Truman Asks Extension Of Grain Curbs

By FRANCIS J. KELLY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—President Truman pleaded with Congress today for a nine months extension of the government's authority to ration grain to distillers.

He said Europe is in grave need of grain. Moreover, he said, the shortage threatens the "national security" of the United States itself.

Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich), chairman of the House Banking committee which killed a one-month extension bill Tuesday charged that the administration has authorized the export of corn to foreign countries to be used by them not for food, but for the manufacture of whisky. Thus, he said, it would be "nonsensical" to grant the powers the President asks.

No Known Diversion

President Truman at a news conference, said he knew of no American corn being used abroad to make whisky.

An agriculture department spokesman said all export allocations of grain are made on the basis that they will be used for food only. He added that no American grain has been diverted to distilled spirits manufacture abroad so far as the government has been able to determine.

Some countries receiving American grain use some of their own grain to make whisky and beer, he said, but he declared that "this government does not feel it can interfere with the domestic policies of those countries to the extent of telling them how they should use their own products."

Liquor Exported

These countries, he said, feel that liquor making is essential to their economies. They export much of the liquor, he said, to get dollars "to buy essential items for their people."

The government's authority to restrict the distilleries to specific quotas expires Saturday unless Congress acts. The Senate already has approved a measure continuing the authority through February, but the House banking committee rejected that 12 to 9.

In a special message read to the House today, Mr. Truman said:

European countries will need at least 500,000,000 bushels of this year's U. S. wheat crop;

Only about 450,000,000 bushels

NEW RULING AFFECTS VOTERS

Persons Over 60 Must Renew Poll Tax Exemptions In City

AN "urgent release" stating that, in cities of 10,000 or more population, persons over 60 years old should obtain a certificate of exemption from poll tax payments before Feb. 1 "if a new exemption certificate has not been obtained during the past year," was received here Thursday by J. B. Johnston, Lubbock county tax assessor-collector.

A letter, setting out that such action was necessary in view of a recent court decision, was received at the local office from Attorney General Price Daniel.

"Because of a decision rendered this week by the Eastland Court of Civil Appeals holding Article 2968 constitutional, this is the only procedure under which over-age voters will be safe in qualifying to vote in elections held after Feb. 1," Price's letter said.

Article Is Given

Article 2968, which under attorney general rulings in a previous administration had been held to be unconstitutional, reads:

"Every person who is exempted by law from the payment of a poll tax, and who is in other respects a qualified voter, who resides in a city

Commission To 'Consider' Any Offer To Supply Gas

By H. I. RIEFER
Avalanche Staff Writer

ASSURANCE of willingness to "consider" any application filed for a franchise to supply industrial gas in Lubbock was given by members of the City commission at a special meeting Thursday afternoon.

Other highlights of the special session included:

1. Steps to obtain from West Texas Gas Co. definite information as to its plans for safeguards during future winters against shortages like those which occurred this week.

Commission Named

2. Appointment of a city civil service commission composed of Harry Morris, auto company executive, chairman; Marion Sanford, insurance man, and George W. McCleskey, attorney.

3. Discussions of the city budget for the fiscal year beginning April 1 which indicated the city tax rate for 1948 will not be less than the $1.25 on the $100 of assessed valuation, and may be more.

4. Discussions of eight proposed amendments to the city charter under consideration for possible submission to the electorate at the regular city election next April 6. The commission did not decide which, if any, of the amendments actually will be submitted.

Concern Not Named

Discussion of the industrial gas franchise possibly started when Mayor C. A. Bestwick reported he had been requested to ask whether the commission would be willing to "listen" to such a proposition.

He declined to say who made the request, but he said he "understood" it was in behalf of a concern which "could and would build" the facilities to provide the services mentioned and which now holds similar franchises in other localities.

The commission's not-too-enthusiastic reaction to the inquiry were these:

Not Interested In "Promotion"

Assurance that the commission is willing to "listen" at any time to any proposition which might be of interest to Lubbock; the definite understanding that the commission will not commit itself in advance as to the action it might take; and the declaration that the officials are not interested in any sort of "promotional" proposition.

Commissioners W. B. Price, Fred Childress, J. Ray Dickey and John Spikes appeared in agreement that the West Texas Gas Co. is entitled to the first opportunity to supply the gas needs of Lubbock.

"Of course, if the gas company officials just sit, we'll have to do something about it," Commissioner Price commented.

Conference May Be Held

The commission agreed the company should take the public into complete confidence as to plans and prospects for expansion to keep pace with growing gas demands. The "hope" was expressed that company representatives will ask for an opportunity to tell their plans to the commission.

If such a request is not made, the commission indicated, the

Gromyko Would Ban Atom Bombs, But Opposes Controls

(By The Associated Press)

LAKE SUCCESS, Jan. 29—Andrei A. Gromyko, of Russia, insisted today that atomic bombs must be banned and destroyed immediately.

But he would not pledge the Soviet government to agree to a control system after this had been done. He said controls must be worked out after the atomic weapons were prohibited. The ban was the urgent first step to international control, he said.

This would mean that the United States, the only nation known to possess atom bombs, would destroy the stockpile and then begin talking about preventing the making of atomic weapons. The U. S. has rejected this plan.

The Soviet deputy foreign minister's statement was the plainest he has yet made to the working committee of the United Nations Atomic Energy commission.

Delegates of the commission said afterward that no progress toward agreement was made.

Only Two Days Left To Pay Poll Taxes

With only two more days left for obtaining poll taxes or exemption certificates and paying of ad valorem taxes before the midnight deadline Saturday, J. B. Johnston reported that approximately 15,500 poll taxes and exemption certificates had been issued up to closing of the tax office Thursday night.

Johnston estimated that this figure might surpass the total number of poll taxes paid last year by a margin of 2,000 or more. The total for this year may reach 18,000 or more, he said.

Two poll tax sub-stations, in Mark Halsey's Drug store No. 1 and in Wylie's Drug store, were assisting his office yesterday, Johnston stated. A third sub-station at Senior High school remained closed Thursday pending the opening of the school this morning.

Meat Rationing Plan Outlined

By MORGAN REYNOLDS
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 — A sweeping plan to ration meat and control food prices was outlined today to a special Senate committee by the Agriculture department.

However, there appeared little likelihood that Congress would approve. House consideration of such a proposal has been put off indefinitely.

President Truman told his news conference the administration has not yet come to the conclusion meat rationing is imminent. He added this might be true once all the facts are in. The situation is becoming acute, he said.

Higher Prices Predicted

In response to a question, he said there is no use having rationing if you don't have price control. So far Congress has refused to sanction either.

Charles Brannon, assistant secretary of agriculture, was the opening witness as a Senate Banking subcommittee began hearings on a bill authorizing his department to "get ready" for meat rationing. Chairman Flanders (R-Vt) author of the bill, admits the legislation may not clear the committee.

Governor Refuses Comment On Criticism Of VFW Commander

AUSTIN, Jan. 29 (AP) — Gov. Beauford H. Jester today said he had "no comment" when questioned regarding criticism levelled at him Tuesday on his recent remark that it is "un-Texan" for World War II veterans to want a bonus.

Roger Q. Evans, state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and member of the House who advocated a bonus payment during the last session of the Legislature, has said he failed to understand how the governor could conscientiously brand his World War II comrades as "un-Texan" for wanting a bonus if the governor had accepted a bonus after World War I.

Bans On Gas Off; Schools Open Today

THE South Plains fuel emergency was over Thursday night, and schools, businessmen and heavy industrial users of gas prepared to carry on as usual today with forecasts promising a continued rise in temperatures, along with clear skies.

The mercury is expected to rise to the low 40's today, bringing to an end the longest seige of subfreezing weather in Lubbock and on the South Plains in more than a decade, officials at the Weather bureau north of the city said at midnight.

Industries Resume Work

Earlier forecasts for snow and sleet tonight had not materialized early this morning and a prediction that temperatures might sink to a low of five degrees was revised to a minimum of 10. This compares with a low of one degree above Thursday morning. A warmer—but still cold—air mass moved in last night after 10:30 p. m. and raised the reading from 18 degrees at that time to 21 at 11:30 p.m.

Heavy industrial users, including cotton oil mills, gins and compresses, went back to work quickly late Thursday afternoon after West Texas Gas company announced lifting of all restrictions. Earlier, at 1 p.m., the schools and non-industrial users were released from conservation measures.

Business firms in Lubbock and over the South Plains were open for business as usual again Thursday afternoon after having voluntarily shut down to conserve gas for home use through Wednesday and Thursday morning.

Gas company officials relaxed a little bit for the first time in several days. They unanimously expressed gratitude and pleasure at the cooperation they received from consumers over the entire South Plains, in averting a serious stoppage of the gas flow.

Schools Open Today

Supt. R. W. Matthews of Lubbock announced schools of Lubbock Independent school district will operate as usual today. Buses will operate, school cafeterias will be open and regular school work will be conducted.

As for the conservation of natural gas, company officials were making no special requests of consumers for avoiding its use. However, one official remarked,

Rest Of State To Get Relief

(By The Associated Press)

Forecasts of rising temperatures and sunshine cheered Texans in all parts of the weather-beaten old state today.

The mercury, which had hovered well below the freezing mark for the last seven days and nights, was on the rise at last.

In Dallas the U. S. Weather bureau made the welcome prediction:

"Today will be warmer than yesterday and Saturday will be even warmer than today."

16 Persons Claimed

Ice and snow were doomed to melt away as the sun was forecast to break through the clouds.

To thousands of persons in all parts of the state the encouraging weather prediction promised warmer houses and offices, normal railroad, bus and plane schedules, and no more slipping and sliding on ice-covered sidewalks and streets—at least until the next cold wave comes in.

The prolonged siege was blamed for 11 deaths. Icy streets and highways sent cars skidding and crashing.

Mrs. Maston Weatherly and her brother-in-law, Ike Weatherly, died at McKinney as the result of a car-truck crash on slick roads.

Split Hailed As Boost For GOP Plan

Demo Ranks Divided On Tax Slash Bill

By FRANCIS LE MAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Democratic ranks split wide open today on President Truman's tax proposal. House Republicans immediately invited them to forsake the President and join in overriding his expected veto of the GOP's $6,500,000,000 tax-slashing bill.

At the explosive opening of the House debate, Republicans won the first test on their bill.

With Democrats shouting out "gag rule," the Republicans forced consideration of the measure under a procedure which bars amendments.

Some Democrats declared the Republican bill was designed to aid the rich, but the debate quickly disclosed a rift in the minority party.

People Expecting Tax Cut

Rep. Cox (D-Ga.) told the House it would be "not much more than a piece of foolishness" for the Democrats to offer the Truman tax plan.

The President has proposed a $40 per person "cost of living" tax reduction for all taxpayers and their dependents. The $3,200,000,000 revenue loss should be made up, he said, by a revived excess profits tax on corporations.

Cox said "the people are expecting some tax reduction." He urged that the Democrats try to hold the reduction under the Republican bill to about $4,000,000,000.

No Amendments By Demos

Rep. Knutson (R-Minn.), author of the tax bill, asked Cox: "Does the gentleman from Georgia mean that the Democrats have thrown over the President's tax program?"

Cox replied: "The gentleman injects politics into this discussion."

Under the rule for procedure, adopted by a voice vote, no amendments can be offered by the Democrats. However, they will have an opportunity to present one substitute proposal for the $6,500,000,000 Republican bill.

BLOW AT BLACK MARKET TAKEN

French Premier Wins Crucial Vote In Anti-Inflation Fight

By LOUIS NEVIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Friday, Jan. 30 — The National Assembly adopted early today Premier Robert Schuman's bill removing all 5,000 franc notes from circulation.

The Assembly declared the use of the 5,000 franc note, worth about $25, as legal tender would be punishable by law.

The vote on the measure, designed to combat black market operations and bring about deflation, was 307 to 286.

Before the voting began, Schuman said his cabinet would resign unless the Assembly backed him.

Reds, Rightists Oppose Move

The Communists and deputies of the extreme right opposed the bill, as it first was voted article by article and then as a whole.

The Assembly adopted articles three, four, five and six in rapid succession and then turned to amendments proposed for article two for debate.

Article three declared that all notes not surrendered when they are ordered to be are automatically considered surrendered to the state. Article four stated that receipts for money surrendered shall not require stamps.

Penalties Provided

Article five provides prison terms of from six months to five years and fines of from 100 to 100,000 francs or both may be imposed for transacting business with the blocked francs.

Article six stipulated that all public officers will help enforce the law.

The first article would remove all 5,000 franc notes from the class of legal tender.

The Assembly then took up article two, dealing with the method of repaying those who surrender the large notes. The bill has six articles and each must be voted separately before a final vote on the bill as a whole is taken.

Profit Possibly Killed

The deputies adopted, 307 to 276, an amendment to article two drafted by former Premier Paul Ramadier. The amendment declared the state would not be allowed to profit on the 5,000-franc bank note bill by means of a forced loan or levy.

This amendment apparently killed the possibility that the bank notes some day might be exchanged for government bonds.

Eight Injured In Blast At Austin

AUSTIN, Jan. 29 (AP)—An explosion that caved in the roof and walls of a downtown barbecue stand here today injured eight persons, two of them seriously.

Police said the blast evidently was caused by an accumulation of gas. The odor of gas was noticeable 20 minutes after the explosion.

Most seriously injured were Ogden D. Klein, 33, fractured ribs and legs, and Mendel Nussbaum, manager of the barbecue stand, compound fractured ankles and possible internal injuries.

Walls Blown Out

Others injured were A. W. Ashworth, 46; Eugene Brown, 28; Eugene Loyd; Charles Johnson, 52; Doris Wilson, 28; Archie Walker, 59, all of Austin.

Two side walls of the establishment, at Sixth and Nueces streets, were blown outward and the east wall rested against an adjoining building. The west wall slanted against a truck.

The electric clock inside the establishment—stopped at 5:18 p. m. A loaf of bread, still in its wrapper, was blown out the door.

Equal Education Is Claimed Denied

Segregation Laws In State Under Attack

By BO BYERS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Jan. 29—Equal education for negroes is impossible under a system of separate public schools for whites and negroes, attorneys for Heman Marion Sweatt argued today, questioning whether Texas' school segregation laws are constitutional.

The legality of separate but substantially equal schools has always been upheld by the highest court of the land, replied state attorneys.

They charged Sweatt is primarily interested in breaking down Texas segregation laws, not in securing a law degree.

Law Said Unconstitutional

Sweatt is a Houston negro mail carrier. He seeks a court order forcing the University of Texas to admit him as a student in its school of law.

Today's arguments were in the Third Court of Civil Appeals, where Sweatt's attorneys are appealing from a Travis county district court decision refusing to grant the mandamus.

Noting that the state has conceded Sweatt is scholastically qualified to enter the university law school, Attorney W. J. Durham of Dallas charged legislation establishing separate schools "is for no other purpose than to exclude the negro because of his race."

"The law providing for segregation in Texas is unconstitutional in that it is class legislation rather than legislation on education," he said. "The legislature has picked out a class of people and legislated against them."

State's Stand Assailed

Thurgood Marshall of New York City attacked the state's use of the term "substantial equality."

"No where in this (trial court) testimony is there any statement of equality. They say substantial equality," he pointed out.

"You either have equality or you don't. When you put 'substantial' in front of it, you wipe out equality.

Countering this argument, Attorney General Price Daniel recalled that "on trial Sweatt testi-

Oklahoma Board Delays Action

NORMAN, Okla., Jan. 29 (AP)—The University of Oklahoma board of regents late today deferred action on the admission of six negro students to the graduate school and requested more information from the state attorney general and regents for higher education in Oklahoma.

Another phase of the hotly-contested issue—the calling of a special session of the Oklahoma state legislature—was cooled off temporarily at least by Gov. Roy J. Turner, who said he had not considered the matter officially.

Opinion Is Given

Mac O. Williamson, attorney general, earlier today advised the regents that they would be justified in denying admittance to the negroes.

The board asked, from Williamson, an opinion as to whether they "may lawfully admit a negro applicant qualified to receive the education . . . if there is no institution for negroes supported and maintained by the taxpayers of the state of Oklahoma that affords the education for which application is made?"

Dr. George L. Cross, president of the university is to ask the higher regents if the education applied for is afforded by the state in any other institutin and also if the university president is authorized to admit negroes if the attorney general answers the question put to him in the affirmative.

Radio Networks, Musicians Extend Contract 60 Days

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP)—The four radio networks and the American Federation of Musicians (AFL) today announced they will extend the conditions of their present contract 60 days beyond the January 31 deadline.

The joint announcement by the networks and James C. Petrillo, musicians' union president, said that meanwhile frequency modulation duplication of standard radio musical programs will begin February 1.

The extension was arranged, the statement said, to give additional time for working out details of a new formal contract.

The union ban on the appearance of musicians on television programs remains in effect.

One Atom Bomb Could Paralyze Government, Scientist Claims

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 29—How just one atom bomb could be dropped on Washington and destroy much of the nation's civil and military government was described today by Dr. R. E. Lapp, former military advisor and atomic scientist.

Dr. Lapp's study appears in the bulletin of the atomic scientists of Chicago. It is based on studies he made while serving as scientific advisor with the War department general staff. Now he is executive director of the committee on atomic energy of the research and development board.

Dr. Lapp assumes that the bomb dropped on Washington equals 50,000 tons of TNT. This 50,000 tons is only a little more powerful than energies officially attributed to the plutonium-type bombs that began with Nagasaki.

"The author," Dr. Lapp writes, "has simply assumed that the enemy would want to knock out the Pentagon building (headquarters of the national military establishment) as the target of highest priority.

"In addition the bomb might be detonated so as to inflict as much

HST Bluntly Refuses To Give Reasons For Eccles' Demotion

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29—President Truman bluntly said today there will be no explanation from him of the removal of Marriner S. Eccles from the chairmanship of the Federal Reserve board.

He refused to give his reasons at his weekly news conference, which was largely given over today to a discussion of foreign aid.

Mr. Truman made it clear that, on the question of foreign aid, he will insist on a full four-year program.

Domestically, the conference touched on these matters:

Eccles—Mr. Truman said the President has a right to exercise his prerogatives, which he did in demoting Eccles to vice chairman of the federal reserve.

When told that the Senate Banking committee may investigate, the President said the committee can investigate anything it chooses. It can't investigate the President, he added with a smile, except by impeachment.

CULLEN RESIGNS CIVIC POSTS

Houston Oilman-Philanthropist Clashes With Jones On Zoning

HOUSTON, Jan. 29. (AP)—Hugh Roy Cullen, Houston oilman-philanthropist, today said he is resigning from all public and civic organizations with which he is connected because of the manner in which local newspapers have publicized a proposed city zoning ordinance which he has branded as an "un-American, German plan."

In a letter to Houston's three daily newspapers Cullen said ". . . I am going to give our city to Jesse (Jones) and his crowd."

Charges Are Made

Jones, former Secretary of Commerce and wartime head of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, is publisher of The Houston Chronicle, which has supported the zoning ordinance which Houston residents will consider during a "straw vote" in a special election Saturday.

Cullen, who within recent years has announced philanthropic gifts approximating $200,000,000, said the papers refused to publish his "statement about zoning" as submitted Tuesday and "I am making a statement to you now that you might publish."

". . . I cannot go along any further for I can see only graft and greed that will control our city from here out, so I am sending in my resignation as chairman of the Board of Regents of the University of Houston, as a member of the (Texas) Medical Center, and every other organization of which I am a member."

Jones Answers Statement

Cullen's zoning statement was published on the front page of the final edition of The Houston Press on Tuesday, on Page 17 of the second edition of Wednesday's Chronicle and on the front page of today's Houston Post.

Cullen's letter, dated yesterday and written on a "Quintana Petroleum Corporation" letterhead was published today on the front page of the Chronicle and Press, which papers have endorsed the zoning ordinance.

With the Chronicle's photographic reproduction was a statement from Jones, who said, in part:

"I am sorry Mr. Cullen feels that there is only one side to the question of zoning . . . Mr. Cullen is a very generous man and has contributed freely of his fortune and I am sure will continue to do so . . . in my opinion, the great majority of homeowners will benefit by zoning and a few will profit without it, but in doing so their neighbors will suffer. That is my view and I accord Mr. Cullen and everyone else the privilege of their views. Since most of the large cities of our country have zoning, I see no justification for Mr. Cullen's statement that zoning is 'un-American and German'."

FORT WORTH, Jan. 29. (U.P.) — Aaron Smith 78, an armless invalid, today thanked the quick action of his nephew, a pre-medical student, for saving him from a fire in his home last night.

Smith, armless since birth and confined to a bed, was rescued from the two-story house by James Smith, a student at Texas Christian university. He and O. J. Branch, a son-in-law of the elder Smith, also helped Smith's wife and her sister from the flaming house.

The fire started when a plumber was using a blow torch to thaw frozen pipes under the house.

Atom Experts File Disability Claims

BERNALILLO, N. M., Jan. 29. (U.P.)—Three Los Alamos scientists have filed disability claims because of radiation exposure, Sandoval county court records here showed today.

One of the claims for workmen's compensation has been settled and two are still pending. One of the pending claims was filed 10 months ago.

S. Allen Kline is believed to have filed the first claim for radiation exposure since scientists began work on atomic processes. Kline claims he is "totally disabled as a result of general radiation injuries sustained in connection with development of the atomic bomb, including the performance of a 'critical assembly'."

The University of California is named as employer, and the Globe Idemnity Co., as insurer. The defendants have admitted Kline "sustained some injury," but denied he is totally disabled Last action taken in the case was last May when the defendants asked that Kline receive a physical examination.

Also pending is the claim of Theodore Perlman, who alleges that he spent three days in a hospital as a result of exposure to "nuclear radiation" on May 21, 1946. Perlman claims that "other possible harmful effects may have been sustained which are not specifically known at this time."

The claim of Alvin C. Graves was settled last week for $3,500. He also alleged he was exposed to radiation.

Plumbers Meeting Ends With Agreement On $19 Per Day

HOUSTON, Jan. 29. (U.P.)—A 30-day "continuous meeting" of union plumbers was slated to end tomorrow while union officials announced that a new wage agreement had been reached with the Associated Master plumbers.

C. A. Ditner, business agent for Local 68, said the agreement reached with the plumbers association provided for a wage boost from $17 to $19 a day and double time for all work done between 8 a.m. Saturday to 8 a.m. Monday and on holidays.

Ditner said the new contract would run for 18 months, and he said the 400 journeymen plumbers would be back at work Monday morning.

The work stoppage began Jan. 2 when the master plumbers rejected the union's pay demands.

Take Off Ugly Fat With Grape Fruit Juice Recipe

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy — no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of Liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves: if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears — how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

High Court Decision On Negroes Poses Major Problem For South

ATLANTA, Jan. 29 (AP)—A U. S. Supreme Court decision that states must at once grant negroes higher education opportunities equal to those offered white persons has tossed a knotty problem into the South's lap.

The court held earlier this month that Oklahoma must admit a negro woman to the university law school or provide separate, equal facilities now.

Oklahoma quickly established a new law school for negroes—in the state capitol building—with a three-man white faculty. The negro woman has spurned it. She is renewing her fight in the highest court to gain admittance to the University of Oklahoma law school which rejected her because of her race. The school never has admitted a negro in its 56-year-old history.

Regional School Studied

Realizing that similar cases may be taken to court from their states at any time and that the decision would be the same, southern governors are considering the establishment of a regional school. This would provide courses on the graduate level for negroes throughout the South.

Texas now is spending $3,000,000 for the establishment of a state university for negroes.

Briefly, here is what some of the individual southern states now are doing to provide graduate level education for negroes:

Alabama—Appropriated $25,000 to finance out-of-state education for negroes, primarily in law and medicine.

Florida—Operates a special fund through the Florida Agricultural and Mechanical college for negroes for students seeking courses offered at white schools but not at the A. & M. school.

Others Set Up Facilities

Tennessee—Has a contract with Meharry college, providing $400 per year for each student who is a resident of the state and is seeking a medical education.

South Carolina—Operates courses in law, history, English and the sciences at the State Agricultural & Mechanical school for negroes at Orangeburg.

North Carolina—Operates five schools for negroes. Offers a full law course at the North Carolina college for negroes plus graduate work in education fields.

Louisiana — Sets aside $50,000 annually to care for differential scholarships, but amount is inadequate. Has 56 regular students studying on scholarships now, but applications from 135 students seeking summer school course. Board of education figures the amount available will provide for only 60. Two suits have been filed by negroes to force admission to Louisiana State university, one to study law, the other medicine. As result of the law student's suit, legal courses have been made available at the Southern University for Negroes at Baton Rouge.

Added Funds Sought

Kentucky—Appropriates $30,000 for payment of differential scholarships with the prospect that the legislature will come across with $10,000 more.

Virginia — Sets aside around $93,000 for differential scholarships, but maintains several industrial and agricultural schools within the state.

Arkansas—Is working under a biennial appropriation of $12,500 to provide differential scholarships.

Georgia — Sets aside around $35,000 annually for out-of-state education of negroes.

Missouri—Provides around $25,000 for differential scholarships and also offers a law course at a school in St. Louis and has a journalism school at Lincoln university for negroes.

Mississippi—Provides two four-year colleges for negroes in teaching, agriculture, the manual arts and trades. Has a program to lend money to whites and negroes seeking medical educations on condition they return to rural areas in the state. Mississippi has no four year medical school for whites or negroes.

Aristophanes, the playwright, was one of the earliest librarians and worked in the ancient libraries at Alexandria.

Not Enough Rats In Europe To Feed Our Cats, Man Protests

NEW YORK, Jan. 29. (AP)—There aren't enough rats in Europe to feed America's alley cats and it would be cruel to send them abroad, a protector of animals protested today.

Sydney H. Coleman, executive vice president of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, said the organization was "vigorously opposed" to a proposal by the American Feline Society to send 1,000,000 American cats abroad to destroy rats eating food in war-damaged countries.

Four Additions Are Made To Tech Staff

Four additions to the Texas Technological college faculty for the spring semester were announced by Pres. W. M. Whyburn. They include Bob Blon, Lubbock, lecturer in finance; James Louis Odle, Austin, lecturer in civil engineering; Earl O. Wuskasch, Austin, assistant professor in electrical engineering; and L. B. Blackwell, Abilene, instructor in marketing.

Blon holds a BA degree from New Mexico A&M. An Army veteran, he has had sales experience with Standard Oil of Texas and Lever Bros. company, was city traffic manager for Continental Air Lines for three years, and has been director of public relations for the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce for the past two years.

Odle is receiving his BS degree in civil engineering from the University of Texas this fall.

While serving with the Navy, Wuskasch worked in the office of research and inventions and with the naval research laboratories in Washington. Previously he had been a member of a crew operating a mass spectrograph on an atomic research project at the University of California radiation laboratory and had worked with the General Electric company at Schenectady, Pittsfield and Bridgeport. Since September, 1946, he has worked in the electrical engineering research laboratory at the University of Texas while taking graduate work. He completed work on his MS degree this fall at the University of Texas.

Blackwell, also an Army veteran, holds a BA degree from Hardin-Simmons University and has taught there.

Rotarians Consider Study Fellowships

The Rotary Foundation Fellowships committee of the 127th Rotary district met last night at the Hilton hotel to consider applications for fellowships received from this district, according to T. C. Root, assistant to the president at Texas Technological college and a committee member.

The committee is composed of Jim McCulloch, district governor, from Stamford; Past District Governor Jim Willson from Floydada; Past District Governor J. Edd McLaughlin from Ralls; President J. W. (Bill) Marshall from Plainview; and T. C. Root.

Following study of the applications, the committee will recommend those they feel are the best qualified through the regional committee to the board of directors of Rotary International.

In order to apply for one of these fellowships, the applicant must be male, 20 to 28 years of age, be classified as at least a senior in college, have a high scholastic average and possess a good speaking knowledge of the language in the country in which he is applying for a fellowship.

All of the fellowships will be for foreign study, Root stated.

Rio Grande Valley Citrus Crop Appears Undamaged From Cold

McALLEN, Jan. 29. (AP)—The Rio Grande valley's mammoth citrus groves appeared to have escaped damage from two night's of sub-freezing temperatures, but tender vegetables suffered some, full extent of which will not be known for several days.

Growers from Mission to Weslaco reported no damage to citrus, and a few said the 28-degree blast might improve some of the fruit. They pointed out that citrus could withstand cold down to 26-degrees for several hours. No unusual steps were taken to protect orchards.

The only possible citrus damage, growers said, would be to late tangerines.

A thin sheet of ice formed over the valley during an early morning drizzle, but this began thawing at 9:30 a.m.

Tomatoes were the principal sufferers. Some growers reported total losses of fields, while others predicted their plants would survive and produce normal yields in May.

Cabbage, carrots and beets were not believed heavily damaged.

The tea bag got its start when a merchant distributed samples of his tea in cloth bags and his customers discovered that a handy way to make tea was to pour boiling water over them.

Scott Rites To Be At Lamesa Today

LAMESA, Jan. 29 (Special) — Funeral services for Willie A. Scott, 54, farmer who lived in the Five-Mile community, will be held Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Higginbotham Funeral home chapel here, with Rev. J. J. Gentry and Rec. C. B. Stovall officiating. Burial will be in Five-Mile cemetery.

Scott's body was found yesterday on the ice-coated prairie 15 miles west of Lenorah in Martin county, more than 12 hours after he had been thrown from a car which turned over and then righted itself. The driver, S. E. Hemphill, was found driving over the prairie in a dazed condition. He was admitted to the hospital in Andrews where his condition was reported as serious.

Among Scott's survivors are two sons, Charlie of Lamesa and C. W. of Lubbock; a daughter, Teddy Joy Scott, Lamesa; three sisters, Mrs. Margaret Wilcox of Dublin, Mrs. Eva Norman and Mrs. Laura Holbrook, both of Farmersville; and five grandchildren.

YOUR FIGURE

A BOOKLET on "Secrets of Smartness," published by a rayon company, came in Thursday's mail and there were some interesting hints on figure faults we thought you might like to learn, provided you don't know them already.

There is no law against fooling all of the people all of the time with the right clothes. One can use the proper design to whittle their figure up or down. If you're in the short and (let's face it) plump side, you won't look twice at a big splashy print with balloon sleeves and shirred waist. But if you are five feet eleven and weight one hundred pounds, it's just the thing for you. You'll snatch it up and avoid the slim-skirted dress in a vertical stripe.

Here are some well-known figures and what to do about them. Is yours among them?

EGG TYPE — Whittle yourself a waistline with vertical stripes converging in a V-point at the waist, from the shoulder down and from the hem up.

HIPPY TYPE—Large-print bolero over simply-cut solid-color dress . . . or horizontal stripes in bodice, vertical in skirt . . . gay yoke or collar on a slender dark dress.

HALF-PINT TYPE—Use small, widely-spaced prints or plain fabrics . . . bright, light colors . . . wide vertical stripes . . . or narrow stripes in a diagonal direction (by way of surplice bodice or draped skirt).

BEANPOLE TYPE — To cut your height, try crosswise stripes . . . or large florals, or contrasting midriff band . . . or contrasting bodice and skirt. Stand up straight!

ROLY-POLY TYPE—Use small geometrics or florals . . . or narrow vertical stripes . . . or contrasting hem-to-chin panel.

POUTER-PIGEON TYPE — Try a simple, solid color bodice and a wild dirndl skirt . . . or V-neck and hem-border trimmed with contrasting color . . . or vertical stripes in bodice, horizontal in skirt.

New South Wales Will Probe Man's Claim Of Cancer Cure

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 29 (AP)—The New South Wales government announced today that it will investigate the claims of John Braund to have a cure for cancer. The announcement was made soon after E. J. Hallstrom, a philanthropist, offered Braund $64,000 to establish a cancer clinic in Sydney.

Braund, a 79-year-old Englishman, claims he has been treating cancer for 50 years and striving for recognition all that time. He is not a medical doctor.

In an interview Braund said he was willing to share his secret method of treatment with the world. He also expressed the hope there would be a place for a physician from the United States in his planned clinic.

"I would like an American there—or a Greek or anyone else if there is room—so my method of treatment can be spread all over the world," he said.

Several Sydney people declare Braund has saved them after doctors had pronounced them incurable.

Premier James McGirr of New South Wales, said his government had decided to set up a committee to inquire into Braund's claims.

Brownfield Man Dies From Gunshot Wound

BROWNFIELD, Jan. 29. (Special)—William Troy Griffin, 30, of Brownfield, died this morning at about 7:30 o'clock in Treadaway-Daniel hospital as a result of an accidental gunshot wound inflicted late Tuesday afternoon when he and a companion were hunting rabbits about five miles southwest of Brownfield.

Griffin and another man were hunting about 5:30 or 6 p.m. Tuesday and had chased a rabbit under a small barn, Terry County Sheriff Ocie Murray said. Both men were kneeling on the ground beside the barn preparing to shoot at the cornered rabbit. In the process of thrusting their guns under the barn to shoot, the .22 caliber rifle carried by Griffin's companion was discharged, shooting Griffin through the stomach.

Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in Brownfield First Baptist church, Rev. A. A. Brian officiating. Burial will be in Terry County Memorial cemetery, the local American Legion post handling the arrangements of the military funeral. Brownfield Funeral home is in charge of burial.

Griffin was a veteran of World War II, having served as a Seaman, 1st class, in the U. S. Navy. He had been a resident of Brownfield since 1941.

Survivors include his wife, Pauline; two sons, Paul Allen and Ronnie Lynn; two daughters, Patsy Ann and Mary Jane Griffin; his father, J. W. Change In Communist Policy Is Seen In Blow At Balkan Union

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

Moscow's disavowal of Georgi Dimitrov's plans for a Federation of the Central European captive states seems to have caught Anglo-American political intelligence agencies unprepared.

They don't know whether Dimitrov's statement was a trial balloon which aroused so much Czech and Polish resentment that Moscow did not care to buck it, whether he just went off half-cocked, or whether a dispute may have developed between the Communist party and the Kremlin.

Change In Policy Seen

Pravda, which gave notice to the reversal of Dimitrov, is the organ of the Communist party, which theoretically controls everything. But it is actually subservient to the bureaucracy despite the latter's pretentions of being merely the party's servants.

Dimitrov, dictator of Bulgaria and prime mover in the new cominform, has been credited with operating a thoroughly authentic branch office of the Kremlin. There were reports last month that he had visited the Kremlin and that he and Stalin had agreed on the federation idea. Now Pravda says Georgi doesn't know what he's talking about.

The paper's apologetic tone when it touches on the fact that it gave prominence to Dimitrov's statement last week carries a hint that something has happened to Moscow policy in between.

Tito May Be In Move

The rule of communism is complete submersion of personal ambitions to the cause, but Communists play internal politics anyway. There is just a possibility that "Little Joe" Tito may have had a hand in Mr. Dimitrov's discomfiture. Dimitrov has been gradually edging the Yugoslav dictator out of the limelight in the Balkans. Conduct of the Greek war and many other matters have been transferred from Tito's hands to those of Dimitrov's cominform. Dimitrov, not "Little Joe," has been arranging the central European military and economic treaties.

And Tito might be expected to resist a plan which would introduce another authority between him and the Kremlin.

It will be interesting to see, now, what happens to Dimitrov. This is the second time he has been in serious trouble. In 1923 his Bulgarian Communist party was bitterly criticized in Moscow for failure to take advantage of a fight between rightists and the peasants which resulted in a rightest coup. Dimitrov lived that down. Whether a second serious departure from the party line will go unpunished remains to be seen.

Grasshopper Invasion Repelled By Housewife's Counter Attack

WEST CHESTER, Ia., Jan. 29 (U.P.)—Mrs. Homer Porter was surprised to find about 150 grasshoppers in her home in mid-winter.

Investigation revealed that the insects had hatched in some flower pots that she brought into the house last fall. When attacks with a fly swatter proved unsuccessful, Mrs. Porter tried the vacuum cleaner. Finally she doused the flower pots with hot water in which cigarette stubs had been steeped.

"The water was too hot for the grasshoppers but not too hot for the plants," Mrs. Porter said.

Framework Of New Furniture May Be Nothing But Sawdust

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Jan. 29 (U.P.)—The framework of next year's furniture may be nothing but sawdust.

For years this troublesome by-product of the furniture industry has plagued the manufacturers. Disposal was an expensive and messy job. The sawdust fouled the air and cost more to burn than it yielded in heat.

Six furniture manufacturers jointly financed experiments to find some use for the mountains of sawdust that accumulated

The experiments showed that sawdust, when compressed, made a superior core stock, which forms the framework of furniture.

IT TOOK 82 YEARS

SAMUELS, Ida. (U.P.) — An 82-year-old Army snafu was resolved here when a GAR veteran, Israel A. Broadsword, finally was awarded his Civil War service medal. Broadsword reecived the medal in ceremonies on his 101st birthday.

Burglars Get Safe Plus New Cadillac

CHICAGO, Jan. 29 (U.P.) — Burglars who raided an auto sales agency here didn't bring their tools but they did all right with those at hand.

W. A. Mack, owner of the agency, said the thieves used his chain hoist to lift a 2-ton safe off its foundations.

Then they lowered it into one of his nice new Cadallac cars and drove away.

The safe contained $350 and the titles to seven cars.

Polite Fire Chief Advocates Using Open-The-Door Policy

DAVENPORT, Ia., Jan. 29 (U.P.) – Fire Chief Lester Schick has prepared a directory of persons owning Davenport business concerns for use in case of fire.

Schick says the purpose is to know whom to notify in case of night-time fires. If fire breaks out in one building, it is necessary usually to check neighboring buildings to see if there is fire inside.

Rather than break the door down, the fire chief says, the firemen would prefer to notify someone who could unlock the place.

Neighbor's Shrewd Land Deal Leaves Farmer Holding Bag

FALLS CITY, Neb., Jan. 29 (U.P.) A Richardson County farmer still is not sure whether he was on the short end of a shrewd "horse trade," even though the transaction involved an acre of land instead of a horse.

A neighbor suggested that an acre of waste land owned by the farmer be cleared and offered to do the job. After the land was cleared, the neighbor offered to buy the acre for $150. The farmer sold it.

Shortly afterward, the neighbor sent the farmer a bill for $150 for cleaning up the acre.

Stamp Collectors Rally To Aid Seven-Year-Old Invalid

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Jan. 29 (U.P.) —Richard Marshall's stamp collection is growing fast.

The seven-year-old lad was stricken with rheumatic fever. A local newspaper carried an item on his illness and said his chief hobby is his stamps.

Since then he has received more than 150 letters, each containing between 50-100 stamps from nearly 50 different countries.

STOCKS CONTINUE GAINS

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP)—Led by oils, selected rails and industrials, the stock market today negotiated another of its widest recoveries of the past month with dealings crossing the million-share level for the first time in a week.

Further buying by professionals on the idea that the recent drop to an average low since last June called for a substantial technical rebound provided most of the rising stimulus. The successful Gulf Oil financing and expanding demand for petroleum sparked stocks in this group.

Advances of 1 to 3 or more points were widely distributed at the close although a smattering of pivotals failed to shake off small declines. Transfers of 1,060,000 shares compared with 860,000 the day before.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .6 of a point at 63.7, best revival since Dec. 30. Of 1,014 issues registering, 600 rose, 196 fell and 218 were unchanged.

Bethlehem Steel finished up ⅝ at 34¾ and, after the close, directors voted a dividend of 60 cents on the 3-for-1 split stock. The old stock had received quarterly payments of $1.50 a share.

Ingersoll-Rand jumped 6 points to 130 on only 400 shares in belated response to Wednesday's splitup proposal. Dresser Industries was up 1⅛ at 24½, a new high for the past year. Steadier dividends lifted Richfield Oil 1½ at 17¼, Seaboard Oil 1 at 39⅜, Phillips-Jo 's 3¼ at 39¾, Texas Pacific Coal and Oil 1⅝ at 44 and Allied Kid ⅝ at 21⅝.

Ahead 1 to 3 or more were Skelly Oil at 108, Barnsdall Oil 36, Standard Oil (NJ) 73⅝, Texas Co., 56, Gulf Oil 61⅝, Rock Island preferred 19⅝, Santa Fe 94½, and Union Pacific 162.

Railway bonds stiffened.

Americans Traveling To Latin America In '48 May Set Record

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (U.P.)—With steamships virtually equalling pre-war service and airline traffic soaring to new highs, American travel to Latin America will break all records in 1948, according to Ralph T. Reed, president of the American Express company.

Some 70,000 Americans will spend approximately $18,000,000 in Latin America during January, traditionally a peak month for travel to Mexico, the Caribbean, and Central and South America, Reed predicts. Record snowfall in New York and an unusually severe winter elsewhere in the United States may drive the figure even higher, he believes.

"Even if the monthly average for the full year falls to $15,000,000, a 1948 total of $180,000,000 would be striking indeed," Reed said. "In 1939 U. S. travel spending in South America reached $12,000,000 surpassing all previous years, while Mexico received $42,000,000 and Cuba, principal Caribbean tourist target, $9,000,000, for a Latin American total of $63,000,000.

"By 1946, U. S. travel expenditures reached $121,000,000 in Mexico, sole Latin American nation enjoying direct highway and rail links with the United States. The Caribbean, Central and South America added only some $36,000,000 for a Latin American total of $147,000,000."

In analyzing the $18,000,000 figure for January, 1948, Reed estimated that 28,000 Americans would spend $6,500,000 in Mexico. To the rest of Latin America, steamships will carry 7,000 passengers who will spend nearly $1,000,000, and planes 35,000 persons who will spend $10,500,000, he predicted.

"The most surprising gain in Latin American travel over last year is in steamship accommodations," Reed said. "In January, 1946, only one or two cruise ships supplemented a few freighters in service. But this month the Maure-tania, carrying 750 passengers, will make two Caribbean cruises. Grace Line ships accommodating 200 passengers each will make five departures in addition to four departures of 50-passenger ships, and United Fruit vessels holding 95 persons will make 12 departures.

"Alcoa, Standard and Eastern are all back, and Moore-McCormark's Argentina, first of three 500-passenger ships returning to service early in the year, sails for Rio and Buenos Aires."

Most Perfect Landlord Tells Convention Success Formula

CLEVELAND, Jan. 29 (U.P.) — Mayer I. Blum, Philadelphia, "the world's perfect landlord," outlined his success formula to fellow Apartment House Managers of America, in convention here.

Shower your tenants with personal attention, Blum said, and use automatic devices to operate your building wherever possible.

Blum, who sends flowers to his families on wedding anniversaries, said his policy had paid off in harmonious relationships for 20 years.

Delegates were impressed when Blum told them that 511 out of 520 of his tenants signed leases immediately when the government permitted a 15 per cent rent increase.

Levelland, Seminole Cagers Win; Slaton Shades Lubbock Boys Club

Class B Teams Press Indians, Lobo Five Hard

SUNDOWN, Jan. 29 (Special)—So called basketball powers of South Plains Class A circles had to "step on it" here tonight in the final periods to win their games against Class B teams as play opened in Sundown High school's seventh annual invitational tournament.

Levelland High's Lobos, running second in the District 4-A north zone cage campaign, had to throw its offense into high gear against Spade High in the final periods to overcome a dogged Class B defense which held their sharpshooting twins, Bobby Hart and W. A. Wise, to a 7-3 tally at midway point.

Indians Pressed, Too

Levelland won it as Wise and Hart warmed up to their tasks, 47-23.

In an earlier feature game of the opening round Seminole high's Indians held a thin, 21-20, lead over Three Way at the half, but Val Joe Walker and Charles Baker began hitting the basket from every angle in the final periods to trounce the Class B entry, 47-33.

Wise led the Lobo scorers with 12 points and Hart pitched in nine while McBride of Spade was garnering nine.

For Three Way "Perch" Weed was up to his old goaling antics and led all scorers with 19. Walker was high for Seminole with 18 and Baker trailed him with 17.

Three Way moved out front, and into a 12-5 lead, with the close of the first period, and it looked like Seminole had struck a snag, but its offense got up steam to win in the late stages.

Two girls' teams failed to show for the tournament call and the Post and New Home sextets put on an exhibition game with New Home winning, 22-11. The Three Way and Smyer girls thus forfeited in this first round when they failed to appear.

Four Games Today

Two girls and two boys games are on the afternoon schedule for Friday, Morton girls meeting the Whiteface six to lead it off. Then follow on the hour through 4 p.m. games between the Sundown and Lamesa girls, the Sundown and Morton boys and the Littlefield and Smyer boys.

Friday night's play will open at 6 p. m. with four games on tap. It will be winners versus losers of the afternoon round.

Three Class A boys teams, Sundown, Levelland and Seminole continued to loom as likely to fight it out for the tourney title. In the girls division Whiteface and New Home appear the teams to watch.

Shallowater Basket Meet Opens Tonight

SHALLOWATER, Jan. 30 (Special)—The eight-team cage tourney for independent quintets, postponed because of the fuel shortage and severe weather, will open tonight in the Shallowater High school gym, with two games on the card.

Two Lubbock court fives will pry the lid off the tourney, Lindsey Real Estaters meeting the Hoyt Furniture team at 7:30 p. m. This game will be followed at 8:30 by the Abernathy-Shallowater clash.

Saturday night two other first round games will be played, with Leftwich Lumberjacks of Lubbock meeting the Anton Independents at 7:30 p. m. and Ropesville colliding with Whitharral at 8:30 p. m.

Semi-final round games will open Monday night play at 7:30 and, after a rest pause, the two winning teams will meet for the championship.

Dave Douglas Shoots Sub-Par Golf To Lead In Tucson Play

TUCSON, Ariz., Jan. 29. (AP) — Lanky Dave Douglas, Wilmington, Del., found the cold desert weather to his liking today and spanked out a seven-under-par 63 to set the pace in the first round of the $10,000 Tucson Open Golf tournament.

Most of the field of 154 found the below-freezing temperatures that were registered throughout most of the morning a tough obstacle to overcome, but their golf improved after they made the turn and the sun's rays became stronger.

Louise Suggs, Dorothy Kirby Advance Into Semi-Finals

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 29. (AP)—Curtis Cup team members Louise Suggs and Dorothy Kirby, both of Atlanta, Ga., advanced to the semi-finals of the Helen Lee Doherty Challenger Cup golf tournament today.

"Flu" Downs "Fighting Pastor"

Illness, Injury Slow Golden Gloves Stars

Illness and injury Thursday threatened to keep both Tahoka's open division fighters from entering the regional Golden Gloves tournament opening in the Tech gym here Monday night.

Rev. Randall Hinkle, Tahoka's "Punching Pastor," was reported ill in Plainview where he had gone to enter Wayland college, and to workout with Plainview Golden Glovers. He told Coach Jim Foust of Tahoka High school that he had an attack of the "flu," was putting himself to bed, and while hoping to be able to enter the tourney, didn't know if he could make it.

Meantime Dwayne Vaughn, the welterweight champ here in 1946, was going easy because of a cut over his right eye which was sustained in a Monday workout. He, too, hoped to be ready to report Monday.

The Tahoka pastor, just 17, and a youth who has shown much promise as a fighter for several years, will enter the middleweight division, if he is able to fight.

As winter relinquished its grip over the South Plains Thursday young fighters picked up where they left off Tuesday, and put in another rather full day, getting themselves in the pink of condition for the opening of what may prove to be Lubbock's snappiest, scrappiest Gloves tournament.

The actual list of entries boiled down to approximately 60 full-fledged fighters. Practical jokers were behind some of the entries, and an additional few withdrew. One dropped out because "my mother just doesn't want me to fight."

Several youths, in training for the novice division although out of high school, got a jolt Thursday when they learned they would have to enter the open division, or not at all. Richard Watson, the Cooper fighter, down to battle trim at 175, and previously planning to enter as a novice, immediately reentered the open light heavyweight division.

Although working out with, and around, J. D. Kirkpatrick, the "Killer" from Petersburg, Watson, without blinking an eye, said:

"I'd like to hook up with J. D." Kirkpatrick and Gene James, the heavyweight, worked out briskly Thursday morning, and both Bert Kahn and O. C. Foster said they were in excellent condition.

"J. D. is in better shape than I've ever seen him in," said his brother, Kenneth, from Petersburg.

Likewise the trainers also said Bill Henderson and Lonnie Balch were in fine shape.

Ralph White and Charles Neff also put their fighters, as well as themselves, through the paces at Allen's arena.

"Ralph White is a good fighter," said Coach Bob Foote of the Petersburg High school. "He was a good fighter while with the Petersburg team, and he also did some good fighting in the service."

Petersburg is to be well represented again in the regional tourney with Kirkpatrick, White, Neff, Clarence Byrd, Hollis Black, Ivan Gordon and Berlyn Amonett all entered and awaiting the gong.

POST WINS AT O'DONNELL

SUDAN, Jan. 29. (Special) — Amherst cagers scored mild upset victories over Springlake teams here tonight in the Sudan Invitational basketball tourney, the boys' five winning, 39-25, while the girls' sextet gained a 29-17 decision.

A full slate for Friday includes a Sudan B-Whitharrell boys tussle at 10 a.m., a Littlefield-Witharrell tilt at 11 o'clock, and a Spade-Bula girls' clash at 1 p.m. Friday night Sudan's powerful cage squad will battle Muleshoe at 7:30.

POST FIVES COP FIRST GAMES AT O'DONNELL

O'DONNELL, Jan. 29. (Special) —Post High school quints opened the first round of the Invitational cage tourney here tonight with two victories, the "A" five drubbing Crosbyton, 31-22, while the "B" team defeated O'Donnell's "B" squad, 28-16. Malouf chalked up 18 points for the Post quint in the "A" tussle.

Second round clashes slated Friday night send O'Donnell against Seagraves in the opening battle, then the O'Donnell B five will tangle with Denver City.

NETTLES BAGS 32 POINTS AS LORENZO FIVE WINS

ROOSEVELT, Jan. 29. (Special) —Lorenzo High's speedy cagers, paced by Bob Nettles' 32 point individual tally, defeated Roosevelt's quint 48-40 in a District 7-B clash here tonight. The loss eliminated the Roosevelt five from the race for the loop championship.

In the second tilt of the program the Roosevelt girls, led by Bertha Jones' 22 point scoring splurge, drubbed the Lorenzo girls 44-20. Flowers chalked up 11 points for the visitors.

Tigers Triumph, 29-27, In Cooper Basket Feature

COOPER, Jan. 29 (Special) — Center Gene Moore drove in for a layup tonight to give the Slaton High school cagers a thrilling 29-27 victory over the Lubbock Boys club quintet, the winning talley coming in the final minute of play.

Seconds later Moore fouled out of the game, but his final goal stood up and his 21 points not only were the highest of the game, but also of the night's play. The rangy pivot man sparked the Slaton five to victory, after the Boys club team had taken an apparently untouchable 16-5 lead at the first quarter.

Central Juniors Win

Other tournament winners in the first round included Frenship over Wilson, 27-2; Ropesville over Cooper, 54-24; and Lubbock Central Junior High school over Southland by forfeit, all in the boy's bracket.

In the girl's division, Cooper beat Wilson, 21-8; Ropesville turned back Slaton, 28-21; Idalou licked Meadow, 21-11; and Frenship won from Southland by forfeit.

The Slaton-Boys club battle captured all honors tonight, with the crowd cheering the stirring comeback of the winners. The Boys club jumped into an early lead and held a 16-11 margin at the half, even though Slaton held them scoreless in the second period.

The Tiger quintet continued to rally after the intermission, holding Lubbock to five points, while scoring seven themselves to make the count 21-16. Then, with the lead erased and the score tied, Moore drove in for his game-winning shot.

In other games, the Frenship quintet had little trouble in holding off a Wilson High school team, although Coleman of the losers was top scorer with 10 points. Randolph had nine tallies for the winners, but received good support from the rest of the team.

Forward Reynolds almost singlehandedly licked the host Cooper team, scoring 21 of the 54 points his Ropesville team rung up, while Marvin Kitten's seven points paced Cooper. Ropesville never was in danger and had the game under control throughout.

Ropesville Girls Win

The Ropesville girls joined the boys in advancing to the second round by nosing out Slaton, 28-21, in the closest girl's game of the day. Forwards Ater and Thetford led the winners with 10 points each, one less than Sogoll had for Slaton.

Idalou girls had little trouble in beating Meadow, 21-11, Forward Bonnie Lawson scoring enough points—12—to beat the losers all alone. Keesee led the Meadow girls with seven counters.

The host Cooper girls also advanced another notch by swamping the Wilson cagers, 21-8, with Wynelle Baldwin racking up nine points for the winners. Forward Hewlett led the losers with six tallies.

Semi-final round games will be played Saturday morning, with final games scheduled for Saturday evening. In the meantime, a full slate of seven games, both championship and consolidation, are on the card for Friday.

The tournament will open Friday afternoon at 12:30 with Meadow girls playing Slaton in a consolation match. It will be followed at 1:30 by the Ropesville-Idalou girls' championship game and the final afternoon tilt will be played at 2:30 between Southland and Wilson in a consolation match.

Friday night at 7, Cooper will meet Southland in a consolation round game, while two favored quintets, Anton and Roosevelt, will clash at 8 p. m. in a first-rounder. The final night game will occur at 9 p. m., when Ropesville plays Central Junior High school.

This will come as bad news to several young Golden Gloves fighters we know. . . .

You boys who're out of high school can't fight as novices. . . .

So if you've graduated from high school, or you are not regularly enrolled as a high school student, well, you'll have to enter the open division.

Morley Jennings, the tournament chief-of-staff, explained it this way: To permit those out of high school to enter as novices would necessitate three divisions since it wouldn't be right to send 16 and 17-year-old school boys against older fighters. . . . That would call for two novice divisions and the open. . . . And here we have only the two with the novice limited strictly to high schoolers and the open to all comers. . . .

A practical joker has struck in our midst. . . .

The culprit reddened several faces. . . .

He took advantage of a situation, as they usually do. . . .

This particular practical joker "entered" Sammy Tate in the Golden Gloves tournament. . . .

Sammy didn't know anything about being entered—until he read it in the paper. . . .

Sorry, Sammy. . . . The buildup you got was sincere. . . .

Where you find fighters training, and fighting, you usually find one of the Fighting Kirkpatricks. . . . Only Thursday we met the little brother to J. D. and Howard. . . . His name is Kenneth. . . . Kenny, everyone calls him. . . . Now at 15, and weighing 118, he has plenty of poise as a fighter. . . . He has engaged in 69 bouts. . . . Has been fighting since he was nine. . . . And he has a bop . . . bop . . . . bopping left and a terrific right. . . .

With him came Bob Foote, the Petersburg High school coach. . . . He, too, loves the fight game. . . . And they were surprised to find Berlyn Amonett, another Petersburg boy, in training at Bert Kahn's Health club. . . . Amonett is a nephew to Red Amonett, the ex-Texas Tech gridster, now coach of the Matador Matadors. . . .

And the three rounds Amonett, who weighs 144, and Kelley Fregia, the lightheavy, went through there at Kahn's fighter training base, was really something to see. . . . The boys were covered up and greased for protection, but they showed good form, never-the-less. . . .

Ralls, Sudan In Crucial Class A Games Tonight

Basketball leaders of the South Plains Class A realm appeared to be in no danger of losing their footing during the Friday night sharpshooting.

Few of them were to see conference action. The Ralls High school Jackrabbits, tied at the top of the District 3-A heap with the Floydada Whirlwinds in a five won-one-lost deadlock, travel, weather permitting, to Paducah for a floor engagement there with the Dragons who have won only one game while losing five.

Sudan Plays Muleshoe

Floydada is idle. Crosbyton goes to Spur and Matador will play in Lockney to complete the district schedule for the night.

In District 4-A only Sudan among the leaders plays a conference game and that is with Muleshoe as a feature of the Sudan tournament.

Levelland, the number two team in the District 4-A north zone, will be playing basketball Friday night, but it will not count in conference standings. The Lobos are entered in Sundown's annual cage tourney.

Sundown, tied with the Tohoka High Bulldogs in the District's South zone, is host at the Sundown tournament.

Tahoka has an open date.

Has Open Dates

Abernathy has open dates and O'Donnell is playing in its own tourney.

District 3-A teams were set to open the second round of the district's double round robin, but Father Winter stepped in to stop them. All games were postponed.

I. T. Graves, district chairman, announced the Floydada-Paducah game, scheduled for Tuesday night, would be played Feb. 4. All other games were reset.

Third Place In District 1-AA's Cage Race At Stake As Two Teams Meet

By EARL SCUDDAY
Avalanche Sports Writer

Plainview's rangy Bulldog cagers, pre-season favorites to win the District 1-AA basketball title, invade Senior High gym at 8 o'clock tonight to battle the Lubbock Westerners in a tilt that will give the victorious quint an undisputed hold on the third-place position in the loop race.

The Bulldogs, like the Westerners, have won two and lost two games in conference play and need a win tonight to protect their slender chance of completing the season in the lead slot. The five that emerges from the tussle on the losing end of the score will join the ranks of the "also-rans," with only the meagre consolation of knocking off one of the leaders the only goal to shoot at.

Henry Hurts Ankle

Coach Harvey Dunn's Westerners returned to a cold Senior High gymnasium Thursday afternoon for a final practice session, but hopes for a Lubbock victory took a sharp drop when Billy Max Henry, an alternate starter, received an ankle injury. Ace Forward Jack Alderson, who missed the Brownfield Cub clash last week because of illness, was back in uniform but was obviously "rusty" from lack of practice.

Coach Dunn announced last night that Richard Herchenroeder and Charles Galey will probably get a starting assignment at the guard slots, with Jack Alderson and Virgil Johnson at forwards and Bob Schmidt at center. Schmidt, letterman and alternate starter in 1947, will be making his first appearance in the starting lineup this season.

Coach W. C. O. Harris reportedly will nominate his regular five for starting berths, with Bill Howton and Bob Coe at forwards, Walker Bateman at center and Bob Bogle and Jim Roberts at guard positions. The Bulldog offense is built around the sharpshooting of Howton, all-district selection in '47, but Bogle has been a constant scoring threat. George McVickers, ace shotmaker of the Bulldog quint, has been out of action several weeks with a foot injury and probably will not play tonight.

Reserved seat tickets for tonight's tussle will be on sale at the athletic office of Senior High school today, E. J. (Pinkey) Lowrey has announced, and general admission ducats will be available at the gym at 6:30 o'clock tonight.

"B" Teams Meet

As an added attraction for area cage fans the "B" quints of both schools will tangle in a full-length game at 6:45 o'clock. The Bulldog "B" squad boasts a speedy offensive machine that has chalked up wins over some Class A teams of the South Plains, and the visitors will be favored over the less-experienced Lubbock five.

One of the most important District 1-AA battles will be unreeled at Pampa tonight when the Golden Sandies of Amarillo and the Pampa Harvesters, both undefeated in conference play, battle for the top position in the district race.

Four Teams Advance To Semi-Final Play

FLOYDADA, Jan. 29 (Special) — Four South Plains quints — Floydada, Petersburg, Idalou and Matador—entered the semifinal round of the Floydada Independent basketball tourney with wins over quarterfinal foes here tonight.

The Floydada Jaycees, paced by Don Finley, edged Kress 39-31, then Petersburg nosed out Flomot, 39-37. Dub Scarbrough chalked up 18 points for the Petersburg five.

Idalou trounced Tulia, 64-25, as Bob Galey hit the basket for 28 points and Matador gained the other playoff spot with a 2-0 forfeit win over Paducah.

Special Scales To Be Used To Weigh Tourney Entries

Special scales have been obtained on which to weigh-in prospective Golden Glove entries, when the young fighters report to the Texas Tech gym Monday afternoon at 1.

George Miller, distributor for the Toledo Scales company, offered a model used by professional gymnasiums and athletic headquarters to Golden Gloves officials and his offer was accepted immediately. Along with the scales, the company will supply an engineer and he will check the scales after each fighter has weighed.

The scales will be taken to the Tech gym Monday morning and will be used all afternoon. Fighters are supposed to report at 1 p. m. for physical examination and weighing and the process is expected to continue all afternoon. Final entries will be accepted until 5 p. m.

Navy Oil Tankers Rush Toward Ports To Move Fuel Cargoes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP) — Navy oil tankers were speeding today from far-flung shipping lanes toward U. S. ports to pick up cargoes of fuel oil for rapid transport to shortage areas.

U. S. Maritime officials reported to the House Commerce committee that the tankers are being assembled at Balboa, Panama Canal zone. From there they will be dispatched to strategic points to pick up oil for transport along the Atlantic seaboard, particularly the New York area and New England. About 40 tankers have been made available for this emergency service.

But the maritime officials said that even after they have returned all war-requisitioned tankers to private ownership there will still be an oil shortage in the United States.

Probe To Be Made

Chairman Wolverton (R-NJ) declared American oil companies showed "little interest" in buying surplus tankers from the Maritime commission last summer. He declared the Petrol corporation of Philadelphia, "whose customers are now in such jeopardy over short supply" bought a surplus tanker but turned it over to a foreign government under a three-year lease.

Wolverton said his committee will investigate further how many other companies bought tankers and then sold them abroad or used them in foreign instead of domestic trade. He declared the group will also consider "how far a profit motive entered into sales or leases."

Many congressmen have asserted that the government and the petroleum industry did not take action soon enough to meet the shortage situation now prevalent in all sections east of the Rockies.

The total world production of coal and oil combined is more than two billion tons a year.

Release Of Butane Gas Is Announced

AUSTIN, Jan. 29, (AP)—Release of three million gallons of butane gas from refiners and industrial users for domestic consumption was announced here today by Gov. Beauford H. Jester.

At the same time, Jester named an emergency fuel commission to see to it the gas is "distributed to the place of greatest need."

Jester made the announcement in a statement detailing what the state government has been doing to meet the critical shortage of butane and propane, aggravated by the current cold wave.

Named on the emergency fuel commission were railroad Commissioner William J. Murray, credited by Jester with having obtained release of the three million gallons; John H. Winters, state director of public welfare; Col. Homer Garrison, jr., director of public safety; Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer. Jester said they would work with representatives of the attorney general.

The governor emphasized that the gas being diverted was not from "surplus supplies." He said there is no surplus, and that the "diversions must be made at the sacrifice of industrial uses, and in many instances of fuel oil and gasoline used for motor fuel."

Commission headquarters was set up in the governor's office. He said it has already handled three requests for fuel, two from Tyler and one from Mt. Pleasant.

Murray said that the diverted butane would go to dealers only for distribution in their territories, and that it would be sold at what it cost to obtain it from the manufacturers.

A big problem is transportation to farms, Murray said. The greatest need appears to be in East Texas.

The commission is working out a system to determine who really needs the gas, Murray said.

Weather Bureau Has Tough Job Forecasting From Code

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29—Yes, indeed, this has been a most unusual winter.

A town in Louisiana was ice-locked. California suffered from the worst drought in 50 years and Florida had to haul out the smudge pots to warm up the lemon trees. In Alaska, the army wanted to try out some new cold weather equipment but a heat wave butted in. Thirty-eight above. New York became one big Igloo when 25 inches of snow gave the city the whitest Christmas week in man's memory.

It doesn't make sense and what's the answer? Is it the 20-year cycle? Sun spots? Is it the misery or something or other kicked up by the atom bomb? Who knows?

Forecasting Valued Highly

The Weather bureau? Or is it mixed up too? So I've spent a lot of time bothering the head weatherman to find out how they work and what they think about it all.

The Weather bureau—the big, National one—is housed in a cluster of buildings out near the Georgetown section of Washington. That's where the brain work is done. The bureau has $20,000,000 a year to spend on forecasting whether we'll have pea-planting or overshoe weather here and there tomorrow and next week.

The weather man is hated and loved by turns, according to how accurate he is. Such a man is Ivan R. Tannehill, in charge of reports and forecasts.

Most Employes Volunteers

He and his colleagues receive forecasts and rain and snow measurements from all over the country every day on a vast network of teletypes going clickety-clack on a couple of floors of one of the buildings. They sew all these together into a daily weather map—the forecast. Sometimes they hit. Sometimes, like when the wind changes, they miss.

Only 4,000 of the 11,000 weather bureau employes get pay-checks. The other 7,000 are volunteers, or people who are civic minded. The bureau sets them up in their hobby by providing them with instruments, like rain gauges and thermometers which stick on the upgrade to record the high temperature and clog down low to give the minimum during the past 24 hours. The government provides a shelter for the instruments too.

In the big league there are 400 major stations of "first order stations," as they are called. They make complete observations with complicated instruments like radiosondes (instruments tied to balloons which go up and radio back atmospheric conditions). These professionals are members of the bureau's first team. They send their stuff in every few hours, coded. The doggondest code you ever saw.

At the last international weather conference delegates from around the world argued for three weeks about it being too complicated. They revised it. Now it's so complicated that even some of the experts can't de-cipher it without help from the code book.

That sir, is science. But Tannehill, a pleasant little gray-haired man who rolls his own cigarettes, says that we oughtn't to make fun of granddad and his bunion forecasts. When rain is coming, he said, the air gets moist and shoes get tight.

G. M. Roberts Of Lamesa Is Stricken With Heart Attack

LAMESA, Jan. 29 (Special) — City Manager G. M. Roberts, stricken with a severe heart attack about 10 o'clock Tuesday night, was described as "resting better" by relatives tonight.

He was taken to a local hospital Wednesday afternoon and has been under the care of a physician since that time.

A long-time resident of Lamesa, Roberts became city manager about nine months ago, succeeding Gordon Hill. He served as city secretary for about a year prior to his appointment as city manager, and had been principal of the elementary schools here for over 20 years before resigning that position in 1945.

Although Roberts is 53 years old, relatives said that he had never been seriously ill before.

Returns On Lamesa Election Reported

LAMESA, Jan. 29 (Special) — Complete unofficial returns on the special school consolidation election held here and in eight rural school districts Wednesday were reported tonight by County Superintendent P. K. Humes, with the final count standing at 600 for and 76 against the proposal.

Lamesa voted 442 for and 11 against the plan which would qualify the Lamesa district for an additional $100,000 in state rural school aid funds.

Other totals released by Humes were: Bartlett, 6 for, none against; Hancock, 23 for, none against; McCarty, 27 for, 2 against; Mount Olive, 17 for, 21 against; Woody, 16 for, 11 against; Liberty, 35 for, 13 against; Mullins, 32 for, 14 against; and Key, 18 for, 4 against.

Only a simple majority of the total vote cast was necessary to pass the consolidation measure.

Some scientists believe that the first born in a family tends to be the most intelligent with the level of intelligence falling as the family grows.

Party Control By South Seen

JACKSON, Miss., Jan. 29. (AP) — Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) predicted today that if southern Democrats withhold from the Democratic party their electoral votes, "a southern man will emerge as President of the United States."

He told the Mississippi legislature it would work out this way:

The South, with 127 electoral votes, could throw them to a "distinguished Southerner." That would deprive the other parties of enough votes to "throw the election int othe House of Representatives."

Provision Cited

The United States constitution provides the top three candidates shall be considered by the House.

Republicans of the South, he said, would take a southern Democrat before they would take a northern Republican.

In the election in the House, each state would have but one vote and, he predicted "a Southern man would emerge as President of the United States."

Eastland spoke at the invitation of the legislature after it had endorsed the inaugural address of Gov. Fielding L. Wright. Wright called on southern Democrats to take action to force party leaders to stop sponsoring "anti-Southern legislation" and give Southerners a voice in shaping party policy.

Grain Curbs

now appear available for export, taking into consideration "essential" domestic needs and the 150,000,000 bushel carryover required by law;

The feed situation in this country is "so acute that a saving of corn will be in effect the equivalent of a saving of wheat;"

So—

"Definite steps to conserve grain and reduce all non-essential uses of grain the United States were, and are, required in the national interest."

Demos Divided

and Rep. Michener (R-Mich) said that the same rules were used when Democrats were in power.

The showdown vote is due Monday. Speaker Martin (R-Mass) has predicted the measure will pass the House with unanimous Republican suport. It then will go to the Senate, where Republicans may revise it downward in an effort to pick up enough Democratic support for two-thirds votes needed in both Houses to override the veto.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) chairman of the Senate Republican policy committee, said the Senate probably will not vote on the tax cutting bill until the European recovery program is out of the way.

Amount For Aid Needed

He told a news conference:

"I have always felt that if we want to pass a tax bill, particularly over the President's veto, that we should know first what expenditures are involved in the Marshall plan."

The senator hopes to begin debate on the Marshall plan March 1.

Midway in his opening speech, Knutson asked Chairman Taber (R-NY) of the House Appropriations committee how much the President's budget for next year can be cut. Taber estimated "at least $4,590,000,000."

Minority Leader Rayburn (D-Tex.) strode quickly to the center aisle and asked Taber whether "that $4,590,000,000 is as awry as your $6,000,000,000 cut was last year."

GOP Bill Called "Dishonest"

Taber shot back:

"That $6,000,000,000 figure would have been possible if Congress had stood up and made the cuts it should have made."

Rep. Dingell (D-Mich) stood up for the President's tax proposal He called the Republican bill "dishonest," and declared that Mr. Truman's proposal "gives an honest tax cut of the same dollar amount to all taxpayers."

The GOP bill would:

1. Increase individual exemptions by $100, from $500 to $600;
2. Apply to all states the community property principle under which husbands and wives may split the family income equally for tax reporting purposes, holding the income at lower tax rates;
3. In addition, grant percentage cuts ranging from 30 per cent in the lowest income area to 10 per cent in the upper brackets, and
4. Provide special exemptions for elderly persons and the blind.

Atom Bomb

possible personnel damage throughout the rest of the city.

"Let it be assumed that the bomb is detonated at an altitude of one-half mile and that ground zero (the point directly underneath) is taken as the Potomoc river midway between the Highway and Memorial bridges.

"Within a radius of less than one mile from this point are the Pentagon, the Navy and munitions buildings, the Treasury and the new State department building. Included also are the headquarters of the Atomic Energy commission, the Department of the Interior, and the Department of Agriculture.

"All these could be expected to undergo almost complete destruction and the loss of life would probably be above ninety per cent. Both the vital Highway and Memorial bridges would be destroyed.

"Most of the other government buildings along the Mall as well as those surrounding the White House are within one-and-one-half miles of ground zero and would all suffer heavy damage.

"Even the capitol, some two miles from ground zero would not escape; its huge, structurally weak dome would collapse.

"As a result of the detonation many congressmen, high government officials and key military officers would be killed.

"Only a few of the 20,000 workers in the Pentagon building would be alive after the first day, for the combined effect of the blast wave and radiation upon the building would be a knock-out blow."

Eccles' Demotion

control would be needed if rationing is to be effective.

Eisenhower—Mr. Truman smilingly discussed the announcement of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower that the general could not accept a presidential nomination. The general, he said, controls his own destiny and if he thought that was the best thing to do, then the President was for it.

Other politics—Mr. Truman said anybody who wants to get a headline can get it by attacking the President. This was in response to a speech by Gov. James E. Folsom of Alabama criticizing him and declaring for the Democratic nomination.

Big Three—He said that if there is to be another meeting of the big three—Britain's Attlee, Russia's Stalin and himself—it ought to be in Washington. He had no comment as to the need of one.

News Briefs

Jack Shaw of 1012 Dixie Drive told police last night a top coat and sun glasses of total value of $68 had been stolen from his car while it was parked in 1400-block Ave. J.

Firemen made two runs Thursday afternoon. At 12:50 p. m. they went to a residence in Avinger addition where fire resulting from explosion of a kerosene stove had been extinguished. A garage apartment at 2309 Thirty-fourth was ablaze at 3:30 p. m. after efforts had been made to thaw water pipes. Firemen extinguished the blaze without heavy damage.

A fine of $100 and court costs was levied against James Edward Jett, about 38, of Lubbock, county court records showed Thursday afternoon. Curlee Tealer, 36, a negro, was assessed a fine of $50 and court costs and six months revokation of his driver's license after he pleaded guilty of drunk driving, a judgment of Judge Walter Davies showed.

Rabbi Julius Kerman of Congregation Shaareth Israel will represent Lubbock at the first annual Texas state conference of the Southwest Zionist region at San Antonio today. The conference will continue through Feb. 1.

Poll Tax Exemptions

of 10,000 inhabitants or more, shall, before the first day of February of the year when such voter shall have become entitled to such exemption, obtain from the tax collector of the county of his or her residence, a certificate showing his or her exemption from the payment of a poll tax."

As a result of the Eastland court decision, Lubbock, the only town of 10,000 or more inhabitants in Lubbock county, now faces "within virtually the last 48 hours of the period allotted" what Johnston termed the "monumental task of attempting to renew all permanent exemptions held by persons living within the limits of Lubbock."

Use Of Mail Urged

He said he could think of only one way to handle the problem—have persons holding permanent exemptions write to him, giving their name, address, age, and period of time they have lived in the state, county and city, as well as the number of their voting precinct. Such letters must be postmarked not later than Jan. 31.

On a basis of such information, he said, permanent exemptions can be renewed and mailed to such persons after Feb. 1.

Price letter pointed out that attorney general opinions Nos. 0-7234 and 0-7234-A, under a previous administration, held that the provisions of house bill No. 344 were unconstitutional and that it was only necessary for a person over 60 years of age living in a city of 10,000 or more population to secure a permanent exemption certificate in order to participate in the elections of this state. These former opinions have been overruled by the Eastland court in the case of George T. Thomas and others against Ted Groebl and others, which held that new exemption certificates must be obtained each year, Price wrote.

Only Safe Procedure

He added:

"The case may be appealed further, but after having reexamined the opinions of the previous administration and the court's opinion, we advise that the only safe procedure is for new exemptions to be obtained by those who have not received exemption certificates during the present poll tax year.

"This, of course, applies only to exempt voters residing within a city of 10,000 or more inhabitants. For their benefit, it is suggested that you give this immediate publicity, and we will do likewise."

Johnston, already covered with details of issuing poll tax receipts and exemption certificates and in automobile registrations and state and county ad valorem tax payments, opened the letter Thursday afternoon.

Immediately, he ordered 2,000 additional exemption certificate forms from Fort Worth. These, he said, should arrive here today—only one day before the Saturday midnight deadline for issuing the certificates.

"This change in the legal complexion of permanent exemptions will set back seriously the work of this office," Johnston said, "but every effort will be made to absorb the added load."

Segregation Laws

fied that even if a school were established providing absolute equality, he would not enter it because it was a separate school."

Asks Reversal Of Decision"

An attentive audience of more than 100 persons, mostly negroes, crowded into the small courtroom to hear the arguments.

Daniel said every decision of the Supreme Court and a majority of those of the federal and state courts have upheld the constitutionality of separate schools if provision is made for substantially equal training.

Marshall attacked the state's "separate but equal" argument with the declaration, "there is no such thing as separate but equal anywhere in the United States."

"Unless the state can show that equality existed on the day Sweatt applied for admittance (to the university law school) we think we are entitled to a reversal of the lower court's decision."

Cold Wave Ends

"There still isn't enough to let it blow away through the window."

The rising temperature trend will continue through Sunday, according to present indications, weathermen said at midnight. Reports from Chicago indicated a cold wave might reach the midwestern states about Saturday, but it was considered extremely unlikely that it would affect the South Plains.

Moisture Beneficial

One disturbing element in the weather picture was noted—in the form of a cold-air disturbance in the Aleutians, which might conceivably reach this far eventually.

The precipitation at midnight, following light, scattered snowstorms Thursday afternoon, still was measured at .14 inch for the year. The farmers had received other moisture benefits not measureable, however, weather observers pointed out.

Heaviest snowfall of the day Thursday was recorded about 3:15 p. m. when clouds dumped flakes over the city and area for about half an hour.

On many occasions during the past week, they explained, "traces" of moisture, not measurable at the end of each six-hour period, were recorded. These traces contributed a slight amount of moisture to the soil, even though scarcely more than a fog in some cases.

New Low At Lamesa

In spite of the extended, scattered snowfall, precipitation remained far below normal. The .14 inch received so far in January compares unfavorably with the "normal" January precipitation of .49 inch.

That dulled farmers' prospects for a good wheat crop. But from the farmer's viewpoint, the cold wave and snow did more good than harm.

At Lamesa, announcement was made that the public schools will re-open today as will most schools elsewhere on the South Plains. Most Lamesa business houses, except heavy industrial users, resumed normal operations during the day after the crisis subsided.

The thermometer hit a new low of one degree below zero Thursday morning at Lamesa, and light snow flurries fell during the day, but the mercury made a steady climb toward warmer weather, observers reported.

No fatal accidents were reported in the Lamesa area despite ice-coated roads and highways.

South Plains highways still had light ice-coating in patches, but the greater portion had melted considerably by sunset Thursday.

"I was mighty lucky to get out of there alive," he said.

Move Against Black Market

Schuman's action in suspending the large-denomination bills just after midnight was explained by the government as a move against black market operators and hoarders. His opponents said it was a political move to win the support of Socialists for his bill establishing a free gold market in France.

At stake was about 330,000,000,000 francs, or 37 per cent of the French bank note circulation, worth $1,542,000,000 at the new official rate of 214 francs to the dollar.

The action caused a furore of criticism through the country, caught foreigners and travelers short of funds, embarrassed employers who must meet payrolls Saturday, and caused wide variations in the trade in dollars.

The government estimated that half the 5,000-franc notes were held by black market operators and hoarders.

Opponents argued that black market money dealers would find means of escaping the penalties of dealing in the old money.

Black market dealers already were offering 3,500 francs for the old 5,000 franc notes. The illegal price for dollars jumped to 400 francs—payable in the 5,000-franc notes. The dollar tumbled from 330 francs to 260 in deals in 1,000-franc notes, however.

will go higher and suggested steps to meet the situation:

1. Set up a point rationing system, with price control on meat, food fats and oils, butter, canned fish and cheese.
2. Clamp price controls on poultry, milk and resh fish.

Such a program would cost $32,250,000 a year, he estimated.

Man Jailed, Car Impounded, Bonded Liquor Seized Here

A 20-year-old man was jailed, his expensive 1946 model heavy coupe impounded and a store of bonded and other whisky seized after he was arrested on a liquor violation charge in 400-block Ave. H at 9:30 o'clock Thursday night.

The arrest was made by members of the liquor control board and city police, who found 17 four-fifths quart bottles and nine pints of whisky in the automobile. All the bottles were neatly packaged in brown paper.

Commission To Consider Offers

company officials will be "invited" to appear before the official group.

Members of the commission expressed the opinion that the company's failure to expand its distribution system since the war ended has been due not so much to inability to obtain pipe as to unwillingness to pay the prices required for such materials.

Terms Of Office Set

The civil service commission was authorized in a legislative measure approved for adoption in Lubbock at a city election last Dec. 2. Under that measure, civil service is made applicable only to the police and fire departments. The commission, however, is considering the extension of the same protection to all city employes except department heads and common labor. A final decision as to whether this will be done will follow a conference with the new civil service commissioners.

Under the action taken Thursday, Morris was named to a one-year term, Sanford to two years and McCleskey to three years. All terms after those expire will be for three years, with one ending each year. The new board will supervise the operation of regulations governing the employment of city employes under their jurisdiction and the conditions under which they may be suspended or discharged.

Tax Rate Discussed

The discussion of 1948 finances came up when Homer A. Hunter, whose retirement as city manager becomes effective Feb. 29, asked what tax rate he should consider in estimating expected revenues for the year.

Mayor Bestwick suggested that budgeted expenditures should not be larger than the revenue produced by a tax rate of $1. But he was quick to add that this does not anticipate the rate can be held to a dollar.

With such a budget as the one suggested, he explained, an additional 25 cents would be needed as a protection against emergencies. Present thinking of the commission clearly was that a $1.25 rate is the minimum to be hoped for. But the opinion also prevailed that, unless the unforeseen occurs, $1.25 should be adequate.

Bonus Is Studied

The commission likewise discussed at length possible methods of dispensing with the cost-of-living bonus which has been paid to city employes the last several years. The bonus, based on a formula supplied by the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, now amounts to $78.50 a month, but it may very from month to month. Exactly the same amount is paid to all regular employes, regardless of base salary.

Members of the commission emphasized they do not contemplate reductions in the take-home pay of city workers. The idea on which they are working is to eliminate the bonus and to increase base salaries enough to compensate, approximately for that loss.

Charter Amendments Discussed

The charter amendments discussed without action propose:

1. The setting up of a retirement plan for city employes; under the tentative proposal, the city employe would pay 4 per cent of his salary into the fund, matched by a similar contribution from the city; the employe would be eligible for retirement at 60 or 65 years of age, probably at half pay, after 25 years of employment.
2. The repeal of the present requirement that an appointee as city manager must have been a resident of Texas at least a year.
3. Provisions for the delegation to the city manager of broad administrative powers which now must be exercised by the city commission or its members.
4. Authority for the city commission to extend the city limits to include areas even when the residents and property owners there in oppose annexation.
5. Creation of a city utilities board to supervise the operation of municipal utilities.
6. Authority to the commission to fill vacancies in its membership when they occur 90 days or less in advance of a regular city election. The present charter requires a special election.
7. Legislation to relieve the mayor of the necessity of signing all city payroll checks. He now has to sign an average of more than 400 such checks twice a month.
8. Detailed provisions as to the procedure required in filing personal injury or property damage claims against the city.

negroes at the state capitol in Oklahoma City.

Williamson also said that the regents for higher education have broad powers, "as evidenced by their prompt establishment of a state school of law as a function of Langston university; and the governor has the constitutional authority (should he so decide) to summon a special session of the state legislature, if same should be found to be expedient, or necessary.

Others Seek To Enroll

Six negroes applied to the University of Oklahoma yesterday for graduate work in four departments.

Meanwhile, white students at the University of Oklahoma, some dressed as mourners, solemnly cremated a copy of the 14th amendment to the federal Constitution today in protest against the state's ban on negro students at the institution.

Then they mailed the ashes to President Truman.

An estimated 1,000 students watched in freezing weather and snow the campus demonstration. The university's enrollment is approximately 12,000 as the second semester opened today.

Dr. George L. Cross, president of the university, had no comment.

Old Town Meetings Are Being Revived In U. S. Cities By Social Relations Group

By DOROTHY WILLIAMS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29—The old town meeting is back with a new look and a new purpose.

It has caught on from Pittsfield, Mass., to Los Angeles; from Syracuse, N. Y., to Birmingham.

In small towns and large, increasing thousands of men and women are getting together in organized groups to talk out their problems.

The sponsors—the non-partisan, non-political National Institute of Social Relations, Inc.—hope the meetings will pay dividends in a healthier democracy. They contend that most individuals reduce their worries through intelligent discussions of common problems.

The group debate everything from atomic energy to freedom of religion and to the welfare of kids in the block.

Plan Widely Tested

Whatever the subject, wherever the meeting, there is a tested plan behind the sessions.

The army used it to help GI's understand why they had been called upon to fight for their country.

Now Dr. Julius Schreiber, Stockton, Cal., psychiatrist, who directed the army's program, is advising civilian groups in similar talk-it-over sessions. Three men who worked with him in the army and two civilian experts round out the institute's staff.

From their headquarters here, they send out material and instructors for fledgling discussion groups around the country.

Most of their service is free, paid for by contributions chiefly from the American Jewish Committee. Frank L. Weil, co-founder of the United Service Organization, and member of the national executive board of the Boy Scouts of America, is institute president.

Six Cities Selected

For two years they have tested their plan in six communities, selected because of their varying characters and size. They include Allentown, Pa., Canton, O., Muncie, Ind., as well as Pittsfield, Mass., Birmingham and Syracuse.

There they worked with existing organizations, such as the Parent Teachers Association, the American Association of University Women and Rotary clubs. They helped them set up programs and train leaders who would serve as sort of verbal traffic cops, directing the talk into constructive channels.

They showed them how to keep to a subject, how to provoke talk and how to challenge false claims. And, finally, how to add up the discussion in conclusion.

Prominent groups in twelve more communities, including Los Angeles and Detroit, have enlisted their help and every mail brings new requests from individuals who have heard of institute's work.

Forsythe, a Marshall plumber en route to a job in Texas City, died of exposure when he and a fellow worker decided to spend the night in their car after it broke down near Tatum.

J. E. Clayton, 34, Baytown pipeline employe, plunged to his death in icy waters beneath Houston's Market street bridge when his car smashed through the railing.

Those were the latest deaths. Others preceded them earlier in the week.

Gas Bans Relaxed

As the end of the cold spell came into sight the heating-fuel picture became brighter.

The Lone Star Gas Company, serving 333 Texas and Oklahoma cities, and the West Texas Gas company, with a service territory of 44 West Texas communities, relaxed their bans on industrial use of natural gas.

In the semi-tropical Rio Grande valley growers sighed happily over no citrus damage, despite two mornings of freezing weather. Some tender crops in the valley, such as tomatoes, were hurt but the losses could not be estimated immediately.

The six-day spell of freezinz temperatures broke all records at Fort Worth. The longest previous freeze: Five days in February, 1905.

Sleet fell as far south as the Gulf in the extreme southeast. Along the Rio Grande, at Laredo, the unusual cold caused great hardship and police kept five cars running constantly, carrying hundreds of the city's poor to warm public buildings.

Tagua nuts furnish vegetable ivory which competes successfully with synthetic materials.

PLANE SEARCH FAILS

FRANKFURT, Germany, Jan. 29. (AP)—Searchers failed today to find any trace of a transport plane missing since Tuesday with three American women and five children passengers. The plane carried a crew of four in addition to the eight passengers. The American women and children were en route to join their soldier husbands and fathers in Trieste.

Voters In Favor Of Return To Meat Rationing, Price Curbs

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Jan. 29—American voters who want the government to re-impose rationing and price controls are worrying primarily about current meat prices and about predictions of tighter supplies of meat in the next few months.

As reported earlier this week, 51 per cent of American voters say they favor re-imposing rationing and price controls on certain items, while 41 per cent are opposed to any such steps and 8 per cent express no opinion.

GALLUP

The 51 per cent who approve new controls were asked to name the specific products they thought should be included. Meat by far led all other products in the number of mentions.

A bill recently introduced in the Senate by Ralph E. Flanders of Vermont would permit the President to set up machinery for meat rationing now and to submit a plan to Congress if he considered rationing called for.

Here is how the voters favoring rationing and price control listed the items needing regulation:

1. Meat
2. Butter
3. All foods, groceries
4. Bread, wheat, flour
5. Clothing, shoes
6. Eggs
7. Housing, rents
8. Milk
9. Gasoline, fuel oil
10. Lard, fats

Meat leads the column in all sections of the country, in all age and occupational groups, and even the farmers, who are in general opposed to rationing, list meat as the number one inflationary bugaboo.

Behind the public's desire for meat controls lies a rapid rise in prices despite an all-time record production—156 pounds per capita in 1947. Forecasters see a sharp drop in production over the next few months since farmers have cut their herds due to high costs of feed grains. Senator Flanders' bill foresees a new spiral of meat prices unless rationing of dwindling supplies is put into effect.

The demand for a return to rationing and price control is strongest in the lower income groups. Voters who feel their incomes are less than is needed to get along on in their communities are more inclined to approve rationing than those who think their incomes are larger than minimum standards.

Thefts In City Are Investigated

Police recovered one stolen automobile, stripped of its five new whitewall tires, and another automobile was reported stolen Thursday but later recovered in Abilene.

A 1947 model blue De Soto sedan, license AN 8796 was stolen from Kerr Auto sales. Its description was broadcast, and Texas Highway patrolmen recovered it two miles north of Abilene, police were informed last night.

A 1947 model light automobile stolen from Milly Ray Smith of 1802 Ave. G was recovered Thursday after Jack Stone of Myrtle drive reported it had been stripped and abandoned in the industrial district. All tires and wheels were removed and it was left flat on the chassis.

The sheriff's department reported arrest of Ben Guzman, 49, a Mexican, who had been sought on a grand jury indictment charging desertion of minor children. A desertion complaint was filed against another man who allegedly had "left town."

Discovered making "ardent love" in a bus station, a 22-year-old Denver, Colo., man and a 17-year-old girl were taken into custody. The man was to be questioned to determine whether he had violated Mann act statutes, officials said.

A negro woman who was released from a hospital after treatment for poisoning said she had been drinking with two negro men a a hotel. A routine investigation had not been completed, police said.

Car Is Overturned

Police were investigating the "flipping" of a car owned by Eddie Girard, they said.

Girard told police he had lent the car to Dean Andrews, 16, the driver, of 314 Ave. G. Andrews, a brother Gene Andrews, 14, and Dale Harris and Willie Stowe, both 17, suffered only head bumps and minor abrasions when the car overturned twice in snow at an underpass near Meadowbrook Golf course on the Plainview road.

The same car, officials said, allegedly when driven by Jeff Mason Cox, 23, of Lubbock, had figured in a mishap a day earlier. Cox posted $100 bond returnable instanter in connection with corporation court charges of negligent collision and failure to leave information at the scene of an accident.

Negro Is Held

Capt. Pat Davidson and Lee Rice, of the city detective department, held a negro, about 25, for investigation into his alleged possession of a radio taken approximately a month ago from the residence of another Lubbock negro. The radio was recovered.

Another radio was reported stolen. Complainant was J. D. Peters of 1626 Eighth.

Police said they were investigating informal charges of Charles Hansford that a truck and semi-tractor had collided with his car in 2200-block Ave. H and that the driver had failed to stop and leave information at the scene. Description of the truck was supplied to officials.

Joe B. Garcia, a Mexican of Littlefield, informed police that a distributor had been stripped from his car when it was parked on a Lubbock street.

J. Ray Givens of 2724 Texas avenue reported theft of a generator valued at $30 from a truck parked there.

Texan Charged With Obtaining Funds Under False Pretenses

LITTLETON, Colo., Jan. 29 (U.P.)—Warren Beaman, 50-year-old Texan who claimed to be a building contractor, was held in jail here today for investigation on charges that he obtained $14,000 from the First National bank of Englewood.

Undersheriff Mel Comer took Beaman into custody at the direction of district attorney Richard H. Simon. A charge of obtaining money under false pretenses was filed against Beaman and district Judge Harold E. Davies fixed his bond at $5,000.

Beaman, who was arrested at a Denver hospital, claimed to have land valued at $130,000 in Tarrant county, between Fort Worth and Dallas. Simon said the man represented himself as a wealthy contractor, with assets totaling nearly $150,000 in cash and properties, in obtaining various loans from the bank.

Simon said Beaman was suffering from a "bad case of nerves when taken to the hospital."

Overweight people are particularly subject to diabetes.

Disabled War Veteran Refuses Offers To Adopt His Two Daughters In Answer To Ad

FORT WORTH, Jan. 29 (U.P.)—Thomas F. Ward's advertisement offering his young daughters for adoption brought two offers today but the disabled, unemployed war veteran turned them down.

Things looked brighter now, Ward said, and he had decided to try to keep the girls—Barbara, 11, and Mary Ann, 9.

The service committee of the Bothwell Kane post of the American Legion took over Ward's case and said it would try to get his $36 monthly pension for disability increased. The legionnaires also gave him $50, and promised to find a light job for him.

Couple Wants Girls

Ward's plight of trying to care for his little girls and himself with only $36 a month—drove him to advertise in the "personals" column of a Fort Worth newspaper:

"Have two small girls, ages 9 and 11, for adoption in good home."

Ward and the children are living now with Mr. and Mrs. W. T. McKinney, a couple who took pity on them and who would like to keep Barbara and Mary Ann for themselves.

"We just love them to pieces," said Mrs. McKinney. "I want to keep them, but I can't."

Ward was injured in August, 1945, while riding a bus from an army induction center at Carnegie, Okla., to the family home at Hobart, Okla. His wife left him and four children about a year ago. Ward turned the younger children—three and four years old—over to a family at Decatur, Tex.; and brought the older girls with him to Fort Worth.

His injuries from the bus accident have kept him in and out of government hospitals and le.. him incapable of doing manual labor.

The number of passengers carried by U. S. railroads quadrupled between 1940 and 1944.

Permit To Deliver Texas Gas To Canada Will Be Sought

TORONTO, Canada, Jan. 29 (U.P.)—The U. S. Federal Power commission will be asked by the Union Gas company of Ontario to permit delivery of natural gas from Texas to gas-starved western Ontario, the company's president, Thomas Weir, said today.

The Union Gas company is the major supplier of natural gas essential for operation of many western Ontario industries. Recently a severe shortage of natural gas has resulted in widespread shutdowns.

Weir said his company had contracted with the Panhandle Eastern company of Texas for 500,000,000 cubic feet of gas. A pipeline between Ontario and Texas was completed last summer. He said, but only 35,000,000 feet has been delivered so far. Had the contract been fulfilled, Weir said, the current shortage of gas would have been averted.

Plans Used To Evade Motor Vehicle Registration Laws Hit By Official

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 29—Continuing schemes to get around the motor vehicle registration law are costing the state and counties "large sums annually," State Auditor C. H. Cavness charged today.

Some counties are waiving the property tax on vehicles as bait to attract illegal out-of-county registrations, he said. Others are trading registrations of trucks for cedar posts.

Others are permitting registration of fleets of trucks not stationed in the couny of registration.

Other Discrepancies Noted

There have been instances of failure by county tax-assessor collectors to comply fully with other provisions of the registration statutes, Cavness said.

He made these reports to Gov. Beauford H. Jester after a special audit of the motor vehicle division of the State Highway department.

Under the law, counties retain net registration fees up to $50,000. Additional net registrations are divided 50-50 between the counties and the state until the county has received $175,000. After that, all net collections on fees go to the Highway department.

Totals Are Given

During the fiscal year 1947, Cavness said, the counties retained nearly 16 million dollars and the state's share was more than 15 and one-half million. Cavness gave no estimate of the total lost by irregularities.

He cited some examples of how the law has been sidestepped.

In one southwest Texas county, the audit report showed, 36 trucks and 10 trailers belonging to a transportation company with headquarters at Dallas were registered in 1947.

A representative of one Panhandle county solicited registrations from an adacent county, offering to furnish registrations at less than the statutory fee.

Two Charged In Store Burglary

PLAINVIEW, Jan. 29 (Special)—Burglary and theft charges have been filed here against two Lubbock men in connection with burglary of the Furr Food store here Dec. 22.

Charged are David (Jelly) Lester, about 30, and Raymond Adams. The two men are being held in jail at Eastland on felony charges, said Hale County Sheriff Ted Andrews who filed the charges here Tuesday before County Attorney Lee Nowlin.

Arrested In Waco

Andrews said the men were picked up recently at Waco for the Eastland officers. The two were apprehended in a Waco store, Andrews said. One had $1,400 on his person and the other had $300 when arrested. Found in their possession was an assortment of tools.

The charges were filed here after Andrews made a trip to Eastland where he conducted an investigation.

Both Lester and Adams have criminal records, Sheriff Andrews said.

Safe Is Broken

Entry to the Furr store here was gained through a back window. The small safe which was located against the glass front of the store was broken open and its contents of $5,800 in cash and checks taken. About half the amount was in currency.

Officers at Amarillo were checking to see if there was any connection with similar burglaries there and the Furr burglary here.

Vote Fraud Charges In Kansas Dismissed Against 66 Persons

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 29 (AP)—Vote fraud charges against 66 persons indicted by a state grand jury which investigated the 1946 Kansas City primary election were dismissed yesterday in circuit court.

The mass dismissals followed a ruling by circuit court Judge James W. Broaddus that testimony of former grand jurors as secondary evidence was not admissible under Missouri law.

Ballots and records which the grand jury used in its investigation were stolen and prosecutor James G. Kimbrell had proposed to use grand jurors as witnesses to offer testimony regarding the missing information.

Labor Leaders Warn Of New Walkouts

AFL Turns New Blast On Law

By HAROLD W. WARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 29—The AFL executive council today issued a new blast at the Taft-Hartley act and its supporters, and said the nation is in for a wave of costly strikes when contract negotiations come up in approaching months.

"America is now experiencing a lull before the storm," the council said in a statement. "When present collective bargaining contracts expire, the most difficult period in the history of labor relations in this country threatens to ensue.

Labor Law Blamed

"The signs are unmistakable. Perhaps the most dramatic instance to date has been the experience of the International Typographical union in attempting to negotiate new contracts with publishers during recent weeks.

"Testimony before the National Labor Relations board by both union and employer representatives is in complete agreement on the fact that the present rupture of amicable and cooperative labor-management relations in this country is due entirely to the harsh provisions of the Taft-Hartley act. If there was no such law, both sides could have agreed on new contracts long ago."

ITU president Woodruff Randolph has asked for a conference with the council members here tomorrow, President William Green said.

Secretary-treasurer George Meany reported the federation's membership had increased 18,000 in the past four months, to a grand total of more than 7,800,000. However, John L. Lewis and his 600,000 United Mine Workers "disaffiliated" in December, knocking down the total membership of the AFL to 7,200,000, Meany said.

Wholesale Prices Lower For First Time In Twelve Weeks

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. (AP)—Wholesale prices measured by the bureau of labor statistics are lower today for the first time in 12 weeks.

The bureau's index of 900 commodities dropped .7 per cent for the week ended Jan. 24. At present it is 64.4 per cent above the 1926 average. It is almost one per cent above a month ago, and 17.2 per cent above a year ago.

The index had climbed steadily each week for more than two months, nearing the all-time high in 1920, right after World War I.

BLS said generally lower prices for foods and agricultural commodities caused the drop. Non-agricultural commodities again went up slightly for the 18th straight week.

Man Is Assessed Six-Year Term

Ralph (Jack) Brooks, 23, of Kaufman was sentenced to six years in the penitentiary after he pleaded guilty of a burglary indictment in 99th district court of Judge G. V. Pardue Thursday afternoon.

James Lewis, 30, was allowed suspension of a five-year sentence Thursday morning for felony theft by bailee. He also waived a jury and pleaded guilty before Judge G. V. Pardue.

He had been returned here Tuesday afternoon from Atlanta, Ga., to face a grand jury indictment charging he, on Oct. 10, converted a pistol of Harry W. Hubbard to his own use and beniefit. He had contracted to repair and refinish the weapon, the January term indictment further charged.

George T. Bridger of Corsicana, charged in connection with the same burglary, was sentenced to eight years in the penitentiary here Oct. 23, then was delivered to Amarillo for trial of another felony charge.

Two other men, both of whom reportedly are held by another state, also are charged with the lumber yard burglary, as well as burglaries in other places.

Man Can Exist In Antarctic, British Students Conclude

By DAN L. THRAPP
United Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Jan. 29—Man, who gets around more than any other mammal, peopled every continent except the Antarctic.

According to British polar experts, he could have settled there if he had found a way to cross the vast ocean distances surrounding that continent.

Compared to the Antarctic, the Arctic is a heavily populated area, teeming with life. On the Arctic coast of America, more than 7,000 Eskimos live reasonably comfortable and happy lives.

Siberia has 1,200 Eskimos and at least 12,000 natives of other races who live on the shores of the Arctic Ocean. Greenland and Labrador also are peopled.

But no strictly land mammals live in the Antarctic at all. There are no polar bears, no wolves or foxes, and no man. Birds, penguins and gulls abound and in the waters offshore are many whales, seals and other sea animals.

Living Possible

A reasonably vigorous, intelligent and able tribe of men could live the year around in the Antarctic, getting their food from the shoreline, their clothing from sea animals and their shelter from the snow and ice, according to British sources.

Commander R. W. Bingham, leader and member of several British Antarctic expeditions, told the United Press:

"When we were in the south polar regions we had fresh food the year around. During the warmer months we practically lived on seal meat. Then, of course, there always were penguin and seagull eggs, which aren't bad.

"We found we could keep the eggs fresh through the winter by putting them in 'warm storage'—warm, that is, compared to the sub-zero temperatures outside. We would open a flour barrel and bury the eggs in it. They remained quite fresh and tasty."

The Antarctic has some 28 species of penguins, not all of which lay edible eggs. But Bingham said there was a simple way to test eggs of a particular species for edibility.

"Eat it," he said.

Many species of seals also are found near the continental shoreline, he said. Best of all was the "crab-eater seal," so named from his diet.

Seals Elusive

"The disadvantage to that species as a game animal is that it disappears as the winter night settles in," Bingham said. "They stay at the edge of the pack ice, which sometimes is many miles offshore. But there is another species, the Weddell seal, which can be caught all year, right up to the shore."

This large and powerful seal, he said, persists in staying close to the shore regardless of ice conditions. He does so, Bingham thought, because his food is found only in shallow water.

When the ice first starts to form, the Weddell seals keep a "blowhole" or breathing port open because, being mammals, they must breathe air. They push the ice out of the way with their noses, he said.

Seals have to breathe fairly often and, of course, they always return to the same hole, because there the ice is thinnest.

Settlers, adept at killing seals, could eke out their winter supplies with a mess of Weddell seal from time to time.

Texas Schools Ask More Federal Aid

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—Four Texas public school superintendents asked today for more federal aid.

They are C. O. Chandler of Orange, R. W. Gary of the French Independent School district of Beaumont, Sam Culpepper of Hooks and L. P. Sturgeon of New Boston.

Chandler said the matter has been discussed with officials at the Federal Works agency and later today may be brought before a House Appropriations subcommittee.

Financial aid is needed acutely where the population increased sharply because of war and abnormal postwar conditions, he said.

He urged that Congress approve a $2,000,000 appropriation recommended by the Budget bureau for inclusion in the pending Independent Offices Supply bill.

Chandler said the Orange schools received approximately $100,000 out of a total of $2,500,000 appropriated for distribution over the country during the current school year.

The Orange schools will receive approximately $90,000 out of the proposed $2,000,000 appropriation if that amount is provided by Congress, he said. The corresponding figures for the French School district in Beaumont are $21,000 and $18,000, he added.

Australia Making Big Strides In Plans To Explore Antarctic

By DAN L. THRAPP
United Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Jan. 29 (UP)—Australia's five-year-old plan for Antarctic exploration developed with great success this season. Purchase of a third exploration ship is contemplated, to give the dominion the largest scientific fleet in South Polar seas.

The Wyatt Earp, veteran exploration ship, was damaged slightly recently when she was buffeted by southern gales and ice. The other vessel used by the commonwealth, the LST-3501, succeeded in the hazardous task of landing a 14-man wintering party on desolate Heard Island landed stores on French-claimed Kerguelen Island to re-supply the Wyatt Earp, and now is en route back to Australia.

Group Capt. A. C. Campbell, leader of this year's diverse expedition, was expected in England this month or in February to select a third vessel, which must be wooden-hulled to withstand expected battering by Antarctic ice.

It was thought that still other ships might later be bought in Britain, the United States, or in Scandinavia as the five-year exploration plan develops.

To Explore Coast

While the LST deposited the Heard Island party, the Wyatt Earp was expected to reach the Antarctic mainland before the end of January. A landfall was to be made off the South Magnetic Pole, west of the Ross Ice Barrier, site of Little America.

Magnetic observations and soundings would be taken and the ship then planned to cruise west along the almost unknown coast of the continent, carrying out scientific work.

The ship would seek a base for a permanent station on the continent within the Australian-claimed sectors, and would then return to Hobart and Melbourne by way of Heard Island and Kerguelen Island. It may take several such trips to find a suitable base for a land party, authoritative sources thought.

Landing the party on Heard Island turned out to be a rather adventurous task, but the Australian flag was raised on Boxing Day, Dec. 26, just below the 11,000-foot central peak of the island.

Bay Unsuitable

Lieut-Comdr. Dickson, captain of the LST, originally had picked Spit Bay, where sealers once established huts, as the "port" to be used by the expedition, but when the ship reached the island, the bay was found not so handy as it appeared on the map, and stores were beached on the wind-swept northwest corner of the island instead.

Landing operations were abandoned once when a gale arose and the LST was forced to put to sea. Eighteen consecutive days of calm weather then permitted a bulldozer and some 400 tons of supplies to be beached, some of it floated in with the tide and waves.

Ohio Couple Has Copper Coin Believed 2,200 Years Old

MARRTOWN, O., Jan. 29 (UP)—Mr. and Mrs. Claude Williams have an old copper coin, about the size of a quarter and no thicker than a dime, which they believe was in use in Egypt some 2,200 years ago.

The coin compares identically with descriptions in an old Welsh Bible of a coin called the Ptolemy I. It has the head of Ptolemy I with a band around his head on one side and a proud eagle on the other.

Williams had the coin examined by Ohio University authorities, who believed the coin was made on the island of Cyprus during the Phoenician occupation. The authorities thought lettering on the coin was from the ancient Sanskrit.

'Boys Town' In New England Prospers Since Start In '43

HUBBARDSTON, Mass., Jan. 29 (UP)—A New England "Boy's Town" is prospering under the direction of Very Rev. Edwin J. Van Etten, dean of St. Paul's Episcopal Cathedral in Boston.

The institution came into existence in 1943 with one cow, six hens and a run-down farmhouse. With 40 boys as a nucleous, the "Town" now has 15 buildings, 18 cows and 4,000 chickens.

More than 30 acres of land have been cleared and expansion plans are underway.

Purpose of the farm is the training of boys "to work, to thrift, to be honest, to the attitude of decent self-respect, and efficiency and leadership."

Ohio College Students Find Traffic Violations Costly

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 29 (U.P.)—A college education can prove increasingly expensive if College Joe drives an automobile.

The Ohio State University traffic department announced it had collected $5,385 for student violations of parking regulations during the autumn quarter. The traffic department said 13,750 tickets were issued.

Fines for tickets lost or not presented within three days after receipt are doubled. Fines for parking operate on a sliding scale—$1 for the first offense and $25 each after the eighth offense.

Higher Prices Seen By Iowa Economist During Early 1948

AMES, Ia. (UP)—Strong demand and higher prices are in prospect for early 1948, in the opinion of Carl Malone, Iowa State College agricultural economist.

Malone, in his current economic outlook, reported that there are more weak spots in the economy than a year ago but that no pressures strong enough to turn the present boom downward have appeared yet.

Exports Claimed Hurt

Future trends will hinge mainly on the size of exports, he said, as well as the amount of foreign loans and the viewpoint of business in this country. A pessimistic attitude by business could slow down production, he added, and put a downward pressure on prices.

He said the grain outlook is such that livestock feeders should get their next summer's feed located now. Low corn supplies and strong demand for wheat indicate a danger that future feeding projects may outrun grain supplies.

Fewer Sheep in U. S.

High feed prices, coupled with stiff initial expenditures, probably will make cattle feeding profits narrow. Sheep numbers are at a 30-year low in the country as a whole, Malone said, adding that Iowa is a little better off than most areas, with more breeding sheep than three years ago.

Fat and oil supplies will be about the same in 1948 and prices will stay high, he said pointing out that foreign demands are great and European mills will take all the oil seeds that United States allocations permit.

He said milk and dairy products are in demand now and the long-range outlook is good. Egg prices are expected to be down to or near support levels by spring. Vegetables and fruits, with the exception of strawberries, are at about normal levels. He said strawberries are predicted to be scarce next summer.

Penthouse Skull Trick Fails To Work For Patrol Applicant

BOSTON, Jan. 29 (U.P.)—Thomas J. Greehan, Massachusetts director of civil service, tells of the case of the applicant with the pent-house skull.

A physical examination for patrolmen was being held in a Cambridge YMCA gymnasium. The height requirement was 5 feet 6 inches. The examiner called the weight of one of the prospective policemen, but was puzzled about his height. Calling the doctor, he explained: "This fellow has so much hair, I can't tell how tall he is." He patted the applicant on the head.

As he took his hand away, half a coconut shell, held in place under the long hair by bobby pins, fell to the floor. The applicant was only 5 feet 4½ inches tall.

Traffic Court Needs More Room To Handle Expected Violations

CHICAGO, Jan. 29 (U.P.)—Chicago's "cafeteria" traffic court is being moved to huge Soldier Field to handle an expected 1,000,000 traffic violators who will be arrested in 1948 under a stepped-up enforcement program.

The decision to use the entire west wing of the stadium came after municipal judges protested that police headquarters was inadequate to house the court under the unprecedented traffic program.

More than 3,000 square feet of parking space will be available sc that motorists can park near the stadium while paying fines.

POSTMAN THINKS FAST

RICHLAND, Ga. (UP)— Postman Lee Roy Lunsford was making his rounds in his automobile when he met an airplane coming down the highway. He passed it by driving under one of the plane's wings.

Four-Lane Highways For State Said Needed To Handle Traffic

AUSTIN, Jan. 29 (U.P.) — Texas must become a four-lane state if it is to keep pace with motor vehicle travel, the highway department declares.

With more automobiles using the roads every day the department figures that 842 miles of two-lane pavement will be carrying 4,000 or more vehicles per day in 1950. The 4,000-or-more point is where authorities consider four-lane thoroughfares vital.

"There is a tendency in such zeal for expansion to leave behind the main arterial system of highways that becomes more obsolete each day as age and the improvements to the motor vehicle continue on the increase," said Dewitt C. Greer, state highway engineer.

To Take Huge Sum

But such development cannot come overnight. There's a little matter of financing. "It is fully realized that the department cannot expect to accomplish such an ideal objective . . . over a reasonable period of time," Greer cautioned.

The per-mile cost of four-lane construction naturally is higher than the standard size, which is high enough. The highway department hopes to get a good start, however, by 1950 on the king-size highways.

A map of 4,000-and-greater traffic load points, contained in the department's booklet, "Needed Improvements of the Texas Highway System," shows an increasingly larger number of places where boulevard treatment is needed, particularly around the large cities.

Includes Larger Cities

Some 75 per cent of the mileage in the concentrated areas passes over federal aid highways. The two principal points where the four-lanes must come, the map shows, are the Dallas-Fort Worth and Houston areas.

The longest stretch which could use more elbow room is the highway from San Antonio to Dallas. A four-laner all the way wouldn't hurt at all, the department's red-dotted map indicates.

A fact which points up the highway department's needs is that more Texas highways are getting older all the time. The war didn't help, and now high prices of material have cut down the department's ability to recoup its lost time.

There will be an estimated 1,756 miles of rural highways in 1950 20 years old or older. In 1940 the total was a bare 166.

For highways of from 10 to 20 years of age, the 1950 estimated total is 8,336, compared to 5,446 miles of such rural highways in 1940. The highway department, however, is trying to keep pace, and has constant reminders from farm-to-market road advocates

On the financial side, the highway department has computed that it needs a grand total of $739,000,000 to keep everybody happy and complete its objective in the five-year period from 1949 to 1954.

But here's the catch: State funds from registration and gasoline taxes for the five-year period are estimated at $179,000,000 above the cost of maintenance and other operating costs.

To that can be added "optimistic estimates" of federal aid in the five years amounting to $140,000,000. That totals, from all possible revenues, right on $319,000,000, leaving something to be desired to the tune of $420,000,000.

"It can readily be seen that a complete accomplishment of the objective over the five-year period cannot be attained with existing revenues," the highway department quickly adds.

It may not take too much longer than five years to do the job, however, in spite of the gloomy financial ledger.

Texas embarked on a three-year post-war construction program provided for in the federal aid highway act of 1944. Funds will be available to complete the three-year program in 1949—or five years—so perhaps a five-year plan can be completed in 10 years.

English War Bride's Parents Follow Daughter To Kansas

CULLISON, Kan., Jan. 29 (U.P.) This little Kansas town, population 242, has a touch of Britain, and the English village of Chorley, in Lancashire, has lost three of its residents.

The population switch resulted from the war.

Charles Grigsby, Jr., of Cullison, was stationed near Chorley for part of his 3½ years in England.

He wooed the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charley Handley.

Coming to Kansas after her wartime wedding, the young Mrs. Grigsby wrote her parents in glowing terms of her new home.

So the Handleys—he's a retired veteran of 22 years in His Majesty's Army — packed up and followed their daughter to make their home in the South Kansas wheat country.

Judge, 76, Deplores Judicial Politics

MEDIA, Pa., Jan. 29 (UP)—A. D. MacDade was handing down his last opinion as president judge of the Delaware County court.

Retiring because he had lost in the election, the 76-year-old jurist said he was afraid that politics and the judiciary were becoming too closely associated.

He told the assembled barristers how surprised he was when, after all the tributes he had been paid through the years, certain members of the county bar association "picked" their candidate for and "relegated me to the oblivion of old age."

The men who preside in our courts, Judge MacDade said, should be like the clergy—"unspotted from the world."

"Any personal interest, selfish concern, or party consciousness, corrupts not only the judge but the judicial function," he said.

"Any want of honest detachment in the judge undermines public faith in judicial administration.

"The prevalent disrespect for law is prompted not so much by corruption in the courts as by that system of choosing judges which makes every judge suspect."

Texans Are Asked To Work For Drafting Of New Constitution

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 29 (U.P.) — Texas Chambers of Commerce through an association of three regional bodies has called upon the rest of Texas to join in a campaign for a modern state constitution.

They propose that the State Legislature which convenes in January, 1949, be requested to call a constitutional convention to draft the new document. Gov. Beauford H. Jester has encouraged the movement by saying some parts of the Texas constitution are archaic. He said that other parts are fundamental and should be perpetuated.

Blight Resistant Oats Are Promised Midwest Farmers

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 29 (U.P.)—Midwestern farmers have been promised a new Victoria blight-resistant oat variety by 1949.

Experimental stations in Nebraska, Iowa and Kansas worked with the U. S. Department of Agriculture in developing the new variety. It was christened Nemaha, since Nemaha counties in Kansas and Nebraska are in its area of use.

About 2,500 bushels was produced last year, but no seed will be available for general distribution until next year, it was said.

County Supervisors Get Mass Hotfoot At Iowa Meeting

DAVENPORT, Ia., Jan. 29—The heat was on in more ways than one during a meeting of the Scott County board.

While several supervisors were drawing fire for their action in a road dispute, they couldn't understand why it was suddenly so uncomfortably warm in the room.

A check showed that a steam pipe had broken beneath the concrete floor of the meeting room, heating it so the supervisors could feel it through their shoes.

Five Husbands Show Wives How Tomatoes Are Pickled

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 29 (U.P.) Downtown, John Orman and Gene Myers are bankers, Tom Evans is a lawyer, Jack Eakin is an electrical engineer, and Charlie Andrews is an advertising man.

But once each year they gather at the Orman house, chase their wives out of the kitchen and become what they proudly call a first-class pickling team—tomato pickling.

They work with production-like smoothness, with Banker Orman calling the signals and running a sub-assembly line of glass jars with the necessary dill, garlic and onion in them. Banker Myers washes the tomatoes, Lawyer Evans quarters them, Engineer Eakin inspects the quarters and packs the jars, and Andrews, the advertising man, handles the brine and screws on the tops. Evans, first to finish, also is chief coffee maker.

University Planning Exhibit To Educate Laymen On Cancer

CHICAGO, Jan. 29 (U.P.)—A scientific exhibit on cancer which laymen can understand is being planned by the University of Illinois.

The exhibit, to be completed in 1950, is designed to educate the public about the nation's No. 2 killer. Heart disease is No. 1.

Constructed on entirely new lines, the display will cover a variety of subjects. It will explain causes, treatment, diagnosis, research and methods by which the disease spreads.

It also will attempt to clear up popular misconceptions regarding cancer.

The exhibit was begun at the request of the American Cancer Society. One section will be devoted to an information center where current facts about cancer will be available.

Club Requires New Members To Scale 200-Foot Tower

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 29 (U.P.) —A rather exclusive club has been formed here.

The only requirement for membership is the ability to climb the 200-foot Holzclaw fire tower near the Jefferson county line.

Then you get a signed certificate of membership in the Jefferson County Squirrel club.

The club, formed by the county forester, Paul Yost, has no officers, no dues, and no constitution.

DREAMS GO UP IN SMOKE

We've been asked to eat a slice of bread less each day, but the program is defeated if we throw away the last of the loaf or biscuits. Here are a few suggestions for utilizing every precious crumb.

Bread stays fresh longer if wrapped securely and kept in the refrigerator.

To reheat slightly stale bread, wrap in wax or brown paper and place in a moderate oven for ten minutes. It will be moist and delicious. If very dry, sprinkle the brown paper with water and reheat in the same manner.

"BREAD BANK"

Make delicious cookies by dipping strips of bread in sweetened coadensed milk, rolling in coconut and browning in a moderate oven (350 degrees).

Use leftover bread for French toast, cinnamon toast or milk toast. Split leftover biscuits and use in same manner. Make bread stuffing with fowl, roasts or use meat stock and serve as a starchy vegetable when no meat is served.

Individual Portal Pay Suits May Start New Court Hearings

By CHARLES H. HERROLD
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29—Most of the $6,000,000,000 portal pay suits filed against employers by labor unions in 1946 may find their way back into the courts, this time filed by individuals.

"Pattern cases" have been filed in Pittsburgh, a CIO source said. Claims totaling more than $334,200,000 were filed by almost 50,000 individual employes of Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp., National Tube Co., both U. S. Steel Corp. subsidiaries; Sharon Steel Corp., Homestead Valve Manufacturing Co., Crucible Steel Co., and others.

The workers are asking back pay and liquidated damages under the wage-hour act for time spent walking to work and getting ready. They are members of United Steelworkers, United Electrical Workers and other CIO unions.

Claims Outlawed

Congress outlawed claims by unions in the portal pay law signed by President Truman last May. Most of the 1,900 previous suits had been filed by labor unions. But the unions now are withdrawing and the claims are being made by the individuals. The law does not prohibit individual suits.

The suits arose under a Supreme Court decision which held that time spent walking to work and making ready for the job at the Mt. Clemens, Mich., Pottery Co. was time worked and should be compensated, provided the time spent was substantial. A federal district court subsequently held that the time was too small to require compensation.

In line with that decision and under the portal pay act, most federal district courts dismissed similar union suits. Many others were withdrawn or compromised as parts of collective bargaining agreements.

Courts Uphold Law

A survey made by Peter S. Ray, assistant solicitor of the Labor Department, reveals that federal district courts in 13 states have upheld the constitutionality of the portal pay law and dismissed claims filed by labor unions.

Ray said only the Northern Texas federal district court had "cast some doubt upon the validity" of that section of the law which retroactively bars claims existing prior to passage of the act. The section also prohibits the courts from exercising jurisdiction to entertain such claims.

Ray said portal pay suits have been dismissed under the law in federal courts in Texas, Oregon, Washington, Iowa, Oklahoma, California, Pennsylvania, Missouri, Maryland, Georgia, Connecticut, New York and Wisconsin.

Appeals Planned

If labor unions follow the Pittsburgh pattern, those claims will be carried to the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals as suits by individuals. Lawyers for the workers have appealed to the circuit court for reinstatement of their suits in the federal district court there.

Ray found that several courts also had upheld the constitutionality of that section of the law which permits an employe to plead that he acted in "good faith" when he violated the wage-hour law. He said they have held that employers must prove their acts were in "good faith" when they make such a defense.

Indiana County's Own Farm Is Paying Large Dividends

SHELBYVILLE, Ind., Jan. 29 (U.P.)—Shelby County's 30,000 residents own a farm collevtively and the income is rolling in.

In 1933, the will of John A. Tindall was read. It bequeathed his 247-acre farm to the county with a provision that the income be used "for the poor."

That was during the depression and farm income was small. County officials almost forgot the Tindall farm as a source of revenue. But times changed and Tindall farm prospered.

Now the county finds the enterprise has accumulated more than $23,000 in a bank account. The income during 1947 alone was $9,500 and the year before that $8,000.

Officials are considering using some of the money to improve the Shelby County Home, a haven for penniless old folks, and the Gordon Children's Home.

Doctor Adopts Italian War Waif Whose Hand He Saved

LIGONIER, Pa., Jan. 29 (UP)—Dr. Harold Kimney has adopted an Italian boy whose hand he saved in Italy during the war.

Angelo Nasuti's hand was mangled when a shell detonator went off accidentally. Hospital attendants said amputation was necessary, but Dr. Kinney, then a major in the U. S. Army, saved his hand by performing 21 operations.

The boy, 15 years old, is expected to arrive in this country in about six months.

Wholesale Jewelry Is Opened In City

Lubbock's newest business concern, opening at 1014 Avenue Q, is the Southwest Wholesale Jewelry company with L. D. "Pup" Thomas as president, the only wholesale jewelry firm west of Dallas in the state.

The firm will cover West Texas, New Mexico, parts of Oklahoma and Arizona. Its first two salesmen will take the road on Monday of next week. They are Bob Reynolds and H. A. Kemp.

Among various offerings in the jewelry field, the company will feature its own "name" watch, the "Skytimer," a 17-jewel timepiece of Swiss manufacture. It will be offered in numerous styles and cases, including one with calendar attachment.

The company also has the distributorship for Duralite cigaret lighters in both pocket and desk models, Mr. Thomas said. He said the lighter has a year's full guarantee and characterized it as "foolproof." It flames in the wind as well as indoors, he said.

The company's quarters are in a new building recently erected by Mr. Thomas for the purpose it now serves.

Farmers In Nebraska Organize Open War On Marauding Coyotes

BROKEN BOW, Neb., Jan. 29 (U.P.) — Farmers in this central Nebraska area haye organized to reduce the $250,000 loss they suffer each year from coyotes.

The marauders usually are worst in January and February, when they hunt in packs of 10 to 12. The harassed citizens believe there are one to six of the animals per section in the vicinity.

The farmers plan to use coyote "getters," mechanical devices which shoot cyanide into the mouths of the animals.

IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM COSTLY

Jester Confident Board Will Approve Prison System Plan

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 29 (U.P.) — Gov. Beauford H. Jester, holding his first press conference following a two-day inspection of the Texas prison system, expressed confidence late today that the recommendations of O. B. Ellis, manager of the prison system would be approved by the prison board.

The governor staved off a request for an estimate of the total cost in carrying out Ellis' far-reaching proposals for modernizing the Texas prison system.

Support Pledged

He said he would rather wait in announcing the figure until a report on detail recommendations had been completed by Ellis.

Jester expressed confidence in the proposed program, and added that since the prison board has picked the manager, "I feel reasonably sure his program will be approved by the board."

He added that as governor "I will support the board and the prison manager on their agreed plan."

From the financial standpoint, Jester made it clear that the plans for modernization will "cost money and lots of money."

He said that he regarded the proposed program as a social duty and obligation of the people. Its fulfillment, he said, rested with the people of the state, the prison board, the governor and the Legislature.

However, he laid the final responsibility for acceptance of the program on the Legislature.

"The program, he said, "must stem from the people . . . acting through the Legislature."

Freedom Train Showing Is Scheduled At Dallas Today

DALLAS, Jan. 29 (U.P.) — The freedom train, bearing the historical documents of the United States, was scheduled to arrive in Dallas Friday for a two-day inspection by thousands of northeast Texans.

After its arrival from Denton at the Dallas Union station at an early morning hour, the train will be conducted to Fair Park by an honor guard of U. S. marines.

The public will be admitted to the railroad cars at 10 a. m. Friday, after formal ceremonies at the Texas hall of state in the fair grounds. Milder weather, opening most of the highways in this part of the state to traffic, was expected to insure capacity crowds.

102-Year-Old Former Negro Slave Dies At Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Jan. 29. (U.P.) — Sam (Daddy) Kilgore, negro cement contractor and former slave, died at his home here today at the age of 102.

As a youth he was the personal servant of Elbert Peacock of Memphis, Tenn., and fought with him in the Confederate army in the Civil War. When slavery was abolished he came to East Texas with 300 other negroes. He served in the Philippines in the Spanish-American War.

He was made an honorary member of the second Texas Volunteer Infantry association at the annual encampment of the United Spanish war veterans in 1938.

Popejoy Will Head U. Of New Mexico

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Jan. 29 (U.P.)—The University of New Mexico Board of Regents today selected Tom L. Popejoy as president of the university, succeeding Dr. J. P. Wernette, effective at the end of Dr. Wernette's present contract in June.

That brief statement was issued by Federal Circuit Judge Sam G. Bratton, chairman of the university board of regents. He did not amplify the statement.

Popejoy served as acting president of the university for a short time after the death of President J. L. Zimmerman several years ago. In recent years, he has been university comptroller.

City Folks With Western Urge May Cause Record Dude Crop

DENVER, Jan. 29 (U.P.)—Colorado dude ranchers are beginning to plan for this year's "biggest season in history," because they said "people in all walks of life have a suppressed desire to be cowboys."

The dude wranglers, who met in Denver, expect the number of people who find ranch life to increase in 1948. Some 50 ranches in Colorado grossed $2,000,000 during the '47 season.

No wonder women are cheering!
Perfect pie crust in 5 minutes!
with new "Pastry-Blend"
ARMOUR★ LARD

First new pie crust recipe in years! use boiling water. Mixing ingredients at room temperature makes the difference! Quicker-blending, better-keeping "Pastry-Blend" makes it possible! For "Pastry-Blend" is pure lard in Armour's new, exclusive formula that keeps without refrigeration. Easy as 1, 2, 3.

1 "Pastry-Blend" Lard makes the flavor rich! Measure 2 cups all-purpose flour without sifting. Sift with 1 tsp. salt. Add ⅔ cup new "Pastry-Blend" Armour Star Lard that you have kept at room temperature. Remember, "Pastry-Blend" Lard keeps its mild, delicate flavor, always. It gives the rich taste to your pie crust!

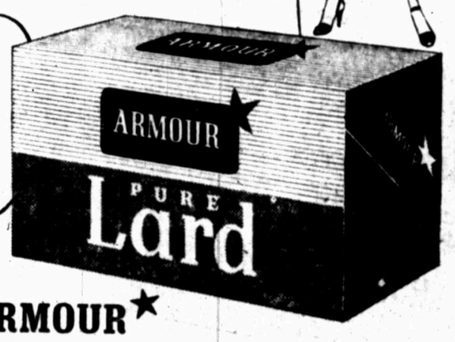

2 Light handling makes it flaky! Blend mixture with pastry blender, 2 knives or your fingers. Here's where "Pastry-Blend" goes to work for you! It blends with flour like lightning. And, less handling means flakier crust. Stop mixing when the lard is cut into pieces the size of small peas. It won't be long!

3 Scant water makes it tender! Add only 4 tbsp. water (room temperature). Sprinkle over flour mixture—pressing mixture with knife until it just holds together. The smaller amount of water you use with "Pastry-Blend" gives you more tender crust. Divide mixture into 2 portions. Roll out on pastry canvas or lightly-floured board. Makes one 9-in. double crust pie. Bake apple (or any fruit) pie at 450° F. for 10 min., then at 350° F. for 30 or 40 min.

"Pastry-Blend" Lard comes in 1-lb., 3-lb., 4-lb., and economy-size 8-lb. cartons.

"Pastry-Blend" stays fresh and sweet without refrigeration!

THE WHOLE TRUTH

A Sad Commentary

THE WHITE HOUSE, we are told, is "considering an appeal to American motorists" to conserve gasoline by refraining from driving their automobiles at speeds faster than 35 miles per hour.

To be sure, if American motorists heeded such an appeal, the saving in gasoline—and oil, as well—would be tremendous.

Such action on the part of the public would, perhaps, eliminate all possibilities of a gasoline shortage next Summer, and certainly would ease oil shortages of the present and of next Winter, as well.

But anyone who believes that any considerable number of Americans would heed such an appeal—despite the common sense involved—should have his head examined.

For some reason, we Americans simply won't heed appeals of this sort, no matter how logical they may be. A nation of "rugged individualists," we insist upon doing as we darn well please, no matter who gets hurt.

We wouldn't co-operate in "Meatless Tuesdays" and "Poultry-less Thursdays."

Even during the war, we thought it smart to "beat the OPA" every way we could. Chiseling was a national pastime.

Joe Doakes thinks that everyone—EXCEPT Joe Doakes—should obey the traffic regulations. He thinks everyone but himself should be honest and upright and decent in every action. He thinks he is an individual set apart and regardless of oil shortages, he will drive, lickety-split, en route to nowhere to do nothing, if he so chooses—which he usually does.

No, the White House "appeal" in its latest dress won't get to first base.

Perhaps this is a sad commentary. But it is none-the-less a true one.

Just More Politics

THE political by-play involved in the insistence of House Republicans upon the Knutson Income Tax Reduction bill is too obvious to deceive anyone who will devote even casual study to the matter.

Observers are practically unanimous in agreeing the reductions estimated at more than $6,000,000,000 in the Knutson bill will be trimmed sharply in the Senate. They regard such a cut as necessary to the possibility of any tax reduction at all. Apparently no one in Washington seriously believes the Knutson bill could be passed over a Presidential veto. The opinion prevails that a measure providing more moderate reductions could be.

However, House supporters of the Knutson measure can claim credit in their re-election campaigns for having tried to obtain bigger cuts than are likely to be provided. Every House member must face the electorate and the issue might make a difference in some close contests. Senators will be less sensitive to the political effects of their attitude toward tax legislation. Terms of only 32 of the 96 senators, including 18 Republicans, expire this year.

House support of the Knutson bill therefore signifies little. The prospects remain unchanged that the measure finally enacted will provide reductions substantially smaller than favored by the House majority. The greater part of the House support for a big tax cut can be discounted as nothing more than a bid for votes by congressmen who are too realistic to suppose the Knutson bill has any real chance of enactment into law.

Murder At My House

By Rene Ryerson Mart
Distributed By NEA Service, Inc.

(THE STORY: It all started after I had been in Hollywood three months, writing the movie script for one of my own mystery books—and trying to get over Oscar Craig. I was having dinner with attractive Jeff Haverson, my director, and talking over our picture. Jeff said that young Jimmy Peters was to play the detective and that Avis Vaughn, our glamor star, had insisted on Art Cleves playing the male lead. I was curious to know why Avis, almost a has-been, could get her own way about this. But Jeff gave me no satisfaction. After he took me home, I discovered my beautiful Persian cat lying mangled and half-dead in the driveway. I put her to sleep with a bit of the poison I always kept on hand in case I ever started remembering too much. Next day at the studio, I asked Ravella, head make-up woman, to concoct one of her famous lipsticks for me. Ravella said I could pick up the lipstick later at her shop downtown. On the set, I particularly noticed Madge Narney, a young actress playing a bit part. Here was ambition if I ever saw it.)

VI

JEFF yelled "Cut" and the camera quit trucking and there was a stir of movement. A man ran to the front of the stage and held up some color cards to test the take.

Jeff watched the man with the cards and then nodded his head.

"That's it," he announced. "Okay. Take time out for lunch now." He looked at his wrist watch. "And be back here at 1 sharp. All of you."

The scene dissolved in motion. Avis flounced off the stage followed closely by Art. Madge Narney disappeared. The dead man got up off the floor. I stared at him and my jaw dropped. The dead man was Liz Leyden.

Jeff turned around and saw me. "Hi," he said. "I didn't know you were here."

"I came in a little while ago."

Liz Leyden finished brushing himself off. He came toward us with his big heavy head swaying a little as he walked, and his fishy gray eyes looking enormous back of his thick glasses. He passed without speaking, or even nodding.

"I didn't know he was an actor, too," I said, staring after my unpleasant collaborator.

"Leyden?" Jeff asked. "He isn't. But he always insists upon playing a bit part in every play he helps to write."

Well, the dead man in my story was certainly a bit part.

"Have lunch with me," Jeff suggested.

I accepted.

THE studio cafeteria always fascinates me with its flamboyant crowd of actors. That day more than usual. It happened that Avis Vaughn, Art Cleves and Jimmy Peters had the table next but one to ours. Avis was preening herself under the attention of the two men, Art looked smug and Jimmy was openly sulking. In the middle of their meal Avis said something to Jimmy and Art said something to Jimmy and Art laughed. A lot too loudly. Jimmy got up so abruptly that his chair fell over backward. He left without bothering to pick it up.

I remembered what Jeff had hinted about the possibilities for trouble in that trio and I looked at Jeff quickly to get his reaction. He was concentrating on his food, making a deliberate effort to ignore the incident.

"Aren't you hungry?" he asked me.

My mind and my eyes came back to the food on my plate. "Yes," I said. I was.

Jeff ate as if he were going to a fire. He finished and made apologetic noises, "You don't mind if I go ahead, do you? There're some changes I want to make in the stage directions for the next scene."

"No, I don't mind."

He smiled at me and got up. I saw him nodding and smiling at people all the way across the dining room. Everybody seemed to know him. Everybody seemed more than eager to speak to him.

It wasn't quite 1 o'clock when I finished eating, so I wandered over to my office in the writers' building instead of going back to the set. But I was sorry I had the moment I opened the door. Liz Leyden was there.

HE looked at me through his glasses in his oddly impersonal insulting way, and he said in the unaccented unvarying tone of voice which he usually employed, "It stinks!"

"What does?" I asked shortly.

"The dialogue in that scene. It's as dead as the guy on the floor."

He was talking, of course, about the scene they had taken that morning. The finding of the body was an effective chapter in my book and I had insisted upon lifting the dialogue intact—without any changes—into the script. Leyden had wanted to insert some cynical wisecracks, and he was still burning about it.

"Morgan okayed it," I snapped. "And Jeff. If they are satisfied, I don't think I'll worry about your opinion."

The sound that Liz made was vulgarly derisive. "Morgan doesn't know tripe when he sees it. As for Haverson, he'd okay anything you wrote now, because he's sweet on you. Wait until he starts to get tired. You'll find out then how much he thinks of your writing."

I felt my face going white. "You're the lowest thing I ever met. Why don't you crawl back under your stone?" I had a little trouble keeping my voice level.

He stood up behind his desk. He stretched to his full height—all of five feet three—and somehow at that he seemed to tower above me. He was swollen like a snake with venom. "All right. Wait and see. He's already married, you know that, don't you? Or are you that dumb? Avis Vaughn got her hooks into him five years ago and she's never going to let go."

My face showed what I felt. I'm no actress.

Liz had his revenge all right.

Looking At Life - - By Erich Brandeis

HOW I wish I had seen this advertisement before Christmas!

It would not only have solved several of my gift problems, but I am sure there must be some people of your acquaintance to whom you would have wanted to present this lovely gift.

The advertisement appeared in the classified columns of one of the New York newspapers.

BRANDEIS

I have told you before how I enjoy browsing among those classified columns.

No other section or department of the newspaper is so much part of a community's contemporary life as the classified column.

But back to my subject.

Here is the ad:

"WHERE DO YOU PARK YOUR TEETH?

"We present the Tooth Garage. Banishes forever the unsightly display of artificial teeth. Scientifically designed for Safe Parking of False Teeth. Fashioned in pottery with colorful handpainted decoration. Gaily ornaments vanity or dresser. Lettered boldly Mom's or Pop's. (Indicates which you prefer). $2.75 postpaid. Money back if not satisfied.

Can't you imagine the possibilities?

Can't you hear the delighted "Just what I've always wanted" when the recipient of your thoughtful gift unwraps it?

I am sure he (or she) won't be able to wait until nightfall.

I am sure they'll want to try it right there and then—put it on the vanity or dresser, with its colorful handpainted decoration and show it to all their friends.

I'll be glad to give you the advertiser's name and address.

It's still several hundred days to Christmas, 1948. But why not get the Tooth Garage now? It may be too late when the shopping spree starts and thus you may miss the opportunity of a lifetime.

BY the way, speaking of intriguing classified ads, here is another one right next to the Tooth Garage ad.

No heading. Only two lines.

"WHAT IN THE WORLD DO YOU WANT?"

Three initials. A telephone number—and Call 6 to 9."

You haven't any idea how I itched to call and find out.

What in the world does who want?

Is it a love affair?

Is it blackmail?

Is it a quarrel?

There may be a whole novel in that little two-line ad.

There may be romance, adventure, intrigue.

But I'll never find out.

"Don't be such a snoop," said my wife when I told her that I'd call that number. "Aren't you ever going to stop being a newspaperman?"

So I didn't call. But maybe I'll hire that fellow who advertised in the same column "Detective Service for reasonable rates, any kind of a job," and let him find out for me.

Else I'll always wonder "what in the world" that certain somebody really did want. Perhaps it was only one of those "Tooth Garages."

GOP STRIFE TALKED

Hoover Backing Taft?

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Political friends of Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio are passing along the quiet word that Herbert Hoover favors their candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, although the former President will undoubtedly adopt the role of an impartial elder during the intra-party competition for the June prize at Philadelphia.

The Taft claims are not based only on the fact that Mr. Hoover's views on the Marshall Plan and foreign affairs generally, as set forth in his recent letter to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, differ merely in details from the Ohio Senator's.

TUCKER

They maintain that Mr. Taft's slant on domestic matters appears to accord more closely to the Hoover philosophy than do those of Governors Earl Warran of California and Thomas E. Dewey of New York. And it is not believed that the distinguished Quaker would support a military man for the office he once held.

It has not been generally noted, but the legislative record of the House on domestic and foreign problems has usually reflected Mr. Taft's ideas and he has usually been the Republican Senator who has tried to keep the lower chamber's program from dilution by Senate Democrats and the bloc of G.O.P. liberals. There is the further fact that several of the House leaders are close to Mr. Hoover and frequently consult him.

BLESSING: Christian A. Herter, author of the measure which the Martin-Hall-ck group advance in opposition to the Truman-Marshall Plan, served as a Hoover aid in Belgium and was personal assistant to the latter when he was Secretary of Commerce in the Harding-Coolidge Administration. They have maintained close relations to the present day and their attitude toward European aid is almost identical.

The time was when a presidential candidate might not want it known that he had even an off-hand blessing from Herbert Hoover. Now, however, it may be an asset rather than a liability for the Palo Alto man has grown in popular and political stature, according to all reports.

As for Mr. Hoover, although age has mellowed him, it would undoubtedly give him great happiness to enjoy even a sideline part in helping to oust the Truman-Roosevelt New Deal from the Capital he has deliberately shunned since his defeat.

POWER: Governor Albert E. Driscoll has stirred a political sensation in G.O.P. circles at the Capital by his recent declaration of war against Senator Albert W. Hawkes and his entry of a rival candidate in the New Jersey senatorial primary. Top-level strategists express grave fear that the split may endanger both the Senate seat and a party triumph in the state next November. And in a close race the loss of Jersey's sixteen electoral votes could be fatal.

At a "rump" session alleged to consist of officeholders and county leaders beholden to Governor Driscoll, the latter announced that he would support David Van Alstyne, Republican leader of the State Senate, against Mr. Hawkes. The purported reason for shelving the U. S. Senator, who once served as president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, is that he had voted against almost every proposal for foreign aid.

Offended Jerseymen, however, charge that this was only a pretext and that Governor Driscoll seeks to become absolute political boss of the state. The new constitution adopted by New Jersey last November gave the Governor tremendous executive authority and it is suggested that he aims to translate this power into the political field.

CLEAVAGE: The anti-Hawkes war may have damaging political repercussions in November because Governor Driscoll did not consult the powerful House delegation, which has generally voted the Hawkes views with a few notable exceptions.

The only member of the federal faction invited to the "rump" meeting was Senator H. Alexander Smith. Oddly enough, as a former Princeton lecturer on political economy, he has generally sided against the condemned Senator on foreign questions.

But even Representative Charles A. Eaton, chairman of the House Foreign Relations Committee and a confirmed internationalist, protested bitterly in a telegram to the State executive. He characterized the action as "bad psychology and worse politics." Should the House group back Mr. Hawkes in the primary, it will be an open and hard battle between the two factions.

Besides endangering a Republican victory in both senatorial and presidential contests next fall, the division serves to highlight the cleavage within G.O.P. ranks over foreign policy in a most spectacular way.

RESPECT: The result in the Hawkes-Van Alstyne primary struggle, unless th- fight can be called off by intervention of party higher-ups at Washington, could have a deep influence on the action of the national convention which will assemble just across th- state line in Philadelphia.

The election laws provide for a primary on June 10. But Governor Driscoll has suggested that the date be advanced because the presidential convention is scheduled to open on June 21.

Thus the delegates will meet after such a representative state as New Jersey, both an industrial and agricultural commonwealth (also the home of Woodrow Wilson), has passed judgment on candidates for the U. S. Senate with conflicting views on the broad question of long-term, large-scale aid to Europe.

Senate colleagues usually stick together when a member of "the club" is attacked by an outsider and Mr. Hawkes commands great respect on Capitol Hill even among those who disagree with him. It will contribute to the political circus if he should ask such men as Senators Taft, Vandenberg, Bricker and other party bigwigs to come to his aid.

There is not as much romance to a mechanical cotton picker. No one has written a song about the machine.

No wonder international affairs are complicated. Germany is defeated and then built back up as a buffer state against Russia.

A man has reached middle age when he ceases to think there is anything funny about a Hallowe'en prank.

Many crimes have been committed in the name of religion among them a church supper.

It's a very small item nowadays which may be purchased by small change.

MINNESOTAN BACKS VANDENBERG

Stassen In All-Out Challenge

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WITH STASSEN IN NEW ENGLAND.—There's more to the Taft-Stassen feud than meets the eye.

The now-open break between the Senate Republican leader and the former Minnesota governor — which Mr. Stassen provoked deliberately—goes beyond a contest for the Republican presidential nomination and involves other leading figures and major party policy.

It signifies a showdown fight within the party in advance of the Philadelphia convention around the issue whether the party shall continue to stand for forthright international co-operation. Or whether it shall retreat, trim and hedge and again take the backward course it took after World War I.

Backs Marshall Plan

Mr. Stassen, who is a sort of legatee of the Wendell Willkie tradition, will carry the battle for a strong and firm international co-operation policy in the field, so to speak, using the forum provided by his candidacy. The immediate objective is the Marshall Plan, now in its preliminary-hearing stages before congressional committees.

The role Mr. Stassen has picked for himself is to push for acceptance of the full amount and to back up Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, Foreign Relations committee chairman, in his fight for the Marshall plan in the Senate. This he has disclosed publicly by his continued advocacy of the Marshall Plan and his repeated tributes to Senator Vandenberg in his current tour of New England embracing Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine.

There seems at least a tacit alliance between the candidate and the Michigan senator in this endeavor. As it develops, this should serve to rally those in the party who stand with them for no retreat or trimming on international co-operation. The aim is to draw battle lines at the convention in a fight involving candidates and the platform.

Senator Taft is the natural and logical target. He is the leader of those elements in the party, both in and out of Congress, which are trying to whittle down the Marshall Plan into a bits-and-pieces relief program. Herbert Hoover's support of those who would scale down Marshall Plan funds has intensified the urgency to rally those within the party on the other side who are for a broad-gauged rehabilitation program. Giving a clue to his purposes, Mr. Stassen said in a speech at Manchester, N. H.:

"I recognize that there are those in our country, those in my own party, who do not like to think in terms of world responsibility," and he added, "I am giving firm and consistent backing to Senator Arthur Vandenberg whom I consider one of the great statesmen in these recent years."

Blunt Challenges Issued

Harold Stassen burned several bridges behind him when he entered the primary in Ohio, Senator Taft's own state. He is fully aware of what he has risked in cutting loose from Senator Taft who is powerful in the Republican organization.

He knows, too, that the Governor Dewey camp is none too kindly disposed to him because of his criticism of the New York governor some months ago for the 1944 candidate's "silence" at that time on major issues, and because of the Stassen statement that he would not accept second place on a Dewey ticket.

But there is still one political bridge open. Though Mr. Stassen's consistent stand for a strong international co-operation policy, immediately expressed in his backing of Senator Vandenberg on the Marshall Plan, is a matter of long-time conviction, circumstances might produce favorable practical political results for him personally at the convention because of it. In the event of a deadlock, Senator Vandenberg might emerge as a compromise candidate. In such case, Mr. Stassen might well fit into second place on the Vandenberg ticket.

That, at least, is among the possibilities in what now promises to be a rather wide open convention.

More Colorful Shoes Forecast By Manufacturers Association

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 29 (U.P.)—The new look—come spring—is going to take on considerable color.

The St. Louis Shoe Manufacturers Association reports that, on the basis of heavy orders for bright materials, the most colorful footwear in years will be seen when the new Easter outfits are unwrapped.

Red and green are leading, the association reports, with red suede in great demand. White shoes with red, green or blue trim are popular.

In the men's field, gray and blue suede are making a comeback, with considerable demand for mahogany reds in two-tone combinations.

It is estimated there are 190,000 motor vehicles used for milk deliveries to processing plants and consumers in the United States.

Oil Shortage Is Attributed To Boosted Demand, Slow Supply

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Why are we having an oil shortage? To answer that question the U.P. questioned executives of the Interior department and its bureau of mines; the American Automobile association; the American Petroleum institute; representing oil companies; the Oil Heat Institute of America; the Maritime commission; the Association of American railroads; the Department of Commerce; and the U. S. army and navy.)

By JAMES C. AUSTIN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29—Reduced to its simplest terms, the reason for the current oil shortage is that more oil is being consumed than ever before. Oil production has not increased fast enough to meet our needs.

New civilian uses and increased civilian consumption more than make up for the millions of gallons of gasoline which poured through Allied aircraft during the war and millions of gallons of oil that fueled the world's biggest navy.

Demands Not Seen

Does government stockpiling in anticipation of another war contribute to the shortage? Army and Navy men say that it does not—that there is no stockpiling of oil for national defense at the present time. The Army and Navy wish that they could, but storage facilities above and below ground are inadequate.

Neither the government nor industry foresaw the big demand for oil that has developed since the war. Supply and demand are out of balance because:

1. Today there are some 2,700,000 more motor vehicles on the highways than in 1941, before rationing. The biggest gain in motorized transportation is in trucks and buses which use more gasoline and oil than passenger cars do.

Railroads Using Oil

2. Oil heating units for homes. Offices and factories increased 27 per cent in 1947 over 1946. The Oil Heat Institute reports that 762,887 more oil heating units were installed last year than the year before. There are now nearly 3,000,000 heating units in operation and the end is not in sight.

3. Railroads are converting more and more from steam to diesel locomotives. The American Petroleum Institute estimates that diesel engines in 1948 will burn 70,000,000 barrels of oil. In 1941 they used only 25,000,000 barrels. Of 634 locomotives on order now only 18 or 20 are for the old-time coal-burning steam engines.

4. American industrial production is expanding and the American Petroleum institute estimates that this year industry will need about 17,000,000 barrels of lubricating oil. This would be 18.8 per cent more than industry used in 1946.

Farms Increase Demand

5. Farm prosperity and the increasing availability of powered farm machinery results in an estimate that farmers will use 2,821,000,000 gallons of fuels this year. This is approximately twice the farm consumption of six years ago.

6. Many tankers were destroyed during the war and due to the steel shortage have not been replaced; so that there are not enough tankers to bring oil from the Gulf coast to other parts of the country. The Association of American railroads says there are now in operation about 123,000 tank cars or 10,000 less than during the war. Of this number about 10,000 are used by the carriers themselves to haul oil and water for their own use.

7. The steel shortage has prevented oil companies from drilling more wells and building more refineries.

Catholic Seminary Students Trap Muskrats For Charity

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UP)—A Catholic order is carrying on its work in the fashion of early American missionaries.

Members of the Holy Cross Seminary at the University of Notre Dame trap muskrats in one of the lakes on the campus.

Bids To Be Opened On Whitney Dam

GALVESTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—Bids on the $15,000,000 Whitney dam project will be opened Friday at 2 p. m. in the office of Col. B. L. Robinson, U. S. Army district engineer here.

The contractor will be given 1,200 days to build the Hill county dam across the Brazos river. The dam has been under partial construction since spring, 1947, Col Robinson said.

At 10 a. m. Friday bids will be opened on buildings near the Benbrook dam on Trinity river, ten miles out of Fort Worth.

Nolan Bros., Inc., of Indianapolis had the low bid of $1,584,332 on the San Angelo dam concrete and steel construction project on the Sterling City branch of the Santa Fe railway.

Second and third apparently next lowest bids were submitted by List and Clark Co., $1,834,975.75, and Russ Mitchell and Co., $1,936,352. Government estimate of the cost of the project was $1,886,358.67.

Nine officials and civic leaders of San Angelo present to learn of the award were C. L. Taylor, president of the San Angelo Board of City development; Sam Lahorn, city manager; Hunter Strain, contractor; Theo Montgomery, Sand and Gravel contractor; Gerald Breeding, supply store manager; H. O. Timmons, district manager of a lumber company; H. G Wendland, vice chairman, Upper Colorado river authority and president of a sheet metal manufacturing firm; Frank Gannon, past president of the board of city development and general contractor; E. A. Tusha, division freight and passenger agent of the Santa Fe.

Woman Pioneer Recalls Trip To San Francisco In 1870

SEATTLE, Jan. 29 (U.P.)—A pioneer Washington State woman who has spent all but two of her 80 years in the region celebrated her birthday with two parties and a lot of reminiscing.

Mrs. Ella T. Barrows, born in Illinois, came west with her family to San Francisco when she was two years old. That was in 1870. The family traveled on the Union Pacific railroad one year after its completion. Later they moved to Washington Territory.

Texas Plants To Manufacture Tractors, Double Employment

DENISON, Jan 29 (AP) — The Jaques Power Saw company here has signed a $6,000,000 contract with the Frazer Farm Equipment company of York, Pa., for manufacture of 10,000 light tractors.

J. C. Jaques, head of the Denison firm, said production would start next month. He said the company's three plants, at Denison, Bonham and Mineral Wells, would go on a three-shift operation. The present force of 485 will be doubled.

The tractors will propel a Frazer attachment for breaking land by a pulverizing method instead of the old system of turning soil with a plow. The device is known as the Frazer rototiller.
