More Troops Are Pulled From Dominican Zone

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson ordered today the withdrawal of about 1,400 more U.S. troops from the Dominican Republic.

Johnson said commanders of the inter-American force had reported that conditions in the Dominican Republic permit the new withdrawal of American military personnel.

The troops to leave the island republic are two battalions of the 82nd Airborne Division.

This will reduce the total of United States military personnel on duty there to about 10,900 mostly Army troops but some Air Force personnel. This compares with peak strength reached May 17 of nearly 22,000.

White House press secretary George E. Reedy said the withdrawal of the two airborne battalions will begin next week.

The first U.S. troops were landed in the Dominican Republic on April 28, four days after the revolt erupted, and built up quickly to the approximate 22,000 strength.

Marines were the first to go in and paratroopers followed.

Later, when the new inter-American defense force was created to take over the task of guarding the shaky truce in Santo Domingo, some U.S. troops were withdrawn.

Johnson also announced today that Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler has set up an advisory committee on international financial matters to be headed by former Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon.

Reedy said the conference group which will hold its first meeting July 16, will make recommendations to the Treasury and other government departments and agencies concerned with international financial transactions.

Johnson's schedule today included the swearing in of an old friend, U.S. Dist. Judge Homer Thornberry, as a judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 5th Circuit.

The swearing-in ceremony was held at the LBJ ranch with Judge Herman Jones, a state district judge, administering the oath.

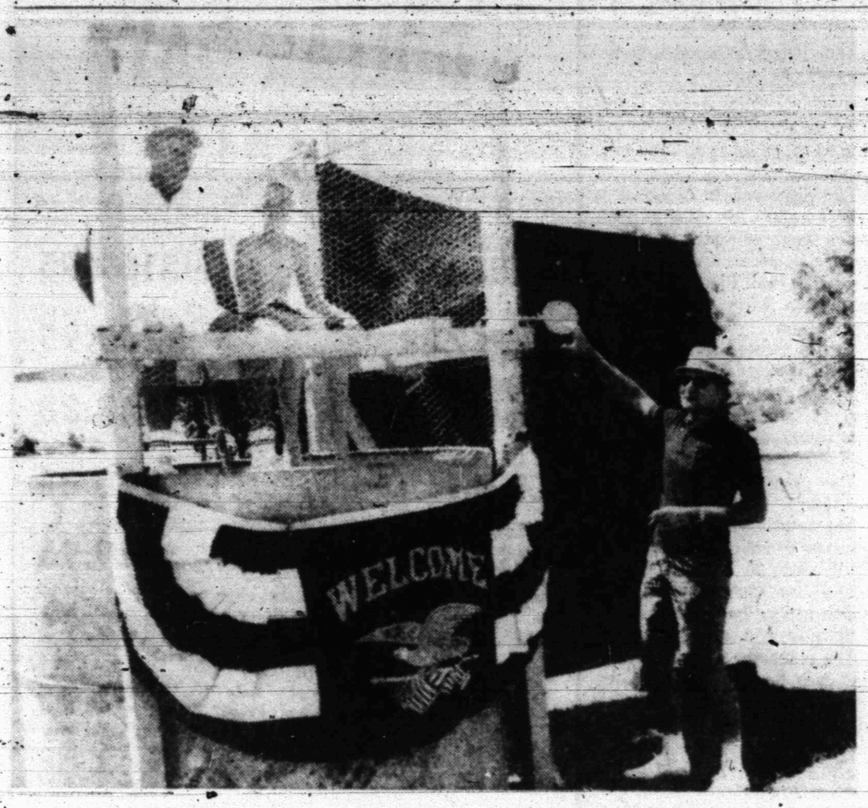
Thornberry and Jones once were seatmates in the Texas legislature and one time were law partners.

Johnson, who flew to his ranch home near here Friday night with wife Lady Bird, was accompanied by the elevated judge, Homer Thornberry, now serving on the U.S. District Court in Texas.

Once holder of the House seat vacated by Johnson when the President went to the Senate, Thornberry was confirmed this week by the Senate as a judge of the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals with headquarters in New Orleans.

Except for the Supreme Court, this bench handles more major civil rights cases than any other in the land.

Thornberry, as a House member, cast a key vote in 1963 in the House Rules Committee in favor of the Kennedy - Johnson proposal that became the Civil Rights Act of 1964.



ALL IT TAKES is a hit on the target, pointed out here by Jim Brewer, right, to drop unwilling victims into a tank of cold water. Ed Dickerson and Fred Wilkins are shown on the "dunking stool." Brewer and Dickerson are members of the Rotary Club which sponsored the concession during the Independence Day celebration at Towle Park Saturday.

Reds Admit Active Role In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Illinois Communist party spokesmen have conceded that Mayor Richard J. Daley was correct in his charge that Communists are taking part in school protests demonstrations.

James West and Claude Lightfoot, spokesmen for the party, said in a statement Friday:

"Integration and quality education are not matters of partisan politics and they certainly are not the monopoly of the Communist party."

Daley not only had accused many Communists of taking part in recent demonstrations in Chicago, but said that Communist money was being used to finance the demonstrations.

His charges drew strong objuections from various civil rights spokesmen as well as demands that he prove his charges.

West and Lightfoot accused the mayor of bringing the "cheap politics of red-baiting into the controversy" over the new contract granted to School Supt. Benjamin C. Willis by the Chicago Board of Education.

Lightfoot and West said:

"The fact that Communists support integration, and have done so for over 35 years, is neither a startling revelation nor does it make a crime of integration, just as it is no crime to be a Communist."

Snyder Area Residents In Celebration

Snyder area residents converged on Towle Memorial Park Saturday to participate in the annual community Independence Day celebration.

The festivities were moved up to July 3 this year because the 4th came on Sunday.

The activities in the park were scheduled to reach a climax at 9 p.m. with a big fireworks display.

Concession stands were open and planned events were unreeled, beginning with an art show, a fishing rodeo and tennis tournament this morning. Official opening ceremonies for the celebration were scheduled for 2 p.m. followed by a parade through the park.

Other events invluded swimming contests and diving exhibitions, along with ball games in the county park facilities.

The celebration is held here under sponsorship of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce. Rentley Baize and H. A. Johnson served as co-chairmen of the event for the Chamber this year.

Surgeon Top Dominican Candidate

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — A prominent Dominican surgeon has emerged as the leading presidential candidate for a provisional government of this strife-torn country.

He is Dr. Felix A. Goico, 60, a member of one of the country's oldest and wealthiest families.

The rebels and the military-civilian junta said Friday they would accept him. There was immediate speculation that a provisional government would be formed within a week.

Dr. Goico, who has a clinic in the international security zone, went into rebel territory frequently during the fighting to treat the wounded.

He told a newsman Friday that he knows nothing about politics and would be willing to take the job "only if no one else can be found satisfactory to both sides."

Goico's name came up Thursday at a meeting of the three-man Organization of American States negotiating team. The rebels proposed him to head the provisional government which is to function until elections are held in six to nine months.

If a government is formed, the next important step will be getting the rebels to carry out their pledge to turn in their arms.

Former President Joaquin Balaguer, who returned Monday after three years in exile, said he believed "many rebels will hide their guns and leave the city." Violent incidents are expected to continue, he said.

Balaguer described Goico as a non-political figure, highly qualified for the provisional government.

Balaguer said he would not take part in the provisional government but would be a presidential candidate in the elections that are to follow.

Five Killed In Bus-Car Collision

WATERLOO, N.Y. (AP)— An eastbound Greyhound bus and an automobile collided on the New York Thruway today, killing five persons in the car and injuring 35 to 40 on the bus.

The bus passengers were not reported seriously injured.

The bus was bound for Boston from Chicago, and the driver had taken over in Cleveland to go as far as Syracuse, a Thruway spokesman said.

Reporters at the scene said the westbound car had crossed the center mall of the rain-slick superhighway and hit the bus head-on.

The bus careened into a small ravine and fire broke out in the rear.

The car disintegrated in the passing lane on the eastbound side.

Cong Shells Still Falling

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Communist Viet Cong continued for the third day today their latest series of mortar attacks on American-Vietnamese airfields. They shelled the base at Can Tho, South Viet Nam's third largest city.

U.S. military spokesmen said the guerrillas first fired 20 to 30 rounds into the edge of the field. They hit several outposts 3,000 yards from the field with about 10 rounds several hours later.

No casualties or damage resulted from either attack, the spokesmen said.

Government troops, countered with mortar fire of their own and warplanes were sent to the area 80 miles southwest of Saigon to engage the guerrillas under the glare of flares.

A small government force searched the area after dawn, but did not find any guerrillas, the spokesmen said.

In other action Friday, three South Korean soldiers were wounded, none seriously, when an electrically detonated Viet Cong mine blew up a truck near Di An, the Korean camp north of Saigon, a Korean military spokesman said.

The wounded included the commander of a construction unit, the spokesman said.

The Koreans are part of a contingent of about 2,500 serving in noncombat roles.

South Korean President Chung Hee Park's cabinet decided in Seoul, meanwhile, to send a combat division and supporting units, totaling as many as 15,000 soldiers, to South Viet Nam.

Reliable U.S. Navy sources reported that a Russian trawler is cruising off the South Vietnamese coast in the vicinity of U.S. 7th Fleet carriers which launch daily air strikes against North Viet Nam.

Newsmen flying from Saigon to 7th Fleet ships in recent days have been told unofficially about the trawler. One newsman described it as a 150-foot-long two-master vessel with a radar bulb on its superstructure.

A U. S. Navy tug assigned to watch it was nearby, the newsman said.

U. S. officials in Saigon declined immediate comment. Fleet officers did not seem particularly disturbed, although they conceded it probably was spying.

Bomb Prediction Fails To Pan Out

TOKYO (AP)—A 35-man police detachment was sent to the U.S. Embassy here Friday night after a man telephoned saying the building would be blown up immediately.

The policeman were withdrawn today when no incident took place.

Working Mothers Result In Soviet Birth Rate Decline

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet birth rate is declining — and one reason is the high proportion of working mothers.

This conclusion is among the "current economic indicators for the U.S.S.R.", compiled for the Senate-House Economic Committee by its staff and published Saturday night.

Under the heading "Family Versus Work," the book-length study reports that the Soviet government "has become increasingly concerned about the heavy burden of housework borne by working wives and mothers."

The burden is increased, the study said, by the relative scarcity not only of such household aids as vacuum cleaners and washing machines, but of such things as hot or even running water and of refrigeration that makes infrequent food shopping possible.

"Heavy household burdens combined with the demands of a career, cause many professional women to have only one, or at most, two children," the study said. "There seems little doubt that one of the unintended effects of the high proportion of married women working in the Soviet Union is a reduced birth rate."

Another factor contributing to a 21 per cent decline in the birth rate since the early 1950s, the study said, is the relatively small number of women reaching childbearing age, because of low birth rates during World War II.

The study said the college age population has been declining and the group of primary school age is expected to decline during the 1970s. Over-all projections of the Soviet population, now about 229 million, are for 245 million to 261 million by 1975 and 259 million to 299 million by 1985.

As for the status of women, the study said they make up about 52 per cent of all professionals, including a majority of physicians and 31 per cent of engineers.

However, the proportion of women in the highest professional posts is much smaller — 5 per cent to 12 per cent in some categories — suggesting that most women get stuck at intermediate grades in their careers.

On more general matters the study concluded that the Soviet Union's economic growth rate has fallen in five years from 8.5 per cent to 2.6 per cent, largely because of poor performance in agriculture, which, in turn was attributed to poor technology and unfavorable weather.

The Soviet government continues to favor military programs and agriculture in its allocation of capital resources, the study said.

2nd Declaration Still Celebrated

By MICHAEL KENAS

The Williamsport Grit

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Up a side street in the light of freedom — Residents of this small river community will gather around Creek Declaration of Independence with fanfare to mark one of a most remarkable coincidences in American history.

Beneath it, along the west bank of Little Pine Creek, 31 men wrote and signed their own declaration of freedom exactly 189 years ago. It was the same day the now famous Declaration of Independence was being adopted in Philadelphia's Independence Hall.

History records that these fur-clad men, as they were called, assembled on July 4, 1776, to declare themselves independent of Great Britain. They were different from the Continental Congress who did just precisely the same thing in Philadelphia.

They gathered under the Tiadaghton Elm — so called for an area village — to hear their leaders renounce allegiance to the mother country.

Their meeting ended in the drafting and signing by the 31 men of a document which they called the Pine Creek Declaration of Independence.

Their story is annually recalled on the Fourth of July as part of Jersey Shore's Independence Day Celebration. The ceremony takes place under the same old elm, now towering with heavily laden branches, its trunk wound tightly with cement, and its branches wired to help it stand erect.

The Pennsylvania Historical Society calls the Tiadaghton Elm 300 years old and the oldest of its type in the East.

According to reports the signers of the Pine Creek declaration burned the original document in a campfire.

Then, two of the group—Patrick Gilfillan and Michael Quiglev Jr. — were chosen as the patch riders to take a copy of the document to the seat of government in Philadelphia.

The men left on horseback but were ambushed, and robbed of all possessions by Indians. They escaped but then were arrested by Tories as spies. They again escaped and made their way to Philadelphia, arriving on July 13, the exact moment of the other declaration.

The men then returned to their fields to urge the other settlers of the last play system

Water Shift Is Possible

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP) — Marvin Nichols, a Fort Worth consulting engineer, says a project to bring water to the Southwest from Alaska and Canada is easily within the bounds of possibility.

He spoke Friday at the annual meeting of the National Society of Professional Engineers.

"I'm very much in favor of the project to bring water here from the Pacific Northwest, Alaska and Canada," he said. "I wouldn't even describe it as visionary. It's well within the realm of possibility."

Nichols was discussing the proposed North American Water and Power Alliance, one of the most ambitious engineering projects ever.

It would divert to the Southwest water now flowing into the Pacific ocean from the mountains reaches in the American Pacific Northwest, Western Canada and Eastern Alaska.

Dear Abby...

"PATIENT"

DEAR PATIENT: (ARE you one?) He is no more "considerate of" than the vulture who hovers over a living thing, "patiently" waiting for the moment it becomes a corpse.

DEAR ABBY: With regard to wives who help themselves to whatever money they can find in their husbands' wallets: In States where there is community property, she is entitled to half of what her husband earns, and according to the decision of a prominent Los Angeles judge she is not "stealing," because it's hers anyway.

Mine was such a case. On evenings when my husband was in the shower, preparatory to his almost nightly "business" engagements, I would quietly remove from his wallet a few fives, or tens, or perhaps twenties. Those I added to my bank account. He is gone now, and I am happy with a new life, made a bit more comfortable with the money I accumulated this way. I'm only sorry I didn't take more.

NO REGRETS

DEAR NO: This story is enough to make a married man give up showering, or else wear a waterproof money belt.

DEAR ABBY: When you wrote that the wife who took money from the wallet of her sleeping husband was "stealing," you couldn't have been more wrong, [illegible]

In California, what a man earns is community property and, as such, is as much the property of his wife as it is her husband's. It makes no difference whether she takes it from a joint bank account, or from his pocket: one half of what he earns is hers. If she has to resort to subterfuge to get it, it's STILL hers. A stingy man is an abomination to people of normal minds, and why that woman would stay with her stingy husband is beyond me. But if she has to get what is rightfully hers by picking his pocket, she's perfectly justified in doing so. One cannot steal what is hers to begin with.

I hope you will pass this information on to the unfortunate wife, and thus take a load off her conscience. It might also relieve other wives who are upset to do the same thing.

Very truly yours,

New Find Of Treasure Is On Display

MELBOURNE, Fla. (AP) — A new find of sunken Spanish treasure — perhaps history's greatest — has been announced here by a company which is making its fortune within sight of the Florida coast.

The Real 4 Corp., put on display Friday massive chunks of raw silver which it said it got from the wreck of a Spanish galleon 35 miles south of Cape Kennedy.

The discovery is expected to "far exceed" the $1.6 million which was salvaged last year from a sunken treasure ship near the Fort Pierce inlet, according to Harry Cannon of the corporation.

Real 4 showed reporters 2,000 pounds of silver bullion in ingots weighing between 60 and 100 pounds, two big clusters of silver pieces of eight and a few gold doubloons.

The wreck is still being worked.

The new find, like the first, is believed to have come from one of 10 ships in a treasure fleet bound for Spain which was blown ashore by a hurricane in 1715.

The company said the second find was buried four feet beneath the ocean floor in 25 feet of water about 1,000 feet offshore.

The value of the silver at the current market was about $60,000, but it might bring as much as $500,000 from collectors, said Don Thompson, a vice president.

Pond Manager Knows What Bad Luck Is

BRYSON CITY, N.C. (AP) — If your pond manager knows that bad luck — like lightning — can strike twice in the same place.

A year ago a flash flood swept several thousand rainbow trout out of L. C. Barnes' ponds into nearby Fontana Lake.

Barnes rebuilt the ponds.

This week a tank truck loaded with acid overturned on a highway a quarter of a mile from the ponds. The spilled acid ran into a small stream and on to the ponds.

Barnes said he lost 18,000 trout. Wildlife officials said he may not be able to use the ponds again for five years.

THE SOIL GROUPS that make up much of the productive land in the southern and eastern part of Scurry County are shown here. Although susceptible to wind erosion, the soils produce good grazing grasses and good crops.

Insect Activity Increases In Scurry's Cotton Fields

Field inspections in Scurry County and reports received by the County Agricultural Agent indicate that with few exceptions insect activity has increased in the past week. Insect activities still remain light in some places but does show a general increase in the number of damaging insects that were noted.

There are still some thrip activity in the county but most of the cotton has outgrown the thrip damage stage with the good growing condition experienced during the past week.

The fleahopper has shown an increase in activity in the county Some fields have experienced damaging infestation and this is the insect to watch in the coming weeks as cotton begins to fruit.

The Texas Guide for Controlling Insects recommends that infestations of 15 - 35 fleahopper per 100 terminal should be controlled. In checking some of the fields the damage from smaller infestations has been rather large and there is the possibility that producers checking their fields will note that with this lighter infestation possibly control measures should be started before the recommended infestation according to the Texas Guide.

The survey team checking the farms in Scurry County did not find any overwintering boll weevils or any infestation of boll weevil in Scurry County last week. This makes three weeks in a row that no weevil has been found in Scurry County; however, producers should be on the lookout for the weevil and other insects which could cause economic damage.

The Cotton Insect Survey Team being sponsored jointly by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. has indicated to the County Agricultural Agent that producers who have insects they would like identified, may bring them to any of the four fields that the team checks in Scurry County and this team will be happy to identify these insects. The team also encouraged any farmer who would like to go with them in checking the four fields to do so and noted that they would be most welcome. Training on how to check a cotton field for insect infestation would be given to any producer who would like to go with them. The survey team will not be able to check any individual farms other than set up, as they have several counties in which they must check each week. However, they would welcome producers to go with them on these four fields.

The survey team usually arrives in Scurry County Wednesday afternoons. The schedule that is setup for this coming Wednesday afternoon, July 7, is as follows:

The Brown Farm - 3 miles North, 1 mile East of China Grove at 2 p.m.

The Eldon Perry Farm - across the road from the Lone Wolf Cemetery between 3 and 3:15 p.m.

The Fred Campbell Farm - East of Hermleigh at 4:30 p.m., and the next morning July 8, at the George Richardson Farm - just south of the railroad at 8 a.m.

Anyone who would be interested in seeing the survey team for insect identification or help in checking a field should meet them at this time.

Several producers attended the meetings Thursday, July 1, in which Don Rummel, the Texas Agricultural Extension Entomologist located at Lubbock, gave an excellent slide presentation on the identification of insects and then the group in attendance moved out into a cotton patch and checked the cotton to identify insects.

Topdressing Best For Early Cotton

Sporadic cotton - planting dates have made Extension Soil Chemist Jim Valentine reluctant to give general recommendations for sidedressing cotton this season.

Valentine, operator of the soil testing lab at the South Plains Research and Extension Center, says studies show sidedressing is a money - maker when cotton is planted early June and when the nutrients recommended by soil tests have not been supplied in preplant applications.

But studies also show that sidedressing late - planted cotton can lower profits, he said.

Nitrogen increases vegetative growth, Valentine explains, and if wet, cool weather occurs in September, excess nitrogen could result in wasty fiber if the frost date is normal or early.

According to Billy Roach, local County Agricultural Agent, field demonstrations conducted in Scurry County in 1964 showed economic increases by sidedressing cotton on sandy soil. Even though 1964 was very dry the lint increase of the fertilized cotton gave an economical return over unfertilized cotton. The rate of sidedress fertilization in the 1964 field demonstration was 30 lbs. of nitrogen. Rate of 20 - 30 pounds of nitrogen could prove profitable on late planted dryland cotton on soils that have not received nitrogen and have a history of insufficient stalk growth even with adequate water.

Response from sidedressed phosphate can generally be expected only when soil tests values fall in the low to very low range, Valentine says. In a short season, he said sidedressing phosphate will pay only when the level of phosphorous is extremely low.

Valentine says it is essential to place phosphate deep enough so it will be within reach of permanent roots.

Root pruning should be avoided when sidedressing. The research shows that cotton roots extend 10 inches laterally from the row 20 days after emergence. They have extended 20 inches laterally 40 days after emergence.

Conservationist Describes Scurry's Cropland Soils

Marvin L. Dixon
U.S. Dept. of Agriculture
Soil Conservation Service

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last of a series describing the soils of Scurry County.)

The Miles, Cobb, and Spade soil association in Scurry County consists of broad areas of nearly level to moderately sloping sandy loam soils. It is about 144,256 acres in extent and make up about 25 percent of the county. The largest areas are in the southern, and eastern part of the county. Smaller areas are scattered throughout the county.

Miles and Cobb fine sandy loam comprises about 58 percent of this association. They are reddish brown soils with fine sandy loam surface layers and friable sandy clay loam subsoils. Miles soils are developed in calcareous moderately sandy old alluvium. Cobb soils have developed from redbed sandstone material. The Miles and Cobb soils occur on broad nearly level to moderately sloping areas.

Spade fine sandy loam comprises about 14 percent of the association. It is brownish to reddish brown, calcareous soil, developed on sandstone material. The Spade soils occur on gently sloping to moderately sloping sandstone ridges within areas of Miles and Cobb soils and along the side slopes of natural drains.

This association includes areas of Mansker, Wichita, Abilene, Loamy alluvial land and Miles loamy fine sand.

About 70 percent of this association is cultivated and cotton and grain sorghums are the major crops. The areas that are in rangeland produce a fair to good growth of mid and tall grasses. This association is moderately suceptible to wind erosion and slightly to moderately susceptible to water erosion.

Dallas Told To Speed Up Integration

NEW ORLEANS (AP) —The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals directed Friday that U.S. Dist. Judge T. Whitfield Davidson take over supervision of a speeded integration schedule for Dallas public schools.

This formally discarded a grade - a - year desegregation plan followed by the Dallas school district since 1961. It would have extended the fifth grade in the fall.

Judges of the circuit court acted after counsel for the Texas city's school system submitted a plan looking to full integration of classes by 1967—all elementary grades this fall, junior high schools in September of 1966 and high schools by September of 1967.

Dallas school board members filed an outline of their proposed schedule with the appellate court in answer to an appeal by Negro parents last fall for complete integration of the city's schools at once.

The circuit court likewise directed that the Dallas schools be compelled to add the desegregation of the 12th grade to their plan for this fall.

Ruling in another case, the appellate court recently expressed the view that grade-a-year integration means Negroes not attending desegregated classes "continue to suffer discriminatory treatment."

Chief Judge Elbert P. Tuttle of Atlanta, Ga., and Circuit Judges Joseph C. Hutcheson and John R. Brown of Houston delivered the ruling. Presumably it cleared the way of Judge Davidson to approve the latest plan for Dallas schools once the 12th grade is added to the schedule.

More than 83 thousand new and rebuilt freight cars were placed in service on American railroads in 1964, more than double the 1962 total.

Police Issue June Report

The Snyder police department's monthly report shows that during the month of June the department investigated 17 traffic mishaps within the city of Snyder, and that there were four injuries reported in those mishaps. There were no deaths.

The city's corporation court assessed fines during the month totaling $4,393. Of that total, $979 was for violations other than traffic violations, of which $119 was credited for time spent in jail.

Snyder police transferred six cases to the county for prosecution during the month. Four were for DWI, one for illegal transportation of alcohol, and one for theft.

Police department vehicles traveled a total of 21,661 miles during the month in performance of their duties.

Fish Caught For Starving Alligators

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Florida conservation officials are using electric shocks to catch fish for starving alligators in Everglades National Park.

Millions of fish died in the park when a drought dried up ponds and waterholes. Hungry alligators are beginning to eat their own young.

State wildlife officers, using lines, a net and an electric generator, send a shock that stuns the fish. When they float to the surface they are netted.

Australians Take Double Slam In Wimbledon Singles

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Margaret Smith gave Australia a double slam of the Wimbledon singles tennis championships today by dethroning Brazil's Maria Bueno in the women's final, 6-4, 7-5.

The Australian girl thus regained the crown she won in 1963 and lost to the petite Brazilian in 1964.

Roy Emerson regained his men's title Friday by beating his Australian Davis Cup teammate, Fred Stolle, in three straight sets.

It was the first time in the 88-year history of Wimbledon that Australians captured both singles titles in the same year.

And it's going to take a lot of scrambling to get the Australians out in the next couple of years.

Roy Emerson, who won the men's title for the second straight year Friday, served notice that he will be back next year trying for his third.

ROY EMERSON

Fred Stolle, defeated in the final for the third year running, let it be known that he intends to be around for at least two more years in the hope of becoming champion.

That means that the rest of the world's stars — men like America's Dennis Ralston, South Africa's Cliff Drysdale and Mexico's Rafael Osuna — have a big gap to close if they are ever to lift the most coveted of all tennis titles. Emerson and Stolle proved themselves in a class of their own.

Emerson outplayed Stolle 6-2, 6-4, 6-4, beating his Australian buddy in the final for the second year running.

Earlier in the tournament the two powerful Australians had brushed aside the best challengers the world could offer. Emerson hammered Ralston, the American Davis Cupper from Los Angeles, in the semi-finals. Drysdale, one of the world's best prospects, failed to win a set off Stolle.

It was left to Maria Bueno of Brazil to try to stem the tiee of Australian success. She was due to defend her women's title today against Margaret Smith, the big Australian girl whom she dethroned last year.

Meanwhile, there is one titl the Australian squad can't win. Two French girls, Francoise Durr and Janine Lieffrig, have come through unseeded to make the final of the women's doubles refreshingly different. They will face Maria Bueno and her Long Beach, Calif., partner, Billie Jean Moffitt.

Odessa Pro-Am Is Underway

ODESSA, Tex. (AP) — Seventy teams have been named and 30 or more will be determined in qualifying rounds for the $20,000 Odessa Pro-Amateur Golf tournament that starts over the Odessa Country Club course Thursday.

Fifty teams will try for places in qualifying Monday and the low 30 and ties will be picked to enter the tournament.

Don Massengale of Jacksboro and amateur John Farquhar of Amarillo will defend their championship, with Farquhar actually seeking his third title He paired with Frank Wharton in 1961 to win it and with Massengale last year.

Thirteen players from the PGA tour are in the field, including Ray Floyd, who won last week's St. Paul Open; Jacky Cupit, Don Fairfield, Homero Blancas, Joe Campbell, Bert Weaver, Gay Brewer, Jerry Edwards, Wright Garrett, Bo Wininger, Billy Maxwell, Don January and Billy Martindale.

First money for the winning pro is $5,000 this year, twice what it was previously.

Marty Fleckman of Port Arthur, the NCAA champion; Randy Petri of Houston, the Texas amateur champion, and Bobby Dixon of Muskogee, Okla., the Southern intercollegiate champion, head the amateur contingent.

There will be a pro-sponsor tournament Tuesday, practice rounds Wednesday, the first 18-hole round Thursday, the second Friday when the field will be trimmed to the low 40 and ties for the final 36 Saturday and Sunday. Golfers failing to make the cut will play in a Scotch foursome.

The Odessa Country Club has a par 72 and is 6,600 yards long.

Two Spans Of Bridge Fall

TOKEPKA, Kan. (AP) — Two spans of a 68-year-old bridge over the Kansas River collapsed with a roar Friday. At least one car was thrown into the river and the driver was killed.

Several witnesses told police they also saw another car with one or two adults and two children fall as the 160-foot section of the bridge collapsed. Divers hunted for a second car Friday night and were to resume the search today.

Kenneth Allen, 43, of Topeka was killed. He was pinned in the car which landed upside down in about five feet of water.

A new bridge to replace the old one is under construction a short distance away. It will not be finished before late next year.

Mayor Charles W. Wright Jr. said that high water in recent weeks and vibrations from the driving of piling into the river bed for the new bridge may have weakened the structure.

All Stars Picked In Texas League

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Six pitchers with a combined 35 victories against 12 losses and 10 players who have hit over .300 will be on the 18-man Texas Leag squad that meets the Houston Astros in the Texas League all-star game July 15.

The game will be played at Turnpike Stadium, home of the Dallas-Fort Worth club. The Texas Leaguers will be seeking their fourth straight victory.

Led by Dave Pavlesic, Tulsa catcher who tops the league in batting with .400, the Texas squad average of .326 at the plate with 84 homers and 448 runs batted in.

There were three unanimous selections by the six managers, who picked the squad. Pavlesic was one and second baseman Winston Llenas of El Paso was another. The third—Donald LeJohn, Albuquerque third baseman—cannot play in the game because he has been called up by the parent Los Angeles Dodgers.

Dennis Aust, Tulsa relief specialist and leading pitcher in saves, also was chosen for the squad but won't be able to participate because he has been sent to Jacksonville of the International League by the parent St. Louis Cardinals.

Dallas-Fort Worth and Austin placed four players each; Albuquerque and Tulsa three apiece, and El Paso and Amarillo two each.

Roy Hartsfield of Albuquerque and Vernon Rapp of Tulsa will be the managers. They got the honor by virtue of their clubs leading the two divisions on June 30.

Utility — Dick McLaughlin (.353), Albuquerque; Vince Ferguson (.299), Austin, and Don Young (.236), Dallas-Fort Worth.

British Beat Is Popular In Germany

By TERENCE ANDREW

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — British beat groups and Liverpool-sound merchants have taken German teen-ager by storm and shaggy Britishers by the hundreds are making a living here they can't make at home.

Unable to compete in England with the Beatles, the Rolling Stones and other hit-parade groups, dozens of British groups have invaded the dance halls and inns of German towns and villages.

Inevitably, the British beat cult has brought out a crop of German imitators with names with a British flavor — like "Die Lords" — but German pop singers have a hard time. German teen-agers give the Britishers places of honor in their hit-parade charts.

For German teen-agers, the next best thing to a top British group, it seems, is any British group.

A London agent who caught wind of this development has been packing them off in droves to Germany. Scores of them roll up to the dance halls in their little buses, unload their electric guitars and amplifiers, and start the kids to jumping.

Some of the groups, on their own confession, never played professionally before they came to Germany, but here they make 600 to 1,000 German marks a performance ($150-$250).

German teen-agers don't care what sound they get, as long as they get their dose of British beat music from a genuine, long-haired, Beatle-jacketed British beat group.

Giants, Tribe In LL Victories

The Giants downed the Cubs 12-2 and the Indians stopped the Athletics 14-2 in Little League games played Friday night.

Bobby Thompson got three hits and scored two runs in leading the Giants to their victory over the Cubs. Thompson got a single, triple, and a home run in his effort. Bill Stokes, Jim Province and Bill Wilson each collected two hits. Wilson hit a home run also. Jim Province scored three runs in the Giants victory. Scott Morgan hit a third inning home run for one of the Cub scores, and Bill Branson scored in the fifth inning after walking to open the inning.

Butch Buchanan scored two runs and got four hits in five trips to the plate to pace the Indians over the Athletics. He got four straight singles. The Indians scored eight runs in the fifth inning to insure their margin of victory. The Athletics managed only two runs on two hits in the contest. Bebo Boren and Gilbert Ramirez each had a single.

Cornelius, Mann, Smith Share Women's Open Lead

By TOM SEPPY
Associated Press Writer

NORTHFIELD, N.J. (AP) — Three sharp shooting professionals — Kathy Cornelius, Carol Mann and Marilynn Smith — held the lead in the National Womens Open Golf championship today but the amateurs were in position to threatn for the title.

Mrs. Cornelius, 32 - year - old golfig housewife from Rancho Sante Fe, Calif., remained at the head of the pack despite a record-breaking round Friday by the lanky Miss Mann of Towson, Md.

Mrs. Cornelius, who won the title in 1956, cooled to a 75 but coupled with her first round 71 had a 146 two-day total.

The 6-foot-3 Miss Mann fired a 70 to break the competitive course record set by Mrs. Cornelius Thursday. She was in second place with a 148, one stroke ahead of Miss Smith.

Despite the lead by the professionals, several amateurs who made Friday's cut were within striking distance.

An amateur has never won the Women's Open.

Low scorer among the amateurs was the 45-year-old Mrs. Helen Sigel Wilson of Gladwynne, Pa.

Mrs. Wilson was bracketed at 150 with darkhorse pros Judy Torleumke of North Key Largo, Fla., and Susie Maxwell of Oklahoma City.

Two other amateurs, 20-year-old Cathy LaCoste of Paris, France, and Mrs. Douglas Streit of Ontario, Canada, who has won just about every amateur title, shared the 152 spot with professional Mary Mills of Hansboro, Miss.

The leading amateur after the first round, Mrs. Anne Quast Welts of Seattle, Wash., skied to a 79 Friday and had a two-day total of 153.

Twenty - eight professionals and 13 amateurs of the 82 starters made the 159 cut-off which enables them tohplay in today's and Sunday's final rounds over the Atlantic City Country Club course.

The professionals will be shooting for $17,780, the highest in history, with $4,000 going to the winner.

Oilers Are Back In League Lead

By The Associated Press

Tulsa was back on top of the Eastern Division of the Texas League Saturday, marking the ninth time the lead has changed hands between Tulsa and Dallas-Fort Worth since the season started.

The Oilers did it with a flourish, too. They clobbered Dallas-Fort Worth 18-9 Friday night to pull back into first by a half game.

Albuquerque, king of the Western Division, edged Austin 6-4 and increased its lead to 7½ games.

El Paso took a 5-2 licking from Amarillo in a game called after eight innings because of rain. Amarillo thus advanced within two games of El Paso, the second place club in the Western Division.

Tulsa scored in bunches to virtually blast Dallas-Fort Worth out of the park, having one six-run inning and one seven-run. The Oilers battered 20 hits, Dallas 11, with five home runs being hit in the slugfest.

Clint Stark got the pitching decision although lasting only 5 2-3 innings. Dave Dowling, the loser, could go only two while giving up nine runs.

Jim Campanis homered in the sixth to furnish the go-ahead as Albuquerque clipped Austin. Herb Hippauf, the league's top pitcher, took the loss when he yielded 10 hits and six runs while going the distance. J. W. Porter hit two home runs for Austin but couldn't put the Braves over.

Kansas City May Join Dome Parade

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Charles O. Finley, Kansas City Athletics owner, expressed definite interest Friday in a 15-year lease for a proposed enclosed stadium here.

Morris Dubiner, a judge of the Jackson County court, said Finley told a local committee that he was interested in such a lease.

"But he said he couldn't make any commitments at present," added Dubiner, a member of the steering committee for the proposed $50 million County Sports Center.

138 Oil, 43 Gas Wells Completed

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas drillers brought in 43 gas and 138 oil wells this week, for totals of 3,497 oil and 1,590 gas completions this year, the Railroad Commission said Saturday.

New gas wells stand well ahead of last year's pace. Oil well completions lag behind the 4,291 last year at this time.

The commission reported 13 gas and four oil discoveries. A total of 257 wells were plugged, including 162 dry holes.

The commission said the average calendar day oil production allowable July 1 was 2,898,300 barrels, up 12,643 from June 15.

COLAVITO DRIVES IN FIVE

Rocky Leads Indians To Another Victory

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Rocky Colavito, who last year won a plaque worth $300, now is taking aim at a pennant worth $8,000.

Continuing his heavh hitting for Cleveland since ending his five-year exile from the shores of Lake Erie, Colavito drove in five runs with a homer, double and single as the Indians maintained their one-game American League lead by crushing Baltimore 8-0 Friday night.

The popular 31-year-old slugger, traded away from Cleveland by Frank Lane in a much-criticized deal, was acquired this season in a three-cornered deal with Chicago and Kansas City.

During the Indians' drive to the top — they've won 18 of their last 21 while moving up from five games off the pace — Colavito has slammed the ball at a .363 clip with seven homers and 20 RBI.

The Minnesota Twins, meanwhile, remained a game back of the Indians by downing Kansas City 3-1, the Chicago White Sox fell three behind after a 5-4 loss to the Los Angeles Angels, Washington blanked Detroit 6-0 and the New York Yankees thumped Boston 16-2.

In the National League, Houston defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-3, Philadelphia edged Cincinnati 4-3, San Francisco shut out the Chicago Cubs 4-0, Pittsburgh belted Milwaukee 8-3 and St. Louis whipped the New York Mets 6-3.

Colavito doubled home a run in the first inning, against the Orioles, hit a three-run homer off John Miller in the Indians' five-run third inning uprising and singled in another run in the fourth.

That made it easy for Lee Stage, who pitched 5 1-3 innings of perfect ball and wound up with a four-hitter and a 3-1 record.

Jim Grant checked the A's on five hits, retiring 15 in a row at one stretch as he brought his record to 8-2, and scored the winning run for the Twins in the seventh inning.

Grant led off with a walk against John O'Donoghue and raced home on Tony Oliva's double, snapping a 1-1 tie. Oliva scored an added run on Harmon Killebrew's single.

The Angels staked Dean Chance, still bogged down with a 4-4 record, to a 3-0 lead against the White Sox but Bill Skowron's 11th homer and a three - run sixth inning rally chased last year's Cy Young Award winner.

The Angels finally put it away with a two-run seventh inning rally in which Jim Fregosi and Joe Adcock hit run-producing singles.

Frank Kreutzer got the job done almost single-handedly for the Senators, stopping the Tigers on three hits for his first victory of the season and his first complete game in the majors while hitting a two-run homer — also his first in the majors.

Hank Aguirre took the loss, only his third against nine victories.

The Yankees ripped 21 hits against the Red Sox, Roger Repoz swinging the big bat. The rookie outfielder hit his second homer in two games, added a single and a sacrifice fly and drove in four runs.

Elston Howard also homered for New York while Mel Stottlemyre scattered nine hits and brought his record to 9-4.

Chancellor Has Edge In Left Handed Show

LA VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Defending champion Stewart Chancellor of Midland, Tex., and three others meet in a playoff today for the national left-handed amateur golf championship.

Chancellor had a three-stroke lead going into the final round Friday but soared to a seven-over-par 77 and was tied by Col. Fred Blackmar of Imperial Beach, Calif., Berryman Bourne of Killeen Air Force Base, Tex., and Ed Sweetman of Greensboro, N.C.

All had 296 for 72 holes.

Blackman and Bourne shot one-under-par 71, Sweetman 73.

It was the first time in the tournament's 30 years that a four-way tie had resulted.

By TERRY WILLIAMSON

Well, I lost an argument with an American Field Service student last Thursday afternoon at their exhibition of football.

It all started when I simply wanted to take a picture of the exchange students playing soccer. I just happened to make a statement that soccer sure did look interesting. That's when I made my mistake.

A pretty German girl by the name of Hannelore Schuhmachen approached me and said, "What do you mean soccer? You are just like people in California, and you don't know a football game when you see it!"

From natural instinct I felt that at least I must protect myself from the advance made by the young woman; so I told her that I played football in high school, and it looked nothing like the gyrations that the students were going through on our football field. Another mistake.

She promptly came back with, "How can you call what you play football? When I saw a game in California, they never even used the foot except when they were in trouble. You play rugby, not football."

This completely threw me for a loop. What could I say when she was right? Quickly I asked her which sport she liked best between the two just to change the subject until I came up with some answers, but she satisfied my feelings when she replied that rugby was the better of the two. She found the American game quite "exciting."

Well, we parted friends. She went away with the satisfaction of having taught a lost soul the facts about real football, and I went away with mixed emotions. But I had the satisfaction that we had an "exciting" game no matter what anybody calls it. By the way, was she right?

I was fortunate enough to meet another German boy later that night at the rodeo grounds. His name was Frank Thiemann (Teeman), and he happened to mention that he had never ridden a horse before; so, I asked him if I could arrange it, would he like to ride one? With the help of Mr. Vernon Stipe, there was one more happy exchange student that night.

Later that night, a Snyder girl, Patsy Rainwater, rode one of the bucking stock for the benefit of the exchange students. She came roaring out of the chute and rode the animal for the allotted eight seconds, and then she threw herself from the calf, taking a tough fall. She nonchalantly got up and walked from the arena under her own strength to the surprise of one of the students sitting behind me. From India and dressed in his native attire, he asked in a bewildered voice, "Do all Texas girls do that for sport?"

Well, that's the world we live in.

JAZY ON WAY TO VICTORY—Michel Jazy, left, of France, and Australia's Ron Clarke, No. 2, battle shoulder to shoulder during final laps of 5,000-meter run which Jazy won at World Games in Helsinki, Finland. Jazy's time of 13:27.6 bettered his own pending European record for the race by two seconds. Clarke finished third. (AP Wirephoto by cable from Helsinki)

DODGERS LOSE AGAIN!

Dick Stuart, Phillies Are Enjoying Red Hot Streak

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

When Dick Stuart joined the Philadelphia Phillies this season, he quickly brought up the subject of the Phillies' monumental collapse of 1964.

"Too bad I wasn't here last year," Stuart said. "They could have blamed the whole thing on me."

The way Stuart has been handling himself lately, the Phillies won't be able to blame anything on him this season — except perhaps their climb from the depths of the National League to a place near the top.

Stuart hit a two-run homer in the eighth inning Friday night, boosting the Phillies to a 4-3 triumph over Cincinnati.

And while Stuart has been enjoying a personal streak, the Phillies have won 17 of 23 games, moving from a June 8th level of eighth place and 9½ games out to fourth place and just 3½ games out.

The league-leading Los Angeles Dodgers, meanwhile, dropped their sixth game in their last eight, losing to Houston 4-3 Friday night. Pittsburgh whipped Milwaukee 8-3, St. Louis downed New York 6-3 and San Francisco blanked Chicago 4-0 in other NL games.

In the American League, Cleveland trampled Baltimore 8-0, Minnesota trimmed Kansas City 3-1, Los Angeles edged Chicago 4-3, Washington stopped Detroit 6-0 and New York annihilated Boston 16-2.

Stuart's homer, his 13th, off Gerry Arrigo followed a leadoff single by Rich Allen. The Reds took a 3-1 lead on Tony Perez' two-run homer in the sixth, but the Phillies got a run in the seventh when Alex Johnson reached and eventually came home as John Briggs grounded out.

Walt Bond singled with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth inning, driving in Joe Morgan with the winning run at Houston. The hit handed the Dodgers' Don Drysdale, 11-8, his fifth straight defeat. Ron Brand tied it for the Astros in the eighth with a two-run single.

The Pirates snapped a three-game losing streak as Roberto Clemente stroked three hits and Willie Stargell rapped two and drove in two runs. Don Cardwell brought his record to 7-2 with his sixth straight triumph. Ed Mathews drove in all of Milwaukee's runs with a homer and a single.

St. Louis' Bob Gibson scattered seven hits and struck out 13 Mets. Pitcher Frank Lary got two of the hits off Gibson and scored two of New York's runs. Ed Bressoud socked a two-run homer for St. Louis.

Juan Marichal posted his 13th victory, and sixth shutout, against six defeats, stopping the Cubs on five hits. Willie Mays drove in two runs with a single and a sacrifice fly while Tom Haller homered.

Jockey Is Killed In Fatal Race Accident

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Jockey David A. Rodriguez, 20, Azusa, Calif., was fatally injured Friday in a two-horse spill in the third race at Pikes Peak Meadows.

Rodriguez died in a Colorado Springs Hospital about four hours after his horse, Flower Tone, stumbled and fell over another horse, Samark, that had lost its footing.

Ron Marcle, the jockey aboard Samark suffered a hip injury but was reported in satisfactory condition at the same hospital.

Rodriguez rode the winner, Corlee, in the first race Friday at Pikes Peak Meadows. He competed last winter at Turf Paradise in Phoenix, Ariz.

AAU, NCAA Feud Was Started Long Ago

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The feud between the AAU and the NCAA for control of amateur athletics in this country is older than the track standouts currently caught in the middle.

The NCAA and AAU were battling before the birth of Gerry Lindgren, Washington State freshman who defied an NCAA ban, competed in the National AAU meet Saturday and won a place on the team that will meet Russia.

It boiled before Randy Matson was born. He is the world's first 70-foot thrower in the shot put but the AAU didn't pick him for the team because he didn't compete in its meet. Matson is a Texas A&M sophomore.

It was simmering long before Jim Ryun could walk. Ryun, the great young miler from Wichita, Kan., is in the odd but happy position of being immune from the NCAA ban because he has yet to enroll at the University of Kansas.

The longevity of the dispute was brought home by discovery of a yellow clipping of a column written about th efeud nearly a quarter of a century ago.

The column was written Jan. 19, 1941, by Gene Kemper, then sports editor of the Topeka, Kan., Daily Capital. Kemper is now publisher of the Alliance, Neb., Times-Herald. Walt Byers, now NCAA executive director, was two months from his 19th birthday when the column was written. It reads in many places like a recent column. Here are some excerpts:

"... I, like many another writer on a lean news day, often have sat down and filled out a column assignment with a tirade against the AAU. Any group which attempts or pretends to draw the line between an amateur and professional athlete in this age is a ready target...

"... The fact that the organization continues to live in the face of such adversity is ample proof to me that it has something we need. Much of the AAU's trouble set in when it broke with the NCAA over Olympic Games representation. This squabble, which still persists, forced the formation of the American Olympic Association which divides authority between the two warring groups... The compromise works fairly well. But the goal of every true sportsman is to weld the NCAA and AAU back together.

"Undoubtedly the AAU... derives a lot of prestige for its events from college-bred athletes...but seldom is it mentioned that the AAU is the savior of amateur boxing, swimming, girls' basketball and a dozen other sports that no other organization pretends to foster.

"As one of the Missouri Valley district AAU men told me recently, 'We have our pole cats the same as any other organization. But we also have a lot of fine, unselfish men who are giving graciously of their time and money to preserve an amateur program in this country. Our kids need it and the sooner the NCAA and AAU patch up their differences the greater program we will have.'"

Palmer Putts, Smokes Way To Tourney Lead

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — Arnold Palmer cuddled two new putters and a couple of packs of cigarettes today, and the field of 130 in the 1965 British Open Golf Championship got the message.

Arnie is smoking again, is putting well again, and is the man to beat when the 72-hole medal play starts next Wednesday.

The Latrobe, Pa., professional, who won the Open here four years ago, toured the 7,037-yard par-73 Royal Birkdale links Friday in an approximate 71 or 72, while "just skipping around."

Palmer is 5-1 in the betting, but Jack Nicklaus is the 7-2 favorite, and there is considerable support for defending champion Tony Lema of San Leandro, Calif., and Doug Sanders of Ojai, Calif., Kel Nagle of Australia and U.S. Open champion Gary Player of South Africa.

The top Americans were among 50 exempted from qualifying for the 72-hole championship next week. By tonight, 80 survivors out of 310 qualifiers playing 36 holes will make up the final field.

Buffs Take Win Over PL Sports

The Buffs exploded with 13 hits Friday night to down the Sports 14-2 in the only played Pony League game.

Richie Thompson and Randy Hardee limited the Sports to only one hit and two runs as they faced only 20 batters in the contest. Thompson came in the game in the fifth to relieve starting pitcher Randy Hardee.

Brad Morgan managed four hits in four trips to the plate and scored three times in the process. Tommy Chorn, Gary Bailey, and Thompson each collected two hits. Chorn had two doubles and Morgan received a triple. The Buffs got a total of six extra base hits out of the 13 hits they managed.

Gregg Rameriz got the only hit in the Sports cause. It was a single in the second inning. The Sports scored their two runs in the third inning after two men were out when the Buffs committed two errors.

Huge Tower Planned For Hemisfair

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Hemisfair officials are planning a $4.5-million concrete tower which they say will be visible from Austin, 80 miles distant.

They hope at least 1,000 citizens will kick in $1,000 apiece and the city of San Antonio will finance the rest.

The three-level, 750-foot structure on the exposition grounds near downtown is scheduled for completion by October of 1967.

Architect O'Neil Ford said he designed the tapering tower for beauty and function, not aiming for an altitude record, but it will be among the tallest structures in the world.

The Tokyo Tower is the loftiest at 1,092 feet. France's Eiffel Tower is 1,056 feet tall. The space needle built for the World's Fair in Seattle rises 600 feet.

The San Jacinto Monument near Houston stands 570 feet, 15 feet taller than the Washington Monument.

For $1, visitors will be able to ride to the observation deck and gift shop at the top level. A restaurant with a capacity of 350 is planned from the second level and a private "Club of the Americas" on the third level.

AMUSEMENT

AN ARTIST'S CONCEPT of the theme of Universal's hilarious color comedy, "Fluffy," has Tony Randall romantically inclined towards Shirley Jones, with the very happy lion, Fluffy, pleased about the whole thing. Starting Sunday, July 11, at the Palace Theatre, the picture was directed by Earl Bellamy and produced by Gordon Kay.

Chase, Race Have Their Film Eras

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The chase: Mack Sennett invented it, Mike Todd polished it, and movie makers are now employing it to fashion road-show attractions.

Road shows — reserved-seat attractions at advanced prices — have stemmed from historical epics, "Cleopatra," "How the West Was Won"; hit musicals, "West Side Story," "My Fair Lady," "The Sound of Music," and religious pageants, "The 10 Commandments," "Ben-Hur," "The Greatest Story Ever Told."

With the supply of such subjects dwindling, studios have turned to the original story material based on the chase. Mike Todd employed the device with excellent returns for his "Around the World in 80 Days." Stanley Kramer gave it a comic twist with "It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World."

This season has brought three road-show films which fill the screen with kinetic activity. The first was "Those Magnificent Men in Their Flying Machines," which appears to be safely in the hit category.

Now come "The Great Race" and "The Hallelujah Trail."

"The Great Race" will be compared with "Magnificent Men," since both concern speed duels in the early 1900s. But they are successful in different ways. The airplane epic is basically English in its humor; "The Great Race" is American: boisterous, uninhibited, often outrageously funny.

Director Blake Edwards has employed $11 million of the Warner Bros treasury and imagination in pursuing laughs for the film. Not all the gags score, and the pace sometimes seems almost too frenetic for human endurance. But interest never flags.

The leading figures are stereotypes—the demonic Professor Fate, attired in villainous black; the white-garbed Great Leslie; the newspaper woman-suffragette who tags along on their fanciful auto race from New York to Paris—they cross the Bering Strait via iceberg.

Fortunately, Edwards was able to secure the services of stars who could breathe life into these characters. Jack Lemmon creates a monumental villain, perhaps the best since Mack Swain menaced Charlie Chaplin. Tony Curtis lends style to the hero, and Natalie Wood is just dandy as the female interest.

"The Hallelujah Trail" attempts to satirize the Western, always a risky business. It succeeds only in part, providing moments of hilarity and occasional bellylaughs. But the story seems drawn out beyond its proper length, like a joke too long in the telling.

The situation is presented in mock-historic style: a wagon train of whisky is dispatched for the aid of Denver miners who face the peril of a parched winter. Converging on the train are opposing forces: a band of thirsty redskins; a hell-bent bunch of anti-liquor ladies; a cavalry force aimed at keeping the peace. They meet in a bloodless dust-storm battle that is the film's most inspired sequence.

The performers are led by Burt Lancaster and Lee Remick.

Talking Bird Back Home

AMARILLO (AP)—A talking macaw named Astronaut Glenn is home again after a one-day trip to College Station for surgery at Texas A&M's veterinary hospital.

The 10-year-old bird, mascot of a dormitory at Boys Ranch near here, was on his way back an hour after an apple-sized tumor was removed from his left wing Friday.

"He's fine," said Dr. William Banks, professor of veterinary Medicine and surgery. "We made a collar to protect the wing while it's healing."

Mrs. Claude Simmons, dorm mother, accompanied the macaw on the 1,350-mile round trip flight.

"He talks a lot," she said. "When we left the ranch, I put him in a pasteboard box, but he got out and sat on the back of the seat. He yelled 'Hello Pancho' to truck drivers we passed on the way to the airport."

Astronaut Glenn also sings and dances the twist and the frug, she said.

Golf, Sleep Are Taken In Rotation

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Retired Kent Sandidge of suburban Madison has developed a sporting system.

Sandidge plays golf one day, then sleeps the next day so he can play golf the next day, etc.

The schedule: golf on Monday, Wednesday and Friday; sleep on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday; church on Sunday.

"If anything ever happens to me," he says, "you can bet it'll happen on the golf course, bed or the front pew."

Monorail Rejected

BOSTON (AP) — Directors of the Massachusetts Bay Transport Authority have rejected a monorail proposal for an extension of rapid transit to the Massachusetts South Shore and have approved the use of a conventional two-rail system.

Soviet Youth In Protest Of Red Tape

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet youth newspaper, complaining of nightmarish government red tape, suggests that the country must be run by a "Ministry of Inconveniences."

"It is a pity the mounting inconveniences have not been investigated in a proper way," Ilya Zverev wrote in a biting satire on Soviet bureaucracy in Friday's edition of Komsomolskaya Pravda.

Zverev proposed that those responsible for idiotic regulations should be punished as criminals.

To illustrate his case, Zverev described his attempts to get two new lenses for his eyeglass frames. This is what he said happened:

He went first to the optical department at a drugstore. There a saleswoman told him she could sell him only one lens.

"Two lenses are strictly forbidden," she said. "Only two drugstores in Moscow have this right (to sell two lenses)."

So Zverev went to one of them, and this conversation ensued:

Salesman: "We cannot accept your frames because they are in a soft case. According to the rules they should be in a crush-proof case."

Zverev: "Why?"

Salesman: "To protect your glasses better."

Zverev: "Okay, put my frames in a crush-proof case."

Salesman: "But we are not given them."

Zverev: "Okay, then I'll buy such a case myself."

Salesman: "But we only have soft ones on sale."

The writer did not say whether he eventually got his lenses.

Weekend's Weather Is Mostly Good

By The Associated Press

Independence Day weekend began with ideal summer holiday weather conditions today over much of the nation.

The exceptions, mostly in the Rockies and the Ohio Valley, brought thundershowers with locally heavy rains, hail and high winds.

There were funnel clouds again, and a tornado touched down in open country 45 miles southwest of Toledo, Ohio.

Nashville, Tenn., had a half-inch of rain, hail and winds up to 61 miles an hour. Hopkinsville, Ky., had a six-hour rain of .88 inch.

Funnel clouds were spotted in Kentucky, south of Paducah, near Akron, Colo., and 45 miles northeast of Dalhart, Tex., during the early morning.

Dever was lashed with 48-mile winds and golf ball-size hail. Pueblo, Colo., caught a half-inch rain in one hour. La Junta, Colo., had 55-mile winds. Guymon, in Oklahoma's Panhandle, had more than an inch of rainfall.

Country Club Schedule Unchanged By Holiday

The Snyder Country Club schedule for the holiday weekend will be the same as usual.

The club is normally closed on Mondays, and will be closed on Monday, July 5. It will be open on Tuesday with the regular family night activities Tuesday evening.

Broadcasters, CATV Men Embroiled In Big Squabble

By JOSEPH E. MOHBAT

WASHINGTON (AP) — The battle lines have been clearly drawn in the growing war over that profitable but controversial broadcasting phenomenon, Community Antenna Television.

The principals: The National Association of Broadcasters and the National Community Television Association.

The umpires: The Federal Communications Commission and Congress.

The issue: Federal regulation of the burgeoning business of erecting giant antennas to pick from the air programs of television stations, then to feed them by wire into the homes of paying subscribers.

All told, some 1,700 community antenna television systems are operating in 48 states. The industry estimates they serve 1.6 million homes, or 5 million persons — about 3 per cent of the national viewing audience.

The NAB, representing conventional, on-the-air radio and television stations, sees CATV as a threat to what it calls "free television." It insists that the FCC play a strong regulatory role.

The NCTA and its interests contend their service is an ally of broadcasting and should be permitted to expand without regulatory hobbles.

CATV's critics contend it already has grown all out of proportion since it began 15 years ago as a service designed to bring television to remote communities where reception was poor or nonexistent via individuals' antennas.

Today some CATV operators use microwave relay systems to beam programs from 200 miles away and more. CATV franchises have been granted or applied for in such un-remote communities as New York City, Washington, Philadelphia, Clevelanc and Los Angeles.

But while the NAB sees it as a threat to "free television," the NCTA contends not one local television station has been forced out of business or adversely affected by CATV.

The FCC in April acted to protect local television stations from competition by CATV. It tentatively asserted jurisdiction over all CATV systems — those using cables only as well as those using the FCC guarded airwaves with their microwave relay systems.

But while indicating plans to exercise regulatory authority over CATV, the FCC asked Congress for help in clarifying the extent of its jurisdiction. Thus hearings have been under way in the House Communications subcommittee headed by Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark.

The NCTA and its president, former FCC Commissioner Frederick W. Ford, not only urged Congress to diluate the FCC's authority over CATV but demanded a wholesale FCC investigation of whether cable television really does any harm to local television stations.

But Vincent T. Wasilewski, president of the NAB, argued:

"The unrestrained expansion of CATV could easily lead to the destruction of free broadcasting. At its ultimate, the issue could well be whether service will be limited to programs originated in a handful of large cities and distributed by wire to those who can afford to pay the charges."

Wasilewski said Congress should make it clear that CATV is a supplementary method of transmitting television programs. CATV, he said, should be forbidden to originate programs of any kind — including time and weather service. CATV operators should be required by law to have the consent of stations for the use of their signals, Wasilewski said.

Wasilewski and the NAB heartily endorsed the FCC's ruling that CATV systems must carry local television stations but also must not duplicate any station's programs for 15 days before and after that station uses them.

Ford and the NCTA contended that the FCC's ruling was based on biased and incomplete information.

Far from needing protection from CATV, Ford said, television stations may find their incomes rising with the help of CATV. Between 1957 and 1963, Ford told the subcommittee, broadcasting income increased from $160 million to $343.2 million. In that same period, only 15 new television stations began operating while the number of CATV systems tripled, Ford said.

The FCC ruling that CATV system "black out" programs for 15 days before and after their broadcast would impose unfair burdens on the cable systems, Ford said. And he added it could serve to drive the CATV operators into originating their own programs.

Ford said the FCC should decide on a case by case basis whether the 15-day rule should apply in the fringe areas of a station's reception.

Another area of controversy between the two opponents is the question of copyright. The Harris subcommittee is considering a bill that would require CATV operators to pay for the use of the programs they carry.

While the House group continued its study of the CATV problem, the NAB's television board proposed even greater FCC control over cable television. CATV, is said, should be prohibited in communities where three television stations are operating and there is the prospect of a new ultra-high frequency station being established.

Co-Star Is Sold On Dick Van Dyke

By MARY TYLER MOORE

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — One of the questions I'm asked most often is what is it like to work with Dick Van Dyke.

I have a feeling people don't believe what I tell them because it sounds too good to be true.

I just can't say that offstage, Dick Van Dyke is moody. Or temperamental. Or hard to get along with. I'm not sure he knows what those words mean.

The truth is that Dick doesn't lose his temper. He doesn't sulk. He doesn't throw his weight around.

He's so nice, in our hearts we know we don't deserve him.

Someone asked Dick once if he could ever be married to me in real life. And he answered very honestly — he said no. To kid him, I asked what was the matter with me. Dick said, "I'm a marshmallow type. I'm not forceful enough for you."

I had to think that over. If Dick is a marshmallow type, it's over a steel core. He's one of the strongest men I've ever known. But he's quietly strong. (I probably need a loudly strong type.)

There are quite a few loud, strong types working to put "the Dick Van Dyke Show" together. We all sit around tossing in ideas, adding bits of action to the scripts as we go along. There's a lot of joking and laughing and general fooling around.

Dick will be in the middle of it all. But he sits in the middle — he doesn't stand up and take center stage.

If we're working out a camera move that doesn't concern him, Dick may wander off and play the stage piano. You know what he usually plays? Johann Sebastian Bach.

That's because he's learning to play the harpsichord and he practices whenever he can. I imagine we're the only show in Hollywood that rehearses to Bach.

Dick does live up to his reputation as a funny, funny man. The great thing about working with him is that he does more hilarious things offstage than we ever have time for on camera.

I've said this before and I'll keep on saying it. Dick is a born artist. He's so talented at things he's never had formal training for — dancing, playing the piano, juggling.

He makes it look as though things are easy for him. And because of this, he makes things easy for all of us who work with him. Who could ask for anything more?

Competition For Industry Stirs Cities To Improve

By J. W. DAVIS

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — How well are the Boy Scouts doing in town? How about the Garden Club?

How did the annual Community Chest drive make out?

Are the schools good, and getting better?

How long does it take to get into the country club?

The right answers to these questions could have a considerable bearing on whether a city lands a valuable new industry. Of course, there are more obvious factors, such as the prospects for profitmaking raw materials, labor supply and nearness to markets.

More and more, in modern technology, crucial attention is being paid to the presence of universities with their research facilities, and their scholarly atmosphere.

Big reasons or small, all of them fuel an fierce nation-wide contest that is growing keener by the day.

It's a contest in which, in order to attract new industries, communities all over the country are becoming more attractive themselves.

It could be a coast-to-coast face-lifting, with American firms spending a record $51.7 billion this year on new facilities.

If a sum that size is hard to grasp, consider these figures from the Chamber of Commerce of the United States:

One hundred new factory workers will bring to a town 359 more people, 91 more school children, $710,000 more personal income per year, $331,000 more retail sales and $229,000 more bank deposits.

Here, at the Durham apex of North Carolina's Research Triangle, is a good spot to observe what is happening in the race for modern industry.

For example, this area just landed a $15-million plant at which the International Business Machines Corp. will employ 1,000 skilled workers and engineers.

Six months of secret inspections in scores of communities were behind IBM's decision to locate. IBM advance agents even checked on whether it was pleasant to shop in Durham, Raleigh and Chapel Hill, the three points of the research triangle.

Earlier this year, the federal government chose this area for its $25-million research center that will study the effect on man of environmental contamination of air, food, milk and water.

The Environmental Health Center had been sought by more than 40 localities in nine states. Politics undoubtedly was a factor in location but the nearness of three universities, with their research facilities, played a heavy role.

The North Carolina triangle has at its points the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Duke at Durham and North Carolina State College at Raleigh.

Through the Research Triangle Foundation and its adjuncts, the Research Triangle Institute and the Research Triangle Park, North Carolina woos new industry and research centers. Delegations from 40 areas in the United States have visited the triangle to learn how it operates.

Dr. Louis R. Wilson of the University of North Carolina explains the triangle this way:

"Here is an example of an idea originating in academic and industrial centers, in which scientific attainment, expert skill, and financial, industrial, and political leadership find themselves working together in significant accomplishment."

The pull that university locations have for technically based industry was underlined in a Washington interview with Dr. Carl Madden, director of the Economic Research Department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

"It is quite important to please the scientists and research people in choosing locations," he said. "I know of one major computer research facility that was located entirely because the scientists thought it was the place they would most likely want to live.

"These brilliant, creative people are attracted to, for instance, Route 128 in Massachusetts, with the facilities of Harvard and M.I.T. There is the same situation in California.

"Other examples are the Research Triangle area in North Carolina, Cape Kennedy in Florida, and the Huntsville area in Alabama, around the University of Texas, the Houston Space Center. Petroleum men like to be near New Orleans, Baton Rouge and Tulane University."

The type of community being sought for new plants is indicated by the questions raised by site-hunting corporations. George R. Herbert, president of the Research Triangle Institute, noted the following queries by one corporate team visiting North Carolina:

— What were the monetary goals of the united Givers Fund, or its counterpart, over the past five years? What percentage of success was attained?

— Is the League of Women Voters active?

— What is the national ranking of the local Boy Scout Council?

— What is the average attendance at the Rotary Club?

— What religious denominations are represented?

— What is the annual budget of the local Chamber of Commerce?

— Is the town a good place in which to bring up a family?

That's the really important social question. When employe feel that the children have a healthy place to grow up — good schools. Plenty of opportunity for the right kind of play safe streets, good health record, rght outlook on life — they feel little inclination to move on.

MRS. NORMAN KEITH TREPKE

Miss Johnston, Mr. Trepke Repeat Double Ring Vows

The Dunn Baptist Church was the setting for the marriage of Charlene Johnston of Dunn and Norman Keith Trepke of Lakewood, Colo. on June 26th at 8 p.m.

Rev. Shelby Jones officiated. The church decor consisted of white candelebra with white tapers arranged in an arch with a greenery background using bursts of emerald, complimented by two arrangements of white gladiolus and white stock in white wicker baskets.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Johnston of Dunn, and Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Strauss of Denver, Colorado.

Mrs. O. N. Laster presented traditional organ music and Mrs. Gerald Crawford, sang "Wedding Prayer" and "Whither Thou Goest." Tom Winter of Hermleigh and Thomas Carl Echols of Snyder seated guests.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of lace and silk organza over taffeta, designed with scalloped neckline and long tapered sleeves. Her shoulder length veil of tulle fell from an beaded crown. She wore a blue garter belonging to her sister, a six pence in her shoe for good luck belonging to Mary Patterson, and something new, a Bible.

She carried a cascading arrangement of stephanotis and greenery atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Bobby Staton of Snyder attended her sister as matron of honor. She wore an ice blue linen sheath, a pill box hat of net and flowers and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Tammy Staton and Kim Harlin of Snyder were flower girls. They were dressed in ice blue pima broadcloth with headpieces of circles of blue net and flowers.

Teddy and David Trepke lighted candles.

Bobby Staton of Snyder was best man.

A reception was held at the Dunn community center. The table was laid with a white lace cloth over blue and held a centerpiece of the bridal bouquet flanked by candles. Janet Krueger presided at the three tiered cake topped by wedding bells. Helen Proctor poured punch, and Mary Patterson registered guests.

For her wedding trip to points in Colorado, the bride chose a teal blue suit, white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The couple will make their home in Denver, Colo. or Cheyenne, Wyoming where the groom will manage a Goodyear Store.

Creamed Chicken

¼ cup butter
¼ cup chopped green pepper
6 tablespoons flour
1 cup chicken stock
1 cup milk
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
¼ cup medium sherry
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
Salt and pepper to taste
2 cups diced cooked chicken
¼ cup chopped pimiento

In a heavy saucepan over low heat, melt the butter. Add green pepper; cook gently about 5 minutes. Stir in flour; add chicken stock and milk; cook and stir constantly until boiling and thickened. Remove from heat. Mix a little of the sauce with the egg yolks; stir back into remaining sauce. Stir in sherry, nutmeg, salt and pepper; return to low heat and cook and stir for a few minutes. Add chicken and pimiento; reheat gently. Serve in tart or patty shells; sprinkle with paprika.

Make pastry baking "easy as pie" for a bride with a clever, inexpensive shower gift of pastry cloth, pastry cutter and rolling pin. New homemakers appreciate these multiple-use items.

Library Notes

With the summer months, the nation becomes a continent on wheels and Scurry Countians join the happy throng. The Scurry County Library can be of help to all in making vacation plans, whether the plan is to include a few days of relaxation in some secluded spot, a tour of the continental United States, or several weeks spent abroad.

The magic vacation formula is the combination of frugality and luxury. Frugality because for the average person it is necessary, and luxury because everyone deserves and needs it on a vacation. Travel, whether on native soil or foreign, has reached astronomical proportions and travelers include every income group. Holidays with pay have sent families and individuals journeying by car, by bus, by train, by ship and by plane. Careful planning so as to get the most from a vacation trip is most essential.

Among books in the library that can be of help is "Better Vacations for Your Money," by Michael Frome. Frome gives more than 15 varied family vacations, including trips to the North, South, East, Midwest, Far West and the Northwest, along with itineraries and suggested budgets. The author gives specific information on hotels, motels, camping, automobile travel, tolls and sightseeing trips in all areas. This book can be a great aid in planning a vacation.

For the family vacation, Edwin Kiester, Jr., has compiled a helpful guide, "How and Where to Vacation With Children and Enjoy It." The author gives tips on every aspect of travel in the United States with children from two to teen-age. He lists more than 40 of the best places, both usual and unusual, which make unique and pleasant vacations for the whole family. Kiester insists that children and happy vacations do go together.

Some of the most spectacular scenery on the face of the earth is preserved in national parks. Nelson Beecher Keyes is author of a book, "America's National Parks," and gives unique features of 29 parks, including one in the Virgin Islands as well as the scenic parks of Canada. For the family planning their first trip to one or more of these parks, Keyes' book will be a fine preview of things to come.

Hawaii, the newest state, attracts many vacationers including Scurry Countians. To enjoy the island vacation fully, Bob Krauss' travel guide to Hawaii is an indespensable companion for every traveler who wants the best from an Hawaiian vacation. The author gives interesting facts about the Islands of Oahu, Kauai, Hawaii, Maui, Molokai and Lanai. He outlines a 7-day tour, and tells how to get there and what it costs; how to dress; explains the term 'going native'; and gives rates of hotels and restaurants in the luxury, medium and inexpensive price ranges. For an unforgettable Hawaiian holiday, this is a perfect travel guide.

For those daring individuals who plan a vacation without family or a close friend accompanying them, Kate Aitken has written "Travel Alone and Love It." More individuals travel alone since conducted tours in all major cities and vacation resorts make it possible for the traveler to see more in the shortest time, and with a minimum of expense and worry. Mrs. Aitken's book offers practical suggestions that cover all aspects of travel throughout the world. The author is an experienced world traveler. She discusses such pertinent topics as how to use a travel agency; how to carry your money; how to meet people; when and where to go; how to pack and what to wear, and how much and whom to tip.

Because touring is more than sightseeing, Robert Root has written a new kind of travel guide—a guidebook for Americans going abroad. His book, "How to Make Friends Abroad," will acquaint the would - be traveler in advance with the pro and con views of Americans that seem to be evident in many foreign countries. Root gives what he terms 'ten commandments for the American abroad.' The author is a world traveler with many years of experience.

The late John F. Kennedy was an enthusiastic admirer of the land that he loved. A book, "America the Beautiful," written in the words of the late president, has been presented as a tribute to him. This book is now in the library. Its pages are beautifully illustrated and can be an inspiration to anyone planning to tour in the U.S. this summer. The statement in the late president's own words, "Our greatness today rests in part on this gift of geography that is the United States," is typical of his many verbal expressions of admiration for this vast and varying landscape. This book can inspire Americans to see their land, not only in the visual sense, but with heart and mind. It can afford real pleasure to the armchair traveler as well.

Since some local citizens may not be planning long vacation treks this summer, the library invites them to travel anywhere and everywhere by book — there's no price tag. A new series of books, "The World and Its Peoples," is being added to the library. These books are colorful and more exciting than most, and are the result of an international cooperative effort of American and European publishers. The library now has descriptive books of France, Spain, Portugal, Andorra, Gibraltar, the United Kingdom, U.S.S.R., Italy, Japan, Brazil, China and Greece. Other books of the series will be added as they become available.

A Scurry County Library card is the only prerequisite to help in travel planning, or to travel by book — the card is free to all Scurry Countians for the asking.

Meat Loaf With Herb Seasoning

Instead of preparing meat loaf in the usual way, turn this favorite beef dish into a taste sensation. Fill the center of the meat loaf with herb - seasoned stuffing along with sauteed mushrooms and hard - cooked eggs. The perfect blend of flavors in the stuffing gives the meat loaf a mouth - watering aroma while it is baking.

HERB-STUFFED MEAT LOAF

½ pound mushrooms, sliced
1 medium onion, minced
½ cup butter or margarine
1 teaspoon bottled lemon juice
1 package herb-seasoned stuffing
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup snipped parsley
¾ to 1 cup boiling water
2 eggs, beaten
2 pounds ground beef
1 teaspoon seasoned salt
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
2 hard-cooked eggs

Saute sliced mushrooms and onions in butter until tender. Add lemon juice, 2 cups herb-seasoned stuffing, pepper and parsley. Add enough boiling water so that mixture is moist.

Combine beaten eggs with the beef. Add seasoned salt, mustard and remaining stuffing to meat mixture. Pack half of meat mixture into a buttered 10"x5"x3" loaf pan; spoon herb-seasoned stuffing mixture on top, press 2 whole hard-cooked eggs into stuffing, top with rest of meat mixture. Bake in 400 degrees F. oven for about 1 hour and 15 minutes. During last 15 minutes of baking garnish top of meat loaf with onion rings. Serves 8.

Handy Take-Along For Picnics

A big helper for any picnic is a roll of paper towels. Dampened, they'll clean the picnic table. Dry, they are double thickness placemats and napkins.

After the meal, paper towels again wipe the table as well as the cooking utensils. They help wash and dry dishes.

Wrapped around utensils, a towel discourages rattles as you travel. Placed between breakable dishes, they act as a protective cushion.

Best of all, paper towels are thrown away after use, with no extra cleaning or laundering tasks after picnic fun.

Serve Pancake Sundaes as a surprise dessert. Top pancakes with scoops of vanille ice cream. Then spoon sliced, sweetened strawberries or canned cherry or blueberry pie filling over the ice cream.

MRS. HAL RAYMOND SNIDER

FIVE GENERATIONS were present when this group of ladies got together recently at the home of Mrs. A. D. Erwin. Seated are Mrs. Donald Brewer, her daughter, Rebecca, and Mrs. Rose Coleman, 96, the great-great-grandmother. Standing is Mrs. Dan Ritter of Alpine, grandmother, and Mrs. A. D. Erwin, great-grandmother.

Hobo Lunch

When the neighborhood kindergarten set gets summertime wanderlust, send them off to explore the back yard with a hobo lunch.

Wrap a small sandwich and carrot or celery sticks in wax paper. Place in an opened dinner napkin and tie the four corners of the napkin together "hobo fashion." A peppermint stick inserted through the knot becomes dessert when its duty as carrier is finished.

Ever add a pinch of ground allspice to buttered cooked snap beans? This flavor combination is excellent with lamb.

Miss Smith, Mr. Snider Wed In Hermleigh Baptist Church

Mr. Bob Creswell officiated at double ring services held June 29th at 7:30 o'clock in the First Baptist Church of Hermleigh uniting Sherry Diane Smith and Hal Raymond Snider in marriage.

Parents of the couple are Mr. Jake Smith, 3706 Austin Avenue and Mrs. W. B. (Buddy) Shaw of 101 Chestnut Street.

Brass candelabras, baskets of white gladiolus and mums, and palms were used in the church decor.

Mrs. W. E. McMillan, soloist, sang "Whither Thou Goest," and "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Mrs. Joe Culp, organist.

Mr. Smith presented his daughter in marriage. She wore a full length wedding gown of white peau de soie featuring a scooped neckline, bell skirt and over skirt of crystal peau with Schiffi embroidery. The over skirt was brought together in the back and accented by three large cabbage roses.

She carried a cresent arrangement of white feathered mums.

Delores Smith attended her sister as maid of honor. She wore a pink lace dress and carried a colonial nosegay of pink carnations. James Crosson was best man.

The Snyder Savings and Loan community room was the scene of a reception. The lace covered table was centered with a memory candle on a crystal plate surrounded by pom poms and greenery. Crystal and silver were used in appointments, and complimented the three tiered wedding cake. Mrs. W. E. McMillan, Mrs. Prentice Smith and Mrs. Benerd Gleastine presided.

Debra Smith, sister of the bride, registered guests.

The couple will live in Snyder.

All The Uglys Aren't American

THE UGLY RUSSIAN. By Victor Lasky.

The author's thesis is that we've had plenty of reports of American fizzles and frustrations in dealing with the emerging nations, but very little information on the floundering ineptness which the Russians have demonstrated in the same countries.

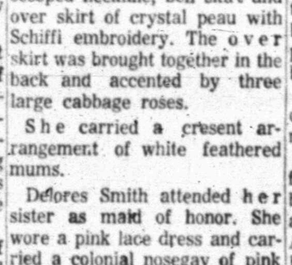
So he sets himself the task of showing that the Soviets abroad have feet of clay, and that "Ivan is not 10 feet tall."

He cites instances in which Afro-Asians have found the Russians to be ignorant of local conditions; poor linguists; too clannish; filled with racial prejudices; arrogant, slow to keep their promises and stingy at paying local labor. He gives examples of foolish economic aid, such as shipping snowplows to the tropics; examples of the Soviets buying up a nation's exports, and then undercutting that nation on the world market.

One of his chapters, on the difficulties of African students in Moscow, expands on a subject already familiar.

The latter part of the book departs from Lasky's announced pattern. The concluding chapters are mainly a recapitulation of the recent turmoil in Africa, centering around Lumumba, Tshombe, Kenyatta and others; and the political cross-currents in India, Pakistan and Tibet. The effect here is to show that Russia and China have been having just as much trouble as the West, which is hardly a new observation.

Americans who have winced when their countrymen sometimes landed in hot water overseas can take some comfort from Laskey's examples of Russian blunders. But his book would have been more effective if it had gone deeper and had offered more documentation.



Mrs. Shelby Graham, Snyder Day Camp Director, reports a very successful Day Camp the week of June 21-25. The average attendance each day was 115.

Besides the fun and adventure in the out-of-doors, the girls and leaders tried many new skills and recipes for cook-outs.

On Parent's Nite 154 guests visited Camp Ila Ru. Several West Texas Council staff members visited during the week, also.

Our first thanks go to the leaders and assistants who spent many hours training for their parts in this Day Camp. The leaders were: Venita Terral, Dorothy Harder, Ann Martin, Jean Campbell, Genell Buchanan, Lois Bartels, and Helen Brock. Assistant leaders were: Marylin Weaver, Rhoda Board, Mary Smith (who was also nurse), Anna Greer, Mary Lou Gardner, Allie Beth Beauchamp, and Lou Neves. These leaders were trained during the spring by Fane Downs, District Adviser, from Abilene.

Special thanks go to Mr. Melvin Newton for the use of our splendid camp site;

To the Snyder Daily News and Mrs. Pope for publicity;

To Mrs. Redwine, for taking charge of registrations;

To Mr. Melvin Lee for milk delivery;

To Snyder Schools, for use of school busses;

To the Boy Scouts from Mr. Billy Campbell's Troop, who helped with the Cub Scout Unit. These boys were Johnny McBeth, David Tullis, Danny Chastain, and Hollis Campbell;

To Cadette Troop No. 325 (Mrs. Redwine), who helped with the Papoose Unit. These girls were Gayle Bekcham, Dee Ann Book, Marsha McGlaun, Dana Thompson, Sheri McGlaun, Jeannine Thompson.

Many thanks for a fine job to Gerri Graham, director, and to Betty Menges, business manager!

Cadette Troop No. 325 met Monday, June 28th, for a business meeting. Nita Brewer, Vice President presided. The girls decided to entertain our two intrnational guests from Colombia, Cecilia Davila and Carmen Lara, with an informal luncheon on July 1st. Chere Reneau was hostess for this. Kathy Dodson from Abilene was also present; Cecilia is Kathy's house guest while she is visiting in Abilene.

Two girls from Troop 325, Patty Smyth and Paula Redwine, have just returned from Camp Timberlake on Eagle Mountain Lake, where they attended a Canoeing course for two weeks. Paula was patrol leader and Patty was assistant patrol leader during the session.

Gardener's Corner

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

YOU WON'T be able to get them before fall, but if you fancy the newest of the fine roses you can be thinking about the 1966 All-America Rose Selections recently announced.

Here they are, after two years of intensive tests in 23 official trial gardens across the nation:

Matterhorn, a tall, vigorous, hybrid white tea.

American Heritage, ivory-yellow hybrid tea, with tall growth.

Apricot Nectar, an apricot-color fragrant floribunda.

Matterhorn is the first white hybrid tea to win the honor in six years. It has five-inch blooms on long stems.

American Heritage ranges from ivory - yellow buds to long-stemmed, pale - canary - yellow blooms with scarlet tints at maturity.

Apricot Nectar is a direct descendant of the lovely Spartan. It is free - flowering and has an old rose fragrance. The plant is about three feet tall and bushy.

The judges, faced with a tough decision, selected all three roses for the awards.

An important consideration is foliage, which in Matterhorn is bright green, in Apricot Nectar a striking dark green, and in American Heritage, a two - tone bronze-green.

Hybridist E. S. Boerner of Jackson & Perkins, who developed Apricot Nectar, deserves special mention. It is his 11th AAS success — of the 18 J&P roses to win this coveted honor since 1940. Nine of Boerner's winners have been floribundas.

We received a letter from Mrs. John L. Andrew of Stamford, Conn., who reported that while wintering in South Carolina she read about specific dates there for cutting tops from wild onions so they would bleed to death. She checked further and learned that in Connecticut such dates were May 6-7 and June 7-8.

She said, "It would be a kindness to pass this information on," which I am doing for gardeners bothered by wild onions. Your county agricultural agent may be able to help you.

We had not known about this treatment and made some inquiries. The expert we asked had not heard about this either, but he said that actually, if you cut the tops of the onions off during the spring you will be removing the seed-stalk and in effect this might prevent the development of seed. The seed is one of the important ways that this weed is spread.

Another fairly effective way to control the weed is application of a herbicide, such as 2, 4-D.

If the wild onions grow in a small area, dig them out but do it before the small bulblets form or your task will be multiplied.

Saute With Butter

Butter has a definite talent for carrying subtle flavors all through a dish. That's why so many good recipes begin with the cook gently sauteeing bits of onion, green pepper or other seasoning vegetables in butter.

If you're looking for a real, old-fashioned shortcake recipe, simply add two tablespoons of sugar to a biscuit recipe based on two cups of enriched flour. For extra flavor and color, substitute butter or margarine for the shortening. Serve with the fruit of the season — strawberries, raspberries or peaches.

Since cotton fabrics are free of static, they do not cling.

Return To Agriculture Puts Cuba In A Better Position

By DANIEL HARKER

HAVANA (AP) — Cuba is beginning to enjoy a moderate economic upswing, due mainly to increasing agricultural production.

It has been under a strict food and consumer goods rationing since 1961 when agricultural and industrial production started dropping as a consequence of the nationalization program of the revolutionary government and the inexperience of the young revolutionaries and Communists in running a country.

As soon as the Communists took firm control of the revolution they proceeded to change the bases of the economy from agriculture to heavy industry following the orientation of such ardent Marxists as Ernesto Guevara. In 1961 Guevara undertook an ambitious industrialization program destined to give Cuba a heavy industry within five years.

Agriculture was neglected. Under the now publicly acknowledged "wrong impression that sugar was the tie that kept us under American economic control" as Fidel Castro and Guevara have explained, many cane fields were razed amid efforts to diversify agricultural production.

As a result the production of sugar and food fell sharply. The ambitious industrialization plan bogged down from the beginning and consumer goods vanished from the market.

In several cases factories were built in places lacking adequate water and power or enough manpower.

In other cases, factories were built for products which could be imported more cheaply. Raw materials for the factory were as expensive as the finished imported product.

There was also a woeful shortage of technicians and skilled manpower.

The government now says that the main mistake was "to have tried to mechanically copy from the experience of other Socialist countries."

In agriculture the process of confiscation of all farms larger than 130 acres, accomplished at maximum speed between 1961 and 1963, cut the production of food.

Productive and well run private farms were turned to state administrators without experience.

Most of the livestock was killed including thousands of milk producers. The resulting food shortage, especially of meat, milk and grains, just now is being eased.

In 1963, the food and consumer goods shortage reached critical proportions and sugar production fell to 3.8 million tons.

Castro acknowledged that the industrialization program had failed and proclaimed that agriculture was still the economy's main base.

Lands that the government had taken over were divided into state farms of manageable size, which at the same time were consolidated in regional areas producing a determined product.

New administrators trained in technical schools were appointed.

To increase milk and meat, new grazing lands were planted, and cattle were imported from Canada.

The industrialization program lured thousands of workers from the fields. This resulted in an acute manpower shortage at harvest time.

To help ease the shortage the government launched a mechanization drive with Soviet-made machinery, especially in the sugar cane harvest.

Women also have helped in the harvesting of many crops such as tomatoes and other vegetables and cotton.

The most important result has been the high sugar production reached this year, 6 million tons. Sugar supplies 85 per cent of Cuba's hard currency. A third of the crop will go to the Soviet Union as payment for oil, industrial equipment and raw materials. Other Communist countries including China will buy at least another third leaving almost two million tons to be sold in the world market. Although world market prices are low, this will enable Cuba to have dollars to import necessary transportation, industrial and agricultural equipment.

The expected increase in the sugar exports will help to ease the balance of payments deficit, set at $290 million for 1964.

The tobacco crop this year is also expected to increase. The government refuses to supply any details claiming any information is classified.

Staple food crops such as bananas, black beans, rice and vegetables were higher in 1964 than in past years. There have been bumper fruit crops in the last of 1964 and the beginning of 1965, specially citrus. For the first time in three years fruits are being sold freely, without a ration card, and are also being exported to Communist countries.

Although meat and milk are still rationed in most of the country, in several areas milk is sold freely and the meat ration has been increased.

Castro announced that 3,200 head of cattle were exported recently to Italy. By official figures, output of eggs has increased from 30 million per month in 1964 to 90 million, enabling the government to lift the rationing of eggs for the first time since 1961. Castro reports eggs are being exported to Europe.

After Castro gave priority once again to agriculture, heavy industry, including plans for a steel mill, was scrapped and a set of industrial priorities was determined.

The production of consumer goods received top priority followed by the products complementary to the agriculture, and fertilizers. There has been a shortage of almost every kind of consumer goods, from shoes and clothes to electrical appliances.

The government refuses to supply any statistics on over-all industrial production, and generally any economic statistics are hard to come by in Havana. However it is reported that in 1964 production of shoes rose 8 per cent over 1963, radios 16 per cent, tires 35 per cent, soap 23 per cent and clothes 30 per cent.

Production of shoes and clothes is still far short of needs and according to reliable sources it will remain so for several years to come.

But a top government official in the Economic Planning Office says that for the first time since 1961 the downward trend in the economy is being checked and there are signs of a recovery.

"We hit bottom in 1963 and we think that from now on we will be going up" this official asserts.

Cotton's strength equals steel.

Junior Editors Quiz on HANDKERCHIEFS

QUESTION: Is it true that only wealthy people used handkerchiefs in the old days?

• • •

ANSWER: To keep the head cool and protect the hair from dirt and dust, women have used some kind of head covering since early times. In the Middle Ages, women often wore a kind of white cloth or scarf around the head called a wimple, pictures of which we show. In France, the wimple was called "couvrechef" meaning something covering the head. From this word came the English "kerchief"—for even then, it seems, the French were taking the lead in the fashion world. Kerchiefs were made of fine and expensive material. As womens' clothes became more elegant, special kerchiefs were used to wipe the face in order to keep it continually clean. Such use of pieces of cloth had come from Greek and Roman days, but by Mediaeval times this had become widespread among fashionable people. Becoming part of the costume, these kerchiefs were highly embroidered, made of the finest materials and often edged with valuable lace. Because they were so expensive, only wealthy people could afford to have them. As our pictures show, the fashion came of holding these valuable kerchiefs in the hand—so what more natural than that they come to be handkerchiefs? After Renaisannce days the use of handkerchiefs became more general.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Womens' fashions in the past featured brilliant colors—which is still true of feminine costumes of today. Put some bright color over the picture, including the background, but leave the wimples and the handkerchiefs white. 7-3

INDEPENDENCE

... that good old American brand. A "way-of-life" that was signed into being, July 4th, nearly two hundred years ago. Ah, for that memorable day, when in the course of human events... Liberty Was Born. Then let us, on this Independence Day, rededicate ourselves to this "hope-of-the-world-way"... this way of life that guarantees for all men, Freedom, Equality and Justice. Give us an unyielding faith and supply us with genius that cannot err. Endow us with vital religious convictions to pilot our inherited ship of state. Let us always remember that the source of our freedom is The Book. Then Americans, don't forget to remember that, Music Was Born When Liberty Spoke. It is our Independence Day!!!
