TO OUR BAND STUDENTS

We were just as disappointed in the rating you received at the Interscholastic League meet Saturday as you were. There are numerous other towns in the area who were also disappointed. However, that does not ease the disappointment you suffered when the announcement was made as to the decisions of the judges.

We know, and most everyone else in Santa Anna knows that you are much better than the judges decision indicated you are. We have watched you closely at the ten football games this fall, and also watched ten other bands perform along side of you. You were much better than most of them and compared favorably with the best you performed with.

In our opinion Mason, who incidenty received a First Division Rating, was the best of the other bands you performed with.

During the time the Mason band was performing there were a number of comments in the press box about their ability — then the Mountaineer band put on their performance, and just as many comments were made about the local band. A number of these comments came from officials of other schools, including Mason. Personally we were of the opinion the two bands were just about even in every function. Both are good bands, well trained and show they have put lots of time and effort in their preparations.

Apparently there is no set rule of judging. The judges decide what they will bass their ratings on, and then follow that through. Just what they based their opinions on would be hard for us to say, but we do not feel you received a fair decision.

We do not want you to let this be a stumbling block for you. There is always hard knocks in anything you attempt to do. And when you receive these hard knocks, in order to be a champion you must not let them defeat you, but take them standing up and show the world you can take it. The fact that the entire town is behind you 100 percent should give your spirits a lift, and boost you on to show others you are champions when you perform in their presence.

You are champions in the eyes of the people of this area. Do not disappoint us by letting down in your efforts.

Band Boosters Membership Drive Underway

A drive for membership in the Band Boosters Cub got underway the first of this week. Membership in the organization is 50 cents per person.

Band students and Band Booster members started selling the membership cards. All band parents are requested to purchase the membership cards early, to get the drive in motion. All proceeds from the membership drive will go to wipe out the amount due on the new band uniforms, which is about $240.

Anyone can become a member of the organization, just by paying the 50 cent membership fee. And your membership will be apreciated.

P-TA Plans Fun Carnival And Bazaar

The Santa Anna Parent-Teacher Association will have their annual Fun Carnival and Bazaar at the High School Gymnasium Saturday, December 5.

The Carnival attractions will open at 5:00 o'clock, with pony rides, hay rides, and fire truck rides for children, and the bazaar items will include canned and baked goods, plants and handwork. Each room at Ward school is sponsoring a booth, decorated as months of the year, with the Room Mother chairman of each class serving as chairman of the booth.

A food booth will be in operation during the carnival with hot dogs, cold drinks, coffee, and pie to be sold.

Other attractions will be a fishing booth, grab boxes and fortune telling.

Each room at Ward school is making a large poster to advertise the Carnival, and the posters will be put on display in the downtown stores this week.

Mrs. Ray Swindell is president of the P-TA, and is coordinator for the money raising project.

Local Farm Census Takers On The Job

The 1959 Census of Agriculture is now underway, with the local enumerators getting started on Monday of this week. Workers in this area are: Mrs. Lucille Dean, Santa Anna area; Mrs. Imogene Siburt, working east from Coleman and south from Burkett; Jake McCreary, Rockwood area; and Mrs. George Cobb, Shields and Gouldbusk areas.

All farmers in this area have received their Census forms. You are urged to get these forms filled out as nearly as possibel before the Census Takers arrive at your farm. It will help save your time and the enumerators time.

It is hoped the complete census can be completed in this area in the next ten days.

The 1959 Census of Agriculture will bring up to date farm statistics last collected in 1954, when the farm census revealed the following fact:

The value of products sold in 1954 by farm operators in Coleman County was $5,309,170. Value of all crops sold amounted to $1,392,126 and included $1,379,723 for field crops, $441 for vegetables, $2,427 for fruits and nuts, and $9,535 for horticultural specialities.

The value of all livestock and livestock products sold in the county was $3,915,934 and included $238,754 for dairy products, $465,622 for poultry and poultry products and $3,211,558 for livestock and livestock products.

The value of forest products sold from the county's farms was $1,110.

Santa Anna Boy Opens Barber Shop In Nederland

The November 5, 1959 issue of the Mid-County Review at Nederland, Texas carried an annoucement that (Alton) Ray Bishop was announcing the formal opening of Ray's Barber Shop in Nederland on Nov. 7. Bishop is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Shorty Bishop of Santa Anna and a graduate of Brownwood Barber College. He specializes in the latest women's hair styles.

Bishop and his family have lived in Nederland for the past seven years. His new shop is beautifully decorated with multicolor, three dimensional Celestial White over turquoise blue, with a back paneling of mahogany. Adding to the attractiveness of the shop are two mounted 9- and 10-point white tail deer heads, as a result of a hunting expedition in Junction last year.

Big Rush On Cotton Gins In Progress

The big rush to get cotton out of the fields has been in progress for the past several days, and cotton gins over the country are being swamped. The Santa Anna Co-op Gin has completed ginning over 1,900 bales Wednesday morning, and the yard is over-run all the time. They are ginning about 100 bales each 24-hour period now, and have been for the past two weeks.

Usually September and the early part of October is the busy season for the cotton gins. However due to the lack of cotton pickers in this area, most farmers have had to wait until they could get the harvest done by machine. The stripping machines work best after all the leaves have died and fallen off the stalk. This took place after the last hard freeze.

It has been estimated that a little over one-half of the cotton crop in this area has now been harvested. There will be several more weeks of rush harvest.

Boys And Girls Win Basketball Games Tuesday

The boys and girls both won their basketball games Tuesday night in the local gym. In the first game, the girls won over Bangs by a score of 41 to 31. The boys won the second game by a score of 30 to 20.

High point boy was Brian Baucom with 6 points. High point girls were Judy Bryan with 18 points and Gayla McIver with 13 points.

In previous games, the girls had won one and lost one, and the boys have lost two games. In the first game with Rising Star last Tuesday night both teams lost. The girls score was 39 to 36 with Anita Broadway being the high point girl with 22 points. The boys score was 56 to 40 with Travis Buse being high point boy with 16 points.

In the Early game Friday night the girls won by a score of 52 to 33 with Gayla McIver being the high point girl with 25 points. In the boys game the score was 43-32 for Early with Buse being the high point boy with 17 points.

Beginning on Monday of next week the boys and girls will enter the Mozelle tournament. The tourney will last all week, with games being played each night.

Band Members Disappointed In III Rating

Members of the Santa Anna High School Band, the majority and parents were all really badly disappointed at a III Division rating handed the Santa Anna Band at the Interscholastic League Meeting, held the past Saturday in Sweetwater. Everyone concerned with the band had high hopes they would bring home a First Division rating this year. During the past four years they have brought home a Second Division rating, and the band, their instructor, and all who take an interest in the activities of the band were almost certain they would receive the top rating this year.

However, apparently the judges were somewhat dis-satisfied with what they saw and gave them a Fourth Class Division rating. Some parents present at the contest said the students put on the best performance they had this year.

There is a bright side to the picture though. The twirlers, Mary Rehm, Frances Bryan and Dixie Jo Baugh, received a First Division rating and the band received a Division One rating for their appearance and inspection. The inspection judge said the instruments were particularly clean.

Band Director James Mallow said all required maneuvers were fulfilled and each was performed well. There was a number of other band directors present who were very unhappy at some of the judges decisions.

Mr. Mallow announces the next performances for the band will include the Coleman Christmas Opening Parade on Saturday, Nov. 28; Santa Anna Christmas Opening Parade on December 4; Brownwood Christmas Mall on Saturday, Dec. 5; and the band and Choral Club will participate in the annual Christmas program in the high school auditorium on December 17th.

Mr. and Mrs. Ford Barnes were guests at the coffee and luncheon for Governor Price Daniel in the Cotillion Room of the Town House Hotel in San Angelo the past Thursday.

Lions Ticket Selling Contest Ends Tues. Noon

The ticket selling contest between the two teams of Lions will end at noon Tuesday, December 1. The losing team will dress in ladies clothes and march in the annual Christmas Opening Parade on Friday, Dec. 4th.

The tickets are being sold to the annual Aunt Jemima Pancake Sale, to be held in the old Payne Building on Friday, Dec. 4. The pancakes will be served from 11:30 a. m. to 1:30 p. m. and from 3:30 to 8:00 p. m.

Admission is 50 cents per person, and you are guaranteed all you can eat. The meal will consist of Aunt Jemima pancakes, coffee or milk, butter, syrup and bacon.

Ticket sales during the past week have been brisk. It is believed more advance tickets have been sold this year than ever before. A number of devious methods are being employed in the selling of the tickets, but it is getting the job done. And, all the proceeds go to the Lions Club Activity Fund.

One good Lion this week advertises he will give Green Stamps with the purchase of each ticket at his store.

So the contest goes on. If you have not bought your ticket or tickets yet, most every Lion has some he will be glad to sell you. We know you can buy them at The News office if you have trouble getting them elsewhere.

Plans for the pancake sale are progressing nicely. Most of the supplies have already arrived, and the others will be here shortly. Plans are to make this the biggest pancake sale in years, and with your help it can be done.

Comment from the Capital —

Let's Play The Game By The Rules

by Vant Neff

Think of the busiest street corner in your town. Day after day the traffic passes peaceably by on wheel or on foot. The light turns red: traffic waits. The light turns green: everyone goes ahead. Maybe the policeman on the corner says "hello"; he's your neighbor. If he directs you to drive on the right side of the street, you obey. If he asks you to use the marked-out crosswalks, you do it. You play the game by the rules — willingly.

But suppose, one day, the cars didn't stop at the red light. The pedestrians jaywalked in every direction. And suppose that everyone shoved the policeman aside when he tried to restore order. Just think what would happen.

This would happen: law and order would vanish, your town would become a savage place. Neither you, your home, nor your family would be safe.

If you think law and order are generally preserved in all our cities and towns you are mistaken. There is an area of our life in which violence and lawlessness occur daily, right here in America -- not in Main Street's traffic, but just around the corner at all too many factories, plants, small businesses and large.

This is the area of the picket line. In too many cases, the picket line has become a law unto itself — barricading private property, threatening individual safety and violating the rights of private citizens. If you or I behaved as pickets often do — jostling, screaming, overturning cars, blocking roads and walkways, we would be arrested promptly — and properly so. But labor union pickets do all these things and worse —without effective restraint. All too often the police force — too little and too late — is told by higher-ups to look the other way. There have even been cases where the police were called away--so the pickets could be sure of a free hand.

The fact is that too many unions abuse the right of peaceful picketing by "taking over," and by acting as if they were a super government, not subject to the laws and the rules of the game which ordinary citizens are bound to obey.

For instance, some unions have the gall to establish a system of "passes" when they set up a picket line. Not even the owner of the business is allowed to enter his own plant without written permission of the union bosses. In the long steel strike, the Steelworkers Union have even turned down a request from the United States Navy for permission to move out finished steel needed for the missile program! Are the steel unions a super-government, superior to the United States Navy and the defense needs of the country?

Unions have no right in law or morality to deny access to private property. But the same policeman who would give you a summons for blocking traffic stands idly by while you are forcibly prevented from entering your own place of business.

Unions are a fact of our American way of life in a number of industries. No fair-minded person would deny them their legal rights. But when they take the law into their own hands and flout the rights of other citizens, it is time to restore law and order. The rights of private citizens and private property should be protected just as fully against union violations as they are from other law-breakers.

The fault is not really with the police who, for the most part, do their best to enforce the law under difficult circumstances. But the police take their orders from the city officials and the city officials too often take their orders from the politicians.

Only the demand of the citizens themselves can insure even-handed law enforcement, without privilege or favor to unions or any other special interests. Only an aroused citizenry can insure that law and order are preserved, and the rules of the game are the same for everybody.

THANKSGIVING
Still Means "THANKS"

OUR PILGRIM FOREFATHERS conceived Thanksgiving as a day to stop and take stock of all the good things in life. They had, as we do today, a constant threat of enemy danger. They were beset by problems — economic, political, big and small — but they found time, each year, to thank God and thank each other for all the good things they enjoyed.

We, at the Santa Anna National Bank, are thankful for the great state and nation in which we live.

We are thankful, too, for the opportunity we have of being a part of this community — and for the privilege of serving you, our customers.

Santa Anna Girl Writes from India

Mrs. Terry Sanders, the former Beth Barnes, recently wrote her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Barnes, the following description of a trip they made in India, where Mr. Sanders is working as a member of the State Department:

I want to tell you of the fabulous trip that Terry and I have just had.

We left by plane November 2 (from New Delhi, India,) for Calcutta, India, via Khajurado. Our first landing in the private plane was in a pasture, as Khajurado has no airport. This was quite an experience in itself. The pilot buzzed the field three times at tree-top level in order to determine if the pasture was dry enough to land. At each buzz the cattle scattererd in every direction. We had barely touched the ground when fifty people appeared practically out of nowhere and swarmed around the plane. As this landing was 36 miles from Khajorado, we had hired a bus to meet us there and take us to Khajurado.

Here are situated the noted and magnificent temples, the most vibrantly brilliant structures of the original Hindu architecture. Khajurado reached its glory under the Chaudella Dynasty from 950 AD to 1050 AD. During that time 85 temples of colossal grandeur were erected. Only 20 of these are still standing, but the ruins of all this magnificence is spread out over an area of eight miles. Once a large city, Khajurado has dwindled to a tiny village.

After the Khajurado excursion, we continued on by plane to Calcutta, reported to be the fourth largest city in the world.

In spite of it's palatial, civic and religious buildings, I have never seen such proverty and squalor.

That night the Consul General entertained us with a black tie dinner, and the next day the wife of a Consul took me on a sight-seeing trip and a shopping spree, while Terry and the Deputy-Chief of Missions in India, who accompanied us on this trip, went out into the country to look over a locomotive plant and a steel factory.

The next morning we took an Indian Air Lines plane to Bagdagra, where we hired a small car to drive us to Darjeeling, a hill station 7,000 feet up in the Himalaya Mountains. Along the way we saw many tea plantations and the most majestic scenery I have ever seen.

The following morning we arose at 4:00 a. m. and took a jeep about 11 miles to Tiger Hill, where we watched the sun arise over Mt. Everest. Of course Mt. Everest was some distance away, but it's primeval magnificence was very visable. Nearer to us Katchangyunga, which I believe is the second highest peak in the world.

It was a thrilling experience to see the sun rising below instead of above you. The varied colorings on the snow covered mountains encircling us were indescribable. This is an experience I shall treasure always.

We wore wool suits, heavy top coats and were wrapped in wool blankets and still were cold.

From Darjeeling we drove to Kalinpang. The views all the way to Gangtok, capitol of Sikkim, were spectacular, impossible to describe.

At Gangtok we were guests of the Political Officer of Sikkim, who lives in a perfectly magnificent house, situated on a peak of the mountains. This house was built in 1880 by the British. We were in a completely different world.

That afternoon we had tea with the Maharajah of Sikkim and his son, Maharajah Lumer. This is a story within itself. We were greeted at the door of the palace by His Highness and the Maharajah Cumer. Each of us presented a scarf to His Highness, who in turn presented each of us one. This is a form of greeting that is always observed. He showed us through the private chapel where all the attendants prostrated themselves before him.

We later visited a library where we saw the books of five of the fourteen Dalai Lamas.

That night we attended a program given by a boys school in Gangtok. We heard these boys perform in English, Tibetan, Hindu, Nepali, and do a dance in Sikkimese Folk. Afterwards we had dinner with the Prime Minister of Sikkim, where we met the sister of the present Dalai Lama. She is a most attractive lady.

This was all a fabulous experience and despite the tedious traveling and rough and narrow roads, I would love to re-visit all of those places.

You can imagine what a turmoil we all are in just now, with a move to be made in the near future, and having to entertain many visitors from the U. S. A., and President Eisenhower coming next month.

Our household effects have just arrived from Washington, although we have been here since July.

Tomorrow night we are having a reception for Senator Boggs of Louisiana and Senator Machrowicz of Michigan. Terry is meeting them at the airport and will hold a briefing for them at 9:00 o'clock in the morning. Next week we have another group coming in, etc., etc., etc. It goes on and on.

Greetings to friends in Santa Anna and love to you.

Beth and Terry and boys.

ROAD SHOOTERS WARNED

Austin — Anxious hunters should not shoot game from public highways, warns Capt. E. M. Sprott, director of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission. And night hunting is also prohibited. State Capitol NEWS

Austin, Tex — First of the 1960 political headquarters signs will be up before the Christmas lights.

An executive committee, formed to steer the Johnson-for-President drive, is opening a state headquarters in downtown Austin. Goal of the state office is to add to the 60 or more county clubs for Johnson and eventually to expand into a national operation.

With two exceptions, the state's top Democratic brass is on the committee. Gov. Price Daniel and Speaker Sam Rayburn are honorary co-chairmen. Plans were announced by Ed Connally, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, and Bryon Skelton, national committeeman.

Not on the committee are the state's junior senator, Ralph Yarborough, and national committeewoman, Mrs. R. D. Randolph. Both, long identified with the party's liberal wing, have hedged questions on their presidential preferences.

INSURANCE PLAN DEBATED

Impact of a big change in auto insurance rates, due to take effect Jan. 1, is a prime discussion topic among insurance circles as well as the motoring public.

Under the merit plan, drivers with no record of accidents or moving traffic violations for three years get a reduced rate. Others pay on a siding scale up to double the usual rate, depending on the number and seriousness of their accidents and violations.

Opinions on the plan vary widely. Among them:

(1) It will make the drivers more careful.

(2) It will make clear to the driving public the direct relationship between accidents and cost of insurance.

(3) It will cause "bad" drivers to stop their insurance.

(4) It will result in more hassles over who was to blame for an accident. (Only the driver held responsible gets his insurance hiked.)

(5) It will flood the courthouse with contests over traffic tickets.

(6) It will be declared illegal because of the "double jeopardy" principle. Some lawyers reason that the driver is punished for his violation once when he pays a fine and cannot be punished again with higher insurance rates.

Sen. George Parkhuse of Dallas recently predicted that merit rating would result in such an overflow of traffic cases that new courts would have to be created and new buildings to house them.

Others have complained that traffic laws and their enforcement are not uniform and that some drivers — victims of speed traps, for example — will be penalized. Answer to this, says Insurance Board Chairman Penn J. Jackson, is to work out the wrinkles in law enforcement.

Insurance agents, in meetings and conferences over the state, are boning up on the new procedures, planning how to explain them to their customers.

Although the rules apply after Jan. 1, present policyholders will not be affected until their contracts run out sometime next year.

PENNNY SAVED, PENNY EARNED

A House Economy in Government committee says it has turned up some cost-cutting ideas.

Use of more prison-made products by state agencies was recommended to the committee by O. B. Ellis, director of the prison system. For example, Ellis said prison-made bricks would cost the state much less than those it now buys. Also, he said prisoners could do the re-binding of school textbooks at a saving of about $300,000 a year.

Possibility of cutting back the farm-to-market road program was explored by the committee. State Highway Engineer DeWitt Greer made no recommendation, but said the state is now spending $78,000,000 a year on building and upkeep of rural roads.

Under the Cotton-Briscoe Act of 1949, $15,000,000 a year is theoretically appropriated to [illegible] road [illegible] of this [illegible] which must be [illegible] ... has exceeded [illegible] which was to [illegible] ... There are now 31,000 miles.

Board of Control could cut costs by consolidating its Austin warehousing operations, the board's executive director told the committee.

Safety Belt Is Suggested As Heavy Travel Is Expected

Thanksgiving Day weekend will be marked by the greatest highway travel upsurge since last Labor Day weekend, J. O. Musick, General Manager of the Texas Safety Association, predicted today.

"By auto, bus, train and plane, thousands of Texan will be drawn by the magnetic power of this holiday to get 'back home' with relatives and friends who mean the most in their lives," he declared.

"No one figures he will become one of the holiday weekend traffic fatalities," the Safety expert warned. "Somehow, accidents—especially those which bring death—always are events that occur to other people."

Musick pointed out that many cars on the road this weekend will be carrying full passenger loads. Family automobiles will be carrying father, mother and children—bound for a visit with grandparents. College students will be sharing rides back to the home town, many of them for the first time since they enrolled in school back in September.

"The U. S. Bureau of Public Health, the American Medical Association, the National Safety Council and other groups, who believe in reducing highway deaths and injuries in spite of seemingly inevitable accidents, are campaigning to get more people to install safety belts in cars," Musick said.

"A good proportion of fatalities in our traffic accidents today arise out of one-car tragedies in which victims are thrown from vehicles which have gotten out of control," he added. "Seat belts are being used increasingly by organizations operating fleets of cars, because their worth has been proved in preventing or minimizing injury in serious accidents. Although a majority of the public has been obviously reluctant to secure and use these important safety devices because of confusion as to their merits, those motorists who have them are sold on their value—not only as protection from lurching forward in case of sudden stop or accident, but as a means to more comfortable riding on long trips because fatigue is reduced. The imponderable decision of the majority of the driving public remains to be seen."

Musick also urged that travelers making trips over the Thanksgiving weekend, "make certain their cars are in good condition, ready for any unusual weather changes which may develop."

He said he hoped the weather would be fine, but warned that motorists should always be prepared for the worst from now through February.

Mrs. H. L. Conner of Mobile, Ala., is visiting her mother, Mrs. W. E. Ragsdale, a patient in the Santa Anna Hospital. She is also visiting a sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Parker and Cynthia. Mr. Conner will come for her at the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Waller of Breckenridge and L. A. Waller and children of San Angelo spent the weekend with their mother, Mrs. M. E. Waller and in the Bob Garrett home.

Car Insurance Plan Hits Violator Hard

A couple of ordinary $10 speeding tickets can ultimately cost the average driver up to $96 under Texas' new merit rating auto insurance plan.

Throw in a fender busting that costs more than $25 to fix and the figure jumps to $192.

Those are some of the figures auto insurancemen were gleaning from the new plan, slated to go into effect Jan 1.

The State Board of Insurance approved it Oct 1. Slated aim is to give careful drivers a break through reduced premiums.

The accident-pone motorist and chronic traffic violators are due a good old-fashioned jolt in the neck, though.

Briefly, the plan works this way.

A motorist who buys auto insurance after Jan. 1 must delve into memory (or Department of Public afety records) and recall accidents and violations in which he has been involved in the three years ending 90 days before the date he applies for a policy.

Insurance company checks of DPS records will keep memories honest.

The rate the motorist pays will be based on a sliding scale based on the number of "points" he has accumulated in the last three years.

Moving violation convictions will count one point and accidents two points, with certain exemptions.

A driver with a lily-white record gets no points—and a 20 percent reduction on his insurance.

One point (a speeding conviction, for example) means the driver pays his base rate with no discount.

The average driver's auto insurance bill runs about $80 annually. Thus what appears to be a simple "$10 ticket" can cost up to $48 over the 3-year period it affects, considering loss of the $16 annual reduction.

Each additional point up to six (and other members of the family add in, too) means a 20 percent hike, until at six points the rate doubles. That's as high as you can go.

So the dented fender and two tickets put the motorist in the "four point" category, where he pays 160 percent of his base rate.

That means paying $112 annually instead of $80—or $96 more over three years.

How many people are going to be affected, and in what ways?

State-wide, the Texas Insurance Department says 57.1 percent of all drivers will have no points at all and will get the 20 percent cut.

Another 15.9 percent will have one point and won't be affected. The 14.7 with two points will pay 120 percent of the base rate; 5.1, three points and 140 percent; 3.6, four points and 160 percent; 1.4, five points and 180 percent, and 2.2, six points and 200 percent.

Insurancemen also expect a drop in "guilty" pleas in Corporation Court "once the word begins to get around that the cost is going to be more than a ticket."

"The old days of mailing in $10 to save time just may be on the way out," is the way one agent put it.

Violations Counted As Points

Here's how the State Board of Insurance's new auto rate plan "point system" works:

Two points are given for each auto accident involving the insured or any member of his household that results in damage to property, including his own, in excess of $25; in bodily injury, or in death.

Here are the exceptions:

1. When only payment involved is for medical expenses, and not for liability injury.
2. When the insured's auto is legally parked.
3. When the other party involved accepts the responsibility and pays for the wreck.
4. When the insured is struck from the rear, provided he is not convicted of a moving violation in the accident.
5. When the other party is convicted of a moving violation and the insured is not.
6. When the insured's auto is struck by a hit-and-run driver (provided the accident is reported within 24 hours).

Each moving violation is good for one point, with two categories of exceptions.

Three types of violations call for four points. They are: driving while intoxicated or under the influence of drugs; failure to stop, render aid or disclose identity when involved in an accident; and negligent homicide, murder by driving while intoxicated or aggravated assult arising out of the operation of a motor vehicle.

No points are assigned for the following convictions:

1. Inadequate muffler or exhaust pipe;
2. Defective lights or other defective equipment, exclusive of brakes;
3. Failure to display license plates;
4. Failure to have in possession driver's license, provided there is a valid one in existance;
5. Parking violations.

Hunters Urged To Save Bands Found On Quail

Austin — Quail hunters are urged again this year to send in bands when found on birds they kill, according to the assistant executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission. Many birds were released throughout the State this year from the State Game Farm near Tyler. All these birds have been banded.

The department is particularly anxious to get bands from any Coturnix quail killed by hunters. In this way it will be able to trace the movement of the birds.

Despite unseasonal weather, conditions still remain very good for quail hunting with the opening of the general season Dec. 1, the secretary said.

He also announced that breeding stock of native bobwhite quail will be available for game breeders from the Tyler farm after Jan. 1. They will be available at $3 per pair. Applications should be sent to the Game Commission in Austin.

Substitute Hearts, Substitute Teeth, But No Substitute Eyes

In explaining sight, the eye is often compared to a camera. This is an insulting comparison because the camera which will do the things done by the common ordinary, everyday eyeball does not exist. If it did, it would be such a rare piece of mechanical genius that it would be priceless. If you doubt that, consider that such a camera would: 1. be no larger than the end of your thumb. 2. focus for any distance merely by pointing. 3. take a picture of a pinpoint as easily as of a skyscraper. 4. shoot both stills and motions pictures in 5. both black and white and color. 6. regulate light by a diaphragm which in turn is regulated by the amount of light itself. 7. register pictures on film which need never be renewed, and 8. make finished photos instantaneously in Cinerama, without either developing or printing. You can now easily realize why your eyes are such valuable possessions. Also, you have to make one pair last a lifetime.

You can do a lot of eating and get fat using the fine false choppers that our modern dentists are able to fit; even mechanical hearts and kidneys are being made and maybe Arthur Godfrey has developed chicken noodle soup without the chicken, but I think I'm safe in guaranteeing that if they ever come up with a glass eye that will SEE I'll gladly refund your money back on this newspaper and immediately send for a stock of sample eyes in all popular sizes and colors, including the "morning after" bloodshot variety.

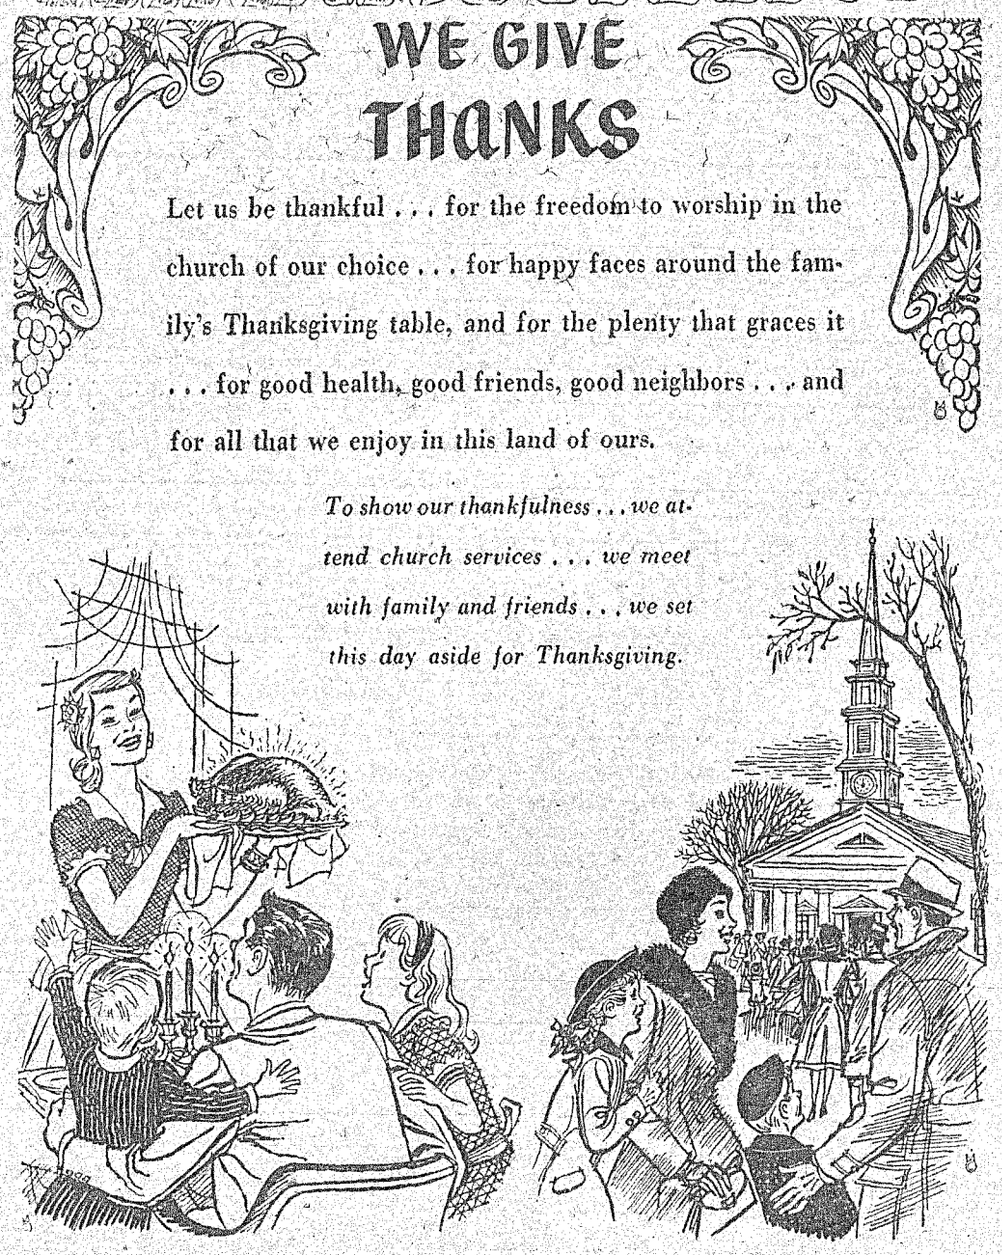

QUESTION: "Does Television viewing hurt the eyes?" H.L.D.

ANSWER: We keep hearing this question a lot especially from parents referring to kids with "TVitis." The answer is NO, not if the eyes are in physically healthy and normal condition. By this I mean that televiewing will not injure the eye physically. If the eyes "hurt" while televiewing, then check yourself and your TV against the following rules: 1. Make sure your set is properly installed, with particular attention to the antenna for clearest possible reception. 2. Strike a comfortable balance between steadiness of image and brillance. Either unsteady image or too much light will result in visual discomfort. 3. Avoid both intense darkness AND bright light in the room in which television is viewed. If the room is totally dark there will be too much contrast between the bright screen and its surroundings. If there are bright lights they will distract from the screen and fade the picture so that it becomes a strain to look at. Mild indirect light is preferable. 4. Sunglasses should NOT be worn for televiewing. 5. Avoid excessively long periods of close concentration on the television screen. 6. Do not sit or stand too close to the screen. Usually a distance of six to twelve feet from the average home set will be least tiring. 7. In case of discomfort when all above points are correct, have your vision checked by your optometrist and follow his advice. Many persons who wear bifocal glasses may find them unsatisfactory for TV. If so they may be helped by single vision lenses prescribed only for the habitual TV distance.

Read Ephesians 5:9-20.

Giving thanks always for all things unto God and the Father in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ. (Ephasians 5:20.)

How good to count our blessings! We need to thank God for our beautiful country and for our homes and loved ones. We need to say thanks for our churches with their open doors, where we can go and worship.

An old, deaf lady told me once that she could not hear a word of the sermons, but she was so grateful to God that she could walk and see. So she found her place in church every Sunday.

We need to say thanks for friends, for they know much about us, but love us just the same.

For food, the beauty of the earth, the skies, the lakes, and trees, and flowers, we need to give God thanks.

We need to say thanks for chastening, for it can strengthen our faith.

Sometimes sickness is a blessing in disguise. We can thank God for his presence with us in times of illness.

Most of all, we need to thank God for Jesus Christ, for His life here on earth. His sacrificial death and glorious resurrection, and for His daily guidance of our lives.

PRAYER:

Heavenly Father, forgive us for our ungratefulness for all Thy goodness to us. Instill in us the spirit of thanksgiving so that we may be mindful always of Thy daily, loving care, as was Jesus. In his name we pray. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Thinking of God and His blessings leads us to thank Him for them.

1960 MARKETING YEAR WOOL INCENTIVE AND MOHAIR SUPPORT PRICES

College Station — A shorn wool incentive price of 62 cents per pound and a mohair support price of 70 cents per pound have been announced for the 1960 marketing year which begins April 1, 1960. These prices are the same as for the first five years of the program running from 1955 through 1959 marketing years, according to A. B. Wooten, extension economist.

Yearly production of shorn wool is moving toward the 300-million pound goal set by the law. Estimated 1959 production is 252 million pounds, the highest since 1946, and compares to 234 million pounds in 1955, the first year of the wool payment program. Stock sheep numbers increased 3 percent during 1957 and 4 percent during 1958, and on Jan. 1, 1959 were the largest since 1948.

TAX-MAN SAM SEZ:

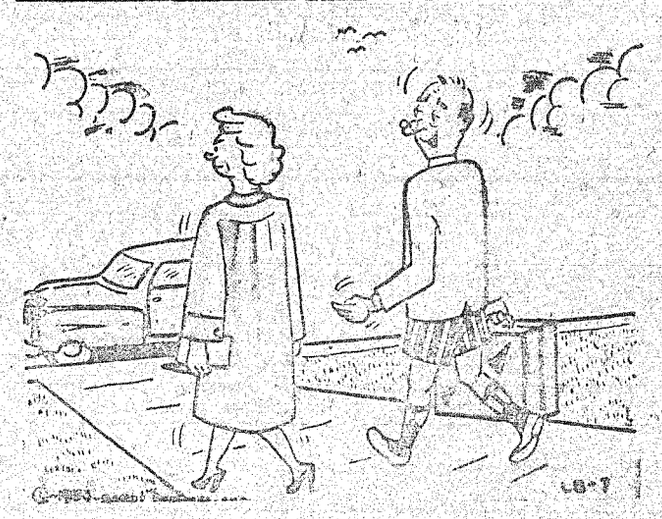

The Extension Service people down at Texas A & M are busy working out tax schools for the county agents. For the past several years they have worked with Internal Revenue Service on a number of schools for county agents. They set up a one-day school for the county agents and invite other farm leaders in the area. The school is taught jointly by an Intrenal Revenue Service man and an Extension Service man. The county agents who go to the school help farmers in their area with their tax problems.

The county agents deserve a pat on the head for helping farmers with one of their toughest problems — taxes. The Texas Extension Service especially deserves Texas farmers' thanks for saving farmers money and trouble through better education. If you follow their advice and keep good farm records you may save money on your taxes as well as run your farm better.

THREE REASONS WHY EGGS ARE A POPULAR FOOD

College Station — In many consumer studies, it was found that people frequently purchased and used eggs "because we like them." This points up the wide acceptance of an egg's flavor, its versatility and ease of cooking, says E. Z. Beanblossom, extension poultry marketing specialist.

The egg, a breakfast "mainstay", is also widely used as a hearty luncheon dish, for sandwich fillings, and in combination with other foods for satisfying dinners.

One of nature's most nearly perfect foods, eggs combine their heavy concentration of high-quality protein with relatively few calories, and complete digestibility, and are accepted as an important dietary requirement from infancy through the "golden age" group. Two eggs supply as much as 30 percent of the high-quality protein needed daily by adult men or women. In fact, notes Beanblossom, egg protein comes so near to perfection that scientists use it as a standard to measure the value of protein in other foods. Eggs also contain substantial amounts of essential minerals and vitamins, including the anti-anemia vitamin, B12.
