The SDN Column

If you happened to catch the "Will Rogers U.S.A." special Thursday night on television, you know what the Oklahoma Lieutenant Governor was talking about at the Snyder Chamber of Commerce banquet when he said it was about time that the current generation got acquainted with the Oklahoma humorist-philosopher of the twenties and thirties.

Lt. Gov. Nigh mentioned the Will Rogers revival featuring James Whitmore and the attention it has attracted wherever it has been presented.

The truly startling thing about this program is how closely the Rogers observations fit the events of 1972, despite the fact that Will Rogers was killed in a plane crash nearly 37 years ago. The comment used by Whitmore is that which Rogers originated during the period from the late teens until his death. And his advice still makes sense.

For example, how many nations would be at war if there was a rule strictly followed which prevented any nation from fighting a war until it had paid for the last one it fought?

And how much of a traffic problem would there be if nobody was allowed to drive a car on public streets and highways until it was paid for?

These observations, of course, show that people in Will Rogers' time were concerned about the same things and faced the same problems as those of today

Speaking of the traffic problem, we get plenty of mail about automobile insurance rates which reflect the gravity of the issue. And apparently nobody is any nearer a solution today than they were in the days of Will Rogers. Insurance companies themselves are at odds over such things as "no fault" insurance. Some of them are actively engaged in campaigns promoting the no fault system as something highly desirable, while others view it as a step toward disaster for the industry and consumer alike.

Anyway, there is a move on to get Gov. Preston Smith to include auto insurance reform as a subject for action during any special session of the legislature he may call this year.

People in and around Snyder may be ready to try any system that promises to ease car insurance rates. Of course the traffic records influence the rates under the present system and the record here has not helped the situation in recent months. A letter to the editor published a week ago, from Georgia Rhodes, called attention to the unusual number of accidents recorded here. Although many of them are classified as "minor", most of them involve some insured loss or damage, and all of it goes on our record.

Snyder of course is not in this alone. Scurry County is in the car insurance rating territory known as "the oilfield territory." That puts us in the same rating area with Big Spring, Midland and Odessa. So, their records affect our rates, while our records affect their rates. Some other rating territories rather close at hand have better rates than we do. They will continue so long as our traffic records continue to be worse than theirs, or until a new system is introduced. And the latter might or might not help the situation. We are confused, the insurance people are confused and politicians are scared.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Sunday, March 12, the 72nd day of 1972. There are 294 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1938, Germany invaded Austria.

On this date:

In 1664, New Jersey became a British colony as King Charles II made a land grant to his brother, James, duke of York.

In 1912, the first troops of the Girl Scouts of America were organized, in Savannah, Ga.

Also in 1912, the first parachute jump from an airplane was made as Army Capt. Albert Berry bailed out over Jefferson Barracks, Mo.

In 1939, Pope Pius XII was elevated to the papacy.

In 1940, Finland surrendered to the Soviet Union in World War II.

In 1947, President Harry S. Truman established the Truman doctrine of U.S. aid to Greece and Turkey.

Ten years ago: The American First Lady, Mrs. John F. Kennedy, had a private audience with Pope John XXIII at the Vatican.

Five years ago: Former Soviet Premier Khrushchev was mobbed by friendly Russians as he made a rare public appearance to vote.

One year ago: The conservative government of Turkey resigned after military leaders threatened a takeover.

FAA Is Optimistic On Future Airline Security

By VERN HAUGLAND
AP Aviation Writer

The Federal Aviation Administration today forecast a modest improvement in the outlook for flying security for the weekend while airports and airlines stepped up measures to combat bomb threats.

"It looks like the trouble may be winding down," an FAA spokesman said.

By 6 p.m. EST Friday the FAA had registered about 20 telephone threats of bombings or hijackings around the nation for the day. This compared with 48 on Thursday, 24 on Wednesday, and eight on Tuesday.

Most were clearly hoaxes, the FAA said, but all were checked out in the interest of public safety.

The threats followed three incidents earlier in the week in which explosives actually were placed on aircraft. Two devices were recovered before exploding, but the other detonated, badly damaging a parked jetliner at Las Vegas, Nev.

Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe prepared for a session next week to discuss stricter air security measures with Cabinet members.

Volpe conferred with airline executives Friday before leaving for a weekend speaking engagement in Mexico City.

Meantime, airlines and airport operators moved to implement stricter security measures ordered by President Nixon and being drafted in the form of regulations by the FAA.

The Air Line Pilots Association welcomed the President's action.

"Our members wholeheartedly endorse this long-awaited beginning of a total offense against this threat, which has cost the airline industry, passengers and taxpayers untold millions of dollars," said ALPA president John J. O'Donnell in a letter to Nixon.

As an example of the tighter airport security, police at Miami International Airport tripled patrols in the area where passengers deplane and required all ground personnel to carry identification badges.

Sgt. Roger Brown of the Miami airport force said three patrol cars now are stationed in the passenger-deplaning area around the clock. There had been no fixed patrol there before this week.

FAA Administrator John H. Shaffer said the airlines must submit security programs in detail within 60 days for FAA approval.

The FAA also will require, for each of the 521 airports served by the scheduled airlines, a master security plan identifying each air operations area separately from the other parts of the airport.

US-China Agree On Paris Site

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and China have acted to implement part of the agreement worked out during President Nixon's trip to Peking, agreeing on Paris as the site of continuing diplomatic contacts.

The "primary purposes of this channel," presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Friday, will be to handle travel and trade matters.

The contacts will be in the hands of the nations' ambassadors to France, Arthur K. Watson for the United States and Huang Chen for China.

The State Department said Friday no date has been set for the first meeting in Paris "nor is there a speculative time frame." Ziegler added the ambassadors "will meet whenever there is significant business to be conducted."

The choice of the French capital was something of a surprise since most speculation by administration officials was on Ottawa, Canada.

State Department officials indicated Peking may have vetoed the Canadian city because its embassy there is not equipped for the volume of work the contacts are expected to generate.

"We understand they (the Chinese) are already inundated with correspondence and inquiries from people in the United States," one State Department official said.

He added that Paris "is fine with us and one of several cities we would have accepted." The presence of several Asian experts on the U.S. staff in Paris may have been a factor in the American acceptance of the French city.

The official said other possibilities had included Warsaw.

According to Ziegler, Paris was discussed by Nixon with Chinese Premier Chou En-lai during the President's mainland tour, but the selection was not made until after the chief executive's Feb. 28 return.

A third-country site was one of the few tangible agreements worked out between Chinese and U.S. officials during Nixon's seven-day trip to the mainland and the success of the arrangement is expected to key any further diplomatic relations between the two nations.

State May Rest Case Monday

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — The Jesuit Fathers of Houston Inc. made a $165,000 profit on some of the stock the Order bought from Speaker Gus Mutscher and others in 1969, but it ultimately suffered a net loss of $235,000, a priest has testified.

Dist. Atty. Bob Smith of Austin indicated Friday he may rest the state's case Monday morning.

Father Michael Francis Gennelly told the jury in Mutscher's bribery-conspiracy trial Friday the Jesuits bought one million dollars worth of National Bankers Life Insurance Company stock at $20 a share. This was $5.25 a share higher than the average market price on Sept. 11, 1969.

The Jesuits sold 30,000 of their 50,000 shares soon afterward for $25.50 a share, testimony revealed.

Then the market for the stock dropped out of sight, and the Jesuits got nothing for the other 20,000 shares.

Attack Rocks Irish Truce

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — A three-day truce proclaimed throughout Northern Ireland as a peace bid by a guerilla organization was shaken early today by a gun and bomb attack on a British army patrol.

The cease-fire, announced by the nationalist Provisional wing of the Irish Republican Army, was only an hour old when a Claymore mine erupted as soldiers traveled down a road near Newry on the border with the Irish Republic.

Military headquarters said the troops came under a volley of gunfire as they piled out of their vehicles, but there were no casualties. The raiders fled into the surrounding countryside.

Asked if the army regarded this as a breach of the truce, a spokesman said: "We don't recognize in the first place that there is a truce."

There was no official reaction in the British capital. It was made known that the government would not "deal with murderers" or "dignify" the IRA with a reply.

But Irishmen broadly in sympathy with the IRA's battle to unite Ireland expressed hope the cease-fire would prod the British government to unveil political initiatives for an end to the violence.

The struggle has claimed 268 lives since August 1969, when British troops were dispatched to the province.

In a statement telephoned to the British national news agency in London, the Provisionals said the cease-fire was a gesture of sincerity toward a lasting peace, for which the following conditions would be necessary:

—Immediate withdrawal of the 15,000 British troops to their barracks coupled with a statement of intent on a date for their evacuation from Northern Ireland and an acknowledgment of Irishmen's right to determine their future without British "interference."

—Abolition of the Protestant-dominated provincial parliament.

—Total amnesty for all "political prisoners," tried and untried, in England and Ireland, and for those on wanted lists.

The Provisional is the more powerful of two IRA wings operating in Northern Ireland. Its formal strength has been estimated at 2,000 men, but when pressed it could call on virtually every Catholic youngster who can toss a brick.

The Official wing is the older, Marxist-orientated, it is working toward an all-Ireland socialist farmers' republic. It said Friday it would not observe the truce.

Speculation was rife today over the reason behind the truce, the first officially declared in the guerrilla war. Some security officials believed the Provisionals had taken a battering recently and wanted breathing time to regroup.

But the theory given most credence was that the wing wishes to demonstrate it has a well disciplined force at its command and wants in some way to prepare the ground for the British government's proposals.

Tom Ryan Art Show Set Here

Noted western artist Tom Ryan will be presented here Saturday and Sunday, March 18-19, at an autograph party and showing of his paintings under auspices of the Diamond M Foundation of Snyder and Texas Art Gallery of Dallas.

Some 40 or more of Ryan's paintings will be on exhibit at the Scurry County Coliseum during the event. Ryan, who will attend the exhibit, also will autograph copies of the new book, "Tom Ryan—A Painter in 6666 Country," by Dean Krakel. The author, who is managing director of the National Cowboy Hall of Fame in Oklahoma City, also will be here for the event.

The exhibit will be open from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. on each of the two days at the coliseum. The Diamond M Museum will be open to the public during the same hours.

Ryan, a native of Springfield, Ill., now lives in Lubbock. He moved to Texas because the Southwest appealed to him after making numerous sketch and research trips into the region. He began his art education at the St. Louis School of Fine Art. Following military service during World War II, he spent three years at the American Academy of Art in Chicago, where he studied under Antoine Sturba and William Mosby. His studies then led him to New York.

He feels that he is at his best in depicting the present day cowboy and he gets much of his subject matter at the Four Sixes Ranch at Guthrie. Three of his paintings are in the permanent collection of the National Cowboy Hall of Fame. In 1968, he won the Gold Medal Award in the Cowboy Artists of America competition.

TAKES FULL CONTROL

Lon Nol Dumps New Constitution

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Armed Cambodian military police surrounded the National Assembly building today following Marshal Lon Nol's proclamation that he is assuming supreme government control.

The semiparalized field marshal said in a radio address Friday night he is taking over as chief of state and disbanding an assembly called to put together a new constitution for Cambodia.

Lon Nol's announcement came on the heels of a speech by Chen Heng saying he was stepping down as chief of state and transferring his powers to Lon Nol.

A government spokesman said today that with Lon Nol as chief of state, the acting premier—Sirik Matak—automatically becomes premier.

Matak has done much of the day-to-day governing of Cambodia because of Lon Nol's partial incapacitation caused by a stroke.

He had the title of deputy premier and operated as Lon Nol's delegate premier.

The two led the March 1970 coup which overthrew Prince Norodom Sihanouk. The reshuffling of government posts leaves Lon Nol in over-all command—with the new title of chief of state—while giving Matak formal status as government chief.

In his address, Lon Nol said, "It is my duty to accept this task in order to guide the nation through a difficult situation."

The Constituent Assembly was just hours away from ratifying Cambodia's new constitution, in the making since last September.

Lon Nol said the asembly drafting committee had "done their best to draft important articles in conformity with the principles of democracy in many countries in the world."

But he said "when the government submitted the drafted constitution to the Constituent Assembly for study and approval, this organization changed many important articles that would be against our general principles."

In the eastern part of the country, meanwhile, 3,000 to 5,000 South Vietnamese troops continued their sweep of suspected enemy command base areas. There were no reports of major fighting.

The U.S. Command in Saigon reported an American warplane attacked a missile radar site in North Vietnam today, marking the 11th consecutive day of raids on the North and setting a new mark for the sustained air war.

The last mark was the 10-day period of Dec. 21-30, which stood as the record since the full bombing halt over the North on Nov. 1, 1968.

Henry Kelly Service Set

Funeral service is set for 3 p.m. today at the First Baptist Church for Henry S. Kelly, 72, a life-long resident of Scurry County.

Mr. Kelly died at 9:30 p.m. Friday in Shannon Hospital in San Angelo.

The Rev. Leslie Kelley and the Rev. Jack Riley will officiate at the funeral service. Burial will be in Hillside Memorial Gardens, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Mr. Kelly was married on Dec. 26, 1920, in Snyder to Miss Mabel Wilson. She survives.

Also surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Sears Sentell of Sonora; a sister, Mrs. Earl Patrick of Snyder, and one grandchild.

Union Endorses Rep. Farenthold

TEXAS CITY, Tex. (AP) — The Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union Local 449, with over 1,600 members, endorsed Monday night State Rep. Frances Farenthold for governor.

Hunter Rites Here Today

Funeral service has been set for 2:30 p.m. today at Bell-Seale Chapel for Howard Hunter, 62, who died at 7 a.m. Friday in the Veterans Administration Hospital in Big Spring.

A resident of Scurry County for the past 45 years, he was a veteran of World War II.

The Rev. Otis Archie will officiate at the funeral service, and burial will be in the Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Surviving are the wife; a sister, Mrs. Ella B. Surratt of Forrest Hills, Calif.; and three brothers, Willie Hunter of Abilene, Perry Hunter of Cleveland, Ohio and L.V. Hunter of Lubbock.

Many Finance Conventions

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Financing for the Republican and Democratic national conventions—spotlighted by allegations about a $400,000 contribution from International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. to the GOP—will come from many sources this year.

Most of the contributors are people or organizations who hope convention crowds will bring them extra business.

Fund raisers for August's GOP meeting in San Diego, Calif., have declined to identify individual contributors. The city bid $1,521,800 in cash, services and goods to get the convention.

Miami bid $950,000 in cash and services for the Democrats' meeting in July. The list of contributors ranges from airlines to an accountant.

The Senate Judiciary Committee is probing charges that ITT pledged to underwrite $400,000 for the Republican convention in exchange for a favorable antitrust ruling by the Justice Department.

U.S. Rep. Bob Wilson of San Diego, chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, said last week that ITT President Harold S. Geneen made the $400,000 guarantee last summer.

An ITT subsidiary, Sheraton Hotels Corp., already has donated $100,000 and has pledged another $100,000 if needed.

The money would have been part of the $500,000 in cash to be raised by San Diego area businessmen and party contributors.

Declining to name other contributors, Phil Phillips, a host committee spokesman, said revealing names "could be used as a blackjack to have contributions boosted."

Some individuals, however, were willing to discuss their contributions. C. Terry Brown, president of Atlas Hotels, Inc., said his firm would give about $24,000.

Speaking of the convention, Brown said, "I think it is the greatest thing that ever happened to San Diego, but 24,000 bucks is enough." Atlas operates four hotels in San Diego with a total of 1,325 rooms.

A general outline of the $1,521,800 involved in San Diego's convention bid breaks down this way:

San Diego County—$200,000, half in cash and half in goods and services.

San Diego—$600,000 in services, including $198,000 in police overtime, $25,000 in fire department expenses and $50,000 for a press party.

California—$200,000 in services.

San Diego area businessmen and party contributors—$521,800, including $500,000 in cash.

The $950,000 bid by Miami for the Democratic convention includes $450,000 in cash and the remainder in goods and services.

A committee headed by Gov. Reubin Askew is raising $100,000 of the cash; the city, through its Tourist Development Authority, is raising $250,000; and the South Florida Motel-Hotel association is raising $100,000.

Discussing the contributors to Askew's committee, aide Bernie Parrish said: "No one was promised anything. For most of these people it's a self-serving thing. They'll be getting the business. We approached the people who can stand to gain the most."

Nixon Working On Bus Policy

THURMONT, Md. (AP) — President Nixon planned to draw up his forthcoming policy on school busing today in the solitude of his Camp David retreat near here.

Nixon flew to the mountaintop lodge Friday after a session with his Cabinet committee on education and its five lawyer consultants.

The committee and the attorneys have prepared material for Nixon's study as he drafts his busing policy.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon would spend the weekend drawing up general principles of the policy and will announce it very soon.

Nixon has stated his opposition to busing as a tool for achieving racial balance in schools, but hasn't indicated whether he favors legislation, a constitutional amendment or some other means to end its use.

Insurance Rate Hikes Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Price Commission has approved several insurance rate increases ranging from 3.1 per cent to 27.6 per cent.

At the same time, it received a flock of new requests from other insurance firms also seeking rate boosts, and promised to act on them later.

The commission approved the 27.6 per cent increase for automobile liability insurance in West Virginia for Kemper Insurance's Federal Mutual Insurance Co.

Also approved were increases in automobile insurance rates for policy holders in Arkansas applying to policies written by Farmers Insurance Group, Farmers Insurance Exchange. Bodily injury and property damage insurance would go up 3.94 per cent; protection against uninsured motorists, 17.43 per cent; comprehensive, 8.81 per cent; and collision, 13.98 per cent.

Prudential Insurance Co. of America won approval for a 4.5 per cent increase for health insurance premiums for Alabama dry dock workers; 14 per cent for premiums for Holiday Inns Inc.; and 11.5 per cent for health insurance at Purdue University.

Travelers Insurance Co. got approval to raise premiums paid by employes for group health insurance in five cases—Coca Cola Corp., 18.8 per cent; Burroughs Corp., 3.1 per cent; National Presto Industries Inc., 5.3 per cent; Rapid-American Corp., 9.1 per cent; and Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co., 5.4 per cent.

The commission's list of price increase requests showed more than 60 individual increases are being sought by other major insurance firms, including an application by Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. for a 47.4 per cent increase.

Mrs. Beard Denies Deal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Dita D. Beard, the ailing Washington lobbyist for International Telephone & Telegraph Corp., has been quoted as saying there was never an arrangement between the conglomerate and the Nixon administration involving favorable treatment in an antitrust settlement.

Senate action on the nomination of Acting Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst to succeed Mitchell has been delayed pending developments in the committee hearings.

Through a lawyer at a Denver Hospital where she is being treated for a heart ailment, Mrs. Beard also denied emphatically that former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell told her that President Nixon took part in any such arrangement.

Mrs. Beard, 53, has emerged as the central figure in an investigation by the Senate Judiciary Committee into accusations by columnist Jack Anderson that Justice Department officials acted improperly in the settlement.

It was a memo by Mrs. Beard and subsequent interviews published by Anderson that linked the multibillion dollar out-of-court settlement with ITT's $400,000 financial guarantee for the Republican National Convention in San Diego this summer.

Before the hearings recessed Friday, Brit Hume, an Anderson aide, testified again that Mrs. Beard told him in two interviews Mitchell had received word from President Nixon to go easy on ITT in the settlement.

Mitchell has said the President never made any request to him concerning the settlement and he took no part in it.

Mrs. Beard's attorney, David W. Fleming, said in a prepared statement he issued in Denver, that "she is extremely anxious to give testimony" before the committee.

Her doctor, Dr. David Garland, said Mrs. Beard's heart condition is serious but she should be able to give written answers to written questions early next week.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said he would ask the head of the Denver Medical Society to appoint two heart specialists to see if and when Mrs. Beard may testify in Washington.

Eastland said that if Mrs. Beard can't testify in Washington the committee would have to decide if it wanted to send a subcommittee to the Rocky Mountain Osteopathic Hospital to see her.

Empty Hideout Found

PARIS (AP) — Police said today they had found the empty hideout where a Maoist commando band held an executive of the giant state-owned Renault Auto Co. for 48 hours at gunpoint.

The executive, Robert Nogrette, 63, was kidnaped by the commandos on his way to the factory Wednesday morning. He was released Friday. During that time, police said, he was held in a studio of a modern apartment building in the plush Bois de Boulogne area.

Police inspectors found the place empty, but arms had been left behind by the kidnapers.

Police sources said the studio was identified after a seven-hour interrogation of Nogretten who gave some indications on the location, and particularly part of an electric sign he could see from the window which bore the name of a chemistry firm.

Nogrette, a personnel executive, was kidnaped in retaliation for the death of a 23-year-old ex-Renault Employee shot by a security guard during a demonstration at the Renault plant two weeks ago.

Connally To Speak At ASU Dedication

SAN ANGELO—Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally has accepted the invitation of Angelo State University to be the principal speaker for the dedication of the Houston Harte University Center on Friday morning April 14.

The dedication ceremonies will be in honor of Houston Harte, prominent West Texas publishing executive for whom the building was named. The Board of Regents, State Senior Colleges, the University's governing board, took formal action on the naming of the building for Harte at their meeting which was held on the Angelo State campus last fall.

William C. Donnell, president of the Board of Regents, of Marathon and Dee J. Kelly of Ft. Worth, were instrumental in arranging for Secretary Connally's acceptance of the University's invitation.

In naming the University Center after Harte, the board cited his outstanding contributions to Angelo State University. In June of 1968, Mr. and Mrs. Harte made a $250,000 gift to create the Angelo State University Foundation, including $100,000 in corporate stocks and $150,000 to be provided to the Foundation over a five year period.

Dividend income from the Foundation goes to the Board of Regents, State Senior Colleges, for the benefit and use of Angelo State University.

Harte was responsible for establishing the Millard Cope Scholarship Fund in Journalism at the University, established in memory of the late Standard Times publisher.

More recently the Harte family contributed the unique and outstanding paintings by Guy Rowe, a former cover artist for Time Magazine, as they commissioned for use in connection with Harte's book, In Our Image. This collection is currently on display in the Center's art gallery.

President Vincent stated that Harte's commitment to the University goes far beyond the material contributions which he has made. Dr. Vincent said, "He has supported Angelo State in every facet of its operation since it came into existence. His primary concern for the University has always been directly related to the educational opportunities which it can provide to the young men and women of West Texas."

Harte played an important role in the establishment of Angelo State in 1963 which he has referred to on several occasions as the most important single event in his 50 years in West Texas.

One Hurt In Auto Mishap

Rebecca Ann Mebane, 18, Route 1, sustained minor injuries in a two-car collision in the 3600 block of College Avenue at 11:50 a.m. Friday. She was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by private vehicle.

Hospital authorities said she was treated and released Saturday morning.

Officers said she was driving a 1971 Model Plymouth that was involved in a collision with a 1964 Model Ford operated by Connie Cox Tarter, 3002 Avenue H. Damage to the car she was driving was considerable, but there was only minor damage to the other one.

City Police also investigated two other mishaps Friday. The first one occurred in the 900 block of Twenty-fifth Street at 11:04 a.m. Involved were the 1970 Model Chevrolet of Thomas Loyd Taylor, Tulsa, Okla., and the 1962 Model Chevrolet of Birdie Glasco Zalman, Route 1, Hermleigh. Damage was minor.

The other one, also involving minor damage, occurred at Twenty-fourth Street and Avenue I at 3:30 p.m. Involved were a 1968 Model Chevrolet operated by Debra Browning Jones, 2508 Avenue B, and a 1968 Model Chevrolet driven by Lizzie Alberta Johnson, 906 Twenty-seventh Street.

Fire Put Out

City Firemen extinguished a fire in a trash container at 4008 Avenue U at 4:10 p.m. Friday.

Sweetwater Names Miss Snakecharmer

SWEETWATER, Tex. (AP) — A 17-year-old girl from Colorado City, Patty Bodinen has been chosen Miss Snakecharmer of 1972 in Sweetwater. She will represent the area in the 1973 Miss Texas Universe pageant.

Miss Bodine's election Friday climaxed the first day of the 14th annual Sweetwater Jaycee rattlesnake hunt which runs through Sunday.

The hunt, billed as the world's largest, is a time when novice and experienced rattlesnake hunters comb the countryside to see who can come up with the largest and also the most poisonous rattler.

Last year, 4,246 snakes were captured.

On Friday hunters gathered 2,055 pounds of snakes, but nobody knew for sure how many snakes were represented in that figure. "We do not count them," a spokesman said. "We just weigh them."

The biggest snake Friday was 5 feet 9½ inches long. The smallest was a one-footer.

Each snake is milked of its venom and decapitated at the end of the three-day fair.

Echeverria Touring Nara Sites

KYOTO, Japan (AP) — President Luis Echeverria of Mexico had lunch with Japanese business leaders in Osaka Saturday and tourist sites in Nara, ancient Japanese capital.

Hosts were Ryoichi Kuroda, governor of Osaka prefecture; Yasushi Oshima, mayor of Osaka, and Isamu Saiki, president of the Osaka Chamber of Commerce, at the plush Osaka Royal Hotel.

Echeverria told 50 or so representatives of Osaka firms who attended that he admires Japan's amazing economic growth and Mexico wants to develop trade and economic ties with Japan.

Mexico's secretary of commerce and industry, Carlos Torres Manzo, disclosed that he had asked the Japanese government earlier to reduce tariffs on Mexican products imported by Japan and to increase imports of agricultural products from Mexico.

Torres said he made the request in a meeting Friday with the Japanese trade and industry minister Kakuei Tanaka. He said Tanaka told him that a 40-member Japanese mission, scheduled to visit Mexico en route to a United Nations-sponsored trade and development conference in Chile shortly will work out details.

Nautical Look Has Landed

COLLEGE STATION — Ship ahoy, mates! The nautical look in clothing has landed on the spring and summer fashion scene.

Kay Elmore, clothing specialist at Texas A&M University, said military fashions will be popular this spring.

"Sailor's middies, yachtman's jackets and admiral's coats give a military mood to fashions that flatter anyone," she claimed.

Periscope in on necklines that flatter the figure.

"Deep "V" necklines in blazers and dresses slenderize the figure," she said. "Middy collars squared off in front add width to the top."

Braids, emblems and buttons with nautical influence act as attention-getters.

"Place them in an area most flattering to your own figure," Miss Elmore suggested. Braid at the neckline draws the eye to that part of the body. An emblem appliqued to the upper sleeve will emphasize the apparent size of the arm.

The specialist said that accent points should be chosen carefully. Even the spacing between buttons on a double-breasted nautical jacket affects the appearance of body size. The further the distance between the two rows of buttons, the wider the appearance.

"There's a proportion right for you," she said. "Just experiment until you find it."

Pants will still be very much a part of fashion this spring. Pant legs flare more than ever with the flare beginning at the thigh and ending long at the cuff.

"Board ship with the colors red, white and blue, but don't be afraid of nautical designs in colors that have never been to sea before," Miss Elmore said.

It's a whole new feeling of seashapes this spring and summer.

Indiana Is Studious State

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Three out of every five Indiana high school seniors plan to continue their education after graduation, most on a fulltime basis.

A report by the Purdue University office of manpower studies covered a survey made last spring among the more than 75,000 seniors in all Indiana high schools to determine their educational, vocational and career or employment plans.

Fidel Castro was sworn in as Cuba's premier in 1959.

Texas Tech Studying Spuds

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — "When you've chipped one potato, you've chipped 'em all" definitely does not apply in West Texas, one of the nation's big potato producing areas.

Approximately 20,000 acres are planned for potatoes every year in West Texas.

People like their potato chips golden brown, crisp and oil-free, and Texas Tech University researchers are studying varieties, growth rates, growing techniques and pre-treatment of potatoes at food plants producing chips to determine what makes the best chip.

Students Speak Out At Art Guild Meeting

Four high school students appeared on a panel discussion before the Art Guild Study Club Tuesday evening, March 7. These young people discussed issues and problems confronting young people today. Jerry Worsham, drama and speech instructor at the high school, moderated the rap session.

"This is an unrehearsed rap session," Mr. Worsham was quick to explain, "and students here are representative of a cross section of our high school. These young people are but a few of our top ranking students. Views they will express are theirs and are not necessarily those of the entire student body, but their views will represent the thinking of the majority, I believe."

Three senior class members appeared and included Allana Patterson, Hamp Yearwood and Donna Messimer. A junior student, Mike Hinton, made the fourth panel member.

The first question thrown at the group concerned young people's feelings toward the existing establishment. To this question the general consensus was that many young people who once were rebelling against the so called establishment are now gradually making a turnabout-face. These once rebellious young people are now trying to understand why things are as they are and are quietly working themselves into many of the phases of American life, the panelists believe.

To the question of why there are so many early marriages, these students expressed the belief that the basic reason was the search for security. In their way of thinking, early marriage does not bring security but only more insecurity and adds many frustrations, especially financial problems.

Higher education, that above the high school level, is necessary in today's world if one is to accomplish much in adult life, these young people realize. In order to prepare for a better life tomorrow, it is necessary for the individual to prepare now for the future, they agreed.

Space age technology has not consciously effected their way of life, these young people contend, since they know no other. "We've grown up with the computer, revolution, television, and space flights. We've always lived with them," they pointed out.

Asked whether they would rather spend their adulthood and working lives in a metropolitan or less populated area, three of the students felt that the metropolitan area had more to offer the individual both on a job and culturally. The fourth, the junior, believed that the rural area would afford him a more satisfying life.

The question of drug use in the local school was answered honestly and with personal knowledge to back up statements. Names of users were not mentioned, but one panelist cited the fact that a friend was a user. This friend's attitude toward school work has made a decided change for the worse, since drug use was begun, the panelist has observed. Another contended that although with definite knowledge that a friend was now using some drug, no noticeable change in attitude has taken place. According to these students, marijuana is the most common form of drug used in the local high school. These students believe those now using drugs have been successful in covering up their foible from both parents and teachers. However, drug users are not reticent to confide in fellow students.

As for religion, these four young people were not carried away by any new fad, as they labeled it. They were willing to go along with their religious upbringing, although they may not subscribe wholeheartedly to some ideologies.

Some views of the students were idealistic, but for the most part these student panelists were realistic in views they expressed.

Mrs. Virdie Eades was the announced program leader for the Art Guild program. Mrs. L.H. Hardy acted as hostess for the evening's refreshment and social period held following the program.

During a short business session, several Art Guild members made plans to attend the President's Banquet on the evening of Monday, March 20th, at Abilene. The Mesquite District of Texas Federated Women's Clubs will hold its annual convention at the Windsor Hotel in Abilene on March 20th and 21st. Other Art Guild members wishing to accompany the group should contact Mrs. L.H. Hardy.

Caponata Is A Sicilian Treasure

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Caponata, sold in small cans in supermarkets, makes a marvelous first course. There are other uses for it, too; we like to serve it with scrambled eggs or tuna fish for lunch. And it's a delightful topping for a green salad.

Why not make your own Caponata? If you follow this excellent recipe you'll have 1½ quarts so you don't have to be as stingy with it as when you use it from small cans.

According to Waverley Root, author of the recently published "The Food of Italy," (Atheneum), Caponata (sometimes called Caponatina) originated in Sicily where it's made a number of ways. The version that follows is the combination best-known in this country.

CAPONATA

1 large eggplant, 1¾ pounds
Salt
Olive oil
1 medium onion, coarsely chopped
1 clove garlic, minced
1 can (16 ounces) tomato puree
½ cup water
½ teaspoon dried crushed oregano
½ teaspoon dried crushed basil
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup sliced celery, about ¼-inch thick
1¼ cups pimiento-stuffed green olives, halved
2 tablespoons drained capers
1 tablespoon sugar
2 teaspoons red wine vinegar
2 tablespoons minced parsley

Wash and dry eggplant; leave unpeeled; cut into 1-inch cubes; sprinkle with salt.

In a 12-inch skillet heat 2-3rds cup oil; add eggplant and cook over moderate heat, stirring often, until browned and almost tender; drain on paper towels.

To same skillet, add 2 tablespoons oil; add onion and garlic; cook gently, stirring often, until onion is golden. Stir in tomato puree, water, oregano, basil, pepper and celery; cover and simmer 30 minutes.

Add eggplant, olives, capers, sugar, vinegar and parsley; mix well. Cover and simmer until skin on eggplant is very tender—15 to 30 minutes.

Cool; cover tightly and refrigerate. Serve as a first course with crackers or Italian bread.

Makes about 1½ quarts.

Note: If you haven't the 12-inch skillet called for in this recipe, use a large 4-or 5-quart saucepot and cook the eggplant in two batches using 1-3rd cup oil for each. Proceed as recipe directs.

Cleaner Car Closer Than We Think

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A low-emissions automobile may be closer than we think—possibly only five years away—according to associate professor H. Searl Dunn of the University of Rochester College of Engineering and Applied Science. Dunn will work on research and development of a clean auotmobile propulsion system with the aid of a $31,500 grant from the National Science Foundation.

Dunn's way to cut auto pollution involves replacing the "dirty" high emission internal combustion engine with a much smaller engine plus a hydrostatic transmission capable of storing energy. A hydrostatic drive, he says, "is basically a hydraulic pump-motor combination that transmits power using fluid pressure." The pump is driven by some external power source, for example, a "clean" gas turbine. He adds that the system is different from all other alternative systems under study by automobile manufacturers and the Environmental Protection Agency.

MRS. GARY RANDALL HARDEE

Couple Exchange Vows In Amarillo

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Cenci Denise Franks and Randall Hardee, March 4 at 7 p.m. in the Central Church of Christ, Amarillo. Fred Cowley, minister of the church, performed the nuptial rites.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Franks, 3429 Julian Blvd., Amarillo and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B.B. Hardee, Big Spring. He is the grandson of Mrs. R.A. Hardee, Mrs. C.L. Thompson, and Mr. and Mrs. J.E. Lee, all of Snyder.

Miss Celia Franks of Amarillo attended her sister as maid of honor, and Robert Sadler of Big Spring served as best man. Tapers were lighted by Randy Franks and Brett Gill, both of Amarillo and the ushers were Mike Galyen of Tulia and Van Franks of Amarillo.

The bride was attired in a floor-length white wedding gown fashioned with high ruffled collar and Victorian sleeves of delicate cotton lace, puffed above the elbow then fitted to the wrist. The bodice was overlaid with matching lace. Her bouffant veil of ilusion was attached to a headpiece featuring tendrils of sheer fabric flowers. She carried a bouquet of white daisies tied with satin picot.

After a short wedding trip the couple will reside in Lubbock where both are honor students at Texas Tech University. She is a senior micro-biology student and he is a junior zoology student. Both are members of Beta Beta Beta. She graduated from high school in Amarillo and he is a graduate of Sweetwater High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Hardee were honored with a reception at the church. Among those attending were the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. R.A. Hardee, and Mrs. C.L. Thompson, both of Snyder; Mr. and Mrs. C.O. Galyen and Mr. and Mrs. M.K. Hardee, all of Tulia; and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Neighercutt of Lubbock.

CREAMED CUCUMBERS

This delightful dish may be new to you.

2 large cucumbers
1½ cups boiling water
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
1 chicken bouillon cube
Salt and white pepper to taste
2 tablespoons minced parsley
Paprika

Peel cucumbers and cut in half lengthwise. With a teaspoon, scoop out seeds and discard. Slice cucumbers crosswise about ¼-inch thick—there should be 2½ cups. Churn cucumbers and water into a 1½-quart saucepan; boil, covered, just until tender-crisp—5 to 10 minutes; drain. In the clean saucepan over low heat melt butter; stir in flour; remove from heat. Gradually stir in milk, keeping smooth; add bouillon cube; return to moderately low heat and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened and bubbly. Add cucumbers, salt, pepper and parsley; reheat. Turn into serving dish and sprinkle with paprika. Makes 6 servings.

Consumption Of Food Up One Per Cent

COLLEGE STATION — Per capita food consumption climbed one per cent in 1971, with meat and fruit consumption leading the way.

Mrs. Gwendolyne Clyatt, consumer marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said there were small consumption gains posted for potatoes, vegetable oils, cereal products and eggs as well as the beans, peas and nuts group. Consumption of poultry, vegetables, coffee, fish, animal fats and melons has declined.

Pork accounted for an estimated four per cent rise in red meats. Beef consumption was unchanged, according to the specialist.

Canned citrus fruit and dried fruits made major gains last year. Consumption of fresh citrus increased nearly two and a half per cent. Frozen orange concentrate increased slightly.

A small decline in fresh vegetables and a steady rate of use for processed items lowered per capita vegetable consumption about one per cent. A sharp increase in processed potato products accounted for a two per cent increase in the potato and sweet potato group. (This group increased faster in per capita consumption than any other group.)

Decreases in per capita consumption of coffee, veal, lamb, mutton, and condensed and evaporated milk are consistent with patterns of recent years.

Actress Paulette Goddard Talks Of Novelist Husband

By JOY STILLEY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Paulette Goddard is playing a different role these days. Now she is a businesswoman, involved with the publication here and abroad of the last book written by her late husband, Erich Maria Remarque.

"I picked the title, 'Shadows in Paradise,' myself," explains Miss Goddard, who still has the striking good looks and charm that made her a movie star in the '30s. "Erich finished the book the night before he went to the hospital for the last time."

Remarque, who achieved fame with his World War I novel, "All Quiet on the Western Front," died in Switzerland in September 1970. His final work was his 11th novel.

"This is my favorite of all his books," says his wife of 12 years. "It's definietly the most personal and most powerful. It's so natural; the characters are so alive you think you're sitting in the scene.

"He was never satisfied with his work," she continues. "He worked on each of his books five years or more and did six complete rewrites on this one. He said he never finished a book—he always abandoned it. Otherwise he would have rewritten it 100,000 times."

Though Miss Goddard speaks Italian, French and Spanish, she knows only enough German "to order a good meal and ask how to get somewhere." So she had to wait until they were translated to read Remarque's books, written in German with pencil and carefully erased so there were no scratched-out words when the manuscript went to the typist.

The slim actress was wearing a white wool scoop-neck dress and rubies-a pin, two rings and ear clips, all gifts from her late husband. Her simply-styled dark hair, parted in the middle, is shoulder length and her blue-green eyes sparkle as she recalls her "wonderful" years with Remarque.

In fact, she would much rather talk about him than of her earlier life, which included marriages to Charlie Chaplin and Burgess Meredith.

Has she been in touch with Chaplin, with whom she starred in "Modern Times" and "The Great Dictator?"

"Oh, I've clapped an eye on him here and there," she answers. "When you travel as much as I do you're bound to run into people, and my husband and I got a Christmas card from their family every year."

More talkative and enthusiastic about seeing the reissued "Modern Times" here for the first time since it opened in 1936, she says, "The movie is more valid than ever. It's so full of love and kindness and joy and fun, and so funny. There are a couple of marvelous scenes in it—so profound."

The New York born Miss Goddard, who has traveled all over the world and visited China twice, has homes here and in Switzerland. In her New York apartment three suitcases, including one for shoes and bags, stood ready for a trip to Hollywood to film a cameo appearance in an NBC World Premiere Movie, "The Snoop Sisters."

However, she has no other acting plans.

"I have too many things to do now, working with the book. I still have to sign 18 more contracts. But no actress should ever say never," she adds.

She will say "never," though, about the possibility of writing her autobiography.

"That I will never do," she says with conviction. "First of all, I don't have time; and secondly, I'm not a writer. Thirdly, I live so much in the present that to sit down and dig away into the past would bore me to death."

Quotable Women

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"Some people will always see Mama in me and others will accept or reject me as an individual and that's that, so be it."—Actress Liza Minnelli, daughter of Vincente Minnelli and the late Judy Garland.

"The doctor bugged me, my children bugged me and the route manager bugged me. So I just gave it up ... Just retired, that's all, after 27 years of delivering the Peoria Journal-Star."—Mary Bandy, at the age of 74, quitting her paper route.

"First of all, I don't have time; and, secondly, I'm not a writer. Thirdly, I live so much in the present that to sit down and dig away into the past would bore me to death."—Actress Paulette Goddard, explaining why she will never write her autobiography.

"My children have only one parent and a lot of things have happened in their lives."—Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, testifying in a trial of rival lawsuits involving a photographer.

"I'm encouraged by the number of young people becoming interested in cooking ... It's a way of entertaining that they can afford."—Julia Child, television's "French Chef" and coauthor of two best-selling cookbooks.

"There is no Broadway theater. Broadway is Neil Simon comedies, musicals and British imports, and that's it."—Actress Shelley Winters.

Girl Scout News

Sixty years ago, in 1912, a "grand full-course dinner" was 29c ... people were tapping their toes to "Alexander's Ragtime Band" ... William H. Taft was President ... and women were marching to more than John Philip Sousa.

Women were on the move, working for emancipation from the Victorian restraints which dictated a woman's place is in the home. The demure Gibson girl was playing tennis and golf ... women were beginning to swim instead of merely dipping ... and Girl Scouting in the USA was founded.

As the country grew and changed, so did the Girl Scouts, affected by the happenings around them. Prosperity, war, depression, all helped to shape Girl Scouting into an active organization, proving that the woman's place was not only in the home but in the community, the country, the world.

Excerpt from Girl Scout Leader - March 1972 Issue.

Juliette Gordon Low became interested in scouting through friendship with Sir Robert and Lady Baden-Powell in England. She was a leader for three Girl Guide troops in Scotland and England before she returned to her home in Savannah, Georgia.

As soon as she reached Savannah, she telephoned a friend. "Come right over, Nina, — I've got something for the girls of Savannah, and all America, and all the world, and we're going to start it tonight!"

So the first Girl Guide Company was organized on March 12, 1912 in Savannah. Later that year the girls voted to change the name from Girl Guides to Girl Scouts. And every year Girl Scouts celebrate March 12 with special ceremonies or service projects.

The Girl Scout Trefoil: The three broad leaves stand for the three parts of the Promise; the "GS" stands for Girl Scouts. The American eagle and the shield, parts of the Great Seal of the U.S.A., symbolize readiness to serve country.

Cadette Troop 266 (Mrs. Geo. Stewart and Mrs. Hoyle Holladay) met at the Scout Hut on the afternoon of March 1st. Their activity for that day was a very interesting tour through the Police Station and the County Jail.

Many thanks to Police Chief Goodwin and to Sheriff Collier for their help!

On March 8th the girls practiced on their skit for the Father-Daughter Box Supper.

Troop 266 has planned a Chili Supper for March 24th. This will be at the Towle Park Barn from 5:30 until 8 pm.

A Conference for Senior Girl Scouts was scheduled for the evening of March 10, until 10 a.m. March 12 at Camp Tex Lake near Austin.

In a camp setting a number of activities were planned under the title "YOUth in Action" — campfires, Saturday night movie, banquet, and workshops.

Planning to attend this conference from Senior Troop 83 of Snyder were: JoAnn Hudson, Paula Parks, Lynn Leavell, Deborah Pruitt, and their leader, Mrs. Franklin B. Pruitt.

Cadettes in West Texas GS Council are looking forward to their conference — "Experience '72" — the weekend of April 14-16 at the Settles Hotel in Big Spring.

Activities planned are craft workshops, ecology program, a banquet, and a Scout's Own. Also slides and tapes will be made of Scout ceremonies; these will be used for training leaders in our Council.

Junior Troop 84 (Mrs. Mike Holden and Mrs. Don Nicholson) were planning on leaving on the afternoon of March 10th for a trip to Carlsbad Caverns. Perhaps we will have a report on this next week.

The highlight of Girl Scout Week, March 12 through 18, is our Father-Daughter Box Supper. This year it will be held on Tuesday, March 14th, at the Scurry County Coliseum.

Mrs. Carl Voss, Jr., Service Unit Chairman for Snyder, is in charge of arrangements and, as usual, each Snyder troop will have a part on the program.

Master of Ceremonies will be JoAnn Hudson from Senior Troop 83. Paula Parks from Troop 83 will furnish music during the supper. Cadette Troop 42 (Mrs. Bill Campbell and Mrs. W.E. Biddle) will give the opening Flag Ceremony.

Florida Primary Is Acid Test For Democrats

By BEN FUNK
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Sen. Henry M. "Scoop" Jackson of the state of Washington figured it out right away.

"North Florida," said the Democratic candidate for president, "is Dixieland. South Florida is the North. And the rest of the nation lies in between."

Indeed, Florida is a microcosm of the United States from beginning to end. It is a state that harbors every brand of political thought and action except the far left.

And it is a state where 10 Democrats will battle in the March 14 presidential primary.

"It will be a national primary in a very real sense," says another of the Democratic hopefuls, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota.

At stake are 81 Democratic delegates to the national convention July 9 at Miami Beach.

The candidate who gets a plurality wins 20 at-large delegates. The others are divided among leaders in the 12 congressional districts, apportioned according to each district's percentage of the 1971 state population. The number varies from four to seven.

Each delegate is required under the Florida primary law to stick by his candidate at the convention until he receives less than 35 per cent of the votes or releases his delegates.

A melting pot of the nation, Florida has many more facets than New Hampshire where, on March 7, the first shots were fired in the campaign.

Florida is the red dirt country of the Panhandle, hard by the borders of Georgia and Alabama. This is the old South—rural, redneck, cconservative. This is George Wallace country. And it is where Jackson hopes to cut the heart out of the Alabama governor's support this go-around.

Florida is the moonport of Cape Kennedy, where severe cutbacks in the space program turned prosperity into economic distress. This is where Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine may have hurt himself badly when he called the space shuttle a "Boondoggle." If the shuttle comes to the Cape, it means 50,000 jobs and new life for the area.

In Florida, President Nixon has nothing to fear as he seeks Republican renomination. Experts consider him a shoo-in against his two opponents, Reps. Paul McCloskey of California and John Ashbrook of Ohio.

For the Democrats, this is the acid test.

Dr. Manning J. Dauer, University of Florida political science professor, believes only three Democratic candidates will emerge unscathed.

"The polls show Muskie, Wallace and Humphrey all close to 30 per cent," Dauer said. "Wallace ought to carry three, and maybe four congressional districts in North Florida. I don't think Jackson is about to cut substantially into his vote.

"I think Muskie will beat them all out. He comes closer than anybody else to hitting the mood of the state."

In electing Gov. Reubin Askew and "the walking senator," Lawton Chiles, in 1970, Florida showed a strong desire for new faces. This desire should help Muskie, Dauer said. "Many think Humphrey is over the hill."

Floridians didn't trust some of their former officials and they don't trust Washington, either, says Jim Minter, an aide to House Speaker Richard Pettigrew.

"A national sunshine law for a platform would be a real winner," he suggested.

The implication was not lost on Muskie and another Democratic contender, Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota. McGovern said Congress ought to adopt such a law. Muskie praised Florida for having government "more open than in any other state in history."

"The issue," added Democratic Rep. Shirley Chisholm of New York, the only black and the only woman running for president, "is that the American people no longer trust their political leaders."

In national elections, the Florida political situation is complicated by its many thousands of registered Democrats whose hearts belong to the other side.

For nearly a century, it was a solid Democrat state. The Democratic primaries were decisive because the party's candidates always were elected.

Thus, Northern and Midwestern Republicans immigrating into the state in large numbers registered as Democrats to have a voice in choosing state and local officeholders. But when the general elections came around, they could still vote for GOP presidents.

Twice, in a state that was three-fourths Democrat, Republican President Dwight D. Eisenhower won. In 1960, Nixon carried Florida with 796,000 votes to 749,000 for John F. Kennedy.

Lyndon B. Johnson brought Florida back into the Democrat fold in 1964 but his margin over Barry Goldwater was slim compared with his landslide in the rest of the nation.

Nixon again carried Florida in 1968 but Wallace, running on the American Independent Party ticket, denied him a majority. Nixon got 887,000 votes, Humphrey 677,000, Wallace 624,000.

Democrats also bolted their party to elect Claude Kirk in 1966 to be the first GOP governor since Reconstruction, and to send Republican Ed Gurney to the U.S. Senate in 1968. But they bounced right back to elect Askew and Chiles.

It is generally believed among Democrats that any candidate who fails to poll a decent vote in Florida might as well step down. They also think the primary gives Humphrey his last chance to stop Muskie.

Others in the Democratic lists are Sens. Vance Hartke of Indiana; former Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota and Mayors John Lindsay of New York and Sam Yorty of Los Angeles. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts signed an affidavit saying he was not a candidate.

Junior Editors Quiz on BOBBIES

QUESTION: Why are British policemen called Bobbies?

* * *

ANSWER: The British policemen have been called Bobbies since the time of the eminent British statesman Sir Robert Peel. He lived from 1788 to 1850 and held many important offices in the British government. He was a member of the Tory party and had strong conservative views. From 1812 to 1818 he served as chief secretary. He concentrated on Irish affairs and improved the administration of government education and the constabulary. He maintained order in Ireland by establishing a strong Irish police force. The policemen or constables in Ireland were called "Peelers," a nickname which has survived.

In 1828, as Home Secretary under the Duke of Wellington, Peel worked for many reforms. He helped revise and reform the criminal code of England. Then in 1829, he organized the London police force. Since Peel's nickname was "Bobbie," the British police are called Bobbies.

Peel went on to greater recognition in British politics. He became Prime Minister in 1834 and served for a short time. Then he returned again as Prime Minister in 1841 and held this office till 1846.

Many Find Simple Tax Returns Complicated

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Newsfeatures Writer

It came this year in red, white and blue. And it carried a special message from Commissioner of Internal Revenue Johnnie M. Walters, to wit:

"Please give this a few moments of your time.

"We know that filling out a tax return is not fun—even if you get a refund, which most taxpayers do. Yet, we believe most American taxpayers can make their own return for 1971."

The reason, the commissioner said, is because IRS has made it all so simple with examples there is no reason for anyone to have to turn to outside help unless his personal situation is complicated.

So with that optimistic approach, some 75 million American taxpayers opened up their personally addressed Form 1040s and found on the first two pages such additional references as Form 4683 (Did you have an interest in a foreign bank?), 4797 (Did you have a supplemental loss or gain?), 2440 (Sick pay?), 2106 (Business expenses?), 2950SE (Payment to retirement plan by self-employed person?), 3903 (Moving expenses?), 3468 (Investment credit?), 1116 (Foreign tax credit?), 4255 (Prior year investment credit?), 4137 (Social Security payment on undeclared tips?), 4136 (Federal tax credit on special fuels?), 2439 (Regulated investment company credit?).

And, oh yes, schedules A to X, Y and Z.

Just how many forms does IRS have?

"The latest count," says a spokesman, "is 375." And there are 81 pamphlets and books on how to make them out.

So later in his special message it is not surprising that Commissioner Walters gets down to the nitty: "If nevertheless you need to employ someone to help you because of personal complications, you should remember that you are still responsible for everything on your return. Therefore be careful and satisfy yourself that you employ someone who is competent and trustworthy and who will not misuse the confidential information you furnish for use in making out your return."

Last year, some 45 million Americans turned to outside help either because their returns were too complicated, or because they couldn't be bothered, or because they thought someone more knowledgeable could save them money.

And last year, almost one in every 10 taxpayers turned to a peculiarly American phenomenon called H. & R. Block, a nationwide company that hires schoolteachers, housewives, retired people and others for part-time work, gives them a 72-hour course in tax preparation and then has them make out tax returns while you wait.

The average return processed by H. & R. Block last year cost $12 (tax deductible) and it brought the company some $50 million.

What made the American's tax return so complicated? The American did. Or at least his Congress did, says Henry Block while the phones keep ringing in his Kansas City headquarters.

"I think it's the nature of the beast. Congress tries to make taxes more equitable. But people are different and need different benefits. So there are special rules for women, for people over 65, for people who drill oil. Obviously every time Congress makes a change it gets more complicated."

The total income tax bill in the United States in 1971 was almost $101 billion. The average refund was $340. The per capita tax averaged out to $983 for every man, woman and child in the nation.

In 1969, the last year for which an average figure is available, the average tax bill was $1,359.

If it doesn't quite pay all the bills for Uncle Sam, it certainly has enhanced the bank accounts of Henry Block, a graduate in mathematics from the University of Michigan, and brother Richard, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School of Finance. Today they have something over 5,000 storefront offices around the country, are on the New York Stock Exchange and have branches in Canada, New Zealand, West Germany and Australia.

Henry Block was only 9 years old, his brother only 7 when Congress decided to levy an income tax to raise money for the growing nation. It was 1913. It was not an election year.

The law that created the Internal Revenue Service was the Payne-Aldrich Act of 1913. Originally the income levies were instituted to enable the nation to drop tariffs on goods. But it became so efficient it served a variety of purposes.

The 1913 tax return was only four pages long—and one of those pages was instructions, and two-thirds of a page were devoted to affidavits swearing that the statements thereon were true. In typical government ratio, one page was devoted to declaring income, one page to computing the tax, and only one-third of a page to deductions.

Everyone who made over $3,000 had to file a return and pay 1 per cent on the amount over deductions. If the lucky fellow made over $20,000, he had to pay what they called in those days a super tax. That was 1 per cent on the amount between $20,000 and $50,000; 2 per cent up to $75,000; 3 per cent up to $100,000; 4 per cent up to $250,000, 5 per cent up to $500,000 and 6 per cent above that.

Not very expensive, but very, very simple.

There were some 425,000 returns filed that year, but only one out of every 271 Americans had to pay any tax.

Henry Block says we could still have a simple tax form like the original, but it might not be fair to everybody. The notion of Congress has been to make the tax process fair. But it does tend to be more fair to some than to others. It always has.

One reason, says Block, is that "the whole concept behind tax law has been to manipulate the economy. If you want to slow down the birth rate, you decrease personal exemptions. If you want to encourage building and plant expansion, you tinker with the depreciation laws. If you want people to spend more, you cut withholding rates. If you want to encourage exploration for oil, you put in an oil depletion allowance. If you want to pump money into the cities, you make municipal bonds tax exempt."

The consequences of such things as the oil depletion allowance is to provide nearly $1.23 in income tax deductions for every dollar sunk in the ground. Some people can live quite comfortably off the tax-free interests of municipal bonds and never pay an income tax. Obviously you have to be wealthy to do either.

People in the $10,000-$15,000 income bracket pay 4 per cent of the nation's income taxes. People who make over $100,000 pay only 4 or 5 per cent.

Somehow Americans keep a great sense of humor about their income tax. In the first place the United States gets 97 per cent voluntary compliance with its income tax system, and only has to enforce against the other 3 per cent. Which probably also explains that the IRS spends only about half a cent for every dollar it collects, against over a cent per dollar in Great Britain and almost two cents in Japan.

The IRS receives all kinds of lyrical replies from its corresponding payers. For instance, one man who was shook up, but not too shook up, advised the agency:

"Be thoughtful please when next you enquire.

"Your last form letter nearly made me expire."

The way people reply to IRS challenges goes so oppositely to the tone of IRS instructions as to embarrass the IRS, e.g.:

"Please find out for me if my husband is dead. The man I'm living with now cannot eat or anything until he knows."

"I'm glad to say that my husband who was reported missing is now dead."

"In answer to your letter I have given birth to a 10-pound boy. I hope this is satisfactory."

When an agent confronted a recalcitrant payer in front of the young man's mother, the boy complained to his mother, then turned to the agent and said, "I got a good idea. Why don't we just wrassle for it?"

At another point a woman came in with the two chickens she had claimed as dependents.

Most errors in tax returns are inadvertent. There is bad mathematics. There are wrong entries on columns and lines. Or people forget their W-2 forms, or put in the wrong Social Security numbers.

Errors in law are far fewer, and the biggest factor there is the misclaiming of dependents.

Then there is another class. "Some people," says an IRS spokesman, "take the approach that if there's a benefit here I'm going to take it."

And they take it, and if the IRS doesn't agree, they argue. And if the arguments aren't convincing, the whole matter goes to court.

"We try to make the form as simple as possible," an IRS man said. "And it's not that simple, either."

People miss certain simple deductions they are entitled to. Among the most common:

—The cost of a safety deposit box for savings bonds and other income-producing instruments.

At least $150 of their medical insurance payments not subject to the 3 per cent of income deduction.

—At least six cents a mile for the use of your car (or other transportation) for getting to and from the doctor or dentist.

—The same deduction per mile under contributions for carting around Girl or Boy Scouts, or other charitable enterprises.

The most common cheating ploys—the non-listing of income, the listing of a totally fictitious dependent—are easy to catch.

To keep Americans honest, the IRS audits individual tax returns. There are two kinds of audits and Block insists that neither should frighten the taxpayer unless he has deliberately cheated. The first and simplest is called the office audit. It occurs when the IRS computer finds one of the deduction items, like contributions, out of line, or some income not reported. The taxpayer is ordered to bring his records on the questionable item to the IRS office.

If an accountant such as H. & R. Block made out the return, they will generally accompany the client to the audit as a witness. Some people are rankled merely at being audited. This is not considered wise or practical behavior. The agent reviewing the case can open other areas of inquiry if he wants to, or he can find against a taxpayer and the case will grind on and on.

Audits are routine, and the way the IRS has of obtaining further supporting information on a return. Cancelled checks to your church, for instance, if you have the cancelled checks.

Explains Henry Block: "When you're audited, the rules are the opposite what they are in court. You are guilty until proven innocent."

The second kind of audit is the field audit, which means simply the agent wants to see all the records, and so he goes to the taxpayer rather than have the taxpayer lug all his records to him. Besides being a convenience it obviates any excuse that the records were left at home.

Henry Block takes the audit as a matter of course. "I get audited every year. But I don't mind. Besides, an audit insures that everyone stays honest and pays his fair share. It's very tempting for some people to stray from the facts."

Ironically the H. & R. Block company doesn't do its own income tax. That is prepared by the large accounting firm that handles its bookkeeping.

But some time around the first of April, Henry Block will join millions of other Americans rummaging around for the year's records. "I make out my own income tax, and my brother checks it."

What about brother Richard? "He makes out his own, and I check it."

FOR MY FINAL ACT—"Hello down there.. there..there." Seven Seas trainer, Jon Montgomery reports there is definitley an echo inside a killer whale's mouth. The whale, Newtka, is the star attraction at Arlington's sea-life park which will open later this month. Montgomery say's Newtka's teeth are razor sharp, nevertheless, he will repeat this performance eight times a day. (AP Wirephoto)

POWs Said Living In Laos Caves

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Pathet Lao guerrillas told an Australian free-lance photographer as many as 200 American prisoners are living in caves and tunnels in northern Laos.

John Everingham, who said he was just released by the Pathet Lao after 29 days in captivity, said he had several conversations with his captors about the fate of American pilots shot down and captured in Laos.

"They told me that in Samneua Province the entire population lives underground because of intense U.S. bombing," Everingham said.

He added that a Pathet Lao officer told him most people can come out to work in the fields when there are no planes around but the prisoners get only one hour of outdoor exercise a day.

"They told me there is a bakery in Samneua to make bread especially for American prisoners because they realize Americans are not used to a rice diet," the photographer said.

Everingham was captured 17 miles southeast of the royal capital of Luan Prabang.

He said during the first few days of his captivity the Pathet Lao assumed he was an American pilot or spy and sternly lectured him about bombing. But he said he was fed well and not physically mistreated.

Asked how many American prisoners they hold, Pathet Lao troops gave answers ranging from 100 to 200, Everingham said.

The Pathet Lao, unlike the North Vietnamese, have never released a list of prisoners.

The U.S. Embassy in Vientiane lists 263 Americans missing in Laos.

IRS Settles Dispute With Post Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service and U.S. Postal Service have settled a disputed bill over mailing of about 78 million tax returns to taxpayers.

Under terms of the settlement, IRS agreed to pay the Postal Service an additional $1.5 million, a spokesman for IRS said.

The dispute began earlier this year when IRS, because of late passage of the 1971 Revenue Act, found that the tax changes would make delivery of tax returns about two to three weeks late.

To speed up the process, it sent the tax returns through the mail first class instead of the usual third class.

The shock came when the Postal Service handed over a bigger bill than IRS officials expected. Just how much is not known for sure, but the figure was variously estimated between $3 million and $8 million.

In reaching the settlement, an IRS spokesman said, both agencies now have begun discussions that "will lead to a clear understanding" of what level of service IRS will need in the fiscal year that starts July 1.

"The Postal Service has emphasized that the future relationship between the two agencies would have to be grounded on a firm business basis that relates payments to the level of services provided," the IRS said.

Housewives To Shun Matinee

HUNTINGTON, N.Y. (AP)—A number of women who usually take the Long Island Railroad to New York for Wednesday matinees in Broadway theaters have vowed to pass up such trips.

"The round trip fare is now $5,000 one housewife said, "and there no longer are ladies' day fares. With shows at $9 things are getting to be a little too much."

Texas Traffic Toll Is Up

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Department of Public Safety reported Saturday that 510 persons have died in Texas traffic accidents this year, eight more than at this time in 1971.

The department said there have been 433 fatal traffic accidents in the state this year, compared with 427 a year ago.

Senators Riding Askew's Coattail

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer

Democratic presidential hopefuls Edmund S. Muskie, Hubert H. Humphrey and George McGovern are trying to ride the coattails of Gov. Reubin Askew as they head into the final weekend of Campaigning for Tuesday's Florida presidential primary.

Wherever they go, the three senators praise Askew and say they support his fight to beat a proposal for a constitutional amendment to ban school bussing for integration purposes.

The proposal is also on Tuesday's ballot.

Muskie, Humphrey and McGovern, plus Sen. Henry Jackson and Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York, are concentrating on the state's major population centers—the Miami area and the Tampa-St. Petersburg region in hopes of salvaging some convention delegates from the primary.

The heavy favorite to win the statewide vote and the largest share of the 81 votes at the Democratic National Convention, Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, spent Friday in his central Florida stronghold and planned to be there today also.

Humphrey and Lindsay planned to appear at a mock statewide convention at North Miami Beach High School today, Muskie scheduled campaigning in Miami suburbs, while McGovern renewed his call for an end to U.S. involvement in Vietnam at an Orlando rally in behalf of prisoners of war and those missing in action.

To the north, Georgia Democrats were meeting today in an unprecedented series of congressional district conventions to pick 50 of the state's 53 delegates to the Democratic National Convention. In the past, the governor has picked delegates. Most of those chosen are likely to be uncommitted.

While most major political activity Friday centered on the Florida primary, the large field of presidential contenders narrowed somewhat.

In Menlo Park, Calif. Republican Rep. Paul N. McCloskey said he was abandoning his antiwar campaign against President Nixon to concentrate on winning re-election to his House seat. He is likely to face a stiff GOP primary fight. He said he would leave his name on ballots in Florida and nine other states but lacked money to campaign.

Sen. Vance Hartke of Indiana abandoned his efforts for the Florida primary and returned to Washington amid rumors he was dropping his largely unnoticed presidential candidacy.

Letters To Editor

To The Daily News:

I read the big notice the Sparkle City Squares put in the paper. I believe they are blind or very selfish, to say they have presented the whole truth about using the community centers for square dancing.

When the bylaws were made, if it was wise then not to permit dancing, it is still wise. When our commissioners court start amending bylaws to please every group that can't have their selfish ways, it's a weak court.

So square dancing is a nationally, historically recognized sport, and I don't doubt that the Sparkle City Squares are a fine group. What's to keep other groups to form and demand use of the centers? Any kind of dance club or any other kind of club can demand use, if refused they cry discrimination.

Any adult responsible taxpayer can use the centers for any of the acceptable uses. Why should the commissioners court be expected to change the bylaws for such a minority?

Taxpayers, you had better wake up. You know it will cost more to maintain the centers because they will be used more and by less responsible partys of people. The rural communitys lost their schools, churches, now the last good thing left is being threatened.

Wake up taxpayers, good citizens, it won't just be the sparkle City Squares that use the centers for dancing and not telling what else.

Why don't the square dancers build their own dance halls? The Masons, Sheriff's Posse, Women's Clubs have their own buildings. Worthwhile associations always find ways to provide.

PREPARE FOR OLYMPICS—For the past one-and-a-half years, there has been intense activity on the Oberwiesenfeld, the Munich site for the Olympics. Thousands of workmen have already moved almost 10 million cubic feet of earth and used about 1½ million cubic feet of concrete. To facilitate this work, electrical supply lines and new connections must be laid continuously, as fitters are doing here. According to Siemens, which is responsible for installation of the communications systems for world-wide transmission of information, construction is on schedule. One of the most advanced facilities of its type ever built will be ready to receive athletes, coaches and spectators in August.

Robinson Leads All-SWC Team

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) — Sensational Texas sophomore Larry Robinson swept Sophomore of the Year and Player of the Year honors in The Associated Press' 1972 All-Southwest Conference balloting by the league's coaches.

Robinson, who averaged 21 points per game, was a unanimous choice to the All-SWC team as was Texas Christian's Simpson DeGrate. Texas Tech's Greg Lowery, who led the conference in scoring with an average of 24.4 points per game, was only one vote shy of being a unanimous selection.

Other members of the first team include Arkansas junior guard Martin Terry and Southern Methodist's inside scoring and rebounding threat Ruben Triplett.

Coach Bob Prewitt, who guided SMU into a co-championship with the University of Texas, was named Coach of the Year by his fellow SWC mentors. Texas Coach Leon Black and Texas A&M Coach Shelby Metcalf also received votes.

Robinson, of Hobbs, N.M., scored 30 points playing with a sprained ankle Tuesday night as Texas defeated SMU 91-89 in overtime to earn the right to advance to the first round of the NCAA playoffs.

Lowery, DeGrate and Terry also received Player of the Year support.

The 6-foot-4 DeGrate of Marlin, Tex., was the only Texan on the first all-black SWC team in the poll's history.

Jim Ferguson of Texas Christian, Roy Thomas of Baylor, Zach Thiel of Southern Methodist, Jeff Overhouse of Texas A&M and Ralph Palomar of Texas Tech were named to the second team.

Lowery and DeGrate were the only seniors on the first team.

DALLAS (AP) — Here is The Associated Press 1972 All-SWC basketball team:

FIRST TEAM

Outside—Greg Lowery, Texas Tech, 6-2, 175, Sr., West Palm Beach, Fla. and Martin Terry, Arkansas, 6-4, 180, Jr., Emporia, Kan. Inside—Larry Robinson, Texas, 6-8, 192, Soph., Hobbs, N.M., Ruben Triplett, SMU, 6-7, 220, Jr., Galesburg, Ill. and Simpson DeGrate, TCU, 6-4, 215, Sr., Marlin, Tex.

SECOND TEAM

Outside—Zach Thiel, SMU, 6-0, 165, Soph., Galesburg, Ill., and Jim Ferguson, TCU, 6-6, 180, Sr., Fort Worth. Inside—Roy Thomas, Baylor, 6-2, 180, Sr., Kirbyville, Tex., Ralph Palomar, Texas Tech, 6-8, 220, Jr., El Paso, Tex., and Jeff Overhouse, Texas A&M, 6-7, 210, Jr., League City, Tex.

Player of the Year—Robinson.
Coach of the Year—Bob Prewitt, SMU.

Win In Last 20 Seconds

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — How long does it take to produce a victory?

Well, if you're Coach Hal Laycoe of the Vancouver Canucks it takes only 20 seconds.

With that time remaining against the Buffalo Sabres and the score tied 2-2 in Friday night's only National Hockey League game, Laycoe replaced Canuck star defenseman Pat Quinn with Joycelyn Guevremont.

Guevremont then blasted a 55-foot shot that deflected off a Buffalo player and whizzed past goalie Roger Crozier to give Vancouver a 3-2 victory.

Steve Atkinson opened the scoring with his 11th goal of the season for Buffalo at the 40-second mark of the first period, but Quinn tied the score towards the end of the period.

The teams were scoreless in the second period but in the third period Gerry Meehan put Buffalo ahead again after both teams had wasted excellent chances to score.

Less than two minutes after Meehan's goal, Andre Boudrias picked up Dale Tallon's rebound and swept the puck past Crozier at the 16:57 mark.

Then with the Canucks deep in the Buffalo end in the final seconds of the game, Guevremont scored the winner after the Canucks won the faceoff.

Brother Wrestlers

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Junior Jim Callard, a 150-pounder from Lansing, Mich., and his younger brother Jeff, a 158-pound freshman, are both college wrestlers.

Jim is one of the Air Force varsity stars while Jeff is on the University of Oklahoma team.

WTC Golf Team 5th

BIG SPRING—Western Texas College's Westerners placed fifth at the first spring golf tournament of the Western Junior College Athletic Conference, held here Friday.

Each contestant played 27 straight holes. Scores of the teams: HCJC 443, NMJC 445, South Plains JC 450, WTC 458, NMMI 466, Frank Phillips JC 494, and Clarendon JC 504.

Barry Hayes was the leading Westerner. He carded a 40-36-36—112. Scores of other WTC lads: Max Tenorio 38-38-37—113; Tim Stuerzenberger 37-39-39—115; Frank Woner 43-36-39—118; and, Blake Arnwine 42-40-38—120.

The Westerners' next match is March 18-19 in Kerrville—a dual match with Schreiner Institute.

WTC will host a conference tourney here March 24.

Tiger Golf Team Leads

SWEETWATER — Snyder's Tigers took the first round lead in the Sweetwater Golf Tournament here Friday afternoon with a 303. The Tigers finished six strokes ahead of the runnerup hosts. Eight teams were entered in the tourney.

Scores of Tiger individuals: Jeff Richardson 75, Steve Talbott 75, Marty Pate 76, Mark Hargrove 77, Bobby Burleson 82, and Fred Liner 84.

The tourney was to conclude with 18 holes Saturday.

Fisher To Manage

MOUNT VERNON, N.Y. (AP) — Jack Fisher, an 11-year veteran in the major leagues who pitched four years for the New York Mets, will manage the Mount Vernon Generals in the Atlantic Collegiate Baseball League.

Fisher, 32, replaces Jack Lyons who is assistant baseball coach at Fordham under former Yankee Gil McDouglad.

Good Chance

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Manager Red Schoedienst of the St. Louis Cardinals figures Santiago Guzman, 22-year-old native of the Dominican Republic, has a good chance to be one of his starting pitchers this season.

Guzman had a combined 15-7 record last year with St. Petersburg and Little Rock. In the final series against the New York Mets last fall, Guzman struck out 10 batters in eight innings.

Co-Captains

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — Center Orderia Mitchell, a junior from Elkhart, Ind., and Gene Ogilvie, a junior defensive tackle from San Jose, Calif., will co-captain the 1972 Air Force football team.

SCORES RUN—Snyder High School's Tommy Washington begins his slide into home plate during the first inning of the Tiger-Monahans baseball game here Friday afternoon while Lobo catcher Charles Hollingsworth waits for the ball. Washington was safe. He tripled in Charles Anderson, then scored himself on a grounder by David Thompson. The Tigers won 3-1 for their fourth straight victory without a loss.

Tigers Remain Unbeaten, 3-1

Snyder's hustling Tigers boosted their season record to 4-0 in Towle Park Friday afternoon with a 3-1 triumph over Monahans' Lobos. The same two teams tangled here in a doubleheader Saturday afternoon.

The Tigers struck early, getting enough runs in the first inning to win the game. Charles Anderson walked, stole second, and scored on a resounding triple to deep centerfield by Tommy Washington. David Thompson cracked a grounder to second and Washington scored on the play when the fielder elected to go to first with the ball.

Snyder made it 3-0 in the second. James Hood walked, stole second, and scored on a line single by Marvin McClanahan, the winning pitcher.

Monahans got its only run in the 3rd when Charles Claburn, the losing hurler, took first on a fielder's choice and scored on a double by David Presley.

Claburn went the distance for Lobos. McClanahan gave way in relief in the 5th to Robert Braziel. Don Lawson collected two singles for the Lobos while the other safety was a single by Gary Elenburg.

Snyder's other hits were singles by Albert Hernandez and Scotty Sullivan.

The Tigers put men on base in every inning. Sullivan, making his first start, really wasn't in trouble when he went out. He fanned one and Braziel struck out two. Both had good control.

Claburn, the loser, also turned in a good performance, fanning eight. He just got off to a shaky start which his teammates were never able to overcome.

Snyder made only one error and looked sharp on defense throughout the contest. Thompson, who plays left field, made several catches in the sun and seemed to be in the right place at the right time.

Aggie Freshman Leads SWC Team

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Cedric Joseph of Texas A&M, a 6 foot-8 forward from Fort Worth who averaged 20.9 points per game and 14.9 rebounds, led the first freshman basketball team of the Southwest Conference.

The first and second teams were selected by coaches and sportswriters of the Waco Tribune and Herald.

Southern Methodist University, Texas Tech, Arkansas and Rice also placed men on the first team:

The highest scorer on the first team is Rickey Medlock of Arkansas who averaged 33.4 points per game. First Team

Cederic Joseph, Texas A&M, 6-8, from Fort Worth, 29.9 points per game.

Russell Bourquein, Southern Methodist, 6-7, from Houston, 19.9 points.

William Johnson, Texas Tech, 6-6, from Houston, 21.0 points.

Rickey Medlock, Arkansas, 6-3, Cave City, Ark., 33.4 points.

Rim Moriarty, Rice, 6-5, Appleton, Wis., 18.8 points.

Second Team

Mike Floyd, Texas A&M, 5-11, Rockford, Ill., 20.9 points.

Jimmy Murphy, Southern Methodist, 6-4, Carrollton, 16.5 points.

Bill Marcellus, Southern Methodist, 6-3, Dallas, 18.3 points.

Chris Boegele, Texas, 6-3, Peoria, Ill., 18.6 points.

Chuck Elsey, Texas Christian, 6-6, Matarrie, La., 22.9 points.

Little League Meeting Set

There will be a meeting of Little League officials at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Snyder National Bank, according to an announcement by Rex Robinson, league coordinator.

Grant Teaff Has Positive Outlook

WACO—Positive thinking Grant Teaff opens spring training for his Baylor Bears Thursday with 28 lettermen returning from last year's 1-9 outfit and a big rebuilding job in store for both the offensive and defensive lines.

However, despite the problems, the dynamic 38-year-old Snyder native is optimistic about spring drills. "We don't anticipate any miracles. We are going into spring training with a well-conceived battle plan that, with plenty of hard work from both coaches and players, can help us to begin to turn this program around. We hope that next season we can turn out a team that the alumni, students and the coaches and players themselves can be proud of. If we do this, the won-lost record will take care of itself," Teaff said.

Teaff and his aides will install the Slot I as the basic offensive formation, with some use being made of the "Y" or Veer T formation.

Although he has been in the past a ground oriented coach, Teaff knows that in the rugged Southwest Conference he will have to throw to survive, and brought in former Baylor and pro quarterback great Cotton Davidson to work with the receivers and quarterbacks. Top candidates for the quarterback slot appear to be sophomores Robert Armstrong of Houston and Neal Jeffrey of Overland Park, Kan., letterman Randy Cavender of Dallas, a part-time starter last season as a redshirt soph; and junior Chuck Gossett of Houston who played sparingly last season.

Offensive returnees include Tight End Ken Townsend of Tyler, a junior; Guard David Walters of Longview, a senior; Running backs Bill Cornelius, a junior from Jefferson, and Godfrey White, senior from Corpus Christi.

On defense Teaff will find starters Roger Goree, the all-SWC defensive player of the year at end; Tackle Richard Mason, Amarillo junior letterman; Noseguard Mike Wilder, Dallas junior; Linebackers Paul Savage of Wichita Kan., and Ed Taylor of Hull-Daisetta, both seniors; and defensive backs Ritky Duff of Dallas and Tommy Stewart of Odessa, both seniors.

Gone are such heralded performers as East-West defensive tackle Gary Sutton of Ozona, American Bowl offensive tackle Ron Evans of Amarillo, Tailback Matthew Williams of Monroe, La., the team's leading ground gainer the past two seasons; guards Barry Morgan of Shreveport, La., and Lanus Treadwell of El Campo, offensive tackle Joe Allbright of Andrews and defensive tackle Glen Chmelear of Rockdale.

One of Teaff's problems will be that 12 of his 14 junior college signees are still in school and won't be available for spring training.

Waiting in the wings will be the junior college stars headed by All American defensive tackle Millard Neely, 6-4, 260 of Tyler Junior College and All American running back Gary Lacy of Wharton Junior College, the most valuable offensive player in the Texas Junior College league last season. Other include Bruce Neely, an all-conference performer in his own right at Tyler JC; all conference running back Ray Harper of Tyler who boasts 4.4 speed; offensive lineman Mike Harper of Tyler, 6-2 and 240; offensive and defensive lineman Phil Perry of Tyler, 6-5 and 245; Ronnie Martin, linebacker from Wharton JC, 6-3, 225; and linebacker Harry Pfeffer, 5-11, 230, of Blinn JC; defensive back Keith Stone of Wharton, 6-3, 185; defensive tackle David Dillard, 6-3, 255 from Blinn JC; Ken Young, 6-5, 255, tackle from New Mexico Military Institute and Andy Hammond, 6-3, 220, defensive tackle from Henderson JC.

All-American JC defensive back Don Drake of Ranger JC from Idalou, Tex., and Charles Dancer, a 4.4 170 pound split receiver from Tyler JC and Mexia, Tex., are the two Jucos in school and will be taking part in spring training.

"We know what we've got to accomplish this spring. The players understand and have given us outstanding effort during our conditioning drills, so we feel real positive about spring training. We think that our players will find that they have more foootball ability and know-how than they thought they had. If we can bring it out of them we will be on our way. And I think we can," Teaff emphasized.

Lake Spence Fishing Good

Reports of good catches at Lake E.V. Spence continue to be received by lake patrolmen of the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

R.B. Martin Jr., 506 Santa Rosa, Odessa, landed four bass, averaging 3½ pounds, six crappie about one pound each, and 17 channel cat averaging two pounds.

In an Odessa foursome, H.E. Starnes, A.L. Ward, Danny Falks, and Don Riggs, there were 35 channel cat ranging from one to 3½ pounds caught with minnows on a trotline.

The big boy of the week was landed by Hank Baker, Robert Lee, who reported a 25 yellow catfish.

A Mr. and Mrs. Tweed of Midland reported catching 40 crappie, grossing 50 pounds, while Roy Cleck, address unknown, reported catching 34 channel cat, three crappie and three bass on a recent fishing junket to the lake.

Renner Wins In Mexico City

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Jane Renner, 17 of Palm Springs, Calif., shot a one-under-par 71 Friday and won the 47th Mexican National Amateur women's golf tournament by five strokes over fellow Californian Kathy Martin of Thousand Oaks.

Miss Renner's 72-hole total was 73-75-72-71—291. Miss Martin had a final round 74.

Miss Renner's round consisted of three birdies and two bogeys.

Tennessee State Triumphs, 79-73

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tennessee State's top-ranked Tigers, the Maroons of Roanoke and the Hurons of Eastern Michigan clawed their way to victory Friday night to advance to the NCAA College Division Championships Wednesday in Evansville, Ind.

The Tigers, with Leonard Robinson scoring 24 points and Claude Grant adding 21, fought off a late Delta State rally to top the Statesmen 79-73 at Cleveland, Miss., winning the South Region title.

In Roanoke, the Maroons won the South Atlantic Region crown, pulling away from Biscayne, Fla., in the closing minutes to win 67-57.

And the Great Lakes Region championship went to the Hurons, who bumped off Evansville's Aces, the defending NCAA College Division kings, 93-88 as Lindell Reason pumped in 24 points for Eastern Michigan.

In Wednesday's quarterfinals, Roanoke will play the winner of the Midwest Region, Tennessee State faces the winner of the East Region, and the Mideast and West Region titlists collide.

In the Midwest opening-round contests at St. Louis, the University of Missouri-St. Louis bombed South Dakota 114-72 to win the right to battle for the championship Saturday night against Lincoln University, Jefferson City, Mo., a 97-81 victor over St. Olaf of Northfield, Minn.

The East Region championship sends Southampton College's Colonials against Hartford. The Colonials whipped Buffalo State 83-72 while Hartford turned back Ithaca, N.Y., 81-66 in the twin-bill at Southampton, N.Y.

In the New England first-round games at Worcester, Mass., Assumption blitzed Bridgeport, Conn., 112-82 and Bentley of Waltham, Conn., defeated Sacred Heart of Bridgeport 96-79.

In the Mideast doubleheader at Akron, Ohio, Akron University nipped Philadelphia Textile 54-52 and Youngstown State beat Cheyney State 90-80.

And at Pueblo, Colo., in the West's first round, Seattle Pacific nipped California-Riverside 68-63 and Southern Colorado breezed by Cal-Irvine 77-58.

In consolation games, Louisiana State of New Orleans crushed Transylvania 110-74 in the South, Florida Southern held off Mercer 85-83 in the South Atlantic and Kentucky Wesleyan slipped past Wittenberg 68-64 in the Great Lakes Region.

Warriors Slip Past Houston

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cazzie Russell of the Golden State Warriors was hurting Friday night but the crippled Seattle SuperSonics felt most of the pain.

Despite a painful back injury, Russell scored 11 of his 30 points in the fourth period as the Warriors held off the Houston Rockets 119-116 and moved two games ahead of idle Seattle in the battle for the second and last playoff berth in the National Basketball Association's Pacific Division.

In other NBA action, Cincinnati defeated Chicago for the first time in two years 104-100 and Los Angeles trounced Cleveland 132-98.

American Basketball Association games saw Indiana roll over Denver 127-115 and Utah crush Memphis 129-11.

The NBA Warriors have nine games remaining in which to protect their slim lead. Seattle has seven left.

Calvin Murphy's season-high 35 points kept Houston in contention most of the way, while Elvin Hayes added 26 points and Rudy Tomjanovich 22. Russell had able assistance from Jeff Mullins with 25 points and Nate Thurmond with 24.

Clyde Lee grabbed 18 rebounds for the winners, making the Warriors the eighth team in NBA history to have two 1,000 rebounders in the same season. Thurmond has 1,101.

Despite Cincinnati's victory over Chicago, the Royals must await the outcome of a protest to make it official. The Bulls protested a jump ball after a technical foul call with two seconds left, claiming they were entitled to the ball. But even if the final two seconds are replayed, there is little Chicago can do to win.

Nate Archibald sparked the Royals with 34 points.

Gail Goodrich poured in 30 points as the Lakers registered their 61st triumph against 12 losses.

Happy Hairston grabbed 17 rebounds in three quarters for Los Angeles while Wilt Chamberlain, hampered by a broken right index finger, added 19 points.

In the ABA, Indiana and Denver are likely first-round playoff foes but the Pacers had little trouble with the Rockets Friday night behind Bob Netolicky's 27 points and George McGinnis' 24. The Pacers took the season series 7-3.

Zelmo Beaty led Utah over Memphis with 30 points and five other Stars scored in double figures, including 21 by Willie Wise.

Trixi Retains Skating Title

CALGARY, Alta. (AP) — Olympic champion Trixi Schuba of Austria capped her international skating career Friday night by easily retaining her crown in the women's event in the World Figure Skating Championships.

Miss Schuba compiled 13 ordinals to 16 for Karen Magnussen of Canada and 25 for Janet Lynn of Rockford, Ill.

"A little sad" was her reply when asked how she felt about quitting.

The daughter of a Vienna shopkeeper received six first-place votes while Miss Magnussen garnered the other three.

Miss Magnussen admitted Miss Schuba was too formidable of an opponent.

"You always go in there hoping you might defeat her," the Canadian girl said, "even though a miracle would have to happen."

Miss Lynn said she was "a little more tense than I was in Sapporo" where she won an Olympic bronze medal.

The American champion won the free-skating portion of the competition and had two perfect scores of 6.0 for artistic impression.

Expos Hope For Better Pitching

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The key for the Montreal Expos is pitching, and this year there are more keys than ever before.

"Before this we had a problem getting up to 10 pitchers," Manager Gene Mauch pointed out. "Now we may have a problem getting down to 10. And most of them are in their prime of life—and improve every day."

Mauch was talking about Bill Stoneman, Steve Renko, Ernie McNally, John Strohmayer, Carl Morton and Dan McGinn. They will have to produce if the Expos are to improve and hit the .500 mark that Mauch covets.

Mauch said simply, "the pitchers have to carry us."

Stoneman, who includes a no-hitter among his achievements, put it all together in only his third year in the majors, posting a 17-16 record last year. At 28, his future is unlimited.

Renko, a towering 6-foot-6 right-hander, improved for his third straight year, posting a 15-14 record. At 27, he still has room for growth.

McNally is just 25, but sparkled last year in his rookie season with an 11-12 record.

Strohmayer is 25 with just one full major league season behind him.

Morton, 28, is the major question mark at the moment, the Rookie of the Year in 1970 who nosedived to 10-18 with 4.79 earned run average last season.

McGinn is a 28-year-old left-hander still labeled prospect.

Also available for starting duty or bullpen service are three acquisitions from other clubs—Denny Lemaster, from Houston; Mike Torrez, from St. Louis, and Ron Taylor, from the New York Mets.

If the quality is there, Mauch has a shot at getting his .500 mark or 81 victories, after last year's dissappointing 71 victories.

Mauch has enough bats around to support that pitching, although there are three weak spots.

The biggest stick belongs to right fielder Rusty Staub, a legitimate super star who hit .311 with 19 homers and 97 runs batted in last season.

Supporting him in the power department are third baseman Bob Bailey, a .251 swinger with 14 homers and 83 RBI, and first baseman Ron Fairly, a .257 hitter with 13 homers and 71 RBI.

In addition there is a consistent hitting cast that includes second baseman Ron Hunt, .279 last year; and the platooning center fielders—Boots Day, .283, and Ron Woods, .297.

Bobby Wine, however, is a light-hitting shortstop at .200 and John Bateman, the No. 1 catcher, hit only .242 last season.

There also is a gaping hole in left field, where the candidates include Keith Lampard, a product of the Houston farm system who hit .337 at Oklahoma City last year, and veteran Tony Gonzalez, who split with the California Angels.

With that cast, and the pitching, Mauch is aiming at the .500 mark—predicted last year but a target that escaped.

Mike Quarry Gets Decision

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike Quarry never attended college, but he was prepared for the lesson schoolteacher Tommy Hicks wanted to give him.

"I knew he'd come straight in like that and I was ready," Quarry, the world's No. 2 light heavyweight, said Friday night after he hammered out a one-sided unanimous 10-round decision at Madison Square Garden.

"He's aggressive and I knew he'd come in after me," said Quarry, who recorded his 34th triumph in as many bouts. "That's why I had no trouble outboxing him."

Quarry, 176 pounds, deftly avoided his opponent's rushes and methodically beat him to the punch.

The 21-year-old Anaheim, Calif., fighter kept Hicks, 173, off balance with a peppery left jab and closed his right eye in the ninth round and opened a small cut on his foe's left eyebrow in the fifth stanza.

"I didn't expect him to clinch when I moved in," explained Hicks, 28, who teaches multiple handicapped children in Ithaca, N.Y. "I expected him to be a mover, but I couldn't cut him off."

The defeat dropped Hicks, ranked No. 10 by the World Boxing Association, to 18-6-3 with eight knockouts. He has been stopped four times on cuts, most recently in a title bout with light heavy champ Bob Foster last October.

Scott Walks, Bianchi Talks

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Charlie Scott, the American Basketball Association's premier scorer, has quit the Virginia Squires—and an angry coach Al Bianchi says he "couldn't care less."

In the wake of a 113-99 Thursday night loss to the New York Nets, after which Bianchi fined the entire Virginia team for "poor play," Scott notified the Squires Friday he considered his contract terminated.

The 6-foot-6 Scott, corookie of the year in the ABA last season with Kentucky's Dan Issel, told the New York Daily News he quit because the Squires reneged on a promise to pay off a $26,000 personal loan.

Squires owner Earl Foreman had no comment on this allegation, while adding that he "would like to think that every contract I write is a good and valid one—and also enforceable."

Bianchi, however, took a far less detached attitude. The Virginia coach, who levied $100 fines on each Squire player after the loss to the Nets, was furious when Scott didn't show up for Friday practice.

Bianchi said he was fining Scott five times as much as the other Virginia players—a grand total of $1,500—for missing the plane on the Thursday night flight from New York to Norfolk and for missing practice.

"If Charlie wants to act like a star, I'll give him the star treatment," Bianchi said.

Did he think Scott would return?

"I don't know and could care less," Bianchi said. "I've bent over to protect him on other matters. I've given him enough rope and now I'll hang him."

Scott had scored 24 points—10 below his season's average—in the loss to the Nets but simultaneously had set an ABA record for points in a single season by lifting his total to 2,524.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Ack Ack, thoroughbred racing's horse of the year in 1971, will be one of the three stallions whose services will be available to the owner whose horse wins the Matchmaker Stakes to be run here later in the year.

Raise A Native and Delta Judge were the other top stallions made available.

Ack Ack, now at Claiborne Farm in Paris, Ky., won 19 of his 27 starts and was out of the money only twice. He earned $636,641 in four years of racing.

Olympic Hopes Appear Bright

DETROIT (AP) — If the performances turned in at the eighth NCAA Indoor Track Championships Friday are any indication, America's chances in this summer's Munich Olympics don't appear very bright.

Two meet records were set in Friday's first half of the two-day meet, but one was in an event in which Europeans don't compete—the 35-pound weight throw—and the other was in the triple jump.

Southern Cal grabbed the team lead with 16 points by winning the long jump and the shot put and placing second in the triple jump.

Bowling Green's Dave Wattle, with a 1:51.8 in the 880, and Sid Sink, with a 8:36.5 in the two-mile run, put their team into second place with 12 points.

The new meet record in the 35-pound weight throw was set by Kent State's Jacques Accambray. He broke the former mark of 68 feet, 10¼ inches established in last year's competition by his teammate Al Schoterman. Accambray's toss was for 71-3¼.

Schoterman came in second, and the combined effort gave Kent State third place in team standings, with 10 points.

Barry McClure of Middle Tennessee broke the triple jump record by covering 52 feet, 10¼ inches, bettering the 52-9¾ mark set last year by Mohinder Gill of California Poly.

McClure's performance enabled the Tennesseans to end the day in a tie with Texas-El Paso for fourth place in team standings, with eight points each.

Although the more than 9,000 spectators who witnessed Friday's competiton were deprived of any world record-shattering performances, Saturday could be a different story.

On the day's program were events in which world record holders Herb Washington of Michigan State and high jumper Pat Matzdorf of Wisconsin were to appear.

Washington, who holds the world record of :5.9 in the 60-yard dash, covered the distance in six seconds flat in the best time posted in the quarter-finals, despite a couple of false starts.

Henry Hines of Southern Cal, who won the long jump at 25 feet, 10 inches, had to overcome boredom to successfully defend his title in the event.

"At the beginning I was bored," he acknowledged. "I wasn't being pushed, and I finally just had to get myself up, talk to the coach and push myself."

Hines said he'll be going to the U.S.-Russian meet next week and plans to work very hard "because I know what competition they are."

His teammate, Doug Lane, won the shot put with a toss of 64-3½, almost a foot and a half short of last year's winning toss.

Perhaps the biggest surprise of the night was the failure of Southern California's Edesel Garrison to qualify for the 440-yard final, which was won by Larance Jones of Northeast Missouri State in an unspectacular 48.3.

Famed Flamingoes Are Grounded

MIAMI (AP) — Hialeah Park's famed pink flamingoes, who traditionally fly in poetic formation over the horse track's infield, have been grounded by motherhood.

Hialeah is the only place where the birds are hatched in captivity with 75 to 100 births in the spring.

Florida's unusually warm winter encouraged an earlier mating season and the race meeting is later than usual this year. Many female flamingoes are heavy with eggs and track officials decided Thursday to ground their flock for the first time in 35 years.

"Since you can't tell the boys from the girls among flamingoes," said W. C. Fisher, the track's general manager, "the only humane thing to do is to cancel our flights."

The track had kept the birds grounded by clipping their wings before 1957.

Ben Is Master Of Parking Lot

By KRISTIN GOFF
Associated Press Writer

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Ben Richardson is a parking lot despot with an unbending devotion to rules and a penchant for patriotic campaigns.

One mistake—a wheel nudged over the yellow parking line or a cigarette butt dropped on the lot—and another name goes on Richard's lengthy black list.

The wiry 67-year-old parking lot manager keeps copious notes on those he has banned from his downtown lot.

"The guy in the green Ford, the one with the big dent in the back," one entry reads. "He parked his car at least a foot over the line. This is not the first time he has done this. He says he is sorry. That is too bad. Get that car off this lot."

Richardson usually does not give second chances. He doesn't accept excuses.

"You park here, you accept the rules. You want to park in a dump, that's your business," Richardson said.

Parking lot customers accept this philosophy, as well as Richardson's "crusades," because he takes good care of their automobiles and his location is convenient.

"He always has something going," said a Gas and Electric Company executive who parks on a monthly basis at the lot. "One month he wants the flag pole on top of the Gas and Electric Company building painted and the next he is after us to fly the flag every day, rain or shine."

Richardson's biggest project, however, was a beautification campaign which began last summer. He started by planting marigolds around the parking area. To draw attention to the campaign he hung beer cans, pop bottles, candy wrappers and other debris on the fence and trees around the lot.

About mid summer he started regular weekday broadcasts from a loudspeaker system hooked up to his car.

"Your attention please," his voice would boom. "This is Ben with an important message. Throw your garbage in a garbage can. Do not throw it in the street. This ain't no pigsty. This is America. This is your country. Be proud of it. And don't let me catch you throwing anything on this parking lot. That is all."

Company officials and a number of customers have complained about Richardson's maverick tactics over the years. The veteran parking lot employe says he has been fired seven or eight times in the years he has managed the lot.

But the prospect of being fired again does not seem to bother Richardson.

"I don't care," he said, "because every time the owner fires me he has to give me a $5 raise to get me back. There ain't no one who can run this parking lot like me."

Minority Is Gaining

DALLAS (AP) — A Civil Service Commission survey shows Dallas area minorities are holding more of the better-paying federal jobs than ever before.

'Shamrock' Big Biz In Ireland

DUBLIN (AP) — Under the name "Shamrock" you can find 26 firms listed in the Dublin phone book. Seven are bars or hotels, while the rest sell products from footwear to fish. None deals in the clover-like plant that millions of people with Irish blood will wear proudly on St. Patrick's Day.

Yet every year the traditional green symbol of Ireland finds its way around the world in quantities in time for the March 17 festivities.

Tracking down shamrock statistics and sources of supply, like hunting for leprechauns, is a course beset by Celtic mysteries. No one knows how much the export of shamrocks is worth each year to Ireland, nor where it all comes from.

An Export Board spokesman solemnly avers that "no power on earth could give even an approximate idea" of the cash value of shamrocks to the country.

In the 550-strong village of Dunmore East, County Waterford, the shamrock industry can be found working at capacity to meet the deadline.

"We're running into our busiest season," says Richard Ballintine, proprietor of Trefoil Products and purveyor of much of the shamrock that reaches the world market.

In 15 years, Ballintine has built a business employing eight girls year-round and up to 20 in the pre-St. Patrick's Day rush.

Most income comes from the steady sale of brooches, rings and souvenirs in which shamrock—treated by a special preserving process devised by Ballintine and kept a closely guarded secret is mounted.

Ballintine's work force plucks the shamrock from a single acre of land, washes it, grades it, packs it and dispatches it to destinations as diverse as the White House and the Vatican.

"Only the finiest and tenderest are regarded as good enough to represent Ireland abroad," Ballintine says. "We reject any that are not perfectly shaped, are too big or have spots of fungus."

Another source flourishes in County Cork near the fishing village of Union Hall. Brian Crowley's shamrock patch covers an acre of the family's farm. The Crowley green will appear this week on lapels as far afield as New Hampshire and New Zealand.

Though content with his own share of the business, Crowley believes the shamrock industry has vast untapped potential. He contends, "Irish people don't grow half the shamrock they should!"

Paul Sexton's firm at Cornelscourt, County Dublin, packages shamrock seeds for retail stores.

Shamrock plants, besides being cultivated by growers like Ballintine, grow wild and are collected from fields and farm meadows by women and children, particularly in the Dublin area. With its 650,000 population, Dublin is the shamrock seller's prime home market.

There are 26 varieties of shamrock, all members of a clover family called Trefolium. St. Patrick is supposed to have used the three-leaf plant in illustrating the doctrine of the Trinity.

NAB To Help Dropouts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Businessmen who banded together to bring hard-core unemployed, Vietnam veterans and disadvantaged youth into industry now are going to attack the problem of school dropouts.

The National Alliance of Businessmen (NAB) says it plans to expand its activities this year to combine summer jobs with part-time school year work.

John Condon, Los Angeles aerospace executive and vice president in charge of NAB's youth program, says the program will involve both industry and educators. It will be called GOLD, an acronym for Guided Opportunities for Life Decisions.

Condon estimates the program will cost upwards of $20 million at the start. He said the plan is to give each youngster in a summer job eight hours a week of classroom lectures and tours to learn about various alternatives open in a specific business.

Condon expects at least 75 of NAB's 162 metropolitan offices to be involved in the GOLD program the first year. He said each probably would have 300 summer student workers and that the top 100 in each city would be given jobs up to 15 hours a week during school periods.

THEY ALL SCREAM FOR AGREEN—Swedish actress Janet Agreen takes advantage of an early spring to get a suntan on a beach near Rome. Publicity Blamed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The adoption supervisor of San Francisco County says publicity given actresses who have borne children out of wedlock is one reason more unwed mothers are keeping their children.

She says this has contributed to the decline in the number of infants available for adoption.

"There are other factors, like abortion, and a declining birthrate, but most of it has to do with the publicity," Dorothy Murphy said in an interview Friday.

Attorney Philip Adams, who has aided in the adoption of some 3,000 children in a legal career spanning 30 years, put it another way: "Love children are in vogue," Adams said. "The embarrassment factor is down to zero."

Mrs. Murphy said a sharp drop in the number of children placed for adoption was noticed in late 1969.

"In 1968, we had an average of 315 children under 2 years old available for adoption at all times," she said. "Today, there are only 80, and they're all over 2 years old."

Of the famous who have publicized their unwedded maternal status, Mrs. Murphy said:

"It may not be immoral to keep the baby if you're a movie star. But many unwed mothers don't have the finances to support a child and aren't really prepared for the criticism they may face."

In the end, she said, the burden must fall upon the children denied the opportunity for adoption into a stable situation.

"Some mothers," she said, "think they're taking a great big doll home with them, and it's not that simple."

PUSHER ACCUSED—Former addict Rosa (Jackie Giroux) accuses pusher (David Connell) of cutting a "deck" of heroin in this scene from "The Cross and the Switchblade" starring Pat Boone. The Dick Ross and Associates production is adapted from the Rev. David Wilkerson's best-seller of the same title, based on his crusade in New York's slums. It starts Wednesday at Cinema II in Snyder.

Hermann Sons Lodges Slate Workshop Here

SAN ANTONIO—In connection with a Founders' Month Membership Campaign that is being conducted in the 161 Sons of Hermann Lodges across the state, a Grand Lodge team from San Antonio, headed by Grand President Henry Riemer, will conduct a one-day workshop for the secretaries and membership representatives of 10 West Texas Hermann Sons lodges in the American Motel Restaurant in Snyder, starting at 9 a.m. Saturday, March 18.

Marvin O. Gold, San Antonio, Grand Lodge District Supervisor for the West Texas lodges, will chair the morning program.

Chairing the afternoon session will be Louis B. Engelke, first grand vice president, also of San Antonio, where the home offices of the state-wide Texas fraternal order are located.

The lodges to be involved are Lubbock Lodge No. 16, Odessa Lodge No. 38, Abilene Lodge No. 50, El Paso Lodge No. 133, San Angelo Lodge No. 177, Rowena Lodge No. 216, Old Glory Lodge No. 228, Haskell Lodge No. 241, Hermleigh Lodge No. 256 and Roscoe Lodge No. 257.

The workshop will be the last in a series of six that are being held on successive Saturdays across the state, Riemer said.

Periodic campaigns have seen the order's membership double within the last two decades. The district workshops this year are an innovation initiated by Grand President Riemer to accelerate this momentum.

The Grand Lodge of the Order of the Sons of Hermann in Texas was established by German-American pioneers on March 27, 1890, in San Antonio, with the Alamo, the cradle of Texas liberty, as a background. At the time of this founding, there were eight lodges with a total of 242 members. Within the last year the order passed the 70,000 member mark. Hermann Sons membership includes men, women and children.

At the close of the Saturday sessions there will be a hospitality hour and buffet dinner.

Specialist Says Dirt Don't Hurt

HOUSTON (AP) — A small boy's best friend may be a Houston skin specialist.

Dr. John M. Knox, chairman of Baylor College of Medicine's dermatology department, says the small boy who doesn't want to take a bath all the time should be left alone.

"A little dirt on a small boy is not going to hurt him," Knox said.

In fact, Knox says the American mania for staying clean produces more skin disease than being dirty.

He said deodorants for everything, twice-a-day baths, and constant handwashing upsets the delicate natural balance of the skin, leaving it easy prey to germs.

"We use all sorts of deodorants, and they block the pores, the opening of the sweat glands. Mother Nature put these openings there for a purpose and we shouldn't try to block them."

He said bathing twice a day is ridiculous and persons over 40 should not bathe every day in winter.

"Sponge in the appropriate places, but don't bathe as you have been trained to do," he said.

He said bathing removes the oil from the skin, which is there as a protective film.

"It was intended to be there or evolution would not have kept it there for us," he said.

A water faucet, he said, seems to trigger a compulsion in women to wash their hands.

"This damages the normal protection against bacteria," he said.

The specialist said the dirty old man who almost never washes his hands is cleaner than the housewife because "the normal degerming mechanisms still are operating on the unwashed."

Knox said new mothers are so clean they literally are dangerous.

He said few women should use face creams before 30 and most don't need them until 40.

He said pushing back cuticles and constant cleaning of fingernails sets the stage for infection, and constant washing, brushing, permanents, and dyes damage the hair. He said the best rule for the hair is to do the minimum to keep it neat and clean.

He said no proof exists that chocolate makes acne worse, or that diet affects it at all.

He suggested that parents quit badgering children about what they eat.

Easter Seal Child Chosen

By EDWARD S. KITCH
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The 1972 National Easter Seal Child is radiant Jo Ann Schaffer, 4, of Northampton, Pa.

The Easter Seal Child has been chosen annually since 1949 to symbolize the thousands of handicapped children and adults who receive rehabilitation and other services from Easter Seal funds.

The month of March traditionally is the time when the National Easter Seal Society tours the nation with its handicapped child who is selected from candidates nominated by local societies.

Jo Ann was born with cerebral palsy and needs braces on her legs.

Her story is similar to many of the children who have represented the society in its fund-raising campaigns.

The 1971 campaign raised an estimated $46.4 million. The society is hoping to raise $50 million in 1972, despite the lag in the economy.

During the campaign, the Easter Seal Child meets the President, appears on television programs and competes with platform dignitaries to get the message for aid to the handicapped across to the contributors.

The society contacted several former Easter Child representatives and discovered that the handicapped have a zest for conquering their physical problems and enjoying life.

For example, Russell G. Miller, 28, of Marysville, Ohio, was the society's child in 1950. Russell was 6 months old when his mother first realized that he lacked muscular control and coordination.

At age 2½, he entered the newly-opened Franklin County (Ohio) Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center in Columbus.

As a teen-ager, Miller had two operations to replace his kneecaps, which had slipped out of their sockets. The surgery lengthened his leg tendons, permitting him to straighten his legs.

When he left high school, Russell worked on his parent's farm and helped his father, who taught him to drive a tractor. Miller also learned to operate other farm machinery.

Russell landed his first job at 18; he sanded and buffed telephone instruments at home so they could be painted. He also taught others how to do the job.

His father died in 1968, leaving Russell and his mother to manage the 16-acre farm.

He now has a job as night watchman for the Franklin County Water Department in Columbus. He drives the 75-mile roundtrip to his job daily.

As the 1950 Easter Seal Child, Russell had a favorite motto which he has expressed to thousands of other handicapped children: "Keep trying!"

Miller said he still is doing just that.

John D. Kemp, 22, born a quadruple amputee, was the society's child in 1960.

He now is a law student at Washburn University, Topeka, Kan. He is a member of the Easter Seal Society's board of directors and chairman of its National Youth Action Committee.

Five Perish In Fire

HENDERSON, N.C. (AP) — Five persons perished Friday night in a fire which swept a frame home in the nearby community of Greystone.

The victims were identified by authorities as Charles Hargrove, about 40, and his four children, Mary Elizabeth and Delores Hargrove, in their early teens; Frieda Marie Hargrove, 7, and Samuel Hargrove, an infant.

Earlier reports, which proved false, had identified the victims as James Wimbush, who rented the house, and two teen-aged and two very young children.

The Hargroves, natives of nearby Epsom, were visiting the Wimbush home at the time of the blaze, authorities said. Mrs. Hargrove and Mr. and Mrs. Wimbush were visiting elsewhere.

The County Sheriff's Department quoted a witness as saying he saw a car leave the area at high speed just before the fire broke out.

The house in Greystone community was three miles northeast of Henderson in northeastern North Carolina near the Virginia line.

Mother Returns Good Deed

DALLAS (AP) — More than 38 years after she gave birth to a baby girl in the charity ward of Parkland Hospital, Mrs. Orlenia Slike of Sylmar, Calif., sent the hospital a check for $100 to be used for "some other unfortunate young woman."

Officials said her letter gave the baby's birthday as Nov. 4, 1933.

"I received very fine care and now my daughter is a wonderful woman with two children of her own," the recent letter read. The writer added: "My name was then Mrs. Orlenia Whitehead."

Show Is Success

MUNICH (AP) — At a U.S. Department of Commerce trade show, 112 American companies learned about the potential for electronic data processing (EDP) equipment in European markets. They sold $1.2 million worth of equipment off the floor.

The show, Systems 71, was staged at the Munich Fair Grounds.

New Ideas On Education, Work

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain Kennedy

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

Should society continue to operate in sequence . . . 1-2-3? First a period of one's life for education. Then a period of work. Then a period for retirement? Manpower planners and educators aren't so sure any more, as new ideas about learning and earning are being discussed.

"THE TIME TRAP" concept of living is how former Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz, now president of the Manpower Institute, recently described the fallacies of the traditional life time divisions to a group of college educators. The time trap doesn't work too well for everybody any more. Too many problems in recent years give us reason to rethink the whole study-work-retirement cycle. Some of them: rapid technological change, obsolete jobs, massive industry layoffs, campus unrest, occupational surpluses which weren't supposed to happen, distressingly high unemployment rates among young and minority workers, and poverty for too many retirees.

INNOVATIVE APPROACHES now being offered by various thinkers recognize that education and work are inseparably intertwined and not necessarily time spans apart. (What you do for a living decides your entire mode of life — friends, money, leisure time, status.)

The main philosophical change proposed is that there should be pathways to re-enter the education/work link-up throughout one's lifetime, and that re-entry options should be made available to more people on a practical basis.

SPECIFIC IDEAS to accomplish this include such things as external degree programs, and giving college credit for appropriate work experience (not all learning happens in schoolrooms). One approach is termed "stop-out" which means that a student leaves college for a year or so to get service or work experience, or to reassess his direction. For the mid-aged person who wants to recharge for a new career, the option may be called "career renewal," and may imply some sort of financial aid which would make it possible.

In addition to endorsing the "stop-out" idea, the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education made a number of other comments in a special report last year, including this one:

"SOCIETY WOULD GAIN if work and study were mixed throughout a lifetime, thus reducing the sense of sharply compartmentalized roles of isolated students v. workers, and of youth v. isolated age."

Speaking to educators, Herbert Striner, dean of continuing education at The American University, offered these thoughts:

"We have begun to understand that you can't educate an individual once in his lifetime for all the technological changes and for various careers throughout his lifetime . . . We should begin to urge our governmental agencies to consider what we learned under the GI Bill and not only provide free education, but education with a subsidy which makes it realistic for the adults who wish to re-enter the educational system.

"IN GERMANY, they use their unemployment insurance fund. The same thing we have. The interesting difference however is that the Germans think it's terribly logical to use their unemployment insurance benefit to prevent unemployment, while we'd rather keep reserves and use the unemployment insurance fund to pay people after they become unemployed."

Too many people dampen chances for success by hoping employers can determine the niche they're best suited for. By becoming familiar with the vast cavalcade of careers available, you gain a competitive edge. Send career topic suggestions to Joyce Lain Kennedy at this newspaper. The most popular and interesting will be used in print, but the volume makes personal replies impossible.

Scientist Gets $60,000 Grant

HOUSTON (AP) — A Russian-born scientist has been awarded a $60,000 grant to study how unborn babies are affected by lack of oxygen.

Dr. Donald Rappoport, head of the Division of Molecular Biology at the University of Texas medical branch in Galveston, received the award from the United Cerebral Palsy Research and Education Foundation.

Oxygen deprivation in unborn and newborn infants is a leading cause of cerebral palsy, a disorder that now affects at least 750,000 persons in the United States.

Tasteless comment on a wedding day

By Abigail Van Buren

(c 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter, Gloria, was recently married at a lovely church wedding. A reception at our club followed immediately after the ceremony.

The mother of a young man named Bill, with whom Gloria had been quite serious, came thru the receiving line. She greeted me with a warm smile and firm handshake, and said: "We certainly wish Gloria every happiness, but if things don't work out, maybe one day our Billy will have a chance on her second time around!"

Abby, what do you think of a person who would make such a tasteless remark at our daughter's wedding?

APPALLED

DEAR APPALLED: Not much. But she obviously said exactly what she was thinking. [She may also have hit the punch bowl first.]

DEAR ABBY: Larry [not his real name] and I have been married for three years. I am 28 and this is my first marriage. Larry is 39, and he was married once before and has two children whom he adores. [They live with his ex-wife.]

I wanted a child from the start, but we were unsuccessful. Now several doctors have told me that I will never become pregnant!

I want to adopt, but Larry is just lukewarm on the idea. I'll be honest with you, Abby, one of the reasons I want a child is to hold our marriage together. Larry spends as much time as he possibly can with his own children, which makes me very jealous and resentful. I know it's wrong to feel this way, but I can't help it. I feel that if he has that much time and love to give to children, why can't they be OURS?

I don't have to work outside the home, and I know I would make a very good mother. What do you think?

WANTS A CHILD

DEAR WANTS: Of all the reasons for wanting a child, "holding a marriage together" is the worst. It would only compound your problems, if yours is a troubled marriage. And it's unfair to the child. Before considering a family, you need to resolve your feelings of resentment and jealousy. It's to Larry's credit that he's a good father.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 17 years, have two wonderful teen-agers and a darling 6-year-old. When I found out that my husband was having an affair with his secretary, I nearly had a nervous breakdown.

He admitted everything, begged for forgiveness, said he still loves me, and wants to keep our family together. He also said she didn't mean a thing to him.

The secretary no longer works for my husband. In fact, she is married now.

My husband told me he couldn't go on if I divorced him, but I don't think I can ever really forgive and forget. Also, I want to do what's best for the children. What do you advise?

CRUSHED

DEAR CRUSHED: Try a little positive thinking. Think in terms of forgiving, and you will. And one way of forgetting is to never mention it again.

DEAR ABBY: The letter about the hostess who did not want to give out her recipes reminded me of this incident, which happens to be true.

A woman I'll call Mrs. Jones served her women's luncheon club a delicious casserole. A guest whom I'll call Mrs. Smith had to have the recipe, so Mrs. Jones graciously gave it to her.

The next day Mrs. Smith decided to surprise her husband with that casserole for dinner. She put the recipe in front of her and said, "It calls for leftover lamb, but I don't have any, but the leftover pork chops will do. Oh, dear, I'm out of mustard, but I'll use ketchup instead.

"It calls for chives, but I'll use that old clove of garlic I have in the fridge instead.

"And as long as I have turnips, I'll substitute them for carrots." [I think you get the general idea.]

Needless to say, the casserole was terrible and her husband was revolted.

The next day Mrs. Smith telephoned Mrs. Jones and said, "Some friend YOU are! You didn't even give me the right recipe!"

And they haven't been on speaking terms since.

GOP Pondering Bus Referendum

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas Republican leaders may decide Monday to put a busing referendum on the GOP primary ballot, a move that could beef up the party's turnout.

The party's executive committee also may discuss Gov. Preston Smith's proposal for presidential straw votes in the Democratic and Republican primaries.

"We will consider it, but not many people I know of are too hot to trot about it," said Jim Kane, the party's executive director.

"There is some sentiment for a busing referendum. There is more interest in a busing referendum than in a presidential preference primary. A lot of people will vote in the Democratic and then turn around and vote for Nixon in the fall, so it would be misleading in that regard."

Bill Lynch, chairman of the Austin Anti-Busing League and a candidate for the local school board, said he would ask the GOP to put the busing issue on the primary ballot.

He said he also has asked State Democratic Executive Committee members from the Austin area to push for such a poll in the Democratic primary.

"A vote on this issue in Texas will be of benefit to the congressional leaders of Texas in knowing, officially, how the voters feel on this issue," Lynch said.

The committee also will elect a new national GOP committeeman to replace Peter O'Donnell of Dallas, who resigned last month.

Rep. Fred Agnich of Dallas is expected to win the post, and Kane said he knew of no other candidates.

All statewide candidates in the GOP primary have been invited to address the committee. Kane said gubernatorial candidates Henry Grover and David Reagan and U.S. Sen. John Tower will speak.

Scurry Students On Honor List

LUBBOCK—Eleven students from Snyder and one from Fluvanna qualified for the dean's honor list in the College of Education at Texas Tech University during the fall semester, according to Dean Gordon C. Lee.

To qualify for the honor list, a student must be enrolled for 12 semester hours of courses, excluding pass-fail courses, and have at least a 3.0 grade point average.

Snyder students on the list are Connie Rambin, Nancy Weyel, Gail Koening, Karan Sadler, Norma Blankenship, Richard D. Rhodes, Shelia Rose, Bonnie Blum, Patricia L. Turner, Don Taylor and Kenneth Hogan.

Making the honor list from Fluvanna is Charlotte Toombs.

Borrowers Increase Net Worth

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new government study of farmers who borrowed from the Farmers Home Administration to help pay operating expenses shows a steady increase in their net income and share of investment or net worth.

The study, published today, was based on surveys of 2,039 FHA operating loan borrowers covering a five-year span, 1966 through 1970.

A profile of the average borrowers shows him to be 44 years old, married and with a five-member household. In 1970 he borrowed $21,980 from FHA for operating expenses, compared with $16,310 in 1966.

In 1970 his cash receipts from all sources was $19,570 compared with a gross of $11,910 in 1966. Net income was up to $8,550 from $5,330 earlier.

But nearly one-third, $2,580, was from a non-farm job. In 1966 moonlighting brought in $1,980.

In 1970 the typical borrower, according to the study, owned $49,570 worth of property including: real estate $24,740; livestock $9,400; machinery and equipment $9,870; and personal property $5,560.

That compared with a total of $30,070 for all categories in 1966, which included real estate $14,910; livestock $4,970; machinery and equipment $6,310; and personal property $3,890.

Total debts in 1970 of $29,420 left the average borrower with a net worth of $20,150 compared with 1966 debts of $17,860 and a net of $12,220.

The surveys also showed a boost in quality of living for farm families involved in the FHA program. During 1966-70 nearly one-fifth of them moved from "dilapidated or deteriorating homes" to new or improved housing, the report said.

Energy Evaluation Suggested

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The chairman of a national committee for Texas independent oilmen said Saturday measures to improve the environment "need not be at the expense of energy resource development."

George Mitchell of Houston, chairman of the National Energy policy committee for the Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Association, also said:

"The energy-versus-environment clash cries out for responsible evaluation, and political considerations must not delay efforts to assure proper perspectives.

"When the lights go out, and when rationing becomes a harsh reality, as will be the case if corrective action is not taken soon, irate consumers and voters will have little patience with those who let it happen just because it was politically unpopular to talk sense."

Mitchell and Netum Sneed of Wichita Falls, chairman of TIPRO's state petroleum issues committee, are to report to the association's executive committee in El Paso next Wednesday.

The committee will meet the day before the Railroad Commission considers the statewide oil allowable for April and hears oilmen talk about the future of their industry.

Delegates To Convention Of TSTA Named

AUSTIN—Four Snyder educators will be among the official voting delegates at the 93rd annual state convention of the Texas State Teachers Association on March 16-18 in the San Antonio Convention Center.

There are 1,390 TSTA local association members who have been certified as representatives to the 1972 House of Delegates, which will meet twice at the convention to discuss and act on proposed amendments to the TSTA Constitution and other business.

The Snyder delegates are Mike Ezzell, Mrs. LaNelle Rambin, Charles Anderson and Barbara Bigham. Mrs. Bigham is a member of the TSTA state executive committee.

The official delegates are elected from 459 TSTA local associations throughout the state. With total statewide membership in TSTA at a record 146,800 this year, attendance at the convention is expected to exceed 10,000.

Featured speakers will be Glenn Olds, President of Kent State University, Kent, Ohio, and Max Lerner of Waltham, Mass., professor of American civilization and institutions at Brandeis University.

PAID FOR INFORMATION—Chief William Red Fox, 101-year-old Ogalla Sioux Indian, Friday said he paid $100 several years ago for more than 2,000 words of historical information on which is the subject of a lawsuit charging plagiarism of some portions of his best-selling book, 'The Memoirs of Chief Red Fox.' Red Fox has lived in Corpus Christi since 1932.

White House Mum On Pandas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The panda is the Greta Garbo of the animal world and the White House is about as communicative as Garbo on the subject of pandas.

After evading for weeks all questions about a pair of pandas promised President Nixon by Chinese Premier Chou En-lai, the White House announced Friday that the animals are expected in the United States about April 1.

"That's all the information we have," said a White House spokesman, refusing to say how the pandas will come or where they will go.

Pandemonium was touched off by the news that Nixon had been promised two pandas in exchange for the two North American musk oxen he presented to the Chinese.

The White House has been beseiged with pleas for the pandas from zoos across the country. But Washington's National zoo, part of the Smithsonian Institution, thinks it has the inside track.

Dr. Theodore H. Reed, the zoo's director, is to take the two musk oxen to China. He was to have left Feb. 22 but the trip was postponed when the male caught a cold. Now, the cold is cured and Dr. Reid is packed and ready to go, Mrs. Billie Hamlet, the zoo's information director said Friday.

"To put the pandas anywhere else would be to break a tradition that goes back to 1904," she said.

That year President Theodore Roosevelt, during an Abyssinian safari, hinted to his hosts that he could use a few animals for the National zoo. He collected two ostriches, a zebra, a lion and two baboons. And the zoo has been getting presidential animals ever since.

Pandas, which are found only in a remote highland area of western China, are very anti-social animals. "They don't even like to be around other pandas," said Mrs. Hamlet.

The last panda seen in the United States was Mei-lan, who died in 1953 in Chicago's Brookfield zoo. She was 14 years old and has set a longevity record for captive pandas.

Today there are only four pandas outside China, Mrs. Hamlet said. Two are in Korea, one in Moscow and one in London.

Hoover Gives Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — Use of paid informants resulted in the arrest of 5,168 fugitives and the recovery of $30 million in stolen merchandise by the FBI in 1971, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover says.

Hoover told a Senate subcommittee Friday another 1,397 persons wanted by the bureau were arrested and 1,690 more were located for questioning.

He also said informant information passed on to the states led to 7,668 arrests last year and recovery of $22 million in stolen goods and contraband.

He did not say what it cost the FBI to achieve the arrest and recovery figures he cited.

Experiments With Mice Support Virus Theory

HOUSTON (AP) — A prominent New York cancer researcher says recent experiments with mice have yielded more evidence supporting the long-held theory that viruses cause human cancer.

However, Dr. Sol Spiegelman added that the mouse injection experiments aren't likely to establish conclusive proof linking viruses with the killer disease in humans because of what he termed the "unthinkable" logical next step.

That, said Spiegelman, would involve injecting healthy humans with virus particles that possibly cause cancers.

But Spiegelman said it is "worthwhile for all of us to try to find cures for these mouse cancers because they may apply to curing malignancies in man." Spiegelman is director of the Institute of Cancer Research at the College of Physicians and Surgeons at Columbia University.

He reported a year ago that he had found evidence that human breast cancer resembled viral cancer found in mice.

On Friday, during the 25th annual Symposium on Fundamental Cancer Research here, he disclosed that a similar relationship has been found to exist between mouse growths stimulated by virus injections and humans affected with Hodgkin's disease, a cancer of the lymph gland.

Speaking at the final session of the symposium, Spiegelman reported on his group's pioneering discoveries that demonstrate similarities of genetic information between cancer-causing mouse viruses and particles found in several kinds of human cancers.

Because researchers cannot perform the "unthinkable" logical next step of injecting healthy humans with virus particles that possibly caused cancers, Dr. Spiegelman said the really conclusive proof about the long-held theory that viruses cause human cancer cannot be firmly established.

In an interview, Spiegelman talked about his first find that showed conclusive evidence indicating human breast cancer resembled that found in mice.

His research indicated that virus particles from the breast milk of women with extremely high risks for developing breast cancer contained the same unique characteristics of the virus known to cause breast cancer in mice.

So far, none of the human virus particles have been definitely isolated, he said.

Dr. Spiegelman said the viral footprints he has seen in humans with leukemia, sarcomas and lymphomas are similiar to each other and absolutely comparable to the properties of the same malignancies in mice.

"The next steps at the laboratory level are very complex and may take a long time to mean something which can be applied to humans," he said.

Meanwhile, Dr. Spiegelman said he is concerned about any erroneous implications which may have been given to humans as a result of his animal findings.

In some cases, he said, warnings have been issued about women not nursing their babies for fear of passing along breast cancer. He said as yet there is no evidence this would occur, except possibly in women with family histories of the malignancy.

"I probably would advise a close relative or friend with a history of breast cancer in her family not to nurse her children because of the possibility—and that's all it is at this point—that her children could be predisposed to cancer," he said.

Dr. Spiegelman said his group is cooperating in a new Los Angeles area study of the breast milk of 10,000 young married women with the hope of eventually applying the findings to his research.

The basic study will take 10 years. Another 20 years will be needed before offspring of the first group can be surveyed to determine if increased breast cancer may have been related in any way to breast feeding.

"In other words, what I'm saying is that the general public shouldn't be too optimistic we will find a lot of definitive causes and quick cures in a short period of time.

"Unfortunately," he said, "cancer is not an engineering problem, such as going to the moon was...and despite all of our knowledge we cannot chart an exact road to take to reach our ultimate goal of curing cancer."

Doctor Arrested In Death

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A Fort Worth physician, Dr. W. E. Raburn, has been arrested on a murder indictment in connection with the death of an 18-year-old University of Texas student believed to have been killed by an overdose of methadone.

Dr. Raburn was arrested late Friday night by Tarrant County sheriff's deputies. He was released after posting $2,500 bond.

Officers said that the dead youth, James Andrew Knox, reportedly obtained prescriptions for methadone—a drug used to treat heroin addicts—at the Carter Clinic in Lake Worth on Oct. 9, 1971.

The clinic was known until 1971 as a place where drug addicts could receive methadone. New state regulations concerning methadone forced the clinic to stop its methadone distribution last December.

An Austin municipal judge rendered a coroner's verdict of homicide in Knox's death. The coroner's report said an investigation showed that the youth was not a heroin addict.

Gary Player of South Africa has competed in the last 14 Masters golf tournaments.
