TAX PAYMENTS EXCEED HOPES

Total For March Under New Revenue Bill Expected to Reach $420,000,000

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23. (AP)—Income tax collections for this month, the first under the new revenue law, are expected to exceed $20,000,000, the original estimate of Secretary Mellon. The total is expected to reach $420,000,000 by the end of the month, or approximately $21,000,000 less than was collected for the same quarter of last year, when tax rates were higher. The increase over the estimate is regarded by Secretary Mellon as due to expansion of business prompted by the prospect of tax reduction. Using as a scale the collections to date, which include only taxes paid for the first quarter by individuals and corporations, treasury officials expected the total for the fiscal year ending June 30 will reach $1,751,000,000 as against $1,760,000,000 a year ago and $1,836,000,000 estimated collectable this year under the old rates.

Another warning that the treasury may open the next fiscal year with a deficit was sounded in the house yesterday by Representative Tilson of Connecticut, Republican floor leader, who advised sharp pruning of appropriation bills. He pictured congress as possessing a fat check book but having no money in the bank and estimated that deficit next July would be nearly $80,000,000. Mr. Tilson predicted that the government's balance for 1927 would be $11,207,000, which he said congress already has overdrawn by about $30,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23. (AP)—Public hearings on prohibition question were ordered today by the senate judiciary committee.

MISSING CLERK IS ARRESTED

9 Persons Prostrated By Heat At Houston

RELIEF BROUGHT TUESDAY BY RISE IN TEMPERATURE

SAN ANTONIO ALSO FEELS SPELL WHICH REACHED TO WEST COAST

HOUSTON, Mar. 23. (AP)—Relief from the extraordinarily warm weather which came to Houston with the first days of solar spring, Sunday and Monday, was here today with a drop of eleven degrees to a 56 degree temperature.

With a maximum temperature of 79 degrees Monday and a very humid atmosphere nine persons fainted on the streets.

CHICAGO, Mar. 23. (AP)—It may be again by the calendar, but summer is making a demonstration on the thermometer.

The season of buds and birds and growing things barely made its bow to the country when stories of heat prostrations and dashes to the beach reminiscent of warmth, began to trickle in.

With the temperature 79 degrees at Houston, Texas, Monday, nine persons fainted in the streets. The prostrations were ascribed to the heat by rescuers who hurried the victims to hospitals, and the government meteorologist said the diagnosis was not beyond belief. An abnormal humidity prevailed. San Antonio was another high temperature spot with 82.

The 82 degrees registered at San Francisco sent thousands scurrying for the cooling ocean waves. It was the warmest March 22 ever recorded in the California city. In Los Angeles the mercury climbed two points higher, while virtually all temperatures along the West coast were 70 or above.

In fact, moderate temperatures prevailed over most of the country and also in the Canadian Northwest. Temperatures in the East averaged around 60 at the day's high, with the middle Western range from 40 to 75. Further moderation was in prospect today, said the weather man.

MAY SEND TWO TO WASHINGTON

Members of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development, in regular session in the city hall Tuesday morning, voted to send a special committee, consisting of Dr. I. E. Barr and Rocco Wilson, to Washington in an effort to secure a Federal court for Lubbock and if such a move is found necessary these men will make the trip. It was announced Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Wilson, local attorney, has been in charge of the campaign waged by the Chamber of Commerce for a Federal court here and he is in correspondence now with Congressman Marvin Jones, representative from this district, concerning the plan. Mr. Wilson told the Daily Journal that he and Doctor Barr would not make the trip to the nation's capital unless he heard that their coming would aid him greatly in putting the bill through congress.

Several weeks ago Congressman Jones placed a bill before members of the house, asking for the new Federal court here, to embrace Bailey, Lamb, Floyd, Motley, Dickens, Crosby, Youkum, Terry, Lynn, Garza, Dawson, Gaines and Lubbock counties. The enarest Federal court in Lubbock now are at Amarillo and Abilene. Congress as yet has taken no action on Mr. Jones' bill.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23. (AP)—Lieutenant McCready of McCook Field, failed in his attempt of March 13 to establish a new world's altitude record.

This picture of General Smedley Butler (right) and Colonel Alexander Williams shaking hands is probably the only one that ever will be taken showing these two marine corps officers shaking hands. JOHNSON-JONES NUPTIALS HELD

Simple, Yet Impressive Were Services At Presbyterian Church Tuesday Morning

Before a gathering of approximately 200 immediate friends and in one of the simplest, yet most impressive ceremonies in the city's history, Miss Mary Alice Johnson and Frank P. Jones were married at ten o'clock Tuesday morning at the First Presbyterian church. Rev. Jack M. Lewis officiated.

The church altar was banked with ferns, palms and baskets of sweet peas and carnations. Preceding the ceremony Miss Edith Carter, accompanied by Miss Meador, violinist, and Miss Kathryn Atkins, pianist, sang "Because." Misses Meador and Atkins played the wedding march and during the ceremony.

The bride came in on the arm of her father, J. S. Johnson, and was met at the altar by the groom and the minister. She wore a tan suit with a simple hat of harmonizing shade and carried a bride's bouquet.

Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Jones left for a visit to Dallas and other points in North Texas, after which they will be at home at 1719 Avenue K.

PROBE OPENS IN BRUTAL MURDER

Grand Jury At Crockett Takes Up Johnson Case With Plea Of "Get Your Man"

CROCKETT, Tex., Mar. 23. (AP)—A Texas grand jury, with a judicial admonition to "get your men if they stay on top of the ground" today started on the trail of the band of men who killed Frank Johnson as he lay in bed wounded beside his sleeping baby near here on the night of March 15.

Judge B. F. Dent, told a Houston county grand jury yesterday that they must "wipe this stain from the fair name of Texas."

All the peace officers of Houston county, including Sheriff Deb Dale and County Attorney Adams, were placed at the disposal of the grand jury. Johnson was under a murder charge in connection with the killing of Homer Gibson with whom he had quarreled over school matters.

"The time should never come in Texas when a gang of hoodlums and cut-throats will be allowed to invade the sanctity of a man's home and shoot him to death in such a cowardly manner," said Judge Dent. He charged the jury to spare no expense in bringing the guilty to trial.

FLOOD WATERS IN CITY REDEDE

OIL CITY, Pa., Mar. 23. (AP)—Flood waters in the Oil City business district had receded greatly today giving the city temporary relief, at least from the menace of high water. Practically all the water which backed up Oil Creek in its sudden rise yesterday afternoon moved out during the night, leaving only a portion of Seneca Street and other lower sections submerged.

It was the backing up of the flood waters in Oil Creek yesterday that caused the high water to descend upon the city resulting in 150 families being driven from their homes and causing damage estimated as high as five millions of dollars. Oil Creek rose from five to seven feet within ten minutes, flooding an area ten blocks long and four blocks wide, including the heart of the business section. The rise was so rapid that officers and store workers, intently engaged upon their daily tasks suddenly found the waters lapping at their feet and police and firemen were called to carry scores of women workers to safety.

BERLIN, Mar. 23. (AP)—The Reichstag today approved the government's course at Geneva by a rising vote.

The outcome of the balloting was at no time in doubt as not only the four governmental parties but also the socialists had announced themselves in full accord with the government's course and with Foreign Minister Stresemann's speech upon his return from Geneva.

They also approved the government's reservations in respect to its further attitude toward the league, especially its right to withdraw its application for membership in case the special commission charged with reorganization of the league should bring in a decision not conforming with Germany's position.

The government was upheld after house had voted down 259 to 141, a national party motion expressing lack of confidence in the government and demanding withdrawal of Germany's application for league membership.

Admiral Von Tirpitz, war-time chief of the admiralty and sponsor of the unrestricted submarine warfare, made his first speech as a deputy, supporting the nationalist motion.

Chamberlain Is Censured.

LONDON, Mar. 23. (AP)—Former Premier David Lloyd George initiated the Geneva debate before a crowded House of Commons today. He moved a resolution in the foreign office estimates in order, he said, to call attention to the recent League of Nations proceedings at Geneva and the action of Sir Austen Chamberlain, the British representative there. This motion is equivalent to one of censure.

Mr. Lloyd George said yesterday's discussion in the United States senate made very unpleasant reading because, whereas all had been hoping that America would enter the league, as her advent would make the league a perfect success, there was no doubt now that what had happened had put of fad and organized the units in a way that had not been for some time.

Sweden, who took the right and courageous course at Geneva, said Lloyd George, undoubtedly also represented what was the public opinion in Great Britain regarding the matter of Germany's right to a permanent seat in the league council.

Yet, the Swedish foreign minister, M. Unden, was treated as stubborn, irreconcilable and pro-German, though he had done more to save the league than any other man by his struggle and sacrifice. Sweden's return to PAGE 8 COL. PLEASE

BAN IS DECLARED ON COTTON PEST

Worst Pest of Cotton That Has Yet Been Discovered Is Found In Arizona

AUSTIN, Mar. 23. (AP)—A quarantine against the wild cotton area of Arizona, in which has been discovered a boll weevil branded by agriculturalists as "the worst pest of cotton," has been declared by the Texas Department of Agriculture. The weevil is a type which thrives in intense heat and severe cold. George E. Terrell, commissioner of agriculture, announced he also is going to ask the horticultural board to place a quarantine against the infested area. R. E. McDonald, chief entomologist, said he and B. R. Coad, of the United States Department of Agriculture, spent several days in the vicinity of Tucson and found that the destructive weevil flourishes on the wild cotton grown on deserts and on high mountains, called thurberia.

Domestic cotton in the infested area has suffered enormous damage from the insect. It attacks bolls instead of the square.

SEEK TO CURTAIL FARM HEARINGS

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23. (AP)—Efforts were made today by members of the house agriculture committee to curtail farm relief hearings with a view of getting down to work on a bill.

Representative Ketham, Republican, Michigan, started the move by asserting that "at the rate we are going these hearings will last until midsummer." In the interrogations of witnesses, he added, "We are going over and over the same things."

Other members of the committee conceded that greater haste was desirable but after debate the question was shelved for the time being.

CHILDRESS MAN HELD IN COUNTY FUND SHORTAGE

IS RETURNED TO TEXAS
AFTER ARREST IN OREGON TOWN

(By The Associated Press)

CHILDRESS, Tex., Mar. 23.—Desire for an old blue serge suit led to the arrest of Harry C. Burnett, former Childress county clerk under forty-two indictments charging embezzlement of $23,250 of county funds. Sheriff John B. Compton and Commissioner Wyatt Smith today were reported en route here with him from Klamath Falls, Ore., where Burnett has been working in a railroad shop under the name of Harry Johnson since his disappearance three months ago.

Burnett recently wrote a letter to his wife, requesting that the suit be sent to a nephew in a New Mexico town. The letter was intercepted. A package was forwarded to Burnett's nephew, Compton and Smith were in the postoffice when he received it and read it to Burnett. Compton was awaiting when Burnett called for the package in Klamath Falls.

The old blue serge is still at the Burnett home in Childress.

Burnett is believed to have come through here two or three months ago, and left his automobile, which was found in a local garage. The car was identified by Childress county officers and Mrs. Burnett as the automobile of the man being sought, and it was returned, but nothing more was heard of Burnett, who at the time was said to have been accompanied by a woman companion.

CHINESE ARMY IS WANTING PEACE

PEKING, Mar. 23. (AP)—The leaders of the Kuomintang, or national army, are crying for peace, giving as their reason a desire to save the country from further bloodshed. Official declaration of the new policy was broadcast today.

The move is thought by foreign observers to be really due to exhaustion of supplies of munitions and enemy victories on all fronts. Seizure of the Russian steamer Olonitz at Tika, with munitions destined for the Kuomintang forces, proved a severe blow at a critical moment.

Threatened with an envelopment moment by the Shantung forces which menaced the communications between Tientsin and Peking and outmaneuvered on the Lwanchow-Mukden railway, with the possibility of Wu Pei-fu moving up from Honan province, the Kuomintang had no other way but a hasty retreat while it still was possible.

Menus for the Family

(By Sister Mary)

Breakfast—Stewed prunes, cereal, thin cream, bread crumbs, pancakes, maple syrup, Milk, Coffee.
Luncheon—Vegetable omelet, lettuce sandwiches, canned strawberries, fifteen minute sponge cake, milk, tea.
Dinner—Casserole of beef with raisins, mashed potatoes, tomato fritters, radishes and onions, apple amber, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee.

This vegetable omelet is well worth considering. It is a savory dish quite out of the ordinary. Left-over mashed potatoes are used up most appetizingly without the addition of expensive ingredients with a nourishing and satisfying result.

Vegetable Omelet

Two cups mashed potatoes, 2 tablespoons minced chives, 2 tablespoons minced parsley, 2 tablespoons minced onion, 2 tablespoons minced sweet green pepper, 1-2 cup brown gravy, 3 tablespoons grated cheese.
Combine potatoes, minced vegetables and gravy. The gravy is another left-over and can be "stretched" by the addition of water or milk if necessary to make the required amount. Beat the mixture with a fork until well blended. Melt 1 tablespoon butter or bacon fat in a hot spider. Spread potato mixture evenly over bottom of pan. Cover closely and cook over a low fire for 20 to 30 minutes, until a nice brown crust is formed on the under-side of the omelet. Remove cover, sprinkle with grated cheese and put into a very hot oven or under a gas broiler to melt the cheese. Fold like an omelet and serve on a hot platter. Garnish with crisp water cress. LAW ANNOUNCES FOR PLACE ON COMMISSION

E. L. Law, who for the past nineteen years has been looking after plumbing duties for local people, has announced his candidacy for a place on the City Commission as water Commissioner. Mr. Law, during his long residence here, has always taken a prominent part in any move that is for the development of the city, and his statement, which follows, is self explanatory:

To the people of the City of Lubbock:
My friends have induced me to run for the place of water, light and sewer commissioner on the City Commission of our city, and since I have decided to accept the place if the citizenship should elect me, I desire to present a few matters in the way of qualification and preparedness for the job. It is not necessary to state that the place is a very important one, and affecting in some manner every citizen of Lubbock.

As some of the old timers know, I have lived for 19 years, and in business and every relation affecting my connection with the people of Lubbock I have done my best to merit their consideration and friendship.

During these 19 years my work has been in a line that would especially equip me to take good care of the duties of the position of water commissioner. In addition thereto, I have at all times been deeply interested in every phase of the development of our city, and feel that I am well qualified to join the other members of the City Commission in the management of all the affairs of the city.

I will deeply appreciate the support of the citizenship of my town, and promise, if elected, to render the best service to them that lies in my power.
E. L. LAW.

FIRST PRIMARY IN NATION IS ON IN SOUTH DAKOTA

PIERRE, S. D., Mar. 23. (AP)—South Dakota today cast ballots in the first primary elections of the nation this Spring.

The election follows an intensive campaign in which the Republican party, normally dominant in the state, seeks to maintain its foothold.

Outstanding is the race between Peter Norbeck, United States Senator and George J. Danforth, Sioux Falls attorney, for the Republican senatorial nomination, and the gubernatorial fight between Governor Carl Gunderson, and C. E. Coyne, present Secretary of State.

Interest is added by the admitted breach of the senator and the governor, both of whom received the endorsement of the state proposal meeting last December. Danforth and Coyne subsequently became minority candidates under the proposed meeting system, an adjunct of the state primary.

During the campaign it was revealed that Coyne is partisan to Norbeck, while Danforth leans to Gunderson. Democrats will choose between W. J. Bulow of Belford, the proposal meeting choice, and R. O. Richards, author of the state primary law, who after 40 years as a Republican, became a Democrat this year and seeks the gubernatorial nomination.

AUSTIN JUDGE WILL LEAVE POST

AUSTIN, Mar. 23. (AP)—Judge Harris Bell of the Austin corporation court resigned today. The city council will accept his resignation Thursday. It was decided at a conference. Judge Bell resigned because of his being involved in litigation in a civil suit. Recently he was exonerated in Justice Court of charges of attempted bribery made against him by George W. Boring, member of the Travis county grand jury, who in turn has been charged by Bell with agreeing to accept a bribe. The grand jury is investigating the charges.

Bell's last act as corporation judge was to impose a fine of $150 on W. W. West, University of Texas student, for speeding.

MARINE WILL FACE COURT MARTIAL

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23. (AP)—Secretary Wilbur today ordered a court martial to try Colonel Alexander Williams of the Marine Corps, on charges of drunkenness referred by Brigadier General Snedley Butler, commanding the marine base at San Diego, Calif.

The Secretary acted after the judge advocate general of the army had found the specifications presented by General Butler legally sufficient for trial.

The court will be selected later, probably by former officers now on the Pacific Coast. The court will set up San Diego where General Butler was Colonel Williams' guest of honor at dinner on the same evening that the drunkenness occurred at Colonel Williams' home.

Mr. Wilbur had before him in reaching his decision a statement in his own defense made by Colonel Williams.

COOLIDGE SPEAKS ON LEAGUE MEET

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23. (AP)—President Coolidge doubts that it will be necessary for the United States to send a representative to the Geneva meeting of the 48 World Court states to explain the reservations attached by the senate to American adherence to the court.

The President takes the position that the senate reservations speak for themselves and that there would be no reason to attempt further explanation.

Despite objections raised at the recent meeting of the council of the League of Nations, it was said at the White House today that the President is satisfied with the method followed by the United States in sending formal notifications of its adherence to each national individually. He believes this method meets all international requirements.

Cuba already has accepted the American reservations, and the President expects the other signatory nations to indicate their attitude without much delay.

No definite stand on the question of the Geneva conference will be taken, however, until the United States has received its invitation.

HUNT WITHDRAWS AND AGGIES ARE BIG LOSERS

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Mar. 22. (AP)—Recent withdrawal from school here of Joel Hunt, flashy halfback was a staggering blow to Texas Aggie hope of retaining in 1926 the Southwest Conference grid crown won so gloriously last fall. He will not be eligible in '26.

Hunt, a product of Coach Paul Tysen of Waco high school, in 1925 played his first season of intercollegiate football. His dazzling all-around play did much to carry the red and white gridsters to the championship and he was acclaimed the most promising halfback to perform in the Southwest Conference in many a day. Scholastic difficulties are said to have been the cause of his withdrawal.

On state of tackle, Hunt last season showed superb form. He was quick to find the slightest opening and hard to knock from his feet. The fashion in which the Aggies executed dashes of tackle with Hunt totting the pigskin evoked the admiration of seasoned football followers.

However, Hunt probably was a greater value to the Aggies as a heaver of forward passes than as a running back. He was the most accurate passer in the conference, and no eleven could afford to draw his back in very close to shut a running attack with Hunt in the Aggie line-up.

The Waco lad also adept at breaking up the overhead game, and could hold his own with most in "backing up the line."

As a reward for his splendid work in 1925, Hunt was named on many all-conference combinations. He was selected as a halfback on The Associated Press All-Southwestern eleven, compiled from choices of a large number of coaches, officials and sport writers. In 1926 and 1927, Hunt was expected to far surpass his splendid play of 1925. It goes without saying that Coach Dana Bible will miss the services of this 160 pound star.

Hunt turned in one of his best games of last season Thanksgiving Day against the Texas Longhorns here and was an important factor in the 26-0 title-winning victory over Coach "Doc" Stewart's eleven. His forward pass—a perfect heave—to Berry, quarterback, paved the way for the all-important first touchdown of the Farmers.

With Hunt apparently lost to the 1926 combination, Coach Bible will not have a single backfield letterman about whom to build the '26 grid of the line quartet. Captain "Mule" Wilson, "Dusty" Berry, Mickey Maguire and Kahl all will be lost by graduation.

CANTELMINI LEADS T. C. U. CAGERS NEXT YEAR

FORT WORTH, Tex., Mar. 22. (AP)—Frankie Cantelmi, stocky forward who will lead the Texas Christian University basketball five in 1927, is expected next season to attain the consistency calculated to make him the popular choice for All-Southwestern cage honors.

The fact that Cantelmi will captain Coach Matty Bell's crew should be just the incentive needed to make the little Italian play throughout the season the high grade basketball of which he is really capable. Top, Cantelmi with lead, a veteran combination that should be up near the top in the battling for the Southwest conference title.

In 1925 and 1926, Coach Bell turned out splendid quintets. In both seasons, however, the Horned Frogs faltered at the most critical stage and were eliminated from the championship chase. Many close followers of the court game said the 1925 Frogs team was stronger than the Oklahoma Aggie combination that won the championship.

The 1926 team played unbeatable ball one game, and in the next "fizzled." Just how strong the 1926 quintet was may be deduced from the fact that Coach Bell's charges won the only game lost by the title-winning Arkansas Razorback crew. This game was the final one of the season—was won by the Razorback's home court. The night before, Arkansas nosed out T. C. U. by one point, thanks to a miraculous shot in the closing seconds by Rickel, the Arkansas All-Conference center.

In 1927, besides Captain Cantelmi, Coach Bell will have available such stars as "Long Tom" George, one of the best centers the conference has produced; Acker, guard; Light and Taylor, forwards.

Cantelmi possesses a splendid eye for the hoop, is fast, an elusive dribbler, and fights hard all the way. One of his best games of 1926 was the opening fracas of the conference season against the Texas University Longhorns at Austin. Cantelmi "got right" in the second half and practically singlehandedly defeated "Doc" Stewart's outfit.

Cantelmi was a star in Fort Worth independent basketball before entering the Texas Christian University. T. C. U. partisans are counting on Cantelmi, George and other veterans to land the 1927 court championship.

SEES THIRD PENNANT

STANLEY HARRIS

MANAGER STANLEY HARRIS sees a third straight pennant for his Washington club. The youthful leader is of the opinion his team will be much stronger than a year ago. The addition of Joe Bush will help his pitching staff, according to Harris. Johnny Tobin should also reinforce the outer defense.

All of this comes from the Senatorial pilot on top of the reams of copy being sent out from the south that the Nationals are ready for the brush heap, virtually certain of winding up well down the ladder. In other words, the experts are picturing Harris' boys as a team of broken down players, a bunch of cripples.

Harris, however, thinks in different channels. Harris, moreover, isn't inclined to boasting. So, what Harris says usually carries quite a bit of weight.

Baseball Holdouts Not Faring Well As Managers Make Plans To Proceed Without Services Of Salary Seekers

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Mar. 22.—Some of the baseball hold-outs are not faring so well this year.

Dutch Henline, Phillies catcher has just lost his job as captain for failing to report at Bradentown, Fla. Will Huber, third baseman, who came to the Phillies last year from the Beaumont team of the Texas League, has succeeded to the position.

Other managers have made plans to get along without the seekers for more salary.

But Managers have other problems of replacement, most of them temporary, created by illnesses and injuries. Among the latest victims are Jumping Joe Dugan and Tony Lazzeri of the New York Yankees. Joe has a jumping Joe Dugan and Tony Lazzeri disorder and both are out of practice.

Tris Speaker of the Cleveland Indians pulled a slight "charley horse" in yesterday's game with Boston at St. Petersburg and may be out of the lineup for a day or two. Donohue, Cincinnati pitcher, developed a rheumatic leg and could not face the Washington Senators Monday but was feeling fit enough today to go in against the Yankees.

The newest conference rule was applied in the Cleveland-Boston Braves games at St. Petersburg yesterday.

McNulty fouled, Spurgeon dashed to the second and beat through but McNulty was not credited with a time at bat because of the runner's advance on the foul.

Several pitchers got away to good starts in yesterday's practice games. Dazzy Vance of the Dodgers fanned two men, gave two hits but allowed no runs in three innings against the St. Louis Browns at Clearwater, Fla. The Browns won, 11 to 2, behind the hurrying of Davis and Falk, the former getting along easily but the latter getting nicked for five safeties in three frames.

The Senators, who dropped Monday's game to Cincinnati, drilled today, while their owner listened to reports that he was tiring of Tampa and might move his training team next year. It is also reported the Reds and Senators may train together at Tampa hereafter. In California the Cubs and Pirates resumed practice, the Chicagoans getting extra duty with the bat and the Pittsburghers enjoying an intra-team contest. At the Georgia training camp, Manager Cobb of the Detroit Tigers did some pruning, sending Johnny Neun, first baseman, to Cleveland, and Carl Hubbell and Owen Carroll, hurlers, to Toronto. The Chicago White Sox at Shreveport, La., took a stiff drill on a soggy field.

TRAILING THE BIG LEAGUERS

BY BILLY EVANS

Improved Condition And A Better Team Spirit Will Help Indians Cleveland finished sixth in the American League last season.

This year Cleveland will be represented by practically the same lineup. It is hardly possible that any of the veterans will be displaced.

What about the prospects of the Indians?

On the above information, from players would figure the Indians might be sixth but hardly any better. In the camp of the Indians there is no such a pessimistic feeling. The team as a whole believes it is a better ball club than the aggregation of 1925 and intends to prove it.

When I asked Manager Speaker his opinion he replied:

"It is now, and will continue throughout the season to be, a much better conditioned team than that of 1925."

BETTER TEAM SPIRIT

"There is a much better spirit on the ball club. That should help considerably."

"The team will get greatly improved pitching. On that feature of play I base my strongest hopes for progress in the pennant race."

"Regardless of where Cleveland finishes this year, it is going to be a much better ball club and is going to play far more interesting baseball. That much I can promise the fans."

Expecting a ball club that finished sixth last season and is almost certain to start with the same lineup makes it necessary to get some new angle.

Working along those lines, the physical condition of the Cleveland club as compared to that of last year impressed me most.

I doubt if the entire squad of veterans and rookies is carrying more than 35 pounds of excess weight. Pitcher Joe Shaute alone had that much last year.

The Cleveland club is going to be in good shape for a flying start and Manager Speaker is banking on getting it, if his pitching delivers.

PITCHING PROBLEM

Pitching is Speaker's problem, like that of most every other manager. If Joe Shaute and George Uhle come through, then the Indians are 25 per cent more efficient. If they fail, the club goes down with them.

Joe Shaute, who reported weighing about 130 last spring, is around 150. George Uhle, who was better than 200 last year, is around 170.

In ranking my teams I wouldn't pick Cleveland to win the pennant, but I might add there are less formidable clubs in the American League.

MANY NOTABLES TO PARTICIPATE IN RELAY GAMES

AUSTIN, Tex., Mar. 22. (AP)—Many notable figures in the world of athletics will participate here Friday in the Texas University relay games; but four of the outstanding persons who will be here for the games will be onlookers instead of competitors. They are Major John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics for the "Big Ten" conference; Knute Rockne, Notre Dame's famous football coach; Harry Gill, the Illinois University track coach; and Bob Simpson, the Missouri University track coach.

Major Griffith will serve as referee of the big relay carnival. He is one of the outstanding proponents of the strict enforcement of amateur rules for college athletics, and as director of athletics in the "Big Ten" has earned a national reputation.

Most sport fans think of Knute Rockne only as a football coach, but the man who turned out the national championship football eleven in 1924 is also a track and field coach of proved ability. The outstanding performer of Rockne's track team is Harrington, who holds the world's indoor intercollegiate record in the pole vault. Rockne is well known in Austin. Last summer he conducted a school for football coaches at St. Edward's University here. In 1912, he was a member of the Notre Dame Mick eleven that trounced a Texas University grid combination on the Clark Field gridiron.

Twenty years or so ago, Harry Gill was acclaimed the best all-around track and field athlete in this country. For nearly twenty years he has coached at Illinois University and has turned out a number of the strongest college track and field teams of history. One of Gill's accomplished pupils is Harold Osborn, winner of the decaathlon championship at the 1924 Olympics.

Simpson is a former world's record-holder in the high hurdles. As track coach for Missouri University, his alma mater, he has met with unusual success. Simpson and his charges will stop over in Austin en route to California, where Missouri will meet the University of California in a dual meet.

Two of the most capable of Simpson's proteges are Texas products. These are Mack Keeble of Austin, high hurdler, and Doss Richardson, Claburne and Sherman, shot put and discus performer.

MURDER

Those who are not alarmed over the increase in crime in the United States should read some of the facts gathered by investigators.

In the United States in the last ten years there have been 100,000 murderers.

This statement has for its authority
the finding of the Commission of Law Enforcement of the American Bar association.

Murder is increasing. The next ten years the present rate of increase indicates, will produce a total somewhere between 110,000 and 150,000 deaths by violence. In 1923, 10,000 people perished by poison, pistol or knife or other unlawful injury. The 1924 record was 11,000. This means that the record of the previous year was bettered by approximately three a day.

The age of these takers of lives are in the vast majority of cases, found to be within the limits of 17 years and 21 years.

Chicago in 1924 saw 225 people accused of murder. Of this group, 75 per cent escaped any penalty. Of those convicted only six paid the extreme penalty.

Of 300 people accused of murder in New York in 1921 there were only three first-degree convictions.

One of the largest life insurance companies analyzed 146 homicides selected at random. It found that only 69 people were indicted in this number of cases. It did not point out that the remaining 77 are still walking about with the blood of their fellow men on their hands. Of the 69 indicted, 32 "beat the case" while only one of the 37 convicted paid with his life.

In the entire country of France in 1909, there were reported but 23 cases of highway robbery. During that same year, five large American cities reem-ed to have indulged in a highway robbery contest. Chicago won with 1,847 of these crimes. St. Louis played second, with 1,897 robberies and Washington, D. C., was third.

London, in 1925, experienced a wave of highway robbery, and indignantly protested when the total of the year ran up somewhere between 30 and 40.
In Chicago, in 1925, the average was seven per day throughout the year.

The National Association of Police is authority for the statement that every year an average of 90,000 persons are freed from prison. It is also authority for the statement that 72 per cent will return to prison for a more or less serious offense.

If we are not jailward bound, how can we account for the fact that in 1924 there were 892,689 people behind prison bars. This figure includes brief jail terms for misdemeanors, as well as the more serious cases.

TRIUMPH

Hailed as a modern surgical triumph is that of surgeons at Johns successfully lifted a large sector of the skull of Oscar Flecker, New York man will recover. To perform the operation, it was necessary to inject air

The achievement of science survels become commonplace.

STEWART'S
WASHINGTON LETTERLITTLE GIRL PANTOMIMES GOV-ERNMENT WITH NEW TUNES
ON PIANO

By CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON. — Washington's a great place to teach a child all about the machinery of government.

It's on exhibition here in actual operation, which makes it realistic and interesting.

I try to make the most of it for my 9-year-old daughter's benefit. I take her around to see how it works. It's pretty vivid to her.

For her age, she's quite a musician.
The other evening I got home to find her improvising, at the piano. As she proceeded, she explained the piece to me. Otherwise I wouldn't have understood it so well.

From the bass end of the instrument came a dignified rumbling—no meaning to it, seemingly, but someone. It was prolonged until it grew rather tiresome. "That," observed the child "is the Senate."

Then ensued a brisk but confused clattering, all up and down the keyboard, occasionally punctuated by sharp whacks, as of a gavel. "House of Representatives," "But those whacks?" "Some gentleman's time has expired," rejoined my daughter.

Now a march—solemn, funeral—borrowed, I suspect, from some earlier composer, though I don't know enough about music to feel certain. At any rate the Supreme Court. That was obvious.

The music ceased. Silence.

"Is that all?" I asked.

"No," said my daughter, "we're at the best part now. This is the White House."

HCH YELLOW STUB

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Ferry Rand, 55, a business man, is found murdered in a cheap hotel in Crafston. Police find a woman's handkerchief and the stub of a yellow theater ticket.

Janet Rand, his daughter, breaks her engagement with Barry Colvin, because of the "disgrace."
Jimmy Rand, his son, goes to Cleveland, where the theater is.
The stub is traced to Olga Maynard, a cabaret singer.

Jimmy meets and falls in love with Mary Lowell, sister he encounters Olga. She faints at hearing police war her for murder.
Mary, out with Samuel Church, a wealthy lawyer, sees Jimmy lift Olga into a taxi and misunde-rstands.

Olga tells police the stub might have come into possession of a man who "picked her up" two nights before the murder. Jimmy receives mysterious warnings to leave Cleveland and later is attacked by two men, but escapes.

With Jimmy and Mary estranged, Church gets Mary's promise to marry him. Jimmy and Olga, out one night, see a man they both recognize—she as the man who got the stub, he as one of his assailants. The man escapes, but they identify him by his police photo as like Jensen.

Barry Colvin tells Jimmy that Mary Lowell has broken with Sam Church. They are walking along the street. They see Mary, who is raising his hat he calls a familiar figure running for a street car.
He wheels suddenly and runs like a mad man.

(To Be Continued)

Jimmy, walking with Barry, suddenly sees Kid Davis, a known intimate of Jensen, boarding a street car. He runs in pursuit, swearing, chasing the car. When Davis gets off, at the end of the line, Jimmy follows him through lonely streets and dismal fog. He sees Davis enter a house, and after the door closes behind him, he approaches the house himself.

He is walking with Barry when he suddenly sees Kid Davis, a known intimate of Jensen, board a street car. Jimmy follows him and trails him to a lonely house.
He goes inside and from a darkened hallway sees Olga Jensen and Davis in a room. Jensen goes upstairs to answer the telephone.
Then Jimmy, with a broken and iron that he has found in the hall, moves swiftly into the room Jensen has just left.

He closed the door in his right hand. Then swiftly he mounted the dark stairs, pausing for a moment
before he entered a room of light
from the room where Davis lay and Olga was watching.

It hadn't yet before coming to
it. If Jensen happened to be looking he would see his shadow as he passed. He stood a moment andrew.

Jensen's voice sounded for away
under the door. Jimmy concluded from a low rather than from the door. He seized the lighter pocket-knife and pushed past the light and opened the door, creeping
under the door.

Jensen had not seen him, he thought because the light's voice was still sounding mumble. Listening, Jimmy thought it must be coming from :

floor. From his hip pocket he pulled out an automatic pistol.

"Here," he said to Olga, "Take this and watch him. If he moves, you cover him, and if necessary, don't hesitate to shoot him."

"Jim, I can't."

"You do as I say," he commanded.
Then, in a tone less brusque, "Come,
now, just sit here and hold it. I'm going upstairs to see if I can find out
what's talking to Jensen."

"I'll take this, then," she held out the pistol to him. "You'll need
it."

"No, I've still got this." He brand-
ished the broken andiron.

He looked, half playfully, at Davis,
stretched unconscious on the floor.
"It was rotten-biting him from behind like that—but the only thing to do, if it comes to, I think."

He moved toward the door. "Don't forget," he cautioned, "Keep him covered, and if he makes a threatening move, shoot. And if Jensen should happen to come down, shoot him the minute he appears in the door. Take no chances."

Her face blanched. If Jensen should come down, that could mean only one thing—that Jimmy would die.

"Jim," she whispered, but he was gone.

And Jimmy was out in that dimly lighted hall, his feet padding noiselessly over the thin carpet. Upstairs
he could still hear the mumble of Jensen's voice speaking over the telephone.

He pressed a proper of thanks that he had found Olga in this another that he must in some way learn who was talking to Jensen over the phone.

He had no fear of Jensen now. They had met once before and he had more than held his own. Besides, there was that heavy andiron knob. If he should need it.

He closed the door in his right hand. Then swiftly he mounted the dark stairs, pausing for a moment
before he entered a room of light
from the room where Davis lay and Olga was watching.

stretched unconscious on the floor.
"It was rotten-biting him from behind like that—but the only thing to do, if it comes to, I think."

He moved toward the door. "Don't forget," he cautioned, "Keep him covered, and if he makes a threatening
move, shoot. And if Jensen should happen to come down, shoot him the minute he appears in the door. Take
no chances."

Her face blanched. If Jensen should come down, that could mean only
one thing—that Jimmy would die.

"Jim," she whispered, but he was gone.

And Jimmy was out in that dim-
ly lighted hall, his feet padding noiselessly over the thin carpet. Upstairs
he could still hear the mumble of Jensen's voice speaking over the telephone.

He pressed a proper of thanks that he had found Olga in this another
that he must in some way learn who
was talking to Jensen over the phone.

He had no fear of Jensen now. They had met once before and he had more than held his own. Besides, there was that heavy andiron knob. If he should need it.

He closed the door in his right hand. Then swiftly he mounted the dark stairs, pausing for a moment
before he entered a room of light
from the room where Davis lay and Olga was watching.

It hadn't yet before coming to
it. If Jensen happened to be looking
he would see his shadow as he passed. He stood a moment andrew.

Jensen's voice sounded for away
under the door. Jimmy concluded
from a low rather than from the door. He seized the lighter
pocket-knife and pushed past the
light and opened the door, creeping
under the door.

Jensen had not seen him, he thought
because the light's voice was still sounding mumble. Listening, Jimmy
thought it must be coming from :

floor. From his hip pocket he pulled
out an automatic pistol.

"Here," he said to Olga, "Take this
and watch him. If he moves, you
cover him, and if necessary, don't hesitate to shoot him."

"Jim, I can't."

"You do as I say," he commanded.
Then, in a tone less brusque, "Come,
now, just sit here and hold it. I'm going upstairs to see if I can find out
what's talking to Jensen."

"I'll take this, then," she held
out the pistol to him. "You'll need
it."

"No, I've still got this." He brand-
ished the broken andiron.

He looked, half playfully, at Davis,
stretched unconscious on the floor.
"It was rotten-biting him from behind like that—but the only thing to do, if it comes to, I think."

He moved toward the door. "Don't forget," he cautioned, "Keep him cov-

my found himself trying to piece together the fragments of conversation, to imagine what the other man must be saying to Jensen.

He heard Jensen say, "Who?"
Rand? and his nerves tingled at the mention of his name. That Jensen and his unknown should be discussing him,
"No," Jensen went on, "let the Kid do it. I'm leavin' tonight. . . . Sure, he can. . . . He should a got him that night when he took a shot at him.
Yeah, I got the dough. The Kid give it to me. . . . Yeah, one grand. . . .
And say, don't forget, as soon as you hear from me down in Mexico, don't forget to send the rest of it. Five grand. . . . And say, don't try to slip me no double cross, 'cause if you do, your goose is cooked. See?"

"Aw, don't bother about Rand. The Kid'll get him if you give him time.
. . . Sure."

"So," Jimmy was thinking as the other's voice trailed off again, "it was Kid Davis that took the shot at me that night. Now I wonder why? . . .
I wonder who it is that's so anxious to 'get' me?"

"No," Jensen was saying, "I'll take her with me. . . . Sure, she won't get away. I know where to stop. . . . got friends. . . . take me in. . . . sure.
Yeah, Charlie's going with me.
Most of it's my way."

"You going away? What for?"
Oh, you're thinkin' of it. . . . Naw, I tell you she don't know a thing. You're all right. Safe as a bug in a rug.
Ha-ha," Jensen laughed uproariously.

By "safe," Jimmy felt certain Jensen was referring to Olga Maynard.
He assumed that Jensen wanted to get her out of town so she could not expose him in this kidnapping business.

He shifted his weight a little, relieving his cramped muscles. A board creaked ominously. . . . He held his breath, waiting. . . . ready to meet Jensen should he rush out of the door.

Jensen, the receiver at his ear, heard it. Still keeping the instrument clamped to the side of his head, he turned questioningly around and saw out at the blackness of the hall.

"Wait a minute," he said. Then,
after a long pause, "That you, Kid?"
He waited what seemed to Jimmy an interminably long time before he turned back again to the phone. Jimmy breathed a sigh of relief as he heard him say, "All right, go ahead.
Thought I heard something in the hall.
This house so old. . . . gives me the creeps. . . . Boards squeakin' go ahead."

"Well, all right, chief. He good. . . can't be good be careful. Ha." His low, grunted laugh filled the room with raucous sounds.

"I will. . . . You bet. . . . Don't forget about the dough, now. . . . Someone hear from me. . . . Yeah, might be a job for you again some time. . . .
No blows over. . . . All right. . . .
Bye."

Jimmy could hear the metallic click as Jensen replaced the receiver on its hook. He rose heavily from his chair.
A match flared as he lit a cigarette.

Is Silent After Story About
Large Purchase of Arms
By Other Nations

LONDON, Mar. 23. (AP)—The Daily Mail today makes no reference to a story which its Sunday edition, the Weekly Dispatch, gave prominence, concerning extraordinary secret negotiations for the purchase and manufacture of arms by several European countries. The Weekly Dispatch represented the arms hunger as being colossal. It said that Russia from time to time had been buying huge quantities of rifles, which were shipped to China and Persia and soon as they were obtained and that she was still seeking more. It also declared that Greece had placed an order for 200,000 rifles in Italy, that Jugoslavia was trying to obtain 400,000 rifles, and that Finland, Lithuania, Poland and Poland Rumania and other Balkan states all were urgently seeking supplies. German armament firms were being flooded with orders and secret German war stocks, hidden in nearby countries, were being sold wholesale and shipped as soon as possible to China and Turkey.

TEACHERS CAN TELL EFFECTS OF MILITARY TRAINING ON STUDENTS FROM STANDPOINT OF DISCIPLINE

Teachers in the public schools can usually distinguish the student who does not take military training from the student who takes the training, according to G. N. Adkinson, principal of the senior high school, who has been connected with the public schools here since their early history. Because the boy who has had the training gives less disciplinary trouble than the boy who has not had it, as a general thing.

Boy Scouts are usually easily controlled in the school room and students who take part in extra-curricular activities are less of a problem to the faculty members than the remainder of the students, he said.

There are exceptions, he explained, but as a rule, these principles hold true. Sometimes a boy who has been in the Boy Scouts becomes troublesome after he has become disassociated with the organization.

There is a large place for athletics in the public schools, Mr. Adkinson explained, in keeping the boys in school and maintaining their interest. Since they are required to make certain grades in the schools, in order that they may participate in sports, athletics help in raising the grade standards of the school, he said.

The military training given at the high school is not compulsory and it is virtually a volunteer organization, Mr. Adkinson said. Lieutenant H. H. Killen, of the Tech, comes to the school two or three times each week and trains the boys. When he does not come, some of the students, who are capable, conduct the drill.

The military group has provided a United States flag and will raise it three mornings each week to reveal to all students of the school, who are present, have been requested to stand at attention during the flag raising. Students who maintain grades in the schools usually make creditable records in college and in business, Mr. Adkinson thinks, after noticing the records of Lubbock high students. Boys and girls who took part in athletics, debating, declaiming, essay writing and other school activities usually distinguished themselves in some activity at college, as well as maintaining excellent scholarship there, he said.

INDUSTRIAL WEEK IS SOUNDED IN TEXAS

HOUSTON, Mar. 23. (AP)—At noon today whistles blew for five minutes in factory buildings in Texas as cities signalizing this is Texas Industrial Week.

Sponsored by the Texas State Manufacturers' association with headquarters here, the "week" has as its slogan, "What Texas Makes, Makes Texas." Each day of this week, the whistles will blow for five minutes at noon.

As the whistles blow, Texas newspapers and radio broadcasting stations will be informing the citizens of the state and nation "of the great growth and prosperous development of our state." G. M. Knebel, executive vice-president and manager of the association, said.

"There is a movement to the South, the like of which has never been witnessed in the history of our government," Mr. Knebel stated. "If Texas expects to receive its share of the billions of dollars of capital now being poured into the South by the North, its citizens must not sit idly by and hide under a bushel the wonderful resources and possibilities of the Lone Star State."

No other state in the Union, he asserted, has the great possibilities for future development that Texas has. It is an empire in itself, he insisted, 825 miles wide and 740 miles from its northern boundary to the Gulf of Mexico, where the coast line is 379 miles long, the tidal shore nearly twice that long and deep water ports adequate.

The state contains enough acreage to give an acre of land to every person in the United States and still have millions of acres left, he recited; its soil is so rich that it helps to feed the balance of the world.

It leads the nation in stock raising and in agriculture and with its billion dollar annual output is rapidly developing into a manufacturing state. The population is more than five million and is increasing 100,000 annually "without a boom."

It produces one-third of the cotton; leads in the production of wool and mohair; has the largest sulphur deposits and mines in the world; and has unlimited amounts of natural gas and oil for domestic and industrial purposes; contains lignite deposits covering 60,000 square miles.

Its oil refineries, he recited, are the wonder of the United States and its production of asphalt, rock asphalt, cement, lime and gypsum are heavy.

BASEBALL PLAN IS ENDORSED BY CITY LEADERS

Skipper Sled Allen and other loyal baseball fans who are backing his efforts to revive organized amateur baseball here this summer will be given complete cooperation of the Chamber of Commerce and board of city development. It was announced Tuesday morning following a meeting at baseball fields and the Skipper with directors of the two organizations at the regular semi-monthly meeting.

Unanimous approval of the outline program was voted by the directors, and although the measure provides no financial assistance so far as the two organizations are concerned, the unlimited support of the individual members will be of a great deal of benefit, leaders in baseball circles said.

Plans are now under way by which it is hoped that similar support of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs will be gained, and it is believed that the two clubs will devote their programs next week to baseball, when various members of the clubs, with other fans, will probably make short talks on baseball and its pulling power for a city.

Then on the heels of this would follow a drive for finances needed to put the club over and present indications are that this drive will meet with much success, for it is pointed out that if every fan of the city will come in with his pro rata part of the expenses, it will hardly be felt by any individual.

FORD OFFICIALS TO STAGE SALES PLAY HERE

Seven high officials of the Dallas branch of the Ford Motor Company, one of the largest branches of the world's motor king in the Southwest, arrived here Tuesday, and are completing arrangements for the staging here tomorrow of a sales play that has recently been originated for the benefit of salesmen throughout the state.

The play includes several scenes centering around the sale of a Ford bringing the transaction along all lines from the first mention of the prospect's name to completion of the deal, and is designed as an instructive display of salesmanship for all those connected with the salesman's department.

W. S. Eskine, chief roadman; W. B. Malcolm, zone roadman; Edwin Phillips, of the sales distribution department; Spencer Brewer, of the enrollment division; M. A. Jones, service roadman; R. J. Nelson, of the sales department; and W. J. Atwood, tractor roadman, all from the Dallas branch, are the officials here, and these men will take prominent parts in staging the play. Mr. Jones was formerly with a minstrel troupe, and is recognized as a singer of exceptional ability. He now sings with the Baptist church in Dallas.

The play will be open only to Ford Motor Company employees, but every dealer and salesman on the South Plains is expected here for the occasion.

EXPECT A DECISION IN MASSACRE

MEXICO CITY, Mar. 23. (AP)—The foreign office has received confirmation of the intention of Dr. Rodrigo Octavio de Brazil to convene a meeting of the Mexican-American special claims commission, of which he is neutral chairman, for the purpose of announcing a decision in the Santa Ysabel case. The meeting will be held at Tampico early next month.

The Santa Ysabel case grew out of the massacre at that place in the state of Chihuahua, in 1916, of 15 American mining engineers. The sitting of the special claims commission broke up early this month with Judge Ernest B. Perry, the American member, disagreeing from the written opinion of Dr. Octavio which he declared amounted to a nullification of the agreement under which the commission was set up.

Dorland said he had been beaten by state police and made a confession "to escape further punishment."

MODIFICATION VOTERS CONTINUE TO PREDOMINATE PRO-LAW VOTES AS POLL REACHES HIGHER COUNT

As voting in the nation-wide prohibition referendum approaches the million and three quarter mark, modification voters are continuing to hold their heavy lead, with a total almost equivalent to both the drys and repeal factions.

The total vote in Tuesday's final tabulation was 1,740,662 with factional totals as follows: drys 529,274 repeal 545,839, and modification 665,549. Drys continue to hold about the same percentage vote to the other two factions as they have maintained since the second day of tabulation.

Maryland, which borders in the National capital, still is setting the precedent, with sentiment either wet or dry. Out of nearly 15,000 votes, not a ballot has yet been cast for modification.

WOMAN RISES FROM CLERK TO HEAD OF GAS CO.

NEW YORK, Mar. 23. (AP)—"Little Miss Dillon," a clerk in the Coney Island branch of the Brooklyn Boys' Club company twenty-one years ago, has become President Mary E. Dillon, head of that $5,000,000 corporation, and probably the only woman president of a gas company in the United States.

Elected yesterday, Miss Dillon today has the direction of more than 500 workers serving nearly 40,000 consumers in Brooklyn. Elected at the same time to work with her, was Helen Stess, who will act treasurer and Mary B. Armstrong, who becomes secretary and assistant treasurer of the company. Miss Dillon has been vice president and general manager since December 8, 1934.

Miss Dillon is the wife of Henry Farber, a wholesale coal dealer, but retains her maiden name to avoid confusion to customers. She does not believe in sex warfare, or that women are to succeed men in the administration of industry.

"This country is expanding so quickly there certainly is room for both sexes," she says.

She sees a special place for women in business, to "humanize business" and to handle customers "as a woman handles them."

"Sentiment is necessary in business," is one of Miss Dillon's pronouncements. "A woman realizes this where a man does not. I am not wedded to my business career. I have a perfectly good husband, and the fact

Navy Pigeon Returns After Wings Grow

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23. (AP)—Navy Pigeons may go A. W. O. L.; but they do not desert.

An aerial messenger, lost at sea more than a year and a half ago, turned up recently in the loft at Coco Solo, Canal Zone, and reported for duty. Examination showed that the bird's wings had been closely clipped, probably when it was forced down by a rain storm and captured by a frigate who attempted to lure it from its allegiance. As soon as the pigeon's feathers had molted and a new crop grew out, the pigeon took wing for its home loft.

BOOTLEGGER PUTS CAR OF RUM IN WRONG GARAGE

DALLAS, Mar. 23. (AP)—Perhaps the bootlegger returning from somewhere to Dallas last night with a truck load of booze had been sampling his own wares and lost his way. Anyway he delivered the load to the wrong address. When a Julius street man tried to put his car in the garage he found the truck inside, and telephoned police without examining the contents. Police found whiskey—apparently good whiskey—in barrels and half gallon jars.

The owner of the garage disclaimed ownership or knowledge of the supply, and detectives' efforts to trace the driver of the truck by license number also was unavailing.

Cotton Markets

NEW YORK TRADING

NEW YORK, Mar. 23. (AP)—The cotton market opened steady, unchanged to an advance of six points on a continuation of yesterday's buying movement which evidently found encouragement in the relatively firm showing of Liverpool.

May sold up to 18.75c and October to 17.65c at the start, but there prices attracted realizing and there was probably some selling on prospects for clearing weather over the entire South. Prices eased off a few points in consequence, but the market was steady at the end of the first hour and about a shade over yesterday's closing quotations.

Forenoon trading was very quiet. There was a little selling on unfavorable reports from Eastern belt spot markets complaining of continued poor demand and prices eased off. May contracts reacted from 18.75 to 18.60c and October from 17.65c to 17.50c, the general market ruling about two to five points net lower at midday.

Prices worked off to 17.55c for October after mid-day. Offerings were light and enough covering held the market steady within a point or two either way of yesterday's closing figures, around two o'clock.

NEW ORLEANS TRADING

NEW ORLEANS, Mar. 23. (AP)—The cotton market had an irregular opening despite the fact cables were better than due. March opened six points up and the later and more active month showed initial gains of two points to losses of two points. Prices rallied a point or two after the call, but soon eased off on selling due to the forecast for fair weather in the belt. May traded down to 17.95c, July to 17.60c and October to 16.94c, or 3 to 7 points under the opening prices. Sentiment was bearish but there appeared to be no selling pressure.

The market ruled quiet all morning and prices eased off a little with selling held in restraint until the weekly weather report due tomorrow is available. The feeling was somewhat easier, however, owing to a return of good weather. Prices tended down six to nine points from the early high. Ring sentiment was bearish. Around noon the market was quiet and within a point or two of the low.

The market was quiet during the early part of the afternoon but later turned easier with rather more trading owing to prospects for continued good weather, the weakness in the stock market and the heavy calling in loans by New York banks. May traded down to 17.52c, October to 16.87c and December to 16.90c or 11 to 13 points down from the early highs and 8 to 9 points under yesterday's close. At the beginning of the last half hour the tendency was still downward.

Grain Markets

CHICAGO TRADING

CHICAGO, Mar. 23. (AP)—Wheat showed an early upward trend today but advances were checked by weakness of corn and oats, both of which sold at a new low price record for the season. The strength of wheat was based more or less on buying opinion that rallies were to be expected in view of rain in sections. On the other hand predictions were current that increased movement of corn off farms would appear as soon as the condition of country roads will permit. Wheat opened prices 1/2c off to 1 cent up. May (new) 1.55 to 1.53c and July 1.34 to 1.35c were followed by a moderate general setback and then by gains all around.

Forecasts of the more favorable weather for the corn movement had a bearish effect. After opening 1/2c to 1c lower, May 71 1/2 to 71 1/4c, corn sagged a little further and then recovered somewhat.

Provisions were firm, influenced by the action of hog values.

Stocks and Money

WALL STREET TRADING

NEW YORK, Mar. 23. (AP)—Price movements were conflicting at the opening of today's stock market although the major activity was on the buying side. Atlantic Coast Line, rallying 6 1/2 points, brought the rail shares to ground and substantial gains were recorded by American Smelting, DuPont, Wolcott, Mack Trucks and other representative issues. Large buying orders were executed in Union Oil of California at a new high price of 48.

Renewed selling of various specialties intensified the confusion in the first half hour's trading, during which a marked contraction in the volume of business was evident. General Petroleum slid back 2 1/2 points to 57 1/2c and Union of one to three points were recorded by National Tea, Air Reduction, General Asphalt, American Beet Sugar, and Matheson Alkali.

Enough support was forthcoming to hold the food, motor and Southwest rail shares steady, but operators were tinged with caution because of the uncertain monetary situation. Gains of one to two points included Chesapeake and Ohio, General Electric, U. S. East Iron Pipe, Fox Film, Stoss Sheffield Steel, California Packing and Postum Cereal.

French francs eased off to 3.51c, the lowest rate since 1924, but other foreign exchanges opened fairly steady with demand sterling unchanged at 4.85.

CHICAGO REPORT

This Money Doesn't
Talk—It Preaches

DALLAS, Mar. 23. (AP)—It has been said that "money talks," and a $10 gold certificate that has come into the possession of E. W. Smith, of Dallas, literally preaches.

Well worn and pasted together with tissue, the note, which Mr. Smith said he obtained from a Dallas bank upon cashing a check, bears this inscription in black ink on the back:

"This bill is the last of $28,000, all spent on gambling, whiskey and women. Take heed of what I say and let this be a lesson to you. I am writing this in jail waiting on trial for murder."

The inscription was signed: "H. J."

A FAMOUS CHINESE
MERCHANT DIES
FOR MURDER

LIVERPOOL, Mar. 23. (AP)—Lock Ah-Tam, benevolent Chinese merchant, beloved of all who knew him, was hanged today for the murder of his Welsh wife and their handsome daughters, Doris, 20, and Cecelia, 17.

The murder was committed, apparently without reason, during a celebration in his home. After he had shot them dead Lock Ah-Tam calmly called the police on the telephone and told what he had done. He was immediately arrested.

The murderer was 52 years old and was known by his countrymen throughout the world. He came to England twenty years ago, became a naturalized citizen, and married a Welsh girl. He became wealthy through his business transactions and was powerful but mysterious. Though he had many needy countrymen were aided by him. He was well known in the Chinatowns of New York and San Francisco. Whether he was affiliated with one of the big Chinese societies is not known but he was influential in many countries. When he was arrested Chinese in Europe and the United States raised a large fund for his defense. Sir Marshal defended him. He advanced the theory that his client's mind had been unbalanced by business worries, but nevertheless, he was found guilty.

"I am ready to meet my fate," Lock Ah-Tam said last night with grim solemnity to Percy Toud, a local politician, who organized a petition for reprieve.

"Tell everybody who signed the petition," the condemned man added, "that I am extremely grateful to them. I am content and happy. I am aware that I have done wrong, but I shall shortly join my loved ones and they will understand."

Wichita Judge Hard
In Speech To Jurors

WICHITA FALLS, Mar. 23. (AP)—The fence for the thief, the patron of the bootlegger and the easy juror for the man who takes life or property were placed on the same plane by Judge William H. Atwell, in his charge to the grand jury which was impaneled Monday morning in the United States District Court.

In his instructions to the jury, Judge Atwell took occasion to speak at length on the prohibition laws and said that there is only one reason why the illegal business in whiskey cannot be exterminated and this, he said, was the fault of the officers, charged and sworn to perform their duty, to properly function and to implicitly obey and recognize their oath.

Supreme Court Will Not Return Squabble

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23. (AP)—The Supreme Court today refused to interest itself in the validity of the order of the federal district court for Western Texas, ordering the reversal of Dennis Chapin to the Southern District of California for trial on an indictment charging the use of the mails to defraud.

Chapin contended that the government had not properly proved sufficient grounds for the indictment. He sought to overturn the order of the District Court, but the Supreme Court today refused to grant him an appeal.

$100 A Dozen Eggs
To Feed President

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Mar. 22. (AP)—Easter morning breakfast can be an expensive feast at the White House this year, for President Coolidge and his family will have $100-a-dozen eggs ready to serve.

The eggs are those of the Araucana, and will be gift of L. H. Schwartz, of the poultry department of Purdue university, owner of the flock.

Nor will dyeing be required to color the eggs in true Easter fashion, for they have a natural turquoise shade.

Schwartz obtained two Araucana hens and a rooster last year from a zoological garden in Buenos Aires, and now has twenty-five birds. They thrive in Indiana, subsisting on ordinary poultry diet, and their eggs, similar to those of American varieties, boil well, without losing their color. They have the same flavor as other hens' eggs.

The Araucana is a native of Chile, but even there it is not plentiful. Its origin is indistinct. The bird is heavily bodied, with sleek dark-brown plumage. Through inbreeding and crossbreeding, Schwartz hopes to develop chickens with more prolific laying powers and whose eggs have a higher fertility.

ord regarding the league was without a blemish.

In referring to the American attitude, Mr. Lloyd George mentioned Senator Borah, whose name was greeted with some laughter from a few conservatives of the rank and file and with counter cheers from the opposition.

Raps Laughter.

Referring to those who had laughed the former premier said: "Which is the good of scoffing at one of the subject men?"

Mr. Lloyd George then quoted Senator Borah's remarks regarding the League of Nations, which were greeted with some laughter from a few conservatives of the rank and file and with counter cheers from the opposition.

Chamberlain Defends Policies. LONDON, Mar. 22. (AP)—Sir Austen Chamberlain, foreign secretary, took the floor in the House of Commons this afternoon in defense of his policy at the League of Nations meetings in Geneva.

Replying to David Lloyd George, who had spoken before him, he said the former premier came before the House in the guise of an open-minded and disinterested inquirer. However, he had not even awaited his (Sir Austen's) return from Geneva before telegraphing to the American press his condemnation of the foreign secretary's action and his suspicion of his honor. Sir Austen categorically denied again that, during his interview on his return from the Italian Riviera, any engagement was made regarding the League of Nations or council seat in the League of Nations or council seat in the League of Nations or council seat in the League of Nations.

Regarding the feeling in America, Sir Austen continued, Mr. Lloyd George had done his share by articles in which he had insinuated what he did not say in the Commons today.

NATIVE HAWAIIANS FIND GODDESS WALKING

HONOLULU, Mar. 22. (AP)—Pele, goddess of fire, who in Hawaiian mythology controls Kilauea volcano on this island, has been seen twice of late, say believers in the superstition. Many of the Hawaiians who think the "appearance" of the goddess presages a lava flow or eruption has been seen as a warning. Kilauea has been inactive since late spring of 1924. Before the volcanic outbreaks of 1907, 1916 and 1919 an unidentified old woman, presumably Pele, was supposed to have been abroad and the eruptions due to her influence. An aura behind the reappearance of the fateful goddess has been connected in the tales now being told by the natives. A Japanese was driving in the Kona district when he noticed an old woman sitting by the side of the road. As he passed her the engine of his machine stopped and he was unable to start it. A second, third and fourth automobile came up and likewise stopped.

The driver of the fourth car, however, was more polite and offered the elderly creature a lift. She accepted climbing into his back seat. Then without difficulty the driver was able to start this engine and he passed the other cars which soon thereafter were able to move again. A little later the polite driver turned in his seat to speak to his passenger but the car was empty. Thus do the natives find confirmation for the reported first appearance of Pele.

The Honolulu Advertiser was unable to locate the driver of the car who found that the verification of the goddess' second recent appearance consisted in these happenings as told by natives.

About 11 o'clock one morning Mrs. Mary Mamaki, a well known and much respected Hawaiian, was at work back of her house. She heard voices and turning beheld two strangers, a very old Hawaiian man and woman, dressed in the fashion of older Hawaiians. They were carrying a basket of peculiar design.

Mrs. Mamaki made them welcome. They asked what she was doing and she replied, "Planting taro for ourselves and Pele for the future." The reply seemed to please her guests who seated themselves on the ground in the manner of old Hawaiians.

The visitors said they were thirsty and asked for a bottle of water. They drank half of it and put the bottle in their basket. Next they requested tobacco. Their hostess had only cigarettes. They took two, smoked half of each, extinguished them and put the unburned halves in the basket. The guests then showed an interest in the taro patch, and finally asked for some plants. Several were offered but they took only two, which also went into the basket.

Mrs. Mamaki remarked that she feared the dry weather would be bad for the taro. The man told her not to worry; this "Pele" is planting taro and there will be lots of rain in Kona. They shook hands with their hostess and walked down the patch.

Mrs. Mamaki's attention was distracted momentarily by a passing automobile and when she looked again the couple had vanished.

TRIBUTE IS PAID TO THE "MOTHER OF TEXAS" TODAY

AUSTIN, Mar. 22. (AP)—The youth of the Lone Star state bowed in reverence today to one of Texas' greatest pioneers. They paid tribute to the "Mother of Texas," Mrs. Rebecca Jane Fisher, the last woman who saw Texas as under the Mexican flag.

In the senate chamber of the state Capitol and in the capitol city named for Stephen F. Austin, "the Father of Texas," the body of this 94 year old lady lay in state, that those who wish might see the last of the founders of Texas. The body was brought to the chamber at 10 A. M. Flowers and the Texas flag with its one star and the national flag marked the simple arrangements. Members of the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and of the Campfire girls in their khaki uniforms, stood guard as hundreds of mourners silently filed by the bier before the rostrum. It was a fitting setting for this patriot to lie at rest among the pictures of the historical events that so filled her life in this empire of the Southwest. Her own portrait, the first of a woman to be placed in the senate chamber, serenely gazed upon the scene, probably the first time a private citizen was so honored in the Texas Capitol.

Bishop James Dickay of Waco, Rev. Casper Wright and Rev. W. F. Bryan and Rev. Sterling Fisher, of Austin are to conduct the funeral services in the senate chamber at 3 P. M. Interment will be beside the husband of Mrs. Fisher, the Rev. Orestis Fisher.

FINAL ACTION IS PENDING IN BATTLE

MINNEAPOLIS, Mar. 22. (AP)—A plea to delay final decision in the Schall-Johnson senatorial contest pending investigation of a new development has been sent to Senator Denen in Washington by Donald Hughes of counsel for Magnus Johnson, former farmer-labor senator from Minnesota. The senate elections sub-committee, of which Senator Denen is chairman, was scheduled to make a report today on hearings it held recently to investigate charges brought by Johnson, that election of Senator Thomas D. Schall of Minnesota was with the aid of funds from bootleggers.

Mr. Hughes said he had located Gale Plagman of Minneapolis who was to have been one of the witnesses against Senator Schall. Plagman could not be found while the hearings were on.

Plagman was arrested Saturday in Minneapolis on a charge of non-support. Hughes alleges that Plagman was kidnapped by five men who "got him drunk," then drugged him, kept him prisoner and finally sent him to a sanitarium after the committee hearings had ended.

Johnson's counsel had presented to the committee an affidavit from Plagman in connection with Senator Schall campaign. Before the hearing was over, however, another affidavit came, supposedly from Plagman, repudiating the former one. Hughes said today that Plagman had denied sending the alleged repudiation.

THIEVES GET BIG LOOT, OFFICERS DISCOVER

NEW YORK, Mar. 22. (AP)—Estimates of the total loot taken in jewel robberies committed by the gang of seven men headed by Richard Reese Whitmore, escaped convict, today amounted to a total of nearly $1,000,000 as police continued to accumulate information through confessions of members of the gang. Police Inspector Coughling said he believed the band had obtained $750,000 in loot in this city alone during the past year.

Murders Are Probed. Robberies are also alleged to have been committed by members of the gang in Baltimore, Buffalo and in New Jersey cities. Police also were following up evidence tending to link the gang with seven murders committed in different cities in a little more than a year.

Five of the prisoners, including Whitmore, have made confessions, Mr. Coughling said. These confessions were among the evidence presented to the grand jury. District Attorney Edgett, of Baltimore, who questioned Whitmore today, said the prisoner confessed that he killed a Maryland penitentiary guard in escaping from the prison last year.

TEXAS BANKERS TO AID IN FARM PROGRAM

DALLAS, Mar. 22. (AP)—More than 500 Texas bankers now are cooperating to obtain better cotton on fewer acres and more feed on more acres.

The first report of the Texas Safe Farming association, released here on Sunday shows that these bankers thru concentrated effort have had considerable effect on the cotton situation in the South.

"We feel that on the whole the association has been instrumental in setting in motion a very powerful influence for safer farming," said the report. "There appears to be no question that in North Texas especially, and to a greater or less extent in Central and West Texas, there is a larger planting than usual of food and feed crops."

stition which has developed against the middle Western agricultural delegation's bill to finance surplus crop marketing by a fee levied on farm commodities.

Following up a denunciation to the measure from the house floor yesterday by representative Tinscher, republican, Kansas, representative Aswell, of Louisiana, ranking democrat on the committee, delivered an adverse opinion of the plan today. Not only had the bill no chance of getting out of committee, Mr. Aswell declared, but the continuation of hearings might "kill all farm relief legislation at this session."

A flurry was caused in the committee when Representative Rubey, democrat, Missouri, read a newspaper article quoting William Hirth, of Columbia, Missouri, who previously had testified, which referred to charges that Hirth had tried to "intimidate" Congress.

Hirth was quoted as having said he was surprised that "any gentleman from Kentucky would call a man a cheap skate when he was a thousand miles away." Representative Kinchloe said when Mr. Hirth appeared again he would call him a "cheap skate" to his face, and Representative Tinscher after asserting he said he wanted to say while Mr. Hirth was here, added:
