FARM RELIEF BILL PASSED BY HOUSE

Jury Discharged Without Verdict In 'Reward Frame-Up'

LEE SMITH IS FREED IN TRIAL AT ABILENE

Disagreement by Jury Wins Release For Defendant

JURY OUT 24 HOURS

Whole Day of Consideration Fails to Get Verdict

ABILENE, Texas, May 3. (AP)—The jury trying Lee Smith for the murder of Norberto Diaz, slain in front of the bank at Stanton in an alleged "bank reward frame-up" on Dec. 23, was discharged late today, just 24 hours after it received the case, on failure to reach an agreement.

The jury stood 10 to two "for guilty." Whether they favored death or a lesser penalty was a question Sheriff H. T. O'Bar said he did not ascertain. Consistent 10 to two ballots brought about the jury's discharge, after which it developed that the two refused to cast their vote for either guilty or innocent, which the sheriff characterized as "unusual."

Smith testified in his own defense that he was an "innocent and unwilling confederate of Carl C. Baze," and that the latter did the shooting.

Baze is at liberty, having broken jail some weeks ago.

MOODY GIVES BATTLE PLANS OF DEMOCRATS

Governor Outlines Fight To Be Made On Republicans

FOR UNINSTRUCTION

State's Leader Pleased With Situation In State Now

DALLAS, May 3. (AP)—Battle plans of the democrats for defeating the republican party in November were outlined here tonight by Governor Dan Moody, speaking in support of an uninstructed delegation to the national democratic convention at Houston next month. More than 2000 men and women heard the governor attack what he termed the corruption and bribery at Washington.

Misquoted, He Says

He said that he had been misquoted in regard to his address at Houston last night, declaring that he had said only that the Texas democrats would have no part in Governor Al Smith's nomination, not that they would have no part in his election after nomination.

Governor Moody said he was satisfied with the situation as regards the selection of delegates Saturday in accord with the views of the Democrats of Texas of which he is a leader and expressed confidence there would be no general movement to stay away from the conventions or to refuse to take the party pledge.

NEBRASKA NAMES AL'S TEAMMATE

OMAHA, Neb., May 3. (UP)—Although endorsing Gilbert M. Hitchcock, favorite son candidate of Nebraska for the democratic presidential candidacy today, Nebraska candidates indicated that he would be their choice as a running mate with Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, if attempts to obtain his nomipatnon as president fails.

In convention late today the Democrats endorsed Hitchcock after Richard L. Metcalfe, party candidate for United States senator, suggested that the Nebraskan be placed on the ticket with Smith as vice presidential nominee.

Another surprise of the convention was the endorsement given the McNary-Haugen bill, calling measure by its name of McNary oill and terming it the best means of temporary relief for farmers.

Metcalfe, in his speech suggesting Smith and Hitchcock, won the applause of the convention and his speech was repeatedly interrupted by cheers.

CONNECTICUT GIVES SUPPORT TO SMITH.

HARTFORD, Conn., May 3. (AP)—Democrats pledged their support to Governor Alfred E. Smith, of New York, for the presidential nomination today but apparently left what seemed to be the major issue, the "ironing out" of the trouble within the party, hanging in midair. This is likely not to be settled until next Thursday when the newly named state central committee convenes to select its officers.

Smith will get Connecticut's entire 14 votes at Houston, Texas, until he releases the delegates.

UNIFORM AUTO LAW PROPOSED

Arrest of Motorists Aired At Oklahoma City

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 3. (AP)—Interstate complications, arising from the arrest of transient motorists, were aired in a meeting of representatives of the highway departments and secretaries of states of five states here today. The states involved were Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas and Texas.

A proposal that a uniform law be enacted in these states whereby motor car licenses issued by one state would be recognized by each of the others, was made by Charles J. Ryan, secretary of state of Kansas, and was seconded by Charles U. Becker, secretary of state of Missouri. If the five states do not adopt a uniform law, Becker said, the United States government must do so.

Law Prepared

V. A. Kleiber, auditor of the state highway department of Arkansas, said that a reciprocal law had been prepared for submission to the next legislature of that state.

It was developed that both Texas and Arkansas authorities had been wary of Oklahoma tags by their relative cheapness, as compared to licenses in these states. Many citizens of these states, their representatives said, buy Oklahoma licenses.

A committee was appointed to submit proposals to a continuation of the meeting tonight.

Double Grievance

A double set of grievances, one against Oklahoma by Texans, and another against Texas by Oklahomans has centered in Wichita Falls and other cities near the state line.

The Texas case was taken up with the federal authorities who gave the opinion that it was not wtihin their jurisdiction. It was brought about by Texas salesmen being forced, when traveling in Oklahoma, to buy Oklahoma licenses in conformity with an Oklahoma state law.

Oklahomans in turn have complained bitterly when arrested in Texas in the early part of the year for driving with last year's Oklahoma licenses.

SARTIN SEES SMITH PLOT IN STRAW VOTE

Al's Advocates "Padding" Newspaper Ballot, Says Dry Leader

'WAIT 'TIL SATURDAY'

Walsh Makes Small Gain On Smith's Heavy Lead

The presidential straw vote being fostered by The Record News was characterized Thursday as a "padded" tabulation by B. D. Sartin, leader of the Constitutional Democrats in Wichita county.

"It's just another way the papers use to favor Al Smith," Mr. Sartin said.

Advocates of Al Smith's nomination, Mr. Sartin charged, go out into the highways and byways of the city and vote every man, woman and child available, without any regard for legal age limit.

Wait for Saturday.

Opponents of Al Smith, on the other hand, the constitutionalist said, were satisfied to sit back and wait until their voting meant something.

"But just watch what we say and do at the precinct conventions Saturday," Mr. Sartin advised.

The dry vote, as reflected by the support given by dry democrats to Senator Walsh of Montana jumped to 99 with his 48 votes Thursday. This is the greatest number he has received any day and is almost as many as he received the first two days together. Walsh's vote Tuesday was 20 and his Wednesday vote was 31. The Walsh vote of the three days also shows a steady gain.

Al Smith continued to pile up votes, and while the vote itself is merely one which expresses opinions which are unofficial, the Al Smith camp says it is a perfect indication of which way the wind is blowing.

"The same result will be noted Saturday night after the precinct conventions," said one man in a note attached to his ballot.

One vote was received with the notation on it, "We would not vote for a Democrat like Smith, so we will vote for Hoover."

Also Names Cabinet

One vote was received from a man who wanted to vote for Al Smith for the presidency, Jim Reed for secretary of state, and Senator Walsh for attorney general. The rest of the president's cabinet was not considered.

The Record News opened its newspaper ballot in an effort to determine the sentiment of residents of northwest Texas on candidates of both parties for president, and also to inform readers on the general sentiment toward various contestants.

While considerable opposition to Governor Smith has been voiced in the balloting, much of the support given the New York governor is believed to come from democrats who would be classified as strict "drys." From the opening day of the voting, Smith has held a heavy lead over all other democratic possibilities.

Results of the voting at 6 o'clock Thursday afternoon follow:

Sharp 'Warning' On Pledge Support Given by County Demo Committee

"If they won't sign the pledge, they can't take part in the democratic precinct conventions in Wichita county."

"Republicans are not wanted at the precinct conventions of the Democratic party."

"Democrats who intend bolting their party in the event a candidate undesirable to them is nominated at Houston are not wanted at the Wichita county precinct conventions."

These were the crisp messages members of the Wichita county democratic executive committee Thursday asked The Record News to deliver to the voters for them.

Orders issued to chairmen of the 39 precincts of Wichita county Thursday by E. C. DeMontel, county chairman, instructed them that, "only those voters living in your precinct who subscribe to the pledge shall be allowed to participate in the precinct conventions."

KNAPP GIRL TAKES STAND

Stepdaughter Damages Woman's Case

ALBANY, N. Y., May 3. (UP)—Miss Clara Blanche Knapp, who was reared from childhood and educated by her stepmother, Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp, former secretary of state, today reluctantly gave damaging testimony against Mrs. Knapp at the latter's trial on a charge of grand larceny.

The crowd—mostly women—which filled the supreme court room, heard a thin, nervous young woman say she never signed her name to census pay checks; and that she had not known she was on the census payroll until she read of it in the newspapers.

The state contends specifically that Mrs. Knapp, the first woman to hold a high elective office in the state of New York, had forged the name of her stepdaughter to a census pay check for $2875.06. The check was said to have been applied on an account of Mrs. Knapp at a Syracuse department store.

Speaking almost in whispers and several times on the verge of collapse, Miss Knapp denied having received the check on which the state bases its present case.

When she was excused from the stand for lunch recess, she walked slowly to Mrs. Knapp and sobbed:

"Oh, I hope I didn't hurt you. I hope I haven't hurt you, mother."

Mrs. Knapp clasped her stepdaughter's hand and said:

"I'm safe, dear. Don't worry."

M'NARY FARM MEASURE WINS BY BIG VOTE

But Majority of Two Thirds Lacking In Count

PROVISION CARRIES

Equalization Fee Clause Adopted After Upset Of Wednesday

WASHINGTON, May 3. (UP)—The house passed the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill tonight carrying the equalization fee provision which caused President Coolidge to veto the bill a year ago.

The vote was 204 to 121.

This vote was short of the two-thirds which would be necessary to pass the bill over the president's veto. More than 100 congressmen did not vote.

The senate passed the bill a few weeks ago. The house has amended the measure slightly and after these differences have been adjusted the measure will be ready for the president. It has been strongly intimated at the White House that President Coolidge will veto the bill as he did a year ago.

Amendment Adopted.

Shortly before the bill was passed the house adopted an amendment urged by cotton growing states which would prevent the farm board from assessing an equalization fee on any commodity unless the commodity council provided in the bill approved it.

The bill, a football in congress for several years, has been supported by Vice-President Dawes and Governor Lowden of Illinois and has been a factor in the consideration of them as republican presidential candidates. Secretary of Commerce Hoover, adhering to the policy of the Coolidge administration, has opposed the bill.

The bill's central feature is the equalization fee plan to finance the buying up of surplus crops to be dumped abroad at a loss if necessary, this loss to be absorbed through a fee charge back to the farmers on a pro-rata basis. President Coolidge has opposed this as being unconstitutional and likely to create a government price-fixing bureaucracy. Many in congress have supported the bill somewhat reluctantly upon the theory that whatever its shortcomings practically everything else has been tried without bringing relief to the farmer.

Big Revolving Fund.

The bill also would set up a $400,000,000 revolving fund to be used by cooperative organizations in controling the marketing of farm products. The bill provides that this plan shall be exhausted before reorting to the equalization fee. The president favors this portion of the bill.

A federal farm board if proposed in the bill to administer the act.

The equalization fee provision was knocked out of the bill temporarily Wednesday when its supporters were caught off guard by an unexpected vote. It was restored without a record vote today.

Shortly after voting on the measure the house adjourned.

Cosden-Newmont Deal Marks One Of Oil Industry's Greatest 'Comebacks'

NEW YORK, May 3. (US)—Negotiations between the Newmont Mining company and Cosden and company, Inc., for joint acquisition and operation of large oil acreage in the southwest, which have been carried on for several weeks, are nearing consummation, according to report in Wall street.

The closing of the deal, it was declared, stamps Cosden's new company definitely as a success and concludes the most remarkable "comeback" in the history of finance. The properties to be acquired are in addition to those already owned by Cosden and company, Inc.

Further evidence of the success of Cosden's venture is found in report that Standard Of. interests endeavored to acquire an interest in part of the existing holdings of his company.

Four years ago "Josh." Cosden, prominent independent oil magnate, was "taken over" by bankers. The company he had built up and controlled passed to the bankers and the name was changed to the Mid-Continent company.

Cosden dropped out of stock market circles and Wall street forgot him. For many months he went from one oil field to another and after extensive investigation secured control of valuable holdings. Then he returned to New York and the properties he had were such that the shrewdest oil men and bankers were glad to join him in forming the New Cosden and company, Inc.

Lieut. Thomas Sets Solo Flight Endurance Mark But Forced Down

NEW YORK, May 3. (UP)—Lieut. Royal V. Thomas, attempting to break the world's record for sustained flight landed at Mitchel field at 11:50.

The landing was caused by the opening of the dump valve in the main gasoline tank of the plane which had been leaking, it was said.

The official time of Thomas' time in the air was placed at 35 hours, 25 minutes and 8 seconds.

Thomas' flying time was approximately 20 hours short of the Stinson-Haldeman record.

Although Thomas' attempt for the world's record was unsuccessful, he had broken Col Charles A. Lindbergh's record of 33¼ hours for sustained flight for a lone pilot. At 10 o'clock Thomas had been in the air 33½ hours. Lindbergh's record was made on his memorable flight to Paris.

'HUMAN FLY' THRILLS CROWD

Rowland Gives Stunts In Legion Program

According to schedule, "Dare Devil" Rowland of Cleveland, Ohio, the "human fly," scaled the wall of the Holt hotel Thursday afternoon after performing numerous hair-raising and breath-taking stunts on top of the building.

Included in his performance was one stunt in which he featured Miss Billie Parrish, who rode on the shoulders of the man while he walked blindfolded along the ledge of the top of the building. Numerous other death-defying stunts were done by the "fly" while at the top of the hotel, among which was one wherein he balanced himself in two chairs on the corner of the building, with each chair having only two legs touching the ledge. Several other balancing stunts were featured, with certain death looming up from the pavement below in case of a mishap.

The "human fly" was brought to Wichita Falls under the auspices of the Pat Carrigan Post of the American Legion, which is now conducting a membership drive, in order to raise money and to stimulate the securing of new members.

The performance was repeated Thursday evening at 7:30.

Practically no rain was reported west of Dundee and Mankins, although there was slight precipitation, according to railway dispatchers.

The precipitation to the north along the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad also was reported as light.

Around Byers and Petrolia a good shower fell. It was said by residents of that district to be quite beneficial to the growing crops and also to have aided the season in the ground.

A little downfall was reported from here to Bowie, and a slight precipitation was reported early in the day to the northwest along the Fort Worth and Denver road to Amarillo.

Archer-Young County Program Of Good Roads Given Indorsement

Special to The Record News.

ARCHER CITY, Texas, May 3. Indorsement of the Young county road program, which links highways of adjoining counties with Wichita Falls as a trade center, and praise of the energy of Archer City builders was included in addresses by several speakers at a banquet given by the chamber of commerce here tonight. The affair was given to about 100 people in the American Legion hall.

The Archer county road program, which correlates that of Young county, was also approved by W. B. Hamilton, Wichita Falls.

"Your good road program," he said, "is to my mind one of the most definite and progressive things that could be done for this area."

"If a community ever desires to put a road program across just get the chamber of commerce behind it," said W. L. Scott, Olney, praising the part the local organization has performed in the project.

The people of Archer City were characterized as a "group of individuals true to themselves and to their fellowmen," by E. F. Fruechte, Wichita Falls. Mr. Fruechte is a candidate for the office of district attorney.

Other impromptu speakers of the evening included Rube Loftin, Henrietta; F. M. Tower, Archer City; E. H. Whitehead, publicity director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and Sam McCarty, state organizer of the American Legion, c. Austin, Texas.

C. E. Graham, Anarine, presided at the banquet.

Four Women Discuss Four Ages In Woman's Life for Miss Dix

Careless Girlhood, the Full-to-the-Brim Thirties, the Horrible Forties and the Mellow Fifties Are Here Discussed by Four Lively Women.

What is the best time of a woman's life? A group of women fell to talking about this the other day, and one of them said emphatically: "The best time of a woman's life is her girlhood. Her golden hour strikes between 18 and 24. Then it is that she has the most unalloyed happiness that ever comes to a woman.

"That is when she can rejoice in her good looks, for even a plain woman flowers into what the French call beaute du diable in her girlhood. There are no ugly young things. Then it is that she is slim and graceful, with starry eyes and shining hair and with the skin you love to touch. And, believe me, when a woman can find real pleasure in looking in her mirror, she is experiencing one of the priceless pleasures of existence.

"And then she is filled with the exhileration of youth. Champagne is in her veins. All life is one big thrill. She is Eve taking her first bite of the apple and crazy over the flavor of forbidden fruit before she finds out that there is a worm at the core and that it is going to give her an awful indigestion later on.

"And it is the time of romance, of circling wings and golden glory, when a woman is always in a state of palpitation of the heart looking for her Fairy Prince to come strolling around the corner and when every man is of absorbing interest to her because he is a possible lover. No matter what may come to you in after years, life is never so full of excitement to you as it is in your girlhood, when you are incarnate optimism and just sit waiting for something grand and wonderful and beautiful to happen to you, and it has never even occurred to you that fate could let you down.

"Above all, girlhood is the only carefree time in a woman's life. Marriage, no matter how happy, brings duties and responsibilities and anxieties. The price of a career is endless labor and striving and sacrifice. But girlhood is the little holiday that a woman has before she takes up the real business of life, in which she can laugh and dance and play around without Old Man Trouble hovering around in the background.

"Perhaps the reason that we cherish girlhood so tenderly is because it has come to be a symbol of happiness to us. Perhaps that is the reason that we like to give girls pretty clothes and good times. We want them to have a joyous girlhood to remember through the hard years that are ahead of them. And most of us do remember our girlhood as the best time of our lives."

"I don't agre with you," said another woman. "I think the 30's are the best time of a woman's life. A girl's life has a lot of anxiety and strain about it, because she is either on the husband hunt or starting her career, and she doesn't know whether she is going to make a success or a failure of it; but by the time she is 30 she has either got her man or given up the struggle, or has worked into her job and her soul is at rest.

"It is in the 30's that a woman savors the real fullness of life, especially if she marries. It is then that husbands and wives are closest together, because they are working shoulder to shoulder building up their fortune, with the same interests, the same hopes, the same ambitions. It is the time when a wife has the minimum of anxiety about her husband, because he is too busy and too much absorbed in getting a start in the world to thiak about women, and he hasn't yet made enough money to interest the gold-diggers.

"And it is the time when a woman gets the most pleasure out of her children. There is no other thrill that a woman ever feels so poignantly as that she gets from the touch of her baby's head on her breast; no bliss so deep as the clinging of little arms around her neck. When your children grow up, you are bound to lose them. It is only when they are little that you really have them.

"And so I say that the 30's, when a woman has her husband and children, when she is busy every minute of the day, when she is planning, scheming, contriving, are the best years of a woman's life. They may be full of hard work, of poverty and self-denial and sacrifices, but they are the full years in which she is doing her part of the world's work and fulfilling her destiny."

"The worst years of a woman's life," said another woman, "are the 40s. They are the Bridge of Sighs that reach from the joys of youth to the philosophy of age, and they are filled with terror for every woman who crosses them.

"In the 40's she sees her good looks fade, her complexion go, her hair get grizzled, her figure turn into a living skeleton or a feather bed, and she has to face the awful fact that she has got middle-aged. And it is in the 40's that she begins to worry about losing her husband and to endure torments of jealousy every time he looks at a flapper and to wish that she hadn't worked so hard and saved so thrifty to help him get on Easy street, where he had the leasure to philander around with the vamps.

"And it is in the 40's that a woman is worried to death over her children. Anxiety about their conduct if they are wild. Anxiety about getting them settled, getting them married, about their leaving her. Oh, the 40's are a rainy day in a woman's life that she looks forward to with dread and remembers with horror."

"I think that the best time in a woman's life is the 50's," said the fourth woman, "because it is the time when she has accepted her fate and has quit kicking against the hurts.

"She has found that instead of being a curse, age is the best excuse, going and coming, that has ever been invented, for it enables her to do what she wants to do and is a perfect alibi for her failure to do the thing she doesn't want to do.

"She has done her day's work and has a long twilight before her in which to enjoy herself. Often she has more money than she ever had before. Nearly always she has more interesting friends and a keener joy in comradeship. If she has her husband, there is between them a love deeper than that of youth, and if she has lost him, she has ceased to grieve, because she has realized that he wasn't worth the having.

"Oh, I tell you no woman knows the real joy of living until she is 50 and can let out her corset strings and put on flat-heel shoes and cease counting her calories."

So said these women. What do you think is the best time of a woman's life? DOROTHY DIX.

MARIE BECOMES CURIOUS

MODISH MITZI

"Arriving tomorrow at 4 p. m." reads the telegram from the Goofer's nephew, Jack, who has been specially invited to save a trying situation. Marie tried with all the ability of her 14 to 15 years to make a match between the Goofer and Mitzi. Now the tables are turned. Jack is incited to amuse Marie. . .

The Goofer, to pave the way, tells Marie that Jack is a whizz. Wins all sorts of scholarships. Of course it was just a step from that to saying that the shade of blue Marie is wearing is Jack's favorite color—one of his school colors in fact. It's a becoming dress with bow at the V neck and at the swathed hips.

Mitzi just let slip that Jack had won all sorts of medals swimming, track, and he's some sort of tennis champion. No use in being too definite. Marie must find out some of these things for herself. Marie is beginning to be interested. She wonders if they are going to invite her to meet him?

The Goofer and Mitzi know pretty well how to work these things. Not a word more about him. When Marie starts a question the Goofer says something about "isn't that a new costume?" Mitzi immediately tells him it is, and doesn't he like scarf collars, they are so smart. A pity somebody can't answer a question, thinks Marie.

Tomorrow—The Right Hat for the Right Costume.

School - College Notes

Freshmen of the Junior college are reverting to the honored custom of entertaining the graduating sophomores before time for graduation. In committee meeting Thursday morning the officers of the freshman class decided to entertain the sophomores with a big party next Tuesday night at Call field. From all indications the Little Rovers orchestra will furnish music for the entertainment.

ANNOUNCEMENTS ARRIVE

High school announcements for the graduation exercises arrived Thursday afternoon and were enthusiastically opened by members of the committee. The invitations will be distributed to the students Monday.

COLLEGE STRAW VOTE

Politics is becoming so complicated that Junior college history students are planning to hold a straw vote in order to ascertain what is what. Places will be left on the ballot to give preferences for candidates, both republican and democratic. Every one who votes is to be required to take a pledge to support his own party regardless of the candidate named.

COLLEGE TENNIS

One team of Junior college tennis players have fought their way to the finals in the doubles tournament.

Jimmie Ford and Fred Couper defeated Woodson and Perkins, 6-1, 3-6, 6-2, to reach the semi-finals. In the semi-finals they defeated Ross and Atkins, 2-6, 7-5, 6-0. If they win their next match they will have the honor of carrying the Junior college colors in the state meet.

SPANISH CLUB BANQUET

Spanish students of the Junior college report an exceptionally good time at the banquet Wednesday night at the Wichita club. The program, all in Spanish, was furnished by William Warren, Fred Couper, Mrs. Marie Hall Gilbert, George Wright, Mary Alice Bone, Edna Gay Phillips, Leon Wynne, Miguel Ordonez and Ben P. Allred.

Doctor Found What is Best for Thin, Constipated People

As a family doctor at Monticello, Illinois, the whole human body, not any small part of it, was Dr. Caldwell's practice. More than half his "calls" were on women, children and babies. They are the ones most often sick. But their illnesses were usually of a minor nature—colds, fevers, headaches, billiousness—and all of them required first a thorough evacuation. They were constipated.

In the course of his 47 years' practice (he was graduated from Rush Medical college back in 1875) he found a good deal of success in such cases with a prescription of his own containing simple laxative herbs with pepsin. In 1892 he decided to use this formula in the manufacture of a medicine to be known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and in that year his prescription was first placed on the market.

The preparation immediately had as great a success in the drug stores as it previously had in his private practice. Now, the third generation is using it. Mothers are giving it to their children who were given it by their mothers. Every second of the working day someone somewhere is going into a drug store to buy it. Millions of bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are being used a year.

Its great success is based on merit, on repeated buying, on one satisfied user telling another. There are thousands of homes in this country that are never without a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and we have gotten many hundreds of letters from grateful people telling us that it helped them when everything else failed.

Every drug store sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Keep a bottle in your home—where many live someone is sure to need it quickly.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.—Adv.

Musicians' Club Brings Year To End With Attractive Event

A program of unusual cleaverness was presented at the annual luncheon of the Musicians' club which was given at the Womans' Forum, Thursday, with Mrs. Fred C. Barron, retiring president, in charge. This event marked the close of the season for the club.

A model meeting of the Musicians' club, presented in burlesque form and "taking off" some of the best known musicians of the city, was the feature of the program. Mrs. J. E. Hall, impersonating Mrs. Barron, presided at the make believe session, the program of which was presided over by Mrs. Edwin Bebb, as Miss Emma Nala Voss, instructor in music and leader of the program. In burlesque were presented the following forms of music: Symphony, sonata, program music, dance and folk song, the introduction of which was cleverly given by Mrs. Bebb.

Other numbers on the program were a toast to the retiring officers and a toast to the incoming officers given by Mrs. J. E. H. Bailey, associate member of the club; invocation by Mrs. Barron; brief talks by Mrs. C. E. Beavers, incoming president, and Mrs. Edwin Bebb. Mrs. W. C. Hamilton was toastmistress.

The club house was elaborately decorated with a varied profusion of spring flowers, in baskets and tall floor vases of wrought iron. The dining room was converted into a platform banked with many baskets of roses and spring flowers.

Individual tables were centered with miniature May poles and wound with ribbons of many hues and banked with honeysuckle. Place cards were clever programs in booklet form similar to the yearbook of the club, and inscribed with the name of the guest.

A handsome shoulder corsage of sweet peas was presented to Mrs Barron by the club.

Members attending the luncheon were. Mesdames J. W. Akin, Jr., J. L. Art, James V. Allred, S. J. Ashmore, Clara S. Baker, Edwin Bebb, Kenneth Bebb, Jolnette Bonner, Charles Borland, C. E. Beavers, Fred C. Barron, G. T. Buchanan, G. S. Bancroft, Ben Bell, Cora Cravens, F. L. Collard, C. N. Cameron, E. J. De Montel, E. E. Fisher, Lucille Brooks Huff, J. E. Hall, W. C. Hamilton, J. Lewis Jackson, H. D. Jones, W. T. Knight, W. S. Langford, A. M. Lewis, P. P. Langford, J. C. Mytinger, Newton Maer, Gertrude Morgan, Philip Oviatt, J. S. A. K. Presson, J. E. H. Railey, C. A. Rogers, Bruce Greenwood, Howard Renfro, H. W. Roberts, T. T. T. Reese, Harwood Stacy, G. B. Smedley, F. B. Sharpe, Cortez Slaughter, Ethel Allen Nelson, R. D. Thorn, Luella B. Thompson, E. F. Van Wormer, H. A. Waller; Misses Modena Howell, Lucy Huggins, Monterey Lewis, Lucille Smith, and Floyd Ard, Mike Ellis, Ernest Katz, Stanley Raub and James Youngblood.

Guests were: Mesdames Harry May, Ritter Waggoner, M. C. Vanstrom, Dana McMurry, A. M. Floyd, J. T. Carter, H. V. Melville, S. J. Rider, Belle Church, W. W. Cook, W. M. Evans, William Huff, Bert Bean, Mark Moore, I. H. Roberts, T. R. Boone, Charles Storts, C. H. Reid, Mark Walker, and Misses Esther Ann Howell, Mildred Price, and Joseph Rabinowitz.

Ramblin'

with

Marie Theresa

ONE of the most ejoyable events attended recently by this corner was the luncheon given Thursday by the Womans Forum by the Musicians' club as a concluding event for a successful year.

With Mrs. Edwin Bebb in charge of the burlesque program, things went off pretty well in the usual racy fashion for such programs. The most prominent musicians in the city were invited as special guests and then roasted by those in the skit, which was a fine bit of work since all those roasted seemed to appreciate the unusual amount of attention bestowed upon them.

But no one enjoyed the program more than did Mrs. Bruce Greenwood whose well known laugh permeated the entire skit and brought a smile to even the most somber minded guest. It's almost uncanny the contagion of a merry whole hearted laugh, and the way it has of turning a jolly party into just the correct path.

According to one of the speakers at the luncheon, we cease to live if we do not learn to do something new occasionally. This speaker exhorted musicians present to learn a new musical stunt, just as good mental and moral training. If the individual can play the piano, then let him learn to sing, or at least make an attempt at the art.

That's a good idea, but why restrict it to musicians?

WHILE we are on the subject of music and musical events, it might be mentioned that the civic musical festival planned as an event of May 11, at the Memorial auditorium, has been postponed a week in order that more attractions might be added. Rehearsals on the numbers are being conducted regularly and plans to make the event a gala affair are almost certain to mature.

HHERE'S a triple action story. Miss Thelma Collins, aged 19 years, teacher in a school near Powhattan, Kan., whipped a 14-year-old girl for cursing. The mother of the girl in turn whipped the teacher. Now here is the way the case stands—the mother has been sentenced to a year in the penitentiary; the girl is facing a reformatory sentence and the teacher has been asked by citizens of the town to surrender her position.

I suppose the moral to teachers is that they size up the mother of pupils to be whipped, before administering punishment. Again, supposing, if that teacher had not whipped the girl, all would have been well, and the world might never have known that the child is addicted to the masculine habit of swearing.

Houston Children To Present May Play

The primary grades of the Sam Houston school will present "In a May Garden," assisted by the orchestra of the Highland Heights Christian church, at the school at 7:45 o'clock Friday evening. About 150 children will take part in the playlet.

The first act will represent an evening in the garden when the children plan their May Fete and run away to bed. The sandman scatters sand, then the brownies, fireflies and the fairies conspire to make the children happy on the morrow.

Act two has as setting an evening in the garden when the sunbeams awaken the sleepers and the children come in. The scene ends with Spirit of the Spring crowning the May Queen while the enchanted flowers sing and the children dance in honor of the May.

Eloise will probably open her attempt at a vocabulary with the word "Daddy" if present indications mean anything. She is foolish about her daddy and cries when he leaves, which for some reason makes a distinct hit with the head of the family.

Eloise is the only child of Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Hill, 1803 Tilden. She is seven months old and resembles her father rather closely. Black hair and black eyes combined with a happy disposition aren't at all bad, do you think?

RECORDS OF THE PAST

This is the record of past years. In 1912 Thomas B. Love and the forty immortals returned from Baltimore flushed with victory. They had, they said, nominated Woodrow Wilson. Oscar B. Colquitt was the governor. He had announced for a second term. He wasn't an immortal and the immortals decided to throw him out of office. They nominated Judge W. F. Ramsey. His slogan was Righteousness. Colquitt won by 50,000 majority. In 1916 James E. Ferguson was governor. Again the immortals headed by Love made another try at the convention. They went down in defeat. Followers of Ferguson and Bailey elected all the delegates and defeated Love for national committeeman. In 1920 all the Wilson Democrats, immortals and sinners, marched together. Love headed them. There was no contest for the delegation. Forty were hog tied and sent to the San Francisco convention pledged to vote for William Gibbs McAdoo. McAdoo went down in defeat and Love and the forty hog-tied Democrats went down in defeat with him. And then the year 1924 rolled in. Love and his lieutenants took on the klan and sent a delegation to the Madison Square garden instructed for McAdoo. All Democrats able to read know just what happened at the Madison Square garden convention. McAdoo went down in defeat. Love and his delegates returned to Texas. They backed Felix Robertson for governor. Then there was a real uprising in Texas. Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson defeated Felix Robertson. All those who ran on the primary ticket with Robertson went down in defeat in the first primary or the run-off contest. Dan Moody was made attorney general. Barry Miller was elected lieutenant-governor. Now the year 1928 is marking time and May 5th will be the big day. Which faction or factions will capture the forty delegates, and just what will happen in July when a direct primary will tell the story of those who win as well as the "also rans."

One-Minute Sermon

Verily, verily, I say unto thee, When thou wast young, thou girdest thyself, and walkedst whither thou wouldst: but when thou shalt be old, thou shalt stretch forth thy hands, and another shall gird thee, and carry thee whither thou wouldst not.

This spake he, signifying by what death he should glorify God. And when he had spoken this, he saith unto him, Follow me.—St. John, xxi, 18-19.

Honor for All

NEW YORK gave the three fliers of the Bremen one of the most notable receptions and demonstrations of approval in history. And the congress of the United States voted to award the Three Musketeers of the sea and the air the distinguished flying cross. Well, the war must be over.

Joe Robinson on Deck

SENATOR Joe Robinson of Arkansas caught the republican boys napping. He offered a resolution ordering an investigation of presidential campaign expenditures. It calls for the appointment of a special committee of five to be appointed by the vice-president, clothed with full authority to summon witnesses, books and papers and report to the senate at the earliest time practicable. Robinson is the minority leader. He leads: Heflin talks.

An Editor Keynoter

AN editor will be the keynoter for the Democrats of the republic at the coming Houston convention. Claude G. Bowers, famous as an author of books worth while on historical personages and historical events and an editorial writer on the New York Evening World, was the unanimous choice of the democratic national committee for official keynoter of the convention in the coming month of June.

Claude G. Bowers is a native of Indiana. He did not take the advice of Horace Greely to go west. After his college days were over he journeyed to Washington and thence on to New York. He is not only one of the able editorial writers of America, but an orator of eloquence and surpassing power of the makers of books which are found in the libraries of the scholars of America. He will sit with the New York delegation as a delegate instructed to cast his vote for Alfred E. Smith of New York for standard bearer of the democratic party in the coming campaign. All the leaders of all factions indorsed the proposal to make the literary Democrat the keynoter of the convention. His name was proposed for temporary chairman by Mrs. Leroy Springs, national committeewoman from South Carolina, the wife of a multi-millionaire textile manufacturer and a man widely known in the cotton world.

Fess of Okio will keynote for the Republicans. He was defeated for delegate-at-large. A negro candidate for delegate-at-large on the Hoover ticket chuckled when the returns told the story of the defeat of Keynoter Fess and the election of many Hoover delegates to the Kansas City convention. In running up the colors the elephant placed the black above the white.

What Dallas Would Do

DALLAS is ambitious to annex Baylor and to transfer from Waco to the city at the head of the Trinity river navigation that most historic and useful university of learning. Dallas is an ambitious city and the leaders of that very modern community of souls and dollars never hesitate to underwrite a proposition that will add to the commercial glory of the big burg.

Dallas would annex and transfer the William Cameron Park if it were possible. Speaking of parks, the William Cameron playground of 600 acres is one of the most attractive in America. It is the glory as well as the pride of the people of Waco. Its Brazos riverside drive, speaking of scenic beauty, is almost unrivaled. Its links and tennis courts, its flower gardens, its noble trees, its shrubs and its flower beds make it an ideal spot or place for the thousands who constitute the population of Waco as well as the admiration and envy of the tourists from other states and the Texans who visit the sprightly city on the banks of the Brazos river.

It is a magnificent memorial donated to a community by a woman to perpetuate the memory of her husband. William Cameron was a Scotch boy who came to America. He fought his way to the top. He was the creator of his own fortune as well as the maker of his own destiny. He was one of the pioneer lumber kings of Texas. At a ripe age he passed on to his reward. His widow, Mrs. Flora Cameron, dedicated this glorious tract of woodland and scenic beauty to the memory of her husband when she donated the valuable property to the people of Waco to be used forever for a park and pleasure seeking purposes. Its driveways, its walks for pedestrains, its shady nooks, and its marvelous picnic grounds make it one of the show places of the vast Southwest.

"Aren't you happy because of the fact that you deeded the 600 acres for park purposes to the city of Waco?" queried an entranced visitor to Mrs. Flora Cameron. "No, I am grateful that I was able to make the gift. My husband loved Waco. Grateful indeed am I to have been an instrument in the hands of the Lord to have made the William Cameron Park possible as a monument to the memory of my husband."

The treasury department says that Russia must take back five millions in gold. Was that money intended as a campaign contribution, too?

LOST—A FRIEND

Once I had money, and a friend.
A helpful pair, these two.
I loaned my money to my friend,
As any friend would do.

I lost my money, and my friend,
A loss I sorely rue.
I have no money, have no friend,
But I refuse to sue!

SOME OTHER NEEDS OF CHURCHES

Sometimes our churches are too prone to brag about fine buildings, smart preachers, numbers on the roll and collections, and then cross on the other side of the street when they approach a fellow in the gutter. I wonder if they don't need a little of the spirit of the Samaritan to balance the ration.

SAMPSON AND SILICON

A full head of strong hair has always been considered a mark of virility. Many methods have been tried by thin haired people in an effort to grow luxuriant hair, but tonics and massage will fail to bring about the desired result if the hair roots are not fed their life giving minerals in the form of silicon and calcium.

Bobbing the hair has been found to be unsuccessful in most cases, for the barber's shears cannot by any magic restore the silicon to an impoverished blood stream. For a short time after the hair is cut there may be a slight stimulation of growth, but always at the expense of other tissues in the body, of which the silicon has been borrowed to feed the shortened hair. Thus, the rest of the bodily structures may be actually weakened to some extent, although this reason is not sufficient to account for Sampson's weakness when he lost his luxuriant tresses. Having strayed far from his native land and the coarse food he had been accustomed to from early youth, he suffered from a muscular breakdown due to a lack of the organic minerals in the dainty food given him by his enchantress. But as soon as he was put to work he was no doubt given the unrefined fare of the other slaves, and soon regained his normal strength.

If Sampson's captors had understood the part silicon played in his regeneration, they could have kept him as weak as our bakers are unknowingly keeping most people today with the sale of so many denatured white flour products.

Why do you suppose we do not find a single bald head among primitive people? The answer is plain. It is simply because they use vegetables and grains in their natural state, and are not civilized or commercially interested in changing nature's foods into queer dishes.

Every bald man you see is starving for silicon and other organic salts. This is not only because they are lacking in his diet but also because of the fact that the blood, suffering from a deficiency of alkaline properties, seizes upon the bones, hair, and all of the strong tissues of the body, and the result is a generally lowered resistance to disease.

The bald man is never a healthy man and can never become strong with abundant vitality unless the vital salts such as silicon are supplied to his system through the use of such foods as the whole grains, milk, eggs and the succulent greens which are all so rich in the bone-building and hair-building elements. If the hair roots have been entirely starved to death, there is no treatment or diet which can restore life to them, but the rest of the body will quickly respond as the hungry blood seizes upon these life-giving minerals.

Questions and Answers

Question—L. H. G. writes: "I have tuberculosis in an advanced stage but am 30 pounds overweight. I eat lightly. Do you think a fast would help me?"

Answer—As your assimilation is so good, you can no doubt be entirely cured through the proper dietary regime. Take a fruit fast until your weight is reduced to the normal, and then live on a diet free from starches and sugars. Others who read this will see that those who are overweight can develop tuberculosis. In this disease, it is not so much a question of lack of weight as of enervation and a tendency to catarrhal mucus.

Question—Mrs. R. G. B. asks: "Would the advertised remedy —— be good for diabetes?"

Answer—I do not advise "remedies" either through this column or in my private practice. Proper food is the only remedy you need to bring about a cure of diabetes. If you will send me your name and address I will be glad to forward general instructions for the cure of diabetes.

Question—H. L. J. writes: "About four times a year I have spells when I "see things" in front of my eye. They look like little electric sparks. At these times I also have indigestion. Could this be the cause?"

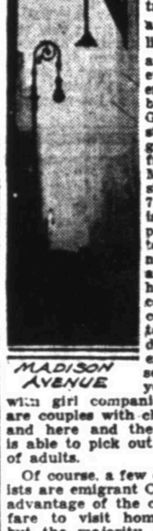

Answer—You have answered your own question, as the disturbances coming from indigestion are no doubt responsible for the biliousness you have at these times.

The Day Book of a New Yorker
By BURTON RASCOE

MADISON AVENUE

NEW YORK, May 2. — Manhattan is wet, but Montreal is wetter, and up there liquor is cheaper and safer. So every Friday afternoon at 4, a line begins to form in Grand Central station before the gate of the track from which the Montreal excursion departs at 7:30. By 7 there is a jovial mob of persons, anxious to spend two nights—one going and one coming, hunched in uncomfortable day coaches, in order to drink in freedom. Most of the excursionists one sees in line are young men, some with girl companions, but a few are couples with children in arms; and here and there the observer is able to pick out a whole family of adults.

Of course, a few of the excursionists are emigrant Canadians taking advantage of the cheap round trip fare to visit home folks briefly, but the majority of the travelers take the trip as temporary refugees from prohibition.

Just as excursions to Pittsburgh, or Cincinnati, or Atlantic City, or Washington, or New York, are events in the lives of hinterlanders, so are such trips to Niagara Falls, or Montreal, or Boston, memorable occasions to New Yorkers. The folks who come into New York each week end to view Grant's tomb and lesser sights of the biggest city are counterbalanced by those who go forth from Manhattan's environs to see such wonders as cows and trees and (in Montreal) bars in which you can drink without fear of blindness.

New York is the place the freak fortunes are made. There is the man, now in the Social Register, who mined millions from theater program advertising. There is the man who got rich from the syndicate that has the hat-checking concession in most of the restaurants. And there is the man who achieved Park avenue through ownership of nickel-in-the-slot musical instruments he placed in hundreds of speakeasies and other joy palaces. And there also is the man who is retiring and traveling around the world on the interest of the money he amassed in hot-dog stands.

"They're yours, take 'em away," piped the sergeant above the uproar.

The Story Thus Far

Spotswoode had gone out with the "Canary" the evening of the murder. When he left, he asked Jessup, on the switchboard, to call him a cab. "Then," said Jessup, "we heard Miss Odell scream. We ran back to her door and she was all right." But the next morning she was found strangled. Vance thinks two men were in the room when she was murdered, one of them hiding in a clothes closet. Cleaver is questioned and gives an alibi. But he mentions Dr. Lindquist as a possible source of information.

CHAPTER VIII

(Tuesday, September 11; 9 p. m.)

Ten minutes later we were ringing the bell of a stately old brownstone house in East 44th street.

A resplendently caparisoned butler opened the door, and Markham presented his card.

"Take this to the doctor at once, and say that it's urgent."

"The doctor is just finishing dinner," the stately seneschal informed him; and conducted us into a richly furnished reception-room, with deep comfortable chairs, silken draperies and subdued lights.

"A typical gynecologist's seraglio," observed Vance, looking around. "I'm sure the pasha himself is a majestic and elegant personage."

The prediction proved true. Doctor Lindquist entered the room a moment later inspecting the district attorney's card as if it had been a cuneiform inscription whose import he could not quite decipher.

He was a tall man in his late forties, with bushy hair and eyebrows, and a complexion abnormally pale. His face was long, and, despite the asymmetry of his features, he might easily have been called handsome. He was in dinner clothes and he carried himself with the self-conscious precision of a man unduly impressed with his own importance. He seated himself at a kidney-shaped desk of carved mahogany, and lifted his eyes with polite inquiry to Markham.

"To what am I indebted for the honor of this call?" he asked in a studiously melodious voice, lingering over each word caressingly. "You are most fortunate to have found me in." he added, before Markham could speak. "I confer with patients only by appointment." One felt that he experienced a certain humiliation at having received us without elaborate ceremonial preliminaries.

Markham, whose nature was opposed to all circumlocution and pretense, came direct to the point.

"This isn't a professional consultation, doctor; but it happens that I want to speak to you about one of your former patients—a Miss Margaret Odell."

Doctor Lindquist regarded the gold paper-weight before him with vacantly reminiscent eyes.

"Ah, yes, Miss Odell. I was just reading of her violent end. A most unfortunate and tragic affair . . . In just what way can I be of service to you?—You understand, of course, that the relationship between a physician and his patient is one of sacred confidence—"

"I understand that thoroughly," Markham assured him abruptly. "On the other hand, it is the sacred duty of every citizen to assist the authorities in bringing a murderer to justice. And if there is anything you can tell me which will help toward that end, I shall certainly expect you to tell me."

The doctor raised his hand slightly in polite protestation.

"I shall, of course, do all I can to assist you, if you will but indicate your desires."

"There's no need to beat about the bush, doctor," said Markham. "I know that Miss Odell was a patient of yours for a long time; and I realize that it is highly possible, not to say probable, that she told you certain personal things which may have direct bearing on her death."

"But, my dear Mr.—" —Doctor Lindquist glanced ostentatiously at the card—"ah—Markham, my relations with Miss Odell were of a purely professional character."

"I had understood, however," ventured Markham, "that, while what you say may be technically true, nevertheless there was an informality, let me say, in that relationship. Perhaps I may state it better by saying that your professional attitude transcended a merely scientific interest in her case."

I heard Vance chuckle softly; and I myself could hardly suppress a smile at Markham's verbose and orbicular accusation. But Doctor Lindquist, it seemed, was in no wise disconcerted. Assuming an air of beguiling pensiveness, he said:

"I will confess, in the interests of strict accuracy, that during my somewhat protracted treatment of her case, I came to regard the young woman with a certain—shall I say, fatherly liking? But I doubt if she was even aware of this mild sentiment on my part."

The corners of Vance's mouth twitched slightly. He was sitting with drowsy eyes, watching the doctor with a look of studious amusement.

"And she never at any time told you of any private or personal affairs that were causing her anxiety?" persisted Markham.

Doctor Lindquist pyramided his fingers, and appeared to give the question his undivided thought.

"No, I can't recall a single statement of that nature." His words were measured and urbane. "I know, naturally, in a general way, her manner of living; but the details, you will readily perceive, were wholly outside my province as a medical consultant. The disorganization of her nerves was due—so my diagnosis led me to conclude—to late hours, excitement, irregular and rich eating—what. I believe, is referred to vulgarly as going the pace. The modern woman, in this febrile age, sir—"

"When did you see her last, may I ask?" Markham interrupted impatiently.

The doctor made a pantomime of eloquent surprise.

"When did I see her last? . . . Let me see." He could, apparently, recall the occasion only with considerable difficulty. "A fortnight ago, perhaps—thought it may have been longer. I really can't recall. . . . Shall I refer to my files?"

"That won't be necessary," said Markham. He paused, and regarded the doctor with a look of disarming affability. "And was this last visit a paternal or merely a professional one?"

"Professional, of course." Doctor Lindquist's eyes were impassive and only mildly interested; but his face, I felt, was by no means the unedited reflection of his thoughts.

"Did the meeting take place here or at her apartment?"

"I believe I called on her at her home."

"You called on her a great deal, doctor—so I am informed—and at rather unconventional hours . . . Is this entirely in accord with your practice of seeing patients only by appointment?"

Markham's tone was pleasant, but from the nature of his question I knew that he was decidedly irritated by the man's bland hypocrisy, and felt that he was deliberately withholding relevant information.

Before Doctor Lindquist could reply, however, the butler appeared at the door and silently indicated an extension telephone on a taboret beside the desk. With an unctuously murmured apology, the doctor turned and lifted the receiver.

Vance took advantage of this opportunity to scribble something on a piece of paper and pass it surreptitiously to Markham.

His call completed, Doctor Lindquist drew himself up haughtily, and faced Markham with chilling scorn.

"Is it the function of the district attorney," he asked distantly, "to harass respectable physicians with insulting questions? I did not know that it was illegal—or even original, for that matter—for a doctor to visit his patients."

"I am not discussing now"—Markham emphasized the adverb—"your infractions of the law; but since you suggest a possibility which, I assure you, was not in my mind, would you be good enough to tell me—merely as a matter of form—where you were last night between 11 and 12?"

The question produced a startling effect. Doctor Lindquist became suddenly like a tautly drawn rope, and, rising slowly and stiffly, he glared, with cold intense venom, at the district attorney. His velvety mask had fallen off; and I detected another emotion beneath his repressed anger; his expression cloaked a fear, and his wrath but partly veiled a passionate uncertainty.

"My whereabouts last night is of no concern of yours." He spoke with great effort, his breath coming and going noisily.

Markham waited, apparently unmoved, his eyes riveted on the trembling man before him. This calm scrutiny completely broke down the other's self-control.

"What do you mean by forcing yourself in here with your contemptible insinuations?" he shouted. His face, now livid and mottled, was hideously contorted; his hands made spasmodic movements; and his whole body shook as with a tremor. "Get out of here—you and your two myrmidons! Get out, before I have you thrown out!"

Markham, himself enraged now, was about to reply, when Vance took him by the arm.

"The doctor is gently hinting that we go," he said. And with amazing swiftness he spun Markham round, and led him firmly out of the room.

When we were again in the taxicab on our way back to the club, Vance sniggered gaily.

"A sweet specimen, that! Paranoia. Or, more likely, manic-depressive insanity—the folie circulaire type; recurring periods of maniacal excitement alternating with periods of the clearest sanity, don't y' know. Anyway, the doctor's disorder belongs in the category of psychoses—associated with the maturation or warning of the sexual instinct. He's just the right age, too. Neurotic degenerate—that's what this oily Hippocrates is. In another minute he would have attacked you . . . My word! It's a good thing I came to the rescue. Such chaps are about as safe as rattlesnakes."

LOS ANGELES. — The investment of Elwood Albott, 17-year-old Pasadena schoolboy, last summer has made him quite a chunk of money. He grubstaked "Dad" Allen, gold prospector, with $15 and now has $150,000, his share of the claim which Allen developed.

As Told by Them to

FRANK ERNEST NICHOLSON

By ALFRED EMANUEL SMITH

Governor Al Smith is the finished product of a rough-hewn lad who, through the agony and glory of American opportunity, has battered his way up from the sidewalks of New York. He stands 5 feet 7, and is every inch a politician.

Al Smith was a clerk in a fish market in 1883. He was a clerk in the office of the commissioner of jurors in 1895. He became the Democratic leader in the assembly in 1911, speaker for the assembly in 1913, delegate to the state constitutional convention in 1915, sheriff of New York in 1915-17. President of the board of aldermen of greater New York in 1918 and has been the governor of the state of New York since 1919.

In between times, during his youthful days, Al was the leading amateur factor in theatricals on New York's East Side.

There's a lot of controversy going on about Al Smith and the Volstead act. Maybe the drys are sore because they have no kick comin'.

Some of the drys claim prohibition has made America steadier—but maybe it's made it just Volsteadier. Well, perhaps prohibition would be more of a force if it was less of a farce.

Anyhow, Columbus was right: He sighted dry land.

"I believe the funniest story I ever heard," Al told me, "actually happened in Tammany hall.

"The story refers to a well-known Tammany politician, who has a 'grand' oratorical style. He was well known to the hall as Jimmy.

"On this particular day he rose before the assemblage in the auditorium, and, in a forceful and solemn tone, began his address as follows:

"'God is my witness and you, my fellow citizens, are gentlemen of the jury!'

"There was an oratorical pause, and then the silence was broken by a high-pitched voice which rang down from the gallery:

"'You're guilty, Jimmy'!"

ALFRED EMANUEL SMITH

There is a precept in baseball that to win a pennant a club must break even with the contenders and beat the other nines. That being the case our Spudders are now headed for another title. Thanks to an 8-to-7 defeat of the Waco Cubs yesterday at Athletic park the champions gained on their foremost rivals, with the margin of a full game over the Houston Buffs, who were beaten by Dallas and a half game over the Fort Worth Cats, who were idle.

The pastime here was one of those affairs interesting to the good patrons, free hitting, uncertain—with the home club finally winning. It was anybody's ball game all the way, but the Spudders won by making their hits count to greater advantage and with the aid of misplays.

Williams' men smacked 12 hits off Caldwell and Gallavan while Joe Kiefer yielded 14 blows. But hard and timely clouting, notably by Fitzgerald, Benton and Stanton, excellent infielding and noble relief chucking by George Payne saved the day.

Hard Clouting

Fitzgerald crashed a home run over the left field wall in the fifth inning with two comrades on bases and got two other hits. Benton and Stanton also smacked a trio of clouts each, a brace of George's drives going for two bases and one of Rabbit's wallops good for a double. Fitz had a prefect day at bat in three times up.

Payne went to the rescue of Joe Kiefer in the seventh inning with two out and a runner on third, after the Cubs had tallied four in that round. George retired the first man to face him, in that inning and turned back the enemy in order in the eighth and ninth. Of the seven Cubs who batted against George, only one hit the ball out of the infield. It was another superb display of hurling by the ace of the Spudder hill corps.

The Cubs led for four innings with a run in the first inning and two in the fourth. The homelings went ahead with five in the fifth and three in the sixth. Gallavan chucked the last two innings and was effective but the game had been stowed away way before he arrived on the scene.

Caldwell pitched creditable ball until the fifth when two infield hits and a pair of errors set the stage for Fitzgerald's Ruthian clout. Caldwell hit a home run in the second inning that scored a mate ahead of him.

Spud Infield Glitters

There was some nifty fielding despite the wet, heavy footing, mixed with loose defensive play. The Spudder infielders, all four of them, were notable glittering luminaries in the defensive play and it was thanks largely to them that the foe was prevented from scoring more runs.

The Cubs scored in the first inning. Windle singled to left, was sacrificed by Mallonee, Swenson to Stanton, and scored on Blackerby's single to right.

Caldwell's homer over the left field wall tallied Shires, who had walked, in the third.

The Spudders started their attack in the fifth. Stanton was safe on a high bounder to Shires, with one out. Cobb singled to Windle. Kiefer hit safely to left. Stanton scoring when Hooten juggled the ball. Pratt let Hooten's throw-in go past him. J. Cobb tallying. Kiefer and Benton singled to left. Kiefer took third on Turgeon's lift to Hooten. Fitzgerald hit over the left field barrier for a home run, Kiefer and Benton rambling home ahead.

Champions Win in Sixth

Three more were added by the champs in the sixth. Jenkins was hit by a pitched ball. Caldwell threw wild to second on Swenson's tap and both runners were safe. Stanton hit to right for two bases, Jenkins scoring and Swenson pulling up at third. Cobb grounded to Brown, Kiefer fanned. Benton doubled to right, Stanton scoring.

The Cubs fell short one of tying in the seventh, though they scored four. Mallonee started it with a double to right. Benton tossed out Blackerby. Pratt singled to center, Malonee stopping at third. Brown forced Pratt, Benton to Turgeon, Mallonee scoring. Shires doubled to right, his third hit and second two-base knock. Brown going to third. Both scored on Hooten's sharp hit to center, and Hooten went to third when the ball rolled by Fitzgerald. Johnson batted for Caldwell and Payne relieved Kiefer. Johnson popped to Benton and the next six batters in following innings went out, one-two-three.

Texas—Cradle of Baseball

With the majors and most of the minor leagues in the thick of their annual baseball campaigns the state of Texas takes its place as the leading diamond territory on the face of the world.

The Lone Star folk boast that more baseball jewels in the rough are discovered in Texas than in any other state and that when it comes to having cities in organized baseball leagues the big commonwealth is far and away ahead of the rest.

At present Texas has representatives in no less than six leagues, two of which are hefty class A organizations—the Texas league and the Western. The Texas is almost exclusively a Lone Star aggregation, as are the Texas Valley, West Texas and the Lone Star leagues.

Twenty-four or more cities at this writing are enjoying league baseball. These towns include Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, San Antonio, Beaumont, Waco, Wichita Falls, Amarillo, Corpus Christi, Laredo, Mission, Edinburg, Texarkana, Mexia, Corsicana, Tyler, Palestine, Paris, Abilene, San Angelo, Midland, Hamlin, Coleman and Lubbock.

It's no wonder that many great baseball stars have come from the Lone Star state to stardom in the big time. The very latest recruit is Andy Cohen, sensational young second baseman of the New York Giants, who calls El Paso his home.

The great star whose place on the Giants Andy Cohen took, is none other than Rogers Hornsby, also a Texan. Hornsby was born at Winters, Texas, and first saw baseball service on the sandlot diamonds of the big state.

Tris Speaker, whose play may have a great deal to do with the success or failure of the Philadelphia Athletics, was born in Hubbard, Texas. Speaker's first league experience was gained with the Cleburne, Texas team, while Hornsby got his baseball start with Dallas.

Bib Falk, of the Chicago White Sox outfield, and Ted Blankenship star hurler of the same team, are Texans. Falk was born here in Austin and Blankenship first saw light of day in the Texas town of Bonham. Two other White Sox Texans are Catcher Harry McCurdy, of Houston, and Pitcher George Connally, of McGregor.

The Brooklyn Dodgers claim Max West, of Dallas, while Catcher Glenn Myatt, of the Cleveland Indians, is another Houston boy.

Elton Langford, the young Cleveland outfield sensation this spring, is from Georgetown, Texas, while Pete Donohue, Cincinnati Reds' pitcher, hails from Athens, a Lone Star hamlet.

Dallas Hits Timely And Schuman Is Effective

DALLAS, Texas, May 3. (AP)—Delivering in the pinches and hustling on the base paths, the Steers evened the series with the Houston Buffaloes Thursday by winning, 5 to 1, behind Dickie Schuman, who kept the Bisons eight hits well scattered.

The game was delayed by rain in the middle of the second. Score:

Notes of the Game

Steengrafe probably will oppose Jake Freeze today in the final of the series.

This is ladies' day.

Fitzgerald looked safe in stealing second in the first inning. But Howard took no chances on protesting, even mildly, with Donahue.

Hooten made a corking snatch of Jenkins' foul near the stands in the fourth.

Jenkins was purposely passed in the seventh and Swenson also walked. But the inning was unproductive of scoring.

Art Shires had a big day with three hits, including two doubles. He also flashed some excellent fielding.

Stanton crossed up the drawn-in Waco infield in the sixth when he slashed a double to right instead of bunting, scoring one runner and sending another to third.

The Spudder infield handled 38 chances flawlessly in a superb display of defensive work. Turgeon accepted 11 chances.

Swenson started a fast double play in the second when he grabbed Caldwell's harsh grounder to his left with Wolgamot on first and Shires on third.

DAILY DOPE

By LARRY DAILEY

FIRST INTERSECTIONAL clashes of the campaign open today in the major leagues. Long treks of the eastern National clubs in the West and of the western American teams in the East will do much to bring the real contenders to the top and eliminate the nines that will seek their proper levels in the obscurity of the second division.

◇ ◇ ◇

The big league teams are not yet playing "to form." The Cubs, enjoying an excellent training season and looming as contenders again, have been a disappointment and occupy a lowly place. The Cardinals and champion Pirates haven't played pennant-winning ball, though they have given recent indications of better things to come.

◇ ◇ ◇

The Brooklyn Robins still are in the first division, but gave recent evidence of falling when they lost a three-game series to the Giants. The Cincinnati Reds have been a surprise, hovering near the top. The Giants have played good ball in all departments to take the lead.

◇ ◇ ◇

It becomes increasingly clear that the American league race again will be a two-club fight. The Yankees are in their customary place, out in front, and except for the Athletics, seem in little danger. Cleveland doubtless is playing over its head, although the rejuvenated Indians may maintain a clip to win a first division berth. The Tigers and Sentors have been woeful flops and unless they show speedy improvement no relief from the ascendancy held by the Yanks can be looked for in that quarter. The young Browns have played excellent ball, but it is too much to expect them to keep up the pace. Two other American league clubs were out of the race before it started.

◇ ◇ ◇

HEAVYWEIGHT fights are interesting. You never know who wins.

◇ ◇ ◇

Dempsey knocked out or fouled Sharkey.

◇ ◇ ◇

Dempsey knocked out Tunney or lost to Tunney.

◇ ◇ ◇

Risko beat everybody in the "ellmination" tournament. Heeney was named to fight Tunney.

◇ ◇ ◇

Sharkey knocked out Delaney in the first round. It was the first k. o. in an important heavyweight battle since lots of water has flowed under the bridge.

◇

It surprised the New York commissioners so that they are investigating.

◇ ◇ ◇

You never know who wins. But there's no doubt who loses.

◇ ◇ ◇

It's the patron who pays and pays and pays.

SPUDDERS BUY VET GARDENER

Brick Eldred From Seattle Reluctant to Report

Reinforcements have been acquired for the Spudders—maybe. Brick Eldred, a hard-hitting, outfielder has been purchased from the Seattle club of the Pacific Coast league. But the deal is conditional upon Eldred's willingness to report, which seems doubtful.

Eldred has pastimed for eight seasons for the Seattle club and thinks he is entitled to an unconditional release, to make him a free agent and at liberty to negotiate for his services, perhaps with another Coast league club.

Friend of Williams.

Brick played with Skipper Carl Williams at Seattle, thinks a lot of the boss and has nothing against playing here. Except that he figures he can better himself out in the far west. Transportation was wired yesterday to Eldred at his home at Sacramento, Calif., and there is a possibility that he will report here.

The new Wichita Falls acquisition (if he is acquired) is a right-hand batter and thrower. In the last six seasons he has a grand batting average of .338. He hit .325 in 122 games last campaign in that class AA circuit.

Bought for Fancy Sum.

In the event Eldred joins the Spudders he will be used as a pinch-hitter and for emergency outfield duty, according to present plans.

Eldred is purchased for one of the highest sums ever paid by a Texas league club, according to President J. Alvin Gardner, who did not make public the amount.

Morris Bests Orwoll In Pitchers' Battle

BOSTON, May 3. (AP)—Philadelphia's winning streak of seven straight was shattered today when Big Ed Morris, right-hand recruit from Mobile, piloted the Red Sox to a 3 to 1 decision over the Athletics in the last game of the series. He held the Mackmen to four hits, the first of which was Ty Cobb's double in the seventh. Cobb subsequently scored the visitors' only run. Score:

DELANEY AND SHARKEY BITTERLY DENY 'FAKE' ACCUSATIONS

RUMORS BEGUN BY GAMBLERS

Nothing to Show Fight Not On Up and Up

By GEORGE KIRKSEY,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, May 3.—Accusations that Jack Sharkey's sensational one-round knockout of Jack Delaney was a frame-up have drawn bitter denials from the two participants.

Jack Delaney, from his home at Bridgeport, Conn., announced today that he would welcome a thorough investigation of the bout and his training methods by the New York State Athletic commission. He said he was more than eager to aid the commission in the investigation in order to clear his name of all taint.

"That is what I get after being completely knocked out for the first time in six years," Delaney said. "I was down for the first time since I won recognition as a good fighter. I was not used to being on the floor and got up too quickly the first time.

"The boxing game has made me wealthy and I'll spend some of my money to clear my good name. This is the first time in ten years of fighting that my integrity has been questioned."

Sharkey Indifferent.

Laboring under the impression that all fight fans hate him, Sharkey, from Boston, announced he didn't care what they thought or said about him.

"I fight the greatest fight of my career," Sharkey said, "and what do I profit by it among the fans. They call me 'yellow' when I lose and say I am 'crooked' when I win. I don't give a damn what they say, that Delaney knockout was on the level. Anyone who knows anything about fighting and who saw the match could see that."

There is nothing but the rumors of a group of gamblers on which to base the charges of "crooked work." The whole story is tacked on to the fact that the odds jumped from 8 to 5 to 3½ to 1 on Sharkey about thirty minutes before the fighters entered the ring.

Little Wagering.

The truth of the matter is there might as well have raised the odds to 100 to 1 as far as the betting was concerned. There was no betting. A paltry $5 banknote offered on Delaney at odds of 1 to 3½ went begging right at the ringside shortly before the bell.

The strangest thing about the whole affair is why Jimmy Johnston, New York representative and 10 per cent manager of Sharkey, started rumors that Delaney did not train for the bout.

Doc Casey, Delaney's faithful trainer, Joe Jacobs, his manager, and Delaney himself have denied Johnstons story and the facts string along with the Delaney crowd. Delaney weighed 178 pounds, half a pound lighter than he did for the Heeney fight, which seems to counteract Johnston's story.

Both Train Properly.

It is true that Delaney laid off training for several days, but he did this because he was of the opinion that he worked too hard for Heeney and he wanted to weigh as near as 180 pounds as possible for Sharkey.

On the other hand, Sharkey was right physically and mentally for this bout. He trained outdoors for the first time in his career and was in the best physical shape he has reached since he exploded the myth surrounding Harry Wills at Ebbets field in 1926.

Mac Smith to Play Compston in N. Y.

SANDWICH, Eng., May 3. (AP)—Archie Compston, after going around the Prince's course today in 70, one under par, announced that terms had been definitely agreed upon for a 72-hole golf match with MacDonald Smith in New York. Thirty-six holes will be at the Lakeville Golf and Country club, Smith's home course at Great Neck, Long Island.

It was understood that the stake will be $5000 a side.

The dates for the play in the United States have not been agreed upon but they will be between the close of the British open, May 19, and the start of the United States open at Chicago June 21.

Gavuzzi Widens Lead Over Payne

PONTIAC, Ill., May 3. (AP)—The English "iron man," Peter Gavuzzi, picked up a day's growth of beard and a wider lead over his nearest opponent, Andrew Payne, Claremore, Okla., in the sixty-first lap of the transcontinental bunion derby today.

While Harry Rea, Los Angeles, finished first in the day's 34.7-mile lap, from Normal, Ill., to Pontiac, in 4:05:21, Gavuzzi came in for a triple tie for second place, boosting his lead in the 2300 miles travelled so far to 5:19:36 over the youthful Payne, who finished the lap in a tie for tenth place. Payne ran the 34.7 miles in 4:50:55 and was tied with Roy McMurtry, Minneapolis, Gavuzzi, John Salo, Passaic, N. J., and Olli Wanttinen, New York, made the lap in 4:32:03.

Gavuzzi's total time for the distance from Los Angeles, the starting point of the derby, is 376:21:52; Payne's is 381:41:28. By his performance today the Southampton, England, runner proved he was not cracking. Yesterday he finished in a tie for sixteenth place for the sixtieth lap after shaving his beard for the first time since he left the west coast.

Tomorrow's lap is from Pontiac to Joliet.

Olympic Tryouts For Girls in July

NEW YORK, May 3.—Olympic try-outs for American girl athletes who will represent this country at Amsterdam this summer will be held in New York early in July. The American Olympic committee plans to send at least 20 girls to compete in the five events on the track and field program.

Fred L. Steers of Chicago is chairman of the committee in charge of the women's team, and in a recent report to the Olympic committee he predicted that the United States team would score in every event with the possible exception of the 800-meters run. Girls in this country have not been encouraged, until the past two years, to participate in races longer than 100 meters, he said.

John L.'s Claim to World Title Again Is Subject for Argument

Charles F. Mathison Takes Damon Runyon to Task for According That Honor to "Strong Boy" Sullivan

By DAMON RUNYON
Copyright, 1928, by Universal Service

NEW YORK, May 3.—What—again!!!

Is it possible that the ancient argument as to whether John L. Sullivan was ever heavyweight champion of the world is once more before the house?

Well, it seems so.

And it also seems that I brought it upon my own head by an inadvertent crack in this column recently.

I said that James J. Corbett won that title from Sullivan. Whereupon, Mr. Charles F. Mathison, the famous old-time boxing authority, takes typewriter in fist, and harangues me at length. Mr. Mathison has always advanced the claim that James J. Jeffries was America's first heavyweight champion of the world, and he presents the dope to prove his assertion.

He takes the world's title from all those who went before Jeffries, but he cheerfully awards it to those who followed the old boilermaker, casting no aspersions upon the crown as it is now dignifiedly worn by Mr. Tunney.

I think you will find Mr. Mathison's letter of interest. It follows:

Mathison's Letter

"Just as it seemed that the question of John L. Sullivan's right to the title of heavyweight champion of the world had been laid to rest it was suddenly resurrected by the declaration by you to the effect that Corbett won that honor from the Boston strong boy. If Gentleman Jim captured the world's championship from Sullivan it follows as a matter of course that the man who defeated Paddy Ryan must have had the honor concealed about his person when he entered the ring with Corbett.

"Unquetsionably Ryan must have been in possession of the bauble when he faced John L. at Mississippi City in 1882, and as the trojan giant won the only title he ever held from the aged by crafty Joe Goss in 1880, it must be admitted that Goss gained the world's championship from Tom Allen, through the medium of a foul in 1876.

"Unfortunately for the claimants of a clear descent of the world title from Allen to Goss, to Ryan to Sullivan, to Corbett to Fitzsimmons, Jem Mace, heavyweight champion of England, arrived in America in 1869, and was matched with Tom Allen, holder of the American championship.

"They met at Kennerville, Iowa, May 10, 1870, in a bout for the world's heavyweight championship.

Only One Title

"Mace won by a knockout in 10 rounds, so that when Allen and Goss battled in 1876 the former had but one title, that of America, to risk. It was that honor that went booming down the centuries until it rested proudly in the heavy fist of John L. Sullivan.

"In enumerating reasons for conferring the world's championship on Sullvian his myriad admirers have placed themselves on record as follows:

1—"'Because he was.

"This naturally is ruled out as irrelevant, immaterial and unconvincing.

2—"'He licked everybody.'

"This also is ruled out for the reason of obvious inaccuracy, as history proves that Sullivan did not lick Peter Jackson, Frank Slavin, Joe Goddard, Dominick McCaffrey, Charlie Mitchell, Joe Choynski, Bob Fitzsimmons and several other able fighters who were eager for matches with Sullivan when he was at his best.

3—"'He won the world's title when he defeated Kilrain, the latter having beaten Jem Smith, champion of England.'

"Ruled out for the reason that Kilrain did not beat Smith, their bout going 106 rounds to a draw.

4—"'He won the world's title when he beat Paddy Ryan.'

"It is unlikely that if the bout between Sullivan and Paddy Ryan in 1882 involved the world's championship the fact would have been omitted in the articles of agreement. This document, which was signed in this city, declares that the battle was for the championship of America. I quote from the articles:

The Articles

"'Articles of agreement entered into the fifth day of October, 1881, at the Police Gazette office, between John L. Sullivan of Boston, Mass., and Patrick Ryan, of Troy, N. Y. The said John L. Sullivan and Patrick Ryan do hereby agree to fight a fair, standup fight, according to the new rules of the prize ring, by which the said Sullivan and Ryan mutually agree to be bound.

"The said fight shall be for the sum of $2500 a side and the championship of America, to take place on the seventh day of February, 1882, within 100 miles of New Orleans.'

"Harry Hill was named as the final stakeholder and each principal posted a preliminary forfeit of $500. Billy Madden, represented Sullivan and W. E. Harding signed for Ryan.

"Possibly some of the ingenious admirers of Sullivan may be able to adduce some convincing facts as to how the Boston boy captured the elusive world's championship, and if so the evidence will be studied with interest.

First World Battle

"The first international battles for the world's title were fought in England, John C. Heenan representing America, in contests with Tom Sayers and Tom King in the early sixties. Although Heenan beat Tom Sayers and King, the American was defrauded of his victories and title.

"The next international battle was between Mace and Allen in 1870, and Mace retired without losing title. Peter Jackson defeated Jem Smith, champion of England, in 1890, and stopped Frank Slavin for the championship of Europe and Australia, in 1892, the same year in which Corbett dethroned Sullivan.

"Six years later Jackson came to America and was beaten by Jeffries. Jackson was far from his early form, but no one had beaten him for his title until Jeffries stopped him. Jeffries then defeated Fitz for the American title, and thus became America's first champion of the world. Jeff retired in 1905, his title lapsing, and Tommy Burns beat the best of a poor lot for the American championship. Burns then beat Gunner Moir, English champion, and Bill Squires, Australian titleholder, thus re-establishing the world's championship. The honor descended to Jack Johnson, to Jess Willard, to Jack Dempsey, to Gene Tunney."

Pope Disapproves Girls' Athletics

ROME, May 3.—Pope Pius today expressed stern displeasure over the growing popularity of athletic competition for girls. While he placed the stamp of the church's disapproval on the athletic games for girls to be held in Rome next month, the condemnation is, far more sweeping for in more than a score of important nations hundreds of young women are in training for the Olympic games which will be held in Amsterdam this summer.

Pope Pius' criticism of the modern trend in sports, which admits women to the athletic fields of the world on a basis of equality with men, was contained in a letter directed to his vicary, Cardinal Pompiell, and referred only to the athletic meet for girls in Rome next month, the first in the city's history.

"The Roman bishops must deplore," the pontiff wrote, "that after 20 centuries of Christianity, Rome is showing less respect for its young women than pagan Rome, which excluded them from athletic competitions."

By a coincidence this condemnation of the entry of girls into the sterner forms of recreations comes but a few months before the Olympic barriers against women are to be dropped.

Dr. Peltzer, Injured, May Be Out of Olympics

WICKESDORF, Germany, May 3. (AP)—The running idol of all Germany, Dr. Otto Peltzer, may be lost to the Teutonic Olympic cause through an ankle injury suffered during a handball game in a field day at Poessneck on Sunday.

The German half-mile ace, who holds the world's outdoor record of 1:51 3-5 for that distance as well as record performances for the 500 and 800 meters, fell in a general scuffle during the play. The injury at first was not considered serious, but physicians now fear that weeks may elapse before the runner can resume training.

Giant Star

Edd J. Roush, veteran outfielder of the New York Giants, was born May 8, 1893, at Oakland City, Ind.

He started as a pitcher with the Evansville club, of the Kitty league, in 1912, and in 1913 stuck with the club when it was moved up into the Central league.

The same year the Chicago White Sox obtained him from the Hoosier club and farmed him to Lincoln in the Western league. However, Roush jumped to Indianapolis, of the Federal league, in 1914, and the following year went to Newark in the outlaw circuit.

Reinstated when the league died, in 1916, Roush was taken on by the New York Giants, who traded him with Christy Mathewson and Bill McKechnie to Cincinnati for Buck Herzog and Wade Killefer.

In 1919, Roush played in his only World series, when the Reds met the White Sox. He was sent back to the Giants and joined them in 1917, where he has played ever since.

Roush bats and throws left-handed, stands five feet 11 inches in height and weighs about 175 pounds. His life big league batting average is .330.

GRANDFIELD, Okla., May 3.—Hollister defeated Grandfield, 2 to 1, in a pitchers' battle in a Cotton Belt league game yesterday. By agreement only played seven innings.

Stephenson pitched six innings and only allowed one hit, and only 20 men facing him, only to lose in the seventh when six men faced him, three hitting safely and scoring two, which ended the game.

Robertson of Hollister allowed only three hits, which were scattered through as many innings. Burleson's failure to get runners at first lost the game.

CHAMPION TO PLAY GLENNA

Miss Collett Draws Title Holder in British Golf

LONDON, May 3. (AP)—The luck of the golf draw for pairings in the British women's championship today decreed that Mlle. Simone Thion de la Chaume, defending champion, or Miss Glenna Collett, the most serious America threat, will be removed in the first round of the tournament starting May 14.

An unkind golf fate that throws these two sterling women players in a match in the first test will deprive the gallery of anticipated relish in following their play, with a possibility before the draw that they would be the survivors at the final.

Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd of Philadelphia, former British women's champion, who also has won the United States title three times, drew a first round bye.

Three Michigan women players, Mrs. Stewart Hanley, Miss Madge Miller and Miss E. Curtis, also will seek the British crown.

The American women golfers are not alone in their quest for British honors. As they were learning their pairings, men golfers from the United States were practicing at Sandwich for the open which begins Monday. Archie Compston, after his victory over Walter Hagen, has been installed a co-favorite with Abe Mitchell.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, May 3. (AP)—Continuance of favorable weather reports was reflected in more active selling in the cotton market today and a break of $3 a bale in prices. After selling off to 21.00 early, July rallied about 20 points, but weakened again, declining to 20.60 in late trading and closing at that figure, compared with 21.23 at the close the previous day. The general market closed barely steady, at net declines of 58 to 66 points.

The market opened steady at a decline of 1 to 3 points and after a little irregularity showed net losses of 23 to 28 points under liquidation by recent buyers, together with local Wall street selling promoted by favorable weather reports and relatively easy Liverpool cables.

This decline brought in a renewal of the recent buying movement. There also may have been some covering by sellers of yesterday owing to the failure of early reports to show as much rain as expected in West Texas. Prices just about recovered their early losses, but demand tapered off at the advance, and the market weakened again during the afternoon.

The weather details showing showers at several points in West Texas probably contributed to the more reactionary average of sentiment, particularly as the outlook was for further showers in that section, with the market showing increased weakness as prices on the decline, and the were uncovered on the decline, and the lowest levels of the day were reached in late trading.

NEW ORLEANS, May 3. (AP)—Fears of labor trouble at Lancashire and of the effect of an expected large increase in brokers' loans caused a break of approximately $3 a bale in cotton here today, despite occasional rallies induced by reports of a recurrence of bad weather in the cotton belt.

July, after opening 10 points up at 21.03, dropped to 20.37 in late trading or 66 points down from the high and 56 points under the previous close and closed at 20,42, 53 points net lower for the day. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 53 to 59 points.

Grain

By THOMAS TEMPLE HOYNE
Universal Service.

CHICAGO, May 3.—The bigger they are the harder they fall—bull markets as well as men—and wheat dropped 4 cents today to prove it, finishing the session on the bottom as dead as a flat tire. Corn broke badly with wheat, but had a fair recovery toward late in the day.

At the end wheat was 4¼ to 4½ under the previous close. May wheat showed a loss of 14¾ cents from its high point last Monday. Almost all of this decline came after the publication of private crop reports at 10 o'clock on Tuesday.

You may remember that an advance notice on one of those reports was issued to tell the trade how bullish it was going to be—gratuitous kindness that always should make a grain trader shy at its face value.

Corn finished the erratic session with a loss of ⅝ to 1⅛; oats were ⅛ to ½ better; rye was down 2½ to 4.

Wheat started out hopefully and worked upward a couple of cents from a bottom made early at a cent under the close of the day before. Then the market began to act tired. It struggled to hold its little gain, but it was strained and began to slip slowly.

General Motors Leads Stock Market to Higher Ground While Tractions Show Slump at Close

BY BROADEN WALL
Universal Service Financial Expert

NEW YORK, May 3. (US)—General Motors led the list higher today as the market quieted and waited on the reserve bank meeting scheduled for after the close. Further easing of the call money rate from renewal of 5 to 4½ per cent helped bolster speculative sentiment so that while selling was quite heavy at intervals it was absorbed in good manner.

Tractions were the only group to close with a loss of consequence. They dropped off as heavy profit-taking followed further advance at the opening. Utilities were in best demand as a group with Columbia Gas in best demand. Liggett & Myers scored the best individual gain as it recovered against a crowded short interest. American Can continued in steady demand at rising price levels. As expected the stock exchange governors decided to suspend trading Saturday. Wheat steadied around the lows reached in the previous day's recession in a generally firm grain market, while cotton dropped under realizing.

Increase of $267,000,000 in brokers' loans as reported by the stock exchange, while making a total of over $4,900,000,000, was not as large as expected. It was well under the increase shown for April in the reserve bank figures and less than twice the gain of $137,000,000 reported in the loan figure of the reserve bank for the week ended Wednesday.

General Motors' rise was witnessed coincident with the meeting of the executive committee. While no announcement follows such session it was rumored that the committee would recommend a $2 extra dividend to directors at meeting scheduled for next Thursday. Chrysler followed General Motors' advance in better manner than others in the automobile group. The new "De Soto" is the subject of great interest, while there is expectation that preferred dividend retirement will be acted upon before long. Savage Arms resumed its climb and reached a new high record before profit-taking developed.

Heaviest selling of Interborough and other traction stocks was attributed to some of those who have held stock for more than three years. They let go part of speculative holdings, it was claimed, to quiet down the market in the group as continuance of the excited trading witnessed at the opening, it was felt, would arouse "undesired attention" from "straphangers."

5-Year Record.

The British-American Tobacco company, Ltd., was organized to end a conflict between American and British tobacco interests, the latter represented by the Imperial Tobacco company. In the main, the growth of the British-American company, Ltd., has been along the lines of a holding company. It is, however, engaged directly or indirectly in the manufacture and distribution of tobacco and its products in all forms.

The understanding reached at the time the company was formed, left the American field, with the exception of Canada, to the American interests. But during the summer of 1927, it was announced that the British American Tobacco company had increased its interest in production and manufacturing in the United States, and was preparing to enter the cigarette market of this country. The investments of the company approximate $100,000,000. Net income for the fiscal period ended September 30, 1927, amounted to 6,354,000 pounds, and was a gain of 158,000 pounds, or 2½ per cent over 1926. This net income was equal to 5.3 shillings per ordinary share, compared with 5.1 shillings in 1926. In dollars the per share earnings for the two years were approximately $1.29 a share for 1927, and $1.25 a share for 1926. This income does not include the company's proportion of undivided profits of associated companies in declaring dividends.

There is no funded debt. Capital stock consists of 1,500,000 pounds of 5 per cent cumulative preferred of 1 pound par, and 23,499,606 pounds in ordinary shares of 1 pound par value.

Dividends have been paid regularly on the preferred at the 5 per cent rate and the regular rate on the common is 16 2-3 per cent. In addition, the directors declared a final dividend of 8 pence a share on the common on December 15, 1927, and an interim dividend of 10 pence a share for the year 1927-1928.

As of September 30, 1927, total current assets were 17,694,194 pounds; current liabilities 4,142,448 pounds, and net working capital 13,551,746 pounds. Book value of the ordinary stock was 1 pound 5 shillings and 5 pence.

Curb

Leading Issues on New York Market

NEW YORK, May 3. (AP)—Trends in the curb market were confused today, and while some groups, such as mines, utilities and industrial specialties were strong, there were sagging tendencies elsewhere. Traders apparently were awaiting action of the federal reserve bank of New York this afternoon on the rediscount rate.

Consolidated Copper Mines advanced to a new high at 12⅛ on buying inspired by belief that merger of Kennecott with Nevada and other companies would be a benefit through acquisition of new contracts. Golden Center and Newmont Mines also advanced to new tops, but Bahia, Hudson Bay and others encountered profit-taking. Foundry and machine tool shares continued strong, Campbell Wyant and Bullard invading new high ground. A feature was Brooklyn City Railway. Buying inspired by the granting of a 7-cent fare lifting the issue to a new top at 9⅞ on a large turnover.

Utilities again showed group strength, with General Public Service, Lehigh Power Securities and Mohawk Valley making outstanding gains.

The oils were weak, Penn-Mex Fuel sagging more than 6 points. Vacuum moved upward against the trend.

$200,000 Potash Fund Approved

WASHINGTON, May 3. (AP)—The house mining committee today approved the Winter bill to authorize an appropriation of $200,000 for research in the development of American potash resources.

J. W. Turrentine, of the bureau of soils of the agricultural department, told the committee that America pays Europe $15,000,000 annually for the product while it had large deposits at home.

He described the deposits most available for commercial development as the leucite ores in Wyoming; alumite in Utah, Nevada and Colorado; green sands in New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and Virginia, and in West Texas; obales and sericites in Georgia and other potash bearing minerals in Wisconsin and Ohio. He also pointed out that the "finest potash in the country" was produced at the most isolated deposits, at Searles Lake, California.

Oil Pump Disorder Stops Hart's Flight

CHICKASHA, Okla., May 3. (UP)—A defective oil pump which threw the lubricant over the windshield and fuselage of his Ryan monoplane "Chickasha," forced Joe Hart, endurance pilot, to abandon his world's record attempt today.

Accidents of Air Cause 200 Deaths

WASHINGTON, May 3. (UP)—Aviation accidents last year totalled 200; killed, 164 persons and injured 149, the commerce department reported today. No statistics for previous years are available.

Most of the accidents occurred in unlicensed planes, only 34 licensed planes and eleven licensed pilots being involved. Trans-oceanic flights accounted for many of the deaths and experimental and contest flights ran up the total of fatalities.

FINAL BILL ONE OF BEST

Richards and Church And Toto Featured

By The Record News Crtic

New stuff by Toto and some of the best of the old stuff revamped in lovable fashion by Jack Richards and Billy Church served to make the final vaudeville bill of the season at the Majestic one that will be long remembered and that will make the theater fans happy when vaudeville is resumed next fall.

There is one more day of vaudeville—Friday, and Manager Hans Smith has asked all who can possibly do so, to come early as it will be mighty hard to get good seats at the second show Friday evening. He says those who come early will be sure to get good seats.

"Marcheta," "When You and I Were Young Maggie" and other similar songs were sung by Richards and Church team. This is an old time minstrel combination, and they did excellent work.

Toto proved he is a versatile clown for his act was new throughout. It takes a real artist to appear year after year and then, after many years, have everything bright, new and lively. His shadow dressing stunt is good.

Some girls walk home. Some carry their roller skates, and then some are rather hard boiled and drive the car home themselves while the escort pats the country roads back to town. This was the basis of a novel introduction used by Eugene Costello to introduce the feminity of the "Footlight Frolics." They did some rather good work after they got on the stage, and aided in lending variety to the bill.

Artie Mehlinger, songster and composer sang several songs, and Ervel and Del, tap dancers and harmony singers, rounded out the bill on the stage.

Mary Astor, always good to look at and usually good in her pictures, is seen on the screen in a new picture called "Sailors' Wives." It is a good picture. The Paramount newsreel and a comedy complete the bill.

Bralley Arrives Here With Prisoner Today

Sheriff W. G. Bralley will return from Memphis, Tenn., Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Joe Wilkins, wanted here to answer charges of murder in connection with the fatal shooting last fall of Everett Horn, according to a message received by members of the sheriff's department, Thursday.

Floor finishes at Decorators—Adv.

More than 200 persons attended the barbecue given by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Culbertson at their home, Eleventh and Harrison, Thursday night in the interest of the Berachah society and its home at Arlington, Texas.

Dr. J. T. Upchurch, who is in charge of the Berachah home, an institution for outcasts and the morally destitute, was the principal speaker. In explaining the work of the home, Dr. Upchurch stated that he first became interested in young men's Christian work. Later he said he and his wife started "saving souls in the underworld." After many failures he succeeded in establishing the home at Arlington, erected in the interest of American girlhood.

"Many of the girls who have left the home now hold honorable and responsible positions throughout the United States or have married and have homes of their own," the speaker said, stating that 85 per cent of those who have passed through the home at Arlington have made good. Many of them, he said, had dedicated their lives to missionary and other social work.

"Girls become outcasts at an early age because the home, the church, and society fail in their work," he said.

In describing the Berachah home, located between Fort Worth and Dallas, he stated that the home consisted of 75 acres of land so deeded that it cannot be diverted from the work planned for it.

Henry Brandon of Baltimore, who is devoting several months of his time to the home, also spoke on the work being done by the Berachah home. John Bradley of Wichita Falls, who has visited the home, praised the work being done there.

J. T. Harrell introduced Dr. Upchurch. Mr. Culbertson welcomed the guests, with J. H. Allison acting as master of ceremonies and introducing Mr. Bradley.

The Berachah home band composed of the girls of the institute, played during the serving of the barbecue after which the girls sang. The dinner was served by Frank B. Creighton, Boy Scout executive, and a number of his boys.

A substantial sum of money was voluntarily donated for the home at the meeting. J. T. Harrel, who is treasurer of the Wichita Falls Berachah society, stated that any further donations would be received by him at the City National bank.

Dr. Nat F. Grafton, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, delivered the invocation and benediction.

For the first quarter of 1928, receipts of the Wichita Falls postoffice totaled $110,661.68 as compared to $110,280.58 for the same period in 1927, showing a gain of $381.10.

Asiatic and Russian Sheep Added To Wichita Falls Municipal Zoo

Two karakul sheep, one of the Asiatic broadtail variety and the other pure Russian, were donated by Miss Emma Frances McFall, daughter of J. M. McFall, to the Lions club municipal zoo Thursday, according to announcements by C. C. Bunnenberg, superintendent of parks. Mr. Bunnenberg also reported the second snake to be received.

The karakul is one of a few received in the United States through the efforts of the Roosevelt administration. Col. C. C. Goodnight of Goodnight received several of them and developed a flock which is now owned by Mr. McFall. Because of the rarity of the animals and also because of their great value, Miss McFall thought they would be a valuable addition to the zoo for study.

The Russian sheep weighs 185 pounds while the Asiatic broadtail weighs only 165.

The broadtail is noted for its habit of storing food and oils in its broad tail during the summer time that it may live through the bitter winters of its native northern home. These tails grow to weigh about 30 pounds, Mr. McFall said. The pure Russian karakul also has a broad, food-storing tail, but not as large as that of the Asiatic.

European and Asiatic people weave rugs and blankets from the shorn wool, which is of fine texture.

The skins of the young are used for some of the finest fur coats.

The two specimens given to the zoo here are said to be almost perfect.

Texas Mother Praises Nurse

There isn't a mother living who won't agree that no half-sick child should be the subject for an experiment with medicines of uncertain merit. When your child is bilious, headachy, half-sick, feverish, restless, with coated tongue, bad breath, no appetite or energy, you know that nine times out of ten it's a sign his little stomach and bowels need purging. And when you know that for over fifty years leading physicians have endorsed one preparation for this condition, there doesn't seem to be any reason for "trying" things.

Rich, fruity California Fig Syrup clears the little stomach and bowels gently, harmlessly and in a hurry. It regulates the bowels, gives tone and strength to them and to the stomach; and helps to give your child new strength, energy and vitality. Thousands of Texas mothers praise it. Mrs. Valerie Adams, 1052 Castro St., San Antonio, says: "I'll never forget the nurse who got me to give my baby boy, John, California Fig Syrup. Nothing else seemed to help his bowels, which were left weak after an attack of measles. That was when he was just eighteen months old. He suffered for many months before I gave him Fig Syrup, but it stopped his trouble quick. I have used it with him for colds and little upset spells ever since. I consider him a Fig Syrup baby."

Insist on the genuine article. See that the carton bears the word "California." Over four million bottles used a year.

Oil Worker Injured In Derrick Accident

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, May 3.—Earl Borders, 34, employe of the Texas company, was seriously injured when falling beams from the top of a derrick in the Rock Crossing area struck him late today. The crew was pulling casing from the well when the accident occurred. No one else was injured.

Borders was brought to the Parmley-Ogden hospital here in a Totten Bros. ambulance. He was found suffering from severe wounds in the head and face, and sprains in the side and back. An examination late today had not revealed whether he sustained a fractured skull. He regained consciousness soon after the accident, and his condition is not thought critical.

SAFETY?

The principles and policies of the building and loan associations are so economically sound and secure that not one single organization has been liquidated by the State Department which supervises every building and loan association in Texas.

Cooperation is the pith of the building and loan association. And its principle of dissolving a debt by small payments is one of the greatest triumphs of extended credit. We offer the home builder an adequate loan upon terms which are often easier to meet than it would be to pay rent.

And to the men and women who can save a dollar or more a month, or who can invest a fixed sum, the North Texas Building & Loan Association offers the generous earning rate of 6% and 7%, while permitting funds, plus earnings credited, to be withdrawn at any time after 30 days' notice. No fees are charged upon our Thrift and Full Paid Certificates.

We Americans

As Big as the Heart of a Nation

If there ever was a film produced that has a truly universal appeal it is "We Americans." The human element in the film concerns the very core of family loyalty and affection, whether the family be Irish or Italian, French or German, or All-American, and whether it be Christian or Jewish.

AND A GREAT CAST

"'We Americans' has laughs, sobs, dignity, patriotic appeal, heart interest—everything to make a great movie. It should get everyone, high or low. When you see it you don't forget it—and you don't want to. It's a lulu!"
—N. Y. DAILY NEWS

"Nary a film fan is going to be able to misunderstand this one. Strictly elemental in script, Director Sloman has told it plainly and, plus George Sidney and Beryl Mercer, that's its charm."
—VARIETY

"'We Americans' has heart interest, speedy action, many thrills, amusing and highly dramatic situations and subtitles that seem human and touch a responsive chord in many a laugh. It is a real hit."
