Crappie Records Fall In Annual Contest; Six Pound, One Ounce, Bass Wins

OPENING DAY HONORS WON AT DIVERSION

Ernest Coffey of Electra Takes Crappie Weighing Two Pounds, 12 Oz.

WINNERS ANNOUNCED

J. W. Ligon of Byers Lands Six Pound, One Ounce Bass for First

Ernest Coffey of Electra dipped a minnow into the waters of Diversion lake Sunday and pulled out a crappie weighing two pounds and 12 ounces to break all records for this division in The Record News and Daily Times annual opening day fishing contest. Mr. Coffey's crappie exceeded by a quarter of a pound the previous record holder, caught at Diversion lake in 1931.

Diversion Leads Winners

J. W. Ligon of Byers snagged a six-pound and one ounce bass while trolling at Diversion lake to take first honors in the bass division, incidentally giving Diversion lake the honor of turning out both first place winners. Mr. Ligon's beautiful fish was below the record of seven and three-quarters pounds set in 1931 at Lake Kemp by Jack Johnson, negro, of Goree.

Miss Minnie Rhea Sullivan of Wichita Falls and Bill Yeargin of Wichita Falls tied for second place in the bass division with two mighty scrappers each weighing five pounds and seven ounces. Both fish were taken from Diversion lake. Miss Sullivan took her prize-winning fish while trolling while Yeargin, 17-year-old son of W. H. Yeargin, captured his with a minnow. Mr. Ligon, who won the first place, caught his fish on a Heddon Zig-Wag.

A tie also was registered for fourth and fifth places in the bass division, Sam Bashara, 1000 Van Buren, and C. Daugherty of Ventura, Calif., a former Wichitan and a visitor in the camp of J. O. Pressley, each scoring a catch of five pounds, four ounces. Bashara's bass was taken on a Heddon Basser while that of Daugherty was taken on a casting bait in Little Moonshine creek, both at Lake Kemp.

Three tied for sixth, seventh and eighth prizes, two caught at Lake Kemp and the other at Diversion lake. George Harpin, 923 Lamar, received the satisfaction of having taken his prize winner on a home-made plug at Lake Kemp. W. G. Tullis of Seymour is the only fly advocate listed among the winners. He reported his fish taken on a fly in Gray creek, Lake Kemp. H. M. Pilgrim of Abilene, equalled the catches of Messrs. Harpin and Tullis at Diversion lake. Each of the three bass weighed four pounds, 12 ounces.

Just three ounces under these was the catch of J. H. Somerville, 605 Burnett, made in Indian creek, Lake Kemp, on a Rainbow Heddon Basser, for ninth place.

Dale Shappell, 2206 Avenue I, won tenth place with a bass of four pounds, eight ounces, caught off Bull Island, Lake Kemp, on a Heddon Rainbow Basser.

Live bait registered no higher than 11th in the bass division, this place being won by D. W. Thompson of Breckenridge with a four pounds, seven ounces, catch at Lake Kemp on a live minnow.

C. H. Parker, 2019 Berkeley drive, and Tom Lee, Stewart's grocery, tied for 12th and 13th, the former snaring a four-pound, four ounce bass trolling at Lake Kemp, and the latter bringing in Lake Wichita for its only winner in the bass class.

Ed H. Dyer, former Wichitan now living at Gilmer, won the 14th prize at three pounds, 14 ounces, making his catch in Brushy creek at Lake Kemp.

In the crappie division, C. W. Da-

Musical Comedy Wins Pulitzer Prize to Upset Literati

'Of Thee I Sing' Recognized; 'The Good Earth' Is Best Novel

NEW YORK, May 2. (US)—The more pompous of New York's literati were somewhat amazed today by the announcement that this year's Pulitzer prize "for the original American play which shall best represent the educational value and power of the stage" has been awarded for the first time to a musical comedy—"Of Thee I Sing."

The hilarious satire on American politics, by George S. Kaufman and Morris Ryskind, with lyrics by Ira Gershwin, was chosen by the award committee with the following explanation:

"This award may seem unusual, but the play is unusual. Not only is it coherent and well knit enough to class as a play, aside from the music, but it is a biting and true satire on American politics and the public attitude toward them.

"Its effect on the stage promises to be very considerable, because musical plays are always popular, and by injecting genuine satire and point into them, a very large public is reached.

"The play is genuine and it is felt the prize could not serve a better purpose than to recognize such work."

The prize for the best novel by an American author was awarded to "The Good Earth," by Pearl S. Buck. Of this work the committee comments:

"Preference has been given to 'The Good Earth' for its epic sweep, its distinct and moving characterization, its sustained story-interest, its simple and yet richly colored style."

The Indianapolis News was awarded the gold medal for the most disinterested and meritorious public service rendered by an American newspaper, for its successful campaign to eliminate waste in city management and to reduce the tax levy.

Walter Duranty of the New York Times was awarded the $500 prize for newspaper correspondence for his series of articles on Russia, especially the working out of the five-year-plan.

This prize also was awarded to Charles G. Ross of the St. Louis (Mo.) Post-Dispatch for his article entitled "The Country's Plight—What Can Be Done About It?"

The prize for the year's best cartoon went to John T. McCutcheon of the Chicago Tribune for his cartoon "A Wise Economist Asks a Question," Published Aug. 19, 1931.

Other awards are:

For the best book of the year upon the history of the United States, $2,000 award to "My Experience in the World War," by Gen. John J. Pershing.

The best American biography—"Theodore Roosevelt," by Henry F. Pringle.

The best volume of verse—"The Flowering Stone," by George Dillon.

New Arrests Made in Oil Theft; Grand Jury Told to 'Go Limit'

"Secret Six" Being Organized at Gladewater for Purpose Of Catching "Higher Ups;" Evidence Gathered

LONGVIEW, Texas, May 2. (AP)—A second railroad commission employe was arrested and a warrant was issued for the arrest of a second Texas & Pacific railway agent as military and civil authorities today pursued their investigation of the possible theft of several million barrels of oil from the East Texas field.

H. E. Fine, railroad commission gauger, was taken in custody at Kilgore this afternoon. L. Swift, chief supervisor for the commission, discharged him from the employ of the commission a short time later. Swift already had discharged E. M. Daniels, another of the 18 men against whom 213 charges of theft had been filed.

Five Out on Bond

A warrant was issued for the arrest of George F. Lovick, Texas & Pacific freight agent at Longview. Lovick likewise was one of the 18 men previously charged. Employes of the Longview railroad office said he was out of the city.

With the arrests today of Fine and Andy Anderson, Gladewater loading rack inspector, 14 of the defendants had been apprehended. Bond was set at $750 on each charge. Tom Tarkington, 63, was freed on bail on seven counts late today, bringing the total of men released on bond to five.

At Gladewater, where the thefts allegedly were committed, a "secret six" was being organized with the avowed purpose of "catching the higher-ups." Report was current there that one company purchased 1,000 by-pass combinations at one order in January. The oil was stolen direct from the wells through the use of by-passes around meters, military authorities said.

Evidence of Plot

Col. L. S. Davidson, military commandant of the area, said he had evidence the theft plot was devised in a Longview hotel. He named four men who he said framed the conspiracy.

Military authorities said today a check at the office of M. C. Torbert, railway agent at Gladewater, disclosed that his records had been stolen. The Texas & Pacific already had employed a successor to Torbert, who was one of the defendants.

Swift said any railroad commission employe found connected with a theft ring would be discharged immediately.

Meanwhile warrants were issued at Henderson for the arrest of five other persons indicted on oil theft charges there Saturday.

The prediction that between 25 and 40 additional arrests would re-

TAXI RATE SET AT 25 CENTS

Council Bars Dime Service Inaugurated Here

Twenty-five cents per passenger for each trip within the city limits of Wichita Falls was fixed as a minimum charge for taxi service through an ordinance amendment adopted as an emergency measure by the city council Monday night after four weeks of debate and public hearings on the matter.

The ordinance adopted by the council represents a compromise between the regulatory measure first proposed one month ago and subsequent proposals made by advocates of the 10-cent taxi service existent here during the past few weeks. The original proposed ordinance fixed a mimum of 25 cents per passenger on trips of not more than one mile and provided increasing rates up to a maximum of 75 cents per passenger.

Permanent Service Stressed

Proposed one week ago by the 10-cent taxi companies, a taxi rate of 15 cents was agreed upon, with approval of the council, for one week's trial. J. C. Hampton of the Hamp's Taxi company reported Monday night that his service had shown more profit at that figure than had been realized formerly with a 10-cent fare. Representatives of the Hollis and Williams taxi services, however, declared to the council that they had been unable to operate at 15 cents, and had returned last Thursday night to the 10-cent figure.

In its final survey of the matter, members of the council emphasized

Storms Delay Rendezvous With Lindy Kidnapers

NORFOLK, Va., May 2. (US)—Delayed by stormy weather from embarking on another voyage to meet the supposed Lindbergh baby kidnapers at an oceanic rendezvous where they hope to receive the child, Norfolk's negotiators tonight prepared the yacht Marcon for an early start tomorrow.

Meanwhile, as a force of federal agents sought to trail the Detroit Purple gang connections of six men seized here several days ago with a submachine gun, three of the men were denied bail pending arraignment tomorrow morning on a rum-running conspiracy charge.

LIFE TERM AFFIRMED

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 2. (INS)—The state supreme court today affirmed the decision of the Miller county circuit court in giving Sam Day, 19, a life prison sentence for the murder of Sheriff Walter Harris last July 28.

Three Negroes Rob Wichitans of $150

Paul Kostas, 1317 Twelfth, was hijacked of $150 at 10:15 o'clock Monday night by three negroes, two of them women, who stopped him at an alley in the 1200 block on Twelfth. He was forced to walk up the alley with the negroes while one of the women rifled his pockets, taking five $20 bills, four 10's and two 5's. The other woman was armed with a knife and the man with a pistol.

Mr. Kostas gave chase as the negroes left the scene but lost them as they ran through a yard on Austin street. His shouts for aid failed to arouse any one. Officers Fred Stengel and Frank Warfield investigated.

House Passes Goldsborough Bill To 'Reflate' Dollar to Old Value

WASHINGTON, May 2. (US)—Designed to raise commodity prices and restore prosperity, the house today passed the so-called Goldsborough "reflation" bill by a roll call vote of 289 to 59. It now goes to the senate.

Moving for speedy action, Speaker John N. Garner permitted the bill to come up under suspension of the usual rules of procedure. Debate was limited to an hour and a half upon the bill, which has been before congress in varying form for 10 years.

Congress lays down a mandate in the bill to the federal reserve board to use its broad powers to stabilise the purchasing power of the dollar and restore commodities to the average price level for the years 1921 to 1929.

The policy of the United States is declared to be that the board and secretary of the treasury shall restore the price level and maintain it through control of the volume of credit and currency.

Democrats voted almost solidly for the bill, but the Republican ranks were split with most of the old guard Republicans voting "no."

In adopting the bill, the house was believed to have embarked upon a policy of credit control likely to be far-reaching in its consequences, should the federal reserve board press to the limit the powers it has to carry it out.

COUNTY CUTS TAX LEVIES

Valuations and Rate Lower Next Year

Drastic efforts inaugurated by the county commissioners more than a year ago to reduce taxation in this county were continued Monday when the court voted to eliminate the 10-cent road and bridge fund levy and to reduce real estate valuations 10 per cent.

County officials estimated that taxpayers in Wichita county will be saved $125,000 in 1932 through the tax economies voted Monday. As a basis for computing the probable lightening of the tax burden, the estimated total property valuation in the county for 1932 was placed at $45,000,000 as compared with $53,000,000 for 1931.

A reduction of approximately $80,550 will be affected through the cut of 10 per cent in valuations. By lowering the county tax rate from 85 to 75 cents per $100 valuation, through elimination of the road and bridge fund levy, an additional $45,000 will be saved for the taxpayers.

During the ensuing year, road and bridge maintenance may be financed only by that portion of annual automobile license fees which returns to the county. In some counties, it was said, the road and bridge levy runs as high as 30 cents.

The county was still on a cash basis as of May 1, the commissioners reported.

Sen. Woodward May Run for Governor

ABILENE, Texas, May 2. (AP)—Senator Walter C. Woodward of Coleman will be a candidate for governor of Texas if Ross Sterling decides not to stand for renomination, he said here today.

Senator Woodward came here on legal business and was asked to confirm a report from Austin that his candidacy had been agreed on in a conference between himself, Senator Walter Woodull of Houston, and Governor Sterling.

"No, that is not right," he said. "Governor Sterling has never told me he would not again be a candidate, and so far as I am advised, he will.

"However, if he decides not to make the race, I will. That much is definite. If Mr. Sterling comes up for a second term, it goes without saying that I will support him actively."

'Big Four' Packers Lose Fight for Expansion

WASHINGTON, May 2. (US)—The long-drawn out fight of the "big four" packers to engage in the wholesale grocery business and other lines unrelated to meat-packing ended in their defeat today when the supreme court refused to modify the antitrust consent.

Thus was finished litigation dating back to 1920 when five packers—the Armour, Swift, Cudahy, Morris and Wilson companies—consented to a decree enjoinging them from violating the Sherman antitrust act. The consent forced them to rid themselves of stock yards and the grocery business.

Wilkerson Nomination Returned to Subcommittee

WASHINGTON, May 2. (AP)—The senate judiciary committee today referred back to the subcommittee the nomination of Judge James H. Wilkerson of Chicago for promotion to the circuit bench.

Chairman Norris announced the action was taken to permit further hearing of Donald R. Richberg, attorney for the railway labor executives association, which is one of the leading groups fighting the nomination of the Chicago jurist, who sentenced Al Capone to prison.

Auto Finance Companies Lose Forfeiture Cases

WASHINGTON, May 2. (UP)—Rum running automobiles may be forfeited under either the prohibition or customs laws, the supreme court ruled today in a series of test cases brought by two automobile finance companies.

The decision was Justice Cardoza's first majority opinion.

CALIFORNIA TO SELECT DEMO CHOICE TODAY

Three Outstanding Leaders Of Party in Race For State's Votes

OUTCOME IMPORTANT

Party's Strength Shows Huge Gain in Past Four Years

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2. (AP)—With the eyes of the nation focused on the outcome, California Democrats vote their preference tomorrow for a presidential candidate in a three-way factional fight that has eclipsed the uncontested Republican delegation pledged to President Hoover.

Unusual interest attends the primary because it brings the outstanding Democratic presidential candidates, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Alfred E. Smith and John N. Garner, into a clear cut contest for the first time. Another factor is the record Democratic registration in President Hoover's home state, which goaded Republican leaders to an active campaign for a heavy "confidence" vote.

Much at Stake

Roosevelt leaders seeking the state's 44 votes in the national convention declared victory would definitely put their candidate in front for the Democratic nomination and regain whatever prestige may have been lost because of the results in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania last week. A Smith victory would "double chock" the Roosevelt "band wagon" for the former New York governor said last week he had put a "chock" under it in Massachusetts. Success for Garner, entered in his first major contest, would lift him from the ranks of favorite sons.

Democratic wrangling has shadowed interest in the individual delegates themselves. How the party has split is shown by the lineup of leaders.

Leaders Line Up

In the Roosevelt camp are Isadore B. Dockweiler, national committeeman, and Justus S. Wardell, chairman of the state executive committee, who heads the delegation.

Backing Speaker Garner are Mrs. Charles L. Donohue, national committeewoman; Dr. Z. T. Malaby, state chairman; Henry H. McPike, former state chairman; William G. McAdoo and William Randolph Hearst. McAdoo heads the delegation.

P. M. Abbott, executive secretary of the Al Smith Presidential league of California, and lesser known Democrats form the Smith organization, with Abbott heading the delegation.

Dry Law Not Issue

While discussed by some speakers, prohibition has not been made an out-and-out issue in the Democratic campaign. All three candidates have been acclaimed as wet, although Garner is being actively supported by a dry, Mr. McAdoo.

Coming to California to campaign for his father, James D. Roosevelt and Los Angeles, appearing at the

Coal Operators Object To Federal Regulations

WASHINGTON, May 2. (UP)—Western coal operators today told the senate mines and mining committee that regulation of the bituminous coal industry would increase rather than decrease the problems confronting it.

Grant Stauffer, representing the Hume-Sinclair Coal company, operating in Kansas, Oklahoma and Arkansas, and F. O. Sandstrom, of the Colorado and New Mexico Coal Operators association, supported objections of the eastern mine owners on the ground that federal control would mean more taxes and lead to inefficiency.

Tears Come To Eyes Of Al Capone When Final Appeal Fails

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN

CHICAGO, May 2. (UP)—The United States supreme court today ended Al Capone's 10-year reign as America's king of crime with a decision which brought tears of self-pity to the eyes of the paunchy "Scarface."

In denying a petition for rehearing of his income tax fraud conviction, the high court set in motion machinery which will send Capone to Leavenworth penitentiary Wednesday or Thursday to start serving an 11-year sentence.

"Dirty Shame"

"It's a dirty shame," shouted Capone in his cell at the Cook county jail when his attorney brought him the news. "I'm the goat of all this clamor about law enforcement. They looked for bad and thought they found it. They didn't look for the good. I wasn't given a chance. I've stopped more crime waves than the police. Why—"

Capone continued in the same vein, until finally he became so overcome with his own oratory that he held his head in his hands and almost sobbed. The toughest gangster in Chicago's history, suspect in scores of murders and head of a once multi-million dollar liquor, gambling and vice syndicate, buried his nose in a handkerchief. He gulped and sniffled, demonstrating for perhaps the last time in Chicago why intimates call him "Snorky."

Tried to Bargain

He brought up his famous trial of last autumn before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, mentioned his abortive attempt to escape imprisonment recently with the plea that he might be able to find the Lindbergh baby.

"I agreed to take two and a half years when I went to trial," he said, in commening upon Judge Wilkerson's statement that "You cannot bargain with a federal court." Capone's claim of a bargain with Prosecutor George E. Q. Johnson figured in a recent senate hearing upon Judge Wilkerson's nomination to a circuit court judgeship.

As for his announcement that he could find the Lindbergh baby if he were freed, a statement which even heaped upon him the scorn of former friends, Capone was bitter. He cursed federal agents who investigated and found preposterous his claim that he could locate the child.

Escape Attempt Rumored

Marshall H. C. W. Laubenheimer said that he would take Capone to prison immediately upon receipt of the supreme court mandate. An unusually heavy guard will accompany Capone to frustrate any possible escape attempts, rumors of which have been current in the county jail.

Capone will serve a 10-year sentence in Leavenworth and then another one-year sentence in jail here. If he behaves himself, time off for good behavior will cut his stay behind bars to seven and one-half years.

He was convicted of defrauding the government of $182,000 in income taxes. District Attorney Johnson brought the charges against him only after state and city officials admitted their inability to convict him of murder or any of the lesser crimes which made Chicago's reputation infamous for a decade.

Sun's Rays Blamed For Accident at Lubbock

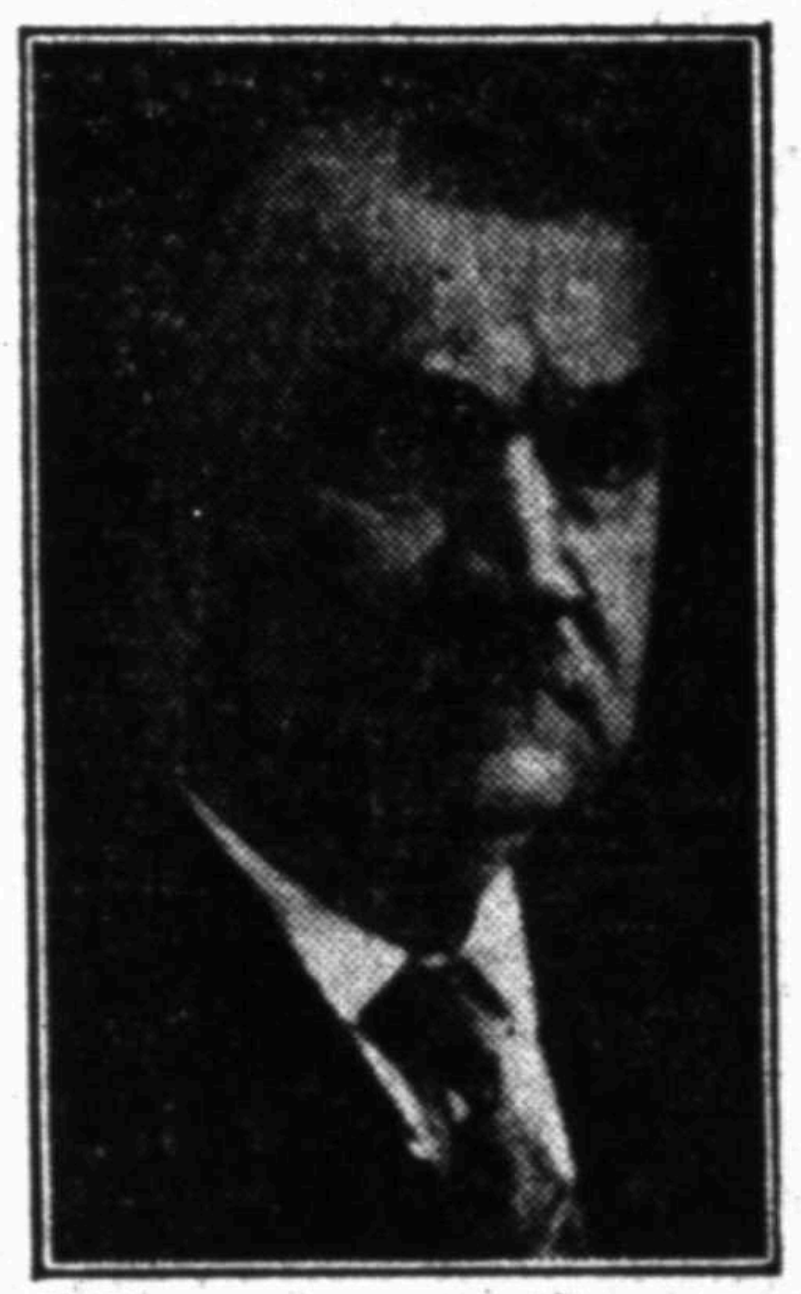
LUBBOCK, Texas, May 2. (UP)—Carl Turner, Texas Tech student, today blamed the sun's rays which blinded him temporarily as he was driving west yesterday, for running down a fellow student and killing her.

The accident happened when Mrs. Jesse McIlhaney, 20, prominent Tech student, stepped from the curb opposite the Baptist church. The young woman's body was dragged 20 feet by the machine.

Columbia Confers Degree On Original 'Alice'

NEW YORK, May 2. (US)—Mrs. Alice Hargreaves, the original of "Alice in Wonderland," received the degree of doctor of letters from Columbia university today. The ceremony took place in the library with only Mrs. Hargreaves, her son, Caryl, and officers and faculty of the university present. President Butler said in conferring the degree: "Columbia has a new and very distinguished honor in greeting the original character of one of the greatest books in the last century."

Came to Wichita 50 Years Ago



Fifty years ago yesterday a young barrister with a fresh law degree tucked in his pocket arrived in this city, surveyed business prospects in the region later to become Wichita county, decided he would locate here instead of at Vernon—and then went to work.

The young man was R. E. Huff, 25 years old, a newcomer in a new land overflowing with possibilities.

"And I think I was lucky to locate here," said Judge Huff yesterday as he sat in a box at Spudder park—for attending the ball game was his manner of celebrating the 50th anniversary of his arrival here.

Born in Virginia, Judge Huff received his law education at Cumberland university at Lebanon, Tenn., and later lived at Bell Buckle, Tenn. He moved to Wichita Falls from that city. Shortly after he had cast his lot with Wichita Falls this county was organized, the railroads made their appearance, business increased and the young lawyer was off to a good start on a career that was to culminate in Judge Huff being one of this city's most prominent and beloved citizens.

Mayor of Tombstone Dies at Age of 81

LOS ANGELES, May 2. (US)—Mayor of Tombstone during the Arizona town's most turbulent days and a noted figure in the history of the Far West, Major John P. Clum, 81, died at his home here today.

Trusted by the Indians, Clum induced the ferocious Apaches to settle on the reservation he organized for them in Arizona in 1874. He organized the first Indian police and was so successful in maintaining order that cavalry stationed at the reservation to watch the redskins were withdrawn.

Later, as publisher of the famous Tombstone Epitaph and mayor of the town, Clum supported the Earp brothers in their historical war with the Dalton gang. Clum, who made officers of the Earps in an effort to bring law and order to Tombstone, narrowly escaped assassination because of his stand.

Grid Star's Daughter Files for Reno Divorce

The Smiths eloped to Greenwich, Conn., on April 18, 1928. They have two children, Sherely, 2, and Paul, 5 months.

Smith is a son of Mrs. Charles H. Sabin by a former marriage to J. Hopkins Smith Jr.

Kelley Not to Oppose Pardons For Americans in Hawaii Slaying Case

(Copyright, 1932, Universal Service, Inc.)

HONOLULU, T. H., May 2.—The prosecution in Honolulu's celebrated Fortescue-Massie case today indicated that there will be no opposition to a pardon for the American woman and three navy men convicted of manslaughter for the killing of a native Hawaiian.

While Prosecutor John C. Kelley declined to commit himself definitely, he said he had no idea of persecution and he was well satisfied to get a verdict of guilty.

Barry Ulrich, specially associated with Kelley in the trial, declared he was willing to leave the matter of executive clemency entirely in the hands of Gov. Lawrence Judd.

Judd Silent

"Personally, I will take no active steps to oppose a pardon," said Ulrich, who is a Harvard graduate and one of the most prominent attorneys here. "We are not so much interested in the severity of punishment as in maintaining law and order."

Governor Judd has consistently refused to give any expression of opinion on the outcome of the "honor slaying" trial.

"I have been busy with legislative affairs and have not had time to study the case," he said.

The governor declared he is not in communication with Washington authorities on the matter and had no instructions from Secretary of the Interior Wilbur, whose department controls territorial affairs.

MIAMI MAN'S DEATH BLAMED TO LANCASTER

Suicide Notes Forged By Airman, Attorney For State Claims

SLAYING IS DENIED

Accused Man Was Companion of Mrs. Keith-Miller, Famed Aviatrix

MIAMI, Fla., May 2. (US)—Capt. William N. Lancaster, British aviator, late today was placed under arrest with first degree murder in the death of Haden Clark, young writer, who was believed to have committed suicide in the home of Mrs. Jesse M. Keith-Miller, Australian aviatrix, more than two weeks ago.

Vernon Hawthorne, state's attorney charged suicide notes allegedly left by Clarke were forgeries. He said Captain Lancaster admitted writing the notes but denied he murdered Clarke.

Hawthorne said Lancaster told him the notes were written after he had found Clarke near death to throw suspicion from himself and Mrs. Keith-Miller, and after he had tried to revive the young writer so the latter could sign them himself.

Lancaster, taken to the county jail here, said:

"I am absolutely innocent and I know that the outcome will prove this.

"I have been treated with the utmost fairness by State's Attorney Hawthorne, but there is a certain amount of circumstantial evidence against me. At the right and proper time an explanation will be made covering this circumstantial evidence. I voluntarily gave Mr. Hawthorne an exact account of the notes and he is in possession of all the facts.

"Mrs. Keith-Miller is a devoted friend and she, at the right and proper time, will tell the truth about the death of Haden Clarke as far as she knows."

Captain's Gun

The young writer was found in the sun porch of Mrs. Keith-Miller's winter home here. Beside him was a revolver belonging to Captain Lancaster.

Hawthorne asserted that he had consulted J. B. Hearing, noted expert on forgeries before placing the murder charges against Lancaster.

At the time of Clarke's death, both Mrs. Keith-Miller and Captain Lancaster, reported to be her fiance, were arrested and held in jail for several days. Mrs. Keith-Miller was absolved of all blame a day later but Lancaster was held another day while federal authorities investigated charges of smuggling against him. These were found to be untrue.

Visited Mother

Mrs. Clyde Clarke, mother of the young writer, had insisted that her son had no motive for committing suicide. When released from jail two weeks ago both Mrs. Keith-Miller and Lancaster visited the mother to assure her they had no connection with her son's death.

In placing the charges against Lancaster, Hawthorne said:

"Those suicide notes are forgeries. We took every precaution to make certain of this before charging murder. The evidence against Lancaster at first was entirely circumstantial. I had to eliminate theories of suicide or murder by some unknown person or murder by both Lancaster and Mrs. Keith-Miller before making my decision.

Admitted Writing Notes

"I learned that J. B. Hearing, one of the world's most skilled experts in examination of fraudulent documents was at his winter home in Florida. At Winterhaven I secured his services. He reported to me that the suicide notes are both palpable forgeries. Captain Lancaster admitted he wrote the notes but denied he murdered Clarke."

Two notes were found beside Clarke. One was addressed to Mrs. Keith-Miller, who is known as "Chubbie," and read:

"The economic situation is such I can't go through with it. Comfort mother in her sorrow. You have Bill, he is the whitest man I know. Haden."

The other note, addressed to Lancaster, read:

"Bill I can't make the grade. Tell Chubbie of our talk. My advice is, never leave her again."

Writing Biography

Clark was writing a biography of the noted woman flyer's life. He is said to have become enamoured of her while doing so.

His mother, Mrs. Ida Clyde Clarke, is a professor of journalism at the University of Miami. She embraced Mrs. Keith-Miller and both wept at the funeral of Clarke.

Mrs. Keith-Miller and Captain Lancaster first came to wide public notice in 1927 when they flew together from England to Australia, a journey which took four months and was marked by many delays.

Both Noted Fliers

They came to America a couple of years ago and in 1930 Mrs. Keith-Miller established new woman's record for transcontinental flights in both directions. Later she tried to fly alone from Havana to Miami and was lost, being generally believed to have been killed. She had landed in the Bahamas.

Nine persons tied for 12th, 13th and 14th places with crappie weighing one pound and 12 ounces as follows: J. C. Kalinec, route five, Lake Wichita; Charles Hund, Wichita Falls, Lake Wichita; Louis Biskup, age 10, Charlie road, Lake Wichita; Lee Coffman, Goree, Lake Kemp; Roy Ackerman, Diversion; Robert Webb, Archer City, Diversion; D. C. Harper, Diversion; A. D. Woodward, Wichita Falls, Lake Kemp; Henry Hund, Wichita Falls, Lake Kemp.

The "conservation division," created by J. W. Lee, secretary of Wichita Falls chapter No. 100, Izaak Walton League of America, with a prize offered for the biggest carp, was won by H. A. Rathke, 1216 Grant. His carp, taken in Little Moonshine creek, Lake Kemp weighed seven pounds, 12 ounces.

Hundreds Open Season

The 1932 opening day prize list, numbering 29 awards valued at $150, was the largest ever compiled and drew unusual interest. Sporting goods stores here outfitted several parties from other states, and many visitors came from Abilene, Lubbock, Dallas, Fort Worth and points in Oklahoma. Prizes will be distributed to the winners as quickly as each angler can make his selection. The unusual number of ties in both the bass and crappie divisions will delay the awards to some extent and winners are requested to help expedite this work by answering the questionnaires sent them as speedily as possible.

The opening day this year drew the greatest attendance in the history of the lakes, but generally speaking the anglers came off second best in their annual tilt with the fish. While the crappie division produced larger fish than last year and a greater number of large fish, the number of entries was much lower than in 1931 as were the strings taken during the two days of the contest. At none of the three lakes was there reported what might be termed excellent fishing as compared with previous records. Whether this was due to a decrease in the number of fish or to weather conditions was a matter of much debate among fishermen. The bass division produced several fine fish, but was below the great 1931 opening when every prize winner weighed more than five pounds.

Seven official weighing stations were established for the event, and those in charge of the stations reported a fine type of sportsmanship among those entering fish for the valuable prizes. The Record News and Daily Times extend to the winners their congratulations on their success and to others who entered fish, the appreciation of these newspapers for interest in the contest.

Pioneer of Bowie Claimed by Death

Mrs. Mila Williams, 80, of Bowie died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fred Crame, 1719 Collins, at 8:32 o'clock Monday morning. Funeral services will be held at Bowie from the Nazarene church at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Williams, a resident of Bowie for more than 25 years, had resided in Wichita Falls six months. Survivors are three sons, six daughters, 20 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren.

Disabled war veterans and blind persons are afforded a 25 per cent fare reduction for air travel by Deutsche Lufthansa, Germany, air transport line.

Accused Slayer

Capt. William N. Lancaster, famed British aviator, Monday was formally charged at Miami with the murder of Haden Clarke, young writer. Both Captain Lancaster and Clarke were companions of Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, Australian aviatrix, at whose home Clarke met his death two weeks ago.

Council Fixes Rates for Cabs

the importance of maintaining within the city a permanent scheduled transportation service. Particular importance was ascribed to the provision of transportation for almost 500 school children who depend upon public carriers for delivery to and from school buildings. It was pointed out that buses and street cars of the Wichita Falls Traction company are now carrying public school pupils for three and a half cents each, and are concentrated on that service both morning and evening to move the entire group of students within a short period of time. Representatives of the low-priced taxi service were asked repeatedly during the four hearings to propose a plan by which such conveniences could be supplied to school children. Absence of any solution to that problem was the prime factor in determining the council's action, according to statements made in Monday night's meeting.

Penalty Provided

Advocates of the 10-cent and 15-cent taxi rates argued to the council that many working people live at such distances from bus and street car routes that transportation to and from work requires walking a considerable distance before making connection with such transportation. In consideration of that reported situation, the council adopted a resolution proposed by Alderman J. S. Bridwell inviting such taxi operators to submit to the city routes over which a scheduled service might be established. The council expressed its willingness to consider the granting of franchises to provide service for such districts.

The ordinance passed Monday night is an amendment to an ordinance passed in 1920. Maximum penalty for violation of the ordinance was set at $100 fine.

Another motion made by Mr. Bridwell, and passed by the council, provides that the city shall return to 10-cent taxi operators upon application unused portions of the annual license fees paid by them earlier in the year.

After a public hearing had produced no opposition to the budget recommended to the council on April 25 by City Manager V. R. Smitham for the ensuing fiscal year, an appropriation ordinance in accordance with that recommendation was passed unanimously by the council Monday night. The new budget provides for the tentative expenditure of $768,993.85 for all the city's expenses, including bond and interest payments, during the fiscal year ending March 31, 1933. Estimated revenue during that period will be $779,097.41. The budget was adopted by the council with the provision that additional reductions in the city's operating expenses be effected wherever and whenever possible during the coming 12 months.

Awarding of a contract to a local bank to act as city depository during the coming year was deferred for one week in order that additional bids might be received. Only one bid had been filed prior to the hour of the council's meeting Monday. All members of the council were present.

KELLEY NOT TO FIGHT PARDONS

Hawaii Governor Silent On Slaying Case

There were fresh reports today that jurors who brought in a manslaughter verdict had been threatened. Police have been assigned to their homes to prevent reprisals.

While the pardon drive was gaining momentum with the circulation of petitions to Governor Judd by citizens and members of a good government organization, Clarence Darrow and his associate, George S. Leisure of New York, visited the Pearl Harbor navy base and conferred with the defendants, Mrs. Grace Hubbard Fortescue, her son-in-law, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, U. S. N., and Albert Jones and E. J. Lord, enlisted men, aboard the old U. S. S. Alton.

Feeling Better

"They're all feeling better—it doesn't seem so bad to them now as it first appeared," said Darrow afterwards.

Mrs. Fortescue, who was the one most affected by the verdict, was cheered today by a radiogram which stated that her husband, Major Roland Fortescue, will arrive in Honolulu on May 12 aboard the steamer Mariposa from New York via San Francisco.

Darrow declared he would probably return to the mainland after seeing the major.

"While sentence is scheduled to be imposed on the defendants next Friday," Darrow explained, "there is little I can do thereafter except prosecute the appeal to the Hawaiian supreme court.

May Return Home

"It may be three months or more before the case can be heard by the upper court, so I am considering returning to my home in Chicago and coming back to Honolulu later. However, the exact date is uncertain as yet."

Darrow said today that charges the grand jury was coerced by Circuit Judge Albert Christy, son of an Ohio clergyman, in returning a second degree indictment against the defendants last January, would not be argued in his motion for a new trial, but would be incorporated in an appeal.

In the meantime, the attorney general's office was busy planning to resist the legal steps of the defense on Friday and voiced confidence that a basis for setting aside the verdict would not be found.

Maximum Compulsory

If a new trial is denied, Trial Judge Charles S. Davis will be compelled to impose a maximum penalty of not more than 10 years imprisonment at hard labor and let the prison board decide what leniency is to be granted in accordance with jury recommendations.

Several conferences were held today arranging for the retrial of four defendants in the Ala Moana assault case, whose mistrial last December on the charge of attacking Mrs. Thalia Massie precipitated the killing of Joe Kahahawai, one of the accused.

Deputy Attorney General Harold Kay announced that he expected the retrial to be under way within two weeks, Mrs. Massie will be the complaining witness.

With the undercurrent of tension constantly growing, Honolulu's breath, in a way of speaking, was held today as the next act in the celebrated "honor slaying" case was awaited.

Intense criticism of the jury of mixed blood that convicted the four Americans for the killing of Kahahawai seemed to swell into an ocean of protest.

John F. Stone, private secretary to Frank C. Atherton, president of Castle & Cooke, Ltd., a leading business firm of Hawaii, who was foreman of the jury, was the first to say there was no truth to the report that the jury had been led to bring in the manslaughter verdict because of "outside influences."

Stories Called False

"I've read all sorts of stories about the deliberations," Stone said, "but they're all false. I, for one, did not want the job on the jury and did not seek to be foreman. But I was selected to be a juror and then asked to be foreman, and I served to the best of my ability."

One of the reports had it that business interests had sent word to the jury that "only a verdict of manslaughter would satisfy the ends of justice and be acceptable to the community."

The flood of criticism from all over the United States and from various parts of the civilized world over the jury findings continued to stun Honolulu. The knowledge that asserted failure of constituted authorities to uphold American womanhood had damaged the islands, which always depend on tourist business, occasioned much worry.

Hawaii Takes Stock

Today, for the first time, Honolulu began to realize the damage that has been done, and on all sides there was a disposition to explain.

Even Prosecutor John C. Kelley professed to be "amazed at the criticism from the mainland," and insisted that "I stand for the law as opposed to those who violated it."

"We do not," he continued, "settle problems of justice in Hawaii on racial lines, and members of the jury, I am satisfied, reached their conclusions by honest convictions and a fair balancing of the law and of the evidence.

"I believe that criticism of the jury and the verdict is unfair and unjust."

WHITE PRIMARY LAW HELD VOID

Decision Gives Texas Loop Hole to Bar Negroes

WASHINGTON, May 5. (US)—The "white primary law," of Texas, was held unconstitutional in a five to four decision of the supreme court today.

The decision, which was controlled by the liberal forces, left a loop hole, however, under which the Democratic party of the South may possibly bar negroes from its primaries.

The court held that the Democratic party derives its power from state law and thus is subject to the 14th and 15th amendments.

Test Case

The decision held that the rule barring negroes from the primary was adopted by the party state executive committee under authority derived from the state. At the same time it was indicated that if the party in state convention acted without any connection with the state a different question would be presented.

The opinion was delivered by Justice Cardozo, the court's newest member. Those who joined him in the decision were Chief Justice Hughes, Justices Brandeis, Stone and Roberts. Those who dissented were Justices McReynolds, Butler, Van Devanter and Sutherland.

The case had been appealed by L. A. Nixon, El Paso, Texas, who said he was denied the right to vote in the 1928 primary.

Bridge Experts Consider New Scoring System

NEW YORK, May 2. (AP)—Leading members of the Whist club of New York and the Portland club of London today considered important changes in the scoring of contract bridge as proposed by Harold S. Vanderbilt, author of the present scoring system.

The changes are designed to meet criticism that sacrifice bids by a non-vulnerable side are not penalized heavily enough.

The club experts met primarily to work out an international code for contract.

Manager Asks Wichitans To Notify City Engineer

Citizens of the city desiring to obtain replacement of street lights which become broken or burned out should notify the city engineer's office at the Memorial auditorium, City Manager V. R. Smitham announced Monday.

No replacements of such lighting equipment will be made hereafter except by order of the city engineer, it was stated. Mr. Smitham said that notices of dead street lights given the engineer's office will receive prompt attention.

NEW AIR MAIL LINE SOUGHT

Wichita and Lawton Join In Survey

Wichitans interested in expansion of air mail facilities from this city will be asked to make a survey in the near future determining their requirements and an estimate of their probable use of a line to Oklahoma City. At a meeting of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce aviation enthusiasts with representatives of the Lawton, Okla., chamber and of other points it was decided to ask for the survey. C. E. McCutchen is chairman of the local aviation committee.

Oil operators, bankers, wholesale houses, jobbers and others interested in air mail expansion will be asked to assist in the survey.

The proposed line to Oklahoma City would make connection with an eastbound plane from Amarillo and the Pacific coast with mail for Tulsa, Kansas City and intermediate points to New York City. Mail posted in Wichita Falls up to 3 p. m. would be delivered in Chicago the following morning.

Indications of an increasing demand for the proposed service was voiced by Ray Babbitt of Lawton for the entire route. He declared Lawton alone would probably contribute approximately $400 worth of air mail per month. Other cities showing a marked interest include Chickasha and Oklahoma City and the support of the United States Chamber of Commerce has been enlisted.

SPLIT OF ATOM ONLY A START

British Discovery Bares New Information

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, May 2.—The new method of smashing atoms announced from Cambridge university is an event which in popular theory should lead to alchemy or to a single lump of coal driving a liner across the Atlantic.

Yet scientists unitedly declare these dazzling goals are not even in sight. The explanation is simple—all a matter of size.

What the scientists have done is like comparing the fall of a single drop of water with the power from Niagara falls.

Opens New Information

The real importance of the Cambridge achievement is to open new information on the laws of atomic transmutation and "energy unlocking." Their findings, as reported today, carry forward similar atom smashing results that have been under way for 10 years, first in England itself, and recently in the United States, Germany and other countries.

It might seem at a superficial glance that if scientists can cause single atoms to transmute and to yield 100 to 160 times as much energy as is put into their "unlocking" it would be only a matter of time before they could line up a whole goal lump of atoms to work in unison.

The very first obstacle to this is that at present science cannot tell which one of countless billions of atoms bombarded with high energy rays is going to jump off the atomic reservation, convert itself into some other element and yield an explosive amount of power.

Too Much Power Used

To get one atom to do that spectacular trick requires a bombardment of power expending many times the energy that finally leaps forth when just the right atom is hit.

Another and more serious obstacle to speedy consummation of transmutation and atomic power houses is the revelation of an extremely complicated mechanism in the nuclei of atoms. These nuclei supply the transmutation and the energy, and as scientists penetrate farther inside their mysteries they are finding staggering problems to solve.

One for example, repeated in today's dispatches above the British experiment, is the possibility that just about the first law of nature, conservation of energy, somehow may not work as man has believed for so long.

All the members of the Irvin Riemer family, the father, 32; his wife, 30, and their two children, Donald, 12, and Lois, 3, were killed. Irvin's brother, Joseph, 47, and his wife, 37, were the other victims.

Police Apply Itch Powder and Wield Garden Hose to Rout Nudist Parade

NELSON, B. C., May 2. (AP)—British Columbia police used itch powder and short lengths of garden hose as weapons yesterday when they encountered 200 Doukhobors on parade at Thrums, 16 miles from Nelson. Authorities arrested 117 men and women.

The Doukhobors, many of whom were nude, fought back savagely. They turned several streams of water on the officers.

The police sprang clear of the water and sprayed the powder on the exposed bodies of the men and women, finally herding them into an orchard where they were held until trucks arrived to bring them here.

The prisoners consisted of 33 women and 84 men. They will be arraigned during the week. Persons guilty of parading in the nude are liable to three years' imprisonment.

It was the second demonstration at Thrums in 24 hours. Saturday the Doukhobors, a religious sect which came to Canada from Russia, staged a parade, during which there was a disturbance. However, when police arrived all was quiet.

The Doukhobors are sometimes called "Sons of Freedom." The parade was in protest against the eviction of members of the sect from the colonies of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood. Eviction has been in progress for a week or two, the Sons of Freedom being removed to a settlement at Krestova.

Twenty Million Dollar Oil Land Suit Docketed for Trial in Archer County

Heirs of Texas Patriot Who Met Death in Alamo Lay Claim To Rich Survey; Grand Jury Meets for Term

Special to The Record News.

ARCHER CITY, Texas, May 2.—Judge I. O. Newton of the 50th district court has been assigned the May term of the 30th district court for Archer county by Judge P. A. Martin of Wichita Falls, presiding judge of the district.

Judge Newton's appointment was made necessary by the illness of Judge Allan D. Montgomery, who recently underwent an operation at Wichita Falls.

Judge Newton will open the May term here Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. Heavy civil and criminal dockets are scheduled.

A grand jury for the term and petit juries for the first, second and third weeks have been summoned to try about 50 civil cases and 10 criminal cases.

Six defendants are in jail or under bond to await the action of the grand jury on felony charges.

The most prominent civil case on the docket is one known as the "Twenty Million Dollar Oil Land Suit," brought by William Castiller et al, against Luke W. McCrory et al. The action seeks to gain for the plaintiffs, of which there are about 50, a one-sixth interest in the Andrew M. Nelson 1,476-acre survey in the northern part of Archer county, and payment of claimed interest in the millions of barrels of oil extracted from the survey, on which is located the famous Panther oil pool.

Granted in 1861

Plaintiffs are the heirs of Andrew M. Nelson, hero of the Alamo. The land tract was granted to the Texas patriot's heirs by a special act in 1861, in recognition of service of Nelson to the state. Heirs are residents of various sections of the United States, Panama Canal Zone and South America.

The tract of land involved is one of the richest in North Texas. The discovery well was brought in in 1916. In 1922 the famous Peterson well opened a new area for the tract.

Andrew M. Nelson was a native of Tennessee, and with his death with other patriots in the Alamo, left a wife, Lavenia Solomon Nelson, and a daughter, Elizabeth Nelson. The wife died in 1843, and four years later the daughter died. The plaintiffs in the case are the paternal and maternal aunts and uncles and descendents of Nelson and his family.

The action was called for trial during the February term of court, but was granted continuance until May. Judge Newton is expected to set trial date Tuesday.

Defendants number more than 100 individuals and companies.

The lessor defendants are Luke W. McCrory, as trustee for the Wilson estate, J. H. White, Mr. and Mrs. Dayton F. Glenn, National Supply company, Panhandle Refining company, Fort Ring Oil and Gas company, Phillips Petroleum company, Empire Gas and Fuel company, Continental Oil company, Petroleum Producers company, Mahlstedt Oil company, the Texas company, Humble Oil and Refining company, Carl B. Bailey, R. L. Riner, Shaw & Rathke, J. D. Thweat, C. E. Peterson, J. A. McCarty, A. T. Yarbrough, E. S. Carey, Miller Bros., B. N. Feagan, Hazel L. Miller, R. L. Crowell, F. H. Gohlke, H. A. Muse, R. R. Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Lewis, Cutler & Cutler, Stidham & Thrasher, J. W. Akin Jr., T. C. Scales Jr., E. C. De Montel, Mr. and Mrs. E. Van Deventer, and C. O. Walling.

At least 100 more defendants whose residences are unknown to plaintiffs have been cited by publication.

Some dozen amended petitions have been filed in the case. There are over 200 answers by defendants filed among the papers. There are 23 attorneys of record in the case. Most of the attorneys are from Wichita Falls although Archer City, Graham, Fort Worth, Dallas and Houston are represented.

BABY DROWNS IN TROUGH

Efforts to Revive Ralls Child in Vain

Special to The Record News.

RALLS, Texas, May 2.—Richard Lee Watson, 21-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Watson, was drowned in a small water trough at his home four miles northwest of here early today.

The child was at play in the yard near where his father was repairing a fence. The father said that the child could not have been in the water more than 5 minutes before he was discovered face down in about 8 inches of water.

The baby was rushed to a doctor at Ralls, but efforts at resuscitation were in vain.

The trough was of galvanized iron and was about four feet in diameter.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete Monday.

SALARY SLASH BATTLE LOOMS

Economy Bloc Is Coming Back to Legislature

AUSTIN, May 2. (AP)—The old legislative economy bloc that fought so vigorously, but futilely, for reduction of state salaries at the last session of the legislature will be back at the next session with more thunder.

J. C. Albritton of Yorktown, representative from DeWitt county, a leader of the agricultural and economy blocs in the 42nd legislature, said on a recent trip to the state capitol that he believed the voters were aroused and would carefully scrutinize candidates for the legislature before voting for them.

May Stump State

Albritton said a voluntary group of the "old hosses" of the legislature was planning to stump the state before primary time in the hope of stirring up sufficient interest among the electorate to insure that only men who would pledge to economize in the matter of appropriations would be nominated.

Albritton has served continuously starting with the 39th legislature and was one of the leaders in the bolt from the regular appropriation bills sent to the floor of the house by the appropriations committee. The economy bloc forced a reduction of 10 per cent in the pay of state officials.

The move to lower the wage scale, however, met defeat when the senate refused to accede to the house demands.

This refusal to meet the house in the matter of reduced salaries almost forced the adjournment of the regular session without the passage of the appropriation bills, despite the legislature's having been in session more than four months when the fight over appropriations arose.

Members Bolt

Numerous members of the economy group declined to concur in the report submitted by the house and senate free conference committees on the appropriations when they discovered the house committee had receded from its stand and had reinstated the higher salaries. Several concurred in the belief that the failure to do so would force a special session immediately following the regular session and they were unwilling to do this.

Had it been possible for them to foresee that Gov. R. S. Sterling would call a special session in a comparatively short time from the end of the regular session, it is doubtful if many of those who voted for the salary reductions would have given an affirmative vote to the free conference report.

Albritton believes the economy bloc will have sufficient strength in the next regular session to dictate the terms of the appropriation bills, the veteran legislator reporting there was more interest prevalent in candidates for the legislature than at any time in his career.

No definite program has been outlined so far by the old members of the economy bloc, Albritton said. A meeting of the group undoubtedly will be held early in the session to map out a plan of campaign, in which all members will be asked to participate. One of the chief aims will be to reduce the appropriations within the decreased revenues coming into the state treasury.

At any rate, Albritton believes the next session of the legislature will be one of the best ever convened.

CLEVELAND, May 2. (AP)—Harry K. Devereux, Cleveland millionaire sportsman and philanthropist famed for his achievements in grand circuit racing, died of heart failure today at his winter home in Thomasville, Ga. He was 72 years old.

For the last 35 years Devereux was the central figure in grand circuit racing, having been president of the Grand Circuit Racing association until failing health forced his resignation six years ago.

He formerly was secretary and president of the American Association of Trotting Horse Breeders, the world's largest body of horse breeders.

In his early twenties, Devereux turned to the light harness horse as a hobby and officiated as starting judge at many meets in Ohio, Indiana and Pennsylvania.

Later he became the owner of an extensive stable of horses which he raced strictly for sport's sake.

Ario Guy, 1:59¼, was the fastest performer Devereux ever owned and sired many fast trotters which added to Devereaux's prestige as one of the leading breeders of trotting stock.

Payment of Debts In Silver Proposed

WASHINGTON, May 2. (AP)—A joint resolution to permit payment of war debts in silver until 1936 under terms designed to restore the value of that metal was introduced today by Senator Hayden, Democrat, Arizona.

Under the resolution, debtor countries could pay each dollar of the debt with one and one-half ounces of silver if they would agree not to debase silver coins in order to get the metal.

An ounce of silver would be accepted for each dollar of debt if the countries would restore their silver coins to a fineness of nine-tenths silver.

The silver received by this country would be coined into silver dollars and deposited in the treasury as a basis for the issuance of silver certificates.

The resolution was referred to the senate banking committee.

"Christ In Orient" Topic For First Baptist W. M. S.

Mrs. Bert King was leader in the program given by members of circle four of the Woman's Missionary society at the First Baptist church Monday, which followed the morning executive board meeting. "Christ in the Orient" was the subject, and a sincere prayer by Mrs. W. L. Robertson and beautiful devotional on "Better Than Angels," by Mrs. C. R. Neal, opened the program. Mrs. Ralph Hines gave the Thanksgiving prayer closing the devotional

In discussing "East and West," Mrs. Bert King said that the east had the first claim on Christ because he lived on earth in the Orient; his language was an oriental language, his habits oriental and the Bible was an oriental book. But Mrs. King emphasized the fact that the Christ who lived in the eastern land centuries ago, satisfied every need of the western life of today and is the universal and eternal Christ.

Mrs. J. L. Jackson Jr., talked on "China Today," and said that the four million people of that country were spoken of by a missionary as "just people, not angels." Because of their poverty and because for so long they had no part in world affairs, other people are prone to regard them as lazy and stupid. This, she said, is not true, stating that they have given to the world some of the greatest inventions, including gunpowder, the mariner's compass and the printing press. She sopke of them as a patient and long suffering people who had won the admiration of the world and who had made more progress in the last 25 years than in the 2,500 years preceding. The educational system of the country was particularly praised and Mrs. Jackson spoke of the civic progress made in China. She stressed the religious problems of the country, saying the Chinese people might be divided into two classes; those who still bow down to gods of wood and stone and those who have lost faith in the old religions. Mrs. Jackson's talk was concluded with the statement that what China needs today, is the religion of Christ.

"Giving Christ to China" was the theme of Mrs. W. E. Floyd's talk; she said "American Baptist have been giving Christ to China since 1836," and stated that missionaries have gone through many changes in the country since that date and today they can behold the fruits of their faithful labor. There are 190 churches with 32,000 members; 139 schools; nine hospitals and a splendid publishing house. In 1930 a total of 1,409 baptisms were reported. Mrs. I. A. Farris followed Mrs. Floyd's talk with a prayer for the work in China.

Japanese Work

"Japan of Today" was a theme discussed by Mrs. Charles Harr who stated that the population of 70 million people of Japan is a challenge to those enlisted in the service of Christ. She gave a short story of the development of the country commercially and stated that with the opening of her doors to the world, she became a new Japan. "One missionary writes," the speaker said, "that Japan is leading the new civilization of the orient in education, manufacturing and commerce. Like China, Japan has her serious problems, many of them born of her spirit of progress. Christ alone can solve those problems."

"Giving Christ to Japan" was discussed by Mrs. W. J. Webb who said that Southern Baptist entered Japan in 1889 and since that time have had a worthy part in giving Christ to the country through 11 schools, a publishing house and more than 17 churches.

Mrs. J. T. Grant told three interesting stories of converted Japanese people and Mrs. W. E. Young dressed in Japanese costume, sang a beautiful missionary song. The last number on the program was "Oriental Voices," given by Mrs. Frank Wolf dressed in Chinese costume. The ancient and modern civilization, the riches and poverty, the weakness and strength of China's past and her great expectations for the future were emphasized by the speaker. Mrs. J. L. Jackson Jr., gave the voice of Japan which is calling as China's "Christ is yours, give him to me."

A delightful luncheon was served by members of circle three, Mrs. J. H. Stanfill, leader. The tables were beautiful with bowls of colorful spring flowers. Mrs. Ralph Hines made a short address during the luncheon hour, urging the ladies to cooperate in a movement to raise $500 for Baylor college.

In the luncheon hour, a display of clothing for Buckner's orphan home to be sent soon, was of interest to the members and a special offering of $250 was made for the home.

Mrs. Hines gave the devotional at the business meeting which followed the luncheon and splendid reports were made by all officers and chairmen.

Mrs. H. Willis gave the closing prayer which was offered especially for the sick of the church.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

At a club session following a luncheon the other day, one of the members drew knitting needles and a skein of wool from a capacious bag and began work on a sweater or dress, I do not know which, anyway a bit of woman's apparel.

I knew that one of the merchants in the city had a teacher giving free lessons, (when you bought your paraphernalia there of course, and by the way it is about half what it was a year ago), and I looked on wistfully.

"I wish I could do that," I remarked. One of the knitter's neighbors looked at me and asked why I did not learn. My only reply was a look, and she laughed. "I suspect," she said, "that you are like me. One of my friends said the other day that when she was born again, she intended being born artistic rather than domestic, and I told her when I am born again, I am going to be born twins, so I can get things done."

I imagine that the mother of twin girls in a household where the girls help with the work, would find it easier to get the dishwashing and the sweeping and dusting done. But I can not fancy twins accomplishing more together after they have married and become the mothers of families. It is every hen for her own chickens then.

The rush of the stream of life is a powerful thing. We are just flotsam and jetsam on the current—unless we set a course early. However I did not start this column to preach a sermon. I have in mind some of the amusing and some of the pathetic things that are brought before me in the human contacts of my rush.

I had many a laugh when I attended a banquet—an annual affair, one night last week. Not at the program, though it was one of the best "fellowship" affairs I ever saw. But at the dry and droll things a man near me said. I had never met him, although I had often heard of him and before I was introduced by the irrepressible who accompanied me, she stated "he's the smartest thing in town." No recommendation could interest me more.

He tormented my companion in friendly style. She is a woman very much in love with her husband, and I do not blame her; he's lovable. He is quite as much wrapped up in her. She spoke of leaving him that evening and remarked casually that "he is the sweetest thing on earth." Our companion looked at her and said seriously, "You know he looks like he was kinder tired out listening." I laughed at my friend, but the laugh was on me later when my own daughter said I talked more than any one she knew.

My talking and my silences come by spells. If I find myself gabbing at a mighty rate, I almost knock on wood, thinking that I will be sad, "fey" the Scotch call it. It usually works. But it is grand to be in high spirits.

On the other side of the picture; I often go down at night about 10:30 to get a copy of the mail issue of the morning paper. And I notice the newsboys. They are old men; bent and gray and shabby. They do not cope in the day with the crowd of urchins who wait tumbling and fighting for the home edition and then make the welkin ring with "Piper! Piper!"

But at night, these men have their special customers, and until after midnight, one hears them crying their wares in husky old voices. I fancy them going home in the early morning with the little money they have made and my heart aches for old men who did not accomplish what they must have dreamed of in youth.

I wish that every sailor on the river of life might start out with a compass and well-trimmed sails.

Beta Sigma Phi Joins Founder's Day Celebration

Joining with other chapters of Beta Sigma Phi throughout the nation in the observance of "Founders Day—April 30," members of the Texas Kappa chapter were entertained Saturday evening with a beautifully appointed dinner in a private suite in the Holt hotel.

The sorority colors, black and gold, were used in decorations and table appointments, with tall black tapers serving as light for the room. Miss Alta Save, president of the local chapter since its organization some four months ago, served as toastmistress.

Following the invocation Miss Hazel Hill, Miss Kathleen Meiat, educational director of the group, welcomed the members of their first Founder's day banquet, and traced briefly the organization of the first sororities in this country. A peppy singsong was directed by Miss Lulubel Thomas, after which Misses Agnes Blackmon and Winnie Foster, dressed in costumes suggesting two old-fashioned "gossipers," were presented in a clever comedy skit.

Miss Anne Edwards discussed the history of Beta Sigma Phi, pointing out that the members of the organization are now "making the history of Beta Sigma Phi" as the organization is yet young. It is however growing in numbers and chapters, and is fast becoming the dominant organization of its kind, she stated. Beta Sigma Phi is a national educational and social sorority for business girls. Toasts to "The Torch of Beta Sigma Phi," to "Our Chapter" and to "Our Sorority" were given by Misses Lucy Long, Louise Roberson and Wanda Williams, respectively.

Mrs. J. C. A. Guest, newly elected city patroness of the local chapter, spoke to the girls, mentioning the three characteristics of a good club woman, namely, efficiency, loyalty and vision. Following the singing of "The End of a Perfect Day" by the entire group, Mrs. Maurene Leach pronounced the benediction.

Places were laid for Misses Winnie Foster, Agnes Blackmon, Lucy Long, Maurene Leach, Emma Wall, Kathleen Meiat, Alta Saye, Louise Roberson, Maurine Scott, Lulubel Thomas, Hazel Hill, Faye Hunn, Wanda Williams, Anne Edwards, Ora Watts and Mrs. J. C. A. Guest.

Hamilton.

Mrs. O. E. Nicholls spoke a few words of appreciation for the work of Mrs. M. M. Garrett, chairman of the program committee, who is leaving the city, and Mrs. Garrett gave gracious response. Mrs. Walter Robbins welcomed Mrs. Jouette Bonner, a former club member, who is now living in Tyler.

Covers were laid for the following: Miss Florence Sammons, Mesdames W. L. Olmsted, E. A. Bebb, Kenneth Bebb, Ben Bell, Jouette Bonner, Pearl Calhoun Davis, M. M. Garrett, J. E. Hall, W. C. Members of the executive board of Carrigan P.-T. A. will meet at the school Wednesday to make plans for the final parent-teacher meeting of the year when the topic, "Recreation" will be a fitting prelude to vacation activities.

The meeting was opened with a hymn, and Mrs. O. P. Parker gave the devotionals. Mrs. W. O. Griffin gave the opening prayer, and Mrs. T. A. Pratt also led in prayer. Mrs. W. O. Griffin presided at the business session and members of circle two presented her with a birthday present.

Interesting Talks Feature Floral Heights W.M.S. Meet

Members of the Floral Heights Methodist Woman's Missionary society met Monday to continue their study of the book, "Korea, the Land of the Dawn," with the third chapter as the special theme. Mrs. Marvin Smith, mission study leader, directed the study, and gave the devotional stressing the fact that money is very essential for church activities as well as for the essentials of life. She closed her devotional with a special prayer for an industrial reaction.

The special topic of study in the book on Korea, was "Missionaries in Korea," and Mrs. Myrtle Anthony discussed the chapter, stating that Methodists should have a more intimate knowledge of their representatives in foreign fields.

Mrs. Austin F. Leach read a letter from Miss Flora Foreman at the leper colony in Africa, to which the Floral Heights society sent bandages and supplies last autumn.

"Hard Times in Korea," was the subject of a talk by Mrs. H. P. Dunlop who has done work for the Presbyterian church in Guatemala. "Korea is now suffering hard times," she stated, "partly because it is changing from the primitive stage to a progressive one." She said that Americans had helped to bring some of this about but that she was not proud of all the Americans were doing there. "One of the great hindrances to prosperity and progress in Korea," she stated, "is the financier's great desire for profit and self-gain rather than any desire to help the natives." She told of how the Japanese have come in with their progressiveness, causing dissatisfaction among the Koreans. Her talk was one of the most interesting given before the group this spring.

100 Present

A special prayer for missionaries was given by Mrs. Finis Crutchfield before the adjournment for luncheon which was served to approximately 100 by members of circle five, Mrs. Merle Hooper, leader.

The president, Mrs. H. W. Barton, called the morning meeting to order and Mrs. Myrtle Anthony led the singing with Mrs. Lester Jones at the piano. In the afternoon session, Mrs. Jones was accompanist with Mrs. Val Land leading the singsong opening the session.

A special prayer for those in sorrow was offered by Mrs. Milton Johnson and Mrs. Charles Crowell gave the devotional on "Our Stewardship," bringing out in her talk, the manner in which people are supposed to care for the gifts of the Heavenly Father. She stressed the fact that stewardship is a thing of the heart and not of the head. Her devotional was closed with prayer.

Mrs. M. T. Clements reported on the first day of the North Texas conference W. M. S. conference recently held at Sulphur Springs and Mrs. Austin Leach gave a report on "Christian Social Relations," given at this conference by Mrs. Newell. The second day's work was reported by Mrs. Henry Will Barton.

Mrs. Barton presided in the business meeting of the afternoon and interesting reports were heard from officers and chairmen.

Before adjournment, Mrs. S. E. Trevathan announced the meeting of the executive board and Federated Missionary society at the Floral Heights Methodist church May 12 and showed a beautiful quilt made by children of the day nursery and herself.

In the circle count, it was announced that Mrs. J. M. Alexander's and Mrs. T. F. Hunter's circles led in attendance. The closing prayer was said by Mrs. Val Land.

Texas Conference Report Features W. M. S. Meeting

More than 150 members of the First Methodist Woman's Missionary society were present at the all-day meeting held at the church Monday when the outstanding feature of the morning session was a report from the North Texas Woman's Missionary conference held recently at Sulphur Springs, given by the delegate, Mrs. C. A. Spragins.

The theme of the conference was "Not to Look to Past Achievements but at Present Problems Leading to Future Opportunities for Service." Bringing out this point, a British delegate at the conference said, "You can't tell how high a frog can jump by looking at his green back, so you can't tell what service a man will render, so save them all and give them a chance to do their best for the kingdom. Methodism would be the strongest force in the world if we could be one and move as a united church."

Mrs. Spragins gave highlights from an address given by Bishop Mauzon at the conference who spoke on confidence in Christian religion, its history, a real Christ and experience, the church as an institution, its hymns, creed and the Bible. She also reviewed a talk by Bishop McConnel who said that the church should make pronouncements about great economical problems.

The speaker reported that roll call of the auxiliaries at the conference, showed that Wichita Falls had 19 delegates present, besides Mrs. Austin F. Leach who is a conference writer.

Ross G. Smith sang the devotional solo, "No Longer Lonely," with Mrs. J. E. O'Brien at the piano. Circle four, Mrs. C. W. Staley, leader, served the noon luncheon and Mrs. J. C. A. Guest was chairman of arrangements, assisted by Mesdames P. P. Langford, Mack Thomas, D. J. Carithers and Charles Clark, all of whom greeted the members and guests at the dining room door.

The long tables were beautifully decorated with bowls and vases of roses, larkspur and honeysuckle, with runners through the centers of honeysuckle and roses.

Dr. S. S. McKenney gave the invocation and after the menu was served guests were introduced and circle counts taken.

A business session was held in the afternoon with Mrs. Wayne Somerville, the president, presiding, when officers, circle leaders and chairmen of committees gave reports. It was announced that circle seven will hold a candy sale Thursday and that circle six will serve a dinner Friday evening in the educational building at the church when a "Mother's Day" program will be given. Mrs. C. W. Gilliland, chairman of parsonages, requested donations of furnishings for the assistant pastor's home.

Mrs. R. L. Underwood, in behalf of the missionary society, presented Miss Downing a dainty book of Grace Noll Crowell's poems. Miss Downing made a feeling response of appreciation for the gifts. Announcement was made of the meeting of the Federated Missionary society at the Floral Heights Methodist church Thursday afternoon and of the district conference to be held in Henrietta May 11.

Unlicensed peddlers who have grown their own produce are permitted to offer it for sale in Wichita Falls, but those handling produce grown by others than themselves must obtain a license from the city.

'Squeeze Play' Brings 'Em In

Here's a "squeeze play" that brings no returns except small boys who can wriggle. The management of the Clarksburg, W. Va., baseball park in the Middle Atlantic league, cut a hole 6½ by 10 inches in the fence of the ball park and all boys who can squeeze through there can see the game free. The others must pay. Above you see Richard Forinash, young diamond fan, squeezing through for a single.

Famous Palo Duro Canyon Given Test for Deep Oil Production

Special to The Record News.

PAMPA, Texas, May 2.—When the Humble Oil and Refining company started its very wild wildcat, No. 1 Goodnight and Adair ranch, in section 7, block G-6, in Briscoe county, and situated within the famous Palo Duro canyon, which many Texans want established as a state park, the company geologists said that it would be a deep test well.

Three new locations were staked, all in Gray county, and as follows: The Texas company's No. 9 Williams, in section 7, block 1, A. C. H. & B. survey, being 990 feet from the west and 150 feet from the north line of the northwest quarter. A rig is being built. N. survey, a location.

Wichita Girl 13 Has Movie Role In Picture Here

Though it is a minor and not a speaking part, the appearance of Mary Jo Ellis, daughter of W. S. Ellis of Wichita Falls, in "So Big," the current attraction at the Majestic theater, is proving of much interest to Wichitans.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis went to California two years ago and Mrs. Ellis remained to give Mary Jo the opportunity offered her to appear on the silver screen. She has been in several productions, but this is the first of them shown in Wichita Falls.

When Norma Shearer and Clark Gable appear here in "Strange Interlude," they will probably lose some of their glory, as local Wichitans will be looking for this little 13-year-old local girl who will have a more prominent part in that picture.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Itching, bleeding, protruding piles are caused by bad circulation of the blood in the affected parts. The parts become weak, flabby, almost dead. Only an internal remedy can remove the cause—that's why salves, suppositories and cutting fail. Dr. Leonhardt's prescription, HEM-ROID, succeeds because it removes congestion, restores circulation, heals and strengthens the diseased parts. HEM-ROID has such a wonderful record of quickly ending even piles of long standing, that Allison's Drug Store says one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your pile agony or money back.—Adv.

AUSTRALIA TAX BATTLE ENDS

Commonwealth Victor In Tiff With N. S. Wales

SYDNEY, N. S. W., May 2. (AP)—The battle between Premier J. T. Lang of New South Wales and the commonwealth of Australia, which threatened to stop the flow of taxes in the state, apparently came to an end today with a victory for the commonwealth.

At any rate, Premier Lang handed over the keys to tax offices to commonwealth authorities a month after he had defied them to proceed with their policy of impounding revenue to cover the state's default in its foreign obligations.

The government was empowered to appropriate the taxes for allocation as it saw fit under the financial agreement act which was passed by the commonwealth legislature and upheld by the high court.

Under the act the commonwealth also assumed responsibility for the obligations of Australian states, but met immediate objection from New South Wales, and increasing talk about secession.

An Exchange telegraph dispatch today said New South Wales had defaulted over the week-end in its foreign obligations amounting to about 88,000 pounds (about $320,000 000) due in New York, and 600,000 pounds (about $2,190,000) due in London.

This default brought total default obligations of the state government to some 3,000,000 pounds, the dispatch said, the commonwealth having remitted the necessary amounts overseas.

The conflict of state rights and federal authority goes back almost to the conception of the federation, in Australia's case, 1901.

Today's surrender indicates that the issue has been smoothed over, at least for the time being.

SECOND BEST

DENVER.—A boy on a bicycle and a dog had a collision, and the lad came out second best. Theodore Elmhauser was riding his wheel when a canine ran into him. The youth was thrown to the pavement on his face and was rushed to the hospital for emergency treatment. The dog gave a few yelps and continued calmly on its way.

Advice To Investors

By Charles W. Storm—Editor of the "News Service of Wall Street"

N. T. C., Graham—I am considering the purchase of a few shares of American Telephone and Telegraph common stock. In your opinion, is the present the right time to buy the stock or would you wait a while? I presume the dividend is perfectly safe.

Answer—American Telephone and Telegraph has paid dividends in varying amounts for more than 48 years, but earnings in 1931 dropped to $9.05 a share on the average stock and $8.93 a share on the stock outstanding Dec. 31, 1931. This compares with $10.44 a share average in 1930 and $9.22 a share on the stock outstanding at the close of that year. Annual average of earnings from 1921 to 1931, inclusive, was about $11.70. The stock has considerable long term investment merit and at the proper time would be one of the first investment stocks to be included in a list to be recommended for long term holding. Nevertheless the favorable long term factors are outweighed by the present general economic conditions, which are causing telephone disconnections to exceed installation at a somewhat disturbing rate and the earnings of the company and subsidiaries to decline noticeably. Thus reports indicate the net loss in the number of telephones amounted to approximately 33,400 for the month of December, 1931, 96,000 for January, 1932, and about 94,000 for February. The loss of approximately 190,000 stations for the first two months of this year compares with a loss of about 292,000 for the whole of 1931. January net operating earnings showed a decline of 22.4 per cent. The rate of decline in earnings, if continued for several months (and it apparently is continuing, judging by the further loss of telephones for February), would warrant grave doubts regarding maintenance of the current $9 dividend rate, despite company's strong cash position.

C. N.—What can you tell me about earnings of Mead Johnson & Co.?

Answer—Earnings of Mead Johnson & Co. for 1931 will be in the neighborhood of $7 a share, it is estimated. This compares with $9.51 reported for 1930. Regular dividends have been maintained at the annual rate of $3 a share but extra payments, formerly 50 cents quarterly, were reduced to 25 cents a share with the disbursement paid Jan. 1. Lower prices on certain lines and a change in the method of billing sales on one important product are principally responsible for reduced revenue. Business of the company, leading maker of infant foods, has expanded steadily since formation in 1915, both by increased demand for important products and by introduction of new foods developed by the research division.

N. P., Electra—I have some Southern Railway preferred, which I bought a few years ago thinking it was a good investment. Do you think dividend payments will be restored soon?

Answer—Though Southern Railway operates in a well-developed territory, last year's net income was unfavorably influenced by the subnormal business conditions that prevailed. Operations resulted in a deficit of $5,609,813, or $9.33 a share on the preferred, contrasted with net income of $9,126,512, or $15.21 a share in 1930. Net income for January totaled only $24,224, against net of $420,238 in January, 1931. Dividends of $5 a share annually were distributed on the preferred stock from 1922, but quarterly payments of $1.25 a share expected Jan. 15, 1932, was omitted. Though earnings from 1921 to 1930, inclusive, show an annual average of approximately $26 a share, the stock, under present conditions is a mere speculation. No dividend payments expected until there is improvement in earnings.

T. C. F., Olney—I own a few shares of North American Edison preferred. Do you consider it a good investment?

Answer—North American Edison preferred is regarded as a good investment and has paid dividends of six per cent annually since issuance in 1925. Earnings applicable to the stock equaled $39.13 a share in 1931, as compared with $49.65 in 1930. During the past seven years, including 1931 annual average has been $52.38 a share. The company, controlled by North American company, operates properties in six middle western states, serving 656 communities with a population of 4,330,000.

DO YOU INHALE?

Why is this vital question so much avoided by other cigarettes?

EVER since Lucky Strike created that special process for purifying fine tobacco and told the full facts about cigarette smoking—the industry has been in an uproar. For Lucky Strike has dared to mention things that were considered "taboo" in the cigarette trade.

You may have noticed a striking avoidance generally of the word "inhale" in cigarette advertising. Why? Goodness only knows! For everybody inhales—knowingly or unknowingly! Every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.

That's why it's all-important to be certain that your cigarette smoke is pure and clean—to be sure you don't inhale certain impurities.

Do you inhale? Lucky Strike has dared to raise this vital question—for it gives you the protection you want . . . because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

A Washington Bystander

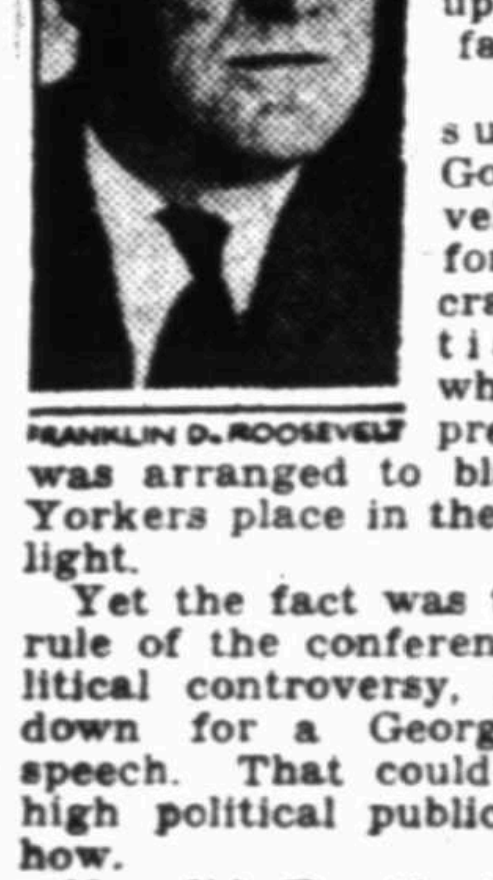
By KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, May 2.—When President Hoover's trip to Richmond to discuss the cost of government before the annual conference of governors was arranged quite a stir was kicked up under the surface.



FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

There were supporters of Governor Roosevelt's candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination who thought the presidential visit was arranged to blanket the New Yorkers place in the publicity limelight.

Yet the fact was that, under the rule of the conference banning political controversy, Roosevelt was down for a George Washington speech. That could have no very high political publicity value anyhow.

Nor did President Hoover have anything to gain or lose as to his own presidential prospects by talking economy in government at Richmond.

As a matter of fact, when he set out for Richmond Mr. Hoover was virtually assured by the primary or state convention results to that hour of his renomination.

Roosevelt's Case Different

For Roosevelt, on the other hand, a smashing Smith victory in Massachusetts presented a situation which not even fulfillment of the indications of his own simultaneous victory over Smith in Pennsylvania could obscure.

That Massachusetts vote made the former New York governor a definite factor in whatever is to happen at the Democratic convention.

It might have profound effect in finally determining whether Smith or Roosevelt is to get the bulk of the delegation from their own home state.

It could influence wavering party leaders in many other states.

In view of all that, it is hard to see what strategic conception of the preconvention campaigning made the Rooseveltеrs take the risk in Massachusetts.

They never even hoped to pick up more than a half dozen delegates, conceding the rest to Smith. So why have made the fight at all?

Candidates as Weapons

From the outset the Massachusetts battle seemed essentially one between rivals for Democratic leadership in the state, both the Roosevelt and Smith presidential candidacies being weapons employed by the respective sides. Yet, as it turned out, it could prove to be a turning point in the Roosevelt drive not at all favorable to him.

Whatever the Massachusetts-Pennsylvania upshot for the Democratic rivals for party honors, Mr. Hoover's expedition to Richmond, with a good deal to indicate that he sought the invitation himself, could have little to do at this stage with immediate political matters.

Cowardice in Politics

COWARDICE, as Rodney Dutcher pointed out in a dispatch from Washington the other day, has become one of the most common characteristics in American public life.

Our political leaders, he remarked, possess an extraordinary amount of caution. They fear nothing so much as a real live issue. When they fight they take good care to get all the big guns on their side. They reserve their heaviest blasts for insignificant opponents who cannot fight back effectively.

The commonest explanation for this sad state of affairs is that it is inevitable in a democracy. Officeholders depend on votes for their jobs. If they make enemies they lose votes. The pressure to straddle, to compromise, to placate powerful minorities and minority leaders, is almost overwhelming.

Oddly enough, though, a casual glance at American political history will show that this sort of thing isn't in the least necessary. The politicians are revealing, not the fundamental fault of democracy, but their own weakness.

What has happened is that the politicians have made the mistake of underestimating the common sense and good judgment of the electorate.

The greatest figures in American political history are the men who dared to make enemies—the men who were willing to follow their own conceptions of right and trust to the electorate for an accurate understanding of them.

Jackson, Lincoln, Cleveland, Roosevelt, Wilson—they were, one and all, fighters, enemy-makers. They knew politics, of course; they could compromise when they had to; but they could also adopt an unpopular line of attack and stick to it no matter how great the risks to their own personal fortunes. And it is worth remembering that the electorate stood by them time and again.

The cowardice of our politicians, in other words, isn't an inevitable part of democracy. Let a really bold and determined political leader appear today and the response he would get might be astonishing.

The Farm's Advantage

THE farmer may be having a hard time these days, but the state of Michigan last year had more applications for homestead land than it had had in several years previous.

Most of the applicants were jobless factory hands, who jumped at the chance of getting a bit of farm land, tax-free for five years, on which they could raise food for their families. State officials admit that most of these homesteaders will probably return to the factories as soon as good times come back, letting their homesteads revert to the state; meanwhile, however, the "back to the farm" movement is popular.

This touches on the one great advantage that the farmer has over the city worker. Times may be villainously hard and money may be scarce; but he can at least feed himself and his family, while the jobless man in the city has to depend on charity for every bite. Being broke on a farm is one degree better than being broke in the city.

The Rubber-Tired Rail Car

THE rubber-tired, gasoline-powered railway car that was tried out recently on a railroad in the Middle West may eventually be the instrument with which the railroads will wage a successful fight against the bus.

This car, devised in France and now being produced in the United States, is admirably designed to compete with the bus. It can carry 30 passengers, can attain a speed of 58 miles an hour and has an operating cost of only 15 cents a mile—as compared with 25 cents for the bus.

Railroad officials who inspected it expressed keen interest. It is quite possible that a lot of the local passenger traffic lost to the motor bus in recent years might be regained with some such car as this. You are apt to hear a good deal more about it in the next few years.

Inexcusable Slaughter

THE "sportsman" sometimes seems to be a peculiar sort of person.

In the vicinity of Hoquiam, Wash., it was discovered not long ago that hunters have slaughtered nearly 350 elk in order to get their teeth. Trappers and woodsmen have found scores of carcasses in the woods, each minus its teeth but with its meat utterly untouched. The slaughter has practically wiped out a magnificent herd of one of North America's finest wild creatures.

It would be interesting to know just what can be the mental processes of a man who could take part in that kind of "sport." The man who goes on a hunting trip, kills an elk, eats of its flesh and takes its head and antlers back to adorn the walls of his home is at least doing something comprehensible. But men who will butcher a whole herd just to get the animals' teeth are almost beneath contempt.

SO THEY SAY!

The failure of prohibition has been due largely to the failure of those who proposed it to consult the people.—Matthew Woll, vice president, American Federation of Labor.

Hilda Knight, the Scandoll, and and Rudy (Warners) Weiss are Eye-Gazing in the night spots....Charley Gordon, who raised over $600,000 and lost it in dramatic flops in N. Walter Chrysler Jr. called....Milt Gross wants you to come up to his office to see the funny pictures on the walls....May I go alnog with you?....In Hollywood you can dial 1-1-9-7, hang up and your own phone rings....That check didn't come....I called for it and the man said he didn't even know you....You know you embarrass me awfully at times....Matt Moore, Lewis Milestone and Harry D'Arrast have taken combined bachelor ¼s in Hooeywood with a trio of valets....and are the nights hot?—Your devoted pal, Paul Yawitz.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

HIS MAJESTY THE BOOTBLACK—When Haypold Jansen died in Oslo in February, 1931, after working as a bootblack for 30 years in a local warehouse, there came to light one of the strangest "riches to rags" stories, together with his identity. The humble bootblack was an ex-king. He was none other than King Bell II of Kamerun, a country on the west coast of Central Africa. His father, King Bell I, concluded a treaty with the Germans in 1884. His son and successor, Bell II, was expelled by the Germans immediately upon ascending the throne in 1885. He roamed the world until 1901, when he settled down to the humdrum existence of a bootblack in the Norway capital. He who had been a king now followed this humble vocation for three decades.

THE BIRTH, AND DEATHLESS ISLE—Miyoshima, in the gulf of Hirosima, Japan, is sacred to the goddess Bentin, and a place of pilgrimage. Such is the veneration of the Shintoists for this Isle of Light that births and deaths are prohibited there, and there is a further prohibition on the consumption of meat. No dogs are permitted at Miyoshima and its inhabitants are compelled to travel to the mainland whenever either birth or death is about to occur among them.

GENERAL SIEH'S "HAPPINESS"—It is considered very meritorius for a Chinese to select at random a character of the alphabet and then proceed to reform it at a great eost in time and patince. His task is not accomplished until he thinks that the idealized letter is a reflection of his own soul. It is all very mysterious and very Oriental, and General Sieh, who spent 20 years in perfecting the Chinese character "happiness," thereby acquired great distinction and an immortal tablet in the temple of Hua.

TOMORROW—The widow's crawl.

Wanted—Love! The Story of an Unemployed Girl

By ETHELDA BEDFORD Author of "BROADWAY BRIDE"

CHAPTER XLIII

They decided to invest 10 cents in a Sunday paper, because the want ads were more plentiful then than any other day.

"But even this employment agency isn't free," said Eve, pulling the classified section from the bulk of paper and spreading it out on the couch between Lillian and her.

"Costs a dime for the paper and then subway fare and postage to trace the jobs and when you count postage and car fare a dollar fades in no time—"

But their desperate efforts to get jobs seemed less vivid right then as they had been to a chain restaurant where you could eat all the breakfast you wanted for 30 cents.

Lillian had ordered a large breakfast—and Eve, a cup of coffee. So for 40 cents they both had managed a good meal.

Their course was high once more—job hunting seemed less a gamble, with a chance in a thousand to win.

Courage was easy on a full stomach. But when they saw the jobless who had lost courage, hope and the desire for either it was easy to understand how step by step they approached the abyss and let go . . became bums, beggars, street-girls.

Lillian had one part of the classified section, Eve the other.

"Listen to this, Eve. No—read it yourself! We both could go after that tomorrow morning first thing." Lillian tore out the ad and gave it to Eve.

WANTED—GIRLS

Girls between 18 and 26. You can earn up to $2 an hour—$16 a day—through our easy, pleasant plan. You may add a handsome sum to your income month after month. You need no capital. You need no experience. Start today earning money! Would you like to have an extra bank account to meet sudden emergencies brought on by the depression period? Your earnings start the day you receive our offer! Without obligation communicate with Mrs. Bertram, at Hotel ———, Lexington avenue, room 459.

Although it was only a few minutes after eight the next morning when Lillian and Eve stood outside of the hotel room a dozen other girls waited there when they arrived.

Eve raised her hand to knock on the door.

"We were asked to wait a few minutes until her husband finished breakfast. That was 20 minutes ago," a girl said.

So they waited in a sort of formation. The assortment of girls out early for work eyed each other. The ad had called for "girls." Some of them had not been girls in 10 years, but from their eyes gleamed a greedy hope—as if each felt she needed work the most.

Lillian felt, as she had so many times, sorry for their shabby clothes, their cracked shoes, frayed gloves, their pinched nervous faces.

Finally the door opened and a woman who appeared in her early thirties wearing a knitted sports suit and with her hair boyishly bobbed, said: "Good morning. Come in—won't you? All of you."

Her voice was high-pitched and pleasant. And the sitting room of the hotel suite smelled deliciously of hot coffee. A hotel waiter was removing a breakfast tray.

Lillian's heart tightened as she noticed many eyes of the job-hunters following the departing tray, where several pieces of toast, strips of crisp bacon and two half-filled cups of coffee remained. And which would be thrown away—although these girls were hungry.

But the thought that these early job hunters were half starved evidently did not enter the head of the bright-eyed little woman.

"My! What early birds you are!" she said.

Feeble smiles were offered. Impatience was impossible to hide. Wouldn't she hurry and come to the point. How could they earn money—they were hungry.

The keen eyes of the pleasant woman roved over the group, taking the girls in from heels to heads. She was obviously sizing them up.

"How many of you have had high school educations?" she asked.

Eight out of the group held up their hands.

"Well the rest of you might as well run along about your business. You have to know a little something to hold these jobs." She smiled to take off the sting.

She stepped to the door, looked expectantly, then opened it. They were being asked to leave.

"Your ad didn't say anything about that," said a girl who had been rubbing her reddened, gloveless hands together by the radiator.

"You'll save time and words if you obey orders. These jobs depend 75 per cent on appearance, 15 on personality and 10 on education," Mrs. Bertram said, a certain hardness possessing her eyes and her voice. She still stood by the door.

"I'll just select those of you which I feel will pass on appearance," she said then. "I'll find out about your personality later." She left the door ajar.

Only three of the girls were chosen. Lillian and Eve were among them. The brittle-voiced little woman made quick work of the discards. She rubbed her well-kept hands together as she closed the door behind the last girl, as if she had had to push her out and had soiled her hands perhaps.

"Now," she purred, "take off your hats and coats." They obeyed.

"I'm sorry," a brown-haired girl said. "I need a wave. I didn't expect to—" But the other girls felt she couldn't "afford to—"

"Don't worry about that," Mrs. Bertram said, motioning to all of them to be seated.

"Girls!" she said, "we are going to have loads of fun. We're going to sell magazines!"

Her eyes were very bright. Her voice had taken on its cheerfulness. Her hands clasped in her lap. She leaned toward them, smiling, contagiously.

"And there are some tricks to the trade you'll just adore!"

The girls looked askance.

"Now—doesn't that sound exciting?"

They pretended to warm up to her. Her manner was catching, even though a child would realize it was entirely purposeful. Her every gesture was studied as that of an amateur stock actress.

They were to learn that that was one of the tricks of the trade having a cheerful, engaging, and very very purposeful manner.

"Now, you've all heard of the idea of working your way through college selling magazines?" she smiled. They all nodded. "Everybody has. Sort of a joke. Well, every one likes a joke, especially the busy business man!" Her brows shot up with that. As if she had divulged something choice.

"And what has he to do with it? You all want to ask. I'm sure. Girls, he has lots!

"He is the one, not his wife as commonly believed, who buys the magazines for the family. And—it's pretty fresh young girls like you who sell him!

"Girls, it's just like being on the stage. You are the actresses. Dress as engagingly as you can. And as youngish. Pick out a good office building to canvass. Take off your hats, fluff your hair . . . take a colorful covered magazine under your arm. Because you are hatless no one suspects you aren't an employe in the office building—and you don't have to explain your mission to the building attendants—or the office attendants.

"You spy the boss. Get his name from the door panel if possible."

In her eagerness Mrs. Bertram took the floor, fluffed her hair, became a "college girl working her way through college."

"Get the idea, girls? Here you are. Pretend I'm you—" she indicated Lillian. "You have a young girlish look about you. You could pass for a college girl and you must. Don't take the idea too seriously, you see. In case you go into an office and the man laughs when you tell him you're working your way through. Don't get rattle. Put on your baby-stare and round eyes. Say, 'May I sit by you, Mr.—er—! He'll supply his name. Then pull your chair near his—and cross your knees . . . not too high, but high enough for him to see you have nice legs and pretty hose.

"Get his name on the dotted line of this coupon and his $2 down payment—and your part is 50 cents!"

It seemed so simple . . .

Supreme Court Decision Upholds Sanctity of Home

WASHINGTON, May 2. (INS)—In another decision upholding the sanctity of the home against unlawful search and seizure, the supreme court today reversed the conviction of John Vance Taylor, of Baltimore, convicted of possessing intoxicating liquors in a garage adjoining his dwelling.

The liquor was seized when prohibition agents broke into the garage late at night without a search warrant. They contended they could smell the odor of whisky out in the street and saw the whisky cases by peering through a window of the garage. The supreme court ruled this evidence did not justify entering the garage without a warrant.

The answers to questions printed here each day are specimens picked from the mass of inquiries handled by our great information bureau maintained in Washington, D. C. This valuable service is for the free use of the public. Ask any question of fact you may want to know and you will get an immediate reply. Q.—What is meant by a pompier used in fire fighting?—A. R.

A.—Pompier is a French word literally meaning a fireman; from pompe meaning a pump. In its modern use in English, the word is used in the sense of a fireman's scaling ladder.

Q.—What was the name of the white man who was so familiar with the language and manners of the Arabs that he was able to join the pilgrims and enter the sacred city of Mecca?—M. W.

A.—Sir Richard Burton was the first Englishman to enter Mecca, the first to explore Soamliland, and the first to find the great lakes of central Africa. He was so skilled in the lore of the desert that he could travel almost anywhere among the natives without detection. Of the many books written by this famous traveler, the most celebrated is his translation of the Arabian Nights. After his death an unpublished manuscript translation of the Scented Garden from the Arabic was burned by his widow on account of its pornographic content. The destruction of this paper has been counted a great loss to literature. The devoted wife of Burton arranged a unique tomb for him in the form of an Arab tent of stone and marble.

Q.—What has become of pug dogs?—C. O.

A.—They have lost their popularity in this country and no kennel or association specializes in the breed.

Q.—Where is the reserve which is called the Roosevelt national forest—T. D. S.

A.—It was formerly the Colorado national forest and is in north central Colorado, extending from near Denver to the Wyoming state line. The name was changed by proclamation of President Hoover.

Q.—What is the origin of the word, hangar,—L. G.

A.—It is a French word and literally means a shelter or shed.

Q.—Should a master of ceremonies rise or remain seated when making announcements at banquet?—L. H.

A.—A master of ceremonies always rises when functioning as such. If he has occasion to make an announcement or to make some comment which should be heard by all the guests, he stands as a matter of courtesy.

Q.—How far down will a gopher dig a hole?—Z. S.

A.—About three feet straight down.

Q.—How should fire extinguishers be cared for?—E. M.

A.—Fire extinguishers should be kept on a hook off the floor and out of the reach of children. They should be of the acid and soda type and the kind approved by the underwriters of America. The label on the extinguisher will show whether it has been approved or not by the underwriters. It is necessary that they be recharged once a year.

Q.—What is the best time made in swimming the English channel?—W. C. S.

A.—Most attempts to swim the English channel are from Cape Grisnez, France, to Dover, England. The best time for swimming the channel was 10 hours and 45 minutes, made by V. Spacek of Bohemia, in 1927.

Q.—Will an acetylene torch burn under water?—S. L.

A.—The bureau of standards says that an acetylene torch can be made to burn under water. It is, of course, ignited in the air and then introduced into the water, where it maintains an atmosphere of steam and carbon dioxide that holds back the liquid water from the immediate region of the flame. Probably the only use for such a torch is in cutting submerged metal which cannot be brought to the surface until the cutting operation is completed.

Q.—How did Budapest get its name?—P. S.

A.—The name Budapest describes the united cities of Buda and Pesth. Buda was named after a brother of Attila; Pesth is from the Slavic pestj, meaning an oven or limekiln.

Q.—Was Flora McFlimsey a character in an old play or book, and can you tell me the name or the play or book?—R. T. C.

A.—Flora McFlimsey was the heroine of a poem by William Allen Butler that was famous many years ago. It was titled "Nothing to Wear" and was first published in 1857.

REDSKINS GRAB FINAL GAME OF SPUDDER SERIES, 5 TO 4

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

Depression

The atom has been split at last, says a front page scientific announcement.

So science, too, has joined in the general retrenchment and has cut its atom in half.

That Sunday Game

The Spudders—via the Browns—have developed some fine players in recent years, in every department with the exception of pitchers. The home team has turned out major league second basemen, shortstops, outfielders and what-not, and talent it has not sent direct to the majors has advanced to the double A leagues. But for every Hal Wiltse produced here there have been a handful of dubs. For some reason, the club couldn't find the pitchers.

That doleful record will, in part, be wiped out this year. We have in our midst, ladies and gentlemen, at least one young pitcher who has the goods. Meaning, of course, Tom Conlan, hero of two extra-inning battles already this season, the most sensational of which was the Sunday 13-inning victory over San Antonio.

Many other factors entered into the victory besides Conlan's pitching—fielding worthy of any buch of major leaguers, and Hank Severeid behind the plate radiating confidence and cool-headedness to the young man on the mound—but Conlan delivered enough stuff to rank him unquestionably as the best moundster on the Spudder staff, over men who were pitching baseball long before Conlan even thought of casting his lot with the profession.

Young Tom has his heart in every pitch. He is one of the most conscientious rookie twirlers in the league, and with that attitude towards his job, he is bound to make a success of it.

About Badgro

There have been some remarkable plays turned in by Spudder outfielders in the last few seasons. We remember Bettencourt in right field diving forward on his tummy to make a shoe-string catch that saved the day for the home boys in a 1930 contest. We remember countless times that Bob Fuss has doubled runners off first or second, or has nipped them at third with great heaves. And Debs Garms pulling the same sort of stunts, not to mention the wonderful catches that Howard Fitzgerald made look so easy.

But none of these met with such spontaneous response from the fans as did Whitey Badgro's diving catch in the 11th inning of Sunday's game with two out and a runner on third waiting to score with the run that would have defeated Conlan.

A wave of elation seemed to sweep over the audience. Badgro's catch brought to a climax a great fielding day on the part of all the Spudders. The infield had contributed more than its share. The audience, in its repeated cheers, seemed to be telling the Spudder boys that we take great pride in their accomplishments, in their hustle and ability.

And yet there was a note of sadness in it all. If we only had a pitching staff to compare with these great fielders! How could they keep the Spudders out of first place? How could they keep the Spudders from winning both Texas and Dixie series flags?

It is a pity we do not have four or five Conlans.

Fort Worth is perched on top of the heap, due mainly, almost entirely to its pitching. The Spudders can shade them in every department except pitching. Dallas has a good publicity agent, to pump up such fellows as Bonura, Steer first baseman (who can't hold a lampshade to Harry Green's fielding and hitting); and also they have a splendid shortstop, Brower, and an even more accomplished second baseman, James. Their pitching is only fair, and we think the Spudders can whip them any day in the week. Shreveport is not dangerous at all, at least temporarily, and when those old heads do get going late in the summer it will be too late.

As for Galveston, they have plenty of hustle and bustle, but they can't match the Spuds. The San Antonio Tribe always has been a pain in the neck to the Spudders and always will be. Houston and Beaumont we have not seen as yet.

But given a few more Conlans, the Spudders could laugh at 'em all and sweep down the pennant boulevard with a great flourish!

Robby's Indians

Uncle Robby Robertson's band of Braves present a much stronger club this year than last. This is due in large measure to the addition of Howard Fitzgerald in centerfield.

Uncle Robby is proud of Fitz. He said the former Spudder added a thousand per cent to the club's defensive strength, and nobody could contradict him on that score.

Incidentally, Uncle Robby and all the members of the Indian squad went down to Henrietta and attended church services last Sunday night. Yes sir, the whole bunch loaded up in automobiles and partook of a sermon.

Cyrus Smith, likeable, good-natured Indian twirler, came back looking real happy.

"You know," he said, "we all had a splendid time; a good sermon, good music, and everything."

Cy seems to grow younger with the passing of the years. He is pitching excellent ball this season.

How Was It, Boss?

Prexy Alvin Gardner was in the stands during Sunday's hectic game. He is making a tour of the circuit. I'll bet the club he used to own gave him plenty to talk about as he completes the tour.

VINCENT LOSES TOUGH BATTLE

Houston Buffs Invade Home Lot Today

Fred Vincent's wildness at the start coupled with a bad fourth inning, and the inability of Hank's boys to sock the apple in the pinches cost the Spudders a ball game yesterday, the San Antonio Indians winning the deciding game of the series, 5 to 4.

With the exception of the first and fourth frames, Vincent pitched a pretty game. But the two runs scored off him in the first looked mighty big in such a tight fracas. Vincent walked the first man up, hit the next, and both scored on Zaepfel's single after moving up a notch on Gooch's sacrifice. In the fourth four clustered hits netted the Tribe their remaining three runs.

Rallies Squelched

Fabian Kowalik, right-hander, had the Spudders well in control until the seventh, when he gave signs of losing control. The one run scored in that inning was matched with another in the eighth, when Kowalik was benched in favor of Roland Flinn. The Spudders scored a run in the fourth and another in the sixth and in both frames began rallies that might have netted additional tallies. Both attempts, however, were spoiled by Harry Green's persistence in making the third out in each frame.

Today the Spudders open a three-game series with the Houston Buffaloes, last year's champions, with Tot Pressnell the likely starter.

Tribe Scores Two

Vincent's wildness at the start cost him two runs. Flaskamper walked and Fitzgerald was hit by a pitched ball. Both advanced on Gooch's sacrifice, Euller to Clift, who covered first, and scored on Zaepfel's single to left center. Najo doubled against the left field wall, Zaepfel taking third. The next two went out, however, Scharein racing back near the right field foul line to take Brewer's pop, and Seimer grounding out, Euller to Green. A double play mowed the Spuds down in their half of the first. Garms rolled out, Brewer to Kowalik, who covered first. Scharein lined a hit off Kowalik's glove, but Fuss hit into the twin killing, second to short to first.

Vincent settled down in the second. After two were out, Flaskamper lined a single to left but was forced at second by Fitzgerald, Scharein to Clift. The Spuds went down in order, Badgro and Green grounding out, second to first, and Owens dribbling out to first, unassisted.

Rough Treatment

The Indians bit the dust, three in a row, to start the third, Gooch flying to Garms, Zaepfel popping to Scharein in short left center, and Najo lifting to Badgro. The Spudders got the same treatment, Euller striking out, Clift grounding out, third to first, and Vincent rolling out, pitcher to first.

The Tribe added to its lead with three runs in the fourth. Brewer beat out an infield hit to short and was sacrificed to second by Seimer, Green to Clift, who covered first. Schofield lined out to Green. Green tried to double Brewer off second, but Scharein dropped his throw. It was a hard chance and Scharein was not charged with an error. Kowalik doubled to right, scoring Brewer. Flaskamper doubled to left, scoring Kowalik. Fitzgerald grounded a single past Green, scoring Flaskamper. Gooch grounded out, Clift to Green, retiring the side.

Spudders Tally

In the last of the fourth the Spuds pushed over a tally, fast fielding by the Tribesmen preventing further scoring. Garms beat out an infield hit to second and took second on Scharein's infield out. Fuss drove Garms in with an infield hit to short. Badgro singled to right, but in attempting to take second on the throw-in, was chased down between first and second, Schofield, Tribe shortstop, finally making the putout. Fuss held third and was stranded there when Green grounded out, third to first.

The Indians went down in order in the fifth, Zaepfel popping to Scharein. Najo grounding out, Scharein to Green, and Brewer flying to Garms. In the home half, Owens grounded out, pitcher to first, Euller grounded out third to first, and Clift flied to Fitzgerald in deep center.

Badgro Doubles

With one out in the sixth, Schofield beat out a bunt down the third base line but Kowalik hit into a double play, Clift to Scharein to Green. The Spuds scored once in their half. With two out, Scharein and Fuss beat out scratch hits to the infield. Badgro doubled to left, scoring Scharein, Fuss taking third, but Green struck out.

The Indians went hitless in the seventh. Flaskamper flied to Garms Fitzgerald lined out to Badgro, and Gooch flied to Garms. The Spuds pushed over another tally in their half. With one out, Euller walked, Clift struck out. Vincent singled to right, Euller taking third. Garms singled to right, scoring Euller, but Vincent, trying to make third on the hit, was too slow and was thrown out, right field to short to third, retiring the side.

Scores From First

Zaepfel opened the eighth with a single to right. He took second on Najo's sacrifice, Euller to Clift, who covered first, and went to third on Brewer's infield out, Scharein to Green, but was stranded when Seimer popped to Clift in short right. Scharein's feat of scoring from first on a single disposed of Kowalik in the home half. Art walked to open the frame. Fuss hit a rolling single to center and Scharein speeded all the way home on the bingle. Flinn replaced Kowalik on the mound for the Indians. Badgro flied to left, Green popped to third and Fuss was tossed out stealing to retire the side.

With two out in the ninth Flaskamper walked but was thrown out stealing, Owens to Scharein. In the home half, Owens flied to left, Euller struck out. Clift singled past third. Severeid batted for Vincent and fanned.

STEERS DEFEAT BUFFS, 3 TO 1

Oscar Fuhr Pitches Herd To Victory Over Payne

DALLAS, May 2. (AP)—Coming to the rescue of the Dallas Steers tonight, the veteran Oscar Fuhr dispelled any belief that the up-and-coming Houston Buffaloes could not be beaten by wrong-sided pitching, hurling the Steers to a 3 to 1 victory. By out-pitching two right-handers, George Washington Payne and Elmer Hanson, Fuhr enabled the Steers to make it two out of three over the Buffaloes in the three-game series. The Steers got maximum results from their five scattered hits and though touched for eight base knocks, Fuhr kept them well distributed.

Payne, one of the league's leading hurlers, pitched great five-hit baseball for seven innings before going out for a pinch hitter. It was the first night game this season here. Score:

SENATORS WHIP YANKEES, 10—3

Babe Ruth's Gang Bounced Into Third Place

WASHINGTON, May 2. (AP)—The Washington Senators slammed the offerings of two of the New York Yankee pitchers to the far corners of Griffith stadium today to score a 10 to 3 victory and drive the Yankees into third place.

The Senators collected 13 hits from Gomez, who took his first defeat of the year, and Johnson. The Yankees got eight safeties off Carl Fisher in five innings, while big Fred Marberry who went in to relieve Fisher in the sixth was touched for but one hit during his three innings.

The batting of West, Cronin, and Reynolds did much to account for Washington's scoring. West drove out a single and a triple, Cronin a home run, a double and a triple, and Reynolds two singles and a double.

All of the Yankee's scoring was done in the fifth inning when Farrell singled, Ruth was given a base on balls and Gehrig polled one of Fischer's offerings over the fence in deep center field. The Senators made three double plays.

Five of the Washington runs came in the fourth inning. Cronin doubled to start the inning. Reynolds drove one to Crosetti at third too hot to handle. Judge sacrificed and Bluege was given a base on balls. A single by Berg drove across two runs, after which Fischer sacrificed and Myer and Manush walked filling the bases and forcing a run. West polled out one to the right field wall scoring Bluege and Berg.

Manush, however, was out at the plate on an attempt to score from first. Score:

BOSTON, May 2. (AP)—Jimmy Foxx' homer in the 11th inning today gave the Philadelphia Athletics a 3 to 2 victory over the Boston Red Sox in the opening game of the series. The Athletics used three pitchers and "Lefty" Grove, who hurled the last two frames, was credited with the victory, his second of the season.

INDIANS 6, BROWNS 5

CLEVELAND, May 2. (AP)—Two big innings that netted all their runs gave the Cleveland Indians a 6 to 5 victory over the St. Louis Browns today and moved them into second place in the American league standings.

Blaeholder held the Indians in check for four innings, but loose fielding by the Browns and heavy bludgeoning by the Tribe permitted Cleveland to overcome a four-run St. Louis lead. An error by Johnny Burnett let in one run for St. Louis in the ninth, but with two on bases Mel Harder retired Melillo on an easy grounder to end the game. Score:

GOLF DUEL

Rival Editors at Munday And Seymour To Wield Clubs

Special to The Record News.

MUNDAY, Texas, May 2.—After having exchanged verbal amenities regarding their respective golfing abilities through their editorial columns, Editors O. L. Harrison of the Baylor County Banner at Seymour and Jesse A. Kennedy of the Munday Times are scheduled to say it with golf clubs some time during the present week.

The loser will sweep out the winner's printing shop, it being stipulated that the sweeping time shall be announced sufficiently far in advance to give the winner opportunity to condition his office for the loser's attention.

The situation arose when Kennedy, in his "Thinking Out Loud" column, remarked disparagingly concerning Harrison's golfing ability. Harrison retorted in his column, "Passing Day," in questioning terms relative to Kennedy's shot-making prowess. Challenges followed.

Betting is about even. Both have broken 90 but neither is a cinch 110 on starting a round.

BOND IS MADE BY OSTEOPATH

Norman Youth Tells Of 'Hush Money'

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 2. (UP)—Dr. J. W. Eisiminger, Oklahoma City osteopath, held on a murder charge in the alleged illegal operation death of a University of Oklahoma co-ed, was released from the county jail late today.

Bond was set at $5,000. He was ordered to report Friday for preliminary hearing.

Fifty young girls and women have died here within the last year as the result of illegal operations, according to Prosecutor Lewis Morris.

Investigation of what Morris termed a "criminal illegal operation ring" was started after two Oklahoma university students, Mrs. Frank Lee and Virginia Lee Wyckoff. The girls died from blood poisoning, allegedly contracted after they submitted to abortions.

The prosecutor today completed questioning of Esca Milne, University of Oklahoma student companion of Miss Wyckoff.

The youth related details prior to the death of Miss Wyckoff in a signed statement to Morris.

"We discussed her condition and decided to see Dr. Richard E. Thacker but did not have money to see him," the statement said.

Dr. Thacker is a fugitive from justice, having disappeared Saturday shortly before officers sought to arrest him on a murder charge in the alleged illegal operation death of Robbie Lou Thompson.

"I then learned through a boy friend," Milne's statement said, "of Dr. Eisiminger; that he took care of such cases and probably would do it for $5 or $10."

The two went to see Eisiminger April 1 in his office when an operation, which Eisiminger contended was not illegal, was performed.

The statement also said that in a subsequent operation, performed when Miss Wyckoff became ill, Eisiminger used no disinfectant. This operation was performed in a private house on April 4.

Milne also revealed in the statement that Eisiminger paid him almost $500 in cash and notes after Miss Wyckoff's death.

"I told Dr. Eisiminger I did not have any money and I thought he was to blame for the girl's death," the statement continued.

"And then he said, 'you understand that they couldn't prosecute me criminally, but if anything should happen to her, the publicity would ruin me,'" and for that reason he was willing to bear the expense."

North Texas, Southern Oklahoma Officers Convene at Frederick

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., May 2.—About 100 peace officers registered here today to attend the two-day convention of the North Texas and Southern Oklahoma Peace Officers association.

Sheriffs departments, police departments and special agencies were represented at the meet, as were county and city governments of numerous towns over this section. Delegates were present from Elk City, El Reno, Oklahoma City, Ardmore, Waurika, Hollis, Sayre, Altus, Walters, Grandfield and McCallister, Okla., and Wichita Falls, Knox City, Fort Worth, Amarillo, Pampa, Burkburnett and Electra, Texas.

The chief event of the first day was an address by Lieut. Gov. Robert Burns of Oklahoma during the evening session. County Judge S. N. Starnes of Altus delivered an address during the afternoon on "The Evolution of the American Peace Officer." The afternoon session was featured by a round table discussion dealing with the problems of law enforcement bodies.

Tuesday's activities will include pistol shooting contests, for which prizes will be awarded for men, women and teams. This event is scheduled for the afternoon.

Judge P. A. Martin of Wichita Falls and James C. Nance, Walters, former speaker of the house of representatives, are scheduled for the principal addresses of the second day. Officers of the association will be elected during the session Tuesday morning.

Monday's session was called to order by E. T. Smith, president, after which Mayor J. J. Rogers of Frederick delivered the address of welcome. Sam B. Spence, district attorney at Wichita Falls, responded.

Senator Cecil Chamberlin of Frederick had charge of the program of entertainment which included musical numbers by the Frederick Lions club trio, the Trey of Hearts, composed of Misses Dora Lou Case, Ruth McFall and Marvel Bowen; numbers by the Altus Kiwanis club quartet; and a vocal depiction of a 'coon hunt by Art Wright of Frederick.

Wichitans registered at the convention are Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Sam B. Spence, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Leverett, Warren Belcher, Judge P. A. Martin, James A. McDonald, Wichita county juvenile officer; and Sheriff Perry Browning.

Burkburnett is represented by Chief of Police Bill Garland; Electra by F. E. Lewis, police officer, and Ted Moreland, city commissioner; and Knox City by Chief G. T. Hardberger.

FARM BOARD TO SELL COTTON

Half of Holdings to Go On Market Aug. 1

WASHINGTON, May 2. (AP)—One-half of the farm board's 1,300,000 bales of stabilization cotton will be placed on the market, beginning Aug. 1.

In announcing this new policy today, the board said the cotton stabilization corporation will "make every effort to distribute sales throughout the season without disturbance to markets or to price levels."

The cotton was bought from the 1929 crop at a cost of approximately $107,000,000 or an average of 16.3 cents per pound, in an attempt to stabilize falling prices. Cotton now is selling for five cents a pound.

Whether the 650,000 bales will be sold largely in foreign trade was not specified. Chairman Stone of the board told the senate agriculture committee last week inquiries had been received indicating 500,000 to 1,000,000 bales could be sold to foreign governments if congress would provide funds for financing export sales.

STRIKERS TIE UP BUILDING

30,000 Laborers Walk Out In New York City

NEW YORK, May 2. (INS)—Thirty thousand building trades workers walked out today in a wage strike which practically paralyzed construction work in the city. There was no disorder.

Chiefly affected was Rockefeller City, where more than 2,500 workmen struck, tying up all construction with the exception of steel work and excavating. The steel workers and excavators are not members of the unions involved.

A detail of 50 policemen were assigned to keep the streets clear of workmen who continued to loiter about Rockefeller City, their numbers increased by those seeking work. No effort was being made, however, to hire strikebreakers as an early settlement of the differences between the unions and the employers was expected.

San Angelo Candidate Protests City Election

SAN ANGELO, Texas, May 2. (AP)—Suit for office and a court order declaring the city election of April 5 void was filed in district court here this afternoon in behalf of C. L. Sharp, defeated candidate for city commissioner No. 1. Allegations are made that one of the polling places remained open after 7 o'clock, that poll lists were not checked against the voters, that some in outlying additions were permitted to vote, that city employes were active in the prohibited zone in behalf of the defendants, the old commission, which was reelected.

Mill Agents Hold Conference Here

The Wichita Mill & Elevator company is the host unit for the conference. Sessions held at the Kemp hotel Monday had sales as their theme. J. S. Hargett of Wichita Falls is in charge of the meetings.

T. Thatcher of Kansas City and G. C. Thomas of Minneapolis are General Mills executives in attendance.

Senators Clash Over Philippine Exclusion

WASHINGTON, May 2. (US)—The Shortridge bill to exclude Philippine laborers from the United States provided a bitter clash between Senators Shortridge, of California, and King, of Utah, today.

At a hearing on the measure before the senate immigration committee, King declared it to be an "immoral proposition," adding:

"This proposal would keep a people under the American flag, yet refuse them the right to come into this country. I shall never vote for it."

latter city with Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana. Discussing prohibition, he reiterated his father was "wet" and counselled Democrats to vote for Garner if they were "dry," and for Smith if they "didn't want anything done" about prohibition.

The Republican delegation with 47 votes in the national convention is headed by Gov. James Rolph Jr., and includes such national figures as Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt and William H. Crocker, former Republican national committeeman.

Approximately 1,400,000 Republican voters are registered.

CANDIDATES SPLIT VOTES IN SIX STATES

(By The Associated Press)

California's 44 votes in the Democratic national convention was the big prize dangling before Franklin D. Roosevelt, Alfred E. Smith and Speaker Garner in today's presidential primaries and conventions.

Smith picked up Rhode Island's 10 delegates in a convention yesterday which also came out for repeal or resubmission of prohibition, but this delegation had been conceded the 1928 nominee and Roosevelt workers were confident California would add her 44 to the New York governor's present total of 279. Smith and Garner forces were equally confident.

Smith Gets Rhode Island

The 10 in Rhode Island boosted Smith's delegates to 46 to place him third in the running, 12 delegates behind Senator Lewis of Illinois.

Besides Rhode Island, Maryland voters, in a presidential primary, delegates to state conventions which, in turn, will name 19 Republican and 16 Democratic national delegates. The latter have been promised Gov. Albert C. Ritchie. Voters in the Republican preference primary chose between President Hoover and former Senator Joseph I. France.

An Arkansas district meeting named two Hoover delegates yesterday to complete the state's delegation of 15. The two brought the Hoover pledged and claimed delegate total to 703, with only 578 required for the nomination.

Other Elections Slated

Results in county Democratic meetings in South Carolina yesterday indicated Roosevelt would be an easy winner of the 18 delegates to be selected there May 18.

Today's voters, outside of California, will select 24 Democratic delegates in Alabama and 10 in South Dakota, with most of the 34 conceded to Roosevelt.

Hoover was unopposed for his state's 47 delegates. The Republicans also were selecting today 15 district delegates in Alabama, 11 in South Dakota and 11 in Mississippi, where a "black and tan" delegation already has pledged for Hoover.

Oil Steal Probe Gains Momentum

made speeches at San Francisco sult from the sweeping investigation was made by Colonel Davidson.

Instructed to Go Limit

Reports of fraudulent operations caused Judge W. C. Hurst to instruct the Gregg county grand jury, convening today, to "go the limit" in bringing violators into court.

"In these days when poverty stalks the face of the earth and suffering is rampant in its remotest corners, it has developed that we are in a favored spot. The richest oil field in the world is at our door.

"We have welcomed investors, whether they be people able to buy only small royalties, or those able to develop large acreages. Many of our own people, after struggling for years to make a livelihood, find themselves with a competence for life if the same is properly conserved.

Protection Needed

"Others with life savings have become owners of mineral interests that must be given protection by our laws. If reports are true, there exists in this country a condition that will take much of your time, wisdom and patience."

Chairman C. V. Terrell of the state railroad commission said he and Commission Lon A. Smith would go to Tyler Wednesday to start an investigation of the commission's personnel in the field.

"From the reports I notice there are irregularities and violations of the law in the oil fields of East Texas which appear to involve employees of the railroad commission," he said. "A thorough investigation will be made at once by the commission and such action will be taken as facts may warrant.

To "Clean House"

"We'll go to East Texas Wednesday and you can tell the people of that section for me that the railroad commission will clean house from cellar to garret if facts justify it. Let the bricks fall where they may."

Commissioner Smith asked today for the resignation of E. M. Daniels, employed by the commission as railroad checker at Henderson in administration of proration rules in the field. Daniels was arrested yesterday in connection with alleged thefts of oil.

Colonel Davidson asserted that as much as two years had been cut from the life of some wells in the Gladewater area as a result of overproduction and theft of oil. He said offset wells in many cases had been damaged almost as badly. Some of the wells lost as much as 15 to 40 pounds pressure in the past five months. This equals 12 months' production under the allowable.

Round Shoulders

Some times a very tall girl consciously stoops over trying to look shorter, but most stoop-shouldered people are hardly aware that they are round shouldered until some one says to them, "For goodness sake, straighten your shoulders!" They make an heroic effort to jerk the shoulders back and two minutes later are bent over again. Those who have held this posture for a long time will usually need some one to give them directions as to just how to go about correcting their defect.

A well-set pair of shoulders is an asset to any one and those who are stoop-shouldered have longed many times in secret for straight, square, strong shoulders. Such shoulders are desirable in men, so much so that men's suits often are padded just for the purpose of simulating that broad-shouldered look, which is so much admired. Women also need a good set of shoulders because this improves the carriage of the body and because no woman can carry her clothes right without a good pair of shoulders from which to hang them. Moreover, a woman with pretty shoulders can wear evening gowns much better than women with scrawny, stooped shoulders.

Round shoulders produce many undesirable effects, among them being: Cramping of the vital organs, including the lungs, heart, stomach and liver; prevention of adequate breathing; as well as the poor psychological effect of round shoulders, which give any person a discouraged, hopeless look. Round shoulders completely spoil a good appearance, as one with this bad posture habit will carry the head thrust forward, has a flat chest, while the whole body slumps forward and the abdomen bulges out in a "pot-belly." Poor shoulder position may cause a roll of fat to form at the nape of the neck, and such shoulders make one older looking; after several years the back may become so humped that a spinal curvature becomes permanently developed.

Causes of Round Shoulders

There are three causes of round shoulders: 1. Wrong posture or carriage of the body. This may begin in carelessness or may be occupational, being due to the kind of work done. 2. Muscular weakness, especially of the muscles of the upper back. 3. Wrong diet during childhood and lack of sunlight. A psychological cause may exist with any of these, for example, one having an inferiority complex often has round shoulders.

Certain occupations seem to produce a round-shouldered worker in a large percentage of cases, while other activities actually prohibit this. For example, those who become deformed by work so slowly that they hardly notice it are those who spend their working hours over desks, books, housework, plowing, or in fact any work which keeps the body humped over, while those who find it impossible to be stoop-shouldered engage in wood-chopping, tennis, swimming, wrestling, rowing and other shoulder-developing activity.

One of the largest classes of workers to suffer from round shoulders is that of the homemakers. By the time many women are 35 they have that household drudge stoop to the shoulders. You may think that doing housework would give enough exercise to prevent round shoulders from developing this is not true. Women at home get plenty of physical activity but it is mostly the wrong kind, that is, it is done with the body bending over as in washing, sweeping, etc. This position will cause round shoulders and also sagging of the internal organs. In order to balance the stooping tendency of housework every worker at home should stop at least three times every day to practice the opposite kind of exercise, which lifts the shoulders.

You need not be doomed to round shoulders by your work. You can overcome this tendency. Tomorrow's article will tell you what to do.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Calcium

Question—Mrs. F. M. writes: "One time a doctor explained to me that we ossify with too much calcium and, together with deterioration of the tissues, gradually come to our ends, some more speedily than others, etc., but as we must have calcium to live, is there not some way to gauge the amount in order to avoid this ossification process?"

Answer—The ossification from calcium is not due so much from calcium in the food as in the inability to eliminate it. Its deposition in the tissues is usually caused by chronic irritations from toxins. Other changes taking place in the body are an increase of the intercellular substances and a degeneration of the ductless glands. These symptoms can be avoided to a great extent by the use of large quantities of non-starchy vegetables, fruits and distilled water in the diet, and avoiding the use of foods made from cereals. The sodium in foods assists in keeping calcium soluble so that it is not as likely to form deposits in the body. I am sending you an article called "Food Minerals" which tells you which foods contain the various minerals, etc.

Pulse Beat and Blood Pressure

Question—H. W. asks: "If the pulse is normal, will the blood pressure be normal?"

Answer—There is very little relationship between the rapidity of the pulse and the blood pressure. The use of the sphygmomanometer (an instrument found in any physician's office) would determine the latter condition.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, May 2. (AP)—A further sharp early decline under a continuation of last week's selling movement was followed by rallies on trade buying and covering in cotton today.

July contracts closed at 5.68 compared with 5.63 at the close of the previous day. The general market closed firm at net advances of 5@10 points.

There was talk of heging against cotton held in the South, and some stop orders were uncovered on the decline.

This carried prices off to 5.32 for May or back to the lowest price touched by any delivery on the decline of last October, while October sold off to 5.68, making a new low record for the season on that position.

May closed at 5.54, with October selling up to 5.99 and closing at 5.94, making a net recovery of about 26 points from the lowest.

Uncertainty as to the future marketing policies of the federal farm board was again mentioned in connection with the unsettled action of the early market. A private report pointing to a decrease of 8.5 per cent in acreage appeared to be without any particular effect on the market.

Futures closed firm, 5@10c higher. Spot quiet; middling 5.70.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, May 2. (AP)—Cotton prices touched new lows for the season in active trading today, but the market rallied and closed at new gains of 6 to 7 points over Saturday's close.

The market turned decidedly easier in the morning. Prices made new low levels for the season with July down to 5.45, Oct. to 5.66 and Dec. to 5.81 or 18 to 21 points below the early highs and 14 to 15 points below Saturday's close.

Around mid-session the market rallied on covering and trade buying and during the afternoon regained all of the early loss and more. Prices made new highs right at the end of the covering of some large short interests. July advancing to 5.67, Oct. to 5.88 and Dec. to 6.03 or 22 points up from the lows. The close was at or near the top with July and Oct. showing net gains for the day of 6 points and Dec. a net gain of 7 points.

Three private acreage estimates were issued during the day, the first showing a reduction of 12½ to 16 2-3 per cent, the second a reduction of only 5.9 per cent and the third a reduction of 8.5 per cent.

Wave of Liquidation Again Brings Stock and Bond Quotations Down

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, May 2. (US)—There was no let-up today in the wave of stock and bond liquidation. Bond quotations depreciated more on the average than did stocks.

This very evidently reflected liquidation of forced character. Any attempt to blame the pressure principally upon professional selling or speculative offerings of any kind falls flat in view of the relatively greater weakness in bonds than in stocks.

Certainly, bonds are being subjected to little short-selling. The fact is that the markets again are undergoing a new outbreak of outright liquidation, a great part of which seems to be the result of far-reaching adjustments in the insurance field. The May 1 period brought several bond defaults, which probably helped unnerve the bond list.

Railroad stocks and bonds were in free supply. Apparenty the Interstate Commerce commission ruling, with respect to the St. Louis-San Francisco's application for reconstruction finance corporation loans, is being bearishly interpreted.

The ruling requires the Frisco to scale down its capital and fixed charges, which naturally means a recapitalization. Actually, any such recapitalization merely is officially recognizing existing conditions.

The bonds of a great many railroads are selling at such enormous discounts from par that it is almost ridiculous to maintain capital structures based on par for the bonds.

The investor, seeing the fantastically low prices currently quoted for the bonds, naturally feels that receivership is just ahead.

A voluntary recapitalization, which would place the fixed charges of the railroad on a reasonable basis, probably would help, not hurt, the value of many bonds now quoted at discounts of 50, 60, 70, 80 per cent from par.

At least, then, the investor will know that the costly procedure of receivership can be averted, and the capital of the road, as adjusted, wuold more properly represent true assets, and earning power.

The many billions of dollars shrinkage in market value of the railroad industry must be recognized as a reflection of fundamental conditions transceding for many roads the influence of the depression.

Insurance companies are being blamed for a good deal of the recent selling both in stocks and in bonds. State authorities have been insisting upon insurance companies adjusting their assets and dividend distributions so as to conform more closely to prevailing conditions.

Insurance companies in New York, for example, have carried investments as of June, 1931, market quotations.

The state superintendent now insists that in payment of dividends on their own stocks, insurance companies recognize this artificial price level own stocks, insurance companies recognize this artificial price level for their investments; the prospect plainly is for elimination of insurance company dividends in numerous instances.

Then, too, there is every probability that mergers, segregations, etc., will take place among various insurance compsnies. This refers mainly to the fire insurance concerns, rather than the "life" companies.

In an effort to adjust their positions, various insurance companies have been heavy sellers of securities; one company is reported to have recently liquidated 40,000 shares of Atchison.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 2. (AP)—Uncertainty over how the monthly unofficial crop reports due tomorrow would be construed led to a late setback in wheat prices today.

A decrease of 4,645,000 bushels in the United States wheat visible supply proved to have but a temporary bullish effect.

Wheat closed nervous, at the same as Saturday's finish to 1c lower, corn unchanged to ⅛c down, oats at ⅛c decline to ⅛c advance, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 2c.

Bulls in wheat laid considerable stress on reports from the Northwest indicating a late season for completion of spring crop seeding, with a possible curtailment of 10 per cent from the acreage which had been planned. A decrease of 920,000 bushels in stocks of wheat on ocean passage, despite world shipments of 17,768,000 caused comment as pointing to rapid disappearance of wheat in import countries.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, May 53⅞@⅝, 55⅝; July 55⅝@56, 57⅜; Sept. 58⅞, 60⅛; Dec. 61½; Bids. Corn, May, 28⅛@⅝, bids: July 32@32¼, 32⅝@⅞; Sept. 34⅝, 35⅝.

One of the leading dramatic attainments of the Blue Curtain Players of the Junior college will be offered the public Tuesday evening at 8:15 o'clock at the college auditorium with the presentation of "The Queen's Husband." The play is a three-act comedy, based on humorous situations arising in the comic opera setting of a romantic little kingdom between Esthonia and Lithuania.

The starring roles include the local veteran, Wilmont Hunt, as the young lover, prince of a neighboring country, with Miss Peggy Durkin filling the opposite role of the bethrothed princess of the kingdom. The locale is the drawing room of the king, handled by Henry Barton, with Miss Cecelia Terrill as his queen.

Wichita Composer and Pupils To Appear Before Texas Music Leaders

Eithel Allen Nelson to Play Own Compositions and Present Violin Students at Dallas

Eithel Allen Nelson, violinist and composer of this city, will make his debut before the Texas Composers guild at Dallas Thursday evening in connection with the annual state meet of the Texas Federation of Music clubs, it was announced Monday.

The following Saturday William Luther Donnell, Miss Peggy Williamson, and Miss Mary Elizabeth Cobb, violin soloists and first place winners at the recent first district meet here, will compete with other soloists from over the state for titular honors. All are pupils of Mr. Nelson. Saturday afternoon, the Louis XIV Court Fiddlers, an organization of Mr. Nelson's younger pupils, will appear in concert at the invitation of federation officials.

Mr. Nelson only recently became a member of the Texas Composers' Guild, an organization restricted to Texas composers whose work has been published by accredited editors. The guild now includes about 15 members. A numbers of Mr. Nelson's compositions have been published in France.

The composers are required to play original compositions in recitals before the guild membership. Mr. Nelson will play three numbers, "Pensee Triste," "Valse Scherzo," and "The Gypsy," the latter a recent work presented for the first time in public by Mr. Nelson on the recent Musicians club program.

The Court Fiddlers were warmly received at the first district meeting last year in Vernon and state officials urged that they appear in concert at the state meet, held that year in Temple, Texas. The long journey to Temple, however, interfereed with the plan. This year the invitation was repeated, and accepted when Dallas was chosen as the site for the state meet.

The federation meeting will be held at the Baker hotel, Dallas, beginning Wednesday and lasting through Saturday, it was announced. Thursday evening has been set aside as "composers' night," when the guild will present its recital.

A number of Wichita Falls people plan to attend, it was said.

Importance of the train to advertise and issue invitations for the 50th anniversary party in this city Sept. 26-28, has been stressed by drive leaders, as well as the vacation feature of the train trip and convention and the aim of holding record of Wichita Falls of sending the largest delegation to the regional meetings since the West Texas chamber has been organized.

Meeting of Grand Jury Postponed Two Days For Anglers

Postponed two days from the usual opening day because of the opening of the fishing season on May 1, the May session of the April grand jury will open Wednesday morning before Judge P. A. Martin of the 89th district court.

The first Monday of each month usually sees the convening of the grand jury in this county, but the later day for opening was set one month ago out of deference to nimrods.

M'DONALD'S EYE GIVES TROUBLE

Premier May Have to Have Second Operation

LONDON, May 2. (AP)—Prime Mininster Ramsay MacDonald may have to undergo an operation on his right eye similar to the surgical treatment of his left eye exactly four months ago tomorrow.

This was disclosed today after a two-hour examination of Mr. MacDonald's eyes, and his physicians decided to hold a consultation tomorrow to decide on the best course of treatment of the right eye. Another specialist may be called in.

Mr. MacDonald is suffering from glaucoma, a complicated condition of the eye which results in a painful tension. Unless relieved it often ultimately results in blindness.

Glaucoma, however, usually is susceptible to proper treatment and may be arrested without serious impairment of the vision. Physicians disagree as to its causes, but approaching age is generally considered one of them.

After the examination today the prime minister was ordered to take a three-hour rest each day if possible. He had already been told not to put undue strain on his eyes as he had before the February operation.

Driller Ends Life By Slashing Throat

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 2. (UP)—A train of misfortunes that culminated Sunday in the burning of his tent home in the city oil field were ended today for E. J. Lane, drilling contractor.

Shabbily dressed, Lane went to the Huckins hotel late yesterday, sat a few minutes on the mezzanine floor and then suddenly drew his pen knife and slashed his throat.

Hastily scribbling a note, he handed it to a bystander.

"E. J. Lane my name, give this to . . ."

The handwriting was illegible on the last word.

An undertaker talked to Mrs. Lane and a brother at Mount Pleasant, Texas, last night and was told Lane, in need of money, had come to Oklahoma City a week ago. She had not heard from him since.

SCHOOL TAXES FALL SHORT

Collections for Quarter Are Placed at $12,000

Collections of quarterly school tax payments for the period closing April 30, were estimated as $12,000 Monday by Ralph W. Hyer, city and school tax collector. No accurate check on the amount will be available for several days until all mail payments are received Mr. Hyer said.

The payments, based on the estimate, are only 40 per cent of the amount due, Mr. Hyer added. Taxes for the current quarter will be due by July 31, after the school closes on May 27.

The school system is now facing a debt of approximately $125,000 including teachers' salaries, salaries of caretakers and other operating expenses. Salaries of instructors are over due by two months to date.
