Senators Swing Into Line Behind Charter

Connally Sets Off Long Applause With Plea For Early Ratification

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 28—In an impromptu preview of formal debate to come, the Senate tonight heard the United Nations charter called the hope for future peace and the most important declaration of foreign policy this country has ever made.

As an indication of the overwhelming swing of sentiment in favor of the 50-nation agreement signed at San Francisco, Senator LaFollette (Prog-Wis), long time critic of administration foreign policies, announced that he intends to support ratification.

Comes At Night Session

LaFollette's announcement came at a night session following a speech in which Chairman Connally (D-Tex) of the foreign relations committee declared that the fate of future world peace may rest on the Senate's acceptance of the charter. Connally was applauded rousingly as he concluded.

Most members thought that was all to be said on the charter for the day, but after they had listened boredly to several hours of talk by Senator Bilbo (D-Miss) against an appropriation bill item carrying funds for the Fair Employment Practices commission, Senator Overton (D-La) touched off the international question again.

Overton's resolution was sent to the foreign relations committee.

Senator George (D-Ga) arose to say that it would be "a flippant act" for the Senate to vote without holding hearings on what he called "the most significant and drastic change in foreign policy this government ever has made."

Won't Be Stampeded

At this point Senator Brooks (R-Ill) said he is rather inclined to vote for ratification of the document, but he warned that if there is any attempt to rush the thing through he is prepared to talk long enough about it so that the American people will know what the charter contains.

Connally's formal speech outlining the charter had touched of an unusual demonstration in the usually-reserved Senate.

Urging speed, the Texas senator called the San Francisco-born instrument "the best document that the wisdom of the peace loving nations could devise."

Truman Wants US To Be First

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

KANSAS CITY, June 28 — President Truman called tonight for United States ratification first of the projected United Nations peace charter.

He spoke at exercises in which he was given the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws by the University of Kansas City's school of law.

"We are going to have to ratify that charter, and I want to see the United States be the first to do it," the President told about 10,000 persons assembled in the municipal auditorium for Kansas City's greeting to the President.

His Grin Spreads

An infectious grin spread over the President's face as he strode down the aisle of the auditorium to receive the first honorary degree ever awarded by the university. He bantered with the reporters as he passed the press table, solemnly arrayed.

The citation asserted it was given for the President's action in having restored confidence at home and inspiration to the people abroad by promoting "universal law and order, freedom and good will," and as "a good neighbor to all the world."

The President reminded his audience that two documents were signed at San Francisco—the United Nations charter and a world court document, and that the ratification of both will be required to put them into effect and make possible "world peace for the next few generations."

Must Carry Out Ideals

"It is up to the republic to carry out these ideals of Woodrow Wilson and Franklin D. Roosevelt," the President continued.

Clark Named U.S. Chief In Austria

WASHINGTON, June 28. (AP)—The command setup for the American zones of occupation in Europe was completed today with the designation of Gen. Mark W. Clark as chief of the U. S. area in Austria.

Clark, veteran commander of the 15th Army group, will assume in Austria a position comparable to the one Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower holds in the occupation of Germany.

Similarly, the occupation of Austria will follow the same pattern established in Germany — with each of the four powers, Russia, Britain, France and the United States, occupying a separate zone.

Form Control Council

The occupying powers, with Gen. Clark as American representative, will form in Vienna an over-all Allied control council corresponding to the joint commission which will rule Germany.

The U. S. zone in Austria will include the southwestern section, with the Russians in the east, the British in the northeast and the French in the west central area.

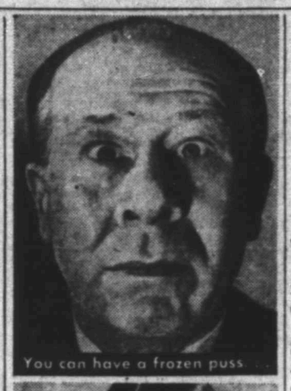

Vienna, the site of General Clark's headquarters, likewise will be divided among the occupying powers.

Undersecretary of War Patterson, announcing Clark's appointment at a news conference, said that Clark will be the "highest ranking" American working with the other powers in governing Austria and will be the "supreme American authority on military government and political problems" in the U. S. zone.

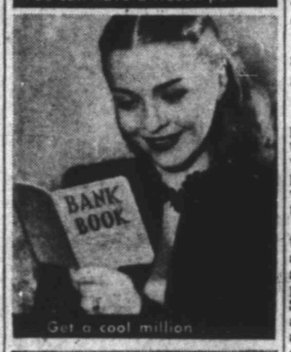

Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, who participated in the news conference, added that two American divisions have been assigned to the occupation force in Italy and already are stationed in the American zone.

Meanwhile, McNarney reported, the evacuation of 508,000 American soldiers from Italy will be virtually completed by the end of next January. After that time, he said, only about 2,600 salvage troops, 5,000 air corps troops and possibly an occupational division in the Trieste area will remain in Italy.

OPA Sees More July Meat And Readjusts Some Point Values

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 28—OPA today predicted slightly more meat in July. At the same time it cut point values for cheese, but increased the ration cost of margarine and canned fish.

The point revisions are effective for the period from next Sunday through July 28, OPA said, adding that no downward adjustments for meat are included because the supply increase is only 5 per cent.

The agency reported that while meat is reaching retail stores in greater quantity and with greater regularity, "the scarcity is still acute" in many areas.

Margarine Supply Low

Margarine goes from 12 to 14 points a pound because third quarter supply is down, but the butter value is unchanged and current point costs for canned fruits and vegetables are being continued for the new ration period.

The increase for canned fish is two to three points a pound, resulting from a 35 percent slash in supply for the year ahead as compared with the last 12 months. Such varieties as salmon, shrimp and tuna go from six to nine points a pound, while mackerel and sardines get a new value of six points, up two.

Cheese Values Pared

Cheese ration values are pared two to four points a pound to prevent spoilage while production restrictions are suspended. The cut is necessary, OPA said, despite the fact that the July-September civilian allocation is 21,000,000 pounds less than the amount available during the second quarter.

Cheddar cheese values are trimmed four points to eight a pound, such varieties as limburger, neufchatel, camembert, and cream from six to four, and such as buttermilk and baker's cheese from four to two.

The only adjustments in the meat chart are increases of one or two points a pound for seven fat pork cuts, including fatbacks, jowls, plates, sides and plate and jowl bacon.

OPA called the improvement in meat distribution "slight but definite," and attributed the brighter picture to its control program to increase interstate shipments, as well as to an intensified drive against the black market.

Pork Outlook Bad

The July outlook, OPA reported, is for more beef, veal and mutton, but only 81,100,000 pounds of pork a week as compared with 91,240,000 this month, and 10,030,000 pounds of lamb weekly, down 980,000 from the June average.

On the increase side, there will be an average of 90,090,000 pounds of beef weekly, up 16,560,000; veal 24,180,000 up 1,140,000; mutton 2,790,000 up 600,000.

The larger beef allocation is due principally to a reduction in Army set-asides which goes into effect July 1.

Water Line Extensions For Negroes, Mexicans Approved

City commissioners Thursday afternoon took steps to improve the water systems for the Mexican and negro residential sections of Lubbock by approving purchases of water mains into the two areas.

Plans for the extensions have already been drawn and work is expected to begin as soon as materials arrive. Estimated cost will be approximately $15,000. Johns-Manville transit pipe was purchased for the mains and Trinity Valley Iron and Steel fittings and valves and hydrants from Clowe and Cowan.

The commission authorized the drawing of an ordinance extending the parking meter zones and parallel parking. Additional areas to be covered by meters and parallel parking are: from Tenth to Fourteenth streets on Ave. L, and the east side of the 1300-block on Ave. J. Parking meters were ordered placed in the balance of the block on the west side of Texas avenue from Tenth to Main and on the east side of the 1200-block on Ave. H.

Other more or less routine matters acted on by the commission included the purchase of a carload of lubricating oil from the Cities Service Oil company at a cost of 23.75 cents a gallon. The company's bid was low among six bids.

Guard Unit Support

The commission also agreed to pay 60 per cent of the $1,500 needed to operate the local Texas State Guard units for the fiscal year beginning July 1 provided the county commissioners court pays the remainder. Walter Smith, Paul Willis and Wm. C. Myers appeared in behalf of the guard.

Upon the recommendation of Harvey Austin, tax collector, taxes totaling $28.41 on lots 2 and 6, block 36, Roberts and McWhorter addition, belonging to S. E. McMillan, were cancelled.

Sub-contractor's bond for L. O. Ingley, a general contractor's bond for Sidney A. Taylor and a sign board bond for Jas. T. Wells were approved.

City Manager Marlin R. Smith, was instructed to work with members of the airport board in the purchase of furniture for the lobby at municipal airport.

Closing Of Alley

City Attorney Durwood Bradley was instructed to draw an ordinance closing the alley in block 126, original town, subject to sewer line servicing privileges after Joe Arrington and Arthur Lay had explained to the commission that the alley was dead-ended at the State Highway department property and served no other property owners but themselves.

In the absence of Mayor O. W. Ribble, Commissioner W. B. Price presided. Other members present were: Commissioners J. Ray Dickey, Fred H. Childress and Hub Jones, City Secretary Lavenia Williams, Smith and Bradley.

Debbs Crawford Given 15 Years

Debbs Crawford, 24-year-old Lubbock man, was assessed 15 years in the penitentiary on his conviction Wednesday at Houston on an indictment charging armed robbery last January of a liquor store in Houston, it was said Thursday by Chief Deputy Sheriff Raymond Land and Ranger Captain Maney Gault after their return from the trial, in which they appeared as witnesses.

Crawford, who has a lengthy criminal record in West Texas, allegedly held up a woman attendant and took more than $600 and several gasoline stamps.

Charged Last Week

He was charged last week and his arrest in Lubbock followed soon afterward.

Crawford had been at liberty on bonds set in four cases. He was also on probation for the duration of a two-year suspended sentence assessed in federal court here last month on his plea of guilty to a charge of violating gasoline ration regulations, according to Elmer Reed of Lubbock, U. S. probation officer. He had posted bail in an automobile theft case here; an appeal bond on a two-year sentence assessed at Levelland for burglary; bond in a burglary case at Farwell and on an OPA charge in federal court at Abilene.

Case At Abilene

The case at Abilene, involving illegal possession of gasoline coupons, is due for trial next term of U. S. court there, it was reported.

The suspended sentence given here grew out of Crawford's purported possession of gasoline stamps taken in the burglary last winter of a wholesale gasoline station at Floydada. Crawford was charged with the burglary of the station but the case was thrown out of court at Floydada on a technicality.

Fire Bombs Rain On Four Big Centers

(By The Associated Press)

GUAM, Friday, June 29.—Marianas-based American Superfortresses spread their incendiary destruction to four more Japanese cities today. Between 450 and 500 of them rained more than 3,000 tons of fire bombs on Sasebo, Moji, Nobeoka and Okayama.

The pre-dawn raids (after 11 a.m. Thursday, U. S. cwt) brought to 18 the number of Japan's cities hit in the B-29's campaign to burn Nippon out of the war.

Two previous raids this week, on Tuesday and Thursday, were explosive bomb attacks on specific factories and oil refinery centers.

Split Four Ways

This first large-scale incendiary mission since June 20 split four ways to hit at Sasebo, Moji and Nobeoka, Kyushu island ports, and the vital industries of Okayama on Honshu island.

The blows were a continuation of attacks on industrial areas on which Japan is more dependent than ever since destruction of great areas of Tokyo, Nagoya, Yokohama, Osaka and Kobe.

Sasebo, with a population of 206,000, ranks with Kobe, Kure and Yokusuka as homeland naval bases. It is located on northwestern Kyushu, north of Nagasaki.

The most important single target in Sasebo was the naval dockyard. The naval base city's industries, including shipbuilding and ship repair yards, are concentrated on the waterfront.

Moji, with a population of about 140,000 is one of Japan's vital transportation cities.

Transportation Hub

Besides being an important chemical and explosives producing city, Nobeoka is a vital eastern Kyushu transportation hub. It has a population of about 80,000.

Okayama, population about 163,000 is 100 miles west of Osaka. Seven railroads radiate from the city, making it an important target.

The 21st Bomber command announced yesterday, in disclosing results of June 18, 20 and 22 raids, that more than 115 square miles of Japan's factory and urban areas have been burned or bombed out.

Free Enterprise In U. S. Urged

Asserting that "the future of this nation, economically and politically, depends on the continued freedom of private enterprise and efficient management," Dr. George S. Benson, president of Harding college of Searcy, Ark., speaking to a crowd of approximately 400 persons Thursday night in Lubbock High school auditorium, presented a three-point program for national post-war prosperity and the elimination of unemployment and socialistic trends.

"In order to preserve our American way of life, three immediate steps are essential," Dr. Benson declared. "First, industry, big and little, will be obliged to come forth with a challenging program that it has the vision and the courage to offer the jobs and provide the goods that the American public will demand at the close of this war.

Congress Must Act

"Second, Congress must take two definite steps: first, it must be made certain that existing war plants, which constitute about one-fourth of America's manufacturing capacity, will be sold to private enterprise and not retained for operation for government in competition to private enterprise. The second step for Congress is to enact a post-war tax bill. It should be passed now and so worded as to become effective automatically as soon as the war is over. Private enterprise can-

Seventh Sails Into Makassar Straits

Heavy Neutralizing Attacks Pound Island; Landing Reports Ignored

By SPENCER DAVIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Friday, June 29—Presence of the U. S. Seventh Fleet in the hostile waters of Makassar straits between Celebes and southeast Borneo was disclosed today by Gen. Douglas MacArthur. He announced that surface craft had shot down three Japanese planes there Monday.

There was no further report on the action and no confirmation of persistent Tokyo radio reports that an Allied fleet had been bombarding Japanese positions around the Borneo southeast coast port of Balikpapan since June 15. The Japanese have contended landing attempts already had been made on that coast.

Neutralizing Attacks

MacArthur's communique did disclose that planes of the U. S. Fifth and 13th Air forces and the Royal Australian Air force continued heavy neutralizing attacks on gun positions and airdromes on the coast of Dutch Borneo.

More than 90 Liberators and 40 Mitchell medium bombers and a score of Lightning fighters dropped 286 tons of bombs on Balikpapan, as well as on the Manghar airdrome 12 miles northeast, and in the Redeb sector 70 miles south of the Australian-conquered isle of Tarakan.

RAAF Kittyhawks also hit the North Borneo enemy base at Jesselton while Fifth Air force Liberators bombed Kuching, capital of Sarawak, and Seventh Fleet Privateers damaged three freighters at Pontianak, on Borneo's west coast.

Black Widow Fire Areas

Black Widow night fighters dumped incendiaries on the Ensuiko alcohol refinery on Formosa, setting fires visible 100 miles, and blockade planes continued to hit Canton and Nanking in China.

Mention of Allied surface craft activity in Makassar straits was the first in nearly three and one-half years.

While the present significant return of American warships to Makassar straits was being disclosed, MacArthur announced that American Sixth division troops and Filipino guerrillas were maintaining steady pressure on all

23 Jap Surface Craft Smashed

GUAM, Friday, June 29 (AP) — Twenty-three enemy surface craft were sunk or damaged Wednesday and Thursday by American planes off Korea, in Japanese home waters and in the southern Ryukyus, headquarters reported today.

Off Korea and in empire waters on those two days, search planes of Fleet Air Wing One sank a small tanker, a small cargo ship, an unidentified vessel, four small craft and a freighter. A small freighter-transport, five small cargo ships, a small coastal cargo ship and a lugger were damaged.

Amami Group Pounded

On the same dates, Marine and Army planes of the tactical air force hit the Amami island group north of conquered Okinawa and the Sakishima group to the south.

The raiders set a small cargo ship and coastal vessel afire, sank two luggers and damaged two other coastal vessels and a barge.

Other raids were made on Truk and Yap in the Carolines, enemy bases in the Marshalls and in the Palaus.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said enemy planes dropped a few bombs in the Okinawa area Wednesday "without damage to our forces." Night fighters shot down one raider.

WESTERN SUBURB OF LIUCHOW CAPTURED

CHUNGKING, June 28 (AP) — Chinese troops battling for Liuchow have seized part of the former U. S. airfield south of the city and have captured a rail station in the western suburbs, the Chinese high command announced tonight.

These gains in the struggle for the big south-central China rail hub were reported as Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek declared Allied forces were preparing for the final blow against Japan.

Chiang Wants Equipment

Chiang urged that Chinese forces be equipped to carry the brunt of the fighting on the Asiatic mainland. He said that if this were done, the complete collapse of Japan might be achieved in one year, instead of the 18 months he otherwise estimated for the victory.

The Chinese leader said he believed U. S. landings on the China coast were necessary to open ports for supplies, and declared the sooner such landings come "the better."

If Americans land on the Japanese home islands and defeat the enemy there, he told a press conference, it would not be difficult for Chinese armies to deal with the Japanese on the mainland.

Liuchow Fighting Heavy

The fighting for Liuchow and its airfield, abandoned by the U. S. 14th Air force last November, was described as heavy.

The Chinese command said two sizable Chinese columns were pushing on the city from the northwest, and had reached points six miles north and two northeast of Liucheng, a stronghold on the Kweichow-Kwangsi railroad 11 miles northwest of Liuchow.

Cloture Sought In FEPC Scrap

WASHINGTON, Friday, June 29. (AP) — Senator Taft (R-Ohio) moved early today ot cut short debate on a southern filibuster which has held up action on an important appropriation bill and kept the Senate in session more than 12 hours.

After a quorum finally was produced at 12:12 a.m., cwt with the aid of the sergeant-at-arms, the Ohio senator presented a cloture petition which, if it carries by a two-thirds majority, would limit each senator to one hour's oratory.

Can't Vote Before Monday

Under the rules, the cloture question can not be voted upon until Monday.

The filibuster, carried on by Senator Bilbo (D-Miss) with the aid of some other southern senators, was directed against a motion by Senator Chavez (D-NM) to appropriate $446,200 to finance the activities of the Fair Employment Practice committee for the next fiscal year which begins Sunday.

Bilbo, standing before a desk piled high with reading matter, spoke for four hours before finally yielding the floor. The balding Mississippi Democrat had characterized his address as the funeral sermon of the FEPC.

Compromise Fails

After Bilbo lost the floor, on a quorum call, Barkley tried ineffectually to arrange a compromise between the opposing factions. He suggested that FEPC be given $250,000 for the next fiscal year instead of $446,200 asked by Senator Chavez (D-NM).

Bilbo, who previously had been adamant for a death sentence against the organization, said he was in no position to do any horse trading tonight but informed Barkley he would discuss the proposition with other lawmakers—apparently including some southern house members—tomorrow morning.

Early Rocket Travel Seen By Scientists

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, June 28—German scientists who now are turning over their technical knowledge to the Allies have declared their belief that rockets within the next five to ten years will speed a ton of mail across the Atlantic in 40 minutes and within 15 to 25 years will make regular passenger runs between Europe and the United States.

This and other seemingly fantastic data were disclosed in a press conference today by Lt. Col. John A. Keck of Greensburg, Pa., chief of the enemy equipment intelligence section of the U. S. Army ordnance division in the European theater.

Keck said many of the approximately 1,000 German scientists now in the combined custody of the Allied armies believe that with [illegible] years a man will be able to conquer and harness the rays of the sun. He added his own comment that the first nation to achieve this will rule the world.

To skeptical correspondents who listened with frequently raised eyebrows during his talk of more than an hour and a half, Keck said these scientists were the same men who developed Germany's V-1 and V-2 flying bombs and many other "screwball" weapons which he took off the secret list for the first time.

Such weapons, he said, included a 200-ton tank, guns with 400-foot barrels which had been found trained on London, rockets that could be launched from submerged submarines and a rifle with a curved barrel for shooting around corners.

Keck said most of these scientists have expressed willingness to go to the United States or Bri-

Japs Boast Mightily Of Suicide Weapons

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28 (AP)— Radio Tokyo bragged today of new suicide weapons to repel an expected homeland invasion which war commentators said would be welcome.

"The sooner the enemy comes, the better for us, for our battle array is complete," declared Ichiro Baba in a broadcast recorded by the FCC. The commentator added that the "future is indeed bright," although all Japanese "regret" the loss of Okinawa.

An unnamed Domei news agency correspondent chimed in: "I even hope for an early landing of enemy forces on our mainland just to sense the thrill when we strike a deadly blow to the enemy."

Domei reported that suicide weapons passed their experimental stage at Okinawa and would attain full results against homeland invasion. Its unidentified correspondent said the number of young men undergoing suicide attack training is "enormous" and corresponds with the number of weapons to be used—"almost equal the number of tanks and guns used in the European war." He added that these "special weapons" reflect the nation's sublime patriotism rather than "fanatic action or anachronistic suicide."

While closely watching for invasion from the south, the Japanese looked over their shoulders and declared themselves ready for attack from the north.

Tokyo radio reported a strong U. S. 9th Fleet awaiting opportunity to strike from the north, establishment of a new American submarine base at Kiska in the Aleutians and stationing of a Yank alpine division on Agattu island, also in that group. Extensive bombing raids from the north also were forecast.

Maximum Welfare Fund To Be One Amendment Decision August 25

By WILLIAM E. KEYES
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, June 28. — Texans will determine in a special election Aug. 25 whether an absolute annual ceiling of $35,000,000 a year will be placed on state spending for old age assistance, aid to the adult blind and assistance to destitute children.

A constitutional amendment with this effect and with the further effect of raising from $15 to $20 the maximum on an individual state grant for monthly old age assistance will appear in the last place on the ballot listing four proposed constitutional amendments.

These are the two principal features of an amendment which, if adopted, will alter state policy on public welfare.

Adds To Present Setup

Mechanically, the proposed amendment combines and adds to four present sections of the constitution.

Mostly it leaves unchanged the eligibility qualifications for the three types of assistance. It raises from 14 to 16 years the maximum age of children eligible for assistance under the destitute child program, and it tightens somewhat the resident requirement for children. It does not alter age assistance eligibility except to refer to "needy aged persons." The present constitution does not refer to need, although statutes governing qualifications invoke a need basis for payments.

An attempt in the Senate to write in the amendment considerably tightening eligibility rules was defeated.

Top Payment Raised

The constitution now says the maximum state payment (subject to federal matching) shall not exceed $15 per month per old age assistance recipient. This is raised to $20, making possible in some instances a top individual payment of $40.

The present constitution provides a maximum $15 monthly state payment to a needy blind person. This limitation is eliminated in the proposed amendment. The proposed amendment likewise eliminates a ceiling of $8 a month to one dependent child in a family or a top of $12 a month for more than one child in a family. It also wipes out an annual ceiling of $1,500,000 a year on total state spending for aid to destitute children.

Two Kinds Of Ceilings

Thus, it proposes only two kinds of ceilings, a $20 monthly maximum for individual old age assistance grants and a total of $35,000,000 a year for all three types of spending.

If the amendment is adopted the legislature would determine how much, within the $35,000,000 allotment, could be appropriated for each type of welfare expense.

The ballot wording does not specifically mention $35,000,000 as the annual ceiling, although this amount is stipulated in the proposed amendment itself.

Occupation Troops Helplessly Resent Sweeping Contagion

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

IN OCCUPIED GERMANY. — One of the worst contagions to sweep a military area now is inexorably closing in on American troops in Germany. It is called "occupational discipline," and is a similar disease to what once was known as "rear area chicken pox," while the battle still raged on the Western front.

The only difference was that in those days a doughboy could escape its ravages by returning to the front—and you would be surprised how many did just that.

Now, however, there is no escape. Since there is no front and no rear to this occupational business, all troops must suffer the same emphasis on discipline. Regardless of where they are, they are expected to spruce up, keep their blouses or field jackets properly buttoned or zipped up, and so forth.

High ranking military men say it is necessary especially in the case of somewhat idle troops, in order to keep them from turning into a disorganized, undisciplined mass. And it may be they're right. However, it's just another irritation to the average ex-combat officer and enlisted man.

Hardly a day goes by in this sector but what several GIs are picked up for speeding, improper uniform, driving without a trip ticket (a written permit to operate a vehicle), and various other infractions of military rules which were more or less forgotten during the fighting days.

Ruling Issued On Extradition Cases

AUSTIN, June 28. (U.P.)—In extradition cases for juveniles there is no issue as to whether the boy or girl is guilty in the state making the extradition request, the Texas Court of criminal appeals ruled today.

The opinion was made in an appeal from Dallas county where 15-year-old Rosie Leatherwood was arrested by the sheriff on a warrant from California. In Long Beach municipal court, records showed, she was charged with murder.

After being arrested in Dallas she applied for and was granted a habeas corpus writ and was discharged by the sheriff. Later she filed a motion requesting that being under the legal age of 17 she should be tried as a juvenile.

Her motion was overruled. She was remanded to custody of the Dallas sheriff to be delivered to agents of the state of California for trial on the murder charge.

Germans Assuming Cartel Resumption

WASHINGTON, June 28. (AP)— Assistant Attorney General Wendell Berge said today German industrialists already are "taking it for granted" they will be allowed to resume cartel operations with American, British and French industry.

Berge told a Senate military subcommittee investigating Germany's war potential there is evidence now that:

1—German industry hopes to remain "untouched" by Allied occupation.

2—The industrialist will try to maintain the core of organized research personnel "upon which their know-how depends."

3—They hope also to "continue economic domination" of Europe.

Philippines Liberation Chimes In With Major Chinese Developments

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press News Analyst

General MacArthur's announcement that organized Japanese resistance has ended on Luzon as well as Okinawa, and that the campaign to recapture the Philippines has been virtually concluded, chimes in with developments of both military and political significance in China. They give point to speculation that the next major forward moves against Japan in both the China sea theater and in China itself may be closer than has seemed probable up to now.

SIMPSON

Japanese retreat in the coastal province of Chekiang below Shanghai is reaching a point warranting doubt that any formidable stand against pursuing Chinese forces is to be expected short of the Ch'ient T'Ang river and Hangchow bay.

Nipponese retreat to that point would bring into Chinese hands potential air bases for American use 200 miles or less from the Shanghai hub of the whole Japanese occupation deployment in China. Linhai, the important highway town in Chekiang now in Chinese hands is 165 miles from Shanghai and less than 500 air miles from Okinawa.

The critical possibilities of those distances is obvious. They represent not only a chance to throw American air power into the Chinese campaign, but even possibilities of direct contact by sea with Chinese armies in Chekiang.

In that connection the remarks of Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek in his first press conference since 1941 are significant. As related by Chungking he urged an Allied landing on the east coast "the sooner the better," not for purposes of putting heavy American or other Allied armies ashore but to supply Chinese troops with what they lacked. Given such equipment and assuming a concerted Allied landing in Japan's home islands, Chiang said his troops could clean up the foe in China.

Business Booming, But Hitler's Baby Factories Closing

BAD WIESSEE, Germany, June 28 (AP)—The baby factories Hitler built for the SS are closing down, but not for lack of business.

Thousands of babies conceived before the German surrender will be born in the next seven months, many of them to unwed mothers, but instead of coming into the world in such idyllic surroundings as this Bavarian gardenspot, they will be born at home or in city hospitals.

Under the Nazi regime dozens of maternity homes were scattered in hotels about Bavaria.

In Bad Wiessee alone, a small resort town on the shore of a mountain-rimmed lake, there are 15 maternity homes.

Error In Election Date Is Studied

AUSTIN, June 28. (AP)—A possible method of correcting an error in the submission date of the soldiers' land sale plan amendment to the state constitution was studied today by Gov. Coke R. Stevenson.

The amendment, approved in haste in the final minutes of the 49th Legislature, was to have been submitted to the people on Nov. 7, 1946, two days after a general election. Three other amendments were submitted in the general election and presumably the Legislature meant also to date the land plan amandment for the Nov. 5 general election. A special statewide election costs about $200,000.

At a press conference the governor pondered informally the possibility of polling members of House and Senate to determine their intent regarding the submission date.

If two-thirds of both branches indicated they meant to submit the amendment on Nov. 5, 1946, the governor theorized that he or the secretary of state might, on this basis, ask the Supreme Court for a declaratory judgment. If the court agrees the intent of the legislature, regardless of its mistake, was to submit the amendment in the general election it could so order it submitted.

AP Seeks Rehearing In Anti-Trust Suit

NEW YORK, June 28. (AP) — A petition for rehearing of the federal government's anti-trust case against the Associated Press will be filed with the Supreme court, AP's board of directors announced last night.

READJUSTMENT

ONE of the problems of readjustment that British children have been called on to face since the war's end was occasioned when they returned after a sojourn in the United States. More than 6,000 of these children made their homes in America.

Now many of the children are back home and their conservative families likely may seem distant and a little strained. A little boy who had been permitted to whistle shrilly to his heart's content, or to call a friend a "bum," in the same affectionate manner we describe baseball players, or to slide down the stairs may find these acts are looked on as ungentlemanly in his own country.

A little girl who wore bobby socks, listened to the Saturday parade of song hits or cut her hair short may find that she has much to unlearn before she will be regarded as an English lady.

MISS Daisy Neumann, author who took care of one little English boy for a short time, has written a book, "Now That April's There," which sets out to increase understanding of British and Americans who saw each other for the first time through children's eyes. Her book is fictional and depicts the plight of two little British children, Wincy and Angus who are surprised their parents know so little concerning child psychology. Her mother tries to educate them in the American way and they manage to reeducate her in the English fashion and they meet on a 50-50 basis.

That's the way it should be. Surely both sides have been gained a great deal because of the forced evacuation to America.

BOOMS NEEDED

A list of rooms in Lubbock homes available to soldiers from out of town who might like to spend the night here but can find no place, is in need of additions, according to Mrs. Vincent Carr, chairman of the voluntary project, who works through the USO.

Many soldiers who drop in here by bus or train on Saturday nights are hard put to find a place to lay their heads, Mrs. Carr said. Once before when we made an appeal through the Woman's Angle there was an encouraging response but since then many people have sold their homes, rented their rooms or for one reason or the other have decided against offering lodging to service men.

If you would like to have a room placed on the list you may get in touch with Mrs. Carr at her home or call the USO.

POETRY CONTEST

TEXAS poets are invited to participate in a nation-wide poetry contest being directed by the National Thanksgiving association.

Rules governing the contest and naming a list of awards to be offered will be sent to those who write to Joe W. English, Truscott. Mr. English, who is the father of Dr. O. W. English of Lubbock, says Lubbock writers have made a high rating in the contest in past years and he is expecting a heavy response again this year.

A book is being planned by the association in which winning poems will be included.

PEACETIME WACS?

HERE'S a vital subject that should provide interesting debates in business and professional women's circles, in study clubs and young people's organizations. According to a statement we read recently, a political bombshell to Jace Congress will be the question of postwar military training for women.

Advocates claim that besides adding to the country's permanent preparedness as an insurance against war, girls will learn a vocation; will have their health improved; will benefit from a period of military discipline and democratic community living.

We'd like to hear debates on this question with those who have served or are serving in the Women's Army corps giving their views.

U. S. Casualties Increase 7,226

WASHINGTON, June 28. (U.P.)—U. S. Combat casualties, climbing gradually, reached 1,030,679 today, and increase of 7,226 in a week.

The total, of which 236,735 were killed, includes 908,025 Army and 122,654 Navy, Marine corps, and Coast Guards casualties.

Meanwhile, Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, commander of U. S. forces in the Mediterranean theater, reported at a press conference that American casualties in his theater totaled 186,616.

He said this figure included 30,910 killed, 108,271 wounded, and 47,435 missing.

Nazi Losses Heavy

McNarney said the best estimate of German casualties in the Mediterranean theater was 1,341,000 killed, wounded or captured.

The overall casualty table:

	Army	Navy	Total
Killed	190,277	46,458	236,735
Wounded	564,302	60,986	625,288
Missing	39,255	10,985	50,240
Prisoners	114,191	4,225	118,416
Totals	908,025	122,654	1,030,679

McNarney's figure for missing in his theater was higher than the War department's total for all Army forces in all theaters. It was explained, however, that in the capitulations made here missing are transferred to other categories when their status is clarified.

FCC Rules For CIO Versus Broadcasters

WASHINGTON, June 28. (U.P.)—Refusal of radio stations to sell time for presentation of controversial issues today was termed "inconsistent with the concept of public interest" by the Federal Communications commission.

The statement was made as the FCC ended its preceedings in the "free speech" fight between the United Automobile Workers of America (CIO) and station WHKC, Columbus, O. The case was settled last October when the station adopted a policy of "open-mindedness and impartiality."

The FCC opinion was in direct contrast to the code of the National Association of Broadcasters to which two-thirds of the stations in the country belong. The code, although voluntary and without legal effect, has long been the guiding light for broadcasting stations. The code prohibited (1) sale of time for the presentation of public controversial issues except for political broadcasts and public forums, and (2) solicitation of memberships in organizations, except for charities.

The commission said that it "is of the opinion that the operation on any station under these extreme principles. . . . is inconsistent with the concept of public interest."

The first school Brig. Gen. James Doolittle attended was in Nome, Alaska, where his father had gone during the gold rush.

Irving Berlin, who has written more than 800 songs, has never had a music lesson or learned to read music.

House Votes 174 Million To OPA As Food Front Changes Rapidly

By FRANCIS M. LE MAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 28. (AP)—Certain that price control will be continued another year although a Senate filibuster delayed final action on the extension legislation, the House today voted $174,500,000 for OPA.

On the fast-developing food front, these were the day's other developments:

1. Clinton P. Anderson, New Mexico congressman who becomes agriculture secretary July 1 with vast powers over food, promised an immediate check on the criticized War Food administration—"and a cleanup if necessary."

Proposal "Emasculated"

2. Rep. Anderson (R-Minn), author of a House-approved amendment to the OPA legislation which would have made Anderson virtual "czar" over the nation's food larder, declared the House-Senate compromise on the issue had "emasculated" the amendment.

3. The OPA had good news about meat, announcing that the supply in July will be 5 per cent greater than in June. But, OPA added, this is not enough to cut ration values.

The $174,500,000 appropriation for the OPA still must be acted on by the Senate. An unsuccessful effort was made in the House to put the sum at $180,000,000, to conform to OPA's budget estimate.

WFA Criticized

Anderson made his WFA "checkup" and "cleanup if necessary" statement to newspapermen after a House appropriations subcommittee accused the food administration of responsibility for food losses running into millions of dollars, criticized WFA's warehouse practices, said its records were inadequate and incorrect and accused some officials of deliberately giving false information to Congress.

"If they've found a condition that is bad and I confirm it, then I will clean it up," said the incoming agriculture secretary.

Saw Used In El Paso Murder Is Discovered

EL PASO, June 28. (AP)—Sheriff Allan G. Falby announced the discovery today of a blood-stained hacksaw blade for which officers had searched in inviestigating the death of an 80-year-old man whose headless body was found in a desert grave Monday.

The sheriff said Peace Justice F. A. Hill found the hacksaw blade at nearby Ysleta in a ditch outside the quarters of William F. Main, 28, who faces a charge of murder.

Hill also reported finding a spot where the earth appeared blood-soaked and deputies dug up the soil for examination, Falby said.

Main, lying critically wounded in a hospital, was visited today by hi father, William R. Main, a member of the Philadelphia firm of Main & Co., accountants. The elder Main arrived last night by plane.

Sheriff Falby said the two men did not discuss the death probe, and Main told his son he might not see him again at the hospital as he was seeking to reserve transportation back to Philadelphia.

Loaded Tank Truck Wrecked And Burned

GOODWELL, Okla., June 28. (AP)—A tank transport and trailer, carrying 3,578 gallons of gasoline and five barrels of grease, were destroyed by fire on U. S. Highway 54 near here late yesterday.

The transport, pulling a trailer, was driven by Robert B. White of Dumas, Tex., and caught fire when the truck plowed into a high power line pole, snapping it at the base. White told Highway Patrolman E. Walsh that he was crowded off the highway by a passing car. White jumped from the truck cab before it hit the pole and burst into flames.

The loss was estimated at between $5,000 and $7,500. The transport and trailer belonged to Shamrock Oil Co., of Amarillo.

Latest estimate of the number of stars in the Milky Way is 170,000,000,000.

Three Lubbock Men Aboard Ill-Fated Carrier Bunker Hill

USS Bunker Hill, announced yesterday as being hit by two Jap suicide planes and now at Puget Sound Navy yard, Bremerton, Wash., for repairs, was carrying at least three Lubbock men.

Delbert R. Waggoner, gunner's mate, first class, of 2408 Fifteenth, who was wounded and has been recommended for the Purple Heart for his gallant fight in helping to save the carrier after it was hit off Okinawa May 11. He is on leave until July 7.

Billy B. Sides, 19, seaman, second class, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman H. Sides of route 1, received recognition for his work when as powderman stationed in the forward area of the ship, he remained at his battle station when terrific fires threatened the big carrier.

Lt. (j.g.) Ralph Cocanougher, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Cocanougher, 1711-B Fourteenth, now home on leave, described the two hits and the fire control work that saved the Bunker Hill. Lt Cocanougher was a Navy flier based on the carrier.

Made Dash For Island

"When the first bomb hit, I was in the radio room with some more men. After we felt the first hit, we made a dash for the "island," safest place on the ship Just before we reached it, the second bomb hit and the concussion knocked us down. It hit around the corner from where we were—a distance of about 20 feet. We picked ourselves up and went up the ladders of the island to the flight deck, where they already had the fire hose out. Everyone started fighting the fire.

"I poured water into the hole (it was shown in an AP Wire photo in this morning's Avalanche) until I couldn't hold the hose any longer. Everybody who could get around the hole was pouring water into it. The plane itself didn't do any damage—just the bomb. Nearly all of our planes on the deck were burned and all of their ammunition was exploded in the fire. Every plane had just been regassed when the bomb hit, so they were all highly inflammable.

Flight Had Just Returned

"A flight returned to the carrier 45 minutes before the first bomb hit, all jubilant about how many of the Jap planes they had shot down when they intercepted them at Kikai in the Ryukyus All but two of them were shot down, and those two hid in the clouds. It was those and two more from somewhere else that made the suicide attack on the Bunker Hill. Of the four, two were shot down before they got a chance to drop their bombs and the other two were the ones that made the hits.

"The Bunker Hill crew really showed what it could do in damage control. Every man on the ship was fighting fire—and they really got the job done."

'Tooth Powder' Pie Prepared By Soldiers

McALLEN, June 28. (AP)—They called it tooth powder pie.

Lt. Robert Dean of McAllen, who was a prisoner of the Germans, said another name for it was "Kriegie's delight" (prisoner's delight).

Dean, who parachuted into Germany when his bomber was shot down, said the pie was whipped up from contents of Red Cross parcels and contained potatoes, bread, cracker crumbs, margerine, powdered milk and sugar.

As a substitute for baking powder, a heaping spoon of tooth powder was added, Dean declared, "to make it fluffy."

It wasn't bad, he asserted.

Chiang Says Troops Ready For Action

CHUNGKING, June 28. (AP) — Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek said today the Allies are getting their forces ready to deal Japan its final blow.

If the Americans land on the Japanese home islands and defeat the enemy there, the Chinese will find it simple to deal with the Japanese on the Asiatic mainland, the generalissimo asserted.

He pointed out that a great economy could be effected by training and equipping Chinese troops to fight Japan, asserting that one equipped and trained Chinese could serve the purpose of three Americans—one to fight and two others to keep the fighting man supplied.

A Chinese-speaking American who attended said the full implication of the generalissimo's remarks meant that:

1. Chin is prepared to bear the full brunt of the land battle in China, with the support of American air forces and special American ground help, and

2. The generalissimo regarded an American landing on the China coast as necessary to open a port for supplies to Chinese forces.

The trial which ended yesterday was their second. The first trial likewise ended in a mistrial because the jury failed to agree

Newhouser Wins Seventh In Row As Tigers Beat Solons

DETROIT, June 28. (AP)—The Detroit Tigers had to come from behind today for their ace left-hander, Hal Newhouser, who survived a shaky fifth inning to stop the Washington Senators 5 to 2 for his 12th victory of the American League season.

Harlond Cliff's fifth inning homer, followed by three straight Washington singles, put the Nats on top 2-1, offsetting the effects of Eddie Mayo's first inning four-bagger for Detroit, but Newhouser settled down to retire 15 of the last 16 men and achieve his seventh successive win on a six-hit job.

Roger Wolff, trying for his ninth win for the Senators, was charged with four runs and seven hits in the seven innings he worked, absorbing his fourth defeat.

NEW YORK, June 28 (AP)—While other sports are crying from a man-power shortage, the National AAU stages its forty-fifth annual junior track and field championships at Randall's Island tomorrow with 328 entries.

The junior program, from which winners of Olympic, National AAU, IC-4A and National Collegiate titles are barred, is made up of 21 events. Two senior titles, the 10,000-meter run and the 3,000-meter walk, also will be contested the first day.

As in Saturday's seniors, tomorrow's races in the sprints and the metric mile occupy the No. 1 spots.

Dykes Says Pitcher Not To Be Silenced

CHICAGO, June 28 (AP)—There will be no shuttin'-up Karl Scheel, Chicago White Sox batting practice pitcher who was beaten by members of the St. Louis Browns in the battle of the dugout at St. Louis, June 20.

"He's gonna keep sittin' on the bench and hollering his head off," said Jimmy Dykes, White Sox manager. "Why not?"

The attack on Scheel, a 23-year-old Chicagoan who served 22 months in the Marine Corps, resulted in fines against Manager Luke Sewell and three Brownie players.

Legion Nine To Take Road Trip

Lubbock's American Legion baseball nine leaves today on a two-day road trip that will carry them into Amarillo for a night game, and to Hedley for an afternoon game over Friday and Saturday.

The local lads will return to Chapman field on Sunday afternoon to play Section C of Lubbock Army Air field in the third game in as many days.

The Legion nine will tangle with the junior Gold Sox of Amarillo tonight at 8 o'clock, with Bob Galey expected to get the nod as the starting pitcher. Jack Vaughn is slated to hurl the game at Hedley on Saturday afternoon.

Denny Davidson and Walter Higginbotham will be available for relief duty, and will likely see action on the trip.

With Galey on the mound, Billy Petree will play first base, and Jack Vaughn will be at third. When Vaughn pitches, Petree will move to third, and Galey will take over first base. Becknell will do the catching.

Jack Alderson at shortstop and Joe Arrington at second will make up the rest of the infield combination. The outer patrol will be cared for by A. E. Folsom, John Paul Jones and Manuel Gallegos, with Pogue Laquey held in reserve.

Manager Stoney Wall said Thursday that his team was a peak condition, and ready for the three games coming up. The team has been winning rather consistently to date, and in spite of the fact that only two veterans of last year, Galey and Petree, are back, the team looks stronger than it did a year ago.

McSpaden Keeps Up Sub Par Shooting

CHICAGO, June 28. (AP)—Harold (Jug) McSpaden, tuning up for his defense of the $10,000 Chicago Victory National golf championship, came home with a two-under-par 34 on the back nine tonight while his partner, Sgt. Walter Burkemo, of Evanston, Ill., was firing a 73, to win the pro-amateur championship in the preliminaries to the tournament starting tomorrow.

Tomorrow he begins defense of the championship he won in a playoff a year ago from Lt. Ben Hogan. Byron Nelson, leading money winner of the winter professional tour, Abe Espinosa, Ralph Guldahl, Johnny Bulla, Joe Kirkwood, Ky Laffoon, Tony Penna, Johnny Revolta, Jimmy Hines, Sammy Byrd, Craig Wood and Jimmy Thomson will be present to dispute his title claim.

The professionals will play 72 holes for the $10,000 in war bonds offered in the tournament, proceeds of which will go for the benefit of hospitalized servicemen of World War II.

Vaughn Fans 14 To Win For Dickinson

Jack Vaughn was in rare form Thursday at Chapman field as he pitched Dickinson Motor company to an 8 to 5 victory over the Hunt Oilers in one of the season's best played thrillers in the junior baseball National league.

Vaughn struck out 14 men in the seven innings, breezing along at this two per inning pace while his mates were coming from behind with some heads up stick work. The Motormen bunched eight hits with several errors for the victory.

The Oilers scored three runs in the first inning for a quick lead, and held this advantage until the fourth inning attack. Gallegos opened the rally with a single, Lindsey walked, and Morris doubled to score both runners. Errors and an infield out completed the scoring, and the Motormen were never headed off.

Kiwanis Nine Gets Forfeit Off Jaycees

The Kiwanis was awarded a forfeit from the Junior Chamber of Commerce club, then played a make-up team formed mostly with Jaycee players, and lost 9-2.

The Jaycee Makeshifts broke loose with an eight run rally in the fourth, and last, inning to win.

Senators Swing Behind Charter

tects of a . . . temple of law and reason and justice and peace to serve the people of the world," he said.

Plea For Speed Repeated

Repeatedly the chairman of the foreign relations committee and a delegate to the San Francisco conference, injected the idea of speed into his preliminary report on the charter he helped frame, advising his colleagues:

"Early ratification here will stimulate and encourage ratification by other nations. . . . Foreign nations know that the United Nations organization for peace and security will face failure and futility unless the United States is a member. . . . We have leagued our armed might for war. Now let us league our moral and material might for peace."

While he spoke the 63 senators present sat silent. When he had concluded they broke into long applause and many trooped back to the Texas senator's desk to shake hands and congratulate him.

Vandenberg Speaks Today

Among those who went to shake hands was Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) chairman of the Republican conference, who speaks tomorrow in support of the charter which he also helped draft.

Employing sweeping gestures and speaking in his Texas twang, Connally told the Senate that "the eyes of the world are centered on what we do here. We face a high and solemn responsibility. The face of world peace may depend upon our decision."

Expressing confidence that the necessary two-thirds approval will be obtained, Connally said he had no doubt that the American people "overwhelmingly support" the charter drafted by 50 Allied nations in nine weeks of work at San Francisco.

To implement his and President Truman's desire for speedy Senate action, Connally plans to call the foreign relations committee together Saturday to fix hearings.

The administration wants these to start next Tuesday, thinks they can be concluded in a little over a week Republican members, however, apparently desire to put off the start of hearings until July 9 Connally's goal for a final vote on the charter is August 1.

President's Plea

has been assigned to me," he asserted, and, he added, "I am going to try to carry it out."

"Unless America leads the way," he added, "there will be no peace in the world."

The chief executive dropped his presidential role temporarily during the day to drink in the praise of the home folks, which, he confided, "swells me up like a pizened pup."

He moved among his friends and neighbors of Jackson county like the county judge of old, chatting with his barber, his former habadashery store partner and hundreds more just like them.

Still Jackson County Man

He's been a Jackson county man all the time, and the presidency hasn't changed him, he said, and he can't for the life of him see why it is now that people say, "There he goes! That's the guy."

In rare form for the second day of his homecoming — yesterday nearby Independence celebrated in his honor—the President told a 50th anniversary celebration of the University of Kansas City law school which he attended nights from 1923 to 1925:

"I can't be President of the United States in Jackson county."

He went back to the university tonight to receive the honorary degree of doctors of laws, which, he conceded, he didn't have to work for.

Doesn't Find Shirts

Earlier he had stopped by Eddie Jacobson's men's wear store, trying to buy three white shirts, size 15 1-2, 33-inch sleeve.

The perspiring Jacobson joyfully pumped the outstretched hand of the man with whom he operated an unsuccessful habadashery venture here more than 20 years ago, but sorrowfully confessed he could not supply the shirts. He said he would send them when a new stock arrived.

It was his 26th wedding aniversary and he took time out to send red roses to Mrs. Truman.

Over 400,000 Bales Expected In Mexico

MEXICO CITY, June 28. (AP)—Hopes that Mexico will produce this year from 400,000 to 425,000 bales of cotton were expressed yesterday by a spokesman for the Agricultural department.

He said the country's largest production to date had been that of 1943 and 1944, amounting to 500,321 and 508,267 bales.

Those were hard years because of superproduction, when cotton had to be stored because it could not be sold abroad and prices were reduced.

A lesser crop is expected this year because of the government's urging growers to plant other crops.

Lt. David Callaway Now Reported Dead

CALLAWAY

First Lt. David L. Callaway, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Callaway of Lamesa, who has been missing in action since June 19, 1944, is now officially listed as presumed to be dead, the War department has informed his wife and parents.

Lt. Callaway, pilot of a P-51 Mustang fighter plane, failed to return from an escort mission over northwestern France. The mission was made in extremely poor weather from his base in England, but details of his fate are not known.

Lt. Callaway entered the Army after his graduation from Lamesa High school in 1941. He received his commission at Eagle Pass Army Air field and went overseas in December, 1944. At the time he was downed, he had 220 hours of operational combat flying to his credit as well as one German FW-109. He had been awarded the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf clusters and the Distinguished Flying Cross with one cluster.

His wife, Mrs. Maria Y. Callaway, and their 18-months-old daughter, Helen live with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Yates in Lamesa.

Benson Address

not operate in a competitive field under present tax laws. This everybody knows. Nevertheless war contracts are so worded that they may terminate the day after an armistice is announced, but existing tax laws will not change until Congress changes them. Consequently, legislation should be written now to take effect immediately the war is over, setting up a workable post-war tax structure calculated to encourage industry to expand, and invest new billions of dollars essential in making new jobs.

"Third, labor and capital must cooperate, not fight," he continued. "Management must convince labor of its good intentions, its determination for fair play, its desire for high wages. To make possible high wages, labor must determine to give the highest possible efficiency. Labor cannot get the dollars that industry didn't make; you can't legislate industry into paying higher wages, they've got to make it to pay it. What we need is a labor that will help create a prosperous industry and that's their only hope for higher wages."

National Income

In replying to those who advocate government control of industry, Dr. Benson pointed out that America, at the beginning of World War II, had a national income that was equal to the combined national incomes of the six next highest countries. He also called attention to the fact that the United States, while having only one-sixteenth of the total population of the world, possessed seventy-five per cent of the world's automobiles, and had more young people in high school and college than all the other nations combined.

"Government made jobs will not fulfill the needs of the people either," he said. "Moving rocks from one stack to another and then moving them back the next day in the WPA manner is not going to raise our national income or pay off the staggering national debt of 300 billion dollars. It is going to take expansion of old industries, and establishment of new ones through investment of large amounts of capital, to provide jobs for all that need them."

Must Work Together

"Above all," Dr. Benson concluded, "labor and capital must work together, and must trust and have faith in the other, in order that the chaos of post-war unemployment and economic troubles may be prevented."

Dr. Benson was inrtoduced by Dr. Wm. M. Whyburn, president of Texas Technological college.

Pair Sought In Brutal Slaying

BOSTON, June 28 (AP) — Two young men wearing Navy uniforms were sought tonight by naval intelligence officers and police for questioning in the turkish bath slaying of Chase MacArthur, 61, Massachusetts and Maine educator.

The battered and bleeding nude body of the former Foxboro, Mass., school superintendent, was found last night on a cot in a bathhouse room, which, Police Captain Louis A. Di Sessa said, had been assigned to the two uniformed men.

MacArthur had been recently named to the teaching staff of Ricker Junior college in Houlton, Me.

Had Been "Throttled"

Medical examiner Timothy Leary said that MacArthur died from being "throttled."

The bathhouse register indicated, Di Sessa said, that MacArthur, who entered the establishment at about the same time as the men wearing the Navy clothing, had been given an adjoining room, separated by a door.

Di Sessa said that MacArthur had been subjected to a vicious attack, apparently inflicted with the fists of his assailants.

The scrawly handwriting of the two uniformed men was sent to the Navy department in Washington for comparison with naval lists, the police captain added, and other information was forwarded to Norfolk, Va., for consideration of naval intelligence officers there.

Man Defaults Bond On Sodomy Charge

Unable to furnish bond of $2,500, J. P. Rayborough, 49-year-old downtown hotel guest, charged with sodomy, remained in county jail Thursday night.

Rayborough was arraigned before Justice of Peace D. W. Robertson.

Glynn Hudgens, city-county vice officer, made the arrest after swearing to the complaint.

Hudgens said a 13-year-old Lubbock boy had informed against the man, reciting unnatural physical indignities.

The suspect, born in Pennsylvania, allegedly had been here several weeks engaged in selling space in a volume to be devoted to stories of men in the war, Hudgens informed 99th District Judge G. V. Pardue, whose grand jury will investigate the sodomy charge July 9.

sides of the remnants of Japanese forces on the island of Luzon.

Major Phase Completed

The major phase of the Luzon campaign has been closed, MacArthur announced yesterday.

In the mountains of northwestern Luzon, guerrillas attacking nine and one-half miles southeast of Cervantes in Ilocos province won possession of high ground after beating off three Japanese Banzai charges.

Sixth division troops, pushing west from the Cagayan valley, scene of the final Japanese disaster on Luzon, made a 400-yard gain against still-resisting Japanese in the mountain stronghold of Kiangan.

On the island of Mindanao, the U. S. 24th Infantry division took Kibangay and Unapan on the western edge of the Davao gulf salient and seized considerable Japanese stores

Cleanups Are Pressed

The cleanup drives were being pressed rapidly on both Luzon and Mindanao in the final stages of a Philippines campaign that has cost the Nipponese the equivalent of two full armies.

Official liberation of Luzon was announced by MacArthur coincidentally with the juncture of the 37th Infantry and the 11th Airborne division in the Cagayan valley.

The campaign in northern Luzon alone has cost the Japanese 113,000 dead, MacArthur said.

Police Officer Held On Liquor Charge

David Nichols, 29, a city police patrolman, remained in county jail Thursday night in lieu of payment of a fine of $150 and court costs assessed yesterday by County Judge Walter Davies on a liquor law violation charge.

Nichols' commission was revoked immediately after his arrest about 3 o'clock yesterday morning by liquor board officers Frank Mitchell and John Truly. He was booked and jailed at the police station where he had reported for duty a few hours earlier on the 11 to 7 o'clock shift. Assigned to a walking beat Wednesday night, he was arrested in southwest Lubbock, allegedly several blocks from his beat.

The charge was possession of whisky for purpose of sale.

Like other patrolmen employed the last few weeks to bring the police department up to authorized complement, Nichols' activities had been under routine surveillance to determined whether he reflected qualities necessary to continue connection with the department, it was explained.

Nichols lives on route 6.

Heat Relief Seen After 5-Year High

Lubbockites got six degrees of relief Thursday after literally sweating out Wednesday, the hottest day—107 degrees—since July 10, 1940.

Yesterday's high was 101 on the farm experiment sub-station thermometer.

The mercury is due to take another drop today on the South Plains, according to the weatherman. Mixed in with lower temperatures will be partly cloudy skies which are expected to continue through Friday.

Wednesday's top reading lacked two degrees of equaling the superscorcher of July, 1940.

A Salute To Stettinius

Mr. Truman "Rings The Bell"

MR. TRUMAN'S letter to Edward R. Stettinius, jr., accepting the latter's resignation as Secretary of State but bestowing upon the Virginian the high honor of becoming top man of the U. S. representation on the World Security council was a masterpiece. Not only did the President make way for the appointment of a No. 2 man of broad governmental experience, but he also paid just and deserved tribute to the service Mr. Stettinius rendered his country and the world in the cause of permanent peace.

If ever a man was "on the spot" when Fate dictated a change in U. S. administration upon the death of President Roosevelt, that man was Ed Stettinius. Already set was the San Francisco conference and the new President, even had he wished to change State secretaries immediately upon entering the White House simply could not afford to do so. On the other hand, Mr. Stettinius knew that when President Roosevelt died, his days as Secretary of State were numbered. Yet instead of sulking in his tent, or simply "lying down on the job," he pitched in and did a first class job both as Secretary of State and host diplomat at the conference in the City by the Golden Gate.

Mr. Stettinius' critics said he was inexperienced—and he was.

They said he couldn't do the job at San Francisco—but he did.

The President of the United States realized the fine job his No. 1 cabinet member did under the worst of handicaps, and he publicly said so when the time came to make a place for the type of man the nation will sorely need should Fate again vacate the big desk in the Executive wing of the sprawling mansion at 1600 Pennsylvania avenue in Washington, D. C.

From the very moment he was named as Secretary of State by the late President Roosevelt, down to the time the acceptance of his resignation was made public by President Truman, Ed Stettinius had powerful critics and detractors. Some were among the "parlor pinks" of the nation. Others were among the professional labor leaders. Some, even, were in the ranks of Big Business, from which Mr. Stettinius came to serve his country in various capacities after the war clouds lowered over the land. Yet despite his detractors; despite those who hoped he'd stub his toe even if the nation was injured in the process, and despite the truth of the charge that he was inexperienced in international diplomacy, Mr. Stettinius went ahead, doing his best under conditions which would have discouraged anyone not the thoroughbred.

While we agree with President Truman that, under present conditions, a man of broader governmental experience than that possessed by Mr. Stettinius should be Secretary of State, we also agree with the President that Mr. Stettinius richly deserved the honor which has become his, and that he will do a good job as the nation's No. 1 man in the World Security council.

And along with every other humble citizen who has watched the resigned secretary carry on against odds, we say:

"Thank you, Mr. Stettinius, for your service to our country. You, sir, are a real patriot!"

By, Of And For The People

DR. GEORGE S. BENSON, who used obscure little Harding college in Searcy, Ark., as a springboard to national fame, said many good, sound things in speeches here yesterday noon and last night.

Preaching the gospel of the American Way of Life as maintained by the private enterprise system, Doctor Benson is going up and down the length and breadth of our land with an approach which, miraculous in these days of class suspicion, is just as far and as reasonable to labor as it is to capital; just as sound to Republicans as it is to Democrats.

Doctor Benson's story is simply this:

Capital, labor and agriculture—the three all-important forces in our economy—are dependent, one upon another. Only through a continuation of private enterprise can the three prosper, or even maintain themselves in freedom. Therefore, the three should work together for mutual good.

The story is not original with Doctor Benson. Many others have preached it, too.

But the small, graying, Arkansas college president is the only prophet we've heard of who actually is trying to do something to educate the entire nation on the subject; who has a program which, if carried out, will result in complete unity of purpose among those engaged in industry, labor and agriculture.

Briefly, the doctor proposes that the carping critics of constitutional government and free, individual enterprise be met and answered by those who realize that the American Way of Life is, while not perfect, the best system of civilization yet devised or attempted by man. He would bring the facts home, reasonably, intelligently and without rancor, to all the people of the country.

By such a nationwide educational program he believes—and we believe with him—that the American people will come to the right and logical conclusion that the "government by the people, of the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth."

People argue considerably about religion, but they never argue about the multiplication table.

We got dinner ready the next Sunday, noping for a miracle. No one had come at 12 o'clock. At 1, the people in the White Steamer called up from a farm house near a sign that announced the new restriction, and Benjamin went for them with the buckboard. The dinner was good, and they ate as heartily as ever, but we knew, somehow, that they would not be back again.

My father called up on Monday. Benjamin was to meet him that night at the Junction. He had a man with him, a man who was coming to stay.

"It must be a summer boarder," my mother said, more cheerful than she had been since the Town Meeting. "Be sure you don't tell your father what's gone on," she warned us.

It was dark when they came. We heard the wheels on the gravel, then my father's voice. "Where is everybody?" He sounded in high spirits.

We all ran out to meet him. "Remember, not a word," my mother said.

My father kissed us all. Then he turned to the man standing beside him. "Mr. Clayton Cutter, our new clerk," he said, looking quite proud of himself.

We simply stared. A new clerk when only that day my mother had been wondering if we could possibly manage without Ada.

Mr. Cutter bowed, and we all filed quietly into the house.

"How did you find Cousin Victoria?" my mother asked in a polite voice on the way.

"As usual," my father answered shortly. He had plainly expected quite a different welcome.

No one spoke as we crossed the piazza.

"Show Mr. Cutter his room, Susan," my mother said when we were inside.

No. 10 was the room we had prepared. It was on the back corner of the second floor, overlooking the bay. It was a good room, ordinarily reserved for transients.

Mr. Cutter looked more like a transient than a clerk. He was short, but erect, with a bearing that suggested the military. He had thick, lively gray hair, a trim mustache, and a Vandyke beard, the only one we had ever seen outside of a portrait.

"This way, sir," Sue said. We could see she was awed.

"What's the matter?" my father began as soon as they were out of hearing. He was hurt and baffled and a little annoyed.

My mother had to tell him the whole story.

He took it hard. "If I had only been here myself," he said, groaning, "it would never have happened."

My mother always let him keep his vanities. "The first thing to do is to send this man back," she told him. "We can give him a week's pay."

My father hesitated. "All he wants is his board," he finally said.

"His board," my mother echoed.

"That's all."

"Where in the world did you get a man for that?"

"That's all he wants," my father assured her.

My mother did not notice the evasion then. "Well, that's different," she said. "He looks presentable. We can try him out, anyway."

Mr. Cutter was more than presentable. He was impressive. Indeed, if it hadn't been for his hands, he might have seemed forbidding. They were very white, very soft, and very graceful. He moved them from the wrist with gestures so eloquent that he hardly needed to speak at all. A finger to the lips when someone was telephoning. A backward gesture toward an open door. A half-beckoning, half-welcoming sweep toward the register. A wide flourish in the direction of the dining room. One finger for the first floor. Two for the second. . . . At only one time was he really voluble. That was when he yawned. Then he tapped his lips gently with his fingers and emitted a loud "HI HO HUM."

At first he made quite a hit in the office. He gave it a real tone. Even the summer people were impressed. His clothes were always neat, his hair well brushed, and his hands and nails immaculate.

He made quite a hit with Ada, too. Here at last was the kind of man she had dreamed of. Distinctive, courtly, alone in the world. She gave him a clean napkin every day and always kept a vase of flowers on his table. Sometimes, when he wasn't there to see her, she slipped into the office with little lunches. A deviled ham sandwich, maybe, or a molasses doughnut, or a glass of buttermilk, which he fancied.

This irritated Mrs. Guptill. Food cost money. Ada wasn't paid three dollars a week to throw it away.

If Mr. Cutter had been a worker, she might have overlooked the lunches. But he wasn't—it turned out—a worker at anything. For hours at a time he would sit at the desk gazing at his hands or idly drawing circles on sheets of paper. Often he dozed in the afternoon, cupping his face in his hands so that his beard hung down like a cornucopia. The telephone might ring two or three times before he stirred himself to answer it.

We girls were very busy—dusting, wiping dishes, setting tables, berrying—and his idleness annoyed us, too.

"Mr. Cutter ought to do that," we often complained when my mother suggested some additional chore. "He's got plenty of time."

"Now, now," she would say. That meant "Enough from you."

But it provoked her a little, too, to come in and find him sleeping. "Of course, she said, "if we were paying him anything. . ."

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

SO much has been written and talked about concerning what to do with the returning soldiers and sailors that I hesitate to add anything to the many thousands of words that have already been expended on the subject.

BRANDEIS

But I want to tell you about something I heard in my church last Sunday that is well worth remembering.

Many of our Brookfield boys have gone to war, and many will return soon. Many anxious parents are confronted with the problem of helping those boys to readjust themselves to civilian lives.

So Dr. Parks, our pastor and a very sensible one at that, invited a friend of his who is engaged in rehabilitation work at New York hospital to talk to his congregation on the subject.

So, instead of a sermon, we had that talk.

Mr. Porges, that's the scientist's name, spoke about a good many things in connection with rehabilitation and reconversion to civilian life, but there was one thing he said which I would like to have all of you remember.

"Please bear in mind," he said, "not to look upon your returned service man as a problem but as a man who has problems."

I think that is about the crux of the whole matter. I have seen quite a few of the boys who have come back from overseas. More than half complained to me that they were treated as somewhat akin to freak-show exhibits by their folks.

These boys don't want to be treated as heroes nor as prodigal sons.

The great majority of them are not problems but they have problems.

As last Sunday's speaker said, they have seen a different world—a world of entirely different standards—of death and pain and noise and brutality. Their standards of morality have been badly shaken. They have had no privacy, no family life, none of the niceties of life to which you, the parents, have accustomed them.

THESE boys must be guided back to normal living. But don't rush them. Don't scold them or coddle them or be too anxious with them.

Leave them alone, as much as you can. Let them find their own way, if possible. Be patient. Be kind. Be understanding.

And, please do not forget that not only they have changed.

You probably have changed as well.

There will be many of them, of course, who need medical and clinical care. For that we have physicians and clinics and psychiatrists.

Fortunately the great majority will be all right physically.

They are not problems. But they will have enough problems of their own. Don't you be one of them.

Congress Approves Truman Plan

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

PRESIDENT Truman made a hit with the Congress by his proposal that the Speaker of the House should follow the Vice President in line of Presidential succession. A few members of the Senate are grumbling at this sign of preference for the other body, but they are a small minority.

Oddly enough, the Chief Executive's reason for selecting the head of the lower chamber as the third ranking elected official is the same one that motivated the late Speaker "Nick" Longworth when he forced his wife, Alice, to start a contest for social superiority with Dolly Gann, the sister of the then Vice President, Charles Curtis.

In the midst of the scrap a friend asked the extremely popular Ohioan why he permitted "Princess Alice" to make such a show of herself, and why he did not call off the society brawl.

"Calling it off nothing," fumed Longworth. "Alice didn't start this thing. I did. She was all against it. My reason was political, not social.

TUCKER

"The Speaker is representative of the American people; he is closer to them than any other man in Washington. First, he has to win a majority in his own district, and then he has to be chosen to preside over the House by a majority vote of the members."

The fact is, according to Capitol Hill historians, that the Speaker would have received the honor proposed by the President when the present succession law was enacted in 1886, save that Congress was suffering from post-Civil war jitters.

"Thad" Stevens of Pennsylvania, as Republican czar of the House, had dominated that body for many years. He could have been Speaker if he had sought that position, and therefore a Presidential prospect if the change suggested then — and now by HST—had been put into effect. So the boys of that day wished the choice on the Secretaries of State, Treasury, War, Attorney General and on down the cabinet.

INVESTIGATIONS: Members of Congress will literally scatter to the ends of the earth when the national legislature quits for the Summer toward the middle or end of July. Self-organized "traveling committees" plan to investigate the government's activities and expenditures around the globe for information on which to base future legislation and appropriations.

The House Agriculture committee will send a delegation to study the food situation in Europe, especially in France, Germany, Italy and the Balkans. Members want to ascertain conditions for themselves to determine, if possible, the amount and kind of supplies the United States must furnish to the devastated areas.

Other investigators will probe the various agencies which carry on their work in foreign lands and are subject to no congressional inquiry except by an overseas tour. They wish to look into the performances of the Allied Military Government, especially the American section, the Office of Strategic Services, OWI, UNRRA etc.

Rep. Robert Chiperfield of Canton, Illinois, will tour South and Central America to check on the millions of dollars which Nelson Rockefeller, coordinator of Inter-American Affairs, and Leo Crowley, head of FWA, are spending in those areas.

If the Foreign Affairs committee will not authorize his inspection trip and pay his expenses, he says that he himself will finance the journey, and will take with him an experienced newspaperman and photographer.

Chiperfield made a similar survey on the west coast of South America a few years ago, and Foreign Affairs Chairman Sol Bloom said that it was extremely helpful to his group. In fact, the government of Chile tried to decorate the GOP congressman for his services, but he declined the honor.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

THE QUEEN Mary, with 14,000 homecoming Yanks, berthed in New York on her first trip after having carried 500,000 American and 100,000 British fighting men since the start of the war.

Her commander, Sir James G. P. Bissett, KBE, has new facts to tell about the Cunard luxury liner which will astonish maritime circles and may impel changes in the plans of our private companies.

There has been much talk along the waterfront that no more huge craft like the Queen Mary and the Queen Elizabeth will be constructed. But Sir James says that, in his opinion, a third giant will be built by Britain after the war and that all three will be kept in operation.

LEMAN

He debunked the frequently published rumor that the Mary's engines have gone to pieces from the 600,000 miles she traveled under strenuous war conditions.

"Look at the Aquitania," he snorted. "She was a troopship in the last war as well as in this. Her engines are as good as ever." Experts at the American Merchant Marine Institute in New York back up the English skipper; they maintain that a hull usually wears out sooner than a power unit.

"We will be on war duty until the Japs are licked," announced the commodore. "But it will take only six months to put my ship back in passenger service."

This is because she was not pulled apart when she became a transport. The writer, on an inspection tour, found most of her layout unchanged.

The de luxe swimming pool, for instance, is boarded over and used for sleeping quarters but the planking can be ripped off in no time. The paneled walls of the stateroom occupied by Prime Minister Churchill on his three trips to the USA are just as they were before. Millionaire suites are now packed with easily removable steel and canvas G. I. bunks. The great luxurious salons merely lack their old furniture.

The ability to reconvert quickly will be a distinct advantage to the foresighted Cunard officials when the scramble begins for postwar passenger trade. We have launched no modern de luxe craft suitable for peacetime competition.

Although our steamship-line owners hold their tongues in public, they feel bitter toward the Navy for "ruining" the vessels which the government requisitioned. Naval contractors came aboard and tore out everything.

Except for the shell, one would never recognize a once fine ship such as the Manhattan. Private operators agree that it will be cheaper to junk most of the rebuilt boats than to recondition them. British liners, they say, ferried soldiers as effectively as our vessels did but the Admiralty, with an eye to postbellum business, did not make them commercially valueless.

GIANTS: So far as is known in marine circles, the British are the only ones planning for giants of the Queen class.

French and Italian magnates tell New York opposites that they have no blueprints for the Normandie and Rex types. United States corporations will rely on the size of the American—26,000 tons gross; the Queen Mary 81,000.

The boats will compete with fast transatlantic planes by offering greater comfort and attractions—spacious air conditioned staterooms etc. Electronics will make travel safer. Had radar been invented then, the doomed Titanic would never have hit an iceberg in the fog.

Commodore Bissett doesn't worry about the plane winning his customers away — except the few who will fly for speed. "Ninety-five per cent enjoy a ship because she is a ship," he insists. "She offers safety, ease and the pleasure of a delightful sea voyage. The Queen Mary is not held up by storms."

The only way to keep up with a number of neighbors now is to buy black market tires and gasoline.

San Francisco Labors Are Commended

Conference Leaders Are Praised

By T. THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — That was a splendid ceremony, and it was indeed a notable occasion, when the San Francisco Conference of United Nations was concluded with the signing of the charter for a world security organization and a speech by President Truman.

There were some persons missing there.

STOKES

It seems fitting to recall and pay tribute to three outstanding Americans who did so much to prepare the way for that achievement and who were not present. Two of them are dead. The third is recuperating from a long illness.

These are the late Franklin D Roosevelt, the late Wendell L. Willkie and former Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

Willkie Risked Career

We are prone to forget the long months of preliminary work of the late President and Mr. Hull and their painstaking efforts with other world leaders and with Senate leaders to crystallize opinion and bring about the San Francisco meeting.

For that did not spring, full-blown, out of thin air one fine morning when the sun was bright.

We are likely to forget, too, how Wendell Willkie stepped out in front when it was none too healthful, willing to risk his political career, and how he was virtually outlawed by Republican party leaders because of his brave, honest and forthright expressions.

YET the change which has taken place within the Republican party, and which now assures ratification of the charter by the Senate, is due a lot to the nation-wide campaigning of Mr. Willkie. That stirred up the rank and file of Republicans who, in turn, brought pressure on the party leaders.

For the co-operative spirit among Republican leaders in the Senate great credit is due, too, to the late President and Cordell Hull. Here both men exhibited foresight that is now paying rich dividends.

Twenty-five years ago Franklin Roosevelt sat here, as assistant Secretary of Navy, and saw Woodrow Wilson's dream smashed because he had neglected to pay sufficient attention to the Senate which is so jealous of its prerogatives.

Mr. Roosevelt profited by that mistake. So did Mr. Hull. The latter, esteemed in the Senate, consulted constantly with Senate leaders on the Foreign Relations committee, both Republicans and Democrats. He kept them advised of every step.

Then, having established a basis of co-operation and good will, the President capped this off by appointing members of both Senate and House, representing both parties, to the United States delegations at the San Francisco conference, a gesture that was appreciated.

A NUMBER of other developments contributed to the event now being celebrated.

Cordell Hull won approval for an international security organization project, at the top international level, at the Moscow conference where the United States, Great Britain, Russia and China agreed in the Moscow declaration of Oct. 30, 1943, "that they recognize the necessity of establishing at the earliest practicable date a general international organization."

Congress contributed with notice to other nations that the United States was going to follow through this time by passing the Fulbright resolution in the House and the Connally resolution in the Senate. For arousing public sentiment for such action, credit goes to four Senators — Ball (Minn.), Burton (O.), Republicans; and Hill (Ala.) and Hatch (N. Mex.), Democrats. They campaigned all over the country for a congressional declaration much broader in scope. And credit goes to Commander Harold Stassen, former Minnesota governor, a Republican, who likewise pioneered for a United Nations organization, and has performed notably as a delegate at San Francisco.

For the receptive attitude in the Senate today, much credit is due Senators Connally (D., Tex.), Foreign Relations committee chairman, and Vandenberg (R., Mich.), who have done the hard, shirt-sleeve work at San Francisco along with Commander Stassen and other members of the American delegation.

It has been a great job.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Buses are overburdened as never before. A crisis is near. With more men, tires and gas going to war, present service can barely be maintained. Each day brings greater loads. When you must travel locally, let this be your creed:

1. Do Not Ride in Rush Hours, except to and from your job.
2. Have Exact Fare Ready, saves time and fuss.
3. Move Back When Driver Asks, speeds your ride.

This simple creed will work wonders.

Bilbo Covers Wide Range Of Subjects In Talk Marathon

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 28. (U.P.)—Sen. Theodore G. (The Man) Bilbo of Mississippi continued his marathon of words today on such subjects as literature (feelthy) and love (brotherly) and nobody'd better try to stop him.

He's not tired.

After four consecutive hours of oratory yesterday the man announced that he was not filibustering against continuance of the Fair Employment practices committee. That will come later, he said, when, as and if the Senate actually gets close to a vote.

Few Sample Words

His preliminary few words, he said, were a sample. The man paced behind three senatorial desks which he had laden with his texts, lossened his red necktie and denounced Lillian Smith's novel "Strange Fruit." He called it "bitter fruit."

It was 1 p.m. when he said: "If you have never read it, I hope you never will. It is so rotten that even the city of Boston had to ban it."

The man gestured with his unlit cigar, added that Miss Smith came from Georgia and said it was obvious that she supported the FEPC because she attended Columbia university in New York.

"But I'll save my future remarks on her for my filibuster," he said.

Blames Mrs. Roosevelt

The man then considered Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's approval of the FEPC which has endeavored to compel war plants to hire workers without regard to their religion or the color of their skin.

"If Mrs. Roosevelt had given as much thought to raising her own family as she has to affairs of state," he cried, "she would not today be embarrassed by the headlines concerning some of her offspring." The gentleman from Mississippi brushed back his scant hair, mentioned such things as "this damnable proposal," "this rotten and communistic legislation" and "cheap Red Communists." Then he took up another book, "Black Boy," the autobiography of the negro novelist Richard Wright.

"That book is a damnable lie from cover to cover," he shouted. "Read it if you don't believe it is the dirtiest, lousiest writing I've ever seen in print."

Compromise Sought

The man wiped his neck with his handkerchief and went on from there in a voice that was beginning to crack at 4 p.m., when Sen. Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee interrupted to beg that Bilbo make a deal with the pro-FEPC faction, so that the Senate could adopt the appropriations for all the war agencies.

"More than a billion dollars of government work will be stopped," Sen. McKellar said. "I beg, I plead that the gentlemen reach a compromise. I'm just stumped. I'm up against a brick wall. It is a shame. It is a disgrace to the Senate."

Sen. Dennis Chavez of New Mexico said he was agreeable to a compromise; Sen. Bilbo said he was, too, so long as the FEPC was outlawed. The Republicans chortled, Sen. McKellar said he believed Bilbo was a good Baptist, and the man retorted: "Yes I am and I want the Lord to show me how to kill the FEPC."

Scene Of Affection

He added that he considered Sen. McKellar a delightful character and said he loved him. "What?" demanded the gentleman from Tennessee.

"I love you," the man replied.

By now it was 5 p.m. Bilbo said he wasn't even beginning to get weary. The other senators were; they prevailed upon the man to take a recess overnight. "That'll give us a chance to pray," he said, lighting that long-cold cigar.

Employes Of El Paso Firm Get Wage Hike

DALLAS, June 28. (U.P.)—Unanimous War Labor board action awarded 111 employes of the Carbyshire-Harvie Iron and Machine company of El Paso, Tex., a 2½ cent-an-hour across the board pay increase retroactive to Jan. 28, it was announced today by disputes Director Clifford W. Potter.

The board also directed that a 2½ cent an hour increase shall be added to each six months' rate, as well as the starting rate, of the existing apprentice plan. Vacations of one week after one year's service and two weeks after being employed five years also were granted.

OIL MAN'S RITES SET

STOCKS HIT SKIDS

NEW YORK, June 28 (AP)—Stocks, with scattered exceptions, hit the skids in today's market on one of the largest turnovers of the past five years and closing declines of one to more than four points were the sharpest of 1945 to date.

Heavy selling in virtually all departments put the high speed ticker tape as much astwo minutes behind around midday and again at the beginning of the final hour.

Transfers of 2,940,000 shares compared with 1,690,000 Wednesday and were the best since May 21, 1940.

The Associated Press 60-stock average dropped 1.5 points to 66.6, widest relapse since Nov. 8, 1943. It was one of the broadest markets of past months, 1,008 issues registering.

Conspicuous on the slide were Santa Fe (voting of the usual $1.50 dividend here was a bit disappointing to those who had looked for an increase), Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Schenley, Transcontinental and Western Air, Anaconda and Westinghouse.

American Distilling was an isolated strong spot, holding a gain of five points. American Woolen and Pan-American Airways also were ahead.

Bonds trailed stocks on the stumble.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, June 28 (AP)—The cotton futures market turned weak in late trading toda yon increased liquidation from commission houses and New Orleans which met only scale down hedging and local covering. Final prices were 30 to 55 cents a bale lower. Liquidation in July following the issuance of fifteen additional transferable notices and the reaction in securities unsettled the cotton market.

There was considerable switching from July into later months as the trade houses declined to accept the notices calling for delivery of spot cotton against contracts. The scattered interest in July and the low grade of cotton certificated for delivery were cited as reasons for the persistent liquidating movement.

Loss Of Arm Fails To Prevent Marriage

BEAUMONT, June 28. (AP) — Loss of an arm in an automobile accident did not prevent Roy S. Hanna, 21, of Nacogdoches from proceeding with plans for his marriage to Miss Oneta Wagstaff of Orange.

Hanna suffered the injury while en route from Nacogdoches to Orange, his left arm being so badly mangled amputation just below the shoulder was necessary.

The operation was performed early yesterday morning at a Beaumont hospital and Wednesday night the couple were married in the hospital ward.

Youth Lets His Girl Listen In On Suicide

NEW ORLEANS, June 28. (AP)—Police Sgt. David Williams reported today that Emile Cappe, jr., 17, called his girl friend, 24, on the phone last night, asked if she wanted to "hear a funny noise" and fired a pistol bullet into his abdomen.

Cappe died today in Charity hospital without explaining the shooting, but a note was found beside the telephone which Sgt. Williams said read, "I am sorry, ma and pa."

Dr. C. Grenes Cole, parish coroner, classified the death as suicide.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, June 28 (AP) — Wheat dropped 1½ and rye more than two cents from early highs today and barley was fractionally lower, but corn and oats were firm to strong.

Profit cashing, liquidation and hedging caused the break in wheat futures and followed a sell-off in the stock market where prices dropped from one to more than two points.

Another factor in the selling was the Association of American railroad's report that additional cars were being made available for grain shipments.

At the finish wheat was ⅝ to 1⅛ lower than yesterday's close, July $1.66. Corn was unchanged to up ⅜, December $1.16⅞. Oats were down ⅛ to up ⅛, July 66⅞. Rye was down 1¼ to 1⅝, July $1.52⅞-½. Barley was 1 to 1¼ lower, July $1.12½.

Action Delayed In Negro Slaying Case

SAN ANTONIO, June 28. (AP)—Action in the case of Pvt. Fred Hurse, negro soldier, convicted at Camp Barkeley, April 19, 1944, of killing Pvt. Eugene Pinckney, another negro soldier, will be taken when orders are received from the War department, it was announced by the Fourth Army public relations office. An application for writ of habeas corpus in Federal court had delayed execution ordered under a court martial sentence.

The writ of habeas corpus was denied March 13 by the district court for the northern Texas district. An appeal to the Fifth Circuit court at New Orleans by Hurse's attorney was never perfected and subsequently dismissed by the court on June 23.

Three other negro soldiers were also wounded at a dance in the service club at the time Pinckney was killed. According to testimony, Hurse had been denied admittance to the dance for negro soldiers and was alleged to have fired the fatal shots through the door.

Jap Okinawa Chiefs Eat Heartily Then Die In Traditional Fashion

By RUSSELL ANNABEL
United Press War Writer

OKINAWA, June 28—The Japanese Army commander on Okinawa and his chief of staff ate a hearty banquet, dressed in their best uniforms, and then killed themselves in traditional hara-kiri fashion, a prisoner said today.

The bodies of Lt. Gen. Mitsuru Ushijima and his chief of staff Lt. Gen. Isaha Cho, were found Monday in shallow graves. Col. Cecil W. Nistaffer, Salem, Ore., said his identification of the corpses was "positive and unquestionable."

One Ceremonial Flaw

The only flaw in the ceremonial suicide rites was that the two did not face north as they slit their stomachs, according to the story told by Ushijima's cook today. The ledge on which they knelt was too narrow for that.

The cook said that the two generals decided to kill themselves on June 21 when the system of caves where they were holding out was surrounded. He was ordered to prepare an elaborate dinner for the occasion.

The ridge outside the caves was under terrific artillery and mortar bombardment by the Americans. Flame-throwing tanks were climbing the steep coral slopes to burn the Japanese from their hiding places.

They Gorge Plentifully

Inside, the generals ate quietly. They filled themselves with rice, canned meats, potatoes, fried fish cakes, salmon, bean soup, fresh cabbage and pineapples and washed it down with tea and sake.

The meal was served at 10 p. m. At 11:30 the guard at the cave entrance was told by the general's aide that he was "no longer needed."

At three the next morning, the cook was getting breakfast when the general's orderly whispered that the general and his chief of staff were going to commit harakiri.

It was near four o'clock when the two generals left the cave. They were dressed in full field uniform, their boots gleaming with polish, their medals sparkling on their tunic fronts.

Walk To Narrow Ledge

The two generals, talking in low tones, walked to a narrow ledge outside the mouth of the cave. They were followed by their aides and members of their staff.

Heavy comforts were spread on the ledge. Over each was put a white sheet to symbolize death.

Ushijima knelt on the sheet in customary fashion, with Gen. Cho on his left. Both faced the ocean. Then the commander's aide brought two knives with half of each blade wrapped in white cloth. He handed one to each general.

The general's adjutant stood directly behind Ushijima, his sabre drawn. Both generals had opened their uniforms to bare their abdomens.

Ushijima thrust the knife deep inside himself and at the same instant the adjutant slashed him across the back of the neck with the sabre and cut his spinal cord. A moment later Gen. Cho died the same way.

Buried By Orderlies

The orderlies carried the bodies to the base of the cliff and scooped out shallow graves for them. That's where they were found Monday by a patrol of the Seventh division's 32nd regiment. They were partly covered with rocks.

Gen. Cho was wrapped in a white silk mattress cover on which he had written his own epitaph:

"On the 22nd day, sixth month, 20th year of the Showa era I depart without regret, fear, shame or obligation."

State Bar Frowns On Light Sentences

DALLAS, June 28. (AP)—Officers and directors of the State Bar of Texas went on record today as disapproving light sentences in cases of suspension and recommended appointment of a committee to study the low income of Texas unsalaried lawyers.

Judge Joe B. Dooley of Amarillo presided over the business meeting which discussed a Fort Worth case in which a sentence of a one year suspension was handed down. The board voted to disapprove the punishment as wholly inadequate. The case was a civil suit filed for alleged misuse of funds.

The average median earnings of a Texas unsalaried lawyer is $2425, according to official statistics, and the board recommended a committee to study this situation, which was reported so low as to make the profession undignified.

German Plants Said Unharmed By Bombs

WASHINGTON, June 28. (U.P.)—Assistant Attorney General Wendell Berge disclosed today that Allied bombing attacks left three-fourth "if not more" of German industrial capacity untouched. He warned that Germany is planning a seven-point industrial recovery plan.

Berge testified before the Senate Kilgore subcommittee now holding hearings on German potentialities for another war.

He said that while Allied air warfare served to interrupt production and therefore proved helpful from a military standpoint "total damage to industrial capacity according to estimates is in the neighborhood of 20 per cent."

Consequently, he added, "probably three-fourths if not more of the industrial power with which Germany waged this war remains relatively intact." He said this was "particularly true" in the steel and chemical industries.

Berge said investigations since V-E day revealed that replacement of damaged synthetic oil plants was proceeding so rapidly at the time of German collapse that by September new plants, some of them underground, would have been able to restore full production.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 60 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Ice Cream Is Ever Popular

Better take advantage of the ice cream supply now during the flush milk season. Later on the ice cream makers' sugar supply threatens to reach an all-time low.

Vanilla ice cream with chocolate sauce is truly American.

Chocolate Fudge Sauce
(Makes 2 Cups)

One package (7 ounces) semi-sweet chocolate bits, 1 cup corn syrup, ½ cup hot water, ⅛ teaspoon salt.

Melt chocolate bits over hot water and stir until smooth. Add remaining ingredients; blending well. Increase heat and boil 3 minutes, timing from moment mixture begins to boil.

Ice Cream Topping

Use vanilla ice cream on any dessert where you might use whipped cream.

Butterscotch Sauce
(Makes 2 Cups)

One-half cup brown sugar, ½ cup corn syrup, 2 tablespoons butter, dash of salt, ½ cup light cream, ¼ cup milk.

Combine first 4 ingredients; bring to boiling point and cook until syrup forms a soft ball in cold water. Remove from fire; stir in cream and milk.

Quick ways to stretch the available ice cream supply:

On The Cake

Serve a scoop of ice cream on toasted pound cake and cover with spiced applesauce or jam.

With Cooked Fruit

Vanilla ice cream on fresh stewed peaches, blackberries or cooked figs.

Main Dish Made Of Stuffed Peppers

Stuffed green peppers make good main dishes on days when meat and fowl are scarce. A little meat goes a long way in them.

Stuffed Peppers
(Serves 6)

Six green peppers, 1 egg, 1½ teaspoons salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 3 tablespoons minced onion, 1 cup cooked tomatoes, ¾ cup bran, ¾ pound ground beef.

Cut stem ends from peppers, remove seeds. Parboil about 5 minutes in boiling salted water. Beat egg slightly; add salt, pepper, onion, tomatoes and bran. Let soak until most of moisture is taken up. Add ground beef and mix well. Fill green peppers with meat mixture. Arrange in greased baking dish, stuffed side up. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 40 minutes.

"Cooked to Your Taste," the new guide to vegetable cooking, suggests:

Green Peppers Stuffed With Potato
(Serves 4)

Four large green peppers, 1½ cups tomato juice, salt, 2 cups cooked diced potatoes, ½ tablespoon caraway seeds, ½ teaspoon Worcestershire or soy sauce, or onion juice.

Cut off stem end of peppers, remove seeds, put into boiling water, cover and let stand for 2 minutes. Drain and cool. Fill with potatoes which have been mixed with caraway seeds and blended with Worcestershire sauce, soy sauce or onion juice. Place stuffed peppers in baking dish, pour in tomato juice and cover, and bake, covered, for 10 to 15 minutes, in a moderate oven. Uncover, and bake another 5 minutes. Serve in baking dish.

HOLIDAY SPREAD . . . . Salad with Frankfurters

Holiday Picnic Is Possible Despite Shortage Of Food

WE ALL know now, from years of experience, that we can have parties and offer party food to our guests or our families, despite food shortages. The Fourth of July has long been a time when Americans enjoy marking the holiday with a party of sorts. Here is a reminder, in the form of a menu, of the fact that you can still entertain, even though food shortages are worse than ever.

Hot Potato Salad With Frankfurters

6 medium potatoes	thinly sliced
6 slices bacon, diced	1-3 cup distilled white vinegar
1 medium onion, finely chopped	2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
5 to 6 frankfurters, skinned and	1½ to 2 teaspoons salt
	Pepper

Scrub potatoes and boil in jackets until done. Fry bacon until crisp. Remove bacon from skillet, and saute onion and frankfurters in fat until delicately browned. Peel and cut potatoes into 1-2" cubes. To the frankfurters add potatoes, and remaining ingredients. Cook, stirring gently, over low heat until all ingredients are thoroughly heated. Serve on platter garnished with lettuce and genuine dill pickles. Serves 6.

* * *

Stuffed Cucumbers

4 firm cucumbers	minced onions or chives
1 cup cottage cheese	½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon each—rosemary, basil, oregano	Few grains cayenne pepper
1 teaspoon	Stuffed olives, sliced

Wash cucumbers, with cooking fork, score the green rind deeply, the length of the cucumber. Cut cucumbers in half lengthwise; hollow out the centers and cut center into small cubes. Add cottage cheese, mixed herbs, onions or chives, salt and pepper. Mix lightly. Fill the hollows in the cucumbers and arrange on serving platter with garnish of watercress. To serve, cut each cucumber half in thirds and garnish servings with watercress. French dressing or mayonnaise may be served with these.

* * *

Mexican Chili Beans

1 lb. dried beans (preferably pintos).
½ teaspoon salt
1 1-2 cups salt pork
1 onion, minced
1 teaspoon garlic salt
¼ teaspoon cumin seed
2 to 3 teaspoons chili powder
Pepper to taste
1 tablespoon finely minced parsley

Wash the beans and soak overnight. Add salt and simmer for about an hour. Cut the salt pork in small pieces and fry to golden brown over low heat. Add the minced onion and brown lightly. Add to the beans. Add herbs and spices. Continue cooking an additional 2 hours over low heat, adding water from time to time as necessary. Beans should be well cooked throughout and almost dry when ready to serve. Stir in the parsley just before serving.

* * *

Molasses Nut Bread

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour	1 cup whole wheat flour
1 teaspoon baking soda	¼ cup shortening
2 teaspoons baking powder	1 cup nuts, coarsely chopped
1 teaspoon salt	½ cup raisins
2 cups bran	2 eggs
	1½ cups sour milk
	½ cup molasses

Mix and sift flour, baking soda, baking powder and salt together. Mix with bran and whole wheat flour. Cut in shortening. Add nuts and raisins. Beat eggs and combine with milk and molasses. Add to dry ingredients. Fill one very large greased loaf pan or two medium-sized ones about half full. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about one hour. Cool and store on day before slicing for easier cutting. Yield: one large or two medium loaves.

KITCHEN KORNER

When cutting a meringue covered pie use a sharp knife frequently dipped in cold water.

Toys and other objects left lying about steps and stairs may cause a bad fall.

A man who uses an electric shaver while in contact with water may risk electrocution.

Do not try to make a frayed electric cord do since it may cause fire.

Milk stains are best removed from cotton and linen fabrics by washing.

Be sure when cutting hangnails to use only sterile clippers or scissors.

If an electric cord becomes damp place it on a flat surface and do not use it for several days.

Put the leftover ham bone into bean soup to make a sturdy main dish.

Baking potatoes should be rubbed with fat before baking to insure tender skins.

Cuban Molasses Cookies

½ cup shortening	1 teaspoon soda
½ cup sugar	½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs	1 teaspoon ginger
½ cup molasses	¼ cup hot coffee
2 cups flour

Cream shortening and sugar, beat in the eggs, one at a time, then the molasses. Mix and sift the flour, soda, salt and ginger, stir this into the molasses mixture, then gradually beat in the hot coffee.

Drop by the teaspoon, two or three inches apart, on a greased cookie sheet. Bake in a hot oven, 425° F., for ten to twelve minutes.

OLIVE AND LEMON ASPIC

1 package lemon flavored gelatin	water
1¾ cups warm	1½ cups chopped olives
	Lettuce
	Mayonnaise

Dissolve the gelatin in the warm water. Chill the mixture and when it is almost set stir in chopped olives. Pour into a wet mold and chill. Unmold on a bed of lettuce leaves and serve with mayonnaise.

Never immerse the heating unit of an electric percolator in water.

Fruit Filling

1 cup chopped dates	¼ cup orange marmalade
1½ cups cooked prunes drained and chopped	1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ cup chopped nutmeats	¼ teaspoon salt
	¼ cup rum (optional)

Mix together all ingredients and if mixture is too dry to spread, add prune juice. Use to fill sponge roll.

Nationwide Poultry Black Market Threatens To Undermine Industry

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Farm Editor

WASHINGTON, June 27 — A nationwide black market in poultry threatens to bring on an acute egg shortage and possibly to destroy the nation's laying flocks.

The House food shortage investigating committee found on its tour of the Midwest and Far West that in many sections more than half the poultry moving to market is sold at from 10 to 50 per cent above legal prices.

Fly-By-Night Dealers

Testimony was offered that fly-by-night dealers are driving up and down the countryside in search of poultry. They offer to buy laying hens, roosters or any kind of chicken available at prices which poultrymen find hard to resist.

Case after case was cited in which these illegal dealers bought entire laying flocks. Egg production in these cases will drop until hens can be replaced by new layers next year.

Poultrymen testified that prices offered by black markets were such that most farmers could make more money by selling their flocks now than by holding the hens for the eggs they would produce the rest of the year.

They Save Trouble

The poultryman would not only make more money, but save himself all the labor and feed that would be required if he kept the hens.

This liquidation of laying flocks is not confined to black market operations. Consumers themselves are going to the country to buy poultry direct from producers. Most of them are glad to get chickens at any price.

Poultrymen blamed the situation on: (1) Shortage of red meats, (2) Excessive consumer spending power, (3) Government price policies.

Arizona Man High In Rodeo Standings

CANADIAN, June 28. (AP) — A report by the National Rodeo association yesterday said Gerald Roberts of Arizona with 1,945 points won in rodeos this year leads the national rodeo standings.

Roberts also holds top spot in the bareback bronc riding in individual events standings.

Other standings:

Royce Sewalt, Brooksmith, Tex., leads steer wrestling.

Jess Goodspeed, Wetumka, Okla., leads calf roping with 926 points. His nearest competition with 460 points is Toots Mansfield, Big Spring, Tex.

POW Return Depends On Several Factors

WASHINGTON, June 28. (U.P.)—Able-bodied prisoners of war will be kept in this country as long as American manpower is not available to replace them in essential work, the War department said today.

Maj. Gen. Archer L. Lerch, provost marshal general, said that 2,800 German and 300 Italian sick and wounded prisoners would be shipped from the U. S. back to Europe starting next week. During the summer, Lerch said, about 8,000 unfit Germans will be returned to Europe.

There were 421,291 Germans and Italians held here June 1, Lerch said. For the balance of the year, he said, 224,700 will be kept for work on military and naval installations and 155,000 will be assigned to civilian duties during the peak of the agricultural season.

After Jan. 1, he said, there will probably be no need for prisoner labor. He said their return to Europe would depend on labor requirements here, availability of accomodations in Europe and availability of shipping.

Southern Ports Have Record Import Totals

WASHINGTON, June 28. (AP)—Southern seaports are handling record amounts of import trade during war time, the commerce department said today.

Comparing 1944 imports with the pre-war years 1938, the department said that:

Florida ports showed an increase of 385 per cent in the value of imports; ports in the mobile area of Alabama, 240 per cent; Georgia ports about 200 per cent, and seaports of the Texas customs area, about 100 per cent or double the 1938 figure.

Imports through the southern harbors consisted chiefly of raw or semi-manufactured products for further processing. The increases caused enlarged employment among southern firms engaged in transportation, finance, warehousing, manufacturing, distribution "and many other activities," the department said.

Long Wait Foreseen For New Automobiles

WASHINGTON, June 28. (U.P.)—It will be at least three years before many millions of Americans will be able to buy new cars, Col. J. Monroe Johnson, director of the Office of Defense transportation, said today.

Johnson made the assertion in appealing to passenger car owners to conserve their cars.

"This fact has not been generally realized in the first rosy flush of enthusiasm over the limited resumption of passenger car production," he said.

Johnson said the 240,000 cars to be built this year will replace less than one per cent of the nation's autos. He said 450,000 cars are scheduled for production during the first quarter of 1945 and a ceiling of 3,146,000 has been set on production for the period from July, 1945, to June 1946.

Japanese Thumb Ride With Yank Soldiers

MANILA, June 28. (U.P.)—Tech. Sgt. Charlie Hill, Amarillo, Tex., and Cpl. Joe Smith, Atoka, Okla., thought they had seen all kinds of hitch-hikers until two Japanese thumbed a lift from them on the main highway the other day.

The Japanese, suffering from malaria, had surrendered to a Filipino, who had told them to make their own way to a hospital.

Soong's Trip Reflects Concern Of China Over Relations With Russia

By WALTER G. RUNDLE
United Press Manager For China

The departure of T. V. Soong, China's new premier, and an official party for Moscow reflects China's growing concern for her relations with her powerful Russian neighbor.

While China's immediate military future is linked to the United States, Chinese officialdom has recognized for more than a year that China's political future will be vitally affected by Russia's position in the Far East.

Publicly, China has insisted that her relations with Russia are satisfactory. But realistic Chinese make no secret of the fact that there have been many points of friction and that many additional potential dangers exist.

One Province Causes Trouble

An immediate source of trouble is in China's far western province of Sinkiang, where for more than a year there have been frequent clashes between Chinese troops and the nomadic Kaska tribesmen who have resented China's efforts to colonize the fertile valleys. The clashes have on at least one occasion spilled over into inner Mongolia, with a result that red starred planes of the Soviet trained Mongolian air force attacked Chinese troops.

Chinese are reluctant to discuss the even more important question of Russia's attitude toward postwar Manchuria and toward the Chinese Communists who now are active in an area comprising nearly one-third of China and boasting a population of 150,000,000 Chinese.

These are matters which it can be presumed Soong and his party will discuss in Moscow. China is anxious to know what concessions Russia will seek in Manchuria. She is anxious to know if Russia may eventually give open support to the Chinese Communists and to determine whether Russia, which until a few years ago dominated Sinkiang economically and politically, will move to regain that position after the war.

May Seek 20-Year Pact

There have been frequent rumors in Chungking that Soong would visit Moscow in an effort to obtain a 20-year pact with Russia, similar to that obtained by President Charles de Gaulle for France. But there is every indication that China has no such concrete proposal to make. Best bet is that Soong and party will visit Moscow on a fishing expedition, to sound out Russia's position on the principal problems between the two countries and seek a basis for agreement that will lessen the danger of later dangerous clashes of interests.

The question mark in such negotiations is China's ability to offer anything concrete for her end of the bargain. Her strongest bargaining point is United States military and political support of the central government of Chiang Kai-Shek; British support; the Cairo declaration, and the fact that United States training and American equipment are building for Chiang an army which will be the unquestioned military power in China.

Soong's Power Uncertain

It is questionable how far Chiang has empowered Soong to go in discussing such delicate matters as the Chinese Communists and Russia's desires i Manchuria. Many Chinese in posts of importance are resigned to the possibility that Chin will have to give Russia access to the important Manchurian ports of Port Arthur and Dairen, control of the Manchurian railroad and probably large concessions in Sinkiang.

The more pessimistic fear that Russia's demands in Manchuria, in spite of theCairo declaration, may be much more inclusive. China feels that her hopes for national reconstruction rest on recovery of the mineral and industrial wealth of Manchuria.

China also has been made increasingly aware of the need for improvement of Chungking's relations with Moscow by a recent rash of Russian press criticism of the Chiang Kai-Shek regime. This began soon after the end of hostilities in Europe and indicated Russia's growing interest in developments in Asia. Many Chinese feared that this indicated a trend which might eventually turn from criticism of Chiang to active support of the Yenan Communists. It is quite probable that this latter development was a large factor in the decision to send Soong to Moscow almost immediately after his return to Chungking from San Francisco.

Grazing Experiment At Tech Satisfactory

W. L. Stangel, head of the Department of Animal Husbandry at Texas Tech college, has announced that results at the end of the first 28 days of grazing experiments using five heifers on two acres of pasture have been reported "very satisfactory."

First part of the 28-day test the heifers were placed on one-half acre of alfalfa and brome grass. When this was partly grazed off they were moved to another half-acre plot of alfalfa, sweet clover and brome.

At the end of the 28 days the five-head average was 2.04 pounds gained each day, or 59 pounds for the entire 28 days for each heifer.

"Now we can assume," Stangel said, "that if the five had been sold after gaining 295 pounds, total, their type, quality and condition would have justified a price of $13.50 per hundredweight. This price expressed in grass return per acre would have amounted to $39.83 for the entire period."

At the end of this period the heifers were placed on one-half acre of alfalfa and crested wheat grass and will soon be moved to a half-acre plot of bermuda with a mixture of legumes. Another report will be made at the end of that period.

The five head will then go back to the first plots, Stangel said, adding that during the grazing just completed but one watering of the pasture was required giving a very "optimistic outlook for future grazing, on a large scale, of this sort."

Kansas and Iowa are the greatest tornado states.

Library Operation On Marianas Is No Snap, Quartet Find

By BONNIE WILEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

MARIANAS ISLAND — The Army Special Service division has added a highly civilized note to life in these island bases with the arrival of four attractive Army librarians.

The librarians (feminine) wear pretty blue uniforms with a rainbow patch upon their shoulders and live GI fashion in a quonset hut. They eat "C" rations when fresh foods aren't available, ride in jeeps over dust-clogged roads, line up for meals, wash their clothes in a helmet, on the (now) rare occasions when a water shortage hits.

"You have no idea how anxious the men out here were for us to get our libraries set up and going," said the blue-eyed chief librarian, Jeanette Sledge of New York.

"They want to read books badly —not war books, not always fiction, either, but books and more books, everything from westerns to technical material," she added.

Under the library program one book for each man in the Marianas will be aailable for rotation, insuring GI's plenty of reading material. Special service officer in charge of the library program is Capt. Joseph McEntee of St. Louis.

Prime interest of the librarians is reading material for the hospitals.

"The conditoin of a patient usually detemines what book he wants to read," explained Grace Beecher of Peru, Ind., another of the little band of far-traveling librarians.

Problems of the librarians — outside of how to live happily in a quonset hut—differ from those of a home-town librarian in a large fashion.

"One of them is mildew of our books, brought about by this hot, humid climate," moaned Mary Jacqueline Green of Hawthorne, Calif.

"And another," chimed in the fourth member of the unit, Eleanor Thomson of Vancouver, Wash., "is the ants that eat our library paste before we get a chance to mend books with it."

But ants or no ants, these intrepid young librarians like their jobs and wouldn't trade it in for a stateside spot for worlds.

MAY FREEZE ASSETS

LONDON, June 28. (AP) — A strong possibility that Poland's foreign assets will be frozen temporarily developed today as Great Britain and the United States prepared to withdraw recognition from the exile regime and transfer it to the newly formed Warsaw government.

SPEAKS HERE—Rev. E. W. Lloyd (above) of Arkadelphia, Ark., will be the featured speaker at the revival meetings which will be conducted by the Parkview Baptist church, Myrtle Drive on East Broadway, beginning Sunday. Services will be held twice daily, at 10 a. m. and 8:30 p. m.

Organization Formed For Camp Bowie Vets

BROWNWOOD, June 28. (U.P.)—An organization known as the armed forces service association (AFSA) which will sponsor activities for the redeployed veterans of Europe to be stationed here at Camp Bowie has been establisehd by local civic groups, it was learned today.

Soldiers now stationed at Bowie are competing in a contest for the best-designed emblem for AFSA, the winner to be given a war bond award.

Badges are to be sold in a nine-county area to help finance entertainment and other benefits for the veterans to be redeployed, it was said.

Waste Laid To Maritime Unit

WASHINGTON, June 28. (U.P.)—Sen. George Aiken, (R., Vt.), yesterday charged that "the wastefulness and illegal expenditures" of the U. S. Maritime commission have run "possibly into billions of dollars."

Denouncing "unsavory conditions which exist in the Maritime commission," Aiken told the Senate that the commission made contracts denying itself access to the books and cost records of a shipbuilding concern.

He further charged the commission had agreed that the same company would have no obligations on account of "defects, breakdown or deterioriation" of any vessel delivered under contracts totaling $11,213,553.

Texas Deal Cited

He said these contracts, made with the Pennsylvania Shipyards Inc., Beaumont, Tex., "contained provisions not compatible with the public interest."

He said a letter written to Adm. Emory S. Land, martime commissioner, by Comptroller General Lindsay E. Warren "indicated" that a net overpayment of $6,172,618 contract was made to this company on another $35,000,000 contract.

"Apparently the Maritime commission does not keep records or inventories or have any accurate knowledge of the amount and value of the supplies maintained at shipyards which hold (Maritime) commission contracts," Aiken continued.

"I believe an impartial and thorough investigation would show that the wastefulness and illegal expenditures of the maritime commission has run not into millions, but possibly into billions of dollars," he said.

Son Of Minister Is Missing In Action

Rev. C. J. McCarty, 1913 Eighteenth, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church, has been informed by the War department via a telegram that his son, Capt. William Aubrey McCarty, plane commander on a B-29 in the Pacific theater of war is listed as missing in action.

Capt. McCarty left the States May 12 for the Pacific and his father estimates that his son was shot down on his third or fourth mission.

He was graduated from Lubbock High school in 1934, Texas Tech in 1938 and entered service Aug. 15, 1941. He received his primary training at Hemet, Calif., basic at Taft, Calif., and was presented his wings at Luke field, Ariz., March 6, 1942. He was shipped immediately to the Caribbean area where he did patrol service for 23 months.

Upon returning to the states in February of 1944, Capt. McCarty took B-29 training at Clovis and Alamogordo, N. M., McCook, Neb., and Pyote. He was married Dec. 16, 1944, to Miss Mary Brown of Pine Bluff, Ark. She is living in Pine Bluff with her parents, Rev and Mrs. William E. Brown.

The last letter Rev. McCarty received from his son was dated June 6.

Madame Curie was born Manya Sklodowska, and was a governess in Poland before she was a scientist.

Severe Shortage Of Water Threatens

McALLEN, June 28. (AP)—A 72-hour pumping shutdown of all water districts west of Mercedes will start at 6 o'clock tonight in an effort to alleviate the threat of a water shortage worse than any the border country has had this summer.

Mexico also is being asked to again release water from Azucar dam and reservoir.

A. L. Cramer, president of the Rio Grande Valley Water Conservation association, said the new drop in the river is of such proportions that it is probable all irrigation in the valley will have to be halted so the flow can be apportioned equitably for domestic, industrial and army air field use.

The establishment of a small copper refinery in 1916 at Trail, B. C. was the beginning of the refining of copper in the Dominion of Canada.

Filipinos Show Doubting Yanks They Can Really Take Out Japs

By RICHARD C. BERGHOLZ
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH THE TWENTY-FOURTH DIVISION, Near Davao, Philippines, — When the Eighth Army campaign to lick the Japanese on Mindanao began, a lot of American officers weren't too sure about the effectiveness of Filipino soldiers.

Let them guard the bridges and supply lines, the Americans said. We'll do the fighting.

It's a different story here in the rugged fighting around Davao. Some Philippine Army troops are still guarding the roads and bridges—a vital job, of course—but they're also fighting alongside veteran doughboys of this "Victory" division and killing plenty of Japanese, too.

Take This Example

Take the case of First Lt. Raymond M. Sundquist of Hoquiam, Wash. One of the greatest basketball stars in the country with the championship Washington State team in 1941, Sundquist and his reconnaissance platoon were assigned 475 Filipino officers and men. They were poorly equipped, poorly fed, poorly clothed. But almost pathetically eager. Man, oh man, how they loved to kill Japanese!

At first Sundquist had his new recruits guarding rear areas. That didn't last long. The Filipino leaders went right to Maj. Gen. Roscoe B. Woodruff and said: "Our men don't like sitting in foxholes day and night guarding bridges. They want to fight."

They did. In two weeks of offensive action with Sundquist's platoon, they killed at least 149 Japanese and took 27 casualties.

Every Shot Counts

"You ought to see how these boys fight," Sundquist said. "None of this blind shooting into the bushes. Every shot had to count with them. It goes back to the days when they were fighting the Japs on their own. They had little ammunition and every man's life was worth less than the rounds in his rifle. Their officers told them, 'you have one grenade and four rounds for your rifle. It may have to last you for the duration. Use your knives.'

"The wounded are sometimes reluctant to report their hurts. One man got hit in the hip with shrapnel. Afraid that his men might think him yellow, he refused to tell anyone about it until several days later when a medical officer noticed him limping.

They Can Smell Japs

"I'm sure most of them really like this close work, this hand-to-hand fighting. They're invaluable in ferreting out snipers and ambushers. And they actually can smell them.

"On time we were going through a banana grove. One of them pointed at a bottom leaf and said there was a mine under it. He carefully lifted the leaf and sure enough there was the mine. The wire touching the underside had discolored the leaf. That's how the boy knew the mine was there."

WACS Run The Book In Flying, Now Turn To Communications

SHEPPARD FIELD, June 27. (AP)—WAC Privates Margaret McCormick and Moya Mitchel, stationed at Sheppard Field, are two fliers who have done everything in the aviation field from professional barnstorming to ferrying heavy bombers, the public relations office said here today.

Blond Pvt. McCormick, of Jackson, Miss., and brown-eyed Pvt. Mitchell from Bedford, Mass., are now assigned to the Army airways communication system for training as control tower operators.

Miss McCormick earned her private license in 1933, the first woman in Louisiana to become a licensed pilot, the public relations office said. She then traveled about the country as a stunt flier.

Her greatest thrill, she said, was her first parachute jump.

"I jumped and my body rolled 1,500 feet through space before I pulled the rip cord," she explained. "My pilot was more frightened than I was. But I really enjoyed it, and for the next thirty-three weeks I demonstrated parachute jumping."

Miss Mitchell won her first wings in 1933, too, in Boston. She logged more than 2000 hours as a private flier and instructor. She joined the WACs in 1943 and was assigned to a Lubbock field, where as a C-60 pilot, she often towed Waco gliders at 50 foot altitures in night exercises.

She also piloted B-26 bombers in high altitude target towing maneuvers.

She has also flown B-17 and B-29 heavy bombers in test flights.

U. S. Meat Supplies Continue To Decline

WASHINGTON, June 28, (AP)—Meat disappeared from more stores in the big cities this month.

It was available in fewer or them in mid-June than at any corresponding time in the last 15 months, according to a monthly survey of independent grocers in 56 large cities released today by the bureau of labor statistics.

Four out of 10 stores were without frankfurters and bologna.

Granulated sugar, margarine, lard and some canned fruits and vegetables were becoming increasingly hard to find, the survey said.

More than 85 per cent of the reporting stores had no veal or pork; about three-fourths had no beef or lamb. More than half had no fresh meat for five or more days of the week preceding the survey.

Meat shortages were more widespread among the different regions than in preceding months.

The Rocky Mountain area was still better supplied than other regions, but its beef, lamb and pork were not so plentiful as in mid-May.

The New England and southeastern sections continued to have the smallest supplies, with beef, veal and pork out of stock in more than 90 per cent of the stores.

Carrier And Crew Fight Through And Save Mighty Pacific Veteran

By JACK HEWINS
Associated Press Staff Writer

BREMERTON, Wash., June 6 (Delayed) — The Carrier Bunker Hill lost 373 dead, 19 missing, 264 injured in four blazing hours of bombs and fire during the struggle for Okinawa.

The blackened and torn veteran of all the major strikes since Rabaul, still a fighting ship, left her dead behind and came home to heal these hurts:

A round, slanting puncture angling through the flight deck and out the port side, large enough for a fat man to wriggle through, the trail of a Japanese bomb;

Another Hits Too

A great saw-edged wound next to the island, many yards square, many yards deep, where a second bomb smashed home.

The port side is speckled with holes where the first bomb, exploding after knifing through the deck, hurled metal through the steel plating. Above, the flight deck is rippled like a mussed blanket from the heat.

And on that surface swarming repair crews find blobs of dull metallic stuff a man could almost cover with his two hands. Those blobs were airplanes—before the fire. Seventy aircraft were lost to the flames.

Vice Admiral Marc A. Mitscher was aboard when the enemy hit. The Bunker Hill was one of two craft to which he had reference in disclosing recently that he was forced twice to leave warships hit by Japanese bombers in the Okinawa attack. The crew recalls that the admiral struck with the ship until her fires were under control before transferring the flag.

Was Placid Morning

It was May 11, 1945, at 10:05 in the morning. A placid morning, with bits of wool in the sky, said Capt. George Albert Seitz of Coronado, Calif. Out of that wool, unseen until just before the impact, slid an enemy plane. Just above the flight deck it freed its bomb.

The plane itself pancaked in the midst of aircraft preparing to take off on another strike.

Lt. William M. Conners of Troy, N. Y., heard the blast and sprinted from his office.

Almost nose-to-tail with the enemy attacker came the second, across the island from starboard, and his bomb removed Lieutenant Connors' office, pierced the flight deck and burst below.

Third Attacker Downed

By then the gunners were in action, tagging him and blasting a third attacker out of the sky.

Burning, one wing shot away, the second enemy spun into the island in a flash of fire.

Pilots, safely back from a morning strike, died in the swift-spreading smoke and fire. Crewmen in passageways succumbed to smoke which filled the great ship in mere seconds.

Survivors gloss over their own experiences in admiration of a friend. Or they recall a deed and forget a name.

There was the young seaman who could have scooted up an elevator to safety when the smoke flooded his compartment. The air officer, Cmdr. Gilbert Joseph Frauenheim of Pittsburgh, recalled that this boy chose instead to grope his way into the compartment and lead small groups to the elevator. It was a small elevator. Before he could finish his self-selected job the boy succumbed.

Stay On Jobs Below

"The people down below," said Captain Seitz in praising the chief engineer, 29-year-old Lt. Cmdr. Joseph R. Carmichael of Seattle, "were in a grim place. It took a lot of courage for men to remain at their posts. Some died at their jobs."

Just out of sick bay was Lt. Eric S. Pfefferkorn, San Diego, Calif. Assistant damage control officer, he heard something "like an automobile crash" above him. He went to the ward room, "put on a headset and started working," but smoke quickly filled the room. He found a way out; returned with rescue breathing apparatus that enabled the others to escape.

The four hours and a bit more passed so quickly Lt. Pfefferkorn thought his watch was broken. Far below, the engines never stopped.

Down on the seventh deck Chief Watertender Stanley Wenscrider of New York City and the men with him were isolated by water from the desperately spouting fire hoses above. Smoke crowded in with them and they dampened handkerchiefs and lay on the floor. They divided the chore of watching the dials and valves; they could talk little, think too much, yet Wenschrider "never saw a calmer bunch."

But the Bunker Hill, which had destroyed 470 Japanese planes with her own planes and guns, supported landings and carried the war to the home cities of Nippon, was unwhipped.

The Cruiser Wilkes-Barre moved in on one side; two destroyers edged in on the other. More destroyers scoured the sea for boys forced overboard by smoke or flame or blast, and rescued about 200.

Crew Makes Thirty Missions Over Japan

HEADQUARTERS, 73rd Bomb Wing, B-29 Base, Saipan, (AP) — Capt. Ferd J. Curtis and his B-29 crew are really flying "for the wife and kids" — on their way home after completing 30 combat missions against Japan.

Curtis, telling of heavy anti aircraft fire during a raid on Tokyo April 15, said: "Once we'd dropped our bombs, we stopped flying for the government and started flying for the wife and kids" in the effort to get away and return to base.

The 11 homeward-bound veterans, ordered back to the states for rest, participated in the first night mission against Tokyo last Nov. 27. They flew all the 30 missions together and piled up nearly 100,000 miles of combat flying.

Curtis of Chicago, Ill., and his men were a lead crew on the many missions—chosen to go in first over the targets and drop marking bombs for following B-29s.

This made them the target for the concentrated Japanese ground guns and fighter planes.

The crew included:

Lt. Henry H. Standridge, copilot, of Stephenville, Texa., and Lt. Carl E. Taylor, bombardier, of Austin, Tex., a former telegraph office manager.

BONG TO TEST FIGHTERS

LOS ANGELES, June 28. (AP)—Maj. Richard Bong, American air ace, has been assigned to duty here to test Lockheed P-80 Shooting Star pet fighter planes for the Army Air forces, the Air Technical Service command has announced.
