Tuesday's 90 Sets New Record High For Oct. 30

The first half of October was unusually dry and temperatures were above normal. About three inches of rain fell during the month. Record high for Oct. 30 was set Tuesday when the mercury went up to 90 degrees, an all time high for that date.

Rains for the past week halted all farm work. A total of 1.41 inches fell during the week end. This is of great benefit to cover crops recently planted, pastures, grassland and fall gardens. If frost and a freeze remain away for several days, good winter grazing and an abundant cover crop are expected.

Another slow, easy rain began falling about 9 o'clock Tuesday night and overcast skies, showers and mist prevailed Wednesday. A cool wave, accompanied by rain moved in about noon Wednesday, dropping the mercury to 50 degrees by 1:30 p. m.

Former Talco Man Serves in Korea As Chaplain

Camp Roberts, Calif. — How's this for a tour of Korean duty: Called to active duty July 7 last year. Assigned to the 50th AAA Self-Propelled Automatic Weapons Battalion and shipped overseas nine days later. Landed with the United Nations forces at Incheon. In the thick of the battle for Seoul. Landed at Iwan.

With the United Nations forces in their initial retreat after the entrance of the Chinese Reds during last winter's severe fighting around Ham-Hung and Hung-Nam.

His anti-aircraft unit was one of the last units to be evacuated during the spectacular United Nations evacuation from Hung-Nam because of the constant threat of marauding Red aircraft. After the evacuation, reassigned to the 13th Combat Engineers Battalion of the 7th Infantry Division and back to the front lines. Returned to the United States Aug. 24, 1951.

Yet, despite 11 months of some of the roughest battles in the Korean campaign, this soldier never carried a gun.

This is the story of Capt. Frederick H. Ogilvie, Chaplain United States Army. He was recently assigned as a Protestant Chaplain for Camp Roberts.

In addition to his duties as a Post Protestant Chaplain, Chaplain Ogilvie is engaged in bringing a religious and guidance program to the men of the Camp Roberts Post Stockade.

This program includes worship services on Sundays, character guidance classes on Monday evenings and personal interviews with the men in the Stockade.

Previous to being called to active duty, he attended the Chaplain's School at Carlisle Barracks, Penn., in April and May of 1950. He also studied at the Southwestern Theological Seminary in Fort Worth, after being graduated from Baylor University, Waco, in 1944.

Married and a father of two children, a boy, three and a girl, six, Chaplain Ogilvie was pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church in Talco from 1947 to the spring of 1950 before coming into the service. He and his family now make their home in Cayucas, Cal.

Membership cards will be handed out at the meeting. Also, there are yearbooks for those who have not received them.

L. R. Miller, Grady Traweck, Jimmie Davis, V. L. Taylor, Harry Carlisle, Roy Propes and J. P. Davis attended a Masonic meeting at Deport on Thursday night of last week, when a fifty year button was presented to A. L. Stalls and a degree team, composed of State Highway Patrolmen, conferred the third degree.

Texas Population Up 20.2 Per Cent Past Ten Years

Texas had a population of 7,711,194 April 1, 1950, an increase of 20.2 per cent in ten years.

Final figures were released by the Census Bureau. Texas is sixth in population.

Texas population in April, 1950 was 1,296,370 more than the 1940 population of 6,414,824.

The figures showed that 62.7 per cent of the population lived in urban centers—places of 2,500 or more. Texas' urban population was 4,338,060 and its rural population 2,783,134.

The largest numerical increase took place in Harris County (Houston), with a 1950 population of 806,701 — largest in the state. The 1950 Harris County figure was an increase of 270,740, or 52.5 per cent over 1940.

Dallas, Bexar (San Antonio) and Tarrant (Fort Worth) had increases in excess of 100,000.

The four large counties—Harris, Dallas, Bexar and Tarrant—accounted for more than three-fifths of the population gain of the state.

The 1950 population of the state was more than 36 times its population in 1850 when it was first enumerated in a federal census.

Houston, with 596,163, ranks first in population among the 719 cities in Texas. Dallas, with 434,482 ranks second.

Proposed Changes In Constitution

It is time for the people to be giving attention to five amendments to the State Constitution which are up for the decision of the electorate Nov. 13, as submitted by the Fifty-second Legislature. All of them are of major importance.

One of them provides for issuance of $75,000,000 of bonds to be used by the state in purchase of land to be sold to veterans. It is an amendment to Art. III, Sec. 49-b, adopted in 1945, which provided for issuance of $25,000,000 for this purpose. This fund has been exhausted.

There are two pension amendments. One liberalizes the provisions of the present Art. III, Sec. 51-a, by raising the limits for old-age pensions and pensions for dependent children and the blind. Another amends Art. XVI, Sec. 63, enabling the Legislature to provide a statewide pension system for appointive officials and employees of counties.

Still another proposed amendment provides for the investment of the permanent fund of the University of Texas in securities other than those now permitted under constitutional provision.

A maximum tax of 50c on the $100 of assessed valuation would be permitted for rural fire-prevention districts under a proposal to amend Art. III, Sec. 48-d, which limits the tax to 3c. This section, added by amendment in 1949, provides a tax rate that is said to be entirely inadequate for the purpose.

After five years of the Welfare State in Britain in which the Labor government tried to take over everything, the people saw the light and have put a conservative government in power again. Britain has been rapidly developing into a second rate power and they will now see what can be done with the heavy burden of taxation necessary for the do-gooders spending of the people's wealth. Maybe it will have effect upon policy-making in this country. Here in America the people are fed up with taxation for do-goodism.

LARGE CONGREGATION HEARS CHORAL CLUB

Monday night at Talco Methodist Church, over 210 people filled the church to capacity and overflowing to participate in the night's observance of the United Evangelistic Mission and enjoyed the featured sacred singing of the High School Choral Club, 50 voices strong, under the direction of the high school choral teacher, Mr. Williamson.

The choir sang "Steal Away," a negro spiritual; "When Children Pray," "Open Our Eyes," and as its concluding number, "Softly and Tenderly." Mr. Williamson sang during the offertory the beautiful "Sunrise Tomorrow."

The Rev. Leslie Scott of Dickinson, speaking to youth on this occasion, brought a message stressing "What Religion Can Do For Youth." He said "We must have something to live by, something to live with, and something to live for..." The Christian faith, he affirmed, is that "something."

Following the service, the youth of the church and the choral singers were entertained in the educational building of the church, being served cookies, sandwiches, potato chips and cold drinks.

90% For! 10% Against

Railroad workers are represented by 23 standard unions. By mutual agreement, 20 of these unions—comprising about 1,200,000 men, or more than 90%—are working under wages and rules agreed to by them and the railroads. But leaders of three unions—with only about 130,000 men, or less than 10%—still refuse, after more than a year of negotiations, to accept similar wage and rules agreements. These are even more favorable than the terms recommended by the Emergency Board appointed by the President.

Yes, it certainly seems to be finally about time that the leaders of the three unions stop their delaying tactics—their quibbling. But the leaders of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the Order of Railway Conductors continue to refuse. They continue a course of dillying and dallying. It is definitely time to END THIS QUIBBLING!

On June 15, 1950, an Emergency Board appointed by the President under the terms of the Railway Labor Act—an Act largely fathered by the unions themselves—made its recommendations on certain wage and working conditions ("rules" in railroad language) which had been in dispute between employees and the railroads.

More Than 90% of Employees Accept Since then, terms equal to or better than the Board recommendations have been accepted by about 1,200,000 railroad employees—more than 90% of the total of all workers. They are represented by 20 of the 23 standard railroad unions.

Less Than 10% Refuse But three unions—with about 130,000 men, or less than 10% of the total—have refused to accept, even after months of negotiations. These three unions are the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the Order of Railway Conductors. These are three of the so-called "operating" unions. Already the highest paid men in the industry, their leaders demand still further advantages over other workers.

In all, there are about 270,000 operating employees. But not all of them, by any means, are represented by BLE, BLF&E, or ORC. As a matter of fact, less than half—132,000 to be exact—are in these three unions. More than half—about 140,000—are in other unions, principally the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. What makes the whole situation so hard to understand is that these 140,000 operating employees are working under wages and rules which the leaders of the other 130,000 say they cannot agree to.

What Do the Railroads Offer? They offer these three unions the same settlement which was contained in a Memorandum of Agreement signed at the White House on December 21, 1950, by four brotherhoods and the railroads. Later these brotherhoods sought to repudiate this agreement. But on May 25, 1951, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen signed a complete agreement carrying out the principles of the Memorandum Agreement of December 21. They have been working under this agreement since May 25.

What About Wages?

Under the terms of the agreement, yard engineers, firemen and conductors would now be receiving a wage increase of $.34 an hour ($2.72 a day) and road engineers, firemen and conductors would now be receiving an increase of 19½ cents an hour ($1.56 per day). Large sums of retroactive pay have already accrued and if the agreement is carried out, will be paid promptly.

What About "Cost of Living" Increases?

The White House Agreement includes an "escalator" clause under which wages will be geared to changes in the Government's cost-of-living index. Two such increases—April and July, 1951—have already been paid to the 90% of railroad employees covered by signed agreements.

What About the 40-Hour Week?

The White House Agreement calls for the establishment of the 40-hour week in principle, for employees in yard service. The employees can have it any time after January 1, 1952, provided the manpower situation is such that the railroads can get enough men to perform the work with reasonable regularity at straight time rates. If the parties do not agree on the question of availability of manpower, the White House Agreement provides arbitration by a referee appointed by the President.

What Else Do the Union Leaders Demand?

The continued quibbling of the leaders of the three unions has to do principally with rules changes, which have already been agreed to by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. Of these, the principal one seems to be that having to do with so-called "interdivisional service"—runs which take in two or more seniority districts.

The union leaders would bar progress and efficiency in the industry, and better service to the public, by maintaining a situation where they can arbitrarily stop a railroad from establishing such interdivisional runs. The carriers propose that if a railroad wishes to set up an interdivisional run, the railroad and the unions should try to agree on such run and the conditions which should surround its establishment, and if the railroad and the unions can't agree, the matter will be submitted to arbitration.

But the three union leaders still refuse.

Rules Can Be Arbitrated

The railroads have not only offered these three unions the same rules agreed to by the BRT and covered by the White House Agreement, but have even agreed to submit such rules to arbitration.

The Industry Pattern Is Fixed

With the pattern so firmly established in the railroad industry, it seems fair to suggest that the leaders of BLE, BLF&E, and ORC stop their quibbling and take action to make the railroad labor picture 100% complete. Certainly today's economic and international situation calls for a united front. And certainly no good reason has been advanced why these three unions should be preferred over all other railroad employees.

Sellers Opposes
Amendment to Old Age Pensions

Hon. Grover Sellers of Sulphur Springs, former Attorney General of Texas, supports the contention of many other Texas attorneys that the proposed old age pension amendment abolishes all citizenship requirements and that foreigners and non-residents will flood the state pension rolls.

Mr. Sellers says, "The proposed amendment eliminates the requirement of citizenship and of actual bona fide residence. The amendment would greatly enlarge the old age assistance rolls of Texas. For example, it would make eligible citizens of Mexico, Germany, England and other foreign countries and citizens of all other states of the Union, just so long as they reside in the State of Texas."

"The proposed amendment might cause many aged persons from outside the state to move into Texas for the purpose of qualifying for assistance under our program. The amendment might well reduce the amount of assistance to be received by those citizens who now qualify, because it will take in large numbers who do not participate in present appropriations. The amendment of course would tie the hands of future legislatures and of the courts in the matter of Texas citizenship and residence requirements."

Ten Years Ago

Week of October 31, 1941

Talco Trojans and the Bogata Bulldogs were scheduled to tangle on Bogata field.

Four Red River County boys had been called to report for induction on Nov. 18. They were Elonzo Wayne Sloan, Boxelder; George Wade Ripley, Fulbright; Todd Eugene Lawson Jr., Annona and Leighton Marion Corbett, Clarksville.

Talco band had played in the Yamboree at Gilmer.

Miss Christine Howard of Talco and Sgt. Elmo Tobin of Ft. Bliss, El Paso, had married Oct. 25 in Talco.

Mrs. G. A. Aldridge, 71, Johnstown, had died.

Arden Tutt of Maple Springs and Miss Dee Sullivan of Bowie County, had married Oct. 27 at Talco.

A son had been born on Oct. 21 to Mr. and Mrs. Newt Greer, named Travis Edward.

Miss Dolores Later had entertained a group of friends at her home with a Sunday School party.

ATTEND YOUTH RALLY
AT SULPHUR SPRINGS

Sixteen people from the Talco Methodist Church attended the UEM Youth Rally at Sulphur Springs Saturday night. The Rev. John Wesley Hardt of Atlanta, brought an inspiring message concerned with the importance of belief in God, Christ and the church. In his challenge to youth he pointed out the fallacy of hesitation in the matter of choosing to stand with the church. His emphatic appeal was "Let's go— and let's know where we're going!"

Those attending from Talco were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Kempe, Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Worthington, Patsy and Gene Worthington, Jerry Worden, Joan Callaway, JoAnn Cox, Ennis Brown, Robert Louis Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Richardson, Barbara and Marjorie Richardson and Rev. John Dvorak.

Frank Perdue of Sweetwater, visited Mrs. Lizzie Copeland Friday of last week.

Mass Meeting on Sunday Afternoon

At Ferguson auditorium on the East Texas State College campus at Commerce, Sunday afternoon, 3 p. m., the Sulphur Springs District observance of the United Evangelistic Mission will be closed with a great mass meeting where between 2000 and 2500 people are expected to be present from the entire Sulphur Springs district. Over 40 people from the Talco church have indicated that they will be present to hear Dr. Marvin Vance of First Methodist Church in Austin, one of the truly great voices of American religious life, address the assembled group.

Alcorn Solves, According to Illogical Mind, Problem of College Football

Editor's note: True to his promise, Achin Alcorn, philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sulphur "solves" the problem of how both sides can win a football game, his letter this week reveals.

Dear Editor: As I told you last week, what college football needs is a change in the rules so both sides can win, and I promised to tell you how this could be accomplished. It's simple.

My idea would be to give a Congressional committee a few dollars, say $500 or $500,000 or whatever figure comes to mind handily at the time, and let them launch a probe.

You think a Congressional investigation couldn't solve it? It's easy. It took only 1,532,941 words of testimony to solve the MacArthur-Truman controversy last spring and anybody who wants to know what the solution was can find out by taking them 1,532,941 words home with him and reading 'em.

I can picture the investigation now: television cameras and microphones flankin the hearin room, college students filin in, each tellin in his own way how he had expected the team to win Saturday, how much it meant to him, how much he lost—oh, excuse me, that's Kefauver's sphere—how the coach is gettin ulcers, the fans are gunnin for his scalp, etc.

I don't want to get too far into Congress' field of activity, but it ought to be able to figure out say a method of subsidizin the losin team, a sort of financial victory in lieu of the score board type, with a clear-cut stipulation that the money had to be spent honestly in the purchase of new material, couldn't be used in payin off obligations to players who've already demonstrated that they couldn't win. This would be in violation of U. S. Football Regulation W14, paragraph D.

Obviously, havin every game wind up in a tie wouldn't work. You wouldn't have anybody comin off the field happy. Kill the gate receipts. Be like havin two Presidents in Washington, one from each party, with each havin veto power over the other one.

But it seems to me maybe the simplest way for Congress to solve the problem of both teams winning is by passin a law requirin both teams to win.

This would involve probably a new bureau, a bureau head and a whole set of enforcement agents to see that every game wound up with two victories, not with just some subterfuge like erectin two separate scoreboards and attainin a superficial double-victory, with the real score bein bootlegged at one of the side entrances to the stadium, and while the law might not be enforceable, that ain't no skin off the bureau's back, it'd be up to the colleges and universities to figure out how they could comply and still stay in business, I mean still stay with higher learnin. The fact a law ain't enforceable ain't been no bar to its gettin passed in this country. You ever try to follow an OPA regulation? Yours faithfully, A. A.

"I met Harriet today. Hadn't seen her in ten years."

"Has she kept her girlish figure?"

"Kept it? She's doubled it."

Pink Bollworm Survey Started

A bale-by-bale survey of all cotton ginned in Winnsboro is being conducted by the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, in an effort to define the area around Wood County infested by the pink bollworm.

Roy Strong, an inspector of the bureau, a division of the United States Department of Agriculture, has set up his trash inspection equipment there. Winnsboro, situated at the extreme north end of Wood County, and lying partly in Franklin County, receives cotton from those counties, plus Hopkins, Rains, Upshur and Titus Counties as well.

Pink bollworm were found in trash samples at a Winnsboro gin Oct. 5, and a quarantine has been clamped on Wood County. However, the USDA is conducting the detailed survey to determine if possible, exactly where the worm originated.

Book Lovers Club With Mrs. Smith

Mrs. E. W. Smith was hostess to the Book Lovers Club Friday afternoon at the city hall. The auditorium was decorated in the traditional Halloween manner with pumpkins, bats and black cats. The club president, Mrs. H. O. Williams, presided. Eleven members answered roll call with assigned topics.

During the business session a new year book committee composed of Mrs. E. W. Smith and Mrs. B. L. Gieger, was appointed. Members are urged to submit program subjects to them for the new year books. The program was a book review given by Mrs. Jim Morris, "Pathway to the Stars," by Harnett Kane.

Delicious refreshments were served to the following members and visitors: Mmes. J. L. Cato, R. R. Kelley, O. S. Goodloe, H. O. Williams, Jim Morris, Eva Jones, Billy Carter, Dick Hood, B. L. Gieger, E. W. Smith and the visitor, Mrs. Mattie Eberts. Next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Eva Jones on Nov. 1.

We will appreciate your printing orders, large or small.

Cotton Advances Nearly $5 Bale

An upward trend in the cotton market the first of the week caused the price to advance nearly $5 per bale. Middling 15-16 was bringing 38.25 cents and snaps 35 cents per pound. Seed remained at the season's high of $80 per ton. Gins have been at a standstill for a week, due to the rainy weather.

BOY GENIUS

Nine-year-old Edna was just crazy about school, while her younger brother was considerably less enthusiastic. One day the little girl suggested that they play school. The lad absolutely refused to cooperate. However, when Edna threatened to tell their mother, the boy weakened a bit.

"Well, all right," he agreed grudgingly, "but let's play I'm absent."
