New Governor Sets Fast Pace

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Bill Clements told Texans on inaugural day he would be a business-like governor, then set out to prove it the next four days.

This week he tries his hand at international diplomacy.

"I will continue to proceed cautiously and carefully," he told a Friday news conference. "But you can say I am enthusiastic and pleased."

When asked if he was ready to announce for re-election, Clements said that decision would come later.

"I've hardly got my seat warmed so far."

Clements' administration started off with a rush Wednesday when the Senate approved his appointment of Secretary of State George Strake and Brig. Gen. Willie Scott as adjutant general without discussion or the usual committee screening.

Thursday, the fast-moving governor chose to eat a $2.48 liver and onions lunch with state employees. Later, he visited the Capitol press rooms, asking numerous questions about news operations.

Friday, his official reception room was jammed for the first news conference of his administration. "Sure glad to see you," the governor said, obviously enjoying every minute of the question-and-answer contest.

He briefed reporters on his plans for next week.

Monday, he and his staff will meet with 20 or 25 leaders from throughout the state who are interested in Mexican-American problems. "We want their ideas and suggestions," he said. "We need their input."

At 11 a.m. Tuesday, Clements makes his first formal address to the Legislature. He admitted it would be a "little teaser," not his entire legislative program. "It'll be the first chapter. There will be other chapters later."

He said his budget recommendations will not come until the latter part of February.

Tuesday afternoon he flies to Mexico City with a party of aides and advisers for a talk Wednesday morning with President Jose Lopez Portillo.

"I will be acting as an interested citizen," Clements said. "I don't have to clear it with the State Department. I am a representative of the state of Texas - not the United States. I don't have to ask the State Department if I go to Mexico - or anywhere else."

Clements said he would talk with Lopez Portillo about illegal aliens in Texas, a Mexico-Texas natural gas pipeline, "and all these matters that need to be explored from both sides."

There will be a two-hour talk Tuesday night with the head of Mexico's government oil monopoly, Pemex director-general Jorge Serrano.

"I intend to talk to him (Lopez Portillo) about areas of mutual interest between Mexico and Texas. These include energy, illegal aliens, the drug traffic and the 'Tortilla Curtain' and its implications," Clements said.

He refused to be more explicit. "I'll tell you what we talked about when we get back," he said.

Clements announced his appointment of G.G. Garcia, 41, of Harlingen as an administrative assistant. He will be in charge of the Monday briefings and the Tuesday and Wednesday trip to Mexico.

Others making the trip to Mexico include Richard Rubottom, former ambassador to Argentina and professor emeritus at Southern Methodist University, and Ricardo Hinojosa, McAllen, who will act as legal advisor and translator.

Staff members, including two Department of Public Safety agents, make up the rest of the governor's party.

Weekend update

Feedlot Figures Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—Feedlot inventories in some of the major beef states continue to edge higher, but new figures by the Agriculture Department suggest some operators are thinking twice about buying new replacements this winter.

The department said Friday in a quarterly report that about 12.7 million head were in feedlots on Jan. 1, down slightly from 12.8 million a year ago.

However, the report said that except for a year ago, the Jan. 1 feedlot inventory was the highest in five years.

The figures included feedlots in 23 states which account for about 95 percent of the nation's beef.

Davis Jury Deadlocked

HOUSTON (AP)—Deadlocked jurors, split 8-4, were ordered to continue deliberations Saturday in the murder conspiracy trial of millionaire Cullen Davis, but hopes of a verdict were fading among attorneys for both sides.

Judge Wallace Moore overruled two defense motions for mistrial and instructed the panel to resume work at 9 a.m. against growing odds to reach a verdict.

The seven-man, five-woman panel reported Friday it was split 8-4, and appeared unable to determine guilt or innocence in the 12-week-old proceedings. Jurors did not reveal which way their vote leaned.

New Jersey Fire Fatal

HOBOKEN, N.J. (AP)—Fire raged through a five-story tenement building early Saturday and caused the top three stories to collapse, killing at least 12 persons and injuring 19 others.

Deputy Fire Chief Francis Hunsinger said 12 bodies were pulled from the building and seven other persons were still missing.

Colombian Chose WTC On Advice Of A Friend

By JOHN LONG

It's a long way from Medellin, Colombia, to Snyder, but Federico Vasquez believes he is going to like his new home.

A native of Colombia, Vasquez, 18, is a freshman student at Western Texas College. He heard of WTC from a fellow Colombian attending college in Lubbock.

"I have a friend; he's at Texas Tech, and he came to Colombia to visit. He told me that for the career I choose, mechanical engineering, I should come to Texas. So I applied and here I am," Vasquez said in a thick Spanish accent.

Once he becomes proficient in English, Vasquez said he will probably transfer to Texas Tech. In the meantime, however, he is happy to be in Snyder.

"I'm happy so far," he said. "It's very nice."

Vasquez's previous visits to the United States have been limited to Miami, where an aunt lives. He studied English at an American school in Medellin.

His father, a civil engineer, also operates a coffee farm and cattle ranch in Colombia. In Colombia, one of the greatest coffee producing countries in the world, coffee costs about 25 cents a pound. "And people complain about that," said Vasquez. "It was cheaper."

Colombia, a country slightly larger than Texas, has a population of 27 million. It is a country through which the equator runs, and it has a climate very different from that found on the semi-arid plains of Texas.

Colombia is "tropical, with lots of mountains and rivers," explained Vasquez. Both the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans are in close proximity to his hometown.

The main difference, though, is neither geographic nor climatic, said Vasquez.

"My country," he said, "is a poor country and your country is rich. That's the difference."

The SDN Column

This is Super Bowl Sunday and judging from comments by most of the experts, there appears to be little reason for the Dalias Cowboys and Pittsburgh Steelers to bother with playing a football game this afternoon in Miami. The Steelers have been handed the world title without throwing a pass or a block, making a tackle or a touchdown, or even kicking off or receiving a kick.

Jimmy the Greek, who predicted a three-point victory for the Los Angeles Rams two weeks ago, says the Steelers are going to win. All but six of the professional football head coaches, not counting Chuck Noll and Tom Landry, say the Steelers will win.

Most of the television commentators we have heard on the networks have handed the advantage to Pittsburgh.

Now, they have the ultimate in football forecasting--an opinion from a dancing instructor who says that the Steelers' moves on the field are more concentrated and therefore calculated to be more effective than the Cowboys, who admittedly have more finesse.

Nevertheless, we die-hard Cowboy fans are going to wait and see before we concede even half a yard. And, according to "Miss Lillian" Carter, her son Jimmy is on our side for a change. The president's mother spilled the beans the other day when she said that she and her famous son had a little wager on the game and then confided that she took Pittsburgh. That meant, of course, that the president was going with the Cowboys.

Howard Cosell has been rather quiet on the subject. Actually, he hasn't been afforded much opportunity to express himself in the past few days since his network didn't get any of the playoff games. But we all know where Howard's sentiments are. Also, he has been busy blasting his own horn, in which he certainly has no peer.

"Nobody knows the total business of broadcasting better than I. Nobody. I would love to be ABC's overall executive troubleshooter in servicing every department of this company," the voracious voice declared recently after signing a new four-year contract. The thought occurred that if we are going to have to endure Howard for four more years, surely we deserve compensation in the form of a Super Bowl victory for the Cowboys.

Caucus Formed By Mexican-Americans

AUSTIN (AP)-Mexican-American legislators have formed separate House and Senate Caucuses for the first time as they bid for greater visibility - with an eye to 1981.

"Once we redistrict again in 1981, we'll pick up a number of seats," said Rep. Arnold Gonzales, vice chairman of the House caucus.

Eighteen Mexican-Americans are in the House - the same number as in 1977 - while representation in the Senate has incresed from three to four.

"The separation was only for convenience," Gonzales a Corpus Christi Democrat, maintains. "It's just like two arms and one head."

But Gonzales admits the senators "were out-voted a lot of times.....They felt that they needed to have their own caucus."

Sen. Carlos Truan, D-Corpus Christi, was one of the first caucus leaders as a representative. Now he talks of growing pains and the different styles of the House and Senate.

"We have our own way of doing things over here," he said. "Their politics in the House are different in many respects from our politics."

Truan, characterizing himself as the only liberal of the Senate caucus members, does not see the group as a bloc vote but as a loosely structured forum.

"You have four very independent persons who are working in the Senate but are brought together by our ethnic background on those issues that are obviously oriented toward people who are poor," he said.

Other members are Sens. Raul Longoria of Edinburg, Tati Santiesteban of El Paso and newcomer Bob Vale of San Antonio.

Their big push may be for increased appointments of Mexican-Americans. The Senate confirms all gubernatorial appointments.

Trunan says Mexican-Americans missed the boat on former Gov. Dolph Briscoe's appointments of regents for the University of Texas and Texas A&M. But he adds that better organization - and a new governor - may change things.

Ask Us

Q--In reading an article about energy conservation, the term "kilowatt hours" occurred several times. Exactly what is a kilowatt hour?

A--A kilowatt hour is a measure of the use of electric energy equal to a thousand watts of electricity used steadily for an hour. If you have a 100-watt light bulb, a kilowatt hour of electric energy will keep it burning for 10 hours.

Voters Cast Ballots On Consolidation

Voters in the Hermleigh and Snyder Independent School Districts were casting ballots Saturday on a consolidation proposal.

The polls were scheduled to close at 7 p.m.

The consolidation proposal stemmed from petitions circulated in late summer in the Hermleigh district. Approval of voters in both districts was required.

Weather Stalls Harvest Here

Scurry County cotton farmers are happy over recent moisture as they look ahead to the 1979 crop, but they would like to have a few days of open weather to get the remainder of the 1978 crop out of the fields.

That was the situation at the end of the week as variable weather patterns continued to interfere with the harvest. In fact, weather conditions have halted field work since the first of the year and even had gins shut down part of the time despite the fact that they had cotton waiting on their yards.

Reports at the end of the week indicated that between 27,000 and 28,000 bales of cotton had been harvested. The over-all total is expected to approach the 35,000-bale mark, provided the farmers can get it out of the fields.

Meanwhile, moisture conditions were considered excellent for this time of year. The sleet and snow which fell the last weekend in December produced more than half an inch of moisture, and light showers, drizzle, snow and sleet since the first of the year had added another half-inch by the end of the week. At this stage of the season it appears that Scurry County farmers will go into the 1979 crop year with moisture conditions much better than they were in 1978.

Shah's Family Moved...

Lubbock Braces Amid Demonstration Rumors

LUBBOCK (AP)—Several members of the family of Shah Mohammad Reza Phalavi of Iran were moved to nearby Reese Air Force Base following reports that about 200 armed Iranian students were en route here from Houston to stage an anti-shah demonstration.

Police sources said the family members were moved to the confines of the U.S. Military installation late Friday after rumors circulated of a possible demonstration in this West Texas town.

Capt. Robert Brus, information officer at Reese, said he could not comment on whether or not security at the training base had been beefed up, or whether any members of the shah's family were on the base today.

The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal placed a security guard at its newspaper office and locked all doors after Texas Department of Public Safety intelligence officers told them the students were en route and "were armed with guns and incendiary devices."

Lubbock police called in extra officers and were an alert this morning after rumors that the students were on their way to this West Texas city that serves as temporary home for some relatives of the shah.

A police spokesman said about 60 extra officers were summoned and that riot control equipment was available. He said other law enforcement agencies were also standing by if needed.

"We've heard that they are going to try to get some national attention for their cause," the spokesman said.

Rumors said the anti-shah students left Houston Friday night, but police there said they were unaware of any mass departures.

Crown Prince Reza Pahlavi has been undergoing supersonic flight training at Reese. Earlier this week, he was joined at his ranch-style home in Lubbock by other members of the shah's family. They were identified as the shah's mother-in-law, Farideh Diva and Princess Farah Naza, 15, Prince Alireza, 12, and Princess Layla, 8.

They flew into Reese aboard an Iranian 707 aircraft from McGuire Air Force Base in New Jersey.

Lubbock police said State Department officials who have been in the city since early this week remained on hand.

The crown prince's house nestles on about an acre on Lubock's W. 21st Street.

diseases and cures

The Environmental Protection Agency continues to encounter problems, one of which is the question of whether in some cases the cure may be worse than the disease.

There was a piece in Saturday Review recently about a copper smelting plant in Tacoma, Wash. This plant has been one of biggest contributors to the area's economy for several decades. Its buildings and equipment are old, and naturally the EPA has found that it is not only contributing to pollution but is the main source of much of it.

Some new rules of operation were handed down and put into effect at moderate expense to the firm. These vastly improved the situation. However, EPA said they were only stop-gap measures and that changes which would include virtually rebuilding the entire plant would be required by a certain deadline. This alarmed the firm's officers because it would involve expenditure of millions of dollars and the products of the plant were returning a marginal profit at best. At last report, it appeared that the plant would just quietly fade away.

This alarmed not only the workers, but the entire community because it would eliminate some 800 jobs which paid above the national average in salaries.

In nearby Washington State University, a research group led by Dr. Paul R. Zimmerman, made a study which supports the theory that nature, not man-made sources, create most air pollution. The study was commissioned by the EPA, but it has been charged with failing to release a report on the study as required by law. To make it public would have jeopardized EPA's smog control program, according to EPA scientists.

But the American Petroleum Institute has filed suit to force EPA to release the Zimmerman study report. API contends that it is becoming increasingly obvious that natural emissions can cause or contribute to ozone levels in excess of the proposed standard in many areas. For example, heavily forested areas regularly are surrounded with a bluish haze because pine, spruce and other coniferous trees have the ability to release hydrocarbons into the air.

This could cause EPA a stern problem if it decides to clean up the atmospheric environment in the Blue Ridge and Great Smoky Mountains.

kremlin anxieties

If the Politburo in the Kremlin is working overtime these days, a look at a map of Russia's borders might help explain the situation. To the West, Russia is bordered by Turkey, Afghanistan and Iran, all of which have been experiencing various degrees of political instability.

On the East, Russia shares a 1,450-mile border with China. That border probably worries the Kremlin more than any other, especially now that the Chinese have been moving additional troops to the area from their previous outposts in Southern China opposite the offshore islands of Matsu and Quemoy. Peking is making that move in part to placate Taiwan, but also because of its deteriorating relations with the Russians.

It isn't that Russia has any real fears of invasion from any part of its vast borders, but with so much hostile action surrounding its boundaries there is no telling when some of it might spill over.

For that matter, it also is difficult to assess how much of the problems Russia's neighbors are experiencing has been instigated or at least aided my Moscow's agents. If it has not occurred to the Kremlin, it should, that some of the many bonfires it has helped ignite across the world might be getting a bit close for comfort.

pulling together

During the recent Christmas season there was the usual annual conjecture concerning the "Star of Bethlehem." Was it a confluence of planets? Was it a one-time only celestial happening?

A researcher in astrophysics at Los Alamos offered a computer analysis which shows that Halley's comet appeared in 11 B.C. 32 degrees north of the equator. That is about the latitude of Bethlehem.

And, says David Moore, changes in the calendar since would compensate for the time differential.

Also, the U.S. Naval Observatory in Washington confirms that Jupiter, Saturn and Mars were in conjunction in 6 B.C., which certainly would have made a bright light in the Bethlehem sky.

Some scholars are able to accept "the Bible story" on simple faith.

Others persist in looking for physical evidence of Noah's Ark or the Red Sea crossing or the Bethlehem Star or the origin of the Earth.

And then there is Robert Jastrow.

Robert Jastrow is director of NASA's Goddard Institute for Space Studies. He is a man of science, an astronomer, proclaims himself an agnostic on religious matters.

Yet, and I quote his words, "I am fascinated by some strange developments going on in astronomy--partly because of their religious implications and partly because of the peculiar reactions of my colleagues."

The essence of what he calls a "strange development" is evidence that "the universe had, in some sense, a beginning--that it began at a certain moment in time and under circumstances that seem to make it impossible--not just now, but ever--to find out what force or forces brought the world into being at that moment."

The astronomer goes on to explain that the formerly accepted "steady-state" theory of cosmology has now been abandoned in favor of the so-called "big-bang" theory.

I'm still quoting: "The astronomical evidence leads to a Biblical view of the origin of the universe. The details differ but the essential elements in the astronomical and Biblical accounts of Genesis are the same: The chain of events leading to man commenced suddenly and sharply at a definite moment in time, in a flash of light and energy."

"Let there be light...and there was light..."

Jastrow is intrigued by the reaction of his fellow astronomers. He says many scientific minds appear closed to the new truths.

"Their reactions provide an interesting demonstration of the response of the scientific mind--supposedly a very objective mind--when evidence uncovered by science itself leads to a conflict with the articles of faith in our profession.

"It turns out that the scientist behaves the way the rest of us do when our beliefs are in conflict with the evidence. We become irritated, we pretend the conflict does not exist or we paper it over with meaningless phrases."

Many of yesteryear's accepted scientific theories concerning the origin of the Earth have been discarded as recently as this last month, when our probes of our sister planet, Venus, rewrote the textbooks.

Significantly, our space research increasingly confirms the limits of our finite intellects and the veracity of Scripture.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "The average person forms an opinion by adding to a small measure of information, a dash of imagination and a large quantity of prejudice... shaking well with emotion."

Inside today's issue there is a collection of statements from various community leaders concerning the economic outlook of Snyder and Scurry County for 1979.

Naturally, there is a mixture of opinion, but generally the statements are cautiously optimistic. There is cause for concern, but never in our memory has a new year dawned without some degree of anixiety on the part of the people of the time.

Another thing rings loud and clear. Snyder and Scurry County has much going for it, and since everybody has to be somewhere, there is prbably no better place to be.

We predict a packed coliseum Jan. 30 when the Snyder Tigers host Lamesa in round two of district play.

We were on hand when Lamesa upset Snyder by 51-50 in Lamesa last week. Snyder, without doubt, is a 20-point better team, but emotion and a home-court advantage is a terrific equalizier.

We overheard two Lamesa fans talking as we left the gym. "The police got in more time on the court than some of the players."

It was a strange game....

Congress convened Tuesday and one of the first items was a breakfast for the Texas delegation where the old pros gave advice to the rookies, including our own Charles Stenholm of this district.

He said the key to Texas maintaining its congressional influence and prestige was to continue to elect the incumbent year after year. What we really read between the lines was that Rep. Brooks, dean of the Texas delegation, wanted all the new "kids" to fall in line and do what the leadership wanted.

To us, it was one of the most arrogant statements we've read in a long time. Frankly, we hope the Stenholms and Hances keep a good ear to the ground for vibrations from their home district.

We're not all that interested in dams and some of the big federally-funded projects that Rep. Brooks mentioned...especially if there are long strings attached.

Chequers, official country residence of Britain's prime minister, had its first house warming in 1921.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—When pursuing harmless eccentrics, inmates at federal prisons and others with little power, the government officials who enforce the law affecting the financing of campaigns for federal office are snarling tigers.

But those officials - the members and staff of the Federal Election Commission (FEC) - are reduced to harmless pussycats whenever they're pressed to investigate the president, members of Congress or other influential politicians.

As a result, both the commission and the law face growing criticism from those who once viewed the statute as one of the most significant governmental reforms of the 1970s but now are disenchanted with the double standard of enforcement.

The FEC is a model of prosecutorial zeal in dealing with those who fail to meet the legal deadline for filing detailed reports listing campaign receipts and expenses.

Among the recent targets in that category were two inmates at the federal penitentiary in Marion, Ill. who declared themselves candidates for president in 1976, an act that requires only completion of a simple FEC registration form.

But when the prisoners ignored the FEC's subsequent demands for quarterly financial reports, the commission dispatched a series of letters and telegrams threatening court action and other dire consequences.

A similar FEC campaign was mounted against Lar Daly, the Chicago man whose red, white and blue Uncle Sam costume was the hallmark of his perennial but ineffectual campaign for the presidency.

While on his deathbed in a hospital, Daly was still receiving - and ignoring - FEC demands that he account for every penny spent in his last campaign. To the dismay of the commission, he died without filling out the forms.

Finally, there's the case of John Adams, a 61-year-old Navy veteran of World War II who stumbled into the 1976 campaign as a candidate for a House seat from New Hampshire.

Adams' only response to FEC demands for full disclosure was a telephone call to Washington announcing that he had solicited no money, received none and spent none.

But the commission wasn't satisfied with that disclaimer. It filed suit against Adams in federal court, then dispatched a lawyer to Concord, N.H., to demand both conviction and fine for failure to complete the official forms.

Adams failed to appear at the court hearing and the government won its case. Relentless federal officials then tracked down Adams, finding him in a retired soldiers' home in Massachusetts and forcing him to fill out the forms.

But the FEC displayed no such enthusiasm when a national magazine alleged that a fund-raising aide to Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., requested a campaign contribution from a representative of an unidentified "Mediterranean country."

The federal law specifically prohibits solicitation of political donations from citizens of other countries. But the commission didn't even investigate the charge, claiming that the magazine article didn't provide enough information.

Another magazine article identified a woman who allegedly allowed a member of a "prominent family" to use her name to disguise the source of contributions to both major-party presidential candidates in 1976.

The federal law is equally explicit in prohibiting contributions made in the name of another person. But the FEC again declined to make even a cursory check, arguing that too little information was available.

Another case involved a Washington-based news service's report that then-Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., maintained a secret fund that disbursed unreported campaign contributions to colleagues in the Senate.

Again, the commission decided that the original account didn't provide enough information - and it certainly wasn't going to open an investigation that might actually produce damaging information about a powerful politician.

letter to editor

To The Daily News:

Regardless of the outcome of Saturday's consolidation election, I would like to comment on some of those people involved.

Words are inadequate to express the appreciation I feel personally towards those numerous people that have supported the consolidation issue and campaign operation. To those people who have written letters, helped with campaign strategy, contributed to finances, and supportive in general, I say THANK YOU!

Win or lose, we have helped inform the public of the facts. We have conducted ourselves, in my opinoin, in the best possible manner; we have not lowered ourselves to mudslinging and degradation of others' character. We have nothing to be ashamed of.

Should we have lost the battle at the polls, the will of the voters have been expressed. However, one battle does not make a war. Should circumstance again present itself, and voters express sufficient interest, we may again take to the battle field.

Again, I say thank you, to those especially, who had the courage and backbone, enough, to speak their mind on the issue, in spite of the hostile environment.

Robert Gartland's Art To Show Here Jan. 28

Artist and author-illustrator Robert Gartland of Lawton, Okla., will exhibit Western paintings in the Scurry County Museum at Western Texas College in a show opening Jan. 28.

The Snyder Palette Club will host a reception honoring the artist from 1-5 p.m. on that day in the museum. The public is invited to attend the opening and the reception.

The Diamond M Museum, located in the Diamond M Building, will also be open from 2-5 p.m. on Jan. 28.

Gartland works in both watercolor and oil as well as in black and white media, and watercolors will make up the major portion of his show here.

He began his early studies in painting under the late George Ford Morris, noted American horse painter, and under Frank Reilly at the Art Students League in New York City. Gartland says he is grateful to his old friend, Ted Kautzy, for writing two fine books on watercolor painting. He credits these books with starting him in landscape painting many years ago.

Gartland added author to his credentials in 1962 when he wrote and illustrated "Cowboys and Cattle," a book for young people published by Coward McCann Co., New York. Prior to this book, he worked for 10 years as a staff artist at the American Museum of Natural History in New York. While at the Museum, he did several murals, illustrations for the Natural History Magazine, freelance work for Life Magazine, and illustrations for children's books.

Since coming to the Oklahoma-Texas-New Mexico area in a rented pickup filled with paintings for three exhibits, Gartland has won approximately 75 first place and best of show awards. He is most proud of his oil painting "Wichita Morning" which won the Best of Show award at the July 4, 1976 Bicentennial Exhibition in Oklahoma City.

Professionally, Gartland is an active member of the American Watercolor Society and the Lawton-Fort Sill Art Guild. He is also a member of the Rodeo Historical Society.

Prepaid Care Program Working In Wisconsin

EDITOR'S NOTE: It's not exactly socialized medicine, but it's not your friendly local private doctor either. The Greater Marshfield Community Health Plan in rural Wisconsin provides across-the board-medical care for its subscribers - and anyone can subscribe. It's not exactly cheap, but most of the participants say it's worth the tab.

By TIMOTHY HARPER
Associated Press Writer

MARSHFIELD, Wis. (AP)-National health insurance? Who needs it, say the people here. Not as long as the Greater Marshfield Community Health Plan is in business.

The plan is a health maintenance organization - an HMO - a prepaid care program whose members pay a set monthly premium, then receive medical service at no additional cost.

Doctors, patients and administrators here agree the 8-year old program brings the best health care for the best price to a four-county rural area of north central Wisconsin.

Its 46,000 enrollees represent about half the eligible residents. It's privately run on a non-profit basis, with no government involvement except for grants to help low-income persons enroll. And every sixth month anyone living in the area, regardless of health care needs, may join at regular rates.

The program is an experiment that may be significant for the future of national health care. The area's stable rural population is reasonably typical of the national population, and since no private physicians have had offices in Marshfield for years, residents must go to the clinic for care.

"We think we have the largest rural HMO in the country," says Dr. Gerald Porter, a pediatrician and president of the clinic, whose staff of 171 doctors makes it the fifth-largest in the world.

The clinic began the program, in cooperation with the adjacent 500-bed St. Joseph's Hospital, at the urging of Blue Cross-Surgical Care Blue Shield.

Marketing, advertising, billing and collections are handled by Blue Cross-Blue Shield. "It lets doctors practice medicine and lets someone else take care of the rest," says David Gruel, the HMO's administrative director.

Greater Marshfield's monthly enrollment rates are $46.10 for an individual and $101.41 for a family, whether two or 20.

Annual rates were recently hiked 5.8 percent, but officials point out that medical costs increased about 10 percent nationally last year and say Greater Marshfield's rates are among the cheapest in the nation considering the services offered.

Three-fourths of the enrollees have all or part of their monthly payments made by a local employer.

Exiled Moslem Leader Vows Return To Iran

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)— Ayatullah Khomeini has vowed to return to Iran "at the opportune moment" following mass demonstrations for an Islamic republic headed by him.

The exiled Moslem opposition leader told a French TV interviewer the marches Friday were "a spectacular referendum by which the Iranian people say they don't want the shah, his dynasty, Regency Council or government, but want an Islamic government.

"I will return to Iran at the opportune moment," he said, without elaboration.

Khomeini organized the processions from his residence-in-exile outside Paris and was kept informed of their progress by telephone. They coincided with the 40th day of mourning for the 7th-century Moslem patriarch Iman Hossein, founder of the Shiite sect, who was assassinated by rival Sunni Moslems.

Khomeini demands abolishment of the Iranian monarchy, now supervised by a Regency Council empaneled by Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi before he left Tuesday, and dissolution of the civilian government of Prime Minister Shahpour Bakhtiar, also blessed by the shah. Although the shah has left Iran, he remains the titular head of state under the 1906 constitution, still in force.

Anti-American feelings appeared to run high in response to U.S. support for the shah and the Bakhtiar regime. Banners carried by marchers in Tehran branded Bakhtiar "the new American lackey," and others demanded the "American shah be tried hanged."

The Tehran newspaper Kayhan said Karim Sanjaby has agreed to step down temporarily as chief of the opposition National Front so he can join the Revolutionary Council being set up by Khomeini to lead the nation. The report said Khomeini insisted members of the Council belong to no political organization. However, a National Front spokesman said he had "no information at all on this report" and said he thought it was not true.

Sen. Frank Church, acting chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told reporters in Washington that Bakhtiar "is standing on a banana peel" and suggested the United States seek contact with Khomeini.

Bill Clayton 'Dancing With Who Brung Him'

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP)—Speaker Bill Clayton said from the day he was re-elected that this time he was going to "dance with who brung us," and he kept his word.

His first two terms, 1975 and 1977, Clayton was generous - close allies said too generous - in passing out good committee assignments to liberals and other potential antagonists.

This time, however, he hewed close to the philosophy of reward your friends and punish your enemies.

His "rural mafia" of conservative representatives who were with him from the start dominate the 30 committee chairmanships he announced Friday as well as most of the seats on the House Appropriations Committee.

Three of last session's committee chairmen who had lined up against him - John Wilson, D-La Grange; Bill Sullivant, D-Gainesville; and Ben Reyes, D-Houston - plummeted to obscure assignments.

Only 12 chairmanships went to urban legislators - counting as urban such smaller cities as Midland and Amarillo.

Despite its intense interest in spending for state government, Austin didn't get a single appointment to appropriations. Rep. Gonzalo Barrientos, D-Austin, was on the panel last session but was bumped this time.

Clayton said the message from the voters Nov. 7, when they elected Gov. Bill Clements and Sen. John Tower and passed the "Tax Relief Amendment," was they wanted more conservatism.

Clayton said that's what the committee assignments represented, and he added that his own version of the sate budget bill would - if passed - allow another $500 million in tax cuts.

"I think you will find the makeup of the appropriations committee to be more conservative in membership than in a number of years. This may be more reason to believe that these reductions can be kept in the final appropriations product and that a half billion dollars can be returned to the people of Texas through tax relief," he told reporters.

The speaker also indicated he was going to hit the ground running in 1981 - assuming he is re-elected to a fourth term as speaker - with a redistricting bill safeguarding as many rural conservatives as possible.

He denied Rep. Tim Von Dohlen, D-Goliad, the coveted ways and means chairmansip but tapped him as chairman of the unexciting committee on regions, compacts and districts.

Clayton said the committee's real work will begin once the 1980 census starts producing data that can be plugged into a redistricting bill.

The clear implication was that Von Dohlen, a tough negotiator with a sharp eye for detail and intense loyalty to Clayton, will be the man to deal with when new district lines are drawn in two years.

COTTON HARVESTING

Cotton harvest has been virtually halted for the past several weeks due to weather conditions. However this has allowed the gins to gain some on the backlog, although the gins have been unable to process cotton all this time because the weather has also affected their operation.

Cotton harvest is estimated to be close to 80 percent complete in Scurry County. There are several ricks and modules in the fields waiting for the ground to dry up so they can be hauled to the gins.

Checking with the county gins Thursday, Jan. 18 it showed that 26,660 bales had been ginned with approximately 1228 on the yard or in ricks and modules in the field. Individual gin reports are as follows:

Bad Day For Chem-Haulers

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—It was a bad day for Chem-Haulers Inc.

Police said a tractor-trailer rig ran across the median on Interstate 65 near here Friday and slammed into another tractor-trailer truck. Defying the odds, both trucks belonged to Chem-Haulers, which has a facility in Birmingham.

The collision ripped open both trucks and produced a greasy mess on the highway. Gallons of vegetable oil oozed out of one truck, while zinc crystals came out of the other.

The drivers were treated for minor injuries at a hospital and released.

Dinner Theatre Production...

Tryouts For Play Set

Open tryouts for "Never Too Late" are scheduled from 5-8 p.m. Monday and Tuesday in the Fine Arts Theatre at Western Texas College.

"Never Too Late" has been selected as this year's dinner theatre production and is scheduled for March 2-4 and 9-11. It will be directed by Jeanne Kobuszewski, who also directed last year's dinner theatre sell-out "Barefoot in the Park."

Written by Sumner Arthur Long, "Never Too Late" is a comedy revolving around a mature married couple who find they are too become parents again.

Parts to be cast following the tryouts, with a brief character analysis of each are as follows:

Harry Lambert - Archie Bunker type, late 50s. "No one knows better than he..." Proud, hardworking, sarcastic, dry sense of humor, runs the house with an iron hand. Penny pinching, dresses and acts conservative. Runs a lumberyard. Gets very disgusted with daughter, Kate, and her husband, Charlie. Can be very sweet at "hidden moments." Preferably 5'6" to 5'8" with a paunch.

Edith Lambert - Meek and devoted wife of Harry, about 44. Darling woman, extremely hard worker, keeps an immaculate house. Lovely smile, compassionate, sensitive. All-American Mom, super excited about the new little one. About 5'6", medium build, lightly graying hair.

Charlie - "Meathead." Nice looking, Harry's son-in-law, married to Kate. Loves solitaire, inconsiderate without meaning to be, always says the wrong thing. Ignorant, dense, loves to party and enjoy life. He and Harry just don't mix. Must have a tremendous sense of humor. Preferably tall (need to be opposite in size to Harry), 6' to 6'2", brunette or black hair.

Kate - age 24, married to Charlie. Never gets up to eat breakfast before lunch. Nicely built, sexy, sophisticated, nice dresser. Hasn't done an honest hour's work. Ends up taking charge of the house when "mom" gets pregnant--goes crazy because she can't boil water. Very honest and overly logical. About 5'4" to 5'6", brunette, red-head, blonde, etc., acceptable. A real cutie!

Grace Kimbrough - wife of Dr. James Kimbrough, neighbor, friend. Sweet, loves gossip, typically soap opera. About 45 years old. Preferably on the plump side. Dresses nicely. Marvelous sense of humor. Edith's best friend.

Dr. James Kimbrough - physician, friend of the Lamberts. Age 55, graying sideburns, distinguished looking, smokes a pipe, dresses very well. Patient, calm, considerate, sophisticated.

Mr. Foley - carpenter, age 60, graying, skinny or large. Typical--wants to get the job done as soon as possible. Runs a tight ship. Comes in to do the new nursery Edith wants for the new little one.

Mayor Crane - can be male or female. If male, short and fat or tall and fat or tall and real skinny. About 55, graying hair. Mouthy, likes peace and quiet. Superiority complex. If female, short and fat, very authoritative. Same qualities as previously stated.

Policeman - about 30, authoritative person. Medium or large build. A stereotyped cop. Tries to stop Harry and Charlie from disturbing the peace.

Anyone wishing information about the tryouts or the play may contact Ms. Kobuszewski by calling the drama department at 573-8511, extension 233.

Spotlight On Schools...

East Gives Attention To Varied Interests

Editor's Note: This is another in a series of articles on Snyder Public schools, written by teachers and sponsored by the Scurry County Teachers Association. Featured today is East Elementary School.

Located amid generous large plantings of evergreen trees, East Elementary is near the east edge of Snyder adjacent to the coliseum. A large playground is located west of the school.

The school keeps permanent records on each student. Facts recorded include grades, enrollment and withdrawal dates, health information, immunization data, and special testing and scores.

Tests are given yearly from kindergarten through sixth grade to enable school personnel and parents to realize student's progress, special talents and weaknesses. The information from these tests helps teachers and counselors to know in which areas students need extra help. The SRA Achievement tests are given to first through sixth grades. Individualized tests are also given by school counselors and diagnosticians to students who have specific needs.

Particular talents and interests of individual boys and girls are discovered through music, and physical fitness testing. Also each child in the school participates in a stage program during the school year.

There is always a bulletin board on honor roll and citizenship students as well as students new to the East Elementary campus.

Prescriptive Reading Inventory was added last year for grades three through six. PRI is a criterion-referenced testing system that measures student mastery of reading objectives. PRI responds to the increasing need for assessment which supports individualized instruction. This instruction is based on clearly-defined objectives. PRI makes instruction more effective by locating student's strengths and needs in prereading and reading skills.

East students have fun playing as well as learning. There are many plays and pep rallies.

The school boasts modern, up-to-date equipment which includes four new kidney-shaped student tables and four new round tables. Also new to the equipment inventory is a 16 milimeter movie projector, duplicator machine, six language laboratories, a new skill series, and varied miscellaneous items to facilitate better learning.

Super Bowl Sunday Finally Arrives!

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

MIAMI (AP)—After a million bucks in promotion and a million words of newsprint, after the inane and banal questions, after the braggadocio and silent smiles, after pressure-point workouts and bar-hopping nights, it all comes down to one thing Sunday.

Who can play better football?

The Pittsburgh Steelers and Dallas Cowboys will each be vying to become the first three-time winner of the Super Bowl, an event that transcends mere football. It is a happening, New Year's Eve in Times Square, a presidential election, the end of a war and the biggest, if not the oldest, established permanent floating crap game and wet bar in the world.

Millions of dollars will change hands Sunday night and thereafter, when the final score of this National Football League championship game is measured against the "spread," that critical number on which the world's chance takers build their dreams of wealth - or at least of getting even. The number rose from three to four during the week, Pittsburgh being the favorite.

It is the first rematch in Super Bowl history, the Steelers having defeated the Cowboys 21-17 three years ago at this same site. On that day, Robert Shaw raced frantically through the Orange Bowl while the Goodyear Blimp loomed menacingly over the stadium.

It was all part of the filming of Black Sunday, a motion picture depicting a terrorist raid on the Super Bowl. Robert Shaw is gone now - but the blimp remains, a fixture on the American sports scene. It will once again float majestically around the more than 79,000 fans in the stadium, a crowd that will push Super Bowl attendance over the million mark.

And the movie will be on television Sunday night, only a few hours after the game's final gun. Miami has an antiterrorist strike force deployed to try and prevent those with guns of their own from getting strange ideas and allowing reality and fantasy to dissolve into tragedy.

The kickoff is supposed to be at 3:15 p.m. It will probably be closer to 3:30. And by that time, more than two hours of Sunday's television time not to mention the week-long buildup and a couple of Saturday night extravaganzas will have dulled the senses of the 100 million people tuned in to watch 90 men play a 60-minute game for a winning share of $18,000 a piece - plus other playoff prize money, a gaudy ring and the glory that comes only to champions.

Pitt: Playing Well When It Has To

MIAMI (AP)-They topped them all with a 14-2 record in regular season, beat Denver in the playoffs like they thought they would, and beat Houston worse than they thought they could.

That's how the Pittsburgh Steelers made it to Super Bowl XIII.

"I'm tired of reading about this decline business," middle linebacker Jack Lambert said as veterans arrived at training camp, two years removed from two straight Super Bowls.

"The only one we'll be excited about is the last one," tackle Joe Greene said after they climbed to 6-0 with victories over Buffalo, Seattle, Cincinnati, Cleveland the New York Jets, and Cleveland once more.

"Maybe we were feeling we couldn't be beat. Now, we know we can," Lambert said after a 24-17 loss to the Houston Oilers left the Steelers to 6-1 and eliminated them as the last National Football League team with a perfect record.

"A loss is a loss is a loss," Coach Chuck Noll said after Pittsburgh fell to 9-2 with a 10-7 loss to the Rams on a muddy field in Los Angeles.

"Right now, I think we're the best team in football," Lambert said after Pittsburgh clinched the AFC Central title with a 13-3 victory in Houston, where the Oilers fell three games back in the division race.

"We'll kick their butts if they come to Pittsburgh."

HEALTH TIP
from DEAN

Certain drugs may drain out and destroy vitamins in the body. Dr. D.A. Roe of Cornell Univ. cites oral contraceptive steroids (birth control pills) that can block the absorption of folates, a B-complex vitamin needed for red blood cell formation. This may lead to anemia.

The anti-TB drug, isonicotinic hydrazide, binds vitamins to themselves and then forces their excretion from the body. It causes an abnormal metabolism and rapid depletion of vitamins.

Ask your doctor about possible vitamin loss and vitamin supplementation when taking drugs.

Snyder Preparing For Sweetwater

Snyder picks up District 3-3A basketball action in Sweetwater this Tuesday, after taking the night off Friday.

The Mustangs, 1-2 in conference play, promise to be a strong contender for the victory, which may have little baring on the 3-3A overall standings.

A Lamesa victory over San Angelo Lake View Friday all but crowned the Golden Tors as champions of the first-round. Lamesa has only 0-3 Brownfield to defeat before claiming the title.

But there is still a second round to be played, and if Snyder (1-1) could win that, winners of the rounds would meet in a playoff for the district title. Snyder hosts Lamesa in round-two action Jan. 30.

Snyder is not looking ahead, however. But its coach does note some similarities between last week's opponent and Tuesday's hosts.

"Sweetwater is a lot like Lamesa," points out Coach Jack Stephenson. "They are big and physical looking with a lot of board stength, but are weak at the guards.

"I don't believe we'll go over there as cocky as we were against Lamesa. We got behind over there and we just panicked."

Stephenson said Sweetwater was much bigger physically, but not heighth-wise than Snyder, and added that the Cats have an edge in quickness.

Starting for the Mustangs will probably be 6-4 Mark Duncan ("Who could probably start for anybody in the district.") 6-3 Everett Todd, 6-2 Beau Patterson, 5-9 John Medlicott, and 5-8 Griggs.

Duncan has averaged 13 points per game in district play, while Medlicott has averaged 10.

Snyder starters include 6-3 Greg Hinton, 5-9 Sid Everton, 6-2 Brad Richardson, 5-9 Richard Crayton and 6-4 Mike Hicks. David Jackson, 6-2, and Kyle Short, 5-9, will also see plenty of action.

In conference play, Richardson has averaged 12.5 points, Everton and Hinton 11 each, Crayton 10, and Hicks 9.5.

The game will be preceded by a 6:15 junior varsity contest.

Haggerty Tops Bowl Officials

MIAMI (AP)-Pat Haggerty, a 14-year official in the National Football League, will be the referee in Sunday's Super Bowl between the Pittsburgh Steelers an Dallas Cowboys, NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle said Friday.

Haggerty is a Colorado State University graduate and a teacher and coach in the Denver public school system.

Haggert and the rest of the Super Bowl crew have 84 years of pro officiating experience the NFL said.

Newhouse Will Start Sunday

MIAMI (AP)—Robert Newhouse, who suffered a broken right leg in midseason, will return to Dallas' starting lineup at fullback, replacing Scott Laidlaw in Sunday's Super Bowl against the Pittsburgh Steelers.

It is Newhouse's first start since the injury although he did play late in the season. The 5-foot-10, 215-pound veteran of seven National Football League seasons wound up with 584 yards rushing, second on the club to Tony Dorsett's 1,325. Laidlaw was third with 312 yards. He and Newhouse each averaged 4.2 yards a carry.

"It's always been my philosophy that if a player is having a good year, then gets injured, when he gets well again he moves back into the lineup," Cowboys Coach Tom Landry explained. "Robert had been having a fine year before he got hurt. Scott knows thus and accepts it. He'll play in the game, too."

In three consecutive appearances in baseball's All-Star game, Charlie Gehringer of the Detroit Tigers batted .667 each time.

Mid-Season Loss Keys Great Year

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)-The worst thing that happened to defending Super Bowl champion Dallas on the march to Super Bowl XIII was whipping Baltimore 38-0 in the season opener.

The best thing that happened to the Cowboys was a 21-10 Thursday night drubbing by Minnesota in the ninth game of the season.

At least this is the theory of Dallas Coach Tom Landry, who qualifies as an expert via his 19-year stint in the National Football League.

"We got a big buildup after the Baltimore game, but I knew we had a long way to go to improve," Landry said. "It gave the players a false sense of security."

Then came the loss to Minnesota, and the Cowboys realized they could lose it all, Landry observed.

"It's not that they were not trying hard. It's just that every team was playing us like it was the Super Bowl. The Minnesota game got our players in the right temperament."

Dallas lost 23-16 to Miami the next week, but played a sensational second half as its record dipped to 6-4.

Everyone was wondering what was wrong with the Cowboys. But Landry knew what was coming.

"You could sense it," Landry said. "The fans, the press, everyone was on our back - and deservedly so. It served as a spur."

Dallas blew away Green Bay 42-14 in Milwaukee County Stadium as Tony Dorsett rushed for 149 yards. It was to be the start of eight consecutive victories. New Orleans fell 27-7.

The Cowboys came back five days later to crush Washington 37-10 on Thanksgiving day. New England, Philadelphia and the New York Jets became victims as Dallas charged into the National Football League playoffs for the 12th time in 13 years.

En route to its fifth Super Bowl, Dallas smashed 13 club records and eight individual records as the Cowboys earned their third straight National Conference Eastern Division title.

Hard work gave away to rest, and it nearly proved Dallas' undoing. Wild card Atlanta jumped to a quick lead and knocked out quarterback Roger Staubach. However, poised backup quarterback Danny White rallied the team to a 27-20 victory over the Falcons.

Los Angeles loomed next. Linebacker Thomas "Hollywood" Henderson said the Rams didn't have enough class to get to the Super Bowl, and most teammates silently agreed.

Henderson's 68-yard interception return for a touchdown sealed a 28-0 victory.

Dallas had qualified for successive Super Bowls, something only Green Bay, Miami, Pittsburgh and Minnesota had done.

Steelers Speak Their 2 Cents

MIAMI (AP)—When all was said and done, here are some things the Pittsburgh Steelers said before Super Bowl XIII:

"Pittsburgh is brick and cobblestone. Dallas is neon," defensive tackle Joe Greene said of civic differences between the two teams.

"He might get the butt whupping he's asking for" defensive end Dwight "Mad Dog" White said of Thomas Henderson.

"When I put on my wig, I feel young," quarterback Terry Bradshaw said of his hairpiece.

"Empty barrels make the most noise," Coach Chuck Noll said of Hollywood Henderson.

"Computerized football is not my kind of football. Quite possibly, playing in the old days was more fun," middle linebacker Jack Lambert said of Dallas' intricate Flex Defense.

"Maybe he's right. We'll see," fullback Franco Harris said of Hollywood Thomas Henderson.

"There's usually more shade," 6-foot-2 offensive tackle Jon Kolb said of playing opposite 6-foot-5 Harvey Martin of the Cowboys.

"He can say what he wants," linebacker Jam Ham said of Hollywood Tom Henderson.

"In Pittsburgh, we live tough, work tough. Dallas is flashy, modern," defensive end Dwight White said of civic differences between the two teams.

"Tom who?" Lambert asked.

"We like to hit people. If they call that intimidation, so be it," rookie cornerback Ron Johnson said of the Steelers' defensive style.

"I wish I had the courage to talk like that," Greene said of Henderson.

And what does Hollywood Tom Henderson have to say?

"I put a lot of pressure on myself," he said, "to see if I can play up to my mouth."

Tomjanovich Has Better Night Friday

LOS ANGELES (AP)-Rudy Tomjanovich made his return to the Forum a triumphant one, to say the least.

Tomjanovich, in his first appearance on Los Angeles' home court since December of 1977, fired in a 25-foot jump shot with four seconds to play in overtime to give the Houston Rockets a wild 122-121 victory over the Lakers Friday night.

The last time Tomjanovich played at the Forum in suburban Inglewood, he was slugged by Kermit Washington, who played for the Lakers at that time. The punch caused Tomjanovich to miss the remainder of the 1978-79 National Basketball Association season.

"The last play was not set up for me to shoot," said Tomjanovich after the game. "We intended to set a double screen, freeing Calvin Murphy, but it broke down and I threw up a bomb. I've made a lot of last-second shots and I figured what the heck, let's see what happens.

"I have no revenge motivation because of what happened here last year with Kermit Washington," added Tomjanovich. "It was a sweet shot anywhere."

Not as far as the Lakers, who have lost a slew of close games this season, were concerned.

"It was good offensive game but not a good defensive game," said Los Angeles Coach Jerry West. "We're playing well and not beating ourselves, but I can't believe how many close games we're losing."

Not In Time to Prevent Trade, But...

Robey Finally Comes Through

By The Associated Press

Rick Robey has something to prove.

The 6-foot-10 All-American from Kentucky was a big dis-appointment in the first half of his rookie pro season, even though he was handed a starting forward job by the Indiana Pacers. This week, Coach Bobby Leonard finally ran out of patience and traded Robey to Boston for ex-Pacer Billy Knight, saying Robey would never be more than an average player in the National Basketball Association.

Maybe Leonard spoke too soon. Robey scored 18 points, including the game-winning basket, and grabbed 13 rebounds Friday night, leading the Boston Celtics to a 103-102 victory over the Milwaukee Bucks.

In other NBA games, the Kansas City Kings edged the San Antonio Spurs 115-113, the Houston Rockets nipped the Los Angeles Lakers 122-121 in overtime, the Washington Bullets beat the Chicago Bulls 113-102, the New Orleans Jazz defeated the Portland Trail Blazers 107-101, the Denver Nuggets trimmed the Indiana Pacers 101-98 and the New York Knicks topped the Cleveland Cavaliers 105-101.

Milwaukee led 100-96 before a three-point play by Robey and two free throws by Cedric Maxwell put Boston in front. Milwaukee climbed back on top on a jumper from the corner by Marques Johnson with 35 seconds left, but after Maxwell missed a jumper, Robey charged in, grabbed the rebound and went up for the game-winning basket with 19 seconds left.

"It's a great feeling, just like back in Kentucky," Robey said, referring to last year's NCAA championship team. "It was just what I envisioned when I found out I was coming here. This team is entirely different from the way they play in Indiana."

Player-Coach Dave Cowens led the Celtics with 26 points while Johnson had 20 for Milwaukee.

Kings 115, Spurs 113

Darnell Hillman hit two free throws in the final 40 seconds as Kansas City won a battle of division leaders to extend its winning streak to five games, longest of the season.

Rockets 122, Lakers 121, ot

Rudy Tomjanovich hit a 25-foot jump shot with four seconds remaining in overtime to give Houston its victory over Los Angeles.

Bullets 113, Bulls 102

Chicago erased a 15-point halftime deficit to move in front 83-82 with 9:31 to play, but Washington regained control for good on Mitch Kupchak's basket that made it 88-87 and drew away at the finish.

Hayes Urges Support For New Ohio Coach

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)- It was anything but what Columbus Chamber of Commerce officials had originally envisioned - a quiet little meeting with a football coach.

Woody Hayes, a legend fired after his 28th season as coach at Ohio State University, was speaking for the first time publicly since his infamous Gator Bowl punching incident.

Almost 1,200 had jammed into a downtown hotel's ballroom. The national media were there - from New York, Washington, Chicago, Detroit, Cincinnati, all of the national radio and television networks.

Cameras whirred Friday as Hayes strode to the podium to launch 35 minutes of off-the-cuff remarks, apologizing to his staff and the Columbus media for breaking his post-Gator Bowl silence with an Atlanta writer.

At first, Hayes was not going to back down for hitting Clemson noseguard Charlie Bauman at the Gator Bowl - a temper tantrum that cost Hayes his job.

"The incident down in Jacksonville was a matter of an instant," recalled Hayes. "It was my attitude not to apoligize and I don't apologize for anything."

Hayes did apologize to his staff, saying, "I feel very, very sorry for it for the wonderful people it has affected - my coaches, five of whom are without jobs through no problems of their own.

And later, Hayes said, "When I made up my mind to apologize, it was through the offices of men like Arch Griffin and Daryl Sanders (former players of his). There have been a steady stream of my former players in the last weeks (to his house)."

Hayes, a loyalist all of his stormy life, refuses to criticize the university for his swift dismissal. His firing by Hugh Hindman, Ohio State's athletic director, came just hours after the Gator Bowl.

His voice quivered with emotion when he again asked: "My attitude toward the university? I gave the university about everything I've had. I'm only bitter about losing that game we should have won. I'll never take it out on this university. It means too much to me."

Hayes raised his voice to its famous level only once, urging the media to support Earle Bruce, the Buckeyes' new coach.

"This organization needs all the help it can get," Hayes told the newsman.

WTC Zeros On Conference Peak

Western Texas College basketball teams go into this week's agenda on solid footing. Coming off of victories over Frank Phillips, the Westerners lead the men's division with a 6-0 record, while the women are tied with three other schools for first in their loop.

Coach Joe Cushing's Dusters, who held a 10-8 overall record going into Saturday's non-conference game with Weatherford here Saturday, will not resume WJCAC play until Jan. 30 when they host the Clarendon Bulldogs.

The Dusters will play another non-conference game with West Texas State here Jan. 22, and will compete in the Tarleton Tournament on the 25th through 27th before vying against the 'Dogs.

Saturday's game was to give the women a chance for revenge against Weatherford. Weatherford nipped the Dusters 64-63 earlier. Likewise, WTC has a debt to settle with West Texas State, which nubbed the local team 46-45 in the season opener.

The Dusters are currently 3-1 in conference play, having defeated Amarillo, Howard College and Frank Phillips. The loss was bestowed by Odessa College.

Three other teams hold one-loss conference records. Clarendon and Howard are both 3-1, while Odessa is 2-1.

Coach Nolan Richardson's Westerners jumped back from a Christmas holiday break to win a third consecutive ABC Tournament this month. The men also defeated conference foes Amarillo and Frank Phillips, and will take a 6-0 loop record against Midland College in Midland at 8 p.m. Monday.

Unlike the Dusters, who play several more non-conference games this season, the Westerners are scheduled to compete in 12 straight WJCAC contests before the regular rounds end.

Midland promises to be a strong opponent Monday. WTC defeated the team for the ABC championship, but had to come on strong in the final half after Midland rallied from a 15-point deficit.

Current leaders in the conference are WTC 6-0, South Plains 5-1, Midland 4-2 and Odessa 3-2. The other six teams are all batting .500 or less.

WTC will face South Plains in its next home game, Jan. 25 at 8 p.m. in the coliseum.

Yankees Eye Carew Dealings

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP)-The Minnesota Twins and California Angels haven't been able to agree on a deal that would send Rod Carew to the West Coast, so lurking in the background, ready to offer big bucks and big-name players, are the New York Yankees.

"I'll tell you, this is all getting pretty confusing," said Minnesota owner Calvin Griffith by phone from Orlando, Fla., where he is trying not only to trade the 33-year old first baseman but make preparations for the Twins' training camp.

The Twins thought they had a deal made with San Francisco in December, but even a $3.5 million contract couldn't lure Carew, who has veto rights on all trades, to play for the Giants.

Then this week Carew came to terms with California on a five-year, $4 million pact, but Griffith termed Angels trade offers unreasonable and said he'd like to hear what the Yankees have to say.

New York is reportedly offering the Twins first baseman Chris Chambliss, outfielder Juan Beniquez, infielder Brian Doyle and a pitcher.

The Angels have offered outfielder Ken Landreaux, infielder Dave Chalk, and either Dyar Miller or Ken Brett, both pitchers. Minnesota said any deal with the Angels would have to include third baseman Carney Lansford, who California says is untouchable.

USC Duo Innocent

LOS ANGELES (AP)- Southern Cal football players Charles Moses and Willie Crawford have been found innocent of assaulting a man, his wife and their child following a traffic collision last fall.

Moses, a 22-year-old linebacker, was found innocent of one count of assault, and defensive back Crawford, 23, was acquitted of one count of battery and one count of assault. All the counts were misdemeanors.

Municipal Court Judge Sidney Cherniss dismissed two other battery counts after the jury reported it was deadlocked, but most of the panel favored acquittal.

Cagers Set For Action

Snyder eighth and ninth grade boys teams will see basketball action again Monday.

The eighth and ninth Gold teams will host Sweetwater White beginning at 5 p.m. in the junior high gym. Snyder Black teams will travel to Big Spring to meet the Brahmas, also beginning at 5.

Tower Has 'Super' Bet

WASHINGTON (AP)- Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, and Sen. H. John Heinz III, R-Pa., have come up with a new twist on an old political gimmick, the interstate sports bet, in honor of the Super Bowl.

The senator from the losing state will wear the jersey of the winning quarterback at next Tuesday's meeting of all Republican senators.

WTC Offers Credit For PBS Course

Western Texas College will join other colleges across the nation in offering three hours of credit in sophomore English through a new PBS television series of six of Shakespeare's plays.

The first of the nine required class meetings at WTC will be held Tuesday night, Janet Halbert, instructor, said. Persons who would like to enroll must first secure the instructor's permission and may contact Mrs. Halbert in her office or call her at 573-8511, extension 298. Students will be required to read the plays as well as to watch them, and will use a study guide prepared especially for the college credit course.

The course at WTC is listed on the schedule as English 233-313, Masterpieces of Literature (Topic) The Shakespeare Plays).

The telecasts of the plays will begin on Feb. 14 with the showing of "Julius Caesar." Snyder students will see the plays on KERA, Channel 6 on SCAT, starting at 8 p.m. Students who cannot see a play at its original broadcast time, or who would like to see a play again, may see a videotape at the college.

Other plays on the current schedule, which will be concluded in April, are "As You Like It," "Romeo and Juliet," "Richard II," "Measure for Measure," and "Henry VIII."

McCaulley Fund Grows

Contributions of $6,979.87 from Snyder residents helped swell the McCaulley Community Fund to $51,256, it was announced Friday.

The fund was established to provide assistance to families who suffered losses in a tragic school bus-truck collision Dec. 8 west of Roby.

The Snyder contributions were transferred by John W. Pickering Jr., vice president-comptroller of Snyder Savings and Loan Association, which served as the collection agency in Snyder. Pickering forwarded the $6,979.87 to the Farmers and Merchants National Bank in Hamlin, where the McCaulley Community Fund is on deposit.

The fund was started by the Hamlin bank on Dec. 11, and the Snyder contributions were launched at about the same time by Glenn Polk of KSNY Radio.

Four were killed in the bus-truck mishap and 21 were injured. One of the injured died later. At last report, five were still hospitalized and five others were still convalescing at home.

The money is being disbursed to the families by a committee made up of Marion Reed, Mrs. Fred Kemp, both of McCaulley, and Mrs. Bob Craig of the Hamlin Herald.

Pickering said contributions were still being accepted at Snyder Savings and Loan are transferred to Hamlin as they accumulate.

Burglars, Vandals Active Here Again

Burglars and vandals enjoyed some prosperity at their victims' expense, judging by three incidents reported to police Friday.

A $250 citizens band radio was allegedly removed from a car parked at Western Texas College owned by Jan Holley. The car break-in is reported to have occurred between Jan. 17 and Jan. 19.

John Nobles told officers he will be out $235 in replacing a tent, several small electrical appliances, and numerous magazines someone took from his 306 28th St. residence. The items were reportedly taken between Jan. 16 and Jan. 19.

In a criminal mischief complaint Fay Erwin told officers that a small hole had been shot through a plate glass window at the Sears store on the East Highway. That was done, she estimated, sometime between Dec. 30 and Jan. 13. Damage in the vandalism was pegged at $200.

Four minor traffic accidents were also reported to police.

The first was in a Snyder High School parking lot at 9:20 a.m. Reports show that a 1973 Ford driven by Carrie Lynn Nesbit was in collision with a parked 1970 Oldsmobile owned by Kathlyn Harrell.

The next wreck was at 1900 25th St. at 2:30 p.m. Involved in it were a 1978 Ford driven by Lou Ann Thompson and a 1965 Plymouth driven by Phillip Jones of Fluvanna.

The 2200 block of 26th St. was the scene of a 5:20 p.m. collision. There, according to reports, a 1969 Chevrolet driven by Betty M. Villarreal was in collision with a 1974 Chevrolet driven by Robert Jones.

The final mishap was at 1:25 a.m. Saturday at Bailey's Truck Stop. Reports show that a parked 1964 Ford owned by Willie Ben Greathouse was struck by a vehicle which left the scene.

EXPERIMENT IN TEACHING—A peer tutorial program in which children from third, fourth, fifth, and sixth grades help tutor youngsters in kindergarten is currently underway at Northeast Elementary. The program was started last month, and is working well, said Northeast Principal Gerri Parker. Above, kindergarten teacher Barbara Bowen, standing at center, is shown supervising some of the activities. (SDN STAFF PHOTO)

Pupils Responding To Peer Tutorial Program

By JOHN LONG

At Northeast Elementary, little children are helping smaller children learn.

The practice has no official title, explained Northeast Principal Gerri Parker, but it is a peer tutorial program in which selected students from the third, fourth, fifth, and sixth grades are recruited to help teach kindergarten students. The program is based on the theory that children sometimes relate better to other children than to adult teachers.

"This is an educational practice," said Mrs. Parker. "It's pretty well proven that peer tutoring is educationally sound, that kids learn from each other. This is not original."

Barbara Bowen, a kindergarten teacher at Northeast, agreed. "Kids just naturally have a tendency to listen to other kids rather than to grownups," she said.

When the "other kids" are tutors or teachers, then the younger children can learn something they might otherwise have resisted if it had been presented by an adult.

Involved in the program are 50 kindergarten student and 12 tutors from upper grades at Northeast. The children are divided into six groups. Three groups will study an activity one day, and the other three will study it the next day. The program is conducted from 10 to 11 a.m., Monday through Thursday.

General topics for study during the sessions are counting, matching, classification, sequential order, and spatial relationships.

The 12 children tutors were chosen on teacher recommendation. "They were students who could afford to miss an hour a day from their studies," Mrs. Parker said. Even after being recommended, however, the prospective tutors were given a weekend to think the matter over. They then had to write letters indicating their interest in the measure.

If the little kids are expected to learn, then the bigger kids are expected to teach and learn.

"When you teach something," Mrs. Parker explained, "you reinforce your own learning." The tutors can improve their own confidence, patience, and understanding by working with children younger than they are, she added.

"It's a chance for them (the tutors) to be on the other side of the learning experience. Instead of being taught, they're the teachers," said Mrs. Parker.

Both Mrs. Parker and Mrs. Bowen said the program, which was started in December, is working well.

"They've responded real well," said Mrs. Bowen, "both the big kids and the little kids."

New Officers Elected By Museum Assn.

New officers for the Scurry County Museum Association were elected at the monthly meeting of the board of directors Thursday.

Incoming president will be Mrs. H.P. (Katherine) Redwine. Mrs. Billy Don Huddleston (Martha) is new vice president and Mrs. Herbert (Ramona) Reed is treasurer.

Board members expressed appreciation to the outgoing officers, Ernest Sears, president, Mrs. Reed, secretary, and H.F. Clark, Jr., treasurer.

In other business, board members were reminded that the Robert Gartland exhibit will open in the Scurry County Museum on Jan. 28. Work is continuing on a project which will furnish museum visitors descriptions of the exhibits in the permanent gallery on tapes. The visitors will be able to check out a tape player and tape for a nominal fee and tour the gallery at their leisure with the tape serving as a tour guide.

A recent acquisition of the museum, the elaborate gown worn by Marsha Fuller in the Fiesta de San Jacinto in San Antonio some years ago, will be displayed in the museum in the near future, Sharon Sutton, museum director, told the board members.

Adult Classes To Resume

Adult Education classes will be resumed Thursday night at Western Texas College following the holiday break.

Genealogy Class Open To 20 People

Genealogy has been described as the near perfect hobby.

It is one which can be pursued regardless of the time of year, at any hour of the day or night, and can cost as much money as the hobbyist cares to spend.

Snyder residents who would like to begin their personal genealogical research are invited to enter this growing hobby field in a Community Services course entitled "Genealogical Research for Beginners" starting Tuesday evening at Western Texas College.

Josie Baird of Rotan, a Certified American Lineage Specialist, will be instructor for the course. She has been involved in genealogy since 1962 and has helped many area residents solve puzzles in genealogy while compiling sufficient information for three family books of her own. She and her sister, Delilah Baird, also an avid genealogist, worked together on these books and on "Early Families of Fisher County," a Bicentennial project in 1976.

The class will be limited to 20 persons. Persons wishing to enroll are to call the Community Services office at 573-8511, extension 240 tomorrow or Tuesday morning. Fees will be $15 per person.

Classes will meet from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. through Feb. 27 in room 202 of the Learning Resource Center.

Sports Judo Course Set

Sports judo will be offered as a Community Services course for students of all ages in evening classes beginning Monday at Western Texas College.

The class is open to both men and women, and persons wishing information about the course or to reserve space in the class may contact the Community Services office at 573-8511, extension 240.

Students will pay fees of $30 each for the course, which will run through the end of the spring semester. Classes will meet at 7 on Monday and Wednesday nights in the gymnastics room of the H-PE Building at the east end of the campus. Alton Sutter will be the instructor.

Tractor Pullers To Meet Monday

West Texas Tractor Pullers Association will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the community room of West Texas State Bank. Eldon Kirkpatrick, president, urges all members to attend for a vote on revisions of rules and by-laws.

Anyone interested in joining is welcome to attend, says Kirkpatrick.

2-Tier Pricing System Blamed For Oil Decline

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

HOUSTON (AP)-F.E. Ellis says the economics of producing "old" domestic crude oil are discouraging.

Ellis, Continental Oil's vice president for North American crude oil and natural gas production operations, says stronger incentives are needed to reduce declining production rates in old oil fields.

During the past five years, a two-tiered federal system has controlled prices for crude from oil domestic fields while permitting prices for new production to approach world levels.

Continental estimates the natural production decline rate in oil fields to be 18 to 20 percent year and Ellis says other industry estimates run as high as 23 percent.

This rate of decline, he said, can be reduced somewhat by additional investment in oil fields for step-out drilling, well workovers, and enhanced recovery projects.

"However, many investment projects must be deferred because either lower tier prices will not justify the project or cash flow from these fields is not sufficient to fund marginally profitable investments," he said.

Ellis outlined his views while testifying before an Economic Regulatory Administration hearing on proposed rulemaking for production incentives for marginal properties.

"I submit the subject we are addressing is not how to provide incentives for marginal properties, but, rather, how do we stimulate investment in properties producing lower tier crude oil before they become marginal and are abandoned," he said.

Ellis said Continental's domestic production from lower tiered crude properties account for about 50 percent of its total production.

"We currently allocate only 5 percent of our development capital drilling budget to investments on these properties," he said.

"A much greater amount of investment would be allocated to projects on these properties if the economics were improved and the capital was available."

Ellis said the insufficiency of lower tier prices to fund such investments is more dramatically evident if current prices are viewed in constant dollar terms during January 1974.

The 1974 lower tier price of $5.04 he said, compares with an average September 1978 price of $5.55 a barrel.

"In constant dollars, deflated at the gross national product deflator, this price is equivalent to $4.02 per barrel, or some $1.02 less than the average price of $5.04 received for 'old' oil in January 1974," Ellis said.

A more appropriate index such as the wholesale price index of oil field equipment, Ellis said, would place the September 1978 real dollar price at $2.81 a barrel or $2.33 below the average January 1974 price.

"This fact is a big and significant disincentive," he said.

Ellis said that while there has been no significant increase in lower tier prices since December 1973 a comprehensive survey of Continental's domestic crude oil operations reveals its average per barrel operating costs have increased more than 150 percent during that time.

The principal beneficiary of any increase in domestic crude prices, Ellis said, would be the federal and state governments.

Conservatively, Continental estimates at least half of the incremental revenue from any price increase will flow to governments in the form of increased royalties and taxes," he said.

Crude price controls are scheduled to end May 31 but President Carter holds an option to extend them to September 1981. At a news conference last week, Carter said he had not made a decision on the matter.

Ellis said Continental recognizes intense pressures are being exerted on the White House, Department of Energy, and the Congress on the decontrol issue.

"We are fully cognizant of the fact full decontrol of crude oil prices on June 1 may not be politically palatable nor feasible given these pressures from within and outside the United States," he said.

If full decontrol cannot be implemented, he said, consideration should be given to phased decontrol.

MR. AND MRS. KIM MARTIN
(Eric Puschmann Photo)

Vows Exchanged In Double Ring Ceremony

Paula Jean Clements and Kim Martin exchanged marriage vows in the First Baptist Church at Ira Dec. 30 at 3 p.m. Rev. Charles Bridges, pastor of the church, officiated the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Clements of Ira and Mrs. Carol Martin of Snyder.

The bride's father escorted her to the altar and presented her in marriage. The bride wore an A-line silhouette of sheer silk, trimmed in Venise and Cluny laces. Her fitted bodice featured a square neckline traced with a Venise and Cluny lace-trimmed yoke. Venise appliques sprinkled with pearls were scattered in the V-yoke. Her contoured A-line skirt enhanced with lace appliques and pearls was surrounded with a flounce, edged in matching lace. Soft gathers in the skirt back formed a chapel length train edged in matching lace.

Her three tiered bouffant veil of French illusion, edged with matching Cluny lace, was gathered to a matching lace pearl camelot cap.

The bride's bouquet was a cascade of apricot gardenia and begonia blossoms adorned with baby's breath and forget-me-nots.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Carl Smith of Ira, was maid of honor.

Best man was Kraig Martin of El Paso, the groom's brother. Ushers were Mark McClanhan of Plainview, the groom's cousin, and Keith Clements of Ira, cousin of the bride.

Vows were recited before an altar centered with a heart-shaped candelabrum flanked by two brass candelabra. Arrangements of apricot and champagne gladioli and carnations interspersed with greenery. The altar rail was decorated with votice candles and greenery. The bridal aisle was marked in hurricane lamps.

The musical program included "The Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer," sung by Sharon Klinkerman of Iowa Park. She was accompanied by Mrs. Charles Bridges at the organ. Brenda Cooley of Ira played the guitar and sang "Evergreen."

Angeline Autry registered guests preceeding the wedding.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. Serving at the bride's table were Lavonda Eckert and Carla Henderson. Attending the groom's table were Kelly Travis and Kathy Merritt.

The couple's wedding trip was to Fort Worth. The bride chose a peach dress of Quiana knit for her going away attire. The groom wore brown pants and cream shirt.

Following the honeymoon the pair will reside in Denton where the groom is attending a school of physical therapy. He is a 1974 graduate of Snyder High School. The bride is a 1978 graduate of Ira High School.

Out of town guests were from Big Spring, Plainview, El Paso, Iowa Park, Nacodoches, Sand Spring and Hobbs, N.M.

Synthetic Suede Care 'Knowhow'

COLLEGE STATION— Easy-care "knowhow" makes synthetic suede one of today's "main attractions" in fashion, says Nancy Brown, a clothing specialist.

Synthetic suede combines the plushness of suede with the easy-care properties of synthetic blends.

Suede look-alikes will machine wash and dry—and they boast resistance to wrinkling, shrinkage, spotting and fraying. But be careful, she warns. Miss Brown is with the Texas Agricultural extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Laundering and drying instructions vary, so read care labels and follow instructions.

When sudsing suede synthetics by hand, take care during the rinse not to squeeze or wring the items. To remove excess moisture, roll the garment in a towel. Lay it flat or hang it to dry.

Synthetic suede travels easily [illegible] wrinkle resistance. For touching up, iron it. Using a low-heat setting, press it on the wrong side—and use a press cloth.

Scott, Pinkerton Wed In Home Ceremony

Teresa Leigh Scott and Earnest Elton Pinkerton Jr. exchanged marriage vows at 7 p.m. Saturday Jan. 6. The wedding took place in the home of the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. L.E. Scott, 3505 44th St. Sam Kitching, minister of East Side Church of Christ, officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Scott and Mr. and Mrs. E.E. Pinkerton.

Escorted down the aisle by her father, the bride wore a gown of candlelight polyester designed by her mother. The floor-length gown featured an empire waist accented by white lace intertwined with candlelight ribbon. The fingertip veil of ivory illusion net accented with lace complimented the dress.

In keeping with tradition, the bride wore a diamond ring given to her by Mr. and Mrs. Billy Don Martin for something old. She borrowed a diamond necklace from Viola Pinkerton, sister of the groom, and she wore a blue garter. She carried pennies minted in the years of their births in her shoe.

The bride carried a cascading bouquet of cinnamon, ivory and brown silk flowers nestled in candlelight ribbon.

Mrs. Cathy Balderamma of Midland, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a formal length gown of cinnamon quiana featuring an elbow length cape of shear printed chiffon.

Best man was Joe Aycock of Odessa.

Registering guests was Shirley Pinkerton, sister of the groom. Seating the guests was L.E. Scott and lighting candles was Mark Scott, brother of the bride.

Vows were exchanged before a fireplace. The mantel was adorned with tapering candles surrounded by greenery.

The musical program was presented by Mrs. Lynda Beutnagel of Lubbock.

A reception followed the ceremony and attending the bride's table were Mrs. Karen English and Viola Pinkerton.

Following a short wedding trip, the couple will reside in Snyder. The bride chose for the trip a street length dress of burgundy velour.

The bride was a 1973 graduate of Snyder High School and a graduate of Western Texas College. She also attended Harding College, Searcy, Ark. She is employed by Superior Production Logging.

The bridegroom was a 1972 SHS graduate and attended WTC. He is employed by Mrs. Baird's Bakeries.

HELPING CHILDREN COPE WITH STRESS:

Parents can help children cope with stress--and prevent harmful stress that can damage a child.

Teaching children how to feel successful and satisfied about the way they handle experiences is vital.

Parents can teach children to enjoy these feelings in four ways.

--Encourage striving for improvement, but teach children there is no such thing as perfection.

--Praise a child for gains made--in order to keep interest in improving alive, but never give children the idea that they must always prove themselves "worthy."

--Look honestly at parent goals and the child's goals, and measure them by the amount of effort they will require.

Determine whether they are worth striving for--if not, don't waste your efforts.

--Encourage optimism by dwelling on the pleasant aspects of life.

--Provide chances for a child to succeed.

After losses, help the child take stock of past achievements in order to build confidence back up. Restored confidence makes future successes possible.

When children learn to react to experiences in a way that makes them feel self-satisfied and successful, they set a life pattern for coping with stress.

How we react to--or handle--experiences in life is a major factor in how we feel about ourselves, rather than the quality or intensity of what happens to us.

Helping children learn these coping skills early depends on the adults in their lives.

Of course, it is impossible to totally eliminate stress, and a small amount of stress is necessary--even happiness and success cause some stress.

Stress, simply defined, is the body's response to any demand made on it. However, too much stress or too-intense stress can damage a child.

Sometimes parents unknowingly expose children to stress that carries harmful results into adulthood.

Parents often pressure children into conforming to parental expectations. When those expectations are very different from the child's abilities or preferences, the child may develop feelings of guilt, failure and suppressed anger.

This anger may surface years later in the form of suicide, dropping out of school, running away--and other destructive ways.

Warning signs of harmful stress in children are:

--accident proneness

--general irritability, which might show up in unusually agressive behavior or very passive behavior.

--stuttering and other speech difficulties,

--grinding of teeth,

--insomnia, which is usually a result of being "keyed up,"

--bedwetting,

--upset stomach,

--headaches,

--loss of appetite or excessive appetite, and nightmares.

These signs indicate a need for parents to carefully guide their children into feelings of self-satisfaction--by helping that child develop abilities to cope with stress.

Fossil Hunters Comb Buildings

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)- Fossil hunters in urban areas need not leave the city to pursue their hobby. They can join the growing trend of spotting fossils in building stones.

Syracuse University geologist Osborne Nye says more and more fossil hunters and rock hounds are combing urban areas, enjoying the abundance of fossils to be found in building stones.

"If you are very lucky you might find some dinosaur footprints, but that would be unusual," Nye says.

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

Here is a really good rule for slam bidding. Take your time and make sure that you select your preliminary bids carefully.

South merely responds two clubs because he wants time for development. Once North jump rebids to three spades, South is almost surely going to a slam. His problem will be to find which one.

His correct rebid is to mark time by a four-club call. Now North is really interested in getting to the stratosphere. He can afford to bid four diamonds as a cue bid. This makes it easy for South to cue bid hearts. Now North can jump to six clubs. He has heard South rebid his clubs and at worst there may be a club finesse involved. S.A.B knows there won't be a club finesse and goes to seven.

With spades breaking 4-2, seven clubs wheels in easily.

This hand occurred in the 1969 world's championships and shows what should have happened.

It didn't. The American South bid four hearts directly over his partner's three spades. North could find no better next bid than four spades and after a lot of soul-searching, South passed. The careless four heart bid had kept them out of any slam.

Ask the Experts

A New York reader wants to know how many of the original 10 life masters are still playing good bridge.

Eight are alive and seven of them still play some bridge. Waldemar Van Zedwitz does not play any more, but still analyzes problems in both bidding and play.

Last-Minute Tips For The Groom

The morning of the wedding, the groom is apt to be a bit nervous. Nothing is worse than keys jingling at the altar or a pack of cigarettes ruining the line of the jacket.

The following check list, suggested by Robert C. Rudofker, President of After Six Formals, should help him accomplish what he needs to with a minimum of confusion.

- Line up clean underwear and appropriate socks beforehand.
- Make sure shoes are ready and, remember, clean handkerchiefs are a must at all but the dullest weddings.
- If garments are on wire hangers or in a box, put them on wooden hangers which will help hold their shape best.
- Arrange with the best man to have wallet and bulky pocket items tucked safely away out of sight.

Snyder Leaders Look Ahead!

Roger B. Mize
President
Snyder National Bank

I believe this coming year will be different from what we have had in the past. I think the inflation will run from 8 to 10 percent, the unemployment will remain about the same, the dollar will continue to erode in the foreign market and balance of payments will continue to run at a huge deficit. There will be no balancing of the federal budget in years to come and the bureaucrats will continue to vote and maintain give-away programs.
I think in the third quarter of 1979 and possibly in the second quarter, a real slowdown in the economy will exist and we could, in my opinion, have a mild recessin to begin the latter part of 1979.
The entire world and our many friends of long standing will continue to mistrust our nation, due to the actions of our beloved president, Mr. Carter. The latest episode being the double cross of Tarwan by him making a deal with Red China.
I wish the voters would wake up and elect qualified people to apply the brakes before its too late. We hare headed toward a socialistic government faster than most of us realize.
In our local deal, if our price of oil was deregulated and with the proper moisture, good cattle prices, new construction which is planned, we could look toward another healthy economy in our territory.

Brenda Hedges
Manager
First Federal Savings

We at First Federal anticipate a very difficult economic situation in 1979.

The National economy will suffer from tight money which will in turn affect each of us. First Federal will strive to meet the needs for families to purchase homes in the Snyder area.
In my opinion, Snyder may be exempt to a certain extent from the national problem because of our strong local economy.
First Federal will strive to meet the needs of those families seeking lending assistance for owner-occupied loans during the year.
With the continued support of our savers and investors, First Federal hopes to avoid to some degree the tight money situation and any national recession.

Bill Warner
Manager
Snyder Chamber
Of Commerce
Board of County Development

I don't want this to sound like a "paid commercial" for the Chamber of Commerce-BCD, but I do think it's important that the people of Snyder know "support" and use their Chamber. They need to know that the Chamber-BCD is a tool for the people to use in making Snyder a better place to live and make a living.
Snyder has been blessed with community leaders that are progressive minded and looking ahead to its needs and opportunities. Fortunately, these same community leaders are involved in the Chamber-BCD organization. With their knowledge, support and direct involvement the Chamber-BCD will be exceptionally active and effective in 1979. For instance, plans are being finalized to create a visitor and convention solicition program that will produce a record number of new people and new money for Snyder. The search for new industry for Snyder never stops, but more assistance will be directed towawrd the industries that are already here; they're paying a lot of peoples rent and grocery bills. A program to inform the people of State and Federal legislation that will directly affect them and to provide a voice of support or opposition to such legislation. Other major interest will be the agri-businesss and petroleum industries, the needs and desires of the smaller communities in Scurry County, our public schools and college and the development and promotion of cultural arts, wholesale, retail and service industries. All of these things provide great potential for our area.

Bill Seale
Bell-Seale Funeral Home

Being an avowed optimist I feel that 1979 will be another successful year for the citizens of our City, County, and area, and that good things will continue to happen to and for all of us.
We have the products and resources such as agricultural products, Oil, Magnesium, and manufactured goods that are in Nation and worldwide demand. These will help supply our financial needs.
There are good roads, highways, railroads, and airport facilities serving the area. These will supply our shipping and travel requirements. I am sure we shall continue to have strong, responsive, and conservative leadership in the City, County, College, and school elected officials and their staffs. These will provide our Governmental, educational, and cultural necessities. Our civic clubs, Business men and women, professional groups and the citizenery will remain strong in their awareness to the physical needs of the area. The spiritual needs can be amply supplied by our Churches, their Ministers, staffs, and members.
I am truly optimistic that if all of us will reflect on our past successes and failures in our business, professional, civic, spiritual, Family and personal lives and will improve upon them then 1979 will be very good to us all.

Dalton Walton
President of
E.D. Walton Construction

1979 is a critical year for the economy in the city, county and nation.
Scurry county and Snyder have the ingredients for financial prosperity, if outside influences are under our control. At the present, this is not the case.
it is urgent that we objectively look at all issues that affect us and make our decisions public record.
If we pull in unison for the economic factors that affect our area, there is no reason 1979 should not be a very good year.

C.O. Holder
Chairman of Board
Snyder Savings & Loan

We, at Snyder Savings and Loan, would like to take this opportunity to thank the fine people of Scurry County for making 1978 another successful year for our Association.
As I see it, our economy will be hard-pressed to equal the record of the past several years. With inflation still running at near record paces and the continuation of excessive government spending, there is no way that I can foresee a balanced budget in the future.
A challenge definitely exists to the American public if we are to maintain the level of respect from other nations that our fathers and grandfathers fought and died for.
We can only hope that 1979 will bring another good year to our area, but you can rest assured that the staff of Snyder Savings will be working toward attaining that goal.

Mike Ezzell
District 63
State Representative

I think the outlook for Snyder and Scurry County is very bright because of the positive attitude of its citizens. The feeling of confidence within the business community in Snyder is underscored by the current pace of construction and expansion.

Vernon Rannefeld
Owner
Snyder Heating
& Air Cond.

1978 was a record year in the residential and small commercial construction business. The economist predict a slight slump in housing starts in 1979 in the nation as a whole. However, I believe that the entire South and Southwest will continue to build at about the same pace because of the population trend. So 1979 should be another banner year in the construction business if short money and high interest rates and inflation do not get out of hand.
1978 brought Northern Electric and several quick food, convenience stores and shopping centers which indicates Snyder's potential as a progressive and stable city.
I think 1979 will be another good year.

Charles Lantrip
Superintendent
Chevron USA, Inc

Even though price controls on oil and the lack of an adequate National Energy Policy reduces the amount of work being done, the oil industry in Scurry County is expected to remain a major factor in the economy of the area during 1979 as it has been in the past.
The increased use of Tertiary Enhanced Recovery methods, such as the Carbon Dioxide Injection Project at SACROC, is expected, as well as continued exploration efforts by the industry to provide new oil reserves. High levels of expenditures will also be required in the older fields to perform necessary remedial work to maximize recovery of the oil remaining.

Even though oil production is declining, inflation continues to increase, interest is high and money is tight, the economy of Snyder remains good.
All our local economic indicators show that, for the near term at least, Snyder should stay prosperous.
Long term, we must all work together to attract additional industry in order to keep expanding our economic base.
Above all, we should all make every effort to "Buy Snyder". Money spent locally shows the fastest economic return of all.

Our industry is one of the fastest growing and most important in the entire country. Tourism is a hundred Billion dollar a year business. It brings "new" dollars into our community, primarily through motels, restaurants and service stations, but also through other retail businesses. These dollars change hands many times as they circulate throughout the area; they are dollars earned elsewhere, sometimes hundreds of miles away, but spent here in Snyder. They come from both domestic and foreign travelers.
What brings travelers to Snyder? Business, of course. At least 70 percent of our guests are here in connection with Snyder companies. A majority of these are in oil related fields. Tourists come for many reasons. Snyder is a good "rest stop" on the way to Carlsbad and Ruidoso. They come to see our growing junior college or participate in one of the many sports or cultural activities our busy Chamber of Commerce schedules.
We have been here almost six years. Each one has been good. We are thankful for a progressive community of really dedicated people, who are working to make Snyder an ever more attractive place. We are proud to be a part of a growing Snyder in 1979.

Some of the nations economists are predicting "doom and despair" but if the first two weeks of the New Year are inductive of the future for our area then I foresee a bright and progressive year to follow.
Snyder, Scurry County and Texas as a whole have more going for us than other parts of the Country. Our continuing growth in population, businesses, industry and greater medical facilities, coupled with our oil and agriculture indicates a stable and progressive economy.

How Does 1979 Look To You?

Mickey Nunley

Unfortunately the economic future of our nation no longer depends solely on pure economic indicators and business principles, but must take into consideration the bureaucratic decisions made by our officials in Austin and Washington. Past history of the effect of these decisions create a negative attitude toward the economic future on a national level.

We are very fortunate to live in an area where the effect of the national economic problems will be minimized. I have no doubts that our area will feel the direct negative effects of inflation, increases in minimum wage and social security taxes, and high interest rates. I do, however, feel that our assets locally will help offset these economic problems.

I am optimistic that Scurry County will continue to enjoy growth and prosperity in 1979.

Roy L. Kidd
President
Snyder Truck and Tractor, Inc.

I can be a little more optimistic this year with cattle and hog prices where they are, and cotton prices, though still not good, better than they were last year. Our moisture situation is better and with a little increase in oil prices, Scurry County should have a good year in 1979.

Brian Boswell

After an absence of some 14 years from the West Texas area, I was transferred to Snyder last November. I am not well versed enough at the present to be able to quote facts relating to Snyder, but I can make a few personal observations. Snyder has a tremendous amount of pride, which is evidenced by the general appearance of the community, and the attitude of the people.

Snyder has grown from a Boom Town type situation as I remember from my first time through the area in 1950 or so. Snyder has matured into a city, not too large to lose the personal feeling, but large enough to recognize the importance of maintaining a forward looking set of goals, and making every effort to achieve those goals.

I am extremely proud to be a member of the Snyder community.

Byron Hedges
Snyder Farm and Ranch Supply

Optimism sums up my expectations concerning local agriculture and 1979.

Cattle and cotton, which constitute a major portion of our agricultural revenue, have exhibited substantial price gains during the past several months.

Due to reduced numbers, cattle prices should maintain current levels and possibly strengthen. Stock water and grass supplies are still in short supply over much of the area but I feel the picture for 1979 is bright.

Cotton prospects are much improved over last year. Prices have increased substantially and moisture conditions are improved over most of the area.

In summary, I think the farm and ranch situation will show improvement in 1979.

Over the years Snyder has enjoyed economic growth and success because of many factors. The most important, we believe, is the work and involvement of community leaders. Success did not just happen, someone faced the crisis of the day, planned and followed up to a desired goal. There are other factors such as inflation, big government and tight money that cause concern, but Snyder is one of the best insulated communities against negative economic factors that disturb most of the nation. Snyder has a choice and I believe that choice involves individual attitude. We can bury our heads, talk ourselves into a recession and sit on the sidelines, or, we can take our many assets and put them to work for us and achieve even greater things. We see the Snyder retail community becoming a more attractive regional trade center, we see continued demand for food, fiber and our petroleum products, and we envision a greater expansion of our economic base in creating new payrolls. Despite a less than rosy national picture, Snyder is a good place to be in 1979.

I think 1979 will be a great year for makup. Women are becoming more aware of the importance of what makeup can do for them, due to National TV advertising and local newspaper and radio.

Makeup makes a woman look and feel better. Also appearance may make a difference when applying for a job.

I have owned the Merle Norman Cosmetic Studio almost 13 years and each year business increases and I expect greater things in 1979.

Our manufacturing facility got off to a good start in 1978 and we are looking forward to steady progress during 1979.

Although the economic indicators don't look good for the first half of the year, we are expecting a strong electric blanket market in the last half and therefore, will be building our production all year to that schedule.

We are happy to be a part of the progressive business community of Snyder, and feel that civic pride and cooperative spirit within this community are Snyder's biggest assets.

Snyder is growing and we want to grow with it. For this growth to continue, there must be a continuing increase in the labor market to support new jobs and housing must be available for these people.

As before, 1978 was a very good year for the Real Estate industry. While much of the country is facing crucial mortgage money problems due to rising interest rates, we in Snyder continue to enjoy a healthy market. Although business continues to prosper, we must innovate our business to keep pace with changing financial conditions. The optimism shown by our financial institutions as well as other Snyder businesses encourage me to feel 1979 will be another good year.

Milton Ham
Owner

Once again I'm optimistic about the coming year. Snyder continues to grow at a healthy rate, both economically and physically. When I view the new housing developments and business districts that are currently part of Snyder's growth, I can't help but be proud of our city. Snyder continues to lead area towns in the same population range in the sales tax rebate. This is indicative of the sound economy and confidence in our community by those who live in our city and the surrounding retail sales area. Let us all continue to strive for making Snyder more self-sufficient in the future, than it has been in the past.

William H. Wilson Jr.
Owner

1979 for Scurry County and West Texas may be another good year. Inflation - high interest rates and etc. will slow national economy. With strong demand for our products and service we will continue to run ahead of national average - maybe off a little but still another good one coming up.

Randy Perkins
Manager
The Shack Restaurant

The key to 1979 or for any year to be reflected upon as successful is to gauge the support the citizenry has contributed to the community. This past year was a very good one. Here are some figures to prove it.

Total Sales Scurry Co.--$59,276,000 (1977-78)

1 Percent Sales Tax Rebate--$509,229, or 18 percent of City Budget

1978 was a great year!

This is what makes 79 look good for Snyder.

We must do better to assure a successful year in 79. How! Shop In Snyder - WHY!! The more dollars flowing through the business community in a city produces more sales tax. The rebates provide more revenue to the city. The city is able (with more sales tax money) to hold taxes down, to keep sanitation & water fees in line, to upgrade and add city streets, to build & maintain city recreational facilities. You do all this - the citizen - who do we - the citizens do it for? For ourselves. Everything we spend, everything we work for, benefits our city & county. Let us look forward to the year ahead witht he future in sight. Our year will be what we make it, for better or worse. Snyder is our home.

Although there is an undercurrent of uncertainty among the nation's economic experts as 1979 gets underway, we can be assured of one thing: Communities that are on their toes and prepare themselves to take advantage of opportunities as they come along will fare better than others. Snyder has been among this group for many years, and there is nothing on the horizon to indicate that it should not be there again. So, regardless of how the winds blow, those best prepared to profit from them will do so, while those who are ill-prepared will encounter more problems. It boils down to attitude and ambition. Snyder has seldom been short of either, and we believe it will have plenty of both again in 1979.

Yearbook Staff Planning Sale

By WESLEY KRUGER

The yearbook staff has announced that students and community residents have another opportunity to purchase a '79 yearbook.

Staff members will take orders for yearbooks in the high school library from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. on Friday, Feb. 9. Cost of the yearbook is $9.

Students will also be selling yearbook subscriptions at the high school basketball game that evening. The game, matching Hermleigh and Highland, will be held at the Hermleigh gymnasium. Staff members, located near the gate, will take yearbook orders.

The staff wishes to thank all those students and area residents who submitted drawings for the yearbook cover. Co-editors Curtis W. Tate and Wesley Kruger stressed that these drawings have helped the staff in designing the cover.

Staff members also express their appreciation to Mrs. Bertha Holdridge, Mrs. Cliff Hale, and Mr. Grady Gafford for giving information concerning the first yearbooks, but the information needed is incomplete. The years 1939, 1941, 1942, and 1943 have not yet been confirmed as publication years. The staff has heard that no yearbooks were printed during world War II. The co-editors urge anyone having yearbooks printed in these years to contact the staff at the high school. This information will be beneficial in determing the volume number for this year's publication.

More Havens Needed For Refugees

WASHINGTON (AP)— Many more countries need to come forward and provide havens for the thousands of refugees fleeing communist Indochina, several U.S. congressmen say. The Congressmen, who recently got a first-hand look at the refugee situation, listed Sweden, West Germany, Saudi Arabia and Brazil as nations that should take refugees. To date, only the United States, Canada, France and Australia have provided permanent homes.

Deserted Preacher Feels Preyed Upon

By Abigail Van Buren

1979 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am an ordained minister in the Presbyterian Church. I have tried in all good faith to fulfill my duties as a husband and father (we have two young children), but my efforts have been rejected by my wife.

She left me for another man. Soon after, she decided she wanted our house and children (but not me), so she petitioned the court and was awarded temporary custody of the children plus possession of our home. This meant that I, who had cared for the children after she deserted us, had to pack up and leave.

Abby, this automatic favoritism the courts have toward mothers is unjust. My wife has shown herself to be unfaithful and unfit to raise the children. Yet I am the one who is being punished.

I want my house and children back. What should I do? (P.S. Yes, I have a good lawyer.)

BACHELOR FATHER

DEAR FATHER: You say you have a good lawyer. Good. You need one. Take his advice. Be patient. The wheels of justice sometimes grind slowly. Practice what you preach: "The Lord never gives us a heavier load than we can carry."

DEAR ABBY: In response to the dieter who finds it tough to turn down dessert-pushing hostesses, may I offer the following solution:

When the insistent hostess brings on the dessert, simply say, "Sorry, I'm allergic to it." Then add, "It makes me break out in fat!"

It's straight to the point and it's true.

WEIGHT WATCHER

DEAR WATCHER: Thanks for a timely reminder to take off those extra five pounds we put on over the holidays. I've already done it, which entitles me to the "no-belly prize."

DEAR ABBY: I borrowed $200 from a friend 14 years ago. Nothing was said about interest at the time.

I am able to pay the money back now. My friend says I owe her interest because if I had borrowed from the bank I would have had to pay interest. But, Abby, it wasn't a bank I borrowed that money from, it was from my friend.

What do you say?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Since no mention was made about the interest when you borrowed the money, pay her $200 and call it square. (P.S. I should think your friend would be glad to see any money at all after 14 years.)

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is making plans for her wedding. Her mother and I were divorced, and we have both married again.

My daughter phoned to tell me that her brother is going to give her away in marriage. Abby, I thought it was traditional for the bride's father to give her away. I told my daughter that if I could not give her away I would not attend the wedding. Was I right or wrong?

S.C. IN ALA.

DEAR S.C.: I think you were wrong. If you receive an invitation, go.

Do you wish you had more friends? For the secret of popularity, get Abby's new booklet: "How To Be Popular; You're Never Too Young or Too Old." Send $1 with a long, self-addressed, stamped (39 cents) envelope to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Use small appliances such as frypans, deep-fryers, kettles, slow-cookers and toaster ovens instead of the stove to save electricity.

Popcorn Crop Small In '78

WASHINGTON (AP)— While farmers last year produced a record crop of corn - the kind used mainly as livestock feed - they harvested less popcorn.

The Agriculture Department says in an annual report that growers produced 398 million pounds of shelled popcorn in 1978, a decline of a percent from 431.6 million pounds in 1977.

Officials said that the decline resulted from 9 percent fewer acres for harvest last year and that wet weather last spring in the Corn Belt delayed field preparations and planting.

Yields, however, averaged 327 pounds an acre, up 39 pounds from the 1977 harvest, the report said.

Despite the smaller 1978 harvest, popcorn prices also declined, averaging $8.44 per 100 pounds nationally against $8.78 in 1977.

Leading popcorn states and their production for 1978 and 1977 included:

Illinois, 23,780,000 pounds in 1978 and 23,570,000 in 1977; Indiana, 132,000,000 and 118,250,000; Iowa, 29,325,000 and 32,250,000; Kansas, 11,700,000 and 26,160,000; Kentucky 14,110,000 and 28,540,000; Michigan, 7,245,000 and 7,125,000; Missouri, 7,800,000 and 7,820,000; Nebraska, 127,300,000 and 136,500,000; and Ohio, 38,430,000 and 42,550,000.

In 1918, the U.S. House of Representatives voted for female suffrage.

Conservation District Sets Youth Contests

Entries are being accepted for the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District's annual essay and poster contests, Carl Williams, chairman of the board, announced.

The essay contest is open to all students attending schools in Borden and Scurry Counties who are 18 years of age and under.

The poster contest is new to the students of Borden and Scurry Counties. All students 12 years old and younger are eligible.

Topic for the essay contest this year is "Conservation District's Role in Tomorrow's Water."

The essay must not exceed 300 words. It is preferred that it be typed but that is not required.

A cover sheet should be used with the entrant's name, address, school name, and grade, along with the district number 115. The entrant's name should not appear on the essay.

In the poster contest, the poster work is to be on standard poster board cut to half size (approximately 22" x 14"). The poster topic is the same as that of the essay contest.

The winning entries in both contests will be sent to Temple for regional competition, where trophies will be awarded.

Certificates and ribbons will be awarded to the District winners.

These entries must be sent to the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District, P.O. Drawer O - Snyder, 79549 by Feb. 9. They may also be delivered to the Snyder Field Office, Soil Conservation Service, located in the Snyder Agricultural Service Center at 3423 Avenue T in Snyder. They may be submitted any time prior to the deadline date.

Links Cancer To Environment

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)— Personal environment, including ethnic eating habits, water supply and employment, is linked to cancer deaths in a state Department of Environmental Protection study.

The study showed a cancer mortality rate 20 percent above the national average for the area from New York City to Philadelphia, and a rate 10 percent above average for the 49 counties studied in New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Connecticut and Delaware.

Lost interest in sex

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Please help me. I am a 55-year-old woman and just passed the menopause which I got through very easily. My problem is I have lost complete interest in sex. This has been happening for the last two to three years, but now it has gotten worse.

My husband is a year younger than I and he is still very active — maybe more so. My obstetrician shrugs his shoulders and says this happens when women get this age. My internist is more interested and prescribed an estrogen ointment which did help with discomfort that I was experiencing, but it didn't help improve my sex drive.

My husband is becoming more and more discouraged as am I. He is not unfaithful to me but I wouldn't blame him if he was. I am sure he feels like he's making love to a broom stick. I can't believe that at age 55 my sex drive should be completely gone. We've always enjoyed a good sex life and I want it to be that way again.

I have talked to a couple of friends of mine my age and they don't seem to be having this problem. Is there any hormone I could take that would help? At one time during my menopause I took estrogen tablets but gave them up because of the cancer scare. My husband says he is beginning to think it's all in my mind, but I can't buy this. I miss the feeling as much as he does.

Please give me some advice. I don't want to take anything that would give me cancer but, at this point, I am desperate enough to try anything that will help. DEAR READER — I'm sure you are distressed and there are a number of women in your age group who have similar problems. When sex goes out the window, that doesn't mean people stop loving each other. There is more to love than that. Certainly after a long marriage, as you apparently have had, there are a lot of things the marriage has been built on besides just sex. I will have to tell you that the loss of interest in sex in mid-life is a symptom. The next step is finding out why. The middle years is a time when many people have a depression. If you are depressed, you may not realize it yourself.

A lot of people have a misconception about depression and think it means you have to sit there in a chair almost immobile or with tears streaming down your cheeks. Depressions can masquerade in many forms. I am sending you The Health Letter number 10-10, Depression: The Ups And Downs Of Life. It will give you a better idea about this. Loss of interest in sex in both men and women is frequently a symptom of a depression.

Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

I don't know whether you have a depression or not. It is certainly one of the possibilities that shouldn't be left out. If you do, it doesn't mean that you can control it, either. It more likely would mean that you could use some professional help to get you through this phase of life and regain your former vim and vigor.

I also don't know whether you are low on hormones or not. You need tests to find out. If you are, hormone replacement with a proper cycle of withdrawing the hormones for one week out of four might be very useful. The fact that estrogen ointments helped suggests that you might be low on hormones.

Author Not Responsible For Disease

NEW YORK (AP)-Dr. Robert Atkins, who wrote the popular book "Dr. Atkins' Diet Revolution," cannot be held liable for an elderly woman's heart disease, a jury has ruled.

The Manhattan jury ruled Tuesday in a $2.5 million mal-practice suit filed by Dorothy Goldstein, 73. The suit was dismissed on a 5-1 vote.

When she first went to see Atkins in 1972, Mrs. Goldstein weighed 214 pounds. She then started the high-salt, high-fat, high-cholesterol and low-carbohydrate regimen which Atkins popularized in his book.

In the next three months, she was hospitalized four times for coronary insufficiency and a pacemaker was implanted in her chest.

Atkins maintained that Mrs. Goldstein was "well on her way to a serious heart condition" before she came to him.

But Dr. Seymour Halpern, a witness for Mrs. Goldstein, said Atkins' diet was "the worst possible diet he could have given her."
