Welcomes Planned

Schools In Each Town Visited Will Turn Out That Students May Receive Souvenirs To Be Given By Boosters

A FINAL APPEAL for more automobiles for the first goodwill trip, to be staged today by Lubbock business men to advertise the eighteenth annual Panhandle-South Plains fair, was made last night by Joe Bowman, committee chairman in charge of the tour.

Bowman urged of those who agreed to send automobiles and those who had not been solicited, but who could make the trip, to assemble at the City hall at 7:15 o'clock this morning. The motorcade is to leave promptly at 7:30 o'clock, he said.

Luncheon Carded

Towns to the north and east of Lubbock have been informed of the goodwill crusade and will be waiting to receive the local delegation, he said. At Plainview, a special luncheon is to be held with a large number of Plainview people joining with the visitors.

Schools are to be turned out in every town in order that some 5,000 whistles may be distributed among the children and in order that they may learn of plans for the fair.

Speakers Going

Rev. J. O. Haymes, Robert H. Bean, H. D. Woods, Jess Levens and others will speak for the Lubbock delegation. The Lubbock high school band and the Green brothers' string quartet will make the circuit and furnish the music.

The first stop will be at Abernathy. Hale Center and Olton will be visited during the morning. Plainview will be the noon stop. In the afternoon Lockney, Floydada, Crosbyton, Ralls, Lorenzo and Idalou will be visited in order.

Shortest Trip

Today's trip is the shortest of the three trips planned. A total distance of about 185 miles, of which 77 miles will be on pavement, will be traveled.

Fear was entertained late yesterday by members of the committee that there would not be a sufficient number of automobiles on hand this morning to transport

Klan Leader Says Demos Have No 1932 Candidate

Dr. Hiram W. Evans Paying Visit To Brother Here

DR. HIRAM W. EVANS

THE national political situation is "pretty badly befuddled"; there's no question about Hoover's being the Republican choice again in 1932; the Democrats are almost certain to split on prohibition and there's a possibility that Al Smith may ride in again as the party nominee.

And—"if he does the Ku Klux Klan will be right back in the middle of the fight".

Such were the expressed opinions of Dr. Hiram W. Evans, for the past nine years leader of the klan, who visited briefly Wednesday with his brother, Dr. A. W. Evans, 2307 16th street, en route to Washington from California where he has been for several weeks.

Still In Work

Dr. Evans said he was still in klan work but that its activities was now devoted to an educational program after rounding out a campaign for restricted immigration. He said the klan had "not near the membership that it formerly had" but that "it will always be in the thick of a fight where Americanism is at stake."

"Our next job is to make Americans of the people who are here," he said as he spoke of the unbalanced system of education in the nation today which is "producing more criminals per 10,000 population than anywhere in the world."

No Political Body

"The first amendment has produced too many people who stand so straight they lean backward".

Dr. Evans said the klan was no political body but that it had centered its support in opposition to Smith in the last election and "would do so again if he's nominated".

"There's no question about Hoover," Dr. Evans predicted. "He's sure to go back in for no man will run against him. The Republicans have no choice, they must accept Hoover. If they could choose another, it would more than likely be Coolidge or Dwight Morrow."

Demos To Split

"As for the Democrats," he said, "the chances are they'll split for the eastern party leaders want to ride the wet plank and the states that are normally Democratic will go the other way. The southern vote is somewhat doubtful while a western movement might be able

Highway Foreman Tells About Dismissal Of Defendant By Department; White Blamed For Hand In Affair

Threats Are Told

Defense Has Not Indicated As To Whether Bonds Will Take Stand; Testimony Expected To Be Closed Today

(Special To The Avalanche)

BROWNFIELD, Sept. 9. — H. E. McBride, foreman for the state highway department in Terry and Yoakum counties, today in the trial of J. A. Bonds, charged with the murder of J. C. White, Brownfield grocer, told of Bond's dismissal from the highway crew and its alleged part in the shooting of White at a cafe here April 5.

The highway foreman said White told him about Bonds and Dr. Stephens bringing a letter to White to be typewritten. The letter, White is alleged to have told McBride, was to be sent to the division headquarters at Lubbock in effort to get McBride discharged.

Was Not Interested

"When I found out about the letter, I made a trip to Lubbock to see Mr. Carver, of the division headquarters, and asked him to come to Brownfield and investigate the trouble," the witness said. "Mr. Carver told me he was not interested in the affair and that I should discharge the employe causing the trouble.

"On the following Saturday night after the conference, I discharged Bonds, telling him the reasons for doing so," he said.

Letter Unmailed

McBride said as far as he knew the letter was never mailed. He also said he asked White about the letter upon a previous occasion, but that White refused to say anything about it, stating he was having family trouble with Bonds in regard to his daughter, who married one of Bonds' sons.

With McBride's testimony, the state rested its case. Prior to the state's resting, E. Brown, city marshal of Brownfield, told of finding White's body in the cafe. The man was dead when the city marshal

Neither Flier Had Extensive Knowledge Of Navigation To Aid Hop; Margin Of Safety Only Several Hours

(By The Associated Press)

SEATTLE, Sept. 9. — Don Moyle and Cecil A. Allen, California aviators attempting a non-stop flight across the North Pacific from Japan, were missing late today somewhere along the 4,400 mile great circle route.

The most optimistic aviation experts here agreed the fuel in the single motored monoplane in which the fliers risked their lives and their fortunes could not have lasted longer than about 48 hours or until 2:30 p. m. (CST) today, under the most favorable conditions.

Left Monday

Moyle and Allen left Samushiro Beach, 375 miles north of Tokyo, at 2:30 p. m. Monday (CST). They expected to set their wheels on the airport here in from 39 to 44 hours.

Neither flier had extensive experience as a navigator and a slight miscalculation would have led them far from their course. Their margin of safety was only several hours. They carried no radio and if they landed in the water their plane was expected to float not longer than 35 minutes.

Promising Start

Last reported at Point Erimo, Hokkaido Island, 110 miles from their starting point, 70 minutes after their takeoff, the fliers got off to a promising start.

Although numerous ships along the Seattle-Oriental route failed to report the plane and radio stations from Dutch harbor on also scanned the skies in vain, hope was not abandoned until the fuel supply

Sentences Given To Slaton Youths

Four Slaton youths, ranging from from 18 to 21 years of age yesterday pleaded guilty before Judge E. L. Pitts in county court to charges of theft of less than $50 and were each assessed fines of $10 and about $22 costs and sentenced to serve five days in jail.

The youths, Cecil Austin, Fred Cook, Marshall Simmons and D. Howell, all of Slaton and vicinity, were arrested Tuesday night in connection with the theft of a quantity of athletic goods samples from the car of J. E. Biggs of Shamrock, representative of a Wichita Falls concern, at Johnston's ranch Monday night.

In statements made to Assistant District Attorney Burton S. Burks and County Attorney Vaughn E. Wilson, the young men admitted taking a basketball, football and automobile casing from the car, but denied taking other samples which were found about a mile west of Slaton Tuesday. Biggs valued the samples, suitcase and woman's coat, which were alleged stolen, at $309, he told officers. All but the suitcase containing wearing apparel and the coat valued at $100, were recovered by Slaton officers and members of the sheriff's department.

Wife Of Donley Sheriff Faces Four Prisoners And Prevents Jail Break

(By The Associated Press)

CLARENDON, Sept. 9. — Three prisoners, awaiting sentences in the state penitentiary at Huntsville, attempted to break jail here tonight. One was successful in escaping, but was believed to have been wounded.

Mrs. Guy Pierce, wife of the Donley county sheriff, held one prisoner at bay, interfered with another's running away until her husband came, and shot at the one who escaped. She thinks she hit him.

The prisoners filed a window bar to get out. Mrs. Pierce said she had no idea where they obtained the file.

There were seven prisoners in the jail, but none of the others tried to get away.

The one who escaped was Bell Brown of Tucumcari, N. M., sentenced to four years.

The second prisoner was Milan Brown, brother of Belk, who has five years to serve.

Both were convicted of attempted murder several months ago.

The third was "Sleepy" McDaniel of Clarendon, sentenced to three years for car theft.

Mrs. Pierce who lives at the jail said that she was sitting on the back porch when she heard a noise on the roof above her.

"I thought that since the jail is on the second floor that something was up," she said. "So I ran into the house and got a gun. I looked for my husband, who was out on a call at the time, but was expected back soon. There was only one thing for me to do and that was to go out and stop those men."

NEED NOT OBEY

LONDON.—The Spiritualist church has done away with the "love and honor" as well as the "obey" in the marriage ceremony. From now on girls married in the church are not bound by the old marriage oath. Another odd thing about the spiritualistic ceremony is that the sentence, "Those whom God hath joined together, let no man put asunder," has also been omitted.

CITY PAYS MORE THAN COST OF PANAMA CANAL ON BIG AQUEDUCT

A glimpse inside the dark interior of New York's new $315,297,000 subterranean waterway . . . a section of the huge aqueduct that will supply water to quench the metropolis' thirst.

BY PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 9. — They're building the world's most costly waterway into New York City. It will set back the taxpayers, and their children, and their children's children, something like $315,297,000—more than was spent in building the Panama Canal.

But this waterway is not navigable. In fact, New York never even will see it. For it is only an aqueduct, far underground, and is just another piece of plumbing in the house of Father Knickerbocker. It is being built so that New York may quench its thirst, keep clean, put out its fires, sprinkle the geraniums and replenish the gold fish bowl.

A City of Night

If all this sounds too simple, come down into City Water Tunnel No. 2, the one that was started in 1928 and will be finished next year, and see what must happen before a city dweller can turn a faucet for his evening bath.

As far below the city's streets as medium-sized skyscrapers tower above them, 3000 men are at work. No din of traffic nor roar of trains reaches them here. They work around the clock, but each 8-hour relay is a night shift so far as the men are concerned. It is black midnight in the tunnel, except where electric bulbs puncture the darkness.

Heat waves don't bother the muckers and drillers and engineers. At 500 feet below sea level the temperature is constant—55 degrees. It is wet work, too, with the jagged walls of the cavern dripping from every seam and pore, and veins of water frequently encountered.

They started with exploratory borings along the tunnel route, which reaches 20 miles from the Hill View Reservoir in the City of Yonkers, through the Bronx, under the East River and across the Boroughs of Queens and Brooklyn, parallel to Manhattan and Tunnel No. 1 which has been in operation there for 15 years.

At intervals of a little more than a mile, they sunk seventeen big vertical shafts. With caissons of steel they penetrated the earth, then the 100-foot layer of watery quicksand. At bedrock they blasted down and down, to a distance of a tenth of a mile.

Longest Tunnel Ever Driven

From each shaft, borings were begun in two directions. With pneumatic drills and dynamite, with shovels, brawn and blueprints, they began the longest continuous tunnel ever driven through the earth. Foot by foot, through the solid limestone, granite, and schist that permitted the building of the great city above, they hewed a hole that, when lined with a thick layer of concrete, will be seventeen feet in diameter. So precise were the calculations of the engineers that the borings of each crew met exactly with those of the crews who had come to meet them.

Cumbersome machinery was lowered through each huge shaftway to follow the progress of the drillers and the powder men. They dared not use steam, so shovels were built to be operated by compressed air. These deposit the rock debris in dump cars drawn by electric "mules" that run on a double-track rail system throughout the tunnel.

Slow Work

At the head of each thrust work the drillers, laboring for hours with clattering pneumatic machines to bore the deep holes for the dynamite. Then, with clumsy-looking, but meticulous fingers, they insert the charges, one cylinder after another into each opening, until some 500 pounds have been tamped gingerly into place.

The tunnel is cleared to a respectful distance. An electric charge flicks to the detonators. The cavern is filled with a gust of gas and sound.

The men return to see how much progress has been made. Ten feet is an exceptionally lucky thrust. Seven or eight feet is average.

Then it's "clear away," "watch the loose ones" up above, brace the weak spots, spit on your hands and drill again. The length of the city tunnel is 105,600 feet, but there are only a few hundred yards yet to go, and by Christmas the last shot will be fired.

Then, however, the hard-rock gangs will not have to join the milling army of the unemployed in the streets above them. They will go up to the north and begin a seven-year job on the new aqueduct that will reach from the tunnel's end into the Catskill mountains, 115 miles away.

Water Badly Needed

That great waterway, which will run under rivers and mountains, sometimes as much as 2000 feet below the earth's surface must be rushed to care for the city's ever-growing need for water. By 1935, the capacity of the present Catskill system will have been reached, and for two or three years thereafter the metropolitan millions probably will have to practice conservation.

By 1938 the new aqueduct and tunnel will be delivering 700,000,000 gallons of water daily, enough to meet the increasing demands of the city for about 15 years. After that —well, they'll just go out and dig some more.

The 115-mile aqueduct will be constructed at a cost of $272,587,000, while the 20-mile city tunnel, nearing completion, will have cost $42,692,000—and more than two score lives.

Death Always Present

The latter has proved one of the most hazardous peace-time projects on record, yet investigation has showed that nearly all of the 42 deaths so far have been the result of carelessness. For the number of men employed, and the length of time they have dared the natural perils, the list is not considered alarming.

A slip from a shaftway, a leap from a moving electric train, an incautious approach to a threatened rock slide — these things mean death. A drill turned into a boring where lies an unexploded charge of dynamite—and a "Driller Wanted" sign goes up on the little office atop the nearest shaft.

Tons of Dynamite

It takes five pounds of dynamite to loosen one cubic yard of rock. The total dynamite used to date — lowered on the elevators, trundled through the cavern, tamped into place and detonated—is approximately 7,930,000 pounds. Deliberately placed, that amount of explosive could blow the whole city to bits.

Instead, the city has known nothing of the potential destruction that lurked far underfoot. Citizens living above the tunnel right-of-way have been awarded nominal "damages" of $1 a lot for the tunnel's construction 500 feet below. But they have been completely unaware of the explosive thunder, the tragedy and the drama that have passed so close to them.

Portable Television Camera Is Latest To Be Provided

NEW YORK, Sept. 9. (AP)—A portable television camera, designed to pick up radio pictures from a flood lighted stage indoors or from a sun lighted arena outdoors, was given a public demonstration here yesterday afternoon.

Built to duplicate to a certain extent the accomplishments of the movie camera, the outfit uses a photo-electric cell in place of a film and turns its pictures into electrical energy rather than storing it up on celluloid.

The camera is moved about under its own power supplied by a motor, there is provision from quick focusing to follow an object about, and the whole camera head can be swung up and down and back and forth. A viewing window permits the operator to see what he is getting.

Broker's Account Is Being Probed

NEW YORK, Sept. 9. (AP)—One stock brokerage account of Russell T. Sherwood, Mayor Walker's personal bookkeeper, was under scrutiny today by the legislative committee investigating municipal departments, and it was hunting others.

The committee is curious as to the source of securities which it suspects Sherwood put up for the mayor during declines in stocks.

The account gave little information except to indicate that Sherwood had other brokerage accounts and a bank account.

Mayor Walker's own accounts were obtained just prior to his departure for Europe.

Sherwood is being sought for questioning by the committee. He said he will await Mayor Walker's return before returning to New York to testify. He was heard from at Atlantic City, but has left there.

Samuel Seabury, counsel for the committee, said he had no immediate intention of summoning Mayor Walker as a witness.

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 9. (AP)—A man fell to his death today from the lofty Alamo National bank building here, crashing to the pavement amid a crowd of hurrying pedestrains.

Office workers on the twelfth floor said they saw the body flash past their windows, but apparently no one saw the beginning of the fall. A hat was found on the twenty-fourth floor.

Officers hoped to trace the man's identity by means of a name marked in the waistband of the trousers he wore. The name was G. S Simpson. He was believed to have resided at Little Rock, Ark.

British Are Pinning Their Hopes Of Speed Mark On Planes With No Waste

Two Seaplanes Will Compete In Race September 12

CALSHOT, England, Sept. 9. (AP)—Hopes of Britain to set a world's speed record for human transport are centered in two new seaplanes which will compete in the Schneider cup races in the Solent, September 12.

Although France and Italy have withdrawn from the races the British fliers will race against each other.

The two planes in which it is hoped to set new marks are similar in appearance to the wasp-like machines in which records of 328 and 331 miles an hour were set in the races two years ago, but radical changes in internal design have been made. It is believed the alterations may bring a speed of between 400 and 420 miles this year.

The changes in design are a closely guarded British air ministry secret, but it is known that among them are adaptations to permit use of the floats for fuel tanks, utilization of most of the wing and upper float surfaces for cooling of oil and water, and better stream-lining of the cowl to decrease aid resistance.

The two new machines, which have the official designation S6B, weigh only 4,030 pounds, or 5,230 pounds with full petrol load and pilot.

The weight of the Rolls-Royce engine alone is 1,535 pounds.

Somewhat greater wing surface and larger floats have been forced on the designers by the rules of this year's race which require the difficult seaworthiness tests to be held just before the speed trials, with no refueling between them.

The upper and lower surface of the wings of the new planes have been constructed as water radiators, so thin that they can be dented by the mere pressure of a finger nail. The slightest corrosion of the surfaces will cause a leak.

Along each side of the fuselage there are other radiators to cool the engine's oil, which is rushed through them as far back as the tail fin of the plane. They are so thin that they burst if cold oil is forced through them, making it necessary always to fill up with hot oil before starting the engine. Both floats are to carry fuel.

The planes have but one wing, fitted at the bottom of the fuselage. The pilots sit strapped in tightly with bands around their shoulders and waist. The machines sit lightly on the water, and at full speed will rise in between 20 and 30 seconds.

Radical changes in the internal design of its racing seaplanes are expected to result in British fliers speeding at 420 miles an hour in the Schneider Cup races at Calshot, England, September 12. The racers are designated as S6B planes. One is shown closeup below and above taking off on a test flight.

Emergency Rate On Roads Asked

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Sept. 9. (AP)—A petition asking for an emergency rate on cotton seed cake to be shipped from Texas and Oklahoma to drouth stricken Wyoming counties was sent railroads by Governor A. M. Clark today.

Governor Clark asked that the rate be placed into effect immediately and that it be one-half of the regular rate. He said the reduction was necessary immediately if the ranchers are to secure the cottonseed in time to haul it to their ranges before snow falls.

This would result in depleting Wyoming breeding herds, stockmen said. If the herds are kept in the state it will mean an increase in livestock shipments over railroad lines from Wyoming to eastern and other markets within the next few years, the ranchmen told the governor.

The petition was sent to the Northwestern, the Burlington, and the Colorado and Southern roads.

Fifty-eight airplanes carrying 100 persons participated in the second annual tour of Oregon and Washington.

S. W. Teams To Open Practice Periods Today

Extensive Training Season Is Booked For Seven Teams Of Big Loop; Texas Steers To Look Strong Today

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Sept. 9. (AP) — Ready and anxious to get their first feel of the inflated ball, Southwest Conference football candidates start fall training tomorrow morning.

Regardless of how long they practice or how hard, the annual touchdown campaign will be on bright and early tomorrow morning at the University of Texas, Texas A. and M., Southern Methodist, Texas Christian, University of Arkansas, Rice Institute and Baylor University.

At the University of Texas, home of the 1930 champions, sixty-seven athletes were due to answer Coach Clyde Littlefield's practice call. Nineteen lettermen, fourteen reserves and thirty-four sophomores were due in Littlefield's camp. Three outstanding stars, Stafford, Koy and Blanton, will form the nucleus for Littlefield's 1931 team. This trio placed on many all-conference selections last season.

Lettermen At Aggieland

Coach Madison Bell at Texas A. and M. has mapped out an intensive training program to include two practice sessions daily and one skull practice. Thirteen lettermen, one for every position except that of fullback, were to report to Coach Bell. He invited sixty athletes to fall training.

In Fayetteville, home of the University of Arkansas Razorbacks, practice tomorrow was scheduled to open with forty candidates, including fourteen lettermen. Coaches Thomsen, Bassett, Rose and Schoonover spent today issuing equipment. Discussing his prospects, Thomsen said: "We should have a strong starting line-up but when it becomes necessary to make substitutions we won't look so good."

Forty-Nine At S. M. U.

The aerial circus of the conference, the Southern Methodist Mustangs of Dallas, expected a roll call of forty-nine candidates when Coach Ray Morrison walks on the field tomorrow morning. Southern Methodist players are due for two practice sessions a day. They will have fourteen days to round into condition before playing the North Texas State Teachers college of Denton.

Coach Morley Jennings at Baylor is to have his troubles. Of the 22 lettermen last year, five are due to answer practice call tomorrow morning. Baylor's backfield promises to be stronger than last year, but replacing linemen like Botchey Koch, Witcher, Paradeaux and Morris will be Jennings' hardest problem. Leslie Snell, 1927 Waco High school star, will be groomed for Jake Wilson's place in the backfield.

Frogs Loom Big

The Texas Christian Frogs of Fort Worth are due to open practice with Harlos Green, Vance Woolwine, J. W. Hinton, standard Lambert and the 201 pound Ben Boswell as the foundation on which Coach Schmidt will erect the rest of his team. All are veterans, and Boswell was an all-conference selection last year.

Coach Jack Meagher at Rice will probably boast the largest squad in practice. His brilliant flock of 1930 sophomores, the only team to beat the University of Texas Longhorns, are back with the addition of numerous candidates up from last year's freshman squad.

Kansas City Wrestler To Appear In Main Event In Tonight's Fight Program

Jim McGrath Meets Tony Gardini In Second Card

Headlined by a three-fall match between Tony Gardini and Jim McGrath, professional heavyweight wrestlers, the second weekly Golden Glove ring-and-mat program will be presented at 8 o'clock tonight at the Lubbock Athletic club at 401 Avenue H. The Community Chest receives a percentage of receipts.

Sixteen rounds of amateur boxing is scheduled in four bouts of the Golden Glove tourney and a semi-final one-fall wrestling match between Chief Stine, Indian heavyweight, and Gorilla Duke, claimant of the Oklahoma middleweight title, is offered, Joe Blinn, promoter, said.

McGrath, 210-pound Kansas Cityan, has met Ed "Strangler" Lewis, Jim Londos, Stan Zbyszko, the late Wayne Munn, Rudy Dusek, and other outstanding heavyweights, Blinn reported. Lewis generally is recognized in the middle and far west and Londos by eastern factions as present title holder. Both Zbyszko and Munn wore the heavyweight belt.

Rotund Gardini, 200 pounds, billed from Roswell, defeated Stine two out of three falls in the main event of last week's card. Duke, now a protege of Stout Jackson of Lubbock, easily won a preliminary catch-as-catch-can contest from a novice heavyweight.

Fight fans will see Kid Julian, Lubbock lightweight who technically kayoed Blondy Barnes in the third round of the outstanding ring event on the first program, trade wallops with an unknown whom Blinn, a former boxer, credits with having the goods.

Farley May Come Here

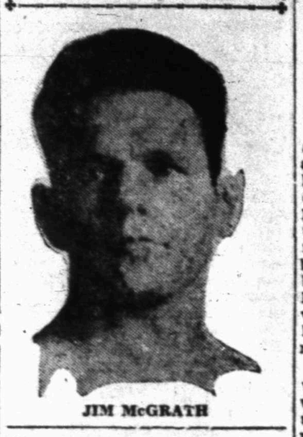

A negro battle royal will precede the matches.

Negotiations are under way for a match here between Cal Farley, Amarillo contender for Jack Reynold's welterweight title, and Dutch Mantell, Texas middleweight clamp-and-clutch performer. Should a Farley-Mantel tangle materialize, it probably would be held under the lights at Merrill park, Blinn said.

Yanks Beat Giants To Help New York's Unemployed Fans

NEW YORK, Sept. 9. (AP)—New York's unemployed was the winner today as 60,549 baseball fans paid $59,642.50 to see the Yankees defeat the Giants 7 to 3 in the first game played between the two teams in nearly eight years.

The result was so satisfactory in the public's response to the cause of the unemployed that it seems almost certain the Bronx-Harlem baseball competition will be extended to include the Brooklyn Robins in a post season series for the benefit of the unemployed starting Sept. 30.

CUBS BEAT SOX

CHICAGO, Sept. 9. (AP)—Charley Root held the White Sox to six hits and the Cubs defeated the Chicago American Leaguers 3 to 0, in a charity game today.

NEW RECORD SET

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 9. (AP)—A new world record for two year old pacers was established here today at the Grand Circuit races when Calumet Cheater, owned by the Hanover shoe farm at Hanover, Pa., paced the first heat of the Frank P. Fox stake in 2:02 1-2.

The former record for this age and gait was 2:04 1-2, made by Handy Volo, at Syracuse, N. Y., a year ago.

A CORRECTION

In yesterday's Morning Avalanche it was erroneously stated that Superintendent Sam Z. Hall of Spur High school represented that institution at a meeting of Class B officials here Tuesday. It has since been learned that Principal Buck Neilson of Spur and not Mr. Hall represented the school at the meeting.

Bulldogs Are Buried Under 16-5 Hitfest

Lubbock Nine Plays With Lynn County Team Too Hard For Fun; 100-Yard Dashes Are To Feature Game Tonight

By COLLIER FARRIS
Avalanche Sports Editor

One of those awful things transpired at Merrill Park last night and the electric light bill soared high to add to the confusion. Not content with a home run to tie a 1-1 score and four more runs in the same inning to take a comfortable lead, the Lubbock Hubbers blasted Pitcher Britt out of the box twice, Lefty Squires once and Lefty Larkin once and continued to work on Pete Edwards until they had acquired a mess of sixteen runs.

The final tally was 16 to 5 favoring Lubbock. Greer Dickey, who had pitched three-hit baseball up to the eighth inning, chose to rest a bit and his mates must have decided to do the same thing, all of which was resultant in four runs, two of them out of the total five being earned.

In order to add spice to a game that may be spicy enough, a couple of vodvil acts have been added to tonight's program at the park. There has been an argument for some time relative to who is the swifter—Ed Hambright or Raymond "Evolution" Marshall, Hubber outfielders. Tonight they will settle the dispute by reeling off 100 yards against stop watches. As a preliminary, beginning at 8:15, Dirty Waller, field manager, and big Hersh Galey, catcher, will engage in a 100-yard dash to settle their own personal argument.

But back to last night's game. We hate to go back to it and hope never to go back to another one like it, but duty must be done. Dickey, though no fault of his own, warmed up prior to the game by throwing only three balls. He continued to warm up from the box, walking the first man, letting the next on base through his own error and doing a balk when the first had reached third to let in a run. He continued to warm up in the second by permitting a hit to start the frame, dusted Bridges off next and made another error on a bunt. Then he suddenly settled down, struck out the next man, took part in a double play to catch a runner and struck out the last. He was okay until the eighth when a series of blows, another dusting off and an error let in a quartet of runs.

After trailing behind the 1-run Tahoka lead for three innings, Skipper Dirty Waller started the Hubber half of the fourth with a four-base blow to center and he is still blowing, or was when the game was over. That was a cue for four more runs, coming as results of hits and errors with a sacrifice and a walk helping out.

They were not finished. The mound changed hands four times in the fifth inning after two Hubbers were out. Britt retired to left field after loading the bases and Lefty Squires came in. He walked his first man and trotted back to the pasture without being asked. Britt came back but the Hubbers kept pecking and the combination Tahoka-Lamesa defence kept busting. Larkin came in from right field and finally the inning was ended, after nine runs had been scored. Pete Edwards pitched after the sixth and two more runs were made.

Willis Knight, the old galloping ghost of the South Plains, was back in Lubbock yesterday after an extended tour of the country, and it was rumored on the field that he would pitch for Tahoka tonight in the final of the series. If he pitches or if anybody pitches, the Hubbers will have something on their hands tonight that can hardly be laughed off.

Brownfield Hopes Not So Gloomy

Hayhurst Has Host Of Good Players Out For Team

BROWNFIELD, Sept. 9. (Special) There's quite a bit of activity going on around the football field of Brownfield high school and from indications, it appears that Class B teams of the district will have to be on the lookout for the "Fighting Cubs."

Coach Marlin R. Hayhurst isn't saying much when you ask him about his team but what he says is that he "doesn't think he's got much of a chance as his kids are all young and inexperienced and they'll have a tough time winning." But he grins when he's talking and you know there's something up.

Investigating his team in practice, you find that he's got seven of last year's lettermen back, that one of his men, Jim Neill is said to be one of the best backs on the Plains, that he has a wealth of material and that his boys aren't such a bad bunch as he would have you believe.

Capt. J. B. Huckabee is practically out with a bad knee but still he's practicing with the boys and throwing passes and from the way he can throw them, as several teams will recall from last year, someone had better be watching him in spite of his injury. He is likely to see service only at intervals when passes are needed most.

Neill, the team's outstanding threat, can kick, pass, run, block and tackle, in fact, he's capable of handling any job and Coach "Shorty" appears to be counting on him for a lot of stuff this season. Neill weighs 170 pounds. He may be used at full this year or again he may call signals.

All-district guard "Tangle Eyes" Burnett is back in his place and showing greater fight. O. D. Thomas, 160-pounder, is expected to make the other guard position.

At tackles, Fayne Smith, last year star, is to be at right tackle with Gordon Yates and "Tuffy" Smoot battling for the other position.

Center seems to be under the control of Carman Anderson, if he snaps out of it. Norman Parker, diminutive scrapper, is also bidding for the pivot post.

The end positions will be held down by O. D. Huckabee, 140 pounds and "Tite" Graham, 155 pounds. Both are lettermen of last year.

Sawyer Graham, a mite of 130 pounds, is making a strong bid for the quarterback position while bill Blackstock, 175-pounder, is showing up well at full. Bill Harris, Robert Chambliss and Roy Brownfield are out for halfback posts, the starting pair lying between them and Neill if he is used at half.

Otis Moore, 140 pounds, 130-pound R. L. Bandy and J. Rosson, 165 pounds, are candidates for the ends and may get the call for service during the season.

Lawrence Lee and Wilburn Bryan, 150 and 154 pounds respectively, are seeking some service at guard. Vernon Bell is another tackle candidate and is showing up good.

The team's first game is September 18 with Littlefield at Brownfield. Then comes the battle with Big Spring, Sept. 25 at Big Spring after which a game is to be played at the Panhandle-South Plains fair.

A game with Slaton may be secured for the week of Oct. 8 to be followed by the annual battle with Post. Oct. 23, Dickens; Oct. 30, Lamesa, Nov. 11, Tahoka and Nov. 20, Levelland completes the schedule.

Thanksgiving is held open for the finals of the district, fans here are saying.

Westerners To Meet Floydada Here Saturday

Third Week Of Practice Ends With Initial Contest For Lubbock High Teams Of Year On Tech Field

The Lubbock High school football season for 1931 will be unofficially opened at Matador Field Saturday afternoon when the Westerners meet the Floydada Whirlwind in the first game of the year here.

Coach Weldon Chapman will make his debut before Lubbock fans as coach of the Lubbock High team when he walks on the Tech field Saturday behind his Black and Gold Westerners. With him will be Berl Huffman, assistant coach, also appearing for the first time as a part of the Lubbock staff.

Chapman did not choose to name a probable lineup yesterday when announcement of the game was made. Most of the work during the past two weeks on the Fair Park practice field has been confined to fundamentals and general practice and few plays have been worked up. Today and tomorrow will be spent in picking out a probable starter and in the formation of plays to run against Coach L. T. Barksdale's Whirlwind Saturday.

The game will start at 3 o'clock.

Clarence Pryor Testifies He Killed Father-In-Law When He Thought His Own Life Was In Danger

WHEELER, Sept. 9. (AP)—Clarence Pryor, on trial for murder, testified today that he shot his aged father-in-law, Dr. W. Guyton, because he believed his life was in danger.

Pryor spent three hours on the witness stand during the forenoon to testify that numerous threats against his life, made by Dr. Guyton, had been conveyed to him, and to deny the testimony of state's witnesses yesterday that he had threatened the physician's life.

Pryor reviewed a series of family disputes in which his wife sued him for divorce three times. Each suit involved a property settlement, especially the equity in a quarter-section of land, he testified. The first two suits were settled out of court, and the third citation was served four days prior to the shooting on July 12.

A deed to the land had been drawn in favor of the children, and he had gone to the Shamrock filling station to deliver the deed to Dr. Guyton when the shooting occurred, Pryor said. He said he fired after his father-in-law threw sand in his eyes and then thrust one hand into his shirt bosom. He testified that he believed Dr. Guyton intended to shoot.

Pickups At Institute Session

HIGH AVERAGE

Lubbock county teachers made a high average in attendance according to the county superintendent Miss Mae Murfee. "We had between 95 and 100 per cent of our teachers here for the institute," she said.

HEARTY APPLAUSE

One of the characteristics of the institute has been the hearty applause that has been given each speaker as he or she appeared on the platform as well as at the close of the address. Dr. Phelps and Dr. Crabb, and Dr. Nanninga, the chief speakers for the general sessions, were always given a good hand.

FIRST TIME HERE

Dr. Phelps said that this was "about the 12th year" that he had been to Texas for institute work. He has been at Austin, Dallas and Canyon in other years. "This is my first time up on the South Plains and I am more than agreeably surprised at what I found here," he said. "I have known Dr. Horn and Dr. Evans for many years and know their high professional standing."

EXHIBITS LARGE

Local sporting goods concerns, handling standard lines of merchandise, had with them during their displays some "house men." The exhibits of track equipment, football and basketball equipment, etc., was large and many coaches looked over the stock.

POST OPENS TODAY

The Post schools will open today, I. D. Witt, superintendent, said. Opening was postponed until after the institute so that the teachers could attend the meeting.

NO REPRESENTATIVES

Yoakum county was the only county that was not represented during the institute. As far as was learned no teachers from that county were present during the sessions.

TO ADD TEACHER

Fairview school in Dawson county, near Lou and Pride, will not open for about a month, M. W. Yates, superintendent, said while here. The school last year had six teachers. Enrollment this year so far is 186, or enough for seven teachers. Lack of room for the seventh is delaying selection. A new room has to be added. The children will help pick cotton until late in October.

ENROLLMENT 796

Actual enrollment of teachers was 796 according to the secretary-treasurer, I. D. Witt. This is considerably below the number last year. But business conditions were such this year that leaders feel that the attendance was very good. Many schools are not opening until later in the fall.

MERRIMENT CAUSED

W. P. Clement, of the department of education, caused a little merriment yesterday morning by announcing that W. R. Waghorne, head of the department of music, wanted it understood that Mr. Clement was not a member of the faculty of that department. Mr. Clement has been pinch hitting as music leader.

SING TWO SOLOS

Professor Edgar Shelton is another member of the faculty who does not belong to the department of music, who pinch hits. Professor Shelton sang two solos Wednesday morning.

Capturing Wild Lions For A Circus Is Considered A Very Dangerous Job

MABEL STARK AND TWO FRIENDS

Few who see wild animals in cakes realize the vast amount of trouble, danger and expense necessary to get them there. The greatest danger lies in capturing the wild animals in their native country. With the Al G. Barnes Circus which will give two performances in Lubbock Friday, Sept. 11 there are several hundred wild animals, most of which were captured in the forests and jungles of their native country.

There is no more ticklish or dangerous task than tracking lions in the vast Nubian deserts. The scorching sun pours down with such force that few men can stand it. The effect on the eyes is blinding. There is little or no shade. The wariest and most careful hunter may be tracking an animal, and at the same time be tracked by the animal he is seeking, which may spring on him at any moment.

For capturing full-grown lions, large traps of various forms are used. One trap is square, one of the sides lifting upon a spring like the old-fashioned mouse trap. This trap is baited with a piece of fresh meat, and as soon as the lion has entered the trap the door shuts down and he is a prisoner. More than a score of lions with the Al G. Barnes Circus were captured in this manner.

Elephants are generally caught in nooses. A number of men surround the elephant after they have previously formed a circle of fire about the beast. The fire gets closer and closer to the elephant, and finally a noose is thrown over his head. He is then securely tied to a tree and allowed to remain there until quiet. Tame elephants are then brought into use, and appear to be sort of persuasive in making the huge animals tractable.

In catching snakes, various devicies are used. One is to set the grass on fire in a circle where is is known that snakes have hiding places. As they rush out they are caught in large nets mounted on wooden hoops, to which is attached a large bag.

Doors to the big show will be opened at 1 and 7 p. m. The performancees begin an hour later. There will be no street parade here or in any other city; a policy that was adopted eight years ago.

Counterfeiters In Plains Area

There's some counterfeit ten dollar bills being passed on the South Plains by a man and a woman.

That was the inforamtion given the Morning Avalanche last night by J. P. Edgar, United States deputy marshal, who displayed two specimen of the bills, both passed Tuesday on Hershel Patterson, a filling station and store operator, seven miles west of Olton in Lamb county.

The bills, both easily detected upon study, were reproductions of federal reserve notes and bore serial numbers L0162379A and L0162389A.

Mr. Patterson reported to Marshal Edgar that a man in a truck paseed one of the bills on him, purchasing a quart of oil and getting $9.65 in change. Later a woman came by in a large coupe and passed the other bill in a similar purchase, getting $9.65 in change and a quart of oil.

Mr. Edgar reported the case to officials at Amarillo who are to keep a close watch for the pair.

Test it at our risk

Please don't take our word for these statements. All we ask is that you make the economy test yourself and be the exclusive judge.

Order a pound of Maxwell House at your grocer's. Prepare it in your usual way. Then if you and your family don't agree that it is the finest coffee you ever drank; if you don't find that it is real economy compared with weaker, Oxygen-robbed coffees, simply return the can with unused portion to the grocer from whom you bought it and he will return your money.

Oxygen can't hijack Maxwell House flavor

That's why the new* VITA-FRESH *Process is winning new friends for this famous coffee

ONCE you have tried your first can of Maxwell House packed by the new Vita-Fresh method, you will realize why you have never been quite sure about your coffee.

For Maxwell House, packed this new scientific way, is always uniform in strength and flavor. Because it is strictly fresh, not robbed of its precious fragrance and aroma by Oxygen, you can follow the simple directions on the package and get a superb cup of coffee every time.

Coffee flavor is highly perishable. Air (Oxygen) robs coffee of its strength and flavor.

Just read these amazing facts established in the laboratories of a leading Eastern University:

(1) Loose or bag coffee loses 65% of its flavor in nine days after roasting.

(2) Coffee in old-fashioned cans loses 45% of its flavor in nine days after roasting.

All due to the attack of Oxygen.

Think of it! Forty-five to sixty-five per cent of the flavor gone from nine-day-old coffee. Even vacuum packing, a definite improvement over old-fashioned methods, removes only part of the air from the can, leaving sealed in enough Oxygen to cause flavor loss and deterioration.

The new Vita-Fresh Process removes the air so completely that the most rigid chemical analysis reveals no trace of Oxygen in the Vita-Fresh can after packing.

Remember—Oxygen is the destroyer of coffee freshness and flavor. The Vita-Fresh Process alone gives full protection to coffee goodness. Maxwell House and Maxwell House only gives you this guarantee of full flavor, full value in every pound.

Make Our Wants Heard!

HAVE you written Governor Sterling yet, demanding that Congressional redistricting be brought up for action during the present extra-ordinary session of the State legislature? If you haven't, write him today—use the right of a citizen to be heard even by those who would rather not hear.

West Texans, burn 'em down in Austin! West Texans, let those politically-minded legislators who hold personal ambition above rightful service to the people of Texas know that West Texas is awake to its rights!

According to the 1930 Federal census, West Texas has earned two new places in Congress. Let's get what's coming to us, even if it has to be clubbed out of legislators who would rather serve their own ends than the people they are supposed to be serving!

A CO-OPERATIVE PLAN WILL HELP

There is an old, old story that everybody's heard at some time or other, about the rooster who ran across an ostrich egg and immediately summoned his harem of hens to view the spectacle.

"I just wanted to let you see," the story quotes the rooster as telling the hens, "what they're doing in other parts of the country."

With that same idea in mind—of letting the people know what "they're doing in other parts of the country," The Morning Avalanche herewith is reproducing an editorial from The San Angelo Morning Times. This editorial graphically shows "what they're doing" in the San Angelo country in a project which may well be aggressively adopted right up here in the Lubbock territory. Similar arrangements have been made here-abouts but there is room for a more wide-spread effort.

Says the San Angelo Times, under the caption "The Feeder Movement":

"One short year ago livestock was being moved out of West Texas by the trainload. Range conditions forced the move; northern feeders and others profited by the situation. Now it is the turn of the Northwest to suffer. Drouth conditions in that section have forced growers to sacrifice their stuff for what they can get. There is, of course, a re-action in West Texas; glutted market conditions have forced prices down.

"There is, however, a marked difference in conditions in West Texas this year. A bumper feed crop is waiting to be turned into beef and mutton. There is no need to ship stuff to northern feeders; no need to sacrifice stock on the present depressed market. When the distress stuff from the northwest has been absorbed, as it will be sooner or later, there should be an upturn in the market. Meat and breeding stock will be in demand. If West Texas is in a position to supply that demand, then it will, in the long run, profit by the present situation.

"West Texas has the livestock and this year West Texas has the feed. The only thing necessary is to work out the practical details incidental to getting more livestock on West Texas farms where the feed is waiting, and for the getting feed from these farms into West Texas livestock. The State of San Angelo Feeder Breeder Association' in which bankers, wool houses, ranchmen and farmers are expecting to pool their interests, is a step in the right direction. By means of this association it is expected that the proper financial arrangements can be made whereby West Texas stock can be fed out in West Texas and marketed as a finished product.

"The move has good common sense to recommend it and there is in addition the threatening legislation limiting cotton production. Farmers must find something to take the place of cotton. Out here in West Texas livestock has, over a period of years, paid much better cash dividends than cotton because it is better adapted climatically. It is likely that a cut in cotton acreage will have the effect of interesting other sections of the state in livestock. Increased state demand should, in time, hike prices for this reason.

"The surplus of sheep and cattle is nowhere near as great as that which faces cotton and wheat growers. When industrial conditions improve, as they will, and normal consumption replaces the present under-consumption of steaks, roasts and chops, there will be some more price improvement. Woolen mills are even now operating much nearer capacity than most industries. All of which means the dawn of better conditions seems much nearer for livestock interests."

Practical Health Problems

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the 33rd of a series of 36 timely articles by Dr. Morris Fishbein on "Food Truths and Follies" dealing with such much discussed but little known subjects as calories, vitamins, minerals, digestion and balanced diet.

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

OUR knowledge of vitamin D, the rickets-preventing vitamin, is among the most recent to become available in this field. In 1913 a physician named Raczynski found that sunlight favored the development of puppies through the stimulation of their absorption of calcium.

Then in 1919 another investigator named Huldschinsky reported that children exposed to sunlight were cured of rickets. The use of the X-ray showed that calcium began to be deposited near the epiphysis of the bones after about four weeks under sunlight, and that complete healing occurred after about eight weeks.

Then in this country Hess and Unger reported that exposure to sunlight would prevent rickets in rats on diet that produced rickets. Two years before Mellanby had shown that cod liver oil and butter fat would prevent rickets in puppies living on diets consisting largely of celery with a small allowance of milk.

In the meantime other investigators had been studying the minerals in the diets of animals with rickets and it was beginning to be realized that rickets improved not only with proper exposure to sunlight and adequate amounts of vitamin D, but also adequate amounts of phosphorus and calcium, the bone-building minerals that have been mentioned in previous articles.

The development of this type of knowledge is significant of most recent discoveries in medical science. They represent the joint efforts of investigators in all parts of the world to study problems from different angles and whose work is then correlated to a practical result.

It is now generally realized that vitamin D is developed in the human body or in the tissues generally by the action of sunlight or ergosterol. The final proof of this fact is accredited to Steenbock of the University of Wisconsin.

Vitamin D is found in many food substances. Cod liver oil, summer-grown spinach, butter and egg yolk contain it in excellent amounts, as does also human liver.

...ain can be secured through the use of sunlight, through the use of artificial radiation of the human body, through the use of foods especially irradiated. It should always be borne in mind that a close relationship exists between vitamin D, calcium, phosphorus and sunlight.

Montagu Norman

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Charges of a plan, or a plot, or whatever other name one may choose to call it by, engineered by a little group of international financiers, to secure control over the whole world, or, as some alarmists say, to consolidate a control which the group already has secured over most of it, are sure to be made in rich profusion when congress meets next winter.

Preliminary mutterings are to be heard now, but thus far they are not loud enough to attract much attention.

Individual interviews and statements naturally are nothing like as effective as a grand oratorical chorus, and that must wait until the lawmakers assemble in formal session.

TWO OR THREE stories have been circulated in recent months, which, if one accepts them seriously and considers them collectively, really do hint at a decided community of interests and unity of endeavor among the money kings of several different countries—the U. S. A. included.

For example, very lately, it will be recalled, when the London government found itself pinched for ready cash and appealed to American bankers for help, the British working class organ, "The Labor Herald," asserted that the Federal Reserve board was prompt to veto the transaction, except upon the terms of a substantial cut in the dole to the English unemployed. Whereupon Sir Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, being interrogated, answered, in effect, "What of it?"—quite as if the idea of this sort of dictation by Uncle Sam to John Bull did not even surprise him.

Moreover, as we know, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald went the length of breaking with his party in parliament, in all likelihood sacrificing the remainder of his public career, to take the necessary steps toward reducing the dole, as a sequel to which England did, indeed, get the funds it required—$200,000,000 from the United States and as much more from France.

"THE LABOR HERALD" yelled bloody murder, despite Sig Montagu Norman's seeming indifference, at what it denounced as Yankee interference in British governmental affairs.

Americans probably will take the view that those who make loans are entitled to make conditions with the borrowers.

It is another matter, however, if, as contended by various American critics of the bargain, reduction of the dole was insisted on by the bankers who advanced the $200,000,000. Not because bankers were greatly concerned as to that particular item in the British budget, but because they wanted to counteract the growing sentiment in favor of unemployment insurance in the United States—and hoped to do it by making the dole look like a national calamity in England.

DID Sir Montagu Norman understand this perfectly?

Did that account for his nonchalant, "What of it?"—with "The Labor Herald" throwing fits on his doorstep, at the thought of American domination over the Ramsay MacDonald regime?

We know with certainty only that English big money, for which Sir Montagu pre-eminently is the spokesman, always did oppose the dole.

Incidentally, it should not be forgotten that last spring, when Sir Montagu was in New York and Washington, he was reported to have remarked what a fine thing it would be for Europe if wages were sharply slashed on this side of the Atlantic. Having wages so high here, he was said to have pointed out, made it exceedingly difficult for old world employers to make their workers see reason.

And, in fact, there did very shortly ensue a vigorous campaign of education (or propaganda) by American bankers dwelling upon the desirability of getting the cost of labor down to the post-1929 level of commodity prices, in order to re-stimulate industry generally.

American banking having been so responsive to his suggestion, it is comprehensible that Sir Norman may have felt bound to return courtesy for courtesy in connection with the dole proposition.

PERHAPS it is far-fetched; nevertheless, next winter's protest inevitably will be based upon the theory that there is international banking co-operation in all this—a pay cut here, a dole reduction there, a bit of anti-strike restriction some other place; the whole thing working toward the ultimate end of strictly limited control of the entire earthly mechanism of production, and as absolute as possible.

As for dictation, such as "The Labor Herald" complains of, "dictation" simply is a word, anyway, with quite a variety of interpretations.

When a big country's high finance talks turkey to a wee country, like Nicaragua or Haiti, that's dictation, unquestionably. Between folk like the money monarchs of New York and London and Paris, yes, and Berlin (though the Berliners are temporarily embarrassed) it's negotiation—the amenities are observed, no one's feelings are hurt.

In keeping with the great occasion, profound formality was observed when a representative of China handed the check to a representative of Japan on May 7, 1898, in London.

President Hoover Pays Tribute To American Red Cross In Radio Talk

Foundation Of First Chapter Is Being Celebrated

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9. (AP) — President Hoover turned aside from government today to pay tribute to the Red Cross as part of the celebration of the foundation of its first chapter at Dansville, New York, fifty years ago, by Clara Barton.

Speaking over a nation-wide radio hook-up from the cabinet room of the White House executive offices, Mr. Hoover said the organization "proves the ability of a Democracy to create from the people themselves the agencies for their service."

Is Chapter One

The Dansville chapter, known as the Clara Barton chapter number one, was organized by Miss Barton herself in 1881. Of that the president said.

"The fifty years which have passed since that pioneer beginning have written a chapter in the world-wide relief of human suffering which is a fitting memorial to Miss Barton and a proud tradition to her countrymen."

The text of the president's remarks follows:

Priviledge City

"The law provides that the chief executive of the nation shall also be the president of the American National Red Cross. This fact adds to the sense of personal pleasure in the privilege which I have today of greeting by the radio those who have assembled at Dansville, New York, to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Clara Barton chapter, number one, the first Red Cross chapter in America. This chapter has the distinction of being organized by Clara Barton herself in 1881. It is a great distinction which your chapter enjoys both for the association with Miss Barton and as the beginners of one of the most beneficient institutions of our history.

"The beginnings of human enterprises derive their significance from the service which time proves their ability to perform for humanity. The nation joins in your celebration because of the success of the great, humanitarian agency which sprang from the mind of Clara Barton and the spirit of your community.

Raised Huge Sum

"The establishment of the pioneer chapter in the village of Dansville was the forerunner of 3,500 chapters—now in existence throughout the United States, enrolling at times of national need as many as twenty million members. In its lifetime the Red Cross has raised and expended nearly a billion of money in the relief of human distress. The national organization has become our nation's assurance of adequate, prompt and efficient handling of any catastrophe within our borders. It is the flowering of the spiritual impulse to serve the common need. It represents both the common impulse of sympathetic help and the mechanism for its practical expression, it stands as a monument to individual and local initiative. It proves the ability of democracy to create from people themselves the agencies for their service.

"More than a century has passed since Clara Barton was born. And it may be well said that the institution was not only founded by a noble woman but it has been carried on very largely by the womanhood of our country. The fifty years which have passed since that pioneer beginning have written a chapter in the world-wide relief of human suffering which is a fitting memorial to Miss Barton and a proud tradition to her countrymen.

"Greatest Mother"

"Women's interest in the prevention of suffering and in ministration of mercy to those in sickness, peril and need is the foundation of the Red Cross organization which has been fittingly described as 'the Greatest Mother of Them all.' To Miss Barton, Miss Mabel Boardman, and the many thousands of other devoted women, in all localities of this broad land, the cause of prompt, effective and sympathetic alleviation of suffering and distress owes its debt of gratitude and remembrance. To the men who give their service—of whom there is no greater example than Judge Payne—I also pay tribute.

"It is my privilege, on behalf of the nation, to acknowledge the debt, both of the pioneer founders of the organization and to their successors who are carrying on today."

Reduction Of Ginning Rates Being Sought By Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 9. (AP)—Louis Fischl, special attorney for Gov. Murray in a fight to reduce cotton ginning rates, said today he expected to proposed to the state corporation commission a plan that would prevent ginning of Oklahoma cotton in Texas and Arkansas.

He will urge a 15-mile zone in Oklahoma about the border in which special ginning rates would be fixed to compete with out-of-state gins.

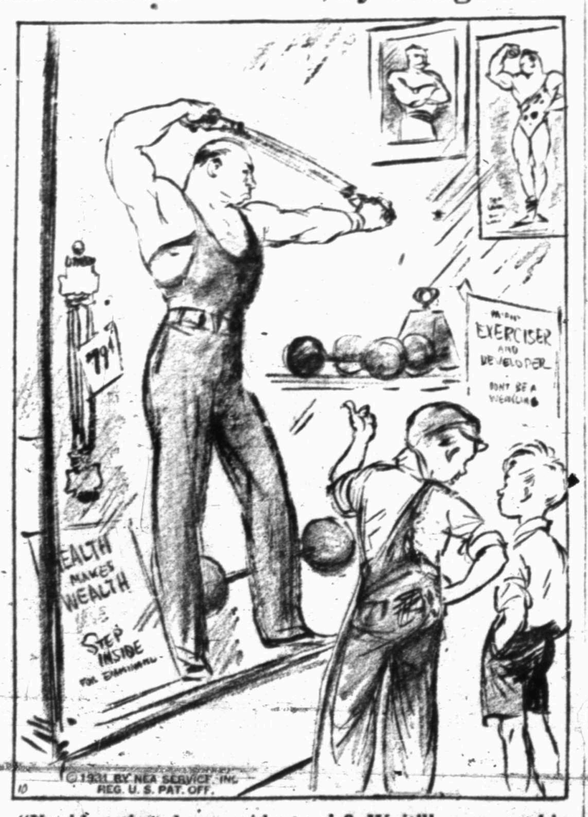

More than 40 witnesses testified before the commission today in a hearing which will determine rates for the next year.

CANNON TO RETURN

FORT WORTH, Sept. 9. (AP) — Bishop James Cannon, jr., is expected to return from abroad in time for the semi-annual meeting of the College of Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, at Atlanta on October 15, Bishop Sam R. Hay said here today.

Bishop Hay said he had received no communication from Bishop Cannon, and knew of no assignment that would bring him back to the United States before that time.

Letters To The Editor

On Granbery Commander Article Written By Max Coleman

Perhap the most "high-brow" publication in the state of Texas is the Southwest Review. Only persons of considerable distinction can secure publication in this journal. The summer number, 1931, has just come and I am delighted to see an able article by a Lubbock citizen. The subject is "Life of a Desperado," and the author is none other than our fellow-citizen Max Coleman, of the local bar. In the first place, the article is written extraordinarily well. The English is superb. In the second place, the article is of decided historical value. What a wonderful insight it gives us into many aspects of the pioneer life of Western Texas and New Mexico. The city of Lubbock has reason to be proud that one so gifted should be in our midst. I do not know how many more such stories Max Coleman has to offer, but if we may judge from this article he has a large contribution to make of a literary and historical character to the story of the Southwest.

Price Impeachment Trial May Not Be Opened Today

AUSTIN, Sept. 9. (AP) — The impeachment trial of J. B. Price, district judge at Bastrop, likely will not be started in the senate tomorrow as scheduled, it was indicated today.

The senate adopted resolutions calling for committees to set a date for starting the trial, employ a court reporter and determine upon procedure. Senator W. K. Hopkins, who introduced the resolutions, explained the trial likely would be postponed until after cotton legislation had been concluded.

The house impeached Judge Price on charges of negligence in approving alleged excessive expense accounts of certain peace officers in his district.

Peter Russell Seems To Have Found A Home

GLASGOW, Scotland, Sept. 9. (AP)—Peter Russell, "a man without a country" who has been shuttling back and forth across the Atlantic since last June, seems to have found a haven of refuge at last.

British and American immigration authorities declined to permit him to enter either country while they debated his nationality. When he arrived here in the steamer Artigas, he learned that he had been proven to be a Scotsman and was at liberty to go anywhere in Great Britain. He headed for Fife, where his home is.

Russell's troubles began when he missed his ship at Cork last April. He stowed away on another bound for Boston, and was refused entry there because of conflicting information about his place of birth. He was deported, but the British ruled that he was not a subject of King George and he was sent back. During all the time that he steamed back and forth across the ocean, a technical prisoner, it cost about $8 a day to guard and feed him.

She's Aunt Dorothy Now

Aunt" Dorothy Sebastian Boyd, shown in center above, wouldn't be surprised if a trip to Hollywood is in store for these young boys and girls. For she has ambitions for them. The motion picture actress, wife of William Boyd, also a screen star, traveled across the continent for a three-day visit with two young nephews and three nieces at Birmingham, Ala. At the left is Fred and at right is Robert Phillips. The girls, left to right, are Dorothy, Stella and Mary Helen.

Fight For Home, But Desert It

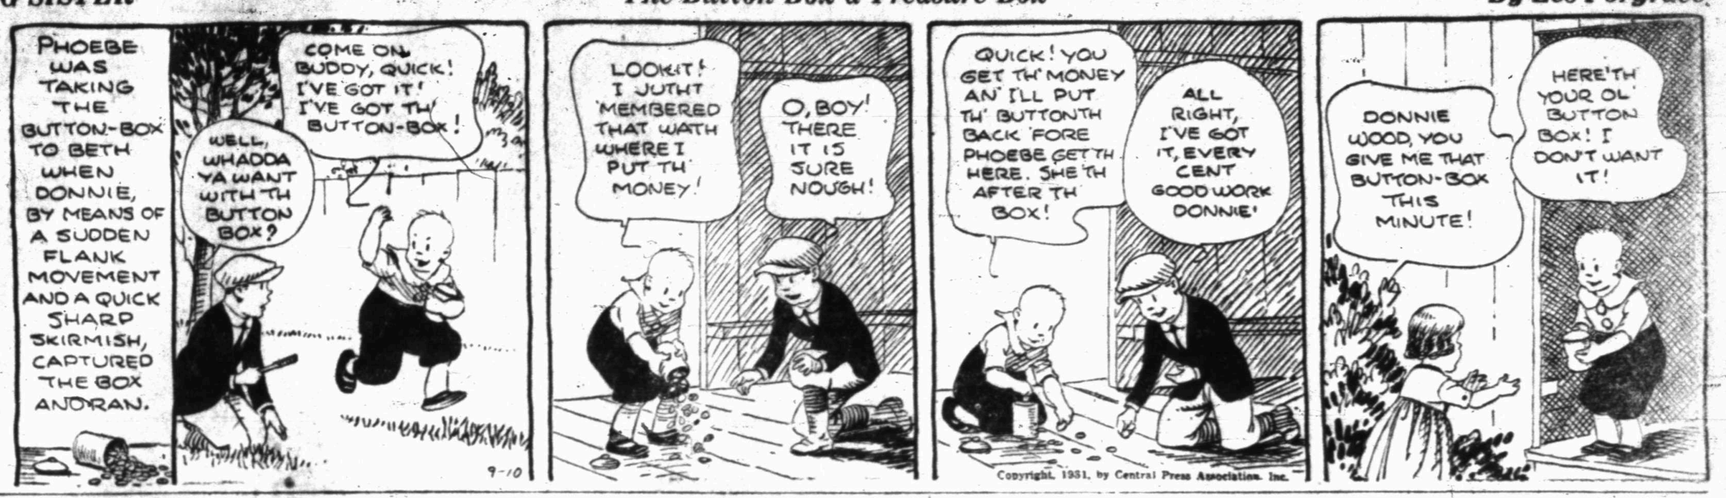

Though the beautiful home pictured above is expected to be the center of litigation in the divorce battle between Jack Dempsey and Estelle Taylor, both have deserted it to make public appearances. Jack is now touring in a series of exhibitions, and Estelle, shown lower right practicing singing, is about to start a vaudeville tour. The home is in Los Angeles.

Cotton Trading Shows Firmness — Cattle Report Shows 41,500 — Commodities Are Slow On Market

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 9. (AP)—Cotton closed active and about $1 a bale higher today after a comparatively quiet and narrow start.

Pool Liverpool cables were an early depressing influence, but as New York opened higher and Liverpool reported spot sales of 25,000 bales, of which 4,300 were American and trade buying developed, prices turned upward. The market became active and firm in the late trading, taking a bullish view of conference between President Hoover and leading cotton men to facilitate exports. Firmer stocks also helped the turn and quotations went 25 to 30 points above the early lows, closing at net advances for the day of 21 to 23 points.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Sept. 9. (AP)—Reactions from an opening advance in cotton today were followed by renewed firmness in late trading.

December contracts, after selling off from 6.99@6.89 closed at 7.06, with the general market closing firm at net advances of 17 to 19 points.

Opening was steady 3 to 4 points higher in the face of relatively easy Liverpool cables and active months sold 8 to 11 points net higher during the early trading on covering and buying for both domestic and foreign trade accounts.

"Did you ever see the horses run?" the doctor said. "Well, the horse that does all his running at first usually never comes in under the wire. And that's how Roosevelt will run."

The east is picking Newton Baker, he said.

Asked about a southerner's chances for nomination either for president or vice-president, he answered that there wasn't many. Huey Long, he said, "has done the biggest fool thing possible when he passed the cotton law and I'll venture to say that he'll be afraid to stay in the state by the fall of 1932."

He declared that he would be "for Hoover against any wet Democrat, that is an Eastern Democrat". He said he opposed Smith "just because he wore a brown derby, and I've often wondered why such a man as Smith should think that a voter hasn't the right to oppose any candidate on account of his religoin, because he wore a derby hat or any other reason. Smith, next to Coolidge, is America's most popular citizen and a capable man."

Questioned about Bishop Cannon, he said "I think Bishop Cannon is a cleaner and better man than any of those fighting him."

Dr. Evans said this was his second visit to Lubbock. He was here in 1918 "with a party of Masons and we conferred degrees in a number of places around here." He said he was to make a series of addresses en route to Washington where he makes his home. He spends about half of his time in Atlanta, Georgia, he said.

Stocks Develop Better Resistance But Weak Spots Cause Uneasy Tone

NEW YORK, Sept. 9. (AP)—Stocks developed better resistance to selling in the morning trading today, but enough weak spots cropped out to keep the market uneasy and the tone during the afternoon was heavy. Short covering just before the close brought scattered gains, although final prices averaged lower.

New York Central's rally after the quarterly dividend had been cut to $1 from $1.50 meant the stock had discounted the unfavorable news, which was the outstanding item of the day. Although some other rails were weak. Pennsylvania, Lackawanna, Chicago and Northwestern, Baltimore and Ohio, Northern Pacific and Canadian Pacific, among others, made new lows.

Heavy selling of General Motors, accompanied by gossip that the stock might be put on a $2.50 annual basis, disturbed the comparative calm that greeted the New York Central reduction. Also, liquidation of National Biscuit, International Harvester and the U. S. Steel issues accentuated the pessimism which still seemed to underly the market.

was known to be exhausted. The most economical route the fliers could follow misses most of the ships and land wireless stations.

Meanwhile, W. W. Conner, governor of the Washington chapter of the National Aeronautical association, requested the coast guard to begin an immediate search along the Aleutin Islands.

Weather conditions along the route charted by Moyle and Allen were regarded as good, but the Aleutian tip is a breeding place for sudden and unpredictable storms and authorities on flying conditions here believed it was likely the fliers were forced down in that region.

Murder Trial

reached the place, the witness said. No gun was found on or near the body, he testified. Four shells were found on the floor.

Defense Opens

G. T. Hartberger, city marshal of Knox City, was the first witness for the defense. He testified as to Bonds' character and reputation while a citizen of Knox City.

Sam Murphy, a former business partner of White's in testifying for the defense, said White told him on one occasion that if Vester Bonds, the defendant's son, ever left White's daughter, young Bonds' wife, he (White) would go after his son-in-law and get him if it took ten years.

Tells Of Visit

S. F. Lane, who lives nine miles west of Brownfield, told of his visit to White as a peacemaker between Bonds and the grocer.

"Bonds and that boy cannot live in the same country I am in unless Bonds makes his son live with the girl and do the right thing.", "White was quoted as saying to Lane." 'I have my mind made up and that is final.' "

Lane said he saw Bonds a week before the shooting and delivered White's message.

Carried A Gun

Lester Bonds, a brother of Vester Bonds, testified of meeting White on a Brownfield street on January 21. The grocer had a gun in his left coat pocket and ordered Lester Bonds to take him out to the Bonds home where Vester Bonds was staying.

"I told him I would go and get my father and bring him back for a talk with him," Lester Bonds said. "With that assurance, White got out of my automobile."

At the morning session, Sheriff J. M. Telford in testifying for the state said that Bonds told him the night before the shooting that White had gotten his job and his boy and that he (Bonds) was not going to let him get away with it.

Threat Is Quoted

The sheriff further testified that White had said that Bonds' son "can't walk the streets of Brownfield" unless he continued to live with his wife—White's daughter.

The sheriff said he knew of ill feeling between White and Bonds as a result of martial difficulties encountered by White's daughter and Bond's son. White had not threatened Bonds, so far as the sheriff knew, but had declared his intention to prevent severance of relations between his daughter and her husband.

J. C. Stephens, cook-waiter in the restaurant when the shooting occured, said four or five shots were fired.

Dr. W. M. Copeland, the only other witness, told his version of the fatal shooting.

Statement Is Heard

Stephens said he was drawing a cup of coffee when the shooting started. After the dying man was on the floor Stephens said he heard Bonds say:

"You doubled crossed me."

The courtroom was crowded with spectators throughout the day. Many persons failing to find seats or standing room in the court chamber, thronged the courthouse corridors. Witnesses were handled with dispatch, there being very few objections to testimony by either state or defense counsel.

Court attaches said tonight that testimony probably would be concluded Thursday. It was not known whether Bonds would take the stand in his own defense.

OLDEST DOC

LONDON.—Dr. Henry Salter, just turned 90, claims to be the oldest practicing medical officer in England. For 65 years he has been the family doctor for every household in Witham, and is also medical officer of health for the district. He has brought more than 7,000 children into the world.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Sept. 9. (AP)—Demand for commodities were slow on the cash grain market today with price changes small. Exporters were bidding 45@46c for wheat delivered Texas Gulf ports.

Quotations ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Galveston, export rate, or group three points:

Wheat, No. 1 ordinary hard milling 47 1-2@49c; No. 1 hard 14 per cent protein, 50 1-2@51 1-2c; 13 per cent protein 53@53 1-2c; 10 per cent protein 53 1-2@55c.

Corn, No. 2 mixed 42@44c; No. 3 white 43@45c; No. 3 yellow 50@25c.

Oats, No. 2 red 24@25c.

Barley, No. 2, 33@35c.

Sorghums, No. 2 milo per 100 pounds 78@82c; No. 2 kaffir 81@84c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 9. (AP)—Signs of relief from haunting fear Russia would swamp the world with wheat helped to put some backbone into grain prices today. Trade reports pointed to a general downward revision of Russian wheat production estimates. An additional stimulus to upturns in prices came from announcement that the federal farm board was negotiating for further sales of its wheat holdings, and that the board did not contemplate asking congress for any more money.

Wheat closed firmer, 1-4 to 3-4 cents up, corn at 1 1-4 decline to 1-4 advance, oats unchanged to 1-8 off, and provisions varying from 5 cents setback to a rise of 2 cents.

Texas Farmers

the same mileage as allowed at regular sessions. The house yesterday passed a bill appropriating $50,000 to pay the salaries of members.

A Trying Age

J. W. Briggs of Fannin county urged the legislature to forget petty differences and not to confuse the situation or "fuss" about it. "This is a trying age; we are living in the middle of over-production and starving to death," Briggs stated.

Briggs was applauded loudly as he finished his talk with an appeal for speedy action. He spoke against the Long "no-cotton in 1932" plan and favored reduction of from one-half to 75 per cent.

Before Briggs was allowed to speak authors of the bills pending in the house were permitted to explain their proposals.

Would Cause Scramble

The "no-cotton" bill was explained by Representative Victor Gilbert of Cisco. Gilbert said passage of this law, already passed by the Louisiana legislature, would cause buyers to make a scramble for this year's crop to fill their needs for next year and would materially enhance the value of the current production. It also would teach farmers the value of diversification and to live out of the farm cupboard instead of out of a tin can and paper sack, Gilbert said.

His statement "it is the best the legislature can adopt," drew considerable applause.

A bill by Representative Gordon Burns of Huntsville would cut cotton acreage in 1932 to 50 per cent of the 1931 acreage.

Olsen Gives Bill

The bill expected to draw most of the support was explained by Representative J. J. Olsen of Yoakum. It would limit cotton acreage in 1932 to one-third the land in cultivation in 1931 and one-half in 1933. It also would prohibit planting the same acreage to cotton on successive years.

Representative H. H. Hanson of Tyler offered his bill for no cotton in 1932 and one-half in 1933.

Representative Pat Dwyer of San Antonio offered a bill whereby a state agricultural equalization board would be established with authority to buy and sell and regulate production of farm commodities: Dwyer recommended the board be established and that it buy immediately 3,000,000 bales of cotton at ten cents per pound. Deficiency warrrants would be used to make the purchases.

Teeth Are Sought

"Then pass a bill with teeth in it and require reduction of production and the problem will be solved," Dwyer said.

Senator Joe Moore of Greenville introduced a bill to establish a cotton relief fund, the fund to be raised by assessments on automobiles, banks, cotton, exchanges, cotton futures, malt, ginger ale, gasoline, radios and other items.

Money would be loaned from the fund to farmers who would agree to reduce their acreage 25 per cent each year they were to borrow. Loans would be made only on cotton with a staple of seven-eighths of an inch or more.

Moore estimated $25,000,000 would be available the first year for the fund.

Institute

was chairman, read the report which stated that the books of the secretary-treasurer were in "good condition." The report was accepted.

Report Is Read

Miss Mae Murfee, county superintendent of Lubbock county, read the report of the future of the institute committee, of which she was chairman. It "favored the continuance of the institute under the capable leadership of Dr. Paul W. Horn and Dr. A. W. Evans." The report was adopted.

Before beginning his closing talk, on "The Purposes of Education," Dr. Shelton Phelps took occasion to exercise his extreme personal appreciation of the splendid visit he had in Lubbock at the institute. He stated that while he had had some conception of this city and the college and its remarkable growth, yet he was" agreeably surprised" and delighted at the advance, which was far beyond his expectations.

"As far as history records, there is no other nation that has an educational system on the same scale as the United States," Dr. Phelps stated, adding that the chief difference between the educational systems of this country and Europe was the "scale upon which we have undertaken to educate the great masses of the people."

French secondary education, on the whole, is better than that of the United States in the matter of training of teachers and other professional matter. "But it is for a very, very small group," he pointed out. On the other hand that of the nited States is for a "larger group."

Scotland, with Edinburgh as the chief center, is the nation that more nearly approximates America in the scope of its educational system, he said.

Cites Three Groups

Dr. Phelps gave three groups of "aims of education," quoting from the writings of the Greek philosopher Plato, from Herbert Spencer, the famous English philosopher and from the report which Charles Kingsley, noted American educator, made about 1918. He also mentioned the similar statement of H. G. Wells, modern English novelist and writer.

Plato's aims were: ethical, cure of body, knowledge of citizenship, vocational, patriotism, guarding of posterity and complete development. Those of Spencer were: How to care for the body, how to care for the mind, management of one's affairs, bringing up a family, behavior as a citizen, use of faculties for greater good of others and how to live completely. The Kingsley aims were: Health, worthy home, fundamental processess, vocation, civic education, more use of leisure and ethical character.

H. G. Wells mentioned as the aims the following: Complete knowledge of English, elementary knowledge of Latin and Greek; alien's knowledge of two foreign languages, all around knowledge of geography, general knowledge of chemistry and physical condition and health and industrial education.

WICHITA FALLS, Sept. 9. (AP) — A lengthy but simple account of beatings, threats and other abuse at the hands of city and county officers was given in testimony today by Robert Burns, negro, on trial for the murder of Eddie Nash, negro, last May.

Burns was on the stand for two hours and was still being cross examined when court adjourned until tomorrow. He is charged with putting strychnine in a cup of coffee drunk by Nash.

The negro named Deputy Sheriffs Ben Smith and E. L. Kincaid and City Detective Luke Hart as the officers who wrought a statement from him after repeated abuses, including threats upon his life, whipping with a rubber hose, blows in the face, cursing, and two rides into the country while he was handcuffed and bound in a car.

Kaye Don Raises Sunken Boat From River Bottom

DETROIT, Sept. 9. (AP)—The 1931 Harmsworth trophy race passed into history today but reverberations over the international event continued.

Kaye Don, British challenger, whose Miss England II, was removed yesterday from the bottom of the Detroit river, after it capsized Monday at a turn, took the boat to Windsor today to prepare it for shipment to Toronto.

Gar Wood, whose Miss America IX was disqualified along with Don's boat because both crossed the starting line too far ahead of the gun, contradicted statements attributed to him yesterday to the effect he had deliberately drawn Don over the line ahead of the gun, with resultant disqualification of both boats.

Canzoneri Favored To Beat Kid Berg In Title Battle

NEW YORK, Sept. 9. (AP)—Tony Canzoneri, the grinning Italian youth who has failed to duck many a husky wallop but never a dangerous challenger, puts his lightweight title on the block again tomorrow night in a bout with Jackie Kid Berg.

The pressure on Tony will not be so great this time as it was in Chicago a few months ago when he gave the dynamic Englishman his first championship chance.

Tonight he rules a 2 to 1 favorite.

Negro Slayer Is Identified

Italian Groceryman Points To Slayer Of Wife In Trial At Dallas; Details Of Fatal Affair Are Told

DALLAS, Sept. 9. (AP)—Tony Todaro, Italian groceryman, identified Walter "Bud" Curtis, a negro, in district court here today as the man who shot and killed his wife in a grocery store robbery March 29, 1930.

Todaro testified that the negro, who was on trial for the slaying of Mrs. Irene Todaro, held him up with a pistol and shot Mrs. Todaro when she entered the store unexpectedly.

"That's him," Todaro declared. "I could not be mistaken. He came into my store and ordered some sausage, then drew a pistol. He was taking the money from the cash register when Mrs. Todaro entered. She screamed. The negro turned and leveled his pistol at me. The bullet grazed my shoulder, striking my wife in the head."

Todaro said the negro then fled from the store. Curtis was arrested several weeks later.

The prosecution rested after taking Todaro's testimony. The defense, in attempting to prove that Curtis was not the negro who shot Mrs. Todaro, introduced testimony from several negroes.

Curtis was tried once before for the slaying and sentenced to death, but an appeal to a higher court brought a reversal and a new trial.

Investigation Of Unmarketed Cotton To Be Made By Senate

AUSTIN, Sept. 9. (AP)—The senate today adopted a resolution providing for a legislative investigation of the amount of unmarketable cotton included in the 9,000,000-bale carryover estimate of the federal government.

The resolution was offered by Senator Jake Loy of Sherman. Loy contended much of the cotton was unfit for the market and that its inclusion in the estimates had a depressing effect on the price.

Robert Floyd, 23-year-old crippled youth of Lumberton, N. C., completed nine years of school work in three years.

Fairs and carnivals in the vicinity of Hollywood, Hank's home bid for his services.

Governor Murray Predicts That New Yorker Will Never Win In Election

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 9. (AP)—En route home from a speech in Chicago, Gov. W. H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray of Oklahoma predicted here that a New Yorker would not be elected if he received the Democratic nomination for president.

"What conception do those easterners have of the western country?" the Oklahoma chief executive asked in elaborating upon his political forecast. "They don't have any. You have to get the voice of the grass roots—the support of the common people."

Asked again the question which he has answered so frequently recently, Governor Murray said it is too early to discuss the possibility of his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Upon his arrival here Governor Murray first asked for a cup of coffee, then caused the dispatching of the following telegram to Emporia, Kansas:

"Hon. William Allen White,
Emporia, Kas.,
Governor Bill Murray wishes you to have lunch with us at the Harvey house, noon today. Governor says he will pay the bill.
Senator Al Nicholas,
Acting Secretary."

It is claimed that giving blood for transfusions generally improves health.

Old And Bitter Political Feud To Keep Long From Paying Texas Visit

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 9. (AP) An old bitter political controversy today restrained Governor Huey P. Long from crossing the state line into Texas to address a mass meeting at Austin tonight, on the cotton crisis.

It was the controversy between Governor Long and Lieutenant Governor Paul N. Cyr, gubernatorial candidate who has announced a desire to occupy the office because of his "disgust" of Governor Long's "flaunting the constitution."

Governor Long, a United States senator-elect, announced in a radio speech last night he was not going to Texas despite a sincere wish to do so. He said he would address the mass meeting at Austin by radio, however.

The Lieutenant governor's refusal to sign a promise not to attempt to act as governor or take the gubernatorial oath of office during his absence was assigned by Governor Long as his reason for not leaving the state.

Dr. Cyr last night at his home in Jeanerette, reaffirmed his statement that he would grant Governor Long a sixty hour political truce to fly to Texas and make his speech, without any Cyr interference in the Long administration.

But Governor Long sent back word that Cyr should put the verbal understanding in writing and Cyr point blank refused. 'My word is my bond," Dr. Cyr said.

A Lucky Break
Kidnaper Is Caught As Car Overturns

CHICAGO, Sept. 9. (AP)—A speeding automobile hit a hole in a west side street, careened against another car and turned over. David Kornblith took the opportunity to yell from beneath the car:

"Help, Help! I'm being robbed."

The police came running and arrested one of two robbers who had kidnaped Kornblith from his own garage, intent upon having him open the safe at his nearby gasoline station. The captured man said he was William Chancellor, 31, recent arrival from Oklahoma City. The other alleged thief escaped.

International Conference On Cotton Is Now Sough

AUSTIN, Sept. 9. (AP) — Arno Pearse, jr., secretary of the International Spinners association of Great Britain, said today that if President Hoover called an international conference on the cotton situation, with plans for creating banking credit for exports of cotton, it would be the "best thing he has done for the farmer and the general cotton condition."

Pearse was here with Van Delden of Gronau, Germany, to gather information on the Texas cotton situation. "If spinners abroad can get cotton on a long credit basis without exorbitant interest, they will be willing to buy all the American cotton they can get," Pearse said. "It will prove a great market for the American cotton farmer in my estimation."
