Shuttle erupts into fireball

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Space shuttle Challenger exploded as it carried schoolteacher Christa McAuliffe and six crew members into space today.

There was no indication of the fate of the crew but it appeared there was no way they could survive.

It was the first such failure in 56 such U.S. man-in-space missions.

The shuttle rose spectacularly off the launch pad at 11:38 a.m. EST and was climbing smoothly trailing a 700-geyser of fire when suddenly it erupted in a huge fireball and shot out of control.

A voice at Mission Control said, "We are checking with recovery forces to see what can be done at this point. ...Contingency procedures are in effect."

The voice said, "Vehicle has exploded. ... We are awaiting word from any recovery forces downrange."

There were seven crew members aboard, including Mrs. McAuliffe, a 37-year-old New Hampshire teacher selected as America's first citizen in space.

Mission Control said debris from the shuttle impacted several miles out in the Atlantic and that recovery forces were speeding in that direction.

The other crew members were commander Francis R. Scobee, 46, pilot Michael J. Smith, 40; Judith Resnik, 36; Ronald E. McNair, 35; Ellison S. Onizuka, 39; and Gregory B. Jarvis, 41.

Mission Control said parts of the spacecraft fell at 28.64 north latitude and 80.28 degrees west longitude, just a few miles off Cape Canaveral.

Ships and helicopters raced to the area and the control center said paramedics had leaped into the water.

There was no indication how much of the shuttle was intact.

The explosion was a devastating setback for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration after successfully carrying out 24 space shuttle missions in slightly less than five years.

Challenger was a $1.2 billion spacecraft, one of four in the fleet.

The flight was the second of a record 15 shuttle flights that NASA had planned this year.

It probably will be months now before another shuttle can be launched, while engineers try to determine what went wrong.

NASA said the explosion occurred about 60 seconds into the mission, at a point when the astronauts were beginning to throttle their engines up to maximum to reduce the forces of gravity during liftoff.

The explosion also occurred about the time Challenger was to enter a period of maximum aerodynamic pressure when wind and other atmospheric conditions would place the maximum force on the outside of the vehicle.

The shocking spectacle of the explosion was seen by millions of people around the country who were watching the launch on television.

All 1,200 students at Mrs. McAuliffe's Concord High School were cheering the televised launch when a teacher yelled for them to be silent because something appeared to be wrong.

As it became clear there was

Snyder woman set to receive sister's kidney

By Shirley A. Gorman
SDN News Editor

In February, Mrs. Bobby (Vickie Jean) Jones of Snyder will receive a precious gift.

The gift is a kidney and the donor will be her older sister, Carol Waid, a former Snyder resident who now lives in Austin.

Jones, the daughter of Doyle and Peggy Chandler of Snyder, has had kidney disease for the past 10 years.

Recently, the mother of three has been told her kidneys are only functioning at 10 percent of their capability. She was also told to expect dialysis or a transplant within a few years.

The decision was made not to wait for the transplant due to the possibility of her health deteriorating.

The technical name of her disease is chronic glomerule nephritis and chronic renal failure, but it is often referred to as "Bright's Disease."

Jones will undego the kidney transplant Feb. 7 at Lubbock General Hospital. Her physician will be Dr. Neal Glass, the surgeon who on Jan. 23 performed that city's first organ transplant in six years.

That patient was Robert Tolbert and the kidney donor was Ruby York, his twin sister.

Following surgery, Jones will be under the care of another Lubbock physician, Dr. Duke Myers.

If all goes well, Jones will be hospitalized for two weeks following the transplant and then she will be able to recuperate at home.

Doctors will not remove either of her two kidneys. Instead they

Comic opinion poll feature will begin tomorrow in SDN

"Got a Comic Opinion?" is a question Snyder Daily News readers will be asked beginning Wednesday.

The SDN is hoping to change its comics page to better reflect what its readers want.

To accomplish this, a newspaper comic poll has been created asking readers to "rate" the 17 comics now offered on the comics page.

Readers will be asked also to rate how often they read or use other features inside the SDN to include Berry's World, Astro-Graph, Dear Abby, Dr. Gott, the Bridge Column and the Crossword Puzzle.

Finally, readers will be able to suggest potential comics they would like to see included in the newspaper.

The comic poll will be run several times during the next few weeks. Readers are encouraged to fill out all of it, but any portion of the poll completed will help SDN staffers identify which comics are being read.

The completed poll may be mailed to the newspaper or brought by the SDN office at 3600 College Ave. A mail slot is in the front door for deliveries after business hours.

Comments regarding the comics page are solicited also. These will be included in a news story planned once the poll is completed.

To return the survey by mail, the address is the Snyder Daily News; P.O. Box 949; Snyder, Tx., 79549.

College pool rules reaffirmed

To insure rules are observed pertaining to the use of the swimming pool at Western Texas College, officials Tuesday reminded those qualified to use the facility who can swim there and when the pool is open.

Those with swimming privileges — to include students, faculty members and their family and qualified booster club members — are asked to note the following hours of operation.

These hours are 6:30 until 9 a.m. Monday through Thursday; noon until 1 p.m. Monday through Friday; 7 until 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday; and 2 until 5 p.m. Sunday.

Other times will conflict with other scheduled uses of the pool

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Nostalgia is living in the past lane."

Randy Perkins, owner of the Shack Restaurant was pleased with the publicity given his establishment in last week's Abilene Reporter-News regional feature.

Randy called this week wanting some help clearing up a couple of facts. "De Judge" license plates were donated to the Shack by Peace Justice Dan Callaway. The car tags from Mars, Pa., belonged to Leroy Hessler's father, Perkins said.

Reports are that the price of oil is going down and the price of coffee is going up.

We don't have a solution for oil prices, but one way to beat the coffee price hike is to follow those Panhandlers who beg for a quarter for a cup of coffee.

Give 'em a quarter, then follow them, so you'll know where you can still get a cup of jaya for two bits.

Folks in the big city may have to stop drinking coffee. The prices would certainly encourage you to cut back. Coffee in most hotel coffee shops are $1 per cup.

We sure hope Dean Floyd doesn't get any ideas....

Big city living just isn't our cup or tea (or coffee). At a recent Texas Press Association Convention, a trade show participant explained that he needed to deliver a computer part from his office in North Dallas to a customer in South Dallas.

The drive would take two hours. Instead he drove to a nearby airport, took his airplane out of the hangar, flew to the south part of town, rented a car, drove to the customer and flew back home in 45 minutes.

Another fellow at the convention works downtown. It took almost two hours to drive to the convention site on LBJ Freeway in the north part of town. The speaker said, "I didn't even know this hotel was here...I've never been this far north."

If some folks could only have a taste of small town life...

Bike theft arrests continue

The total of juveniles linked to a recent rash of bicycle thefts increased to nine Monday as police linked them to at least 10 reported incidents.

And investigators indicated Tuesday morning they expect more arrests and more bicycles to be recovered.

Police detained five more juvenile suspects Monday evening and recovered several more bicycles reported as missing the past several months.

A Sunday evening tip led officers to a residence in the 700 Block of 29th St. where they took four juveniles into custody and recovered a large quantity of bicycle parts including nine frames.

Q. — Is the state going to revoke the teacher's certificate of those certified teachers who are not currently employed if they do not take the TECAT test?

A. — All certified teachers who have not passed the TECAT will see their teacher certification become "inactive," according to a representative with the Texas Education Agency. An unemployed teacher wishing to return to education will have to pass the test for employment.

In Brief

Speech slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan goes before Congress and a national television audience tonight to deliver his fifth address on the State of the Union and, in the words of one aide, "to redefine the role of the government for the next decade and into the next century."

The traditonal speech to a joint session of the House and Senate will be broadcast live by the major radio and television networks beginning at 9 p.m. EST.

Trial resumes

LIVINGSTON, Texas (AP) — In a tape-recorded interview played to jurors, a former principal denied murdering a football coach over the affections of a school secretary.

When investigators asked Hurley Fontenot, former principal of Hull-Daisetta Woodson Junior High School, if he knew who had killed coach Billy Mac Fleming, Fontenot said, "I haven't the slighest idea."

Cash stolen

Police are investigating a burglary of a motor vehicle complaint filed Monday morning.

Patrick Morgan of 4106 Eastridge Dr. called police at 10:19 p.m. He reported an undetermined amount of cash had been stolen from his 1983 Nissan automobile.

The money is thought to have been taken from the car while it was parked outside the Morgan residence between 10:30 p.m. Sunday and 9:10 a.m. Monday.

Scientology founder is dead

LOS ANGELES (AP) — L. Ron Hubbard, a science fiction writer whose often-embattled Church of Scientology has grown to at least 2 million members during its three decades, has died at age 74, Scientology officials say.

Hubbard, who had not been seen in public since 1980, died of a stroke Friday at his ranch near San Luis Obispo, Heber Jentzsch, president of the Church of Scientology International, said Monday night.

Hubbard's ashes were scattered at sea Sunday, after his body was examined by the San Luis Obispo County coroner's office, Scientology officials said.

Associated Press calls to the coroner's office late Monday were answered by a tape recording.

Hubbard's eldest son, Ronald E. DeWolf, in a lawsuit filed in 1982, had claimed that Hubbard was either dead or mentally incompetent, but a judge ruled Hubbard was alive.

Hubbard and his third and surviving wife, Mary Sue Hubbard, founded the Church of Scientology in 1954. Its philosophy is based on Hubbard's 1948 book "Dianetics: The Modern Science of Mental Health," which has sold millions of copies.

Through use of a so-called E-meter, somewhat like a lie detector, church members undergo exercises and counseling to eliminate negative mental images and achieve a "clear state."

"It's mental technology to improve communication, intelligence, and give people the ability to be happy human beings," Ken Hoden, president of the Church of Scientology of Los Angeles, said last year.

The group has claimed up to 6 million members worldwide since the height of the movement in the 1970s. Defectors, however, have put the number at closer to 2 million. At its peak, it reportedly earned $100 million a year.

Hubbard, who was born in Tilden, Neb., and was raised in Helena, Mont., and Bremerton, Wash., did not control the organization and its corporations for the past few years, said Jentzsch.

Scientology literature boasted that Hubbard was, "at various times, top sergeant in the Marines, radio crooner, newspaper reporter, gold miner in the West Indies and a movie director-explorer, having led a motion picture expedition into the South Seas aboard an ancient windjammer."

DeWolf, who had changed his name from L. Ron Hubbard Jr., derided those claims in 1982, saying "99 percent of what my father wrote about his past life was false."

From 1968 to 1975, Hubbard reportedly lived chiefly aboard a huge yacht, the Apollo, drifting around the Mediterranean with a crew made up of members of the church's elite corps, "Sea Org."

He also lived in Dunedin, Fla., and in California, on ranches near La Quinta and Hemet and at the resort of Gilman Hot Springs, according to court papers filed by DeWolf.

Urban area funds are withheld

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal housing officials are notifying cities and towns that the Reagan administration has decided not to spend $200 million in urban development grants Congress had approved for 1986.

Edwin Dale, spokesman for the White House Office of Management and Budget, said Monday that such cuts are "part of a whole package of deferrals and recisions that will go to Congress with the budget" next Tuesday.

In letters sent Monday, Alfred C. Moran, the Department of Housing and Urban Development's assistant secretary for community planning and development, told local HUD officials, "your staff should immediately return any new proposals received during January for the March 1986 small-cities round" of grants.

Moran said the order was given in response to directions from OMB deferring the spending of money already appropriated by Congress.

Unless overturned by Congress, the deferrals can stop the awarding of the popular Urban Development Action Grants until the end of the fiscal year on Sept. 30. If the administration wanted to stop the spending beyond then it would have to ask Congress to not appropriate any money for the program and cancel its previous appropriations.

The decision met with criticism from an official representing some of the nation's municipalities.

Randy Arndt, spokesman for the National League of Cities, said the move is intended to cancel the program.

In Edwardian England, people invited house guests to come for "Saturday to Monday" because the term "weekend" was considered vulgar.

Dear Abby

DEAR READERS: Yesterday's column was filled with names (submitted by my readers) of those who managed to succeed against the odds. Today's is a continuance of that list:

Have a thalidomide child born with a dwarfed, twisted body without arms, and you have a Terry Wiles, who, with the aid of mechanical devices, learned to play the electric organ, steer a motorboat and paint.

Amputate the cancer-ridden leg of a handsome young Canadian, and you have a Terry Fox, who vowed to run on one leg across the whole of Canada to raise a million dollars for cancer research. (Terry was forced to quit halfway when cancer invaded his lungs, but managed to raise about $20 million.)

Let a British fighter pilot who lost both legs in an air crash fly again with the RAF, and you have a Douglas Bader, who, with two artificial limbs, was captured by the Germans three times during World War II—and escaped three times!

Blind him and you have a Ray Charles, George Shearing, Stevie Wonder, Tom Sullivan, Alec Templeton or Hal Krents.

Label him "too stupid to learn," and you have a Thomas Edison.

Make him a "hopeless" alcoholic, and you have a Bill Wilson, founder of Alcoholics Anonymous.

Tell her she's too old to start painting at 80, and you have a Grandma Moses.

Afflict him with periods of depression so severe that he cuts off his own ear, and you have a Vincent Van Gogh.

Your list would not be complete without a smiling Max Cleland, who lost both legs and an arm in Vietnam and formerly headed the Veterans Administration in Washington, D.C.

Don't forget Patricia Neal, the fine actress who suffered a severe stroke, but rehabilitated herself against overwhelming odds.

Blind him at age 44, and you have John Milton, who, 16 years later, wrote "Paradise Lost."

Call him dull and hopeless and flunk him in the sixth grade, and you have a Winston Churchill.

Punish her with poverty and prejudice, and she may survive to become another Golda Meir.

Pit her against sexual discrimination, and you have a Madame Curie.

Tell a young boy who loved to sketch and draw that he has no talent, and you have a Walt Disney.

Take a crippled child whose only home he ever knew was an orphanage, and you have a James E. West, who became the first chief executive of the Boy Scouts of America.

Rate him as "mediocre" in chemistry, and you have a Louis Pasteur.

Make him a homosexual, and you have a Michaelangelo and a million other talented people.

Deny a child the ability to see, hear and speak, and you have a Helen Keller.

Make him second fiddle in an obscure South American orchestra, and you have a Toscanini.

Not all disabilities are physical and visible. And not all who have won against the odds are well-known celebrities.

Every family has its own heroes and heroines for whom there is no medal distinguished enough to reward them for their accomplishments.

It is to you, whose names do not appear here but deserve to, that I dedicate this column.

Your Birthday

Jan. 29, 1986

In the year ahead you will establish two helpful sets of friends. One group will be just for social purposes; the other will aid you in furthering your worldly ambitions.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) It's important today that you place demands on yourself and raise your expectations. You won't fall short. Major changes are ahead for Aquarians in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Take all the time you feel you need today to formulate a major decision. If you study every aspect carefully, you won't have any regrets later.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You'll be in a better frame of mind today to handle two nuisance chores that you've been putting on the back burners. Wrap them up while you're in the mood.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Owing to unusual events today, you may learn an object lesson from someone younger than yourself. You won't resent the educational experience.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your feelings of self-worth will be enhanced today if you spend your time and efforts in unselfish ways. Do something for others as well as for yourself.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) This is one of those days when business and pleasure will mix favorably. Where you can conduct your deals in a convivial, social atmosphere.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your financial aspects continue to look promising, so matters that should increase your holdings or provide you with additional income should be given most of your attention.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Even though you are apt to be a trifle more talkative than usual today, listeners will find what you have to say educational as well as colorful.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) A pleasant surprise is in store for you and you're going to unexpectedly receive something of value. If you don't get it today, you will very soon.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov.22) Listen attentively today if a successful friend of yours tries to give you a moneymaking tip. With slight modifications, what worked for him will work for you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It won't be necessary for you to keep close friends posted regarding your present accomplishments. You have a boaster who's already broadcasting the details.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Apprehensions you have regarding something important in which you're now involved are groundless. Things will work out better than you think.

Watch For The Signs!

We have installed colorful signs like these at every major highway, road, railroad and river crossing. The signs are there to clearly mark the path of our pipelines. When you see one of these signs, please be careful not to use drilling instruments, backhoes or other equipment which might accidentally puncture or damage the pipeline. If you need to work near one of our pipelines, please call our 24-hour phone number (713) 651-1464. We will be happy to send a representative out to locate the pipeline. If you see someone else working near our pipelines, please call us so we can offer the same assistance to them.

In the event of an emergency...

Pipelines do make good neighbors. They have the best safety record in the transportation industry. We need your help, as our neighbors along the system, to keep it that way.

It is most unlikely that we would ever have a leak in the system near you. But if a leak should occur, one or more of the following symptoms could be detected: ● A strange or unusual odor near the pipeline. ● A hissing or roaring sound caused by escaping gas. ● A dense white cloud or fog. ● A slight mist or frozen area above ground along the pipeline route. ● Flames originating from an opening in the ground.

Should any of these symptoms be detected, please take the following precautions: ● Leave the area immediately. ● Avoid driving into a vapor cloud. ● Avoid contact with any escaping gas. ● Do not create any sparks or heat sources which could ignite escaping gas or liquids. (For example, do not start a car, turn on a light or light a match.) ● As soon as you reach a safe area, notify the pipeline operator. (For our pipeline, call collect to (713) 651-1464. Give your name, the location and a description of the leak. ● Call your sheriff, fire department, local or state police. Advise them of the emergency and its location.

By working together, we can keep pipelines operating safely and quietly for our neighbors along the right-of-way. Thank you.

ABWA has meeting with Pat Dennis as speaker

The regular meeting for the Deep Creek Chapter American Business Women's Association met Jan. 20 at K-Bob's.

The session began with Pam Dortch giving the invocation. President Mary Hall lead the Pledge of Allegiance and presided over the meeting.

Program chairman Naida Garza introduced the guest speaker, Pat Dennis of Hope for Tomorrow.

Dennis graduated from Roby High School and attended the LVN program at Cogdell Memorial Hospital. She is a graduate of Charles and Sue's School of Beauty and operated Pat's Hair Fashions Beauty Salon for five years.

Dennis attended Weight Watchers in Big Spring and was the first lecturer in Snyder. She has lectured in Snyder, Colorado City, Big Spring and Lamesa. Dennis has also lectured on KTXS television as a regular.

Guest speaker Dennis attended Jessie Lee's Hair Design in Lubbock for a refresher course and post graduate work. She graduated from Western Texas College cosmotology instructor training and started Hope for Tomorrow. She is the operator of Pat Dennis's Studio.

The topic of the program included Dennis naming some books with good recipes to eat and stay slim.

Dennis shared with the group the meaning of Hope for Tomorrow, "Help overweight people everywhere." The purpose is world hunger and a portion of the dues at the studio goes to this program. Persons at the studio have a lifetime membership and they are encouraged to reach their goal and stay within two pounds of it.

An exercise program is encouraged. Losing weight is possible and helps your image.

On March 15 there will be a style show at the Willow Park Inn with vocational speaker, Mary Pownell, bookkeeper at First National Bank.

There were five members recognized for perfect attendance in 1985, Mary Hall, six years; Maggie Blalock, four years; Pauline Withers, three years; Joyce McCoy, two years; and Pam Dortch, one year.

Benediction was given by Mary Pownell to the 16 members and one guest present.

Even though his side had all the aces and kings, and he had a good six-card suit of his own, South wisely settled for six no-trump. The game was rubber bridge, and he did not want to risk the game and the small-slam bonus by bidding seven. Careful and conservative in his bidding, South was careless in his play. I won't call him greedy; more likely, he was oblivious to the safe way of guaranteeing his contract. Remember the Jacoby rule — when the contract looks easy, ask yourself how you can be set. Then look for a way to avoid it.

Declarer won the ace of clubs and immediately cashed the ace of hearts. When West showed out, discarding a diamond, South could not avoid losing two tricks, try as he might. South was certainly unlucky (five outstanding cards in a suit divide 5-0 only four times out of 100), but a conservative bidder should also be able to play conservatively. If there was a way to assure 12 tricks in no-trump, declarer should have done so. Have you worked out the answer?

After winning the club ace, declarer should lead a low heart toward the 10 in dummy. If West wins with the jack, dummy will play low, and declarer can easily take the remaining tricks. When West shows out, the 10 will lose to East's jack, but declarer can get to dummy and play through East's.

Officers installed

The Plainview Extension Homemakers Club met Jan. 21 at the Northeast Community Center with Nell Walker as hostess serving six members and one guest.

Texas Extension Homemakers Association chairman Joyce McCoy presided over the meeting in the absence of Kathy Roberts, County Agent.

New officers were installed with Virginia Humphrey as president; Pearle Waller, vice-president; and Clovis Robinson, treasurer. The offices of secretary, reporter and council delegate will be installed later.

Also during the business meeting, committee appointments show: yearbook, Ada Staton; exhibit, Ruby Butts; education-expansion, Pearle Wheeler; bake sale, Nell Walker; spring events, Clovis Robinson; and fall crafts day, Maxine Grimmett.

Refreshments were served to those attinding.

At one time, a person had to kiss the first one of the opposite sex met on St. Valentines day.

George Fox, founder of the Quaker religious movement, died in 1691.

1984 said record year for farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — According to one way of figuring by the Agriculture Department, 1984 was a banner year for farmers, with net farm income rising to a record level from a severe slump the year before.

But other USDA figures for 1984 showed farmers remained heavily in debt, while land values continued to shrink.

The department's Economic Research Service has put all the figures together in a new report, the National Financial Summary for 1984. Released on Monday, the report is part of an annual series called Economic Indicators of the Farm Sector.

"Net farm income in 1984 was a record $34.5 billion, slightly above the previous record of $34.4 billion of 1973 and more than double the $15 billion of 1983," the report said.

That compares with preliminary figures showing net farm income in 1985 dropped to a range of $25 billion to $29 billion and that another decline is expected in 1986, perhaps to a range of $22 billion to $26 billion.

One reason for the large surge in 1984 was a return to bumper crop production following drought and the government's PIK acreage program in 1983, when farmers reduced planting sharply in return for free government-owned commodities as payment-in-kind.

Under the agency's method of bookkeeping, various allowances are made for the value of inventories from year to year, and the value of farm dwellings.

For example, a big reason for the jump in 1984 net income was a rapid buildup in the value of farm inventories — from a decline of $10.6 billion in 1983 to a plus of $7.8 billion in 1984.

But "higher average prices contributed to the rise in net farm income" in 1984, also, the report said. "Prices were higher for both livestock and crops. Both red meat and poultry prices were higher, dairy prices were slightly lower. Prices rose for feed crops, oil crops, cotton, fruits and vegetables. Prices declined for feed grains and tobacco."

As the report noted, net farm income in 1984 edged slightly above the previous record of $34.4 billion in 1973. There was no adjustment for inflation.

Some other comparisons are in order. In 1973, American agriculture was in a boom, with exports rising and the future looking rosy. Overall, the report showed, there were 2,823,000 farms in the United States in 1973. Those had dropped by 495,000 farms to 2,328,000 by 1984.

Also, when the adjustments for inventory changes are discounted, 1973 was still the bigger year for net farm income — $30.95 billion against $26.7 billion in 1984.

Dental decisions voided

AUSTIN (AP) — All official decisions by a woman who served on the Texas State Board of Dental Examiners for 18 months after her appointment was rejected by the Senate are void for that period, according to the state attorney general.

Geraldine Tucker of Austin also is not entitled to $11,735 in state reimbursement for travel and other expenses, Attorney General Jim Mattox held Monday in a legal opinion.

According to Mattox, board executive director William Nail told him that Mrs. Tucker was appointed March 5, 1982, by Gov. Bill Clements while the Legislature was out of session. The Legislative convened in January 1983, and on May 26 the Senate refused to confirm Mrs. Tucker's appointment.

Senate journal records show that Sen. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin, asked that Mrs. Tucker's appointment be considered separately, and it was rejected 31-0.

"All of the service performed by Mrs. Tucker was done in good faith and neither Mrs. Tucker nor the board was aware of the Senate's action in denying her confirmation," according to Mattox's summary of Nail's presentation.

Nail said Mrs. Tucker continued to serve on the 12-member board until Dec. 4, 1984, when a routine state audit revealed that she had not been confirmed by the Senate.

"What she told me was that no one had notified her, and no one notified me. The comptroller's office even continued to process her (expense) checks. I really don't know whose responsibility it is, but I'll make my own inquiries from now on," Nail said.

"The Legislature might look at it and consider a form letter — 'Yea' or 'Nay,'" said Nail.

Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi fled Iran in 1979 after a new civilian government was approved in parliament.

Peter Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I need some help. I am 5 feet 3, 55 and 225 pounds. I had a cancerous growth on the mouth of my womb many years ago and everything was removed. I've never been a big eater, but I can't lose weight. I'm taking care of my 5- and 7-year-old grandkids, so I am always on the run. We're on a fixed income. I try to keep fruit and raw vegetables in the house, but I don't have my bottom teeth, so that makes it a little hard. Can you help?

DEAR READER — You seem to be describing a common condition: weight gain after hysterectomy. You can be helped by a diet. My first suggestion is that you see a dentist and be fitted for a lower plate. Your dining pleasure will improve and you'll be able to eat nutritious, low-calorie salads and vegetables without having to worry about how to chew the food. As a general rule, the easiest foods to chew are usually the most fattening, so I think your first step should be into a dentist's office or the dentistry school of a university or hospital near you.

To give you more information on weight loss, I'm sending you a free copy of my Health Report, WEIGHT LOSS THROUGH CALORIE CONTROL. Other readers who want a copy should send 75 cents plus a long self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2597, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Is there such a thing as cat-scratch fever or is someone pulling my leg?

DEAR READER — Cat-scratch fever does exist. It consists of fever, fatigue and swollen lymph glands. The glands are usually under the arm (if the scratch is on the upper extremity) or in the groin (if the scratch is on the leg). Experts believe that an infective agent from cat claws is introduced by the scratch. The condition usually responds to antibiotics.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I'm a teenage girl with terribly oily skin. I've tried everything you can name, but nothing helps. The palms of my hands are starting to peel because I wash my face so much. What can I do to control my skin?

DEAR READER — Oily skin can be a difficult problem to treat, because, although washing may remove the oil temporarily, the skin continues to produce and secrete oily substances.

I recommend that you see a dermatologist. Although the specialist may not be able to reduce the oiliness of your skin, he or she may be able to give you some pointers about how to control the consequences of the condition. For example, acne seems to be more common in oily-skinned individuals. That ailment may be controllable, whereas the character of the skin itself may not be. I've had some success in advising teenagers to omit fat in their diets. This is hard to do, but it sometimes makes a big difference in the oiliness of the skin.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I'm 73 years old and have severe hip and leg pains. Three orthopedic surgeons took X-rays and said that arthritis is not my problem, but that I have an inflammatory condition. Could you recommend another specialist I should see?

DEAR READER — It is not clear whether your "inflammatory condition" involves the joints, tendons or other tissues of your hips and legs. I think you need to find out which what parts of you are inflamed. A specialist in internal medicine or a rheumatologist (arthritis specialist) can, with appropriate testing, usually determine the source of your pain. Once the diagnosis has been established, specific treatment can be administered to correct the ailment.

Send your questions to Dr. Gott in care of this newspaper at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101. Due to volume of mail, individual questions cannot be answered. Questions of general interest will be answered in future columns.

5 players who failed can't attend banquet

DALLAS (AP) — Highland Park school officials say five varsity football players who failed a class during the last six-weeks grading period have been barred by the Texas Education Agency from attending a banquet honoring the team.

School officials said they were informed by education agency officials Monday that the school's football banquet is an extracurricular activity covered by the state's no pass, no play rule.

If the banquet were open to everyone, it would be considered a social event not subject to the regulation, the agency said.

Attendance at the banquet is limited, school officials say, because the school district has no facilities to accommodate a dinner for more than about 200 people.

Oil import tax would add needed revenues

HOUSTON (AP) — A $10-per-barrel oil import tax would produce badly needed revenue and prevent the country from once again becoming dependent upon foreign oil, U.S. Sen. Gary Hart says.

"A $10-per-barrel fee in imported oil would be a powerful weapon against that crisis of vulnerability and dependency," Hart said. "It would do more to answer the challenge of energy security than any other measure available to us in the near term."

The Colorado Democrat, speaking Monday evening before a group attending the Cambridge Energy Research Associates conference, said the tax on oil also would lift a depression that is settling within the U.S. drilling industry.

He said reliance on foreign supplies has increased dangerously because of the lack of an energy policy the past several years.

"As a result, since 1981, we have again used more oil each year than we discovered at home. We had 4,100 drilling rigs four years ago, and we have only 1,800 now. We are already back to relying on imports for 30 percent of the oil we need every day."

Hart, a 1984 Democratic presidential candidate, said the oil tax would reverse the dependency on foreign crude and give incentives for domestic production.

Earlier Monday, Hart spoke to about 170 people at an economic symposium in Dallas and said the nation could learn a valuable lesson from Texas' attempt to recover from ailing energy and electronics industries.

"The challenges being faced in Texas are being faced by others," Hart said. "Texas' success (in diversification) can set a model for Pittsburgh with its steel industry, Detroit with the automotive plants and the farm economy of Iowa."

Hart said the Reagan administration is hurting economic revitalization.

"We can't have a president in office saying the government is our enemy," Hart told reporters. "No other nation on the earth thinks this way."

Judge stalling pipeline case

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission must set new water pollution rules before considering a proposal to build an oil pipeline across the Edwards Aquifer, a state judge has ruled.

Opponents of All American Pipeline's proposal called the Monday ruling a victory.

"It's a victory in that everyone will now know what the rules of the game are before we start the game," said Austin lawyer Roy Rutland, who represents Concerned Citizens to Protect the Edwards Aquifer.

District Judge Joe Dibrell of Austin said in a Monday opinion the Railroad Commission is "without lawful authority" to review All American's application until the commission complies with a 1985 legislative mandate to set new water pollution rules.

All American, a Goodyear subsidiary, wants to build a 30-inch heated pipeline to carry Alaskan crude from California to Houston-area refineries. Concerned Citizens to Protect the Edwards Aquifer claims the pipeline could be an environmental threat to the aquifer.

Super-Fill offers special deal while the good weather lasts

We admit it! This year's winter weather is not TOO COLD or TOO HOT, so we have to make you a deal that's TOO GOOD TO PASS UP.

Starting now, Super-Fill will insulate your walls at regular price and insulate your attic FREE!! But you had better hurry, because this offer will end the day the temperature drops to ten degrees.

Not only can we protect your walls and attic, but we can install custom storm windows and doors. You can also choose from a large selection of exterior home siding in a wide variety of colors.

Yes, we have one hundred percent financing. With approved credit and a monthly investment set within your budget, you can enjoy a more comfortable, beautiful home, plus save money before the weather turns around. Most monthly investments are less than the savings you will have on your energy bills.

Super-Fill insulation is a comfort that pays for itself all year around. With the rising cost of utilities, Super-Fill can help you conserve energy and save money at the same time. By drilling small holes in the exterior of your home and pumping the walls full of insulation, your heating and cooling consumpton can be reduced 40 percent.

Super-Fill insulation reduces paint chipping and the dust inside your home up to 50 percent and also protects against mildew, fire and insects.

The insulation that is pumped into your home is non-skin irritating, fire resistant and soundproof and as long as the house is standing, the material will never settle.

Super-Fill is a fast growing company with a reputation built on doing exactly what they say they will do. There are 12 Super-Fill offices in Texas and in Snyder, your local sales representative is Rick Freeman. For a free, no obligation appointment, give him a call at 573-0734.

Down fraction from last week

WASHINGTON (AP) — Interest rates on short-term Treasury securities fell in Monday's auction with rates on three-month bills hitting their lowest level since September.

The Treasury Department sold $7.2 billion in three-month bills at an average discount rate of 6.92 percent, down from 6.98 percent last week. Another $7.2 billion was sold in six-month bills at an average discount rate of 7.03 percent, down from 7.14 percent last week.

The rates were the lowest since three-month bills sold for 6.81 percent on Sept. 23 and six-month bills averaged 7.01 percent on Dec. 16.

The new discount rates understate the actual return to investors — 7.14 percent for three-month bills sold at $9,825.10 for a $10,000 bill and 7.39 percent for six-month bills sold at $9,644.60.

Global Marine to reorganize

HOUSTON (AP) — Global Marine Inc. and 11 of its subsidiaries filed for reorganization under federal bankruptcy laws because of a $1.1 billion debt, the chairman of the international offshore drilling rig contractor said.

"We intend to remain a major participant in the future of the offshore drilling industry, and continue to serve the interests of those with a stake in the company's success," C. Russell Luigs, chairman and chief executive officer of Global Marine, said Monday.

The company and its subsidiaries including the offshore drilling subsidiary, Global Marine Drilling Co., and Challenger Minerals Inc., the oil and gas exploration and production unit, filed for reorganization under Chapter 11 of the United States Bankruptcy Code in Houston.

The French playwright Moliere was born in 1662.

Army demonstrates tank-like vehicle

FORT HOOD, Texas (AP) — Desiring to convince the public and Congress of the need for the Bradley armored personnel carrier, the Army staged a firepower demonstration for members of the media.

Each of the aluminum-sided Bradley vehicles, which look like tanks and run on treads at speeds up to 45 mph, has a price tag of about $1.5 million. The Army began acquiring them in 1981 and now wants more.

Oil jobs to decrease with reorganization

DALLAS (AP) — Atlantic Richfield Co. officials say about 1,000 Dallas employees will be laid off and two companies will be combined in one of the largest layoffs to hit white-collar workers in this area's energy industry.

The Los Angeles-based oil company will offer an involuntary early retirement program in April, with the reogranization expected to be completed by the first of next year, spokesman Al Greenstein said Monday.

"I think this is the biggest (layoff) we've seen in Dallas," said Alan Edgar, an energy analyst since 1971 at Schneider Bernet & Hickman Inc. in Dallas.

Atlantic Richfield is to merge two Dallas-based subsidiaries — Arco Exploration Technology Co. and Arco Oil and Gas Co. — resulting in about 2,100 layoffs nationwide, Greenstein said. The Arco subsidiaries now employ about 7,300 throughout the nation.

The personnel cuts will amount to about 4 percent of all oil and gas extraction employees in Dallas, according to the Texas Employment Commission.

Arco also announced plans to sell about 10 percent of its oil and gas properties in 48 states, company officials said. Last year, Arco produced about 200,000 barrels a day of crude oil in the 48 states.

Analysts blame the company's latest round of problems on the recent plunge in crude oil prices — about 40 percent since November.

During a major reorganization last year, Arco cut 6,000 employees through a voluntary early retirement program. About 500 employees in Dallas left the company, officials said.

The reorganization was designed to allow the company to operate even if oil drops as low as $18 a barrel, said Frank Wycoff, president of Arco in Dallas.

Leader asks unity among cattlemen

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A new $1 check-off program aimed at promoting the troubled beef industry won't be a cure-all, the president of the National Cattlemen's Association says.

"The new program is not perfect," said Jo Ann Smith. "It won't guarantee a profit for everyone. But right now it's the only game in town. It gives us a vehicle to do something meaningful about demand."

The $1-per-head check-off, enacted in the 1985 Farm Bill, is expected to go into effect sometime this fall.

Under the program, every time a head of cattle changes hands, $1 goes into a pot.

The estimated $60 million to $70 million in revenue will be used for research to develop new beef products more palatable to the consumer, for education and promotion.

Mrs. Smith, who farms and ranches with her husband in Micanopy, Fla., said Monday at the National Cattlemen's Association meeting the new program should go a long way toward promoting beef consumption.

Texas' share is millions

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas' share of the more than $2 billion that Exxon Corp. must repay consumers nationwide for overcharging on oil from the Hawkins field will be about $178 million, state Attorney General Jim Mattox said.

After a U.S. Supreme Court ruling Monday, Mattox said the money "is being held in escrow, and it's as good as in the bank."

"The court ordered this money distributed to consumers in five energy-related programs," Mattox said. "We may seek a modification of the judge's ruling in order to broaden the scope of how the states may use the money."

The court, without comment, let stand a ruling that the money be distributed to the states and spent on programs to help the needy and energy consumers.

The penalty against Exxon is the largest monetary judgment in American history to be upheld on appeal.

Last November, a state district court jury in Texas ordered Texaco to pay $10.53 billion to Pennzoil for improperly interfering with that company's acquisition of Getty Oil Co. Appeals in the case are pending.

The judgment against Exxon, ordered by a federal judge in 1983, was upheld last July by a special federal appeals court in Washington.

Exxon, the nation's largest corporation, was found to have overpriced oil from the Hawkins field near Tyler, Texas, between 1975 and 1981.

The corporation, in a Supreme Court appeal supported by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, said it was the victim of confusing federal regulations. Exxon lawyers said the corporation was penalized for expanding production at a time of heightened national concern over energy shortages.

RANDY DAVIS and Randy Rodgers invite you to come in and see their new display of spark plug wires in bulk which offers a greater savings to you. (SDN Staff Photo)

Spark plug wire shipment just arrived at Ben Wilson

If it's got a spark plug, Ben Wilson Supply has the wires for it. They have just received a shipment of spark plug wires in bulk and have every type and every length. If you just need one wire to replace the one that touched the hot engine or a complete set for four, six or eight cylinder engines, they can be pulled from this bulk stock, either according to the book or by your own specs. This represents a great savings to you since you, the customer, are the one that benefits from their volume buying.

Also available are several brands and styles of the new third brake light. All 1986 cars will have them and you too, will have the safety and appearance benefits.

Ben Wilson Supply is the only place in town that stocks the saddle blanket seat covers with pockets and gun case along the back of the seat in addition to the front edge. This gun case and row of handy pockets helps keep the cover from sliding down on the seat too.

A full fresh stock of the new gas filled shock absorbers from Monroe are now on their shelves. Ride in a pickup or car with the new Gas-matic or Gas magnums and you can tell the difference.

Clear unbreakable headlight shields are still just $5.95 per pair and they do protect those bulbs from flying gravel.

With spring tune up time just around the corner, remember Ben Wilson has a full stock of carburetor kits, floats, and replacement filter elements from all types of hi-performance air filters.

Auto-Meter, Stewart-Warner, V.D.O. and Sun guages and instruments are on display along with a pair of 120 watt 6x9 speakers for $25.95.

Don't forget that Ben Wilson Supply has air brake valves, exchange shoes, roller chains, the most complete stock of bearings and oil seals in town, and helps you pay our local taxes to support our community. The out-of-town salesman contributes nothing in time or money.

Wright hurt during fall

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Majority Leader Jim Wright broke his wrist as he tried to break a fall from a makeshift podium in a room near the House chamber, an aide says.

Charmayne Marsh, Wright's press aide, said the congressman was taken Monday evening to Walter Reed Army Hospital, where doctors set the wrist. She said Wright will be wearing the cast for the next four to six weeks.

Dusters take 2nd place in WJCAC race

It wasn't exactly beautiful, but it will go in the win column. Along with it, Western Texas' Dusters move into sole possession of second place in the Western Junior College Athletic Conference.

Despite struggling offensively in the second half here Monday, the Dusters were able to outlast a tough South Plains Lady Texan club, 62-54, for their fifth conference victory in six outings.

The win brings the Dusters to 19-6 for Kelly Chadwich's first season here. They'll be looking for their 20th victory next Monday when they travel to Big Spring to meet the Hawk Queens of Howard College.

South Plains falls to third place in the conference with a 4-2 mark. Coach Lyndon Hardin's Texans are 15-7 overall.

Western played well in the first half Monday. The Dusters rocketed to a 16-6 advantage with 11:56 to play, and took a 33-20 lead into intermission.

"We played a defensive clinic in the first half. We had them totally frustrated by halftime. The girls really played hard," said Coach Chadwick.

When they came out and scored the first two buckets of the second half to go ahead by 17, it looked like the rout was on.

Instead, it became a dogfight. Western's offense suddenly lost direction, and the defense began to suffer in the frustration. Meanwhile, South Plains' fine 5-9 sophomore, Shari Schilling, began finding the hoop in bunches. South Plains rallied to score six straight points.

Western came back on a couple of field goals by Brenda Welch, but the Texans rallied again.

Schilling accounted for two baskets and teammates Kami Schonerstedt and Penny Elkins added one apiece as South Plains trimmed WTC's lead to just five points, 41-35, with 12 minutes to go in the ballgame.

"We got into some foul trouble and had to go to the zone and South Plains has some really good shooters. Offensively, what I saw that we weren't able to do was convert from coming down on the break to settling down and getting into our offense. We were maybe lacking patience there," Chadwick said.

Welch doused the fire by scoring a three-point play with 11:43 left. It wasn't enough to spark Western to the style of ball it treated the fans to earlier, but it did serve to effectively stall the South Plains comeback attempt.

The Texans continued to stay close, but timely free throws by the Dusters - who weren't having a stellar night from the line either, by the way - kept the visitors from mounting momentum.

The difference came after Schonerstedt had hit from outside to make the game 51-45 with about six minutes left. Pam Cox did the honors by hitting a pair of free throws and a field goal. Western's lead was pumped back up to 55-45, and South Plains could never seriously threaten again.

Welch cranked up 27 points for the Dusters while Cox had 14 - despite going 6 of 15 from the line. Angela Jeans added 12 points.

South Plains got 27 from Schilling. Schonerstedt added 14 points and Vicki McKenzie scored 6.

WTC tumbles 76-71 at home...

Gibbs helps hand Westerners another loss

By BILL McCLELLAN
SDN Sports Editor

Reggie Gibbs seemed more at home at Scurry County Coliseum than the Westerners did Monday night.

Maybe so, afterall, he's had some pretty good performances there.

Gibbs, a 6-1 freshman from Lubbock Estacado and a previous all-tournament player at the Canyon Reef Tournament here, unleashed a string of 20-footers to pace South Plains' Texans to a 76-71 victory over Western Texas.

It was the second straight loss for Coach Phil Spradling's Westerners, who fall to fifth place in the Western Junior College Atheltic Conference with a 4-4 record. It was also the Westerners' fourth home loss in five conference games at the coliseum. Truly, the Westerners need to get back on the road.

First, however, they'll have to contend with New Mexico Military Institute's Broncos, who come to the coliseum Thursday evening.

If it wasn't Gibbs' 22 points from the outside that bought the win for South Plains, then it had to be inside on the boards. No statistics were available, but the Texans literally ruled the backboard when 6-9 sophomore Cliff Langford wasn't in the game, which wasn't much. He spent almost half of the ballgame in foul trouble and on the bench.

"They had a big team and they got in there and crashed the boards hard. We didn't play a bad game, it was just that at the crucial times when we needed a bucket we didn't get it," said Coach Spradling, whose Westerners fall to 13-8 for the season. "We'd try to work inside but the shots wouldn't go."

Langford checked out with his third foul with 11:44 still to go in the second half. He didn't come back in until the second half and went back out for a while with a little over nine minutes to play.

Western had been keeping pace with the highly-touted Texans, and took a 12-10 lead when James Dawn put in a couple of free throws with 10:44 left in the first half. But South Plains rallied for six straight points after that, including four from Gibbs. The Texas eventually went in front by eight points, though a three-point play from Dawn and a pair of free throws from Alvin Hicks cut the margin to 28-25 with 3:26 left.

South Plains enjoyed a 36-30 halftime lead.

The Texans led by as many as 10 points in the second half, most notably 60-50, when 6-3 freshman Darryl Rudolph canned a bucket.

Western wasn't quitting, however. The Westerners eventually shaved the lead to four points when Ed Teal popped a pair of charity shots with 3:38 left; 62-58.

It wasn't until 1:59 that Western was able to dip into the South Plains' lead again, and what should have been fortune for the Westerners ended up the reverse.

Teal went to the line again and made the first of a bonus free throw situation to give the game a 66-63 look. He missed the second try, but Langford rebounded. The sophomore went back up with the shot but his effort was rejected by 6-7 Greg Colbert, and instead of cutting the lead to one point, Western fouled and sent SPC's Lavell Garror to the line.

Garror also missed, but South Plains' Lorne Joshua split the gap for the rebound, and he was fouled when he tried to lay the ball back up and in. Joshua bagged his free shots with 1:42 to play, and Western was never able to get back in the game. The Westerners were forced to try to foul to stop the clock and get the ball back. South Plains answered by hitting six straight free throws.

Western was led offensively by 6-5 sophomore James Dawn, who scored 16 points. Alvin Lee floated 14 points from long range, though the conference's fourth leading scorer didn't start and sat out the first 11:50 of the ballgame. Teal punched in 13 points and Hicks 10. Langford, who had a decent night on the boards but not shooting, managed just 6 points.

South Plains raised its conference record to 7-1 and is 18-5 overall. In addition to Gibbs' points, the Texans got 12 from Joshua, 10 from Dwight Clark and 8 each from Rudolph and Robby Garner.

"Gibbs shot the ball well. When you get a shooter like that you've got to get a hand up on them and we weren't doing it," mused Spradling.

Tip-off for Thursday's game with New Mexico Military is 8 p.m. in the coliseum, where Western will once again try to overcome its home-doldrums.

"They'll be pretty good. We've got to go out and play," said Spradling. "I'm disappointed at the way we're playing at home in front of the people who have come out to watch us. We want to win at home. The regional tournament is here and if we're going to be in it, we better be able to play here."

Minnesota to continue program despite arrests

MADISON, Wis. (AP) - Three Minnesota basketball players charged with sexual assault have been ordered to appear at a preliminary hearing in circuit court here Feb. 6. In Minneapolis, meanwhile, the university has decided to resume the sport after a one-game hiatus over the scandal.

Judith Hawley, assistant Dane County district attorney, told a court hearing Monday that Jim Dutcher, who resigned Saturday as Minnesota coach, apparently was unaware of his players' whereabouts after a basketball game.

"With all due respect to Mr. Dutcher, he apparently wasn't keeping particularly good tabs," she said.

An 18-year-old Madison Area Technical College student says she was subjected to various sexual acts early Friday at the Madison hotel where the Minnesota team was staying after a Thursday game against the University of Wisconsin.

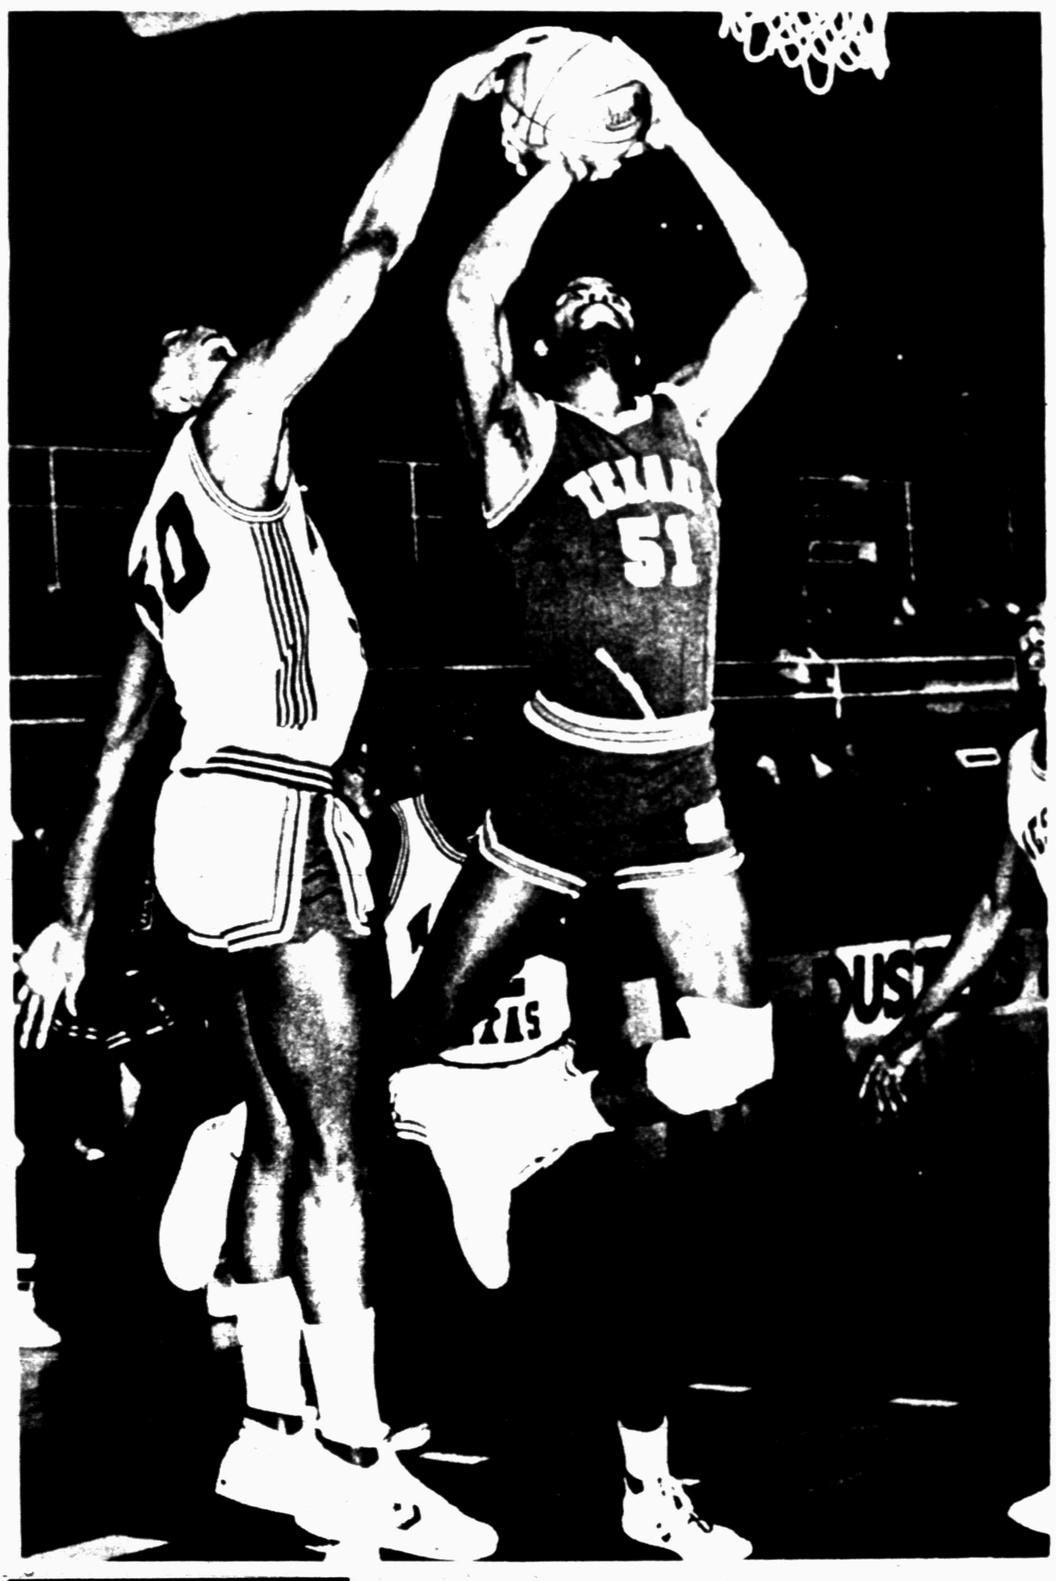

Minnesota suspended the sport for one game Sunday, but university President Kenneth Keller said Monday that after much agonizing, he had decided to reinstate basketball. At the same time, Keller named former assistant Jimmy Williams the new coach.

"My personal reaction is horror, and disgust and some amount of despair that we, as an academic institution, have created the environment in which that can happen," Keller said.

However, he said, it was not fair to penalize the remaining players on the team by discontinuing the sport.

Mitchell Lee, 20, of Carol City, Fla., who was acquitted three weeks ago in Minneapolis of sexually assaulting a young woman in a dormitory, was charged Monday by the Dane County district attorney's office with first-degree sexual assault. Kevin Smith, 21, of Lansing, Mich., also was charged with first-degree sexual assault.

George Williams Jr., 19, of Oakland, Calif., was charged with second-degree sexual assault.

Tiger squads hope to snap losing streaks this evening

Snyder varsity basketball teams try to snap a pair of losing skids while Lake View tries to continue mini winning streaks as District 2-4A action begins another week tonight.

Both Snyder girls and boys lost to Lamesa and Andrews in consecutive outings last week. The losses all but knocked the Tiger teams out of the 2-4A playoff race. Snyder can still get into the playoffs, but have to rely on some unexpected help.

Lake View's teams, meanwhile, would like to continue their winnings ways, which were established with victories over Fort Stockton on Friday. For the Lake View Chiefs, Friday's 90-71 win over the Panthers was the first district victory for the team in two years.

Snyder's girls, the Lady Tigers of Coach Ken Housden, will welcome the Maidens at Snyder High School Gym. The Chiefs will play the host role at San Angelo, entertaining Coach Larry Scott's Tigers at Lake View Gym.

Both games are scheduled to start at 8 and will be preceded by 6:30 junior varsity contests.

Tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for students.

A game scheduled between Snyder and Lake View sophomore boys has been cancelled.

Snyder's girls are 6-4 in district play, 17-4 for the season.

Lake View comes in to the game with records of 4-6 in district and 11-13 overall.

Coach Scott's boys are 5-3 in the 2-4A and 14-6 overall. Lake View is 1-7 and 10-13.

In other boys games, Andrews (7-1, 24-1) is at Pecos (5-3, 11-8) while Fort Stockton (2-6, 9-15) goes to Monahans (1-7, 11-12) and Sweetwater (3-5, 3-5) is at Lamesa (8-0, 20-4).

In girls action, Lamesa (7-3, 12-11) is at Sweetwater (10-0, 24-1); Monahans (3-7, 6-13) is at Fort Stockton (2-8, 10-14); and Pecos (0-10, 4-16) is at Andrews (8-2, 16-4).

The much heralded rematch between Lamesa and Andrews' boys - ranked No. 4 and 8 in the state respectively - comes about this Friday in Andrews.

Patterson trips up Haney's crew

Patterson Drilling got 26 points from Ken Thompson to stake Haney's to its first loss in men's basketball league action Monday night, 86-77.

Larry Braziel and Chester Cobb added 20 and 18 points for Patterson, which improved to 4-3 on the season. Haney's now 6-1, was led by Russell Gafford's 21 points. Greg Gafford and Clayton Riley scored 18 points each.

Sisson topped Tri-State 62-47 as David Sisson and Jackie Murray scored 18 points each in another game. Greg Hayes added 15 for Sisson, which is now 3-4.

Tri-State, 0-6, got 13 points from Ron DeBruin and 12 from Scott Clark.

In the night's other game, Tony Wofford put in 22 points to pace Hines to a 57-43 victory over Brooks. Hines is now 6-1 and tied with Haney's for the league lead.

Brooks, 2-5, got 19 points from John Murphy.

Wednesday's games pit Haney's against Sisson at 7, Tri-State against Hines at 8 and Brooks against Patterson at 9. Games are played at Travis Gym.

'Something we have to deal with...'

Pats admit to having drug problems

BOSTON (AP) - Five New England Patriots players who reportedly have a drug problem and five to seven others who team officials suspect of having a problem won't necessarily be suspended, says Coach Raymond Berry.

"All of us understand what the world is about today," he said after the National Football League team arrived at Logan International Airport Monday night from New Orleans, where they lost in the Super Bowl on Sunday. "It's just something we have to deal with."

Reports of drug problems surfaced in a copyright interview with Berry in today's edition of The Boston Globe. None of the players allegedly involved were identified, but Berry told the newspaper they include at least four starters for the American Football Conference champions, who lost 46-10 to the Chicago Bears in the Super Bowl.

After hearing from Berry about the extent of the problem, specifically cocaine use, and possible consequences, Patriots players huddled for nearly two hours at a meeting earlier Monday and voted to become the first NFL team to accept voluntary drug testing, the Globe reported.

Of 59 players on the roster, seven voted against the plan and several abstained, but the majority approved it, the newspaper said.

"I would say we may be 28th in the league as far as this problem goes, but there are at least five players we know who have a serious problem and five to seven more whom we suspect very strongly," Berry said.

"We have a situation that exists here that we feel is intolerable. It has been going on for a year, and I had to weigh the damages of doing something about it immediately by going public," Berry said.

"We felt with the season going the way it had, we had to keep our eye on the bull's-eye. That's why we didn't do anything before. But our bull's-eye looking is over," Berry said Monday.

"It's time to do something about this problem, and it cannot be done in secret," Berry said.

The National Football League Players Association, the players' union, has long opposed spot-testing or any type of urinalysis examination for drug use except in cases where the team physician perceives an individual problem or a player has previously tested positive.

Eight NFL teams requested that their players take post-season drug tests this year, and all refused until the Patriots announced their compliance with Berry's request.

"The point is not that you are having to prove you're innocent (by testing)," Berry said. "The point is that there are obviously some young lives being ruined by drugs, and no one, neither the league nor the union, has the guts to do anything about it."

Players barred from attending Highland Park football banquet

DALLAS (AP) - Highland Park school officials say five varsity football players who failed a class during the last six-weeks grading period have been barred by the Texas Education Agency from attending a banquet honoring the team.

School officials said they were informed by education agency officials Monday that the school's football banquet is an extracurricular activity covered by the state's no pass, no play rule.

If the banquet were open to everyone, it would be considered a social event not subject to the regulation, the agency said.

Attendance at the banquet is limited, school officials say, because the school district has no facilities to accommodate a dinner for more than about 200 people.

Walter King, president of the Highland Park Sports Club, which is sponsoring the banquet, called the decision "ludicrous."

The five football players "already have participated. Now there's a one-time banquet to honor them, and they are not allowed to go. There's no way to make this up," King said.

In the past, the school district has banned some students from attending honorary banquets, but last week it asked the education agency to clarify the policy concerning banquets.

Randy Emery, Highland Park's head football coach, said other Texas high school coaches attending a coaches' clinic last week told him their districts had never asked for clarification because the banquets were considered social events.

Walker joins Hall of Fame

CANTON, Ohio (AP) - Doak Walker, Heisman Trophy winner and three-time all-American for Southern Methodist in the 1940s, was among five former National Football League greats named today to the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Fran Tarkenton and Paul Hornung, who were edged out of the running in last year's balloting, also are among the 1986 list of inductees, as are defensive back Ken Houston and linebacker Willie Lanier.

Len Dawson, the Most Valuable Player in Super Bowl IV while quarterbacking the Kansas City Chiefs, and Don Maynard, a star receiver for the New York Jets, failed to make the final cut after being among the seven finalists.

Soviet dissident sends cryptic message to Texas physicist

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Writing in English and Russian, Soviet dissident Andrei Sakharov has sent New Year's greetings and a cryptic message from his residence-in-exile in Gorky to pioneer physicist John Wheeler of the University of Texas.

Wheeler said Monday that the card was relayed to him by Efrem Yankelevich, husband of the stepdaughter of the Nobel Peace Prize winner banished from Moscow to internal exile without a trial in January 1980.

Wheeler said he presumed the card was carried out of the Soviet Union by Sakharov's wife, Yelena Bonner, who is staying with her daughter and Yankelevich in their home in Newton, Mass.

Sakharov's wife was permitted to leave the Soviet Union last month on a three-month visa to undergo heart surgery and glaucoma treatment. As a condition of her trip, she has maintained public silence.

However, Yankelevich said in a telephone interview, the Austin American-Statesman reported, that the card was one of seven or eight received last month in a packet of mail for relay to Sakharov's U.S. friends. He said it was the first mail received from Sakharov by his relatives in the United States in two years.

Sakharov wrote in English to Wheeler:

"Dear dr. Wheeler! Happy New Year! Best Wishes! Yours Lusia, Andrei Sakharov."

Lusia is Sakharov's nickname for his wife.

The Russian version of the card said:

"I recall our meeting in Tbilisi. How much has changed both in our lives and in science. We experience now a period when there is a feeling that we are almost there, that everything is about to become clear (??????), would not you agree?"

Tbilisi is the capital of Soviet Georgia. Wheeler said he and Sakharov attended an international conference on gravitational physics in Tbilisi in 1968. They had a private luncheon but did not discuss international issues, Wheeler said.

Wheeler said that apart from the seasonal greetings included in the card, the meaning of Sakharov's message was uncertain.

Episcopal Church slates meeting

Dr. Harold Miller, Bishop's Warden for St. John's Episcopal Church, has announced that the annual congregational meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the parish hall. The meeting will begin with a covered dish supper, with the main meat dish provided by the church.

Business to be conducted includes election of vestry members, approval of a new budget, the consideration of candidates for rector.

Additionally, the congregation will be presented with a proposed new statement of purpose, along with goals and specific objectives for the new year.

All members are urged to attend, and anyone interested in the Episcopal Church is cordially invited.

Gift of kidney due from sister will add the third kidney to her system.

As preparation for the transplant, Jones has already started taking the anti-rejection medication which she will have to take the rest of her life.

In addition, she has already had three transfusions of her sister's blood to better prepare her system for the new kidney. She has received ½ unit of her sister's blood every other week for six weeks.

In addition to the anti-rejection medication, Jones will also have to take other medication for the remainder of her life.

Deciding to go ahead with the transplant now rather than waiting for a more critical time in the future was not an easy decision her and her family to make, she says.

But she said she was helped by a counselor in Ruidoso, N.M. who suffers with her same problem.

Jones' sister will check into the Lubbock hospital a week before the actual transplant operation to undego several tests.

She is married and has two children. Jones said her sister's family, especially her husband, are very supportive of her decision.

"I think my sister is real special for wanting to do this for me. She has really fought to be the donor. If our situations were reversed I would do it for her."

The two have always been close, she said.

Jones' doctors have told her that Mrs. Waid is considered less than a half match, but even so she has been told that she has a 80 percent chance of keeping the kidney. However, she is keenly aware that she could lose her sister's gift.

Jones's mother, father and brother were also tested in Lubbock, but the decision to use Mrs. Waid as donor was made in large part due to her insistence, Jones explained. "She really fought for this."

Jones is the only member of her family who has kidney disease.

"I don't stay depressed about it anymore," Jones said. "But sometimes I lay awake at night thinking about it."

Some of the symptoms of kidney failure which she has experienced include body itches at night, prolonged incidents of nightmares and back and hip joint pain.

The toxic buildup in her body also causes a loss of energy.

Jones never realized that she suffered from kidney disease until a routine physical taken while she was in the seventh grade revealed that she had protein in her urine. She then went to a specialist at the Texas Tech Medical School who wanted to do a biopsy of her kidney.

Jones said she started hemorrhaging during the biopsy and had to be hospitalized for two weeks. Later she was placed on medication which caused such unpleasant side effects as weight gain and puffy cheeks. After a year she quit taking the medication.

About 13 months ago, Jones said she began aerobic exercises, but began losing about three pounds a day until she weighed 90 pounds. She was also having female problems which she later learned were triggered by the kidney disease.

Jones visits a kidney specialist every three months and he was the one who told her to expect dialysis or a transplant within a few years as her condition was worsening.

She explained that kidney disease can be like high blood pressure in that people don't know they have it. She said she felt tired a lot, but did not think that was unusual because "lots of people are tired."

The transplant alone will cost some $14,000. So far Jones has incurred some $9,000 in additional medical expenses. Medicare will pay for 80 percent of the costs, and to help defray the remaining 20 percent, a fund has been established in her name at West Texas State Bank.

Jones has an 11-year-old step-son named Casey and two sons of her own: Nicky Joe, 4, and Brady, 2.

Jones has nothing but praise for the competent local medical staff whose care she is under. They include Howard Harrington with the Medical Arts Laboratory and her local physician, Dr. Paul Thompson.

Bikes found, arrests made

The investigation continued Monday with the recovery of more bicycles and parts and the arrests of five more juvenile males ages 12 to 16.

As of 4 a.m. Tuesday, police had reassembled seven complete bikes from parts recovered Sunday and Monday.

All parts recovered to date are for 20-inch BMX style bikes.

As of Tuesday morning, parts recovered over the last two days have been linked to 10 thefts reported since last September.

Those include thefts reported by:

—Debbie Robertson on Dec. 31, 1985.

—Dora Romero on Jan. 26.

—Elizabeth Neely on Jan. 26.

—Richard Anderson on Jan. 25.

—Kay Porter on Dec. 28, 1985.

—Christina Rodriquez on Dec. 31, 1985.

—Joe Perez on Sept. 24, 1985.

—Perry Greathouse on Jan. 4.

—Carrie Rodriquez on Dec. 31, 1985.

—Bill Watkins on Oct. 19, 1985.

—S.L. Martin in late Nov. 1985.

The nine suspects thus far taken into custody in the case have since been released to their parents but police say their investigation is continuing.

Shuttle tragedy shocks students an explosion, stunned students murmured "This can't be real.... We can't be watching this."

Students, who were gathered in the auditorium, were ordered back to their rooms. Many of the youths went reluctantly, protesting that they wanted to be allowed to continue watching.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes said President Reagan was "concerned" and "saddened" at the accident but had no immediate details. "We don't have any more information than what is being provided the public on television."

Challenger was one of four shuttles in NASA's fleet.

There was no indication whether the explosion occurred in the solid boosters or in the main engines fueled by hydrogen and oxygen from themain tank. When Challenger lifted off, its huge fuel tank carried 526,000 gallons of volatile liquid hydrogen and oxygen.

Mission control reported that there was no indication of any problem with the engines, the solid boosters or any other system and that the shuttle just suddenly blew apart.

Radio communications and telemetry abruptly ended.

There was total shock and disbelief among workers at the shuttle assembly building as they watched Challenger break up in a ball of fire and white and orange smoke.

"I can't believe it," said a young woman, almost crying, as she stood among coworkers outside the building.

"I can't see the orbiter — what happened to the orbiter," said a young technician.

2 examined after wreck

Two men were transported to Cogdell Memorial Hospital for treatment of possible injuries following a two-vehicle traffic accident in east Snyder Monday afternoon.

Listed as injured in the 1:54 p.m. mishap at the intersection of 25th St. and Ave. M were Caleb Sewell Bonner of Rt. 2 Snyder and Jessie Walt Barrett of Odessa.

Bonner was the driver of a 1978 Chevrolet which was in collision with a 1985 Dodge driven by Barrett. Also damaged in the mishap was a stop sign owned by the City of Snyder.

According to emergency medical personnel called to the scene, neither man showed signs of serious injury. Both were said complaining of possible neck or leg injuries.

2 grass fires prompt alarms

Snyder firemen were called to extinguish two grass fires inside the city Monday.

The first was initially reported as a possible house fire at 2003 Ave. M at 1:43 p.m. Arriving firefighters found only grass burning on the south side of the residence, however.

Firemen were dispatched to the Eastridge Apartments at 7:09 p.m. Monday where they extinguished another minor grass fire.

Pool rules reaffirmed to include swimming classes.

Open swimming is allowed in the evenings and on Sundays only. Lap swimming is allowed at all times, however.

A certified lifeguard, employed by WTC, must be present during all open swims.

In order to use the facility, booster club members must show a club card and members of the faculty and their family must show a driver's license.

Mike Harrison, physical education instructor, is in charge of all pool activities and information about use of the pool may be obtained by contacting him.

Equipment hit in auto mishap

Telephone equipment and a parked automobile were involved in two minor traffic accidents reported in Snyder Monday.

The mishap involving a telephone company junction box was reported at 12:01 p.m. in the N 300 Block of College Ave.

Involved in it was a 1981 Pontiac driven by Phyllis C. Leatherwood of Rt. 3, Snyder which struck the telephone equipment while trying to avoid a collision with a 1979 Ford driven by Elfie Mahurin Nobles of Rt. 3, Snyder.

The second accident occurred at 4:04 p.m. on the access road to Western Texas College.

Involved in it was a 1983 Ford driven by Roger Jones of Snyder which struck a parked 1981 Buick owned by O.R. Brown of Snyder.

Obituaries

Nina Stallings

TULIA–Services will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday for Nina Stallings, 75, who died Monday at the Swisher County Hospital after a lengthy illness.

Burial will be in the Rose Hill Cemetery. Officiating at the service will be the Rev. Charles Davenport, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Born in Scurry County, she had lived in Briscoe County and later moved to Swisher County in 1921.

Survivors include two sisters, Audrey Wasson of Snyder and Jean Martin of Durango, Colo.

Nurse testifies

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A nurse who formerly worked at a Texas City nursing home has disputed allegations of understaffing, shortages of food and supplies and lack of staff training at the facility.

Gladys Taylor, a charge nurse at the Autumn Hills nursing home in 1978, testified she never saw abuse or neglect at the facility.

The testimony Monday came in the state's murder-by-neglect case against Autumn Hills Convalescent Centers Inc. and four of its current and former employees.

Hospital Notes

ADMISSIONS: Buddy Whittenburg, Hermleigh; Jessie Barrett, Odessa; Christina Rodriquez, Box 48; Elsa Reyes, Box 1307; and Allison Beasley, Rt. 1.

DISMISSALS: Stephanie Weber, Aaren Cox and baby, and Clara Calley.

Births

Ray and Elsa Reyes, Box 1307, are the parents of a baby boy weighing six pounds and 10 ounces born at 12:19 p.m. in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Cut your own taxes and save

Juggling gains and losses trims tax

By Robert Metz

(Fourth of 14 articles)

Capital assets get special treatment under the tax laws. If you made a profit and if you held the property longer than six months, you will get special long-term capital gains treatment — and a lower tax bill.

Tax Trap: This applies to the 1985 tax year only. The more than six-month holding period for long-term capital gains treatment applies to assets acquired after June 22, 1984. Assets acquired before that date must be held more than a year. So, for example, if you acquired an asset on June 1, 1984 and sold it for a profit on, say, May 5, 1985 you would not have a long-term gain.

In any case, if you are thinking of selling securities you should be sensitive to the tax consequences.

You have a capital gain when you sell a capital asset at a profit. Capital gains are long-term if you owned the asset for more than six months (six months and a day or longer), short-term if held for six months or less. Only 40 percent of long-term gains are taxed. But 50 percent of net long-term capital losses ordinarily will be deductible.

Conversely, 100 percent of any short-term gain is taxable and 100 percent of any short-term loss is deductible up to certain limits. So it makes sense for investors to hold gains for long-term status but to take losses before they become long-term.

Since only 40 percent of a long-term capital gain is taxable, the maximum rate of tax on the whole capital gain now stands at 20 percent. (The 50 percent bracket is the highest and 40 percent of that is 20 percent, the maximum rate of tax on gains.)

You must complete Schedule D to claim capital gains and losses. In completing the schedule, first report all short-term transactions on line 1. Each transaction is reported individually, with date acquired, date sold, sales proceeds received and price paid, to arrive finally at a net gain or loss for each transaction.

After all short-term transactions are recorded, offset gains against losses for a net gain or net loss for short-term transactions.

Follow the identical procedure with your long-term transactions on line 9. Tally the net gain or loss within the group.

Line 10 is where you must enter any long-term gain you realize from the sale of a home. Other lines in this section allow you to report your gain or loss from a partnership or a small business corporation, as well as capital gains you get through dividends. On line 19, total all your long-term gains and long-term losses.

Finally, on line 20 (not shown on our sample), combine your net short-term position with your net long-term position. If you have gains in each category, add 40 percent of your long-term gains to your total short-term gains. This amount is then transferred to line 13, Form 1040, where it will be combined with other taxable income.

If, in combining the net short-term and the net long-term positions, you arrive at a net long-term loss, only one-half of that loss is deductible. The maximum loss that can be deducted against other income is $3,000 in any one year. This means that it will take $6,000 in long-term losses to provide a $3,000 deduction. If the losses total more than $6,000, the excess can be carried forward to your 1986 return. This maneuver, logically enough, is called a carry-over.

It is possible for a taxpayer to have carry-overs of both short-term and long-term losses. In this situation, the short-term loss carry-over is applied first. Once it is exhausted, apply long-term loss carry-over. The earlier year's carry-overs are always applied first.

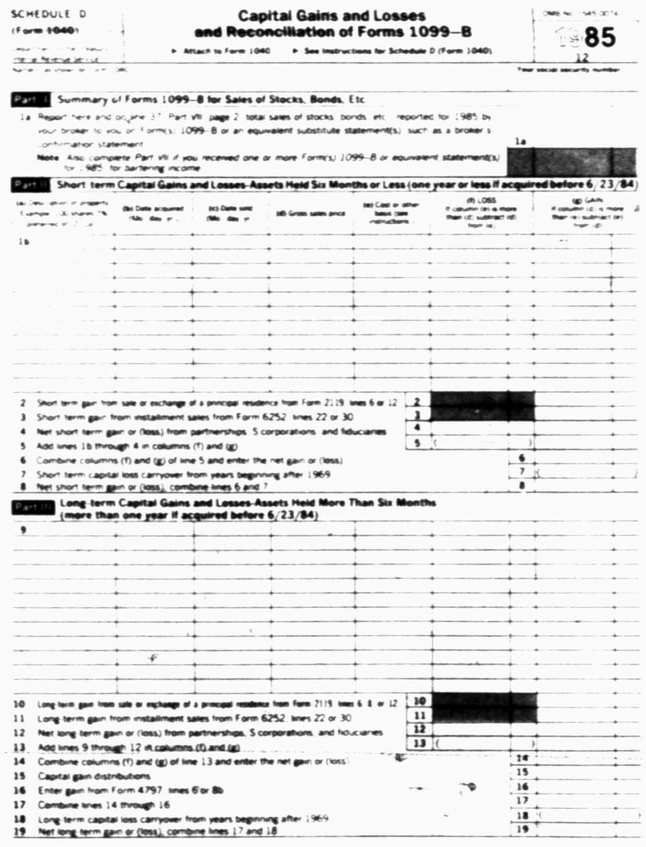

When carried over, losses retain their original character — either long-term or short-term — and are subject to the applicable rules.

Although net long-term losses must be divided by two before being subtracted from ordinary income to the $3,000 limit, the carry-over is not divided by two before being carried over.

In 1986, the carry-over can be applied just as if it had been incurred in that year. And if there are no long-term gains in 1986, the long-term loss carry-over can be applied dollar-for-dollar in canceling out short-term gains. This is one way to obtain 100 percent use of your long-term losses, instead of settling for the usual 50 percent.

Tax Trap: Remember that capital gains (except for transactions involving the sale of your personal residence) may result in having the alternative minimum tax apply.
