind finally.

Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Prigmore are spending today in Oklahoma City. They are to be joined there by Mrs. Prigmore's father, and go to Pawhuska to spend a vacation.

PANHANDLE JOINS SOUTH IN HONORING OLD WAR VETERANS

AMARILLO, July 20.—Out here in the Texas Panhandle, where the west is yet new, natives are preparing to join with the south in honoring that faltering line of survivors of those legions in gray who followed the "Stars and Bars" back there in the 60's.

For on September 3 to 6 many bands from down in the deep south will blare the strains of "Dixie" as the men of a fast-dwindling host meet here fo rtheir forty-fifth and possibly last annual grand reuion.

Because the south never has lacked gratitude for the men who marched in its armies and because the United Daughters of the Confedergcy, the Sons of Confederate Veterans, and the Confederated Memorial association cherishing the memories of the heroic deeds of their fathers and keeping alive the traditions of the Old south, the reunion is expected to attract 40,000 visitors.

Entertainment for the reunion will be made up largely of that sort found only in the west. Cowboy music makers will ride in from the open ranges to play for dances from the time the first coyote howls at a Texas moon until early morning when the chuck wagon cook yells "come and git it er I'll throw it out."

Those in charge of the old-time dances think that there'll be a powerful lot of dust knocked off the floor between sun-down and sun-up. The spryest of the veterans and widows are expected to enjoy these as much as the younger folk. This variety of entertainment is being arranged because of the great demand for it.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt has promised to address the reunion, either in person or by radio-phone. This will mark the first time in the history of the United Confederate reunion that a president of the United States has talked to the survivors of the southern army.

Several state and city bands have made arrangements to attend. Special trains will carry delegations from almost every state in the deep south.

SONS OF CONFEDERATES ARE TO ORGANIZE IN PANHANDLE

AMARILLO, July 20.—Organization of Sons of Confederate Veterans camps in cities throughout the Panhandle Plains region to assist in welcoming and entertaining the survivors of those who followed the "Stars and Bars" during their reunion in Amarillo, September 3 to 6, is now in progress.

General headquarters of the Sons of Confederate Veterans at Richmond, Va., and Texas State headquarters at Dallas, have designated Carl Hinton, past national commander, as director of all organization work in this section.

Sons, grandsons, and great grandsons of Confederate veterans are eligible for membership in this internationally - known organization. Those eligible can either join the Plemons-Shelby camp at Amarillo, or form a camp in each of the cities in the Panhandle-Plains.

Plainview is one of the first cities to begin organization of a local camp, several citizens there having recently invited Mr. Hinton to assist in that detail. Pampa, Lubbock, Dalhart, and Canyon are among other cities preparing for organization work.

Dues are $5 the first year and $1 each year thereafter. Practically all funds derived from this source are to be used in housing and feeding the veterans and widows of veterans during the forthcoming reunion.

Mr. Hinton has volunteered to visit any town in this section, at his own expense, and assist in organizing local camps.

Amarillo is not asking for financial aid in connection with the reunion, but due to the fact that the State of Texas could not finance the function as as has been the practice in other states, the citizens of this region are being urged to affiliate with the Sons of Confederate Veterans. Amarillo business men have underwritten the $10,000 reunion expense.

Scores of letters have been received at the reunion headquarters in Amarillo requesting an opportunity to help entertain the veterans. Membership in the Sons of Confederate Veterans entitles one to attend all business and social functions.

Cities in this region interested in organizing local camps or becoming affiliated with the Amarillo unit are requested to telephone or write Mr. Hinton at the Amarillo chamber of commerce.

The Panhandle-Plains section is receiving international publicity in connection with the reunion. Between fifteen and twenty thousand visitors are expected to attend this final gathering of those who wore the gray, and national news feature services are calling for stories and photographs. Later these organizations will send staff representatives here.

The fact that President Franklin D. Roosevelt has promised to address the reunion is expected to swell the attendance by several thousand. Many city and state units throughout the South have chartered special trains to Amarillo.

Mr. Hinton advises that all cities desiring to form local camps, Sons of Confederate Veterans, to contact his immediately.

Miss Rawls, 17-year-old miss of Miami Beach, is shown posed for a spring and in breast stroke action.

ETHIOPIAN TRADE NECESSARY TO ITALY FOR TWO COLONIES

(By The Associated Press.)

Italy, the last European country to enter the colonial field, is now on the verge of making her greatest colonial venture, using her oldest colony, Eritrea, as her base of action. She considers herself bound to make it to keep alive her possessions in Eastern Africa.

Italy's colonies there, Eritrea and Somaliland, are not among the most important colonial holdings of the great nations. Their value, moreover, has been rendered even less by the attitude of passive commercial resistance adopted by Ethiopia which deprives them of their hinterland.

To keep the two colonies from dying economically Italy has need of Abyssinia, either in friendly cooperation, or as a protectorate. Since the first alternative seems impossible for many years to come, Italy is ready to try the second.

Concentration In Eritrea

Eritrea is the smaller of the two colonies, but the most important and the closer to the motherland, being 3,250 miles away as compared with Somaliland's 5,000.

It is in this colony that the great majority of Italian soldiers and workmen are being concentrated.

Eritrea contains some gold deposits, which are being developed to their utmost, although the average production is only around 50 pounds a month. It also has many possibilities in iron ore. Its principal exports are coffee and salt, the principal imports cotton cloth and coffee (this latter for export).

In 1933 imports were worth approximately $14,620,000, exports about $5,174,000.

Colonization Limited

This colony still uses the Maria Theresa thaler, the silver coin of Ethiopia, in joint circulation with the lira, although several attempts have been made in vain by the colonial authorities to supplant it with Italian currency. The thaler is the sole means of payment in foreign trade.

Eritrea is the only one of the two colonies which offers any possibilities for colonization by white men, and that only in half of the colony, amid the highlands. The principal port, Massaua, is unhealthful, but the capital, Asmara, at 7,000 feet altitude, has a good climate for Europeans.

Visitors to this colony say that it is now unrecognizable. Wooden cities reminiscent of the development of the west in the United States have sprung up over night as tens of thousands of soldiers and workmen have poured into the colony. It is a common belief that the workmen and many of the soldiers later, will receive remunerative offers to stay there and in Ethiopia as permanent colonists.

Somaliland Largely Desert

Somaliland is of far greater extent than Eritrea, but owing to its position closer to the equator and to the fact that it is largely desert, it is of less importantce commercially. By far the largest production is of bananas, all of which go to Italy. In 1933 close to $1,000,000 worth of bananas were sent to the motherland.

Exports in 1933 were about $2,505,000, imports about $4,857,000.

Eritrea is much more developed from an engineering point of view than Somaliland, with railroads, cement roads, aqueducts and other improvements. Its population is somewhat smaller, being 500,000, compared with Somaliland's 966,333.

General Emilio De Bono, former minister of colonies, is high commissioner for both colonies, and commander-in-chief of their armed forces.

There is no denying that the two colonies have cost Italy much more than she has got out of them. But she hopes that through combining them with their natural hinterland, Abyssinia, she can make them into flourishing possessions.

Song Writer To Wed Inspiration

HOLLYWOOD, July 20 (AP)—Allie Wrubel, song writer, wrote "Pop Goes Your Heart."

That was when he met Juana Wood connected with a film studio's location department.

A little later Wrubel wrote "Happiness Ahead."

That was about the time he slipped a diamond ring on Miss Wood's finger.

More recently Wrubel wrote "Mr. and Mrs. Is the Name."

Boarding a plane for the east today, Wrubel and Miss Wood said Mr. and Mrs. Wrubel will be the name. They plan to visit his mother in Middletown, Conn., and then go to New York to marry.

It was stated in some quarters that steel held its position without particular benefit of the motor industry which in the past few months has supplied a large portion of the demand. This was regarded as a healthy sign of the times.

CANYON CHUCK WAGON COLLEGE WILL LEAVE ON TOUR IN JULY

CANYON, July 20 (AP)—The "chuck wagon college" will hit the western trail this month.

About 50 students and former students at West Texas State Teachers college will go by automobiles accompanied by a cafeteria on wheels on the second annual faculty-conducted educational tour which will touch ten states and the Republic of Mexico.

Early mornings will be devoted to classes and study and the rest of the time to sight-seeing and recreation.

The collegiate caravan will be away six weeks. Points of interest in Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Idaho, Washington, Oregon, California, Arizona, and Mexico will be visited.

The students will be equipped with sleeping bags and will camp in tents at designated spots along the 5,000-mile route. State capitals, parks, leading educational institutions, industrial plants, penitentiaries, agricultural projects, museums, Hollywood theaters, San Francisco's Chinatown, and the Pacific nIternational exposition at San Diego, Calif., will be visited.

Frank R. Phillips, head of the agricultural department at W. T. S. T. C., will conduct the tour. Mrs. Phillips will act as dietician. Miss Fannie Mae Rees, senior home economics student at the college, and Miss Fannie Sue Brasuel, head of the home economics department in Canyon high school, will supervise four girl students in the preparation of meals.

The cafeteria truck is equipped with gasoline stoves, pressure cookers, a refrigerator, built-in cupboards, food space, and work tables.

The cost for transportation, guide service and meals will be $150 for each member of the party.

The trip was arranged after a similar tour, conducted on a smaller scale last summer, proved popular and successful.

URGE EXPERIMENT STATIONS

FORT WORTH, July 20 (AP)—Establishment of tree experimental and demonstration units in Texas, development of processing of livestock so it can be shipped to the Atlantic seaboard to compete with products from the middle west and a study of settlement of new areas in this state were recommended by the land use committee of the state planning board at a meeting here Saturday.

The Richmond, Va., symphony orchestra, which has confined its concerts to six weeks a year in the past, will have a season running from November to March this winter.

"I DIDN'T REALIZE THE FORD V-8 HAD SO MANY FINE-CAR FEATURES"

"IF I HAD KNOWN A FORD V-8 WAS LIKE THIS, I WOULD HAVE BOUGHT ONE MONTHS AGO"

"It was a big surprise to me—this Ford V-8. I'd seen it on the road and heard some mighty fine things about it. But there was still a little doubt in my mind. I just couldn't believe a low-price car could be as good as that.

"'Forget about price,' a friend of mine said. 'Things move fast in the automobile business and the Ford has stepped way out ahead. Look it over carefully and you'll see that it's different from every other low-price car. It's a new kind of car for Ford and for the whole automobile industry.'

"So I decided to do the job right. I went over the Ford from bumper to bumper—studied every feature—took it out on the road and put it through every test I knew. Took my wife along, too, to get her views. And say—if you think I'm enthusiastic—you ought to talk to her! In every way, the Ford V-8 is far beyond our expectations."

Many other motorists—men and women—have said the same thing about the Ford V-8—"it is far beyond our expectations."

We'd like to have you drive it and see for yourself. Many distinctive features put the Ford V-8 in a class by itself in performance, comfort, safety, beauty and satisfaction.

DEMARCOS IN DANCE DEBUT IN FLIM HERE

NEW IDEAS DEVELOPED FOR "CALIENTE" BY PAIR

Carrying the torch for a new ballroom dance rhythm which may seriously threaten the hold that the fox-trot has held on dancers of America for a decade, Antonio and Renee DeMarco, famous terpischorean team, invaded Hollywood.

In the First National screen musical "In Caliente" which comes to La Nora theater today, they make their film debut. And with motion pictures as their most potent ally, the DeMarcos intend, they say, to continue their invasion of fox-trot territory which they started in New York when they starred at the new Persian Room in the Hotel Plaza.

"Our dances in the new manner," explained Antonio DeMarco, in conference with Busby Berkeley, who directed the dance numbers of 'In Caliente,' "have been known for many seasons on the continent by the Spanish expression, 'Paso Doble,' or 'double-pass.' The time, in variations of march rhythm, such as 'In Caliente,' written for the picture will be for all practical purposes about the same as the almost defunct one-step."

"Our dance ideas will not supplant the four-four time fox-trot," DeMarco declared. "The fox-trot is too typically an American institution, based on primary African rhythms, ever to be seriously threatened.

"But we have seen a waltz renaissance in the last year, and for several years, especially in the east, rhumbas, tangos, etc., have gained their share of attention.

"It is not improbable that, when music writers begin turning out dance songs in marching time, America's dancers in ballrooms will welcome a simple and pleasing variety from fox-trotting monotony."

The DeMarcos dance both in the "In Caliente" and the "Lady in Red" numbers.

"In Caliente" is a musical spectacle with an all star cast including Dolores Del Rio, Pat O'Brien, Leo Carillo, Edward Everett Horton, Glenda Farrell, Phil Regan, and Dorothy Dare.

It's a New Spanish Custom

Dolores Del Rio dances the "Muchacha" in the land of Cucarracha where Warner Bros. filmed the First National musical, "In Caliente." Seething with senoritas and flaming with rhythm, it is coming to La Nora theater today.

THIS PICTURE IS MADE LIKE LIFE HAPPENS

TRICK EFFECTS ARE DROPPED — NO FADE-OUTS

"When drama takes hold of your life, it does so suddenly, and hangs on until it exhausts itself. That's what I've tried to show in this story."

Edward Childs Carpenter, noted Broadway playwright, was standing on a motion picture set at Metro-Goldydwyn-Mayer, watching his play, "Order, Please," being transferred into a motion picture. The title of the screen version is "One New York Nivht," which opens today at the Rex theater.

"Like most astounding episodes in our lives, this one too is heavily charged with comedy," he said. "The very grotesqueness of murder is apt to induce an hysterical, but none the less funny, brand of humor."

Before him, Franchot Tone and Una Merkel, who play the leads, were speaking his own lines with veteran dexterity. Myriad shafts of light stabbed down onto the great set. Extras crowded around hushed, listening.

"I've tried to write this play exactly as it would happen," the author went on. "There is no lapse of time from beginning to end. It doesn't move out of the hotel where the murder was committed. On the stage, when the curtain went up for the second and third acts, the action continued from exactly where it had left off.

No "Fade-Outs" Used.

"They've done the same thing with the :shooting' script. There isn't a single 'fade-out' in the picture. Every principal character is followed by the camera in his every move, the way a trained detective would follow him. This greatly enhances the mystery element."

Carpenter had been invited by Director Jack Conway to watch the actual filming of his play and to learn his opinion of each scene as it was rehearsed. "Conway has the stage point of view," the playwright smiled. "He assumes an author knows something about his work. Alas, many theatrical people don't."

With Sadler

Mundee and June, above, jugglers, have a novelty feature act with Harley Sadler's tent theater which comes to Pampa for a two week's engagement starting tomorrow night under the auspices of the American Legion. The big tent is to be located at rear of White House Lumber company. This team has played nearly every major vaudeville circuit in the United States and Canada, and have been held over a second season on the Sadler show by popular demand. They will offer all new feats in juggling. The lady of the team, June, is said to be the only lady juggler accomplishing the feats of the team as done on the Sadler show. This team is one of the many features of an imposing array of vaudeville which will be brought here by Harley Sadler. The vaudeville will include, in addition to the jugglers, the Whitehouse twins, popular through this section; the Fox sisters, singing and dancing act; Paul Thardo, vibre-harp and xlyophone soloist; Bob Siler, raido crooner; McGreevey and Jeffries, RKO hill billy act; Johnny Gibbs, America's greatest "freak" trumpet player; Gloria Sadler, singer and dancer; Jeffries sisters, juvenile stars; Ethan Allen novelties, and many others. Music is provided by Joseph Golforb and his 12-piece band. Harley Sadler will be seen in a new line of comedy parts, which he handles to perfection, and Billie Sadler in a line of "heavies," emotional parts, in which she is said to be at her best. Jane Mast is a new lady member of the company. Miss Mast recently joined the show, coming direct from some of the larger stock companies in the east. The opening show in Pampa is "Restless Wives and Homeless Husbands," a new play. The tent theater is new, having only been up in a few towns prior to the Pampa engagement, and is said to be the largest and finest traveling. Special numbered reserved seats will go on sale tomorrow at Pampa Drug No. 1.

ITALIAN PROPAGANDISTS SAY BLACKS MUTILATED CHILDREN

ROME, July 20 (AP)—Italy charges Ethiopian tribesmen today with "multilating numerous children" in a mass attack on defenseless natives of Eritrean Dancali.

Widespread indignation was arcused as the full details of the alleged raid on the Italian colony May 31, charged in a propaganda ministry communique, were published for the first time in this morning's Italian press.

A government spokesman gave assurance that Italy watched developments toward Ethiopian mobilization and a special session of the League of Nations coumell, confident of its own preparedness and the justification of its cause.

He insisted that Italy was sure Ethiopia did not want peace.

An article in the Popolo D'Italia said Ethiopia's military preparations, coupled with constant border incidents, constituted a menace which Fance or England "would confront with cries of 'scandal'," flame and fire if they occurred upon their frontiers."

Terming the League of Nations "a great insurance society for constituted empires," it said Italy did not need the league because as yet it had no empire.

Without Italy, however, the article said, the league would have difficulty in "saving its face." The comment indicated that league members should be cautious about offending Italy.

The ministry of propaganda's communique, charging Ethiopia with the May 31 attack on the Italian Dancali tribe, emphasized what it called the bestiality of the raiders.

"Numerous children were mutilated and left bleeding along the paths of the tribal invasion," it said.

A small Italian military post at Dol was said to have been surrounded and attacked, but to have driven off the enemy.

Italian reinforcements was sent from Assab, but were unable to reach the scene, the communique said, before the raiders killed and wounded numbers of native herders with their women and children, and made off with 4,000 head of cattle, as well as many slaves.

The communique said the Italian troops halted at the Ethiopian border in response to commands that they should not pursue the raiders beyond the frontier.

ROME, July 20 (AP)—Premier Mussolini informed his nation today that Italy's military preparations in her colony of Eritrea, east of Ethiopia, are in excellent shape.

This announcement was contained in a telegram he sent General De Bono, high commissioner of Eritrea.

440 CARS IN WEEK

CANYON, July 20.—During the past week 440 cars have visited the Palo Duro state park 12 miles east of Canyon. This is a new high record for this park. 252 of the cars saw the park on Sunday, July 14. These cars represented 90 different towns in Texas and 19 other states.

'UNCLE' DICK BUSSELL KILLED THOUSANDS OF BUFFALO IN '70S

CANADIAN, July 20.—R. "Uncle Dick" Bussell, buffalo hunter, Indian fighter, pioneer and, before his death, the oldest living resident of Hemphill county, died at his home in Canadian at 12:30 p. m. Friday of last week. Had he lived until November 18 he would have been 90 years of age.

He was born November 18, 1845, in Madison county, Ill. With the rest of the family he moved, when a young man, to a location near St. Joseph, Mo., and leaving the family there went to Larned and Fort Leavenworth, Kas., in 1865.

In 1886 he made a trip from Fort Leavenworth to Salt Lake City, a distance of nearly 1,500 miles, with a freight outfit hauling government supplies with ox teams. On this trip the outfit encountered so many buffalo that he conceived the idea of hunting buffalo and selling their hides for profit. In this manner he became one of the first of the many to hunt buffalo in those long past days.

The next year, 1867, he began his buffalo hunting career which lasted almost continuously for ten years. He hunted on the Kansas prairies, marketing the hides taken at Fort Leavenworth, until 1873 when the hunters and soldiers made a treaty with the Indians not to hunt buffalo south of the Arkansas river. It was in 1868 while camped with about 125 other hunters in the Solomon river valley in Kansas that he saved a family of settlers from being taken by the Indians when he shot six Indians attacking them and took the settler family to the hunters' camp. Shortly after, several hundred Indians besieged the camp but were held off by the hunters' guns and after about two weeks finally left.

Following the peace treaty and since the buffalo were about all gone in Kansas, he and his brother came to Texas in 1874. They drove through in a two-horse wagon and stopped at Fort Griffin. He went to work on a ranch near Fort Griffin for a short time, lost track of his brother shortly afterward and had never heard of him after that time.

For several years he hunted buffalo in the Panhandle and farther south, marketing the hides at Fort Leavenworth, Fort Griffin, Sherman, Fort Elliott, and Dallas. He had hunting headquarters on the Brazos, Red river, Sweetwater, Boggie creek, Red Deer creek, Three Hole creek and Mulberry creek. He killed many buffalo on the present site of Canadian. The best hunting was on the Clear Fork of the Brazos at about the present location of the town of Sweetwater, where he got about 6,000 hides one winter. The hides usually brought about $1 to $2.500 and hides taken in winter from $5 to $6. Most of the hunting was done in the summer. He knew most of the buffalo hunters of that time including the famous Bill Cody (Buffalo Bill) and Billy Dixon, famous hunter and scout.

His first permanent location in the Panhandle, after the buffalo hunting days was at Mobeetie where he worked for Thomas Riley and then came to Canadian where he worked for Henry Hamburg for about two years. After that he filed on a piece of land that is the present site of the Hance ranch.

When Canadian was located as a town, in 1887, he helped survey the townsite. He had lived here since that time.

Doctor To Take 25 In-Laws On Pleasure Trip

KANSAS CITY, Kas., July 20 (AP)—Imagine taking 25 in-laws on a pleasure trip — voluntarily. Dr. Thomas Richmond is going to do it.

Tomorrow morning Mrs. Richmond's kinspeople, ranging from her 81-year-old mother, Mrs. L. C. Cutler, to her 11-months old nephew, Bobby Lee Reed, will pile into a 18-passenger bus and two motor cars and head for Estes Park, Colo. A truck will carry their baggage.

Dr. Richmond, who has no relatives of his own and likes those acquired by marriage, proposed last Easter to finance the trip.

"I believed he was crazy", Mrs. Richmond commented good-humoredly today, "and I still think so. But if he wants to spend his money that way it's all right with me; he made it."

Hits At AAA

The far-reaching opinion that holds the AAA processing tax, chief instrument of the farm price raising efforts of the new deal, to be illegal, was written by Judge Scott Wilson (above) of the federal circuit court of appeals at Boston. Judge George F. Morris concurred in the ruling, given in the Hoosac Mills suit to escape paying a $81,694 processing levy.

DONALD BUDGE BEATS GERMANY'S HENKEL IN OPENING DAVIS CUP BATTLE

ALLISON-VON CRAMM MATCH IS RAINED OUT

AMERICAN IS 'SCARED STIFF' BUT WINS HANDILY

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 20. (AP)—Redheaded young Donald Budge, "scared stiff" by his own admission, but nevertheless able to settle down and play grown-up tennis when really threatened, got the United States away to a running start today by whipping Germany's equally youthful Heiner Henkel before rain washed out the other half of today's Davis cup competition.

After scrambling around for three sets of tennis that looked more like a prep school match than an international duel of ranking players, Budge outscored Henkel, 7-5, 11-9, 6-8, 6-1. Thus he posted the first point for America in the interzone finals, the outcome of which decides England's challenger.

Wilmer Allison, the Texan, and Baron Gotfried Von Cramm, Germany's No. 1 man, then sat around in their tennis clothes for more than an hour, waiting in vain to start the second singles match.

NELL LEADING ROAD RUNNERS IN STICK WORK

SCALING AVERAGE HAS JUMPED TO NEAR TOP RECENTLY

The Road Runners are still hitting at a brisk clip with Gordon Nell leading the way with an average of .438 for the 27 games he has played with the Road Runners. Sam Scaling has jumped to within a few points of Nell by blasting out base hits off all types of pitching. Scaling has an average of .428 for 41 games. Brickell and Patton are battling for third place, with the manager one point in the lead.

Scaling and Brickell are tied for the most runs scored, 59 each. Scaling has made the most base hits, 77. Patton and Seitz are tied for second place with 63 each.

Two base honors still go to Al Summers who has banged out 19 doubles. Scaling follows with 15 to his credit. Summers also has the most triples, three.

Nell still stays in front in home runs, having banged 14 over the fence. Seitz has been doing some distance hitting recently, increasing his home runs to eight.

George Bulla is leading the pitchers with six wins and one loss, for an average of .847. Carl Stewart follows, with Berry in third place. Lee Daney has been coming in to his own recently, having won five games against one loss.

Batting averages, including game of Friday night, follow:

TEXAN IN SEMI-FINALS

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 20 (AP)—Ramsay Potts, Jr., 18-year-old University of North Carolina Sophomore from Memphis went into the finals of the men's singles in the state tennis tournament today but the other finalist went undetermined after a four-hour battle between Archie Henderson, Chapel Hill, N. C., and Bruce Baxter, Austin, Texas, was called on account of darkness.

County Attorney Sherman White made a business trip to McLean yesterday morning.

ROAD RUNNERS BEAT COLTEXO IN 4-3 GAME

PAMPA EVENS COUNT WITH LEFORS IN 4-3 CLASSIC

Lee Daney turned in a masterful pitching performance on Friday night when the Road Runners took a 4 to 3 game from Coltexo of LeFors and evened the count for the season at four wins and four losses each.

The little Indian moundsmen set a new record for control when he cut the corner of the plate and set the visitors down with eight scattered bingles. The pitching record showed that Daney pitched only 29 called balls in the nine innings, almost a world record. He had only three called balls in the first three innings. Daney didn't walk a man but came near to it when he had a count of three and nothing on Pachak. He came through with three consecutive strikes and fanned the bespectacled fielder.

Lefty Ledford, nemesis of he Road Runners until a week ago, started on the mound for Coltexo but was knocked from the mound in the eighth. Carithers, fresh from Albany in the International league, went to the mound but faced only two batters, allowing two hits and making a wild pitch and an error. Braley finished the game. No Pampa man got a walk, making it a perfect evening for pitching control.

The Road Runners got two hits in the opening inning but failed to score when Brickell was nipped at the plate on a perfect peg from Pachak in center field. One run crossed the plate in the second when Seitz singled, advanced to third on Horton's single, and scored on McLary's out.

Two more runs were added in the third. Brickell opened with his second single of the game. George sacrificed him to second. Brickell scored on Scaling's second single. Nell was safe on an error, Scaling going to third from where he scored on Seitz's single after Patton had forced Nell at second.

The Road Runners scored what proved to be the winning run in the eighth inning when Carithers went to the mound. Scaling met the lefthander with a single and went to second on a wild pitch. Nell also singled, sending Scaling to third. Carithers then uncorked one to first base which wound up against the fence and caused his removal from the mound. Scaling scored on the play. Braly then retired the side.

Only 18 men had faced Daney up to the sixth inning when Coltexo scored a run. Spencer, Huffman and Hale hit consecutive singles, Hale's hit sending Spencer across the plate with nobody out. Huffman tried to make third but was caught, Horton to Scaling for the first out. Bennett and Poindexter then filed out to Scaling who made two great running catches.

The ninth inning opened with Bennett grounding out, short to first. Then George muffed one and threw Poindexter's easy roller into the bleachers. Polvogt stepped up to the plate and smacked one over the left field fence. With one out, Daney started pitching careful ball. Pachak backed Brickell against the fence but he held the ball for the second out. Then Seitz made a nice running catch of Dingman's fly to end the rally.

The game was played in one hour and 20 minutes, the fastest time for a nine inning game ever staged in Pampa. While Daney had the Coltexo batters hitting fly balls, the Road Runners were banging the ball on the ground. Statistics show that Huffman, Coltexo first baseman, had 16 putouts at first base while Nell of the Road Runners retired only five. Coltexo infielders had 21 assists to seven for the Road Runner inner defense. Fifteen Coltexo batters flied out and six fanned.

Spencer and Hale had a busy night, Spencer getting seven assists and making one error, and Hale handling six chances without a bobble. Seitz had five putouts in centerfield, and Patton and Brickell had four each in the other two garden positions.

Coltexo lost Shinski, diminutive center fielder, who was reinstated by the Des Moines club. Shinski left for the north immediately after receiving word that he was off the bad books. Pachak, Amarillo star, replaced Shinski in the outfield.

Also in a Coltexo uniform was Red Gaither of the Amarillo Shamrocks. Gaither hit for Ledford in the 8th and pounded out a clean single.

The Road Runners will meet Phillips 66 Oilers of Borger Monday night. Admission will be 10 cents to any one. On Wednesday night the Road Runners will meet a team of all stars, composed of the best players from teams in LeFors, Borger and Amarillo.

Bliss And Yates Reach Finals Of Western Tourney

Charley Yates Hails From Bobby Jones' Home Club

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 20. (AP)—Two young collegians, Rodney Bliss, of Omaha, and tousle headed Charley Yates from Bobby Jones old home club in Atlanta, battled their way to the finals of the western amateur golf tournament today on the scenic Broadmoore course at the foot of Cheyenne mountain.

The 21-year-old Atlantan, national collegiate champion from Georgia Tech in 1934 advanced thru the semi-finals with a 2 up triumph over Jack Gaines, 36-year-old basketball coach of Glendale, Calif., high school.

Bliss, the tournament medalist, who is a year older than Yates and a former Cornell university student, defeated Don Edwards of San Jose, Calif., and Stanford university, 2 and one.

In their only previous tournament match against each other, Bliss defeated Yates 6 and 4 in the quarter finals of the 1933 western amateur.

Yates came back with even par golf on this afternoon's round against Gaines after blowing a 2 hole lead when his game went into a temporary collapse as a high wind and light rain descended from the mountains just before they came in to lunch, all square after the first 18 holes.

The Atlanta youngster, troubled by the wind, drove to the rough on both of the final holes on the first eighteen and allowed Gaines to overtake him. Yates had a pair of sixes on the seventeenth and eighteenth after playing the first 16 holes two under par.

With the weather cleared up and the wind a negligible hazard Yates was back on his game in the afternoon, going out in 34 and coming back in 36 for an even par 70 after a morning 71 which was matched by Gaines. The persistent Californian carded 72 in the afternoon.

Bliss never was behind in his match with Edwards. The Omahan who shot 142, two over par for the low qualifying score, finished the first two up with a 71. He was even par in the afternoon.

OMAHA TAKES $30,000 RACE AT ARLINGTON

3-YEAR-OLD TITLE IS CLINCHED IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, July 20 (AP)—Sprinting to a new track record, Omaha clinched the three year old championship of the American turf today by winning the $30,000 Arlington classic by a length and a half, with St. Bernard second.

Omaha, masterly ridden by Jockey Wayne Wright, went into the lead in the stretch turn, overtaking St. Bernard, which had led from the start.

Bloodroot was third.

The champion covered the mile and a quarter in 2:01 2-5, breaking the track record of 2:01 4-5, set by Sun Beau, greatest money winner of all times in 1931.

The pair of fillies entered by Col. E. R. Bradley of Lexington, Ky., ran third and fourth in the field of ten. Bloodroot, lightly weighted with 113 was third, and Black Helen, which forced the early pace finished fourth.

Black Helen tore after St. Bernard at the start, and hung on to his flying heels until the first mile was reached, and then was forced to give it up.

Omaha ran a beautiful race, cleverly rated by Jockey Wright. He got away seventh then dropped back to eighth, but had forced his way to sixth place at the three quarters. The crowd cheered wildly when Omaha began to move up rapidly, going into second place at the mile, and then immediately collaring St. Bernard to move into the lead, and go on to win. The race had a gross value of $36,500, with $28,975 going to William Woodward of New York, owner of the winner.

Omaha, a prohibitive favorite paid $2.80 to win, $3.00 to place and $2.40 to show. The place price on St. Bernard was $7.00 with $3.80 to show. The Bradley entry paid $2.80 to show.

JACK RABBITS BEAT PEWEES; TWO TEAMS WILL PLAY TODAY

Coming from behind in their half of the ninth and staving off a rally, the Jack Rabbits, Pampa's new junior team, took an 11 to 10 game from the Pewees on Friday afternoon. The same two teams will meet at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon on Magnolia diamond.

The Jack Rabbits won in the ninth when Carpenter walked and A. C. Miller hit a home run to tie the score. Jones and Keyser singled and crossed the plate before the side was retired. Morrow scored for the Pewees in the ninth but the next three men went out when the umpire made a decision which caused considerable excitement. He stood by his guns, however, and the game ended the play.

Morrow was on the mound for the losers, with Aulds behind the bat. Miller hurled for the Jack Rabbits with Hubert receiving.

Lineups were:

Jack Rabbits—M. Keyser, J. C. Hembre, S. Hubert, Nicholson, Slitz, C. Hubert, Carpenter, A. C. Miller and Jones.

Pewees—G. Heiskell, H. Buckingham, B. Morrow, W. Mills, G. Dull, C. Heiskell, G. Foster, D. Aulds, Vernon.

Good old days of wrestling will be brought back to Pampa on Tuesday night when Sailor Otis Clingman and Sailor Jack Moran will appear on the same card. Moran will tangle with Jack Van Bebber in the main event and Clingman will meet Pat Garrison in the semi-final.

There will also be something new in the preliminary when a member of the bar, Ken Daly of Borger, meets Curley Lewis of Pampa. Daly is attorney for an oil company. Lewis learned most of his grappling in the army while stationed in Wyoming.

Moran, one of the top-notch middleweights of the country, stormed through all opposition in this section more than a year ago. He is the type who will wrestle or who will fight to the drop of the hat. He started out victorious in Amarillo Thursday night when he downed Jack Domar of Chicago in a wild melee.

Former amateur champion, Van Bebber has taken to professional wrestling as though he had been in the game all his life. The speed and knowledge he gained while seven times amateur champion and once Olympic representative serves him admirably in his professional work. He can get behind his opponent and worry him into exhaustion.

It will be home-coming for Clingman. The former Pampan has been in Mexico City and points in Mexico for many months. He will make his first appearance since his return in Pampa. Clingman's opponent will be Pat Garrison, local Irishman who has been going strong the last few weeks. Garrison has gotten over an illness and that apparently did him good.

'Ten-Cent Game' At Park Monday Night Announced

On-To-Denver Game Is Wednesday Evening

Monday and Wednesday will be big nights in Pampa's baseball history. Tomorrow night everyone, man, woman and child, will be admitted to Road Runner park for 10 cents. On Wednesday night the Road Runner team that will go to the Denver Post tournament will play a team of Big Five All Stars.

The re-organized Phillips 66 Oilers of Borger will provided the opposition for the "ten-cent game" tomorrow night. It will mark the first time in history that a real class A baseball attraction has been staged for 10 cents.

At least four and maybe six new faces will appear in the Phillips lineup. They will be the pick of Oklahoma Sandlot teams, secured by the Borger team while on a recent trip through Oklahoma. Game time will be 8:45 o'clock and arrangements will be made to accomodate an over-flowing crowd.

An added attraction at the game Wednesday will be the appearance of the Summer Kid band, directed by Walter Hurst. The band will give a concert preceding the throwing of the first ball by Mayor W. A. Bratton, who issued a proclamation last week designating Wednesday night as On To Denver Night in Pampa. The band will also play during the game.

Sitting on the Road Runner bench, or more than likely in the lineup, will be Byron Chody, ace of the Huber pitching staff, and Joe Surface, outfielder with Phillips, both of whom will accompany the Road Runners to Denver. Chody is doped to pitch the game, or at least part of the game. Two star players from another Big Five team may also be in a Pampa uniform for the game and for the trip to Denver.

Road Runner officials announced last night that Clifford Clay of Wichita, Kan., former Texas elague hurler, will accompany the team to Denver. He is scheduled to arrive next week.

Pampa merchants are buying blocks of tickets to the game and also to a dance to be staged at the Pla-Mor auditorium immediately after the game. The combination tickets are selling for $1.

One of the record crowds of the season is expected to see the big game. The opposition will be composed of the cream of the Panhandle's baseball players.

Texas Elf Boys Take 7-6 Battle

Playing ball on a regulation diamond, the Texas Elf juniors took a 7 to 6 ball game from the Western Carbon juniors Friday afternoon on the Texas Elf diamond. The winners will meet the Sunoco Slugger juniors on Texas Elf diamond at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Reece Davis hurled for the winners with Jack Sharp behind the bat. The score sheet shows that Junior hurled for the losers with LeRoy behind the bat. Their last names were unknown to the reporter.

COLTEXO BLACK CATS AND ADVERTISERS TO MEET

With the Pampa Road Runners playing Phillips 66 Oilers in Borger this afternoon, and Coltexo of LeFors in Paducah, the Two I league will hold sway in this section. The feature game will be played at Shaw park in LeFors at 3:30 o'clock when Coltexo Black Cats tangle with the Pampa Advertisers. Admission will be 25 cents for men with women being admitted free.

The Black Cats and the Advertisers are leading the league race at the present time. Clemmons or Hess will be the probable choice of the Coltexo manager while Haley, former Coltexo pitcher, will more than likely be on the mound for the Pampa team.

Three games will be played in Pampa when the newly organized Black Sox meets the Pampa Rams on the Ram diamond west of Harvester field; the Pampa Independents tangle with Kingsmill on the Wilcox diamond in the Wilcox addition; and Western Carbon meets the Just Rite Cleaners at Harvester field. Game time will be 2:30 o'clock.

Schedule for the day follows:

Western Carbon vs. Just Rite Cleaners at Harvester diamond.

Pampa Rams vs. Black Sox at Rams diamond west of Harvester field.

Hopkins at White Deer.

Pampa Advertisers at Coltexo Carbon, LeFors.

McCraw Pilots Own Plane

Texas' flying attorney general William McCraw, and Assistant Attorney General Archie D. Gray, shown left to right beside McCraw's plone took off from the Austin municipal airport yesterday morning for New Orleans with McCraw at the controls. There they will represent the state in a suit opening Monday before a three-judge federal court attacking constitutionality of the new Texas anti-gas wastage statute.

McCRAW PILOTS PLANE TO NEW ORLEANS TO DEFEND GAS LAW

AUSTIN, July 20.—Attorney General William McCraw and Archie D. Gray, his assistant, roared out of the municipal airport here today for New Orleans where they will combat before a three-judge federal court Monday the first suit attacking constitutionality of Texas' new anti-gas wastage law.

McCraw was at the controls of his own plane for the quick trip, having been at his desk in the capital until late Friday. Preliminary to the hearing, he and Gray will confer in New Orleans on the case with lawyers interested in gas conservation.

Filed by the Clymore Production company and Nueces Refining company of Corpus Christi, the suit seeks an injunction to restrain the railroad commission from interfering with their wells in the Agua Dulce field and questions validity of the statute.

Just before hopping off, McCraw emphasized the importance of the suit:

"At stake in the hearing Monday is the very heart of the law passed by the last session of the legislature to stop the tremendous gas wastage, principally in the Panhandle field."

The complainents attacked provisions of the law which define an oil and gas well and prescribe that an efficient oil-gas ratio shall be determined by the commission, on the grounds that the act is invalid because the definitions are too vague and indefinite.

They further charged that the law is discrimnatory, amounts to a delegation of legislative power to the commission and provides for excessive penalties. They complained of the commission's March 9 order requiring them to cease producing approximately 45,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas daily, stripping the gasoline content and letting the residue be blown into the air and wasted. The two firms claimed their wells produced both crude petroleum and natural gas.

McCraw said he had filed a motion to dismiss and an answer, setting out that the wells involved produce natural gas only, that no discrimination exists, and that the commission was justified in making various clasisfications because of different conditions in each of the hundred gas producing fields in Texas.

So far as the Panhandle is affected, that part of the law dealing with sweet gas becomes effective August 1, and that governing sour gas October 1. However, the conservation measure is in force in other parts of the state.

McCraw carried over from World war days an enthusiasm for flying, and since taking office in January, he has used his own ship, a Stinson 4-passenger plane, on official missions where time element played a paramount part, but he has never turned in an expense account to the state for such trips.

A licensed pilot, McCraw is believed to be Texas' first flying attorney general in the sense of piloting his own plane.

Hoover Entertains Republican Chiefs

PALO ALTO, Calif., July 20 (AP)—While political observers pondered today the significance of coincidental visitos of prominent republicans to the home of former President Hoover, the one-time chief executive spent the week-end at a northern California resort section in company with friends.

He will return here tomorrow, his secretary, Paul Sexson said, prepared to greet Governor Harry W. Nice to Maryland. Other visitors scheduled to dall later in the week are Patrick J. Hurley, former secretary of war, James M. Beck, former solicitor general, and Colonel Frank M. Knox, Chicago publisher.

Sexson today reiterated the absence of political import in the the arrival of the Hoover guest, declaring it was just a coincidence and that the visits will be purely social ones.

However, the republican county central committee of San Francisco, in announcing Gov. Nice's address there Monday, said he would arrive "fresh from a political conference with former President Hoover at his Stanford University home."

SENATOR FLAYS BIG BUSINESS' LOBBY METHODS

Investigations Will Continue Next Tuesday

WASHINGTON, July 20. (AP)—Modern lobbying methods of business drew the fire of Senators Schwellenbach (D., Wash.) today as two congressional committees charted long inquiries into activities intended to influence legislation.

Hearings will be resumed Tuesday in the investigation by the house rules committee headed by Chairman Black (D., Ala.) which so far has been more active, also will reconvene Tuesday.

Both Black and Chairman O'Connor (D., N. Y.) of the house group, each with a $50,000 appropriation, promised exhaustive investigations, which they said probably will last far into the fall.

Schwellenbach said his observations as a member of the senate committee have convinced him that although "business interests decided to be clean and honorable in their lobbying, they can't get away from their old habits."

"The old method of lobbying," he added "consisted of bribery, blackmail and entertainment. That was abandoned for the modern method of really trying to ascertain public sentiment, and representing it to members of congress.

"But this investigation already has shown the unfair methods used, the fake telegrams with names taken from city directories, the millions spent to deceive us on the utility bill.

"I have no objection to legitimate lobbying. It is extremely desirable to learn both sides of any questions, and to know what the people want, but these methods make that impossible."

Black said he felt his committee has made much progress, not only in uncovering the Associated Gas and Electric company's campaign against utility holding company abolition, but in revealing the necessity for eliminating "unnecessary" holding companies.

Dusting The Covers Of Texas History For THE TEXAS CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION OF 1936

AUSTIN, July 20.—The courage of Sarah Hibbins, delineated in the following account of her capture by the Indians, taken from Frank Brown's Annals of Travis County, part of the family archives collection in the University of Texas library, exemplifies the bravery of the pioneer women of Texas.

"The Hibbins family were among the early comers, settling in DeWitt's colony, on the Guadalupe," Mr. Brown wrote. "In 1833 Mrs. Hibbins went on a visit to Tennessee. After remaining there a short time, she started home, coming by water, and arrived at Houston in January, 1836, in company with her mother. Her husband met them there with a wagon to convey them to the colony. They had crossed the Colorado and were nearing home, when a party of Indians rushed upon them and instantly killed Mr. Hibbins and the mother. They took Mrs. Hibbins and her two children, one an infant and the other three years old, and tied them to a horse. After robbing the wagon, they left. They confined Mrs. Hibbins at night, laying her down, with her children on each side, throwing a buffalo robe over them. Two large Indians would then lie down by them, one on each side, as a guard. The infant was a sucking babe, and when hungry would cry. The Indians took the babe from her, and she thought killed it.

"After crossing the Colorado the Indians allowed Mrs. Hibbins and her child to lie by themselves, thinking escape impossible. The first night after crossing the river, they camped near where Austin now stands. Here, for the first time, Mrs. Hibbins and her child were permitted to lie together without a guard. She laid awake until the Indians and child were asleep, when she gently arose and crept from the camp. Near by was a creek whose banks were quite steep. She went down the channel of the creek. There was running water in it. Having travelled, as she supposed, about two hours, she found herself still near the camp, by hearing her child call out 'Oh! mama!' Should she go back? Should she listen to maternal prompting, and again place herself within the grasp of the savages? She reflected that if she were to return she could do her child no good, and she knew the settlements could not be more than 10 miles away. She concluded to go on, save herself, and find some men who would go to the rescue of her child. She then followed the channel of Shoal creek down to the Colorado. She passed through the brush, vines, and water all night. She continued her travels down the river valley the next day until she saw some cattle. She remained with these until they started home, and then followed them. In the evening she became exhausted from hunger and fatigue. Knowing she must be near the settlements, she commenced hallooing as loud as she could. There were some men in the bottom who heard her, but not distinguishing the voice, they concluded it was Indians and would not answer.

"Late in the evening, the poor woman without uttering a word, went into the camp of some rangers near Hornsby's and threw herself on the ground. It seemed that her joy in discovering friends and knowing she was safe at last, completely took from her the power of speech.

"The rangers were very much astonished. Finally, Mrs. Hibbins spoke, and in a distressed tone, gave them a history of her case. She was immediately removed to the house of Reuben Hornsby, where she was supplied with clothing and food.

"After hearing her sad story, and as soon as they could take some refreshments, Capt. Tomlinson and his men, mounted their horses at dark and went in pursuit; Mrs. Hibbins having first given them a description of the kind of mule that the Indians kept her child leashed to. The rangers camped that night within a few miles of the Indian camp. The trail being quite plain next morning, they were soon overtaken. They opened fire on the savages, who broke and fled. Two Indians were killed. The rangers succeeded in recovering all their stolen horses, camp equipage and arms; but best of all, they found Mrs. Hibbins' little son. When the child was restored to Mrs. Hibbins, she wept and laughed alternately."

TOMORROW

Buy Yourself A Gift!

With a Mother's Day, Father's Day, Birthdays and all the other days that we are called upon to remember someone else with a gift we are sometimes prone to neglect our own needs and desires! That is the idea behind this movement by Pampa merchants—to remind us to buy that suit, that dress, that tie, that smoking stand or one or more of the hundreds of other things we need for ourselves, our home or our car.

As an added inducement to each to buy some personal needs, the merchants of Pampa are offering many unusual values. See their advertisments in today's NEWS.

Dee Graham Flies 2 Men To Temple

Dee Graham, local aviator, flew Fred C. Smith and H. L. Carter, both of Amarillo, to Temple on Friday. Mr. Smith entered the Scott-White sanitarium where he will undergo treatment.

The party left here early Friday morning, stopping an hour in Wichita Falls to allow Mr. Smith to rest. The trip was made in five hours, including the stop. Mr. Smith stood the trip well and his condition was reported excellent at the completion of the flight.

Mr. Graham and Mr. Carter made a business trip to Waco before returning to Pampa late Friday afternoon. The round trip was slightly more than 950 miles.

13 Killed When Dutch Passenger Plane Is Wrecked

SAN BERNARDINO, Switzerland July 20. (AP)—Thirteen persons died today as the third Royal Dutch Airline passenger plane to crash in seven months fell into trees near the village of San Giacomo, three miles from here.

Two of the nine passengers killed were Gerard and Virginia Phillips, whose address and nationality could not be determined immediately. The other passengers were Dutch, English, German and Swiss.

A police investigation showed that the plane, which apparently was seeking an emergency landing field, sent out an SOS shortly before the crash.

The ship, en route from Frankfort-on-Main to Milan, appeared out of clouds of fog, apparently having motor trouble, and tried to land in the narrow valley at San Giacomo. There was no suitable field, however, and it struck trees.

Police found Miss or Mrs. Phillips still living but she died just as they pulled her clear of the wreckage.

A Red Cross detachment from the nearby town of Bellinzoni reached the scene to find all the nine passengers and the crew of four dead.

Bird Incident In Pampa Mentioned In Book Chapter

One chapter of a book on Texas birds being written by Dr. Harry C. Oberholser, senior biologist for the division of wild life research with headquarters in Washington, will have Pampa as its setting, according to Vernon E. Moore, local taxidermist.

The particular chapter will deal with the finding of a Pine Grosbeak here more than a year ago. The bird was found after a hail storm by City Officer W. C. Dillman. The officer took the bird home and made a pet of it.

For some time the name of the bird was unknown. Finally it was learned that it was a Pine Grosbeak, native of the far north. The bird was killed by a cat several months after it had been found.

Dr. Oberholser learned about the finding of the bird here. He got in touch with Mr. Moore, who furnished him with data and a picture.

POWER STRIKERS WIN

JACKSONVILLE, July 20 (AP)—Striking linemen and plant workers of the Gulf Public Service company today won their battle for higher wages after two days and nights of fruitless negotiations, and announced they would return to work Monday. An agreement, calling for a ten per cent wage increase and other concessions favorable to the workers, was reached today by company and employe representatives.

Duee Limits Newspaper Pages

ROME (AP)—A new government order, issued without explanation, limits newspaper to 10 pages once each week and to six pages on Wednesdays and Fridays. Since most papers receive subsidies, economy is thought to be the motive for the order.

Glasgow's Bad Teeth Decried

GLASGOW (AP)—A biting criticism of Glasgow's bad teeth was made by the dean of the Glasgow Dental Hospital, Dr. J. Forbes Webster. "Glasgow is rated as having probably the worst teeth in Britain," he said. "An observant stranger walking our streets is struck at once by the dental armament of the citizens."

D. C. Stone of Panhandle was a visitor in Pampa yesterday.

G-Men Hustle Kidnap Chiseler Behind Bars

Struggling against going behind the bars, Alfred Otto Wagner (center), called the "No. 1 misery chiseler" for his confessed efforts to obtain money from the relatives of kidnap victims, found resistance futile as the strong arms of the law at the Brooklyn, N. Y., federal building hustled him to a cell. Wagner, recently released from Sing Sing prison on parole as a kidnaper, was trapped in trying to collect $75,000 for the "release" of 83-year-old Charles D. Towt, missing broker. He admitted having sent ransom demands in the Weyerhaeuser and other recent kidnaping cases.

RELIGIOUS REVIVAL PLANNED FOR TEXAS DURING THE CENTENNIAL

AMARILLO, July 19 (AP)—Plans for a state-wide religious revival in connection with the Texas Centennial celebration next year were announced today by the Rev. R. N. Huckabee of Amarillo, chairman of the Interdenominational Committee on Cooperation for the Texas Centennial revival.

The committee, comprised of two representatives each of the seven cooperating denominations, has approved five recommendations, he said, urging participation by all churches in the state.

The recommendations:

1. That a united effort on the part of all the Christian people of Texas be made to observe all Texas holidays, such as San Jacinto day and Independence day, in "great Christian patriotic rallies" to be held in all communities in the state.
2. That a major effort be made to add 25 per cent to the attendance in Sunday school and church during January, thus taking advantage of the resolutions period to make it a church and Bible-study year.
3. That plans be made to participate in one of 10 "inspirational, interdenominational, evangelical rallies" to be held in February in strategic cities.
4. That a revival be conducted in every local church in the state during the Centennial year.
5. That a continuous revival of religion be in progress in Dallas during the Centennial.

Denominations represented on the committee are Christian, Baptist, Presbyterian, U. S. A. and Presbyterian (Southern) Protestant Episcopal, Nazarene, and Methodist.

Other denominations wishing to join the movement were invited by Mr. Huckabee to name two of their number to serve on the committee.

CRASH INJURES THREE

EL PASO, July 20 (AP)—Three persons were injured, one seriously, when an automobile turned over six times after striking a soft shoulder on the highway near Sierra Blanca, 80 miles east of here, today. Herndon, 55, Robert M. Quigley, 70, and Mrs. Josephine Quigley, 60, all of Ft. Worth, were brought to an El Paso hospital.

Mrs. A. A. Tiemann and daughters, Madge and Betty Jean, have returned from a trip to Colorado Springs.

WOULD RETURN TEXAN

MENARD, July 20 (AP)—Holiness churches of West Texas have started a movement to raise $100 — the sum needed to bring back home Ernest Baker, one-time Menard laborer "called on by the angels" to preach the gospel in Soviet Russia. At present Baker is being held in a detention camp near Minsk, Russia, on a charge of illegal entry.

Benton Funeral To Be Held At M. E. Church

Funeral services for Joe F. Benton, 42, who died suddenly at his farm five miles southeast of Pampa Friday morning, will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the First Methodist church with the Rev. C. E. Lancaster, pastor of the First Baptist church, and the Rev. H. D. Tucker, assistant pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating. Burial will follow in Fairview cemetery in charge of the G. C. Malone Funeral home.

Mr. Benton had been a resident of this section of the Panhandle for the past 30 years. He served his country during the World War, being with Company C, headquarters company of the 45th infantry.

In recent years, Mr. Benton turned to the breeding of thoroughbred racing Greyhounds. Dogs raised and trained by Mr. Benton have won tropheys from Florida to California and from Chicago to Mexico City. Only a short time ago, One of Mr. Benton's dogs brought him the coveted trophy emblematic of the best blood in Mexico City.

Surviving Mr. Benton are his wife, his mother, Mrs. J. T. Benton, four sisters, Mrs. J. M. Saunders, Mrs. Tom Darby and Mrs. Tom Eller all of Pampa, Mrs. Grant Ledbetter of Clovis, N. M., and three brothers, Will Benton and Bert Benton of Pampa, and George Benton of Colorado Springs.

Pallbearers named are Walter Jones, Leo Paris, Melvin Wright, Dave Turcott, Guy Parrington, Newton White.

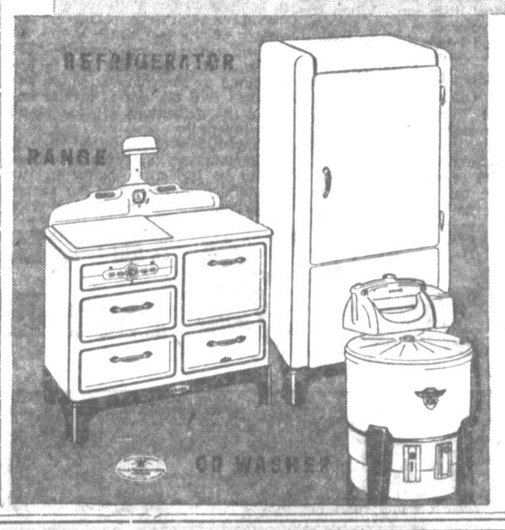

Flowers will be in charge of Mrs. Felix J. Stalls, Mrs. Sherman White, Mrs. Ewing Williams.

Joe Young left yesterday for McAllister, Okla., where he will visit for a week.

5 LOCATIONS AND 3 COMPLETIONS REPORTED IN PANHANDLE

FIVE STARTS ARE MADE IN GRAY COUNTY

DRILLING IN WHEELER ON QUIET EXCEPT AT SHAMROCK

BY GEORGE L. GUTHRIE.
Consulting Geologist, Combs-Worley Bldg.

New wells were few in the Panhandle this week with only five new locations filed; however, there are several wells nearing the pay.

There were five new locations in Gray county this wek and one made in Wheeler county. Carson and Hutchinson counties failed to report, however, there were several known to have been made there.

Three completions added 1,011 barrels daily to the field potential. There are several tests near completion including the Danciger Oil & Refining company big well on the Wright lease near LeFors. The Continental Oil company also has a well drilling an offset which is looking like it will hit over the 1,000 barrel mark for the 5-day average.

Drilling in Wheeler county has quieted down with the exception of the Shamrock area which is still holding interest with the erection of two skimming plants. This area has been wanting to get an outlet for the oil ever since it was discovered several years ago.

The Gulf No. 51 Dial in section 90, block 2, GC&SF survey, averaged 108 barrels a day after a shot of 350 quarts from 2,945 to 3,055, the total depth.

Haze and McGill No. 3 Cooper in section 4, block 9, I&GN survey in Carson county, averaged 495 barrels daily on test with the pay shot from 2,966 feet to the bottom of the hole at 3,051 feet.

The Empire Oil & Gas company No. 6 Collier in section 164, block 3, I&GN survey, averaged 408 barrels adily on a 5-day railroad commission test.

Recent Completions.
Gray County.

The Empire Oil & Gas company No. 4 Bender averaged 391 barrels daily on test.

The Dixon Creek Oil & Refining company No. 5 Thompson averaged 425 barrels daily on test.

The Danciger Oil & Refining company No. 5 Wright averaged 2,977 barrels daily on a 5-day test flowing.

P. L. Hoffman No. 7 Finley averaged 345 barels daily for the five days.

The Texas company No. 25 Saunders averaged 204 barrels daily on commission test.

Hutchinson County.

The International Petroleum company completed two wells on its Lewis-Badger lease in section 5, block M-23, TCRR survey. No. 9 averaged 299 barrels daily after a shot of 400 quarts from 2,908 to the total depth, 3,008 feet. Its No. 10 on the same lease was shot with 390 quarts from 2,980 to 3,046 feet the bottom of the hole and averaged 466 barrels daily for the test period.

Wheeler County.

The Champlin Refining company had two wells tested in the hot spot. Its No. 5 Edes averaged 315 barrels daily, and its No. 9 Williams averaged 672 barrels.

The Helena Oil & Gas company No. 4 Keller averaged 1,679 barrels daily for a 5-day test.

The Skelly Oil company No. 4 Johnson averaged 3,698 barrels flowing from the granite wash.

Liquor Charges Filed Against 2 McLean Men

Bond in the amount of $1,250 each was made by Bill Stanley and Luke Henley, both of McLean, yesterday, after they had been arraigned before Justice of the Peace E. F. Young on a charge of possession of spirituous liquor.

The two men were arrested Thursday evening when Sheriff Earl Talley and officers raided a place near McLean. The officers uncovered a "stash" containing three 10-gallon kegs of liquor. The hideout was located in a large patch of cockle burs, officers said.

When en route back to Pampa, the officers arrested a man in LeFors. He had five pints of liquor in his possession. He will be charged, Sheriff Talley said.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, July 20. (AP)—Although shares chugged uphill a little in moderate trading on the New York Stock Exchange today, they did not recover Friday's decline in full.

Analysts said the demand for equities represented, in part, idle funds attracted to the market by the lower prices struck in the preceding session.

In most circles it was reported the bulk of the buying came from investors rather than from speculative quarters.

By some it was thought that the purchase of equities had been inspired by the more than seasonal production of automobiles for the week ended today. Cram's estimated output at 83,255 units compared with 83,450 in the preceding week and 65,829 in the corresponding week a year ago.

Increased output of small cigarettes was seen in some brokerage houses as a trade weather vane. The bureau of internal revenue reported June production at 12,119,688,167, an upturn of 74,625,344 over the total for that month last year.

In addition, those who lean to a bullish interpretation of the market took heart from Wall Street estimates that sales of department stores in New York and other cities had expanded more than expected in the first half of the month.

In spite of the various bright spots on the market horizon, Wall Street commentators called attention to the restraining influence of world currency troubles, trade barriers and unemployment. Some second quarter earnings reports also were not pleasing.

In terms of the Associated Press average of 60 stocks, the market moved ahead .1 of a point to 45.6. Trading was a little less active than Friday at 429,500 shares.

Although a number of specialty preferred stocks picked up 1 to 2 or more points, most of the market's industrial pace-setters contended themselves with gains of fractions.

In bond market most obligations marked time.

KANSAS CITY LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, July 20. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Receipts of 166,000 cattle at 11 midwestern markets compared with 179,496 actually yarded last week and 262,912 the corresponding period a year ago. Reached declines and dressed receipts were reelected in an extremely dull trade in slaughter steers and yearlings at all points. Better grade fed kinds in comparatively light supply ruled steady to 25 off while the bulk cashed at 25-50 lower levels. Fed heifers and mixed yearlings and cutter grades of cows show no material loss, while grass fat cows and lower grade heifers closed the week 25-75 lower. Low cutters and cutters proved readily all week at fully steady prices. Stockers held steady but some weakness appeared on feeding steers in sympathy with the break in killers At Chicago choice weighty beeves reached 12.00 on several occasions and light steers 11.60. At Kansas City common medium grassers ranged from 5.25-7.50 while Texas and California fed steers realized 8.25-9.50. Stockers and feeders at the same market brought from 5.50-7.50.

Fat lambs cleared unevenly from 25-60 lower, more desirable grade off least, while quotations on yearlings are steady to 25 below last week's late sales. Aged sheep went unchanged. At Chicago top natives scored 8.60 while westerns bulked at 8.00-40 and yearlings 8.85-6.75; at Kansas City Texas yearlings sold in a spread of 9.35-60. Choice range feeding lambs at Omaha turned from 6.25-7.00.

The hog run numbered 160,000 against 450,702 the same week a year ago. The daily advances in hog prices resulted in a total gain of 30-65. Most all principal markets established new high marks since 1930. A top of 10.65 was recorded at Chicago on sorted 200 lb averages.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, July 20. (AP)—The cotton market had another adverse ruling on the government's control program to absorb this morning and in the two hours of trading prices slipped off from 7 to 18 points.

General uncertainty over the ultimate future of the federal cotton control program combined with more favorable weather in the belt proved too much for the market to withstand and price recessions were general.

Even the July position that has been controlled almost exclusively by government operations lost 17 points at the opening, with other months off around 50 cents a bale. Lower cables from abroad and reports that Liverpool traders were worried over a possible slump in the autumn augmented the decline.

In the final minutes of trading July recovered most of its loss to finish at 11.90, but other months extended their early declines and Oct finished at 11.43, Dec. at 11.47 and Jan. at 11.25. The narrowing of differences between the July position and the spot market continued today and at the finish with middling, New Orleans at 11.93, there was only a 3-point spread in the two quotations. At one time they were approximately 45 points apart.

Early weakness in July was considered surprising as the government has frequently announced its intention of calling for the actual cotton if prices got too far out of line. The subsequent recovery in this month was largely the result of traders not wishing to be short this position over the week-end.

While the first test of the AAA will not come up in the United States Supreme Court until October and the government has implied its loan announcement may appear in August, some pointed out that the present crop of adverse rulings could have little effect on the future loan policy of the government. But as court after court decides against various phases of the program traders are becoming wary about any long commitments at this time.

CHICAGOG GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 20 (AP)—Suggestions that black rust is now threatening 50 percent damage to spring wheat in the Dakotas and Minnesota gave wheat values notable strength today.

Black rust advices from the northwest were the most alarming yet this season, but scarcity of sellers rather than unusual increase of speculative demand characterized the Chicago wheat market.

Wheat closed firm at about the day's top level, 1 1-8 to 1 1-2 cents a bushel higher than yesterday's finish, Sept. 85 3-4 to 7-8, corn unchanged to 3-8 up, Sept. 75 5-8 to 314, oats also unchanged to 3-8 up, and provisions unchanged to 5 cents down.

After a brief transient price setback that was associated with hedging sales against newly harvested winter wheat, the Chicago wheat market began to climb as reports of adverse conditions both in the American and Canadian spring wheat belt were received.

A rise of about 2 cents from the day's bottom prices for wheat was witnessed. Contributing to this were strong cables from Liverpool and Buenos Aires, together with resting orders to buy on declines. Argentine wheat quotations were advanced.

Corn, oats and rye borrowed firmness from wheat.

Provisions were steadied by scantiness of lard production.

Kingsmill Man Is Denied Bond

Bond was denied August Doble of Kingsmill when he was arraigned in justice court yesterday morning on a statutory charge. Doble waived preliminary hearing and will be held for action of the grand jury, which will convene on July 29, unless sooner called by Judge W. R. Ewing.

Doble was arrested Friday by officers of the sheriff's department upon complaint of the parents of a 14-year-old Kingsmill girl. The arrested man made a statement to County Attorney Sherman White.

MODERN WEAPONS CAN'T ASSURE BREVITY OF ITALO-ETHIOPIAN WAR

(Ethiopia's vast expanses would offer trouble for any invading forces—even Italy's modernized legions. This story from London, second of a series, surveys the "natural defenses" of Haile Selassie's empire.—Editor.)

LONDON, July 20. (AP)—Italian troops, massing by tens of thousands on the Eritrea and Italian Somaliland borders, leave little room for doubt as to Mussolini's intentions in Ethiopia once the long rainy season ends.

But, even in this age of 150 M. P. H. bombing planes, tanks, and motorized cavalry, it is doubtful that any conquest of Ethiopia could be carried out in one swift, smashing offensive. It might be as extended, gruelling and costly a campaign as the Boer war, when Dutch settlers in the South African Transvaal, with a field force of only 40,000, defied the military might of Great Britain for three bloody years, 1899-1902.

The climate, terrain, and warfare methods which harassed the British in South Africa 30 years ago would confront Mussolini's legions in East Africa. The Boers had only 40,000 troops, but it is said Emperor Haile Selassie could mobilize 1,000,000 men. Perhaps a better figure would be about 600,000 full strength and 400,000 in the field at one time. But even the lowest conservative estimates indicate Haile Selassie's warriors would outnumber Mussolini's.

Italy Has 250,000 Ready.

Italy, according to reports reaching here, has about 250,000 men already on the scene, in Eritrea and Somaliland, or ready to leave for East Africa.

But their path is beset by tremendous obstacles.

Abyssinia, though small in population (estimated 7,000,000 to 11,000,000), is a big territory—as big as California, Kansas, Illinois, and New York state combined—bordered by flaming lowland deserts and buttressed by gaunt, precipitous mountains. Above the arid plains rises the central plateau—a rich pastoral country known as the "roof garden of East Africa." There lies the capital, Addis Ababa.

Only 60,000 Live In Capital.

Italian bombers could swoop down and blow the capital off the map; but the bombing of Addis Ababa—with its population of 60,000—would fall far short of a death blow. There would remain the myriad scattered towns and tribal camps.

By land, from Mogadiscio (the major port in Italian Somaliland) troops would have to march more than 700 miles to reach Addis Ababa. They would have to trek across 250 miles of desert, beset by malarial heat, before they reached the mountains—and there, hidden in the gorges and perched on lofty crags, snipers might be waiting.

From Eritrea, whence Musolini obviously plans his main thrust, the prospects of an invading force are somewhat better. But again the route is dangerous and long.

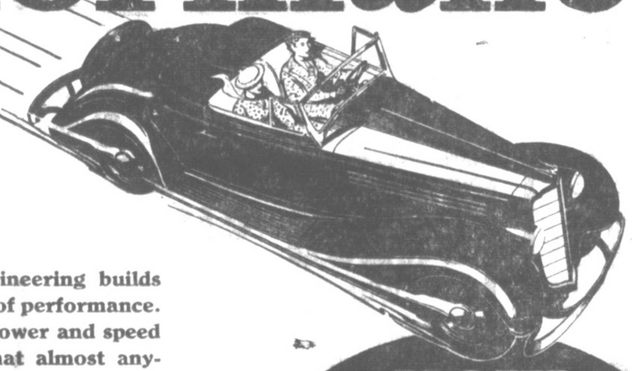

Even now the Italians are encountering difficulties in the colonies. Dispatches from Cairo state they are being compelled to send ships from Massaua to Port Sudan, 350 miles distant, to buy water.

Closely linked in the industrial picture were automobile and steel production rates.

The auto manufacturers themselves sustained production rates surprisingly last week with an output of 83,255 units, as estimated by Cram's compared with 83,450 for the previous week.

HARRY COOPER LEADING RAY MANGRUM IN GOLF TOURNEY

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 20 (AP)—Out of a massed attack that made par look ridiculous, "Lighthorse" Harry Cooper of Chicago made one of his most famous rides at Keller today to finish one stroke ahead of Ray Mangrum of Los Angeles at the half way post of the $50,00 St. Paul open golf championship.

As Mangrum left the par shelled lot with his successive rounds of 67-69—136, a prohibitive mark to shoot at, the slight little shotmaker from Chicago, who trailed him by one blow yesterday, drove in with a finishing 67 for a record breaking 36 hole total of 235 strokes to lead Mangrum and a field that has shattered par 27 times since the firing began.

So low was the scoring over the 6,686 yard rolling championship layout, 153, or only nine over par, was necessary to qualify for the final 36 holes tomorrow. All records for low scoring in the big St. Paul show also were broken, leaving the mere par shooters tied for 16th place. The scoring orgy also threatened to smash the tournament record of 278 set in 1931 by Horton Smith of Chicago, whose 139 total, five under par, was good for only fifth place today. Ahead of Smith, pressing Cooper and Mangrum, were Bill Kaiser of Louisville, and Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., leading money winner of the year, who scored a 68 today with 138's.

Par was broken 14 times today and 13 times yesterday, Cooper and Butch Krueger, the national open pace setter and baseball pitcher from Beloit, Wis., furnishing the big punch with 67's. Picard and Horton Smith got 68's while Mangrum bagged a 69 on his second successful par hunt.

Holbrook Indignant

GALVESTON, July 20. (AP) — State Senator T. J. Holbrook, a leader in the egislative fight for the $3,000,000 state Centennial appropriation, tonight expressed sharp indignation at the action of the Centennial control commission in allocating $250,000 to Fort Worth for a livestock exposition.

In a letter to L. W. Kemp congratulating him for resigning from the Centennial historical board in protest against the Fort Worth grant, Senator Holbrook expressed the belief that politics influenced the commission's generosity toward the North Texas city.

Dobie May Resign, Too

DALLAS, July 20 (AP)—J Frank Dobie, University of Texas professor and member of the historical advisory board of the Texas Centennial commission, intimated today that he might resign from the board because of allotment to Fort Worth of $250,000 for a Centennial Livestock exhibit.

He said the commisison had overridden its own advisory board and he was concerned over what the commission might do with other recommendations the advisory board might make.

"I have not resigned yet and shall make no move until I have talked with Lou Kemp, chairman of the historical advisory board," said Dobie. "However, I will say that Walter Woodul, chairman of the Centennial commission, knew that Kemp and I would both resign if a sum approximating half of what we were to advise on should be flatly given to Fort Worth.

"If the ends on which the historical advisory board is supposed to advise are to be used in settling political trades and furthering the ambitions of politicians, then I do not see what good any self-respecting man could do by longer serving on that board."

Dobie returned to Austin tonight.

working with Wheeler county and Oklahoma to complete the highway straight east from Wheeler to Sayre. Five miles of Wheeler has been paved, and right-of-way has been obtained by Wheeler county and efforts are being made at this time to get some action on the remainder of the road.

We understand that Highway No. 83 south will be continued under the present plan, and the state will top all of this as rapidly as the caliche is finished.

Under the new allocation of funds there is practically no chance to get anything done on the road north across the Canadian river at this time. The Highway commission has expressed its interest in this road, but is determined to fill the gaps in the main highways before undertaking new construction.

This report along with the financial report of the B. C. D. fund and special-fund was made to the board of directors last night, and the reports are on file in the B. C. D. office, where those interested may read them by calling at the office.

CONVICTED

California coast, was immediately hustled out of the courtroom and taken to the state penitentiary at Huntsville by Sheriff Carl Smith and deputies.

Under heavy guard, May was taken to the Tarrant county jail this morning on his arrival from El Paso with Sheriff Smith. Smith went to the West Texas city to meet two federal agents who had made the trip with May from the lonely federal island prison where dangerous criminals are confined.

The prisoner was taken off a train at Benbrook, 10 miles west of here, and brought into the city by automobile.

The slaying of Sturdivant, Abilene resident, and Harry Rutherford and Jack Rutherford of Dallas, was believed to have resulted from a dispute over division of the $82,000 loot taken in a Texas and Pacific mail robbery here a few years ago.

Bound with wire, the bodies of the victims were found in the river.

May was given the death sentence for the murder, and a 27-year term in the robbery.

O. D. Stevens, reputed "brains" of the gang of which May was a member, was given the death sentence for the slaying of Harry Rutherford. The case is on appeal.

M. T. Howard, another alleged gang member, was not tried for the slayings, but was given a 27-year sentence in the robbery.

May had been held at Alcatraz in connection with the federal prison term for the robbery.

$250 Offered For Centennial Play

DALLAS, July 20. (AP)—The Dallas Woman's club announced today it is offering a $250 prize, as a feature of the Texas Centennial celebration, for the best original unproduced and unpublished one-act play written by a resident of Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma or New Mexico.

The club will produce the play, under the direction of Charles Meredith of the Dallas Little Theater, in celebration of Texas independence day.

The contest purpose is to stimulate creative dramatic writing among Texans and residents of the southwest.

Authors may choose any subject, but a play related to the southwest in theme and background will receive preference where two works otherwise have seeming equal merits.

Improvement of the grounds would be financed by work relief funds which allocates $600 for each person per year on the relief roll; $288 of that amount goes for labor and the rest for materials.,

The committee hopes to acquire the land and make preparations to start improving the grounds and the proposed parks within a week. The first park would be built in South Pampa. Purchase of the exposition grounds would be financed by raising the present B. C. D. levy which is seven cents on the $100 valuation. The maximum is 20 cents. Under present plans, the Centennial and other celebrations would be staged by committees appointed by a board of directors of a non-profit corporation. Pampa Girls Beat Skellytown 38-29

Playing nine against 10, the Pampa girl's playground ball team defeated the Skellytown girls 38 to 29 yesterday afternoon in Skellytown. The local team went into the game minus one short stop, and after only two practice sessions.

Doris Gee and S. Weatherford each scored six runs for the Pampa girls. Weatherford and M. Martin each hit home two runs during the melee. Weatherford pitched the game with Gee behind the bat.

Jacobs was the ace of the Skellytown team, scoring five runs in as many times at bat. Bughle hit Skellytown's only home run of the game. Boots pitched the game with Lilly receiving.

The Pampa girls will practice at 4 o'clock every afternoon on Magnolia diamond. More players are needed.

The Pampa team was composed of Gee, Weatherford, Martin, Heiskell, Nash, Townsend, Sommerville, Luttrell.

AVIATION AND ROMANCE ARE MIXED IN COMING SERIAL

Many planes have been lost in futile attempts to span the oceans, but no tragedy of the air has had a stranger sequel than that in "Ready Made Wife," Pampa Daily NEWS' new serial starting tomorrow.

Coralie Stanton tells the story with an appreciation of dramatic values which sustains throughout the story the interest aroused at its start, when Laurie Moore is introduced as the attractive young widow of Rex Moore, never heard from since his take-off on a Pacific adventure.

His name is barely out of the headlines when Laurie Moore arrives from Australia and soon is in the employ of Mark Albery, whose plane factory had backed Rex Moore's flight. Albery and her fellow employes pay Laurie the respect they feel due the widow of the renowned flier, still honored at the factory for his technical ability and his daring as an aviator. Yet to Albery there is something strange about this young woman who withdraws into a silence and a reserve whenever, blunderingly or with a confused attempt at tact, he refers to Rex Moore and Laurie's widowhood.

Albery's interest in Laurie rests not only on his appreciation of her business ability, but also on a regard more personal. While he musters his courage, hoping to tell Laurie of this feeling, a fateful coincidence brings her into a chance meeting with a stranger who tells her something about Rex Moore that fills her with despair. The discovery complicates all of her relationships, present and prospective, and until her problem at last disappears in a happy solution her life is under a cloud.

This, briefly, is the story of "Ready Made Wife." Readers who start with the first chapter Monday in the Pampa Daily NEWS will find it throughout an exciting combination of romance and adventure.

BREAKFAST ANNOUNCES ENGAGEMENT OF PROMINENT COUPLE

HOUSE GUESTS ARE HONORED BY HOSTESSES

MRS. ATCHISON GIVES PARTY FOR MRS. MARTIN

Complimenting her house guest, Mrs. Fred Martin of Dallas, Mrs. L. N. Atchison entertained with bridge at her home Friday afternoon.

Green and white were the cool colors used to appoint three tables for the games. They were repeated in the refreshment course and in dainty bouquets given as plate favors.

Guests were Mmes. Martin, Raymond Eversole of Grandfield, Okla., Carlton Nance, Bert Whaley, J. M. Hatfield, O. K. Gaylor, F. H. Sitton, J. M. Fitzgerald, Farris Oden, Fred Cullum, J. L. Nance, and Miss Louise Whitfield.

Miss Whitfield made high score, and Mrs. Eversole low. A guest favor went to Mrs. Martin, and traveling prize to Mrs. Whaley.

MRS. CULWELL IS ASSISTED BY GUEST.

Mrs. Dallas Culwell was assisted by her house guest, Mrs. Claude Pincher of Canadian, in entertaining Eight Hearts Contract club at her home Wednesday evening.

A black and gold color motif marked the two tables arranged for games in which Mrs. Raburn Burke scored high, Mrs. George Sharum second high, Mrs. O. M. Prigmore low, and Mrs. Ruey Morgan received the traveling prize for game in clubs.

Mrs. Jake Bass was a club guest. Other members playing were Mrs. Fred Bozeman and Mrs. Frank Roach. They were served a dainty refreshment course after the games.

Outlines Drafted Of Grade School P-TA Programs

By MRS. J. M. CRAIN, Claude, Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers State Publicity Director

Elementary or grade school parent-teacher program outlines for 1935-1936 as prepared by Mrs. W. A. Leeper, Dallas, state chairman of program service for the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, are ready for the membership of this organization.

The central theme for the following year is "Home—The Foundation," main topic. "The Parent-Teacher and Home Life," is the initial title for the first program of the school year beginning in September. Outstanding features for discussion are the aims and purposes of the organization, and enrichment of home life through the parent-teacher movement.

"Home—The Foundation for Spiritual Growth," is the suggested subject for the October meeting. The salient point for the membership to discuss is how parents and teachers may cooperate in the spiritual training of the child.

Effect of Environment

"Home Environment and Its Effect Upon the Child's Education," is the distinctive heading for the November program which should have for its leader either a parent or a teacher.

The caption for the December assemblage is "Sharing—Not Simply Providing a Home." Sub-topics to introduce are the importance of making the home attractive for all the family, permitting the child at his own volition and initiative to invite his friends into his home and to make suggestions pertaining to the improvement of the home.

An appropriate theme for the January gathering is, "Teamwork Between Home and School." Parents and teachers should all freely participate in the presentation of such sub-divisions of this program as the support of the school, the importance of the first impressions made upon the child in home and school, and helping the child to form the right attitude toward the school.

Discipline Problems

"Home Discipline and Its Effect Upon the Conduct of the Child in School," is the February subject. Why is discipline necessary and how may it best be obtained are the suggested divisions for participation with a parent and a teacher for leaders.

An outstanding title for the March program is "How the Home May Cooperate With the School in Its Program for Leisure." Utilizing the school plant as a recreation center, the elementary school clubs, coordination of constructive and entertaining recreation emphasizing the importance of both are timely suggestions for consideration at the general discussion.

"The Responsibility of the Home in Teaching Citizenship," is the unique topic for the April meeting with a teacher for the leader. A demonstration school introducing the various methods of teaching citizenship in the different grades would be quite instructive and interesting.

Special Programs

"Cooperation of Home and School for Better Health," properly climaxes the year's work for the May program. The discussion should be led by the school nurse or physician stressing the things that parents should know concerning the health of the children and the school facilities for promoting child health.

Mrs. Leeper reminds program committees to make provision in the arrangement of programs for special days and observances; to invite chairmen of committees to assist in presenting the programs; to have informal discussions of each topic by the membership; to read monthly, at least, excerpts of the state, national, and district presidents' messages; to have assembly singing; to present a demonstration of school work, where feasible, as this affords an opportunity for the parents to become familiar with the school program.

Blue and Gray

A soft gray lainage coat worn over a navy blue taffeta frock embroidered with red and white diamond pattern completes this Lucien Lelong street ensemble. Maria Guy designed the smart blue taffeta hat.

Western Pioneer Life Is Subject For Skelly Club

SKELLYTOWN, July 20—Ranches, cattle trails and brands, and the early Panhandle settlers were interesting topics of a program for Eleanor Roosevelt Study club, meeting Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Haslam.

Mrs. J. C. Sims was leader of the program on Pioneering in the West. Well known cattle brands were described by members in answer to roll call.

Mrs. Lee's topic was The Father of the Panhandle, and she read a paper on the life of Col. Charles Goodnight. Mrs. Sorenson spoke of early ranches in this vicinity. Mrs. Hutto discussed two famous trails, the old Santa Fe trail, and the Montana trail.

Pioneer Women, was the subject presented by Mrs. Sims. Mrs. Stanley read and discussed two poems by S. Omar Baker.

A guest, Mrs. Clegg of Oklahoma City, was present with Mmes. New, Sherrieb, Hailey, Miss Yarnell, and the members on program. The hostess served refreshments to close the meeting.

Delegates Ready To Start Short Course Trip Soon

Mrs. Robert Brown of Hopkins Home Demonstration club has been named to replace Mrs. C. P. Couts as delegates to the state short course at A. & M. college next week, since Mrs. Couts will be unable to make the trip.

Gray county women are to leave next Saturday for College Station. They will stop at Denton, visit in the home of Miss Ruby M. Adams, county home demonstration agent here, and inspect the two state college plants there. Miss Adams, accompanied by the two club girls going from this county, will leave Friday.

VISITORS WILL TEACH IN WMU MISSION STUDY

ALL-DAY CLASSES TO BE CONDUCTED IN AMARILLO

A mission study institute for women of the Palo Duro Baptist association will be conducted at First Baptist church of Amarillo tomorrow, beginning at 10 o'clock. Many women and young people are expected to attend from First Baptist church here.

Mrs. J. E. Leigh of Dallas, state secretary of the Women's Missionary union; Mrs. Chapman, a returned missionary from Japan; and Mrs. D. A. Grundy of Memphis, district W. M. U. secretary, are to be the visiting teachers.

All classes will deal with missions in Japan. Classes are to be conducted for young people's organizations of all ages, as well as for women. Pastors of the area are also invited.

Mrs. Leigh will teach a book especially for Young Women's Auxiliaries, and will lead the closing round-table discussion on methods.

A covered dish luncheon will be served at noon, and classes will continue all day. Mrs. F. E. Leech, associational president, will lead the group going from Pampa.

Rug Is Made at Little Expense

"For 25 cents I have a beautiful hooked rug," said Mrs. Albert Lockhart of Priscilla Home Demonstration club. Twenty cents was spent for a pattern and five cents for yarn.

Mrs. Lockhart used bits of wool, silk, and cotton material found in her home, and her husband made her a hook of bois d'arc wood.

Church to Hear Music and Drama

The Little Symphony orchestra, consisting of about 20 people will play tonight at the services of First Methodist church on the church lawn. Mrs. May F. Carr is director.

Congregational singing will be lead by W. V. Jarratt and a play given as one of the features of the special service. H. D. Tucker will deliver the message from the subject, "Can a Slow Church Save a Fast World?"

Ruling Queen to Rule Again

Still devoted to the screen and her fans, the queenly Mary Pickford still has her eyes again on the film firmament where she once ruled supreme. A ten-year contract calls for 6 pictures a year from her, and she intends to star in some of them. From this latest picture of "America's Sweetheart," you can see that she still has the youth and charm and beauty that endeared her to movie fans in former years.

SHOWER FOR BRIDE-ELECT AT BORGER IS ONE OF MANY IN NEARBY CITIES DURING WEEK

BUILDING REPORTS

DALLAS, July 20. (AP)—Tyler led Texas cities during the last week in building permits issued, totaling $232,871.30 with one permit of $203,539.50 for a municipal hospital. Houston and Dallas ran a close race for second place, with Houston on top with its total of $123,215. Dallas saw its total soar when actual construction work on the Texas Centennial celebration buildings started.

Tyler	$232,871	$ 899,717
Houston	123,315	3,255,966
Dallas	122,653	1,915,551

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

Are you, too, having trouble getting the family to eat its usual hearty quantities these scorching days? Then you probably aren't providing a zestful prelude that arouses latent hunger.

I mean, of course, a savory chilled cocktail, soup or appetizer. Or perhaps you are not making due allowance for the fact that cold dulls the flavor of foods and aren't seasoning those first courses sufficiently.

If it's possible, serve a cold concoction in a well of ice. Otherwise keep the food on ice until ready to serve and always chill the service container before filling it.

Don't overlook the tasty possibilities of jellied consommes. Highly seasoned, they stimulate the appetite much as hot soup does.

Jellied tomato bouillon is tartly piquant. It should not be stiff enough to hold its shape.

Crisp wafers are a good accompaniment for any jellied soup. And radishes and celery can be served with anything but a mixed vegetable soup.

Canned soups, bouillon cubes or freshly made stock are suitable for jellied soups. Instead of long cooking and fussing over meat bones trying to extract the gelatin to make the soup thicken, use gelatin with canned soup or bouillon cubes. Extra salt and pepper are needed for iced bouillon.

In making a fruit cocktail, be sure to cut fruit neatly in small pieces. Crushed or broken fruit is much less inviting. Do not cover melon with crushed ice. This dulls the flavor and is not effectual for chilling.

The flavor of tomato and fruit juice cocktail is so elusive that everyone who drinks it for the first time wonders what the mixture is.

Tomato and Fruit Juice Cocktail

One quart tomato juice, juice of 2 lemons, ½ cup pineapple juice, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons powdered sugar.

Add to cracked ice in a cocktail shaker and shake well. Serve with a sprig of watercress in each glass.

Of course when you serve a tomato juice cocktail tomatoes shouldn't appear any place else on the menu. If you serve a jellied soup, then a jellied salad or dessert is out. However, at this season of the year fruits and vegetables are so abundant that it's easy to provide a pleasant variety.

Monday's Menu

BREAKFAST: Baked apples, cereal, cream, minced ham on toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Iced bouillon, salted crackers, marconi baked with cheese, rye bread, blackberry cream puffs, milk, tea.

DINNER: Tomato and fruit juice cocktail, breaded veal steak, diced potatoes in cream, ring mold of beet greens filled with buttered beets, melon sherbet, milk, coffee.

Plans to establish a factory to make a leather substitute from seaweed are being considered by experts in Wellingborough, England.

PICNIC SUPPER IS SERVED FOR COUPLES CLASS

Camp Fire Meal Is Prepared by Guests

Fried chicken cooked over a camp fire was served with picnic accompaniments to members of the young couples' class of First Presbyterian church Friday evening, when they went to a grove near LeFors.

After supper, games completed the informal evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton F. Smith of Amarillo, former members of the class, were guests. Members present were Messrs. and Mmes. Allen Hodges, Chester, Tom Aldridge, Ted White, Harvey Todd, Joe Green, Hubbs, E. C. Sidwell, Walter Stein, and L. Burney Shell.

Children present were Bobby Aldridge, Mary Jo White, Joe Tom Green, Gene Sidwell, Sara, Martha, and Frances Jane Shell.

Priscilla Club's Summer Socials Planned Friday

For a protective diet it is a good scheme to allow half a cupful of each class of foodstuff to a serving, Priscilla Home Demonstration club members were told Friday by Miss Ruby M. Adams, county agent.

They met at the home of Mrs. Ira Spearman. A recreation party was planned for Aug. 2 at the home of Miss Donnie Lee Stroop, and the annual club picnic at Gething ranch July 21.

Mrs. Elva S. Hart and Mrs. Rosa Hollenbeck, both of Pasadena, Calif., were club guests. Others present were Mmes. J. M. Daugherty, J. Herman Jones, Frank McAfee, Clyde Carruth, E. A. Shackleton, C. A. Tignor, Norman Walberg, R. A. Walberg, Joe H. Lewis, J. H. Lawler, Roy Tinsley, J. F. Kelly, R. E. Kennedy, Kennedy Sr., Otto Patton, Spearman; Misses Stroope and Adams.

Palo Duro Art Colony To Hold School Aug. 5

CANYON, July 20.—The Palo Duro Art Colony will hold its second annual out-of-doors school at Ceta canyon 20 miles southeast of this city from August 5 to 17.

Mrs. W. A. Palmer, formerly of Amarillo and now of Dallas, and Adele Laure Brunet also of Dallas will be instructors. Both of them are members of the Texas Fine Arts association and both have exhibited in New York.

Working in the camp in the midst of the inspiring landscapes and riotous color of Palo Duro canyon the colony members will devote themselves to landscapes, drawings, paintings, portrait and mural paintings and various media while beginners will have lessons in perspective, color, and composition.

Centennial Is Advertised By History Society

CANYON, July 20.—The Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, of which W. H. Patrick of Clarendon is president, is calling attention to the Texas Centennial on every letter which goes out from its office.

In the center the shadowy Texas Alamo forms a background in front of which appears in outline the Panhandle-Plains Historical society museum building. On each side are seen Indian buffalo hunters, cowboys with prairie schooners of the past; on the other side are representations of the wheat farms, oil wells, and the cattle industry of today. The letter head is given unity by the caption "The Texas Centennial—1836-1936."

Miss Bettie Zellie of Amarillo, an art student of the West Texas State Teachers college, designed the letter head. It will be used during the remainder of 1935 and through 1936.

OCTOBER IS MONTH SET FOR WEDDING OF MISS MARGARET BUCKLER AND RUSSELL ALLEN

Revelation

New and smart are vaporous evening wraps that do not hide a single detail of the dresses over which they are worn. This one, in black tulle, is appliqued with white and green flowers to match the printed motif of the Mainbocher gown.

LOVELY PARTY GIVEN AT THE BUCKLER HOME

The engagement of Miss Margaret Buckler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Buckler, and Russel G. Allen was announced Friday morning at a breakfast given in the Buckler home.

Places were laid at quartet tables, each centered with a white basket of pink and blue cornflowers. Among the flowers were the initials, "M" and "R", made of white cardboard mounted on stems. A wedding ring was suspended by pink ribbon from the handle of each basket.

On the buffet a pink and blue floral piece announced October as the wedding month. The date has not been set definitely. Pink roses, peonies, and carnations, and blue larkspur formed bouquets about the rooms.

Miss Buckler and Mr. Allen are both prominent young residents of Pampa, she a member of a pioneer West Texas family, he the superintendent of the Cabot companies in this area and active participant in civic work.

Guests for the announcement breakfast included several out-of-town visitors, Mrs. Fred Zimmerman and Miss Helen Ramming of Floydada, Miss Carla Worsham of Henrietta, and Mrs. Fred Hobart of Canadian.

Others present were Misses Margaret and Marjorie Buckler, Frances Finley, and Virginia Faulkner; Mmes. Don Conley, Arthur Swanson, Frank Perry, Otto Studer, L. R. Miller, B. C. Low, John Sturgeon, T. R. Martin, P. O. Sanders, M. C. Overton, John Studer, A. B. Goldston, Edward Damon, Willard Webb, Walter Biery, E. L. Turner, Lynn Boyd, Clyde Fatheree, Siler Faulkner, W. J. Smith, Clarence Barrett, and C. P. Buckler.

First Dormitory Is Being Erected On Canyon Campus

CANYON, July 20.—The first dormitory for men ever to be erected on a teachers college campus in Texas is now under construction at the West Texas State Teachers college and will be ready to occupy early this fall.

This is PWA project number 8471 and will cost $47,000.

The new dormitory is to be known as Stafford hall. It is named for a member of the first faculty of the local college, B. A. Stafford, who was head of the Latin department for many years.

George A. Endress, who is PWA engineer examiner of the dormitory, was the architect who planned the administration building built on the same campus in 1916.

News Of Interest From Nearby Towns

MIAMI, July 20.—The wheat harvest is nearly a complete failure here.

Leon M. Kinney, Roberts county relief administrator, and L. G. Christopher, chairman of the county relief board, have recently submitted a subsistence rural rehabilitation project to Congressman Marvin Jones and Lawrence Westbrook, assistant federal emergency relief administrator, at Washington.

McLEAN, July 20.—All marble machines have been outlawed in Wheeler county upon orders of the district and county attorneys, acting upon a ruling of the state attorney general.

WHEELER, July 20.—Whether it be due to efforts of Van Stewart, militant Perryton editor, and those who rallied to his support recently when it appeared the "upper" Panhandle would be completely left out of the road picture, or whether the project Stewart presented would have been included anyway, is a question for others to decide. At any rate, state highway No. 4 has received some consideration at the hands of the state highway commission. This road has been placed on the preferred list.

Some years ago "Cap" Clay purchased from A. B. Crump, supervisor, a lot in the Wheeler cemetery. Time passed without identification of the property's location. This week, Clay decided to install curbing and improve the lot. Hunting up Crump, he wanted to know where his lot was located. Then it was found that the lot had been inadvertently sold to another and had a grave on it. Clay picked out another one and Crump swapped it to him for the one that was occupied.

According to information received here, orders were issued Saturday by District Attorney Lewis M. Goodrich and County Attorney Clyde C. Fillmore to county officers to seize all marble machines in Wheeler county and arrest those in possession of the gadgets. This action followed a ruling by the attorney general declaring that possession of a marble machine or exhibiting one in a public place was in violation of the law.

Miss Proctor, Mr. Meek Marry

The marriage of Miss Ruth Proctor and Clinton Meek was solemnized Thursday evening by the Rev. C. E. Lancaster, First Baptist minister, at his home.

Both have lived in Pampa several years, and will make their home here. The wedding was witnessed by several relatives and friends.

Falconry was known in China some 2,000 B. C., and in Japan at least as early as 600 B. C.

Second Orchestra Concert To Be Today

PIANO ENSEMBLE AND SOLOISTS ARE TO ASSIST

Combined for an unusual overture arrangement, the Little Symphony Orchestra and Pampa Piano ensemble will play together in one number of a concert which the two organizations will present this afternoon.

It will be the second in a series of summer concerts, free to the public. Everyone is invited to the city hall auditorium at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Mrs. May Foreman Carr, director of both groups, will be in charge.

Soloists will be Mrs. Ethel Powell, soprano; Miss Eloise Lane, pianist; Miss Marjory Ericsson, violinist; and Charles Frazee, trombone soloist. Miss Helen Marie Jones is piano accompanist. A guest player in the orchestra today will be Mr. Croson, solo violinist with the Canyon orchestra.

Members of the piano ensemble to appear will be Mrs. J. F. Curtis, Mrs. Walter F. G. Stein, Mrs. Powell, Mrs. Faulkner, Miss Jones, and Miss Lane.

The program feature will be the Overture to "The Caliph of Bagdad," by Bolideaux, played by the orchestra with piano accompaniment by the ensemble of six. Miss Lane's solo will be Mendelssohn's Concerto in G Minor, with Mrs. Carr at the second piano.

The program outline follows:

Turkish March from Athens, Beethoven; War March of the Priests, Mendelssohn, by the orchestra.

Vocal solos, The Waltz Song, Gounod; To a Wild Rose, MacDowell; Little Star, La Forge, by Mrs. Powell.

Violin solos, Melodie, Gluck—Kreisler; Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen, White, by Miss Marjory Ericsson.

Overture to "The Marriage of Figaro," Mozart, by the piano ensemble.

Trombone solo, Caprise, Pryor, by Charles Frazee with Mrs. Powell as accompanist.

Overture to "The Caliph of Bagdad," Bolideaux, by the orchestra and piano ensemble.

The Wheat Outlook

There is no such thing as national isolation. It is to be doubted that any nation can be prosperous and be isolated. Proper functioning of modern economic systems dictate that there shall be an interchange of credit and goods.

Wheat control in this country helps much. But we are only one of the wheat-growing nations. When Canada the other day shelved the holding policy used for several years and adopted competitive selling in the world market, there was a radical decline in wheat prices. Widespread rust damage repaired part of the collapse.

U. S. government forecasts on 1935 wheat are more optimistic than expected. A crop of 731,000,000 bushels is seen. Last year the total crop was 496,000,000 bushels. Farm stocks as of July 1 were placed at 41,926,000, compared with 60,323,000 bushels a year ago.

Amendment No. 7

The seventh amendment to be submitted to Texas voters August 24 concerns free textbooks.

The Texas constitution now provides that the State is without authority to furnish free text books to other than public schools. Proposed amendment No. 7 on the ballot for the August 24 election would permit the State to supply free textbooks to all schools, private and parochial. Such textbooks, it is presumed, to be the same as used in the public schools.

Advocates of this amendment state that this would entail no additional expense because the State now purchases more books than are necessary. However, this point is merely one of the claims made and has not been substantiated by the Secretary of State. Advocates point out that they pay taxes to support public schools but that if they choose to send their children to private or parochial schools the least the State can do is to supply the textbooks free.

Probably the most important and less publicized provision of this Amendment is the fact that it proposes to rewrite Section 5 of Article 7 of the Constitution so as to permit the apportiontment of school funds on some other basis than scholastic population.

For many years there has been considerable agitation in certain quarters to abolish the "school census" or scholastic population system of apportioning school funds and substitute in lieu thereof the "average attendance" basis or some other basis. The legislature would determine just how this was to be done, if this amendment is adopted.

If adopted this proposed amendment would mean, in effect: (1) that the State would furnish free textbooks to pupils in all the schools of Texas; and (2) that a new basis for apportioning school funds other than the scholastic census basis could be set up.

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—The administration can congratulate itself on the fact that the major "exposures" of its brain trusters have been attempted by such gents as Dr. Wirt and Congressman Ralph Brewster of Maine.

Headlines of "liar" charges may have obscured the thread of evidence in the House investigation of Brewster's charges that Corcoran had threatened to stop the Passamaquoddy project if Brewster voted against the holding company "death sentence."

But from several angles of dramatic human interest this show was strongly reminiscent of the sensation caused when the Gary school teacher used a pricate dinner party to "prove" that brain trusters and their satellites were planning a revolution along Russian lines.

In each case came sensational charges from a man of previously good repute, resulting in an immediate House investigation. In each case the other witnesses, testifying on the sensational statements charged, denied anything of the sort had been said.

* * * *

Principal witness for Corcoran was Dr. Ernest Gruening, chief of the division of territories and insular possessions, who flatly contradicted Brewster's charge.

Gruening was almost in tears. This marked climax in an intimate relationship of eight years, during which Gruening—much of the time as editor of the Portland (Me.) Evening News—had battled admiringly at Brewster's side in the latter's long war against the Insull power interests.

The Gruenings and the Brewsters were dear frinds and Gruening had introduced and endorsed the congressman to Corcoran and many other liberals here.

* * * *

While it is hardly imaginable that Brewster could deliberately misquote Corcoran on such an important statement in face of certain repudiation by Gruening later, the high reputations of both Corcoran and Gruening precluded any thought that the two were lying.

Hence those in the committee room crowd who wanted to be charitable felt that Brewster, his soul in turmoil and his mind upset as both his old friends and his recent associate in legal work on the Quoddy project had him on the spot as to his vote, had misunderstood. That was a pretty hot day.

Corcoran, a 34-year-old Irishman, alternately grimly earnest and merrily smiling, but always eloquent, was questioned as to what business he had working for the bill in Capitol Hill and why he wasn't attending to the RFC job for which he gets paid.

* * * *

He squashed much of the charge of administration lobbying and interference against him by showing that all his operations had been at the behest of Senator Wheeler and Congressman Rayburn, the two committee chairmen handling the bill.

The answer to the other question, as nearly everyone in Washington knew, was that Corcoran handled his RFC work as well as his utility bill efforts by working a seven-day week stretch from 10 a. m. to 1 or 2 a. m. almost daily.

"I have to work all the hours I don't have to sleep," he said.

POLITICS at random

BY BYRON PRICE.

Of all the political snarls which have been born of depression and recovery—and they are many—the present tax tangle in congress probably is the strangest and most puzzling.

Taxation always is a prime political issue. It touches the individual as few other issues do. It constitutes a perennial cause for strife between the parties, whose conflicting viewpoints have been quite dissimilar.

Yet here is a congress which is overwhelmingly democratic, and in which the small republican minority is badly split, fumbling in bewilderment as it tries to translate into law the tax recommendations of a democratic president.

If anyone had predicted such a situation a month ago, he would have been set down as a thoroughly unreliable prohpet. How could it possibly have come about? A review of the facts may answer the question in part.

An interesting sequence of events began with the blow to administration prestige struck by the supreme court in the NRA decision.

Following it, a sense of stalemate, almost of stagnation, settled over Washington. There was talk among administration men of the need for some swift counter-blow to renew the "new deal" psychology of forward motion.

Into that situation fell Mr. Roosevelt's unheralded message asking for higher taxes on wealth. Who advised him to send such a message remains a mystery, but it was not the party leaders in congress, who were preparing to wind up a trying session and had no desire to open so explosive a subject as taxation just on the eve of a general election year.

The feeling on capital hill was that the president simply was talking for the record. No one appears to have suspected at first that he wanted action this session, and his message certainly did not ask for it.

The matter probably would have rested right there but for one thing. That was the political alertness of the left-wingers, who saw an opportunity to put the democrats on the spot.

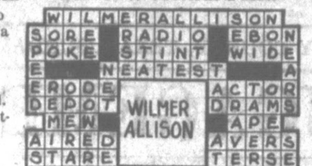

This they proceeded to do by publicly putting up to the White House a proposition like this: If these objection to writing them on the statute books at once?

What could Mr. Roosevelt do? He scarcely could say the social objectives he had in mind were less desirable this year than they would be next year, and he certainly could not say the treasury did not need taxes are a good thing, what is the the money.

What he did was to ask for action this session. At first the administration leaders thought they might avoid further complications by tacking the new levies onto the excise tax resolution, and so dispose of the whole matter quickly. That, however, didn't work at all. The time was far too short. So work began on a new bill.

Dr. Hill Prefers Present Status To Open Saloon

"Although many people violate them, I am not in favor of repealing the Ten Commandments, nor the state prohibition law," Dr. J. A. Hill, president of West Texas State Teachers college, summed up his talk to the First Baptist Brotherhood and guests at a dinner last evening.

He urged that men set a good example for youth, and added that "this country suffers more from the bad influence of good men than the deeds of bad men." Taxes derived from the legalization of liquor sales would not repay the damage caused to young people, Dr. Hill maintained.

Judge W. R. Ewing was also a speaker on the same subject. He said that the Dean law in Texas has not been enforced since national repeal of prohibition, and that more hard liquor is being sold in the state since beer was legalized.

The present state liquor law, with all its faults, is better than none, Judge Ewing said, and "holes-in-the-wall" are beter than open saloons.

A large group of men, members of the Baptist church and guests, heard the talks. Songs by a men's quartet entertained.

Average Plane Lasts 5 Years

The useful life of an airplane frequently exceeds five years, and there are at least 169 civilian airplanes now in service in the United States which were built in 1926 or before, according to an announcement today by the bureau of air commerce, department of commerce.

Studying the licensing records as of June 1, 1935, the bureau found that there were 8,733 civilian airplanes, of which 5,841 were licensed and 2,892 were unlicensed but bore identification marks.

Of the total, 4,207—approximately one-half—were produced prior to 1930, and were still in service on the date used as a basis for the survey. Airplanes produced in 1930 or thereafter and still licensed or identified on the date of the survey numbered 4,155. For 371 airplanes the date of manufacture could not be determined. Many of them probably were built before 1926.

The year 1929, peak year in airplane production in this country, also is best represented among airplanes now in service. There were 2,414 airplanes produced in 1929 which held licenses or identification numbers on June 1.

Chapter 48

Katharine and Michael did not go to England at once, after all. When she was well enough Michael took Katharine back to Silencia where Miss Daisy and Miss Roxana and Miss Vincent and wheezy Mrs. Houghton fussed over her. She was still definitely the invalid. The doctor made her stay in bed part of every day and Michael, who had another cell-like room across the hall, would carry her out into the heartening sunshine.

He was still unable quite to believe that this delicate, golden-haired girl was really his wife. He had nearly lost her—and all along the way their path had been tangled with briers. It was difficult to believe that everything could be straightened out at last.

One day about a week after their return to Silencia Michael had been out riding on one of the fine Arab horses the Millards had left. He came into his room, almost blinded by the glare of the patio, and found the interior dark and cool. But after his vision had cleared a trifle he saw Katharine sitting in his one deep chair. Katharine, dressed in a green linen frock with delicate handwork on it. She looked older, more poised and mature.

"Darling! You're really feeling better?"

He raised his hand to her lips. He felt, reverently, that he was literally unworthy of her. Here he stood, strong and crude in his riding things, reeking of horses and the out-of-doors, and here was this girl, a very fairy princess of elegance and fragrance, condescending to him . . .

Some of this he said, haltingly and slowly. When he looked up, to his amazement he saw she was laughing at him.

Was it true then—this thing he had long suspected—that the girl had regarded her impulsive bargain with him, that she was certain she did not love him? His heart stood still.

"Michael, you great fool!" Her melodious voice pronounced the words lingeringly.

"Don't you love me any more?"

"You know I do!" he stammered. His eyes devoured her.

"Well then, why don't you take me in your arms? You behave as though I were made of glass. I'm your wife . . ."

"I thought you were ill," he began. But she was in his arms that very moment; she was half-laughing, half-crying against his stalwart shoulder.

"It's a great scandal, really, when a girl has to woo her man in this shameless fashion." Michael stopped her mockery in the only possible way—with a kiss.

They sat side by side at the long dark dinner table that night, and held hands shamelessly, after the fashion of lovers. Afterward they walked in the moonlight for a little. Michael, coming to find her later, discovered her at her window, dreaming against the casement.

"Did you ever see anything so lovely?" The gnarled tree in the courtyard made a stark shadow on the flags. There was an indefinable scent in the room.

"What sort of perfume is that?" He crushed her to him, this creature of light and air and indescribable sweetness.

"I—I can't remember," she said vaguely.

"It's very nice,' he told her ineloquently. Her fair hair was loosened about her face; her breast rose and fell under its covering of blond lace.

There was silence after that long murmuring interval. The stars shone down on the desert and the soft southern air moved the curtains gently to and fro. And Katharine slept like a child, soundlessly and blissfully against her lover's shoulder . . .

Three weeks later they were in London, to all eyes the usual, good-looking young American couple in well cut tweeds; the girl with a fat pigskin bag bunched under her arm; the man tall and possessive in a pleasant way, shouldering his way through crowds and holding her elbow gently when they crossed the crowded thoroughfares. Mr. Downrigg had been surprised to find that the new Lord Carden had a wife, and such a pretty one, he told his wife at tea that evening.

"She doesn't talk like an American," he said. "That is, I can understand every single word she says." Mr. Downrigg had gleaned most of his impressions of the Americans from the cinema.

Katharine said he was an old lamb, and Michael agreed more temperately. After a brief stay at the Savoy the two were to go to Ireland to see the castle which had come to Michael from his father's people.

"It probably has 87 rooms and one bath," he told his bride. "And old retainers in hunting coats jumping out of the hedges."

"Oh, Michael, we must do some riding there. They say the horses are marvelous!"

He smiled at her glowing face. "Perhaps you'll want to stay—not go back to the states at all."

"I don't know. Wherever you are," said Katharine, "will be home to me."

They came in to their suite one day at tea time. The girl, loosening her scarf of dark rich sables, riffled the mail on the table.

Her face altered. Michael, who knew every expression of it, watched her anxiously.

"A letter from John Kaye," she said. "Oh, darling, I am sorry about John. He was so sweet to me . . . and I let him down, didn't I?"

She tore it open. She had not seen John when passing through New York. She had not known what to say to him.

"Dear Kitsy," she read. "Best of luck and all that. Tell Michael Heatheroe for me that he'll have to use a whip hand on a stubborn girl. Or don't. That sounds flippant. I'm just trying to be funny. I'm glad you're so happy, Zoe told me. Did she happen to tell you the Parkers are living in the same building as the one my apartment is in? I've seen Zoe quite a lot. She's a grand girl. Give us a ring when you get back. I want to send you something I think you'll like, but I can't until you have a place to put it."

Katharine's eyes were wet. "He's the best man I ever knew—except you, darling." Then her eyes darkened on a sudden thought. John and Zoe! Was that too utterly preposterous? Perhaps not.

"You're already a matchmaker," Michael shouted in rich amusement when she told him.

A severe-looking man servant came in with the tea at the moment, interrupting their idyll. Katharine sat down sedately and poured.

"Darling, you'd be perfect at one of those what-d'you-call-em? — school treats the English novels are full of," said Michael delightedly. "Do you suppose they have them in Ireland?"

"I don't know," Katharine lifted her cup. The lacy sleeve of her blouse fell away from her rounded arm as she drank. "If they do we'll have them. Tea and buns and strawberry jam . . ."

Life was fun. Everything she did with Michael was rare fun; the old shops they explored in search of glass and pewter; the little jeweler's, in a side lane, where Michael had bought her a pair of old silver filigree eartrings.

"Darling," she said suddenly, with characteristic irrelevance, "do you suppose there will be dogs at Donegal? Because if there aren't I want to buy one. Right away. I've been wanting one for years."

She would have a puppy again—maybe more than one. A spaniel with silky ears—or a Cairn like the one she had lost. She wasn't afraid of life any more, or of loving. Michael had showed her the folly of that. Even if she lost him tomorrow she would still have the utter glory of their perfect time together. Nothing could change that or take it away.

Something of what she was thinking, she told him haltingly. The man listened with tender interest.

"You're not going to lose me, my sweet. Not if I can help it."

Their big, luxurious room darkened as night fell. Lights came out, like far-off moons, here and there in the streets below them. The sound of a moving tide of traffic—motor-horns, the screech of complaining brakes came up to them as the music of a dim symphony.

They stood, arms interlocked, at the window, gazing down at London.

"And tomorrow," said Katharine dreamily, "we take the Channel crossing, Ireland then, my darling. And the place your father was born. And all the rest of our life together . . ."

The thought held them both speechless. They had days and days, stretching ahead like a golden stream unbroken. Who knew what lay before them?

Texans Protest Ruling Against AAA At Victoria

VICTORIA, July 20.—Indignant over the decision of the United States Circuit Court at Boston, Mass., holding the processing tax unconstitutional, a group of cotton farmers Wednesday considered filing suit attacking the constitutionality of tariff duties and restraining their collection.

J. P. Barrington, president of the Farmers' Luncheon club and spokesman for the group, said such action is under consideration as reprisal against textile manufacturers and other interests seeking to deny the farmers protection similar to that afforded them.

"The Supreme Court held in the NRA decision that Congress cannot delegate its legislative authority to the President," he explained, "and its authorization of the President to adjust tariffs comes within this inhibition. Many tariffs, therefore, are invalid.

"By keeping foreign goods out of the United States by import duties, domestic manufacturers are enabled to compel farmers and all other consumers to pay a premium on their goods and indirectly levy heavy sales taxes on the masses of the people. Enactment of direct sales taxes by many States in addition causes double taxation, which is without uniformity, and one or the other is in direct violation of the Constitution."

BIBLE LECTURE CHAUTAUQUA TO BEGIN TONIGHT

TENT IS ERECTED TO CONDUCT DAILY SERVICES

Evangelist C. A. Walgren, assisted by a corps of gospel workers, will open a pictured Bible Chautauqua tonight in the large tent located at Somerville and Montague Avenue. Mr. Walgren claims Kansas as his home state, and has recently lectured there and in Illinois, also in several of the large cities of Texas.

"I am an ordained minister of an orthodox Christian body," the evangelist said, "which is operating the largest mission board in the world—in 250 nations and islands of earth, and in over 500 languages and dialects."

During the series over 1000 life-size scenes will be thrown on the screen depicting scores of Bible characters, narratives and places. Hundreds of other scenes will be used to give clear delineation to subjects on history, science, travel, and exploration.

As the meteings progress, Mr. Walgren said, scholars and authorities from several churches will be invited to voice their opinion, and render a decision of their churches on a number of the fundamentals of the Christian faith which today are challenging the attention of millions throughout Christendom.

A question box will feature these meetings. The services will be short, quiet, and dignified.

The first lecture tonight will be: "Seven Words Which Will Overthrow the League of Nations." The order of the lectures for the first week will be: "What Do These Things Mean?" "This Wonderful Twentieth Century." "World Federation: A Dream or Reality." "The Origin of Sin: or, Who Is the Devil?" "The Two Witnesses Attacked by the Beast From the Bottomless Pit." Sunday night, July 28, "Do Mysterious Messages Come from the Dead?"

Evangelist

C. A. Walgren, above, will begin this evening a series of evangelistic sermons in a tent at the corner of N. Somerville and Montague. His talks will be illustrated by picturization of Bible incidents and characters. The public is invited.

Discovery Wins $10,000 Bunker Hill Handicap

SUFFOLK DOWNS, Boston, July 20 (AP)—Discovery, Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's four-year-old champion and world record holder, today trounced P. A Shaw's Gov. Sholtz by 15 lengths as the mighty golden colt romped away with the $10,000 added Bunder Hill handicap.

Mrs. Jack Howard's Advising Anna, one of Discovery's 1934 conquerors trailed the Shaw colt by a length in the show spot, a half-length in front of L. T. Whitehill's Gusto. P. M. Pike's Aeralice trailed.

Discovery came romping up to the finish line in easy fashion and was clocked in 1:51 4-5, three and three fifths seconds slower than his world record for the mile and an eighth distance.

Closing at 1-6, the Vanderbilt Star's pari-mutuel prices were $2.40, $2.60 and $2.20. Gov. Sholtz, a 25-1 shot, paid $7.00 and $3.00 for place and show and Advising Anna, closing at 8-1, returned $2.40 for $2.00 wagers.

Yale, Harvard Defeat British

LONDON, July 20 (AP)—With Keith Brown, Yale captain and Milton Green of Harvard setting the pace, track and field stars from the two American universities scored their eighth victory in 12 attempts over the combined teams of Oxford and Cambridge in today's international meet at White City. It was the fourth straight triumph for the Americans.

Had not Green been disqualified for knocking over too many hurdles after finishing first in the 120-yard high hurdles, the Americans would have won, seven first places to five. As it was, deadlocked with six firsts each, the Harvard - Yale forces squeezed out a close margin of victory on the basis of second places. The count of 6 1-2 for the Americans and 5½ for the British.

Nearly 20,000 fans, a record for a British college meet, saw the visitors, trailing by three points, stage a spirited finish. They captured the last three events, tied the home boys and then triumphed when John Badman of Yale leaped to second place tie with Roy Kennedy of Cambridge in the high jump, final event.

The United States contributed 5,121 of the 18,747 foreign visitors who chose England for their holidays this year, according to British immigration authorities. France provided 2,998, Germany 2,543.

"Deep Dark River," Robert Rylee's highly successful novel, was accepted by the first publisher who read it. It was also the first novel he had tried to sell.

The Indian depicted on the 14-cent United States postage stamp is Hollow Horn Bear.

Dusting The Covers Of Texas History For THE TEXAS CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION OF 1936

AUSTIN, July 12. — "The man who emigrated to Texas in the 1820s and 30s and laid the foundations of society and good government brought no wealth with them, but their industrious and frugal habits proved to be far more valuable equipment; outdoor life, simple fare and continuous labor hardened their muscles and braced their nerves, preparing them to encounter the hardships and perils of a severe conflict with the obstacles of nature on the frontier."

In this direct manner Frank Brown, county clerk of Travis county in the early days, describes the staunch settlers of Texas in his Annals of Travis county, one of the numerous collections of family archives in the University of Texas library.

"The way through the wilderness could at times be only formed by means of blazed trees," Frank Brown wrote. "No good wagon road was known in the country. At times, parties travelling in company, or even single ones, would be compelled to halt and go to work repairing the trace to ensure progress. At crossing places or streams, the banks would have to be worked in order to get over at all. If creeks were up, they would often be compelled to camp for days at a time, in order to cross. It was always the rule when travelling, to cross a stream when reached, if practicable, before camping, so as to be on the farther side when morning came. This was done to avoid freshets that might come during the night and thereby delay progress.

"The old-time dwelling was a one or two room log cabin, according to the size of the family. More frequently the home consisted of but one room, with a loft above, reached by a ladder. If there were two rooms, a gallery was usually between. Ordinarily these had only dirt floors. After awhile as opportunity offered, floors were laid with puncheons, split round logs with the round side down. Wooden doors were made with wood fastenings. The windows had no glass, and were closed with rough board shutters in stormy weather, held in place by wooden or leather hinges. The roof was made of clapboards about three feet long, usually split from the trunks of pin oak or post oak trees. The boards were laid with a lap of about two-thirds their length, so as to show about one foot. It was seldom that nails were at hand. In order to hold the boards in place a straight sapling, six or seven inches in diameter, was felled, the limbs cut off and the trunk laid across the lap of the boards so as to hold them in place by its weight. They were called weight poles. At each end rafter a hole was bored, a wooden pin inserted, the logs laid on the boards, above and against the pins, and were thus held in place. Sometimes cross pieces were laid at intervals between the weight poles, to prevent them from slipping up or down, thus holding them in place. A roof prepared in the way mentioned shed rains effectually and lasted a long time.

"Mud and stick chimneys were almost exclusively used. The hearth was built of smooth rocks, if accessible; if not convenient, it was laid clay, which became hard from the heat. An opening was cut in the end of the room, sticks were laid close together and the structure thus carried a foot or more above the roof. After this was done the sticks were thickly plastered on both sides with moist clay. This soon dried. Chimneys prepared in this manner answered the purpose very well.

"The emigrants usually brought with them one or more milk cows. These gradually increased. In two or three years milk and butter and beef were plentiful. A pair of hogs and a few chickens were brought. If not, these were obtained as soon as possible, and added materially to the means of comfort and subsistence.

"Many were the difficulties and dangers that attended the early settlement of the valley. From necessity, it became a custom for one or two persons to stand as sentinels, whilst others labor in the small clearings. This was the only means of obtaining bread. And, at times, the danger was so great, that while one went to a spring to drink, or after a bucket of water, another stood watch, rifle in hand, ready to shoot a prowling Indian, or one that might arise from an adjacent thicket that covered him from view. And whenever a few men were assembled together for any purpose, when business or pleasure called them, they held their guns in hand, with their backs turned, facing different directions, on the look out for an enemy. When an alarm was raised, the women and children were usually assembled at a central point for protection. If inconvenient, or too distant, they were assembled at the cabin, and the men stood guard. The presence of Indians in a neighborhood could nearly always be told by the conduct of the family horses. Their sense of smell was very keen, and the settler could tell by this means if Indians were near. They would indicate the proximity of the Indian by snorts and other symptoms of anxiety. If off grazing some distance, they would gallop towards the cabin, snorting and looking wild. There was a peculiar smell about the Indian, occasioned by his filthy habits and the free use of paints. Their faces were painted in various ways, presenting often a ludicrous and hideous appearance. They were wily and crafty, usually cruel and vengeful. But there are instances on record of great kindness and friendship exhibited by some of the natives towards the whites. Occasionally they remembered acts of kindness towards them upon the part of the whites, and would return in kind, when opportunity offered. The Indian, however, never forgave an injury, and sought and inflicted revenge when able."

WANTED, A CAMERA

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—His best girl told lifeguard Derwood Brough that he would have to do something about his sunburned nose, or else . . .

So Brough startled bathers at one of Rochester's municipal beaches on Lake Ontario by wearing a nose awning. Shaped of soft leather like a miniature horse's blinder, it was taped to the bridges of his proboscis.

Other guards and bathers laughed at first. Now they are taking up the idea.

"A nose is very funny," mused Chief Guard Bill Cox. "The rest of the body takes on a nice tan, but the nose never does anything but turn very red."

What Re-Tex Is!

Re-Tex is a process of cleaning that is superior to any other way that we know of! Practically all fabrics contain sizing or dressing—and most of the dressings are gasoline soluble and are removed in ordinary dry-cleaning leaving the garment "limp" and faded looking.

Re-Tex cleaning restores sheen and lustre — RENEWS the "body" and life—and has the unique advantage of being

"WATER - REPELLENT"

Not "waterproof", mark you—but amazingly effective in shedding water, ginger ale, coca-cola, orange juice and similar cold drinks.

Send us your next dress or suit for drycleaning—let us PROVE to you its superiority. Re-Tex costs you no more than ordinary drycleaning.
