Berlin Siege Tightened In 'Tough Policy'

By RICHARD WEIL
INS Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Nov. 10 — Russia toughened her Berlin siege tactics tonight by warning that western planes straying from the aerial supply corridors "will be forced down by Soviet planes."

The Soviet warning coincided with foggy weather that forced western airmen to fly on instruments to Berlin.

Brig. Gen. William Gailey of the U. S. military government said a new Russian "tough policy" is indicated, "but our reply speaks for itself."

Lt. Col. B. E. Steadman, chief of the U. S. Military government's air branch, said:

Reds To Be Held Responsible

"The Soviets may be bluffing, but if they are we certainly are calling it!"

The United States officially replied that Russia will be held "completely responsible" for any resulting injury to American personnel or damage to its planes.

This new development was disclosed soon after about 10 Soviet Yak fighters swooped low over the British air terminal of Gatow, shortly before British Air Minister Arthur Henderson took off after an inspection trip.

Lt. Gen. G. S. Lukyanchenko, Soviet chief of staff in the military administration, issued tonight's warning against any straying from the western air corridors. It was the first of its kind since the Soviet ground blockade failed to oust the Western Allies who have been feeding their Berlin sectors by the unprecedented "air lift."

Alleged Violations Cited

Lukyanchenko was answered by Brig. Gen. William Gailey, top assistant to U. S. Military Governor Gen. Lucius D. Clay.

The Soviet officer also said that all unidentified planes found flying over the Soviet occupation zone will be forced down as well as identifiable foreign aircraft.

Lukyanchenko listed eleven alleged cases between Oct. 4 and 25 in which he said "illegal foreign aircraft not bearing identification marks" flew over Soviet occupation territory.

Gailey's reply merely acknowledged the Soviet stand and warned "full and complete responsibility will rest on the shoulders of Soviet authorities should any injury be sustained by our personnel or any damage occur to our planes as a result of Soviet action."

Air Lift Roars On

The Soviet warning, carrying with it the implication of incidents should American, British or French planes resist, was delivered after it has become increasingly clear that the unparalleled western "air lift" will be able to feed Berliners even through the

UN Chief Seeks Berlin Solution

PARIS, Nov. 10. (INS)—Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, UN Assembly president, today led another small-nation effort to work out a compromise on the Berlin crisis.

The Australian foreign minister believes the Russians now want a settlement and may be more conciliatory following the American election of President Truman.

It is understood that Evatt is being aided by UN Secretary-General Trygve Lie and Dr. Juan Bramuglia, Security Council chairman.

Talks With Mexican Delegate

Evatt talked with Bramuglia, who arrived from London and admitted the possibility of new negotiations.

The idea is that the small nations might be able to work out a solution by negotiating directly with the Russians because the major western powers have refused to do so "under the blockade duress."

Evatt also talked with Mexican delegate Dr. Luis Padilla Nervo to consider asking the deadlocked big four to carry out the Mexican peace resolution unanimously adopted by the UN Assembly.

If the big four agreed to try

Navy Investigates Report Of Sub Near Pearl Harbor

PEARL HARBOR, Nov. 10. (AP)—Pacific fleet headquarters said today a naval vessel this morning reported evidence of a possible submarine contact nine miles south of Pearl Harbor.

Other units have been directed to search the area. Headquarters said no verification of the presence of a submarine has been obtained.

A headquarters spokesman said a check was made before its announcement to ascertain that no American submarines were operating in the area.

Truman-Stalin Talks Denied

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
Associated Press Staff Writer

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 10—The White House said tonight there are no plans of any kind for a Truman-Stalin meeting, and that President Truman has no intention of going to Moscow.

Eben Ayers, assistant presidential press secretary, emphasized, however, that the United States chief executive still stands by his offer to confer with Premier Stalin anytime the latter wishes to visit Washington.

Ayers, talking with newsmen, threw down reports from the Soviet news agency, Tass, and printed in Moscow quoting an American columnist.

Meeting Is Hinted

The columnist, Tris Coffin, was quoted by Tass as saying the two leaders might meet in Washington or in Moscow before Congress convenes.

The wide publicity that the Russians gave the report puzzled White House aides.

Ayers, however, refused any comment on an announcement that the Russians had threatened to force down any Allied plane which wandered out of air corridors to blockaded Berlin.

Nor would he comment on an Israeli charge that British troops are moving into Trans-Jordan and Palestine.

Meanwhile, there was no word whether President Truman has given any further consideration to sending a personal emissary to discuss with Stalin a basis for getting a better understanding between the two countries.

The tense situation prompted Mr. Truman to consider sending

Coast States Missed By Atlantic Storm

MIAMI, Nov. 10. (INS) — The U. S. Weather bureau in Miami tonight ordered storm warnings lowered south of Cape Hatteras, N. C., as a small tropical storm rapidly dissipated.

In a late advisory, the Miami weather bureau said the storm had greatly diminished in force and is "becoming an area of heavy squalls to the east of an indefinite center."

The center of the storm was located at 6:15 about 75 miles east of Cape Hatteras, or at latitude 35.3, longitude 74.4.

EARLY in January, 1942, the Chief of Staff had announced a determination to reorganize the War Department for the efficient waging of war. Foreseeing that the War department as set up under peace-time laws could not stand the strain of a long and bitter conflict, he had a year before assigned Colonel William K. Harrison to investigate its organizational weaknesses and search out a remedy for them.

Although the studies were completed by early winter and a corrective plan tentatively adopted, the attack on Pearl Harbor delayed its execution. The task of actual reorganization was now placed in the hands of Major General Joseph T. McNarney, possessed of an analytical mind and a certain ruthlessness in execution which was absolutely necessary to uproot entrenched bureaucracy and streamline and simplify procedures.

An Agency Needed

At the same time it was evident that somewhere on the War department level there would have to be an agency which could assemble and concentrate the sum total of strategic information for General Marshall's attention and through which, after he had reached a decision, his commands could be implemented. This agency, in other words, would be the Chief of Staff's personal command post.

The creation of the Operations division of the War department General Staff was the answer to this need: it replaced the War Plans division, where I had succeeded General Gerow as assistant chief of staff on Feb. 16. On March 9, I became the first chief of OPD. Almost simultaneously I was promoted to a temporary major generalcy.

As I remember it, I was far too busy then to take time to thank General Marshall for advancement to the grade which, in our pre-war Army, represented the virtual apex of a professional military career.

GENERAL Marshall gave long and earnest attentoin to the selection of individuals to occupy key spots in overseas commands and in the reorganized department. In the process he sometimes gave clear indication of the types of men who in his opinion were unsuited for high position. Foremost among these was the one

Suspect Held In Portales Case

MORTON, Nov. 10. (Special)—Sheriff Hazel Hancock of Cochran county was holding a 25-year-old suspect in the Morton jail tonight in connection with the shooting of a Portales, N. M., man in that city Monday night.

The suspect, was taken into custody early tonight at a cotton field shack on a farm near Bledsoe after Sheriff Hancock had received a tip a man answering the description of the one wanted in the New Mexico shooting might be at the farm.

To Return Suspect

H. J. McCrary, 35, of Portales, meanwhile was in Miller hospital in Portales, still in serious condition from gunshot wounds and a knife wound, allegedly suffered in a fight with the suspect being held at Morton.

Sheriff J. N. McCall of Portales said that he and his deputies would go to Morton Thursday morning to return the suspect to Portales.

According to Sheriff McCall, McCrary was shot in the right arm, right side and suffered a knife wound across his back about 9 p. m. Monday night during an altercation at his home about one and one-half miles northeast of

Reds Surprise UN By Agreeing To Peace Talks In Greek Case

By JOSEPH L. RANFT
INS Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Nov. 10—The Soviet bloc, in a surprise move, consented tonight to a UN-sponsored "little peace conference" on the Greek dispute which has plagued the world ever since the second world war ended.

Soviet concurrence in a unanimous decision of the UN political committee came after the Russians overwhelmingly were voted down in their attempt to block formal censure of Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania for fomenting the Greek civil war.

In a night session attended by non-UN members Albania and Bulgaria, the Soviet bloc voted in favor of an Australian resolution calling for the peace conference in Paris.

Under the unanimous decision UN Secretary-General Trygve Lie and Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, assembly president, will convoke an immedite conference of the four Balkan disputants—Greece and her Communist neighbors, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania.

U.S. Citizens Flee China As Reds Advance

By HAROLD K. MILKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

NANKING, Nov. 10—Americans fled today from a China torn by hunger riots as a Communist drive thundering down from the north exposed this shaken capital to direct attack.

A responsible official said Chiang Kai-Shek's government—fighting for its life amid the most severe military and economic reverses — was imposing martial law in Nanking and Shanghai in an effort to halt food riots and other disorders.

Nanking garrison headquarters said the matter of martial law has "not yet been decided." Other sources said the restrictions would be ordered shortly.

Suchow, the big government base 170 miles to the northwest, was by-passed by powerful Red columns, military reports indicated. This would seem to have isolated the bulk of the government troops trying to block the road to the Yangtze and Nanking.

Americans Flown Out

Against the twin perils of advancing Communists and growing hunger riots in Nanking, Shanghai and Hangchow, the U. S. Army moved swiftly to remove Americans.

Dependents of military personnel were being flown to Tsingtao, the U. S. Navy anchorage 280 miles to the north. More than a dozen transport planes were being used. All 500 dependents are expected to be flown out within three days.

The U. S. embassy told other American nationals that river transport was coming up the Yangtze for them from Shanghai. It was indicated that, if things get worse, a U. S. warship will come to Nanking to protect the departing Americans.

Of the 7,000 Americans in China, most of those leaving are dependent women and children, and businessmen who see no financial future in China.

$18 Million Aid Granted China

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (INS)—The Economic Cooperation administration granted China $18,000,000 more today as it became known that President Truman is considering new recommendations for U. S. action to save that tottering country.

Meanwhile, high ECA officials said Administrator Hoffman plans a flying inspection trip to China early in December unless the military situation there becomes too "desperate."

The ECA officials asserted Hoffman has been considering a personal economic survey of China for some time.

HST Gets Recommendations

A high government official disclosed that President Truman has received the new recommendations from the National Security council, presumably involving methods of strengthening Chiang Kai-Shek's hand against the advancing Chinese Communist armies.

The recommendations to the President were not divulged, but were made after the council had made an intensive study of the worsening plight of Chiang's Nationalist government.

There has been criticism in many quarters that U. S. military aid to China has been too little and too late. State department officials said today that of the $125,000,000 voted by Congress for this purpose, $112,000,000 to

Three Are Charged With Kidnapping

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 10 (AP)—An Atlanta, Ga., woman and two taxicab drivers were charged here today with kidnaping the woman's son.

District Attorney Elmer Parish said he filed the charges against Mrs. Margaret Hodges, Johnny E. Carver, and Ernest Lee Evans, all of Atlanta.

He said the woman was the divorced wife of Dr. Claude Hodges, Wichita Falls dentist, who had custody of two sons while litigation over them was in progress.

Carver and Evans were under arrest here. Parish said Mrs. Hodges was being held at Walters, Okla., with the boy, Jackie, 8.

Deputy Constable Frank Watkins, one of two Wichita Falls officers who went to Walters in an attempt to return Mrs. Hodges and the boy here, said she refused to waive extradition.

He said he was told he would have to have a court order to bring the boy back. He said Mrs. Hodges was in jail but the boy was staying tonight at the home of Deputy Sheriff Charlie High of Walters.

The district attorney said Mrs. Hodges was accused of driving away with the boy from the front of an elementary school which Jackie and his brother Paul, 11, were attending.

Continental Recommended As Airline To Serve Pecos

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—A Civil Aeronautics board examiner today recommended air line service for Pecos, Texas.

The examiner, Curtis C. Henderson, who held hearings on three competing applications, suggested to the board that Continental air lines be given a three-year authority to make Pecos an intermediate stop on flights between El Paso and Denver and El Paso and San Antonio.

Henderson recommended denial of the applications of Trans-Texas and Pioneer air lines to include Pecos on their flying schedules.

Sharp Revision Of Republican Farm Legislation Is Proposed

By FRANCIS LE MAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 — Sharp revision of Republican farm legislation was proposed today by Rep. Cooley (D-NC), who is due to become chairman of the House Agriculture committee in January.

He said there should be heavier emphasis on protecting farmers from depression prices.

The North Carolina tobacco planter said the farm price law sponsored by Republicans give farmers the least protection when they need it most, in times of surplus production. On the other hand, he said, it provides for "large payments during periods of scarcity when they least need it."

Cooley told reporters:

"My guess is some provisions of the Republican bill, particularly sections dealing with price supports and parity, will be revised."

He said farmers must be willing to accept production controls along with government support of their prices. He also said farmers are "frightened" by the action of the 80th Congress in voting to make effective in 1950 a revision of parity calculations and a shift to a flexible farm price support system.

$90,000 PROJECT NEARER REALITY

City Issues Call For Bids On Police Station Addition

By BILL CLARK
Avalanche Staff Writer

CONSTRUCTION of a $90,000 addition to the Lubbock police station at Ninth and Ave. J moved nearer reality Wednesday afternoon when the city commission in a recessed regular meeting authorized a call for bids on the project.

The addition would be financed by bonds voted in 1945 as part of a broad municipal improvement and expansion program.

Chief of Police Lewis Kittrell and L. H. Kirby of the firm of Haynes and Kirby, architects, appeared before the commission with completed plans for the structure, which would add 4,000 square feet of basement space and 3,400 feet of first floor space, squaring the building.

Zone Request Heard

The addition would provide badly needed additional jail cells, enlarged administrative space and locker rooms, dressing and shower rooms for policemen. The structure is designed for addition of a second story later.

The commissioners agreed to receive bids at 1:30 p. m. Dec. 16 for general construction of the building.

Other action was routine at the meeting, held a day early because of the holiday today.

Carl E. Maxey, contractor, appeared before the commission to appeal for reconsideration of a recent decision of the city planning commission denying a zone change in 2400-block between Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth street to enable him to construct the first 46 units of a proposed million-dollar 92-unit apartment project.

He pointed out the difficulty in finding suitable land in Lubbock on which to build a project of that size, mentioned that of the

Quiet Observance Of Armistice Day Planned In City

The thirtieth observance of Armistice day today is expected to be a quiet one in Lubbock.

Member firms of local Retail Merchants association firms will be closed, as will all Lubbock public schools and government offices. Classes at Texas Technological college will continue.

A brief program presented by members of the American Legion at Lubbock Senior High school Wednesday afternoon opened observance of the holiday here.

Breakfast To Be Held

The 30-minute program at Senior High school Wednesday was a traditional one, presented annually by members of the American Legion post. J. A. Raley was master of ceremonies. Waggoner Car, county attorney-elect, was principal speaker with a brief explanation of flag etiquette. Rev. Jeff D. Welch, Legion chaplain, gave a brief prayer and musical numbers were rendered by G. A. Meiser and a barber shop quartet, "The Three Mugs and a Brush," composed of Legion members.

The American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars will join at 7 a. m. this morning for another traditional event, the annual breakfast. In a program which will last until about 8:30, Mr. Welch will ask invocation.

There will be a period of silence in memory of veterans who have died since the last breakfast. Representatives of various veterans organizations will be introduced, including those of the Spanish-American war veterans, who are always special guests. A musical

Port Of New York Is Paralyzed By Strike

NEW YORK, Nov. 10. (INS)—A wildcat strike of 10,000 maritime workers paralyzed the sprawling port of New York today and threatened to spread to every major harbor on the eastern seaboard and blockade Marshall Plan shipments.

Workers also struck on the Boston waterfront in protest against contract terms tentatively approved by their union leaders and the latter voiced fears tonight that an additional 55,000 workers may join the walkout.

If the strike is extended to other eastern ports by the AFL strikers it will effect virtual paralysis of all United States maritime operations.

MEMORIES REVIVED HERE

Events Of First Armistice Day Recalled By World War I Vets

ALTHOUGH it seems many years ago and the events are somewhat overshadowed by the second World War, there are millions of Americans whose memories today will turn back to 1918 and another historic day in their and their country's history.

Turning back the pages 30 years, there are many in Lubbock today who will recall that first Armistice Day of 1918. Last night a few of them related events of just what they were doing at the time they heard that the first World War had ended.

Their memories today will go something like this:

George S. Berry, former state department commander and local attorney, was a private in the signal corps, stationed at Camp Vail, N.J., which is now Fort Monmouth. Berry recalled that the day was one of the hardest days of training and that the troops were drilled on into the night in preparations to go over as replacements in the Army of Occupation. The groups were later shipped out in small units until March of 1919. Church bells rang throughout the day.

G. Pat Cunningham, a travelling salesman here now, was a med-

C. O. Lynch Is Victim Of Traffic Mishap

CLIFTON O. Lynch, about 50, was killed last night about 7:35 o'clock when he was struck by a car in 2900 block of Ave. H, bringing Lubbock's traffic death toll in the city limits for the year to a total of five.

Lynch's death was the second traffic fatality within 24 hours in or near Lubbock. Raymond Peter Kolodziejczyk, 28-year-old Lubbock salesman died about 6:22 a. m. Wednesday in Lubbock Memorial hospital of injuries suffered when his car overturned about 2:05 a.m. on "Cemetery curve" on Slaton highway.

Lynch was dead on arrival at Lubbock Memorial hospital where he was taken from the scene of the accident by Rix Funeral home ambulance.

Traffic Light Changed

The driver of the car which struck Lynch, Arturo Altamirano, 29-year-old Latin-American farm worker on the R. E. Jones farm on Slaton highway, gave the following account of the mishap to an investigating police patrolman.

He was driving north on Ave. H, he said, and had slowed down to stop for a red signal light at the intersection of Thirtieth street, but the light changed to green just before he reached the intersection.

Proceeding across Thirtieth and regaining speed, he said he felt something strike the car and saw a body "fly up on the hood of the car."

He had been following a car about 50 feet ahead, he stated, and did not see the victim before he was hit.

Damage to the right front fender of the car, just above the wheel, and to the hood well up on top toward the windshield indicated that Lynch had stepped from the curb into the side of the car's right front, the police accident report indicated. The victim had apparently come from across the lot on which South Plains Monument company is located, it was believed.

Lubbock Man's Injuries Fatal

Raymond Peter Kolodziejczyk, 28, Lubbock salesman, died in Lubbock Memorial hospital at 8:25 a. m. Wednesday of injuries suffered four hours earlier in an automobile accident on the Slaton highway.

Kolodziejczyk was driving a 1948 heavy sedan around "Cemetery curve" when he lost control of the car, which overturned. Jeff D. Alderson, about 30, owner of the automobile in which the two were riding, was not injured.

Crashed Into Safety Posts

Funeral services will be conducted in St. Joseph's Catholic church in Slaton at 9 a. m. Friday with the priest, Rev. T. G. O'Brien, officiating. Interment will be in Slaton cemetery, under direction of Williams Funeral home of Slaton.

Pallbearers will be Roman Verkamp, Gilbert Verkamp, Hugo Mosser, Walter Bednarz, Willie Henrich and George Wenzler.

According to reports by investigating Texas Highway patrolmen, Kolodziejczyk and Alderson were driving east on Slaton highway at about 55 miles per hour. Kolodziejczyk, driving, was unable to negotiate the turn and the car crashed into three "safety" posts east of the highway, knocking them down.

The car overturned two or three times. It was demolished. Kolodziejczyk was thrown 30 or 40 feet clear of the car.

A Sanders Funeral home ambulance rushed to the scene and

Wildcat In Borden County Gives Indication Of Oil In Test; Other Area Wells Make Showings

H. L. Hunt No. 1 Clayton & Johnson, south central Borden county wildcat, five miles south of Gail, recovered 1,620 feet of clean oil on a drillstem test in a lime section at 6,493-6,523 feet. The tool was open for two hours. The oil was between 32 and 34 degrees gravity. No water was developed.

The section making the petroleum is thought to be in the lower Permian.

The project is drilling ahead and at last report had reached 6,594 feet in lime and shale.

Gas Not Gauged

During the drillstem test some gas showed at the surface after 14 minutes. It continued for most of the remainder of the period. It was not gauged or estimated.

No fluid flowed out at the surface. In addition to the 1,620 feet of oil, the final recovery was 90 feet of drilling mud, slightly cut with oil, and 90 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud.

Since drilling ahead from the bottom of the section tested no further indications of oil or gas have been reported.

This development is 660 feet from south and west lines of the north half of section 24, block 31, TP survey. T-4-N. It was originally started to go to around 8,000 feet to test the Ellenburger.

Champlin Refining company No. 1-F University, central-southwest Andrews county wildcat, between the Block 12 field and the West Parker Devonian pool, swabbed 120 barrels of oil and 120 barrels of water in 24 hours.

Pumps Being Installed

The oil came from perforated section in the Clear Fork-Permian at 7,137-67 feet, where two shots of acid had been injected.

The well would not flow steadily, and operator is now installing a pump to test and complete as an extender to the Block 12 Clear Fork pay.

It is located 660 feet from south and east lines of section 34, block 12, University survey.

With no oil shows logged below 4,950 feet, Tide Water Associated Oil company No. 1 Turner, northwest Dawson county wildcat, was plugging back to around that depth to try for completion.

The venture developed signs of possible production on a drillstem test above 4,950 feet. It drilled on down to 5,061 feet and found that section barren.

The prospective pay is in the San Andres. Pipe is to be run into the formation, and the project is to start testing through perforations.

Producer In Scurry

It is located 660 feet from north and east lines of the south half of section 2, block C-39, psl survey. That puts it a mile and a half northwest of Welch.

A discovery from the Pennsylvanian lime in central Scurry has been completed by Magnolia Petroleum company at its No. 1 Winston, 330 feet from north and west lines of tract 72, Kirkland & Fields survey No. 37, 3½ miles southwest of the town of Snyder.

Through perforations at 7,429-42 feet, the development pumped 67 barrels of 33.4 gravity oil, plus 24 barrels of salt water in 24 hours. Gas-oil ratio was 31-1.

The project is now on commercial production.

Other Wells in Scurry

Sandard Oil company of Texas drillstem tested its No. 1 Jesse Brown, et al, discovery from the Pennsylvanian in southwest Scurry county, nine miles southwest of Snyder.

The tool was open an hour at 6,313-33 feet. Recovery was 16 feet of drilling mud, slightly cut with oil and gas. There were no shows of water. More hole is being made.

Location is 1,880 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 440, block 97, H&TC survey.

Sun Oil company No. 2 Schattell, southeast Scurry county venture, about five miles southwest of Snyder, and a diagonal northwest outpost to the discovery for flowing production from a Pennsylvanian lime to open the Schattell field, has possibly found a new and deeper pay for that region.

It missed production in the zone which is making the petroleum in the No. 1 Schattell. That section is at 6,868-91 feet. That well was finished for a potential of 479.7 barrels of oil per day.

Test Made in Lime

No. 2 Schattell, located 660 feet from north and west lines of section 186, block 97, H&TC survey, took a one hour drillstem test at 7,851-86 feet in an unidentified lime.

There was a slight blow of air for a part of the period. Recovery was the 1,500-foot water cushion, which was slightly cut with oil and gas, and 180 feet of heavily oil and gas cut drilling fluid. There was no formation water.

A core at 7,886-96 feet, had a recovery of two feet of hard, tight lime, bleeding oil, and with 100 per cent fluoresence.

Operator was running a drillstem test at 7,866-96 feet, at the time this report was prepared.

Seaboard No. 2 Lee, southeast Dawson county wildcat, ran a drillstem test at 10,650-663.5 feet, in a lime section which may be in the top of the Devonian.

The tool was open 30 minutes. Recovery was the 1,000-foot water cushion and 30 feet of drilling mud, with no shows of oil, gas or water. The prospector drilled ahead to 10,688 feet and is taking another test.

Some geologists picked the top of the Devonian to be at 10,648 feet. The venture is 440 feet from north and east lines of section 47, block 34, TP survey. T-5-N.

Gaines Drilling Continues

Shell Oil company, Inc., No. 1 Hawkins, south-central Gaines county discovery for heavy oil production from the Devonian between 10,272-508 feet, had reached 10,604 feet in an unidentified dolomite formation, and was making more hole.

The current horizon is apparently not showing any indication of oil or gas.

The well is two and one-half miles southwest of the Robertson field, where the production is from the lower Permian above 7,500 feet. It is 15 miles south and a little west of Seminole, and 1,983 feet from north and 665 feet from east lines of section 8, block A-23, psl survey.

It may be carried on down to around 12,500 feet to explore into the Ellenburger before it tests further on the Devonian and Clear Fork pay sections through which it has already drilled.

Winter Grain Crop Outlook Is Improved

AUSTIN, Nov. 10. (U.P.) — The U. S. Department of Agriculture reported marked improvement for Texas' winter grain crop today after recent rains in the northern high plains.

Wheat up to a stand in the area was making good growth, the USDA said, and rains also aided in completion of seeding operations.

In the low rolling plains there were some helpful scattered showers, but the Agricultural department said general rains were needed for that Region's crop.

Rains also were needed in north-central Texas and in the Edwards plateau, while the drouth also was delaying seeding of winter cover crops in East Texas.

For the winter vegetable crop, favorable conditions were reported. Growers were cultivating early-planted crops such as beets, broccoli, cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, onions and spinach.

The USDA reported that solid carlot movement was light, but expected supplies to be plentiful for movement starting the week of Nov. 8-13.

Bullitt Claims Effort Made To Block Visit To China

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (U.P.)— Sen. Styles Bridges, R., N. H., charged today that the State department tried to block former Ambassador William C. Bullitt's investigative mission to China.

He said Bullitt told him shortly before leaving yesterday that "someone" in the department had tried to stop his trip to the Far East. Bullitt, former envoy to France and Russia, is investigating the $400,000,000 China aid program for Bridges' congressional "watchdog" committee.

Bridges declined to identify the State department official who allegedly sought to block the trip.

A frequent critic of administration policies toward China, Bullitt will report to the congressional committee shortly before Christmas. Bridges said his findings will be made public.

PROPOSALS TO BE SUBMITTED

U. S. Plans First Step Toward Defense Pact With West Europe

By DARRELL GARWOOD
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The State department announced today that first formal steps will be taken next week toward linking the United States and western Europe in a defensive military alliance.

A draft of the alliance proposals is to be submitted by the other participating countries — Great Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg—in the first of a chain of events crystallizing the issue.

The next step is expected to be a full dress international conference to draft an alliance treaty acceptable to all six countries.

Vandenberg Plan Is Guide

In this connection, President Truman will confer with congressional leaders of both parties to receive their proposals and objections concerning clauses which the treaty should contain.

The final step will be submission of the epochal treaty to the new U. S. Senate in January.

State department officials said the treaty will follow the lines of the Vandenberg resolution passed by Congress last spring, and probably will contain:

1. A provision for immediate assistance from the other five countries in case any one of them is attacked.

Extends Monroe Doctrine

2. Provision for U. S. military aid to the other countries to keep them strong against attack.

3. No provision for assistance in case of "internal disorders," such as a Communist uprising in one of the countries.

The treaty would in effect extend the Monroe doctrine to that Trans-Atlantic portion of the globe in which the State department considers America is defensively and economically most interested.

In some respects, it would go farther than the Monroe doctrine, which is a world-recognized policy defending South America but has never been formalized by treaty.

Defense Secretary Forrestal is in Europe to see top military, government and diplomatic officials, and it is assumed that he will discuss the projected treaty with some of them.

Forrestal will visit London, Paris, Frankfurt and Berlin, and will confer with Secretary of State Marshall and ECA Ambassador to Europe Harriman among others.

The State department's agenda also calls for full consultations with Canada, which will be invited to participate in the formal treaty discussions.

State department officials said the U. S. has been seeking to speed conclusion of the alliance ever since the Vandenberg resolution was passed. The resolution authorized any association with regional groups of nations within the framework of the UN charter which would further national security.

Negroes May Seek To Obtain Admission To Oklahoma A. And M.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 10. (AP)—Negroes probably will seek admission to Oklahoma A&M college as well as the University of Oklahoma within the next year, the state president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored people said today.

Dr. H. W. Williamson, Idabel, said the Oklahoma executive board of the NCAAP met last night and agreed to press its fight for equal school opportunities on the graduate level.

Negroes already have an opening wedge in Oklahoma's traditional all-white schools. G. W. McLaurin, retired Oklahoma City professor, was admitted to the O. U. graduate school last month and now attends classes, although "segregated" from his fellow students.

To Continue Drive

Williamson was interviewed today as the state meeting of the NCAAP opened in the Tabernacle Baptist church here.

Asked if the push for equality will be extended to other schools, the state president replied, "Yes."

The only other graduate school of any consequence in Oklahoma is at A&M in Stillwater.

"I know of 30 or 40 negro students who want graduate training," Williamson said. "I don't know just which ones will apply for admission, or at which school, but we are going to continue to prosecute our educational fight.

"We don't feel the state is able to build separate graduate schools, or that building them would be fair to the taxpayers."

Williamson said the negro organization is interested in schooling only on the graduate level at present time, and has no plans to promote undergraduate enrollment. Oklahoma already has an undergraduate school for negroes, Langston university.

AFTER THIRTY YEARS

AMERICANS will pause in their occupations today to pay tribute to a young man who sleeps in a white tomb beside the quiet Potomac—the Unknown Soldier. Prayers will be said, taps will sound, tears will be shed and men from our greatest statesmen to the most humble citizen will stand at attention, remembering the significance of "rest in honored glory" of this "American soldier known but to God." Because this is Armistice Day.

Thirty years ago the first wreath was laid solemnly upon the grave of our Unknown Soldier. Thirty years ago the world seemed safe for democracy. The war to end war had brought perpetual peace—so we thought. In the most impressive ceremony our country has ever known the body of a boy was laid to rest in his homeland.

Mystery as to the identity of the Unknown Soldier added strange beauty to the ceremony and still holds in the presence of his tomb. No one will ever know who it is that sleeps there, loaded with the honors no other American has ever known. He is the symbol of our tragedy and of our pride in our World war dead. He taught us the need for love, for pity, for the courage to be sane.

Or did he?

THERE on that wind-swept Virginia hillside he is far from the old battlefields he knew. But his memory is mocked by the bitter irony of a second World war. Since that ceremony thirty years ago revolution, invasion, civil war, struggle, envy, greed and terrorism have swept the world.

This is a day of remembrance. Today we would that men in every corner of our great land would recall the words of the poem: "If ye break faith with us who die, we shall not sleep." We have not kept the faith passed on to us by a boy who gave his life for a dream; the dream of a world of free men and free nations.

PUMPKIN PIE

TIME was when baking a pumpkin pie called for a lot of work—preparing the pumpkin and baking a crust which might and might not turn out all right. But today it is as simple as 1-2-3.

The other day Libby's director of home economics sent us a can of solid pack custard, evaporated milk, pie crust mix and just about everything else, included sugar and spices, and all we needed to add to the mix was the eggs. It whipped up in no time and we certainly recommend it as the world's easiest pumpkin pie.

Incidentally, Libby's custard pumpkin is packed in both 1 pie and 2 pie cans.

Japs Alarmed As Communists Gain

TOKYO, Nov. 10 (INS) — Japanese editorials are registering increasing alarm at Communist military successes in China.

They term the Communist victories as a "red tide" which threatens to engulf all of Asia including Japan.

Most of the editorials generally agree that only immediate and effective American military aid to Chiang Kai-Shek can stem the tide of Communism in China which is interpreted as a direct threat to Japan.

Korea Claimed Example

The newspaper Dai Ichi said: "It is a matter of common knowledge today that whether or not Asia turns Communist depends on Communists' domination of China.

"Japan is . . . suffering the effects of defeat and is also standing at a cross roads. She is faced with the problem of choosing between Democracy built on the pattern promoted in Western Europe or the 'new Democracy' fostered in Eastern Europe."

In urging American support for Chiang, the newspaper warned that intensification of U. S. aid may turn the "cold war in Asia" into a real war at "any moment."

Jiji Shimpo pointed out that since "Japan can only depend upon Far Eastern trade for its recovery, it will be hard hit by communization of far Eastern nations."

Jiji also noted that Russia has deemed North Korea strong enough to remove her occupation forces but that American troops must remain in South Korea to support that "feeble" government.

Fat Is Not a Nice Word When Applied to the Body

Don't say it's your thyroid while reaching for the box of chocolates. Possibly one bulgy person in 100 has some glandular disturbance and that is truly a case for a physician. Never take any treatment for a gland condition without your doctor's advice. But for the other 99 per cent who are trying to fight the "Battle of the Bulges" common sense is the watchword. It is not necessary to overeat and it is not necessary to go hungry, either. Furthermore, it just doesn't make sense to go on a strenuous diet—take off weight and then quickly put it back on again when the diet period is over. For it is obvious that one cannot continue a starvation diet over a protracted period. Within the last year or so, several diet and vitamin "plans" have appeared on the market, which means cut down on the food intake and fortify with vitamins for hunger distress. But as mentioned above, you can't keep this up very long and when you quit — back comes the fat.

An exhaustive survey recently made among Texas druggists showed one outstanding reducing aid is not based on the diet and vitamin "plan." It allows you to eat plenty. You eat all you want but you eat LESS. Sounds like double talk, but it isn't. It definitely stops you from eating more than necessary for the energy you spend. At the same time, it dehydrates and eliminates.

Nearly one and a half million bottles of this preparation, called Barcentrate has been sold in Texas in the past four years.

You can get a four-ounce bottle of Barcentrate from any Texas druggist. Mix with 12 ounces of canned grapefruit juice and take just two tablespoonsful twice a day.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose that ugly fat, the makers agree to refund your money.

WOULD SOFTEN CIVIL RIGHTS PLAN

Southern Senators Ready For Compromise On HST's Program

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10. (U.P.)—Some southern senators are willing to drop plans for a civil rights filibuster if President Truman will compromise on his sweeping racial rights program, it was learned today.

A possible compromise being discussed by these southern Democrats would call for Mr. Truman to soft-pedal demands for fair employment practice commission legislation.

The Dixie senators, in turn, would agree not to filibuster against anti-poll tax and anti-lynching bills. Those measures are considered certain to pass the House. There is sufficient support in the Senate, too, but southern states' righters can put oh a talkathon there and keep them from a final vote.

In Demo Platform

All three measures were pledged in the Democratic platform, and have been advocated repeatedly by President Truman. It was his strong civil rights stand that led to formation of the splinter States' Rights Democratic party.

The compromise movement is only starting and is far from being assured of success. One southern senator who preferred that his name not be used said he was encouraged by the reception given by both sides to a possible compromise.

But one northern Democrat was cool to it. He felt that Mr. Truman had a good chance to push through his entire civil rights program while still riding an election victory tide.

This Democrat said it might be the time to change Senate rule to limit filibusters and then to settle the civil rights fight for good. Republicans had planned, if they had retained control of the Senate, to change the filibuster rule to gag the southerners.

Filibuster Threatened

Southerners indicated they would filibuster to the bitter end if compromise efforts fail and administration forces try to enact President Truman's whole civil rights program.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D., Ark., said in an interview that it was "reasonable to assume" efforts would be made for a compromise "in the hope of avoiding a Senate filibuster" and getting "as much party unity as possible."

Any compromise to have a chance of being accepted by a majority of southern senators, he said, would have to eliminate the fair employment practice commission legislation.

He said he opposed anti-poll tax and anti-lynching legislation on grounds they "encroached on states rights." Otherwise, he said, they in themselves are not so bad.

"But, to me," McClellan added, "the FEPC is indefensible, in principle and in practice."

German Trusts To Be Divided

FRANKFURT, Nov. 10. (U.P.)—Western Germany's iron, coal and steel trusts were ordered broken up into separate companies and returned to German hands today by the U. S. and British military governments.

The vast Friederich Krupp munitions combine also was ordered dissolved.

The military governments said they will appoint German trustees for the new iron, coal and steel companies after consulting appropriate German bodies.

"The trustees will exercise all functions of ownership except that they shall not distriubte earnings and shall not be entitled to dispose of the shares or capital assets of their companies without approval of the military government," the Anglo-American announcement said.

No Final Decision

The question of eventual ownership was left open. Britain's labor government has been pressing for nationalization of the industries.

But the announcement said the final decision must be made by "a representative freely-elected government, either for Germany as a whole or for Western Germany alone . . . without the limitations of military government policy already expressed."

The announcement flatly barred any future ownership involving "excessive concentration of economic powers." It also said those who permitted and encouraged the aggressive designs of the Nazi party would not be permitted to own or control the industries.

Altogether, 26 companies, including the Krupp industrial empire, were declared "excessive concentrations of economic power" and otherwise objectionable. They were ordered liquidated forthwith.

New laws will be put into effect "in the near future," the announcement said, providing for the transfer of the iron, coal and steel industries into German trusteeship.

Scrap Metal Will Be Returned To U.S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (U.P.)—Rep. Lindley Beckworth, (D) Tex., today made public a letter from the Department of the Army disclosing that approximately 225,000 tons of Army-generated scrap probably will be returned to the United States by the fall of 1949.

Beckworth had written Secretary Kenneth Royall of the Department of the Army concerning the amount of scrap that can be obtained from Germany for use in the United States.

The letter was answered at Royall's request by Col. C. G. Blakeney of the legislative and liaison division. Of 225,000 tons expected to be returned to the U. S., the letter to the Texas Congressman said 50,000 tons already had been shipped to this country.

The letter added:

"It is estimated that 2,000,000 tons of German indigenous scrap could be made available for export within the next year from the bizonal area (United States-United Kingdom) of Germany. Under an agreement recently made between the United States and the United Kingdom, the United States is to receive approximately 800,000 tons of the total mentioned above; the United Kingdom 800,000 and other countries 400,000. The United States allotment of 800,000 tons is expected to be returned to the United States by Sept. 30, 1949."

Appeals Court Refuses To Disturb 20-Year Sentence

AUSTIN, Nov. 10. (AP)—The Court of Criminal Appeals today refused to disturb a conviction and 20-year sentence on a plea of newly discovered evidence which the court said "could have been discovered before the trial by the exercise of ordinary diligence."

The court affirmed the conviction of Guillermo Everett for murder in the slaying of Rudolfo Munoz in a San Diego sidewalk fight.

The appeal presented that Everett's father had learned that only one bullet had entered the body of Munoz rather than the two bullets alleged in trial court court procedings.

"One accused of crime will not be permitted to remain idle until after he is tried and convicted and then seek a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence which could have been discovered before the trial by the exercise of ordinary diligence," the appeal's court's written opinion said.

Decision To Stick By Agreement To Invade Europe Across Channel Seen As Major Factor In Victory

who seemed to be self-seeking in the matter of promotion.

Pressure from any source, in favor of any individual in the Army, was more likely than not to boomerang if the Chief of Staff became aware of its existence. I was in his office one day when some one called him on the telephone, apparently to urge the promotion of some friend in the Army. His answer was, "If the man is a friend of yours, the best service you can do him is to avoid mentioning his name to me."

Against Buck-Passing

Another thing that annoyed him was any effort to "pass the buck," especially to him. Often he remarked that he could get a thousand men to do detailed work but too many were useless in responsible posts because they left to him the necessity of making every decision.

By the same token he had nothing but scorn for any man who attempted "to do everything himself"—he believed that the man who worked himself to tatters on minor details had no ability to handle the more vital issues of war. Another type General Marshall disliked was the truculent personality—the man who confused firmness and strength with bad manners and deliberate discourtesy. He also avoided those with too great a love of the limelight.

AGAIN, General Marshall could not stand the pessimist—the individual who was always painting difficulties in the darkest colors and was excessively fearful of the means at hand for overcoming them. He would never assign an officer to a responsible position unless he believed that the man was an enthusiastic supporter of the particular project and confident of the outcome. He believed in the offensive.

Through the twenty-four hours of each day a steady stream of reports on action taken, appeals for reinforcements and supply, requests for decisions, summaries of intelligence, poured into Operations Division from every continent and from the islands of the Pacific still held by us and our Allies. Occasionally trivial in content, most often far-reaching in strategic import, sometimes inspiring and sometimes calamitous, the decoded messages that crossed my desk during those days were constant reminders that America was engaged in a global war, fighting a desperate delaying battle in some places where heroic men still held out, in others building the bases and extending the air and sea pathways for a counteroffensive, persistently striving to inch forward on a front that circled the earth.

Interruptions Many

The study of messages received and the preparation of those to be sent were interrupted constantly by conferences on a multitude of topics with representatives of all the armed services, with government officials and industrial leaders, and with Allied agents.

Most of the conferences were held in my own office. Out of them were developed decisions, many minor, but some of great significance. Each required action at some point within the Operations division or the War department or at some remote point where troops of the Army were stationed.

To insure that none would be forgotten and that records for subordinates would always be available, we had resorted to an automatic recording system that proved most effective.

THE method was a complete wiring of my war room with dictaphones so placed as to pick up every decision and agreement into Conversations were thus recorded on a machine just outside my office where a secretary instantly transcribed them into notes and memoranda for the benefit of my associates in the Operations division.

As a consequence, and often without further reference to me, the staff was able to translate every dicision and agreement into appropriate action and to preserve such records as were necessary.

I made it a habit to inform visitors of the system that we used so that each would understand its purpose was merely to facilitate the execution of business. It saved me hours of work in the dictation of notes and directives and relieved my mind of the necessity of remembering every detail of fact and opinion that was presented to me.

Experience Sought

One problem that gave the War department continuing concern was that of securing practical battlefield experience for portions of the Army before the whole of it should finally be thrown into a life-and-death struggle.

One morning we received a suggestion that appeared so completely sensible that the entire operations staff started to work on it. The idea was to ship one of our armored divisions to reinforce the British Army in the Egyptian desert. Then when definite American need for this division arose we would bring out only the personnel, leaving its equipment as replacement items for the British forces.

For commander of such a unit my mind turned instantly to one of my oldest friends, Major General George S. Patton, jr., who was not only a tank expert but an outstanding leader of troops. I was astonished to find my choice flatly opposed by a considerable portion of the staff, but I was convinced that this was due entirely to Patton's rather bizarre mannerisms and his sometimes unpredictable actions. He conformed to no pattern—a circumstance that made many fearful of his ability to fit into a team.

SUCH doubts had no influence with me because of my confidence in his fighting heart and my conviction that he would provide effective leadership for combat troops. I felt that I knew him well because, at the end of the first World War, he and I had formed a fast friendship that could even include heated, sometimes almost screaming, argument over matters that more often than not were doctrinal and academic rather than personal or materia'

With approval of the Chief of Staff, I called Patton to Washington and, though I knew the answer in advance, asked him whether he was willing to step down from command of his training corps to take a division into actual battle.

His answer was in pleasing contrast to that of another corps commander who, when asked to take command of an American combat corps in the Pacific, declined on the basis that it was not fitting that he, a senior corps commander, should serve under an Australian "amateur" soldier.

Project Defeated

The desert project for the employment of Patton's division was defeated largely by lack of available shipping.

Development of the Operations division went so well that my key assistants and I gradually gained more time for thinking and study. We could safely leave routine operations in the hands of a group of outstanding young staff officers, supervised by Brigadier Generals Thomas T. Handy, Matthew B. Ridgway and Robert W. Crawford, and Colonels John E. Hull and Albert C. Wedemeyer, all of whom came into deserved Army prominence before the end of the war.

THE question before the War department resolved itself into the selection of the exact line of operations along which the potential power of the United States would be best directed against the European Axis. This decision, once reached, would be the guiding principle of the war until Germany was defeated; all other operations and efforts would necessarily be considered as auxiliary or secondary to the main thrust, and would be designed either to defend vital links in our defensive structure or to support the principal effort when once the main attacking forces should be ready.

By comparison with other possible avenues of approach, considering the need for concentration, quick access to the heart of the enemy country, avoidance of impassable terrain obstacles, and rapidity of build-up, the best choice was invasion of northwest Europe, using England as a base.

Obstacle Encountered

All these things were so obvious as to be axiomatic; there was no quarrel. But from that point on we encountered the obstacle on which all discussions split and practically exploded in our faces. This was a very definite conviction, held by some of our experienced soldiers, sailors, and airmen, that the fortified coast of western Europe could not be successfully attacked. Already much was known of the tremendous effort the German was making to insure integrity of his Atlantic wall. Moreover, a considerable amount of the German Air Force could still be disposed in those areas, and important elements of his fleet were lying in the harbors of northern France, in Norway, and in the Baltic Sea. The coast line was crowded with U-boat nests, while undersea mining was rapidly covering every possible approach.

A very few—initially a very, very few—took a contrary view. General Marshall, who had already been informed of the basic conception on which we were working, was one of the believers. Others were Major Generals McNarney and Carl Spaatz of the Air Corps, while my little band of faithful asistants in the Operations division, including Generals Handy and Crawford, and Colonels Hull and Wedemeyer, were nothing less than enthusiasts.

IN the aggregate, not many officers were really aware of the existence of the project, nor had they heard any of the great arguments pro and con that went into its making. Many with whom we had to consult were always ready to express doubts of the blackest character, but these never discouraged the group responsible for the preparation of the project.

This group held that if we would plan for an operation on the assumptions that our Air Force would be, at the chosen moment, overwhelming in strength; that the German air forces would be virtually swept from the skies and our air bombers could practically isolate the attack area from rapid reinforcement; that the U-boat would be so effectively countered that our convoys could count with comparative certainty on making a safe Atlantic crossing; that our supporting naval vessels would be present in strength to batter down local defenses and that specialized landing craft could be available in such numbers as to make possible the rapid pouring ashore of a great army through an initial breach—then the assault against the Atlantic wall was not only practicable but would lead to the definite defeat of Germany. Moreover, this tiny group solidly held that no other operation could do more than peck at the outer perimeter of the German defense; that unless this particular campaign were undertaken the prospect of defeating Germany on land was completely black.

Reasons Drawn Up

These reasons and supporting arguments, coupled with a great number of technical papers, were finally drawn up in a tentative strategic outline for presentation to the Chief of Staff. He had been aware, of course, of its preparation.

With his usual receptiveness and openmindedness, General Marshall invited a full explanation of this scheme. The burden of proof was on us, but the critical point, the very basis of the whole plan, had to be taken almost on faith.

This basis was the conviction that through an overpowering air force, numbering its combat strength in thousands rather than in hundreds, the German's defenses could be beaten down or neutralized, his communications so badly impaired as to make counterconcentration difficult, his air force swept from the skies, and that our ground armies would have an ever-present asset of incalculable power. Without this conviction the whole plan was visionary. Yet there was no way of proving this particular point because, among other things, the airplanes we needed did not then exist.

The Chief of Staff listened patiently through long presentations, and at the end said, "This is it. I approve."

He immediately conferred with Admiral King and General Arnold, who also approved. The next step was to secure the approval of the President. Then our allies would have to be convinced.

THE President directed General Marshall to proceed to London. With him went Mr. Harry L. Hopkins, intimate assistant of the President. They departed April 7.

During the succeeding months I was to have many meetings with Mr. Hopkins. Preoccupied with the war, I never learned, at first hand, much about his personal political philosophy, a subject of bitter argument throughout his tour of public service in Washington. But he was almost fanatically loyal to the President and his loyalty did not hesitate to express itself, when he deemed it necessary, in opposition and prolonged argument.

He had a grasp of the broad factors in military problems that was almost phenomenal and he was selflessly devoted to the purpose of expediting victory. He never spared himself, even during those periods when his health was so bad that his doctors ordered him to bed. His function as a lieutenant to the President with an endless variety of jobs, mainly concerned with the prosecution of the war, absorbed his full attention and made him a most important figure.

Agreement Reached

Concerning the details of the negotiations in London, General Marshall has never talked to me. I do know that he came back with the agreement between the British and American governments to make the attack across the English Channel the principal offensive effort of the two governments in Europe. This decision was made in April, 1942.

History has proved that nothing is more difficult in war than to adhere to a single strategic plan. Unforeseen and glittering promise on the one hand and unexpected difficulty or risk upon the other present constant temptation to desert the chosen line of action in favor of another. This one was no exception—realization of the plan was far removed from its making, and countless occasions were to arise when argument, blandishment, and exhortation would seek its abandonment. But the war in Europe was finally won because through every trial and every temptation—in spite of difficulty, delay, pressure, and profitable preliminary operations in the Mediterranean which themselves offered a temptation to forsake the original concept—the President, General Marshall, and many others never wavered from their purpose of launching a full-out invasion of Europe across the English Channel at the earliest practicable moment.

In May, 1942, General Eisenhower was sent to London to make a quick survey of our forces in Great Britain. Less than a month later, he prepared a draft directive for the commanding general of the European theater of operations, and General Marshall suddenly told him that he was the man who would also carry out the directive.

In June of the same year, he went back to London again to begin the great crusade for Europe. Plans were made and discarded, public pressure for a "second front" was growing, the United States was transforming the British Isles into a platform for invasion of the Continent. On July 24, the invasion of Africa known by the code word "Torch" was decided on, and Eisenhower was named to command it. This is described in tomorrow's installment of "Crusade in Europe," which will be published here.

Brownfield Negro Is Held In Connection With Thefts

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 10 — A charge of burglary has been filed against George Jackson, 35-year-old Brownfield negro, accused of breaking into the Brownfield News office and stealing a radio belonging to Charles Didway, editor.

The negro, arrested at his home here Saturday morning by Chief of Police Houston Hamilton, has also admitted breaking into eight other places, including the Crescent Hill Church of Christ, according to Ocie H. Murry, Terry county sheriff.

More than $100 in money and other loot was said to have been taken by the negro from a steam laundry, a cafe, a plumbing and electric shop, a lumber company office, a hatchery, a furniture store, and an implement store.

Most of the loot, including the radio taken from the newspaper office, has been recovered, according to the sheriff. The burglar is said to have overlooked a large sum of money in the church, which he entered by prying open a door.

Brownfield officers are also investigating the burglary Monday night of a service station here. More than $110 was taken from a safe, which was battered open after entrance to the office was gained through a back door.

Four District Titles In Balance As Busy Texas Schoolboy Weekend Starts Today

Hale Center Is Host To Dimmitt

It's "Katy, bar the gate" tomorrow night at Hale Center when the Owls play host to the Dimmitt Bobcats in the District 3-B conference game that will decide that race as surely as Pres. Truman decided his.

The Owls have won six conference games without defeat, the same as Dimmitt, but they still will go into the game as the underdogs. The Bobcat record is more impressive and they have shown the greater offensive power.

Three other conference games will be played Friday night, with Springlake invading Amherst, Olton visiting Friona and Petersburg going to Whitharral.

Dimmitt Has Strength

Dimmitt has shown overpowering strength in winning every game on the schedule by a wide margin and off the basis of their scores, they hold a wide edge on a good Hale Center eleven. Dimmitt trounced Anton 40-6 and Hale Center won its game 27-7. The Bobcats trampled Friona 34-0, while the Owls won 13-6. A weak Amherst team was rolled by Dimmitt 53-0, while Hale Center won 43-0. Springlake held Hale Center to 20-19, but Dimmitt won 45-12. And Whitharral was smothered 33-0 by Hale Center, while the Bobcats roared to a 45-7 victory.

Springlake's Wolverines also have a wide edge on Amherst's Bulldogs and should retain third place. The Wolverines have scored victories over Olton, Anton, Friona and Petersburg, while losing to Dimmitt and Hale Center. Their comparative scores show Springlake losing to Dimmitt 45-12, while Amherst lost 53-0. Springlake beat Olton 20-7, but Amherst lost 48-7. Springlake beat Anton 31-12, while Amherst won only 6-0. The Wolverines edged Friona 7-0, a team that beat Amherst 20-12. Hale Center nosed Springlake 20-19, but swamped Amherst 43-0. And Petersburg lost to Springlake 48-13, while the Buffaloes licked Amherst 34-19.

Close Game Seen

The game between Friona and Olton might be close, but the edge apparently lies with Olton. The Mustangs beat Petersburg 14-0, while Friona won 19-13. The Mustangs walloped Amherst 48-7, Friona won 20-12. Olton was beaten by Springlake 20-7, Friona lost 7-0. Olton took the Whitharral eleven 20-0, Friona swamped them 47-0. And both teams lost to Dimmitt, Olton by 32-13 and Friona by 34-0.

Petersburg's Golden Buffaloes rate a slight nod over Whitharral in a game that could, according to comparative scores, go either way. Petersburg was beaten by Springlake 48-13, Whitharral by 18-0. The Buffs lost to Olton 14-0, Whitharral by 20-0. Petersburg beat Anton 18-6, but Whatharral lost 14-6. Friona beat Petersburg 19-13, Whitharral 47-0. And Hale Center scored almost the same triumph over each team, beating Petersburg 32-0, Whitharral 33-0.

Lamesa, Odessa In Feature 3-AA Tilt

LAMESA, Nov. 10 (Special)—Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes and the Odessa Broncos will meet in a District 3-AA grid tussle at Odessa Thursday afternoon at 2:30, with an overflow Armistice day crowd of 18,000 expected for the formal dedication of the new Bronco stadium.

The Broncos, who defeated strong Sweetwater last week, have only Lamesa and Midland barring their way to another district crown. Odessa is now ranked as the No. 5 team in the state and is rated as a six-touchdown favorite over the Lamesans.

Golden Tornado Mentor Bob Harrell, a former roommate and assistant to Odessa's Joe Coleman, reported today that his squad is in good shape for the final road game of the season.

Several hundred Lamesa fans are expected to make the holiday trek to the Ector county city to see the first meeting of a Harrell-coached eleven and a team tutored by the canny Coleman.

Team Drills Against Bulldog T Attack

Scrimmage Features Westerner Workout

Any possibility that the Lubbock High Westerners would "coast" this week, while drilling for their District 1-AA tussle with the Plainview Bulldogs here Saturday afternoon at Jones stadium, was shattered as Coach Pat Pattison sent the Hub city schoolboys through a stiff scrimmage session Wednesday afternoon at Chapman field.

Every gridder on the squad saw plenty of action in the rough setto, both on offense and defense, and leather popped as the "Gold" and "White" teams alternated in carrying the ball toward paydirt. The "Whites," sparked by Backs Wayne Stroud and Malcolm Young and a forward wall bulwarked by Bob Rooker, Ted Vaught, Lloyd Willis and Morris Moyers, showed more strength in the tussle; but the "Golds" churned for long yardage with Backs Bobby Brown and Donald Decker handling the leather-lugging chores.

Squad In Good Shape

Most of the Lubbock squad members came through the session in top shape, although End Billy Wright received a cut lip and Decker's ankle was slighlly sprained. Both boys should be in good condition for the annual clash with the Bulldogs, however.

Coach Pattison reported that the Westerners will hold a drill this morning at Chapman field, in a change from the usual afternoon practice periods, with the mentors drilling the gridders on defensive assignments against Plainview's tricky T-formation attack. A final session Friday afternoon will close the Lubbock preparations for the tilt, mentors said.

Halftime Program

Lubbock officials also announced that a display of Lubbock "boy-power" will feature the halftime program during the Lubbock-Plainview clash. More than 600 football squad members, who have competed with the 22 teams in the Lubbock public school system this season, will be in uniform at the game and will appear on the field during the halftime program.

Teams to be represented include the Cowhands, Pioneers, the six junior high elevens, the Dunbar High Panthers and the 13 grade school teams.

A crowd of approximately 9,000 persons is expected to be on hand for the final home game of the season for the Westerners, and the attendance may be boosted by large delegations from South Plains towns.

Tickets for the game will be on sale all this week at the Senior High school athletic office, E. J. Lowrey has announced, as well as at Jones stadium before the tilt. Plenty of good seats are still available, Lowrey emphasized.

O.L. Slaton Nips Littlefield, 32-6

Lubbock's O. L. Slaton Junior High Redskins combined a slashing ground attack with timely aerials to chalk up a 32-6 victory over the battling Littlefield juniors Wednesday afternoon at Chapman field and clinch second place in the South Plains Junior High football league.

Coach Bennie McWilliams' Redskins wasted little time moving into the lead, tallying two quick touchdowns. Fullback Johnny Tatum scored the first six-pointer on a 50-yard sprint over right tackle early in the tilt. Minutes later Guard Bob Newell crashed across the double stripe on a tricky "guard around" play. Tatum passed to Bruce Willis for the extra point after the second touchdown.

Late in the second period the visitors capitalized on an alert defense to calk up their only counter. A pass by Redskin Quarterback Charles Brewer was intercepted by Littlefield's Kenneth Reel on the Littlefield 10-yard line, and the speedy halfback sprinted 90 yards to paydirt. The try for extra point failed and O. L. Slaton led at halftime, 13-6.

A long march to the goal line in the third stanza, with Halfback Bobby Sexton carrying over from three yards out, clinched the win for the Redskins. Later Quarterback Dickie Lowrey passed to End Richard Van Cleave for one of the late tallies, then Brewer rammed over from the one-yard marker for the final six points. Tatum kicked the last extra point to boost the count to 32-6.

In the initial encounter of the "double bill" Wednesday afternoon, the O. L. Slaton Warriors—seventh and eighth graders—gained a 7-6 win over the Littlefield junior "B" team.

Fullback C. D. Walker circled right end for 45 yards and a touchdown for the Warriors and Back Jerry Martin plunged for the game-winning extra point.

Littlefield tallied in the second period on a 61-yard touchdown jaunt by Fullback Jackie Beckner. The plunge for extra point failed.

PLAINVIEW JUNIORS DROP SEMINOLE SQUAD, 13-7

PLAINVIEW, Nov. 10 (Special)—Plainview's speedy juniors tallied in the first and fourth quarters to defeat the Seminole juniors, 13-7, in a South Plains loop tilt here this afternoon.

Plainview Quarterback Charles Harris scored in the initial period on a quarterback sneak, then passed to Lester Ramsey for the extra point.

The Seminole eleven tied the score in the third quarter, on a pass from Jim Ivey to Guy Nelson and an extra point plunge by Alfred Sims, but Plainview clinched the win on a touchdown gallop by Halfback Brian Bell.

LEVELLAND JUNIORS WIN 13-7 OVER LAMESA

LAMESA, Nov. 10 (Special)—Levelland's powerful juniors defeated the Lamesa juniors, 13-7, in a South Plains Junior grid loop tussle here this afternoon on McCollum field.

Lamesa's only score was made on a two-yard plunge by Quarterback Glen Caseilus.

Four Teams Lead In Texas Junior College Title Race

(By The Associated Press)

Ranger, Hillsboro, Navarro and Wharton County lead the Texas Junior College Conference race as it pounds down the stretch.

The Conference, made up of 19 schools, has two divisions—the north and the south zones.

The north zone has two divisions of its own, Ranger and Hillsboro are tied for the west region lead and Navarro tops the east region.

The south zone has only one division and Wharton is the only undefeated, untied team in Conference play.

Amarillo, Pampa In 1-AA Feature

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

A dozen games Thursday will start off one of the busiest weekends in Texas schoolboy football, with four district championships on the line.

Brownwood plays at Breckenridge in the feature Armistice Day clash. From this game will come the probable district 7 champion in class AA.

Two more titles will be in the balance Friday as Austin (El Paso) plays Bowie (El Paso) in district 4 and Henderson engages Texarkana in district 8.

Saturday Amarillo meets Pampa in a battle of teams unbeaten in district 1 Conference play.

All told there are 53 games on the tree-day card and 50 of them are Conference affairs.

Several Face Trouble

Several of the state's nine undefeated teams face trouble maintaining their status. Henderson and Amarillo, both of which are unbeaten and untied, face rugged tests indeed in Texarkana and Pampa. Milby of Houston, which is undefeated but has been tied, may run into difficulties against Orange.

Nine districts have undisputed leaders and some of them face the kind of opposition that could throw the standings into jumbles.

In the City Conference Woodrow Wilson (Dallas) leads district 1, Lamar (Houston) tops district 3 and Jefferson (San Antonio) paces district 4. This week Woodrow Wilson meets a dangerous contender in Adamson (Dallas). Lamar plays a John Reagan (Houston) team that battled Milby, a top contender for the district 3 title, to a 13-13 tie. Jefferson does not appear in for much trouble with San Antonio Tech.

In class AA, Wichita Falls is undisputed leader of district 2, Odessa of district 3, Highland Park (Dallas) of district 6, Port Arthur of district 11, Austin of district 13 and Alice of district 14. Wichita Falls plays Childress, Odessa engages Lamesa, Highland Park plays Sulphur Springs, Port Arthur entertains Port Neches, Austin takes on Victoria and Alice plays Kingsville. None of the district leaders is expected to encounter dangerous opposition.

Bowl Elevens Undecided

By CHARLES EINSTEIN
INS Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Northwestern's cherished hopes for a Rose Bowl bid are popularly supposed to rest on what the Wildcats do against Illinois Nov. 20—but it ain't necessarily so.

Should the underdog Wildcats manage to beat Notre Dame this Saturday, they could lose to Illinois and still get the nod, even if Minnesota, the other Rose Bowl "possible," wins its two remaining Conference games.

As of now, Northwestern has won four, lost one in Conference play; Minnesota has won three, lost two. Northwestern has one conference game left (Illinois); Minnesota has two (Iowa and Wisconsin).

So should Minnesota win its two remaining league games—and that's likely—the Gophers would have a record of five victories, two defeats. Should Northwestern lose to Illinois—and that's certainly possible, especially considering what Notre Dame will take out of the Wildcats—the N. U. record would be four and two. Minnesota, by virtue of playing an extra Conference game, would have a better record.

But the deck is loaded with jokers.

Faculty Picks Teams

The Big Nine's representative, contrary to popular supposition, is not dictated by position in the the final standings. It derives, instead, from a vote of the faculty representatives within the Conference.

Neither Michigan nor Illinois can go to Pasadena this time, because of the Conference agreement limiting any one Big Nine team to one Rose Bowl trip in any three-year period. All efforts of Pacific Coast parties to alter this canon are doomed. The Pacific Coast has nothing to do with it. That particular facet of the Rose Bowl set-up is not a part of the Big Nine-Coast Conference deal, but an Intra-Western Conference agreement.

One incidental part of the pact between the two Conferences, is that after the third year of the five-year agreement the Western Conference can send the team of its choice or any other team it may wish to designate. So the Rose Bowl game of Jan. 1, 1950, may not even have a Big Nine team.

One more thing is working in Northwestern's favor, and against Minnesota. It's a matter of cold, irrevocable record:

Northwestern beat Minnesota.

Tech Cagers Wallop Wayland Five, 84-43

Texas Tech's basketball team opened the season yesterday afternoon with an 84-43 victory over Wayland college's court five at the Tech gym.

The game strictly was an exhibition and was used by both coaches as a means of finding out what their players could do under game conditions. Coach Polk Robison declared afterwards that he was satisfied with the showing the Red Raiders made.

"We made a lot of mistakes and the floor game wasn't smooth, but the kids showed hustle and flashes of being capable," Robison stated. "We are farther advanced than we were at a corresponding point last year, but we still have a lot of work to do."

Grove Takes Honors

Don Grove, the towering center from Monument, N. M., took scoring honors in the tilt with 25 points on 12 field goals and one free throw. Wimpy Hill was the closest other Raider on 14 points; Every Raider in uniform saw action, with Charles Pinnell, Wayne Bowles, Durwood Paterson, Ardis Barton and Chet Jackson showing up well.

Wayland was led by D. W. Harkins, their star of last year, and Burch, their hefty center, but the visitors were outclassed. Both coaches used various combinations in attempting to see what they had on their cage squads.

Robison's tall team, which averages six feet four, worked well defensively, but not as well offensively.

CAGE BOARD TO MEET

HILLSBORO, Nov. 10 (AP)—The advisory board of the High School Girls' Basketball League of Texas meets here Saturday night to arrange league eliminations and the 1949 state tournament.

SQUAD POLISHES OFFENSIVE

Tim Hatch, Reserve Red Raider Halfback, Suffers Broken Jaw

Tim Hatch, reserve halfback on the Texas Tech football team, is out of action for the remainder of the football season with a broken jaw.

Hatch, who played a good portion of the Texas Mines game, suffered his jaw injury just before the half ended. He made a fake and ran too close to the line, receiving an elbow in his jaw. He knew that it hurt, but made no complaint at the time, playing a large part of the second half.

After the game, Hatch complained that his jaw hurt and X-rays were taken. His jaws were wired together and he was told that his football this season was over.

Returns To Practice

The Raider squad yesterday returned to the practice field and spent most of the time polishing their offensive. Coach Dell Morgan, in a good mood with no game coming up Saturday, emphasized timing on running plays, as well as blocking assignments for line and backfield.

The Raiders also worked on plays that they have had all season, but which they have not used in any game so far. Against New Mexico, which comes here Nov. 20, Tech may spring an entirely new set of offensive plays. The Raider coaches know that they have been scouted thoroughly and they don't intend for the heavy Lobos to have time to get set.

Defensive work against Lobo plays probably will be stressed next week. The Raiders may get Saturday off this week, with more work today and Friday.

The Texas Tech freshmen, accompanied by Coach Maxey McKnight, left yesterday for Roswell, N. M., where today they will meet the New Mexico Military Institute eleven. Coach McKnight took 34 players with him, leaving the injured Judson Brawner and Ralph May behind. Tech's frosh probably will go into the game on the short end of the odds, considering their two defeats against one victory.

RICE, AGGIE FISH TO PLAY

HOUSTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—The Texas A. and M. and Rice freshmen football teams will clash here Friday afternoon with a duel between Glen Lippman of the Aggie fish and Teddy Riggs of the Owlets billed as the feature. Both were star schoolboy players, Lippman at El Campo and Riggs at Pearsall, and have carried on in college.

Littlefield To Meet Levelland

Most of the teams in Districts 4-A and 5-A will tangle with traditional foes in Armistice day clashes this afternoon, but four tilts—one in north 4-A and three in 5-A—are scheduled Friday night.

Probably the top encounter on the Friday slate will be unreeled before a capacity crowd at the Levelland gridiron, where the Lobos play host to Littlefield's Wildcats in a battle that will determine the north 4-A championship.

The Lobos, defending regional champs, are unbeaten in conference competition this season, but an upset loss to Littlefield would throw the race into a three-way tie between Levelland, Littlefield and Sundown. A victory for Levelland in the annual classic would, of course, clinch the title for the Lobos.

Lobos Are Favored

Coach Truett Rattan's Lobos will enter the tilt as two-touchdown favorites on the basis of comparative scores, although the "grudge" angle of the tussle and Littlefield's stubborn defense are expected to hold the score very close. Several direct comparisons can be made between the two teams, but there are other factors that must be taken into consideration.

One of the best comparisons can be made by the scores of the two teams against the Sundown Roughnecks. Levelland edged by the Roughnecks, 20-13, early in the season, while Sundown recently beat Littlefield, 6-0. But there may not actually be a 13-point difference in the teams, since Sundown obviously improved between the Levelland game and the later Littlefield setto.

Three games will be unreeled in District 5-A Friday night, with Denver City invading Seminole and Kermit journeying to Wink in spotlight encounters. Monahans has clinched the 5-A championship, but the battles of the old rivals in the loop will hold the interest of grid fans.

Fort Stockton will go to Pecos in the final tussle of the weekend in 5-A.

New Deal Plays Eunice Eleven

With the District 4-B conference football title all sewn up by Idalou, the main interest in the loop race lies in the fight for second and third place.

New Deal, the present second spot occupant, will retain that position this week by virtue of going to Eunice, N. M., for a non-conference game. But Meadow in third and Whiteface in fourth face fights to hold their present positions.

The Broncos entertain Frenship's Tigers Friday night and shouldn't have much trouble winning their fourth conference victory. Whiteface shouldn't have much trouble in pinning Cooper to the mat, even though the aroused underdogs might cause trouble.

The Antelopes should have more than the usual amount of encouragement against Cooper. It will be the first annual homecoming at Whiteface and efforts are being made to get as many exes back as possible. Under these conditions, the Antelopes will be trying harder than ever for an impressive victory.

In conference games, Whiteface shows an edge in losing to New Deal 12-0, a team that beat Cooper 45-7. The Antelopes beat Meadow 19-13 and the Broncs beat Cooper 26-0. Whiteface trounced Frenship 13-0, while Cooper lost 14-7. And Idalou beat both teams, Whiteface by 31-0, Cooper by 46-0.

Meadow has a wide edge on Frenship on comparative scores. The Broncs beat Ropesville 13-0 and 19-7, while Frenship was losing 14-12. Both teams beat Cooper, Meadow by 26-0, Frenship by 14-7. Whiteface beat each team, Meadow by 19-13 and Frenship by 13-0. Each team lost to Idalou, Meadow by 33-0, Frenship by 28-7.

These are the only two conference games this week, but action doesn't stop there. New Deal has its non-conference tilt with Eunice, while the Lubbock Pioneers will invade Ropesville. All games will be played Friday night.

Recent Norther May Aid Duck Hunting In Texas Coast Area

AUSTIN, Nov. 10 (AP) — The recent norther was expected to make for better duck hunting on the coast and hurt hunting in north Texas as the season opens at noon Friday.

Game commission experts believed the cold weather would bring a heavier concentration of wildfowl in the coastal marshes, where better hunting than last year had already been anticipated.

The waterfowl season runs from Nov. 12 to Dec. 16, both days inclusive.

PEE WEE DEMONS WIN

Wendell Hester's nine-point total paced the Black Demons to a 15-7 Pee Wee league basketball victory over the Wildcats Wednesday night at Lubbock Boys club. Bobby Tyner tallied five points for the losers.

PORKER STAR — Clyde "Smackover" Scott, once a great back for Navy and now even greater at Arkansas, has been a standout all year. This week he is pitted against SMU's Doak Walker in what may be a great personal duel Saturday in Fayetteville.

Tie Predicted In Maryland-NC Tilt

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP)—If the figures can be trusted, the tightest defensive struggle scheduled on any gridiron this weekend is that between North Carolina and Maryland at Griffith stadium in Washington.

About the only conclusion to be drawn from statistics released today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau is that the meeting of the two rock-ribbed southern rivals will produce a scoreless tie, barring a field goal.

Rivals Almost Tops

North Carolina is second only to Georgia Tech both in total defense and rushing defense among all the major teams, and its punting average is the best. Maryland tops them all in defense against enemy passes and stands fourth in total defense.

Additionally, Maryland shares with Clemson the distinction of having held opponents to the fewest points scored — 33 in seven games.

Despite its upset by Tennessee last Saturday, Georgia Tech leads for the fourth straight week in total defense, having allowed seven rivals an average of 130.3 yards.

Maryland's alert secondary has failed to knock down only 26 out of 93 passes thrown against it and has given up an average of but 49.3 yards per game to enemy aerials going into its hand-to-hand struggle with North Carolina's Charlie Justice this week.

Thanks to Justice's kicking foot, the Tar Heels boast the best team punting average in the country—43.6 yards on 45 boots.

SOX APPOINT DOHERTY

BOSTON, Nov. 10. (AP)—The appointment of Eddie Doherty, former Providence, R.I. sports writer, as Bruce Dudley's successor as president of the Louisville American Association baseball club was announced today by the Boston Red Sox. Doherty headed the pennant winning Scranton, Pa., Eastern league team during the past season.

Sports Study

By Earl Scudday

Luck was with us in our pigskin selections last week, with most of the favored schoolboy teams in the state coming through with victories. We picked 25 winners, while guessing wrong on seven tilts. But some of the seven we missed were enough to deflate our pride. Remember, we picked Abernathy to beat Spur in a close game, and the final score—in Spur's favor—had to be tabulated on an adding machine. Most of the games this week are a little more difficult, but with our average for the season at 76 per cent, here's how they line up:

District 1-AA

BORGER over Brownfield . . . Bulldogs have too much experience and size.
AMARILLO over Pampa . . . Golden Sandies have the best offense.
LUBBOCK over Plainview . . . Westerners get back in the win column.

District 2-AA

WICHITA FALLS over Childress . . . but it could be close.
VERNON over Graham . . . by a touchdown.
ELECTRA over Frederick, Okla. . . . maybe.

District 3-AA

ODESSA over Lamesa . . . Jimmy Patterson, Sonny Mobley roll on.
MIDLAND over Big Spring . . . Steers could surprise.

District 3-A

ABERNATHY over Matador . . . Abernathy should win.
FLOYDADA over Crosbyton . . . but we could be wrong.
LOCKNEY over Paducah . . . Longhorns have a strong club.
SPUR over Ralls . . . Spur is an automatic choice.

District 4-A (North)

LEVELLAND over Littlefield . . . Lobos have best offense.
SUNDOWN over Sudan . . . that Ethridge again.
MULESHOE over Morton . . . Muleshoe has good team.

District 4-A (South)

POST over Slaton . . . unless the Tigers have a secret weapon.
O'DONNELL over Tahoka . . . against a strong hunch.
FARWELL over Seagraves . . . guessing again.

District 5-A

ANDREWS over McCamey . . . Mustangs have too much power.
SEMINOLE over Denver City . . . Indians still good team.
KERMIT over Wink . . . but it should be close.
PECOS over Fort Stockton . . . by two touchdowns.

State Specials

GAINESVILLE over Paris . . . probably wrong on this one.
BONHAM over Sherman . . . Sherman very weak.
DENISON over Greenville . . . Jackets should win.
HIGHLAND PARK over Sulphur Springs . . . Scotties still winning.
GRAND PRAIRIE over Denton . . . flipped a coin.
STEPHENVILLE over Weatherford . . . in a close battle.
BRECKENRIDGE over Brownwood . . . Bucks still moving.
TEXARKANA over Henderson . . . in an upset.
MARSHALL over Longview . . . anybody's guess.
KILGORE over Tyler . . . Kilgore has a better line.
TEMPLE over Waxahachie . . . Wildcats more impressive.
WACO over Hillsboro . . . Waco by several touchdowns.
LUFKIN over Nacogdoches . . . by a whisker.
BRYAN over Conroe . . . Bryan has best record.
PORT ARTHUR over Port Neches . . . Port Arthur losing steam.
ORANGE over Milby (Houston) . . . could be wrong.
BAYTOWN over Freeport . . . money in the bank.
GALVESTON over Texas City . . . in an easy game.
AUSTIN over Victoria . . . by 40 points.

Loyola University Coach Resigns Job

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10 (INS)—William (Bill) Sargent, coach of Loyola university, resigned tonight as head football mentor.

Sargent blamed poor health for his resignation, telling the board of directors that "My family comes before my career when health is concerned."

Loyola had visions of becoming the "Notre Dame of the West" under Sargent. The first year of a "five year plan" last season saw Loyola with the finest freshman football club in its history. The squad this year included 32 sophomores.

A prominent alumnus, asking not to be identified, said:

"The straw that broke the camel's back was the defeat that little Pomona college pasted on the Lions two weeks ago."

Loyola under Sargent, who compiled a terrific record as coach of Loyola high school before moving up last year, has fared badly against other independent schools this semester.

Rumor Spiked That Oklahoma Aggies To Play In Delta Bowl

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 10. (AP)—Delta Bowl officials tonight spiked rumors that Oklahoma A. and M. had been chosen as host team for the New Year's Day football classic here.

William P. Brady, president of the Delta Bowl Classic Association, said the Aggies, as well as several other teams, have been approached on the subject, but that no direct invitation has been extended.

Bonus Players Ignored In Draft

CINCINNATI, Nov. 10. (AP)—Those talent-tagged kids known as bonus players were ignored today as the major baseball leagues staged their annual draft.

Although the minors are studded with 270 youngsters who were good enough to get $6,000 or more for penning their names to contracts, not one was considered ready for a big league trial.

Instead, the major moguls handpicked 19 players from the high minors at a cost of $182,500 as they sought experienced talent to plug their leaky lineups for the 1949 flag chase. Last year 13 clubs drafted 29 players costing $275,000.

About 5,400 players from 58 leagues were eligible to receive the major league call, but the big top took 16 from the triple-A circuits—six from the International and five each from the Pacific Coast and American Association—two from the double-A Southern Association and one from the double-A Texas league.

Chicago's White Sox, with outgoing general manager Leslie O'Connor and incoming general manager Frank Lane doing the picking, were the heavy buyers as they put $30,000 on the line for a pitcher, catcher and infielder.

New York, Pittsburgh and Brooklyn in the National league, and New York and Boston of the American did not put in a bid.

The two 1948 pennant winners went for outfielders, Boston's Braves getting two and Cleveland's world champions one. The Braves took Don Thompson, 24-year-old southpaw who hit .285 in 121 games for Columbus, and Charley Gilbert of Nashville.

Cleveland grabbed off Herman Reich, a right-handed hitter who went for a .324 average at Portland, Ore.

The majors paid $10,000 each for the AAA players, and $7,500 each for the AA stars. The draft remains in effect until midnight of Nov. 13, clubs being permitted to make further selections by telegram to Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler, who presided at today's selections.

Cowhands, Plainview B Team Play Today

Three Lubbock football teams will see action this afternoon and tonight, but only one of the games will be played here at Chapman field.

Lubbock's strong Cowhand team, defeated only by Post's Antelopes this season, will journey to Plainview for a return tussle with the Plainview High "B" team at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The Cowhands chalked up an impressive five-touchdown victory over the Plainview gridders earlier this year, but the Bulldog "B" is certain to be tougher on the home field.

The final junior high clash of the season in Lubbock will be unreeled at 7 o'clock tonight at Chapman field, when the Carroll Thompson Cowboys meet their city rivals, the J. T. Hutchinson Rangers. The undefeated Cowboys can clinch the championship of the South Plains Junior High football league with a win tonight.

Ortmann, Stephenson Also Star Newcomers

Kyle Rote Might Be Sophomore Of Year

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP)—SMU's Kyle Rote, Chuck Ortmann of Michigan, and Gil Stephenson of Army are stacking up as "Sophomores Of The Year" in college football.

These three gifted halfbacks are brightest of a healthy crop of star-studded newcomers to varsity play.

Rote, only sophomore member of a backfield that also contains All-America Doak Walker, has carried the ball 67 times for 247 yards, completed 31 passes for 340 more and caught 12 passes for 189.

In any other backfield except S.M.U.'s—where Walker, the No. 1 sophomore of 1947, naturally dominates—Rote might stand alone as the season's outstanding varsity fledgling.

Ortmann, a 19-year-old product of Milwaukee, has become the top offensive performer of the rugged Western Conference while leading the Wolverines to their current No. 1 spot in the nation.

Completed 19 Of 36 Tosses

A crack passer, he has completed 19 of 36 tosses for 371 yards—best in the league—and has gained 113 yards on the ground for an offensive total of 484 yards.

Six feet-one, 183 pounds, Ortmann is rated one of the best looking backs to hit the football-feverish midlands.

Stephenson, up from Columbus, Ga., is currently engaged in making Army fans forget Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis. A tricky runner, he has rolled up 761 yards to rank as the fourth best ball-carrier in the country. He has scored nine touchdowns.

Other leading soph backfield men are Leo Koceski of Michigan, whose 30 points lead the Big Nine in scoring; John Brogan, Idaho's great triple threat; Marvin Cross, Washington State's 200-pounder; Oklahoma's regulars, Fullback Leon Heath and Halfback Lindell Pearson; and Red Bagnell, Penn's passing star.

To open some holes for this fine array of race horse backs, the sophomores also have turned up with some robust linemen.

McCormack Great Tackle

The south is singing praises of Bob Gain, Kentucky's 230-pound powerhouse from Weirton, West Va. He's future All-America stuff, they say down in Dixie.

Kansas has a great tackle in Mike McCormack, 223 pounds of gristle, and Princeton has turned up with another tackle toughie in Hollie Donan, six-feet-five, 213 pounds.

Southwest:

Ends—Ben Procter, Texas; Harold Riley, Baylor; Cedric Copeland, Texas A. and M.

Tackles — Clarence Marable, T. C. U.

Guard—Bud McFadin, Texas.

Centers — Dick Rowan, Texas; M. Eubank, Texas Christian.

Backs — Hayden Fry, Baylor; Louis Schaufele, Arkansas; Gordon Wyatt, Rice; John Archer, Texas Christian.

Fenton Decisions Steele In Mat Go

Rod Fenton became the hero of Lubbock last night at Sled Allen's arena when he pinned Jack the Mask Steele in the main go, throwing his opponent for victory in two straight falls.

Fenton allowed himself to take a lot of punishment in the first fall, but rallied to regain lost ground. He suddenly came out of a Steele hold and threw his heavier opponent with a single leg reverse crab after 17 minutes of grappling.

Steele started to carry the fight in the second round, but Fenton, after being mauled, opened up with a punishing fist attack. Then Al Getz, acting as referee, stepped in and broke up Steele's illegal hold. That was the opening Fenton was looking for and he pounced on Steele, using a rope rebound and body pin to get his opponent after eight minutes of wrestling.

Benny Trudell won the first fall from Dick Trout in 2 minutes, using a cat toehold, but Trout came back strong to take the next two. He pinned Trudell in two minutes using an airplane spin and body smother, then used a toehold to end the match after 12 minutes.

Vick Weber, making a return debut, wrestled Pat O'Dowdy to a draw in 20 minutes in the crowd-pleasing prelim.

PGA Names Hogan Golfer Of The Year

CHICAGO, Nov. 10. (INS)—Ben Hogan tonight was named "Golfer Of The Year" in a landslide vote conducted by the Professional Golfers' Association of America.

George Schneiter, chairman of the P.G.A. tournament committee, announced the result of the poll, which was conducted among golf writers and broadcasters from coast to coast.

Hogan, first golfer in history to win the National Open, Wedouk Open and the P.G.A. championship in one year, was practically all by himself in the balloting. Lloyd Mangrum, winner of the rich All-American and Tam O'Shanter world's championship events and runner-up to Hogan in the official P.G.A. moneywinnings derby, received enough votes for second place.

Only two other golfers, Skip Alexander, the young Lexington, N.C., star, and the colorful veteran Jimmy Demaret were mentioned anywhere in the balloting.

Tigers Trade Pierce For Robinson In Straight Deal

CINCINNATI, Nov. 10. (INS)—The Detroit Tigers today traded young pitcher Billy Pierce for catcher Aaron Robinson of the Chicago White Sox in a straight player deal.

The transaction was completed in Cincinnati, the scene of the major league player "draft."

It confirmed rumors of Tiger efforts to obtain Robinson in an attempt to strengthen their battery combinations.

Robinson formerly was a New York Yankee while Pierce played his first major league season with Detroit this past year.

The announcement was made by Red Rolfe, who manages the Tigers' farm system.

AMERICA'S SILENT BATTLEFIELDS
The coming of another Armistice Day reminds us of our responsibility to those honored dead who lie sleeping on battlefields the world over. We must measure up to the sacrifice of these fallen heroes, or they have died in vain. Our citizenship, our respect for our fellow man, and our love of country must be genuine and fervent to match their own. The countless rows of crosses marking our dead hurl down a great challenge we must meet to keep America great. The American State Bank pledges its complete support to these ideals.

Man Killed In Accident Here

were immediate causes of the man's death were not known last night. Only apparent injuries were a broken leg, an abrasion on the chin and skinned knuckles of the right hand. Possibly internal injuries or shock may have caused his death, it was indicated.

Worked In Oil Field

Little definite information on Lynch was available last night, investigation revealed. At the time of his death, he had only a slip of paper with the instructions to notify his mother, Mrs. J. W. Johnston of Texarkana, in case of death, and a check stub which indicated that he had possibly worked for the Santa Fe railroad.

His mother, located in Fort Worth where she was on a vacation, said that he had been following oil field work in this area for the last few months, and that a letter about a month ago from him indicated the possibility of his going to work for the railroad.

The latter information could not be verified last night, since payroll records were not available at the Santa Fe offices in Slaton.

Father In Texarkana

The man was dressed in khaki work trousers and a work shirt, with a heavy sweat shirt and polo shirt underneath, investigators said.

Rix Funeral home, where the body was taken last night, said the remains would be sent tonight to Texarkana.

His father, W. H. Lynch, lives in Texarkana, and his wife lives at Dangerfield with two daughters, 16 and 8 years of age, his mother said.

In addition to the five deaths within the immediate city limits this year, there have been several other fatal traffic mishaps in the immediate greater Lubbock area, bringing the year's total to one of the highest on record.

FOUR PERSONS HURT IN WRECK NEAR CLAIREMONT

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Morgan, 30 and 26 years of age respectively, were injured in a head-on collision of their 1940 Nash with a pickup truck about 10 o'clock Wednesday morning on the highway three miles west of Clairemont.

Former residents of Lubbock who moved to College Station last summer, the Morgans were brought to Lubbock Memorial hospital here from Jayton by McDonald Funeral home ambulance.

Morgan, who sufered 10 fractured ribs on the right side of his chest and a fracture of the right collar bone, was "not doing too well" late last night, the hospital reported. Mrs. Morgan, who sustained a fractured left leg was satisfactory in condition, it was said.

The two men in the pickup, Hugh W. Davis, 55, and Bobby Joe Byrd, 20, both of Clairemont, were not believed seriously injured. They were taken to Callan hospital in Rotan.

The accident apparently happened when the Morgans, who were returning to College Station from Lubbock where they had been on a business trip, came over a hill around a curve and met a cattle truck. Mrs. Morgan, who was driving, swerved to the right and the car went off onto soft dirt, an investigating highway patrolman said. In attempting to get the auto back on the road, she apparently lost control and ran head-on into the pickup truck which was following the cattle truck.

Greek Peace Parley

in behalf of the UN.

Evatt said he will convoke the special "Balkan conciliation committee" of the four nations "within a day or two."

The rare degree of unanimity came after the committee previously had adopted one of the most powerful UN indictments yet of the three Soviet satellites.

The previous resolution, approved by a 48 to 6 vote, was offered by the United States, Britain, France and China.

It blamed Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania for aiding Greek Communists against the Athens government, called for a cooperative Communist attitude, and extended for one year the life of the Balkan "watchdog" commission.

Reds Tighten Siege

winter's bad flying weather.

Western officials adopted a "wait and see" attitude on how Russia interprets its own warning concerning the three 20-mile wide corridors.

Soviet officials frequently have charged Allied aerial violations of Russian occupation territory, and these have been denied by western officials.

British Minister Henderson said he is confident that the western air lift can be maintained "as long as necessary" despite weather handicaps.

New "sodium crossbar" lighting to give sharper illumination is being installed at British fields and effective Dec. 15 a new British zone airfield at Celle will be used by American planes.

Berlin Solution

to carry out the peace resolution in respect to Berlin, then Evatt and Lie could push the small-nation negotiation plan.

Evatt will talk tomorrow with small-nation members, and it is understood he has the support of UN political committee chairman Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium.

Russia vetoed one compromise solution offered in the Security Council just before the American elections.

Woman Threatens To Get Pigeons Drunk To Halt Annoyance

BOSTON, Nov. 10. (INS)—A Boston "tea party" was cooked up today for a flock of pigeons which may become the first members of AAA—Airborne Alcoholics Anonymous.

Mrs. Walter Dewey, a forthright New England matron in the tradition of Sam Adams and Ethan Allen, said if the pigeons annoying her won't go away she's going to get them drunk.

Her husband agreed.

"Pigeons don't add anything to my life," he said. "They don't even have a pretty song."

The Deweys, who live on socially impeccable Beacon Hill, listed their grievances against the birds who have inundated the select Boston district. They said:

"1. When we go into our garden, we never know when something will drop on us.

"2. The practice of leaving scraps of food for the birds has brought on an invasion of rats.

"3. In the spring the pigeons coo early in the morning, rousing anyone within reach of their voice out of a restful sleep."

Mrs. Dewey said her plan for relief of the neighborhood is simple. Feed the birds barley soaked in alcohol, and when they pass out scoop them up and take them away.

The animal rescue league took a dim view of this idea and the Deweys agreed the plan would not be tried if it involved cruelty to animals.

Walter Detloff, president of the league, pondered the problem of drunken pigeons staggering through the air, falling and hurting themselves.

One thing seemed incontrovertible. If Mrs. Dewey got the pigeons drunk enough they wouldn't be cooing the next morning.

City Commission

owners of adjoining property, only one had been among a group of 45 residents of the neighborhood who recently protested the zone change before the city planning commission; and expressed his belief that such a project would not create a traffic hazard but would actually increase the value of property in its neighborhood.

Members of the commission instructed Marlin R. Smith, jr., city manager, to arrange a joint meeting of the city commission and city planning commission for further consideration of the request.

Traffic Ordinance Passed

Two ordinances were passed on second and final reading. The first, No. 890, is a revised traffic ordinance which conforms with a standard ordinance of the Texas Department of Public Safety. The second, No. 891, prohibits the use of radios and other power producing machines in connection with amplifiers for advertising, entertainment and other purposes in the streets, on sidewalks, in doors, windows and other openings of buildings.

A resolution approving and adopting estimates of the cost of improvements and amount to be assessed, fixing a time and place for hearing to abutting property owners for paving of streets in a current paving program was passed.

Airline Request Denied

The commission denied for the present a request of Pioneer Airlines that their landing fees be based on 2 per cent of the gross income from passenger, freight and express originating at the Lubbock Municipal airport, or a minimum charge of $15 per flight, whichever is greater. Present landing fees are $75 for the first flight, $50 for the second flight and $25 for each additional flight.

The commission authorized Mayor W. H. Rodgers to enter into an agreement with Citizens National bank to pave the way for construction of a $65,000 Chamber of Commerce building on the city hall square at Ninth and Texas.

The agreement in effect provides that should the bank be forced to foreclose on the building after making a $30,000 loan toward its construction, the city will have the option of taking up payments on the loan.

Welfare Payment Okayed

Two routine paving liens were released. They involved property described as lot 1, block 68, Overton addition; and lot 14, block 14, Acuff Heights addition.

Payment of $3,000 to the Texas Highway department for increasing the size and depth of a storm sewer in connection with the paving of Avenue A at Sixth street was authorized.

A $2,000 payment to the City-County Welfare association fund was authorized. A similar amount had been previously authorized by the Lubbock county commissioners' court.

A low bid of V. T. Irons Construction company to remove and deliver cast-iron pipe and fire hydrants from Camp Bowie at Brownwood for $6,786.50 was accepted. The commission had previously purchased the pipe from the War Assets administration.

Present at the meeting were Mayor Rodgers, Commissioners W. B. Price, Clarence K. Whiteside, E. K. Hufstedler, jr., John Spikes, Smith, City Attorney Vaughn E. Wilson, City Secretary Lavenia Williams and City Engineer R. L. Oldham.

Father Of Ed McKeever Is Claimed; Rites Set Today

Hugh McKeever, 84, father of Ed McKeever, Chicago Rockets' football coach, died in San Francisco Tuesday night, the International News Service reported last night.

Estimates Hiked For Corn Crop

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (INS)—The Agriculture department raised its corn crop estimate by 83 million bushels today and said the greatest food yield in the history of the country is in prospect for 1948.

The total for corn is now a history-making 3,650,000,000 bushels, 50 per cent more than 1947 crop and 12 per cent more than that of 1946.

Other Estimates Higher

Only the rice, dry peas and peanut crops were placed below average. Yields for cotton, soybeans, sorghum grain, rice, buckwheat, dry beans, potatoes, tobacco, broom corn and cranberries were placed higher than in the department's last previous estimate for Oct. 1.

The record-breaking corn yield is expected to provide a carry-over well above 600 million bushels. Agriculture Secretary Brannan said recently the new Congress will have to vote government storage facilities for some of this grain.

The department made no new estimate for the 1948 wheat crop which stands unchanged at 1,283,000,000 bushels.

The potato crop is now estimated at 431,401,000 bushels compared with production of 384,407,000 bushels in 1947 and a 1937-46 average of 392,143,000 bushels. This year's crop is the third largest on record.

Peanut production is estimated at a record 2,288,000 pounds, five per cent larger than last year's crop and nine per cent above the 1943-47 average.

ical sergeant with the 133rd machine gun battalion of the 36th division. He was stationed in the Argonne forest in reserve behind the 90th Division. His reaction to the sudden quiet was that an all-out attack was to be expected.

Robert W. Sisson, VA regional manager, was seaman second class on the quarterdeck of the U.S.S. Maine, in the Atlantic. All aboard was glad it was over.

Harley D. Woods, insurance representative, was first lieutenant in the 13th Engineers near Nancy, France.

Fred E. Young, chief attorney at the VA regional office, was first lieutenant in the calvary reserve at Dondrecourt on the Marne River; was mess officer with First Corps school. Also served as lieutenant colonel in second World War.

Glen Hess, associated with insurance firm here, corporal in 315th Engineers attached to 90th Division near Langres, France; expected war to continue another year.

Riley Duff, also a travelling salesman here, was a cook at the time, but was carrying a rifle in the 315th Supply Train of the 90th Division. His division had just broken the Hindenburg line and crossed the Meuse river near Metz. He said as he remembered he was lying flat in the mud and could hear the Germans celebrating before he knew what had happened. The Americans thought the Germans were cooking up a counter attack.

Salvoes Fired

Mike Fry, who is a member of the Lubbock city street maintenance crew, was a seaman second class on the flagship U.S.S. Pennsylvania. He was off Newport News at the time, and recalled the ship's 14 guns were fired in salvoes 25 times.

C. A. Horn, brick mason, was a corporal in the Second Aviation signal corps. He was ill in a hospital in Liverpool, England, but remembers firecrackers popping in the nearby park celebrating the occasion.

Ches Hubbard, local car dealer, was a second lieutenant in the Quartermaster water transport group moving troops. He was at Jacksonville, Fla., to pick up a load of negro troops, recalls that when word of the Armistice was received he had a hard time getting the troops back together for the trip.

H. J. Kendrick, veteran rural mail carrier, was a private first class in the medical department of the base hospital Unit No. 165, on way to a port of debarkation. Unit was stopped and disbanded. Reaction of soldiers mixed, some disappointed at not seeing Europe, others happy.

Sid A. Lowery, department service officer for the American Legion, now stationed at the Veterans administration, was a first lieutenant in the coast artillery. At time of Armistice was assigned as mess officer with unit between Verdun and Metz and was stirring can of red beans at exact moment Armistice took effect.

MARKET STAGES COMEBACK

NEW YORK, Nov. 10. (AP)—The stock market got a toe-hold on stable ground today after a series of selling blasts had dropped prices to a low since late March.

The toe-hold was none too secure but the market did take some good-sized offerings without indigestion.

Gains and losses were well scrambled at the end with most changes around a point or less. Minus signs had a modrate edge over plus.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped .1 of one point to 63.8, a level not touched since March 29. Of the 1,127 issues which appeared on the tape, 356 advanced while 532 declined.

Trading proceeded rapidly most of the day. Turnover amounted to 2,100,000 shares, almost even with yesterday's 2,260,000.

The market was erratic a good part of the day.

Many stocks which had dropped to new 1948 lows closed either unchanged or with higher price tags.

Big blocks traded in forenoon dealings, a possible indication of high quality buying.

Today's performance held out the hope to many that speculators and investors had reached the stage at which they could make a calmer appraisal of market conditions.

The idea that a Democratic administration will put business in the doghouse and keep it there has lost considerable ground since the election. Business profits now are the hgihest on record and prospects are good that a high rate of business activity will continue for a long time to come. Many feel that the Congress will weigh carefully the probable effects of new legislation.

Issues closing higher included Bethlehem Steel 34, General Motors 60½, Chrysler 53¾, U. S. Rubber 41, Douglas Aircraft 49½, Phelps Dodge 51⅝, Westinghouse Electric 24¾, Radio Corp. 11, Central of N. J. 34, Nickel Plate 77, Standard Oil (NJ) 72⅞, Eastern Air Lines 15½, and Bath Iron Works 11⅛.

Two issues swung far out of the prevailing price pattern. Superior Oil of California lost 10 points at 155 and Skelly Oil, off 8 at one time, closed 4 lower at 111.

U. S. government bonds again advanced.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP) — Cotton futures moves lower today on hedging and liquidation. The decline was attributed partly to technical reasons, following recent sharp advances in the market.

An unfavorable forecast on October cotton consumption induced some selling, along with liquidation in nearby December which affected the rest of the market. Losses extended to almost $1 a bale, although the market later recovered slightly.

Covering was induced by an ECA announcement of almost $88,000,000 in ECA cotton export authorizations which would cover the purchase of an estimated 500,000 bales of cotton.

Late afternoon prices were 20 to 60 cents a bale lower than the previous close, Dec. 31.41, March 31.42 and May 31.24.

Cotton closed steady.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 10 (AP) — Cotton futures rallied in late trading here today on trade buying and pre-holiday short covering to recover most of their earlier losses.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Nov. 10 (AP) — Grains opened later today and never were able to make up the lost ground. Profit-taking, lack of new buying and worry over the effects of a wild-cat strike among dock workers in the east caused the sell-off.

Dealings were very active as the market headed downward. Traders said the slump was not unexpected in view of the market's strength since election day.

Wheat closed 1⅛-2⅛ lower, December $2.31⅝, corn was 1⅜-1⅞ lower, December $1.42⅝-½, oats were ⅛-1⅛ lower, December 80⅝-⅝, rye was 2 to 2½ lower, December $1.79½, soybeans were ½-2⅛ lower, November $2.58⅛-½, and lard was 7 to 25 cents a hundred pounds lower, November $18.70.

Portales Shooting

Portales. Several other persons at the scene at the time have been questioned in connection with the case.

The suspect in the case allegedly left the scene with his wife, later abandoning a Model A car in Portales and disappearing. Sheriff McCall said a fight presumably had preceded the shooting incident. No reason for the shooting was given. McCrary was shot with a 30-20 rifle.

No charges have been filed, pending McCrary's condition, Sheriff McCall said, but he indicated charges would be filed probably today.

HST-Stalin Meeting

Chief Justice Fred Vinson on such a mission during the presidential campaign. It was abandoned when Secretary of State Marshall opposed it.

At Washington, Under Secretary of State Lovett told a news conference that Ayers had "given the answer" when he was asked whether Mr. Truman might go to Moscow.

Lovett told the newsmen that Russia had not replied to a United States proposal to revive negotiations for settlement of the Soviet $11,000,000,000 lend lease debt.

Meeting Is Urged

Hope was expressed by the Vatican city newspaper L'Osservatore Roman that the American elections have opened the way for a Truman-Stalin meeting.

Eddie Gilmore, AP Moscow correspondent, quoted an authoritative foreign source as saying it was likely there would be some kind of agreement among the French, British and Americans beforehand if such a Truman-Stalin conference took place.

The source quoted by Gilmore added: "Such a meeting might take place, everything else seemingly having failed to produce an accord."

Premier Stalin was reported on vacation in the South of Russia, while Mr. Truman is vacationing in the southernmost city of the United States.

Mr. Truman and Vice-President-Elect Barkley talked administration problems here during the day. There was no hint of the subjects discussed.

Ayers announced that John R. Steelman, assistant to the President, will fly to Cincinnati Tuesday to address the annual meeting of the American Federation of Labor.

It is expected that Sen. J. Howard McGrath, Democratic national chairman, will arrive some time tomorrow.

Mrs. Truman and the President's daughter, Margaret, are coming down later in the week.

Appeal For Remainder Of Chest Reports Is Issued

An appeal for workers to turn in the remainder of the Community Chest campaign reports was made Wednesday afternoon by Earl Kerr, Community Chest manager, who said the total received up to that time was $65,796.61.

Reports had not been received on 188 of the total of 637 unit accounts or business places employing as many as five persons. Seventeen of the 61 general sales area reports still are outstanding.

All women's reports have been turned in. Women exceeded their goal of $6,500, submitting a total of $6,550.36.

Cooperation of business firms and workers in the areas for which reports have not been received is needed in order that the campaign may be completed, said Kerr. The total turned in thus far is more than $30,000 below the goal of $97,500 set in the campaign.

Any business firms which have not been called on by workers and which would like to participate in the drive were asked to mail checks to Lubbock Community Chest, 1006½ Fourteenth.

No Special Ceremony Planned For Birth Of British Heir

By EDWARD L. CAMPBELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Nov. 10—The birth of Princess Elizabeth's baby, expected this weekend, will be as unceremonious as royalty can manage to make it.

But traditions that die hard in this land of long memories will see to it that the general public gets a good show of pomp and circumstance.

As the day approaches for the arrival of a second-in-line heir presumptive to the throne, excitement is mounting in London. When the news is flashed to the world, Londoners from the Cockney East end to swank Mayfair can be depended upon to stage one of those mass turnouts that demonstrate the popularity of the royal family.

No Formal Ceremony

King George VI has tried to tone down the event. That was made clear in his unexpected decision to dispense with the "archaic custom" of having the home secretary come to the palace to "witness" the royal birth.

On this occasion, for the first time since James II became the father of the "old pretender," there will be no representative of the people "in the proximity" of the delivery room.

It was popular suspicion that James' son was not royal, but a changeling, smuggled into the palace in a warming pan that started the custom.

This time the King's secretary simply will telephone home secretary James Chuter Ede, will in turn will phone the Lord Mayor of London The Lord Mayor then will notify the dean of St. Paul's Cathedral.

St. Paul's dean will call out the members of the Antient society of college youths, an honorary group of veteran bell ringers who will peal the bells of the great cathedral in honor of the royal birth.

Other bells will peal from Westminster abbey and in the Cathedral towns of Canterbury and York.

The king's secretary also will cable the news to the heads of the seven dominions, touching off popular celebrations in these globe circling countries.

As the messages are flashed and throngs of Londoners clamor in front of Buckingham palace for a glimpse of the new father, Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, the guns of the Royal Army and Navy will be unlimbered.

Then 41-gun salutes will be fired on Tower hill, in Hyde Park, at all the major Army and Navy shore establishments and on British ships at sea.

Every unit of the Royal fleet will dress ship, flying flags at mastheads. On the bigger ships bands will play, and in the wardrooms toasts will be lifted to the new heir.

The Princess is awaiting the event in good spirits and excellent health. Prince Philip has cancelled all engagements to be with her constantly.

Police Investigate Minor Theft Reports

A window of the W. R. Couch civil engineering office at 508 Ave. N was broken sometime the previous night, police were informed Wednesday, but the place was not believed to have been entered, investigators said.

A man with a gun, approached by a patrolman at a dine and dance place, leaped into his car and, driving without lights, eluded pursuit on the Amarillo highway. License number of his car was obtained, however, police said.

Homer Dodds, Acuff storekeeper, complained that a coat had been stolen from his store.

A $60 bike was reported stolen from Billie Gray at 1516 Ave. D.

Dick Welch of 2609 Thirtieth street said that his bike, valued at approximately $75, had been taken from the vicinity of a local school.

A 28-year-old Levelland man will face a drunk driving charge, police indicated, after he was arrested by a traffic patrolman at the scene of a minor accident in 1400-block of Broadway.

Railroad Commission Orders Shutdown Of West Texas Fields

AUSTIN, Nov. 10. (AP)—The Railroad commission today authorized preparation of orders shutting down 17 oil fields until wasteful flaring of gas is halted.

Operators in the fields which will be covered by the orders appeared before the commission last month at a hearing to show cause why they should not be closed in.

Jack Baumel, chief engineer of the commission's oil and gas division, estimated that closing in of the fields will cut off production of about 400,000 barrels of crude oil per day.

Fields included in the commission's forthcoming shutdown order are the following:

District 8, West Texas: North Cowden, Foster, Fullerton, Goldsmith, Levelland, McElroy, Seminole, Slaughter and Wasson.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10. (AP)—William L. Clayton, a top administration official for the past eight years, resigned as economic assistant to the secretary of state, it was disclosed today.

Clayton, former undersecretary of state, plans to return to active direction of his cotton brokerage firm in Houston.

Since joining the State department as assistant secretary in 1944, Clayton has been responsible for much of the United States foreign economic policy.

He helped organize UNRRA, the Marshall Plan, and directed the administration battle in Congress last summer for renewal of the reciprocal trade program.

ed to give farmers a return on their products equal to that prevailing in a former period generally favorable to agriculture.)

Cooley said Republicans cooperated in building the farm price program now in effect. But he contended the new GOP measure was acted upon hastily without full study in the dying hours of the regular session of the 80th Congress.

The legislation continues the program virtually in its present form through 1949, with the revisions of parity and supports becoming effective the following year.

If the new law were effective now, Cooley said, the parity price of wheat would be around $1.79 a bushel instead of a present parity of about $2.18; Corn $1.40 instead of $1.59; cotton 26 cents a pound instead of 30 cents. On the other hand, parity on livestock and livestock products would be increased under the new law.

Neither the State department nor the Economic Cooperation administration profess to have any knowledge of what military supplies actually have been shipped to China.

Fight Against Cattle Disease Hits Snag Near Mexico City

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 10. (AP)—The fight against the foot and mouth disease has had something of a setback in a recent outbreak west of here.

The joint U.S.-Mexico AFTOSA commission reported today that its quarantine line in Jalisco state has been moved north 20 kilometers (12½ miles) for a distance of 100 kilometers (66 miles).

The outbreak was found October 12 when vaccination crews went there to inoculate cattle, sheep and swine with a serum developed here to fight the disease.

Infected animals were slaughtered to prevent the disease from spreading and additional sanitary crews have been trying to isolate the district. Altogether 189 animals in 26 herds have been iklled.

The northward movement of the quarantine line, the commission said, is a precaution. There is no fear that the diseease will get out of control in that area.

There have been several small outbreaks during the last few months. In all cases diseased animals have been killed and the campaign against AFTOSA intensified in such areas.

Russia claims to now have 8,000 government-owned creameries.

The U. S. Army transport General Collins sailed from Shanghai with 150 American dependents. Two other transports will pick up 1,000 more there.

The U. S. military advisory group closed shop in the north China city of Peiping and its six officers were flown here. Foreigners were leaving both Peiping and Tientsin.

It still was up in the air whether the advisory group will pull out of China. It was predicted, however, that the deteriorating war situation will not permit the advisers to function much longer.

Mobs Raid Rice Shops

Americans were warned to stay off Nanking's streets. Hungry Chinese were in an ugly mood. As usual at such times, anti-foreign feeling is high.

Mobs raided 36 rice shops. One woman was trampled to death. Police fired into the air to break up the riots. Other armed police rode on every food truck moving through the streets.

Rice riots flared also in Shanghai's suburbs. Workers staged numerous strikes in vital industry demanding rice, not money, as wages.

Three large riots were reported from the coastal city of Hangchow, 100 miles southwest of Shanghai.

China's new gold yuan has lost its value and farmers with rice are refusing to sell. President Chiang held almost continuous conferences at home, trying to find a way out of the crisis.

Red Gains Reported

The executive yuan (cabinet) strove to halt the runaway inflation by ordering the sale of the government's textile industrial corporation plant, the largest in China. If a buyer can be found, proceeds would go to back the plummeting paper currency.

Officials also authorized the sale of U. S. aid cotton on the open market in exchange for food.

A government military spokesman professed to have no information on the battle roaring north of the capital.

Other sources said that while one Communist force bypassed Suchow, comrade columns were rapidly encircling the city.

(The Communist radio, heard by the Associated Press in San Francisco, asserted 20 government armies 350,000 strong "are huddling fearfully in the Suchow pocket.")

One Red column reportedly captured villages only 10 miles east of Suchow while others were about an equal distance away on the west.

(This represented gains of 37 miles on the west and 60 miles on the east from reports 24 hours earlier.)

Pengpu, a railway city 100 miles south of Suchow, was also threatened with encirclement. Pengpu is 108 miles up the railway from Nanking.

The stage production will be presented by the O'Harris Productions company of Hollywood. The Lubbock club has signed a contract with the company to produce other plays here under sponsorship of the club during the next two years. Three Dead, Six Injured When Huge Tank Topples From Stand

CHICAGO, Nov. 10. (INS)—Three persons were killed today and six injured, two critically, when a 30,000-gallon water tank toppled from its supports at the Central Cold storage plant in suburban Riverdale.

The dead were identified as Emil Jaeger, 30, an assistant superintendant; John Laster, 33, and a workman named Stone, about 56.

Earlier reports had listed five dead.

The tank plunged through the steel roof of a loading platform and plummeted into a basement maintenance room.

Others Feared Caught

Approximately 21 men were at work on the platform. The tank ripped a 20-by-20 foot hole in the floor of the loading platform.

Firemen, policemen and volunteer workers rushed to the scene where they searched for additional bodies believed to be buried in the debris.

Two of the death victims, Jaeger and Stone, were trapped in the dispatch office as the tank plunged through the platform's steel canopy and smashed part of the office.

The injured were listed at the hospital as Marshall Savage, Lester Thomas, Harley Tucker, Raphael Sasa, John Mohorzyk and Herman Bultema.

Witnesses said the tank, used for the plant's sprinkler system, crushed a section of the loading platform office where several men were working.

Had Short Warning

pigeons roosting on the tank

The sudden flight of a flock of brought the impending tragedy to the attention of workers in a nearby building.

They said that as the flutter of wings attracted them, they saw one of the 15-foot griders supporting the huge tank give way.

The tank fell over on the side and smashed through the platform as horrified onlookers shrieked.

Matthew Sudaz, 23, of Hammond, Ind., said:

"I looked up when I heard the pigeons flapping their wings wildly as if they were in a hurry to get away.

"Just then the metal griders supporting the tank started to crumble and break away. The steel bands around the tank jerked open like a busted girdle and the tank split open."

Sudaz continued:

"A tremendous gush of water shot out and the tank started to nosedive toward the ground. It plowed right through the steel canopy of the loading platform and through the dispatch office like one of those V-2 rockets.

Those girders supporting the canopy looked like bent match sticks when I and a bunch of the other fellows got over there to join the rescue work."

Ten ambulances were sent to the scene from Harvey and nearby Blue Island.

County Highway Police Deputy Michael Pompa quoted firemen as saying that a boiler explosion in the plant recently may have weakened the water tank supports.

The crashing tank shook the surrounding area for several blocks, persons in the area said it made a roaring noise "like a falling bomb."

Decision Upheld In Suit Against City

The Court of Civil Appeals in Amarillo has upheld a judgment of Judge G. V. Pardue's 99th district court in a suit involving property abutting the Ave. A right-of-way between Seventeenth and Nineteenth streets, City Attorney Vaughn E. Wilson was advised Wednesday in a copy of the Amarillo court's opinion.

Wayman Henry and 20 other persons claiming interest in property abutting on Avenue A in those two blocks filed a suit March 22 attempting unsuccessfully to block paving of Avenue A, the contract for which had been let.

The plaintiffs contended that the city was appropriating their private property without due process of law, in utilizing the city-owned 75-foot right of way without first obtaining an additional seven and a half foot right of way on either side of the street.

The plaintiffs filed an amended petition seeking a declaratory judgment. The city excepted to the amended petition and Judge Pardue upheld the exception. The plaintiffs, represented by Campbell and Adams, attorneys, appealed to the Amarillo court.

Oscar Samelson was elected vice president, Raymond Buckner re-elected treasurer; and N. C. Calver, secretary-manager for the past six months was retained by acclamation.

Kiwanis Club Meets At School Today

Today's weekly luncheon of the Lubbock Kiwanis club will be held at the O. L. Slaton Junior High school, at Thirty-second and Ave. Q. After luncheon in the new school cafeteria, a musical program will be presented by the school's choral club in the new building's auditorium.

The invitation to meet at the school was extended some time ago by Geo. E. Dawson, principal, and the club membership voted almost unanimously to accept, despite the fact today (Armistice day) is a business holiday.

The invitation was extended also to wives of club members, and it was anticipated by W. C. Rylander, club secretary, that many of these will attend.

Among other guests will be present members of the school board, and those not now on the board who were trustees when contract was signed for the building. These include Dr. J. T. Hutchinson, R. F. Bayless, Chas. A Guy, Paul Hardwick, Hubert L. Allen, and Walter Alderson.

Those attending will be invited to make a tour of the building following the program, with members of the chorus to act as guides.

The meeting is to start at 12 o'clock noon.

International Dope Smuggling Ring Is Broken On West Coast

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10. (INS)—Smashing of the biggest international dope smuggling combine in recent years was reported today by federal authorities.

Agents made their announcement following the arrest of a reserve Army captain and three other men following a surprise raid on a fashionable Hollywood hotel apartment.

Under arrest were Rodolfo L. Teyechea, 33, reserve Army captain awaiting call to active duty, of Nogales, Ariz.; Milton Harry Burke, 39, Nogales railwayman, and Ramirio Cazares, 28, and Francisco J. Lavat, 43, both of Mexico.

Federal agents said that approximately $25,000 worth of smoking opium was found in the apartment occupied by the quartet. Operations of the drug combine, federal authorities said, extended from Sinaloa, Mexico, throughout the United States. It was described as a "multi-million dollar enterprise."

The Australian government is erecting, near Sydney, six prefabricated houses, imported from Sweden, which cost about $3,400 each plus erection charges.

Request For Special Session Is Studied

AUSTIN, Nov. 10. (AP)—Gov. Beauford H. Jester today studied a request by Lieut. Gov. Allan Shivers that he call a special session of the legislature to study public school problems.

Jester had no immediate comment. A member of the governor's staff indicated Jester would make no decision until next week.

Shivers made the request to Jester by telephone from Mission last night. He suggested specifically that the special session should study the report of the Gilmer-Aiken committee named by the last legislature to study public school problems and make long-range recommendations.

The committee recently completed its study. The 51st legislature will meet in regular session Jan. 11.

Shivers asked that the special session be called as early as possible in December.

Wedding Day For Claire Trevor Draws Near; Two Adventure Stories To Be Filmed Again

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 10 — The wedding day of Claire Trevor and Milton Bren is drawing nearer, and it won't be long now.

Milton, veteran director William Seiter, and playwright Norman Krasna have formed an independent production company. Their first picture will be "Love Under Cover," authored by Norman, with script by Beverly Freeman, and Seiter, of course, directing. It is set in Mexico and will go before the cameras in January.

A lot of memories came back when Harry Joe Brown told me he had bought the rights to two of Sabatini's books, "Captain Blood Returns" and "The Fortunes of Captain Blood."

The original "Captain Blood" was the first American movie Errol Flynn made at the magnificent salary of $100 per week, with Olivia De Havilland in her first starring role.

It brought Mike Curitz into the limelight as a director and hoisted Casey Robinson into the high-priced writer bracket.

Incidentally, it was Harry Joe who produced it for Warners, hence his interest. "Captain Blood Returns" goes before the cameras in the spring and will be filmed in foreign locales—The West Indies — Cartagena, Tortuga and Port-Au-Prince.

New Bandit Movie

Now comes screen guild productions with a new angle on Jesse James, the most moviefied and notorious bandit in history.

This one is called "I Shot Jesse James." John Ireland will play the role of Robert Ford, the man who reputedly shot the personality kid of the James gang.

Barbara Britton and Preston Foster will co-star, and the picture will get rolling very soon.

The very pretty girl named Mary Lawrence, who is now on the MGM lot is really Mrs. Delmer Daves. There is quite a sentimental story attached to Mary's accepting Sam Wood's offer to play a role in "The Stratton Story."

In 1928 Sam recommended a redhaired, freckled face youngster as a writer. He wrote "So This Is College" for MGM and was there for a long time. Now he's one of the top directors at Warner Brothers. So, when Sam asked if Mary, who has been busy raising the Daves children, could play the part in "Stratton Story," well, Delmer couldn't very well refuse.

Two Major Oil Discoveries Reported On Gulf Of Mexico

CHICAGO, Nov. 10. (U.P.)—Two oilmen said today that at least two oil discoveries of possible major importance have been made on the "continental shelf" of the Gulf of Mexico.

Mercer H. Parks, Houston, and James C. Posgate, New Orleans, told the 28th annual convention of the American Petroleum institute that offshore drilling "has passed the initial planning stage" and that successful drilling operations have been achieved.

The "continental shelf" is a mass of land submerged in less than 600 feet of water, at which depth the slope of ocean bottom increasss sharply, marking the true edge of the North American continent.

Parks and Posgate said that offshore drilling sites are built on pilings which have been sunk about 100 feet in the Gulf bed. The sites consist of large steel platforms which support everything from drilling equipment to a bunkhouse for the workers.

The oilmen said offshore drilling is very expensive compared with shore operations. They said the industry's ability to add "underwater oil" to the nation's reserves depends upon favorable economics and acquisition of leases with reasonable provisions and large enough to be operated efficiently.

Two Women Involved In Urschel Kidnapping Case Denied Parole

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10. (U.P.)—Two women serving life sentences for their part in the 1933 kidnapping of Oklahoma Oilman Charles F. Urschel have been denied parole, the federal parole board has announced.

The two women, Mrs. Katherine Kelley and her mother, Ora L. Shannon, are now in the federal women's reformatory in Alderson, W. Va. Mrs. Kelley was the wife of George Barnes, known as "Machine Gun" Kelley.

Urschel was held for more than a week in the home of Mrs. Shannon at Paradise, Tex., after being kidnaped from the front porch of his Oklahoma City home in July, 1933. He was released after the Kelley's had received a ransom payment of $200,000.

The kidnapers were captured later in Memphis, Tenn. Kelley, convicted along with the women, is serving a life term in Alcatraz.

The two women became eligible for parole in October. Hearings were held in Alderson, and their petition was denied Nov. 1.

Oklahoma Governor Confirms Report He Offered Cabinet Post

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 10. (U.P.)—One of the best-kept secrets of the year became public property today when Gov. Roy J. Turner confirmed reports that he declined an offer to join President Truman's cabinet five months ago.

The governor said he told Mr. Truman in June that he could not accept the post of Secretary of Agriculture—offered to him by the President—because "I felt I still had a job to do here."

President Truman himself, in an off-the-record talk to a group here during his visit Sept. 28, said that he had offered Turner the post. However, until today Turner had not commented on the President's unpublished remarks.

The story of the cabinet offer gained such wide circulation that the governor agreed to make a brief statement.

Youth's Sentence In Slaying Is Upheld

AUSTIN, Nov. 10. (AP)—The Court of Criminal Appeals today refused to disturb conviction and death sentence given a teen-age youth for stomping to death a 69-year-old woman.

The conviction was the second for Buster Northern for murder of Mrs. Fannie McHenry on March 27, 1946.

The first conviction was reversed and the case remanded for new trial by the appeal court because of the indictment failed to specify that the stomping had been done "with shoes on his feet."

The Appeal Court held that the new indictment and new trial were "free from errors."

The Appeal Court overruled Northern's plea that he was under 17 years of age, which under existing law would prohibit a death sentence. Court records reflected that a birth certificate introduced in evidence showed him to be 19 years of age at the time of trial, and nearly 18 at the time of the offense.

Court records reflected that Northern had been engaged by Mrs. McHenry in Chickasha, Okla., to drive her car for her. The slaying occurred in Dallas where Northern took the woman's car and money.

State Solon Says Legislature Likely Won't Raise Taxes

AUSTIN, Nov. 10. (AP)—Rep. James T. Sparks of Sherman said today he is convinced the 51st legislature will not have to raise any new taxes.

Sparks said he based his belief on a survey of state finances, the "approximate $100,000,000 surplus" in the general revenue fund, and prospective appropriation requirements.

Kansas Governor Has No Plans For Special Legislative Session

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 10. (U.P.)—Gov. Frank Carlson said today he has no intention of calling a special session of the Kansas legislature to take up liquor control measures.

To reporters he said:

"I see no occasion for calling a special session ahead of the regular 1949 legislature which will meet within two months.

Gov. Carlson's comments came after Sen. Riley W. Mac Gregor, a leading state lawmaker, told newsmen he would recommend to the chief executive that a brief special session be called to repeal Kansas' "bone dry" law.

Pekinese Dog Dines With British Notables At Banquet

LONDON, Nov. 10. (AP)—A black and tan Pekinese dog dined with Britain's highest notables at a sumptuous inaugural banquet laid last night by the new lord mayor of London.

The Peke came along with his owner, Lady Violet Munnings, wife of Sir Alfred Munnings. Sir Alfred is one of Britain's most famous painters.

The dog's dinner began with a nip of sherry, neat. Then he lapped up several laps of turtle soup. Later he had some champagne.

President Truman And Family To Move To New Quarters Soon After Vacation Ends

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (U.P.)—President Truman and his family will move from the White House, termed a "fire trap," to the Blair House soon after Mr. Truman returns from his Florida vacation, it was announced today.

The White House will undergo major repairs. It was believed the President and his family will remain at the Blair House, across Pennsylvania avenue from the White House, for a year or more.

The Blair House ordinarily is used by the State department for the entertainment of visiting dignitaries. The Trumans lived there for a short time after the President took office.

The White House set no specific date for the Truman's move. The announcement said only it would take place "fairly soon" after the President's return from Key West.

His vacation has been tentatively scheduled to end on Nov. 21.

The White House also announced that Mrs. Truman and Margaret Truman will leave Thursday for Key West, to join the President during the remainder of his vacation.

They are expected to make the trip by train.

Architects who have studied the White House for about six months reported last week that it is in a dangerous condition.

Public Buildings Commissioner William E. Reynolds called the historic structure a fire trap.

He added that it is standing up only by habit.

A major repair job that may cost more than $1,000,000 already has been started. The work is expected to take more than a year.

Russia Claimed To Have Weapon More Powerful Than Atom Bomb

MONTREAL, Nov. 10. (INS)—The Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson, "Red dean of Canterbury," declared today that Russia has a weapon "even more powerful than the atomic bomb."

The noted British clergyman said however that Russia will not bring on a war in which to use it "unless forced into it by the western world."

Dr. Johnson told a student gathering in Montreal that Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia told him of Russia's secret weapon."

Dean Johnson currently is on a lecture tour of Canada and the United States. He is due to go to New York on Friday.

Two Children Burn To Death As Family Works In Field

GRAND PRAIRIE, Nov. 10. (U.P.)—Two children burned to death in a parked car near here today while their parents weighed cotton in a field nearby.

Burned beyond recognition were 14-month-Frank Fraga and his sister, three-year-old Josephine Fraga. An unidentified five-year-old brother managed to escape through a window of the car.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Fraga, Dallas, were picking cotton for N. J. Ramsey on the Adair farm, adjoining the southwest corner of the Grand Prairie city limits.

The children died before they could be removed from the car.

It was believed that the fire was caused by faulty wiring in the auto. The car was almost completely destroyed.

Purge Of Party Officials Banned

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, Nov. 10.—District Judge Walter Morris held today that the State Democratic convention here Sept. 14 was nothing but a "mass meeting" and not a legally organized session.

This ruling was made today in an action enjoining Democratic party officials from purging certain Tarrant county precinct chairmen who refused to pledge loyalty to the Truman-Barkley presidential ticket.

It also barred Jack Carter and Mrs. J. W. Douglas of Fort Worth from taking the state executive committee seats held by Neville Penrose and Mrs. J. Bennett Smith.

Not Legally Organized

The judge ruled that the convention was not legally organized when the certified Tarrant county delegation was replaced by pro-Truman delegates.

He made his ruling after six days of testimony in an injunction suit brought by the ousted delegation.

High party officials, including Chairman John C. Calhoun and Secretary Tom L. Tyson, testified.

The judge did not enjoin Calhoun since the state chairman had "in open court stated he would not press the purge."

Tyson, in Corsicana, had no immediate comment. "I have nothing for publication pending a study of the 44-page judgment," he said. "As long as the injunction is in effect, I will accord full deference and respect to its every provision."

Calvert Disputes Ruling

From Hillsboro, Robert W. Calvert, former chairman of the State Democratic executive committee, said it "remains to be seen" whether the ruling "can be sustained in the appellate court."

"The judgment entered by Judge Morris implies that proceedings of the state convention were illegal," Calvert said. "This finding in a trial court was not unexpected. I differ with Judge Morris in this respect."

Judge Morris found that a coalition of "liberals, pro-Rainey and Jester forces" co-operated to conduct the party purge by seizing power at the convention and keeping the certified delegations from their seats, later taken over by rump delegates.

The jurist said the course was decided at a strategy meeting in Waco attended by Calvert, then state chairman, and other party officials.

Recognition of Byron Skelton of Temple, who presented the motion that led to ouster of the certified delegates, was part of a pre-meditated plan, Morris said.

He denied a defense request that $500 bond be granted which in effect would suspend judgment until appeals are heard.

The judge said his decision was "extraordinary," adding that it is a harsh method of relieving a wrong.

Ruling Is Given On Labor Camp

AUSTIN, Nov. 10 (AP) — Counties are not authorized to construct labor camps solely for the use of itinerant Latin American workers, the Attorney General ruled today.

The opinion, by assistant Joe R. Greenhill, said, however, that counties may in co-operation with cities provide health and sanitary facilities "for itinerant Latin American workers and others of the general public to promote the public health of the community."

The opinion was requested by J. Y. Boyd, auditor of Lubbock county.

Greenhill said that the erection of dormitories, meeting halls, recreation halls, garages and similar buildings solely for itinerant workers "does not come within the meaning of the 'health and sanitary' facilities contemplated for the general public under Article 4434."

LUBBOCK GROUP HAD BEEN ASKED TO AID IN PROJECT

The attorney general's opinion in relation to construction of an itinerant laborer's camp here stemmed several weeks ago from a request of the county commissioners court that it contribute to such a camp for an expected influx of Latin American cotton pickers.

The commissioners, R. O. Short, Ben Mansker, Ottis Isom and Pat Corley, told a committee of the chamber of commerce which had suggested that the county and the city jointly pay for the camp that it could find no legal authority allowing it to vote such a donation.

The camp since has been built, without contribution from the county. An opinion on the issue, asked after the request had been made of the county commissioners, is found in Greenhill's Wednesday pronouncement from Austin.

New Car Buyers Suffer, Solon Claims

Sales Practices Hit By House Probers

By ROSE MCKEE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—House probers charged today that new car "rackets" cost American motorists almost half a billion dollars in the first seven months of this year.

The Macy committee on Unfair Trade practices estimated that American automobile owners lost more than $200,000,000 during this period on "under value trade ins."

It is reported that another $250,000,000 was extracted from new car buyers in "extras they did not want."

Intensive Investigation Made

The report of the unit, headed by Rep. Macy (R) N. Y., was the result of an investigation underway for the last three and one-half months in the District of Columbia area. The report said:

"The committee has reason to assume that the conditions uncovered in the metropolitan area of Washington, D. C., are indicative of those in the rest of the country."

The report declared that some dealers made every effort to be fair and honest but others were found to "resort to every questionable trade practice in order to squeeze the most amount of money from the anxious purchaser."

Findings Are Announced

The probe under the direction of John T. Redden, former assistant attorney general in the Justice department's anti-trust division resulted in these findings:

1. "New car buyers pay on the average of $286 for extras and accessories such as fog lights, heaters, radios, glare shields, extra mirrors and white sidewall tires." The unit said that "about half of these the motorist does not want but is nevertheless required to pay the extra $143."

2. "Although historically "trade ins' were handled by new car dealers at a loss, today they are selling them at an average of 43 per cent above the amount allowed."

3. "'Trade ins' have been undervalued by dealers an average of at least $300."

4. "The new car dealers 'profits' have been materially increased by the fact that the basic price of automobiles is at least 60 per cent above pre-war."

Further Hearings Planned

In addition, the report said, the new car dealers receive a percentage discount on automobiles he purchases from the manufacturer.

The unit denounced as an "unconscionable markup" the 43 per cent increase in the price at which it found "trade-ins" were sold.

The report added that the committee had attempted to be "most conservative" in interpreting its findings.

It said the unit "resolved every doubt in favor of the dealer."

The committee declared its findings were of such importance as to warrant "further consideration by Congress, the automobile industry and the public."

The unit may hold public hearings on the issue later this month.

Baptists Asked For New Agencies

HOUSTON, Nov. 10. (AP) — The Baptist General convention of Texas today was asked to establish three new welfare institutions and increase endowments of Texas Baptist colleges.

Dr. Hal C. Buckner, Dallas, recommended establishment of a boys ranch near Marble Falls, a home for unmarried mothers at San Antonio, and a home for the aged at Houston or Fort Worth.

Dr. J. W. Bruner, convention endowment secretary, Dallas, told the convention "a speedup of the endowment program is the most urgent problem facing Texas Baptists."

Earlier, a report of the Baptist foundation had informed the convention only two Texas Baptist educational institutions have sufficient endowments to meet minimum standards of the Southern Association of Colleges.

These are Mary Hardin-Baylor college, Belton, with an endowment of $1,300,000 and Howard Payne college, Brownwood, with $1,546,737.

Hardin - Simmons university, Abilene, was said to need $823,526 to meet the minimum requirements, East Texas Baptist college, Marshall, $861,000 and the University of Corpus Christi $601,000.

No specific mention was made of Baylor university, Waco, but Dr. Kyle M. Yates, Houston member of the Baylor board of trustees, told reporters the university lacks $3,000,000.

Huge Budget Talked

Convention officials indicated the recommendations of Buckner and Bruner probably would be included in the executive committee's proposals for a 1949 budget.

It was understood the committee will ask a budget of $10,000,000 annually for the next 10 years or three times larger than the current annual budget.

A large percentage of such a budget, if approved, would go toward endowments for ten educational institutions, an orphans home and four hospitals served by the convention.

The convention today also adopted a goal of 100,000 additional members in Sunday schools for 1949, the goal being a part of a 600,000 figure set for the year by the Southern Baptist convention.

Annual Tech Aggie Pig Roast Planned

Members of the Texas Tech Agriculture club will be hosts at their 21st annual pig roast next Tuesday night at 6:45 o'clock in the college stock judging pavilion.

Frank Hayes, president of the club, has extended an invitation to all ex-students and graduates of the Agriculture division in this and surrounding areas. Especially urged to attend are those alumni now engaged in soil conservation work, and vocational agriculture and veterans teaching, it was announced.

Special guests will include college officials, and prominent Lubbock and area residents. A guest speaker for the occasion has not yet been named.

Other officers of the club are Ed C. McIlroy, vice president; Chester Jaynes, secretary; Jim Spain, treasurer; and Tyson Eubanks, parliamentarian.

Rehearing Appeal On Building Plan Denied

AUSTIN, Nov. 10. (AP)—The Third Court of Civil Appeals today overruled motion for rehearing appeal of the suit contesting legality of the $60,000,000 College Building amendment.

The appeal court on Oct. 20 declared the amendment valid, upholding the judgment of the 126th district court where the suit was tried.

Ordinarily denial of a rehearing in the Third Court of Appeals paves the way for an appeal to the Supreme Court. There is possibility however, for a second motion for rehearing to be filed with the intermediate court.

The suit challenging the amendment's legality was brought by Clarence W. Whiteside of Lubbock and others. The amendment was adopted by a narrow margin in an election last year.

Seized Beer Brings $646 In Sale By Control Board

Three hundred twenty cases of beer confiscated in raids over this district have been sold for $646 and shipped to a dealer in Howard county, a wet territory, it was announced Wednesday by Charlie Fuller, deputy supervisor of the Lubbock district of the state liquor control board.

Fuller said a shipment of approximately 100 cases of whisky seized by his inspectors would be sold soon through Austin board headquarters.

A fine of $1,000 was levied Saturday in Floyd county court after Leon Bowman, a district inspector stationed at Plainview, had seized approximately 30 cases of whisky and 13 cases of beer in that county, Fuller said.

Ex-Marines Attend Banquet In Observance Of Corps' Founding

By ROGER SOUTHALL
Avalanche Staff Writer

Approximately 30 ex-Marines and their guests celebrated the 173rd birthday of the Marine Corps at a dinner Wednesday night at Kattman's, with the Lubbock Marine Corps league as host.

A. L. Hawkins, jr., commandant of the league, presided, and Hop Halsey served as master of ceremonies. Invocation was given by Sam King.

Preceding the meal the group sang The Marines' Hymn.

History Is Related

Halsey introduced the principal speaker, Ben Boswell, former Marine who is with the Veterans administration here, who pointed out that Marines, as fighting men, go back further than Nov. 10, 1775, for there were "Marine" fighting men in a number of ancient civilizations.

He traced the history of the Marine Corps from the time of its creation in 1775 by the Continental Congress, through all the wars the United States has fought.

Perhaps the least known Marine Corps exploit took place in 1805, Boswell said, when an organization of Marines crossed the Sahara desert on foot to attack Tripoli from the rear.

In the war of 1812, there were Marines on Lake Erie and Lake Champlain, and with Jackson at New Orleans. They participated actively in the Mexican and Indian wars, and it was the Marines who captured John Brown at Harper's Ferry.

Jumping to World War II, Boswell declared that Corrigador and Bataan comprise the darkest chapter in the military history of the United States.

A Marine fighting force, he said, is considered more expendable than other military forces. That is expected of the Marine Corps, and that is why there is a Marine Corps, he added.

He said that it is time this nation could well consider the saying that a nation is born of war and dies of peace."

He emphasized that he did not advocate a warlike United States, but pointed out that in times past, nations have become too careless and too weak because of too much "collective selfishness" on the part of their citizens.

"Today our only hope for peace is strength and lots of it," he declared.

A strong nation, by rights, must be free, Boswell said. The United States must maintain its Marine Corps at any cost, not only for its strength, but because of the morale-building effect of the Marines.

The Marine Corps birthday cake, decorated with red, white, and blue icing, was served.

Benediction was given by Houston Boyd.

'Revolving Strikes' In France Continue To Block Production

By CARL HARTMAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS—French labor unions, which invented the sit-down, have another novelty to their credit—the "revolving strike."

This invention consists in a endless chain of work stoppages, some big, some little, but none lasting for more than a few days. Their purpose is to cut production, while holding down the amount of wages lost by strikers and keeping the pot of social agitation boiling.

The Communist-led General Federation of Labor (C.G.T.), which invented and perfected the new weapon, is fighting the European recovery program.

Also Cost Unions

But at the same time these strikes cost the C.G.T. most of the contents of its unions' treasuries. What was even more serious, a split in its ranks put about a third of the C.G.T.'s 5,000,000 members into a new non-Communist group, workers' force.

Prices kept rising. For the first time since the war the government succeeded in enforcing a new rule—no pay for days lost in strikes. The result was widespread discontent among labor's rank and file, but no disposition to take it out in widespread work stoppages.

The revolving strikes, sometimes called "harassing" or "irritation" strikes, were tailored to fit these new conditions. The common report is that general instructions were passed along from Paris to Communist cells all over France — make trouble wherever you can through the C.G.T., but keep it short.

Thousands Of Strikes Called

Trouble is just what happened. One week the stevedores at Oran would be out, and the metal workers at Marseille. Within a few days they would be back at work, but before then Paris suburbanites would be without bus service over a weekend and street cleaners at Lyon would miss two or three rounds of garbage collections. Literally thousands of these strikes were called.

The results: Some public irritation, though not enough to support strong government action; a few local improvements in wages and working conditions (which probably would have come anyway), and an economy kept off balance by a series of short jabs to vital spots.

The revolving strikes do not exclude major walkouts. Where the C.G.T. is particularly strong, in the mines for example, it tries for something bigger. The coal strike that began Oct. 4 and continued through the month was a much more important undertaking than any of the local stoppages, but it did not halt them. They kept on going, too.

Texas Tech Beauties To Be Named Tonight

The 28 girls at Texas Technological college who are still in the running for a place among the eight La Ventana beauties will appear before judges, who will pick 16 of them, at 8 p.m. tonight on the second floor of the Press building.

Two pictures each of the 16 chosen as most beautiful tonight will be sent to a nationally known person, who will make the final decision as to which of them will be given a full page picture in the annual. Bob Williams, La Ventana editor, announced Wednesday night that Margaret Turner, society editor for the Avalanche-Journal; Floyd Koen, of Koen studios, and Knox Thomas, president of the First Federal Savings and Loan association, would be three of tonight's judges, and more might be chosen later.

Interest Mounts In Demo Dinner

Lubbock County Democratic Chairman L. C. Ellis announced Wednesday afternoon that interest here and in various counties of the 19th Congressional district in a "Victory dinner" to be given at 7:30 p. m. Monday night in Hilton hotel has so exceeded expectation that it has been necessary to "squeeze in additional places."

Rather than the 250 places originally planned at $10 the plate, Ellis said arrangements were being made for 275.

The announcement was made at a 4:30 p. m. meeting Wednesday of committee members charged with planning the dinner. The meeting was on the mezzanine floor of the Hilton.

Ellis said, after checking with his committees, that he had sent letters of invitation to chairmen of all counties of the congressional district and that he had received several responses. He has asked that his committees meet again Friday, at 4:30 p. m., to make final accounting in planning and ticket sales.

"It is highly important that all committeemen attend," he said.

Money above expenses of the dinner will be sent to the National Democratic Executive committee to be applied toward erasing a campaign deficit.

Cong. George Mahon, who has been elected to his eighth term, will be honored by party members of his district in connection with the dinner. He will speak.

Ellis added several women to committees, but did not announce identity of all of them.

Burglars Get $1,300 In Breakins At Spur

SPUR, Nov. 10 (Special)—Looters took an estimated $1,300 in cash from three Spur merchants in raids early Wednesday, officers reported here today.

Firms burglarized were Clover Farm store, Rickels Motor company, and Godfrey and Smart Motor company.

An attempted theft at Leon Ice company also was made, but looters failed to gain entrance to the building.

Safe Is Smashed

Entrance to the three establishments was made by jimmying the front doors. At Clover Farm store, burglars smashed open a safe with a sledge hammer and took $800. At Rickles Motor company about $400 in cash was taken, while $100 was stolen at Smart Motor company.

Sheriff C. C. Kimmel began investigation of the thefts early today, and called for the aid of a fingerprint expert.

ESCORTS DO GREAT SERVICE

Task Of Returning War Dead Is Continued As Armistice Arrives

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The Unknown Soldier sleeps on in his marble tomb atop a graceful green rise in Arlington. Thirty years after the war that claimed him, he remains, as the legend on the marble reads, ". . . known but to God."

Perhaps some day there will lie beside him the unknown soldier, or sailor or flier, of World War II. In the interim, our patient and humane quartermaster general's office continues the enormous job of identifying and returning home thousands of servicemen who died in a war which the unknown soldier could never have comprehended.

Still Returning Others

The offices in New York and San Francisco will be too busy today with the dead of World War II to be able to ponder the sacrifice of the unknown troops. Their job is the "known soldier," how best to deliver his remains to his next of kin and assuage their grief.

About 1,000 veterans of World War II, all combat men of every rank, are the escorts of World War II's dead. Nearly every hour some part of the soil of America receives the bodies of Americans who gave their ultimate devotion to their country in places that were but names on a map in the days before Pearl Harbor.

More than 600 of these escorts are based in New York, busy with the task of accompanying the arriving dead to their final resting places in national or private cemeteries. They, and their opposite numbers in San Francisco, have done a magnificent job in a difficult role. In a constant world of tears and re-broken hearts they provide the majesty of the United States government and its official, humble gratitude and respects.

Many Not Located

Sixty-two percent of all the families of American boys who died overseas have asked the government to return the bodies. A vast majority of the remainder preferred to leave the bodies in the cemeteries that today mark the earth from Iwo to the Elbe, from Greenland to Dakar. But 16,000 next-of-kin have never been located by the government. The task of locating them never ceases. To date, 95,550 bodies have been returned; another 55,000 are en route.

Escorts are trained as few members of the military have ever been trained. They are volunteers, mainly, and many of them have gone back into service specifically for this duty. They are schooled in tact and diplomacy and dignity. The humanity of the men makes such schooling easy.

They see the ever-changing last chapter of total war. One afternoon may find them representing the government at the burial in a flower-laden family plot of the son of a rich family; the next may find them standing in a poor rundown cemetery comforting a single mourner who cannot speak the English language.

But there is no difference in their mien or manner. They deliver the stout coffin in the same manner, drape it with the same American flag, present that flag to the bereaved, answer such questions as are put to them, stay around the family for as long as they are needed.

The Quartermaster General's office sees to it that the escort is of the same branch of the service and same rank or rating as the dead. Whenever it can, it matches nationalities. It succeeded, for instance, in assigning several full-blooded Indian escorts to the bodies of Indian dead. One of these, buried on a reservation, was given a full ceremonial funeral and when it was done the Indian family poignantly gave the dead boy's horse to the escort.

Escorts have had to do such things as row the remains of their dead charges to tiny offshore island homes reached by no other means. From New York they have ranged as far as Barbados on their missions of comfort and mercy.

The grateful folk who have learned to know these escorts have come to think of them as dear and sympathetic friends of the dead, although the odds are overwhelmingly against an escort's ever having known the man he brings home. The families never forget the simple dignity the escorts have shown. Many have sought to have the escorts come and live with them . . . To fill an aching void which not even the return of the beloved dead was able to fill.

Suspects Held In Burglaries In Eight Texas, Arkansas Towns

BONHAM, Nov. 10. (U.P.)—Sheriff Dick Wait disclosed today the arrest at Clarksville of suspects in store burglaries in Bonham and seven other towns.

Burglars shot out glass doors in some 15 business establishments taking guns, radios, money, tires and batteries.

Other towns which reported weekend robberies included Savoy, Windom, Dodd City, Honey Grove, Detroit, Blossom, all in Texas, and El Dorado, Ark.

Canadian Leader To Quit Post Monday

OTTAWA, Nov. 10. (U.P.)—Prime Minister William L. MacKenzie King announced today he would resign his post next Monday.

Monday King will have been in office 21 years and 157 days, a record for a prime minister in the commonwealth.

King made known his decision in a letter addressed to Lt.-Col. L. D. M. Baxter, president of the Canadian legion.

"I had hoped that the close of my many years of office might be associated with remembrance day," King said in the letter. "I had counted on . . . having the honor . . . of placing the government's wreath at the base of the war memorial."

Remembrance Day in Canada corresponds to Armistice Day in the United States.

"I had hoped that my last official act . . . might be in the nature of a silent tribute to the memory of those who gave their lives in the cause of freedom . . . I have decided . . . to tender my resignation as prime minister to his excellency on Monday next, November 15th."

$20 Federal Reserve Note To Show 'New Look' At White House

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10. (AP)—President Truman's White House balcony, celebrated in controversy, is going into the nation's favorite picture gallery—its paper money.

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder said today that the $20 federal reserve note has been modernized to show the present-day appearance of the White House's south front and grounds.

The $20 notes circulating now show the same general scene.

Reckless Driving Under New Law Ruled Criminal Offense

AUSTIN, Nov. 10. (AP)—Reckless driving, as defined in the uniform traffic code of 1947, is a criminal offense, the attorney general ruled today.

The opinion was directed to County Attorney James C. Martin of Corpus Christi, Neuces county. Martin had requested the ruling after taking the position that the local section dealing with reckless driving does not expressly forbid such driving or expressly make it an offense.

The section defining reckless driving, wrote Assistant Attorney General Ned McDaniel, "is replete with definitive references which are incompatible with any interpretation other than that reckless driving is prohibited."

The law specifically stated: "Every person who drives any vehicle in wilful or wanton disregard of the rights or safety of others or without due caution or circumspection, and at a speed or in a manner so as to endanger or be likely to endanger a person or property shall be guilty of reckless driving."

The Irish (Eire) National Teachers association has been told by Minister for Education General Mulcahy that a new arbitration council will be established during November to decide questions of salaries, bonuses, pensions and working conditions.

Report Cattle Ban To Be Dropped Is Denied

MEXICO, Nov. 10. (U.P.)—A U.S. embassy spokesman here today said published reports that the United States will open its borders to importation of Mexican cattle "are wishful thinking."

He pointed out that U.S. law prohibits introduction into the United States of livestock from any country wherein highly infectious diseases, such as foot and mouth disease, exist.

"Congress would have to amend the law to permit import of Mexican cattle," he said.

Nuevo Leon state government officials were quoted yesterday as saying they expected the U.S. would relax the import ban "within a month."

The newspaper Novedades today said "a prompt resumption of Mexican cattle purchases by the United States is expected."

The paper said the imminent visit of four U. S. senators, Milton Young, R., N.D., Theodore Green, D., R.I., Richard Russell, D., Ga., and Elmer Thomas, D., Okla., and a meeting of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico cattlemen with northern Mexican cattlemen in Torreon this weekend indicated "that very shortly our northern cattlemen will renew their exportations."

Foot and mouth disease has not been found in northern Mexico but the embassy spokesman pointed out that the U.S. law specifies any "country" where the disease exists.

Man Dies After Setting Off Explosion In Brownsville Mail

BROWNSVILLE, Nov. 10. (U.P.)—Roberto Leos Diaz, 44-year-old Mexican, died today of burns received in an explosion last night at Cameron county jail.

Officers said he set off the explosion himself.

Sheriff Boynton Fleming said the explosion apparently was caused when Diaz reached through the bars of his cell and turned on the gas at a nearby heater, waited for a while and struck a match.

Fleming said the man was a federal prisoner sentenced for illegal entry. Taken to a hospital immediately after the blast, he died before noon today.

No one else was injured in the explosion.

OBSERVING ARMISTICE DAY . . . WE ARE CLOSED ALL DAY THURSDAY. SHOP EARLY FOR THESE BARGAINS FRIDAY MORNING!

NOVEMBER 11TH:

A Thanksgiving Day

ARMISTICE Day observances gradually have assumed a deeper and more solemn significance since the anniversary was born with the termination of World War I just 30 years ago today.

For a good many years after 1918, hilarious celebration was a characteristic of this anniversary of supposed victory in the "war to end all wars." This revelry gradually subsided as the dread conviction grew that Armistice Day marked, not an end of war, but a truce between wars.

The atmosphere of foreboding which will be widely prevalent today is reminiscent in worse degree of Armistice Days during the last few years before the start of World War II. Even more so than in 1938, the world is conscious of the danger of a catastrophe more terrifying than anything ever experienced by humanity.

Perhaps this consciousness of peril offers some cause for re-assurance. No longer is there insistent clinging to the wishful psychology, such as was widespread in 1938, that "it can't happen again." Realistic people recognize that it might happen again.

The vast majority of people of all nations are facing possible dangers squarely. They are striving to avert or, if necessary, to repulse them by doing their utmost to be prepared for the worst. Never before have so many people in so many nations devoted so much time, thought, effort and money to a program which has just one purpose—the guarantee of peace and/or security to all men of goodwill.

No one can pretend assurance that these efforts will succeed in their purpose. But the prospect is far from hopeless.

This Armistice Day, therefore, is an appropriate occasion for devout thanksgiving that a sound basis for hope for the future exists. It also is an occasion for rededication to the firm determination to press relentlessly all possible efforts which strive, first, to avoid war and, second, to be prepared for the worst that may come.

Good Luck, Boys!

THE MANY South Plains people who have enjoyed the harmony of "The Plainsmen," Lubbock "Barber Shop Quartet" will be rooting for them when they compete in regional contests of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, in Kansas City, Saturday. The winners will qualify for the national finals in Buffalo, N. Y., in June, 1949.

Enthusiasm is a characteristic of SPEBSQSA members, who include many men of national prominence. An active chapter is a community asset because, among other reasons, of its important outside contacts.

The Lubbock chapter has been active. "The Plainsmen" have given most generously of their talents and richly deserve the Kansas City trip, made possible by four local firms. Quartet members are Robert S. Hufstedler, Robert E. Dennis, J. M. Hall and R. S. Roberson. Sponsoring firms are Furr Food, Lubbock Auto Co., Dunlap's and the Baldridge Bakery.

Hurrah for them all!

Life was simple in the old days. One lived for months without celebrating some kind of a week.

Be it ever so humble, the chances are you can get high rent for it as a home.

Armistice Day—Every Day

Waltz Into Darkness

By WILLIAM IRISH
Distributed By NEA Service, Inc.

I

THE sun was bright, the sky was blue, the time was May; New Orleans was heaven, and heaven must have been only another New Orleans, it couldn't have been any better.

In his bachelor quarters on St. Charles Street, Louis Durand was getting dressed. Not for the first time that day, for the sun was already high and he'd been up and about for hours; but for the great event of that day. This wasn't just a day, this was the day of all days. A day that comes just once to a man, and now had come to him. It had come late, but it had come. It was now. It was today.

He wasn't young any more. Others didn't tell him this, he told himself this. He wasn't old, as men go. But for such a thing as this, he wasn't too young any more. Thirty-seven.

On the wall there was a calendar, the first four leaves peeled back to bare the fifth. At top center, this was inscribed May. Then on each side of this, in slanted, shadow-casting, heavily curlicued numerals, the year-date was gratuitously given the beholder: 1880. Below, within their little boxed squares, the first 19 numerals had been stroked off with lead pencil. About the twentieth, this time in red crayon, a heavy circle, a bull's-eye, had been traced. Around and around, as though it could not be emphasized enough. And from there on, the numbers were blank; in the future.

On the bureau, before which he stood using his hairbrush, lay a packet of letters and a daguerreotype.

He put down his brush, and, pausing for a moment in his preparations, took them up one by one and hurriedly glanced through each. The first bore the letterhead: "The Friendly Correspondence Society of St. Louis, Mo.—an Association for Ladies and Gentlemen of high character," and began in a fine masculine hand:

Dear Sir:

In reply to your inquiry we are pleased to forward to you the name and address of one of our members, and if you will address yourself to her in person, we feel sure a mutually satisfactory correspondence may be engaged upon —

The next was in an even finer hand, this time feminine: "My dear Mr. Durand:—" And signed: "Y'rs most sincerely, Miss J. Russell."

The next: "Dear Mr. Durand: . . . Sincerely, Miss Julia Russell."

The next: "Dear Louis Durand: . . . Your sincere friend, Julia Russell."

And then: "Dear Louis: . . . Your sincere friend, Julia."

And then: "Dear Louis: . . . Your sincere Julia."

And then: "Louis, dear . . . Your Julia."

And finally: "Louis, my beloved: . . . Your own impatient Julia."

There was a postscript to this one: "Will the eighteenth never come? I count the hours for the boat to sail"

HE put them in order again, patted them tenderly, fondly, into symmetry. He put them into his inside coat pocket, the one that went over his heart.

He took up, now, the small stiff-backed daguerreotype and looked at it long and raptly. The subject was not young. She was not an old woman, certainly, but she was equally certainly no longer a girl. Her features were sharply indented with the approaching emphases of alteration. There was an incisiveness to the mouth that was not yet, but would be presently, sharpness. There was a keen appearance to the eyes that heralded the onset of sunken creases and constrictions about them. Not yet, but presently. The groundwork was being laid. There was a curvature to the nose that presently would become a hook. There was a prominence to the chin that presently would become a jutting-out.

She was not beautiful. She could be called attractive, for she was attractive to him, and attractiveness lies in the eyes of the beholder.

Her dark hair was gathered at the back of the head in a psyche-knot, and a smattering of it, coaxed the other way, fell over her forehead in a fringe, as the fashion had been for some considerable time now.

So this was the bargain he had made with love, taking what he could get, in sudden desperate haste, for fear of getting nothing at all.

If he'd met someone in a restaurant just then—

Or even if he'd met someone passing on the street—

But he didn't.

His eye fell, instead, on an advertisement in a newspaper. A St. Louis advertisement in a New Orleans newspaper.

His contemplation ended. The sound of carriage wheels stopping somewhere just outside caused him to insert the likeness into his money-fold, and pocket that. He went out to the second-story veranda and looked down.

A colored man was coming into the inner courtyard or patio-well through the passageway from the street.

"What took you so long? Did you get me a coach?" Durand called down to him.

"It's here waiting for you now."

"Good. You finish up the packing, Tom, see that my things get over to the new house. And don't forget to give the keys back to Madame Tellier before you leave."

THE coach drove briskly down St. Louis Street. Durand sat straining forward on the edge of the seat, both hands topping his

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

AN OLD FRIEND of mine, "Sandy" Sanders, sent me a copy of the weekly newspaper, East Bay News, published in Oakland, Calif., with which he is now connected.

Among his other duties, such as soliciting advertising, he also writes a column called "Under the Clock." It is so named because it is all about doings in the Oakland City Hall and on top of that building is a giant clock.

BRANDEIS

It is a nice little paper, but certainly not one in which one would look for precious pearls of wisdom.

Yet as I went through the pages of the little paper—without any particular thought in mind—an item stopped me.

It was apparently a filler, placed where an advertisement should have been, but which didn't show up.

I don't know who wrote it. Perhaps my friend, Sandy, is the author. Possible it was cribbed from a classic.

"Keep on talking—about war or anything that worries you. Shut up and you swell up with repressed anger. Soon you are mad enough to fight. So keep on talking."

I laid the paper down and started to think.

Did that fellow have something there?

We all know, of course, that talking can cause an awful lot of trouble.

Think of the many reputations that have been ruined by gossip. Think of the millions of words that are wasted in political campaigns and Fourth-of-July oratory.

But that is one phase of it. There is another phase.

Talking, which can do an awful lot of harm, can also be a safety valve.

You have all seen automobile collisions.

Usually nobody is hurt, but a fender is bent or a bumper is bumped off.

What happens?

The drivers of both cars get out.

They shout. They accuse each other. They holler for each other's license.

They threaten with suits, with arrest, with mayhem.

They pull out pencils and paper, write each other's name, address and license number down, clamber back into their cars and——

——and nothing happens.

THE ONLY time I was ever sued by a man with whom I collided, he didn't say a word.

He got out of his car, took down my license number from the plate, got back in and drove off.

But three days later I was served with papers.

So don't be disgusted when you read about all that arm-waving and mutual insulting at the United Nations.

You can't shoot off a gun while you wave your arms. And barking dogs don't bite — at least not while they bark.

SOLONS ARE BLAMED

GOP Changes Needed

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The virtual collapse of the Republican Party in their year of expected victory has convinced many of its leaders that the GOP needs a prompt and progressive reorganization from top to bottom, especially on Capitol Hill.

It is generally agreed that the majority legislators' "do nothing record," as dramatized by President Truman, was largely responsible for his surprise showing.

In a sense, the postmortem analysts believe that it was the Republican Congress rather than Governor Thomas E. Dewey which was defeated. In electoral college terms, as well as in the popular vote, he made the best run of any GOP candidate since Herbert Hoover in 1928.

TUCKER

His personal, "me, too" platform was far more liberal than that which the Philadelphia convention gave him, and far more New Dealish than the principles embodied in legislation enacted by the Eightieth Congress.

This viewpoint is borne out in detailed manner by the outcome of Congressional and Gubernatorial contests. Even those who conceded that Mr. Truman had an outside chance—and there were very few—never dreamed that the Democrats would recapture Capitol Hill.

The overturn at the eastern end of Pennsylvania Avenue was quite as unanticipated and as spectacular as the President's triumph.

SIGNIFICANT: It is regarded as significant that almost every Republican Congressional leader's state gave its electoral ballot to President Truman or turned in Dewey majorities that fell far below expectations. Congressional bosses' stock is far below par on the political market today.

Mr. Truman carried the states of Senate Leader Taft, Speaker Martin, House Majority Leader Halleck—Ohio, Massachusetts and Indiana, respectively. He lost in Vandenberg's Michigan and Senate Leader Wherry's Nebraska by less than 40,000.

Mr. Dewey, ironically, says he gave up when he learned that Ohio, Iowa and Indiana, erstwhile strongholds of Republicanism, had gone Democratic.

LOSER: President Truman won Illinois, the home state of Rules Chairman Leo E. Allen. It was he who, sometimes against his wish but at the desire of the House leadership, pigeonholed most of the measures which the Chief Executive had asked Congress to enact. Another loser in this great state was Senator C. Wayland Brooks, arch-isolationist.

Although Mr. Dewey barely squeezed through in New York, the normally Republican regions above The Bronx failed to give him the usual majorities. And it is this section—Auburn, to be exact—which produces John Taber, Chairman of the House Appropriations committee. It was he who tried unsuccessfully to sabotage the full financing of the Marshall Plan.

REJECTED: Mr. Truman not only carried the home state of Harold L. Knutson, Chairman of the House Ways and Means committee, but, according to present returns, Mr. Knutson himself has been defeated in a supposedly sure Republican district.

It was the bald-headed Minnesotan who drove through a tax reduction bill over the Administration's protests—a bill, incidentally, which was supposed to win many votes for Governor Dewey.

Two of the most reactionary members of the Senate, so reactionary that Governor Dewey did not even ask for their reelection in his swing around the country, were ejected by the voters. They were Robertson of Wyoming and Revercomb of West Virginia. In the latter state Mr. Truman matched Roosevelt majorities in flouting the influnce of John L. Lewis with the coal miners.

APOSTLES: Many Democratic spokesmen insist that it was a Roosevelt rather than a Truman victory. They are quick to note, however, that this is the first time their party has swept to victory on New Deal principles and philosophy without the popular and magnetic F.D.R. at the head of the ticket.

Mr. Truman's most effective speakers—in fact, almost his only oratorical apostles—were fervent Rooseveltians. They were Secretary Brannan of Agriculture, newly appointed Secretary Tobin, of Labor, and give the guy credit, "the Old Curmudgeon," Harold L. Ickes. Their states—Colorado, Massachusetts and Illinois, respectively—came in with "happy landings" for Truman.

GOVERNORS: The more sensational and surprising winners in Gubernatorial and Senatorial contests were outright New Dealers or Roosevelt sympathizers. In their campaigns several of them mentioned the name of Roosevelt three times for every single reference to Truman. Many ran ahead of the President.

The list includes four Governors-elect—Paul E. Dever of Massachusetts, Chester A. Bowles of Connecticut, Adlai Ewing Stevenson of Illinois, Frank J. Lausche of Ohio.

Among the incoming Senators who were F.D.R. disciples are Professor Paul H. Douglas of Illinois and Hubert Humphrey, the St. Paul Mayor who defeated Senator Joe Ball.

Another household pest is the member of the family who goes off with one section of the paper whil you are reading the other one.

Man is the only animal capable of laughter. Sometimes we don't see what he is laughing about.

Getting some people to return a favor is just about as hard as getting a man to return a book.

A woman doesn't object to being reminded of a birthday provided a gift does the reminding.

A hick town is the one where many of the residents have sleeping sickness but don't know it.

Many people are worrying about the next war. And we haven't paid for the last two.

The nation is returning to normalcy. Gang slayings and gunmen are once again receiving front page mention.

According to actions of some organizations wanting a new world order they act as if they wanted a secret order.

When Cupid makes a mistake, the divorce lawyer profits by it.

The woman who says she is rendered speechless usually goes on and makes a speech about it anyway.

REACTION TO VOTE DISCOUNTED

Changes In Market Lose Effect

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — There was one quite normal aspect of our otherwise very surprising election season this year which affords—for those who need it—the comfort of the familiar.

The stock market took a dive over election of a Democratic president. (It has since "rallied" as they say on "the street," and then it fell again.)

STOKES

This has been going on now for a long time. It happened every time a fellow named Franklin D. Roosevelt, a Democrat, got reelected, and whenever "that man in the White House" proposed something new. Yet somehow, despite this reiterated signal for doom and perdition, our nation survived—quite remarkable!

Business Now Booming

People managed to get along. Business got better and thrived. The usual drop this year after the election was attributed in press reports to "the fear that business profits would be cut" with a Democrat to administer our affairs. Business profits are now at an all-time peak.

It is as amazing as the election itself that those who sit about that crap table in New York are still so wrapped up in their own little game and still look at everything, including elections, in terms of the day's take instead of getting out into the air and going up on a high place somewhere figuratively and taking a look at our great country and its people.

They should know, as evidently some still don't, that most people don't bother about them and their little game any more.

In the Republican party of today there's something of the viewpoint of that cloistered crew and you don't have to take this on the say-so of a newspaper reporter, but on the word of a highly respected member of the Republican lodge in good standing, meaning Rep. Joe Martin of Massachusetts, speaker of the House in that 80th Congress. Joe Martin thinks the party had better build itself up among the people if it ever expects to get anywhere and stop taking its cue from those fellows who have been sitting in on the crap game. That particular "smoke-filled rooms" of the Republican party.

As a matter of fact, the stock market lost its standing many years ago as an arbiter of our affairs among those who sat about another table here in Washington and, day after day, watched eminent gentlemen of finance parade before the Senate Banking committee and confess to the shennanigans that went on during the so-called "boom" of the late 1920's. What some people did with other people's money was a caution. Evidently many people have not yet forgotten.

New Laws Passed

Congress stopped all that by imposing a new set of rules on the crap game, the market settled down to routine, and most of us forgot about it. But every so often, it arrogates to itself its old role of hobgoblin to try to frighten into line those we choose to govern us.

What went on in the high-rolling boom days of the late 1920's had nothing to do with reality. While they were building up their fantasy in New York the economy was really in a pretty shaky fix. Farmers were in bad shape. Anybody in Congress from Agricultural sections then knew about that. Wages of industrial workers weren't high enough to buy back the things they were making.

It was those tremors at the base of our economic structure that finally erupted into the earthquake of the 1929 stock market crash. The downward plunge of the market was not a cause, but an effect. Frantically lots of people, including government officials here, tried to shore up the market. They worked from the wrong end. An administration came along that went after the causes and people quit worrying about the stock market.

In the recent campaign President Truman pointed out how that had been done and promised to keep on doing it and to keep his eye and that of government on the causes—and not on the crap game in New York. This means doing lots of things that the big shot players don't like. So their anxiety that their take from the big game may be reflected itself in the market, and also bespoke their warning to Harry Truman and Congress.

But that game has about played out.

Waltz Into Darkness

cane-head and the upper part of his body supported by it. Suddenly he leaned still further forward.

"That one," he exclaimed, pointing excitedly. "That one right there."

"The new one, cunnel?" the coachman marveled admiringly.

"I'm building it myself," Durand let him know with an atavistic burst of boyish pride. Then, as the carriage pulled up in front, "You'll have to wait for me. I'm going down to meet the boat from here, later on."

"Yessuh, take your time, cunnel," the coachman grinned understandingly. "A man got to look at his house."

There was a place indicated by pencil marks on the white-painted pinewood of the front door where a wrought-iron knocker was to be affixed, but this was not yet in position. Durand had chosen it himself, making a special trip to the foundry to do so. No effort too great, no detail too small.

Scorning to raise hand to the portal himself, possibly under the conviction that it was not fitting for a man to have to knock at the door of his own house, he tried the knob, found it unlocked, and entered. There was on the inside the distinctive and not unpleasant—and in this case enchanting—aroma a new house has, of freshly planed wood, the astringent turpentine in paint, window putty, and several other less identifiable ingredients.

A virginal staircase, its newly applied maple varnish protected by a strip of brown wrapping paper running down its center, rose at the back of the hall to the floor above.

"Who's that down there?" a woman's voice called hollowly through the empty spaces.

He came to the foot of the stairs.

"Oh, it you, Mr. Lou. 'Bout ready for you now, I reckon."

The gnarled face of an elderly colored woman, topped by a dust-kerchief tied bandana-style, was peering down over the upstairs guardrail.

"How is it up there?"

"Coming along."

He launched into an unexpected little run that carried him at a sprightly pace up the stairs. "I want to see the bedroom, mainly," he announced, brushing by her.

"What bridegroom don't?" she chuckled.

He stopped in the doorway, looked back at her rebukingly. "On account of the wallpaper," he took pains to qualify.

"You don't have to 'splain to me, Mr. Lou. I was in this world 'fore yo uwas even born."

He went over to the wall, traced his fingers along it, as though the flowers were tactile, instead of just visual.

"It looks even better up, don't you think?"

"Right pretty," she agreed.

"It was the closest I could get. They had to send all the way to New York for it. See I asked her what her favorite kind was, without telling her why I wanted to know." He fumbled in his pocket, took out a letter, and scanned it carefully. He finally located the passage he wanted, underscored it with his finger. "—and for a bedroom I like pink, but not too bright a pink, with small blue flowers like forget-me-nots." He refolded the letter triumphantly, cocked his head at the walls.

Aunt Sarah was giving only a perfunctory ear. "I got a passel of work to do yet. If you'll 'scuse me, Mr. Lou, I wish you'd get out the way."

He left the room and went back down to the waiting carriage.

"To the Canal Street Pier," he sighed with blissful anticipation, "to meet the boat from St. Louis."
