UN Plan Submitted For Settlement Of Mid East Fighting

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel said two Egyptian platoons attacked an advanced Israeli position near the lower sector of the Gaza Strip today and were repulsed. A U.N. spokesman said there was an exchange of mortar and artillery fire in the El Auja-Nizana area, scene of hard fighting yesterday, but that "nothing serious happened."

U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold gave Egyptian and Israeli representatives at U. N. headquarters in New York a new peace plan for the border region. It called for withdrawal of Egyptian troops from the zone and the setting up of permanent markers along the triangular area's borders.

In Geneva, an informed source said Britain favors swift and stern U. N. condemnation of Israel in the El Sabha fighting.

In London, Britain formally protested the El Sabha attack to Israel.

In Washington, the U. S. State Department urged Israel and Egypt to hold high level peace talks instead of trying to shoot out their "explosive" border dispute.

A Lebanese government spokesman said in Beirut the Arab countries would act to relieve pressure on Egypt if full scale fighting develops between the Egyptians and the Israelis.

Both Egypt and Israel acknowledged casualties in the El Sabha fighting, but each sought to discredit the other's casualty figures. Also disputed was whether the bitterly contested checkpost near the desert demarcation line between the two countries was on Israeli or Egyptian territory. Both sides claimed it.

The Israelis, who accused Egypt of occupying El Sabha in violation of the armistice.

The Israelis listed casualties at 50 Egyptians killed and 40 captured. They said their own losses were 5 killed and 18 wounded.

The Egyptians said they lost 70 killed or missing but killed 200 Israelis.

An official Israeli spokesman said the Israelis beat back the Egyptians with rifle and machine-gun fire and suffered no casualties.

Both sides claimed they held the strategic El Sabha checkpost in the El Auja-Nizana zone, scene of a 17-hour battle yesterday described as the heaviest fighting between Arabs and Jews since the 1948 Palestine War. El Auja is about 50 miles south of Gaza.

The El Sabha fighting brought these other developments:

Farm Leaders Mapping Plans For Hearing

Four area men were meeting in Roby today to map out final plans before going to Fort Worth to the one-day hearing there of the Senate agriculture committee.

They are Nolan von Roeder of Snyder, Max Carriker of Roby, Curtis Lattimer of Colorado City, and Loyan Walker of Abilene.

The group will leave tonight for Fort Worth, where the committee will be in session tomorrow. Carriker has been granted audience with the panel.

Von Roeder, Carriker, and Lattimer represent a special steering committee formed last spring to study the cotton allotment program and how it could be altered to provide for disaster areas, while Walker is aiding them. He is a member of the staff of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. The group today is preparing written testimony in case their audience is not of sufficient time to present it orally.

Among main points the group will stress in its testimony will be provision in the cotton allotment laws for disaster areas, such as those stricken by drought, and relation of pounds to acres in setting up cotton allotments, since surpluses are in pounds and not necessarily in acres.

Texas Warming Up After Chilly Night

By The Associated Press

Texas warmed up rapidly Friday after a night that was chilly but not as bad as predicted.

Freezing temperatures were confined to the Panhandle, upper South Plains, the Hill Country west of San Antonio and a few isolated spots in East Texas.

There was considerable frost. Clear skies, and gentle winds favored it.

The low reading was 26 at Dalhart. Amarillo had 32, Lubbock 33, Junction 32, and Lufkin 28. Above the freeze level were El Paso 45, Abilene 41, San Angelo 39, Brownsville 54, Corpus Christi 56, Houston 42, College Station 35, Dallas 38, and Wichita Falls 35.

The Weather Bureau said the warming trend would continue through Saturday.

Fund Drive Expected To Pick Up Here

The Scurry County United Fund campaign is expected to show a sizeable pickup this weekend as three major drives move to round up their part of the campaign.

Those three drives, which kicked off this week, are business employes, school drive, and industrial employes with Steve Birdwell, Tim Dennis, and Bob Wilson as chairmen.

Stanley Noah, general campaign chairman, said a large painted thermometer is now being prepared to post on the front of the United Fund headquarters at Avenue S and Twenty - fifth Street to show progress in the campaign.

Another of the campaign's several drives kicked off yesterday. It was the county-wide campaign, headed by Mal Andress. Andress enlisted several drive captains yesterday at the annual meeting of the Scurry County Farm Bureau. He said he will attempt to complete that drive by mid-November. Captains include Matt Bavousett, C. H. Stahl, Clarence Wade, M. L. Wilson, and O. C. Hess.

Still preparing for kickoff is the residential drive, headed by Mrs. E. N. Baker.

Now, That's What You Call Service

PITTSBURGH (AP) — An auto's brakes failed on a hill last night, the machine smashing a porch to smithereens. But John Seigler, owner of the house, considered himself fortunate.

The driver and his passenger climbed out of the wreckage to say they were carpenters and they'd fix the porch.

Texas Political Fight Called Off

By DAVE CHEAVENS

WACO (AP)—One stumbling block to harmony among Texas loyalist Democrats went down today as friends of Dr. Howard Bryant of Tyler said he would not fight for election as chairman of the Democratic Advisory Council (DAC).

This left the road clear for Speaker Sam Rayburn's favorite, Byron Skelton of Temple, long time leader of the liberal faction of the party.

Rayburn, behind the scenes chieftain of the Democratic faction that supported Adlai Stevenson in 1952, stil faced another test of leadership at a 2 p.m. DAC meeting.

The Council must decide whether it will go along with Rayburn in accepting Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey as Democratic national committeeman from Texas.

A source close to Bryant, who has been an active financial backer of the loyalists, said that while his name had often been mentioned as successor to Council Chairman Jim Sewell of Corsicana, he has not been actively seeking the job. The decision not to put up a fight for it came when it became apparent that Skelton had Rayburn's all backing.

One segment of the loyalists is angry with Rayburn because he acquiesced to selection of Ramsey to succeed Wright Morrow. The election was also agreeable to both Gov. Shivers, leader of conservative Democrats, and Sen. Lyndon Johnson. Many credit Johnson with proposing Ramsey as a compromise candidate.

Rayburn accepted Ramsey after Ramsey told him he had voted Democratic in 1952, the year Shivers and Morrow spurned Adlai Stevenson in favor of Dwight Eisenhower. Morrow had not been recognized by the national committee since.

The Advisory Council was organized by Rayburn to handle Democratic national committee business sin Texas in the interim.

Ramsey's recent selection by the Shivers-dominated State Democratic Executive Committee is good only until the next state convention May 22. That convention will name delegates to the national convention at Chicago.

Also before the DAC is planning strategy for controlling precinct and county conventions which determine the makeup of the state convention.

Rayburn has said he wants a Texas delegation to Chicago instructed to support whoever the national convention nominates.

Shivers wants to wait and see who is nominated and what the platform is.

A controversial resolution by Creekmore Fath of Austin may touch off a floor fight. It will call on the Council to oppose seating Ramsey on the national committee until after the May convention.

Fath is president of the Travis County Democratic Club and a member of the DAC's Executive Committee.

Rayburn will be the guest of honor at a dinner tonight.

HELD IN SLAYING OF HUSBAND—Mrs. Sunny Canales Worden, charged with the slaying of her husband, Don, and burying his body in the sands of lonely Padre Island leaves the court at Kingsville, Tex., after waiving a preliminary hearing. With Mrs. Worden are T. A. Simons, Jr., (center) justice of the peace and Royce Johnston, county attorney.

Widow Tells Torture Tale

KINGSVILLE (AP)—Mrs. Sunny Canales Worden told officers the husband she is accused of slaying on Padre Island once "shot at me with his pitsol" and also beat and burned her.

County Atty. Royce Johnston said today the wealthy San Antonio woman made the claim last night during the course of new questioning. She said Worden cast a spell over her with pills, staring and by swinging a watch chain.

The attractive brunette is charged with murder in the strange graveside slaying of Don Worden, 43, on desolate Padre Island two week ago. She claims Worden forced her at gunpoint to dig a grave he intended for her and her daughter, 5, but that she shot him through the head when the child screamed and fled, diverting Worden's attention.

Johnson said Mrs. Worden related that the pair made several trips in the United States and Canada after her divorce Aug. 3 from Praxedis Canales, millionaire Premont, oil and cattle man.

On a trip to British Columbia, she told officers, Worden "shot at me with his pistol" but "I was moving and he didn't hit me."

"He also made me change my insurance papers, naming him as beneficiary. He burned me with his cigarette lighter and beat me up," the woman was quoted as saying.

Worden, she said, "had me in some kind of spell."

Mrs. Worden, 42, was charged with murder yesterday in the strange slaying of her husband, Don Worden, on lonely Padre Island two weeks ago today. She said Worden, 43, a San Antonio real estate man she had married only a month earlier, had forced her at gunpoint to dig a grave which he intended for her and her daughter by a previous marriage, Maria Teresa, 5.

The statement taken from Mrs. Worden during long hours of questioning yesterday and last night was not made public.

Johnston said the woman told officers in the course of the questioning:

Before she married Worden at Bend, Ore., about a month ago "I was sick and Worden gave me some pills to take saying they would help me.

"After giving me these pills Worden would look me right in the eyes and would swing a watch chain before my eyes. Mr. Worden kept after me to go buy a Cadillac car until I did buy the car which I have at present. At another time, after giving me more pills, Mr. Worden told me I must get all my money together and deposit it in San Antonio.

Beck's Union Will Dedicate New Building

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL teamsters union, self-styled "world's largest labor union," planned to dedicate a five million dollar white marble headquarters, today with appropriate, Hollywood-like ceremonies.

All of Washington's million-odd citizens were invited in four solid pages of newspaper ads to watch the opening ceremonies featuring AFL chiefs and a contingent of movie stars, including Walter Pidgeon and Jack Haley.

The building is separated only by a stretch of lawn from the nation's Capitol. But the classic, domed home of Congress looked positively antique compared with the modernistic, sharply-designed teamsters headquarters, replete with bluetinted picture windows, penthouse and piped music.

Inside, uniformed attendants guided visitors through masses of flowers over rugs of luxurious thickness. Just the small ashtrays cost $7.50 each, bronze boxes for outgoing mail on each desk $17.50. The building has no mortgage. Everything was paid for in cash.

"We didn't build for today," teamsters President Dave Beck told some fellow union members ahead of the ceremony, "we built for the next 25 or 30 years."

This labor union was begun in 1903 as an organization of horse-drawn wagon drivers. It now claims 1,400,000 truck drivers and assorted other workers as members, and no one doubted today it has really arrived. A press release said now "the union thinks on a coast-to-coast basis."

President Eisenhower sent congratulations from Denver. "It is fitting," he messaged Beck, "that this structure be built in the capital of a free republic which accords to labor and its representatives their equal and rightful place in its social and economic life."

The occasion pointed up the growing trend of labor unions, intent on making themselves heard in national policy-making, to move their main offices to Washington and acquire permanent quarters here.

Beck reported that in his 2½ years as president of the teamsters, the union had picked up 300,000 members and, partially by reinvesting funds at higher interest rates, had parlayed its treasury from 23 to 32 million dollars.

Thief Pays Bill

DALY CITY, Calif. (AP) — Two men held up bar owner Abe Rosenstein yesterday and got away with about $3,000, but one left Rosenstein a dollar bill — to pay for the whiskey sour he had ordered while waiting for his partner.

Meg's Suitor Says Farewell

LONDON (AP)—Group Capt. Peter Townsend, rejected suitor of Princess Margaret, left England today to return to his job as British air attache in Brussels.

The 40-year-old divorced air hero drove his car from Uckfield House in Sussex — where he and the princess said farewell last weekend — to the airport in Kent and boarded an air-ferry service plane.

His leave from Brussels expires on Monday. Townsend previously told newsmen he didn't intend to leave England until at least Sunday.

Townsend came to England Oct. 12 from Brussels and saw the 25-year-old princess nearly every day until she issued her statement Monday night saying she was placing duty to God and country before her love for him and that they would not marry.

He did not see her again before his departure.

Reporters were not allowed within 20 yards of Townsend at the airport. He appeared relaxed and at ease.

Princess Margaret last night joined other members of the royal family at a glittering presentation party given by her sister, Queen Elizabeth II, at Buckingham Palace.

Shift To Republicans Predicted For South

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Leonard W. Hall, GOP national chairman, predicts a reaction to what he called "left wing" Democratic leadership will swing many Southern States into Republican ranks in 1956.

Hall said last night the swing will lead to Republican majorities in both houses of Congress. He said his party would show its greatest Southern strength in North Carolina, Florida, Virginia and Texas.

He spoke at a $100-a-plate fund raising dinner attended by 400 persons.

West To Demand Calling Of All-German Election

Duchess Says Woodwards Ideal Couple

MINEOLA, N. Y. (AP)—The Duchess of Windsor says she regarded as an "ideal couple" blonde Mrs. Ann Woodward and her socialite-sportsman husband whom she shot to death in their Oyster Bay, Long Island, home.

The Duchess was the honored guest at a party attended by the Woodwards last Saturday night.

Early Sunday morning Mrs. Woodward, — who said later she was alarmed by a noise she connected with a prowler in the neighborhood — fired a double-barreled shotgun in the darkness and killed her 35-year-old husband.

The couple, who occupied separate bedrooms, each went to bed armed with a shotgun after returning from the party. The shotgun blast caught Woodward as he stood, unclad and unarmed, in the hallway near his room.

The Duchess of Windsor was questioned yesterday in her suite at the Waldorf Towers in New York City by two Nassau County police officials, Asst. Chief Inspector James Farrell and Detective William Garrett.

Later, Detective Inspector Stuyvesant Pinnell quoted her as saying:

"I have known the Woodwards about 12 years and had met them on several occasions before the party. I spoke to them Saturday night, complimenting Mr. Woodward on the achievements of his horse, Nashua, and exchanging greetings with Mrs. Woodward.

"Then I left the group to join some other people. I knew of no trouble between them and regarded the Woodwards as an ideal couple."

Pinnell said detectives thus far have questioned about a score of the approximately 58 persons who were at the party.

Nassau County authorities also are probing reports of two telephone calls — one assertedly received by Woodward while he was at the party, and another call reportedly made by the 39-year-old Mrs. Woodward after her husband was shot and before she phoned police.

TOUCHY BORDER—Map locates Israeli-Egypt border points near El Sabha (1) and Gaza (2), where heavy fighting was reported. The battle between Israeli and Egyptian forces near El Sabha is said to be the heaviest since the 1948 Palestine War.

Blough Decries Dependence On Federal Help

WACO (AP)—Chairman Roger Blough of U.S. Steel said today a "trend toward a dependence on government instead of ourselves, appears to be slowing to a walk."

Blough, speaking to Baylor University's Conference on American Ideals, said U.S. citizens after the depression appeared willing to forfeit individual independence in exchange for government-guarantee security.

Declaring the "right to be wrong"—to make one's own decisions—is basic to American prosperity, Blough said that in the confusion and despair of the depression this right was weakened.

"We accepted the government's offer to protect us against our own mistakes. Laws were passed which forbade us to be wrong in vast areas of our personal lives and daily affairs. We were permitted to do only 'right'—or, at least, what the persons in authority ove. us decreed to be right."

These laws, he said, included such welfare and security matters as housing, retirement, savings, jobs, working conditions, insurance, borrowing and lending, farming, investing, medical care "and a host of others."

"I am in complete sympathy with the state objectives of these welfare laws," Blough said. "I, too, want all people to have access to proper medical care and educational facilities. But even for an admittedly good cause, are we wise to destroy freedom of choice among peaceful persons? Is a continual expansion of the compulsions of government the proper and final solution to the desirable goals we all want? I am not convinced that it is."

Convicted Ex-POW Still Has Hopes

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — Two avenues of hope remain open for Maj. Ronald E. Alley, who today faces the stiffest sentence yet given an army officer for cooperating with the Communists while a prisoner of war in Korea.

An Army court-martial yesterday sentenced the 35-year-old artilery officer from Bar Harbor, Mc., to 10 years at hard labor, ordered him dismissed from service and to forfeit all pay and allowances.

He was convicted of giving the enemy military information, urging fellow prisoners to do the same and taking part in enemy programs designed to indoctrinate POW's with communism.

He faced a possible maximum sentence of life in prison.

Unification Plan Will Be Submitted

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

GENEVA (AP)—The Western powers today prepared to confront the Soviet Union with a specific demand for all-German elections in September of 1956.

The elections would be to pick an all-German National Assembly which would write a new constitution for a reunified nation and negotiate a general peace settlement.

The Western ministers here planned, it was learned from reliable informants, to introduce soon, perhaps today, a three-point plan for reunification. They would ask Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov to join them in approving it.

It proposed:

1. Free and secret ballot throughout Germany in September 1956, to choose a new all-German National Assembly which would first draft a constitution for all Germany and select an all-German government.

2. A four-power commission—one member named by each of the Big Four powers—which would prepare, in consultation with German experts, the election law for this nationwide balloting.

The Western proposal apparently would alow the commission to consult with East German experts as well as those from the West. The proposal as it stood earlier today simply mentioned "German experts."

The commission would also supervise preparations for the elections themselves, and would oversee the actual voting to guarantee freedom.

3. The commission would be appointed in the immediate future.

East-West arguments on the unification of Germany were in total disagreement as the new Western proposal came to light.

The stalemate seemed certain to hold for the two weeks remaining in the conference despite a solemn warning from British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan on the urgency of German unity. He told the parley the great powers will face an "increasingly explosive situation" in Germany if they do not find a speedy solution to the unification problem.

But more than two hours of argument yesterday failed to produce any evidence that the beginnings of such a solution may be found here.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov hardened his insistence that the Western alliance must be demolished before Russia will agree to German unity.

The Western Big Three restated with equal determination their contention that a reunified Germany allied with the West by free choice offers the best hope for future peace in Europe.

The four foreign ministers agreed to meet again today and resume their discussion but that—plus the fact that there is a German problem — was the only thing they could agree on.

The West came close to accusing Molotov of bad faith in failing thus far to produce some kind of detailed plan for German unity.

Secretary of State Dulles, French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay and Macmillan contended that some kind of offer was required by the decisions of the Big Four heads of government when they met here last July.

As yesterday's session drew to a close, Dulles said bluntly that Molotov's position "confronts us with the problem of whether we are going to try in good faith to carry out the directive with which we are working."

The Soviet foreign minister and the Western Big Three now apparently have two choices of action, assuming neither side is willing to reverse its course and make some real concessions.

They can take the line that exploration of their differences has been fruitful and has established a basis for progress at some future conference, or they can avoid even such a superficial agreement and concentrate on blaming each other for a breakdown of negotiations.

The choice between these two courses is not easy.

Top Executive Is Found Dead

MANCHESTER, Mass. (AP) — A quiet, well-respected advertising executive killed himself on a lonely beach yesterday shortly before authorities would have arrested him on a warrant charging him with the murder of a Pennsylvania girl.

The body of William R. Turner, 40, married and the father of a daughter, was found on White Beach while Pennsylvania state troopers were on their way to his house in this fashionable suburb north of Boston.

The troopers had a warrant charging Turner with the murder of Miss Doris Hatch, 22, who vanished two years ago from her home town of Cambridge Springs, Pa. Her skeleton was found Tuesday in a Connecticut woodland.

After Turner's body was identified, the troopers said: "We consider the case closed."

Turner left two notes. One was addressed to his widow, the former Diane Brown of Machester, and said only: "Sorry for all the trouble I have caused you. This is the only way out."

Contents of the other note were not disclosed.

Miss Hatch had worked for Turner on a part-time basis when the latter operated a hardware store in Cambridge Springs, a farming community in northwest Pennsylvania.

Police said that on July 27, 1953, Miss Hatch went from her job in a bank to Turner's hardware store on her lunch hour. That was the last time she was seen alive.

Her skeleton was found Tuesday morning by a hunter near a lovers' lane in Stafford Springs, Conn. Identification was made through a gold wrist watch and dental charts.

Four days after Miss Hatch disappeared, Turner left Cambridge Springs, Penn., and came to Manchester, Mass., to settle down.

He returned to Pennsylvania, however, to be questioned by police about Miss Hatch's disappearance. Police said no suspects ever were held because the girl's body had not been found and there was no way of telling she had been slain.

The murder warrant was issued against Turner in Crawford County, Penn., after Coroner Bernard J. Ackerman of Rockville, Conn., said the girl had been apparently stabbed to death.

Pennsylvania authorities said that when questioned about the girl's disappearance in 1953 Turner told conflicting stories about bloodstains found in his car.

They quoted him as saying first he had picked up some vicitms of an auto accident, later changing his story to one that he had cut himself while opening a can of beer.

Mrs. Turner said her husband left for his job as usual yesterday but returned home about lunch time and told her he was going to the beach to decide what to do.

Mrs. Noble Dies Today

Services for Mrs. O. B. (Emmaree) Noble, 2807 Avenue E, are scheduled for 2 p.m. Saturday, in Bolger Chapel. The services will be under the direction of Bolger Funeral Home with the Rev. John Reaves, minister of the First Christian Church, officiating.

Mrs. Noble died at 5 a.m. today in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

She had been a resident of Snyder for the past five years.

She was born December 3, 1892 in Quanah.

Survivors are her husband, O. B. Noble; two neices, Miss Ruby Lee Walker, Los Angeles, Calif. and Mrs. Virginia Powers, Grapevine; two nephews, William Walker, Temple and Clyde Walker, Albuquerque, N.M.

The body will be sent by rail to Los Angeles, Calif. for burial in Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Game Law Violators Getting Heavy Fines

AUSTIN (AP)—Heavy fines were assessed game law violators the past month, the Game Commission law enforcement director, E. M. Sprott, said today.

A $300 fine plus $100 costs was levied against a Dallas man for having three mourning doves over the 10-bird limit.

New Tax Deduction Ruling Is Announced

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP)—Civil Defense workers may deduct for income tax purposes the money they spend out of their own pockets in performing their volunteer duties.

This was reported today by the Federal Civil Defense Administration. It said a ruling to this effect had been received from the Internal Revenue Service, applying to "actual unreimbursed expenses incurred by civil defense volunteers" which were "connected with and solely attributable to the rendition of such volunteer services."

Tough Inmates Escape Washington State Pen

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (AP) — A mother-murderer and nine other tough inmates of the tumult-ridden Washington State Penitentiary escaped last night after weeks of tunneling through seven inches of concrete and 30 feet of earth.

The escape was discovered at a 7:30 p.m. change of guards, an estimated two hours after the 10 men had crawled through the 30-inch wide tunnel to liberty just outside the west wall.

And hours later, despite a widespread cordon of scores of police assisted by four bloodhounds, no trace of the men had been found except tracks a half mile from the gaping hole in the prison side.

The tracks, leading into the surrounding rolling wheatlands, were multiple, and associate Warden David Gerechet said he believed the convicts had remained in a group at least that long.

Back in the prison the guards found a neat circular slab chiseled from the seven-inch-thick concrete floor of one of the cells. It led into an unused dirt floor basement. The 30-foot-long tunnel started there, running straight as a die to the exit point.

Only a few hand made digging tools were left behind. The dirt apparently had been flushed down prison toilets a bit at a time. Guards said the big chunk of concrete probably had been replaced each day by the felons after a night of digging.

One of the men who escaped was William B. Bracey, 20, who shot his mother at Tacoma two years ago when she refused him the use of the family automobile. He was serving 30 years for second degree murder.

Another was a lifer, Ollie Wiles, 42, sent up seven years ago as an habitual criminal after a life of crime in Washington and Oregon. The others all were serving 15 years or more for crimes ranging from grand larceny to robbery.

Three of the convicts, including Wiles, had escaped previously from the State Penitentiary. The others were Gene Kensler, 32, and Ralph Elmer Lockerby, 25. Another, William Paul Lee, 42, was transferred here after an escape from the State Reformatory at Monroe.

AREA OIL ROUNDUP

Allowable Asked For Garza Find

Curtis R. Inman filed application with Railroad Commission of Texas for discovery allowable and low field name for No. 1 Sims, Garza County wildcat.

The project was completed from the Glorieta zone for a daily pumping potential of 65.17 barrels of 35-gravity oil, plus 60 per cent water, through perforations from 3,681 to 3,695 feet after unreported amount of fracture solution.

Location is 330 feet from north and east lines of section 645, block J, GC&SF survey.

General Crude Oil Co. has cemented seven-inch casing at 5,951 feet for tests of the Ellenburger at No. 4-A Pearce Holland, east offset to the West Pardue (Ellenburger) field discovery of Fisher County.

Oil was recovered on one of two drillstem tests between 5,933 and 5,951 feet, total depth. Tests will be made through casing perforations.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 103, block J, H&TC survey, eight miles northwest of Hamlin.

Skelly Oil Co. No. 2-C Boyd has been completed as second Cambrian oiler in the Dora, Northwest field of Nolan County.

It was finaled for a 24-hour flowing potential of 772.56 barrels of 45.6 gravity oil, plus a slight amount of basic sediment and water.

Production was through ¾-inch choke and perforations from 6,378 to 6,408 feet after 250 gallons of mud acid and 1,500 gallons of fracture solution.

Location is in section 57, block 20, T&P survey, 8½ miles northwest of Dora.

Sid Katz of Abilene, and others No. 3 Tom Morrison, et al, depleted Clear Fork producer in the West Westbrook (Clear Fork) field of West Mitchell County, will be plugged back to 2,560 feet for recompletion attempt as a Glorieta discovery.

It originally was completed February 17 to pump 11.08 barrels of 28.2-gravity oil plus 60 per cent water per day from open hole at 2,740 to 2,750 feet after 5,000 gallons of acid and 2,000 gallons of fracture fluid.

Location is 2,310 feet from south and 1,650 feet from east lines of section 34, block 29, T-1-N, T&P survey and one and one-half miles north of Iatan.

Gov. Kohler May Become Favorite Son

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wisconsin's Gov. Walter J. Kohler said today he will become a "favorite son" candidate for the GOP presidential nomination unless President Eisenhower indicates by March 2 that he'll seek reelection.

Kohler was here for a meeting of the Governors' Conference highway Committee which he heads. He said in an interview that unless the President's plans are known before the March filing deadline, he would have to file his own name. Written consent of the candidate is required in Wisconsin.

Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois, who has been mentioned as another possible "favorite son" aspirant, said he expects to head the 60-vote Illinois delegation. He said the delegation will be for Eisenhower if he is a candidate but otherwise will "look around."

On the Democratic side, Gov. Frank Lausche of Ohio said that if he becomes a "favorite son" candidate it won't be with the idea of preventing Adlai E. Stevenson from getting the party's nomination.

Lausche said last night he does not know anything about and isn't encouraging a wave of praise for him as a possible Democratic presidential nominee. The talk has come from Southern Democratic governors and senators, including some avowed enemies of Stevenson.

"I may become a favorite son to keep the Ohio delegation out of the hands of the political bosses," Lasche said.

Cost Of Discovering Thief Is Expensive

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Joseph Vassallo, manager of a store here, isn't too happy a woman clerk noticed a man trying to steal a small radio.

The clerk saw a bulge under the man's coat yesterday and called on him to halt. The man dropped the radio and crashed through a plate glass door in his haste to get away.

"The plate glass costs several times the value of the radio," commented Vassallo.

Detroit Youngster Has Sinking Feeling

DETROIT (AP) — Two-year-old Linda Bullock saw her brother, Leonard, 6, yawning yesterday.

Leonard was bored with the television program and it was a big yawn.

Quick as a wink little Linda let go with a lead fishing sinker she had in her hand. It was a bullseye.

Leonard was taken to a hospital. X-ray pictures showed the sinker in his stomach.

A Frenchman reached Michigan's upper peninsula in 1618, two years before the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock.

Russia Seeks French Help

GENEVA (AP) — Russia today called for French help to win the release of a Soviet tanker and crew members long held by the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa.

Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov put forward the request in the course of a private talk with French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay. France still maintains diplomatic relations with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's regime.

The Soviet vessel, the Tuapse, was captured, by gunboats of Chiang's navy June 23, 1954, while on her way toward mainland China which is under Red rule. It has been detained since. Nine of her crewmen were granted asylum in the United States and arrived in New York Oct. 21. Twenty-nine others returned to Russia and 11 elected to stay on Formosa.

Molotov also conferred privately with British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan. With both he raised to other issues, according to French and British informants.

The first concerned a Canadian move in the United Nations to obtain the admission of 18 countries—Communist and non-Communist—seeking membership in the world body.

The second related to the 154 Indochinese armistice agreement, under which the pro-Western rulers of South Viet Nam and the Communist authorities in the North are supposed to arrange elections to unite the country by July 1956.

Farm Group Passes Seven Resolutions

Members of the Scurry County Farm Bureau, at an annual membership meeting held yesterday afternoon, chose delegates to send to the state Farm Bureau convention and passed seven resolutions to send with the delegates.

Matt Bavousett, T. D. Leach, Audrey Head, Jack Ramsey, and M. L. Andress will go to the state convention, which will be held during the early part of next week in Fort Worth. The group will go down Sunday.

In yesterday's meeting, a discussion was held and questions answered concerning the social security laws as pertain to agriculture.

Resolutions adopted by the Farm Bureau, to be submitted to the state resolutions committee, include:

That the state reserve a cotton acreage by an amount not in excess of three per cent of the state allotment.

That support price be figured on a 7-8 inch staple basis.

That the state bureau recommend that legislation be enacted to set the support price at 100 per cent of parity for all present basic crops, and that farmers be required to retire 15 to 20 per cent of their cropland each year, and that these retired acres be rotated each year, and that no products produced on these retired acres can be sold, direct or indirect, nor used at home, and that incentive payments be made for such retired acreage.

That the Commodity Credit Corporation continue to dispose of surplus commodities under existing laws.

The present parity formula has failed to maintain agricultural income on a par with other economic groups, the bureau said, and "We recommend the parity price formula be computed on the basis of relative buying power of other economic groups."

That penalties for underplanting allotted acres on basic crops for a period of three years be eliminated.

That the Texas Farm Bureau support the following plan presented by Will Jones of Mitchell County, as a disaster measure: "For the 1955 crop year and subsequent crop years, any county wherein three consecutive crop years within the four-crop-year period immediately preceding the current crop year have been adversely affected by drought or other uncontrolable natural causes wherein conditions have been such that the official three year average lint yield per acre is less than the official average national lint yield per acre for the base years used to determine current cotton acreage allotments, and is 50 per cent or less than the official average three year lint yield per acre for the highest consecutive three year period within the 10 year period immediately preceding the current crop year, that such county be considered by the secretary of agriculture for designation as a disaster county and that all counties wherein the official lint yield per acre is 35 per cent or less than the average lint yield per acre for any consecutive three year period within the 10 year period immediately preceding the current crop year, that such counties be declared disaster counties;

"That each cotton farm within such disaster county or county determined to be a disaster county which has a cotton acreage allotment smaller than the greater of 150 per cent of the three year average immediately preceding the current crop year or 150 per cent of the official cotton history acreage be determined for the crop year immediately preceding the current crop year, that such cotton acreage allotment shall be increased to the greater of such acreage not to exceed 75 per cent of the current cropland acreage for the farm; that the acreage required to increase such cotton acreage allotments in so designated disaster cotton counties shall not be taken from reserves of either national, state, county, or otherwise; that such acreage, when planted, shall be considered official cotton history for farm, county, state, and national in subsequent years and that such acreage shall be subject to release and reapportionment as well as other provisions of current or subsequent legislation relative to upland cotton."

Fines Handed Out To Former Snyderite

A fine of $5 plus costs of $23.50 was assessed in each of two cases in county court yesterday when Luther Gene Edmonson, 18, of Fort Worth and formerly of Snyder, pleaded guilty to the two counts of swindling by worthless check.

County Judge Edgar Taylor presided, and Wayland Holt, county attorney, was prosecutor. Edmonson was also assessed mileage costs of $22.79 from Fort Worth, from which he had been returned by Howard Gibbons, sheriff's deputy.

Probate Code Change Is Discussed Here

Fred Auforth, local attorney, discussed changes in the state probate code passed by the last Legislature last night at the monthly meeting of the Scurry County County Bar Association.

The meeting was held at the Hilander. Renal Rosson, president, headed the meeting, which was also attended by W. W. Park, John Sentell, Wayland Holt, Ross Hemphill, Art Blanchard, C. Macon Raine, Robert Patterson, George Killam, and Dick Webb.

Father Of Former Snyder Man Dies

C. E. Galbraith died yesterday afternoon in the home of his son, Lyle Galbraith, former resident of Snyder and now living in Abilene.

Lyle Galbraith was formerly with Bovaird Supply here before he was transferred to Abilene.

Funeral services will be in Tulsa, Okla. Saturday with burial in Roselawn Mausoleum there.

Emergency Treatment

Tom Duke was carried from Miller Cortel to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Bolger Ambulance for emergency treatment yesterday afternoon.

Clary Trial Winding Up

DALLAS (AP)—The murder trial of Clifton Clary, West Texas rancher, was expected to go to a jury today.

Judge Henry King recessed court at 4 p.m. yesterday so he could prepare his charge to the jury.

Clary is charged with murder in the Jan. 31, 1948, death of his wife at their home near Ballinger. The state said he killed his wife and then set their home fire.

Defense lawyers said Clary was a loving husband who tried to rescue his wife.

Aubrey Sheaffer, stepson of the dead woman, and F. A. Saunders, a brother of Mrs. Clary, testified yesterday that Clary was a devoted husband who never quarrelled with his wife.

Shaeffer, of Oklahoma City, said his mother and Clary "got along perfectly as far as I know. I never heard them fus or have any argument. She never complained to me about any mistreatment."

Shaeffer maintained that Clary stayed home at night. He said he never heard of Clary going out with other women.

Both Shaeffer and Sanders, a Fredonia resident, said they noted scratches on Clary to support the defense contention that Clary injured himself trying to enter the burning building to rescue his wife.

They testified the scratches could not have been caused by finger nails.

The state rested after experts testified on causes and effects of fires and explosions.

WOMEN

Snyder Woman Returns From Guam This Week

This week, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Terral drove nonstop from San Francisco, arriving in Snyder at 10 p.m., on Wednesday.

Mrs. Terral is the former Myrna Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton C. Walker, 2409 Sunset Avenue. Mr. Terral's sister, Mrs. Rena McCright, Hermleigh.

The Terrals have just returned from Guam where Mr. Terral served in the navy for eighteen months.

When asked about life on Guam, Mrs. Terral said, "It wasn't bad. We knew several couples we liked, and the native Chamoorons are a fine people. Actually none of them are pure Chamooron, I think they say the last pure blooded Chamooron died in 1904,. Most of the natives are a mixture of Spanish, Chamooron and Filipino, with perhaps some Japanese thrown in.

When asked what she disliked the most, aside from being so far away from the Walkers, Myrna said, "I guess it was never getting any fresh fruit or vegetables to eat. We ate canned and frozen food, and drank powdered milk. It is healthful, but it gets monotonous."

The Terrals associated mostly with three couples from Illinois, Alabama and Minnesota. "We saw lots of Texas license plates on the island, but we don't know any Texans."

WHAT'S GOING ON

Mrs. C. E. Wood of Houston and Mrs. Loma Cherry of Port Arthur arrived today to spend the weekend in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Harry Newton and her family, 3001 Forty-first Street.

Mrs. W. A. Oliver, 2512 Twenty-ninth Street, returned home yesterday from Sweetwater where she spent ten days in the hospital. Mrs. Oliver also spent two and one half weeks in the home of her children, Mrs. Kenneth Eades and D. D. Ware of Sweetwater.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Mims of Lubbock recently spent a day and night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Niedecken, 907 Twenty-eighth Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Perser, 218 Thirty-fifth Street, had as their guests for a week his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Perser of Linden.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Rinker, Barry, and Susan, 2704 Avenue G, recently spent several days in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Boss Hains in Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hughes of Big Spring spent Monday night in Ira visiting with friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Vaughn, southwest of city, recently had as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Tom McClure of Puarr.

Mrs. E. L. Deer and Ed Deer of Abilene are spending some time in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Voss, 222 Twenty-ninth Street.

Mr. and Mrs. James Rosser, 3702 Austin Avenue and Mr. and Mrs. Armor McFarland, 2234 Sunset, spent last weekend in Dallas attending the Texas-SMU football game. Mr. Rosser remained in Dallas on business Monday and Tuesday.

On Sunday Mrs. Charlie Richter made seven "Apfelstrudel" for her 25th wedding anniversary.

If ever you feel like doing something very special in the cooking line, try making an apple strudel —here's how:

2½ cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons shortening
2 eggs, slightly beaten
½ cup warm water
5 cups sliced apples
1 cup brown sugar
½ cup seedless raisins
½ cup chopped nuts
3 tablespoons melted butter
½ teaspoon cinnamon
Grated rind of 1 lemon.

Sift the flour and salt together. Cut in the 2 tablespoon shortening and add the eggs and water. Knead well, then throw or beat dough against board until it blisters. Stand it in a warm place under a cloth for 20 minutes. Cover the kitchen table with a small white cloth and flour it. Put dough on it. And roll or pull out with hands very carefully to thickness of tissue paper. Spread with mixture made of the sliced apples, melted butter, raisins, nuts, brown sugar, cinnamon and grated lemon rind. Fold in outer edges and roll about 4 inches wide. Bake in a very hot oven (450 degrees F) for 10 minutes, reduce the heat to moderately hot oven (400 degrees F) and continue to bake about 20 minutes. Let cool. Cut in slices about 2 inches wide.

Modernize Picket Fence Stairways

An old "picket fence" stairway can easily be refurbished as a modern stair by replacing the wooden stair-posts with panels of patterned glass.

Step-wide panels of the ornamental glass can be cut-to-size, and installed beneath the handrail at every second step. The effect will be one of wide, translucent stair-posts which brighten the stair area and provide a perfect complement to modern furniture and accessories.

TODAY'S GLAMOR GIRL—Jeanne Crain wears a Ceil Chapman evening gown in ivory satin with pegtop hobble skirt, tops it off with white fox stole.

YESTERDAY'S VAMPIRE—Here is Theda Bara of the silent films in one of her famous torrid poses. Note the heavy makeup, smoldering expression, jewels, high voltage pose.

Vampires Have Changed, And All For The Better

BY DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Vampires have changed — and all for the better—since the days of Theda Bara, says Ceil Chapman, designer of glamor clothes for modern charmers on and off the screen.

"Any woman can be a femme fatale today," says Ceil. "All she has to do is make use of the modern makeup and fashion aids at her disposal, and act accordingly.

"The heavy makeup and sultry expressions of some of our earlier movie vamps used to be considered pretty devastating. But today every women knows all about makeup, and most of them also understand the magic of a neckline."

This designer, who creates gowns for some of the ranking stars of the movies and TV, says she likes today's style of glamor girl better than the high voltage vamp of yore.

"Today's girls, with their natural, clean-cut look, are more appealing, more subtle and also more potent than the ladies of the leopard rugs and the ominous eyelashes," says Ceil.

"Girls such as Grace Kelly, Audrey Hepburn, Jeanne Crain don't suggest the old-fashioned vampire. But just listen to the opinions of modern men about them! I think they cause more male high blood pressure than all the more obvious charmers of the silent films."

Here are some professional pointers on how to choose a gown that will make you look like a modern Cleopatra, worked out by the knowing Ceil through long experience in glorifying lovelies of stage and screen, as well as her regular and less famous customers.

1. When you are picking a party dress (or any dress, for that matter) consider first your own best attributes — beautiful neck and shoulders, a small waist, striking eyes, pretty legs or whatever. Then choose a dress that accentuates these attributes. If your neck and shoulders are your pride, by all means show them in an off-shoulder dress. If you have eyes of an unusual color, choose a dress in a color to match, or add an accessory to match.

2. If you have figure faults, such as heavy hips, concerntrate attention elsewhere in the dress. Have the drapery or the focal point of interest above the waist.

3. Remember that the neckline is the most important part of any dress, from a flattery angle. It forms a frame for your face, and should be chosen with an eye to proportion.

4. Be sure the dress fits — and look at it in a full-length mirror, from all sides, when you try it on. People see your back also, you know.

5. Choose a color that makes you look pretty. If it's not your color, don't buy it.

6. You have to have a feeling that this is YOUR dress. You must feel comfortable and at ease in it—otherwise you cannot expect to look your prettiest.

7. By all means keep it simple, even if it is a formal ball gown. The most successful dress is the one that nobody remembers—they remember only how beautiful you looked in it.

Couple Observes 25th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Richter celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary last Sunday at their home about 5 miles east of Hermleigh.

About a hundred friends and relatives were present including the Rev. James Sonderman and the Rev. Edward Chrisman, as well as members of the Fritz, Richter, Nachlinger, Freytag, Wenetschlaeger, Watson, Wimmer, Grossman, Rosehauer and Farr families in Hermleigh; and the Casstevens, Graceys, Nachlingers, Contellas Wadleighs from Snyder. Also present were relatives from Roscoe, Schulenburg and Lubbock.

The birthday of Mrs. Jimmie Fritz, daughter of the Richters, was celebrated jointly with the anniversary.

Barbecued pork, beef, and homemade sausage were served along with 10 different kinds of salads, 7 apple strudels, and numerous pies and cakes.

Snyder Speaker Tells Of Work With Chinese

Rev. E. S. Chrisman, priest of the St. Elizabeth Parrish, was the guest speaker at a meeting of the Acacia Study Club. He was introduced by Mrs. Ray Martin, program leader.

Rev. Chrisman spoke on China and his three years, 1930 to 1933, that he spent there. He taught in the University of Peking.

He discussed the difference in our food and the Chinese food. He also told about unusual Chinese dishes and their style and choice of foods for their banquets.

He also illustrated the correct way to use chopsticks. He explained their terms of greeting and the tone and pronounciation of their language.

Rev. Chrisman exibited three paintings, painted on silk, which were done for him by a Chinese artist. He also showed the club a solid gold Chalice done for him by a goldsmith.

The customs, status and home life of the Chinese women were also explained by Rev. Chrisman. He said the families live in villages built something like our motels, and the elder son inherits everything from the father. He in turn has to provide and care for all his brothers and sisters, their wives and husbands and all their children.

Miss Alice Birdwell was hostess to 14 members and one guest, Mrs. DeWayne Thomas, at the Village.

Figurine Collecting Is Becoming Popular

The collecting of porcelain figurines, tiny statuettes and other miniature art pieces is returning to popularity, and the use of plate glass shelves backed by mirror is again recognized as "perfect" for their display.

The best location for a grouping of miniatures is a room corner in which triangular shelves can be backed by two panels of mirror, one on each wall. The miniatures are then directly visible from the front, visible above and below through the glass shelves, and reflected in two different aspects in the mirrors.

Shelves backed with mirror can also be used to advantage against the flat of a wall, though in this arrangement only one reflection is possible. Or, if the mirror itself is room, collectors find a single shelf to be a decorative feature of the or ledge beneath the mirror to be the best solution.

Turkey Hash

After the holiday has ended and the turkey has been served in so many ways, don't forget the old favorite, turkey hash. The whole thing hinges on that intangible taste known as seasoning. Herbs, should be used with care. Hot coffee and a salad served crisp and cold combine well with this standby.

Glassware Saver

Temper ice cold glasses by rinsing in cool, then lukewarm, water before washing in hot soapsuds.

"We Want A Touchdown"

THIS IS THE CRY AT FOOTBALL GAMES! Is the touchdown the most important thing? No!! It motivates something more important: Every man on the team must co-operate and "fight"! That touchdown motivates his conduct! In the game of life, everyone wants to win; he wants a "touchdown!" What is the "touchdown" in life? It is love (charity); the greatest thing in the world! (1Cor.13:13). Faith and hope are great, indeed, but love is the greatest; it is the highest motive of conduct. Love has a three-fold relationship and they must be in one's life in order to make a "touchdown."

THE FIRST RELATIONSHIP IS LOVE FOR GOD (Matt.22:34-40). One who loves God will reverence His name; and His name is "holy and reverend." (Psalm 111:9). The person who makes a "touchdown" will not be tempted to use profanity. Profanity is too common. It betrays a lack of reverence for God; it shows ones ignorance of his mother tongue and a lack of ability to express himself. One who loves God, respects the authority of Christ; He has all authority in heaven and on earth (Matt.28:18-20). The New Testament contains the words of Christ (John 12:47-50; Rev.20:12).

THE SECOND RELATIONSHIP IS LOVE FOR NEIGHBOR (Matt.22:34-40). This is another "must" if a touchdown" is to be made! Love for neighbor extends mercy (Matt.5:7) It is not harsh in its judgments; it gives the benefit of the doubt (Matt.7:1-5; John 7:240. This love renders any needed assistance when there is ability to do so (Luke 10:25-37).

THE THIRD RELATIONSHIP IS LOVE FOR SELF (Matt. 22:34-40). Self love is innate; but to make a "touchdown" in life this love must be shared with others. Without this sharing, one's life will be selfish, self-centered, self-righteous, mean, cold and heartless; such a person is dead while he lives! Let every person cry, "We want a touchdown!"; then let him put forth every capability possessed, motivated by love (the greatest thing) and he will win! He will make a successful life!

"THE CHURCHES OF CHRIST SALUTE YOU." (Rom.16:16). Nineteen hundred years ago the church of Christ was established! Today, she has the same name, worship, organization, doctrine, and life.

Tune in KSNY on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 7:15 p.m. and hear Dale Brooks.

Presidential Finances

When Long Tom Jefferson retired from his second term as President in 1809 (he refused to seek a third) and retired to Monticello he was fairly well fixed.

But he did not stay that way long. People of all sorts and conditions came to see him from all over the world. In the custom of the times he entertained with a lavish hand, turning away no one from his door or his table. It is recorded that his daughter, who with her husband and eleven children lived with him, had to provide as many as fifty extra beds at night to take care of the guests. The great President was almost literally eaten out of house and home. The times were hard, and the war of 1812 swept away much of Jefferson's investments, so near the end of his long life of service to others, gifts and financial help poured in from all directions to keep him in comfort and free from worry.

Few of our Presidents were wealthy men before, during or after their terms of office. Washington was the wealthiest man of his time, and Herbert Hoover, who started as a poor boy, built up a comfortable fortune before he entered public service. The second Roosevelt inherited considerable wealth, and would not have needed to worry about the future had he lived into retirement.

Grant was unfortunate in his investments and employments after retirement, but wrote his heart out to pay off debts. His book was a huge financial success, but he did not live to enjoy it; he died of cancer of the throat just as it went to press.

Getting down to modern times, as this week's issue of U. S. News & World Report does in discussing the retirement problems of Presidents, Harry Truman is reported to have saved around $250,000 thanks to a $50,000 tax-free expense account Congress gave him (it is no longer tax free, so that whereas Harry netted about $94,000 a year from salary and expense account, Ike nets only about $55,000).

But their literary endeavors were different. When Ike wrote "Crusade in Europe" the tax laws permitted him to keep all but a 25 percent capital gains tax, for a net of $475,250. But when Harry sold his memoirs for $600,000 the law had been changed and he will have to pay a full income tax on it, leaving him a net of only $168,776.

Alas and alack for Ike's near half-million-dollar book royalty windfall. Most of it went into the Gettysburg farm ($283,000 for land and modernization), and the operating loss on the farm is $25,000 a year.

But Ike won't face Tom Jefferson's problem. He can be restored as a five-star general on a pension of $22,943 per year, or accept a presidential pension, legislation for which is pending, at $22,500, whichever he prefers (but not both of them).

Prices And Consumption

Last month choice grade beef was selling for $22.50 per cwt, lowest October price since 1946. At the moment Americans were eating more beef than pork.

The day after Secretary Benson announced his $85 million pork purchase in an effort to firm up prices, the price of pork at Chicago fell to $13.65 per hundredweight, lowest since December of 1942. In June it had been $22.50. As late as mid-October it had been $19.95, and the average for 1954 was $21.50.

There is one elemental fact in the situation that may explain why the secretary's gesture failed to stir any enthusiam in pork prices: it was equal to only two days' hog receipts at the markets.

Back in 1952 consumption of pork had been 71.6 pounds per capita. By 1954 the rate was down to 59.7 pounds. It is not expected to go beyond 66.5 pounds per capita this year in spite of the collapse of prices.

Beef, on the other hand, has performed magnificently in the consumption department. In 1952 the per capita consumption was only 61.5 pounds. By 1954 it had climbed to 79.2 pounds. It probably will do all right when the returns for all of 1955 are in, sparked at least to some extent by an aggressive selling campaign carried on by such organizations as the Texas Beef Council. Those fellows haven't been sitting on their hands. Their promotion of Beef Week in Texas last year was an outstanding success. This week is again Beef Week in Texas, and housewives are being exposed to the blandishments and economy of good red eatin' beef, including the practical economy of utility cuts.

As a political issue the collapse of pork is redhot, regardless of its causes, regardless of rival approaches to the problem, regardles of anything. The fellow who has to sell a hog for $35 that he got $55 for only a few months ago isn't easy to argue with.

And he has an awful long memory.

Three Big Questions Must Be Answered Before Action On Disaster Insurance

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some kind of insurance against disasters — at least against floods like these which followed the visit of Hurricane Diane — may come out of Congress in 1956.

But before Congress approves such protection, it will have to cut its way through three questions which are now very tangled: What kind of disaster insurance? How much insurance for any one individual? And who handles it?

This week the Senate Banking Committee has been holding hearings to find out what government officials propose. None of them has provided a specific plan yet. They promise to have one by the time Congress returns in January.

There is no flood insurance available in this country now, although this fact seemed once again to have been lost sight of until the floods broke loose in New England last August when Diane let the enormous rains loose.

As a result of those floods 179 persons were killed, 6,992 were injured, 813 homes were destroyed, and the damage amounted to more than 450 million dollars.

One of the reasons for the lack of flood insurance, it seems, is the scattered, but nevertheless limited, nature of the problem. The only ones who would want or need it would be those living near streams or river which might boil over.

People living on high ground in the area wouldn't need it. Just because that type of insurance would be limited, the price of it would be high if private companies handled it, perhaps out of reach of those who needed it.

Then there is the problem of occurrence that a private company would have to consider: How often would a stream or river be expected to overflow as a result of natural phenomenon, like extraordinarily heavy rains?

Say it was figured that on River AAA, after a search of the records, a flood could be expected on an average of every 50 years. That might seem like a good insurance risk.

But suppose River AAA flooded three times in 150 years — still sticking to the average of one flood every 50 years — but those three floods came in 1956, again in 1957, and the third time in 1958.

The three floods, bunched together like that, might wreck a company. But how then can flood insurance be provided? At the hearings there were two proposals offered although they may not be the ones finally decided upon by Congress.

One would have the government do the insuring; the other would guarantee the loses of private insurance companies over a certain amount.

It seemed agreed that no one, and no business firm, could get any amount of insurance he wanted. Sen. Lehman (D-NY), who presided at the hearings, talked of a possible limit of $300,000 per company.

Then there was another question: Should the insurance cover not only a man's home but his furniture and other personal belongings, too? The sentiment at the hearings leaned toward coverage for real property, not personal possessions.

But should the insurance cover only homes and business buildings and the merchandise and equipment in those buildings? Or should it cover other things, like a farmer's crops, those still in the field and those already in storage?

One of the toughest problems for the flood victims — in facing the future — is in paying the mortgage still owed on the house which was swept away. Congress will also have to consider that, too.

President Eisenhower has assured New England governors his administration is determined "to assist the states and people of the Northeast in developing adequate protections against future flood and hurricane losses."

But any insurance program approved by Congress—even though, perhaps, it is limited to floods — would cover the whole country.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Lady Accountants Triple Over Nation Since 1940

By MARGARET KERNODLE

WASHINGTON — Benjamin Franklin once said he thought accounting education more worthwhile for women than music or dancing. He'd be happy to know that today the number of women accountants and auditors in this country has reached a total of more than 55,000, triple the number in 1940.

The increase was greater than the number of women in four other professions where men also have traditionally predominated: Chemistry, technical engineering, law and medicine.

The number of women chemists has grown from 1,654 in 1940 to about 8,000, engineers from 730 to over 6,500, lawyers and judges from 4,187 to well over 6,000 and physicians and surgeons from 7,608 to nearly 12,000.

For years most of the bookkeepers in this country have been women, but Frances Whitelock of the Department of Labor says the accounting profession is now offering women immedaite chances for skilled work as well as a long-range outlook.

Mrs. Alice K. Leopold, assistant to the secretary of labor for women's affairs, points out that many qualified women accountants already have become business executives throughout the United States.

Mrs. Leopold says today's accountant should have a four-year college course leading to a degree with a major in accountancy.

Dr. Frank S. Endicott, director of placemement at Northwestern University, in a survey of college recruitment by large and medium-sized firms, reported that in 1955 industrial recruiters showed far greater interest than ever before in hiring women accounting graduates. In the District of Columbia a well known school of accountancy has reported for several years that it has received four or five times as many job offers for women as it has men graduates.

Women with homemaking responsibilities, a new Labor Department publication reports, will find many businesses rely upon part-time auditors for periodic check-ups, financial reports or tax accounting.

Another factor to the woman accountant's advantage, says the booklet, "Employment opportunities for women in Professional Accounting," is maturity:

"Employers who are usually looking for judgment and experience in their accountants are not apt to eliminate the woman applicant who is over 40."

Disaffection Of Farmers, Defiance Of Benson Alienating Some GOP Stalwarts

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON — There is very little doubt about it any longer. During the coming session, the farm problem is going to give the Eisenhower administration about the worst Congressional trouble it has yet experienced.

What has happened is basically rather simple. There was disaffection among the farmers in 1954, but it was acute and inflamed only in states like Minnesota, where dairying is important. In most of the farm belt, the farmers stuck with the Republicans. At the last session, therefore, the Eisenhower farm program was successfully defended, although by a very narrow margin.

In the interval, however, wheat, corn and hog prices have dropped sharply. The same sort of disaffection that appeared in Minnesota in 1954 (and gave the Democrats a whopping victory there) has now spread to wheat - growing Kansas, Iowa with its corn and hogs, and even in some measure to such states as Illinois and Ohio.

• • •

Among Republican members of Congress, the reaction to this development has been mixed thus far. Some of them, like Rep. Cliff Clevenger, of Ohio, for instance, have been arguing that Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson's flexible parity payments to farmers have not yet been given a real test; and that it is necessary to wait and see what happens to farm surpluses before trying anything radically new.

But there are other stalwarts, like the House whip, Rep. Les Arends, of Illinois, who have been bombarding Washington with furious demands that the Administration do something, do almost anything, to calm the farmers' discontent. Furthermore, it seems pretty clear that the last year's narrow margin in favor of the Admin'stration's farm program has now been changed to a margin on the other side. At least seven Republican Senators can now be counted as anti-Bensonites, and the final court may be considerably higher.

The wave of this storm in the farm belt would probably be considerably less dangerous to political navigators, if Secretary of Agriculture Benson had been a bit more eager to pour oil on the angry waters. But he has been, and he is now, the very opposite of eager.

Benson is not only an extremely courageous and deeply religious man. He also has an intense inner certainty that his farm program is the best farm program, and pretty nearly the only possible farm program. He has sheaves of figures to show why the farmers ought to be happy, even if they are not. He inclines to shrug off the whole attack on his program as merely "political." He has been heard to dismiss one group that has been holding protest meetings in Iowa as "leftist-dominated," although one of its most flaming speakers is the arch-Republican former Governor of the state, Dan Turner.

• • •

Not all the President's advisers feel as Benson does, to be sure. Vice President Richard Nixon, for instance, is known to be greatly disturbed. He requested a meeting with Benson after his return from seeing the President in Denver. At their luncheon together, Nixon strongly emphasized the point that even if the Administration does not sacrifice the central principle of its farm program, serious moves must be quickly made to convince the farmers of the Administration's interest in and concern for their plight.

The sequel of this meeting was Secretary Benson's announcement that he intended to spend $85,000,000 on pork products for the Federal school lunch program, in order to bolster pig prices. Unfortunately, pig prices dropped to their lowest point in thirteen years the day after the harried Benson held his press conference. The farmers were not conspicuously mollified.

• • •

What then lies ahead? Secretary Benson is ready to take at least one soothing measure. He is talking of rather more than doubling the present level of soil conserva tion payments by adding about $200,000,000 to the planned appropriation for the Agricultural Conservation program.

But Benson takes an extremely dim view, to date, of the much more ambitious schemes for a "soil bank," with the Federal government directly renting farm acreage to take it out of production. He is also deathly opposed, of course, to any return to the fixed 90 per cent of parity payments that both Adlai Stevenson and Gov. Averell Harriman have now declared for.

Nonetheless, it now seems highly possible that a fixed parity bill will pass the Congress this session, thus forcing a Presidential veto that the Administration's potemplate. In any case, there is litical stragegists shudder to contemplate. In any case, there is bad farm trouble ahead.

Horse Power Race Is Now Nearing Monotonous Stage

BY INEZ ROBB

Whither horse power? Are the gas buggies of 1956 automobiles or are they juggernauts? Who needs 310 horse power yet to drive the kids to school, pick up the laundry or buck through the midmorning traffic jam on Main Street?

Yet, every time I open the mail there is another invitation from Detroit to attend a preview of one more 1956 model with still more horse power under the hood, and a few more inches of chassis. And this is a nation already frustrated to strait-jacket condition by traffic jams and its inability to find any place to park.

Are these new souped-up, 1956 models designed for driving or for flying? And if a feller can't find a place large enough in which to park his 1955 model, is he expected to keep driving around the block in his 1956 model until he starves to death or a cop runs him in?

Does Detroit know the answer to these questions, or is the rivalry between the big auto companies driving them all daft? Because American automobiles need more voltage and more chassis like Marilyn needs—well, more voltage and more chassis. Both have gone just about as far as they can go.

Detroit will be the death of us all if it keeps applying the hypo to the horse power. It's all very well to say that the owner of a car with a 300 or a 310 horsepower motor doesn't have to drive any faster than the man driving a slow boat to China with only half that power under the hood.

Sure, he doesn't have to drive any faster. But he isn't human if he doesn't want to let her out on the road to see if she will really do 135 miles per hour—from a standing start as the super salesman said.

So he puts his foot on the accelerator and he winds up as a statistic and a messy one, at that. The tragedy is that the persons in the other car or cars, when the crash comes, so often end as messy statistics, too.

It was only yesterday when the first 250-horse power car created a sensation. Then a second car manufacturer raised his rival ten, and the game was on, although half the nation had ulcers from idling in second while the state troopers down the highway untangled the latest crash, sorted out the victims and started 'em on their way to the hospital or morgue.

Americans are slow to revolt, but there are signs that horse power isn't all there is to a joy ride. The small, foreigh car with less power and less chassis has only made a dent in the American market so far.

But the Volkswagen company has found enough buyers here to justify the purchase of an assembly plant in New Jersey.

In this horse-power race, Detroit might recollect that it never pays to kill the goose that lays the golden eggs, or the customers, either.

Tension Builds Up When You Are Giving Away Money

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Giving away money can be almost as exciting as winning it.

Jack Barry says he gets all stirred up inside when he dishes out the big dough, even though it comes out of a sponsor's pocket and not his own.

Barry, master of ceremonies on the new NBC $100,000 give-away show, "The Big Surprise," on occasion has found that a question can become as big an ordeal to him as it is to the contestant.

"The tension builds up in you," he remarked, "because you sometimes get as deeply involved emotionally with the contestants in the 20 minutes you deal with them as you would if you had known them for 20 years.

"When they win, a wave of excitement hits you, too; a feeling which lasts until you suddenly realize it is really somebody else who won the money and not you."

However, Barry can console himself with the thought that after all he doesn't have to borrow money to meet his grocery bill. TV emcees aren't paid off in peanuts.

And right now, Barry is riding high financially as the new king of the giveaway, a position he seems likely to hold until someone dreams up a program on which the sponsor will reward the winning contestant with the key to Ft. Knox.

Barry is typical of the new type of television emcee, who is brightly eager to shower you with cash if you can show your head holds even the smallest nugget of knowledge.

The old-style emcee often had a different aim—to see that only a certain amount of the sponsor's money was given away. Sometimes they had it neatly figured out just how often they wanted the jackpot won. And if a particularly bright contestant threatened to upset their financial schedule they had a number of sure-fire ways to see he didn't hit the jackpot.

One was the filibuster technique. The emcee would confuse a contestant by rapidfire chatter until the gong rang ending his time to answer the question.

There was also the "soft-death" approach. The emcee would keep cooing, "remember you have just 30 seconds. You now have just 15 seconds. Ooooh, there's the gong, sorry, your time is up."

And, of course, the emcee always had one final ace up his sleeve—the impossible question, one that would stump even a Greek oracle.

Barry says the attitude on the new huge giveaway program is just the opposite.

"They've found out that the money is less important than the good will of the audience," he said. "The more money we give away, the happier people will be, the more they'll watch the show and the more they'll buy the sponsor's product."

Talk On Heavenly Trip Is Delivered

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Hugh D. Morgan of Inglewood, Calif., made a speech when he was elected vice president of the Southwest Christian Convention. Among other things he said:

"Some will make it to heaven that you thought wouldn't be there. Some you thought would be there won't. And some will be surprised at you being there if you make it."

Horse-Drawn Milk

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP)—Milkman H. A. (Ole) Palmgren, who retired after delivering milk on the same route for 29 years, says wagons drawn by horses were best.

"The horses were easier to handle," he said. "They knew the route and I didn't have to do any driving."

Hollywood Today

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—No actor ever had more awe of his employer than does David Niven for Michael Todd.

The producer has a knack for setting Hollywood on its ear. He was one of the plotters behind Cinerama, which started the wide-screen revolution in the movies. He developed a rival process, dubbed it Todd-AO and filmed "Oklahoma!" with it. Now the studios are scrambling to develop screens that are taller as well as wider.

At present Todd is whipping up a multimillion-dollar international project called "Around the World in 80 Days." There is no more avid student of Todd in action than David Niven, who is starring as Phineas Fogg in the Jules Verne story.

"Todd is the most amazing man I have ever met," said Niven, who vowed his admiration has nothing to do with the fact that he is earning thousands of dollars from him.

"Money means nothing to him. He told me he has been broke many times, but he has never been poor. In other words, he has lived like a king even when he had no money. He doesn't admit defeat."

Evidence of Todd's disregard for money barriers; his film will have such bit players as Noel Coward, Frank Sinatra, Marlene Dietrich, Joe E. Brown, Beatrice Lillie, Red Skelton, George Raft, Fernandel, Gilbert Roland, Cesar Romero, Luis Dominguin, John Gielgud, etc.

The names are paid off variously. Coward received a painting he had long admired. Bullfighter Dominguin an expensive car. Others get plain old money.

Niven illustrated how Todd operates.

"We were in Durango, Colo., shooting a train sequence," he said. "On the way to the location, Todd's car was halted by a flock of sheep. 'Put 'em under contract,' he said. He had the sheep working in the picture for a week, while their owners were eager to get them to market."

This led to another Todd brainstorm. Inspired by the pictorial qualities of the sheep, he sought bigger animals. He was told there was a big herd of buffalo in Oklahoma. So he moved cast, crew and train to Oklahoma.

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

FOLIES-BERGERE. By Paul Derval. Translated from French by Lucienne Hill. Preface by Maurice Chevalier. Illustrated. Dutton.

Mistinguett, Josephine Baker (our own American contribution), and Maurice Chevalier are the best known names connected with the famous Folies, says owner-manager-author Derval, but other distinguished artists got a start there, among them Colette, Trenet, Raimu, Fernandel and Charlie Chaplin.

It's not so much this kind of fame, however, as it is another kind of notoriety that has given this Paris theater its world-wide reputation. Many an American can find his way as easily to the Folies on the rue Richer as to the Arc de Triomphe or the Louvre—though some find the way back hazier and harder. It's the big bawdy Folies, the bare Bergere with revues performed usually by one star, 16 show girls, 10 chorus boys and 16 nudes—and have they got a leg to stand on! See the pictures. Kings go there often, as do princes, premiers and presidents, or at least five-star generals. Leopold of Belgium was so enamored of one Folies star, Cleo de Merode, that Paris wags dubbed him Cleopold of Belgium.

Many deaf people attend, says Derval at least they claim deafness as they demand front-row seats. But it's an international audience, one of many tongues, and smart dialogue might be wasted. It opened in 1869, had its first revue 70 years ago; and if it isn't as sedate as Derval pretends—he says some girls want to be doctors, or lawyers, or married mothers—it's still oldfashioned; when there are clothes, for instance, it's always buttons and, for fear of jamming and preventing a quick change, never zippers.

But there's zip to the show and the story it's striptease without tease, and any man would be tickled to find this in his Christmas stocking.

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

THE UNFORTUNATE INCIDENT of the Sweetwater investigation here this week has, for all practical purposes, been cleared up.

Roy Scudday, boss man of the editorial department of the Sweetwater Reporter-News, called us long distance to offer an explanation and an apology for the impromptu visit of the two Sweetwater men who came here early this week to check on the eligibility status of the Tiger football players.

Scudday, speaking for Sweetwater High School and the Sweetwater Booster Club, said he regretted very much that this happened.

"I assure you that the school here nor the Booster club had nothing to do with the investigation," Scudday said. (The Booster Club is a club similar to the Snyder Quarterback Club).

"The two men who went to Snyder Monday to check on the players went entirely on their own so far as anyone knows," Scudday said.

Scudday said, however, the two men were members of the Sweetwater Booster Club but added that the Club didn't send them.

Scudday quoted Elwood Turner, Sweetwater coach, as saying:

"If we can't beat them on the football field I certainly don't want to beat them in any other way."

Sweetwater Offers An Apology

"I wished you would tell your people that we're sorry that the incident happened and hope that no ill feelings will result." Scudday added:

"I wish you luck for the remainder of the season and if we can't win I hope you go all the way."

We were certainly glad to hear from Scudday and guess we can't hold this against the city of Sweetwater as a whole.

Certainly a city can't control the actions of its individuals who act on the spur of the moment as these two Sweetwater men in question did.

As long as the school and the Booster Club deny any part in the investigation, guess we can't hold this against the city of Sweetwater in general.

Bengals Are Tigers

We had a telephone call the other day asking us who we were referring to when saying "Snyder Bengals."

Well, if there are any more who are wondering the same thing, "Bengals" is another word for Tigers," the same as "canine" is another word for "dogs," felines for "cats," etc.

Our caller thought we had changed the nickname of Snyder High School football team.

Guess we should quit while we're "ahead" on predicting scores on football games. The last time we tried our hands at forecasting the actual scores of games we were "lucky" in hitting the Tigers' 20-0 win over Plainview on the nose.

Lucky is the word since at the time we predicted the score we thought we were being a little conservative.

It wasn't one of the Tigers' better games since they lost the ball six times on fumbles which held the score down. Mebbe the boys just wanted to make us look "good."

Well, here is the way we see the games this week that are of prime interest to local fans:

Snyder 33, Palo Duro 0.
Levelland 14, Monterey 13.
Big Spring 21, Vernon 6.
Sweetwater 27, Plainview 7.
Texas A&M 19, SMU 14.
Texas 26, Baylor 20.
Rice 21, Arkansas 14.
Hermleigh 32, Loraine 13.
Hobbs 34, Blackwell 27.
McMurry 20, Howard Payne 13.
Mississippi Southern 27, ACC 20.
Texas Western 34, Hardin-Simmons 20.

8th Wins; 7th Bows At BS

Snyder's two junior high football teams broke even in a doubleheader at Big Spring last night, the Snyder 8th grade winning by 7-0 while the 7th graders were going down to a 13-7 defeat.

The games closed the season for both teams. The Snyder 8th graders, coached by Ace Amos, finished unbeaten for the second straight season. The 8th grade posted an 8-0 record this season.

The Snyder 7th grade team, tutored by Bill Hartsfield, wound up with a 5-2-1 records, five wins, two losses and a tie.

The Snyder 8th graders, after staving off a Big Spring scoring threat in the second quarter, came back in the third period to march 75 yards to score the game's only touchdown.

Big Spring, after blocking a punt, reached the Snyder three before being stopped in the second quarter.

Snyder then took the kickoff to open the second half and promptly marched to a touchdown. Feature run of the drive was a 35-yard scamper by Tony Peralez.

Peralez later scored the touchdown on a four-yard line buck and Alex Cross converted on a run to account for all of the scoring in the game.

Coleman Johns ripped off a 60-yard run for Snyder 8th in the second quarter but the drive, which started on their own five, was stopped on the Big Spring 20 when time ran out for the first half.

The 8th graders played without the service of their leading ball carrier, Dick Hayes, who was ill. Coach Amos praised the entire team in turning in a fine performance.

The Snyder 7th graders were also playing without the services of their leading scorer and ball carrier, Jimmy Don Robinson who was out with an injured foot suffered in last week's game with Lamesa.

But the Snyder lads came close to winning, nevertheless. They led Big Spring 7-6 at halftime and a bad punt led to Big Spring's winning tally. The kick, that went almost straight up, put the locals in a hole and a 15-yard penalty added to Snyder's woes as Big Spring turned the breaks into a score.

Snyder's lone tally in the 7th grade game was a 40-yard bootleg pass from Mike Moffett to Jerry Ware in the second quarter. John Billy Koonsman converted on a run to put Snyder ahead, 7-6.

Big Spring had scored on the first play of the game on a 65-yard run.

Tigers Seek 5th 1-3A Win Tonite

Bengals Ruled Heavy Favorites

BY BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

AMARILLO, Nov. 4—Snyder's Tigers were greeted by a cold norther here today when they arrived for their fifth District 1-AAA game of the season that will see them take the field against the Palo Duro Dons tonight.

Although the Tigers will be unaccustomed to the cold weather, they have been ruled heavy favorites to keep their District 1-AAA record clean.

Palo Duro, one of the two brand new high schools in 1-AAA, is still looking for their first district win while the Tigers are rolling along unbeaten in four conference starts.

But, as has been the case in the past when the Bengal's were rated favorites, the Snyder lads aren't taking the Dons lightly.

Coach John Conley realizes that the Dons, losers of five conference games, will be hungry for a win tonight.

With the home field advantage, cold weather, and the desire of the Dons to crash the win column, tonight's game could very well be a rugged one for the Tigers.

The Tigers will go into the game in their best physical condition of the season. Halfback Alan Snead is expected to be in his best condition since injuring a shoulder about three weeks ago in a practice session.

Snead, the team's top punter and among the best in the ball carrying department not to mention his ability on defense, didn't play at all in the Plainview game two weeks ago and played only sparingly against Sweetwater last week.

But the senior halfback is expected to be ready for full-time duty tonight.

Scout reports on the Dons reveal that the Amarillo club, coached by John Reddell, never cease scrapping all the way no matter how high the odds maybe stacked against them.

Between 500-600 Snyder fans are due here for the game. Most of the Snyder backers will be riding the special train that is due to arrive here at 6 p.m. today.

Among the Tiger followers will be the Tiger band who will stage a halftime performance tonight.

The probable starting lineup for the Tigers tonight (offensive) will be:

Ends—Milton Ham and Don McNew.
Tackles—George Herring and Wiley Denson.
Guards—Shorty Grimmett and Hal Holiday.
Center—Joe Reaves.
Quarterback—Powell Berry.
Halfbacks—Jack Spikes and Alan Snead.
Fullback—Joe Baxter.

Coach Conley has named Ham, Denson and Reaves as tri-captains for tonight's game.

Snyder B In Last Road Tilt

The Snyder B team will be gunning for revenge tomorrow afternoon when they meet Big Spring B at Big Spring.

Kickoff time will be 2 p.m.

In the first game between the two clubs, Big Spring won in a scoring thriller, 38-32.

Coach Jack Dillon's Snyder B teamers will also be on the rebound from a 19-7 defeat last week at Sweetwater. The loses to Big Spring and Sweetwater are the only two blemishes on the Tiger B record. Snyder B has won four games including a 34-13 romp over the team that beat it last week, Sweetwater.

Tomorrow's game will be the last road game of the season for Snyder B. The Tiger B teamers will have two more games on tap following tomorrow's game, both slated at home.

Snyder B will host Colorado City and Stamford in the final two games.

Frosh Rallies For 33-9 Win

The Snyder Freshman football team came to life in the fourth quarter last night to down the Big Spring Freshman, 33-9, at Tiger Stadium, and keep their undefeated record of the season intact.

Big Spring was holding tenaciously to a 9-7 lead at the end of three quarters of play but Coach J. P. Wards Snyder lads poured across four touchdowns in the final period to turn the game into a rout.

Two of the Snyder touchdowns came in the last minute of play.

The Tiger Frosh took the lead for the first time in the ball game in the first 30 seconds of the final quarter when Mickey McGrew drove over from the Big Spring seven yard line to climax an 80-yard march that had started in the third quarter.

Two minutes later McGrew scored again, going over on a five-yard power run, and for all practical purposes that was the ball game as the locals took a 20-9 lead.

A pass from Richard Mahan to Bo Brown that covered 30 yards to the Big Spring five set up the "clinching" touchdown by Snyder that upped the differnce to 20-9.

The score stood at 20-9 until the last minute of play when Snyder racked up two quick touchdowns. Jerry Proctor carried over on a two-yard plunge with 59 seconds to go in the game to increase the Snyder lead to 27-9.

Then 29 seconds later, Mahan intercepted a Big Spring pass at midfield and then followed a swarm of interference to return it all the way for the final score of the evening.

Big Spring took the lead in the early minutes of the game when the visitors pounced on a fumble on Snyder's 45. A five-yard penalty moved the ball to the 38 and from there Wayne Fields went the remaining distance on a dazzling run to give Big Spring a 6-0 lead with 6:06 minutes remaining in the first quarter. Fields also converted to make it 7-0.

Snyder took the ensuing kickoff and marched 45 yards for a touchdown with the score coming on the first play of the second quarter. Mahan scored on a one-yard quarterback sneak. McGrew converted on a line buck to tie the count at 7-7.

A fumble stopped a Big Spring drive inside the Snyder five late in the second quarter but it served in racking two points for the visitors. Big Spring got a safety when Johnny Drake slipped and fell in the end zone after taking a pitchout, giving Big Spring a 9-7 lead.

There was no further scoring until the fourth quarter when Snyder staged its late rally. Big Spring fumbled twice in the Tiger end zone in the third quarter to rub out potential scores and after that the Snyder lads caught fire and rambled to victory.

Rice Frosh Triumph

HOUSTON (AP) — Dan Shuford scored two touchdowns, one on a 58-yard run, and set up another with a 22-yard sprint last night as the Rice freshmen beat Wharton Junior College 19-3.

Wharton led at the half on a 31-yard field goal by Herman Koehn.

Hermleigh, Hobbs In Crucial Games

Only two of the four Snyder area football teams are ticketed for action tonight and both games will go a long way in deciding district titles.

Hermleigh's Cardinals will go to Loraine tonight to meet the Loraine Bulldogs in a District 6-B game while the Hobbs Panthers journey to Blackwell for a District 6-B Six Man game.

Hermleigh is currently tied for second place with Bronte in district play, each team owning a 1-1 record. Robert Lee leads the loop with a 1-0 record.

Robert Lee, however, has yet to meet Bronte. Should Bronte defeat Robert Lee, then the race would likely end in a three-way tie for the title.

For Hobbs, tonight's game is a "must" so far as the title is concerned. Should the Panthers lose to Blackwell tonight, Blackwell would be crowned champions. Tonight's game is the final game of the district race for Blackwell, who is currently leading the district with a 6-1 record.

Hobbs has a 5-1 record and will wind up the season next week against McCaulley at Roby. By winning tonight and next week, Hobbs could nail down the district pennant.

Ira and Gail, the other two Snyder area teams, have an open date this week. Both Ira and Gail have one more game on tap. Ira hosts Divide next week while Gail is at home to Loop.

Port Acres and Seagoville were knocked from the undefeated, untied ranks Thursday night as the most crucial weekend of Texas schoolboy football got under way.

Nederland, unbeaten but once tied, whipped Port Acres 19-2 to clinch a tie for the championship of District 28 of Class AA. Seagoville took a 32-20 trimming from Fort Worth Masonic Home in a nonconference game.

Los Fresnos and Iowa Park continued among the unbeaten of Class A. Los Fresnos clouted Mission B 52-7 and Iowa Park whipped Holliday 3413.

There were three important results in Class AAAA. Arlington Heights of Fort Worth took over the lead in Dist. 3 by beating Amon Carter-Riverside 20-0. Dallas Sunset stayed in front in Dist. 4 with a 48-0 strapping of Dallas Crozier Tech. Houston Reagan beat Houston Austin 13-7 to push into the lead in Dist. 7.

San Antonio Harlandale downed San Antonio Edison 26-7 to knock the latter out of first place in Dist. 7 of Class AAA.

The fall of Seagoville and Port Acres reduced the undefeated, untied teams in the state to 25. Two of them play each other Friday night when Spur battles Abernathy for the top in Dist. 5 of Class AA.

The state's feature game sends Baytown against Galveston in Class AAAA. Baytown can virtually sew up the Dist. 8 championship by beating Galveston and also remain among the five undefeated, untied teams in the division. Abilene, Tyler, Wichita Falls and Corpus Christi Miller are the others.

No Chance For Ags To Play In Cotton

DALLAS (AP)—President Edwin Mouzon of the Southwest Conference doesn't think Texas A&M has a chance of playing in the Cotton Bowl if it wins the football championship and provisions have been made for selecting a team in that event.

Dr. Mouzon, SMU faculty representative, said last night he didn't think there is a chance of lifting the probation on A&M for violating recruiting rules.

"According to the penalty which was assessed against A&M, they can not play in the Cotton Bowl this year," Mouzon said. "The probation is not subject to review until next spring.

Should A&M win the title the second-place team will go to the Cotton Bowl, he said. If some team ties A&M for the championship it will get the place. If the Aggies are champions and two teams tie for second, the team that defeated the other will be the conference representative, he said.

SWC Set For Most Crucial 1955 Weekend

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
The Associated Press

Two critical games, one involving Texas A&M's dogged determination to stay on top and the other marking the rise or fall of Texas, makes Saturday's Southwest Conference football schedule the most crucial of the season.

The Aggies lead the way down the weary November stretch but SMU, TCU and Texas are lapping at their heels, a half-game back.

The Aggies try to knock aside out of contention.

At Houston, Rice will be playing Arkansas in a game that means little in the conference race. Arkansas was eliminated last week when it was tied 7-7 by Texas A&M. Rice is out of the race with two losses.

Crowds totaling 140,000 are expected for the three games with 50,000 at Austin, 45,000 at Houston and 45,000 at College Station.

TCU takes the week off getting ready for Texas.

The Aggies are mild favorites over SMU but the A&M ground attack that centers its power through the middle may be sorely tested by the ponderous line of SMU. SMU has a more versatile offense but so did Baylor and Arkansas yet the Aggies emerged from those contests practically unscathed.

Texas, moving fast by walloping Rice and SMU, is the choice over injury-riddled Baylor. The Bears may have an air attack equal to Texas and the scoring could be wild and wooly.

Rice is a thin favorite over Arkansas.

With one correct prediction, two losses and a tie last week, the old average was further dented. Should do better this week since there are fewer games.

Texas-Baylor: A solid vote for Texas, which might be the team to beat in the conference stretch.

Texas Cities Bid For Milk Bowl Site

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Bids from Denver, Chicago, Cleveland, New Orleans, Omaha, Memphis, Detroit, Birmingham, Dallas, Houston and other cities have been received for spots in the annual Milk Bowl football game here Dec. 10.

Harry Evons, chairman of the committee that sponsors the game, said the teams would be selected within two weeks.

Search For Bowl Teams Underway

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

The bowl hopefuls start getting the kids off the street thie weekend n college football while the Big Three — Maryland, Oklahoma and Michigan have nothing to fear but fear itself.

West Virginia, unbeaten, opens the bowl bidding tonight against big, fast George Washington, the only team that could give the Mountaineers an argument for the Southern Conference title.

Miami of Florida and Boston College meet in the only other major game on tap tonight.

The big games for the bowl committees come tomorrow — Georgia Tech-Tennessee, Mississippi State-Auburn, Duke-Navy, Southern Methodist-Texas A & M and Baylor-Texas. Except for the probationed Texas Aggies, any of these teams could get an invitation from the Sugar, Cotton or Gator bowls and they'll be scrappin' to get on the mailing list.

Maryland, Oklahoma and Michigan, ranked 1-2-3, have no such worries. Their reservations are in for Jan. 2.

Maryland and Oklahoma are shoo-ins for an Orange Bowl showdown as champs (although still uncrowned) of their respective Atlantic Coast and Big Seven Conferences. Michigan is ticketed for the Rose Bowl, where UCLA is confident of providing the opposition in the Big Ten-Pacific Coast battle.

Maryland and Oklahoma insist they don't have easy touches tomorrow.

Maryland opposes Louisiana State, which has a 1-4-1 record. Oklahoma, with a 25-game streak, opposes Missouri, which has a 1-game "string."

Michigan might find the Illinois troublesome in the traditional Big Ten squabble, but they could afford to lose one of their three remaining games and still get the Big Ten's blessing for the Rose Bowl. Only Ohio State and Michigan State challenge Michigan's right — but OSU is ineligible and MSC not only was beaten by the Wolves, but made a more recent Rose Bowl visit than Michigan.

The Southwest Conference winner usually gets one of the Cotton Bowl berths, but with Texas A&M, the leader, ineligible, the also rans get a chance. SMU needs this one to stay alive, but the Aggies are favored by one touchdown. Texas, favored by the same margin, could lose ground with a failure against Baylor.

Two other bowl candidates — Mississippi and Texas Christian — take it easy this weekend. Ol' Miss plays Memphis State. TCU is idle.

None of the other ranked teams looks for trouble tomorrow. Michigan State plays Purdue in a Big Ten game; UCLA meets College of the Pacific, and Notre Dame can afford to relax against Penn.

Baylor Cubs Win

WACO (AP)—Larry Click was the big show last night as the SMU freshmen beat the Baylor Cubs 15-13.

The SMU quarterback passed to Harold Bittenbender on a 66-yard play for one touchdown ran 63 yards to set up another and then kicked a field goal that was the margin.

THE NORTH SIDE BAPTIST CHURCH, which started with nine charter members in 1940, has grown to a membership of more than 500. This is its present physical plant, the last of which was completed in March, 1954.

LEADERSHIP in the North Side Baptist Church here, which is 15 years old this year, include Wayne Classcock, education director; Mrs. Pat Davis, secretary; the Rev. Jack Dean, pastor, and Marvin Smith, Sunday school superintendent. (Lee Watson photograph)

North Side Baptist Church Started By Revival In 1940

Fourteenth of a series on Snyder and area churches.)

A mission revival conducted in Snyder in September, 1940, resulted in organization of the Tabernacle Baptist Church, now known as the North Side Baptist Church here.

The Rev. W. E. Lee, pastor of the Bryan Street Baptist Church at Lamesa, conducted the revival here. There were nine charter members. They were Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Angel, Mrs. Cora Davis, Mrs. I. M. Prather, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Etheredge, Alma Etheredge, Oscar Davis, and Mrs. Mabel Weller. Mrs. Angel, Mrs. Prather, Mrs. Weller, and Alma Etheredge, who is now Mrs. Claude Patrick, are all still members of the church.

Helping Rev. Lee in leading organization of the new church were the Rev. C. E. Leslie and the late Rev. L. H. Beane, both of Hermleigh. The county courtroom was used for a meeting place until a new building could be constructed.

By January, 1941, the church was meeting in its own building, located at 1909 Sixteenth Street, which is its present location, and during the first year membership in the church increased to 80. In June, 1943, the name of the church was changed to Northside Missionary Baptist Church.

The fall of 1944 several Sunday school rooms were built as an addition to the original building. As the church continued to grow and more space was needed, the construction of a new auditorium was completed for use by the latter part of July, 1948, and the old buildings were converted into an education building.

The Rev. Clymer C. Evans was first pastor of the church, serving from 1940 to 1941. He was followed by the Rev. Earl Creswell, who remained until 1952 and was succeeded by the Rev. Jack Dean, the present pastor. Rev. Dean began work with the church in November, 1952, moving here from the Central Baptist Church at Fayetteville, Ark.

Membership in the church has increased to more than 500. During the past three years, the pastor said, there have been 327 additions to the church, and Sunday school attendance has increased from an average of 136 to an average of 285. Present Sunday school enrollment is 390. Five members of the church have become ministers, and three are now holding successful pastorates.

The Sunday school's growth in three years has been from two departments and 12 classes to five departments and 32 classes. The frist story of a combined auditorium - education building was completed in March, 1954, this building adding 15 classrooms and two departments. Marvin Smith is present Sunday school superintendent.

The North Side Baptist Church is an independent Missionary Baptist Church, cooperating with churches composing the North Colorado Baptist Association, the Missionary Baptist Association of Texas, and the American Baptist Association. The church cooperates in missions throughout the world and in other phases of Christian endeavors, such as printing of Sunday school and other scriptural literature and maintaining of scriptural schools. The church here has given, in the past two years, 17 per cent of the total offerings to missions.

Since October, 1954, the church has maintained the West Texas Baptist Institute, which began its second year of work in September with 30 students enrolled. Subjects taught are Bible In Eight Ages, Bible Analysis, Greek, Bible By Periods, Speech, Sermonizing, Evangelism, Church History, God's Plea With Man, and English. Classes are held from 8 to 5 each Tuesday, with the pastor, his wife, the Rev. A. W. Smith of Abilene, and the Rev. J. W. Kesner of Lamesa as instructors.

During the past year the church has assisted in organization of two new Missionary Baptist Churches at Abilene and Odessa. Since March, 1953, it has broadcast Sunday evening worship services from the auditorium over KSNY, and since last April the pastor has had a "Sunday School of the Air" broadcast on Sunday mornings.

Doug Burney is chairman of the board of deacons. Other deacons are Bill Snider, Dave Houston, Marvin Smith, Wayne Glasscock, Carl Stokes, Dick Brown, Eugene Glasscock, J. L. Norris, H. T. Dodson, and Weldon Sumruld.

Sunday school department superintende ts are Denver Way, adults; Dayton McCarter, senior-intermediate; Claude Lee, primary-beginner; and Mrs. J. W. Merritt, nursery. Wayne Gasscock is director of the Baptist training course, and Pat Davis is assistant. Mrs. Carmen Hobbs is secretary.

Catholic Youth Club Elects New Officers

The Catholic Youth Club elected officers and made plans for a bazaar during a meeting held Wednesday night in the basement of St. Elizabeth's Church.

Officers of the club include Dottie Dugas, president Ed Henderson, vice president Helen Carrell; secretary John Carrell, treasurer, and Lanny Wadliegh, parliamentarian.

The club made plans for bazaar to be held on Nov. 27 in the basement of the church.

Refreshments were served and members of the club participated in a religious discussion on the topic, "Should A Church Indulge in Publicity?"

The Congo River twice crosses the equator.

First Baptist To Open Drive

Members of the First Baptist Church voted Wednesday night to enter a fund-raising campaign and to use the services of Paul R. Sheahan of Roanoke, Va., in the campaign.

Sheahan is head of a fund-raising institution which specializes in furnishing aid to churches in campaigns by organizing the membership into various campaign committees.

Definite amount of money to be raised in the campaign has not yet been set. The church has been planning for addition to its education facilities to take care of its expanding Sunday school and other activities.

The Rev. G. M. Cole, pastor of the church, said Sheahan will be here Monday to begin his work. The campaign officially begins Monday in the church.

Colonial Hill Ceremony Set For Sunday

Ground - breaking ceremonies have been scheduled for noon Sunday for the Colonial Hill Baptist Church, which is beginning construction on a new $100,000 building project.

The ceremonies will immediately follow regular morning services of the church, which will be held at the West Elementary School. The building site is located at Thirty-fifth and El Paso Streets.

The Rev. Jimmie Nelson, pastor of the church, said that in connection with this, a bond-selling drive will be initiated for a $100,000 bond issue on the Broadway Plan of church finance. M. H. Roe is general chairman of the drive, in which workers will sell five per cent bonds in denominations of $50, $100, $200, $250, $500, and $1000, with maturity dates ranging from one to 13½ years from now. A house has been moved onto the church's lot as headquarters for the drive. Nightly report meetings will be held for reports of team captains.

Stewart Construction Co. of Midland, building contractor for the church, is preparing to begin construction next week on the building, which will have more than 13,000 square feet of space. Educational capacity will be 400, and capacity of the auditorium will be 375. There will be 33 classrooms in addition to four nursery departments in the church, and two departments will be built to open in to a fellowship hall, where a kitchen will be provided. The building will have central heating and air conditioning and will be of concrete block construction with red brick exterior.

Experts estimate that a typical American family spends 15 per cent of its weekly food budget for milk which supplies 30 per cent of the families nutritional needs.

"Straight is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it." Matthew 7:14. A playground does not need a straight path, but the highway to important goals must be straight. Much of the work of the road makers of our day is consumed in straightening out winding roads of yesterday. Trucks loaded with food for hungry people, ambulances carrying the sick and automobiles filled with travelers pointed toward home ...all are demanding the straight road.

Great spiritual leaders and teachers have insisted through the centuries that every soul must demand the same sort of "straight and narrow way" along which to move with directness and devotion toward the "good goal." We find goals that are destructive if we tarry too long with the jostling and self-indulgent throng along wide roads which are only midways for State Fairs and playgrounds for immature spirits. The kingdom of God is not reached in such fashion. If you are bent toward the Heavenly goal...choose the "straight and narrow way" that leads to life everlasting.

The "straight and narrow" road begins exactly where you are standing today. If you will but lift your eyes to the hills of God, the path will be seen. The footprints of noble pilgrims, who have gone before, will be shining bright as day. The "straight and narrow way" is the only way.

Veterans Will Get Insurance Dividends

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nearly 3½ million World War I and World War II veterans will split about 219 million dollars in government life insurance dividends next year.

The Veterans Administration announced yesterday about five million World War II veterans will receive 195 millions in regular annual dividends on national service life insurance. VA also said about 370,000 holders of World War I U.S. government life insurance will collect a total of about 24 millions.

Ohio Resident Fails To Obey His Name

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — John R. Law didn't obey his last name, and it cost him $1,084.

Law, 27, of Strasburg, Ohio, was fined that much plus costs in the court of Mayor J. K. Taylor of nearby New Concord. The state highway patrol said the truck he was driving was overloaded by 35,280 pounds. Law paid the fine.

HITLER'S PRIVATE LIFE

Hitler And Eva Braun Married

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second article in a series on the Private Life of Adolf Hitler, as told by his personal valet who has just been released after 11 years in a Russian concentration camp. It is the most remarkable document to have come out of the war and it fills in many blanks in the history of the past 20 years. Here are the sensational, intimate, secret revelations of the man who knew Hitler best of all—on guard and off guard.)

BY HEINZ LINGE,
Hitler's Personal Valet
(World Copyright 1955)

BERLIN. — At exactly ten minutes to four in the afternoon of April 30, 1945, a whiff of acrid smoke from a Walther pistol told me that Adolf Hitler had ended his life in a bunker 30 feet below the ruins of the Reich's Chancellery.

Throughout my long years of captivity with the Russians I have thought over and over again of that moment—Hitler's moment of despair. At the time it seemed my mind couldn't grasp the fact that the Fuehrer was dead, although I had known for five days that he had made up his mind not to try to escape from the quickly tightening Russian net around Berlin.

I had been with him in his moments of iron calm, and in moments when he was held in the grip of a secret terror, pacing up and down, forever stroking that lock of hair down over his forehead, his mouth twitching in a nervous grimace.

Now there was just that thin wisp of smoke. No noise, no crack of a pistol shot reached me from the bunker. For seconds I stood still. All was silent in the shelter. I held back, not understanding, perhaps not wanting to understand.

Then the silence was broken by the rumble of the Russian artillery. I realized there was no time to lose. I began to walk slowly to the door of Hitler's map room in the bunker..

Five minutes before, I had been standing at the salute, saying goodbye to the man I had served through 10 years of war and peace, nearer to him, I believe, than any other man in the world, as his valet and chief of his personal bodyguard.

At the door of the map room I paused, for I didn't relish the task ahead of me or the sight I knew would greet me. Again came the ominous rumble of the Russian bombardment and it seemed to me, so taut were my nerves, that already the guns sounded nearer.

I knew what had to be done. I had the Fuehrer's orders, and in death, as in life, they had to be carried out. He trusted me. And there in Berlin time was running out for all of us.

So I nerved myself to walk quietly into the room. There, almost upright in a sitting position on a couch, was the body of Adolf Hitler.

A small hole the size of a German silver mark showed on his right temple and a trickle of blood ran slowly down over his cheek. He was wearing a uniform which I had carefully laid out for him a few hours earlier. It was scarcely crumpled.

One pistol, a 7.65 Walther, lay on the floor where it had dropped from his right hand. A yard or so away lay another gun of 6.35 caliber. The Fuehrer had not meant to make any mistake. Death must have come in an instant.

The body of Eva Braun—the only woman who counted in Hitler's life during the years I knew him—was sitting by his side. I believe she had died a few minutes before the Fuehrer. It was Hitler's wish that she should be with him in death as she had been for so many years in life—for the last 30 hours as his wife instead of as his mistress.

No mar showed on Eva Braun's face; it was as though she had fallen asleep. She had swallowed a capsule of poison, one of a dozen Hitler had gotten for just such a circumstance as this from an army doctor. They were for the women attached to his staff and for the wife of Dr. Goebbels, but above all for Eva.

Earlier that day my master had his favorite Alsatian dog destroyed. Its name was Blondi, and Professor Haase, Hitler's former surgeon, had come around to the bunker to end its life with poison. Two other dogs belonging to the household had been shot. Hitler had been very fond of dogs.

It had been five days earlier, on the afternoon of April 25, that I had received a message from Krueger, an under-valet. "Linge," he told me urgently on the telephone, "the Fuehrer wants to see you. At once."

I hurried to the same map room in which Hitler had chosen to die. It was his headquarters, chart room, communications room—the focal point of the disintegrating government.

He had used the room almost all the time since the Russians had menaced Berlin. Small and simply furnished, it was in the greatest contrast to the vast chambers of the now-shattered Chancellery. A door on one side led to the Fuehrer's bedroom; a door on the other side opened into Eva Braun's room.

My own quarters opened off apartments occupied by the Goebbels family. As I walked quickly to Hitler's room, I wondered what could be the reason for his urgent call.

More and more, in the last few days, the Fuehrer had sought my services. I felt I was sharing his confidences more fully than ever before and that his distrust of others had grown.

But I was not prepared for the dramatic scene that followed. The years have not dimmed my memory of any detail of that meeting.

Hitler was standing by his table when I entered. His face was white; his eyes were grave and cold. He stood like a statue and after an exchange of salutes he looked straight at me. It was always so. But on this day those strange hypnotic eyes seemed to bore right into me.

"Linge," he said, "I want to release you from my service—you can break out and rejoin your family."

I, too, stood like a statue. But my mind raced at the glimpse of a chance of freedom. Then I turned my back on such thoughts.

"Mein Fuehrer," I said, "I have been with you in the great days. I will stay with you whatever the future holds."

His face remained expressionless but he half-raised his hand in a gesture.

"I did not expect it otherwise," he replied. Then in brisk, matter-of-fact tones he added: "Now I have a special order for you."

NEXT: Hitler's final order to Linge.

Club Formed For Snaggle Toothed Set

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The only requirement for membership in a new club of second graders at the LaFayette Grade School is loss of two or three front teeth.

The organization, complete with officers and a club song, is known as the Snaggle-Toothed Cherub Club. It was formed by Mrs. Grace Cochran, teacher of the 7-year-olds.

She says the main aim is to teach children good dental care and general health practices. Instructive material is compiled on how to clean teeth and the proper foods to eat to protect new ones.

Mrs. Cochran says she knows from experience that all 39 of her pupils soon will be members when we organized," the teacher said. "We keep adding names as they lose teeth."

The youngsters wrote their own song:

"We're the Snaggled-Tooth Cherubs—see
"We've lost one tooth or three
"We laugh and lisp
"Since our teeth we have missed
"Snaggled-tooth cherubs are we."

Principal Wade Davenport, pleased with the new club, commented, "I think they'd pull teeth to get into it." But nature makes that unnecessary.

Mrs. Cochran says the No. 1 lesson is: Regardless of what you eat, the baby teeth come out, but if you eat an adequate diet and take care of your teeth, the new ones will "come in strong and pretty."

"Every year I get these little snaggle-toothed things," Mrs. Cochran said, "and I love them so."

"It's just a sideline," she explained. "When you have 39 of them, you have to keep a sideline going to kep it interesting. And I think they all love school."

Dentist Faces Prison Term

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Dr. A. Arnold Axilrod, 50-year-old Minneapolis dentist, was convicted yesterday of first degree manslaughter in the strangling of a young woman patient.

Axilrod, married and the father of two children, was sentenced to 5 to 20 years in prison immediately after a jury of seven women and five men returned the verdict after deliberating some 50 hours.

The defendant was charged with first degree murder in the slaying April 22 of Mrs. Mary E. Moonen, 21, a soldier's wife, who, Axilrod said, had threatened to "tell the world" that he was the father of her unborn child.

Axilrod denied that he was the father, but admitted he was with the young woman the night she was slain.

Axilrod's attorneys indicated they would appeal for a new trial.

As the verdict was read, Axilrod blinked as if trying to hold back tears. He said:

"I never wronged Mrs. Moonen in any way. I did not kill her. . . ."

His attractive wife, Fanny, 42, sat clasping a Bible as Judge Leslie Anderson imposed sentence.

Saints And Sinners All Have Their Day

MANILA (AP) — It was All Saints' Day.

In the Tubod village store south of Manila, Nivauio Hernandez ran into the Aure brothers, Velencio, 24, and Ciriaco, 20. An old feud flared anew.

They agreed to settle it by a drinking bout — the stake, their lives.

The drink was rum. In time, the Aure Brothers slumped to the floor.

Then, witnesses said, Hernandez shot Velencio dead, stabbed Ciriaco to death, and escaped.

Official Describes New Shipping Method

HOUSTON (AP) — A shipping method called a "roll-on-roll-off" that can cut water freight costs 75 per cent was described by Donald McMilan, president of New York ship designing firm.

McMillan said the method, involving ships capable of carrying fully-loaded trucks and railroad cars, eliminates costly loading and shipments.

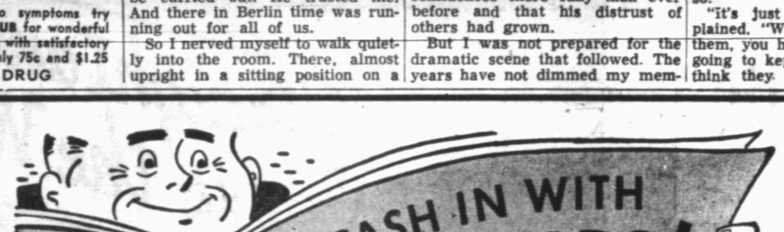

McMillan addressed 400 delegates at the American Assn. of Port Authorities convention. He said the plan could cut freight costs from $4 to $1 a ton on a 2,000 mile coastwise trip.

Snyder Rotary Club Shown Film Thursday

The film, "Southwest Highlights of 1954" was shown by Walker Dabbs, production superintendent for Humble Oil & Refining Co., at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club yesterday.

Guests at the meeting included Roy Townsend of Big Spring, Leland Glass of Sweetwater, and A. J. Shaw and George Jennings, both of Snyder.

Joe Bohannan was inducted as a new member of the club.
