Mailing Of Packages To POWs Due Okay

Hanoi Makes Move To Ease Criticism

WASHINGTON (AP) — North Vietnam apparently is planning to allow for the first time a regular mailing of packages to U.S. prisoners of war from their families, at a rate of one package to each POW every two months.

In reporting this, government officials here said U.S. postal arrangements have been made to receive the packages from next of kin for shipment to Hanoi. They assume the first month for the regular mailings will be next February.

DEAD OR ALIVE

Speculation here is that Hanoi is making this move as part of an effort to allay international criticism. It recently has started providing some families with information on whether men believed held are dead or alive.

At the same time, U.S. officials are calling for the North Vietnamese to do much more to meet Geneva Convention terms for prisoner of war treatment.

In an unusual action, U.S. envoy Philip D. Habib handed enemy negotiators in Paris Tuesday a list of 1,406 American servicemen missing in action in Southeast Asia and called on the North Vietnamese to "indicate which men are prisoners and those whom you know to be dead."

MOST ARE FLIERS

Washington information indicates more than 400 are held captive. Most are fliers downed during the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

Despite the Geneva Convention stipulation that a prisoner list should be supplied, Hanoi has not done so to date. Nor has it allowed outside inspection of prisoner camps or regular mail.

U.S. officials said two American anti-war activists who recently returned from Hanoi reported that families of prisoners could send a letter a month and a package of less than six pounds every other month.

The mail is supposed to be addressed to the prisoner by name and serial number, care of "Camp of Detention for U.S. Pilots Captured in the Democratic Republic of Viet-Nam, Hanoi, DRVN," with the notation "Via Mosco".

STILL UNKNOWN

Letters just arrived from some of the prisoners indicates they have been given similar information, the officials said.

Previously, Hanoi had allowed in packages for the prisoners only three times, they said: Christmas 1968, July 1969 and Christmas 1969. The North Vietnamese have permitted families to send non-perishable foods, medicines and personal articles.

Letters to the men have been delivered intermittently.

Still unknown here is the prospect on letters from the prisoners. The number of letters arriving in this country has climbed in recent weeks, but some men known to be captives have yet to be heard from by mail.

Midland Airman Dies In Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department Tuesday announced that 22 more Americans had died in Vietnam fighting.

They included one Texan: Navy PO 2.C. David L. Reck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Reck, 312 First St., Phillips.

Died not as a result of hostile action: Air Force Airman 1.C. Glynn B. Holley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry B. Holley, 1310 East Ohio Ave., Midland.

Brothers-In-Law Killed In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas police continued to search for possible links between the slayings of two Mexican-American brothers-in-law late Tuesday.

Joe Garza Rodriquez, 19, of Dallas was shot to death at his home Monday as he answered a knock at the door. His wife told police two bullets ripped through the door, hitting him in the chest. She said she got a look at two Mexican-American men as they fled from the scene.

Nixons Plan To Register In California

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Declaring that he arrived with a clean briefcase, President Nixon says he'll make but one public appearance while in California—to register as a local voter.

Leaving the slush and snow of Washington, Nixon flew here Tuesday with wife, Pat, and daughter, Tricia, for a holiday stay of a couple of weeks at their seaside home.

After Air Force One set down at El Toro Marine Air Station, Nixon told a welcoming crowd of several thousand:

"While we are here we'll only participate in one public event. The three of us are going to register as voters in California, our home state."

In 1968, Nixon, his wife and Tricia cast absentee ballots as registered voters in New York. They have not voted since.

Having sold his Manhattan apartment, Nixon had a choice between establishing his voting residence here or in Key Biscayen, Fla., where he owns two adjoining houses. As had been expected, he has tipped the balance in favor of his native California.

The President postponed the start of his holiday stay for four days and remained in Washington to settle major budget decisions. However, he said last week that some last minute budget matters would be handled here.

Nixon also brought with him about a score of bills passed by Congress in its final days before adjournment. These will require action while he is here.

Aides suggested Nixon's principal preoccupation at San Clemente would be preparations for the State of the Union Message he will deliver personally to Congress on Jan. 22.

Accompanying him here were Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, his principal foreign policy advisor, and John D. Ehrlichman, the No. 1 staff assistant in the domestic policy field.

Two old friends also came along aboard Air Force One: Key Biscayne neighbor and friend C. G. "Bebe" Rebozo and Murray Chotiner, a key and sometimes controversial figure in Nixon's Congressional and vice presidential campaigns. Chotiner now serves as chief counsel to Nixon's special representative for trade negotiations. Chotiner is a Californian and simply hitched a ride home.

RELINQUISHING CROWN — Robert Allen White faces the prospect of his first birthday somewhat sadly. He will be giving up the throne as the first baby of the year on New Year's Day when his 1970 successor is born.

Prizes Await First Baby Born In 1970

Robert Allen White, 364-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Gene White, 1323 Utah, is preparing to retire tomorrow as first baby of the year.

Robert was born at 12:59 p.m. New Year's Day at Cowper Clinic, just barely winning out over two other youngsters anxious to be the first baby of 1969. The other contenders were Darrin Scott Parnell, son of Capt. and Mrs. Danny J. Parnell, Webb AFB, and Drae Michelle Kruse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wayne Kruse, Midland.

Robert weighed at eight pounds, eight ounces, and measured 21 inches in length. He now weighs 25 pounds, is getting his first teeth, and is learning to walk.

He did not seem too upset to hear his throne will be taken over in the next couple of days by the first baby of 1970. But he wouldn't smile for the camera.

Gifts slated to go to the first baby of 1970 include a pair of baby shoes from J&K Shoe Stores; a barrel bank from First National Bank; a 25 per cent discount on any item of baby furniture, Big Spring Furniture; a box of stretch diapers, Montgomery Ward; a $3 gift certificate, Anthony's; case of strained baby food, Furr's; quart of milk each day for 30 days, Gandy's; a special gift, Blum's; electric bottle sterilizer, Gibson's.

Rules of the contest include:

Parents must be residents and citizens of Howard County;

Exact date, hour, and minute of baby's birth must be certified by a physician;

Birth must take place in a Howard County hospital.

Opposed To Ending Flight

Directors of the Chamber of Commerce have voted to appeal to Texas International Airways to continue providing a morning eastbound flight out of Big Spring.

TI announced Monday that effective Jan. 5 it was discontinuing the Dallas-bound flight which leaves here at 6:21 a.m.

This would leave only the 1:30 p.m. and a late evening eastbound flight to the east. Local leaders contend that the early morning flight is the one which provides the greatest service to the community.

M. R. Koger, president of the Chamber, said that the community's appeal was being voiced immediately to TI, and he urged as many businessmen and others who use the service to do likewise at once. The address may be obtained through the TI desk at the Howard County Airport.

Perot Makes Last-Minute Calls To Kremlin Leaders

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Texas billionaire H. Ross Perot placed last-minute calls to the two top leaders of the Soviet Union today seeking permission to fly his "Peace on Earth" jetliner to Moscow with 9,000 gift parcels for U.S. prisoners of war in North Vietnam.

He made no immediate headway but said he would keep trying in order to meet a midnight deadline.

In his calls to Moscow, Perot reached only secretaries of Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev. They told Perot that the two leaders were not in and that "all government offices are closing down anyway."

But Perot kept repeating calls to Kosygin's office.

Earlier Perot ran into a diplomatic snag.

With the North Vietnamese deadline of midnight tonight drawing steadily closer, the Soviet Embassy told Perot he would have to prove the U.S. government has no objection to his private mercy mission.

The 39-year-old computer magnate from Dallas immediately telephoned the U.S. embassy in Moscow and asked it to intercede with the Soviet government.

Perot said the Soviet Embassy told him there could be no discussion of his request to fly his chartered airliner to Moscow until Soviet authorities had a guarantee that his project will not meet with official U.S. objections.

The Texan said he found the Soviet request "quite reasonable" and that he still was optimistic about his chances of delivering the packages to Moscow by midnight. His plane was ready to take off at very short notice.

Perot arrived in Copenhagen Tuesday night after a trip half way around the globe from Laos. North Vietnamese officials in Laos rejected his request to fly 26 tons of food, clothing, medical supplies, mail and personal gifts direct to Hanoi and told him to mail them via Moscow. But they must be in the Soviet capital by midnight.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Higher Benefit Checks Not Due Until April 3

Social Security beneficiaries need not apply for the 15 per cent benefit increase just signed into law by President Nixon.

"Every one of the 25 million men, women and children now on the benefit rolls will receive the increase automatically," Robert M. Ball, commissioner of Social Security, said today. "The first regular check in the new amount," Ball said, "will arrive April 3, the usual day for delivery of benefit checks covering payments for March."

A separate check in the amount of the benefit increase for January and February will reach beneficiaries later in April, probably during the week of April 20.

Refiguring the benefit amounts of the millions now on the benefit rolls is a tremendous task, Ball ponited out, and it must be done without disrupting the regular benefit payment cycle.

About one out of every eight Americans is now receiving a Social Security check each month, Ball explained. As of the end of December, these monthly payments totaled $2.2 billion and the monthly total will go up by $345 million to more than $2.5 billion as the 15 per cent benefit increase becomes effective.

The average retirement benefit of $100 a month will rise to $116 per month; a couple 65 or older receiving the average couple's benefit of $170, will have their check increased to $196; the average benefit for a family made up of a disabled worker, wife and one or more children will go from $237 to $273; and average payments for a widow and two or more children will rise from $254 to $292.

Two Aged Women Perish In Fire

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Henrietta Landrum, 80, and Emma Hanks, 73, died today in a fire that swept through their one-story frame residence in Houston.

Fire Depratment Capt. S. O. Jordan said the cause of the fire was undetermined, but was thought to have been started in an open gas stove.

Houston Taxes Mobile Homes

HOUSTON (AP) — City tax assessor-collector Casey Fannin says more than 4,000 mobile home owners have been sent city and school tax bills for this year.

"Our philosophy is simply that everyone should pay his fair share of taxes," Fannin said Tuesday. "There is no exemption to mobile homes, although many of these owners say they were told their mobile home would be exempt when they bought it."

Much of the value of mobile homes is in the interior furnishings, which are difficult to assess, Fannin said. A minimum market value has been set at $1,000 for mobile homes so "no one is being overtaxed."

Mobile homes were first taxed here last year.

The $1,000 minimum value means $7.20 in city taxes and $9.01 in school taxes.

Sgt. Mitchell Fired Bullets At Civilians?

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP) — S. Sgt. David Mitchell's commanding officer issued orders today to court-martial the sergeant on charges of assault with intent to commit murder during the alleged My Lai massacre in Vietnam last March.

The charges contend that Sgt. Mitchell fired a rifle at a group of Vietnamese civilians.

The order followed widespread investigations, including a lengthy secret session by officers in a room deep in the Pentagon.

Mitchell in a news conference this month said that he saw no massacre at My Lai.

The sergeant's immediate superior, Lt. William L. Calley Jr., had been charged with premeditated murder.

The decision to court-martial Mitchell was made by Maj. Gen. John K. Boles Jr., commander of the 1st Armored Division stationed here.

A Ft. Hood spokesman said that Mitchell will remain free pending his trial and that he will continue his duties as a company non-commissioned officer at this sprawling post in Central Texas.

The general, in a formal statement, said no date for the court- martial has been set. A date, he said, will depend on when the prosecution and defense lawyers are ready.

The general's statement hinted that secret military information may be brought up at the court-martial, for he said the panel hearing the testimony could ban spectators when necessary to "prevent unauthorized disclosure of classified security information."

The charges said that the alleged assault was committed on 30 persons "more or less."

Mitchell, 29, is from St. Francisville, La., and said he is a career soldier.

He told newsmen at the Pentagon last Saturday that, "I am not guilty."

The charge and specifications: "Violation of Article 134 in that S. Sgt. David Mitchell, United States Army Co. C, 5th Battalion, 6th Infantry, 1st Armored Division, Ft. Hood, Tex., did at My Lay (Son My village) Quang Ngai Province, Republic of Vietnam on or about 16 March, 1968, with intent to commit murder commit an assault upon a group of 30 Vietnamese nationals, more or less, by shooting at them with an M16 rifle."

Assault with intent to commit murder carries a maximum penalty of life imprisonment, Army sources said.

Just last Saturday, Mitchell told reporters at the Pentagon, "I am not guilty" of the accusations against me.

Mitchell would be the second soldier to go before a court-martial in connection with the My Lai incident.

He was a squad leader in the platoon of 1st Lt. William L. Calley Jr., in the action at My Lai, a village near the northern coast of South Vietnam on March 16, 1968.

Five Gunboats End Voyage

HAIFA (AP) — Five French-made gunboats which sailed from France a week ago ended their voyage across the stormy Mediterranean tonight and tied up at this Israeli port.

The crews, wearing civilian clothes, refused to talk to newsmen but crossed to waiting families and relatives.

Two of the gray vessels arrived within minutes of each other after receiving a victory salute from Israeli jet fighters off shore. The third docked an hour later and the other two came in shortly afterward.

Extension Of Government's Food-To-Poor Plan Ordered

DALLAS (AP) — The U.S. Department of Agriculture was ordered in federal court Tuesday to begin at once a food-to-the-poor program in every Texas county not under the federal food stamp program.

Dist. Judge W.M. Taylor said the programs must be in effect by March 5, 1970, in the 89 Texas counties presently without the program.

When the original suit affecting Texas counties was filed in November, 1968, 109 counties had neither food stamp nor commodity programs.

The suit was filed by seven indigent persons from counties without the programs. Judge Taylor ruled in their favor and set last Oct. 15 as the deadline for the USDA to propose possible relief.

However, Edward J. Hekman, administrator of the USDA food and nutrition service, said shortly before the deadline that the USDA did not propose at that time to expand the food programs into nonparticipating political subdivisions in Texas.

Areas in Texas which have no federal food assistance program "are just as impoverished, and often more so, than areas in which the Agriculture Department has directly implemented the commodity distribution program," Taylor said Tuesday.

The 89 Texas counties that are not participating in a federal food assistance program amount to about 25 per cent of the 348 counties without such programs across the 50 states. The 89 counties also represent about 15 per cent of the population in Texas.

Ronald F. Pollack of New York, one of the attorneys for the seven indigents, said Taylor's order "is the strongest yet" issued by a federal court in connection with the federal food programs. Similar suits are pending in 22 other states.

Pollack said the decision should remold USDA programs toward a "more humanitarian" goal than helping "the rich farmer" dispose of his surplus food.

Taylor noted that since fiscal 1959, the USDA has returned over $1 billion in federal funds to the U.S. Treasury. All of the money could have been used for the direct implementation of the commodity distribution program in the Texas counties now without federal food-to-the-poor assistance, he said.

He said so long as the State of Texas chooses to participate in the programs, the state, which is also a deefndant in the suit, "must include every Texas area in either the food stamp or commodity distribution program."

The State of Texas has "entirely excluded thousands of indigents from food aid solely on the basis of their county of residence," Taylor said.

ROMNEY GIVES RELUCTANT APPROVAL

FHA, VA Loans Raised 1 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maximum interest rates allowed on government-insured FHA and VA home loans will be boosted for the second time within a year, becoming a record 8½ per cent as of next Monday.

Secretary of Housing George Romney said Tuesday he was reluctantly approving the increase from the current 7½ per cent maximum which has been in effect only since last Jan. 24.

The announcement was bad news for prospective home buyers who had hoped to see a stabilizing or reduction of interest rates which have been spiraling since early in 1966 when the limit was 5¼ per cent for the loans backed by the Federal Housing Administration and Veterans Administration.

DRYING UP FUNDS

Romney said he had delayed as long as possible but he was forced to take the action to "help hold the line against a further drying up of mortgage funds from regular sources . . ."

He noted that market yields on most types of investments have gone up more than one percentage point in the past year and that lenders are demanding higher and higher discount points to make FHA-VA loans.

Lenders have been charging 7 to 9 per cent—or points—to make loans. Most of this usually is paid by the seller, but in effect may be passed on to the buyer in the form of a higher house price.

The one per cent boost in the interest ceiling—the largest increase ever—was applauded by the Mortgage Bankers Association of America and was condemned by the National Association of Home Builders.

HOUSING CRISIS

"Housing is in a state of crisis, and today's government action to increase the FHA-VA mortgage interest ceiling to 8½ per cent is a substantial move to improve the situation," said Robert H. Pease, president of the mortgage bankers.

Louis R. Barba, acting president of the home builders group, issued a statement declaring the time has come for the administration to put into effect standby credit controls recently authorized by Congress.

"Current high interest rates have not visibly succeeded in curbing inflation but, on the contrary, seem to increase inflationary pressures by their contribution to higher costs," Barba said.

He said the Federal Reserve Board should act to ease money pressures.

Pease noted that the 8½ per cent rate would be illegal in at least six states—Indiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Ohio, South Dakota and Virginia—and the District of Columbia. He said these states could face a serious housing crisis unless their legislatures raise the current interest limits.

HIGHER PAYMENTS

The new maximum rates will have no effect on the 8.2 million loans which have been made in the past, but they will result in higher monthly payments for persons getting FHA-VA new loans after Jan. 5.

Romney said lenders now processing loan applications would be expected to reduce the discount rates they charge to make the loan since they will be getting a higher interest yield. Romney said the prevailing discounts had produced a gross yield of 8.75 per cent on loans.

Commercial banks now have a prime rate of 8½ per cent—the interest charged to their best customers.

NINE TIMES

Interest rates have gone up in the face of government efforts to restrict credit to brake inflation. The high interest rates in other areas of the economy have drawn money away from housing.

"Even the massive amounts of direct support to the mortgage market through the Federal National Mortgage Association, the Government National Mortgage Association and Federal Home Loan System have not been sufficient to sustain housing production at the levels needed," Romney said.

Ex-SBA Aide, Pal Ask To Appeal As Paupers

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A former aide in the Small Business Administration and a local businessman, convicted on federal conspiracy charges, have asked to be allowed to appeal as paupers.

U.S. Dist. Judge Adrain Spears set a Jan. 7 hearing for the motions filed by Albert Fuentes Jr., 39, and Edward Montez, 40, who face five year prison terms.

U.S. Atty. Seagal Wheatley filed notice that he will contest the applications.

Fuentes, former special assistant to SBA Administrator Hilary Sandoval, and Montez, once a school board president here, were convicted Nov. 25.

A jury found them guilty of conspiring to obtain 49 per cent of a businessman's metal works firm here in return for a $100,000 SBA loan.

Fuentes, who headed the Viva Nixon organization in the 1968 presidential campaign, and Montez were sentenced to five years each on Dec. 17.

Their motions ask the government to bear all costs of their appeals to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. They remained free on bond.

State Senator's Dad Dies At 81

BRYAN, Tex. (AP) — E. B. Moore, 81, the father of State Sen. W.T. "Bill" Moore, died here Tuesday and was to be buried here this afternoon.

Moore, a native of Bryan, was a farmer and rancher.

In addition to the senator, Moore is survived by another son, Paul Moore, of Freeport and a daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Danforth of Dallas.

Funeral services were set for 3 p.m. in the Hillier Chapel and burial was to be in the Bryan City cemetery.

Stock Marts Might Not Open Friday

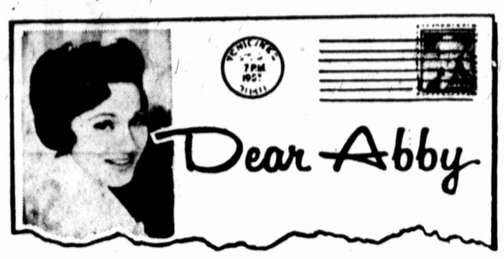

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York, American and National Stock Exchanges said they would not open Friday, Jan. 2, if a New York City transit strike is not averted or over before Friday morning.

Contracts covering 35,000 bus and subway workers expire New Year's Day and negotiations are underway to head off a strike.

The Boston Stock Exchange said it also would close if the New York exchanges close. But the Midwest and Pacific Coast Exchanges said they would open Friday regardless of action taken in New York.

The New York exchanges said, however, they would open Monday even if a strike was underway.

All exchanges are due to be closed Thursday, New Year's Day.

DEAR ABBY: I am so disgusted I don't know which way to turn. Our son lives in another town. He has a degree from a leading university and is presently working on his Masters; however from the judgment he uses, one would never know he finished college.

Our son has always loved pets, and at present I am keeping and caring for about a dozen dogs, just because he likes them. He has these dogs at school, but when he comes home for weekends, he brings the dogs with him.

I have recently installed wall to wall carpet, and not all his dogs are housebroken. My carpet is taking a beating, and the place smells like a kennel.

No one can say a word against his dogs or he flies off the handle. If I complain, he won't come home at all, which would bother his father and me more than it would bother him. So what can I do.? DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: You're doing it. Complaining to me.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Margie's husband thinks HE has a problem because Margie has to call her bachelor boss at 7 a.m. every morning to wake him up. MY wife's boss calls HER every morning at 7 a.m. to tell her what he wants her to do that day when she gets to the office. He also calls her as soon as she gets home in the evening and DICTATES letters to her on the phone so she can have them ready the first thing the next morning.

So tell Marge's husband that I know how he feels. I also wish I had my wife all to myself at home. SIGN ME "TEX"

DEAR TEX: Stop wishing. Tell your wife to quit her job and stay home. (Or do you like the income, Tex? Forgive me.)

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am 37 years old, stand 4'11" and have been married for 20 years. I have four children, ages 19, 18, 7 and 2. I still weigh the same as I did when I was married — 102!

To give you an idea of the way I live, I rise early, clean my house, and then get busy on my meals. I am told I am an excellent housekeeper, cook, and mother. I paint, sew, lay tile, garden. You name it, I've done it. I have never neglected my husband sexually either. In other words, he spends his evenings at home with me.

I am sick to death of hearing my friends and neighbors exclaim in amazement, "I don't know how you do so much!" Well, I can tell them how. I get up and begin, that's how. Sick or well, I begin.

Recently I met a 22-year-old mother of two. She weighed in the neighborhood of 170 pounds. After looking at me, she said, "You look so young and trim. I'll bet you never worked a day in your life." I laughed. (I had just spent the entire summer painting the interior of our house.)

I would like to tell all those hefty dames who envy the slim ones, "you can be slim, too, if you will get off your fat fannies and do something." Don't "dust" your kitchen floors, get down, and SCRUB them! Don't wait for your husband to find time to wash the windows, wash them yourself. I've washed windows for 20 years and it hasn't killed me yet.

It's a known fact that women outlive their husbands. And I know why! The husbands do their own jobs, come home, and do their wives', too. Sign me.

North was confronted with an awkward situation on his initial rebid. After South's one heart response, North has the high card strength—19 points—and distribution to jump to two no trump. The lack of a diamond stopper, however, inhibited North from jumping immediately and he decided to make an underbid of one spade in the hope that partner could take further action.

When South obliged by bidding one no trump, North proceeded directly to game. It may be observed that had South responded with one diamond immediately, his partner would have been able to jump to two no trump directly. The heart suit is not considered biddable, inasmuch as it is not headed by the queen-ten.

West opened the three of diamonds and when East put up the ten, he was permitted to hold the trick. The suit was continued and South was in with the king. Prospects were not very good, inasmuch as the diamond opening dislodged one of South's side entries to the heart suit, so that by the time he is able to drive out the queen, he has no way of getting to his hand to cash a third trick in hearts.

Declarer decided to test clubs by leading a small club to North's king. When the jack appeared from West, it dimmed hopes of finding an even division in that suit and South was obliged to shift his attack once more.

The ace and king of hearts were cashed and then a small spade was led from dummy. South put up the ten and West was in with the queen. He returned the queen of diamonds to dislodge declarer's last stopper, but in so doing, he placed his partner in an awkward position.

East was reluctant to part with either a club or the queen of hearts, for fear of establishing a trick for his opponent. He finally gave up a spade and South won the trick with the ace of diamonds. A spade was led and when West followed with the deuce, North's jack was finessed successfully. The ace of spades dropped the king and nine and dummy's seven took the fulfilling trick.

If East throws a club on the third round of diamonds, South cashes the ace of clubs and continues the suit to put East in with the ten. The latter cashes the queen of hearts, but must now lead a spade into North's ace-jack. These two cards and the now established four of clubs take the remaining tricks. South loses only one trick in each suit on the deal.

Most Of Texas Cold As Leftover Turkey

By The Associated Press

Cold air enveloped nearly all of Texas today, but clouds moved in after midnight to avert a threatened freeze in the Lower Rio Grande Valley's semi-tropical citrus belt.

There were a few traces of light snow around Amarillo in the Panhandle again during the night, and a six-inch coverlet accumulated there 48 hours earlier sent the mercury plunging to 11 degrees above zero.

It was even colder in far West Texas, dipping to 9 at Marfa.

Skies cleared in most areas by this morning, however, and the lack of overcast permitted temperatures to drop sharply. It was freezing or below as far south as Houston, San Antonio, Del Rio and Corpus Christi.

Clouds remained only near the eastern edge of the state and over coastal sections.

After a two-day sweep across Texas from west to east, the season's worst storm began abating by late Tuesday, permitting many roads to dry and normal travel to be resumed. The vicious weather was blamed for 11 deaths in traffic accidents.

Driving remained hazardous in the Wichita Falls area, where five inches of snow remained on the ground and streets were icy.

Until protective clouds moved into the Lower Rio Grande Valley from the Gulf of Mexico, a freeze warning was out for all that sector. It promised readings from 27 degrees in the northwest part of the Valley up to 38 around Brownsville.

Near dawn today, however, the temperature still stood at 51 in Brownsville and it appeared all threats of damaging frost had dissipated.

In addition to the 9-degree mark at Marfa and 11 at Amarillo, Wichita Falls also recorded 11, Lubbock 13, Alpine and Dalhart 14, Perryton 15, Wink 19, Childress and Mineral Wells 21, Abilene 22, Denison, Fort Worth, Killeen, Midland, Sherman and Tyler 23, and Dallas 24, Austin, Big Spring, College Station, El Paso, San Angelo and Waco 25, San Antonio 27, Longview and Lufkin 28, Corpus Christi 29, Del Rio, Houston and Texarkana 30 and Palacios 32.

These readings compared with Tuesday afternoon highs ranging from 61 at only 26 at Amarillo up to Brownsville.

Forecasts called for a little warming in most sections tonight or Thursday.

PLEDGES ENFORCEMENT — Samuel J. Simmons, assistant secretary for equal opportunity in the Department of Housing and Urban Development, pledges enforcement yesterday of the 1968 open housing law which becomes fully effective on New Year's Day.

Priest From San Antonio Takes A Bride In Laredo

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A leader of the revolt of 68 Roman Catholic priests against their archbishop married a Floresville, Tex., woman in Laredo Sunday, a local minister disclosed.

The Rev. Raymond Henke, former spiritual director of a seminary here, and Sandra Kempf were married at a Laredo motor inn Sunday afternoon by the Rev. Jerome Duderstadt, a Methodist minister.

The Rev. Mr. Henke is the eighth priest from the 32-county Roman Catholic San Antonio Archdiocese known to have married in less than three years.

The priest broke church law by marrying, but the Rev. Duderstadt said the new groom has not renounced the church nor the priesthood.

"He is hopeful that some day the church will accept a married priest as a priest," the minister said.

The Rev. Mr. Henke became the second leader of the priests' revolt to marry in as many weeks. The Rev. Louis Michalski was married here Dec. 19.

These two men were among the leaders of 51 priests who wrote the Vatican in the fall of 1968, demanding the resignation of now retired Archbishop Robert E. Lucy. Their number grew to 68 of the 448 priests in the archdiocese.

Soon after the priests made their letter public, the Revs. Henke and Michalski were dismissed from their posts at Assumption Seminary here along with two other key faculty members. All had signed the letter to Rome.

The Rev. Henke, about 33, met his bride, about 22, some time ago while she was a student at Incarnate Word College here, the Rev. Duderstadt said. It was the bride's decision to marry in Laredo.

Henke joined the staff of the vocational rehabilitation division of the Texas Education Agency here after his dismissal from the seminary. It was at the TEA unit that he met the Rev. Duderstadt, who is a counselor there.

The new couple will live at Greeley, Colo., where the Rev. Mr. Henke is studying for a doctorate in vocational rehabilitation at Colorado State University.

Puzzle of Tuesday, December 30, Solved

Two-Car Crash Kills Woman

MARSHALL, Tex. (AP) — Melvin L. Schreurs, 26, of Duncanville was killed in a two-car accident 15 miles west of here on Interstate 20 Tuesday night.

State police said a front tire on Schreurs' car blew out and it struck the rear of an automobile driven by Joyce G. Dupont of Fort Worth, who was believed to have escaped serious injury.

After the impact, officers reported, the Schreurs vehicle ran off the highway and the Dupont car hit a tree.

Shot, Killed At Her Home

WAXAHACHIE, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. E. L. Webb, about 70, was shot and killed at her home here about 10 p.m. Wednesday and officers jailed her son.

Police chief Pierce Padgett said the son, James R. Webb, 40, was charged after his arrest early today at the home of a relative in Farmer's Branch, a Dallas suburb.

Padgett said no motive for the shooting had been determined.

HUD Pledges Open Housing Enforcement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1968 open housing law becomes fully effective Thursday, buttressed by a pledge of vigorous enforcement from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

On New Year's Day, approximately 34 million single-family homes will be added to the 20 million apartments, multi-family houses, and new subdivision homes already covered by the first two stages of the fair housing statute.

"We intend to demonstrate to the people that we really intend to enforce the statute," said Samuel J. Simmons, assistant HUD secretary for equal opportunity.

Simmons pledged HUD in 1970 would at least double the 16 "pattern or practice" housing discrimination cases referred to the Justice Department for prosecution in 1969. Eight suits were subsequently filed.

"Pattern or practice" cases can involve such things as a real estate brokers' association that deliberately steers Negro homeowners away from certain neighborhoods or an apartment house owner who shuns black applicants.

Simmons also plans a stepped-up education campaign that he expects will lead to a substantial increase over the 927 individual complaints processed by HUD this year.

Of these, there have been 94 successful conciliations where many minority persons got the identical or similar house or apartment they were at first denied, he said. Damages also were paid in some of the cases.

Combined with a 1968 Supreme Court ruling, the fair housing act gives the government enforcement power over virtually all racial discrimination in the sale, rental, advertising, and financing of housing. But HUD farms out individual complaints to nine states with federally acceptable open housing laws and enforcement.

Excluded from the housing law are approximately 15 million units. These include owner-occupied, two-to-four apartment dwellings—the so-called "Mrs. Murphy's boarding house" exemption—and single family homes sold or rented by the owner without a broker and without discriminatory advertising.

Nixon's Policies Lead To Business Recession?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government statistics show wholesale prices climbed 4.7 per cent in 1969 for the steepest rise in 20 years, adding more fuel to the argument over whether President Nixon's policies can slow inflation.

"It all adds up to the probability that the cost of living is going to continue rising at a fast clip," said Nathaniel Goldfinger, chief economist for the 13.6 million member AFL-CIO.

But Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz, in a separate interview, said White House policies of federal budget cuts, high interest and tight money are beginning to work. "Inflation isn't continuing unabated," Shultz said.

And Nixon, in signing the tax reform bill Tuesday, indicated even tougher federal budget restrictions to offset tax losses.

"It will make our fight against the rising cost of living more difficult," Nikon said of the estimated $2.5 billion a year government revenue loss from the new tax law.

With one month's figures to go, the Labor Department's Consumer Price Index measuring typical American living costs is up 5.5 per cent for 1969, steepest rise since the 5.9 per cent for all of 1951, a year in which Korean War wage-price controls were imposed. Another rise in living costs in December equal to the 11-month average so far in 1969 would push the rise in living costs to the highest since 1947's 9.1 per cent after World War II wage-price controls were lifted.

"At this point, we have the beginnings of the worst of all possibilities—the danger of recession without any slowdown in prices," said Goldfinger in expressing the labor federation's opposition to the Nixon anti-inflation policies.

AFL-CIO President George Meany has said only federal controls on all prices, wages and other income would halt sharply rising prices.

The Nixon administration has rejected any thought of wage-price controls.

Shutlz acknowledged declining economic indicators, but said it was a "moderate" drop necessary to cool off inflation in the economy.

"We have been trying to adhere to a moderate course in the effort to control inflation, not a slam-bang course," Shultz said.

Goldfinger disagreed. "Our belief all along has been that this is the wrong way to do it because the operation they are working on is that you get a slowdown in prices by slamming the brakes on economic activity," Goldfinger said.

"The danger in their operations is that you can bring down the whole house," he said, repeating his warning of a possible recession.

The preliminary report of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said wholesale prices of a broad range of industrial raw materials, food and feeds rose three-tenths of one per cent in December, to round out the year's increase at 4.7 per cent.

The bureau said that was the largest annual increase since 1950, when wholesale prices soared 14.7 per cent before Korean War controls.

"The wholesale price report is an indication of what is going to happen at retail," Goldfinger said.

"While everybody would like to have a completely painless remedy to inflation, I think everybody in his heart knows that there isn't any such remedy," Shultz said.

Sadler Slips Slander Suit

RIO GRANDE CITY, Tex. (AP) — A district clerk said Tuesday officers have been unable to serve Texas Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler with papers in a $1.52 million suit that alleges he slandered a diver involved in the Padre Island treasure controversy.

Jeff Burke, a Rio Hondo diver, filed the suit Oct. 3 in the newly created 229th District Court in Starr County.

Burke handled some diving for Platoro, Ltd, an Indiana firm which salvaged treasure from sunken Spanish galleons off Padre Island.

He says Sadler slandered him in a news conference last summer, and seeks $1 million in general damages, $500,000 in exemplary damages and $25,000 in actual loss of business.

Dist. Court Clerk Blas Chapa said Sadler would have 20 days to answer in court when papers are served. No date has been set for any pre-trial hearings.

Burke is represented in the suit by State Sen. Jim Bates, an Edinburg lawyer.

Graduate Center Offering Course

The Permian Basin Graduate Center is offering a credit course from Sul Ross University entitled "Geography 231A-Conservation of Natural Resources."

This course will be of interest to the student of geography and the analyst of public affairs who recognize the gravity of the problem of conserving our soils, our water, and our minerals. James C. Palmer will be the instructor.

Registration will be held on Jan. 8, at 7 p.m. at the Armed Forces Reserve Center, Terminal. Advance registration may be made at the Graduate Center office, 105 Gulf Building, Midland (telephone No. 683-2832 or 563-2311 between the hours of 1 and 5 p.m.). Classes will meet from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. every Thursday. Fee is $75.

Hoffa Seeks Nixon 'Deal'

ST. LOUIS (AP) — James R. Hoffa's lawyer said today he has petitioned the Justice Department for presidential commutation of the eight-year sentence the Teamsters Union leader is serving at Lewisberg, Pa.

The attorney, Morris Shenker, said he knew nothing of reports that Hoffa associates had told the White House he would bare union pension fund operations and labor-related activities in organized crime if given his freedom.

Shenker said he filed the petition for a presidential commutation within the last three or four weeks but that as far as he knew the Nixon administration had taken no action on it.

Hoffa's eight-year sentence at Lewisburg was for jury tampering. His application of parole was rejected in October.

He is also under five-year sentence in a Teamsters Union pension fraud case. That conviction has been appealed to the Supreme Court, which has yet to act.

Serves Them Right

The great gold bubble speculation burst early this month when the London gold market reached $35.30 an ounce, practically eliminating the market premium over the $35 open market price set by the U.S. Treasury.

Many a hurt speculator can hardly believe it. The price of gold was bound to keep on climbing, they thought, even beyond the high point of $45 plus an ounce quoted a few months ago. They believed that the two-tier gold price system adopted in March, 1968, with an official price to be paid for monetary gold and a free world market price for the other, was bound to fail. It didn't.

The dollar was not devalued, as many speculators thought it would. The U.S. Treasury's price paid for gold remained firm at $35 an ounce. The German mark was increased in price and the French franc devalued. All of these destroyed the speculative bubble.

A lot of speculators now have some very high-priced gold. They are welcome to hold it as long as they please. But when they finally come to the point of selling it they will incur a loss, not pocket a profit. It serves them right.

A New Division

As the U.N. General Assembly neared the close of its 1969 session, it approved a resolution that had less significance in content than in the voting alignment.

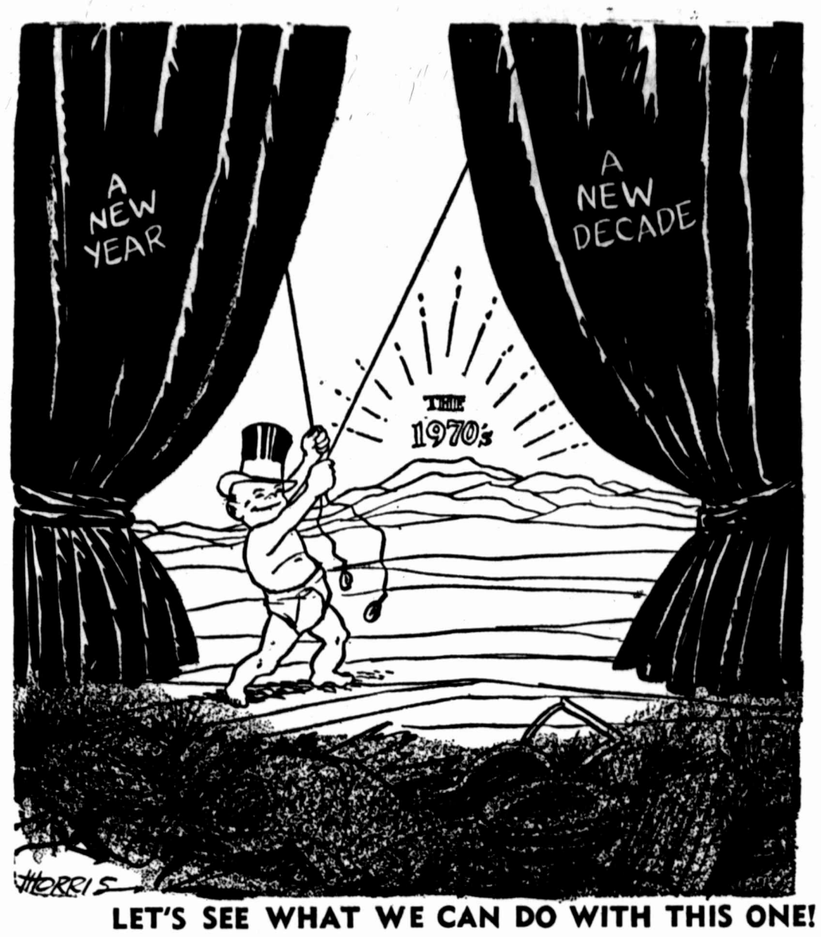

It was the clearest international expression to date in which a North-South alignment replaced the long-time East-West division, in which underdeveloped vs. developed or lesser vs. major power interests overrode any cold-war considerations. Here may be glimpsed a fundamental future shift in global international relations.

The resolution that was passed, 62 to 22 (with 28 abstentions) calls for a delay in any economic exploitation of seabed resources until international supervisory machinery can be established. This is no serious handicap to oceanographic research in which the Soviet Union and the United States lead, the argument on which they based their opposition, which was joined by other major powers, including Britain and France.

The motivation of the Asian, Latin American and African countries that backed the resolution is not difficult to understand, however. With their outside aid, foreign trade and investment, and technological assistance lagging disappointingly while their populations mushroom — with the gap widening glaringly between the rich and poor nations — they apparently do not want to allow the advanced industrial powers any advantage for gaining a greater share of the world's wealth than they are already enjoying.

The vote largely reflected a division between the undeveloped Southern Hemisphere and the higher developed Northern Hemisphere.

Thus, the alignment of voting on this issue suggests to some that when the ideological schism some day lessens, this division may become more pervading.

LET'S SEE WHAT WE CAN DO WITH THIS ONE!

David Lawrence

Congressmen And Constituents

WASHINGTON — Congress is in adjournment for a period of four weeks, but going back home means even more activity for senators and representatives. They are being given a longer than usual opportunity to confer with leaders of organizations and prominent constituents in order to get an understanding of how public opinion really sizes up a number of current questions.

THOSE MEMBERS who voted for the "tax reform" bill will be able to point to certain major changes, such as the increase of 15 per cent in Social Security benefits and a rise in the personal exemption from $600 to $650. These two items affect more voters than anything else in the measure. That's why members who didn't like many provisions of the bill thought it was more expedient to enact the so-called "popular" sections and deal later with protests that might arise about the other parts of the bill.

THE GENERAL impression among members of Congress as they left Washington was that President Nixon would allow the "tax reform" bill to become law and devote himself to a discussion of the provisions which he deems it necessary to amend or repeal when the Senate and the House reconvene.

WHILE SOME of the legislation passed in the recent session gets widespread approval, the discontent over failure to act on many pending issues has unquestionably aroused the voters to the point where the Democratic party is going to have a difficult time in the next election. Having been in command of both houses, it will be held responsible at the polls for failing to pass corrective legislation on the crime problem and other measures that have been proposed by President Nixon. At least 32 out of 46 administration proposals failed to be enacted in the session of Congress which has just ended.

But basically the trouble is that there is no such thing as party responsibility today in either House. Chairmen who are not from the President's party wield considerable power in the functioning of committees. This means that there has been relatively little cooperation between the executive and legislative branches of the government.

ALTHOUGH PROTESTS from the voters are recorded in letters to members of Congress, it is not easy for the latter to analyze public opinion. Some of the citizens are not well informed about current legislative proposals or their possible effects. Things like the increase in Social Security benefits and the raising of the amount of the personal tax exemptions will be accepted as a worthy achievement. But the failure to provide a budget surplus and the inflationary effects that follow will become more and more a topic of public discussion.

POLITICS, of course, is customarily based on currying favor through certain types of legislation passed. But today the gravest single issue before the country on the domestic side is the growth of crime and the failure to punish the offenders. Scarcely a state in the union has enough resources of its own to deal with criminals, particularly those who cross interstate boundaries. Not only does the federal government need more personnel for law enforcement, but it is obvious that a larger and larger police force in the states will likewise be necessary in order to deal with crime.

While members of Congress are back home in the next four weeks they will hear plenty on the subject. It would not be surprising if, in the session which begins Jan. 19, attention will be focused more sharply than ever before on a possible solution to this question.

Billy Graham

In my early Christian life God seemed very close to me. Prayer time was a real pleasure, and Bible reading was a thrill. But, recently I find my devotions to be almost drudgery, in fact, I am about to give up my "quiet time." Mr. Graham, what causes this? I am really concerned. M.E.

Our spiritual growth is often compared to our physical growth. The Bible says that we are to grow and mature, spiritually, as well as physically. One of the sure signs of physical illness is a loss of appetite. Physicians say that a well man is a hungry man, and a man who loses his appetite is a sick man.

My suggestion regarding your problem is: make sure that something hasn't happened in your life to restrict your spiritual appetite. Several things can do this. Perhaps the "world" has crept in and stolen away part of that which belongs to Christ. Or, perhaps there is a secret sin. Or, your loss of interest in devotions could be caused by your neglect of them. The human mind forms patterns quickly. Good habits when established are easily kept, and so are bad ones. Check the above points, and then begin a regular routine of Bible reading and prayer. Ask God to forgive you for your coldness and indifference. The Bible says, "Draw nigh unto God and he will draw nigh to you." (Ja. 4:8.)

Read All About His Operation

NEW YORK (AP) — Probably you've been so busy lately getting Santa Claus into and out of town that you haven't even heard of my operation.

Well, it was a corker—a 13-inch incision, more than 100 stitches. If you'll just hold my cane and let me get a firm grip on your lapels, I'll tell you the whole story—right from the horse's mouth.

To begin with, I'd like to deny the malicious office gossip that my injury last Nov. 5 happened while I was sprinting up Broadway trying to get a better view of a girl in a miniskirt. It was a rainy day, and as any middle-aged girl watcher knows, it is pointless to try to indulge his hobby in the rain. The moisture fogs up his bifocals.

The fact is that, emerging from a Chinese restaurant with a stomach full of egg foo yung and fortune cookies, I saw an empty cab across the street. To catch a cab on a rainy day is every New Yorker's lifelong dream. So I headed for it full steam.

I don't know whether it was the extra weight of the egg foo yung or the fortune cookies, but halfway across the street I felt something snap in my right calf with a sound like the ripping of a sail in the wind.

For two weeks I was bedfast at home with a leg swollen to the size of Jackie Gleason's girth. When I finally was able to hobble to an orthopedist, he told me I had torn loose muscles, tendons and ligaments in the calf, and that they required an immediate job of needlepoint or people would be calling me "gimpy" for the rest of my life.

Well, after 12 days, they threw me out of the hospital, cast and all. I had to two-stick it out on crutches.

"I could have let you stay a couple more days," said the doctor," but the porter on the floor refused to mop your room longer because you bragged so much about your operation he couldn't keep his mind on his work."

"But it was an unusual operation," I argued. "Didn't you say it took more than a hundred stitches and that you had to make a 13-inch incision?"

"Yes, I did tell you that," agreed the doctor. "But I thought that would be a little secret just between us."

After that I tried manfully to keep my big mouth shut, but during four weeks of home convalescence I somehow leaked the details of my operation to 50 or 60 of my closest friends via the telephone. After that, everyone I called seemed to have his phone off the hook.

Then, off the crutches and leaning on a cane, I returned to the office. After two days of standing on one leg showing my scar to envious fellow workers, I am now ready to start work. Incidentally, if you'd like to have a photograph of my incision, they are available at $2 the single copy. $1.50 apiece in group lots of 100 or more.

Incidentally, I have become disillusioned by the attitude of people I have tried to interest in the tale of my ordeal. That doesn't interest them at all.

They all ask the same question:

"Never mind about your operation. Did you catch that cab you were running after?"

Indeed I did! That's the only thing that made the whole experience really worthwhile.

Good Year For...

NEW YORK (AP) — A random reading of the economy shows that it was a good year for —College graduates with their military obligations behind them. The average graduate of Wharton School of Finance and Commerce, for example, began at $1,082 a month, compared to $959 a year earlier.

—Owners of real estate. Property values were lofted higher by inflation and the construction slowdown that left the nation with the worst housing situation since the Pilgrims' day. The housing shortage was mammoth.

The median resale price of existing one-family houses, partly as a result of inflation and in part because of the shortage, rose to $21,900 in October compared with $21,100 a year earlier.

—Holders of corporate and municipal bonds. Interest rates rose to the highest figures since post-Civil War days, with some "Double-A" corporate issues reaching 9 per cent.

—Celebrities. They cashed in on hamburgers and sandwiches by aligning themselves with quick service food franchises. Nobody asked why sluggers, passers and television posers should be good cooks or even good businessmen, but somebody might in 1970.

And it was a bad year for:

—Corporate profits. Well, really not very bad but profits did decline 4.4 per cent from the first to the third quarter of the year. Some companies that had enjoyed record years during the inflation binge began to show signs late in the year of serious profits deterioration.

—Stock market investors. Depending upon which measure is used, the market fell between 15 and more than 20 per cent from December to December. The Dow Jones Industrial Average fell 22 per cent.

To Your Good Health

Beat-Beat Of Pulse Keeps Her Awake

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What would cause a beat-beating in my ears when I try to get to sleep at night? I am taking a pill to keep my blood pressure under control. I am 70 and in good health otherwise.

Although I have mentioned this to my doctor, he seems to ignore it. It keeps me awake for hours. Is it my heart?—Mrs. W.J.G.

You are hearing your pulse beat. With elevated blood pressure the thrust of the heart beat is stronger. It is not of great significance, which is why your doctor "seems to ignore it," but the loss of sleep and nervous turmoil are a waste of your energy and an infringement on your peace of mind.

I'd mention it again to your doctor and tell him that it keeps you awake, because a very mild sedative at night may be in order so you'll sleep better.

The reason you hear it at night is that it becomes noticeable when the room is quiet, and particularly when you are lying down, and especially if you have your ear on the pillow. The beat-beating is there during the day, but you don't notice it.

This may be accentuated a bit because of your blood pressure and age, but I assure you that young people sometimes notice it, too, and not infrequently worry about it — once they have noticed it. It's a very human quirk of nature: once we notice some little thing and start listening for it, we hear it.

Try lying in a different position; try a mild sedative for a few nights; try reminding yourself that it's a normal enough sound; try a ticking clock near the head of your bed, or, if you have one, try an automatic radio that can be set to play softly for half an hour or so after you go to bed and then shut itself off.

The thump of your pulse isn't important enough to keep you awake when these simple remedies will usually let you forget about it and get your sleep.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Several years ago after two incidents of severe swelling from bee stings, I was told by my doctor that I should take immunization shots for three years.

It has now been five years and I was recently informed that a pattern of a shot every three weeks should be maintained for the rest of my life, since the doctor has no way of evaluating the success of the shots.

I am 19 and the shots are at times inconvenient. What is your opinion?—S.M.

All I can say is that there are lots of things that physicians can do—and a lot they can't. For a person, like you, who is very sensitive to bee stings, the injections are highly effective. It is true also that it is difficult to evaluate how long you will need them.

Since a bee sting, for a sensitized person, can be very serious, I'd play safe and continue the injections, inconvenient as they may be. I know of no alternative.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can you give any information on mouth and throat cancer in relation to the use of chewing tobacco? I have looked and can find no information except for smoking.—Mrs. C.C.

I don't think chewing tobacco has been established as a factor in either mouth or throat cancer.

What causes "balance" trouble? What can be done to correct or overcome it: Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Dizzy Spells," discusses loss of balance, vertigo and nausea, Meniere's disease and labyrinthitis. For a copy of the booklet write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Around The Rim

A Wonderful One Of A Kind

The first time I ever saw Obie Bristow was when he was volunteering his services as a gratis coach. He worked mostly with us scrubs and admonished us to "be a ball hawk," always moving to the football. He prescribed a regimen of toughening by jumping high into the air and breaking your fall to the ground at the last split second. Sometimes this went on until the early moon came up.

LATER OBIE became the full fledged coach. "I could have won the state championship if I had had enough sense to book some real opposition early in the season," he said. He might, for his first team scored 400 points to six for the opposition, but those six cost him the district. His best team, however, might well have won the state had it not developed stage fright against Amarillo. When the boys realized they could take the mighty Sandies, it was too late.

It was in this game that Obie pulled one of the tricks for which he was famous. At a critical point, needing five yards on third down, he had one of his guards grab his leg as though seized by a terrible cramp. The Amarillo center smelled a mouse, dived for the ball and drew a five-yard penalty.

AGAINST HIS arch rival Sweetwater, which had the immortal Sammy Baugh and Ney Sheridan, he evened the show by having a back get over the ball as center, ostensibly shovel it back only to hold it out of sight between his legs. As others charged off around the end, the back straightened up and took off. Referee Slime Hill couldn't figure it out, but he stormed over: "Obie! I don't know what you're doing, but cut it out!"

Feuding (it was all a good-natured sham) with Blondy Cross, San Angelo sports writer, Obie vowed he would not spend a nickle in San Angelo. So he stopped at a bakery in Sterling City, loaded up on goodies, went to a San Angelo cafe and ordered 36 clean plates. That's all.

Word got around that Bristow could score, and at a coaching school, a young hayseed kept pestering Obie for a scoring play. Obie drew the most fantastic, razzle dazzle diagram you can imagine. He forgot about it until next year at coaching school when he saw the young coach make a bee line for him. Obie tried unsuccessfully to duck, but the young man wouldn't be denied: "Coach," he said, "I can't thank you enough. We scored seven touchdowns with that play you gave me." Obie was dumbfounded. "Man," he begged, "tell me what it was."

BRING UP the subject of football, and Obie was ready to illustrate. More than once, he has placed the chairs and the personnel of our office in offensive and defensive positions, his eyes darting about over the imaginary field, and his crooked index finger flicking to his tongue.

Once outside the old Petroleum Building, he haggled some football bets, borrowed a soda pop case, stepped up on it and then inscribed — out of reach of passers-by — the bets on the wall.

Obie was more than just a colorful person. He was a real soul. Once in church when the offering plate was passed, he reached in his pocket. There were two bills, a one and a twenty. He was just putting in the one when he drew back and dropped in the twenty. Explaining, he said: "It occurred to me, now ain't that a hell of a note after all the Lord has done for me."

DURING PART OF a legislative session to which I was assigned, I had opportunity to visit in his room on numerous occasions. One of the current stories was that Obie finally let a lobbyist lure him to a plush place — then ordered a hamburger. He moved with natural ease among the top men in state government, yet his heart was really with the little people. He knew who were the phonies, the hangers-on, those with an angle, and he shed their favors and flattery like so much water off a duck's back.

STORIES ABOUT him on the golf course are legion, but underneath the surface Obie was not just another character — but a wonderful personality who made life brighter for many of us. He was our Mr. Dodds, standing in victorious innocence for what was right. The good Lord probably didn't make but one Obie, but I'm proud I was among those privileged to know him.

The Emancipation Proclamation

WASHINGTON — All agonized claims to the contrary notwithstanding, the nation's biggest New Year's Day hangover occurred 101 years ago, on Jan. 1, 1863. It was caused by a possibly illegal document called the Emancipation Proclamation, and it afflicted almost the entire South.

ACTUALLY, Jan. 1, 1863, was the date on which the Proclamation went into effect. President Lincoln had signed the document and made its contents public on Sept. 22, 1862, and at that time had given the South 100 days to free the slaves itself. When the South sat on its hands, the Proclamation went into effect on the afternoon of Jan. 1.

When the Proclamation was announced in September, stocks fell, enlistments dropped and the Democrats shortly gained control of five key states. But on Jan. 1, hundred-gun salutes greeted the news in Boston, Buffalo and Pittsburgh, and there was general enthusiasm in the North and abroad.

THE PROCLAMATION freed slaves only in the sections not under the military power of the United States — Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana (except for 13 counties), Mississippi, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina and Virginia, except for that part known as West Virginia, which later became a state. No slaves in the North nor in the border states was affected, since the Proclamation was a military measure, a punitive step, against the South.

AS A RESULT, the Democrats argued that the ukase had no legal force and emancipated no one. They claimed that as President Lincoln could issue no such declaration, and as commander-in-chief of the armed forces he could issue orders concerning only the territory within his military lines. But the Supreme Court was never asked to rule on it.

THE PROCLAMATION was Lincoln living up to a pledge he had made — that he meant to save the Union as best he could, by preserving slavery, by destroying it, or by destroying part and preserving part. Lincoln was never an Abolitionist and, indeed, was on the record as saying he did not believe blacks were equal to whites, but the Proclamation was a necessary act of war against the South because of the urgency of crippling the cotton trade and of preventing intervention by England and France.

Until the Proclamation, many influential men in both England and France argued that the Southern cause was that of liberty and that the South was morally entitled to help. But once the North's struggle was converted into a crusade against slavery, public opinion in Europe made foreign intervention impossible.

EVEN BEFORE the Proclamation, Lincoln and the Congress had acted to abolish slavery in sections other than in the South. A joint resolution passed by Congress on April 10, 1861, urged that the United States cooperate with any state which would adopt gradual abolition by paying for the slaves freed. As a result, the slaves in the District of Columbia were freed on April 19 of that year, and the slaves in the territories on June 19.

TV Sex Education

Where Do Babies Come From?

LONDON (AP) — When you are eight or nine you begin to question the mystery of life.

"Where do babies come from?" you ask.

Then, one day in school, a voice says: "All the people in the world were made in the way we've told you today, by a man and a woman together. All the people in the world grew first inside their mothers' wombs and then were born.

"AND THAT'S where babies come from."

A thousand school children of eight and nine heard and saw this story in previews of new sex education programs produced by the British Broadcasting Corp. and scheduled for general broadcasting later.

The stork has been shot down. Is this good?

Dr. Louise Eickhoff, child psychiatrist at Selly Oak Hospital in Birmingham, says: "I have cases to show that children who have been taught by parents without harm broke down as a result of seeing the film 'Birth of a Baby' and television programs."

DR. ROBERT KIND, who teaches sex in Leicestershire schools, says: "I personally know of no case where a child has been sent off the rails by sex instruction. Ignorance causes anxiety as well as a good many illegitimate teenage births. It is the root of many adult sex problems."

BBC is putting Great Britain alongside Sweden in primary school sex education and ahead of the United States, where television sex instruction in some areas has called forth protest and threats of picketing and court injunctions.

Msgr. Francis Thompson, Roman Catholic bishop of Motherwell, banned the films in his diocese. Msgr. John A. Murphy, archbishop of Cardiff, Wales, said: "That there are some immature or careless parents we all agree but have all the good parents to suffer trespass because of them?"

THE GOVERNMENT assured Parliament that parental permission will be sought so that no child will be forced to see the programs.

A BBC spokesman said 95 per cent of the parents who saw the previews approved. A spokesman for the School Broadcasting Council, a BBC affiliate, said "initial reaction from parents, teachers and nearly 1,000 children at previews produced only a small number of objections."

Festivities To 'Greet' Year

Blackeyed peas and cornbread, traditionally reputed to bring good luck in the new year, will be served at several private clubs tonight as a climax to the annual New Year's Eve festivities. At least three of the clubs will also provide noisemakers, costume hats, balloons and other trappings associated with the celebration.

The evening will begin at Big Spring County Club with a cocktail party for members and guests from 8:30 to 9 p.m., when dancing will begin to the music of the Jack Camden Combo from Midland. A complete breakfast will be served at midnight, to be followed by more music.

Cosden Country Club will feature The Chanteurs playing for dancing from 9 p.m. to 12 o'clock when breakfast will be served.

The main event at the American Legion Hut, according to Dr. Gale Kilgore, will be a public dance for teenagers from 9 p.m. to midnight. The charge for young people will be $1.50 per person, and music will be by The Bicycle. In another area of the building, Legion members and their guests will dance to recorded music at no charge. A blackeyed pea supper will be served at midnight.

Members of the Elks Lodge and their guests will dance to the music of a local band from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., after which blackeyed peas and cornbread will be served.

Two dances are scheduled at Webb Air Force Base. At the Officers Open Mess, the Commander's Reception will be held from 7 to 9 p.m., to be followed by dancing from 9 p.m. until 2 a.m., to the music of The Sophisticates of Abilene. In the NCO Open Mess, "The Living Us" will play for dancing from 9 p.m. until 3 a.m.

RETIRES — Mrs. Granville Glenn, center, accepts a gold watch and service plaque from R. E. Hickson, Hemphill-Wells manager, during a breakfast in her honor Tuesday morning. Mrs. Glenn has retired after 24 years service with the company. At right is Mrs. Hart Phillips, cosmetic and accessory buyer for the local store.

Hemphill-Wells Honors Mrs. Granville Glenn

Mrs. Granville Glenn was honored with a breakfast Tuesday morning on the occasion of her retirement, effective Jan. 1, from Hemphill-Wells Company. Store employes attended the affair at Coker's Restaurant.

Mrs. Glenn was working for the Albert Fisher Company when the store was purchased by Hemphill-Wells Company in January of 1946. Mrs. Glenn started employment for the new owners as a saleslady in the fabric department, but began her work in the cosmetic department in 1948. In September of 1968, she was presented a 20-year pin by Charles of the Ritz Cosmetic Company.

During Tuesday's breakfast, R. E. Hickson, local Hemphill-Wells store manager, presented Mrs. Glenn with her first retirement check, a service plaque and a gold watch in appreciation of her 24 years service wtih the company.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn reside at 1204 Dixie. They have one daughter, Mrs. Dewey Stevenson of St. Paul, Minn., and two grandchildren, Christy and Patti. Mr. Glenn recently retired after over 40 years association with the Big Spring Daily Herald.

A LOVELIER YOU

Sneaky Weight Gain Should Be Stopped

By MARY SUE MILLER

Sometimes an increase in weight is hardly noticeable. This happens when a woman gains just a few pounds each year.

But even at the slow rate of two pounds per annum, the slim 30-year-old becomes a ponderous figure before she's 50. She looks older than she is, too. More serious, her chances for continued vigor are in jeopardy.

Women suffering from this sneaky kind of weight are usually at a loss to account for it. They feel certain that they do not overeat. But the fact that their calorie intake is too high cannot be disproved. This does not mean a woman deliberately fibs about her food consumption but, rather, she is misinformed. The truths are:

● To keep your weight normal you require less food with each passing decade. Even a small rise in a six months' period signals the need to lower your calorie count.

● Lowering your count would be less of a trial were you to use low-calorie substitutes for high-calorie foods, such as a non-caloric sweetener. De-fatted recipes, too.

● Regular exercise, however mild, helps to control weight by speeding up the utilization of calories. Your muscle tone and carriage also benefit on the side of youthfulness.

When staying in shape is so painless, why let yourself gain? Why not make weight stabilization your project for spring?

'ROUND TOWN

BY LUCILLE PICKLE

We're about to wind up the year 1969 whether we're ready or not. Not only another year but another decade . . . just when we finally got used to using 196 we're going to have to bring ourselves to writing 197 and this, next to keeping our resolutions, is about the hardest thing to do.

Thinking back, we have 10 more years paid on our house, but are paying more for it now than when we started; we have two boys through college and almost both through military service and are about to begin on the third . . . college and military, that is. We lost one dog but gained another, learned how to put together a lawn house that had at least a billion nuts and screws; made some new friends and saw more of our old ones; we've even taken a little more time to just enjoy ourselves . . . but at our age that comes easier all the time. Just sitting at home with our shoes off is a good evening . . . it takes so little to make some people happy!

Most of us didn't have any artificial decorations on our Christmas trees that could match the beauty of the ice-covered branches that we have had the past few days. With the tree lights caught in the freeze, the crystal-clear icy branches took on a particular beauty with the colored lights reflecting on them. And to add to the beauty during the day, the sun against the icy branches made a breathtaking sight in the areas that were heavily covered with high grass. Some said the reflection on the larger areas was so bright they had to turn their eyes away.

R. W. Livesays Will Reside In Plainview

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Wright Livesay are residing in Plainview following their marriage Dec. 20 in the First Baptist Church at Olton. The Rev. John E. Lewis was the officiating minister.

The bride is the former Karen Annette Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lewis of Olton. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lilley of Fairview and the late Mrs. Gay Lilley. The bridegroom is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Livesay of Olton.

Miss Connie Bell of Claude was maid of honor, and best man was Joe Sanders. Ushers were Howard Livesay, brother of the bridegroom; and Tommy Lewis, brother of the bride. Nuptial music was by Gary Dickenson, pianist, and Leslie Holladay of Canyon, soloist. The ceremony was performed before an altar illuminated with tall candelabra and centered with a basket arrangement of white carnations, lemon leaves and white doves.

The bride's gown was of white peau de soie with front panel of lace and lace sleeves ending in petal points over the hands. Her bouquet was a cascade of orchids, stephanotis and lilly of the valley.

The couple was honored at a reception in the fellowship hall where refreshments were served from a table appointed with crystal and silver. The bride's bouquet centered the table, and the tiered cake was topped with wedding bells.

The bride, a graduate of Plainview High School, attended West Texas University. The bridegroom, a 1969 graduate at Olton High School, is employed by the HCK Cattle Company of Plainview.

Among those attending the wedding from this area were Mr. and Mrs. Lilley and Mr. and Mrs. Rueben Hill of Big Spring.

MRS. ODELL WOMACK

Mrs. Womack To C-C Board

Mrs. Odell (Edna) Womack was named Tuesday by Paul Meek, president, to be one of his appointees as a director of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce during 1970.

Mrs. Womack has been active in many phases of community life. For three years she was a member of the executive board of the United Fund and served a similar length of time as head of the UF metropolitan division. She has been a long-time director of the YMCA, has served on most of its committees, and headed up the sustaining membership division. In health agency drives she has had a leading role in the Heart, Cancer and March of Dimes campaigns for many years.

She also has been a volunteer at the Big Spring State Hospital and was chairman of her sorority-sponsored Charm Class there. She also has been a member of the Rosebud Garden Club, is rated as a national flower show judge, and has headed the local Garden Club Council.

Mrs. Womack also has participated in PTA work, serving as president of the Washington school unit. She also has been a president of her (Friendship) Sunday School Class at the First Baptist Church, where she also served two years as a member of the budget committee. She and Mr. Womack have one son, Brent.

Burns Plans Trial Of 4 At Stanton

District Attorney Wayne Burns was to have spent most of today in Stanton preparing for four murder trials which have been called for trial Jan. 5. The cases charge three Big Spring persons and one Midland man with the July murder of a Stanton service station attendant, Marcus Tarango.

One of the four, Mrs. Wilma Smith, 20, 1203 Stanford, is currently out of jail on $10,000 bond, but the other three, including her husband, Webb Air Force Base Sgt. Donald L. Smith, 21, remain in the Stanton jail. Also charged in the incident are Steven Lewis Blanchard, 21, US 89 West, and George Lewis Hite, 21, 1900 W. Midland.

The shooting occurred at a service station at IS 20 and the Lamesa Highway, north of Stanton, July 9. The suspects were arrested by Midland police as they refueled their car at a service station on IS 20. They were charged with murder with malice aforethought and with robbery by assault, as well as carrying concealed weapons.

Mr. Sudberry is survived by his wife, Gladys; two daughters, Mrs. Eddie Cole, Mrs. Alvin Johnke, both of Big Spring; two brothers, G. D. Sudberry, Abilene, J. C. Sudberry, Florence, Ore.; a sister, Mrs. Hays McFadden, Corpus Christi; his mother, Mrs. Bertha Donham, Abilene; two grandchildren, and several nieces and nephews.

Pallbearers were B. L. Eggleston, Mike Eggleston, Tommy Ault, F. D. Rogers, C. W. Lomax and Garland Sanders.

'Child Of God' Is Committed By Parents

HOUSTON (AP) — One of the members of a band of revolutionary Christians was in the county psychiatric clinic Tuesday night after his distraught parents signed papers to have him committed.

John Perch, a 21-year-old dropout who reportedly is half-blind, was committed by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Perch of Pittsburgh, Pa.

The youth is a member of the Children of God, a nomadic group of about 100 young people who preach the teachings of Jesus Christ.

R.J. Greer, administrator of the clinic, said two county psychiatrists examined Perch Tuesday morning.

Perch was picked up for a psychiatric examination under the emergency warrant proceedings provided in the Texas Mental Health Code.

He will remain in the clinic at least until Jan. 8, when a hearing will be held before the judge of the county commissioners court, Greer said.

The boy's parents went into seclusion after their arrival Monday in Houston.

"John has been with us about four months now," said one of the members of the communal, which has been camped in a county park north of the city for the past two weeks.

"We first met him in front of the United Nations building in New York last September," she said. About 10 of the youths spent most of Tuesday in the lobby of the hospital, praying for young Perch.

City To File More Tax Suits

City Attorney Herb Prouty said today more suits have been filed by the city to collect delinquent taxes and the total amount collected should reach $80,000. He said the city expects to collect between 33 and 40 per cent of its back taxes, an increase of about 10 per cent over past years.

Prouty said the city has filed suits in the past few weeks both on its own and in combination with the Big Spring Independent School District.

Bentsen May Challenge Yarborough In 1970

HOUSTON (AP) — Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr., wealthy Houston businessman and former Texas congressman, said today he is considering challenging U. S. Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough in the 1970 Democratic primary.

"I am seriously considering it but have not made up my mind," Bentsen said in telephone calls to news media.

Yarborough told a Tuesday news conference in Austin that former Gov. John Connally, now of Houston, was encouraging Bentsen to make the race. Bentsen declined comment.

"I think Gov. Connally can speak for himself," Bentsen said.

Connally's office said he was out of town and would not return until next week.

Bentsen's wife served as a Texas National Democratic Committeewoman while Connally was governor.

Bentsen considered making a race against Yarborough in 1964 but on Jan. 3, 1964, removed himself as a potential candidate because of personal and business affairs.

After World War II Air Force service, Bentsen was elected to Congress in 1948 from the Rio Grande Valley district. At 27, he was the youngest member of the 80th Congress. After serving three terms, he returned to his Texas business affairs. He moved to Houston from McAllen in 1955.

Sheriff Urges Safe Driving

Howard County Sheriff A. N. Standard said today that he hopes to keep up the good record of no major accidents during the Christmas holiday, through the New Year's Eve celebrations.

"We now have good driving conditions," he said, "so if people just remember to be courteous drivers, I don't anticipate any great problems on the highway." The sheriff added that people at parties should make a point to leave for home a bit early and give themselves plenty of time to get there.

DEATHS

Mrs. McNeese, Pioneer, Leaves 242 Descendants

Mrs. Elvy Elsie Rosealley McNeese, 84, Midland, who came to West Texas in a covered wagon in 1916, died Tuesday in Midland Memorial Hospital.

Funeral will be held at 4 p.m. Thursday in Trinity Baptist Church, with the Rev. Claude Craven, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Mrs. McNeese was born Nov. 24, 1885, in Burnett County. She was married to J. W. McNeese Oct. 31, 1901, in McCullen County near Waco. They settled in Stanton in 1928. They lived in Stanton until 1955, when Mr. McNeese died on June 22 of that year. Mrs. McNeese then came to Big Spring where she lived until several years ago when she moved to Midland. She was a member of Trinity Baptist Church.

Mrs. McNeese is survived by four sons, J. E. McNeese, E. O. McNeese, both of Big Spring, I. L. McNeese and E. A. McNeese, both of Midland; six daughters, Mrs. Vera Thurmon, Mrs. W. L. Hopper and Mrs. Artie Hill, all of Midland, Mrs. Opal Thurmon, Quemado, N.M., Mrs. Hazel Robbins, West Plains, Mo., Mrs. Carl Hancock, Elverta, Calif.;

E. O. and E. A. McNeese are identical twins, and Mrs. W. L. Hopper and Mrs. Opal Thurmon also are twins; a brother, H. I. Peppers, Ranger; three sisters, Mrs. Emma Dunlap, Fort Worth, Mrs. Eveline Davis, Keene, Mrs. Eliza Lenard, Alvorado; 53 grandchildren, 138 great-grandchildren and 41 great-great-grandchildren.

Grandsons will serve as pallbearers.

Jake Beauchamp, Midland Rites

Funeral for J. D. (Jake) Beauchamp, Midland, will be held at 10 a.m. Friday at Primitive Baptist Church, Midland. The Rev. Elvis Barrington, pastor, will officiate with the assistance of Rev. J. S. Kirkpatrick, Midland, and Rev. B. R. Howze, Primitive Baptist Church, Big Spring. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery, Midland, under the direction of Ellis Funeral Home.

Mr. Beauchamp is survived by his wife, Iva; two daughters, Mrs. (Wanda) Estil Petty, Sand Springs, Mrs. J. D. Bowen, Odessa; two brothers, P. G. Beauchamp, Brownfield, H. R. Beauchamp, Knox City; four sisters, Mrs. Villa Bingham, Quemado, Mrs. Mary Qualls, Fort Worth, Mrs. Ruth Garner, Los Angeles, Calif., and Mrs. Irene Bolton, Wichita Falls.

Velma Green, C-City Resident

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Funeral for Velma (Preacher) Green, 63, will be held at 2:30 p.m. Friday from the Mt. Zion Baptist Church in Colorado City, with Rev. F. N. Nelson, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the Mitchell County Cemetery under the direction of the Kiker and Son Funeral Home.

Mr. Green died Sunday in the Root Memorial Hospital after a brief illness. He was born in Lousiana, April 27, 1906, but had lived in Colorado City about 45 years. He married Maggie Mae Wallace, Oct. 3, 1925.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. Martha Green, Los Angeles, Calif; his wife, five sons, Matthew Green, Lubbock, Isiah and James Green, both of Amarillo, John Green, Los Angeles, and Velma Green Jr., Colorado City; two daughters, Mrs. Julia Mae Miles, Odessa, Deris Green, Colorado City; four brothers, Robert Green, John Green, O. T. Green, all of Los Angeles, and Delton Green, Colorado City; a half-brother, Precious Green, Dallas; three sisters, Mrs. Deborah Green, Mrs. Helen Jackson and Mrs. Elnora Davis, all of Los Angeles; and 36 grandchildren.

H. E. Newburn, Formerly Here

Harvey Elmer Newburn, 84, former resident, died Tuesday in Napa, Calif., after being ill since Dec. 9. Services are pending at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Mr. Newburn was born Dec. 4, 1885, in Fayette County, Ill. He married Bertha Enlow, May 23, 1910, in West Frankfort, Ill., and they moved to Big Spring from Illinois in 1929. He owned and operated a welding shop on Brown Street until 1966. He was a member of the Westside Baptist Church. Mrs. Newburn died Jan. 31, 1966, and Mr. Newburn moved to California to live with his children the following year.

Survivors include three sons, Troy Newburn, Big Spring, Philip Newburn and Ruie Newburn, both of Napa, Calif.; a daughter, Mrs. Virginia Boyett, Houston; a brother, Jim Newburn, Carmi, Ill.; three sisters, Mrs. Bertha Harding and Mrs. Aurilla Grubaugh, both of Decatur, Ill., Mrs. Earl Huff, Kimble, Neb.; 12 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Paul H. Atwell, Services Today

Funeral was held for Paul Henry Atwell, 69, today at 4 p.m. in River-Welch Funeral Chapel with the Rev. Charles Corley, Phillips Memorial Baptist Church, officiating. Burial was in Trinity Memorial Park.

Mr. Atwell is survived by his wife, Irma, 604 State; three sons, Kenneth Eugene Atwell, Freeport, Elvin Ray Atwell, Odessa, Melvin Atwell, Big Spring; four brothers, J. W. Atwell, Graham, George Atwell, Arizona, Arthur Atwell, Albany, and Everett Atwell, Graham; two sisters, Mrs. Gladys Lindley, Graham, and Mrs. Jewell Boling, Stillwater, Okla.; six grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Pallbearers were Pete Reed, Kenneth Click, Harvey Mansfield, Russell Kennedy, Gene Shaw and Roy Lee.

Agrees With Columnist About Moon

To the Editor:

Good for your Mr. Tommy Hart for your letter of Dec. 29 on the item concerning the moon rocks. When I read it, I said, "Well there is a few people that haven't swallowed all that conglomeration about the moon. That big moon up there was given to us for light, and God didn't tell us to tinker with it. He gave us this big earth to live on, and if we'd obey Him, there wouldn't be any water shortages, no air pollution, no misunderstandings to cause these riots, etc. We wouldn't be spending unnecessary time and money tearing up the land for super-highways, unnecessary industry, superstores, and lakes, and what not.

I also hate to hear of so many of our hospitals threatened with closing. Mistaken people come along and say our halls are too narrow or that we need this or that (which takes money we need to keep the hospitals going). We have to put up with a lot of gab from drugstore cowboys who would be a lot healthier if they got exercise rather than sitting rared back with a cigar in their mouths and their feet propped on the desk. I guess we need some of them, but not all of 'em. I wish we could get more of our leaders to read our mail and learn there is still some grass roots left to help them think and realize there's enough of our patriotic Americans to preserve our country.

We see in Scriptures that there's nothing impossible with God. He can overrule any design, including the equipment we are sending in space to conquer the moon and trying to make our young people believe the moon and stars are inhabited, etc.

City Closes Down For New Year's

New Year's Day is traditionally an official holiday and there seems to be little question that most places of business will be closed. But there was confusion this morning at the Howard County Courthouse about whether or not to take the following day off as well, to make a long, four-day weekend.

County Judge Lee Porter said his office will be closed both Thursday and Friday, but said that it is up to each office in the courthouse to make its own decision about remaining closed.

The welfare and juvenile offices will be closed both days, and the secretarial staff in both justice of the peace offices will have the long holiday, but the justices themselves are always on call. The district attorney's office will also be closed both days, but no decision about the county auditor's office had been made by noon today.

Offices on the first floor of the courthouse, tax collector's and county clerk's, will be open for business as usual Friday, and so will the district clerk's office on the third floor.

"I plan to give my employes a day off some other time," said Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, tax assessor-collector. "They don't even get a Christmas bonus so I think they should at least get the same amount of time off as other people. It'll just have to be at a different time."

Assistant City Manager Roy Anderson said today all city offices except emergency services will be closed all day New Year's Day and most will operate with only skeleton crews this afternoon.

He said the police and fire departments would operate with a full complement of men but other city services would be open only on an emergency basis until Friday.

Banks in the Big Spring area plan to close for the first day of the new year, but all have announced they will be open for business as usual on Friday.

Most merchants report a New Year's Day closing schedule, but stores will be open on Friday and Saturday.

The post office will also take Thursday off, but there will be regular mail delivery both Friday and Saturday.

New Charge, Back In Jail

James Melvin Reed, 23, 1407 Park, remained in Howard County jail today on $500 bond set by Justice of the Peace Walter Grice for a charge filed in Howard County Court Tuesday of driving while intoxicated. Reed was out of jail on $5,000 bond for a narcotics charge when he was arrested on the driving charge Tuesday by city police. He was transferred the same day to the county jail.

Reed had been released last week when he posted the $5,000 bond which had been lowered by Judge R. W. Caton from $15,000 set by Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter on the charge of selling marijuana. Reed was arrested on that charge by city police with five others charged with the sale of LSD Dec. 11.

News Briefs

Seeking Return Of Poitras Here

Preparation is currently being made in District Attorney Wayne Burns' office to extradite Leo A. Poitras from Las Vegas, Nev., to Big Spring to answer a motion for revocation of probation. Poitras is currently in custody in Las Vegas on a local charge there.

Poitras was arrested Jan. 22 in Colorado and returned here on a forgery and passing charge. He pleaded guilty to the charge Feb. 6 and at that time was given a three year probated sentence. It is now alleged he may have violated that probation and the district attorney is working for his return to Big Spring.

Man Treated For Gunshot Wound

Juan Amaro, 26, old Gail Highway, was treated and released from Cowper Hospital Tuesday night after he suffered a gunshot wound in the left leg. Howard County Sheriff A. N. Standard said a bullet went through Amaro's leg, but that he does not expect criminal charges to be filed.

"We are continuing our investigation into the matter," the sheriff said, "but I think the situation is not a criminal one."

The sheriff said Amaro's wife called his office about 11 p.m. Tuesday saying her husband was wounded. Sheriff's deputies located the man in town and took him to the hospital.

Two Coahomans Injured In Break

Two Coahoma men were treated and released from Malone and Hogan Hospital Tuesday for injuries they received when a water pipe in Coahoma blew up and they were struck with pieces of the pipe. Robert Helm and Steve Dick, both employes of the town's water department, were working on pipes on College Street when the mishap occurred.

Some Coahoma residents were without water for a few hours due to the break, but the pipe was repaired late Tuesday night.

Burglar Caught Still On Premises

A Big Spring man was arrested at 1:14 a.m. today in connection with an attempted burglary at the Park Inn Lounge, 2711 Wasson Road.

Officer Fred Parsons said he discovered a broken lock on the front door of the lounge while on routine patrol in the area and, after calling for assistance from a fellow patrolman, found the man inside with a crowbar in his possession. Police said the man had no stolen goods in his possession at the time of the arrest.

Detainer Sent For Prisoner

District Attorney Wayne Burns Tuesday mailed a detainer to the penitentiary at Huntsville to hold Henry Otis Washington, 22, for a burglary charge in Howard County. Washington, whose last address in Big Spring was listed as Northwest Ninth Street, is due to be released from Huntsville Feb. 20, and Sheriff A. N. Standard said today that someone from his office will be in Huntsville to pick up Washington.

Washington was arrested here for burglary June 28 and was indicted on that charge July 23 by the Howard County Grand Jury. At that time he was on parole from the Texas Department of Correction, but when the burglary occurred here, it broke his parole, and Washington was returned to Huntsville to serve the remainder of his sentence. He now faces the burglary charge in Howard County.

Banana Split

WOLVERHAMPTON, England (AP) — Terry Holman, an expert with hook and line, fished $5 worth of bananas through the mail slot of a supermarket here. He was caught as he tried to slip away with his haul and fined five pounds in court.

FLOOD WORKERS — Two electric company employes paddle the swollen waters of the Harpeth River just south of Nashville to discontinue electricity at an evacuated house. Heavy rains caused flooding across the state which cost three lives.

Hundreds Of Mountain Residents Flee Homes

By The Associated Press

Torrents of rain dissolving tons of snow have sent normally placid streams and rivers surging from their banks forcing hundreds of mountain residents to flee their homes in Virginia, West Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky.

Tennessee authorities reported three dead as a result of flooding Tuesday.

The rains, pounding some areas for three days, pushed creeks out of their banks and into the streets of a number of small towns in Virginia and water was creeping into several others in West Virginia.

Hardest hit by the flooding appeared to be Lee and Wise counties in Virginia and areas along the Cumberland River in Kentucky, where 200 persons were evacuated from their homes by National Guardsmen.

Virginia State Police said Lee County was nearly isolated with all transportation arteries severed by flooding and landslides. In Pennington Gap, rescuers braved driving rain and darkness during the night to steer refugees from flooded areas.

A number of persons were rescued from atop their cars, stranded in the middle of flooded highways.

Small mountain hamlets in all four states were evacuated.

Scores of upriver homes were reported flooded to window level by late Tuesday and many large communities downstream in the path of rising waters were put on evacuation alert for this afternoon.

National Guardsmen, Civil Defense officials and others were sent scurrying to build dikes and sandbag barricades to help fend off the oncoming high water.

Coal mines in the Virginia mountains were closed down Tuesday when water cascaded down from the mountains as rain ate away at snow that had been piled as deep as 18 inches.

The Clinch River Tuesday night approached record levels and in the town of Clinchport, Va., water rushed through the streets at a depth of more than six feet.. The river was reported to be rising at a rate of seven inches per hour with rains still falling.

Pink Elephant Does Exist?

SKUKUZA, South Africa (AP) — The tourist was sober. He also was firm. He insisted he had seen a pink elephant in Kruger National Park.

"It emerged from the Oliphants River in the heat of the day," said H.E. McIntyre. "The brush of the tip of its tail was snow white and its skin was pearly pink."

Chief Game Ranger Dolf Brynard, skeptical at first, now believes it likely the pink elephant does exist. Since albino characteristics have been discovered in many animals, he says, there is no reason elephants could not be similarly affected.

McIntyre told of seeing the pink elephant twice. Other tourists began searching the game reserve the size of New Jersey. So far no luck.

The last animal census by helicopter indicated there were at least 7,700 elephants in Kruger Park. About 99 per cent of them were seen this year without an albino being spotted.

"Because of this we feel it is most likely that the elephant came into the park from Mozambique," said Brynard.

'Conception City' Idea

ROME (AP) — Parents should get away from smog and workaday worries if they want to conceive bright, healthy children, a noted Italian doctor advises.

Writing in the women's magazine Domina, Dr. Carlo Sirtori tells prospective parents:

"Away with overweight, away with alcoholic intoxication, with smoking, with overeating and indigestion. Away with worries, sorrows, anxiety, with idle bones and flacid muscles."

All these things often affect the kind of child you produce, Sirtori says, as sickness or neuroses can be reflected in sperm and ova. He recommends that a couple seeking conception get complete medical checkups, including an electrocardiogram.

"The ideal," he says, "would be to create a 'conception city' where nature was alive and healthy and clean, fresh, perfumed, and the breeze carried only oxygen . . . not gas fumes, phenol and lead."

TOMORROW

—CARROLL RIGHTER

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Relax in the morning but later be with powerful individuals who can make your future easier and more affluent. Seek out the pleasures that appeal to you most. Much enjoyment today if you keep your feet on the ground.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) The morning may seem very hectic, but you start the New Year on a very progressive note to setting the year right for you. Plan expansion with co-workers on a social basis. Be astute.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) This can be a particularly happy day provided you get rid of that grouchy mood. Handle friends wisely and they are cooperative. Be wise to their failings.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Give much attention to home and family today and make new plans for the future that are very worthwhile. Do your entertaining at home and then relax late in the afternoon. Schedule tomorrow's activities wisely.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Improve your physical health early and then out to the world of activity where new plans for the future can be formulated. Meet the right allies. Get the added data you need just at this time.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Although you are annoyed about the money spent celebrating the holidays, you later find just the right avenue through which to add to income quickly. Improving real estate is fine. Plan it.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Be as friendly with others as you can and don't discourage friendly visits. Much good can come of conversations. Do whatever you can to help those you love. Bring happiness into both your life and theirs.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Investigating every facet of your present interests intelligently can yield fine results. Then make fine plans for the New Year. You are able to get the information you need from right sources.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Take every opportunity to be with others so that they recognize your finest talents and can help you to get ahead. Plan your recreation for weeks and months ahead. Avoid gossips.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Find a more intelligent way of getting bigwigs to give you the backing that you need at this time. Get into some civic project you can handle. Show that you have a philosophical outlook.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have every opportunity to put your ideals to work successfully and gain more stature, wisdom. Correspond with those who are far away. Conversations with persons whose background has been different to yours brings fine results.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Your close ties expect much of you today so don't be disappointing, but cooperate with them. Plan how to have closer rapport with mate in this new year. Take more interest in cultural things.

God made man in His own image.

Saigon Prepares To Receive Agnew

SAIGON (AP) — Saigon prepared today to receive Vice President Spiro T. Agnew as it did President Nixon five months ago, but this time Saigon Radio isn't expected to break the communications blackout imposed for security reasons during the visit.

Informants said the vice president, who is making a 10-nation tour of Asia, would arrive from the Philippines either late tonight or early Thursday, New Year's Day.

There were indications he would remain about 10 hours, meeting U.S. and South Vietnamese leaders and making at least one visit to U.S. troops outside Saigon.

The Radio Corporation of America said in New York Tuesday night that its transmissions from Saigon would be shut down for about 10 hours beginning at 5 a.m. EST. But a few hours later it said it had information Agnew's departure from Manila had been delayed until Thursday morning and the blackout had been postponed.

When Nixon came to Saigon last July 30, most communication circuits used by newsmen were cut off during his five-hour stay. American correspondents were threatened with revocation of their credentials if they evaded the blackout to report the visit while it was on.

In the midst of the blackout, however, the South Vietnamese government's Saigon radio announced Nixon's arrival and reported what he did, including his lengthy meeting with President Nguyen Van Thieu.

Embarrassed U.S. officials later apologized to American newsmen and said the broadcast resulted from a "misunderstanding." However, a South Vietnamese official indicated his government decided to make the broadcast for "political reasons"—to give maximum publicity to Nixon's complimentary remarks about Thieu.

U.S. officials have assured newsmen there will be no such broadcasts if a news blackout is imposed during Agnew's visit. There has been no comment from South Vietnamese officials.

Winding up his visit to the Philippines, the Vice president discussed U.S.—Philippine economic and military relations with President Ferdinand E. Marcos. He also presented him slivers from the moon's surface and pictures of the Philippines that the Apollo 11 astronauts took alst July.

Later Agnew drove to the International Rice Research Institute 40 miles south of Manila. He visited some of the rice paddies, saw ancient and newly developed ways of plowing, harvesting, threshing and cleaning the rice seed, and at one point nimbly hopped across a muddy stream.

Holdup Try Of Aged Man Ends In Death

LIVINGSTON, Tex. (AP) — The apparent attempted holdup of an 82-year-old man by a Fort Worth couple ended in death for Huey Sigers and charges of attempted robbery for his wife, Carol Ann.

Justice of the Peace A.D. Holbrook said J.H. Loftin was at his rural home near the Seven Oaks community outside of this East Texas town when he was approached by the couple Monday.

Holbrook said Loftin told him that Sigers, 42, demanded Loftin give him $2. When he refused, Sigers and his wife then allegedly took all Loftin's cash, about $72, and started walking away.

Loftin told the judge he ran inside, got a small caliber rifle and shot Sigers. The judge ruled justifiable homicide in the slaying.

Loftin said Mrs. Sigers, 24, picked up the money and ran when her husband was shot. She was arrested several miles from Loftin's home after he reported the shooting to officers.

Gunboats From France Believed Nearing Haifa

HAIFA, Israel (AP) — The five mystery gunboats from France near Israel's shores today, and an oil company spokesman indicated their mission would be to supply and defend an Israeli-American oil drilling operation off the Israeli coast.

A spokesman for the Metivei Mext Co. said the speedy, 147-foot craft would arrive late in the afternoon (10 a.m. EST) and newsmen could question some of the officers and a company representative at a news conference.

The gunboats had been slowed by gale winds in the eastern Mediterranean, but the winds calmed at dawn.

The boats slipped out of Cherbourg harbor at 3 a.m. Christmas morning, evading the French government's embargo on arms to Israel. They were part of a flotilla of 12 built for Israel, but the other seven were delivered before the embargo was clamped on last January.

The French government said the boats had been sold to a Norwegian company for offshore oil drilling operations. It asserted the departure of the boats, manned by Israeli crews, was a complete surprise. But newsmen investigating in Cherbourg found strong indications that a number of high French officials knew in advance that the boats would be leaving and did nothing to stop them.

Authoritative political sources in Jerusalem said Foreign Minister Abba Eban told French Ambassador Francois Hure at a meeting Monday that the boats would be used for civilian purposes.

Israel procured the ships through an intermediary but contended that Israel had violated no legal statute in doing this.

The newspaper Maariv said the government would also take steps to demonstrate to the world that the boats were brought to Israel for "peaceful purposes."

It said a reception would be given for the ships on their arrival by the Maritime Fruit Carriers Ltd., the Israeli shipping company which apparently bankrolled the paper corporation that bought the boats from France.

The director of Maritime Fruit said Monday the boats would be used to supply offshore drilling operations. The American drilling ship Typhoon has arrived in Ashdod to drill nine wells off the Israeli coast.

Avalanche Of TD's Is Likely At Houston

By The Associated Press

What are you doing New Year's Eve?

Two sophomore quarterbacks who didn't figure on starting this season plan to light up the Astrodome's $2-million scoreboard when Auburn meets Houston tonight in the 11th Astro-Bluebonnet bowl.

It figures to be a 10-touchdown game with Pat Sullivan of Auburn and Gary "Moon" Mullins of the host Cougars leading the way.

Both teams are high-scoring college football powers with 8-2 records and can explode on the ground and through the air. Houston, ranked No. 19, has rolled up an average of 38.6 points a game this season; 12th-ranked Auburn 36.3.

ALREADY UNDER WAY

Touching off this long week of football activity Tuesday night was the second Peach Bowl in Atlanta where another sophomore, Eddie Williams, pounded out the yardage to lead West Virginia to a 14-3 victory over South Carolina.

Bob Gresham scored for the Mountaineers on a 10-yard run in the first period and Jim Braxton got the clincher on a one-yard run with only 23 seconds remaining in the rain-soaked contest played before 48,542. Billy DuPre's 37-yard field goal put the Gamecocks on the scoreboard in the second period.

But it was Williams who was named the game's most valuable offensive player. He carried 35 times for 208 yards.

The first major contest to get under way on New Year's Day is the Sugar Bowl (ABC, 12:45 p.m. CST) between third-ranked Arkansas and 13th-rated Mississippi. The favored Razorbacks present a 9-1 record, losing only to Texas in the regular season finale, a balanced offense and the nation's stingiest defense against scoring.

The Ole Miss offense revolves around Archie Manning, a spectacular junior quarterback who engineered big victories over LSU, Tennessee and Georgia this season. Mississippi finished with a 7-3 mark.

NBC comes on with the Texas-Notre Dame showdown at 1 p.m. (CST). Making their first bowl appearance in 45 years the Fighting Irish will have to stop the Longhorns' powerful ground game, led by quarterback James Street.

Texas, winner of all ten starts, faces Irish front lines that outweigh the Longhorns' almost 20 pounds a man. Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian, whose team compiled an 8-1-1 mark, promised that it will be "a hittin' football game."

LATE STARTERS

After that, don't turn your TV dial—NBC comes on with the Rose Bowl at 4 p.m. (CST) and the Orange Bowl at 7:15 p.m.

In the Rose, oldest bowl of them all, both clubs present solid running and passing quarterbacks. Sophomore Jimmy Jones guides fifth-ranked Southern California, 9-0-1, against seventh-ranked Michigan, 8-2, paced by junior QB Don Moorhead who helped the Wolverines knock off Ohio State this season.

Moorhead made good on 50 per cent of his pass attempts this season as well as carrying the ball more often than any other Wolverine. He tossed for five touchdowns and scored nine times.

Jones scored three touchdowns and passed for 12 TDs. Southern Cal's attack also features tailback Clarence Davis, who piled up 1,275 yards in 282 carries and nine touchdowns.

If Notre Dame knocks off Texas, emotion will be running high at the Orange Bowl where second-ranked Penn State tackles sixth-ranked Missouri. The Nittany Lions have enough going as is—being the underdog and striving to extend their 29-game unbeaten string.

Penn State Coach Joe Paterno was none too pleased when President Nixon acclaimed Texas the No. 1 team in the land following the Longhorns' 15-14 triumph over Arkansas. Hoping to land in the top spot in the final Associated Press poll, to be conducted after Thursday's games, Penn State will have to stop a strong Missouri offense, led by Terry McMillan and Joe Moore, which can strike in the air and on the ground. Missouri finished with a 9-1 record.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

A decade is ending, another is beginning. Here's how the sports pages may read as the world moves through the '70's into 1980:

Talk is rife that a bond issue which would finance a 7,500-seat coliseum would be submitted to Howard County voters. However, some disgruntled tax payers said, if they had the chance, they'd vote to rip up the first pavement that was authorized in downtown Big Spring, that segment between First and Third Streets.

George Halas, owner of the Chicago Bears, fined his offensive right tackle, Carter Virgil, $11.50, for refusing to go back and huddle with his teammates after each play. Virgil complained his quarterback spent all his time discussing his adventures in the business world and none of it calling plays. Virgil immediately asked to be traded to the Honolulu Hatpins.

The Odessa Nixon Red Barons (who now get all the talent from nine junior high schools) and the Abilene John Wayne Comancheros again rated as co-favorites in the District 9-AAAA football race. In most statewide polls, they were voted 1-2, also.

Big Spring, which failed to place a boy on the All 9-AAAA football team back in '74, boasts seven players in pro football, more than any other school in the district.

Bill Veeck denied that he was dickering to purchase the controlling interest in the New York Mets, move them to St. Louis and change their names to the Browns.

Sponsors in four of the five $1 million golf tournaments expressed displeasure that Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus did not play in them but Arnie and Jack said they could do better appearing in exhibitions in Hanoi and Moscow.

Joe Kuharich, recently cashiered as coach of the New York Giants, was rehired as head mentor at Notre Dame, vowing to take the Irish to the Rose Bowl.

President Spiro Agnew named Leo Durocher as his Chief of Public Relations, pointing out that Leo would ask the questions and only those willing to accept criticism would be issued press credentials.

Texas voters approved pari-mutuel betting on javelinas and liquor-by-the-drink in banks but outlawed bingo and expense-allowances of state legislators that would have been increased from $600 to $750 a day. One veteran legislator lamented the voters' shortsightedness, saying he thought each state senator should earn at least as much as the president of General Motors.

Another deer season opened in Texas and game officials warned that hunters could legally seek out animals with submachine guns but could not use napalm or dynamite.

All track records are being carried with asterisks after the entry's name, because all athletes are now having to run with face masks — due to air pollution. The new record for the 75-yard dash, which replaced the 100, is 13.9. All events over the quarter-mile were discontinued because the equipment takes too much of a beating.

A three-pound yellow catfish was pulled from the waters of Lake Spence, a record for the past five years. In fact, it is the only fish caught in West Texas in the past five years. Marine biologists are wondering how it survived.

Heavyweight boxing champion Joe (Kayo) Madrid earned a $4 million check for successfully defending his title but had to borrow a double saw-buck to pay his hotel bill. Tax collectors confiscated his fight check and demanded that he rake up another $1,300,000 for back levies.

Browns' Line Has Big Job

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League final in Minnesota Sunday shapes up as a test of brute strength between two muscle machines who prefer to run the ball but usually score with the pass.

But Grant's Minnesota Vikings undoubtedly will try to run at the Cleveland Browns with Dave Osborn and Bill Brown or Oscar Reed. In return, Blanton Collier positively will probe with Leroy Kelly and Bo Scott as his Cleveland team attempts to force an opening for Bill Nelsen's passes.

If the Vikings or Browns find they can do the job with the rush, they will play it close to the vest. But it is unlikely that either club will be able to ram the ball down the other's throats. Statistics do show it is easier to run on the Browns than on the Vikings.

Maravich Keeps Scoring Lead

NEW YORK (AP) — Pistol Pete Maravich increased his huge lead in the major college basketball scoring race, according to statistics released by the National Collegiate Sports Services today.

Maravich of Louisiana State, boasts a 47.3 average with Notre Dame's Austin Carr trailing in the second spot at 34.5. Figures are through last Saturday's games.

TUESDAY NIGHT

SAN ANTONIO — Jesus Pimentel, 115, knocked out Cuervo Denitez, 115, of Reynosa, Mexico, to retain his bantamweight title.

MIAMI BEACH — Manny Gonzalez, 150, Houston, stopped Roscoe Bell, 154, Miami, in the eighth round of their scheduled 10-round welterweight fight at Miami Beach Auditorium.

Bonnie Bob Lanier Rips Boilermakers

By The Associated Press

That mountain of a man, St. Bonaventure's Bob Lanier, is still looking for someone to cut him down to size. At 6-foot-10, 270 pounds, it may not come until he turns pro next season.

Big Bob came through with the top individual performance as the annual holiday college basketball tournaments came to a close Tuesday night. His 50 points powered the Bonnies from Olean, N.Y. to a 91-75 victory over Purdue for the Holiday Festival championship in New York.

The victory ran the 12th-ranked Bonnies unbeaten string to seven games. Purdue, 7-3, is ranked No. 17.

Three other teams ranked in the Associated Press Top Twenty poll captured tournament titles.

IRISH DEFEATED

Third-ranked South Carolina, led by John Roche's clutch foul shooting and Tom Riker's 36 points, downed Notre Dame 84-83 in overtime for the Sugar Bowl title at New Orleans. Austin Carr hit 43 for the 13th-ranked Irish.

North Carolina, No. 4, captured the Carolina Classic by tripping Bowling Green, 89-72, behind Charley Scott's 27 points. Davidson thumped Syracuse 103-81 for the Charlotte Invitational crown as sophomore Brian Adrian led the way with 32 points.

Purdue Coach George King called Lanier the best big man in the country. "As a player he does some things Lew Alcindor didn't do," he said. Lanier completely overshadowed the Boilermakers' All-American Rick Mount, who was held to 19 points by the Bonnies' tight zone defense.

Lanier hit 18 of 22 shots from the field, including 18 straight points in the first half. He also grabbed 15 rebounds.

Unbeaten but unranked Niagara, even without Calvin Murphy for 16 minutes of the second half, took the All-College championship by downing host Oklahoma City 87-75. Murphy, 5-foot-10 All-American, was benched with four personal fouls early in the second half. But Wayne Jones picked up the slack, finishing with 20. Murphy had 22, 18 in the first half.

SOONERS SUCCEED

Oklahoma took the Big Eight crown with a 73-72 victory over Colorado, ranked No. 20. It was the Sooners' 10th win in 11 starts, with Steve Ayers sinking the clinching free throws.

Oregon handed ninth-ranked Washington its first setback 83-73 for the Far West championship at Portland, Ore. Stan Love poured in 25 points and Billy Gaskins added 22 for Oregon.

Fran Dunphy's 24 points paced LaSalle to the Quaker City title at Philadelphia, beating previously unbeaten Columbia, tied for No. 15 in the rankings, 89-74.

FOR TREATMENT

Ken Chandler Is Now In Gonzales

Kenneth Chandler, the Garden City High School sophomore who was injured in a game against Wellman last fall, was flown to the Gonzales Warm Springs hospital for additional treatment this morning.

He was accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Charles Chandler, and his coach, Jack Woodley. Mr. Chandler was to follow by car.

Kenneth, who was paralyzed from the neck down when blocked by an opponent, is now able to move his arms and has developed a healthy appetite.

Speaking on behalf of the family, coach Woodley said the Chandlers were most greatful to students in area schools and the many, many adults who have contributed toward a fund to help defray Kenneth's hospital expenses.

"The people in Big Spring, San Angelo, Sterling City, Stanton and Forsan, as well as those in our own community, have been particularly interested in Kenneth's condition and many have contributed toward the fund," Woodley stated.

Young Chandler was moved to the Malone-Hogan Foundation Hospital about Dec. 18. He was permitted to spend a couple of days at his home in the St. Lawrence community during Christmas.

He had to wait for admission to the Gonzales hospital but permission to move him finally came through.

The Chandler youth was regarded as one of the most promising athletes in the history of Garden City High School before he was injured.

He was also a basketball standout, good enough perhaps to have a place on this year's varsity team had he remained healthy.

Kenneth has not lost his cheerful attitude nor his self discipline despite his problems, Woodley said.

An estimated $2,500 has been raised on Kenneth's behalf by his friends. His classmates took the lead in seeking donations and have worked untiringly toward its success.

Bobcats, Rebs Reach Finals

BROWNWOOD — San Angelo Central and Midland Lee have gained the finals in Division II of the 27th annual Howard Payne College Boys Basketball tournament.

The two 3-AAAA powers clash at 8 o'clock here tonight to determine the champion.

Lee routed Odessa Permian, 84-56; while San Angelo trounced Cleburne, 83-55.

Steve Van Hoozer and Ray Graves were the only Lee players to hit in double figures. Van Hoozer settled for 12 points and Graves 11.

Jack Porter was San Angelo's standout performer, scoring 25 points. The win was the 11th of the year for San Angelo, compared to only four defeats.

Brady and Ballinger tangle for the Division championship at 6:30 p.m.

Brady bounced Coleman in semifinal play, 64-55, while Ballinger turned back Mason, 54-44.

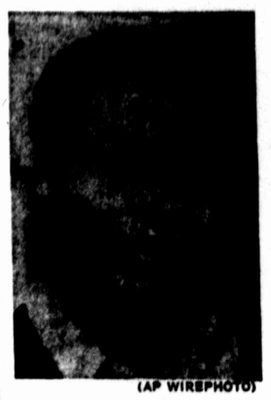

Jackets Defeat Foe, 94 To 75

BROWNWOOD — Howard Payne won its 13th straight basketball decision here Tuesday night, defeating Baptist Christian by a score of 94-75.

Tommy Jones, freshman from Crane, scored 14 points for the Yellow Jackets. David Jones, Stanton, accounted for two.

CARL GARRETT

Carl Garrett Frosh Of '69

OAKLAND AP — Carl Garrett, Boston's powerful running back, was a surprise winner over Greg Cook of the American Football League's Rookie of the Year award chosen by League coaches, it was announced today.

Garrett, who finished eighth in the AFL in rushing with 601 yards and was second in kickoff returns, received five first-place votes from the league's 10 coaches and amassed a total of 32 points.

Cook, the rookie quarterback from Cincinnati who won the league passing title, was second in the balloting with 20 points and two first-place votes.

Jerry Levias of Houston was third with one first-place vote and 14 points; O.J. Simpson of Buffalo was fourth with one first place vote and 10 points, and Bill Stanfill of Miami was fifth with six points.

Ron Sellers of Boston got one first-place vote and came in sixth in the voting with five points.

Garrett, from New Mexico Highlands, was the Bills third-round draft choice and was the only rookie chosen to the East All-Star team that will meet the West in the AFL All-Star game in Houston Jan. 17.

STARS OF '25 TEAM RECALL

Rockne Took A Dim View Of Training Violations

DALLAS (AP) — The last Notre Dame football team to play in a bowl game spent two weeks getting from South Bend to Pasadena, Calif., and Knute Rockne blew his top because the players gorged themselves out of condition.

JIM CROWLEY

"Rock got very irritable," Jim Crowley, one of the fabled Four Horsemen who helped crush Stanford 27-10 in the Rose Bowl 45 years ago, recalled Tuesday. "He was mad because we were dined but not wined.

"We went by bus by way of New Orleans, Houston and Tucson and everywhere we stopped were feted by civic clubs. I remember at New Orleans we stuffed ourselves so much on oysters we couldn't move.

SCARE STORIES

"Finally, we got to Tucson, which was a cow town then. The Rock made us stay there a week. But he told us to be careful about reaching for a handkerchief or a billfold in our hip pockets. Somebody might interpret it as a draw and we might get shot."

Crowley and two other members of the backfield immortalized by sportswriter Grantland Rice—Don Miller and Elmer Layden—flew into Dallas for Notre Dame's Cotton Bowl battle Thursday against No. 1 ranked Texas. The fourth member, Harry Stuhldreher, died in February, 1965.

The men whom Rice likened to the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse — War, Famine, Death and Pestilence—are now gray and plumpish, but still sharp and puckish in their remembrances.

Layden, 66, the fullback, is the grayest and slimmest, a transportation salesman now retired. "I've got so much nothing to do I can't get it all in," he says.

Crowley, 67, jowly, bespectacled and with a spreading paunch, is an industrial commissioner at Scranton, Pa. The other halfback, Miller, 67 and 188 pounds, is a U.S. district attorney in Cleveland.

Frequently thrown together for occasions such as this, they are like a vaudeville team, swapping quips and insults with each other, telling vivid stories and demonstrating a rare and warm camaraderie.

"Our backfield averaged only 156 pounds," Miller recalled, "and the line averaged 172 pounds."

Crowley, who later coached at Michigan State and Fordham, remembered that one night on the trip he and old Hunksinger were caught by Rockne at 9:55 p.m., five minutes before curfew, buying Christmas cards in a store.

"Rock told us to go to our rooms and the next day to get our tickets home," he said. But Adam Walsh pleaded their case and they were allowed to remain on the team.

EARLY BREAK

"At the start of the game, Huntsinger recovered a Stanford fumble and ran for a touchdown," Crowley reminisced. "I told Huntsinger: 'Isn't it a good thing Rock didn't send us home?'"

"It was Rockne's way of disciplining us—and scaring us," Layden said.

Crowley said he didn't remember Rockne making a pregame speech before the Rose Bowl game.

"Naw, because you were asleep," chided Miller.

The Three Horsemen all paid high tribute to Ernie Nevers, the great Stanford fullback.

"He would move the ball two or three yards every time he carried the ball," Miller recalled. "Then we'd stop him. Then Nevers threw one pass and Layden intercepted it and ran 70 yards for a touchdown. Layden intercepted a second one and ran 80 yards. Layden scored another touchdown from the four."

Wranglers Play Again Jan. 6

ODESSA — Odessa College, idle since the week prior to Christmas, returns to play Jan. 6 when it hosts Weatherford College.

The Wranglers will be seeking to improve upon a 6-4 record. They stand 1-1 in Western Conference competition, having humbled Howard County and lost to New Mexico JC.

Mountaineers Triumph

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — West Virginia fans were celebrating their first bowl victory since 1948 today, but wondering if the coach responsible for it would be around for another try next season.

Coach Jim Carlen acknowledged Tuesday night after the Mountaineers beat South Carolina 14-3 in the second annual Peach Bowl that he is considering an offer to move to Texas Tech.

Carlen, who scored his first bowl victory at Georgia Tech's Grant Field where he once was an assistant to Bobby Dodd, said he will make his decision "within a week."

Despite persistent rumors, Carlen previously had denied there was a possibility he might make the move. He acknowledged to newsmen he is considering the change as Mountaineer fans pressed around him outside the West Virginia dressing room.

Several of them appeared to speak for the thousands of rain-soaked Mountaineer fans who attended the game by repeating, "we're going to keep him, we're going to keep him."

If Carlen does leave his present post, he'll be leaving behind a backfield which he described in a post-game interview as "the best in the country, including Texas."

Carlen's praise was for Eddie Williams, Bob Gresham, Jim Braxton and Mike Sherwood, combined for a total of 356 rushing yards against the Gamecocks.

Williams, a sophomore who had been a reserve back all season, gained 208 of those for a new school and Peach Bowl record. He carried 35 times, and was voted the game's outstanding offensive player.

It was the first time the backfield combination had started for the Mountaineers. Carlen said he went with the triple-option backfield because his wide receivers were hurt.

COTTON'S QUEEN — Rhoda Gayle Thornton, 20, a brown-eyed, brown haired beauty from Meridian, Miss., beams from behind a bouquet of cotton Tuesday night after being crowned 1970's Maid of Cotton in Memphis, Tenn. The University of Mississippi junior rose through a field of 20 finalists from the country's cotton states. She begins her year-long round of goodwill appearances today and Thursday at the Cotton Bowl football classic in Dallas.

Many Responded To Help Needy

Mrs. Ruby Phillips, director of Howard County Welfare, said Tuesday that the response this year to the need for giving Christmas dinner baskets, was the greatest she could ever remember, and that 50 families were given a brighter Christmas.

"It was just wonderful how everyone helped out," she said. "Some of these people wouldn't have had a Christmas at all if it hadn't been for the community's response."

Mrs. Phillips said that the groups which did adopt families went far in supplying not only a Christmas dinner, but also a Christmas tree, decorations, clothes for the children, and even presents.

"It was especially heart-warming to see so many young people take an interest in helping the unfortunate," Mrs. Phillips said. She said one group from the high school really went all out for their family, taking a giant tree to their home the Friday before Christmas complete with decorations.

"These youngsters did a great job of bringing meaning to their own Christmas, too," Mrs. Phillips said.

Baskets prepared for Christmas dinners went to nearly 50 families in Howard County and included everything, literally, from soup to nuts. They had fresh fruits and vegetables, canned goods, turkeys, chickens, hams, candy, pies, cakes, breads, rolls and cranberry sauce.

Mrs. Phillips extended thanks to the following organizations, clubs, church groups and individuals who helped to provide Christmas for needy families, saying it was indeed a Christmas to remember.

The Non-Commissioned Officers Association, Webb AFB, took baskets to 11 families and gave a Christmas party for 200 of the community's needy children. The following groups all 'adopted' families: Vincent Baptist Church, Girls Auxiliary; Baptist Temple, various Sunday school classes; Phillips Memorial Baptist Church; Wesley Methodist Church, Browder class; Wesley Methodist Church, WSCS; North Birdwell Methodist Church, Ruth Sunday School class, and Cub Scout Pack 63; Cadet Girl Scouts, Troop 98; Mrs. Marilyn Gieseking's Brownie Scout Troop; Mrs. Jack Little's Brownie Scout Troop; Big Spring High School, Distributive Edcuation Club and Future Medics; 1930 Hyperion; Mrs. Charlie Richards; Gladys Ogle; and one anonymous donor.

Mrs. Phillips said all the needy families in the Coahoma, Sand Springs area were provided with Christmas dinners, and she thanked the following groups: First Baptist Church, Coahoma; First Baptist Church, Sand Springs; Midway Baptist Church; Sand Springs Church of Christ; Coahoma Church of Christ; Coahoma First United Methodist Church, Methodist Youth Fellowship; Methodist Guild, Coahoma; Mary Jane Club, Coahoma; Coahoma Lions Club; Coahoma Volunteer Fire Department; 4-H Club, Coahoma; Coahoma High School FHA; Sand Springs Girl Scouts; Hi-Way Grocery; Anderson Food Store; and P&L Variety Store.

THE SOARING SIXTIES—A WORLD IN ORBIT

Man Seems Set On Destroying His Environment

By PAUL CORCORAN
Copley News Service

There is no single day, week or month that can be pinpointed as the time America awoke to its staggering environmental crisis.

The sad state of deteriorating air and water quality did not surface as an instantaneous revelation. No single prophet exposed the distressing increase in waste, the hazards of chemical additives and pesticides. There was no instant recognition of noise as a major health concern for modern man.

But the decade of the 1960s, a time of unprecedented technological development, will go down as the time when an accumulation of environmental problems and some downright disasters first focused attention on the magnitude of the challenge.

As America prepared to confront the problems of her third century as a nation, scientists, government officials, politicians and private citizens joined in a sometimes off-key chorus to warn what will happen if the environment cannot be made more livable.

The situation contrasts sharply with the early 1960s, when the late Rachel Carson was one of the few to articulate the hazards of pesticides and other environmental problems in the book, "Silent Spring."

She was ridiculed by some members of a strong but not always publicly heard lobby for industries which went their respective ways with little concern for befouling the air, streams and lakes.

Technology through the 1960s too often was the villain rather than the hero in the contest to save the cities, while at the same time conserving the national environment.

"The deterioration of the environment is in large measure the result of our inability to keep pace with progress," President Nixon observed. "We have become victims of our own technological genius."

The problem of environment — defined in the dictionary as "the aggregate of social and cultural conditions that influence the life of an individual and a community" — hardly is limited to the United States. Almost all nations, particularly those industrially advanced and heavily populated, have their own troubles.

But because America is so technologically advanced and because of increasing pressures brought on by rapidly expanding population, her dilemma is more acute.

Here are some of the problems confronting the nation on the eve of the 1970s:

1. Rapidly expanding population. The term "population explosion" was a cliche of the '60s, but like many cliches, it is accurate. America has more than 200 million citizens now. By 1980, this nation — with a population growth rate higher than India — will have 230 million, and by 2000, 330 million. Seventy per cent of all Americans now live on one per cent of the land.

2. Toxic matter is released into the air over the United States in the form of carbon monoxide, sulfur dioxide, and any number of variables produced by industry and automobiles at the rate of 142 million tons a year. That is three-quarters of a ton for every American.

3. A way must be found to dispose of more than 3.5 billion tons of solid wastes every year.

4. Much of the nation's drinking water is poor in quality and some substandard.

In 1969, there were more than 19,000 communities where public water supplies serve 58 million persons, but which are not covered by U.S. Public Health Service standards.

5. An estimated 2 million Americans are stricken each year with illness resulting from microbiological contamination of food.

Another 100,000 annually are killed in accidents, with 52 million injured, many on the job.

6. The use of food additives to impart flavor, color or other qualities increased 50 per cent in the 1960s. Each American, according to figures supplied by the consumer protectional and environmental health service of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, consumes an average of three pounds of such chemicals each year.

In a major development in October, 1969, HEW Secretary Robert Finch announced a ban on the chemical additive cyclamate because laboratory tests showed it produced bladder cancer in rats. There are indications the government has been studying the possibility of future bans that would remove from distribution other additives used in foods consumed by millions of Americans.

7. Thousands of workers suffer from cancer, lung disease, hearing loss, dermatitis and other preventable diseases "because industry, unions and governments at all levels have failed to give really adequate attention to occupational hazards," in the view of HEW's consumer service chief, Charles C. Johnson Jr.

8. Despite the Federal Water Pollution Act of 1956 and the Water Quality Act of 1965, pollution in streams, lakes and rivers remains a serious problem in many parts of the country. More than 15 million fish were killed by water pollution in 1968.

Lake Erie, the "economic lifeblood" of more than 13 million persons, is cited as the most graphic example of how man can defile a natural resource. It was in the early 1960s that the Public Health Service undertook a major study that disclosed industries discharged almost 10 billion gallons of processing and cooling waters containing pollutants into Lake Erie each day. The Department of Interior put it succinctly in 1968: "Man is destroying Lake Erie . . . It is as positive as if he had put all his energies into devising and implementing the means."

Why were the '60s a particularly critical period for focusing attention on the environmental problem?

After all, smoke and dirt are not new problems in the city.

And, throughout history, man has chopped down trees and planted crops with little consideration for the impact on future growth, and only lip service to conservation of resources.

Smog has been with us a long time. Air pollution — a combination of fumes from local factories and "unusual weather conditions" — was blamed in 1948 for the deaths of 20 persons and serious illness of hundreds more at Donora, Pa. Los Angeles, with its Air Pollution Control District, has been fighting smog since the end of World War II.

What did happen in the 1960s in America was part accident, part the absence of planning, and partly due to technological advances. Television vividly depicted events that brought home to more people than ever before how many problems were going unsolved.

Then, too, there were disasters and accidents which focused attention on general problems.

Los Angeles gets credit for calling national attention to auto smog.

There was no single catastrophe — although industrialist William Lear believes one is possible if steps are not taken to reduce pollution by photochemical smog. But some 5 million motor vehicles were registered in Los Angeles by the end of 1969. Because Los Angeles has a unique geographical setting — a basin ringed on all but one side by mountains — something had to be done to minimize smog from crankcase and exhaust emissions.

By 1966, autos in California had to have exhaust controls that substantially reduced pollutants. New restrictions are a must by 1972, but critics, including Lear, don't think they are restrictive enough.

Major manufacturers believe the auto smog problem will be solved by 1980. This estimate also is disputed by auto industry critics.

If Los Angeles has the most to worry about from a smog attack, other cities without auto pollution problems cannot be sure a disaster will not strike in the 1970s. Dr. Hartley Motley, Los Angeles, a nationally recognized student of environmental health problems, sees this as a possibility for New York or any city if steps are not taken to control the release of sulfur dioxide and carbon monoxide into the air. Factories and old incinerators and furnaces are among sources of air pollution in highly industrialized cities.

The 1960s saw several dramatic events that had a lasting impact on the public and the government's attitude toward a variety of problems, including noise.

1. In 1964, B-58 Hustler bombers flying at supersonic speed set a transcontinental speed record. But they also shattered windows and contributed so many supersonic booms that subsequent plans for SST airliners have been revised.

When the SST does go into service in the 1970s, there will be strict limitations as to its travel across land.

Still pending are numerous suits from persons residing near airports complaining jet noise has damaged their health and reduced property value.

2. In 1967, the Torrey Canyon, a giant tanker, broke up off the coast of England, defiling coastlines of Britain and France with 119,000 tons of crude oil. Wildlife was killed, beaches blackened.

3. In 1969, the Santa Barbara, Calif., oil spill spurred introduction in Congress of a bill to outlaw willful discharge of oil in navigable waters, and to require polluters to pay cleanup costs resulting from such a mishap.

4. In November, 1965, a large section of the Northeast United States was blacked out by a massive power failure. This pointed to the fact electric power sources were heavily overburdened, and could make the nation vulnerable to sabotage by an enemy force.

As Miss Carson pointed out in "Silent Spring," it took millions of years to establish a balance of nature. In a fraction of that time, man has in some cases upset the blaance, with the resultant losses in land and other resources.

Writing in Trial magazine, a publication for attorneys, Victor John Yannacone Jr. comments:

"Many of our environmental problems stem from the misguided atempts of shortsighted, ecological Neanderthals attempting to control the uncontrollable. Pesticide abuse is a classic example. The use of broad-spectrum, long persistent pesticides such as DDT, Dieldrin, endrin, aldrin, toxaphene and heptachlor so altered the ecology of agricultural areas that attempts at elimnation created new pest species."

Yannacone, who believes the public "has a right to a salubrious environment," does not foresee the federal government taking over the full burden of solving the environmental crisis.

"The time has come to 'housebreak' industry, before the house is unfit for all to live in," he writes.

What is the prospect for the future, the 1970s and beyond?

Private industry is increasing its expenditures to solve pollution problems (Detroit and Los Angeles, among others, with natural gas for power) and the federal and state governments are working toward more concerted efforts to effect controls.

But thus far it is a piecemeal effort, much of it well-intended. It represents only a short step in man's struggle to master his technology.

One positive feature has been development of an 11-point policy directive by Secretary of the Interior Walter Hickel which is designed to utilize national parks for recreational opportunities without disturbing the wildlife environment.

The President also has appointed the Environmental Quality Control Council, headed by Dr Lee A. DuBridge, to study improved measures for control of pollution, coordinate efforts on different levels of government and to anticipate future problems.

What seems needed most of all, however, is a concerted master plan, coordinating the efforts of the private and governmental sector much as the systems approach has been used in the space program. As huge as the task is, there is an almost limitless brainpower resource — 90 per cent of all the scientists ever born are alive as we enter the 1970s — and a compelling demand for action.

Former Interior Secretary Stewart Udall, one of the leading conservationists of the '60s, put it this way: "If we find ourselves unable to meet the challenges of technological change, it will be because we failed to generate the discriminating thinkers — those who would challenge the herd psychology and without destroying the groups, nevertheless achieve a forward shift in the centers of traditional belief."

All those deeply interested in assuring fulfillment of the American Dream of a livable life, with all the serenity and pleasure it may offer, do have one thing in common. They recognize the sense of urgency, the need for action.

In nature, Rachel Carson observed, "time is the essential ingredient'' in achieving balance.

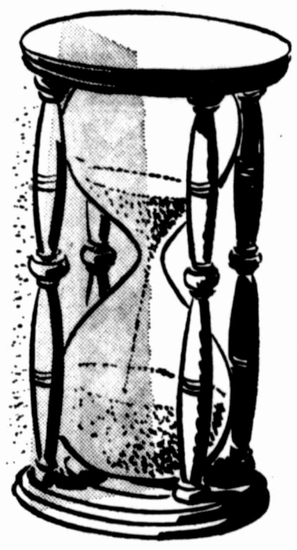

"But in the modern world, there is no time," she concluded.

Those who look to the future hope only there is time enough to make amends with nature, and with people.

Dramatic Reality

WALDRIDGE, England (AP) — The state-run National Coal Board planned to demolish the disused coal mine here, but the BBC stepped in and stopped the operation at the last minute so it could blow the pit up instead. The explosion will be the high spot of the BBC's most ambitious location drama broadcast, a five-part serial based on Emile Zola's novel "Germinal" about socialist revolution in 19th century France.
