Senate works to overcome filibuster

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm-state senators are optimistic they will reach agreement on a more generous package of credit assistance for faltering farmers, an issue that has prompted a paralyzing filibuster and delayed action on other congressional business.

"We're getting very close to agreement," Sen. David Boren, D-Okla., said following a meeting late Wednesday with Senate Majority Leader Robert Dole, R-Kan., and Agriculture Secretary John Block.

"I think we're finding out our differences aren't that great," Dole added after a day of meetings in which the administration promised to further liberalize its already announced credit aid program. Another meeting was scheduled for today.

At the same time, House Democrats were attempting to seize the initiative on the issue, pushing $1 billion in additional farm loan guarantee authority through the Appropriations Committee and taking up a more ambitious credit package in the House Agriculture Committee.

Appropriations Committee Chairman Rep. Jamie Whitten, D-Miss., called the measure "a holding action" needed to keep farmers from sliding into bankruptcy. "If we don't restore some health to agriculture, they're going to go out of business."

While the Senate meetings took place Wednesday, Boren, Sen. James Exon, D-Neb., and others tied the Senate in knots with a filibuster that prevented consideration of other matters, including the confirmation of Edwin Meese III to be attorney general and a $7 billion highway bill.

Dole and Boren declined to discuss the emerging agreement in detail, but other participants in the meetings said it was likely to include a higher ceiling on loan guarantees — perhaps $3 billion, instead of the $650 million the administration first announced — and more liberal eligibility terms and guarantee levels.

"This expands the Band-Aid," Dole said, making reference to the negative reaction the credit package received when the administration announced it two weeks ago.

But Dole still expressed strong opposition to a suggestion that farmers immediately be given a portion of the crop price support loans they normally would receive at harvest time.

Political pressure has mounted along with the credit crisis, which threatens many farmers with extinction.

Hardest hit are Midwestern grain belt producers caught in a squeeze between high interest rates and low values for their crops and land. Estimates are that tens of thousands may not be able to borrow enough to plant spring crops, and that many could be driven out of business.

At issue is how far the government should go to help them, and how much of that burden should be carried by others: state governments, the banks that made the loans and the farmers themselves.

"There is a certain percentage out there that are not going to be able to be helped," Dole said.

Dole, Block and others insisted Wednesday that the administration had already done enough to ease farm credit problems. He said banks should shoulder more of the load of carrying problem farm debt.

S&L here renames directors to board

Eight directors were re-elected to the board of directors of Snyder Savings and Loan during the association's annual shareholders meeting Wednesday afternoon.

Roger B. Mize, president and chairman of the board, said stockholders named the following to the board: Gene Best, John Boren, M.L. Duke, Joee Gainer, Mel Gilbert, Fla (Skipper) Joyce, J.B. Tate Jr. and Mize.

Gainer, vice president and comptroller, was named secretary to the board following the recent death of longtime board member Lee Smyth.

Smyth died Feb. 10. He was a charter member of the board, joining it at its formation in 1956.

Directors also reappointed the following officers: Mize, president; Tate as executive vice president; Gainer as vice president and comptroller; and Mable Glass as treasurer.

Mize reported to stockholders that the assocation "had a very fine year. We have been fortunate not only to maintain a very strong capital structure, but also to maintain a favorable profit picture for stockholders."

Here's two more contributions to the "Most Embarrassing Moment" contest. The first is from Donna Garvin and the second from Daphne Blevins.

Says Donna, "My embarrassing moment came following a banquet held at The Shack. A large group of us left at the same time and my heel caught on a parking curb in the middle of the lot.

"I slid about 10 feet, scraping my elbows and my leg from the knee down. I tried to get up as quickly and as gracefully as possible although my dress was over my head and I was tangled up in my slip.

"I thought my husband, Glendale, would rush to my side and see to my wounds (and my wounded pride). Instead, he boomed out in a very loud voice, "Well, I guess you ruined another pair of panty hose."

Daphne wrote, "A few years back, we had a really bad ice storm which left a thin sheet of ice on everything. My husband and I went to visit a friend, and when I stepped out of the car, I held on the door handle until I could get my footing on the slick ice.

"That never happened, I started sliding and slid right under the car. All that was sticking out was my head. Of course, my husband was laughing too hard to help me up."

Ask Us

Q. — Have any foreclosures been required for Scurry County farms serviced by Farmers Home Administration loans during 1985?

A. — John Smith, who heads the FmHA office for this area, said no. He estimated between 55 and 60 percent of the loans to farmers in the two-county area of Scurry and Fisher County are delinquent from Jan. 1 loan payments. He noted, however, the FmHA is continuing to work with farmers regarding these.

In Brief

Innocent plea

BASTROP, Texas (AP) — Bastrop County Commissioner Tom "T.J." Adams has pleaded innocent to an official misconduct charge.

Prosecutors accused Adams, 46, of using his office "with intent to harm" Judy Edwards while she was an investigator for the Bastrop County district attorney.

An indictment returned Feb. 6 alleged that Adams misapplied county funds "to adversely affect" Edwards' employment as an investigator.

Sources told the Austin American-Statesman that $1,200 was allegedly paid to a security agency to investigate Edwards last fall.

Visiting State District Judge Tom Blackwell set a pretrial hearing for Feb. 27.

Pre-trial set

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — A county court-at-law judge has set plea hearings for three former Texas A&M University cadets indicted in connection with the death of fellow cadet Bruce Goodrich for next week.

A grand jury indicted the three former cadets in connection with hazing and criminally negligent homicide.

The three were charged along with senior cadet Gabriel Cuadra following Goodrich's death on Aug. 30.

Four Americans are missing since December in Mexico

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (AP) — On a quiet Sunday morning, two American couples went into an affluent neighborhood selling Bibles and were never seen again. Nearly 2½ months later, there still is no clue to their whereabouts or fate.

The two couples, Dennis and Rose Carlson, of Redding, Calif., and Benjamin and Patricia Mascarenas, of Ely, Nev., were in the neighborhood on Dec. 2 when they were taken captive and put into two separate cars.

U.S. Consulate officials say there has been an exhaustive investigation by Mexican officials, but so far there has been no clue as to what happened to the Americans.

There has been no ransom note and telephone contact from the abductors, all but eliminating kidnapping-for-money as a motive, officials said. Local newspaper have speculated the couples' disappearance was related to their religious proselytizing.

According to police and Foreign Ministry accounts, the two couples had been selling Bibles in the Chapalita neighborhood when several cars drove up. Witnesses said six or seven men forcibly escorted the four into the cars. They said there was no violence and no indication anyone was armed.

The ministry also said the supposed captors "were about 5 feet, 10 inches tall, more than 60 years old and Anglo-Saxon in appearance." It said they "conversed in English" with the two couples before putting them in two cars."

Both couples reportedly were in their 20s or 30s and the Mascarenas couple had lived for more than a year in Guadalajara, a city of 3 million people, the nation's third largest, 322 miles northwest of Mexico City.

They are among seven missing Americans in this city, including Enrique Camarena Salazar, 37, a U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration agent abducted Feb. 7 by four gunmen within sight of the consulate.

The missing Americans prompted the U.S. Embassy to announce last week in Mexico City that the State Department is considering advising Americans traveling in the Guadalajara area to exercise caution because of recent crimes against U.S. citizens.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1985 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I need an objective opinion. When we saw that new neighbors were moving in in a rental truck, my husband and I went over to help. Twice I mentioned that my husband had a bad back. After we helped move all their possessions except for a grand piano, we invited them over for a drink, and I made several suggestions for obtaining help to move the piano out of the truck and into their house.

Later I prepared some homemade soup, and delivered it with napkins, spoons, bowls and crackers.

The next day, the man came over and asked my husband to help him move the piano. Despite my objections, the two of them moved the piano down a ramp, up four steps and into the house.

The temperature was 6 degrees and the wind-chill factor was 20 below. This neighbor is about 35 and a professional body-builder. My husband is 56, 20 pounds overweight, out of shape, and has a bad back and high blood pressure. He was once hospitalized for chest pains and a suspected heart attack.

Now my husband isn't speaking to me because I "embarrassed" him when I demanded that he stop lifting that piano and come home. (He ignored my pleas.)

Was I justified in ordering my husband to come home? And while you're at it, Abby, please print what can happen to middle-aged, out-of-shape men who undertake strenuous tasks in cold weather. Thank you.

TRYING TO AVOID WIDOWHOOD

DEAR TRYING: You were justified in asking your husband to come home, but you should have done so privately, instead of "ordering" him to do so in front of the neighbors.

And what can happen to out-of-shape, middle-aged men who undertake strenuous tasks in cold weather is well-documented every winter in the obituaries.

DEAR ABBY: I had a baby recently with natural childbirth. I went through several hours of hard labor with hardly a whimper or a frown on my face. My husband was with me in the delivery room the whole time. I was really proud of myself.

Needless to say, I was baffled when my husband told my visitors that I cussed and called him names "for what he did to me." I was so hurt when he made those smart-mouthed remarks about the delivery, instead of calling it "the greatest experience a father could ever witness"—like so many other fathers do.

When I confronted him about it afterward, he said he was just kidding, but to this day he still laughs and repeats that terrible lie when someone asks if he was in the delivery room.

Why should he do this? Your answer in the newspaper would be appreciated.

HURT

DEAR HURT: Because he's an insensitive clod with a warped sense of humor and little respect for your feelings.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TIME TO THINK" IN EAST HAMPTON: A friend sent this poem, which is more than food for thought—it's a banquet:

THE HARDER PART
Inventing the artificial heart—
That was the easy part.

Who can splice a severed soul?
Who can invent a glue
to mend a broken heart?
Can shattered minds
be traded in for new,
Or egos rusted by despair
be given body shop repair?

To find a cure for these
That are beyond prosthetic remedies
That is the harder part.

Missing child found; autopsy slated

LEWISVILLE, Texas (AP) — Dallas County medical examiner's officials plan an autopsy today on the body of a 2-year-old boy found floating in a creek near a neighborhood playground.

Authorities believe the body is that of Jeffery DeWayne Magee, who had been reported missing a week ago.

The creek had been searched eight times last week for the boy, who was last seen Feb. 13 playing in the back yard of his family's home in southwest Lewisville.

A police officer and investigator searching along Fox creek just southwest of the Magee home about 3 p.m. Wednesday said they "saw the soles of two small tennis shoes that appeared to be floating in the water," according to police Lt. David Fowler.

Police who used a road grader to dam the creek upstream and downstream from the location where the shoes were spotted drained the creek and discovered the body in about four feet of water.

Students from Central, East, Northeast and Stanfield Elementary Schools helped celebrate a "Parade of American Music" last Thursday in the Martha Ann Woman's Club.

Held by Musical Coterie members, the program was designed to honor American composers and their music from colonial times to the present.

A combined student choir performed "Yankee Doodle," a medley of Civil War songs from "It's Music" and the finale, "This Land Is Your Land."

Northeast students presented "Springfield Mt." and Stanfield students danced a Virginia Reel. A square dance and hoedown was performed by pupils from East and Central. Central students also played "When the Saints Go Marching In" with Northeast pupils presenting "Breakdance."

Sue Cate wrote the program script and June Brock served as program chairman for the event. The children were under the direction of J.D. Smith, Donna Smith, Dorothy Kayser and Monette O'Day.

Director Shirley Leftwich and the Scurry County Museum provided a pioneer exhibit. An antique flax wheel and handwoven coverlet belonging to Jo Flynn were also displayed.

Central students participating in the program included Vinnie Clay, Daniel Escobedo, Joey Thames, Lloyd Bennett and Pedro Gonzalez on violin; Joanna Brewer, Paul Anderson, Tina Brandon and Carlton Sanders on pianica; Freda Clay, Stacey Thompson, Lisa Aikin, Leonard Tovar, Don Constancio, Saul Aviles, Manuel Herrera, Raul Villazana, Gustavo Caestillon and George Kiker on guitar.

Danella Campbell, Chris Carrasco, Katy Head, Kenneth Hoyle, James Insel, Wendy Lamar, Tonya Lelek, Angel Scarber, Michael Torres, Raymond Torres, Jennifer Hill, Pablo Coronado, Huma Ilyas, Myste Malone, Stephanie Pierce, Lance Wilson, Barney Jones and Jason Rios performed for East.

From Northeast were Janet Jones, Dana Lockmane, Amy Ramirez, David Hinojos, Locadio Luera, Prudencio Salinas, Gerard Sisneros, Adam Villanueva and Micky Wilson.

CELEBRATES 92ND BIRTHDAY — Ross Williams celebrated his 92nd birthday last Saturday with relatives and guests. Elliott Roosevelt, son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, attended the event. Roosevelt of Indian Wells, Calif. came at the invitation of J.B. Williams of Fort Worth, Ross Williams nephew. Other out-of-town guests included Maude Mullins and J.B. William's pilot. Eight of Ross Williams' children and several grandchildren and great-grandchildren were also present. (Family Photo)

Software show slated

ATLANTA (AP) — "Softcon," the software industry's trade show of nearly 500 exhibitors, will be held at the Georgia World Congress Center March 31-April 3.

Northeast Expositions, producer of the show, says the software industry is expected to grow by 30 percent in 1985, even as several hundred competitors drop out or merge with larger companies. The expansion, it says, is the result of rapid growth by a few large software firms, combined with the start up of a significant number of new ventures.

Frogs upset Ponies; Raiders tied for 1st

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - The Southern Methodist Mustangs collapsed on the road again Wednesday night and suddenly found they had company atop the Southwest Conference basketball ladder.

The Texas Christian Horned Frogs cut down the No. 9 rated Mustangs 72-64 while Texas Tech beat Baylor 83-71. Both the Red Raiders and Mustangs are locked with 9-4 records.

They meet in Dallas Feb. 27.

In other games, Texas A&M blew a chance to make it a triple tie at the top by falling 53-51 to Texas at home; Arkansas climbed back into the race with a 73-59 rout of Houston, and Rice clubbed Tarleton State 82-44.

Arkansas is just a game off the lead with a 9-5 record while A&M is a game a half back at 8-5.

"The race is really muddled now," said SMU Coach Dave Bliss. "Obviously, we've got to start playing better basketball. TCU was just smarter than we were and we let it get away."

It was SMU's fourth straight road loss.

"I thought TCU played a good, smart basketball game," said Bliss. "We just played poor offensively. We hurried key shots."

Carven Holcombe hit four free throws and a basket in the final three minutes for TCU.

"We got the lead in the latter stages of the game then hit our free throws," said TCU Coach Jim Killingsworth. "That's been the script for just about all of our wins in Southwest Conference games this year. If we can just get two or three more wins I think we'll be in good shape for a possible post-season invitation."

SMU is 20-6 overall while TCU evened its league mark at 7-7 and the Horned Frogs are 15-10 overall.

Holcombe led the Horned Frogs with 18 points.

"It's a great win for us," said Killingsworth. "It's nice to beat somebody who IS somebody."

Killingsworth added "That's the way it is in this league this year. We've got some really good, well-balanced teams. If you don't play at your best, you can get beat."

The Mustangs got 19 points from seven-foot center Jon Koncak and 17 points from Carl Wright.

The victory before 6,392 fans in Daniel Meyer Coliseum broke a four-game Horned Frog losing streak against the Mustangs.

Texas Tech senior guard Phil Wallace had a 12-point effort in the second half against Baylor.

"We're glad to be in a tie for first. Everybody likes to be in that position," Texas Tech head coach Gerald Myers said. "Still, we can't relax, because we have three tough games left. The only thing that will matter is how it stands at the end."

Baylor Coach Jim Haller said, "I have to give Texas Tech credit for playing a good game. They deserve to be tied for the conference championship at this point."

Rice Coach Tommy Suitts said that the Owls' win continues the trend of a winning non-conference stretch.

"I was pleased," he said. "Tarleton State had a lot of disadvantages, not being a Division 1 program and traveling that far on the day of the game. But we really defensed them well.

"Sound play is sound play, no matter who it's against, and until the last six or seven minutes we played well," he said.

Texas limited A&M's Kenny Brown to four points, two each half, and ended his double-digit scoring mark at 24 straight games.

"This is an unbelievably big win for us," an exuberant Texas Coach Bob Weltlich said. "I just can't say enough about these guys and I couldn't be happier for them. And it's about time we beat A&M."

In Saturday's games, Texas is at SMU for a 12:38 p.m. regionally televised contest while Texas A&M is at Texas Tech and Houston is at Baylor.

On Sunday, Arkansas is at Rice in a 1:38 p.m. TV game.

Jim Brown arrested

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Pro Football Hall of Famer Jim Brown is free on bail after being booked for investigation of rape and sexual battery while a "complete investigation" is conducted, police say.

Brown, 49, was arrested at his home in Hollywood Hills Wednesday morning after an alleged incident late Tuesday night, said Sgt. Richard Beardslee, reading a statement prepared by the police.

Arrested along with Brown was a woman identified as Carol Moses, 22. She was booked for sexual battery, Sgt. Charles McTageart said.

The police statement said the arrests stemmed from the complaint of a 33-year-old woman, who was not identified. She alleged that Brown, with Moses, raped her after Brown had struck her several times. Police declined to elaborate on Moses' alleged involvement.

In 1965, a jury found Brown innocent of assault and battery charges following an incident in Cleveland involving an 18-year-old girl.

Brown was arrested in June, 1968, and accused of assault with intent to murder when his 22-year-old girlfriend was found semi-conscious under the balcony of his Hollywood apartment.

The charge, however, was dropped when the woman said she had fallen while trying to leave the apartment when the police appeared on the scene. Brown was charged with resisting a police officer and eventually fined $300.

In 1978, Brown was sentenced to one day in jail and fined $500 for beating up a golf pro at a Los Angeles golf course in an argument over the placement of a golf ball.

Western Texas faces AC Badgers tonight

AMARILLO – Western Texas College makes its final scheduled road trip of the 1984-85 cage season tonight as the Dusters and Westerners take on the Badgers of Amarillo College here.

Game times are at 6 and 8.

The Dusters close out the regular season next Monday when they host Frank Phillips in Scurry County Coliseum. The Westerners have two more dates. They also host FPC on Monday, then entertain Midland next Thursday.

Dusters vs Amarillo

Amarillo College is 6-6 in conference play and one of four teams trying to grab one of two available berths into the upcoming regional tournament.

The Lady Badgers have the inside track for the fourth spot, but a win tonight over Western Texas would help insure that future. Amarillo is 18-11 for the season.

Western Texas is 10-2 in conference play and has already nailed down the No. 2 seed in the tournament. The Dusters, 27-5, will be going for a school women's basketball record of 28 wins tonight.

Coach Kelly Chadwick's Lady Badgers are one of the top defensive teams in the WJCAC, allowing only 59.5 points per contest. Offensively, they average 67.4 points.

Debby Jones, a 6-2 sophomore, leads the Badgers in scoring and rebounding. She averages 15.7 points and 6.7 boards. Pam Cox, a 5-8 freshman, is averaging 12.2 points. Other key players for AC are Mandy Funk, a 5-7 sophomore guard averaging 8 points a game, and Angela Tate, a 6-0 freshman who pulls down 5 rebounds a game.

Amarillo is shooting .474 from the floor and .638 from the freethrow line.

Western will counter with its own 6-2 sophomore, Clara Campbell. Campbell averages 17 points and is getting 10.6 rebounds a contest. The all-sophomore starting lineup includes Patti Hayes and Renvy Evans, a pair of 6-footers who average 11.2 and 10.6 points respectively, and 5-11 Lyndy French, who averages 9.5 points. Point guard Rhonda Hoelting, 5-6, completes the starting crew.

The Dusters are averaging 73.8 points and giving up 63.3 while shooting .432 from the field and .610 from the line.

Westerners vs Amarillo

Western Texas' men are 8-7 in conference play, two games behind Amarillo (10-5) in the standings. The Westerners need to keep a hold on fifth place in order to host a first-round game in the pre-tournament conference playoffs. A win tonight would give the 18-10 Westerners a chance to possibly move into the fourth place spot before the regular season is over.

Amarillo is 22-5 on the season.

The Badgers lead the conference in field goal shooting (.555) and freethrow accuracy (.707). They average 76.7 points a game and allow only 63.

Leading scorers for Amarillo are a pair a hot-handed sophomores, 6-7 Andrew Kennedy and 6-4 Steve Dailey. Kennedy, from Kingston, Jamaica, averages 21.2 points and 8.3 rebounds a game. Dailey, a 64 percent field goal shooter, is averaging 21 points.

Western Texas is the WJCAC's top offensive team, averaging 90.8 points while hitting 55 percent of their field goal shots. The Westerners are .636 from the field. They are allowing 81.2 points a game.

James Dawn, a 6-5 freshman, leads the team in scoring with 16.9 points per game. Alvin Hicks, a 6-3 first-year player, averages 13.8. Sophomores Victor Spencer and Floyd Singleton average 13.5 and 12.5 points respectively.

Donald Duck's voice dies

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Clarence "Ducky" Nash, who once yearned to be a doctor but said he became the biggest "quack" around as the voice of the Donald Duck, has died at the age of 80.

Nash died Wednesday of leukemia at St. Joseph Medical Center, said hospital spokeswoman Rhoda Weiss.

The Watonga, Okla., native joined Walt Disney Pictures on Dec. 2, 1933, and retired more than 14 years ago, but he was in great demand the past few years to make personal appearances.

"I'm busier now than when I was under contract," Nash said a few years ago. "Actually, I originally wanted to be a doctor, but instead I became the biggest 'quack' in the world."

In the last two years, he appeared on an Academy Awards telecast, a CBS television special, "Donald Duck's 50th Birthday" and provided Donald's voice for the 1983 Oscar-nominated short feature, "Mickey's Christmas Carol."

Nash also conducted a tour to celebrate Donald's half-century mark, ending in the White House where president and Nancy Reagan gave him a plaque commemorating Nash's unique place in American family entertainment.

The success of Donald, who made his debut in 1934 in the "Wise Little Hen" cartoon, was assured from the moment Nash opened his mouth, said Frank Thomas, a longtime Disney animator.

"We had many fine actors come and do voices, but I couldn't visualize anything," Thomas said. "Clarence, with his crazy quack ... you really believed it."

Nash is survived by his wife of 55 years, Margaret Seamans, daughters Kay Hughes and Peggy Galbrath, eight grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were pending.

Reagan to face tough questioning

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan is expected to face questions about his plans for simplifying the income tax system and his proposals for massive domestic spending reductions when he holds the first news conference of his second term this evening.

The president's 28th formal question-and-answer session with reporters will be broadcast live by the major television and radio networks at 8 p.m. EST.

The session, expected to last about 30 minutes, will take place in the East Room of the White House.

Reagan's last news conference was on Jan. 9, when he reported on the successful conclusion of two days of U.S.-Soviet talks in Geneva that led to the two superpowers' agreement to begin a new round of arms control talks next month.

Since then, Reagan has proposed a fiscal 1986 budget calling for sweeping cuts in federal spending for nearly everything but defense, elimination of some programs, including the national passenger railroad Amtrak, and new limits on spending for federal health and education programs.

Two weeks ago, in his State of the Union address, Reagan outlined a plan for a new income tax program that would eliminate many of the present tax brackets, and most deductions, exemptions and credits, as well, to ensure that all but the very poor bear a share of the federal tax burden.

At the same time, however, he left open for negotiation many of the controversial areas of tax revision, such as how to deal with charitable contributions and capital gains and what corporations can write off for depreciation.

And he called for new tax breaks for some special interests, such as parents who send their children to private or parochial schools and businesses that build in depressed areas.

Reagan's budget director, David Stockman, has touched off some controversies the president could face questions about tonight.

Stockman infuriated high-ranking military officers and their congressional supporters recently when he suggested the brass was more interested in preserving lucrative pensions for career soldiers than in maintaining national security.

And the brash young ex-congressman who grew up on a Michigan farm fueled an already blazing controversy over farmers' financial problems. He said he couldn't understand why the taxpayers should help bail out farmers who face staggering debts today because they made bad business decisions in the past.

The president's campaigns to regain congressional support for his MX missile program and covert U.S. aid to Nicaraguan rebels also could prompt questions this evening.

During his first term, Reagan held fewer news conferences than any recent president, and his Jan. 9 encounter with the Washington press corps was his first such formal session in nearly six months.

But presidential spokesman Larry Speakes has said Reagan plans to hold more news conferences in his second term.

Out-of-state driver injured in accident

An Oklahoma woman reportedly sustained minor injuries in one of five minor traffic mishaps reported in Snyder Wednesday.

Listed as injured in a 4:58 p.m. collision in the 2500 Block of 25th St. was Zola Faye Sells of Shattuck, Okla. She was driving a 1977 Mercury which was in collision with a 1973 Ford driven by Daniel Richard Boone of Snyder.

Sells was taken from the scene to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by private vehicle where she was treated and released.

Two hit-and-run mishaps were also reported Wednesday.

The first, in the 500 Block of East Highway, was reported at 6:30 a.m.

According to reports, Daniel Wayne Odom of 212 36th St. was driving a 1983 Ford on the East Highway when his vehicle was struck by another car which fled the scene of the mishap.

The day's second hit-and-run was reported on the Varsity Square parking lot at 2:59 p.m.

A 1979 Chevrolet owned by Gary Helms of 2401 Merrill Ave. was apparently struck by an unidentified vehicle while parked.

Wednesday's other two mishaps were reported at west Snyder locations during the noon hour.

At 12:12 p.m., Moses Joe Morin Jr. of Rt. 3 apparently lost control of a 1974 Chevrolet while driving in the 2200 Block of 40th St.

That vehicle stopped after striking a tree in the front yard of the Mary Starnes residence, 2210 40th St.

At 12:27 p.m., a pickup truck parked in the 4000 Block of Austin Ave. was struck by a 1978 Mercury driven by Judy Georzell Hayes of Snyder.

The owner of the truck was listed as Ramona Cain of Rt. 2, Snyder.

Furniture, tool theft said cleared

Police report clearing a misdemeanor theft Wednesday with the identification of a 25-year-old male suspect.

The case against the man has been referred to the county attorney's office. The suspect is accused of removing articles of furniture and a bench grinder from a residence at 312 28th St. owned by Dale Lavender of Snyder.

Detectives say some of the stolen property had been located in a local pawn shop Wednesday morning.

Differences are played down

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, emphasizing her acceptance of President Reagan's arms control strategy, is playing down U.S.-British differences spawned by a strong dollar and a weak pound.

The British pound, along with other Western European currencies, has been driven to record lows against the strong American dollar. Mrs. Thatcher's Conservative Party has blamed America's $200 billion deficit for siphoning capital from around the world, weakening other currencies and driving up interest rates abroad.

Mrs. Thatcher, in separate private sessions planned today with Treasury Secretary James A. Baker III and Federal Reserve Board Chairman Paul A. Volcker, was to emphasize how the economic policies of one country affect another, according to a British Embassy spokesman.

In keeping with the positive, non-confrontational tone of her visit, the prime minister "does not have a shopping list of complaints," spokesman Alan Ingle said. "They are general discussions of bilateral economic issues."

The president and Mrs. Thatcher, after conferring privately in the Oval Office on Wednesday, lunched and talked for 2½ hours. Mrs. Thatcher said she and the president had "a thorough discussion" of economic problems.

Continuing her enthusiastic praise of Reagan's conservative policies, she said the record of the American economy and its success in creating new jobs is "enviable." But she added the reminder that the size of the U.S. economy is such "that your decisions affect all of us."

An official familiar with the discussions who spoke on condition he not be identified quoted Mrs. Thatcher as saying that "while there are obvious concerns about the strength of the dollar, the biggest danger would be a rapid decline in the value of the dollar."

"FILING SHORT FORM NOT SIMPLE," SAYS H & R BLOCK

Two different short forms and new deductions make short form filing more complicated this year.

Reasons for ovary removal

By Lawrence Lamb. M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Three years ago, at 51, I had a needless hysterectomy that solved nothing. What it did do was take away my libido, which was very strong, and left me with no interest in sex. I was a very orgasmic woman before the operation and now I feel castrated, very depressed and in agony about my loss. None of these effects were ever mentioned to me.

I also now have bladder and rectal problems. The fibroid tumors I had were no reason for having a hysterectomy; perfectly healthy ovaries were removed. Why do doctors exploit women like this and cause such heartache? Would men suffer castration so easily? I think not. I think of suicide very often. The loss of my sexual feeling and arousal has changed my life tremendously.

DEAR READER — Your letter suggests that you need help. I suspect that you need hormone replacement and are not taking estrogen. You might have had the same reaction when your ovaries stopped producing estrogen with your expected menopause. At 51, it could not have been far off. The doctor has to think about the possibility that cancer of the ovaries may occur. If the ovaries will not provide any needed function because of the menopause anyway, he must consider whether a woman should be exposed to the risk of ovarian cancer.

The removal of the uterus has no effect on libido, but female hormones do. I do not know what you mean by bladder problems, but if you mean recurrent infections, these, too, occur when a woman is low on estrogen due to the natural menopause or surgery.

Your comment about suicide suggests strongly that you need to see a psychiatrist. Anyone with such thoughts needs professional help. Despite your hostility toward your doctor, I must insist that you see him and ask about your hormone status. If you are not getting estrogen, you may be on the road to bone loss and other problems.

I cannot say whether you needed a hysterectomy or not. That depends upon what your basic problem was, but your letter strongly suggests that you do need help now.

I am sending you The Health Letter 14-12, Hysterectomy, Cystocele and Rectocele, which may give you some added information. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband is in his 80s and has trouble with drooling. He is active and his health is fairly good for his age. He asked his doctor, but the doctor didn't say what causes it. Is there a cure for it? It is very embarrassing for both my husband and me. The drooling takes place when he is concentrating on something and is preoccupied.

DEAR READER — Perhaps the two most common causes of drooling in a person your husband's age are poorly fitted dentures and weak muscles from a previous stroke or disease that affect the nerves that control the muscles of the mouth. He should have a dentist check his dentures, if he wears them.

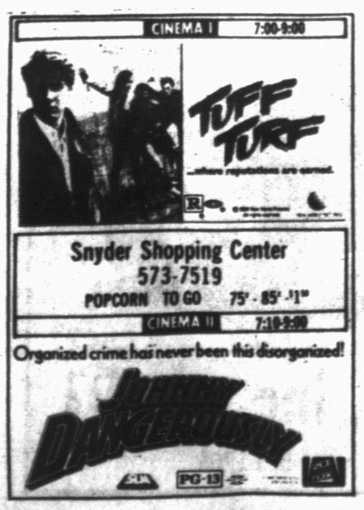

Sometimes an excess production of saliva also contributes to the problem. In some cases, medicines can be used to decrease the saliva production, but some of these have undesirable effects.

If the problem is strictly muscular control, some exercises to strengthen the facial and jaw muscles may be of some use. These consist of contracting and relaxing the muscles around the mouth to develop their strength and a person's control over them.

World War I

German forces were stopped in France in the first month, and the rival armies dug trench networks. Artillery and improved machine guns prevented either side from any lasting advance, despite repeated assaults. Poison gas used by the Germans in 1915 proved ineffective. Over 1 million U.S. troops tipped the balance after mid-1917, forcing Germany to sue for peace.

Stockman told to cool his rhetoric

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House officials say Budget Director David Stockman has been told to tone down his public statements or stop talking about such sensitive issues as military pensions and financially ailing farmers.

One senior administration official said Wednesday that White House chief of staff Donald T. Regan informed Stockman of his displeasure about the budget director's recent testimony before a Senate committee and about comments Stockman made to reporters.

According to the official, Regan told Stockman "that many of these statements could be left unsaid or better expressed."

The official, speaking on condition he not be identified, would not say Stockman was disciplined but made it clear the new White House staff chief gave the budget director a dressing down.

Regan, a former Marine Corps officer and Wall Street chief executive, has a reputation as a tough task master with a ready wit — and a ready temper.

But the official denied Regan had threatened the often brash young budget director with dismissal, although he indicated Stockman's behavior is being watched.

Asked what would happen to Stockman as a result of his recent unauthorized testimony, the official said, "As of the moment right now, nothing. He will continue to fight the battle of the budget."

Asked if Stockman would soon be leaving, the source replied, "I'd have to refer you to Dave on that one. ... We'll just see how things fly, play it by ear."

"Now, he was very good up on the Hill yesterday," the official said, referring to Stockman's testimony before the Senate Budget Committee.

Asked if that indicated the budget director was on some sort of probation, the official said, "No. ... That would lead to the interpretation that these were outbursts and not continuing practice."

Stockman, 38, has not set any date for his departure from the administration, but there has been recurring speculation that he would not remain through President Reagan's second term. Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige is said to be a candidate for head of the White House Office of Management and Budget should Stockman leave.

Two weeks ago, when he went to Capitol Hill to defend Reagan's fiscal 1986 budget, Stockman veered from the party line to suggest that the government shouldn't bail out the nation's financially strapped farmers. He also charged that the military brass is more concerned about its pension security than national security.

Just as the furor over those remarks was beginning to die down, Stockman reiterated his opposition to emergency credit aid for farmers — prompting one White House aide to suggest the budget director was trying to get himself fired.

"I can't imagine what else he could do, short of calling the first lady names," the aide said in amazement.

Man has no fare, clothes

NEW YORK (AP) — The man who walked through the gate and climbed aboard the southbound No. 6 train had no token — but then again, he had no pockets to keep one in.

"I've seen some crazy stuff before, but not like that," said token booth agent Charles Sampayo after he watched a stark naked man stroll through the East 77th Street station Wednesday.

"I mean, he had nothing on. I said, 'Hey, you can't do that. You can't come in here naked.'"

But the unidentified man kept on going, walking past a violinist playing for donations and stopping to perform a little dance before boarding the Manhattan train.

"He just went dancing by to the music," said violinist James Groscek, 31, who added he then changed his selection from Bach to Tchaikovsky because it was better for dancing.

After doing the dance, the man boarded the first train into the station and took a seat, but Sampayo called for the train's conductor to remain keep the train there, and Transit Police came quickly to place the man in custody.

Iran, formerly called Persia, is not an Arab country, although the country is often mistaken to be Arab. The people are called Iranians, but sometimes they are known as Persians or Iranis. Iranians call their language Farsi, but outside the country it is often referred to as Persian.

January totals are off

Record cold, plus snow and ice dulled municipal demands on the Colorado River Municipal Water District in January, but deliveries to oil companies more than took up the slack.

Nevertheless, income of $941,187 was off $59,760 or 6.34 percent. Operational disbursements of $522,515 were 4.95 percent under budget estimates. The difference in expenses and income goes mostly into debt service.

The electric power bill of $33,454 was about $3,000 under the same month a year ago although the district pumped about three million gallons more.

Total production for January was 1,208,106,00 gallons, of which 885,068,400 gallons went to cities and 235,742,200 went to oil and industries. The latter was an increase of 135,990,000 gallons because the district is supplying the full demands out of diverted (non-potable) water. In January 88.95 percent of the water delivered came from Lakes J. B. Thomas and E. V. Spence.

January deliveries included Big Spring, 196,947,000 gallons; Midland, 298,040,000; Odessa, 383,263,000 gallons; San Angelo 37,938,000 gallons; Snyder, 61,764,000 gallons and Stanton, 7, 112,000 gallons.

Reagan keeps silent on auto quotas issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan is silent on whether he will ask Japan to renew its "voluntary" limits on automobile exports to the United States, but some administration officials are speaking out in favor of ending the quotas after they expire March 31.

The president may be asked about the issue tonight when he holds a nationally broadcast news conference.

Reporters questioned Reagan on Wednesday about the quotas during a White House photo session with British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, but he would say only, "No decision to be announced on that yet."

Nonetheless, U.S. Trade Representative William E. Brock, who favors an end to the quotas, told a congressional panel earlier in the day that lifting the quotas likely would mean an additional 750,000 Japanese cars would be exported to the United States each year.

Brock said the quotas have penalized American car buyers, citing some estimates that consumers have been paying an extra "thousand dollars a year per car."

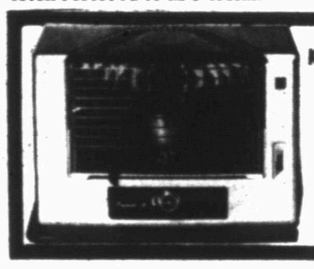

But he acknowledged that ending the quotas may hurt the U.S. automobile industry.

Sources who spoke on condition they not be quoted by name said Reagan's Cabinet council on commerce and trade agreed unanimously Tuesday that Japan should not be asked to renew the restrictions on its automobile exports.

The fourth year of the quotas expires March 31. Under the arrangement, Japanese exports to the United States were limited to 1.85 million cars last year.

PUBLIC NOTICE

AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc. ("AT&T Communications"), in accordance with the Public Utility Regulatory Act and the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas ("PUC") hereby gives notice of its intent to implement a new schedule of rates for its services. The new rates will be effective February 22, 1985, unless otherwise determined by the PUC. All customers and classes of customers would be affected by the proposed rates.

AT&T Communications has filed restructured tariffs designed to more closely recover access and other costs for private line, DATAPHONE* Digital Service, OCC Facilities, WATS and 800 services.

Also proposed is the institution of a charge for directory assistance to begin to recover access costs incurred for such service, and increases in rates for operator assisted AT&T Long Distance calls.

AT&T Communications is proposing to restructure its AT&T Long Distance Service and to reduce its overall revenues from basic long distance approximately $25 million.

While long distance rates will, in most instances, be reduced, certain AT&T Long Distance rates are proposed to be increased to more nearly recover the access charges approved by the PUC for such service.

The proposed new rates for all services would result in an increase in adjusted test period revenues of $123.4 million, or 11.3 percent.

A complete copy of the proposed tariffs are on file with the Texas Public Utility Commission.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene or participate or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information also may be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227 or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.
