

SCHOOL SLATES OPEN HOUSE TUESDAY NIGHT

Doors to Olton Public School will open March 8 in observance of Texas Public Schools Week this week.

Joe Turner, chairman of the local observance, said the open house would be from 6:30-7:30 p.m., and was designed to spotlight what schools are doing and to remind citizens that good public schools are their responsibility.

Turner, principal at Olton High, has been working with the school board and administration in promoting and organizing the event.

The open house will be the beginning of a busy week for students and teachers alike.

Following the open house, an all-school play, "Brother Goose", will be presented.

March 10, the Olton Stock Show begins, and March 11, Olton teachers travel to Lubbock to attend the District XIII conference of the Texas State Teachers' Association.

"Operation Teen-Ager", featuring talks by several inmates from the Texas Department of Corrections, has been re-scheduled and will not be held during the week. Originally slated for March 9, new time for the program will be March 22.

The play, produced by Mrs.

Thomas Hamilton, speech and English teacher at Olton High, will begin at 8 p.m. Tuesday, and will be presented in three acts.

Featured in the story will be Benny Akin as Jeff; Belva Howard as Penny; Sandee Gregory as Hyacinth; Jerri Cross as Carol; Bobby Turner as Wes; Janice Hardaway as Eve; Sue Church as Mrs. Trimmer; Jackie Harrod as Sarah; Eulinda Dyer as a maid; Paulette Bley as Lenore and Neil Burrow as a truck driver.

DON BECK... He'll Head Olton Grid Fortunes

Wellington Coach Takes Mustang Gridiron Reins

Don Beck, 30-year-old football mentor at Wellington, has accepted a post as Olton's head football coach. It was announced this week by Ray Schultz, superintendent.

Beck is scheduled to sign a two-year contract calling for an annual salary of $7,740.

He will succeed Oris Holladay, who resigned the post last month.

A veteran of eight years of coaching, Beck spent the last four as head coach of the Wellington Skyrockets, leading them to a record of 26-13-2 over that period.

He capped one district football championship and two district track titles during that time.

Beck came close to a second football title this year, losing only to White Deer, Class A state finalist.

But it happened that the Skyrockets were competing in the same district with the Bucks, and Beck's 9-1 record failed to make the play-offs.

A West Texas State graduate, Beck was one of 31 applicants for the Olton post.

"I believe in producing a winning athletic program, but above that I believe in producing fine young men," Beck told the Enterprise.

A graduate of Canyon High School, Beck participated in football, basketball and track there.

Entering West Texas State, he played freshman football and basketball, and also ran track. He lettered three years in football at WT as a back, playing both offensively and defensively.

An above-average student, Beck was selected as a member of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" while at West Texas.

He began his coaching career in 1958 at Lockney, where he was backfield mentor, B-team basketball coach and track assistant.

The next year he moved to Class AAA Perryton as backfield coach and track coach. In three years, the Perryton football teams rolled up a record of 17-13-1 including a district championship one year.

All three years, Beck's track teams took the district title. He took over as head football coach at Wellington in 1962. There, his teams ran the split-T offensively, and used a 5-4 basic defense.

Beck is married and he and his wife have two children, now first and third graders at Wellington.

Dirt Streets Scarce If Paving Goes Over

If the upcoming $60,000 paving bond issue passes, Olton residents will see almost all the remaining dirt city streets paved and existing paving recovered.

Registration For Voting Starts Today

Potential voters who didn't register in the regular registration period earlier in the year get a second chance starting today.

According to Herbert Dunn, county tax assessor-collector, anyone who did not register and is eligible may obtain a "Conditional Voter Registration Certificate" until March 17. The registration was made possible due to the recent bill passed by the state legislature.

Certificates will be issued at the city hall in Olton.

Dunn said persons who have obtained a poll tax receipt are registered voters and do not have to re-register under the new program.

Residents of the county who were 60 years of age before Jan. 1, 1966 will not need an exemption certificate, a poll tax receipt or registration certificate for voting through Jan. 31, 1967.

Persons who have become 21 after Jan. 1, 1965 or who will become 21 during this year, may obtain an exemption certificate to vote. The exemption certificate must be obtained 30 days before the date of the election in which the person wishes to vote.

Under the plans viewed earlier by the city council, 101 existing paved streets would be retopped. The retopping would cost the city $25,170, or approximately half of the total bond revenue.

The seal coating would cover 155,522 square yards at a cost of 14 cents per square yard, and a total cost of $21,773. The cost would also include a four foot seal strip on the edges on streets without gutters. This work would cover some 5,000 square yards at 35 cents a square yard and a total of $1,750.

The city's share of the cost for the 23 blocks of new paving would cover some 6,500 square yards of paving costing approximately $10,400. It would also include 1,800 linear feet of curbing and gutters at $1.60 a foot for a total cost of $2,880, and 5,080 square feet of concrete valleys at 66 cents a square foot for a total of $3,353.

Engineering costs would run the city's total share of the cost to $47,867. Bill McMorries, city engineer, suggested money left over if the bond were passed to be used in buying equipment to maintain city streets so repair work would not be as costly when it must be done.

Anticipated cost to property owners on the 23 blocks of new paving would run between $4.25 and $4.50 per foot. This compares to the $4.30 cost in the last paving project in 1961.

The last bond election, passed in September of 1960, covered 68 blocks of paving at a cost approximately $80,000.

Taxes were not increased in the 1960 bond issued because of a surplus in the city treasury.

The new bond issue would increase city taxes approximately 14 percent, with assessments going from 35 per cent on $1.50 per $100 of evaluation, to 40 per cent.

SNEAKY THREESOME

Thieves Snatch $205 At CashWay

An apparently experienced threesome pulled a triple play on Cash Way Food here last Friday, and the grocer was out $205 in five-dollar bills.

Two men and a woman, all Negro, were believed to have worked together in distracting a cash register attendant's attention long enough to snatch the bills from the register.

Operator Herman Meyer said he believed the scheme was worked in the following way: The two men came in together and proceeded to make a small purchase. Sometime after they entered the store, the woman was believed to have entered.

At the checkout counter, one of the men stood at the far end while the other waited as charges were being rung up.

The man at the far end handed a $10 bill to the attendant, Mrs. L. H. McAdams, and at the same time inquired about some samples of furniture polish on the floor, near the cash register.

"That's just what I need," he told Mrs. McAdams, asking her for one. Mrs. McAdams, who had opened the register, leaned over to pick up one of the Previous school board signees include Elmo Bryant, Royce Collins, Gerald Allcorn, and Raymond (Cotton) Lewis, all farmers; and Bob Duncan and Bartow Riley, businessmen.

Three positions will also be open in the school board race, with terms of Gilbert Robertson, Owen Jones and Ed Thompson all expiring. None of the incumbents will seek re-election.

The trustee election is set for April 2, and the city council election for April 5.

School board candidates will draw for position on the ballot in the Olton High School Board Room at 1:30 p.m. today.

Absentee voting in the school race will begin March 14 and run until March 29. Ballots may be obtained in the high school building.

Price per box is 50 cents. Profits from the sale are divided between the troops and the council. Council profits will be used for building and improving Camp Rio Blanco, Camp Rio Blanco is the camp for the Council and is located northeast of Crosbyton.

While girls are selling cookies, they will wear their Girl Scout uniforms or pins. They will also give each customer a window sticker indicating purchase and the Scout's name and address.

Rash Of Farm Thefts Leads To Arrest Of Man, Warning

A rash of farm thefts brought a request from Lamb County Deputy Sheriff Delmar Beadle for farmers to note the license numbers of suspicious cars near unoccupied houses.

The request came after Beadle and Police Chief Emmett Burrows picked up Robert Hernandez of Olton in connection with the theft of three batteries from W. T. Hall Jr., and a later case of theft and vandalism on the Earl Hysinger farm.

The two officers were notified last Wednesday that a Latin American man had sold three batteries at a local junk yard. The batteries had been reported missing earlier by Hall.

The junk yard worker noted the license number of the car and police picked up Hernandez. Beadle said he and Burrows still had possession of four other batteries which had not been claimed.

Hernandez is being held in the Lamb County jail in Littlefield.

Beadle said thieves had also stripped copper tubing out of two unoccupied houses on the Earl Hysinger farm, and damaged the interiors of the houses. Burrows said Hysinger estimated the loss at $400.

Vegetable Growers Meet

Three vegetable specialists will be on hand Monday night when a vegetable growers' meeting gets underway at the Olton High School science room.

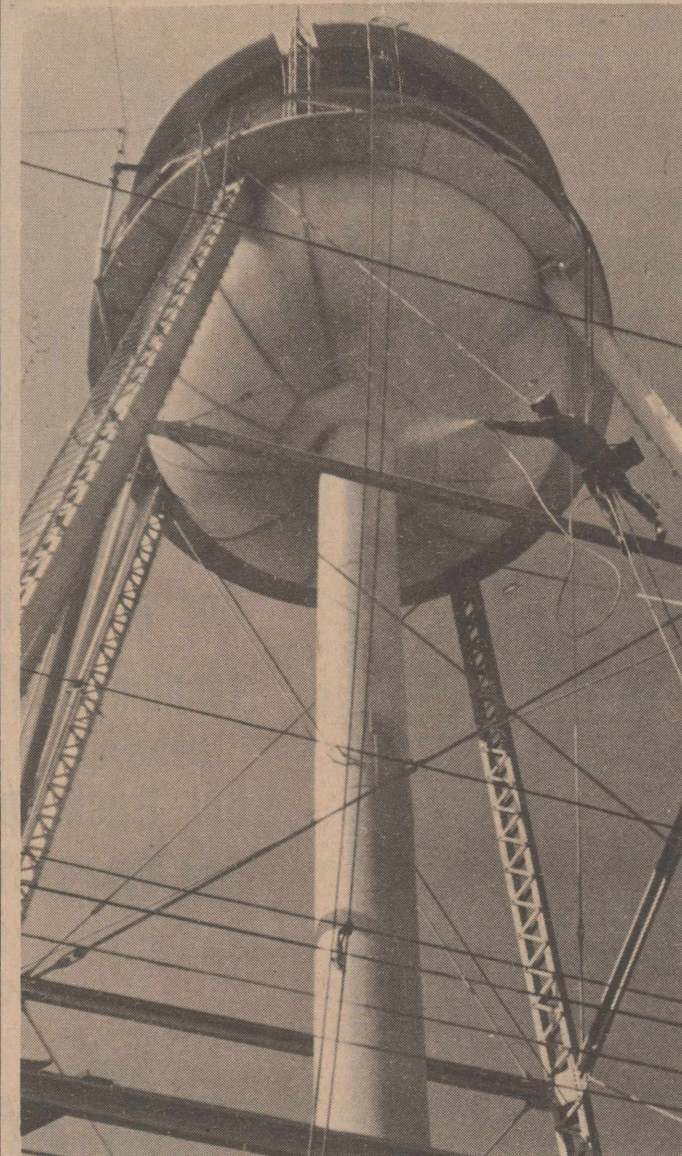

Buddy Logsdon, Lamb County Agent, said the meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m., with John E. Lawson, Texas A&M horticulturist, first on the program.

Schools In Transition

Public Schools Week in Texas will be observed March 7-11 and parents and citizens should visit their community schools to see what is going on in education.

The visitor to a school today may not see it at first glance but the public schools in Texas are in a period of critical transition.

The visitor will see bright new equipment in the science labs. But he should keep in mind that new achievements in science and space research are outdistancing the textbook writers and the schools must race to keep up.

The mathematics classroom the visitor sees may contain new and ingenious teaching aids. But the visitors should realize that educational research is moving so fast that the schools must continually re-evaluate their curriculums lest they fall behind current development.

The school principal can point with pride to the expensive new language laboratories. But the visitor should remember that more and more expensive equipment will have to be purchased and from somewhere, somehow the money to buy it will have to be found.

A teacher may tell a parent about a summer program being planned for disadvantaged preschoolers. This should be hint enough that the American school system is rapidly becoming a major vehicle for social action among poverty groups. Poverty areas overlap other areas and all, rich and poor, will be affected.

Another teacher may talk about good attendance at his school. But every school is troubled by the dropout problem. The factors which cause a child to drop out of school before graduation are primarily rooted in the home but the schools are being expected to solve the dropout dilemma.

The visitor to a school may be attending an open house in a brand new school building. But the population growth in Texas is so great that many more schools are needed than can be built. This is a problem the local community must solve strictly at the local level, from a severely strained, inadequate local tax base.

The teacher a visitor encounters during Public Schools Week is the best qualified teacher in the state's history. But each year Texas needs from between 9,000-9,500 new teachers. About one-third of this number is needed to take care of increasing enrollment. The remainder is needed to replace teachers who are retiring or who are seeking employment in non-teaching jobs.

At this time there is inadequate financial promise offered to new teachers in order for Texas to continue attracting well qualified young people into the teaching profession. And there is inadequate financial promise to hold them there to become career teachers.

The visitor to a Texas public school can take pride in his state's educational progress. But he should take note that a society which is demanding more and more from the schools must in return furnish increased financial support and increased moral support for the professionals in charge of the schools.

HOW TO DO IT: Here are a few tips for parents and citizens who visit open house events during Texas Public Schools Week. March 7-11 and wish to make the most of it.

*Circulate through the crowd and try to meet and speak with each of your child's teachers. Don't tie up their time, however, by asking for a personal interview about your child's progress because other people will want to talk with them, too.

*Look for things that make today's schools different from when you were in the classroom as a student.

*Ask questions when the opportunity is given. Here's a chance to clear up some of the puzzling stories your child brings home.

*Don't make your visit a one-time affair. Plan to make this visit the first of many such home-school contacts.

oh so much smaller than it was.

"Some day you may seek a position in the civil service of your state or your nation. On the application blank you will find this question: Have you ever been convicted of a felony? The truthfulness of your answer will be detected because appointments are made only after investigation. The record is here to be found by anyone interested. "You cannot vote. In a few years you will be 21 and others of your age will have right to vote, but you will not. Your father may be a candidate for public office, but you will not be allowed to vote for him.

"The members of your political party will not be interested in you because you will have no vote to give. It may be that some day the governor will pardon you and restore your rights, but it's going to be humiliating to ask him. He'll want to know your whole record. It is a bad one.

"Your country is calling men to the colors. Its need is such that men are being drafted. But the Army will never accept you, nor will the Navy. Military men are proud of the service; they will not permit it to be debased by the enlistments of convicted felons.

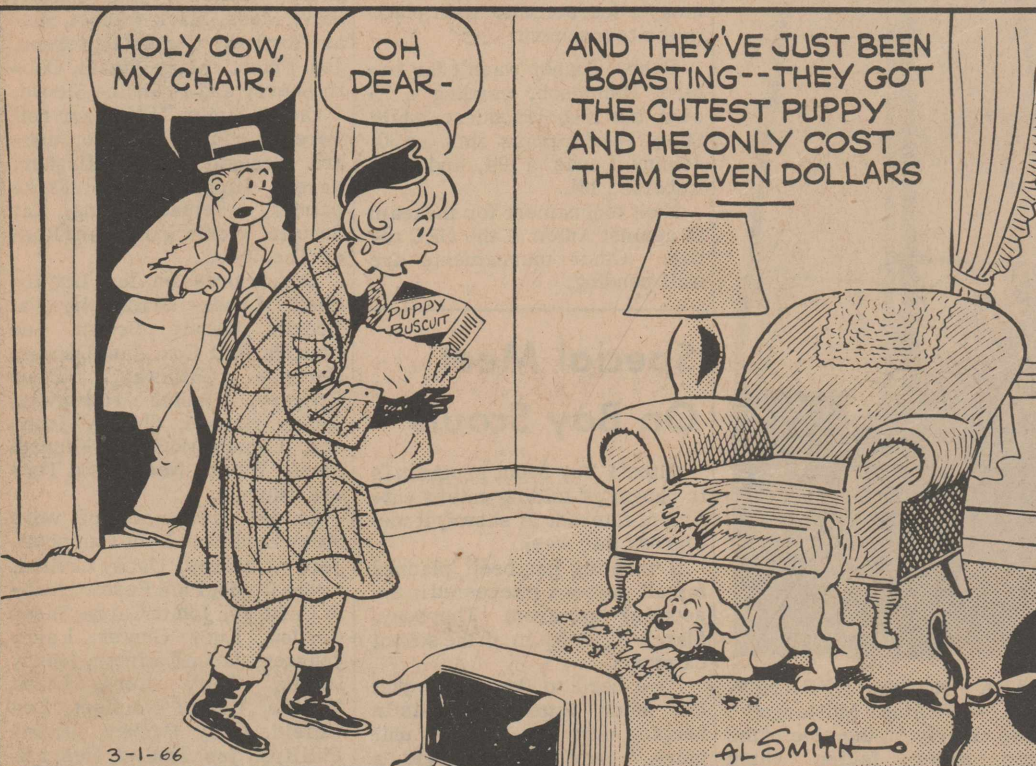

"You are on parole. I am granting you a parole. A parole is by no means a pardon. You will report to the men who have accepted your parole as often as they may ask. Your convenience is not a matter of importance.

"You will obey your parents. If your parents send you to bed at 9 o'clock, you will go without complaint. You will perform such tasks as are assigned to you.

"Your parole is a fragile thing. Should the slightest complaint of your conduct be received, your probation will be revoked immediately and you will begin serving your sentence. You will not be brought back here for questioning or explanations. You will be picked up and taken to prison without notice to you and without delay."

DOWN MEMORY LANE

FIVE AND TEN YEARS AGO IN OLTON

FIVE YEARS AGO IN OLTON

Olton Stock Show officials closed the books this week on the 16th annual edition of the event, perhaps the most successful of them all. The show closed late Saturday after a record-breaking auction sent 4-H, FFA and FHA youngsters home with money jingling in their pockets. Stock show board president Henry Mathis said animals consigned for sale in the show's auction brought a total of $12,014.55. The 1960 total was $11,386.21.

Construction got underway this week on a community building at the Olton Recreation Center. The building should be completed by mid-April if good weather prevails.

Monday and Tuesday of next week have been set for farmers of the Olton, Springlake and Earth communities to sign up for an Emergency Feed Grain Program for 1961. The most important part of the program is that it provides a means of getting more money into the farmers' pocket.

Olton's observance of Public Schools Week in Texas, March 6-10 will kick-off Monday at 6:30 p.m. with an openhouse at the schools.

TEN YEARS AGO IN OLTON

Two candidates have announced for city council in the election to be held April 3. They are Marshall Campbell and Dr. Lynn Fite.

Burglars took some $280 in cash and checks Monday night from Olton Bakery. Russell Rucker, owner, said $87.20 in checks were discarded at the rear of Thomas Furniture where they were found Tuesday by Richard Alcorta, Sr., who works there.

Two Olton farmers, A. J. Givens and Paul Hammer, are in Washington, D.C. this week. The two left from Amarillo via chartered bus Thursday morning with a group of other Texas farmers. Their purpose in Washington is to discuss farm problems and legislation with representatives and Congressmen.

Several Olton youngsters are competing in livestock events this week in the Houston Stock Show. A late message states that Carl Nafziger's Hampshire Barrow placed Reserve Grand Champion and Jack Hysinger showed the second place Poland China.

McClains Take Management Of Dairy Mart

Charles and Norma McClain have assumed management of the Dairy Mart, it was announced this week. The firm will be open seven days a week from 9 a.m. 'til. Free coffee and donuts will be served from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, the McClains announced.

No One Hurt In Smash-Up

A car-pickup crash Monday morning caused approximately $700 damage to the two vehicles involved, but no injuries were reported.

A late model car driven by Guy D. Daughtrey III collided with a pickup driven by Witt Lacewell at a dirt road intersection three miles north and two miles west of Olton.

Highway Patrolman Bill Angel said Daughtrey was going east and Lacewell north when they met at the intersection.

The force of the crash spun Daughtrey's car around and overturned Lacewell's pickup.

Angel estimated damage to Daughtrey's vehicle at $300 and damage to the Lacewell pickup at $400.

Four Attend C-C Workshop

Percy Parsons, Ralph Glover, Lester Thompson and Ed- isy Hackler attended a one-day workshop on chamber of commerce activity in Canyon Wednesday.

The workshop was the second in a series of four Leader Workshops for local chambers of commerce and other community organizations, and was organized by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting was sponsored by the Community Services Committee of the WTCC and the Canyon C-C.

John Ben Shepperd of Odessa, vice president of the WTCC and former Attorney General and Secretary of State in Texas, spoke to the group on Leadership responsibilities.

After his speech, the group broke into smaller groups for discussions and talks.

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

WRITE AND WRITE SOME MORE

Dear Amy:

I am a 58 year old widow, work for the state and live alone. I have no relatives and letters mean so much to me. I often think of the servicemen when the mail is delivered and no letters arrive because of no relatives.

Do you have any way of obtaining information regarding servicemen who might enjoy a letter. I am sure the younger men are thought of, but what about an older man who might be alone. I am sure a letter just from a pen pal would make him feel good.

Since I would enjoy writing to such a person giving him news of home, your answer would be appreciated.

Doloris

Dear Doloris:

Bless you, Darlin'. Your letter reflects the thoughts of hundreds that I have received over the last few weeks from teen-agers and women in every age group and from every walk of life.

I have made numerous inquiries and have been informed that every local Y.M.C.A. solicits correspondents to write to our servicemen throughout the world. I'm sure the services of all would be most welcome. Volunteer and bring HOME closer home to our men!

Dear Amy:

I am 53 years old and I am interested in a man who lives out of town. His wife has been deceased about 7 months and I have known him for years. I want to know if it would be proper for me to write to him, send him a gift, call him, or just wait to see if he is interested in anyone else.

Marie

Dear Marie:

Since this man is now a widower, and you want to renew your acquaintance with him, you may send him a note... nothing more.

If he's interested, he'll do the courting.

Dear Amy:

I am a junior in high school. I will be 17 this month and I have my driver's license.

My problem is that my parents won't let me ride in cars. The only time this rule is broken is when my parents know the complete family history of the boy I'm dating that evening. I feel that since I now have MY license, I know what safe driving is and believe I can pick good friends and that I should be allowed this privilege.

April

Dear April:

Just because you have your driver's license does not make you chief cook and bottle washer in your house. Your parents have the last say... and if they want to be sure the boy you go driving with is a safe driver, they have every right to do whatever they feel is necessary to find out.

You may think you are right, but they don't want you to be 'dead' right!

Dear Amy:

I am 18 years old and in love with "E". I met him over a year ago and we went with each other for several months. Then we broke up. I've gone with more boys than you could possibly count since then, but none of them seem to compare to "E".

I just had an 8 x 10 oil color portrait made up of him by a professional photographer (from a small snapshot), and I was wondering if you think it would be all right if I asked "E" to autograph it for me? It would mean so much to me to have his signature on the photo. I paid $8.50 for it but I think he's worth it. I don't think he cares for me anymore, but I think he knows that I still like him, but he doesn't know to what extent.

Miss J. K.

Dear Miss J. K.:

If you want to oggle over his picture, do so without his autograph. There is no better way to get a guy to dislike you than to throw yourself at him... which is exactly what you're doing.

Wise up. He knows too much, and you don't know enough!

PERSONAL TO RON (Parma Hts.):

Your neighbor boy is a free-loader and bad mannered in the bargain. But don't take him to heart — there's usually one in every crowd. Find a new buddy.

Davis Seeks Re-Election As Lamb County Judge

"In making this my official announcement, I want to first thank the good people of Lamb County for your wonderful support in electing me to the office of County Judge of Lamb County.

I well remember the oath that I took a little over three years ago, in which I said I would faithfully execute the duties of the office of County Judge. I have tried to show my appreciation to each and every person in Lamb County by striving to make you the kind of County Judge to which you are justly entitled. This office belongs to the people of Lamb County, and the man that holds this office should discharge the duties in a capable, efficient and business-like manner. I pledge to the voters of Lamb County that I will continue to represent all the people, and not just a few, should I be re-elected.

This is a very important office which entails many duties. The County Judge is a Trial Judge, both civil and criminal as well as Probate Judge. He probates Wills, appoints Executors, Guardians, Administrators, Appraisers of Estates, sets Bonds, and approves inventories, Appraisments, lists of Claims, orders of Sale of Real Estates, etc.

The County Judge hears evidence on the following cases: Retardation, Tuberculosis, Mentally Ill, Crippled and Handicapped children. He serves as Juvenile Judge for boys and girls under the ages of seventeen and eighteen, who violate the law.

He is Chairman of the Lamb County Commissioners' Court, which is the governing body of your county.

With my experience in this office and my acquaintance with the people of Lamb County, I feel that I am now better qualified to perform the duties of this office and make you a better judge the second term.

It is my desire to see each and every voter and citizen of Lamb County before the May 7th Primary, but with all the duties of County Judge, it will be difficult for me to campaign as I would like. However, please accept this announcement as a personal solicitation for your vote and support.

I will do my very best to serve you in such a way that you will never have reason to regret voting and re-electing J. B. Davis, Lamb County Judge, for a Second Term." (Pd. Pol. Adv.)

For TSTA Meet

Olton teachers get an excused absence Friday, when they take the day off to attend the District XIII annual meeting of the Texas State Teachers Association.

Approximately 80 persons, including administrators, teachers, secretaries and teachers' aides will travel to Lubbock to attend the seventh annual meeting of the group, while students get a holiday.

The meeting actually starts today with a banquet and business session at the Parkway Drive Holiday Inn at 6:30 p.m.

Delegates to the state TSTA meeting, set to convene in Austin next October, will be selected, along with new officers for the local district.

Theme of the program is, "Education for Peace and World Understanding."

Dr. Charles L. Allen, pastor of the Houston First Methodist Church, will address the group at 9:30 a.m. Friday in the Lubbock Coliseum.

The groups will then break up into sections for lectures, discussions and workshops.

Missionary Recalls Service In Latin America

Van Hughes looks more like a West Texas cattleman than a Baptist missionary to South America.

But beneath the tanned smiling exterior is a mind that remembers 16 years of South American service and hopes to see more.

Hughes works for his father's nursery business in Dimmitt, but on Sundays, he takes over the duties as pastor of the local Mexican Baptist Mission.

A native of Kress and graduate of the same high school, Hughes has a smile and a chuckle for every year spent south of the border, 10 of which were consumed in establishing the Baptist Church in Costa Rica. Hughes' wife is currently teaching school at Richardson near Dallas, and one daughter attends Arlington State College, while the other is a high school student in Richardson.

Hughes hopes to move his family to the South Plains as soon as the school year is up, but until he does, he is kept busy with his work in the Hart area.

Hughes said he first felt the call to the ministry when he was a senior in high school. He enrolled at Baylor University the next year.

"It was during my freshman year that I felt my duty was working with Spanish-speaking people," said Hughes.

He started running a vacation Bible school during the summers at Milam, near Waco.

After graduation from Baylor, Hughes went to Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth to continue his studies.

After receiving his divinity degree, Hughes and his wife were asked by the Baptist Home Mission Board to travel to Cuba.

"We stayed there a year, then went to Costa Rica, where we actually began the Baptist Church in that country," he said.

"During the time we stayed in Costa Rica, we established 20 churches, and trained 20 pastors in a three year course," he continued.

He came back to the United States after 10 years of service in Costa Rica in 1958. But he didn't stay long before setting out again for five years of evangelistic work throughout South America.

He still conducts revival services about four times a year south of the border, and works as an occasional consultant for business firms with investments in Latin America.

Hughes is a firm believer of teaching by example, and one of his favorite stories is about a family in Costa Rica.

"Captain Frank Spaseck, who was with the Army Geodetic Survey team in Costa Rica, asked me to take a trip with him through a remote jungle part of the country."

"Well, after we finished the survey, we decided to take the boat with the instruments in it and do a little fishing," said Hughes.

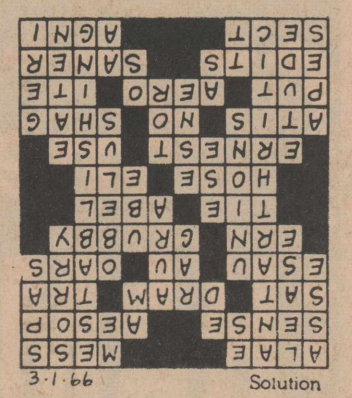

"We caught some wonderful fish, and Spaseck gave them to the leader of a local village to divide up among the other people living there."

"They invited us to stay for dinner, and while we were eating, the leader's wife called me over and showed me a very old Bible, which she said she had bought from a traveling missionary 15 years before."

Hughes said the woman told him she wished to learn more about Christianity, but her husband threatened to leave her if she read the book.

"In Costa Rica, everyone knows how to read, no matter how remote most of the country is," Hughes said.

"Well, I brought up the subject, and the man asked if I believed in what the book said."

Cigarettes Make Comeback Despite Health Warnings

Has the anti-smoking campaign, conducted by the U. S. Surgeon General and others, reduced cigarette smoking in Lamb County?

What effect have the health warnings had on local smokers? How much are they smoking compared with people in other areas?

Judging from the latest regional figures on cigarette sales, business is back to normal. The cutback in smoking in 1964, after release of the Government report linking cigarettes with lung cancer, heart disease and other ailments, was short-lived.

Now, it appears, the public has decided to ignore the warnings and has gone back to cigarettes in earnest.

Figures compiled by the Internal Revenue Service and by the Tobacco Tax Council give the rate of consumption in each section of the country.

A breakdown of these figures shows that no less than 2,820,000 packs of cigarettes were smoked in Lamb County in the past year.

This was at the rate of 193 packs for every local resident over the age of 18.

In some parts of the United States the rate of consumption was even higher than this and in some areas, lower. The average, nationally, among persons over 18, was 216 packs last year. In the West South Central States it was 182 packs.

In general, the per capita use of cigarettes has again reached the record rate set in 1963.

The recent rise is attributed to the fact that most of the people who had stopped smoking, or had turned to cigars or pipes after the Surgeon General's report, have gone back to cigarettes.

Data from the Department of Agriculture indicates that the rise in total consumption of cigarettes in the United States last year took place despite increases in state and local taxes in many areas.

It lists the total at 532 billion, up from 511 billion in 1964 and from 524 billion in 1963. The increase in population and, consequently, in the number of smokers, accounted for a large part of the rise.

Just how much do residents of Lamb County spend per year for cigarettes? It adds up to more than most of them realize. Their total outlay last year amounted to approximately $953,000, or about $65 per smoker, the figures show.

"I told him I did, and he asked Captain Spaseck if he also believed in the book, and the Captain said he did."

Hughes said the man then told his wife she could read the Bible, since Captain Spaseck was an army officer who did not let his men mistreat or cheat the natives, and if he read the book, it must be all right.

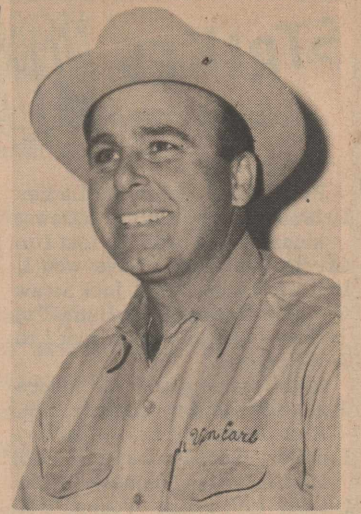

"It didn't matter if I believed in the book," says Hughes, "but Captain Spaseck was a man the leader respected, and if he read the book, then the leader figured it must be all right."

"What was really funny," says Hughes, "was that as we left in our boat, the woman, who was standing behind her husband, put her hands together and raised them over her head to show that he had won the right to read the book."

Other adventures in Hughes' Latin stay were varied. In Cuba, there was a fight over press censorship, and in Costa Rica, numerous missions as an impartial consultant for foreign companies to settle strikes and take care of business questions.

Now Hughes works only part-time as a Mission pastor, but you can see the gleam in his eye when another stint in Latin America is mentioned.

ED THOMPSON IMPLEMENT

BY SANDEE GREGORY
AND JANE ANN DUNCAN

Is there too much pressure put on students -- both high school and college -- to get good grades for the wrong reasons?

Recent news articles indicate that this situation is resulting in strong feelings and misgivings on the part of many educators, as well as parents and students.

Of course, there have always been arguments pro and con concerning the emphasis on grades, as well as the giving of report cards each six weeks. This is "report card week" at OHS, so it seemed to be timely to get a sampling of opinions from some of our students and teachers on this controversial subject.

The Question: What is your feeling about the strong emphasis on grades in our schools and on the giving of report cards?

Mrs. Holladay: "I wish it were possible to have a more accurate method to judge a student's achievement. However, since none has been developed, we will have to continue the report card method and grades will, as a result, continue to be emphasized. I wish each student might be motivated by a desire to learn rather than by working for a grade."

Charles Church: "I definitely feel a strong emphasis is placed on our scholastic endeavor of the learning process. In order to create a mutual understanding between students and faculty, the report card should be abolished."

Jim Smith: "I believe our students and their teachers should show emphasis on grades because they may be an important factor in our careers and ambitions for the future. Without correct emphasis, we would fall into a category in which no one would care about his grades, whether he or she passed or not."

"In my opinion, I don't especially like this idea of the report card every six weeks. I think that we should care enough about our education and have pride enough to know that we are doing our best and, in turn, be up to date on our progress as far as grades are concerned, without this childish method of reports regularly."

Jackie Harrod: "In my opinion an emphasis should be put on grades. Grades may not always tell a student's true capability, but grades do make students try harder. I know that I try harder when the grades count."

Francine Struve: "There should be a strong emphasis on grades, I think, because in college they are going to stress grades even more. On giving report cards -- sometimes I'm glad and sometimes I'm not!"

Jeanie Gardner: "I think grades are important, but I also think school is here for another reason. In school a person learns to get along with all different kinds of people. School prepares a person for the world ahead when we are the leaders of our community, nation, and world. I believe in receiving report cards because it helps some people want to strive to do better when a person knows how he stands. I think everyone should study and do his best to the greatest of his ability."

Mr. Murphy: "I definitely think that too much emphasis is placed on grades in that the true significance of education -- learning -- is neglected. One's primary objective in attending school is to learn and not to receive A's which have become a symbol of social status among students. I am not opposed to report cards, but they should merely indicate whether or not the students are doing satisfactory or unsatisfactory work. Reporting periods should be lengthened so as not to take away time necessary to present true learning situations. This does not deny the fact that a testing period can be and must be a situation conducive to the learning situation."

There's no doubt that the city water tower looks very "spruced-up" in its spanking new dress of midnight blue and white, proclaiming all around that this is the home of the Olton Mustangs. Let's be proud of it!

BIT O' NEWS

If anyone is wondering why all of the juniors are smiling these days, it might have something to do with senior rings. Last week our "Seniors '66" measured for their senior rings and most everyone was completely thrilled about it. And while the juniors seem to be our subject, they conducted a "coke bottle raid" last Saturday. When we asked Valda Jones about the results, she replied:

"The raid was made to raise more money for the junior-senior banquet for which the "raiders" have to pay."

We wish to say "congratulations" to Mrs. Bob Allford, our choir teacher, for being chosen "Woman of the Year". Oh, yes, we hope your hand gets well quickly, too!

Everyone in OHS is making early preparations for next week's stock show. The plans for the stock show are being talked about just about as much as the all school play. The rehearsals are coming along rather well, and we hope to see a big crowd next Tuesday night for the big performance.

WHO'S WHO

Doyle Meadows, did you ever get your picture taken Sunday?

Danny Sides, have you been looking into any more glove compartments lately?!!

Shirley and Carol, how did you like that "extra something" at lunch Monday?

"I wish there were mountains around here!" commented Jackie Burkhalter. We wonder why??

Janice Hardaway, why won't you cut your hair? Could it be because of S. E. ???

A caveman, writing on the wall, asked his wife: "How do you spell hunt -- with one dog or two?"

Jerry Kemp: I hear you're having a terrible time with your jalopy.

Harry Max Thomas: Yeh, I bought a carburetor that saves 30 percent on gas, a timer that saves 50 percent on gas, and spark plugs that save 30 percent on gas; so when I had driven 10 miles, the gas tank overflowed!

Mr. Castleberry: Do you know anything about traffic laws?

Joe Fincher: A little, may I help you?

A high school class in world history was asked to bring in a list of the world's trouble spots. One youngster handed in his: China, Kashmir, Vietnam, Israel, Africa and Peyton Place.

Mr. Bostick called our attention to the main difference between kids today and a generation ago. Then they wanted to know why a thing was so. Now they want to know why they have to know it is so.

Coach Meadows: Are you doing anything for that cold?

Lynn McGill: I sneeze when it wants me to.

Today, the only thing people have to fear is each other.

Littlefield Man Is Re-appointed To Commission

The recent reappointment of Otha F. Dent of Littlefield, to the Texas Water Rights Commission for a six-year term, was confirmed Feb. 22 by the Texas Senate's Nomination Committee and later by the Senate itself.

The announcement made in Austin by Sen. Andy Rogers. The announcement was made in Austin by Sen. Andy Rogers.

The appointment, as most of those made by the Governor, was subject to the constitutional provision that says the appointee be favorably approved by the Senate nominating committee and by at least two thirds majority of the members of the Senate, and upon recommendation and approval of the senator whose district the appointment is made.

There are three men on the Commission and this makes the third six-year term for Dent.

KITCHEN KORNER

BY LELA GALLION

Well, March has come in like a lion so maybe towards the end of the month we will see some calm weather. I have this pie recipe I would like to share with you. Do try it for a very delicious dessert.

PINEAPPLE SOUR-CREAM PIE

3/4 c. sugar
1/4 c. flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1 No. 2 can (2 1/2 c. crushed pineapple, undrained.)
1 c. dairy sour cream
1 T. lemon juice
2 slightly beaten egg yolks
1 baked pastry shell
2 egg whites
1/2 tsp. vanilla
1/4 tsp. cream of tartar
1/4 c. sugar

In sauce pan, combine 3/4 c. sugar, flour and salt. Stir in the next three ingredients. Cook and stir until the mixture thickens and comes to the boiling point; then boil two minutes. Stir a small amount of the hot mixture into the egg yolks, then return to the hot mixture, stirring constantly. Cook stirring two minutes. Cool to room temperature and spoon into a baked pie shell. Beat egg whites with vanilla and cream of tartar to soft peaks. Gradually add 1/4 cup sugar, beating until stiff and glossy, then spread atop pie, sealing to edges of pastry. Bake at 350 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes.

RICE SALAD

1 c. cooked rice (drained)
1 pkg. lemon jello
1 c. crushed pineapple
1 c. whipped cream
2 c. hot water
1 c. confectioners sugar
1/2 c. walnuts
1/2 c. marshmallows

Dissolve jello in hot water and let stand until cool, fold all other ingredients in and let stand until congealed.

A garnish has two functions, to decorate a salad and to add to its taste. A garnish should be kept small, should add contrast and added interest to a salad, but should never be gaudy.
