South Vietnam Expected To End Boycott on Talks

France Imposes New Limitations

PARIS (UPI) — Speculators began a new rush to buy gold on the Paris market today and the Bank of France was reported throwing in gold from France's dwindling stocks to hold down the price and combat the newest threat to the franc.

President Charles De Gaulle took the first step to impose currency control regulations to prevent speculators from taking francs abroad to dump them for safer currencies. He sent carloads of jackbooted Republican Security Company riot police to the borders to enforce controls.

De Gaulle's refusal to devalue the franc despite pressure of the world's richest trading nations was accompanied by a plea to speculators to end their "odious" attack on the franc. That plea went ignored today as speculators bought gold.

The price of a gold ingot (2.2 pounds) rose 300 francs ($60) today and would have risen higher had not the Bank of France acted swiftly. A kilogram of gold was quoted at 6,448 francs ($1,289) Tuesday when the panic selling of francs was at its peak. It climbed today and then leveled off 300 francs higher.

The U.S. dollar was being unofficially traded at 5.30 francs instead of the normal 5 francs. This signified an unofficial 6 per cent devaluation since sellers were getting 30 centimes (six cents) more. This dropped the franc from 20 cents to 18.8 cents.

Throughout the money markets of West Europe speculators were shying off the franc and there was little if any change.

In the last gold rush hitting the franc France lost up to $2 billion of its gold reserves which were accumulated largely at expense of the U.S. dollar. It has about $4 billion left and some of this was put on the market today.

In addition, France has a $2 billion credit put up by the group of ten at their Bonn crisis meeting last week and about $950 million available from the International Monetary Fund. These credits were extended in general belief DeGaulle would devalue.

He did not and today he enacted stringent limitations on the money Frenchmen and foreign residents will be able to take with them abroad.

Limits On Francs

A government decree limited travelers leaving France to as little as $10 in francs. From Lille, a northern city where De Gaulle was born, large police and heavily armed national gendaramerie forces moved to the much-crossed Belgian bor-

Johnson Praises De Gaulle's Plan To Save Franc

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler says the measures taken to solve Europe's monetary crisis will not undermine the American dollar or hurt the nation's economy.

The secretary also joined President Johnson in praising French President Charles de Gaulle's decision not to devalue the franc.

Fowler, asked on a Sunday television interview if the value of the dollar would be affected, answered with a flat: "No."

Then he elaborated:

"Not that we would be immune to the developments in any of our major financial and trading partners. It is that the

THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT has begun to reveal itself in Pampa as Christmas decorations were placed on city streets. The decorations should be up by Thanksgiving Day, according to Don Williamson, chairman of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce committee. This scene is looking north from the 100 block of N. Cuyler. The decorations will be lighted Friday night.

Renewal of Bombing Warned by Clifford

By LOREN JENKINS

PARIS (UPI) — South Vietnam's leaders held a special meeting in Saigon today. Unofficial reports said they shortly would announce agreement to attend delayed Paris talks on settling the Vietnam War.

In Saigon, UPI correspondent Daniel Southerland said President Nguyen Van Thieu called his National Security Council into session in his palace office.

Government spokesmen made no immediate comment. But the Saigon Post said a boycott-ending announcement was coming soon, as diplomats in Paris and Saigon had been predicting.

In Paris, North Vietnamese officials told newsmen they have not received a reply from the United States to their demands Saturday for opening talks immediately despite the Saigon boycott.

North Vietnam today also accused the United States of violating negotiations ground rules by air and sea attacks against its territory.

The North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry, in a statement broadcast by Hanoi radio, said, "The U.S. government should bear full responsibility for all consequences."

In Paris, Communist sources told United Press International that North Vietnam also rejects as "American Belligerence" a warning from Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford. Clifford said in a U.S. television interview Sunday that if Hanoi fails to show good faith in talks here she may again face the American bombing that President Johnson halted Nov. 1 to speed negotiations here.

The statements reflected what diplomatic observers called a bitter chill spreading over the negotiation scene here. Talks involving the United States, North and South Vietnam and the Viet Cong were to have opened Nov. 6 but have not begun.

Saigon has refused to join unless the Communists show up with the Viet Cong as part of the North Vietnamese delegation, not as an independent delegation as the Reds insist. This has led to the delay.

The North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry statement broadcast by Hanoi radio accused the United States of "sending more manned and unmanned spy planes and many warships to encroach upon" North Vietnam. It cited "losses in lives and property" to civilian population.

Most of the Hanoi accusations dealt with U.S. action in the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) be-

US Patrol Boats Escape VC Trap In Mekong Delta

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. troops and helicopter gunships killed at least 155 guerrillas within 70 miles of Saigon, military spokesmen said today. Five American Navy patrol boats ran a mile-long guantlet of fire to escape a Viet Cong trap in the Mekong Delta.

The fighting northwest and southwest of the capital late Sunday and today saw helicopters spraying the ranks of guerrillas caught in what South Vietnamese spokesmen said is a Communist plan to step up the ground war in the wake of the U.S. halt in bombing North Vietnam.

Communist gunners late Sunday and early today fired some of their biggest rockets and mortars in bombarding five cities and three allied bases up and down South Vietnam. Heaviest hit was th ecity of Hoi An, 350 miles north of here, where six civilians were killed and 22 others wounded.

Possibly the toughest U.S. fight came Sunday in the Bo De River, in the delta at the southern tip of South Vietnam, where the five boats fell into a guerrilla trap.

"It's miraculous any of us got out of there alive," said one boat skipper, Lt. (J.G.) Larry Stoneberg of Chicago.

The 50-foot-long boats had pushed up the river in one of the first allied ventures into a longtime Viet Cong base area. Stoneberg said the Communists let them come a mile. Then a trap was sprung.

About 300 guerrillas on the banks opened fire with machine-guns and other heavy weapons. All five ships were hit. Navy spokesmen said one of Stone-

'AMERICA TOO CORRUPT'

Two Groups Hijack Jetliners

MIAMI (UPI)—Two groups of plane pirates, including women and children, who said they could not live in the United States because of "juvenile delinquency and corruption," hijacked two American jetliners at gunpoint over the weekend and forced them to fly to Cuba.

The planes, crews and passengers were allowed to return to the United States Sunday. The hijacked planes were an Eastern Airlines jet with 93 persons aboard on a Saturday night flight from Chicago to Miami and a Pan American jetliner carrying 103 persons Sunday from New York to Puerto Rico.

A woman and a baby accompanied three men who hijacked the Pan Am "Mayflower" Sunday. Stewardess June Berry said one of the hijackers told her they commandeered the plane to Cuba because "Our finances were so low and this was the easiest way to get there."

Five men, a woman and three children hijacked the Eastern jet Saturday night, then told officials in Havana they "could not adapt to the United States way of life." They said "juvenile delinquency and corruption existing in the United States made life impossible," and that they could not find jobs and housing and health care were too expensive.

Flown Back Sunday

The passengers on the two flights, minus the hijackers, were flown back to the United States Sunday on chartered flights because Cuban officials claim it is unsafe for loaded American jets to take off from Havana Airport.

The Pan Am flight largely was composed of Pueto Ricans and Americans on vacation. There were two honeymooning couples—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hunoval of South Orange, N.J., and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Roimisagr of New York City.

Hunoval said one of the hijackers said his name was "Jose" and was "very sympathetic." Roimisagr said he got "menacing looks" from the gunmen.

Two U.S. Army soldiers from Puerto Rico, Spec. 4. Sandiego E. Mercado and Spec. 4 Julio Flores, were returning from Vietnam. Mercado said they were questioned about Vietnam, and "I was afraid they might keep me prisoner in Cuba because I am fighting against them in Vietnam."

Czech Boy, Girl Scouts Gather For Jamboree Despite Russians

PRAGUE (UPI)—The Russians called them a symbol of anticommunism. But 900 Boy and Girl Scout delegates held a National jamboree in Prague today.

They came to organize the activities of the thousands of youths who rushed to join the movement after it was re-established in the reform days before the Aug. 21 Soviet bloc invasion of Czechoslovakia.

They came from Bohemia, Moravia and Silesia. Their movement had been banned 20 years under Stalinist Communist rule which labelled them bourgeois and antisocialist.

The movement sprang to life again in March. It was cited in the Soviets' white book which listed the reasons for the invasion. The book listed the Boy Scouts as a symptom of the extent to which anticommunism had flourished in the spring.

The delegates who came over the weekend nonetheless were addressed Saturday by the chief of the nation's youth organizations, a Communist party official named Zbynek Vokrouhlicky.

One of the jamboree organizers, Dr. Rudolf Plajner, was quoted by Czechoslovak News Agency (CTK) as saying the scouting movement has "Developed successful cooperation with the young pioneer organization," which is the main Communist youth group.

In another development, Deputy Premier Josef Hamouz left for Moscow Sunday to attend a meeting of COMECON, the Communist bloc's economic organization.

The meeting was expected to tie Czechosovakia more firmly into the Soviet bloc economic sphere, as the Soviets have sought to do since the August invasion.

Hamouz is Czechoslovakia's chief economic negotiator and he has made frequent trips to Moscow since the invasion to discuss Kremlin demands for greater Czechoslovak trade in the Communist bloc.

Egypt Closes Schools To Curb 'Subversion'

Egypt closed its universities today in a crackdown on student disorders the government said were "profiting only our enemies." In Jerusalem police held 30 Arabs as suspects in the bombing of a market place.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser's government said the nation's five universities and technical schools were locked to curb "elements who want to sow sedition and chaos which profit only our enemies."

Police Sunday battled students of Alexandria University trying to demonstrate in sympathy with those in Mansoura where four persons were killed and scores injured Thursday.

No injuries or arrests were reported in Alexandria.

Nasser's government also announced an "orientation program in schools to expose the objectives and ways of the enemy." It said school newspapers would help in the educational campaign against subversion.

In Jerusalem, police said 30 Arabs were in custody in the explosion of 500 pounds of TNT that killed 12 persons and injured 50 on Friday. Forty-one other Arabs who had been questioned were released.

In Jerusalem, the Israeli government banished eight west bank Arabs to Jordan today, acusing them of suspects in "incitement to terror" in incidents of unrest in schools in occupied Arab areas. Political observers said it was a countermeasure in retaliation to the market place blast.

In Cairo Anwar El Sadat, one of Nasser's chief aides, appealed to students to quit demonstrating in order to preserve "The unity of the home front."

"The firmness of the home front is the duty of everyone which should be strictly observed and is a necessary prerequisite to fighting a victorious battle against Israel," he said.

Students have demanded a number of educational reforms in demonstrations but the government contends much of the disorders have been inspired by subversives.

In Cairo Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad of Egypt said the U.S. decision to sell 50 F4 Phantom jets to Israel would encourage Israeli "aggression."

Confusion Reigns On Hearing For Probated Woman

A hearing, which apparently was never really set, was postponed, but really wasn't, Friday for Wanda Carver Huff, on 10 years probation for bank robbery.

Roberts County sheriff Cy Carr said last week that a hearing to determine whether the 10 year probation of Mrs. Huff, accused of robbing the First State Bank of Miami, would be revoked would probably be held Friday, Nov. 22.

Carr said this morning that the hearing was postponed indefinitely Friday.

But District Judge Grainger McIlhaney said today that

Board to Study Facility Plans

Pampa School Board will meet at 7:15 p.m. Tuesday to study plans and specifications for cafeterias at Horace Mann and Woodrow Wilson Elementary Schools and review recommendations for a new lighted 440 track at Pampa High School.

Before the called, open session, trustees will be guests of the district's men teachers at their annual dinner at Pampa Junior High School cafeteria, Board President John Gikas said.

The three action items will be appointment of a textbook committee of 15 members, adoption of one minimum day Dec. 11, and approval of the school audit report, Dr. James F. Malone, school superintendent, said.

"We will also discuss without action possible Phase One of the building program, which includes cafeterias at Mann and Wilson Elementary schools, athletic stadium improvement with a lighted track, music building, science facilities' remodeling, recommendations for a high school library and two permanent classrooms at Lamar Elementary school for reading and music," he said.

In the minimum day session, school will dismiss at 2 p.m. Buses will run early for all teachers to have time for in-service training in their particular fields. They will also review the district's curriculum by subject matter, Dr. Malone said.

Rescuers Use Listening Device To Search for Trapped Miners

MANNING, W. Va. (UPI)—Rescuers, who nudged 4,500 feet inside Mannington's No. 9 coal shaft in an unsuccessful search Sunday for 78 miners trapped five days by fire and explosion, turned today to a sensitive listening device to help locate any sound of life.

But all they heard were falling pebbles and dripping water deep underground. Hopes faded for the entombed miners.

Work crews drilled the first two of eight holes and dropped the listening device 700 seet down the mine in the area where the men were believed working when the first of eight gas blasts rocked the mine in northern West Virginia last Wednesday.

Six-man rescue teams entered the mine Sunday for the first time since the first explosion. They found no trace of the men. One team said it found evidence of explosion but no fire.

Brother Encouraged

Louis Tate, whose brother, Frank, is trapped in the mine, said he was encouraged by the new evidence.

"This mine will not be sealed with the men still in there," he said. "I feel we're going to get them out whether they're dead or alive. I hope they keep moving farther into the mine and bringing back good reports."

Officials said early today there would be no further underground exploration by the rescue teams pending information gained from the listening device.

"This decision is a joint decision with the public represented by federal and state mine officials and the United Mine Workers union and Consolidation Coal Co.," a statement said. "It is felt it would be endangering lives of the mine rescue teams unduly to have them proceed further in to the mine than they have already MANNINGTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Another explosion shook the Llewellyn portal of the burning Mannington No. 9 coal mine today, forcing a halt in attempts to send rescue teams to search for 78 men trapped five days deep underground.

A mining company spokesman said the blast was minor and like a "puff" and didn't appear to have any damaging effect, but was enough to halt rescue efforts.

Optimists Slate Youth Banquet

Outstanding youths of Pampa public schools will be honored tonight at the annual Youth Appreciation Banquet of the Pampa Optimist Club to be held at 7 p.m. in the Pampa High School cafeteria.

The banquet is part of the observation of Youth Appreciation Week, Nov. 25-Dec. 1.

Ten students from Pampa High School, Robert E. Lee Junior High and Pampa Junior High will be special guests at the banquet.

Junior high students being honored tomorrow night are Ellen Curtis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack T. Curtis, and Jim Daniel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe M. Daniel Jr., Robert E. Lee; and Rebecca Taylor, daughter of Mrs. Mildred Taylor, and Don Orth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Orth Jr., both of Pampa Junior High.

All are ninth grade students at their respective schools.

Sophomores to be honored are Glenda Webb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. Webb, and John McCarroll, son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. McCarroll.

Juniors are Brenda Duncan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Duncan, and John Duggan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Duggan.

Senior students are Cindy Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Scott, and Johnny Epperson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Epperson.

'A Thank You' to Pampans For Aid to War Projects

Lt. Shaun Hills, son of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Hills, north of Pampa, started a landslide of volunteer foreign aid by Pampans with his "Bundles for Babies" project. In a recent letter to his parents, Lt. Hills included a "Thank You" letter to Pampa.

Lt. Hills' "Bundles for Babies" project was an attempt to get food and clothing for South Vietnam children — orphans and refugees of the Vietnam war. Pampans responded with 821 pounds of food and clothing.

Lt. Hills' letter states:

"To the People of Pampa — Today I had an opportunity to visit the 300 children at Huong Phu Orphanage. These children are the youngsters of whom I wrote before you started your campaign.

"It seems almost impossible to believe that they are the same children that I saw just a few short weeks ago. Today they were all anxious to show me their new clothes. Even though I could not understand their language it was obvious from the expression on their faces that they were saying thanks only the way a child can, with huge, face-splitting smiles.

"The response to my request was so overwhelming that we have more than enough for the children at the orphanage and have begun to distribute them to the school children of Vinh Loc Island, southwest of Hue. These children also needed help and assistance.

"Thanks to the kind heartedness and generosity beyond all expectations, they too are being shown that the people of America do care," he wrote.

"I also received a letter from Shaun's commander, Col. John A. Hoefling, of the 2nd Brigade, 101st Airbourne Div.," Mrs. Hills said. "He wanted to thank Pampa for its contribution of clothing for the Vietnamese orphanage."

In his letter, Col. Hoefling stressed the American soldier can express his sympathy and compassion for war-orphaned children only with the "assistance of friends back home who are willing to take the time and bear the expense of providing him materials with which to work."

He also wrote, "You can be assured the children of the orphanage received the clothing with great enthusiasm. In addition, you have contributed to the success of our soldiers as they work to win the friendship and respect of the Vietnamese people. In behalf of the orphanage staff the children, the men of the second brigade, and myself thank you for your most welcome contribution."

Public Relations Plan Outlined For Public Officials

Service, salesmanship and job dedication are three important points for public officials to keep in mind as they serve their constituents.

This was the message given to members of the Panhandle Chapter of the Texas Association of Assessing Officers by Pampa Corporation Judge John Warner Friday afternoon in Amarillo.

Warner spoke on "Tax Office Public Relations from the Taxpaper's Viewpoint."

A report on the tax study and recommendations of Gov. John Connally's Committee on Public School Education was given by David Eaton, Dumas school assessor.

Some 62 city aid school tax officials from over the Panhandle attended the group's final meeting of the year presided over by William Wagoner, Pampa deputy tax assessor-collector.

New officers elected for 1969 were Clyde Hamilton, Plainview, president; Wesley Barnes, Plainview, vice president; David Eaton, Dumas, secretary-treasurer, and William Wagoner, immediate past president.

Aubrey Jones, Pampa tax assessor-collector, was elected to a three-year term on the board of directors. Holdover directors are Porter Roberts, Friona, and Mrs. Maxine Crow, Vega.

DWI Bond Set

Justice of Peace E. L. Anderson set bond of $500 on Robert D. Lowrie, 38, 1145 Starkweather, on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Lowrie was arrested about 5:45 p.m. Saturday by Pampa officer Stanley Belt in the 100 block of S. Starkweather.

D. D. Payne Celebrating His 97th Birthday Today

D. D. Payne, 1616 Christine, a Panhandle rancher since 1900, celebrates his 97th birthday today and planned this morning to spend the day at home to visit with friends.

Mr. Payne and his wife were honored Sunday with a dinner in the Pampa Club at the Coronado Inn. About 25 friends and kinsmen from Groom, Wellington, Miami, Pampa, and Amarillo attended.

"Mr. Payne was born north of Gainesville in Cook County in 1871. He has been a cowboy since he was old enough to ride a horse," Mrs. Payne said.

He bought his ranch 23½ miles northwest of Miami on the Canadian River in 1900, and operated the ranch until he retired in 1958, when he and his wife moved to Pampa. Mr. and Mrs. Payne were married May 4, 1940 in Muskogee, Okla.

"We have between 300 and 400 boys. . . all the boys who live at Boys' Ranch. Mr. Payne has a special feeling for all them. We still go out and visit. His nurse, Mrs. Ann Alexander, drives for us, and we often visit his only sister, Mrs. Ankret Davenport in Wellington," Mrs. Payne said.

"He leased his ranch to Jim Campbell when he was 87. That same day, he rode all day, and helped count every cow and horse on the ranch, but he was a bit stiff when the day was over," Mrs. Payne added.

Man Arrested After Chase By Officers

Bond of $1,000 was set in Justice of Peace Nat Lunsford's court for Ronald Dean Sweet, 24, of 106 S. Sumner, on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

According to a Pampa police report Sweet was arrested by officer T. J. Hill after a high speed chase in Pampa and then on a country road.

Hill's report states he observed a car running at a high rate of speed and when he attempted to stop the vehicle the chase started.

With red lights flashing and sirens howling, Hill chased the car at speeds up to 115 miles per hour.

Other officers set up road blocks and Hill finally stopped the car six miles out of town on highway 282.

Guns Stolen From Pickup

James B. Watts, 216 N. Starkweather, reported to Pampa police Sunday the theft of guns and ammunition from his pickup.

Watts told police that a .16 guage shotgun, a .410 guage shotgun, four boxes of shells, a shell vest and a pocket knife had been stolen from the vehicle.

actually there was never a hearing set for Mrs. Huff.

"We never really set a hearing for her, so you couldn't say it's been postponed," McIlhaney said.

The judge said that Carr went to Kansas City to get the Huff woman and bring her back to Gray County and that he (McIlhaney) told Carr that if there was evidence Mrs. Huff had violated her probation he would set a hearing for Friday.

"Apparently Sheriff Carr feels at this time that the evidence doesn't warrant a hearing or he is still gathering information, McIlhaney said.

The Judge said that when Carr felt he had enough information, a hearing would be set for the woman.

Mrs. Huff was convicted along with Rusty Huff of the armed holdup of the First State Bank of Miami last year.

Huff is under a 20 year prison sentence.

Mrs. Huff, after being brought back from Kansas City, was released on her own recognizance but rules of her probation were tightened.

Witnesses End Area Convention

Jehovah's Witnesses, 858 strong, listened to the highlight of the three-day circuit convention, "God's Way is Love." Developing this theme the speaker, L. M. Dugan, Contrasted the world of hatred existing today, with God's outstanding loyality love.

"Today mankind wonders why there is so much difficulty, why sorrow among men, why so so much pain, sickness and so much selfishness and discontent in this world," Duggan said.

"That man is unconscious in death, as in a sleep, and God's way is love, is expressed in the hope of the resurrection of all in God's memory," he said.

"This was demonstrated by Jesus, God's Son, as shown in the Gospel of John 11:11-15, wherein Jesus spoke of Lazarus' death as a 'sleep.' All life, present and future, depends on God, Jehovah as the Psalmist wrote in Psalm 36:9, 'for with you is the source of life.'" Dugan continued.

He urged his audience to read and study the Bible, in order to be the recipients of God's continued love.

Dugan was heard in a final talk after a discussion of the subject "The 'Good News' of a World Without False Religion" by Delbert Harris of Woodward, and "Moral Responsibilities of Parents and Youth," by Circuit Supervisor G.D. Grizzle.

The three-day seminar drew delegates from 15 congregations in the Texas Panhandle and Oklahoma. All sessions were at the Robert E. Lee Junior High School.

In the major money markets of Europe, currency exchange markets reopened after being shut for days because of the French economic crisis. But traders did relatively little business in francs. Market observers said this reflected uncertainty whether De Gaulle's save-the-franc drive would work.

Money Taken In Burglary Of Residence

C.R. Derickson, 328 Miami, reported to police Sunday that he and his wife went to the grocery store and upon their return found their house burglarized.

Derickson said when he and his wife returned, a neighbor boy told them he had knocked on their front door and then had heard their back door slam.

The boy said he went to the back and saw another boy, about 14 years old scaling the back fence.

Derickson said about $16 in quarters and half dollars was missing from the house.

Sooner Arrested On Gun Charge

Pampa police arrested a 21-year-old Pawhauska, Okla., man early Sunday and booked him for investigation of carrying a prohibitive weapon.

According to a Pampa police report officers were called to a local restaurant after the owner informed them a drunk was causing trouble.

Officers Stan Brown and Norman Neece answered the call and arrested Walter W. Bills, Jr. They found, according to the report, a pistol protruding from Bills' pocket.

Foreign News Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
Window on the World:

Red Spite in India:

A pro-Mao Tse-tung faction is having little luck making headway in India. The pro-Mao group began breaking away from the parent pro-Chinese Communist party in 1967 and since have been trying to form a third all-India Communist party. But they have had to call off demonstrations and meetings in various cities to avoid embarrassment over their inability to draw crowds.

For Asia Defense:

South Korean officials are carefully exploring the possibility of organizing a new military alliance in Asia which would include South Korea, the Philippines, Nationalist China and Thailand. Oficials believe South Korea should play a leading role in President-elect Richard M. Nixon's call for management of "Asian affairs by Asian hands." They also feel the Asia and Pacific Council (ASPAC) should be strengthened with the entry of such nations as India and Indonesia as a prelude to the establishment of a major collective defense organization.

Philippine Quandary:

The Philippines also are wondering about the future of Asia after peace in Vietnam and the possible withdrawal of American power. President Ferdinand E. Marcos warned in a speech the other night that the Philippines might have to learn to co-exist with Communis China.

Peru Looks East:

Peru's revolutionary government is continuing negotiations begun by deposed President Fernando Belaunde Terry to open more commercial relations with Communist countries. Provately, the Peruvian officials don't think they will amount to much. They are unimpressed with the quality of the Eastern bloc merchandise and believe Peru will continue to direct most of their trade toward the Europe.

By GEORGE J. MARDER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A power struggle is developing between Republican liberal and conservative senators, with Barry Goldwater playing a significant role.

Goldwater is returning in January to the Senate where he served until he ran for the presidency in 1964. He was elected Nov. 5 to the Senate vacancy created by the retirement of Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz.

Goldwater is as firm as ever in his conservative views. He interprets the election returns as a strong vote for conservatism and will use his influence to try to put conservatives in the leadership posts in the Senate. He feels that Senate Republican conservatives have the votes to monopolize the policy-making spots and should use them.

Opposing Scott

That would put Goldwater in opposition to the candidacy of Republican liberal Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania for the GOP "whip" position in the Senate. Scott was a strong backer of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York for the presidential nomination this year.

The "whip" position has become open because of the primary defeat of Sen. Thomas Kuchel of California. Kuchel was a top-ranking liberal in the GOP leadership setup. The "whip" is an important post; in effect, assistant to the party leader and, as such, a member of the Policy Committee.

Competing with Scott for the post is Sen. Roman Hruska of post is Sen. Roman Hruska of Nebraska, a known conservative.

Senate Republican liberals were outnumbered about 2 to 1 in the past Congress and probably will be somewhat worse off in the next one.

Five Conservatives

Of nine new Republican senators, five are considered in the conservative camp: Goldwater, Ed Gurney of Florida and Robert Dole of Kansas, who are moving to the Senate from the House as a result of election victories; Henry Bellmon of Oklahoma, and Marlow Cook of Kentucky.

Two are considered moderates or progressives of the Scott type—Charles Mathias of Maryland and Richard Schweiker of Pennsylvania. Two others are question marks—Robert Packwood of Oregon and William Saxbe of Ohio.

In addition, the Senate Republican liberals lost two powerful voices—Thruston Morton of Kentucky as well as Kuchel.

When Goldwater returns to the Senate, Republican leaders plan to put him at the head of the freshman class, although on a strict interpretation of seniority he would come after former members of the House whose service in the Congress would be uninterrupted.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Wright Advisory Reports suggests that investors get out of "all fully or over priced stocks" but predicts top grade issues in certain industries and "defensive" issues will remain strong through 1969. The analyst says that by January the Dow Jones industrial average may pass the 1,000 level before dipping in a late January selloff.

Goodbody and Co. says that while the demand pressures on the economy seem to be diminishing, consumer buying expectations and indicators of future business activity "remain strong." The company says the market has "behaved well under pressure" and offers the opinion that the "underlying upward trend" in stock prices can be resumed shortly.

Blair & Co. says it expects no "extended reaction" in the stock market in the months just ahead. It advises investors to assume a "constructive but somewhat cautious . . . posture," adding that "the market background still lends itself to at least further selective improvement in the valuation of individual growth equities."

American Adam

WASHINGTON—Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., explaining why he favors prompt installation of anti-missile defenses:

"If we have to start over again with another Adam and Eve, then I want them to be Americans and not Russians."

News From Hollywood

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The scene: A middle-class home just after dinner when the children have been put to bed.

Husband: "Let's take in a movie tonight, honey."

Wife: "I'd love it."

Husband: "Let's see, the baby sitter will cost us about $4. Parking is $1. Admission is $2 each. Total, $9."

Husband searches through pockets and decides the tariff is a bit stiff. "Turn on the television set, baby, we're staying home."

Moral: Are movies too expensive today?

Not if you're Aristotle Onassis or J. Paul Getty. But the average wage earner in the United States takes a pretty stiff shot when he plunks his money down at the box office.

If you've a mind to see "Funny Girl," you can pay as much as $5.50 on Friday and Saturday night for a loge seat. Or you can get in for an up-front seat during the week for $2.

In neighborhood theaters you can see such fare as "The Odd Couple" for about $2. Or maybe "The Thomas Crown Affair" for $1.75.

On the other hand, in second, third and fourth-run houses—sometimes known as flea bags—you can see a fairly recent ie for 50 cents.

flation, the increasing cost novies due to star demands higher union scales, and r factors serve to make s more expensive than ever. n a sense, the owners are eating their own purposes by ping admission prices high.

Woman's Page

Wanda Mae Huff, Women's Editor

THE INFLUENCE of Shakespeare's Juliet is making itself apparent in fashions this season as velvets and brocades reign as favorite fabrics for Empire-waisted dresses. Watch for it in cosmetics, too, as the golden glow of a Renaissance painting is translated into an important evening look with a new liquid gold make-up that has captured enough golden moonbeams to subtly light a balcony scene.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a Catholic woman who would like some kind of explanation to the following: How can Cardinal Cushing "excuse" Jackie Kennedy for marrying a divorced man whose wife is still living? I was a good Catholic, and also a widow, and I did the same thing, and for this I was excommunicated from the Catholic church.

Why is Jackie Kennedy any better than me or a thousand other good Catholic women who married a divorced man whose wife is still alive?

With my own ears I heard Cardinal Cushing say, "Jackie Kennedy may marry anyone she wishes." Then he went on to say that she is no "public sinner."

Then I'm no "public sinner," either. After I heard Cardinal Cushing, I went right to my parish priest, demanded that I be let back into the church, and I was told it wasn't possible.

I suppose if you have the kind of money the Kennedys have, you can buy anything, but I never knew a person could buy himself back into the church. Please answer this in your column as I'm sure there are a lot of Catholics in the same boat who would like to see your answer. Sign me. . .

"ONE OF MANY"

DEAR ONE: Richard Cardinal Cushing, Archbishop of Boston, said (and I quote): "I said, 'Why can't Mrs. Kennedy marry whomever she wants to marry? The idea that she will be excommunicated or that she is a public sinner is a lot of nonsense.'

"I presume that whoever reported my remarks would know that I meant Mrs. Kennedy could marry anyone she wanted, but not within the church.

"I told her that if the marriage was invalid, she could not receive the sacraments of the Catholic church, but that she could participate in the liturgy, namely the mass, for example. And that she could continue all the private devotion she had as a Catholic.

"What is wrong with that advice? Thousands in this archdiocese of over two million Catholics have received similar advice. Among them, my own sister who married a Jew. They lived together in perfect peace and harmony for over 30 years.

"In the beginning, they were married outside the Catholic church. Eventually they were able to get their marriage validated within the Catholic church. Her husband went to the synagog and my sister went to the Catholic church."

DEAR MISS VAN BUREN: By her recent marriage to Aristotle Onassis, Jacqueline Kennedy, according to the law of the Catholic church has forfeited her right to receive the sacraments of penance (confession) and the eucharist (holy communion.)

Cardinal Cushing's recent comments asking the public not to judge Jackie too harshly, should not be construed as "permission" for Jackie to marry a divorced man whose wife is alive, and still receive the sacraments. The Cardinal has no power to grant Jackie immunity from the rules of the church on marriage.

When Cardinal Cushing said that Jackie could marry whomever she wishes, he meant that no one, not even a family friend such as himself, could prevent her marrying Onassis if she chose to do so. When he saw that her mind was made up, he did not attempt to disuade her.

It is eminently unfair for anyone to charge that Cardinal Cushing has a double standard on this matter (one for poor people and one for rich people).

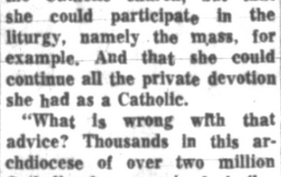

Jackie has entered her marriage to Onassis clearly aware that it is not approved by the church.

Signed, James P. SHANNON, AUXILIARY ARCHBISHOP OF ST. PAUL AND MINNEAPOLIS

DEAR MISS VAN BUREN: The term "excommunication" is one used by lay people rather than the clergy. To my knowledge, during my lifetime I know of no one who has actually been "excommunicated."

Mrs. Onsassis' situation is not one of excommunication, but her marriage is considered irregular or invalid and she is removed—or separated from the communion of the faithful. However, she may still attend mass.

Please ask your readers to pray for Jacqueline.

Scouting Scoops

By Mrs. G. J. Boyd

The Junior Workshop was held Friday at the Girl Scout Little House for leaders and troop committee members. All phases of the Junior Girl Scout program were discussed. Those present were divided into three patrols to enact the Junior program. An exchange of craft ideas, a Court of Honor, and a Scout's Own were three of many phases covered during this training.

Those attending were Mmes. Robert Elliott, Ralph McDonald, Richard Norwood, Eugene Stubbs, Wayne Jones, Claude Ferrel, Marshal Johnson, R. C. Atchley, Jewell Snider, Curtis Cradduk and J. D. Williams; Mmes. John Taylor and Paul O'Neal from Shamrock. Mrs. T. M. Whiteley, Field Advisor, conducted this workshop.

Cadette Troop One welcomed five new members this year. They are Sonya Keen, Carla Combs, Gale Stout, Jill Chittenden and Susan Lockhart. The troop held a combination Investiture for the five new Scouts and Court of Awards ceremony. Cindy Gill was presented with the following Junior badges: Personel Health, Observor, My Home, Magic Carpet, Housekeeper, Home Health and Safety, Community Safety and Collector.

The troop also celebrated

Fur Fabric Hugs Winter Boots

BY HELEN HENNESSY, NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK--(NEA)--Fur fabrics or if you will fake furs are a familiar sight on the fashion scene.

They have turned up season after season in hats, scarves, vests, coats and even dresses.

This winter, the little fake foxes, leopards and tigers will encircle the calves and knees with a flair.

These newest items in man-made furs are Huggles. They are removable circlets of fake fur made to trim the tops of boots. And they have been acclaimed by the shoe industry the millinery industry and fashion co-ordinators as the hottest accessory to be unveiled this season. Because they can be co-ordinated with other hats to purses they help achieve a total look.

Boots have become so important in today's way of dressing that nearly every woman owns at least two pair.

The bands of fake fur slip over any size boot to trim the top. They can be teamed with matching fake fur accessories.

It's a great idea in fashion teamwork. The matching furry hats and boot trims are one more step toward the return of femininity in dress.

On a very low budget every girl can feel like a romantic beauty from the days of Anna Karenina.

Fake fur is fun to wear. And it's warm too when the wind doth blow.

GREAT ACCESSORIES

Chunky-heeled shoes make great accessories for the ever-popular pants suits.

MAINLY ABOUT CANADIANS

CANADIAN (Spl) — Band director Paul Mathis has been ill at his home here this week.

Miss Jan Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Wilson, was crowned queen of the University at Hardin-Simmons University in an all school assembly recently. She graduated from Canadian High School in 1965 and is a Hardin-Simmons senior.

Among some of the honors she has received are president of the Delta Social Club, Sweetheart of Nix Hall, Sweetheart of Sigma Delta Sigma, a member of Student Congress, honorary captain and sponsor for the ROTC. New Look for Evening

The new look in evening fashion is the floor-length jumper. These jumpers come in wide culotte styles, full-skirt styles, and are sure to attract attention at any evening out.

SLINKY, SWINGY LOOK

Your Horoscope — JEANE DIXON

TUESDAY NOV. 26.

Your birthday tomorrow: The coming year provides you with challenges in human relationships. Learn to make time and space for yourself; use it alone, in meditation, to find your own core. The preparations achieved this year tend to pay off heavily next year. Tuesday's natives usually keep themselves busy.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): You further your cause best by simply standing pat. Do your work conscientiously, but expect no praise (or even recognition.)

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Anything you have said lately . . . that could be misconstrued . . . will come back to you now. Listen, and patiently unravel.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): It has finally come your turn to do some chores, particularly things you do not like. Quibbling will do no good. Rushing is worse.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Political or religious matters become sources of bitter dissension, permanent breaks in relationships. Extra work is normal for a day like this.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Let well enough alone. Purchases should be held to a minimum. Policy changes are not favored. Work with as little fuss as possible.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): If asked, be willing to postpone or revise. Insistence on your own narrow goals stirs bitter resistance.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): All your relatives come charging in. Since you expect it, you retain your ability to meditate above all the noise. Be firm . . .

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Stick to the routines that have worked so far. Experimentation goes awry. Keep your money where it belongs, insofar as you can manage it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Your theories get vigorously tested, beyond your comprehension. Keep dissension to a minimum; go along with the majority, for the time being.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Focus on home base. The going will be slow until somebody comes up with something else. Be flexible enough to go along with a decision without complaint.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Your patience under provocation is going to be something to be proud of later on. Shun controversial issues. Get some much needed rest.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Slow down a bit. Your health demands exemptions from fatigue. The work is not important enough to justify sustained tension.

More Mix and Match

If you are on a limited budget for clothes plan around one group of co-ordinated colors. If most of your clothes belong to the same color family, such as browns, oranges and golds, you can mix and match more items.

Change Appearance

'69 Chevy Nova SS Coupe

We'd say compare Nova SS with its closest competition.

If anything came close.

Nobody else has anything like the Chevy Nova SS.

The Nova SS comes onto the scene with power disc brakes, beefed-up suspension, wide-oval tires—the works.

Under that domed hood is a standard 350-cubic-inch 300-hp V8. For even more varoom, you can add a 350-hp or 375-hp version of the Turbo-Jet 396.

You can get the whole Nova SS story at your Chevy dealer's Sports Shop.

Even if the competition came close to Nova SS, we wouldn't worry. Close only counts in horseshoes.

Packers Back in Contention

By United Press International

Here come the Packers.

Green Bay's downtrodden, three-time defending champions finally reached the .500 mark Sunday—which isn't normally much of a feat for the Packers. But the 27-7 triumph over Washington behind Zeke Bratkowski moved the Packers back in the midst of contention for their fourth straight NFL crown as they are now just one-half game behind Minnesota in the Central Division.

Green Bay is now 5-5-1 while Minnesota, which suffered a 21-9 loss to Baltimore, is 6-5.

Baltimore boosted its record to 10-1—the best in pro football—to remain one-half game ahead of Los Angeles in the Coastal Division. The Rams edged the New York Giants 24-21 on Bruce Gosset's 36-yard field goal with four seconds remaining.

In the Eastern Conference, it looks like Dallas vs. Cleveland in Cleveland on Dec. 21. Cleveland boosted its record to 8-3 in the Century Division with its sixth straight triumph by thumping Philadelphia 47-13.

Dallas, with Craig Morton subbing for injured Don Meredith, blasted crippled Chicago 34-3 to raise its mark to 9-2 in the Capitol Division and go two games ahead of New York.

In the other three games, San Francisco whipped Pittsburgh 45-28, St. Louis edged Atlanta 17-12 and Detroit tied New Orleans 20-20.

Bratkiwski, filling in for the injured Bart Starr, hit on his first eight passes and wound up with 18 of 24 for 230 yards and a 47-yard touchdown strike to Donny Anderson as the Packers trounced Washington.

Morrall Sharp

Earl Morrall completed 13 of 16 passes for 225 yards and two touchdowns in the first half and Baltimore's fine defensive unit then took over to protect the margin in the second half. The Colts had one goal line stand in which Bill Brown was stopped on two plunges from the one.

Gossett's field goal which beat New York came after Fran Tarekn'on's third TD pass—an 11-yarder to Aaron Thomas—tied the score 21-21 with 42 seconds left.

The Rams got the ball on the ensuing kickoff on their own 30 and Allen, who's played it conservative in the past and settled for the tie, decided to gamble and try to win as he had Gabriel throw the ball on the first two downs. The strategy worked as the Rams moved the ball 41 yards to the Giant 29 to set up Gossett's field goal.

Kelly scored two touchdowns and passed 334 yards to Paul Warfield on his first pass completion as a pro for a third down as the Browns routed Philadelphia to remain 1½ games ahead of St. Louis. When Kelly scampered 24 yards for a TD with 5:19 left in the third period, it enabled him to pass the 1,000-yard mark for the third straight time.

Philadelphia became the first team in the NFL to go 0-11 since Detroit finished with that mark in 1942.

Dallas Breezes

Morton threw a 15-yard TD pass to Bob Hayes and sent Walt Garrison and Don Perkins plunging over from the one in the first half as Dallas built a 24-3 halftime lead and coasted to the win over Chicago.

Jim Hart tossed a 30-yard TD pass to Willis Crenshaw and plunged one yard for a second one as the Cards topped Atlanta to keep alive their faint hopes of catching Cleveland in the Century Division.

Webster, DeWeese, Ramirez Pace Weekly Picks

Season leader David Webster, runner-up Chico Rameriz and Pampa News Executive Editor Tex DeWeese made it a three-way tie in the weekly Pampa News Staff Selections.

All three finished the week with 15-3 records and one game ended in a tie.

Webster and Rameriz missed the same three games, Air Force's upset over Colorado, Stanford's stunning upset of California and Washington State's remarkable victory over Washington.

DeWeese missed SMU-Baylor, California and Oklahoma's rout of Nebraska.

Larry Hollis, Bill Power, Gary Myers and Bill Heckelthorn all finished the week with 14-4 marks. Jeff Holladay and Jim Casey finished 13-5 and Ron Cross was low man on the totem poll with a 11-7 mark.

Heading into the final week of selections Little Harvester sports editor David Webster leads by two games over Rameriz.

Webster stands, 88-25; Rameriz, 86-27; Power, 83-30; Myers, 83-30; Heckelhorn, 78-35; Casey 77-33; DeWeese, 74-39; Cross, 73-40, Holladay, 73-40; Hollis, 67-29 and Consensus, 87-26.

Jets Clinch Title Tie Behind Turner's Record

By United Press International

Jim Turner is the New York Jets third string quarterback who spends most of his time kicking footballs over crossbars.

The place-kicking specialist did his thing again Sunday as he booted 13, 20 and 23-yard field goals to help the Jets to a 37-15 victory over the San Diego Chargers. The win clinched a tie for the Eastern Division title and one more Jet victory or Houston loss will give New York its first division championship.

Turner, who was a college quarterback at Utah State, leads the American Football League in scoring with 124 points. His three field goals gave him 31 for the season, setting a pro football record. The previous high of 28 was held by Pete Gogolak with the Buffalo Bills and Bruce Gossett of the Los Angeles Rams. Turner still has three games left to play this season.

"I knew I had the record," Turner said. "But I was especially glad because we needed the points today."

Namath's Turn

After Turner gave the Jets a 3-0 lead the first time they had the ball, quarterback Joe Namath began his offensive contribution by hitting flanker Don Maynard with an 87 yard touchdown, the longest in club history. A three yard run by Matt Snell and Turner's second field goal preceded a 95-yard punt return by Speedy Duncan (league record) and gave the Jets a 20-7 lead. Namath, who connected on 17 of 31 passes for 337 yards, pitched 19 yards to Bill Mathis to make the score 27-7 at the half.

It was Turner's turn again in the third period as he hit from 23 yards out. Mathis completed the Jet scoring with a one yard buck in the final period.

Daryle Lamonica passed for 368 yards and Charlie Smith ran for two touchdowns as the Oakland Raiders tied for first place in the Western Division by blanking the Cincinnati Bengals 34-0. The Raiders and the Kansas City Chiefs, who were idle, both have 9-2 records.

Smith, who had 118 yards in 16 carries, tallied the first Oakland touchdown on a seven-yard run and scored again late in the game on a nine yard run.

Briton Boots

Bobby Howfield, a kicking specialist from Britain, booted a 12-yard field goal in the final seven seconds of the game to lift the Denver Broncos to a 34-32 victory over the Buffalo Bills.

The winning kick, which was set up by a 69-yard pass by Marlin Briscoe, offset an 18-yard field goal by Bruce Alford with 26 seconds to play that had given Buffalo the lead for the first time in the game. The Bills had fought back on touchdown runs of two and three yards by Garry McDermott and a two-point conversion.

Denver had built an early lead on four touchdown passes by Briscoe.

The talented arm of Bob Griese accounted arm of Bob downs and defenisve back Dick Anderson ran 95 yards with an interception to lead the Miami Dolphins to a 34-10 romp over the Boston Patriots.

Cerrudo Wins Cajun Golf On 18 Under

LAFAYETTE, La. (UPI)—Twenty-three-year-old Ron Cerrudo's cup was running over today with birdies, dollars and the confidence that he can indeed win on the professional golf tour, maybe even win big.

The rookie from San Raphael, Calif. won his first tournament in a very big way Sunday, capturing the $35,000 Cajun Classic with a record score of 270, 18 under par.

Veteran Charlie Siford fired a fourthround 67 and Billy Mitchell of Danville, Va. shot a 68 Sunday to tie for second place at 274. They each won $2,900.

The $5,000 first prize lifted Cerrudo's rookie earnings to more than $43,000 but more important he said it broke an old mental barrier that went back to his amateur days.

"I finished as runnerup in the National Amateur, the British Amateur, the Western Amateur and about every big amateur tournament you can name," he said. "I was starting to get the feeling of a bridesmaid and wondering if I was ever going to win anything.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS

TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistant with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Some Praise for Congress

The Southern States Industrial Council (SSIC) has characterized three of the things the 90th Congress did, or failed to do, as having historic significance. They can be considered a turning point in the struggle between "liberal" and "conservative" philosophies of government, the SSIC said.

Finding of the SSIC probably will come as a shocker to some of LBJ's less ardent fans who hold to the opinion that no good can come from anything Johnson has anything to do with. But no matter. The SSIC hailed as "major victories for conservatives and the entire nation" the following:

1. Taking the first step toward economy in the federal government through enactment of the Revenue Expenditure and Control Act of 1968.

2. Rejection of the nomination of Abe Fortas to be chief justice of the United States Supreme Court.

3. Refusal to take action on President Johnson's demand for ratification of the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty.

The SSIC has a membership of more than 3,000 corporations and business firms with headquarters in Nashville, Tenn. W. L. Thornton of St. Augustine, Fla., is president. He also is president of the Florida East Coast Railroad. Thurman Sensing is executive secretary of the SSIC. Sensing writes a weekly column which is printed in The News.

"The record of the 90th Congress was mixed," the SSIC said, "and included some unwise and unneeded legislation enacted in a super-charged atmosphere of emotionalism after the tragic assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and the death of Martin Luther King. Nevertheless, in the three instances we have cited the Congress responded to a great groundswell of public opinion and acted in a way that earned the highest commendation of the American people and established its role in history.

"Credit must be given to the House of Representatives for taking the first step toward economy in the federal government. Much attention has been given to the cut in spending directed by Congress for the current fiscal year.

Of much greater significance, however, is the brake placed by Congress on future spending. The Revenue and Expenditures Control Act required reductions in appropriations of not less than $10 billion. Congress went past this figure and cut the President's budget requests by $13.2 billion — the largest reduction made by Congress in the budget requests of the executive branch in the nation's history.

"This action was badly needed as an effort to slow the inflationary spiral and bolster the shaky position of the dollar. (Some people say the Johnson administration is ignoring the budget cut ordered by Congress and is continuing full speed ahead on its spending spree and there is evidence they know what they are talking about.) Further cuts in federal spending by the next Congress are imperative because built-in, uncontrolable costs such as increases in the national debt interest and social security payments still make the current fiscal year spending the highest in history."

The Southern States Industrial Council said the rejection of the Fortas nomination sounded a clear warning to the Supreme Court that the people and the Congress strongly disapprove of the manner in which the court has undertaken to alter the structure of the United States government "in conformance with the liberal philosophy of some of its members."

"Credit should be given to the Senate for refusing to rubber stamp President Johnson's nomination of Fortas, which would have insured continuation of the Warren court's philosophy," said the SSIC. "We believe the court cannot fail to heed the warning and begin a return to its proper role of interpreting the law according to what the Constitution says instead of what the justices think it ought to say. Particular praise is due to Sen. Robert Griffin for leading the fight to block the Fortas confirmation.

"Members of the Senate also must be credited for turning a deaf ear to the insistence of President Johnson that they ratify the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty. That the treaty contains adequate safeguards for our national security is open to serious question. Furthermore, we believe that ratification of this treaty, with Russia as a signatory, so soon after the Russian rape of Czechoslovakia would have appeared to condone the Soviets' action. The real significance of the refusal to ratify the treaty, in our view is that it marks a reawakening of the people and the Congress to the Communist threat and the fact the Cold War is still going on."

The SSIC also had praise for the 90th Congress for enactment of Sen. John McClelland's amendence in court and thus counteract the Supreme Court's Miranda decision. SSIC, which testified at committee hearings on the McClellan proposal and worked for its enactment, said it should be of great help in the drive to reduce crime.

Mini, Mini Questions

In case the idea lingers that the miniskirt is no more than a foolish fad not worthy of serious consideration in serious quarters, forget it, says Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The little bitty skirt has now achieved the status of a significant factor in contemporary culture by being certified as proper subject matter for academic research — and appropriately enough in England, where the hemline's race to the waist began.

The government-affiliated Social Science Research Council is financing a year-long research project to try to find an answer to a burning social question: Why do girls wear short, shorter and shortest skirts?

The researcher, Dr. Keith Gibbins of Newcastle-Upon-Tyne University, says the project is a serious attempt "to throw light on the whole field of fashion trends." There are a number of points he hopes to clear up, such as the relationship between a girl's taste in hem lengths and her political beliefs, her personal life and even the type of car she goes for.

But most of all, Gibbins wants to find out "to what extent a girl's clothes reflect the image which she wishes to present and the message which she hopes to project."

Which raises a couple of nonacademic questions. Is this project really necessary? Does a girl who wears miniskirts have anything to hide?

WASHINGTON:

Ho Using The Sea in New Invasion

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) Official U.S. government statements that the North Vietnamese have not stepped up the movement of men and material down the Ho Chi Minh trails since the bombing halt are highly misleading.

For the plain and simple fact is that Hanoi has increased its shipments south dramatically since Nov. 1 — but this around sea.

This reporter has learned that agencies of the U.S. government have just received information (which they are not making public for reasons that are not clear at this writing) that immediately following the bombing halt the North Vietnamese began shipping greater quantities of arms and other supplies into South Vietnam by vessels infiltrating close along the coast.

These supplies are off-loaded at secluded coastal points in South Vietnam, then shifted inland to North Vietnamese expeditionary army supply dumps.

The reports indicate the beginning of a major build-up.

This dramatic increase in Hanoi's sea supply of the south was made possible by the unannounced heavy cutback in U.S. patrolling off the North Vietnam coast that paralleled the halt in bombing attacks on the north.

Before the bombing halt, patrolling of North Vietnam's coastal areas was heavy, especially in the vicinity of ports, river mouths and other areas where vessels loaded with supplies or arms could put to sea for the south.

Patrols have been continued along the coast of South Vietnam, but these units have found it impossible to prevent the arms ships from sliding through.

Years of experience have shown that the only way to block the seaborne shipments of supplies from North Vietnam is to spot the ships coming out of port. The ships can then be tracked until they hit South Vietnam waters, at which time they can be attacked by U.S. or South Vietnamese units.

The distances are so great and the opportunities for blockade runners so unlimited that catching ships blind is next to impossible. Tracking is the only effective technique developed to date.

It is true that since the start of the war in South Vietnam, Ho Chi Minh's sea units have brought in men, weapons and materiel by sea. Some has come from Cambodia around the southern flank of South Vietnam and some directly from the north. At times, especially before the increasing efficiency of our Naval patrols, the reshipments have been quite large.

But not for a long time has Ho brought in by sea such quantities as in the past two weeks.

The reason for this build-up is not clear. It could be part of Ho's plan for long-range, lower-keyed underground war — or material for more immediate use.

But two things are certain. It wasn't expected by the men who agreed to a cutback of operations in the north. It has put the United States at a disadvantage. The military men had figured they could offset a bombing halt in North Vietnam by increasing the rate of bombing on the Ho Chi Minh trails in Laos.

They haven't yet figured how to stop the seaborne traffic without resuming the close-in patrolling of the north with effective numbers of ships and aircraft. Yet this might appear to break President Johnson's commitment to Hanoi. How do naval units patrol so closely without getting into fire fights?

Wit and Whimsy

Two hillbillies who had never been on a train were drafted and on their way to camp. A food butcher came through the train selling bananas which neither mountaineer had ever seen. Each bought one. As one of them bit into his banana the train entered a tunnel. His voice came to his companion in the darkness.

Zeb — Have you et yours yet?

Zeke — Not yet, Why?

Zeb — Well, don't touch it. I've et one bite and gone blind.

They were looking down into the depths of the Grand Canyon.

Mr. Blank (the guide) — Do you know, that it took millions and millions of years for this great abyss to be carved out?

Mr. Gray (the traveler) — Well, well! I never knew this was a government job.

The teen-ager's table manners seemed to have reached a new low. Furious, his mother stared correcting him. Then his father got into the act, and soon they were both talking at once.

In the midst of the confusion the boy threw up his hands and exclaimed, "What is this, anyway — stereophonic nagging?"

Inside Washington

Report 'Cultural Revolution' Disrupting Red China's Nuclear Weapons Schedule

ROBERT ALLEN

JOHN GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Evidence is accumulating here that Mao Tse-tung's ill-starred "cultural revolution" is now disrupting and delaying Communist China's nuclear weapons programs.

New reports from the mainland detail political turbulence reaching inside Red China's defense agencies. One report relayed from Hong Kong indicates that Premier Chou En-lai has been assigned by Mao to end "factionalism" in those agencies.

For about a year after party chairman Mao launched his cultural revolution in 1966 intelligence reports indicated that weapons programs were insulated from the Red Guard purge. Those reports were supported by continuing technological advances evidenced by Red China's series of nuclear tests.

More recently, however, there have been reports of political upheaval and delay in weapons programs. Some experts here are now saying that China's development of long-range ballistic missiles has been set back by about a year.

While those estimates were initially confined to weapon delivery systems, as opposed to nuclear research and thermonuclear warheads, the experts are now commenting that China has not conducted a nuclear weapons test for nearly a year.

Major delays in China's nuclear weapons development could have repercussions in U.S. defense planning — especially with reference to the controversial thin defense line against ballistic missiles.

ABM DELAY? — The thin anti-ballistic missile system (ABM) was originally justified by former Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara on grounds that it could defend against the sort of missile attack which the Chinese Communists could launch in the mid-1970s. If China's attacking weapons are being delayed, then perhaps the U.S. defense system could be delayed too.

That argument was pressed in Congress, as recently as last October, by opponents who feared that a go-ahead for the ABM system would wreck President Johnson's plans for U.S.-Soviet talks on limiting offensive and defensive missile forces. The House and Senate were skeptical then about reported delays in Communist China.

New reports will give new credence to the argument, however. The point will surely be pressed again by House and Senate doves when Congress gets around to its annual military procurement bill early in the spring.

Indications are, however, that Congress will not delay the AEM program unless and until a firm and enforceable weapons limitation agreement is reached with the Kremlin.

President-elect Nixon is a supporter of the ABM system. Influential congressional supporters are not likely to be swayed by delays, however well authenticated, in Chinese missile programs. They see the thin ABM system as a building-block towards a defense line against Russian missiles if such a system should later be required.

Pentagon officials agree that the thin, anti-China ABM could be expanded in that fashion if defense against Russian missiles becomes feasible in the future.

RED GUARD BULLETIN — Important among reports of political agitation in Chinese weapons programs is a Canton Red Guard bulletin sent here from Hong Kong. It reports that Nieh Jung-chen, director of the National Defense Technological Commission, has been a target for Red Guard critics.

According to the bulletin, Nieh was required to submit detailed self-criticisms last April directly to Mao Tse-tung himself. Mao, according to the bulletin, then assigned Chou En-lai to help Nieh with his critical self evaluation.

The bulletin also carries a detailed report of a meeting in Peking between Chou and leaders of political factions in the Technological Commission and other defense agencies. Chou is quoted as saying he had been assigned by Mao to root out factionalism.

The premier, according to the bulletin, told the all-night session that the political dispute could not be allowed to drag on. He indicated that production in the agencies was lagging and he said the matter was viewed as urgent.

Nieh has a handful of important posts as do most of the Kremlin leaders. He is a member of the Politburo and of the Military Affairs Commission, and he is a vice premier. The bulletin account indicates that he tried to dominate the Technological Commission by denying membership to his factional opponents.

The cultural revolution, itself, was started by Mao to purge his opponents from the party hierarchy. So far, at least, Nieh has apparently not been among the victims of that top-level purge.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: Has the secret ballot been a success?

ANSWER: The secret ballot was adopted generally in most states about 80 years ago, in 1888. Shortly after the secret ballot, many laws were passed that were not beneficial to mankind. One of the first was the Sherman Anti-Trust Law. Isabel Paterson said about it, "Nobody knows what it means." And of course in 1913 the graduated income tax was passed which completely repudiated the spirit of the Declaration of Independence and the original Constitution, and it is right in line with the Marxian belief of "from each according to his ability ." Since the secret ballot, we've been passing one law after another leading gradually to socialism.

And especially is this true since we have few qualifications for voting now. Practically everybody has the privilege of voting. In fact, we've turned the country into practically a pure democracy. And as John Adams, second president of the United States said, "Democracy never lasts long, it soon wastes, exhausts and murders itself. There never was a democracy yet that did not commit suicide." And Elbridge Gerry, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence said, "Democracy is the worst of all political evils."

If people couldn't go out and vote secretly to rob their neighbor, they wouldn't be so likely to do it. An individual now can secretly vote for measures that will rob his neighbor, or vote for other men who promise to do the robbery for him, and the neighbor doesn't even know whether the man is a robber at heart or not, so he has no defense. We are drifting just another step towards a one-man one-vote pure democracy.

Harding said, when he was President, in a talk before the Associated Press, "We're gradually drifting toward a pure democracy and no pure democracy ever lasted long."

This country, if course, was intended to be a republic where the government should have only things to do that were of a public nature, leaving to the people the things that were not of a public nature man's right to plan his own life as long as he respects others; equal rights to do the same. That's the kind of a government we should be striving to get back.

No, the secret ballot has not been a success. It has helped alter our government from a republic to a political democracy. It makes it possible for some to gain special privileges over others, to rob their neighbors, while hiding from their neighbors' disapproval behind the curtain of the voting booth.

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK J. MARKEY

Snowfall In Dixie

"EARLY SNOWFALL SURPRISES CITY," said an Atlanta Journal headline, Nov. 10. My mind scooted back 18 years to Atlanta and to the first time my wife ever saw snow.

It's a big event, the first time a Floridian sees snow. One of life's milestones. I had seen snow as a kid because I visited relatives, way up North. (In Memphis.)

My wife hadn't seen snow when we were married, 18 years ago. She's from LaBelle, Fla. (Near Immokalee.) She's seen a lot since, while we were booming around the U.S.

She still doesn't approve of it. She never got over the idea you could walk across drifts or ditches full of it. Snow looks so solid, is her theory. And smooth. (She used to sink out of sight with regularity in St. Louis trying to walk across the snow which banked up level with the porch.) Cold weather is not her bag. Everytime it gets below 65 here in Miami she starts laying in pemmican.

She was writing feature stories and covering the federal beat for the Tampa Times when I met her. We married in a December in Lakeland, Fla., and snow was not in her experience when I set out to seek my fortune.

I was under the impression my fortune might lie in Atlanta so I went on rewrite there. On The Journal, mine was the early shift and my bride got up before dawn to fix me toast and coffee. After all we had five toasters and seven percolators. Wedding presents. Fortunately, we had no furniture so there was plenty of room for them.

I would stumble out into the cold January and she would make a bee-line for the quilts. Cold weather to a cracker isn't a feeling of impending catastrophe — it, by golly, is catastrophe.

It took me 10 years on several papers to bail us out of various Winter Wonderlands and return home to Florida. But even on those first mornings, leaning into the icy blasts on Peachtree, I often had the faint feeling that I knew what I was doing wrong. . .

On this particular morning it started snowing as I was on the way to work. And snowing. . . and snowing. . .

Gee, I thought, I'll call Margery from the office. This will be a great thrill for her.

But it turned out to be quite a hectic morning, because of the snowfall. It was a blizzard and a dandy one at that. You couldn't even see out of the windows.

The city room was hectic. The town was a big traffic jam. Veteran writers were handling the top stories. I got hit with helping on the accident count, doing my usual run of obits and persistently calling a man in frantic charge at the Grant Park Zoo for little human interest insights into his snow-covered plight. (He was rude to me.)

With all this and my most time-consuming task — putting the carbon paper in backward — my wife, who was home asleep, somehow slipped my mind.

It was an eternity until the lull after the first edition deadline. It's never particularly easy to be a new man in the shop, particularly one inclined to spell blizzard with only one "z," but I survived — and was taking my first deep breath.

Then, in the quiet, I heard Bob Collins, the city editor, say into a telephone in alarm: "Who? Mrs. Keasler? Yes—he is here."

Margery! What emergency?

I dashed up to the desk. Bill Key, chief rewriteman, had jammed on his headset earphones.

What? What? Had all the toasters popped up at once?

Margery's excited voice cut off. She had hung up.

Bill Key sat stunned a moment, staring at me. He looked at the blizzard outside the window. He looked back at me. He said in a loud, clear voice:

"Mr. Keasler, would you call your wife when you have time? She said she woke up, looked out the window — and snow is falling from the sky."

A couple of years later we went to work for Hearst in San Francisco. She had never seen any big steep hills, in Florida Flatlands. Fortunately we were together when the big steep hill story broke.

Clearing House

Articles for this column are preferred to be 200 words or less in length. However, longer articles may be printed. All letters must be signed with name and address.

Editor:

The milk cow is on her way out. Science has decreed it. There are so many substitutes for her product that she is doomed to become a relic of the past. You will recall that in the recent presidential election, no candidate mentioned the cow. There was a lot of shooting the bull, but not a man so much as laid a pinkie on the milk cow. If her demise is not a "gut issue" I don't know one.

This sure will mess us up. What do you propose to do about poems like this:? Curfew tolls the knell of parting day, The lowing herd winds slowly o'er the lea. The plowman homeward plods his weary way, And leaves the world to darkness, and me.

This kind of stuff must be replaced. Why not get in on the ground floor, with something like this:? Curfew tolls, and the cop's on the beat, With the thundering noise of the looter's feet. For the olden times oft, we may yearn, The modern cry is burn, baby, burn!

Again, what will we do about Horatio Alger's Heroes? There is one in particular. He was the elder son of a large bunch of children, good girls and boys. Clean, well-scrubbed, mannerly. But desperately poor.

You may recall the mean old Squire of the town had a mortage on the family milk cow. If the money was not ready on a certain date the old skinflint would gleefully snatch the cow from the family.

The hero, with a smile on his lips and a tear in his eye, set out to find a job to get money to pay for the cow. He found employment with a tightfisted old farmer, who fed him on soggy potatoes and half-baked food.

His salary was 50 cents a week. But he stuck it out, with aching back and blistered hands, and got back home to stick the money under the old Squire's snoot just in time to prevent him from taking the cow. (I sure liked that).

Wasn't Maud Muller raking hay for the cows when the judge stopped by? Was'nt all the old "Primers" about the cow—the cow goes "moo." And full praise for the cow? All the old movies where the drunken guys stopped the morning milkman to get a bottle of milk to sober up on.

Nevertheless, the cow will be phased out, and that's no bull.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

A profile familiar to most Americans, but whose identity is known by few, is the noble Indian head on the nickel designed by sculptor James Earle Fraser, which first appeared in 1913. In 1931, The World Almanac notes, Fraser revealed that the profile was actually a composite of three Indians named Iron Tail, Two Moons and a third Indian whom he could no longer recall.

.. .. .. GREETINGS: .. .. ..

You, and each of you, are hereby commanded to appear by filing a written answer to the plaintiff's petition at or before 10 o'clock A.M. of the first Monday after the expiration of 42 days from the date of issuance of this Citation, the same being Monday the 16th day of December, A.D., 1968, at or before 10 o'clock A.M., before the Honorable District Court of Gray County, at the Court House in Pampa, Texas.

Said plaintiff's petition was filed on the 31st day of October, 1968.

The file number of said suit being No. 16,686 styled HAROLD C. PAYNE, Plaintiff, vs. JOHN PRENDERGAST, ET AL, Defendants, and the nature of said suit being substantially as follows, to-wit:

A trespass to try title suit and removing any cloud thereon case in which Plaintiff claims that he was lawfully seized and possessed of the following described property, land and premises situated in Gray County, Texas, to-wit:

Being all of Lots Nos. Sixteen (16) and Seventeen (17), in Block No. Two (2), of the CHANNING ADDITION to the City of Pampa, being a subdivision of parts of Plots Nos. 25 and 32 of the Suburbs of Pampa, Gray County, Texas, according to the map or plat of said Addition on file in Volume 51, Page 238, of the Deed Records of Gray County, Texas; that Defendants, and each of them, unlawfully entered upon said property, land and premises and dispossessed Plaintiff therefrom and unlawfully withhold from him the possession of said property, land and premises; that Plaintiff claims title and possession in and to said property by reason of the ten year statutes of adverse possession and limitations; and that Plaintiff prays for judgment for title and posession of said real estate, for cost of suit, and other and further relief; all as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit.

The officer executing this process shall properly execute the same according to law, and make due return as the law directs. If this citation is not served within ninety (90) days after the date of issuance, it shall be returned unserved.

ISSUED AND GIVEN UNDER MY HAND AND SEAL OF SAID COURT, at office in Pampa, Texas, this the 31st day of October, A.D. 1968.

STUCK WITH A DOG

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Avelino Cervantes' garage was burglarized so many times Cervantes decided to buy a German Shepherd watchdog to guard his business at night.

Saturday night the garage was robbed again. This time the burglar stole the watchdog.

GOT CARRIED AWAY

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (UPI)—A San Mateo County police dog named Iros showed no favoritism Saturday when he joined deputies in breaking up a fight involving a group of Hells Angels motorcyclists.

Stops Tormenting Rectal Itch

Exclusive Formula Promptly Stops Itching, Burning and Relieves Pain of Piles In Most Cases

New York, N.Y. (Special): The embarrassing itch caused by hemorrhoids is most torturous. But science has found a special formula with the ability, in most cases — to promptly stop the burning itch, relieve pain and actually shrink hemorrhoids. And all without narcotics or stinging astringents of any kind.

The secret is Preparation H®. There is no other hemorrhoid formula like it. Preparation H® also lubricates, soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Perhaps the greatest running back in the history of college football, O.J. Simpson, will perform before a nationwide television audience Saturday.

For the dedicated sports fan, and for those persons who just admire grace and perfection in any line of work, it is an event not to be missed.

The Saturday happening, which pits Simpson and the University of Southern California against UCLA in the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum, begins at 6 p.m. EST of ABC-TV.

It is the second half of a college football doubleheader on the network. The first game, between Nebraska and Oklahoma, starts at 2:45 p.m. EST. But there is little question that the eyes of football fans across the country will be focused on No. 32 of Southern California in the nightcap.

Two Top Seasons

Southern California is the top team in the land, and has been almost unbeatable now for two seasons. As it happens, Simpson has been with the team for these two seasons.

It is difficult, of course, to predict how any player will be in a single contest. But those who have watched Simpson previously on television, or in person week to week, know that even below par, he is the most exciting climax runner in memory, especially when the challenge is greatest.

Video fans recall, for instance, the way he demolished Notre Dame last season at South Bend, Ind., and those who saw him a week ago against Oregon State in regional telecasts will never forget his wholly amazing performance.

There are few, if any, stronger physical teams in the country than Oregon State, yet 47 times Simpson carried the ball until even the large defenders finally gave ground and then collapsed against his amost inhuman determination.

He gained 238 yards in this outing, not much more than an average day's work for Simpson. He has been stopped once in a while. But what is awesome is how, like Joe Louis, he relentlessly keeps coming at an opponent until finally the foe cracks.

He isn't that huge, really—a little over 200 pounds, I think—so the power is that much more impressive, combined with the blazing speed and agility. He runs inside, outside, around, over and through, and every play carries the threat of a breakaway.

In a town (Los Angeles) loaded with superstars—Lew Alcindor, Wilt Chamberlain, Jerry West, Elgin Baylor, Don Drysdale, Deacon Jones, to name a handful—O.J. Simpson may well be the most electrifying sports hero since Sandy Koufax, Gary Beban was here, and Mike Garrett too, but O.J. —Well, he's something else.

CAGE-IN

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI)—Visitors to the Como Park Zoo Sunday viewed a rare collection of animals on display in a cage formerly occupied by a gorilla.

Members of the metropolitan zoo emergency committee sat in the cage to dramatize the plight of the zoo, whose funds have been cut by $22,000.

PROPHET OF DOOM

CHICAGO (UPI)—When a falling star streaked across the eastern horizon Sunday night, the police department received several telephone calls asking what the strange light was.

One caller breathlessly informed the police, "The sky is falling!"

LAUNCH OFF AGAIN

WOOMERA, Australia (UPI)—Technical difficulties today again forced a delay in the launching of the European Launcher Development Organization (ELDO) three-stage rocket. It was the fourth time the launching had been put off.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Commission on Products Safety is currently engaged in a study of more than 200 appliances and other household items to determine if they are safe for us consumers to use.

Two hundred sounds like a lot of products, but when I recently looked over the list I was disappointed to find that it was seriously incomplete.

The commission has grossly underestimated the ability of us consumers to hurt ourselves.

It is only studying the more obvious hazards, such as lawnmowers, tools and electric guitars. Most of us already know how to protect ourselves against them.

The electric guitar menace, for example, can easily be neutralized with a couple of simple, inexpensive devices called martini's.

There are, however, a number of other household hazards that aren't so apparent. As a public service, I shall bring some of them to the commission's attention.

One potentially dangerous item is the shoehorn. It may look harmless, but countless foot injuries have been caused by the misuse of shoehorns.

The most common type occurs when you use a shoehorn to help slip your foot inside a shoe and then forget to remove it. Until you have hobbled around all day with a shoehorn in your shoe, you don't really know the meaning of pain.

Should the commission investigate this instrument, I feel certain it would recommend that shoehorns be equipped with some sort of warning signal that would be automatically activated when they are left inside shoes.

Similar accidents frequently are caused by coat hangers. A person who is in a hurry, or a bit absentminded, is likely to grab a coat from the closet and slip it on without first removing the hanger.

This can cause a stiffness about the neck and shoulders that may last for a week or more, depending on whether it is a metal or wooden hanger, and how long it is worn.

The injury rate could perhaps be reduced if coat hangers were made more flexible, so they would conform to the body's contours.

Other items the commission would be well advised to study include tieclasps, thimbles, tambourines, bookmarks, feather dusters, hourglasses, lamp shades and player painos.

TWO WOUNDED

MANILA (UPI) — Gunfire broke out in the crowded Manila International Air Terminal Sunday in a dispute between soldiers and a customs agent, wounding the agent and a woman bystander.

QUAKE HITS JAPAN

SAPPORO, Japan (UPI)—A mild earthquake shook Northern Japan today, the Sapporo Regional Meteorological Station said. The quake registered three on the Japanese scale of eight. There were no immediate reports of damage.

NEW CAMERA

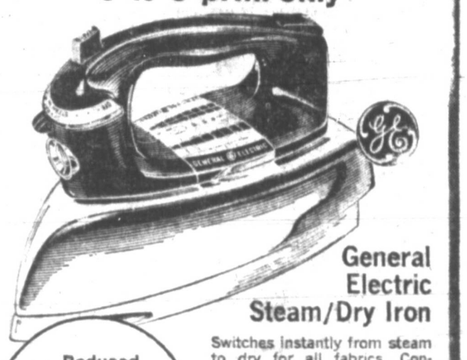

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army now is using a miniature color television camera which transmits pictures from inside the human body for study by medical students.

The camera was developed by CBS laboratories for the Fitzsimons Army Hospital in Denver. It weighs less than 10 pounds.

STERNS NEW PRES.

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Stanley Sterns, a UPI photographer for 11 years, is the new president of the White House News Photographers Association.
