The Right To Be Thankful

AN EDITORIAL BASED UPON THANKSGIVING

The Thanksgiving season is a good time for taking stock of one's self.

Each of us doubtless has much to be thankful for. Health, happiness and prosperity have been with most of us. Fortune has been kind—no one believes that Fortune accomplishes these things—but, whatever the reason, most of us are better off today than we were a year ago.

We still have our health, that priceless possession without which no joy is real and with which even misfortune is tempered. There are others, some of whom were strong and robust a short year ago, to whom fate has not been so kind.

We still have our friends—and real friends are among the most precious possessions in the world, for they stand by us at all times, tempering our sorrows in time of adversity and encouraging us on in time of success. The man without friends is poor, indeed.

We still have our happiness—and that, in its many forms, is really what makes life worth while. There are many, perhaps mistaking mere financial success, wealth and position for true happiness, who have gained these but lost their happiness entirely.

We have been prosperous—but we should regard prosperity merely as a means for obtaining happiness, and not as an end; for wealth without happiness is poverty indeed.

Yes, we certainly the most of us—have reason to be thankful.

But have we the right to be thankful?

The answer can be found if one will only consider himself for a moment. The decision is one's own, and the judge is one's conscience. No other judge is needed.

Have we been as considerate of our health as it has been kind to us? Have we been fair to our minds and our bodies, or have we placed an unnecessary burden upon them by neglect, indifference and perhaps occasional dissipation?

Have we been as true to our friends as they have been to us? Have we comforted and aided them in times of adversity as they have comforted and aided us? Aside from our intimate friends, have we been considerate of society as a whole and opened our hearts (and our purses, too) to those who suffer and are in distress?

Have we confused happiness with those gaudier, tinsel pleasures of life that are so often mistaken for real happiness? Have we realized that true happiness is measured—unconsciously, perhaps, but nevertheless inflexibly—by our return on the good we have done to others?

Have we regarded prosperity merely as a means for enriching ourselves, or as a means for improving ourselves and benefiting others? Have we been selfish with the good fortune that has come upon us—or have we been grateful?

These are the questions that we must answer for ourselves. No one else can answer them for us, no one else needs to. Each man knows the truth that lies buried within his own heart. If we have done all these things, then we have really earned the right to be thankful.

If we have not earned this right, there is no better time to begin earning it than now.

OFFICIALS FACE CHARGES

SEVEN PERSONS TAKEN BY FEDERAL AGENTS IN IDAHO TOWN

(By Associated Press)
WALLACE, Idaho, Nov. 28.—The liquor cleanup of northern Idaho, where federal officials claim municipal officers have made their own laws in a huge rum ring conspiracy, reached new heights today as raids continued after arrest of 17 persons in Wallace yesterday, including four city officials.

Mayor Herman J. Ross, Sheriff R. E. Weniger of Shoshone county, former Mayor W. H. Herrick, Deputy Sheriff Charles Bloom and Albert Chapman and twelve other persons were charged with conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws.

Reports 70 indictments
The federal grand jury was reported to have returned more than 70 indictments against officials and business men of the silver mining district. More than 80 persons already have been arrested.

Two weeks ago Sheriff Weniger and Deputy Bloom were arrested on indictments charging conspiracy at Mullan, where Mayor Arthur Welch, Chief of Police Army Welch and several city councilmen and former councilmen also were arrested.

Would Not Comment
While they would not comment on the arrests other than to confirm them, federal court attaches indicated the officials were not actually engaged in liquor traffic, but were cognizant of it and had not moved to stop it, thus becoming liable under the law.

In the case of the Mullan officials it was said the alleged violation of the law centered upon a municipal tax, which took from $6 to $25 per year from every business house in town except soft drink parlors, which contributed $25 per month.

Prisoner Is Caught After Long Freedom

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 28 (AP)—A few smudges of ink on a pasteboard card took a long time to catch up with George Green, alias Jack Edmondson, 40. The contact was finally established by Phoenix police and as a result Green, a three times home thief, will be forced to return to the penitentiary at Huntsville, Texas, after thirteen years of stolen liberty.

Green was arrested at Denton, Texas, under the name of Jack Edmondson, by request of the sheriff here for passing worthless checks in Phoenix. Finger print classifications from Washington revealed Green's identity. Green escaped from Huntsville, where he was a trustee, in 1916.

ENGLISHMAN TO MARRY FULL-BLOODED SOUTH AFRICAN KAFFIR, MAIL SAYS

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Nov. 28.—The Mail tomorrow will say that Oscar Slater, who was given about $30,000 by the government as compensation for wrongful imprisonment on conviction of murder, intends to marry a full blooded South African kaffir.

Slater was said to plan to go to the native land of his fiancée in Basutoland in eastern South Africa.

Met Her 20 Years Ago
"My fiancée was born in Basutoland," the Mail quotes him as saying "where her parents have plantations. I met her more than 20 years ago when staying in Paris. She was then scarcely 20 years of age."

"We wrote to each other occasionally but I did not see her for many years until one day when I was in Peterhead prison she came from Paris to see me. Her faith in me comforted me tremendously."

Slater won his freedom after his conviction of murder of Miss Mary Gilchrist, an aged woman, in 1908, by a decision of the Scottish criminal court of appeals delivered in July, 1928.

Largely through the public demand for a rehearing of his case, a special act of Parliament was passed creating the court of Criminal Appeal for Scotland.

The fiancée of Slater is said to be of the Jewish faith but more than a quarter of her people profess Christianity.

THANKSGIVING DAY SPIRIT

As we join in home-coming and feasting of this season, we can give thanks that the understanding established between the friendly Indians and the Puritans more than three centuries ago is duplicated in trust and confidence between men of all sections, occupations and positions today.

Every one has something for which to be thankful. So the day of turkey and cranberry sauce, of pumpkin pie and luscious fruits is a welcome festival.

In observance of Thanksgiving Day, this store will not be open today, November 28th.

SHOES AND HOSIERY

The spirit of Thanksgiving includes an acknowledgement of the virtues of living in organized society. It is not only a day of feasting and thankfulness, but a day to consider the real values in life — values derived through the association of individuals in both business and social relationship. History must be considered, for it is through knowing the customs and traditions of the Mayflower days that we are able to appreciate life at its best today.

What Price LAZY APPETITE

"Dear, are you not glad you followed my suggestion when I urged you to try S.S.S. for your lost appetite?"

HAVE you an indifference or loathing for food, or do you really enjoy mealtime?

Fads and fancies come and go. We must be reasonable. You can't afford to wreck your body by "killing" an appetite given you by Nature to nourish your body.

You must really enjoy your meals and assimilate them to restore the waste of the body. Don't expect a strong, sturdy body and a keen mind to carry on if you do not enjoy your food. It just can't be done. Friends, happiness and business success may depend on a keen appetite.

Many thousands have turned to S.S.S. when the appetite signaled danger. It is a time-tested remedy... purely vegetable. Easy to assimilate. Pleasant to take. It will do much to restore the natural appetite. It will not act instantly, but, be assured, when taken according to directions, it will usually bring back your desire to eat and enjoy your food. This you well know is the basic step for health. Simply reason it out for yourself and you will agree that it is the practical way.

And remember, S.S.S. will help you get your blood-cells back up to normal. Then that sluggish, let-down feeling and skin troubles will disappear. You should sleep soundly. Firm flesh should take the place of that which was once flabby. You should feel strong. Your nerves become steady.

S.S.S. gives to Nature what it needs in making you feel like yourself again. At all drug stores in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical. © S.S.S. Co.

NATIONS SEEK SETTLEMENT

GREAT BRITAIN AND U. S. TO SELECT 3RD NATION IN CASE

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Nov. 28.—Arthur Henderson, British foreign secretary, replying to questions in the House of Commons today indicated that Great Britain and the United States together with a third power were communicating together for the purpose of deciding some procedure whereby joint action might bring a peaceful termination to the present Russo-Chinese hostilities in Manchuria.

While somewhat indefinite regarding the exact steps thus far taken, Henderson, answering a question by former Foreign Secretary Chamberlain, said that the United States early in November had suggested some common representation being made to Russia. He had replied intimating that Great Britain was prepared to participate "in any joint action calculated to bring this dispute to a peaceful termination."

Japan Is Likelihood
The foreign secretary said no other communication had passed between Washington and London but thought a further communication had come from another government regarding possible mediation by the powers. While the third power was not named, parliamentary observers believe it is Japan which is vitally interested in cessation of the Manchurian disturbance.

The foreign secretary told the commons the matter of reviving with

Toyland OPENS FRIDAY

Horns and Dolls and Wooly Bears—Air-planes—Soldiers, Cozy Chairs

Hobby Horses—Tops That Spin—Clowns and Jesters Made of Tin—A Magic Country

So many games, that if you played one of them every day, it would take you almost a hundred years to finish. So many toys that you could fill your house to the ceiling with them. So much fun, that you will want to come back again and again. That is what you will find in Toyland. Best of all, you may shake hands with Santa Claus himself. He is as roly-poly as anyone you ever did see, and his laugh is so merry that you can hear it from one end of Toyland to the other. Ask your mother and father to take you to Toyland.

Toyland is a magic country. It is said that often when children make wishes there, the wishes are granted. One day, a little boy saw a toy moving-picture machine, and wished he might have it. On Christmas morning, he found that very moving-picture machine next to his tree. Maybe, if you visit Toyland with your parents and YOU make a wish, Santa will see that your wish comes true.

HEAR YE! CHILDREN! HEAR YE! TOYLAND OPENS FRIDAY!

Just imagine what it would be like if the work-shop of Santa Claus suddenly lost its floor and spilled out thousands and thousands of toys. And we caught them and gathered them all together for you to see. That is what has happened; so tomorrow we shall open Toyland, with the entire contents of Santa's work-shop except his brownies, who escaped. Bring your mother and father, or, if you are big boys and girls, come alone. Remember! Toyland opens tomorrow.

PLAINVIEW INVADES CITY FOR GAME WITH LUBBOCK WESTESNERS

IN THE REALM OF SPORTS WITH ALLAN CARNEY
Journal Sports Editor

Thanksgiving Day, according to a long-established custom, brings to a climax the football campaign along a wide battle front. For the majority of the grid teams throughout the country, today's game closes the season and by tonight hundreds of battle-scarred football participants will hang up their gridiron paraphernalia until another season rolls around. For many, today marks the end of their gridiron careers. Glorious days when they gave their best for old Alma Mater, amid the plaudits of a worshipful football public.

The names of those who are playing their last college football games today are emblazoned across the sport pages of the nation's press, but tomorrow will be forgotten. Only a few of these shining lights of the 1929 gridiron season will be remembered longer than it takes for another year to pass. For the red-headed terror of the Army eleven, Al Marsters of Dartmouth, and Roy Riegels of the Pasadena bonedown of last New Year's day are among those figures who have made a strong impression on the minds of fickle fans and fanatics.

Headlining the Turkey Day grid menu for this immediate section today is the Lubbock-Plainview skirmish on the Tech gridiron, followed close from the standpoint of rivalry by the Brownfield-Tahoka tilt at Tahoka. Former college team-mates at Texas Tech are coaching the rival teams in the Tahoka Thanksgiving Day attraction. Marlin Hayhurst, the Brownfield mentor, formerly played football on the Matador squad with Winfield Nicklaus, the commander of the Tahoka Bulldogs. "Shanty" and "Waco" are friendly enemies now but when their teams meet there is plenty of rivalry.

Today's games for the Matadors and Westerners wind up their regular schedule for the season but popular demand has caused post-season games to be scheduled for both. As early as next Friday the Crimson forces of Higginsbotham and Payne will line up against the Canyon Buffaloes on the local field. This was the first season since the opening of Tech in 1925 that the Matadors and Buffs have not met on Turkey Day, but the Teachers were left off Tech's schedule when the 1929 program was made out in order to make room for the Baylor game. Coach Claude Reeds has given the Buffs one of the strongest teams in the history of the Canyon college and advance scouts say the Buffs are a cocked edge in the contest.

On the week following Tech's post-season game with the Canyon club, the Lubbock Westerners will pit their strength against the powerful Cleburne Yellow Jackets, runners-up in District 4. The Jackets lost a heart-breaking decision to Waco on the Cotton Palace gridiron, 7 to 6. Lubbock's hard working high school coaches, Henry Franks and Del Morgan, are to receive the net returns of the gate receipts in this battle between representative teams from East Texas and West Texas. A strong opponent might have been found nearer home than Cleburne, but not a club with a history through the years that ranks with the Yellow Jackets. From season to season, the Cleburne team has been in the state finals more consistently than any other city in the state with the exception of the Waco Tigers.

The championship of District Two, Class B will be decided at Lamesa tomorrow when the Ralls Jackrabbits, champions of the north end of the expansive region, clash with the Golden Tornadoes of Coach F. T. McCollum. A special train will carry 300 boosters from Ralls to the scene of the title scrap and one of the largest Class B crowds of the entire season is certain to witness the battle for district honors.

HUGE CROWD TO SEE TILT

MATADOR-COWBOY TILT TO DRAW 10,000 AT ABILENE TODAY

ABILENE, Nov. 28.—A holiday crowd estimated at 10,000 West Texas football fans will witness the annual Tilt on Thanksgiving Day here this afternoon. The Simmons University tilt between Texas Tech's Matadors from Lubbock and the Cowboys from Abilene is the 11th year of the contest. With both teams fighting to regain lost laurels in past defeats this season, the combat promises to be one of the hardest-fought contests in the history of football relations between the two institutions.

Rival football coaches last night pronounced their squads ready for the skirmish and with fair weather prevailing, the season's most spectacular combat in Abilene is anticipated.

A special train from Lubbock arrived here at noon today, filling with an enthusiastic delegation of Matador fans who are pulling strong for a Tech victory. An event which would mean much to the supporters of the Plains college.

Today's game marks the close of the 1929 season for the Cowboys, but not so with the invaders. The Matadors are scheduled to meet the Canyon Buffs on December 6 in a post-season game at Lubbock.

TEXAS-AGGIE GAME FEATURES SOUTHWEST CONTESTS

ANCIENT RIVALS TO BATTLE FOR GRID SUPREMACY THIS AFTERNOON; FANS PRESENT

Plainview Bulldogs are here today and with them a howling mob of football fans from the Hale county capital, the majority of which will arrive by special train at 1:30, just prior to the Lubbock-Plainview grid encounter on the Texas Tech battle field this afternoon. The chief holiday attraction for local turkey-eaters will start at 3 o'clock.

Approximately 500 Bulldog backers are expected to ride the special train here and several hundred more are driving through from Plainview to witness the annual battle between the bitter rivals for the football supremacy of the Plains. Encouraged by their recent showing, the Bulldogs of Coach Hays invaded the Westerner stronghold last night upon turning back the horde of Gold and Black warriors who are bound for the runner-up position in District One.

Rivalry many years old. Rivalry which began more than a decade ago will furnish impetus this afternoon for what promises to be one of the season's most spectacular combats. Nothing short of outright manslaughter is anticipated by the invading Bulldogs, who were decisively defeated by the Westerners last year on the Plainview gridiron, after the Green-Jersey aggregation had scored two touchdowns in the first two minutes of play.

When the two teams last met in Lubbock, the Westerners were doped to win handily, but a fighting Bulldog eleven played the locals to a standstill and the game ended 6 to 6. Today all the dope favors Lubbock, but the fact that Plainview always plays its hardest against the Westerners has reduced the odds down to a minimum.

Coaches Crack Whip. Over-confidence threatened to stalk in Lubbock's grid camp this week but Coach Franks and Morgan have cracked the whip vigorously in their attempt to prime their charges for the clash this afternoon. Respect for the strength of the Bulldogs will cause Coach Franks to send his strongest combination out against the invaders. The line lineup the last started the last two games will likely get first call: Price and Rich, ends; Brawley and Frizell tackles; McGeehee and James guards; Leverson, center; Lawson, quarterback; Smith and Martin, halves; and Watson, fullback.

LAMESA IS VOTED IN RACE BY COMMITTEE ON WEDNESDAY

Slaton lost its fight to represent District Two, Class B in the Intercollegiate League race here yesterday when the executive committee of the region in special session overruled the protest on the eligibility of Lamesa to compete for district honors. The protest was filed by Superintendent L. T. Green of Slaton.

Protesting the manner in which the title was being settled, the Slaton school head held that Lamesa had not played a representative game and waged a bitter fight to have Slaton placed in the final game with Ralls, but the executive body ruled otherwise, ordering Lamesa and Ralls to meet Friday at Lamesa for the championship.

The decision came after a stormy four-hour session with V. Z. Rogers of Lamesa and Supt. Green from Slaton the chief speakers in the heated debate.

Debate is heated. Between these two school heads, the heated debate waged furiously until the matter was turned over to the executive committee for settlement. The Slaton official charged that Lamesa had virtually been handed the title on a silver platter, while Supt. Rogers of Lamesa delivered into the records to show that the Tornadoes had played a representative schedule or at least had made a conscientious attempt to do so.

Although Slaton had previously lost to Lamesa, Superintendent

TO WITNESS GAME
Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Davis, and Mrs. Guy R. Hughes, left today for Fort Worth where they will witness the S. M. U.-T. C. U. football game on Saturday. They will return Sunday.

Green claimed that the Tigers were more deserving to compete for the district title than Lamesa, pointing out that Slaton had played a much harder schedule. Coach Paul Wright also took an active part in the discussion in which the plea was made to give the Tigers the chance to play for the championship or force all teams to finish their original schedules. Despite the fact that the committee had ruled on Nov. 16 that all Thanksgiving Day games which conflicted with the Ralls-Lamesa tilt be cancelled, Slaton authorities held out that Lamesa should be forced to meet Post today and Ralls go through with its scheduled game with South Bulldogs. According to this plan, the championship game would be played after Thanksgiving.

Following are the members of the executive committee that served in yesterday's meeting: Temporary Chairman W. E. Parry of Florida; Harry Taylor of Post; G. F. Lovvorn of Ralls; W. D. Biggers of Lockney and Winfield Nicklaus of Tahoka.

In rendering its decision, the committee ruled that Lamesa has played a representative schedule and pointed out that the same question had been passed upon by the committee on two separate, previous occasions.

A recommendation in the form of a resolution was adopted by the executive body and submitted for further consideration, bearing on a possible solution for entanglements of the nature of this protest.

Following is an excerpt from the resolution:

"We, the committee, feel that to avoid entanglements of this character in the future, that the District No. 2, Class B Football, should be divided into four sub-districts, and that each member school should be required to play a representative schedule in its own sub-district and that such schedule should be made, approved, and recorded in a bound volume in which the proceedings of this committee shall be kept from year to year, and handed down to its successor or successors in office."

The championship game will be played at Lamesa Friday afternoon.

THANKSGIVING—And the Last Touchdown

• BY W. M. BRAUCHER

THANKSGIVING is here and the last touchdown soon will be made. Under the goal posts fighting youth has matched brawn and brains in the fierce struggle to score. Now the posts will be taken down. Or left to stand guard alone, with white snow drifting where once throbbing life and brilliant color ebbed and surged in the battle for the goal.

The touchdown harvest is nearly done. And many of the men who fought as players in the athletic spectacle that the harvest provided have kicked their last football, crashed the line for the last time, flung the last long forward pass. For them this touchdown harvest is final.

Al Marsters, who plunged and darted and dodged for Dartmouth, made his last touchdown before the harvest was complete. A broken bone in his back took away from the game one of its greatest halfbacks while there still were battles to be fought.

Chris Cagle, whose name went across the country before the touchdown battle had fairly begun, will run for the Army no more. From the first to the last he has been a marked man. "Get Cagle," was the cry in every game, and that alone stands as a great tribute to his prowess.

Roy Riegels—the goal posts saw him err fatally once. But how he did fight back after that mistake! He ran the wrong way, but corrected it in the best way a man can—to grin and bear it and fight 'em back.

The goal posts this season will be hearing for the last time the thud as Benny Lom's right foot swishes into that ball to send it soaring far down the field. The Trojan will not forget his slashing run down the field for the touchdown that spelled defeat.

Captain John Law, the tackle who led one of the greatest football machines ever put together at Notre Dame, is saying farewell this year. Bronko Nagurski, bucking horse of the Minnesota herd, and Pat Welch and Glen Harnes, who helped bring Purdue its first championship—the touchdown is 4-1 last, too. Calderwood, who grabbed the fumble that beat Minnesota out of a Big Ten title, also is through.

Billy Banker, the blond blizzard of Tulane, will bid goodbye to the Southern Conference with a full harvest done. Stumpy Thomason, Warner Mizell, Russ Saunders, Pug Parkinson, Ray Montgomery, Eddie Wintner, "Little Sleepy" Glenn, Jap Doud, Joe Donches—the day for their last touchdowns is at hand.

Next year the goal posts will look down again on the familiar old battle. The faces will be different, here and there. For these men, though, Thanksgiving means that their touchdown harvest is nearly done.

FIFTEEN OF SOUTHERN TEAMS TO PLAY FINAL GAMES

ATLANTA, Nov. 28.—Fifteen Southern Conference football teams today made their final appearance of 1929.

KNUTE ROCKNE TALKS TO PLAYERS ON TELEPHONE JUST BEFORE BIG GAMES; ANXIETY IS FELT FOR FAMED MENTOR

(By Associated Press)
SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 28.—One of Knute Rockne's ingenious psychological football secrets is out.

Two or three hours before a few of the hardest games, which he was forced to miss because of illness, the vital Knute of Notre Dame brought his personality in direct contact with each player by talking to them on the long distance telephone.

Players Listen In
The players—usually 35 of them—would assemble and one by one, Coach Rockne would cheer them up and discuss what he hoped they would do in that particular football game. The quarterbacks were given extra talks.

"Not only did those long distance chats raise my spirits, but they gave me a greater personal touch with my boys," Rockne confided. "They promised me clean victories and they delivered the goods every time."

Not To Talk Saturday
"Am I going to do it for the Army game Saturday? No, I think not. You know the boys are afraid now that if they lose I'll get worse. I can't attend our annual football banquet next Wednesday night either, but the boys understand why."

While great anxiety is felt among Rockne's friends at Notre Dame, in South Bend and other parts of the world over his condition, he and his physician, Dr. Robert L. Seestrich, are confident there is no danger. The swelling on his right leg, caused by thrombo phlebitis, or the clogging of blood vessels, has gone down and complete recovery is expected.

The Rams, 35 strong and headed by Assistant Coach Tom Lieb, headed for New York and the Army battle today.

Nebraska Groomed For Attack In Air

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 28.—(AP)—Groomed to meet an air attack and ready to use one themselves if necessary, the University of Nebraska Cornhuskers found themselves in a position today to claim the Big Six football championship of 1929 if they could conquer Iowa State of Ames.

The Iowa team waited until shortly before noon to make the trip to Lincoln, having had their final light workout at Omaha yesterday.

HECTOR KO'S AUERBACH
WILMINGTON, Cal., Nov. 28.—Mike Hector, former middleweight champion of the navy knocked out Herman Auerbach of Salt Lake City in the second round of a ten round bout here last night.

GETS QUICK KNOCKOUT
CINCINNATI, Ohio, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Vincent Hambright, Cincinnati welterweight, knocked out Tug Phillips, Erie, Pa., in the first round of their ten round bout here last night after one minute and forty-two seconds of fighting.

Let Us Be Thankful

THE Pilgrim Fathers endured hardships which we would shudder to face. They lacked nearly all of the conveniences that we now regard as necessities.

Of necessity, they were frugal and thrifty.

Yet they set aside a day of Thanksgiving and gave thanks for blessings that we would consider hardships.

How much more should we be thankful! How much easier it should be for us to practice thrift without suffering from inconvenience and want!

Let us truly be thankful!

CITY'S HOMES ARE PRAISED IN GUIDE

"Eighty per cent of Lubbock's houses are owned by occupants," reads a portion of an article describing this city which appears in Editor and Publisher's Market Guide for 1930.

"Lubbock has no tenements, it is a city of homes," reads the article. "Its retail trading area includes 16 counties of the 'South Plains' with a population of more than 100,000, with only 25 per cent of the available land under cultivation, extending a distance of approximately 50 miles to the southeast and to the north, and over 100 miles to the west. It has 7 railroad outlets, 7 state highways, 56 automobile passenger stage lines, and 163 freight trucks augment railroad service."

of the two youthful fliers, which started last Monday, ended in the early hours of Tuesday after they had been in the air slightly more than 18 hours when their fuel tanks ran dry and they were unable to maintain contact with their nurse plane in the dark.

Up to this morning, the girls had taken aboard 505 gallons of gasoline, including 240 gallons in the tanks when they rose from the field. This is a heavier load than they carried before. The increased amount of fuel was placed aboard in an effort to eliminate or reduce to a minimum, necessity of refueling in the dark.

The avowed purpose of the young women is to better the record of 420 hours 21 minutes 58 seconds held by Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brien of St. Louis. If, however, they do not achieve this goal, they will ask for recognition of whatever mark they make as a women's record.

Sweet. In his testimony, however, he did not mention Sweet's name.

Minister Organized It Tynan testified the late Rev. Fred G. Arnold, one time head of the Klan in Colorado, organized the branch of the order in the penitentiary. He further charged the organization of the Klan inside the penitentiary was a political maneuver and had a lasting effect in the administration of prison affairs.

Tynan urged the commission to recommend changes in the administration of the penitentiary. He suggested a cement factory or some other similar enterprise be established within the prison walls to employ convict labor. He testified highway construction offers one of the best labor activities for prisoners.

Tynan blamed the state legislature for not providing larger quarters and making greater improvements, declaring overcrowding one of the worst evils of the present situation at the prison.

son, the 116th Psalm, the first two verses of which are:

"I love the Lord because He hath heard my voice and my supplication. Because He hath inclined his ear unto me, therefore will I call upon Him as long as I live."

Rev. McCollom Preaches A choir sang a Thanksgiving anthem, "Praise Ye the Lord," after which Rev. G. P. McCollom, pastor of the Asbury Methodist church, delivered a sermon on "A Practical Thanksgiving," taking as his text, "What shall I render unto the Lord for all His benefits toward me?" "As a man thinketh in his heart so is he?" we read in the scriptures," said the minister in part. "and thankfulness to God may be rendered through the inner life, which only man and his Maker may understand, through use of praises, and through personal service."

No Man Exempt Rev. McCollom said that no one from the humblest person to the man of millions is exempt from using his material wealth to the glory of God, and the blessings of God are plentiful to him who sacrifices enough to let God come into his life.

"In no way may one show that he is truly grateful than to consecrate his life to the Master through personal service," he added.

No offering was taken because of the Community Chest drive which begins next week. Rev. O. C. Baucum, pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church, gave a second prayer of Thanksgiving, and the audience sang, "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow."

Rev. C. A. Beckley, preaching elder of the Lubbock district of the Methodist church, pronounced the benediction.

SOCIETY STALKS LOCAL DARKTOWN

BIG SOCIAL EVENT OF YEAR IS HELD LAST NIGHT IN FORMER FUNERAL BUILDING

Society stalked into the colony of Lubbock's darktown gentry last night and sent its subjects, perfumed and gayly bedecked, to a spirited dance in an uptown building which was formerly occupied by a funeral establishment.

From the hour of the first blast of music at 9 o'clock until early this morning the merriment of the contented race reeked the building.

Beil hops condescended to fraternize with shine boys, while housemaids spoke to washer women to add to de-tend a union service at the Metropolitan Methodist Episcopal church in which the city's congregations of that denomination were joined.

Bishop William F. McDowell was the preacher.

The holiday pleasure of Mr. and Mrs. Hoover was increased last night by the arrival of their son Allan from Cambridge, Massachusetts, where he is a student at the Harvard school of business administration.

For the White House dinner, several fine turkeys were prepared. These came as gifts from admirers of the president in remote sections of the country and included a fine specimen of the wild turkey.

One of the elite of the chocolate complexioned feminine sex stepped near the orchestra and sang "Carolina Moon" while a roaring applause followed.

The building was well policed by Lubbock officers, but no disturbances were reported.

Mrs. Scott Attends

Memorial Services

Mrs. G. R. Scott, of this city, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. R. J. Watson, left Lubbock today for Bronte, where she will attend services in that city of the American Legion post, which is named after her son, who was killed in action while overseas during the World War.

En route to Bronte Mrs. Scott and her daughter will visit in Snyder and Sweetwater.

Mr. Scott, justice of the peace of this city, was unable to accompany his wife and daughter.

Broken Leg Last Eve

Johnnie May Bomer, 12-year-old daughter of Mrs. Mary Bomer, 429 Avenue M, sustained a broken leg early last night when she fell to the ground near home while running across a street.

Run-Down, Weak, Nervous?

To have plenty of firm flesh and the ability to do a big day's work and feel "like a two-year old" at night, you must eat three good meals a day, relish your food and properly digest it. If you can't eat, can't sleep, can't work, just give Tanlac the chance to do for you what it has done for millions.

Mr. Joseph A. Calver, of 818 S. Main St., Muskogee, Okla., says: "I was a nervous wreck and forced myself to work and eat. I felt like quitting work before the day was up. On taking Tanlac, my appetite picked up so I could eat anything soon slept well and gained 10 lbs."

Tanlac is wonderful for indigestion and constipation—gas, nervousness, dizziness and headaches. It brings back lost appetite, helps you digest your food, and gain strength and weight. It contains no mineral drugs; it is made of roots, bark and herbs, nature's own medicine for the sick. The cost is less than a dose. Get a bottle from your druggist. Your money back if it doesn't help.

Across The Sea

A few weeks ago a Veterans of Foreign Wars post in Atlantic City, N. J., put on a membership campaign.

It got the use of a down-town show window for a display of war relics. Among them was a marker that had been removed from the grave of a German soldier.

The commander of the post, Louis Isenke, noticed the marker. It bore the name of Lieutenant Franz Xylender, with an inscription stating that this German officer had been killed in action on June 11, 1915. Under the inscription was an engraved iron cross, showing that the dead man had been decorated for bravery.

It didn't seem quite right to Commander Isenke that this marker from the grave of a dead war hero should lie in an American store window when the dead man's relatives very likely didn't even know where their loved one was buried.

So he got in touch with the German Red Cross and started tracing Lieutenant Xylender's record.
Eventually it was learned that the officer's family is now living in the little German town of Lauban. Isenke promptly sent the German marker to the family with a letter of explanation. A short time later he got the following reply from a German Red Cross official:

"The entire town of Lauban has become convinced that you cannot believe the pictures of Americans and Americans painted in the newspapers. No warlike and greedy people would be capable of such a touching act, and needless to say everyone in Lauban has a new and truer understanding of America."

There's food for a good deal of thought in that little story.

First of all, of course, it proves that Commander Isenke is a pretty fine type of ex-service man. War heroes are dead, as far as he is concerned; he's ready to do all he can to restore friendly relations with the one-time enemy.

But the real significance of the thing goes deeper than that.

It proves, once more, how amazingly easy it is for the barriers of international jealousy and suspicion to be broken down. A little effort will do so much—a little neighborliness will go such a long way!

The solution of the age-old problem of war and peace lies right along the pathway blazed by this New Jersey war veteran. No war could last a week unless the people of the warring nations misunderstood one another profoundly. But once war starts, misunderstanding is inevitable. Governments spend hundreds of millions to make it so. No one bothers to remember that the people he is fighting against are after all very much like himself.

The time to work for international understanding is now, while we are all at peace. And the best way to do it is through just such little thoughtful acts as that of Commander Isenke.

Untruthful Drivers

Automobile drivers as a class are fearfully untruthful people. If figures collected by George A. Parker, Massachusetts registrar of motor vehicles, can be believed.

THE PLAINSMAN

Says

That Girl on Broadway says she has a hint for young swains: Tell her every time you see her that she's looking better—then she'll want to see you every day.

The Plainman's public announcement that he would attempt to reduce his poundage has received notice from many sources. Two comments upon the proposition, cannot be overlooked. One comes from Homer Grant—who has had quite a little experience along the line of reducing himself—and the other comes from far away El Paso, where an editorial page comment made its way into the Herald, presided over by that veteran of the border, Hubert Hunter.

Says Mr. Hunter, under the heading of "It Looks Doubtful":
"In his column, 'The Plainman', Charles Guy promises for nearly half a column to see what can be done about reducing his poundage. He admits he has been taking on a lot like a hungry yearling in the feedlot, and says his southern exposure is coming to resemble a couple of circus wagons."

"Well and good, all for the resolution, but in the adjoining three columns he publishes a cartoon, a most selective cartoon, depicting a family staging a charge of the Breakfast Brigade on a platter stacked high with buckwheat cakes and with a pitcher of maple syrup in the offing."

"We may be wrong, but this looks as suspicious to us as the man caught slipping a quart onto his hip after crying 'down with liquor.' In other words if Mr. Guy can adhere to his good resolution after looking at that buckwheat-cakes cartoon he is a staunch and self-denying soul; much more so than we could be under the circumstances."

And, adding insult to injury, yesterday's mail brought 'The Plainman' a note from Homer Grant, the paying magnate, which read: "The attached would assist you in the selection of your special clothes." Attached to the note was a letter headed "The Fulton Bag and Cotton Mills, Tent and Tarpaulin Department. Canvas goods of all sorts. Mildew and Water-proofed Goods."

It looks like the gauntlet has been flung down to this department and that 'The Plainman's' thoughtless remarks about reducing his well known waistline will have to be carried out. Between now and January 1st we expect to eat when, how and what we please. After that, the New Year's resolution "Less Poundage at All Costs" will be placed into effect. We can't afford to be suspected of buying our clothes out of town, even at a tent and awning concern, and that's that. By next spring Homer Grant and Hubert Hunter are going to have to look twice in the mirror before they see us—and that's a promise.

That Man on Avenue Q says paying war debts is a tough proposition, especially when nobody seems to know just who won the war.

Speaking of H. S. Hunter, El Paso and the Herald, reminds us of our old friend Dorrence Roderick, who, despite the fact that he has resided in El Paso less than a year, won the Shrine ring in the Masonic ceremonial held there recently. In a hectic race, in which there were five candidates for the honor, Dor-rence won by a landslide. He is a popular and long-time El Pasoan and each one was present with the Shrine's popularity symbol.

Andy Cohen, New York Giant second baseman, has been an El Paso hero ever since his boyhood days when his athletic prowess gave the border city much football and baseball prestige. In running a dead heat with the redoubtable Andy, Dorrence performed a most notable feat and proves that he's occupying the same position of esteem in El Paso which he occupied while a citizen of the Hub of the Plains.

Today being Thanksgiving Day, The Plainman supposes he should take full cognizance of the fact in this column, although he feels that front page editorials in both The Avalanche and Journal today should fill the bill. After turning out a ream of brain children in that regard for those front-page articles we have nearly exhausted the subject but in order that no one will be disappointed, here goes:

Electric Power Securities Seem To Have Lead Stocks
Both Advances And Declines, Dutcher Notes At Capital

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—In Washington, headquarters of the power lobby, home of the most watchful foes of the "power-trust" and seat of such regulatory bodies as the Federal Trade and Federal Power commissions, the tobogganing of public utility shares on the New York stock market has been watched with intense interest.

Just as the utilities have led all other industries in the frequency of their appearances on newspaper front pages as a result of publicity methods and other manifestations of their effort to maintain high public service rates, so did they lead all the rest in the great rise on the stock market. And then they led the grand rout when the market crashed.

Price Is First Down
A check on the way 14 such corporations that came to mind reveals that with one exception their stock is selling at less than half as high as their top mark for this year.
Nearly all of these are holding companies.

A person who bought one share of each of these 14 concerns at their high mark would have invested $282. Today his shares would be worth about $1150. Considering the fact that a very large number of people have bought these shares on margin, it's a sad, sad set of statistics.

Some of the experts down here have been known to say many things about the "power-trust" and its financing methods from time to time are now hinting quite broadly that the huge holding companies set the pace for everyone else going down. And that a choice collection of accumulated adverse news was perhaps the hand that gave the utility shares the push over the precipice.

But of course there could have been no such extensive deflation had it not been preceded by a period of inflation and frenzied speculation. Late last month Professor Irvin Fisher reported that utilities, even after sharp September and early October declines, were selling at 25-1-2 times their earnings. But he held that greater earnings through future great savings and economies which were reasonably to be expected from recent utilities mergers justified this ratio.

Sales of Millions
For months the utilities had been selling millions of their shares, taking huge profits and building up large cash surpluses, some of which they lent on the call money market and which now stand them in good stead. Public service commissions are supposed to regulate utility stock, but as Professor William E. Mosher points out in "Electric Utilities," they have no control over the great holding companies that run the power industry.

Nevertheless the action of the Massachusetts Public Service commission in the Boston Edison Co.
case, when it refused to stand for a four-to-one stock split-up, is thought by some observers to have been at least a minor factor in discouraging the utilities market. Other developments preceding the crash included the inquisition before the Federal Power commission into the financing methods of the Rocky Mountain Power Co.—a sub-sidi-ary of Electric Bond & Share, the insistence of the senatorial power-radio investigation promoted by Senator Couzens, the presence of the learned Senator Thomas J. Walsh on the Senate lobby investigating committee and the likelihood that he would look into the power lobby here which defeated his famous resolution, the insistence of the Federal Trade commission for more information in its investigation of the so-called "secret memorandum" purporting to reveal designs of the integrity of the power commission and the work of Governor Roosevelt's joint committee to investigate utilities in New York.

Here are the market highs and lows for 1929 for the 14 companies mentioned above, as of a recent date: Electric Bond & Share 189-50, Cities Service, 68-20, North American 166-70, Commonwealth Southern 44-10, Consolidated Gas 182-85, Columbia Gas & Electric 140-52, Detroit Edison 285-180, Public Service of New Jersey 137-54, General Electric 403-184, American & Foreign Power 190-50, American Power & Light 175-65, American Telephone & Telegraph 310-193, Pacific Gas & Electric 98-49, Radi 114-26. Fractions are omitted.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The perils of a young girl in a great city, which made up the themes of so many melodramas of yesteryear, have undergone a considerable change in style.

A thorough annual survey of vice conditions in New York, for instance, indicates that "white slavery" in its violent old forms has practically ceased to exist—at least in this metropolis. This survey is made by the Committee of Fourteen, a social welfare organization. It sends hundreds of investigators up and down the city's lanes throughout the year, checking up the stories of girls whose employment leads them along the shadier and more dangerous avenues.

And this year they have made the interesting admission that "compulsion," which was generally part of the old "white slave" traffic, "is practically non-existent."
"The new traffic is different," reads the report. "The present species of traffic is conducted by certain types of employment agencies which appear to have tie-ups with speakeasies, certain night club-dance halls and such. Perhaps it might properly be called a traffic in hostesses."

How many unemployed girls walk into the "hostess" traps there is no way of knowing. They are runaway girls from all sections of this land—the hundreds of girls from here and there who drop out of sight "back home" and suddenly appear in the Broadway belt.

"In the waiting rooms of the office our investigators have found as many as 300 girls," says the committee report. "It is one of the first places to be visited when missing girls are sought."

Desperate and without money in a great city, they storm the offices in search of employment filled with perilous possibilities.

The part they must play in the night world is simply described—as "hostesses" it's up to the girl to cajole and entertain the cash customers. If her role is cast in a speakeasy or one of the lower night clubs, she must get the male customers interested in her; urge them to buy drinks and run up their check. If they are to remain in the places—they must "be regular."

To be "regular" means that they must accommodate the customer whatever his demand.

At least the average low employment places are honest in their statements of what is required, and tell the girls so.

Once a girl has agreed to take employment, she has automatically agreed to the approaches of all transients. There is, too, the possibility of bad liquor, long hours, distillation and final disinclination.

At the moment there are something like 1,000 girls thus employed in the side streets where dingy places pass as night clubs and, in many of which, the strange and goodly bank roll is a potential victim who is lucky to escape with car fare.

In years ago, the newly-arrived immigrant was one of the most tragic victims of the old traffic. Ignorant of the new land and its ways, the immigrant girl would trust herself to some kindly-voiced stranger and would end up in a brothel—an innocent victim of credulty. But that's all been wiped out, years ago. The new "traffic" is a creature of the newer jazz age.

ed nearly 7,000,000 tons.

Thanksgiving

"As we gather about the family board today, let us remember the houseless, and homeless, and un-befriended, and be sure that we have done something to make sunshine in their hearts, no matter what November gloom may reign without. And as we grasp the hand and look into the eyes of friend and kin, let us greet them with the words: 'Brother, whatever else our homes provide today, let us provide plenty of good cheer, let us provide things honest in the sight of all men.'"
—Henry C. Potter, D. D.

After every Thanksgiving Day, the National Tuberculosis association starts its Christmas stamp sale.
Through the sum accrued through the yearly sale of these stamps, the association is able to carry on its work in the campaign to prevent tuberculosis and to aid destitute sufferers. By buying your quota of these little stamps, you will help "provide all things honest in the sight of men." Let it be a part of your method of expressing your thankfulness this day, and by so doing you will not only be helping to give health, happiness and shelter to the needy tubercular, but you will make your own health, happiness and shelter more secure.

"Dear Doctor: About eight months ago I started on your diet and health book, and now I have reduced from 207-1-2 to 150—a loss of 57-1-2 pounds. Hallelujah! But, Dr. Peters, for the sake of these dear, dumb relatives of mine, won't you please write in your column the fact that I'm not going to die?
Perhaps they'll believe you! Can a person with such an abundance of pep be dying? I never felt so wonderful in all my life as I do right now."
I am 30 years old, 5 feet 6-1-2

Those who need instructions on how to reduce or gain weight may have over pamphlet on the subject by following column rules.

Dear Followers, not only on Thanksgiving Day, but on all days, am I happy that I have your work which enables me to give you help in your health problems. And I thank you with all my heart for your beautiful letters, letting me know I have helped you, and I wish I could thank you all personally.

Editor's Note: Dr. Peters cannot diagnose, nor give personal advice.
If she considers your questions of general interest, they will be answered in the column, in turn. Requests for articles on hand must be accompanied by a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope and 2 cents in coin for each; for the pamphlets on "Reducing and Gaining," "The Kidney and Its Excre-tions," and "The Hygiene of Women," 10 cents in coin (for each) and fully self-addressed, stamped envelope, must be enclosed. (These charges are to cover cost of printing and handling.) Address Dr. Peters, in care of this paper.

HOME AND CHURCH BLAMED FOR YOUTHFUL LAW BREAKERS

BY O. MAX GARDNER, Governor of North Carolina (Olive Max Gardner was born at Shelby, N. C. March 22, 1882. He studied at the State College of Agriculture and Engineering; was graduated from the University of North Carolina. He has practiced law at Shelby since 1906. From 1911 to 1915 he was a member of the state senate. He was lieutenant governor of North Carolina from 1916 to 1921. In 1925 he took office as governor. He is a Democrat.)

Since I have been governor of North Carolina, I have been impressed more and more by the necessity for a better understanding of the part of our people and religious leaders of the spiritual life
and needs of the youth of our state.

I am not one of those who believe that the young people of this day and generation are headed for perdition.

For one thing,
they face life
and its problems
with an open-
minded sincerity
that I think wholly commendable. They have hypocrisy and are intolerant of intolerance. And they make an honest attempt to think and reason about questions that the youth of my generation accepted, if they accepted them at all, upon the what doubtful and insecure basis of authority.

The youth of today are haunted by a thousand doubts and misgivings. But the earnestness and utter sincerity with which they seek answers to their questions indicate a yearning for the truth and spiritual assurance as poignant as it is sometimes futile.

But there is something wrong somewhere. And at present I am inclined to lay the responsibility squarely at the doors of the home and the church.

We have had an enormous increase in crime and delinquency in this state during the past five years and from the statistics gathered about this condition, two facts stand out with an emphasis that cannot but challenge attention.

In the first place, 65 per cent of the increase in the population of our state penal and correctional institutions is made up of young white men and boys, there being noted over the same period a falling off in the number of colored youthful criminals.

In the second place, the vast majority of these young men—George Ross, Pou, superintendent of the state's prison, places the estimate at 80 per cent—have never finished the sixth grade and have never regularly attended any church or Sunday school.

In other words, our prisons are being overrun by a class of criminals hitherto comparatively rare in this state and who, so far as the home and religious training is concerned, have been permitted to approach maturity almost as pagans.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified croscote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs croscote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to croscote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the croscote goes on to the stomach, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

OFFER MADE ON BRIDGE

STATES TO GIVE FIRM $100,000 CASH FOR PRESTON SPAN

(By Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Nov. 28.—Oklahoma and Texas highway commissions have offered stockholders of the Preston bridge company $100,000 cash for the toll bridge between Preston, Texas, and Woodville, Oklahoma. Lew Wentz, chairman of the Oklahoma commission announced today.

The announcement followed a conference between a delegation representing the bridge company, Wentz and Governor W. J. Hollaway.

To Pay Half

The Texas commissioners previously had urged the Oklahoma commissioners to join them in purchasing the bridge, half of the cost to be borne by each state. With a definite price submitted, members of the delegation said a meeting of the bridge company stockholders would be called Friday to vote on acceptance or rejection of the offer.

A conference between representatives of the Texas and Oklahoma highway department and the attorney general's office at Fort Worth to draw up contracts for construction of three inter-state bridges across Red river has been postponed until Friday on request of an assistant attorney general of Texas who was unable to be there today. The representatives expect to complete contracts with the Southwest L. E. Meyers company of Dallas, which yesterday submitted the lowest bids at Terrell, Denison and Gainesville, Texas, where toll bridges span the Red river.

THE TINYMITES

BY HAL COCHRAN

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

"What ho, there?" yelled the captain loud. "Whence came this Tiny little crowd? Who are you little fellows and what are doing here? This is my ship. I'm in command and frankly I can't understand why you're on board. A worthy explanation's due, I fear."

Each Tinymite, now up on deck, course wondered how he'd save his neck. There wasn't any chance to run. It seemed that they were caught. Again the captain shouted, "Say! This boat is not a place to play. Explain yourselves or some-good lessons you will soon be taught."

"Forgive us," Scouty promptly snapped. "We didn't know that we'd be trapped upon a great big ocean ship. We came here on a sled. It slid right in the hold below. Give us a chance and we will go."

"You bet we will and right away," the other Tines said.

"Ha, ha, ho, ho," the captain roared. "No matter how much I'm implored, I will not turn you fellows loose. Why, I can use you well. There's heaps of work that must be done and you won't find it any fun. When you have left this ship you'll have a sorry tale to tell."

Then to his crew he shouted, "Bring the scrubbing mops and everything. We'll make these Tines earn their way as we go out to sea. They'll wash the decks and keep them clean and have the whole ship looking keen. Ha! They will very shortly find they cannot fool with me."

Then very shortly, if you please, the Tinymites were on their knees. A sailor stood right over them to see they didn't shirk. All four began to scrub real fast. Said Clowny, "How long with this last? I don't like this a single bit 'cause I'm not fond of work."

(The cook slips the Tinymites some food in the next story.)

MERRIMAN TO DIE TONIGHT

EXECUTION IS SET FOR MIDNIGHT: ALDRIDGE
AWAITS FATE

(By Associated Press)
HUNTSVILLE, Nov. 28.—To Lee Roy Merriman Thanksgiving Day brings only the near prospect of death. Barring executive clemency, Merriman will be electrocuted just after midnight Thursday for participation in a criminal attack on three Dallas girls.

Meanwhile Ben Aldridge, convicted with Merriman, sits in the Dallas county jail awaiting removal to Huntsville. He is to die December 19.

The criminal career which at last has brought Merriman close to the chair began, according to prison records, in 1918. In April of that year, as an 18-year-old boy, he was sent to Oklahoma state penitentiary under a two-year Bryan county burglary sentence. In June, 1920, the law again sent him to the New Mexico prison to serve a three to four year sentence for robbery in San Miguel county. Then again, under the name of Bill Doster, he went to Alabama state prison in 1924 to serve 16 months for grand larceny.

More than 1,000 exhibits were shown at the fair at Nantes, France this year.

A dead elephant was recently washed ashore at Glamorgan, Scotland.
