Hereford Men Present Hospital Bill To Legislature Today

By BETTY HANNA
Capitol Correspondent

AUSTIN — Ed Line and Donald Hicks of Hereford will present to State Rep. Bill Clayton today the proposed legislation allowing the creation of a hospital district in Deaf Smith County.

Line is a Hereford attorney and chairman of the city's Hospital Board, and Hicks is a county commissioner. They flew up with Bob Davis, a representative of Columbia Security, which came up with the wording.

They chose to deliver the legislation personally because "we want to go over the bill with Clayton and point out some special provisions in our bill that some of the other hospital district bills haven't had. We want to encourage him to support the bill in the same form as it is presented to him," Line said.

Clayton is chairman of the Counties Committee, which has jurisdiction over all bills submitted by individual counties to the Legislature.

Line said State Sen. Max Sherman also will be given a copy of the hospital bill. Sherman has indicated he would jointly introduce it in the State Senate to speed up the ultimate passage.

Sherman, told the Hereford Brand he planned to introduce Deaf Smith County's criminal district attorney bill this week.

That bill would allow the Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court to create an office that would incorporate the present duties of the district attorney here and of the county attorney.

In addition to being named chairman of the Counties Committee, Clayton was named vice chairman of the Banks and Banking Committee, and a member of the Rules, State Affairs, and Conservation and Reclamation committees.

The Springlake representative is one of only five House members who will serve as both a chairman and a vice chairman of House standing committees.

The eight-year veteran served on the State Affairs Committee and Conservation and Reclamation Committee last year.

The 21-member Counties Committee has jurisdiction over all matters relating to counties, their creation, organization, boundaries, government and finances, and the compensation and duties of their officers.

"This is one of the hardest-working committees in the legislature. It is one I asked for because I came down here ready to work," Clayton said.

The representative said Tuesday that a bill he introduced concerning the activities of the Coordinating Board of Higher Education, was put forth because of misleading information he received about the board's actions, he said.

"I am now convinced the board is doing its job properly and there is no need for the legislation," Clayton said.

He said he was concerned over the board's views about expansion of the junior college program but found upon further investigation that the Coordinating Board is doing what it can to promote such expansion.

Clayton said he feels there is a strong need for two or three junior colleges in his district.

"The junior college program can greatly assist the state in carrying out vocational and technical education progams on a two-year basis, as well as in preparing those students who desire additional education," Clayton said.

Sherman urged Deaf Smith County residents to communicate with him about their feelings on any matter before the Legislature.

"One of our goals in the State Senate is to keep in close touch with the people of the district. I hope each citizen will feel free to contact me about any matter or any concern he has," Sherman said.

"Our office will do everything we can to be of assistance in the Texas Legislature or in Austin."

Sherman said he can be reached by telephone at Area Code 512, 475-3222, or by mail at: Sen. Max Sherman, State Capitol, Austin, Texas 78711.

He is on these committees: Agriculture and Livestock, Constitutional Amendments, Environmental Matters, Finance, Interstate Cooperation, Oil and Gas, Privileges and Elections, State Departments and Institutions, Transportation, and Water and Conservation. He is vice chairman of the Oil and Gas Committee.

NEW BILLBOARD — Sam Self, a vice president of the First National Bank, and Nolan Grady, local postmaster and an official in the area Boy Scout organization, stand before one of two new billboards on the outskirts of Hereford pointing out that an Apollo 14 astronaut was born in the city.

Hereford Is Birthplace Of Apollo 14 Astronaut

One of the three Apollo astronauts was born in Hereford.

He is Edgar D. Mitchell, 40, who along with Alan Shepard and Stuart Roosa will journey to the moon next week. The three are scheduled for liftoff Sunday and will remain with their spacecraft for nine days.

Mitchell is one of two who are actually scheduled to walk upon the moon during the voyage of Apollo 14, a mission emphasizing lunar science.

Scientists are counting on Apollo 14 to help answer some of the moon's puzzles.

Mitchell, the son of Ollidean and Joseph Mitchell, was born in Hereford on Sept. 17, 1930. His birth is registered as the first entry in Volume 3 of the Deaf Smith County birth records.

His mother, the former Ollidean Arnold, graduated from high school here and he still has other relatives here. His father is dead, but his mother lives in Tahlequah, Okla.

The First National Bank has had a message put on a billboard on the east and west entrances into Hereford to spread the word of Mitchell's birth here.

The signs say, "Tierra Blanca District, Boys Scouts of America, Welcomes You To Hereford, Birthplace of Astronaut Edgar D. Mitchell."

Mitchell attended high school in Artesia, N. M., and received a private pilot's license there. He went to Carnegie Tech and while there married his wife, Louise. He received his bachelor of science degree there in 1952.

He joined the Navy then, attended Officer Candidate School at Newport, R. I., then flight training at Pensacola Naval Air Station.

In 1954, he was awarded the DAR outstanding aviator award at Hutchinson, Kan., when he graduated from the multi-engine school there with the highest academic scores recorded to that time at the school.

He became the first pilot to qualify for both day and night carrier landings with the A3D aircraft.

He served 18 months as a test pilot at China Lake, Calif. In July 1959 he was assigned to the Naval post-graduate school for two years.

In 1964 he earned a doctor of science degree in astronautical engineering from MIT where his thesis was "Guidance of Low Thrust Interplanetary Vehicles."

He spent six months as Naval liaison on the Man Orbiting Laboratory project and then was transferred to Edwards AFB, Calif., where he was stationed in 1966, when he and 18 others were named to the corps of astronauts, raising the total to 50.

His selection came almost seven years from the time the nation met its original seven Mercury astronauts, first Americans to venture into space.

Alan Shepard was America's first spaceman. He stayed up in "Faith 7" for about 15 minutes.

Mitchell's brother was a fighter pilot and aide to the superintendent of the Air Force Academy, where he was a member of the first graduating class.

"Ed has a deep Christian faith," his wife said in an interview when he was selected into the astronauts' ranks. "We feel that this is one of the basic factors in his success.

Sharon Readhimer Is Honored In National Science Talent Search

Sharon Readhimer, 17, of Hereford has been named as one of 300 students throughout the United States on the Honors Group in the 30th Annual Science Talent Search for the Westinghouse Science Scholarships and Awards.

Like other contestants, Miss Readhimer, of 213 Aspen, completed an entry in the Science Talent Search.

"A high degree of talent is indicated by inclusion in the Honors Group. This is a well-earned recognition and all of us connected with the Science Talent Search offer you our congratulations and best wishes for a successful career in science," said E. G. Sherburne Jr., director of Science Service, Washington, D. C., in the letter through which he informed Miss Readhimer of the recognition given her.

Sherburne said 40 of the 300 will be invited to the Science Talent Institute in Washington from Feb. 24 to March 1. Those 40 are to announced this week.

"If we can judge from the previous years of competition, many of you will be receiving offers of scholarships and other financial assistance" from leading colleges and universities which have been sent a list of those on the Honors Group, Sherburne said.

Miss Readhimer was one of 11 Texans honored on the list. Topic of her science entry was "Random Circuit Electronics."

Livestock Show Gets Underway

By MARSHALL DAY
Staff Writer

A near-record number of entries are expected to swarm into Hereford this week to compete in the annual Hereford Young Farmers Junior Livestock Show today, Friday and Saturday at the Deaf Smith County Bull Barn.

Jess Robinson, high school vocational agriculture instructor, said the county entries in the barrow, lamb and steer divisions surpass last year's total and the same is expected for the out-of-county entries from Parmer, Oldham and Castro counties.

Robinson said 102 barrows, 39 lambs and 13 steers have been entered in the county show.

"We are up some on the barrows, a little on the lamb sand about the same on the calves," he said.

The annual show gets underway today at 2 p. m. with the judging of the barrows, then will continue Friday at 10 a.m. with the judging of the lambs. Friday at 2 p. m. the steers will be judged and on Saturday, beginning at 1 p. m., the sale will be held. FFA and 4-H members will participate Saturday morning in livestock judging competition.

Layton Sawyer, who along with Don Howard is show superintendent, said there have been no significant changes in rules and regulations governing the show this year, but steps will be taken to see the show is run "100 per cent by the rules."

"In the past few years the rules have been kind of lax but this year we are going to see that they are followed," he said. "If we find anyone violating the rules we will impose a $25 fine, regardless."

Sawyer said one of the most common infraction of the rules is the changing of tags on animals after the sale so the original animal can be shown in future shows.

"The grand champion is supposed to sell at any show and a lot of times the owners will change the tags on the animal after they have been sold and the buyer will not get the animal he bid on," he said.

Sawyer said the animal is out of the superintendents' hands after the sale, but they will make sure the animals are not changed through the sale.

Another change in the rules this year is the number of animals a county and out-of-county entrant can place in the show. In the past the owners, both county and out-of-county could enter only two animals each in each class.

This year, out-of-county animals owners can enter two barrows, lambs and steers, and county animal owners can enter three in each category.

"This is to try and help out our county boys and girls some," Sawyer said.

While the barrow and lamb classes are expected to see a considerable increase in the number of entries, Sawyer said show officials anticipate a slight decrease in the overall number of calves this year.

He blamed the current economic situation for the expected decrease because of the amount of time and money that goes into the raising of a steer for the show.

"There is a tremendous bill in raising a calf. You own a calf anywhere from six months to a year where you have a barrow or lamb for only two or three months," he said.

Under current rules, calves must be under the supervised feeding of the county agriculture agent or vocational agriculture teacher for at least six months and lambs and pigs at least two months.

ALL-STATE CLARINETIST — Gary London receives the congratulations of Hereford High School band director Ben Gollehon for being named to the All-State Band in competition staged Saturday in Lubbock. Celia Hutcherson and Connie Walker won their way in two prior eliminations to compete with London for clarinet spots on the All-State Band but fell short.

Voter Sign-up Deadline Is January 31

Deaf Smith County residents have only three days in which to register at the county tax assessor-collector's office in order to have a voice in any of this year's national, state and local elections.

The deadline for registering is the final day in January, but since the final day of the month this year falls on a Sunday, the tax office will be open Saturday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Nell Miller, county tax assessor-collector, said Tuesday that mail-in registration can be done by filling out a registration card.

All registration cards sent through the mail must be postmarked during January before they will be accepted, Mrs. Miller said.

(A registration application on Page 4 can be clipped out and sent in to the Tax Assessor-Collector's office at the courthouse. But it must be postmarked on Sunday, at the latest.)

Mrs. Miller said through Tuesday, 4,566 persons 21 years of age and older had registered and 182 persons between 18 and 20 had registered.

"We had no idea how many persons between 18 and 20 would register, but those 21 and older are running about what we expected since this is an off-election year," she said.

This is the first time persons 18 to 20 years of age have had the opportunity to vote, although it will be only in national elections. Any election on the state or local level will be closed to persons who are under 21 years of age.

Those who are 21 and older will face a number of elections, the voting on the establishment of a hospital district, and possibly a number of Legislature-ordered votes on proposed amendments to the state constitution.

Pharmacist Gives Study Of Poisons

Poison Prevention was the program topic presented by Pete Cash, pharmacist at Deaf Smith County Hospital, at a Tuesday evening meeting of Young Mothers Study Club.

Cash said regular aspirin is the most common poison followed by sink and bowl cleaners, furniture polish, rat poison, etc. All these items and others bearing the warning should be placed out of reach of children.

He told the group the first thing to remember when a child has been poisoned is to remain calm because "time is the most precious asset at that time."

Oil pneumonia, caused by poisons with a petroleum base, occurs when vomiting is induced and the petroleum base gets into the lungs.

Other poisons require induced vomiting with milk as a suggested coating for the stomach. A doctor should be called immediately. "Universal Antidote" is a commercial product which should be kept in the home at all times.

One guest, Mrs. Don Farmer, was present. The meeting was held in the Eugene Baldwin home with Mrs. Don Brush as hostess.

Members in attendance were Mmes. Baldwin, Brush, Charles Brown, Larry Dobbs, Raymond Gerk, Travis McPherson, Bud Thomas, Tommy Updyke, Paul Jones, Don Samuels, Harvey Milton and Linda Newton.

The next meeting will be a husband's Valentine Party or Old-Fashioned Ho-Down at 7:30 p .m. Feb. 9 in Community Center. Mmes. Thomas, Updyke and Chesley Johnston will be hostesses.

Farm-Ranch Meets At Lunch

An afternoon of informal visiting entertained Farm and Ranch Club members after lunch recently in the home of Mrs. Paul Rudd.

Some of the talk was devoted to plans for a party for members' families, to replace the next meeting on Feb. 18. The evening party will be in the J. E. Sorrells home.

Present were Mmes. C. T. Douglas, Phillip Miller, G. V. Hall, W. W. Thomas, Jack Weaver, W. W. Gilbreath, John E. Hill, M. S. Weber and Sorrells.

Ornaments placed at the entrance to Japanese homes at New Year's traditionally include pine, bamboo, plum, oranges and a rice straw rope.

Leg Break Slows Work

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

HOUSEKEEPING FROM a wheelchair is not easy, but possible, Mrs. Tom Morgan has found since she suffered a broken leg last month. Using crutches to get around sometimes, she has managed, even with her left leg in a cast from toe to above the knee, to get her work done.

Help from her neighbors and fellow members in Progressive Home Demonstration Club, she says, has made it possible.

"Nearly every day someone brings in a dish of food ready to eat, and yesterday a neighbor came over and mopped the floors. They've been wonderful!"

FORTUNATLY FOR.. her patience while she recovers from the accident, Mrs. Morgan's favorite pasttimes are reading and crocheting, easily done in a wheelchair. She is making good progress with a multi-striped crocheted afgan.

The accident occurred while she was helping he husband, as she often does on their farm northeast of Hereford, with a farm task, getting weeds off an electric fence. She had actually stopped work and started walking up a deep barrow-pit toward home when she stumbled and twisted her leg. Both bones were broken just above the ankle.

Farm and ranch work is nothing new to Mrs. Morgan; she grew up near Portales, N. M., where her father farmed and ranched and since her marriage has lived on a ranch at San Jon, N. M., and for the past seven years in her present home.

BETWEEN TH END of her schooling and her marriage she was busy as a nurse, including two years in U. S. Army service during World War II.

Overseas duty in England was a part of that experience, and there she met and married Air Force Technical Sergeant Tom Morgan. The fact that she, a second Lieutenant, outranked her husband seems not to have presented problems.

The Army hospital in England was a constantly busy place, Mrs. Morgan says, especially after D-Day when it was a receiving station for injured men from battlefields on the Continent, sent back after first aid. Some were kept for further attention while the more seriously wounded went on to other hospitals.

MRS. MORGAN'S SISTER saw wartime service as a WAC and three brothers were all in military service.

Before entering the Army she had been a nurse two years in Tucumcari, after completing training at Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo. She was graduated from high school and had one year in Eastern New Mexico University in Portales.

The Morgans still own the New Mexico place, and Mrs. Morgan accompanies her husband on frequent trips to oversee it. Their family includes a daughter, Cherry, who taught in Hereford schools in 1967-68 and now teaches in Houston. She married Larry Tinkler in 1969.

A MEMBER OF Progressive H. D. Club several years, Mrs. Morgan has been its president but resigned after her leg was broken. She is a member of the Women's Missionary Society of First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Tom Morgan
. . . wheelchair housewife now

In San Jon she and Morgan were active in the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and she was district president of the Ladies Auxiliary.

Cookery is not her favorite household task, but she says she was always interested in keeping her family well fed. One cake she likes to make, because it keeps well in a freezer and because it is delicious with coffee.

PRUNE SPICE CAKE

1 cup boiling water
1 cup uncooked prunes, pitted and cut up
2 cups sifted flour
1½ cups sugar
1 tsp. salt
1½ tsp. soda
1 tsp. each cinnamon, nutmeg and cloves
½ cup oil
3 eggs, unbeaten
1 cup chopped nuts

Pour water over chopped prunes and let set two hours. Sift dry ingredients into large bowl; add prune mixture, oil, eggs and nuts.

Blend thoroughly, for abut one minute, then beat 2 minutes at medium speed with electric mixer, or 300 strokes by hand.

Pour into greased and floured 13x9½x2-inch pan. Spread batter with streusel topping. bake in two round 9-inch pans degrees, for 45 or 50 minutes. Cut in squares and serve warm.

Or bake in paper-lined muffin pans 20 to 25 minutes to make 12 cupcakes. Or omit the topping and frost the cake. Or bake in two round 9-inch ans 35 to 40 minutes. Delicious cut in wedges and served with carmel sauce or vanilla ice cream.

STRUESEL TOPPING

Mix ½ cup sugar, 2 tb. flour 2 tb. soft butter or margarine until crumbly and sprinkle over batter.

Price Introduces Flurry Of Bills

Cong. Bob Price introduced seven bills on the opening day of the 92nd Congress in an effort, he said, to get early consideration of them by the appropriate committees of the House of Representatives.

The bills include:

(1) A resolution which would allow astronauts to express their religious faith or make comments of a religious nature during space flights. Court action has been instituted in the past aimed at prohibiting astronauts from conducting any religious activities while in space.

(2) A resolution designating the week of March 21 through 27 as a "National Week of Concern for Prisoners of War-Missing in Action.

(3) Legislation which would deny employment in defense plants and other security oriented facilities to persons dedicated to the overthrow of the U.S. government. Similar legislation was passed during the 91st Congress by the House but was not acted upon by the Senate.

(4) Legislation which would make more funds available to college and vocational education students through the government-guaranteed loan plan, which has enabled thousands of individuals to further their education at a total cost to the government of less than 1 per cent of the amount loaned. This bill would create a student Loan Marketing Association (Sally Mae) to guarantee student loan paper purchased by private investors.

(5) Legislation establishing a House Select Committee on Aging which would have jurisdiction over all matters pertaining to the elderly. Bills of this nature now go to ten different committees in the House of Representatives.

(6) Legislation creating a House Committee on the Environment and a Joint House-Senate Committee on the Environment. This would allow a coordinated attack on pollution. Presently seven committees have this responsibility in the House.

(7) Legislation requiring all imported meat to be labeled as such at all stages of distribution, including at delivery to the ultimate consumer.

Debut In Hereford

Roger Monzingo of Amarillo had a feeling something was following him around Tuesday afternoon when he played a round of golf at the Hereford Golf Course.

Something was — his golf bag and clubs. Wherever he went, they followed, at a distance of six to eight feet.

His shadow is called "Maynard." It's an electronic golf caddy, a three-wheeled golf bag toter that obeys a transistor in the golfer's back pocket and faithfully follows him wherever he goes.

"It works beautifully," Monzingo said. He stopped, in the middle of No. 9 on the Hereford course, while he talked, and Maynard stopped too.

"It won't ever get any closer to you than that," Monzingo said, motioning to the new equipment about six feet away. He pushed a button on the transmitter in his back pocket and cut it off, walked over, selected a club and hit his ball down the fairway.

He put his club away, pushed the button and began striding again down the course. A homing device in the newfangled golf caddy picked up the signal and responded immediately.

Monzingo is an area distributor for the Maynards, which are made in Siloam Springs, Ark. He's making a tour of area golf courses to familiarize players and club professionals with the electronic golf caddies.

"We've been promising them for a long time and finally they are ready," Monzingo said. "They're going great in the Fort Worth-Dallas area and in Corpus Christi. We've got 'em out in the West Texas area now."

Maynard costs $595, plus freight, which in this area is about $7, Monzingo said.

Two analog computers inside Maynard calculate the speed, distance and direction of the golfer and automatically translate these signals into power pulses for the pair of 24-volt direct current electric motors that drive Maynard's rear wheels. Two heavy-duty 12-volt batteries supply power for the operation.

Just in case two golfers should be on the course with a Maynard at the same time, some 390 separate radio frequencies are available for the operation, so Maynard won't follow the wrong golfer.

It goes at a maximum speed of four miles per hour. He picked up his stride briskly and when he got about nine or 10 feet ahead of Maynard, the electric caddy stopped dead in its tracks and waited for its master to come back into range.

A manual control is pulled out easily whenever the golfer has a narrow trail or bridge to guide Maynard over. The vehicle still moves effortlessly but at a maximum speed of three-fourths of one mile per hour instead of four miles per hour.

Maynard has lightweight aluminum square tubing. The entire weight is 148 pounds. Three, rubber-tired, 16-inch diameter, chromium plated, 20-spoke wheels guide the craft.

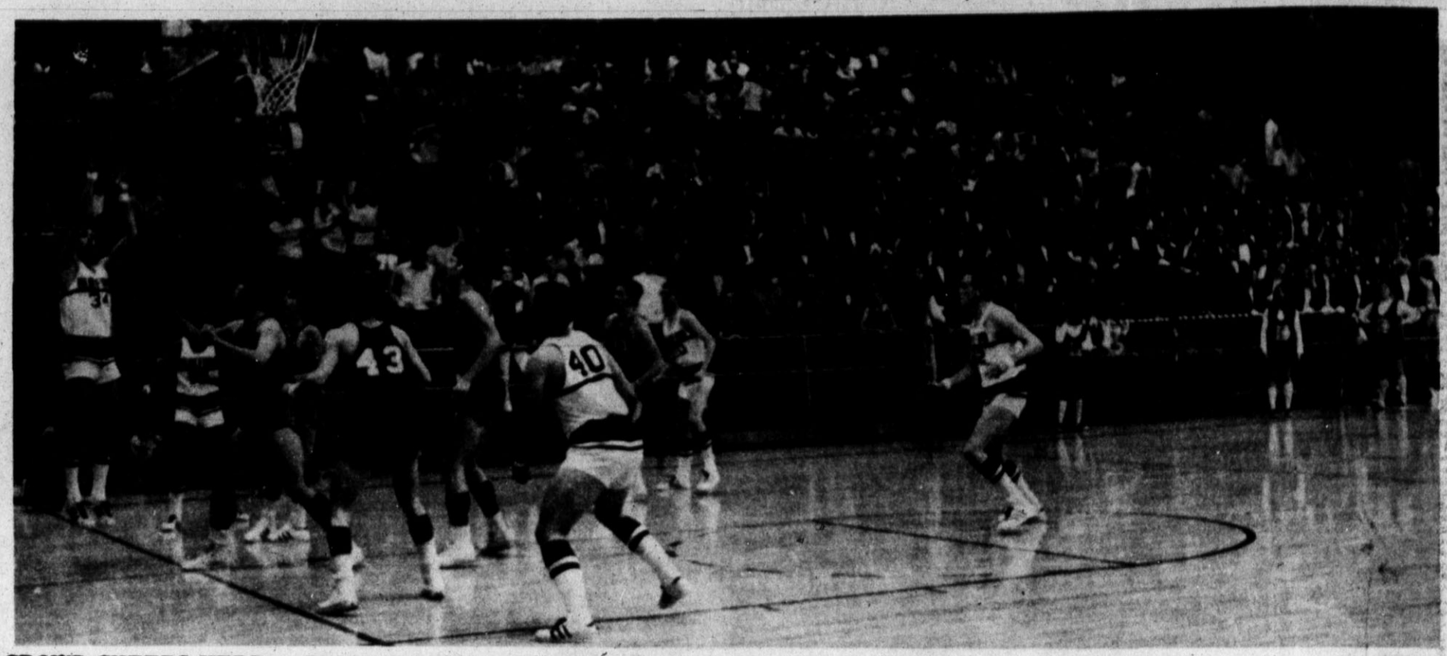

Maynard is not in use on any West Texas courses at this time, Monzingo said, other than the demonstration model. Several club professionals have ordered them, however, he said, with plans to rent them to players.

A 60-day delivery period is requested by the company because, Monzingo said, demand so far is exceeding production.

It has caught on well everywhere he's been, he said.

Australian aborigines meet each other with loud lamentation to commemorate friends who have died since the last encounter.

CROWD CHEERS HERD — The largest crowd in several seasons lended their vocal support Tuesday night for the Whitefaces' initial conference game in Class AAAA. Harold Schmucker (34) shoots for the goal in the closing minutes of the game after the reserves took over for Hereford and built the final margin of 66-45. Other Hereford players, in white from left to right, are Lester Mays Jeff Loerwald (40), Dana Rush and John Sparks.

Whether Governor Preston Smith and other top state officials are eventually judged guilty of wrongdoing or vindicated in the recent stock manipulation scheme which has all Texas Legislators looking at the hole-card, we suspect that a great deal of damage has already been done. It will be a long time before the people of Texas forget the deal, and obviously the integrity of state officials is on the line. Smith, along with House Speaker Gus Mutscher and five other top officials apparently borrowed large sums from the Sharpstown State Bank in Houston in 1969 to speculate in the stock of National Bankers Life Insurance Co. The Sharpstown State Bank was ordered closed late Monday after depositors made a run on the bank withdrawing some $15 million.

Some legislators are now calling for a resolution to remove Mutscher from his position as House Speaker. The resolution, if pushed, will also temporarily remove Reps. W. S. Heatly, chairman of the Appropriations Committee, and Tommy Shannon, House Adinistration Committee chairman. Meanwhile, some 20 legislators — 18 representatives and 2 senators — agreed to make voluntary financial disclosure statements and urged the remaining 161 lawmakers to do the same.

We have a feeling however, that a lot of lawmakers are just "running scared" figuring the scandal may spill — over into their districts come next election time. They're getting their 2-cents worth in before all the facts have been gathered and before we discover who the real culprits are. All may eventually be proven guilty of at least a breach of ethics if not actual illegal manipulations.

Personally, we'll wait and see what happens before condemning anyone. About all we're sure of at this point is that we have not heard it all. The situation could get sticky before the investigation is over.

—HB—

Perhaps the Governor and other state officials are as naive about the stock business and the banking business as the housewife we heard about recently. Called by the bank and informed that she was $29.82 overdrawn, she responded with: "I'll send you a check to cover the deficit."

—HB—

And here's the latest on that Model-A Ford that Lloyd Sharp has been playing with for the past year or so. He's sold it. Ray Cowsert, his chief adversary about the whole deal says it was a "forced sale." Now in financial jargon that would mean he ran out of money. But not so here. Ray says Lloyd's wife "forced" him to sell it.

Confidentially, it wasn't too popular with the neighbors either.

—HB—

Congratulations to Mayberry's Mob." The local basketballers, going into conference play with an18-6record, have chalked up their first conference win by defeating Lubbock Coronado Tuesday night. So it's now 19-6 for the year.

If you haven't been out, you really ought to watch these boys play. They're doing a fine job and need all the support they can get.

—HB—

We would also encourage each of you to visit the Junior Livestock Show this weekend.

If you are worried about the problems with youth and you're getting disturbed about all the bad news on the "Boob Tube," shut it off and drive out to the Bull Barn where a good cross-section of the "other 95 percent" of our youngsters may be found. It's better news than you'll get on TV.

We don't mean to minimize our problems — but we do believe in accentuating the positive.

—HB—

We hear through the grapevine that one of Tech's better footballers may not be back next fall. Apparently grade problems. We hope he makes it but if he doesn't then the school will have no choice of course.

We picked up that little bit of information at the recent meeting of the Texas Press Association in San Antonio and when we heard the story we were reminded of a story once attributed to "Pistol Pete" Pedro, who made his mark with the West Texas Buffs a few years ago.

When asked about his grade point average at WT, Pedro supposedly answered "3.9 yards per carry."

County Court Hears 5 Cases

County Judge H. C. Williams handled a series of minor cases Monday involving swindle with worthless checks, driving while intoxicated and driving while license suspended, and set a hearing for Feb. 4 on another driving while intoxicated case.

Claude McDonald, 39, of Route 1 Friona, pleaded guilty to swindle with worthless check an and was fined $10 and court costs.

Jerry R. Pruitt, 24, of 108 Ave. H pleaded guilty to swindle with worthless check and also was fined $10 and costs.

Hilton Higgins, 47, of Rt. 4, pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated and was sentenced to one year's probation.

Severno Moreno, 24 of 131 E. Fifth, Dalhart, pleaded guilty to driving while license suspended and fined $1 and costs.

Albert Ramirez, 33, of 229 North St. had his hearing set for Feb. 4 to give him time to get an attorney. He is charged with driving while intoxicated.

Teen Voters To Add Many To The Total

How big a change in the voting picture, numerically and politically, may be expected in Deaf Smith County as a result of the Supreme Court decision giving the franchise in national elections to the 18 to 20-year olds?

According to a projection of census figures, there will be a pool of some 1,440 local residents in the new voting-age brackets when the next Federal election rolls around, in 1972.

They are the ones who are 16, 17 and 18 years old at the present time. By 1972 they will be 18, 19 and 20.

In all but three states — Georgia, Kentucky and Alaska — persons in that age group have not been eligible up to this time. Now, unless they are unable to satisfy the minimum residency requirement, 30 days, they may register. They may not be barred because of inability to pass a literacy test.

Extending voting privileges to the additional 1,440 in Deaf Smith County was equivalent to giving the franchise to an extra 7.8 per cent of the local population.

Elsewhere throughout the country, with the addition of some 11.5 million young people to the rolls, another 5.6 per cent of the population gets voting rights.

The totals are exclusive of others who will now qualify by virtue of the fact that residency requirements are reduced to 30 days and by the fact that literacy tests are to be discontinued.

How much of an impact on election results, locally and in other areas, this influx of new voters will exert, is a matter being given considerable thought in political circles. The consensus is that there will be great difference.

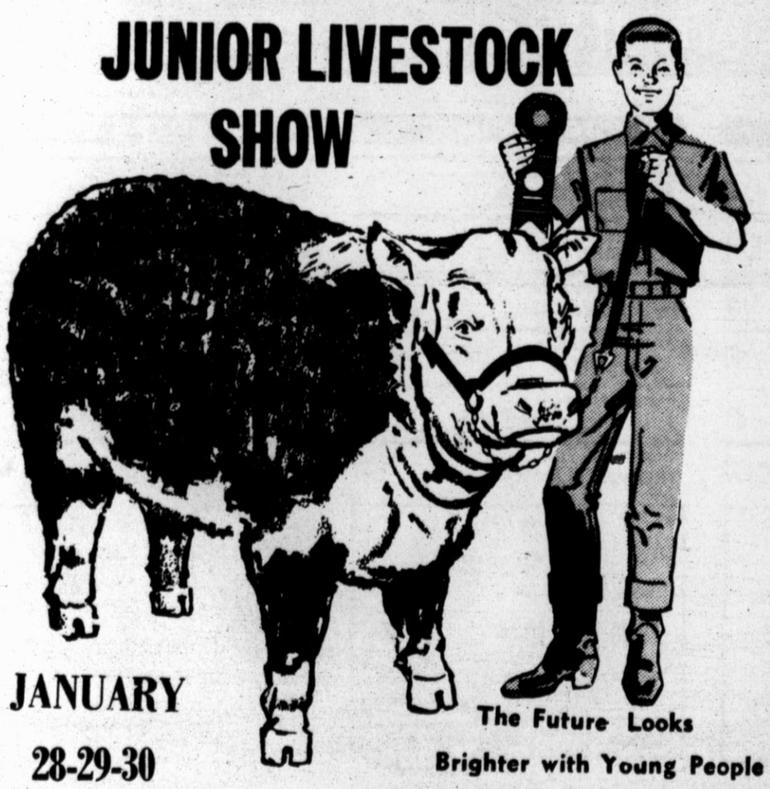

Two authorities on voting behavior, Ben J. Wattenberg and Richard M. Scammon, authors of The Real Majority, believe that if the 18 to 20 group had been able to vote in 1968 election they would have voted almost identically as those in the 21 to 24 group.

WTCC President Urges Restraint In Pollution Laws

The president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce called Monday for "reasonable and reasonable" emission standards in a hearing at Dallas with business, industry and agricultural leaders before the Texas Air Control Board.

F. V. Wallace said unnecessary restrictions by the state on business in the production of food, fiber, petroleum products and all consumer products will be the same as "killing the goose that lays the golden egg because we don't like the odor of the goose."

Needless restrictions on the production processes could put Texas in the same position as other parts of the world which have limited consumer products, Wallace said.

The meeting was designed to hear testimony from leaders of a 19-county area surrounding Dallas and Fot Worth. About half of the 19-county area lies within the service area of the WTCC, Wallace pointed out.

In describing the great imporvement in air quality in West Texas during the past 30 years Wallace said, "As a private pilot I can testify that only a few years ago I could locate almost any town and check the wind direction by the smoke coming from the edge of town where trash was being burned. This condition no longer exists.

"In the oil producing areas we no longer see flares burning waste gases. Cotton gins and other agricultural processing plants now wisely return waste products to the soil rather than burning the waste. Most carbon black manufacturers have been able to divert their gas supplies to other more profitable uses and have ceased operations as carbon black plants."

In his plea before the TACB members Wallace said that unreasonable and unnecessary controls would (1) eliminate jobs that make it possible for our people to purchase the necessities of life, (2) eliminate plants that produce those necessities, and (3) increase the cost of those products to a prohibitive level.

"Approximately 17 per cent of air pollution comes from industry and approximately 60 per cent comes from the automobile. Aren't we being unrealistic if we attempt to eliminate all of the pollution that comes from industry and disregard the automobile which emits approximately 3½ times as much air ollution?

"It would be devastating to eliminate thousands of jobs and interrupt the production and flow of consumer goods without solid evidence that the proposed rigid air standards are necessary for the health and welfare of our people.

"Certainly we want clean air and West Texans are willing to do their part in attaining and maintaining clean air as prescribed by realistic and reasonable emission standards," Wallace concluded.

Realtors Change Meeting Dates

The Hereford Board of Realtors, in a meeting Tuesday at the Country Club, discussed a number of items for the coming year and voted to change its meeting date from twice a month to once a month.

The organization, which normally meets the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month, will now meet only on the second Tuesday.

The board also discussed programs for the coming year and appointed Mutt Wheeler as chairman of the Multiple Listing Service (MLS) board, Melvin Jayroe to the membership drive and Marn Tyler publicity chairman.

The organization also discussed the April 15 Amarillo visit of the state president of the Texas Association of Realtors.

Vaughn Real Estate was welcomed into the MLS as the newest member.

1971 is the Year of the Boar.

Ham Radio Operators Test Sending Ability

A National Simulated Emergency Test will be conducted throughout the nation Saturday to test the capabilities of amateur radio operators to serve as backup operators to government agencies.

Bill Thompson, section emergency coordinator for 144 counties in Texas, New Mexico and Louisiana, will coordinate the activities of the simulated emergency test. He will oversee some 600 amateur operators who will be sending and receiving messages in the north Texas section.

The test is sponsored by the American Radio Relay League which involves the Amateur Radio Emergency Corp which is made up of amateurs from all over the country who agree to make their equipment and talents available in emergency situations.

Bill Carathers serves as emergency coordinator for Deaf Smith, Castro, Parmer and Oldham counties.

Amateur radio operators are not allowed to take money for any messages they send, Thompson said. The average ham operator has an investment of approximately $400 in his equipment which consists of a transmitter, two or three receivers, emergency generators, test equipment and other instruments.

In order for a person to become a licensed amateur radio operator they must pass a very extensive examination on theory, laws relative to radio, Morse Code and other areas comparable to that of a radio broadcasting engineer.

In Hereford there are only five licensed amateur operators and they are Marvin Kerns, R. L. Ethridge, Steve Castillo, Carathers and Thompson.

One of the unique jobs of the amateur operator is the sending of messages to servicemen over seas. Thompson said anyone can send a message through a ham operator to a person over seas at no cost. The messages must not be more than 25 words including the signature and must not be of commercial quality and must not be the initial notification of a death.

The messages to men overseas are transmitted to the Military Affiliate Radio System and from there they are sent to the receiver.

Thompson, who has been section emergency coordinator for two years, said he spends an average of three hours a day on his radio sending messages.

Herd Invades Lubbock For Big Game

The Hereford Whitefaces — after knocking off Lubbock Coronado Tuesday night, 66-45, in what Coach Ron Mayberry called "a big, big win for us" — journey to Lubbock High Friday night in an effort to keep alive their underdog bid for a league championship.

The game is set for 8 p. m. in Chapman Fieldhouse, on Avenue W and 22nd Street in Lubbock. It will be preceded by a sophomore game at 4:30 p. m. and a junior varsity contest at 6:15 p. m.

The Whitefaces shackled Coronado with a full-court pressing defense that forced the Mustangs to cough up the ball on turnovers 15 times during the game while trying to get the ball down court.

Mike Wartes threw in 15 points for the Herd, with Keith Kitchens contributing 11. Four players — David Myers, Dana Rush, Blake Arnwine and John Sparks scored 8 points apiece. John McNey added 7 points and Jeff Loerwald 1 point.

McNey, 6-3 senior pivot man for Hereford, came up with several steals and shined on defense. Wartes and Kitchens led the full-court press that added to Coronado's miseries.

One of the largest crowds in several seasons took in the Hereford victory. The fans extended throughout all but one corner of the home stands and spilled into the opposition bleachers.

Hereford extended its season record to 19-6 with the triumph over Coronado. But most important, it got the Herd off to a good start in their first for-real dabble in the murky waters of Class AAAA.

With a 1-0 mark in District 4-AAAA play, Hereford is in second place. The frontrunner is Plainview, which beat Coronado 53-39 last Friday and then beat Lubbock High 57-56 Tuesday night, for a 2-0 record.

Lubbock, which upset Monterey 27-25 in a slowdown game last Friday, will seek to improve its 1-1 league mark and get back in the race by beating Hereford.

Monterey, 0-1 after its loss to Lubbock, entertains Plainview in another game in Lubock Friday night about three miles from the gym where Hereford and Lubbock will play.

Monterey's Plainsmen face the danger of two quick losses in league play after marking up an imposing 19-3 slate in nondistrict action. Plainview now is 24-2, Monterey 19-4, Hereford, 19-6, Lubbock 18-6 and Coronado 8-16.

After Friday's game with Lubbock High, Hereford returns to La Plata Gy mnext Tuesday for a clash with Monterey, then must go on Friday week to Plainview to conclude first half play in the district.

Plainview, of course, will be trying to assure itself of continued leadership in the league cage race by defeating Monterey. A victory would put the Bulldogs at 3-0 and drop Monterey to 0-2. A loss, on the other hand, would drop Plainview to 2-1 and leave open the possibility of Hereford taking undisputed possession of the lead by beating Lubbock.

A 6-6, 185-pound senior, Mark Davis, leads the Lubbock cause. He's the district's leading scorer with a 19.5 average. Bobby Hutcheson, whose shot at the buzzer gave the Westerners their victory over Monterey, is a 5-11, 160-pound senior and the only two-year letterman on the squad. He's the league's fourth top scorer with 13.6 points per game.

The other Lubbock starters are expected to be 6-2, 150-pound senior Ricky Lusk, the third Westerner returning letterman; 6-0, 155-pound senior Mike McDowell; and 6-2, 160-pound junior Bert Goodwin.

The district championship is being played in two halves. The winner of the first half will play the winner of the second half for the loop title.

"Unbelievable," Mayberry said after Tuesday night's victory over Coronado. He was reflecting on his squad's lofty record at this point of the season, which is considerably more than he had dared anticipate before the basketball campaign began.

At halftime when Hereford was leading Coronado 33-20, someone looked at the large crowd and speculated that. . . . "if we beat Lubbock Friday, we'll have this place full for Monterey. . ."

"We've got to beat Coronado first," said Mayberry, unsmiling.

But his crew disposed of the visiting Mustangs without difficulty. In much the same way as the first quarter, when turnover after turnover let Hereford jump into an early 16-5 lead, the Herd acted quickly to rattle Coronado with their press.

Arnwine hit two quick buckets to nullify a pair by Coronado and then Kitchens came up with a steal and fed McNey under the basket for an easy fast break goal.

Coronado traveled with the ball while trying to get by Hereford's press and Kitchens then came up with a rare eight-foot tip-in, slapping it in on the rebound from over the heads of two Mustangs to raise the lead to 41-24. Sparks hit a jump shot near the basket at the buzzer to give Hereford its 51-30 lead after three quarters.

Hereford's biggest lead, 22 points, came in the game's final two minutes, after Mayberry cleared his bench and rested his starters. The B-team scored nine straight points to change a 57-44 lead into a 66-44 margin.

Buffs Depart On Cage Road Trip

CANYON — The West Texas State Buffaloes, disappointed after their first home defeat of the season Monday night, departed Wednesday on their third road trip of the month to meet Morehead State and Cincinnati.

The Buffs face Morehead of the Ohio Valley Conference Thursday night and meet former Missouri Valley Conference member Cincinnati Saturday night.

Southwestern Louisiana, the No. 2 NCAA College Division team in the nation, ended West Texas State's six-game winning streak at home 91-86 as the Buffdogs' Dwight Lamar struck for 42 points.

The Buffaloes, trailing by 14 points at one time, could get no closer than two points at Lamar's timely baskets kept West Texas from pulling even.

Ralph Houston, 6-foot-6 sophomore, scored 25 points for the Buffs and 6-8 Steve Davidson led the rebounders with 15. Ray Golson, the Buffs' leading scorer, was held to 11 points and saw his season average dip to 20.6 points per game.

The Morehead Eagles opened the season with two victories and then fell on hard times, losing 12 in a row. Last weekend they dropped games to Tennessee Tech 75-69 and East Tennessee 71-64.

"We had a chance to win both games but things went haywire in the last few minutes," said Morehead Coach Bill Harrell.

Jim Day, averaging 25.3 points through 14 games for Morehead, is second in the Ohio Valley scoring race and 21st in the nation.

Cincinnati will probably carry a 10-6 won-lost record into Saturday nights game with the Buffaloes. The Bearcats lost to Louisville of the MVC last week and then whipped the Iowa Hawkeyes of the Big Ten Conference at the Chicago Stadium. They played Ohio University Tuesday night.

The Bearcats have four players averaging in double figures. Derrek Dickey, 6-7, leads the scorers with an 18.5 average.

West Texas State, 10-5 going into the next to the last trip of the season, meets Weber State Monday night in the Amarillo Coliseum with only one day off for flight home from Cincinnati.

Weber State defeated the Buffs by 10 points in the opening game of the season at Ogden, Utah, as All-American candidate Willie Sojourner scored 16 points, grabbed 18 rebounds and blocked 3 shots.

Hereford Stages Annual Speech Tourney Saturday

Hereford High School will host its 3rd annual Invitational Speech Tournament Saturday, and school officials have urged anyone interested in helping with the judging or any other aspect to notify them.

"All are invited to attend and observe some of the rounds to see just what forensics is and how Hereford High School is being benefited by the entire program," Wayne Hodgson said.

Several schools from the Panhandle will participate in the meet. Students from Lubbock also have indicated they will enter.

Hereford's forensics team competed last Friday and Saturday in a tournament at Midland Lee, where about 30 schools from Texas and New Mexico were entered.

In that meet, five Hereford students advanced past the preliminaries. Angela Grubbs and Nancy Brink reached the semi-final round in poetry and prose, respectively, while Don DeGraff and Susan Rudd advanced to the finals. Don placed fifth in boys' prose and Susan fourth in girls' informative speaking.

Sharon Readhimer won Hereford's only award, placing third in girls' persuasive speaking.

Earlier this month, the Hereford forensics team participated in a tournament at Friona.

Miss Rudd finished second in girls' informative speaking and De Graff reached the finals in boys' prose. Miss Grubbs participated in girls' poetry, Leslie Breeding in boys' poetry and Jeff Shipley in boys' persuasive speaking.

Top Cager Drops Off WTSU Squad

CANYON — Marc Wilson, outstanding freshman basketball player from Lubbock, has withdrawn from West Texas State University, Coach Dennis Walling said.

"Marc withdrew because of personal and financial reasons," Walling said.

The 6-foot-6 Wilson, regarded as one of the top high school players in Texas last year and recruited by colleges outside the state, played with the West Texas State freshman team during the fall semester.

"Marc's withdrawal has nothing to do with academics," Walling said. "He passed 12 hour during the fall semester and was eligible for further participation under Missouri Valley Conference rules.'

Wilson, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Wilson of Lubbock, is married.

"We hope that Marc can get his personal affairs in order and will return to us," Walling said.

ALMOST SINFUL

TORONTO — The parent who dominates a young child's time by teaching him specific skills is "almost sinful," a physiologist told a seminar on pre-school children at the Ontario College of Education. Dr. Robert Goode, a physical education lecturer at the college and the University of Toronto's physiology department, advised parents to expose pre-schoolers to all skills, not to concentrate on a few.

Chalk Talk On Program Friday For Federation

A chalk talk by Mrs. Gerald Wilson and Mrs. Rex Lee will be the unusual program feature at the winter luncheon of Deaf Smith County Federation of Women's Clubs Friday in Community Center.

Music for the program has been arranged by Music Study Club. Ms. D. C. Kelton will conduct the business session.

The covered dish lunch is scheduled at 12:30 p. m. and is open not only to members of clubs in the Federation, but to all interested women of the area. Hostess clubs are Hereford, Ceramic Art and Summerfield Study Clubs.

In connection with the January luncheon, a trading table is planned as a fund-raising project. Each woman at the meeting is asked to bring a "white elephant" for this table, an item in good-as-new condition but not suitable or useful for her purposes. These articles will be sold after lunch.

El Chicano Habla To Help, It Says

(Editor's Note: This is the first of three reports submitted by the El Chicano Habla Organization to explain the purposes and aims of the group.)

El Chicano Habla Organization was organized on October 6, 1970. We organized it for one purpose and that was to help the community get a better understanding between the races.

There are a lot of people here in the community that do not know what this organization was organized for. A lot of people think that this organization was started to tear up the town. But when we organized, we said that our purpose was to help the community and the students,and that is what we have been doing. A lot of people may not know it, but that is all we do.

First we got involved with one of the school problems which the people were complaining about. This was the free lunch program, and we got all that straightened out. All the schools cooperated with us, and so did the school officials. They gave us all the information we wanted on any of the kids who had problems. That is one of the good things that we have done in this community by working together with the school officials. But we have some kids that have problems that their parents do not know about, so we tell the parents.

We help them as much as we can, but the parents should help us correct the students, too. There are quite a few who have been playing hooky. Not just boys, but girls too. That is what we have been trying to stop because there is an adult person picking them up at school. We are fixing to put a stop to that. Parents blame the school for this, but we have checked it out and it is not the school officials fault. It is the parents fault that they are doing this. The school cannot take the blame for it. The schools are there to help you learn how to read and write, but if the students do not go to school and the parents know, they cannot blame the school.

So, if any of you parents think, or know, that your child is skipping school, you ought to check with the school every once in a while. Your children can write their own excuses.

El Chicano Habla Organization, Johnny Gamez, vice president.

WHEN YOU SEE those breath-taking costumes and float decorations in big parades and pageants, either in person or as a TV spectator, you don't give much thought to all the work behind the glitter.

Not unless you've done some of the work, that is. One who has, Mary Brashear, was a visitor in our office this week and we were talking about her daughter, Mary Sanders of Corpus Christi, who is helping get ready for a big Mardi Gras celebration.

Mrs. Sanders, who designs and supervises the making of dresses in her own shop in the coast city, has been named costume designer for the elaborate pageant scheduled for Feb. 20.

WITH OTHER chairmen of arrangements, she was pictured in a recent issue of the Corpus Christi Caller-Times.

Costumes she has designed are being made in her shop, where work on them has been in progress several weeks. She has written her mother that extra seamstresses have been employed, and two persons are kept busy just sewing jewels on the gowns.

Mrs. Brashear can picture the bustle in the workroom, as she helped in the shop when she lived in Corpus Christi, and was involved in preparations for some big events.

She remembers especially when she worked all one Sunday, sewing fur trim on the king's robe for a Buccaneer Days coronation, another annual celebration in the city. And that Sunday was Mother's Day, too!

THIS WINTER I've been adding to my list of acquaintances with interesting dogs. You'd know from their names that the Jack Wilcoxes' Chiquita is a chihuahua and the Glenn Watts' Michelle is a poodle.

But it takes a sharp turn in thinking to identify the Tom Harkey's black and white pup as Brownie.

Farm dogs are supposed to be rugged outdoor types, but on two farms lately I've found pampered dogs in the house, too.

The Orval Galleys' big German shepherd, Skeeter, would hardly fit comfortably even into their big house but the gray poodle, Peppy, is just right for that position.

A HALF-COCKER, Spades, has charge of the J. B Caraways' farmyard while the Boston, Sebastian, manages the family indoors. Wonder if he is named for one of the Cabots — they're Bostonians, too.

Out in the same general neighborhood, on the Alfred Smiths' place, there are outdoor dogs which accompany the pickup to wherever there is work to be done. When the Smiths' daughter and her family came for a visit and brought their poodle, everyone wondered how the city dog would adjust.

The first day the little poodle watched the farm dogs hop into the pickup when the men started off on field chores. Next day he didn't hesitate, he hopped in too. By the time the visitors left, the city dog was as good a farmer as the host canines.

Two Cultures Of Area Discussed

Cultural heritage of Mexican-Americans was discussed by Paul Abalos, guest speaker to El Llano Study Club Monday evening in Mrs. Elmer Kimball's home. Mrs. R. C. Hoelscher was co-hostess.

Abalos, on the faculty of Hereford Public Schools for a number of years, spoke briefly of the basis of Mexican-American culture in Spanish culture, and discussed conflicts which have been felt for centuries in the Southwest between that and the Anglo-Americans' background.

He added that Spanish-decended residents today often have difficulty in conforming to American customs, but deplored the fact that many of them attempt to do so by dropping entirely their own heritage. That heritage can be a "valuable addition to the melting pot," the speaker noted, and if it is lost America will be the poorer.

Mrs. Boyd Foster was in charge of program arrangements.

Mrs. Juan Ribes was a guest, and members present included Mmes. R. W. Eades, Virgil Merriott, Ben Childers, O. G. Hill Jr., Gerald Mann, Raymond White, Olen Caviness, Labry Ballard, Bob Word, Jim Bookout, Pete Caviness and Ivan Block.

High Plains Agriculture A Challenge

Agriculture — man's oldest occupation — continues to provide exciting possibilities of newness through development of new cultural practices and ever-changing technological advancements.

Ellis GOOD! BETTER! BEST! TAMALES

And the High Plains farmer constantly is challenging agricultural concepts. This confrontation could be a major factor in the superiority of High Plains agriculture, one of the most highly developed operations anywhere.

One High Plains organization finding success in challenging agricultural cultural concepts is the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway. Cultural innovations established on the Foundation are being proven in actual field production for a number of High Plains farmers.

Using a combination of Foundation-proven cultural practices one Plainview area farmer, Frank Moore, is harvesting nearly two-bale-per-acre cotton from 833 acres. This is double the average county yield for 1970.

Tom Longnecker, Foundation Director, credits a number of cultural practices for this successful 1970 cotton crop. "The Foundation cotton production system makes it (cotton production) a whole new ball game. The most we can see under the old system of 40-inch rows is two bales per acre. Under idea conditions, the Foundation method establishes at least a three-bale potential yield," he said.

Cultural practices used include narrow row spacings on a two-in and one-out skip-row combination, timing of irrigation, and banding fertilizer at planting time.

Cotton was planted in 32-inch rows. This allows an extra row per acre compared to 40-inch rows one-half mile long. The skipped row is a 64-inch blank, enough to qualify in the government farm program.

Following guidelines proven by the Foundation, Moore planted his cotton crop May 5-15. According to researchers at the Foundation, a weather trend shows that in most years, the last unfavorable weather of the year comes in a cold spell sometime between April 20 and May 10. Foundation researchers urge farmers to plant their cotton during this last cold period.

At the time of planting, a band of 18-46-0 fertilizer at the rate of 100 pounds per acre was placed about one-inch to the side of the cotton seed. The planting and fertilizer operations are combined by use of planter modifications recommended by Foundation staff members. Earlier 100 pounds of anhydrous ammonia was chiseled broadcast.

Using optimum irrigation practices recommended by Foundation researchers, a pre-plant and two irrigations were applied. "Most farmers make a mistake in not getting the first irrigation on early enough (first squares)", Jim Valliant, Foundation irrigation specialist states.

For weed control, conventional cultivation equipment plus a flame cultivator were used. A special sweep cultivator with a knife blade welded from sweep to sweep is used during the cultivation operation to control weeks in the skipped row. Later nearer to harvest, a flame cultivator was used to remove remaining weeds from the blank.

Harvest began on November 24 and still continues. "Most of the cotton harvested this year was harvested too green. Cotton like any other crop has to get ripe. Lint "turnout" started increasing December 15 because cotton was coming out of the burs better," Moore said.

Moore is harvesting his crop with a self-propelled stripper which utilizes Moss-Gordon lint cleaners to remove up to 80 percent of the burs from the cotton. "This way, I am returning about 400 tons of cotton burs back into the field without hauling them to the gin first," he pointed out.

He expects to save $4.00 per bale in ginning costs due to the field-cleaned cotton. He also takes care to harvest all the cotton he makes.

Most of the cotton stripping has been done at night due to the high daytime winds. Also, the trailers hauling cotton to the gin are tarped to keep cotton from blowing out.

"It takes only a few minutes to tarp a trailer," he said, "and it pays big dividends."

On one 120-acre plot, Moore harvested 250 bales of cotton. "The potential of the Foundation Cotton System is fantastic. Already we know that with the use of micro-nutrients, we could have increased our yield still more," he said.

Moore is speaking of a 1970 Foundation study in his cotton fields with micro-nutrients on a field size scale which showed that 60 cents worth of zinc per acre increased yields as much as 100 pounds per acre.

The High Plains Research Foundation begins its 15th year in development of its cotton system of optimum production which will provide big dividends for High Plains farmers.

As Tom Longnecker discussed these farm size tests of cotton production practices, "Narrow row (10 to 20" rows) cotton seems to be a certainty for the future but cotton varieties adapted for narrow rows plus production and harvesting practices are still in the development stage.

Proven production practices are known now that can keep us in the cotton business. The production practices developed by the Foundation and put into practice on Frank Moore's farm in 1970 are things that we can do now to increase yields and cut production costs of cotton.

HARMONY

That means good music. And good music is the result of hours and hours of painstaking, disciplined practice---learning how to properly mix concords with discords. It takes the proper mixture of both to produce the ensemble.

It is that way with the beautiful life, too. It requires continuous effort and application. A lot of doing is necessary ---social service, church attendance and support, a love for God and much prayer. Compare the music of the beginning musician with that of the concert performer. Then one can understand there is much work to be done in the church God put right in the middle of a discordant world.

The Church and You can create soul-stirring music from worldly discords. It is called harmony in the church.

Please Don't Eat Plastic Produce

Can you imagine a potato which never gets bad? Well, this one doesn't. It's made of plastic, one of many models used by fresh fruit and vegetable inspectors.

Because Mother Nature makes potatoes in all shapes and sizes, deciding if a potato is U. S. No. 1 according to official grade standards is no easy task. Models, as well as other visual aids, supplement written instructions and help inspectors, whether in Texas, Colorado, or any state, to interpret standards uniformly.

Grade standards, developed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture as a basis for measuring quality, give the produce industry a common trading language for buying and selling. It is the job of federal and federal-state inspectors to apply these standards and certify that a product does or does not meet a particular grade.

Inspection is a voluntary service paid for by the user. The federal-state inspection service is admistered by USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service in cooperation with state agencies.

Since pictures often tell a story better than words, color photographs and color slides, as well as models, are prepared by C&MS' Fruit and Vegetable Division to show shape, color, and different types and degrees of defects.

These visual aids show the inspector what is acceptable for a specific factor in a particular grade. Other visual aids include color comparators which give color limits, and equipment to measure size.

An inspector refers to visual aids primarily to check his judgement against the minimum requirements of a grade. Because his decision means a lot to producers, shippers, and buyers who buy and sell fresh fruits and vegetables by grade, it must be accurate.

Visual aids can help solve unique problems, too. Recently, for instance, new types of discoloration affecting lettuce have been found. Color photographs were made to identify the discoloration and help guide the inspectors in grading lettuce with these defects.

The usefulness of visual aids is constantly being expanded by innovations. For example, readily accessible loose-leaf notebooks containing transparent plastic pages of slides and pictures have taken the place of the previous stacks of bulky file folders. Inspectors can remove appropriate pages to use "on the job" without fear of damage.

Fragile plaster of Paris models are difficult for the inspector to carry with him, but they have the advantage of being three-dimensional. Newer plastic models, which are washable and unbreakable, are now being studied and developed.

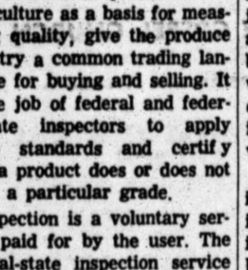

A newly developed cherry model has an added dimension. It can be squeezed to test for firmness....and it even has a pit in the center!

What will they think of next?

New Year's for Japanese is the equivalent of the western world's Christmas, New Year's and Easter rolled into one.

At The Library

Quiet Presence Of The Natural World

If you're particularly interested in reading about small towns surrounded by wild animals, birds, flowers, streams, woods and an occasional mountain — the beauty of nature — there is just the book for you today at the DEAF SMITH County library. Check into it today.

KINDS OF LOVE
By May Sarton

In this, May Sarton's richest and most complex novel, she writes about Willard, a small town lost in the rocky hills of New Hampshire. Although the past flows through the pages of the novel, it is not history that concerns the author so much as a continuity of being.

She has chosen to examine the kind of gusto and resilence that, from the start, have been required of those who "stay alive" in such a town.

Willard's being is a wide diversity of people able to be themselves because of the quality of life they have found in a place where the natural world is never absent from any hour or day, where wild animals, wild flowers and birds, as well as brooks, ragged woods, dirt roads, and a mountain, are all woven into the ethic it represents.

Willard attracts "the untameable, the wild, the gentle."

As the reader is taken into its secret history, he comes to know a rich variety of human beings: from Nik, the one-man conservation society, and his torturing passion, to Old Pete, who leads a happy-go-lucky life in a shack; from wise Old Jane Tuttle and her magic touch, to the dropout Joel, who lands in the town by accident; from the Loveland clan, who have had the grit to stay on as farmers, to Susie Plummer, who had the grit to go to China as a missionary; and from young Cathy, who learns a lot about love in one spring, to Eben Fifield, who comes to understand it in his seventies.

But there are two shining threads that hold all this together; the deep but prickly friendship between Christina, an old Bostonian, and Ellen, the daughter of a farer; the process by which Christina and her husband, at a time of crisis when he has had a stroke, "come into their own" in their marriage when both are past seventy and have become winter people at last.

In some ways this is a novel about kinds of passion and kinds of courage. By the end when Willard celebrates its bicentennial, the reader has come to understand the dimensions of the struggle and the quality of its reward in human terms.

Much has been written about New England. Rarely has a novelist communicated its essence with such clear-sighted realism, humor, and love.

The huge disk which rings the planet Saturn is thought to be four concentric, flat rings, each made up of countless miniscule moonlets. Modern astronomers say the moonlets are ice-coated rocks and dust or that they are icy cylinders rolling against each other as they wheel about the huge planet's equator.

Hospital Bill Goes Into Law

A bill introduced by Congressman Bob Price in October to change staffing requirements or small hospitals has been signed into law by President Nixon.

"Under previous regulations hospitals could not collect payments from Medicare unless at least one registered nurse was on duty during each of the three eight-hour hospital shifts," Prc explained.

"This new law will make it possible for 50-bed and under hospitals to treat Medicare patients if they provide 24-hour nursing service by licensed vocational nurses when registered nurses are not on duty."

Price introduced the legislation on behalf of the many hospital administrators, doctors, nurses, and concerned citizens throughout the 18th District and Texas who have been concerned about the problem.

"It would be a great blow to the residents of small towns if community hospitals would have been forced to close their doors because of unrealistic Federal regulations," Price said.

"I am very pleased that my colleagues in the Congress and the President had the foresight to take such quick action on this legislation," he added.

DOG KILLED

BLACKPOOL, England — Engineer Kenneth Garside claimed he was having a quiet drink at a bar when a poodle dog came up and sank its teeth in him.

Picking up a soda syphon Garside walked over to the dog, struck it across the head, then returned to finish his drink.

Appearing in court, Garside, 45, pleaded guilty to unlawfully and maliciously killing the dog and was fined 20 pounds (48 dollars).

Revised Capital Gain Tax Laws Help, Hurt Investors, CPA Says

(Editor's Note: This is the fourth in a series of articles prepared by the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants offering advice on filing 1970 Federal income tax returns.)

With the number of stock market investors having risen above 31 million in 1970 and the stock market having gyrated as it did, more income taxpayers than ever before will be affected by the revised tax laws covering capital gains and losses, says Miller Montag, President of the Texas Society of CPAs.

Long-term capital gains and losses realized in 1970, which will be reported in income tax returns to be filed by April 15, 1971, are subject, Montag says, to new rules that may adversely affect taxpayers in medium and upper brackets.

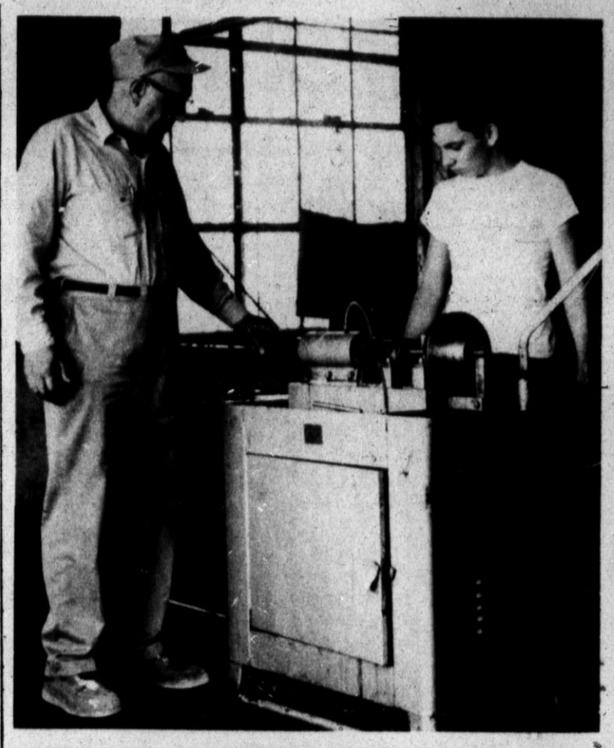

The tax ceiling of 25 percent, exclusive of the surtax which applied for 1970 but has now expired, continues to apply to long-term gains, Montag says, on the first $50,000 of such gains ($25,000 for a married taxpayer filing a separate return). However, the tax ceiling on gains above $50,000 has been raised to 29.5 percent plus the surcharge, and will climb to 32.5 percent in 1971.

And the tax on long-term gains above $50,000 (or above $25,000 for a married taxpayer filing a separate return) is scheduled to go up even more. After 1971, one half of such gain swill have to be counted as regular income. The top bracket on regular income is still 70 percent, so that after 1971 the ceiling on each year's long-term gains over the $50,000 or $25,000 mark will be 35 percent.

Effective with long-term losses incurred in 1970, two dollars of loss are required for each dollar of deduction. Thus, in order to deduct the $1,000 of loss allowable in any one year it is neceassary to have incurred $2,000 in long-term losses. Pre-1970 long-term losses are still fully deductible at the rate of $1,000 a year until the entire loss has been written off.

Short-term losses incurred in 1970 or those carried over from previous years can still be applied, net of short-term gains, against ordinary income dollar-for-dollar up to the $1,000 maximum allowable in any year.

Taxpayers with unusually large long-term gains for 1970 can in some cases ease their tax burden, Montag says, under new, more liberal conditions for income averaging. That is the subject of his next discussion.

ICT STUDENT OF THE WEEK — Chris Jacobson at Jacobson Brothers Machine Shop employes Industrial Cooperative Training student of the week, Joe L. Flores Jr. Flores is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe L. Flores of 321 Avenue H. He is a junior at Hereford High School and plans to attend college following his graduation. He is shown above with his employer.

Grape Grower's Suit May Have Far-Reaching Effects

The president of the Texas Farm Bureau said today a $3 million suit filed by Arizona grape growers against Cesar Chavez's union could have far-reaching repercussions.

"We hope that the outcome will help guarantee that food markets are open to both the housewife and the producer," J. T. (Red) Woodson of Gober, Texas, said. "No one, not even the producer, should have the monopoly power to shut off food supplies to the American consumer," he said.

The $3 million suit was filed Jan. 11 in the federal district court in Phoenix by 12 Arizona table grape growers against the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, an AFL-CIO affiliate, and its officers and agents, including Cesar Chavez, for losses suffered by the growers on their 1969 and 1970 crops.

The suit seeks damages from UFWOC for violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, Arizona anti-trust, and anti-boycott laws and interferences with common law rights. It also seeks relief from any further boycotting.

According to the complaint, punitive damages are also asked against UFWOC of $100,000 for each grower.

Woodson said Farm Bureau supports the rights of labor to organize and bargain collectively.

"However, boycotts of farm and ranch products by labor unions shut off markets for entire commodities whether or not individual growers may be involved in a labor dispute and whether or not workers want to join a union," Woodson said.

The Texas farm leader said it is obvious to most people that there is a need for state and national legislation providing fair and equitable rules to guide farmer-worker relationships. He said that the National Labor Relations Act is intended to provide guide-lines for industry-labor relations, and that farmers and ranchers need national legislation designed to fit the unique conditions of agriculture.

The complaint filed in Arizona points out that prior to 1969, UFWOC confined its boycott of table grapes to California, but during 1969 the boycott was extended to Arizona grapes with great damage to growers of that state in the 1969 and 1970 marketing seasons.

According to the complaint, the UFWOC enlisted the support of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America and the Retail Clerks International Association and various locals of the two unions, in pressuring wholesalers, jobbers and retail grocery stores into refusing to handle or sell table grapes from the Arizona growers involved in the suit.

As a result of the boycott, the complaint states, the Arizona growers not only were shut out of the market, but the consumers were deprived of the opportunity to buy fresh table grapes and to buy such grapes of suitable condition and quality.

The Texas Farm Bureau leader said that the American Farm Bureau Federation as well as state Farm Bureaus have voiced support for the principles involved in the suit.

$$ Drive Studied At Tech

LUBBOCK — Preliminary plans for a Golden Jubilee capital fund raising drive in connection with the observance of Texas Tech University's 50th anniversary 1973-75 has been announced.

Purpose of the campaign will be to establish a major endowment fund, income from which would provide the institution with many of its requirements not available through state assistance.

Plans were announced by Bick Beckwith, director of development and information services at Tech, at a meeting of the Texas Tech University Foundation Board of Directors Friday afternoon in the courtroom of the Tech Law School.

The campaign will be conducted by the Tech Office of Development and the Texas Tech Foundation.

"A professional fund raising firm will be employed to conduct a 'feasibility study' to determine the areas and levels of support which can be expected during the drive," Beckwith said. The study is planned for 1971.

Gifts and grants received through the foundation during 1970 totaled more than $1.6 million to set a record. That figure does not include more than $150,000 received through the Red Raider Club and $46,288 from stadium seat options.

Muleshoe To Host Volleyball Meet

A volleyball tournament will be held in Mulesho eFeb. 22-27, the Muleshoe Jaycees announced this week.

The Monday - through - Saturday tournament is being played or the eighth year.

Trophies for first, second, and third and consolation will be awarded, and an all-tournament team for men and an all-tournament team for women will be selected.

The all-tournament team will wonsist of three spikers and three set-up men on each team. A panel of judges will select the teams on athletic ability and sportsmanship.

The entry fee, as in past years is $7 per team.

"We are getting our entries out early this year so each team will have ample time to practice and for anyone interested to get a team organized," a Jaycee spokesman said.

The games will be played in the high school gymnasium. A deadline of Feb. 15 has been set for entries, which should be sent with the $7 entry fee to Bill Russell, 305 W. 20th, Apt. C, Muleshoe, phone 272-4552. The team name and address and the names of players on the team should accompany the entry.

Certain Decisions Could Be Trouble In New Farm Bill

Officials of USDA have been advised that certain administrative decisions relating to commodity programs under the new farm bill could create serious hardships to Texas farmers.

According to a spokesman for the Texas Farmers Union, both the state and national Farmers Union organizations have advised Secretary Hardin of the objectionable regulations.

Texas Farmers Union president Jay Naman of Waco is visiting in Washington with USDA officials this week about the problems.

"We are very much concerned at the impact the changes announced by USDA in the administration of "set-aside" or diverted acres will have on Texas farmers," he said. "The requirement that compliance with the set-aside can only be met on acreage planted in a harvested crop during one of the three preceding years is a radical change in procedure and will create problems in all areas of Texas.

"Good conservation farmers have previously protected their idle acres with permanent cover crops. Under the change in the regulations, these acres would not be eligible for compliance with the program. Also, farmers who have been program participants for the past three years and have diverted the same land on a continuous basis would be forced out of compliance by the change in the regulations."

The Farmers Union official points out that the new regulation would prejudice past farm program participants and good conservation farmers in their ability to continue complying with the federal farm and conservation programs.

He stated that he is discussing with USDA certain loopholes in the administration of the new farm program that could give farmers who have been planting outside of the program eligibility to use the loan by acquiring small crop history bases and idling token acreages. Naman said, "Farmers who have been developing large acreages of new production, particularly in reclamation areas, could avail themselves of Commodity Credit Corporation loan benefits by making insignificant acreage reductions. This will subvert supply management."

Farmers Union is also opposing the new regulation that penalizes farmers suffering from adverse weather who plant a second crop after loss of their original crop. If the regulation stands, a farmer will lose one-third of his payments, if because of drouth or hail, he finds it desirable to plant a second crop on the disaster acres.

Financial Affairs Affected Largely By Government $$

Federal, state and local government dollars play a big part in the financial affairs of Deaf Smith County residents.

Based upon a state-by-state analysis by the Tax Foundation of data recently released by the U. S. Office of Business Economics, about 22.2 percent of each dollar of income in Deaf Smith County's area is from public funds. It came to approximately $7,941,000, after taxes, in 1969.

Taken into account in the study were payments of wages and salaries to people on government payrolls, the amounts going to those receiving social security benefits and outlays for unemployment compensation, pensions, interest and public assistance.

For Deaf Smith County, applying the state average locally, the 22.2 cents consists of 14.2 cents received from the Federal government and 8.0 cents from state and local agencies.

Throughout the United States as a whole, 21.7 cents of every dollar of personal income received by Americans comes in the form of government checks, the Tax Foundation shows. In the Southwest States the average is 24.0 cents.

The total amount obtained from governmental sources during the year, via payrolls, pensions and the like, added up to $161 billion.

Of this sum, over $93 billion came from Washington and the other $68 billion from state and local governments.

Some communities get an exceptionally high proportion of their income from these sources, it is noted, due to a greater amount of public employment in their area or due to a high concentration of retired people.

The ratio of government payments to personal income was highest, 49.2 percent, in the District of Columbia, because of the many Federal employees there. Alaska, with 45.7 percent, was next.

State and local contributions to personal income were lowest in New Hampshire, 7.1 percent, and highest in New Mexico, 13.4 percent.

With government payrolls on the rise and social security and other benefits expanding, public funds are becoming an ever-increasing source of personal income.

Mishaps At Home Rise On Weekend

What are your chances of being injured in an accident involving some consumer product this year?

If you are a male between the ages of 5 and 24, working or playing at home with some consumer product between 3 and 9 p. m. on a Saturday or Sunday, you probably should take greater care to avoid potential accidents.

That could be one of the lessons learned frm the 1970 Product Safety Report issued by the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. The report is designed to furnish information concerning the types and severity of injuries, with particular emphasis on identification of consumer products usually involved or associated with those injuries.

The products most frequently involved in injuries are, in descending order: bicycles, nails, kitchen knives, tables, beds, playground equipment, chairs, snow skiis, non-prescription drugs, glass bottles, metal containers, ladders, power saws, prescription drugs, and drinking glasses. Also mentioned but in less frequent numbers, are: clothers dryers, washers, stoves and ovens, power lawn mowers, and chain saws.

According to the statistics, almost one-half of the injured persons are under 15 years of age. And nearly 60 per cent of them are males. Almost 70 per cent of the accidents are reported to have ocurred in or around the home.

J. M. Doughty, Jr., a Texas Health Department official says those figures should not be viewed as reflecting all the consumer products accidents occurring acoss the country last year. They are, however, good indicators as to type of products involved, who is involved, and when and where they occur.

Almost 50 per cent of the injuries reported occurred between noon and 6 p. m., and more than one-third occurred between 6 p. m. and midnight. Each day of the week ranked almost equal in the number of accidents occurring on that particular day, although Saturday and Sundays showed a slight increase.

Governmental actions to protect the health and safety of the public will only be successful if the public itself becomes informed of these potential dangers from common consumer products. That's why the Texas Health Department emphasizes that safety is part of the good health habit.

On Nov. 6, ruddy - colored Mars was seen only about a third of a degree from Jupiter. On Nov. 12, the red planet passed within a degree of Uranus. The bright, first - magnitude stars Spica and Denebold, glowing nearby, added to the display.

As astronomers picture Mars today, it seems hostile to any life. Deserts cover much of the surfacr. Temperatures range from 70 degrees at noon to 100 degrees below zero at night. Oxygen and water are extremely surface. Temperatures ran ge low.
