Injunction Given In Strike Signed By Judge Today

(By Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 11.—The sweeping federal court injunction against the United Mine Workers officials and members, was perfected today when Judge P. P. Schoonmaker signed the decree entered by the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal corporation. The injunction was issued by industrial leaders, one of the most sweeping in the history of labor disputes.

The injunction, a preliminary one, covered practically every complaint entered by the corporation against the union and constrained even picketing near its non-union mines.

After overruling a union motion to dismiss the bill of complaint, Judge Schoonmaker handed down the restraining order and the corporation posted a $50,000 bond to make it effective at once.

One far-reaching paragraph of the injunction restrained the defendants from obstructing, impeding, hindering and preventing or interfering with the operation of any of the plaintiff's mines or from doing any act which would result in interfering with such operation.

The corporation's suit alleged the union had violated the provisions of the Sherman and Clayton acts by hindering interstate shipments of coal.

Four Persons Are Held As Suspects In Bank Robbery

(By Associated Press)

DENVER, Oct. 11.—Four persons have been arrested by Denver police as suspects in the attempted robbery of the First National bank of Aurora, east of Denver, yesterday when seven persons were shot.

Leonard Vozmy, and Mrs. George Bergen.

Three of the seven persons who were shot after the unsuccessful attempt to rob the Aurora bank are in a serious condition.

Those who attended today's funeral of the Elwood child, Dr. P. Lattimore and Dr. B. Malone of the Lubbock Sanitarium, and Fred Standifer and Sam Duhon of the West Texas Hospital, Standifer and Mrs. Duhon accompanied their husbands.

SPECIAL TRAIN PLANNED FOR LUBBOCK HI-AMARILLO GAME

STUDENTS LAY DOWN CASH FOR SATURDAY TRIP

AM EXPECTS TOUGH BATTLE IN ITS FIRST CONFERENCE TILT

A buzz of enthusiastic gridiron sentiment was quite evident this morning in the corridors of the Lubbock high school as the students were laying down the cash for a guarantee for a special train to carry the players, band, and fans to Amarillo this week-end where the Westerners battle the Sandies in the first conference game of the season.

Nothing like 127 students and their approval of the Saturday morning, but today only a few dollars were laid down to pull the train out of Lubbock for Amarillo. However, the band and the total amount for the trip is $2,300 round-trip, which is less than one-way to the Panhandle city. Business men who have matters to attend to will find that this trip will be more convenient and less costly than by other means of transportation.

The schedule for the train will leave Lubbock about 7:30; arrive Amarillo about 10:30; leave Amarillo about 7 o'clock; arrive Lubbock about 10 o'clock.

Since this is the first conference game, the Westerners are to meet the Sandies in a meeting with the Sandies athletic council of the local high school to discuss every effort should be put forth to attain victory over the highly touted Golden Standard Westerners. The feeling that a club on the sidelines battling face-coasting them, onward is always a great assistance to any gridiron team. The Westerner band, one of the most colorful and efficient high school bands in the state, will lead the big brass bands and big-bass drums tooting the Westerners onward.

Good Spirit Shown

Yesterday evening Coaches Henry Frnka and Del Morgan struck the spirit note of the Westerners. After working with the boys for some hours the Westerner handlers told them that if they felt they were in condition to meet the slashing offensive machine of the Amarillo high school they could go in without taking a lap around the field. To the happy surprise of the handlers every one of the lads chiselled around the field many times and worked at other exercises for conditioning and finally the coaches were forced to run the boys off the field to their dressing rooms. "We found the spirit of the coming game to be one that is going to be hard for the Sandies to overcome. All of the boys are looking toward the game with a world of fight for they realize that fight and 'never-die' spirit are the only hopes for them to get over the Butler and Frnka's Coach Frnka declared this morning.

Fight Spirit Drilled

Going into the practices throughout the week as the underdogs of the first conference game for both the Amarillo and Lubbock high schools, the handlers of the local gridlers are stirring fight, fight, fight, in the hearts of their players. Harmony is stressed by Del Morgan in the work of his backfield—a stiff defense and a slashing offense is being worked on Frnka's line and by the week-end the coaches hope that they will have a club in there that will fight—even though they back heavy odds.

Changes In Rules For Participants In Southwestern Conference Brought Out Sharply By Secretary-Treasurer

(By Associated Press)

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 11.—Eligibility and scholarship attainments of Southwest Athletic Conference athletes are brought sharply to the attention of the conference by Dean E. Friley, its secretary-treasurer, who has just completed a revision of the changes in the constitution and by-laws made during the eight months preceding September 1, last. The changes were worked out by D. A. Penick, University of Texas, president of the conference, and Dean Friley under authorization extended last June.

Many Rules Altered

Many rules have been altered. One prohibits freshmen from competing with teams representing institutions which grant standard degrees. Participation in meets of the American Amateur Union and other open track meets also are prohibited for freshmen. The purpose, it is pointed out, is to exclude freshmen teams from professional or near-professional circles.

The three-year rule has been altered so that the period of eligibility of any athlete shall not cover more than four years in time. This period begins with the date of his first eligibility. In other words, it is shown, an athlete may play for three years on a team of four years and begin with his first year eligibility. The rule is intended to eliminate the possibility of an athlete after several years' absence from college returning to play on his varsity team.

Scholarship Requirements

Scholarship requirements have been changed to require that an athlete in order to participate in intercollegiate contests must have satisfied in full the entrance requirements of fifteen units. The aim of this is to make certain that every intercollegiate participant is a bona fide student in good standing.

Another rule relating to professionalism prohibits members of the A. A. U. or being responsible for them in any way in such participation.

Golf is recognized for the first time by the conference as a regular sport.

Tied games in football will count a half game for each team and the home-and-home basis for conference games has been made a regulation in the changes in that field.

No Professional Allowed

In prescribing that any man taking part as a player, official, or manager of a professional football team shall be debarred from coaching or officiating in the conference, the conference has put into words an opinion that it has held for some time.

Under training rules, it is specified that no member of the conference shall permit football practice to exceed two hours each afternoon. Basketball practice must not begin before Nov. 1 and baseball practice before Feb. 1.

Emphasis is given to the rule forbidding conference members from issuing passes in any form to players of high school and academy teams and complimentary tickets for visiting conference teams are to be issued only on request of coach or faculty representatives and are limited as follows: Baseball 10; basketball 10; track 15; and in football to the value of $75.

No Coaches on Field

Coaches are prohibited from communicating or interfering with a team after it goes on the field except through a substitute and scouting of one team by another is limited to three times during a season.

In the regulations relating to baseball, a student is ineligible if he has played on any team under the National Association or in any organization recognized by that association or if he has received money for signing a contract or for traveling expenses whether he has played or not. Ineligibility also applies to those who receive money for playing summer baseball or for playing on a summer ball team that played more than three games a week whether with or without pay.

The conference is the judge of what baseball teams are professional.

The annual compensation for undergraduate students-assistants eligible to participate in college athletics is to be left to the direction of the chairman of the athletic council of the institution concerned and the president of the conference rather than limited to $500 as was the case heretofore.

BETTY CLAIMS MISS WILLS IS BEST ON COURT

CHAMPION UNBEATABLE BRITISH PRODIGY SAYS IN LONDON

WIMBLEDON, England, Oct. 10.—Helen Wills today is absolutely unbeatable, says Miss Betty Nuthall, the British tennis prodigy, in the Sunday Pictorial.

"Miss Wills is a greater force than Miss Suzanne Lenglen ever was," she avers in her article. "What I think of Helen Wills."

Miss Nuthall says:

"A sportsman from the top of her classic head to the tips of her toes, Helen Wills, the lady lawn tennis champion of the world, has in my opinion never been appreciated as she deserves to be in this country."

"Perhaps it is because she followed so closely on the heels of Suzanne, who held the public imagination for so many years. Suzanne was always springing surprises on us. She was always, in her own amazing way, picturesque."

"Helen is, exactly the opposite—in her own way. And it is a way which I, for one, admire and desire most to simulate."

"It was a great day for me when I was privileged to play against her in America. It will be a greater day, the greatest day of my life, if ever we shake hands over the net and I have won. Yes, I know I am flying high. It is Helen's glorious game that inspires me to do so."

"I really think Miss Wills is the hardest woman in the world to beat. One of the reasons is, I am sure that she does not seem to be hard to beat when you watch her playing—somebody else. She seems so slow and deliberate, almost to an irritating extent. But that slow deliberation is not reflected in her shots when they come over. Lacking some of the deadly accuracy of Suzanne, she is the hardest hitter of all the women players and that devastating cross-court drive of hers has to be faced to be believed."

Miss Nuthall writes a hundred words about Miss Wills' "poker face," then goes on to say:

"How will she be beaten, if ever she is beaten before she retires? My own opinion is that as a match player, and particularly when she is up against it, she is a greater force than Suzanne ever was. At the moment she is, on her day, absolutely and entirely unbeatable. How is that to be overcome?"

"I hope I shall not be thought presumptuous in making the suggestion. Helen will be beaten when someone learns to take the lightning shot of hers."

"One thing is sure. If Helen does

New Record Set By British Girl In Channel Swim

(By Associated Press)

POLKESTONE, England, Oct. 11.—Gertrude Ederle's record channel swim of 14 hours and 31 minutes was bettered today by Miss Mona McLellan, London's "mystery swimmer" who landed at Polkestone at 8:50 o'clock this morning after swimming from Cape Gris-Nez in 13 hours and 10 minutes.

Miss McLellan, whose real name is Dorothy Cochrane Logan, practicing physician of Harley street, London, entered the water at Cape Gris-Nez yesterday at 7:40 p. m. She was the second woman to conquer the English channel in recent days, making only a few days after Mercedes Gietz, London typist, had succeeded in making the crossing after repeated failures.

Miss McLellan walked ashore at Polkestone beach at 8:52 o'clock this morning and collapsed. She was immediately carried back to the fishing smack which accompanied her during the swim and was taken to Hythe, where she had been in training.

Only the people accompanying Miss McLellan in the fishing smack knew she had started. The channel was calm throughout the night but very cold and a stiff northeast wind sprang up during the early hours.

PAPER OFFERS SPECIAL TRAIN FOR TECH GAME

MATADORS PLAY FIRST TIME IN AMARILLO WITH SUL ROSS

Arrangements are being made by the Avalanche-Journal publications to underwrite a special train to Amarillo for the Texas Tech-Sul Ross football game that will be played in Amarillo on October 22. The train will leave Lubbock in sufficient time to arrive several hours before the game and will leave several hours after the contest. Amarillo is making big preparations for the Texas Tech-Sul Ross game and one of the largest attendance ever given to a football game is looked forward to by the authorities of Amarillo who are basing the college affair.

First Appearance There.
This will be the first time the Matadors have ever played in Amarillo and since the winners of the scarlet and black have many recent wins located in the Panhandle, a special effort has been put forth by the train in Amarillo for the game to be played there with the Sul Ross Eleven of Alpine.

The special train to Amarillo will make the fourth special of the Avalanche-Journal publications have guaranteed. The first train was run by the Lubbock Morning Avalanche in 1925 to Abilene when the Matadors defeated the A.C. Williams of the second team. The train to Abilene in 1926 when the Matadors played the University of Texas at Austin. The train was run to Fort Worth in 1926 when the Matadors played the University of Texas at Austin. The train was run to Fort Worth in 1926 when the Matadors played the University of Texas at Austin.

Six Specials Run.
Six special trains have been run out of Lubbock to the Santa Fe railroad company since the time of the Matadors in a period of three years. Two trains have run to Abilene, two to Fort Worth, one to Brownwood and one to Canyon. E. A. Tusha, president and freight agent of the Santa Fe company, has been instrumental in working up all of the trains. He has been instrumental in charge of every train and has put forth a special effort in each

Sons Of Famous Football Father Are Carrying On

(By Associated Press)
SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 11.—Three sons of a famous football father are carrying on the tradition of the old black 'this year' at the military academy near here.

They are William Heston, Jr., son of the famous "White" who two decades ago gained distinction as all-American halfback on three successive years and was named by Walter Camp as the all-time all-American back. Standing H. Yost, Jr., whose father, "Hurry Up" Yost, is still serving the University of Michigan as director of athletics after having coached the destinies of its grid squad for 20 years, and Frank O'Neil, Jr., heir to the fame of the "Tank" O'Neil who starred on one of the greatest football eleven and then at Williams college, and finally took over the coaching work at Syracuse University.

Names mean nothing to the Matadors, however, and their fellow players are being put through their paces as any other candidates would be. Yost attended Marquette last year, making a good record in the backfield on the junior team.

Yost's Heston has gained considerable distinction in his own right, having served last season as captain of the matadors' high school of Detroit, and been named as all-state halfback of Michigan high schools for 1926.

O'Neil, distinguished by the school athletic officials as having "a good idea" of the game and splendid "kick" is not regarded as a finished star, however, was assigned to the junior squad until he has gained more experience.

Those who have failed to visit Italy in the past are assured of a saving in expenses. Hotel men have agreed to cut accommodations rates 10 per cent and to make a like reduction in the price of Italian wines and liquors served.

JOHNSON SOON GIVES UP JOB AS PRESIDENT

OFFICE PUT IN ORDER FOR DELIVERY NEAR FIRST OF MONTH

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—Evan Johnson is putting his baseball home in order. The doughty old warrior is about ready to step out as president of the American League.

He may hand over the reins to some one else November 1, but no one knows definitely when he will step from the stage to the wings. He says he will retire when he gets everything straightened up.

Tidies Up Office.
In the meantime, he has tidied up his office here. He and his clerical staff have went through an accumulation of papers that tell in stray figures and records the fighting career of Evan Johnson.

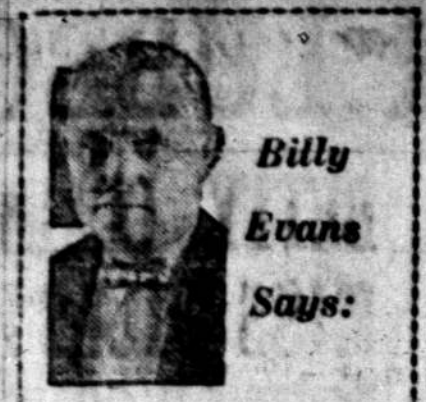

The office is about in shape for his successor, who it is freely predicted will be E. S. Farnard, president of the Cleveland American League baseball team.

Technically the American League magnates are expected to dispose of the very important business of selecting a president at the annual meeting which usually is held about December 1. But they may move swiftly and secretly before then, according to the gossiping league circles.

Decks All Cleared.
But, whenever the action is taken, the new president will find the decks cleared for him.

Barnard has been connected with organized baseball for nearly a quarter of a century. He had been a football coach, sporting editor of a newspaper and secretary of the Columbus O. builders' exchange before that.

He went to Cleveland in 1903 as secretary of the Cleveland club. In 1910 he became vice president

Billy Evans Says:

"Most of the players lack the urge to win."

That was the reply of Eddie Collins when I asked him if he noted any striking difference between the players of today and those of 20 years ago.

"There is little or no difference in the natural ability of the players, past and present, it is in the spirit."

I have often heard the "will to win" preached in all forms of competitive sports, but I must admit I liked the "urge to win" of Collins a little better, despite the fact both mean much the same.

I am inclined to agree with Collins in his deductions. Too many and in 1916 was made manager. He held that post until July, 1922, when he was made president.

Is Grid Veteran.
Earnard was graduated from Otterbein College at Westerville, O. in 1896 and 1897, he coached the Seventeenth U. S. regiment football team and in 1898 was coach at the Ohio Medical University. He was sports editor of the Columbus Dispatch from 1893 to 1902, helped organize the Columbus baseball club and later was president of the Western Association.

Barnard is a hard worker and many consider him hard-boiled, but the Cleveland players declare the opposite. When he draws a players' contract, they say, he puts in the highest figure he thinks reasonable and possible, and then stands pat.

Earnard is married and lives in Cleveland with his wife and aged mother.

players are perfectly satisfied if they get their quota of base hits, regardless of the result of the game.

Recently, after a certain club had lost 10 straight games, there was a fight in the showers in their dressing-room the strains of a popular number as rendered by the club quartet. The urge to win wasn't there.

Twenty years ago, for a player or players to start singing in the club house after 10 straight defeats would have been regarded as sufficient cause for a mutiny by the rest of the players.

"Pitcher Ted Lyons of the Chicago White Sox is the best example of the rather rare species of player who have plenty of the urge to win," continued Collins.

"What a great pitcher that boy is and how he likes to win! When he is on the rubber he pitches his heart out. He is happy only when he wins."

"Rather slight of physique, there are a number of pitchers with a better fast ball, but he makes up for any deficiency in that respect by a choice assortment of stuff. He has every style delivery possible in his pitching kit."

"Incidentally, Lyons is more than just a pitcher. A team really has five infielders when he is in the box. At the bat he is always dangerous and when he gets on the bases he is by far the best base runner in the league as far as the pitchers are concerned."

"To top off his natural ability, he has a keen mind and, best of all, the urge to win. Would there were more like Ted Lyons. Baseball would be a better game."

The fact that Lyons could win more than 20 games for the second division Chicago White Sox is the best evidence that could be offered as to his pitching prowess.

Another member of the Chicago White Sox, whose fine work has been more or less overlooked, because of the club's lowly standing, also has the urge to win of which Eddie Collins speaks. I have reference to outfielder Alex Metzler.

This spring when Chicago lost the services of Johnny Mostil for the season, it was believed the club had suffered a handicap that would prove fatal to its chances to get anywhere.

It didn't seem as if there was a player in sight who could step into the breach and deliver without the absence of Mostil being seriously felt. That is just what Metzler did. Brought back from the minors after Connie Mack had given up claim to him, he has played brilliant baseball in the field and batted over .300 all season. What more could one ask?

How nicely Metzler would now fit into Connie Mack's scheme for rebuilding his aged outfield! Had he been with a team up in the race, Metzler would have drawn many a headline in the sports sheets.

NEW ORLEANS TRADING
NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 11 (AP)—The cotton market opened easier; trading in Liverpool cables being over than due. First trades showed losses of 17 to 22 points.

As the weather may indicate a return of bullish weather in the belt and as there soon developed a disposition on the part of the shorts to cover on account of a holiday tomorrow prices soon rallied, December advancing to 26.65, a recovery of 26 points to a level three points above yesterday's close.

The market will be closed tomorrow for Columbus Day. The market rallied rather sharply later in the morning on short covering induced by the holiday tomorrow and prospects for a return to bad weather. December eventually traded up to 26.55, January 29 and March 29.75, 14 to 22 points above yesterday's close.

After these offers were absorbed the market quieted down and then eased off 7 to 14 points from the highs.

Stocks And Money

WALL STREET TRADING

NEW YORK, Oct. 11 (AP)—Stock prices moved within narrow and irregular limits at the opening of today's market. The brisk recovery towards the close yesterday stimulated pool operations in a few specialties.

This included further liquidation of old accounts and considerable southern selling; but trade buying and covering on the decline steadied the market and caused rallies of 15 or 18 points from the lowest by the end of the first hour.

The market became firmer after the early selling orders had been absorbed. Local brokers reported an increased trade demand, while there was considerable covering in preparation for the holiday tomorrow and prices were firmer December advancing to 28.75 and March to 21.00 or 14 to 17 points net higher.

Offerings appeared to increase somewhat at this level but the market was fairly steady with 5 or 6 points of the best at midday.

TEXAS AIDE OF GOMEZ DENIES DEFEAT STORY

MUST GET INFORMATION DIRECT, HE SAYS IN SAN ANTONIO

(By Associated Press)
SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 11.—General Ugarte, representative in this country of General Arnulfo Gomez, Mexican insurgent, refused to believe today that Gomez had been defeated decisively near Perote, Mexico, as reported from Mexico City.

"News from Mexico City has been incorrect since the beginning of the trouble," Ugarte said, "and I shall wait until I hear from Gomez before I am sure what really has happened."

Ugarte said he had no knowledge of the burning of a railroad bridge south of Laredo and expressed opinion that revolutionists had nothing to do with it.

Revolution Over President Says

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 11 (AP)—With the same dramatic fitness with which it started, the military revolt has been crushed, leaving the Calles government absolute master of the situation in Mexico and General Obregon the only presidential candidate in the field to succeed Calles.

Disastrously defeated in a battle in the hills of western Vera Cruz, General Arnulfo Gomez and Hector Alameda were being hunted today by the victorious federal troops.

under General Gonzalo Escobar. "It is the end," was President Calles' jubilant comment on the news of Escobar's victory, which came after a six hour battle ending in the capture of between 500 and 600 rebels, the killing of fifty and the wounding of 100.

Revolution Ended

"The revolution is absolutely ended," it was announced by General Alvarez, chief of the presidential guard.

The Gomez-Alameda column of not more than 1,000 men was the last remaining rebel force of any size in the country, the government declared. Its members today were either dead, wounded, captured or scattered over the countryside in two or three. The two leaders with bodyguards of 200 more than fifty men each, would either be quickly captured, the authorities said, or would "degenerate into mere bandits, hiding in the hills."

General Francisco Serrano, named as the other principal leader of the revolt which was allegedly based on "non-revolution" opposition to the presidential candidacy of former President Obregon, was captured and executed twenty-four hours after the mutiny of Alameda and part of the Mexico City seizure the night of October 2.

Ferocious Movement

Thus the government has disposed out within a week's time what is generally conceded to have been the most formidable movement against it since President Calles was elected to succeed Obregon. The old saying in Mexico "the revolution always wins" has proved a fallacy in this case.

The battle which brought such drastic defeat to the rebels was fought Sunday, the pursuit of the defeated rebels continuing overnight. News of the result came in a telegram from General Escobar.

After considerable maneuvering, the federal troops who had been pursuing the rebels for several days in the vicinity of Perote, western Vera Cruz, finally cornered them at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon he said and forced battle near the town of Alahuatlaco.

The fighting continued ferociously until eight o'clock in the evening, by which time the rebel column had been well scattered, with casualties estimated at 150, of whom fifty were killed. The federal casualties were placed at 52, wounded, including 6 officers.

Men Are Abandoned

General Escobar reported that when the battle had been under way two hours, Gomez and Alameda with small bodies of followers, "fled shamefully," abandoning their men.

The rebels seem to have fought bravely for Escobar's telegram said "We fought them fully six hours until we drove them away from the impenetrable hills, where in advance, they had built small fortifications."

Gomez fled in the direction of Cosautlan, 22 miles southeast of the old fortress of Perote and not far from the Puebla state line. The main body of rebels withdrew in the same direction, and between 500 and 600 men with their officers, constituting the infantry commanded by Gomez, surrendered there the next morning.

Would Prevent Escape

Meanwhile the authorities of every Mexican port and the officers of all ships in the navy have been ordered to exercise utmost vigilance to prevent Gomez and Alameda escaping from the country.

Coincidentally with news of the Vera Cruz battle, word was received in the capital that armed peasants in the state of Queretaro had "completely exterminated" a small group of rebels headed by Generals Armado Garz Linares and Donato Segura.

In explanation of the announcement that the property of known rebels would be confiscated, Attorney General Ortega has let it be known that this does not include those whose activities were merely political and in support of the Gomez and Serrano presidential campaigns. Only those engaging in armed rebellion will be affected by the confiscation order.

Felix F. Palavicini, founder and former editor of the newspaper El Universal, and Luis Eguero, chief editorial writer for Excelsior were deported last night, being placed on a train for Laredo in custody of agents from the department of Interior.

Taken to Station

Senor Palavicini was taken to the station from the military prison where he has been confined charged with implication in the revolutionary movement. Senor Eguero was taken into custody at the editorial rooms of the Excelsior. He was allowed to go to his home and pack a suit case before boarding the train.

No official statement has been made on the case by the government, but it is known that some friends of Palavicini urged President Calles to deport him in preference to other punishment. Eguero was said to have attended the government in a recent editorial, it being charged that he misquoted General Obregon and aroused animosity between the contending political parties in the presidential campaign and that his words reflected on the honor of the Mexican army.

Suppression of the Military Revolt

Suppression of the military revolt is estimated to have cost 150 rebel lives including those executed.

This is on the assumption that fifty were executed, fifty killed in the battle in which General Gomez and Alameda were defeated, and fifty in various other skirmishes throughout the republic. In the absence of accurate information the number of executions may be larger than estimated.

One Soldier Killed

Only one death among the federal forces was reported. Colonel Luis Felipe Cruz was killed last Tuesday while fighting rebels near San Juan Teotihuacan, northeast of Mexico City.

The government expended more than 10,000,000 pesos (about $5,000,000) in suppressing the movement. This cost, however, will ultimately be borne by the revolutionists themselves, as under Mexican law the property of rebels reverts to the government.

It is thought that the government will recover the entire cost of its measures to quell the rebellion and perhaps more.

A motion to make the presidential term six years instead of four as at present passed its first reading in the senate last night. If finally adopted, it will require ratification by the majority of the state legis-

Eddy Bank Robber Eludes Big Dragnet

WACO, Oct. 11 (AP)—While officers had spread a net over several central Texas counties, no headway had been made today in the search for the bandit who held up the First National bank at Eddy Monday noon, getting $1,501.

It will then become effective for the next presidential term, for which General Obregon will apparently be elected, there being no other candidates in the field with the elimination of Gomez and Serrano.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

Woman's gloves and handkerchiefs found at the scene of the murder. Upstairs, in his bed room, are Alvin Benson's false teeth and a policeman reports having seen a big gray automobile outside Benson's house at midnight. Mrs. Benson had had any number of visitors the evening of the crime, says he had not.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY

CHAPTER IX

Platz it was learned, had been born in a small Pennsylvania town, of German parents both of whom were dead, and had been a doctor before coming to Benson, she had lived with one family for 12 years, had left the position only because her mistress had given up housekeeping and moved into a flat. Her former employer, when mentioned, said she thought there had been a fight, but had never seen the child, and knew nothing of it. In these facts there was nothing to take hold of, and Markham had merely filed the report as a matter of form.

Heath had investigated a citywide search for the gray Cadillac, although he had little faith in its discovery. Those grilles, by the way, were rather attractive—Florentine design. Markham was both amused and ruffled.

"One's pretty safe with the police, Vance," he said. "They get there eventually."
 "I simply adore your trusting nature," murmured Vance. "But confide in me: what do you know regarding Benson's murderer?"
 Markham hesitated.

"This is, of course, in confidence," he said at length; "but this morning, right after you 'phoned, one of the men I had put to work on the amatory end of Benson's life, reported that he had found the woman who left her handbag and gloves at the house that night—the initials on the handkerchief gave him the clue. And he dug up some interesting facts about her. As I suspected, she was Benson's dinner companion that evening. She's an actress—musical comedy, I believe, Muriel St. Clair by name."
 "Most unfortunate," breathed Vance. "I was hoping, you know, your myrmidons wouldn't discover the lady. I haven't the pleasure of her acquaintance, or I'd send her a note of commiseration. . . . Now, I presume, you'll play the jugs d' instruction and chivy her most horribly, what?"
 "I shall certainly question her, if that's what you mean."

"Vance, who had lived many years in England, frequently said 'ain't'—a contraction which is regarded there more leniently than in this country. He also pronounced 'stomach' as if it were spelled 'et'; and I can not remember his ever using the word 'stomach' or 'bug,' both of which come under the social ban in England."

the district attorney's office, and I heard him make an appointment with Markham for lunch at the Sturdevant club.
 "What about that Nadelmann statuette at Stieglitz's," I asked, remembering the reason for my presence at Vance's that morning.
 "I ain't in the mood for Greek simplifications today," he answered, turning again to his newspapers.
 To say that I was surprised at his attitude is to express it mildly. In all my association with him I had never known him to forego his other diversion: and heretofore anything pertaining to the law and its operations had failed to interest him.

I realized, therefore, that something of an unusual nature was at work in his brain, and I refrained from further comment.
 Markham was a little late for the appointment at the club, and Vance and I were already at our favorite corner table when he arrived.
 "Well, my good Lycurgus," Vance greeted him, "aside from the fact that several new and significant clues have been unearthed and that the public may expect important developments in the very near future, and all that sort of tosh, how are things really going?"
 Markham smiled.
 "I see you have been reading the newspapers. What do you think of the accounts?"
 "Typical, no doubt," replied Vance. "They carefully and painstakingly omit nothing but the essentials."
 "Indeed?" Markham's tone was jocular. "And what, may I ask, do you regard as the essentials of the case?"

"In my foolish amateur way," said Vance, "I looked upon dear Alvin's toupee as a rather conspicuous essential; don't you know?"
 "Benson, at any rate, regarded it in that light, I imagine. . . . Anything else?"
 "Well, there was the collar and tie on the chiffonier."
 "And," added Markham chaffingly, "don't overlook the false teeth in the tumble."
 "You're positively correct!" Vance exclaimed. "Yes, they, too, were an essential of the situation. And I'll warrant the incomparable Heath didn't even notice them. But the other Aristotles present were equally sketchy in their observations."

"You weren't particularly impressed by the investigation yesterday, I take it," said Markham.
 "On the contrary," Vance assured him. "I was impressed to the point of stupefaction. The whole proceeding constituted a masterpiece of absurdity. Everything relevant was sublimely ignored. There were at least a dozen points of departure, all leading in the same direction, but not one of them apparently was even noticed by the officiating purpuriferous. Everybody was too busy at such silly occupations as looking for cigars, ends and in-quests, the iron work at the windows—Those grilles, by the way, were rather attractive—Florentine design."
 Markham was both amused and ruffled.

"One's pretty safe with the police, Vance," he said. "They get there eventually."
 "I simply adore your trusting nature," murmured Vance. "But confide in me: what do you know regarding Benson's murderer?"
 Markham hesitated.

THE PLAINSMAN

Now that the world series and the latest Mexican revolt are matters of history all we have to look forward to now is the next six-day bicycle race.

It's mighty easy to overdo a good thing. For instance, nearly 100,000 have been added to the state population of the United States which has not been through last year.

State Highway Commissioner Cone Johnson comes out with the accusation that his co-workers, W. R. Ely and R. S. Sterling, have been practicing favoritism in the voting of state aid on various county projects.

State Highway Commissioner Cone Johnson comes out with the accusation that his co-workers, W. R. Ely and R. S. Sterling, have been practicing favoritism in the voting of state aid on various county projects.

Judging from the widespread publicity given Mr. Johnson's charge against his co-workers, Texas newspaper men need a few lessons in what is "news". It has always been the Plainman's idea that news is facts which are either unusual or brought to light for the first time.

The Man on Avenue Q says that very often the woman who is the most efficient in her club is equally efficient with the can-opener at home.

Up in New Jersey Mrs. Margaret Lillendahl and her reputed "admirer", Willie Beach, are to be tried jointly for the murder of the woman's husband, Dr. William Lillendahl, who was found dead in his automobile on September 15.

Footprints In Forbidden Pastures Show That Senator Shipstead Still Roams Alone, Rodney Dutcher Writes

A New Yorker in Paris

PARIS, Oct. 11.—On the avenue de l'Opera, just a few steps from the American Express office, I found a man who has tapped the psychology of those thousands of American tourists who want to "impress the folks at home".

And this shrewd gentleman helps them in this ambition, and at the same time fattens his purse, by peddling stickers of all the fashionable hotels in Europe.

For a few francs you can have pasted on your luggage the sticker of the Excelsior at Rome, the Danelli in Venice, the Savoy in London or the Carlton House and a dozen others.

For what corresponds to a few American dollars you can appear to have stopped at something like a thousand dollars worth of swell hotels.

Meanwhile the street vendor has the stickers copied and struck off the press, like bootleggers fake him but a few cents and he can sell them at a profit.

AND if you would be reminded of "home, sweet home" there's the New York newspaper who cries his papers on the Rue de la Paix.

Under his arm are the Paris editions of the New York dailies. It is a particularly American note caught upon a thoroughfare in Paris.

There is, too, that other shrewd purveyor to the rich American abroad—Joseph Zelli's in the Montmartre. Zelli came from Manhattan or at least spent some time there.

He built, in a central section of it, a special box, which he refers to as "the royal box". When an American appears who betrays, by his wife's jewelry, that he has a gold-lined purse, Zelli will say:

You must come and occupy the royal box. The intention is of course, that this is a section reserved for royalty and that, by some rare good fortune, it has suddenly become available to those outside the pale.

It is at Zelli's, also, that a slice of Broadway seems to have been lifted and transplanted in Paris.

Furthermore, after the second bottle of champagne, or the third brandy and soda, these Broadway folk will decide to entertain you.

BARB'S

A Quebec senator has reached 100 years and after had a headache, Congress must be a lot different up there.

Coolidge deems a special session of Congress "unnecessary." Isn't he a gentleman, though!

Good chance for everybody to rest up when the boss takes his vacation.

Flapper Fanny

Shipstead's blast is well documented and he winds up by casting serious doubt on the commercial wisdom of our policy by presenting figures to show that the eight Latin-American republics north of Panama spent $7,000,000 less for American goods in 1926 than in 1925—a decrease of 13 per cent.

Some folks will disagree with Shipstead, but no one will disagree with the suggestion that he has not been lured into the fold with a lump of sugar and made to say nice things about the administration.

WHICH DO YOU PREFER

Did not mean to be overdrinking, but overheard two bits of conversation the past week that reflect both the optimism and pessimism.

He must have gotten up on the wrong side of the bed. There are many stragglers in Canadian news, said the man to the pessimist.

Do not believe that the pessimist thinking that a certain thing will be or will not be, has anything on earth to do with what it will be.

The pessimist speaker can get up on the street and make a round and talk to a number of folks and get them to thinking that "what if certain things should happen," and cause a slacking up of activities.

With a hopeful, happy disposition can cause folks to look on the cheerful side of life, and think that everything might not be bad at all, and they will press forward and bring things to pass that would not have happened had they sat down and murmured and figured out all of the possibilities ahead, the other line out of the question.

Peace to the slumberers! They lie on the battle-plain. With no shroud to cover them; The dew and the summer rain And all that sweep over them Peace to the slumberers!

Woe to the conqueror! Our limbs shall lie as cold as theirs. Of whom his sword bereft us. Ere we forget the deep scars Of vengeance they have left us! Woe to the conqueror!

Giant Irrigation Project Bought From Englishmen

(By Associated Press) SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 11.—The Medina dam irrigation project, one of the most valuable irrigation projects in this section of Texas has passed out of the hands of foreign capitalists and is due for intensive development after fifteen years of uncertainty.

J. E. Jarratt, local investment banker, and several associates have purchased the properties, which include the dam and 49,000 acres of land, and are preparing for intensive colonization. The consideration was not named, but the properties were originally valued at more than $10,000,000.

Financed in London The dam was financed largely by London capital and a huge artificial lake was formed in Medina county about 30 miles from San Antonio. The irrigation possibilities were bright and four to five hundred development projects went into receivers hands.

Three Counties Affected An irrigation project embracing lands in Medina, Atascosa and Bexar counties covers the project. The dam owners have assumed $1,000,000 of the project and one-half million dollars worth of 30 year bonds on these lands will be issued.

Upon retirement of the bonds the irrigation district will own the dam. More than $100,000 has been received for this year by mail bag from England.

Lions, Mothered By Dog, Show Too Much Affection

(By Associated Press)
OAKLAND, Calif., Oct. 11.—When Simba and Princess, lion cubs, were born at the Oakland municipal zoo 11 months ago, their own mother evaded her maternal responsibilities as lionesses in captivity and went to do.

A prize Irish setter, Red Comet O'Shaghstone, the property of Mrs. Nancy Lee Nanetti, came to the rescue of the abandoned cubs and cared for them, continuing also to mother 14 little ones of her own.

Both puppies and lions grew and "Mother" O'Shaghstone showed no favoritism. But when Simba got to be about 200 pounds big, his ponderous methods of showing affection for his foster mother by hugging her with his husky paws became too much for her, and it was feared the cub would crush the dog.

So the lion cubs were taken away from the mothering dog and at once they began to mope and pine away and roar dolefully. Princess became weak, and Simba ugly.

Finally Mrs. Nanetti was asked to bring back the setter which had mothered the animals and when they saw the dog they roared their rejoicing. Now the lions, back in the care of the mother which adopted them, are healthy and happy again, but Simba is more boisterously affectionate toward Red Comet O'Shaghstone than ever, and she is becoming afraid of his playful caresses.

Mayor Davies, the zoo officials and Mrs. Nanetti are seeking a King Solomon who can find a way to protect the dog and to keep the lions happy too.

Chrysler Talks Of Standards In Session In Paris

PARIS, Oct. 11.—Walter P. Chrysler, president and chairman of the board of the directors of the Chrysler corporation, here for the international automobile salon at the Grand Palais, addressed distributors and dealers from the continental countries, the Near East and northern Africa, at a meeting held here today at the Hotel Claridge.

"In building Chrysler automobiles our factory personnel introduced a new standard of operating efficiency which is manifest in the finer appearance, better riding qualities, extreme smoothness and flexibility of performance and longer life all of which summed up accounts for the reputation which our cars enjoy," said Mr. Chrysler.

"This finer design demands manufacturing standards of a quality previously unknown in the industry and the flexible maintenance of those standards."

"Metallurgists were obliged to develop for Chrysler cars new and better steel alloys to pass the tests of our engineers. Specially constructed testing apparatus had to be devised to gauge to our engineering requirements of such standards. Special machinery and tools had to be built to our engineers' standards of precision. Ordinary factory workers had to be specially retrained to our limits of unvarying accuracy."

From Paris Mr. Chrysler, accompanied by J. E. SCIENCE HOLDS BIBLE TRUTHS TEACHER SAYS

THOUGHTS CONFORM TO OUTLINED PLAN OF OPERATION, HELD

(By Associated Press) DES MOINES, Ia., Oct. 11.—Many passages of the Bible contain thoughts that conform exactly to modern scientific truths, declares Dr. E. O. Kaserman, new head of the biology department at Des Moines University.

Des Moines University now is owned by the Baptist Bible Union, a strictly fundamentalist organization. Dr. Kaserman describes himself as a non-evolutionist rather than an anti-evolutionist. He takes the attitude that evolution has not been proved, rather than it does not exist.

Completing Volume He is completing a volume on "The Biology of the Bible," and says he has found the Bible consistent with the latest developments in the science of biology.

From the first chapter of Genesis, he said, the Bible accurately depicts the natural and physical world as well as the spiritual life. "In the fourth chapter of Ezekiel," he continued, "a maintenance ration is described. It is entirely accurate from the point of view of modern dietetics."

"Many of the Proverbs would do credit to a first class physiology professor today. Scattered through the book are references to plant life that are scientifically correct. In Exodus are found directions for the sanitation of the camp of the Israelites that would be up-to-date if phrased differently.

References Exact "Naturally the references are not made in our everyday language, but according to modern concepts, they are exact and without error."

In a philosophy holding that what cannot be seen does not exist, the average man, Dr. Kaserman declares, has gone from supernaturalism, the belief in a higher being, to naturalism, the acceptance of only the tangible, without realizing that the human being is more than animal.

The prevalent misunderstanding arises when people confuse biology with evolution, which has to do only with origins," he said. "Evolution is not a biological, but a philosophical and speculative problem. Biology gives its attention only to what can be found in the laboratory."

Accepts Creation Story "I swallow Genesis and the story of the creation whole. The crassest modernist plunges into supernaturalism if he traces life back that far."

"Life and its origin are not problems for the laboratory. A mathematical value cannot be put on life any more than distance can be computed with a quart measure."

Lively Fight For Headquarters Of Chamber Expected

(Special To The Avalanche) SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 11.—A lively fight is anticipated, when the South Texas Chamber of Commerce holds its annual convention in Brownsville next month and selects a permanent headquarters.

When the body was organized last year temporary headquarters were established in San Antonio with the understanding that permanent headquarters would be selected at the first convention.

Eight cities have made formal application for the headquarters already and a number of other towns are expected to get in the race. Those which have applied to date are: Corpus Christi, Flotation, Robertson, Beeville, Sugarland, Pearland, Victoria and Cuero.

One of the most interesting features of the convention, which opens November 13, will be a concert given by a massed band of South Texas. The bands will attend the convention to take part in a band contest sponsored by the South Texas Chamber of Commerce.

TEACHER RAPS STUDENTS' USE IN PROPAGANDA

ATTEMPTS TO CONGEAL 'STUDENT OPINION' HELD BAD FORM

BY DAVID KINLEY (President, University of Illinois) URBANA, Ill., Oct. 11 (AP)—In recent years there has been a notable increase in the attempts by religious, educational, political and other kinds of organizations to use college and university students for purposes of propaganda.

A tendency to mold what is called "student opinion" as a weapon to influence political action, national and international, on the plea that university students should be interested in matters of public policy is especially apparent. Conferences have been called by individuals "representatives" of students and institutions have attended and resolutions have been drawn up to be presented to Congress or the President or to some other public authority.

"I have refused to participate in any of these conferences," I believe that if students wish to participate they are free to do so; that if they wish my help I will give it; but that I have no right to send one or two students, picked by myself, to any conference and say that they represent the 12,000 men and women of the University of Illinois.

They do not represent them in any true sense, because they were not selected by them. These conferences called mainly to aid movements for or against some particular public policy are not students' business. Their interest in those matters is as citizens and not as students. Such attempts to "use" college and university students seem to me highly objectionable. Numerous organizations, formed to investigate subjects of interest to the individuals concerned, are supported by money privately contributed or secured from foundations and establishments, the results of whose work, whatever may be their purposes, influence the character and direction of American education.

Recent college graduates are employed as secretaries or investigators. While their intentions are good, their work is often superfluous and their conclusions erroneous; and the only result is injury to the institutions.

For example, I recently refused to receive and give official recognition to a representative of an organization which wanted to conduct an investigation into a certain phase of student life in coeducational institutions. I felt that the University of Illinois was fully capable of studying that subject itself and that its authorities were the people who should do so, since they carried the responsibility.

However, I wrote that the campus was free to anybody, and anyone who wished to come and ask questions would not be turned away. Later on I was told the young investigator appeared but complained that at no institution had she received so little attention. I supposed the report will eventually show out evil conditions.

The truth is that the colleges and universities are more or less browbeaten in these matters.

Ordinance Change For Gas Probable

Likelihood of a change in the gas ordinance appears as the result of the meeting of the city commission held yesterday. Discussion, following which no action was taken, lasted far into the afternoon. Commissioners present were Mayor Pink L. Parrish, A. V. Weaver and J. H. Hankins.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

Heard a fellow say that these STOP SIGNS on Lubbock streets reminded him of a beautiful summer evening, a car ride and his girl's conversation during the ride. Now we thought that was a good one, but Will Fletcher says the first time he ever heard it he kicked two slats out of his cradle.

Well, we don't care if he did. What we wanted to tell you is that we have FRESH FISH and BALTIMORE OYSTERS arriving daily. WILL FLETCHER may be right about some of our jokes—they might be a little stale, BUT WE KNOW THAT OUR FISH AND OYSTERS ARE NOT.
