Bitter Fighting Marks Progress

Barges Smashed In Other Battle Areas

(By The Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Wednesday, Aug. 4.—The east end of the Japanese air base of Munda on New Georgia island has been reached by hard fighting United States invasion forces in their yard-by-yard battle against cave-entrenched enemy jungle defenders, General MacArthur announced today.

The slow progress against this key objective of the central Solomons campaign was a part of a general advance, the second such reported in as many days. Yesterday's communique had told of advances of from 500 to 1,200 yards which placed the Americans in some instances within 700 yards of the bitterly defended air strip.

Many Barges Smashed

At the other end of the 700-mile battlefront in the Pacific, Allied planes in the New Guinea-New Britain sector destroyed or damaged 29 barges, bringing to nearly 200 the number of such supply boats of the enemy wrecked in the past 10 days, and one bomber scored a bomb hit at night on an enemy ship, believed to have been a destroyer, in Dampier strait.

The barges hit were found concentrated in Borgen bay. Heavy explosions set off on some of them indicated they carried ammunition.

Borgen bay is in the Cape Gloucester area of New Britain. Twenty barges were attacked there and the other nine near Finschhafen.

The communique, in anouncing the 10-day toll of barges, said "many were undoubtedly used as troop carriers, some being 145 feet in length."

Could Move Division

"The total destroyed was estimated as capable of transporting a division of troops if used solely for that purpose," the communique added.

"The enemy's losses both in personnel and material cannot fail to have been heavy."

Of the Munda fighting the communique said:

"Our ground forces advancing along the coast have reached the eastern end of the airfield. Further inland, our troops have occupied the northeastern slopes of Bibolo hill. The advance on other parts of the front continues

Major U-Boat Assault Beaten

Evidence Of Allied Superiority Shown

LONDON, Aug. 3 (AP)—Britain and the United States demonstrated their mounting edge in the battle of the Atlantic tonight with announcements that British warships and planes had defeated a major U-boat attack by sinking at least two undersea craft and that transfer of from 150 to 200 American merchant ships to Britain was already underway.

A joint admiralty-air ministry communique revealed the details of a savage three-day battle between a German wolf pack of from 25 to 30 submarines and British warships and planes of the coastal command in the North Atlantic. A former American Coast Guard cutter now in British service took a major part in the successful fight to protect a big convoy.

Transferring Ships

Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons that the United States was transferring merchant ships built in American yards to the British merchant marine at the rate of from 15 to 20 a month.

Over a period of ten months from 150 to 200 would be transferred, Churchill said, in explaining that America had surplus ships but was short of crews while Britain had plenty of trained sailors.

Destroyers, frigates and corvettes joined with Liberators, Flying Fortresses and Sunderlands operating hundreds of miles from their bases to smash the U-boat assault.

The wolf pack dispersed over many miles of the convoy's course was first sighted just before dawn after several days of fog by Liberators of the coastal command. The Liberators attacked one of three Nazi submarines on the surface sinking it while surface craft sped to the spot in answer to radio warnings.

Three-Day Battle

For the next three days the escorting planes and ships attacked the U-boats in twos and threes continuously—usually many miles from the convoy itself. So successful were their efforts that at the end of the 27 hours of fighting no submarine had gotten close enough to the merchant ships to launch a torpedo although some of the escort were attacked.

The H. M. S. Sennen, formerly the United States Coast Guard cutter Champlain, was credited with one of the U-boat kills.

The submarines lost contact with the big eastbound convoy after the three days fighting and the ships reached their destination safely.

Humbled Italy Promised Help

British View Given In Surprise Debate

By LEWIS HAWKINS
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 3.—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the House of Commons in a surprise debate tonight that the Allies would be "only too ready" to adopt a "reasonable attitude" toward Italy if the Allies got what they wanted for fighting Germany.

Eden, replying to a question, said that with the departure of Benito Mussolini and the Fascist regime, Italy took on a different status.

"We are, as a war cabinet, anxious to see Italy accept the unconditional surrender she was offered and anxious to see facilities given too her so that we can turn the war even more vigorously oon to Germany," he said.

Respectable Part

"We are anxious to see a peace in which Italy can play her part as a respectable nation once again."

Answering questions which indicated fears that the Allies might deal with Italian Quislings, Eden said:

"If we accepted unconditional surrender from anyone I would not regard myself as therby recognizing them in the least. I would be extremely pleased to accept unconditional surrender from Hitler tomorrow."

The German radio, joined by Rome, publicized a seven-point armistice proposal which it said had been submitted to Italy by President Roosevelt, but this was without confirmation. The seven points included demands which would normally be part of unconditional surrender.

Aneurin Bevan, labor M. P., touched off the debate when he asked what the government plans were for occupied territories.

Amgot, the term for Allied Military Governmet of Occupied Territories, he called "an ugly word to cover an ugly deed." Referring to the announcement that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander of Allied forces in North Africa, would be in charge of negotiating any peace with Italy, Bevan asked "why make a scapegoat of a general. . . . Would it not be far better if we accepted ourselves the responsibility for the political occupation of Sicily and for our attitude toward Italy?"

Bevan charged that Eisenhower

Two Killed In Crash Tuesday

L. W. (Cotton) Dobbs, 36, flight instructor for the Breedlove Aerial service, and a pre-flight cadet of the 309th college training detachment at Texas Technological college were killed in the crash of a light training plane between 2:30 and 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon about five miles southwest of Lubbock.

Details of the crash were not known and a War Training Service inspection board will investigate the crash.

On Routine Flight

Name of the cadet was withheld until confirmation had been received of notification of parents of the victim.

The crash occurred on a routine five-hour check flight given preflight students by the Breedlove service under contract with the government. Each pre flight student is given preliminary dual-instruction flight instruction here preparatory to regular Army aviation cadet flight training.

Dobbs, the instructor, is survived by his wife and two small sons and his mother, Mrs. L. W. Dobbs of Littlefield. He came here in April from Ponca City, Okla., where he was an instructor for several months.

Funeral arrangements had not been announced last night. The bodies of the victims were at Rix Funeral home.

This was the first fatal crash in more than 200,000 hours of flying by the Breedlove service, which has been in operation here for several years.

Four Army Officers Missing In Trainer

CARLSBAD, N. M., Aug. 3 (AP) The Carlsbad Army Air base today announced the names of four officers who were aboard a twin-engine training plane missing since July 29, on a routine flight to Santa Fe, N. M.

They were: 2nd Lt. Garry L. Patterson, East Sparta, Ohio; Kenneth M. Adams, Canton, Ohio; Dennis J. McCarthy, Crockett, Calif., and Donald E. Meurer, Amboy, Minn.

Rationing Trend Upsets Midwest

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 3. (AP) — Midwest officials bristled today over a proposal to shear gasoline rations in their states if it was only to bring back pleasure driving to the east.

Before a special Senate committee one of them demanded "more basic gasoline instead of less," and none was willing to reduce the coupon values unless it would benefit the Army and Navy.

Governor Andrew Schoeppel of Kansas, also chairman of the Interstate Oil Compact commission, insisted that if "equality in sacrifice" was to be adopted as a principle it should be extended to other things, freight rates for instance.

John A. Ainley, representing Governor Dwight Griswold of Nebraska, unfolded a map before the committee, headed by Senator Bennett C. Clark of Missouri, to show that the midwest had seven times as much area as the North Atlatic region with approximately the same number of people.

Theater Distances

He argued that reduced rations in the midwest would provide it only 24 gallons per square mile per week of basic gasoline as against 142 gallons for the east.

Senator Clyde M. Reed (R) of Kansas, who with Clark and Senator Kenneth Wherry of Nebraska formed the senatorial committee, suggested the midwestern governors organize a committee to resist unnecessary curtailment.

Governor Homer Adkins of Arkansas, objecting to the proposed reduction, contended the trouble was that the price of crude oil was too low to encourage exploration of new fields.

W. J. Holloway, represetnig Governor Kerr of Oklahoma, agreed Washington's view of the question of supply and reserves was nearsighted. He expressed belief a crucial shortage was approaching unless a reasonable crude oil price increase is forthcoming.

Conner Has Lead In Mississippi Voting

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 3. (AP) — Incomplete unofficial returns from more than half of Mississippi's 82 counties in today's Democratic gubernatorial primary indicated that former Governor Morton Sennett (Mike) Conner was certain to enter a runoff Aug. 24.

Lieutenant Governor Dennis Murphree and former House Speaker Thomas L. Bailey of Meridian were running close, for the right to meet Conner.

Lester Franklin, former chairman of the state tax commission, supported by United States Senator Theodore G. Bilbo, was a poor fourth.

The unofficial vote in 285 of the state's 1693 precincts gave Conner 8,876, Murphree 5,407, Bailey 5,116 and Franklin 2,786. These returns represented 52 counties.

Reports Say Hitler May Quit Leadership

(By The United Press)

The European underground radio station Gustav Siegfried Eins said today that Adolf Hitler may follow the example of Benito Mussolini and retire from active leadership of the Reich because of a "worsened state of health."

The station accused Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler of making secret preparations to strengthen his own position, presumably in the hope of succeeding Hitler, while undermining Hitler's and the German Army's power.

Plans For Special Session Abandoned, Tax Rate Slashed

28-Cent Reduction In State Levy Will Save Taxpayers Of State $9,100,000

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Aug. 3.—Governor Coke R. Stevenson today abandoned plans for a special session of the legislature and an immediate result was a 28-cent reduction in the 1943 state property tax rate, estimated to save taxpayers $9,100,000.

The automatic tax board of which the governor is a member established a rate of 10 cents per $100 valuation for support of the available school fund, a reduction of 23 cents. The legislature already had reduced the Confederate pension fund rate from seven cents to two. The board left unchanged the general revenue rate of 35 cents because that fund is in deficit.

Levy To Be 47 Cents

The 1943 rate on which taxes may be paid beginning in October will be 47 cents compared with 75 last year.

The governor dropped his consideration of an extraordinary session of the legislature because he said he felt not enough support had been given his plan to rearrange school financing in such a way as he calculated would reduce the general fund deficit about $5,000,000 a year for the next two years.

Representatives of the Texas State Teachers association reported they were not prepared to support the plan wholeheartedly although they did not wish to be classed as obstructionists, the governor declared, adding:

"It would get the job done but I cannot get support for it."

Needed Teacher Support

Without approval of the teacher group, he said, it would be impossible for his proposed legislation to get enough House and Senate votes to give it immediate effect, a necessary element to the success of his plan.

The governor wanted to increase the scholastic apportionment from $25 to $30—because the available school fund's estimated revenues are more than enough to pay $25—and use the $5 increase to pay a portion of rural school aid appropriations which come out of the deficit laden general fund.

Awaited Decision

The tax board had withheld setting the property tax rate pending a decision by the governor on a called session because the governor's plan required that the school tax rate be set at about 28 ot 30 cents. It was necessary to set the tax rate immediately since it must be certified to county tax assessor-collectors for preparation of the next new tax rolls.

The motion for a 10-cent school rate was made by Comptroller George H. Sheppard and seconded by State Treasurer Jesse James. It was approved unanimously.

Fight On Draft Plan Indicated

Unqualified Calls On Fathers Flayed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP) — Congressional comment indicated today that legislators may make issue with Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt's decision that when pre-Pearl Harbor fathers are drafted after October 1 no consideration shall be given to whether they have one, two, three or more children.

Too few members were in the capital to permit an overall sounding of congressional sentiment, but from those here there was general criticism of McNutt's instructions to draft boards that fathers should be inducted "without distinction regarding the number or ages of their dependent children."

Majority Disagree

Rep. Sabath (D-Ill) staunch administration supporter, declared he opposed drafting "fathers of two or more children," and Rep. Gossett (D-Tex) issued a statement saying "the vast majority of the people in the country" disagree with McNutt's position in regard to children and dependency.

Gossett said the order was contrary "to the will of Congress as expressed in the Kilday bill." This measure by Rep. Kilday (D-Tex) was approved by the House on April 12, but the Senate has not acted.

It directed that no fathers be drafted until all single men within a state had been exhausted, and that fathers of only one child should be taken before fathers of two, fathers of two before fathers of three, etc.

On the point of financial status, Senator Gurney (R-SD) said he hoped "local boards in their good judgment will take first those fathers whose families are least dependent upon them financially."

Congress, returning from its recess on Sept. 14, would have 16 days in which to take any action modifying McNutt's order, or to act on the dependency bill, before the drafting of pre-Pearl Harbor fathers.

Drop In Voting Age Favored In Georgia

ATLANTA, Aug. 3 (AP)—Georgians approved tonight on the basis of early returns an amendment to their state constitution lowering the legal voting age to 18 and Governor Ellis Arnall announced he would urge a similar proposal for the 1944 national Democratic platform.

Returns showed a heavy trend in favor of dropping the vote age from 21. Unofficial counts from 146 of the state's 1,735 precincts gave 10,099 for and 3,731 against.

The governor said he was confident the proposal would be adopted and announced the Georgia delegation to the Democratic national convention would insist that an 18-year-old vote plank be put in the platform.

Pioneer Texas Sheepman Dies

BALLINGER, Aug. 3. (AP)—D. E. Sims, 91, patriarch of Concho county and the first man to run sheep in this section of West Texas, died tonight in a hospital here. He never fully recovered from a stroke suffered four years ago and had been brought here from his home near Paint Rock nine months ago for treatment.

Funeral services are planned for Thursday here. Other arrangements were pending tonight.

Leaving his native state of Missouri at the age of 23 in 1878, he came to Texas in 1876 in a two-horse wagon. He established holdings along the Concho river in 1888 after bringing a flock of sheep from near San Antonio. At one time his land empire stretched for 20 miles along the Concho.

An Old Trail Driver

He was popularly known throughout the southwest as "the grand old man of Concho county." He was a leader in the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association and the Old Trail Drivers association. He took cattle up the trail to eastern and northern markets on six occasions.

Survivors include two sons, O. L. Sims, former Concho county judge, of Paint Rock and Will I. Sims, Dallas.

Allied Troops Crack Axis Mt. Etna Line

CLEANUP OF SICILY NEAR END — Cooredinated drives by Americans along the north coast and British-Canadians on the center and at Catania have brought the Allied campaign in Sicily almost to the mop-up stage, with Axis forces being trapped on the south side of Mount Etna and others being driven pell mell toward the Messina Straits and attempted flight to the Italian mainland.

Whole Northern Flank Exposed

Yanks Smash On, Nearing East Coast

By DANIEL De LUCE
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Aug. 3.—American and British troops have cracked the enemy's Mount Etna line at two points and tonight surged forward to draw a ring of steel around Sicily's volcanic bastion where many German troops now face entrapment.

The crushing American attack threw back the whole German northern flank. Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, jr.'s, Seventh Army occupied Troina yesterday, it was disclosed, and rolled on to within 40 miles of the east coast behind Catania.

Fresh American and British divisions were poured into the drive late tonight bringing fresh energy for the final push. One American outfit which had 23 days' hard fighting, much of it at night, was withdrawn Sunday and replaced by another group, veteran of the Tunisian campaign. The British 78th division also entered the fray.

Nazi Positions Menaced

By breaking through along the Troina-Taormina road on the north side of Mount Etna, the Americans threatened the German positions on the western slopes of the volcano, including those at Bronte.

Severed by the Americans to the north and the Eighth Army to the south, a big chunk of the Nazis' Mount Etna line was left dangling. The Allied offensive which got under way Sunday in accordance with plans, achieved all its initial major objectives on time and continued to sweep on.

The shortest American route to the eastern Sicilian shore runs inland through Cesaro—virtually at the Seventh Armys fingertips—often bombed Randazzo, and Castiglione.

The Americans also swept triumphantly onward along the steep bluffs of the north coast, and the Germans were expected to withdraw toward San Fratello.

The smashing strategic success achieved this week by Allied arms was shaping up literally into another "Cap Bon" disaster for the out-flanked, out-powered, outsmarted German corps of three divisions plus several battalions of paratroops.

General Nazi Retreat From Orel Indicated As Soviets Smash On Toward Big Base

By EDWARD D. BALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Wednesday, Aug. 4. — General German retreat appeared to be under way today at Orel where trip-hammer blows of Soviet forces carried the Russian offensive within five miles of the besieged city and sent the Germans reeling back with tremendous losses in men and arms.

South of Orel the Russians drove into Stish and Pilatovka, and from the east they occupied the railway station of Domnino, seven miles from the city, Moscow announced in a special communique.

Heaviest In Northwest

The heaviest fighting came in the muddy wheat fields northwest of Orel where the Germans fought insanely to stave off complete encirclement. German tanks and infantry were hurled out again and again in incessant counterattacks against the advancing Red Army units, the midnight communique said later.

But the Russians repelled all the Nazi blows, killing more than 2,000 Germans and destroying 13 tanks, 12 big guns and many trucks, said the bulletin recorded by the Soviet monitor.

About 1,500 Germans fell before the Russian columns moving in from the southwest where a number of populated places were taken from the Germans. More than eight tanks, four self-propelled and 19 field guns, 10 mortars and eight machineguns were destroyed and 19 guns, six radio transmitters and an ammunition dump were caputred.

Lubbock Continues To Swelter; New Records Reported Over State

Lubbock continued to bake Tuesday in the hottest weather in three years.

The thermometer at the state agricultural experiment sub-station equaled Monday's reading of 105 degrees, which was the highest since 1940. However, West Texas Gas company reported its instrument showed 110 "in the shade" at 4:30 p. m., one degree higher than its Monday peak.

A descending sun apparently meant little to the company's thermometer, for it was 108 at 6 p. m.

Heat records continued to be broken elsewhere in the state, according to the Associated Press.

Abilene reported an all-time high of 111 degrees. Relief was temporarily afforded by a local thundershower which drove the mercury down 17 degrees, but soon afterward the temperature started climbing again.

San Angelo also had an official reading of 111 degrees, a 20-year record.

Borger had a high of 105, compared with a scorching 113 degrees Monday.

Coleman blistered under a sun which sent the temperature up to 114 degrees, highest in weather bureau history. Crops in that section were reported dying from lack of moisture and many farmers were hauling water for livestock and domestic use. Coleman recorded a high of 110 degrees Monday.

Maximum temperatures included Vernon 119; Electra 118; Wichita Falls 112; Big Spring 107; Seymour 116; Altus, Okla., 118.5 and Frederick, Okla., 116.

P-38 Unit Runs Total Of Jap Planes To 124

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Aug. 2 (Delayed) (AP)—A P-38 unit ran up its total of enemy planes destroyed to 124 today in another battle which showed the superiority of American air fighters over the Japanese Zero.

Fourteen Lightnings, escorting heavy and medium bombers on a raid along the north coast of New Guinea, met an equal number of Japanese interceptors.

The P-38s shot down 11 of the Zeros and probably destroyed a twelfth. All of our planes returned safely.

Captain James Watkins, fighter ace from Crystal Springs, Miss., bagged three Zeros, raising his total to 11. He got seven others in engagements last week, and one previously.

The unit's total of 124 enemy plane victims is tops in this area and possibly the highest for a fighter unit in any theater of the present war.

In the P38-Zero battle Lt. James Harris, Mayville, Tex., shot down his first Japanese plane.

New Fighter Plane Is 'Fastest Ever Flown'

INGLEWOOD, Calif., Aug. 3 (AP) North America Aviation Co. took the wraps today off a new fighter airplane which its pilot said is the fastest ship ever flown.

The craft is the P-51B Mustang, now in quantity production for the U. S. Army as a high altitude fighter.

The streak of mechanized lghitning, with engineering test pilot Bob Chilton at the controls, flashed twice across the field at an altitude of about 25 feet. In 15 seconds it was out of sight.

RAF Out Again, Hamburg Lashed

LONDON, Wednesday, Aug. 4 (AP)—A force of British bombers so great it took hours to pass the coast droned out toward the continent last night apparently in the direction of northwest Germany where flaming and desolate Hamburg still shuddered from a new attack Monday.

Hamburg has cowered under nine Allied raids in ten days and Hamburg police, via Stockholm dispatches, were quoted as saying 30,542 persons were dead, wounded and missing, including 8,347 known dead. A Danish consular official estimated the dead at 200,000 but officials in London were skeptical of this estimate.

Great Weight Dropped

The air ministry said "a great weight of high explosives and incendiary bombs were dropped" in the last raid by the vast avenging armada striking through smoke-laden clouds which partly obscured the fresh destruction. Thirty bombers and two fighters were lost.

A correspondent of Aftonbladet of Stockholm quoted the Danish consular official as estimating that 200,000 were killed in Hamburg before last night in the most concentrated air raids in history, frankly aimed at blotting Europe's greatest port off the map. The estimate was regarded with skepticism in London; although the air ministry has said that virtually every part of Hamburg's 50 square

CHAPTER 1

SPRING came late to Moscow in 1941. Well into April, the heavy winter clouds that fell lower and lower, until every breath of the damp, compressed air rasped like a file in the lungs, hung over the Byzantine turrets of the Kremlin. Not until June 6 did the last snow fall. Those who had to stay with it cursed the dirty coat of ic,e the soggy piles of snow that clung to the cobblestoned street, and longed for the warmth of spring, not knowing that with it would come war.

Everyone, except those who should know, realized that the two greatest powers of continental Europe, Russia and Germany, were about to come to grips. For two cents, you could read in all the newspapers of America reports from Ankara, Berne, and London that Germany was to attack the Soviet Union. For nothing, you could hear in the chancelleries of Europe reports from Rumanian military attaches, Hungarian secretaries of embassy, and Finnish counselors of legation that conflict was coming to the eastern front.

But, in the censor-tight cylinder of Moscow, no one knew, not the foreigners, not the Russian people, not the Soviet leaders. The reason we did not know there would be war was that we did know the Soviet Union wanted peace at almost any price, would make almost any concession, even unasked, to escape war. What we could not know was that Germany was determined, in any case, to attack.

So we went on, cursing the tardiness of spring, and leading the strange life of that last winter of peace in Moscow.

THE Kremlin carried out all its customary rites. The Communist Party opened its eighteenth all-union conference February 15, and the Supreme Soviet held its eighth session February 25, and adopted a 1941 budget of 215,400,000,000 rubles, up from 179,000,000,000 in 1940, with about one third of the appropriations, or 70,900,000,000 rubles, allotted to national defense. Boxes of chocolates, bottles of fruit-juice, and piles of fruit were heaped up on the buffet tables of the Great Palace. The delegates from all the sixteen republics filed through the flood-lit entry of Troitsky Gate, showed their passes to successive lines of sentries, left their overshoes, fur-callared coats, and fur hats at the ground-floor cloakrooms, and went upstairs in electric elevators. In the white-walled council chamber they listened through earphones to speeches in the many languages of the Soviet Union about 'Anglo-French warmongers,' and the 'second imperialistic world war.' Then they filed out to stand around the buf-

Miss Ruth Harvey Weds Sgt. Schaefer

The marriage of Miss Ruth Harvey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Harvey of Route 5, Lubbock, and T/Sgt. Elton W. Schaefer, son of Mrs. F. C. Schaefer of Lockhart, took place at 8:30 o'clock Monday at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. Jeff D. Welch.

The bride wore a white two-pieced suit with navy blue accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The couple was attended by Miss Billie Wood of Lubbock and Pvt. Johnnie Graham of Birmingham, Ala.

Others attending the ceremony were the bridegroom's mother, the parents of the bride, and her sister, Miss Jo Ann Harvey.

Mrs. Schaefer is a former student of Texas Technological college with a major in music. Sgt. Schaefer is a graduate of Lockhart High school and squadron inspector at South Plains Army Air field.

The couple left for Austin and Lockhart for a few days and will be at home in Lubbock on their return.

Calvary Baptist WMS Studies Bible Lessons

Circles of Calvary Baptist WMS studied Bible lessons in the homes of members Monday afternoon. Mrs. H. R. Sprawls, 1910 Avenue P, was hostess to Lottie Moon circle, with 3 in attendance. Mrs. Sprawls taught the lesson.

Miss May Horn taught the Bible lesson when seven members of Mewshaw circle met in the home of Mrs. A. A. Bratcher, 2109 Twenty-fourth street.

The hostess, Mrs. J. H. Comer, taught the lesson, when members of Livingston circle met in her home, 1614 Avenue Q, for a mission study. Four were present, and it was voted to meet at 4 o'clock instead of 3 o'clock as they have formerly met.

Central Baptist WMS Circles Meet Monday

Central Baptist WMS members met Monday afternoon at the church for a business and social hour. The meeting was opened with the singing of "Stepping In The Light," under the leadership of Mrs. Ray Downing. Mrs. Boyd Crooks led the devotional and taught the lesson to six members and two visitors of Madonna circle from the 19th chapter of Luke.

Mrs. S. E. Fisher gave the opening prayer, and Mrs. Jeff D. Welch taught the lesson to seven members of circle 1 on "Faith," taken from the last three chapters of Hebrew.

Governor Proclaims Membership Week

AUSTIN, Aug. 3. (AP)—Parent-Teacher Membership week was proclaimed by Gov. Coke R. Stevenson today from Oct. 17-23.

"I call upon all of our citizens to aid and encourage the Texas Congress (of Parents and Teachers) in the splendid work it is doing for the welfare of our school children, who will soon be called upon to assume the responsibilities of citizenship," the governor said.

Mrs. Teal Cummings and daughter, Odessa, of Franklin, Ky., who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Miss Mary Etta Good, niece of Mrs. Huffines, arrived from Tulsa, Okla., Monday to spend the remainder of the summer with her aunt.

Miss Winnell Ratheal Weds Eugene Hardin

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Winnell Ratheal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Ratheal of McAdoo, to Eugene Hardin, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Hardin, which took place July 26 in the home of Rev. J. Lowell Ponder in Plainview.

The bride wore a beige alpaca suit with brown accessories. The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Thurston Winegar.

Mrs. Hardin is a graduate of Crosbyton High school and was a student in Draughon's Business college in Lubbock prior to her marriage.

The couple will make their home on the East Plains.

Rebekah Class Has Tuesday Election

Officers were elected by the Rebekah class of the First Baptist church at a luncheon at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the church.

Hostesses were Mesdames S. A. Beard, W. A. Terrell, E. A. Hankins, S. B. Hay and C. P. Cox.

Officers elected were: President, Mrs. R. D. Cole; first vice president, Mrs. R. J. Williams; second vice president, Mrs. J. W. Shaddix; third vice president; Mrs. W. A. Terrell; fourth vice president, Mrs. N. H. Lassiter; secretary, Mrs. J. D. Henly, and treasurer, Mrs. E. H. Waltermire.

Twenty-two persons attended. Guests were Mrs. Grace Bray, Mrs. E. P. McDaniels of Little Rock, Ark., Mrs. Dewey George, Mrs. R. S. Wilkinson and Dr. C. E. Hereford.

Talks were given by Dr. Hereford, Mrs. George and Mrs. Wilkinson.

The group voted to give $10 for the Roll of Honor sign listing names of Lubbock county men in service. The sign is being sponsored by the South Plains Navy Mothers club.

Clothing, Jewelry To Be Left At Red Cross

Warm clothing for Russia and junk jewelry to be sent to men overseas is to be shipped Monday, and all those who have either are to bring them by the Red Cross production room not later than Monday morning, Mrs. C. P. Carlock has announced.

The surgical dressing room at the Red Cross is still closed, but the production room will remain open from 8 until 12 o'clock in the mornings to receive the clothing and junk jewelry.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The East Side Women's Missionary society met Tuesday afternoon in the church.

Mrs. Nora Davis presented the devotional from the first chapter of Luke. Mrs. H. W. Hollyfield presided in absence of Mrs. Hershel Henkel, presilent. Mrs. W. B. Gaddy presented the closing prayer.

It takes a bushel of greens (32 pounds), to can five to seven quarts.

Former Techsans Wed In California

Word is received here of the marriage of Miss Joyce Gill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fleet Gill of Levelland, and Aviation Cadet Houston Wooly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Woody of Stanton, which took place July 21 in the Methodist parsonage in Ontario, Calif.

The bride wore a pale pink dress with gardenia shoulder and hair corsage. The couple was attended by friends of Cadet Woody.

Mrs. Woody is a graduate of Littlefield High school and of Texas Technological college, where she was a major in home economics. For the past year she has been a member of the faculty in Stanton public schools.

Cadet Woody is a graduate of Stanton High school and attended Texas Tech.

The couple is at home in Taft, Calif., where Cadet Woody is stationed.

Ideal Friendship Club Has Breakfast

Mrs. S. P. Gilbert was hostess at a breakfast Tuesday morning at her home, 1707 Twenty-first street, honoring members of Ideal Friendship club.

Mesdames W. L. Hester, J. D. Peters and Rufus Rush were guests at the breakfast.

Geraniums, roses and coleus were used throughout the house, and defense stamps on miniature flags served as plate favors.

Mrs. O. P. Clark told an appropriate story and Mrs. Gene Huggins was presented a gift from the members.

Attending were Mesdames Wade Cooper, R. E. Hamilton, Mack Johnson, W. T. Milam, C. E. Fike, D. M. Davis and Frank Mitchell.

The club will meet Sept. 14 in the home of Mrs. Hamilton, 1919 Twenty-third street.

Dokey Auxiliary To Be Organized Here

A woman's auxiliary to Dramatic Order Knights of Khorassan—the third in Texas—will be organized tonight in the Boabdil Dokey temple, at 1107½ Avenue K.

Mrs. Trucie Sink of Houston, imperial regent, will be in Lubbock, accompanied by Miss Zelma Wright Rhodes, captain of the Dallas Telma santha dramatic team, and four or five other Telma santha members, to assist in institution of the Lubbock santha after a 6 o'clock covered dish supper.

Houston's Mecca santha is the other organized group in Texas.

Name of the Lubbock santha will be decided tonight, as will a group of officers.

Eight women from Lamesa, three or four from San Angelo also are expected to attend.

Summer flowers were used throughout the house. Mrs. O. W. McGuire presided at the coffee service, assisted by the three hostesses.

Attending were Mesdames E. R. Gibson, Estell Hendrix, A. W. Young, D. O. Dawkins, G. H. Craig, M. L. Shepherd and R. K. Landreth.

Optimist and Opti-Mrs. clubs are to have a joint picnic on August 31 at 7 o'clock in the evening at Mackenzie State park.

Young Democrats To Meet At Chicago

C. L. Harris, Lubbock attorney and president of Young Democrats club of Texas, has received a telegram from Joe C. Carr, national president, of Nashville, Tenn., advising him of a "meeting of the national committee of Young Democrat clubs of America called to meet in Hotel Morrison in Chicago Aug. 25 and 26."

Harris, who will go Saturday to Austin to confer with the executive committee of the state organization, said Tuesday he would attend the Chicago meeting.

Purchases Of Bonds Brisk During July

South Plains Army Air field civilian and military personnel continued their speeded up purchases of war bonds during July for a total of $32,574 through the pay allotment plan and cash purchases.

Cash purchases by military personnel alone totaled more than $200 a day during the month.

Civilians put 11.28 per cent of their salary checks into war bonds, also boosting their percentage over the previous month. Thus the field is maintaining the record which recently won for it the coveted Minute Man flag and which soon will fly at the big field. Civilians put $10,790 in bonds through the pay allotment plan.

Officers and enlisted men invested a total of $15,409 for the month through the pay allotment plan.

Parks Contests Here Start Again Friday

Miss Effie Lou Keaster, summer recreation projects director, said Tuesday amateur night contests for war stamp prizes are planned in five of the city's parks, all on Friday night of this week, beginning at 8:30 o'clock.

Scenes of the programs will be Pioneer, Carlisle, Rollie Burns and Mackenzie State parks for white people and Booker T. Washington park for negroes. Talent is needed. Miss Keaster has asked those wishing to appear on the programs to report to supervisors of the individual parks as soon as possible.

After a lapse because of the polio scare, activities in parks will now be resumed as rapidly as conditions will permit, she announced.

The carp fish originally came from China and India and was imported by man into Europe, and this country.

Flying Fort Lives Up To Name Of "Patches"

AT A U. S. BOMBER STATION IN ENGLAND, Aug. 3. (AP)—The Flying Fortress, "Patches," really lived up to its name when it limped back from a raid on Kassel, Germany, July 30, punctured by nearly a thousand bullet and anti-aircraft holes.

She was flying hospital for most of the trip back to England as other crewmen, between shots at a swarm of German air tormentors, administered first aid to four injured men lying on the floor of the radio and nose compartments.

Explosives Dropped

The pilot took the bomber to Kassel without incident so that the bombaldier could dump the explosives.

Then trouble began.

Bounced around by the anti-aircraft explosions, besieged by fighters, "Patches" fought back to the enemy coast despite jammed throttles, badly damaged controls, most of the elevator gone and a big chunk torn out of the rudder.

The top turret gunner suffered a fractured leg when he was thrown about the turret and then stopped a bullet in his left thigh. But he refused to abandon his guns and shot down a Focke-Wulf 190 in flames.

Gets Another German

The ball turret gunner, accounted for another.

Both waist gunners, Sgts. Tom B. Wheeler, 26, Corsicana, Texas, and Willard J. Cronin, 30, Winthrop, Mass., were knocked unconscious by anti-aircraft bursts, but shock was their only injury.

The pilot was shot through the right hip and was forced to relinquish the controls to the co-pilot.

None of the crew was wounded seriously and only the pilot and turret gunner remain in the hospital.

Frailey Gets License To Remarry Ex-Wife

DALLAS, Aug. 3. (AP)—A. S. W. Frailey, Dallas radio announcer, today obtained a license to remarry Mrs. Mary K. Frailey, who was adjudged of unsound mind after shooting to death her two children by a former marriage.

The couple's previous marriage was ruled illegal because a divorce Frailey obtained in Florida from Mrs. Oga Frailey was set aside. Frailey applied for a license today a short time after he was granted a divorce in district court here from his estranged Florida wife.

Mrs. Frailey last week was placed in the Terrell State hospital, and Frailey's council today said her return to Dallas would be sought through habeas corpus proceedings.

Sunray Test Northwest Of Slaughter Planned

Sunray Oil Co., has filed application for a permit to drill a wildcat in Cochran county four miles northwest of the Slaughter field.

The test will be No. 1 Union Supply Co., 660 feet from the north and west lines of labor 10, league 59, Martin county school land survey. Drilling 5,000 feet is proposed.

Stanolind staked location in the Slaughter field in Hockley county for No. 2 Sue Alice Slaughter, scheduled 5,300-foot test, 670 feet north and 564 feet east of the southwest corner of labor 55, league 40, Maverick county school land survey.

There are three million miles of roads in the United States, or one mile of road for each square mile of area.

TEST FLOWING HEADS

WICHITA FALLS, Aug. 3 (AP) The Deep Rock Oil corporation of Tulsa No. 1 H. L. Morrison in the F. McLaurin survey is flowing 30-minute heads while operators are running tubing for further tests. The well is a wildcat two miles northeast of Munger and opens up a new Mississippian pool in Young county.

Ring Being Forced Slowly On Japanese

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press War Analyst

While the war in Europe is building up towards a thundering climax, news from the Pacific indicates that our forces there also are making progress, even if slow and on a much less spectacular scale.

The Americans apparently are closing in for the kill on the fiercely-contested Japanese base of Munda on New Georgia island. There also are signs that the Americans and Australians are preparing for the final assault on Salamaua and Lae, the twin Japanese bases on northwestern New Guinea.

Look Painfully Small

These two objectives at either end of a 750-mile island front look painfully small in relation to the vast area of the Pacific-Asiatic conflict. They will, however, be of importance in the long range Allied strategy which is unfolding and which must necessarily be slow in developing.

Unlike the European struggle, the Pacific war is still in its preliminary stages, as far as the offensive against Japan is concerned. There is only one point on which the two theaters of war are alike. That is, that the enemy has lost the initiative.

Japs Lose Offensive Too

In the case of the Axis in Europe, it looks like a permanent loss. Hitler is entirely on the defensive, and the prospects are extremely remote that he can regain the initiative on the Russian front, much less in the Mediterranean or anywhere else.

The Japanese, because of their naval and air losses, do not appear to have much chance of regaining the offensive in the Pacific. They might be capable of supreme land effort in China, but there, too, they may be handicapped by the steady development of Allied air power.

Part Of Broad Picture

The difficulties encountered by the Allies in New Guinea and New Georgia have disappointed many who felt that if that is to be the pattern of the Pacific war, it will be an almost unending struggle.

That is far wide of the mark. The New Guinea-Solomons campaign is part of a very broad picture. Its ultimate objective is the main Japanese base of Rabaul on New Britain. Possession of Rabaul would establish the Allies firmly on the enemy's southern flank, and push back his main bastion to Truk in the Carolines.

On the eastern flank, Wake island stands as an inviting target for American sea and air power from Hawaii. On the north, the Aleutians are being re-established as a basis for attack on the Japanese islands by way of Paramushiro, which already has been bombed.

On the west is China, soon, it is hoped, to be mightily reinforced by a drive through from Burma. Thus the ring is being forced, slowly but surely.

Aged Men Are Victims Of Freak Accident

BROWNWOOD, Aug. 3 (U.P.)—Funeral arrangements were made today for two 75-year-old victims of a freak accident.

The Rev. C. E. Moore and N. R. Sadler died last night from injuries received when Rev. Moore, pastor emeritus of the Brownwood First Christian church, fell from a fifth floor window and landed on Sadler, who was walking along the sidewalk.

Rev. Moore was former pastor of the Lockhart Christian church.

FLIER MISSING IN ACTION

LAREDO, Aug. 3 (AP)—First Lt. George Maher of the U. S. Army Air forces, who was awarded the first Distinguished Flying Cross for bravery in action in the southwestern Pacific, is missing in action, his mother, Mrs. Emma Quick Maher, said a telegram from the War department informed her.

News Briefs

Violet Baugh of 2116 Thirteenth street informed police Tuesday of the theft of a purse containing $20 and valuable papers, from Mackenzie state park.

A garage and two additions, a wash house and garage apartment, burned early Tuesday at 2002 Broadway. The loss was not insured. Mrs. J. S. Johnson was owner.

Sheriff Tom Abel Tuesday left for Gainesville with a 15-year-old girl who will be released to officials of a state reform institution there.

Police said they had been asked by Floydada officials to assist in locating a 1939 black Ford pickup type automobile, license 143-679, registered to R. T. Jones, and to apprehend a 17-year-old youth suspected of having stolen it. The suspect was dressed in brown slacks and orange boots when last reported seen.

Two youths were lectured by police and juvenile officials Tuesday afternoon after they allegedly had "beaten a little girl." A complaint came to police from 800-block Avenue M, they said.

Mrs. L. P. Culkin left Tuesday morning for Boise, Idaho, after visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bush, Levelland highway. She will join her husband there, Lt. L. P. Culkin, who was recently transferred from Tarrant field, Fort Worth, as an instructor at Gowen field, Boise.

A reunion of former residents of Blanco and Burnet counties will be conducted in Mackenzie state park Sunday, it was announced Tuesday.

Mrs. Ross Kirk and Mrs. Lois Brownlow of Lubbock received word of the death of their niece, Brenda Glee Holt, 11-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Holt of Grand Prairie, who died in a Dallas hospital Sunday of infantile paralysis. Mrs. Brownlow attended the funeral in Grand Prairie Monday.

The United Kingdom has agreed to provide American troops in Europe with 89,100,000 pounds of potatoes in 1943.

Tech War Library Open To Public

The War Information library at Texas Technological college now contains several hundred bulletins, pamphlets and other publications which are available to schools, service clubs, churches and other organizations and to individuals, Cecil Horne, head professor of journalism, announced Tuesday.

The library, one of seven key centers in Texas for distribution of information on various subjects related to the war, was established in 1942 under auspices of the United States Office of Education.

Since that time, material has been received from the Office of Education and various government agencies and other sources.

The material may be used in the journalism reading room on the second floor of the press building, open from 8 to 12 and 1 to 5 o'clock daily, or may be obtained by mail if the borrower will pay postage both ways.

The material is classified under the following general subjects: American Civil Liberties union, American Library association, American Public Affairs, Australian Information, Belgian Information, Business Education, Britain, Bulletins from Britain, Canada, Child Labor, China, Civilian Defense, Civil Service Work, Czechoslovak Information, Danish Information, Democracy, Domestic Resources and Economics, Education, Federal Agencies and National Defense, Filipino Information, Free French Information, India, International Affairs, International Labour Office, Latin American Relations, Lend-Lease Operations, Negro Race Relations, News Serices, Norwegian Information, Office of Price Administration, Pacific Relations, Polish Information, Post-War Planning, Propaganda, Public Housing, Publications of the National Policy Committee, Religion and the War, Recruiting Material of the Armed Forces, Selective Service, United Nations Information Office, United Nations Review and Inter-Allied Review, U. S. Chamber of Commerce Publications, U. S. Office of Facts and Figures, War Information, War Posters, War Production and Production Management, World Alliance News Letter and Yugoslav Information.

Bulletins listing material in the library may be obtained upon request.

Prof. Horne is chairman of the War Information library committee, other members of which are F. A. Kleinschmidt, Miss Ruth Spalding, Dr. Mina Lamb and Mrs. James G. Allen.

Another Class Starts Training At LAAF

Another large class of aviation cadets and students are now attending ground school and flying at the Lubbock Army Air field, having just arrived to start the final lap of their flight training.

Texans in the group include Student Kenneth A. Hill of Big Sandy, Cadet Harry L. Roy, jr., of Wellington, Cadet Homer C. Laxson of Parmela, Cadet Arthur D. Latimer of San Antonio, Cadet Jack W. Currie of Lott, Student William D. Halbert of Dallas, Cadet Raymond H. Meadows of San Angelo, Cadet Edward L. Hamilton of Dallas and Student Harold L. Potter of Weatherford.

Two other Texans in the class have seen service overseas prior to starting flight training. Cadet Ferrch F. Trapp of Houston was in the Royal Canadian Air forces for one year and Student Sidney E. Mayfield, jr., of Shamrock served two years in Alaska and the Aleutian islands before he was sent back to the states for flight training. In all 15 of the present class have seen foreign service.

COULD EXCHANGE TALENTS

LOS ANGELES, Aug., 3 (AP)—Dr. Alfredo C. Escovar, president of the University of Cauca at Popayan, Columbia, says South America could use some of North America's technical and scientific knowledge in exchange for Latin America's cultural development.

The good neighbor policy, he added in an interview, would be advanced by such an educational trade.

Mahon On Tour To Feel Public Pulse

George Mahon, congressman from the 19th Texas district, is getting around over the 25 counties, as he promised. This week he will have spoken in Seminole, Tahoka, Littlefield, Plainview, and Levelland. Last week he appeared more than once in Lubbock and also in Muleshoe, Seagraves, and Andrews.

Thursday of this week he will appear as a guest of the Rotary club in Tahoka, and will speak that night in Littlefield. Friday at noon he will be a guest at the Kiwanis luncheon in Plainview, which is to be a joint meeting of civic organizations, and on Saturday he is to fill an engagement in Levelland.

Administrator Cites Deficiency In Housing

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 3 (AP)—To overcome its present housing shortage, the United States will need to build from a million to two million new homes a year for fifteen years after the war, says John B. Blandford, jr., national housing administrator.

"We have always had a deficiency of housing and the deficiency has grown during the war," Blandford told a chamber of commerce dinner meeting last night."

Peace Moves Pose U.S.-Red Problem

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Henry J. Cassidy has just returned to his post as chief of the Associated Press bureau in Moscow after six months on leave in the United States).

By HENRY J. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Aug. 3.—A two-weeks flight from Washington to Moscow and frank talks with people at both ends of the line provide a rare birdseye view of Soviet-American relations: close co-operation in war but problems ahead for peace.

Both military and diplomatic officials indicate a steady improvement in day-to-day relations with co-operation now better than at any other time since the war started.

Although the third lease-lend protocol which was due to start July 1 is not yet signed, deliveries are being completed under the second agreement which expired June 30 and supplies are moving in the greatest volume ever.

Battlefields In Accord

On the battlefields, co-operation is shown by the coincidence of the Russian offensive on the Orel front with the Allied invasion of Sicily.

A tendency is apparent, however, in public and press of both sides to play down the other's actions.

Before I left the United States, there was some hesitation to accept the German attack at Kursk on July 5 as a full-fledged offensive, yet I have just seen striking evidence to that effect from within Nazi lines.

The evidence was contained in a diary found on the body of Hans Gerhardt, an officer in the 32nd German battalion of engineers.

On July 3 he wrote: "There's something in the air. It smells like a storm. It is the beginning of our offensive; it is time.

"Alarm. We are preparing to march. 1900 o'clock our first car leaves town for new victories. For a long time the Kursk salient has been like a pin sticking in our eye. We want it cut out."

Offensive Slows Down

On July 5 he continued: "9230 o'clock the sound of our planes fills the air."

By July Gerhardt recorded that the offensive was slowing down. On July 15 he reported his transfer to Orel to face the Russian counter-offensive. On July 18 he was killed at Bolkhov.

Similary, the Allied campaign in Sicily has been getting a relatively small play in the Soviet press. It was first referred to as a "landing operation on the island of Sicily" and now as "military operations on the island of Sicily."

In each case the word "island" is constantly used in the headlines, implying that the operation does not constitute a real second front.

President Roosevelt's broadcast on July 28, however, was given great prominence in the Russian newspapers, ocupying two columns in the foreign news sections.

Watch Italian Situation

The downfall of Mussolini raised the first great problem in the treatment of vanquised enemies and the Russians are watching closely the British-American handling of the Italian question.

Conversations here afford the clear impression that the Russians desire full and equal opportunity with the Allies to deal with such probems. The Russians feel that they should be consulted on Italian peace terms because they fought Italians and are still fighting the Germans, thereby leading to the complete collapse of Fascism.

President Roosevelt's statement: "Our terms to Italy are still the same as our terms to Germany and Japan — unconditional urrender" was published in the Soviet press.

Whether the Russias would approve of dealings with Badoglio, however, remains to be seen, although they didn't protest the use of Darlan as the French administrator in North Africa.

Negro Bound Over On Charge Of Forgery

Bail of $1,000 binding him over to await grand jury action was set Tuesday afternoon by J. T. Inmon, justice of peace, for James W. Dunn, 23, alias C. H. Brown, a negro who had been arrested by Parum Posey, chief deputy sheriff, on a forgery warrant.

Burton S. Burks, district attorney who filed the complaint, charged the negro forged a $20 check to which had been signed the name of R. L. Burdette, prominent Lubbock county farmer and stockman. The black admitted having distributed five forged checks, officials said.

City Asks Abatement In Suit By Stuart

City of Lubbock, through Durwood H. Bradley, city attorney, Tuesday afternoon filed a plea in abatement, an original answer and cross-action in a damages action brought against it by O. N. Stuart.

Stuart had asked judgment of $22,985 as result of a collision of Stuart's car July 12 at Twenty-fifth street and Avenue B with a city car alleged to have been driven by R. R. Campbell when Campbell was in his scope of employment by the city.

Stuart said he had suffered physical injury and property damage.

The city, on the other hand, based its plea in abatement on "premature filing of the case," alleging the city's "home ruls" charter makes it mandatory that a 90-day period elapse after filing of a written report of any claim against the city resulting from any alleged action of one of its employes. It further asked $350 damages assertedly inflicted on its car.

Effect Of Court Ruling On Cochran Bonds Is Studied By Officials

AUSTIN, Aug. 3 (U.P.)— Curtis Morris, tax expert of East Texas Chamber of Commerce, conferred with the attornep general's department here today on effect of the Texas Supreme court's ruling on county bonds last week.

The ruling on a Cochran county issue was on redeemable time of county bond issues. In effect, it holds that all county bonds are redeemable after 10 years, even though they be issued as 20, 30 or 40 year bonds. Unless the county at time of issuance specifies they shall not be redeemable before 10 years, the redemption can be any time after five years.

The court ruling so far does not extend to district bonds, though there is possibility that the same rule may be made if such issues are presented for construction.

The case involved primarily a shall Cochran county issue, but is said to be applicable to several millions of county bonds, many of them bearing higher interest than now prevalent.

FDR Sends Greetings To King Of Norway

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3. (AP) — President Roosevelt expressed "the fervent hope that the liberation of Norway may not be long delayed," in a message of congratulations to King Haakon the VII of Norway on his 71st birthday.

The message to the king, who is in London, read:

"On this anniversary of Your Majesty's birth I send you the best wishes of the peole of the United States as well as my own sincere and hearty congratulations. With them go the fervent hope that the liberation of Norway may not be long delayed."

Portrait Of Justice Cureton Disappears

AUSTIN, Aug. 3. (U.P.)—Baron Josef de Sigal's portrait of the late Chief Justice C. M. Cureton of the Texas Supreme court has disappeared.

Supposedly it had been in a crate in the records room of the court, but Court Clerk George Templin found upon opening the crate late yesterday that it contained only some frames.

The portrait was painted in 1937 for a committee of Austin lawyers and presented Nov. 12, that year. Later with Judge Cureton's consent it was sent to Houston and included in a display of the baron's paintings at a Houston hotel.

Houston papers in the crate were dated in February, 1939, indicating the return to Austin was about that year.

The portrait was valued at $2,500.

Romance Of Flying Hero Is Called Off

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 3. (AP)—Romance has flown from the hearts of Margaret Polk and Major Robert K. Morgan, the heroic young pilot of her Flying Fortress namesake, "The Memphis Belle."

That word came last night from blond Miss Polk who revealed: "There will be no wedding. But Bob and I will always be good friends."

She refused to disclose the reason for the break, saying only that it was made by mutual agreement.

The major is on a tour of war plants with his plane and crew.

Hog Breeders Hold Plainview Banquet

PLAINVIEW, Aug. 3 (Special) W. L. Stangel, head of the animal husbandry department of Texas Technological college, presided as toastmaster at a dinner party in Hilton hotel here tonight, attended by Poland China hog breeders in Plains counties.

A number of talks were heard, including one from a representative of the American Poland China Record association. John Adams of Tulia, president of the association, also was on the program.

The first auction sale of registered sows and boars, to which a number of Poland China breeders in Lubbock and Hale county have consigned their best animals, will be conducted in the dairy barn here Wednesday.

L. M. Hargrave, vocational agriculture teacher at Wolfforth, is secretary and treasurer of the association, organized here last spring at the time of the Panhandle-Plains Dairy association show.

Damage Suit Filed On Ice Firm Here

Stanley Ray Nelson, 22-months-old, and his mother, Ruth Nelson as next friend and individually, went into 72nd district court Tuesday afternoon and asked judgment for damages totaling $15,640, naming Crystal Ice Co., a corporation of Lubbock, defendant.

They set up in their petition that the child was permanently injured May 26 when, it further was related, P. H. Nall, described as an employe of the ice company, backed his truck over the child, in the 2311-B Texas avenue driveway of the mother.

Mrs. Nelson asked $15,000 for the child, $640 for herself for hospitalization funds she said she had expended.

Crude Prices Lifted In Kentucky Areas

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3. (AP) — The Office of Price Administration (OPA) lifted crude petroleum ceilings in specified areas in Kentucky today from five to 12 cents a barrel.

In another field royalty owners were allowed ten cents a barrel increase over the present flat price $1.35. Ony on sales for the royalty owners does this increase apply in this area, which is Woodsboro field, Refugio county, Tex. On seven-eights of production in this field the existing ceiling price of $1.25 was not changed.

VERDICT IS AWAITED

HOUSTON, Aug. 3 (U.P.) — Authorities awaited a verdict today into the death of Mrs. Ruby Marie Martin, 25, found dead yesterday in a garage at the rear of her home with a 22-caliber rifle beside her. Police said Mrs. Martin had been shot once through the head.

New Portable Pipeline Being Used In Sicily

NEW YORK, Aug. 3. (AP)—Several thousand miles of a new portable, flexible, steel pipeine contributed to the Allied victory in Tunisia and now is being used in Siciy with the same effectiveness.

This was revealed, with War department approval, in a press conference by Alexander Fraser, president of the Shell Oil company. He said Sidney S. Smith, manager of the products pipe line department of Shell, originated the line and that it was put into use by the Army after two years of experimenting.

Vital gasoline and water were pumped in separate lines varying from 75 to 300 miles in length, keeping pace with the advancing American and British troops in Tunisia, said Fraser.

Fraser said Army crews with brief training can lay the pipe — fabricated in 90-pound, 20-foot sections—at the rate of 20 to 30 miles a day. Damage from enemy bombing, he added, is relatively ineffective because pumping stations can be replaced within a few hours.

A 60-page booklet, issued by the Nazi in Poland, contains only the titles of Polish authors' books that are prohibited reading.

Mills In Area Hike Cottonseed Prices

Cottonseed oil mills on the South Plains today are paying $55 a ton in car lots for seed which grade 100 per cent, based on oil and protein feed content. This boost of $6 a ton over last year's ceiling now represents both the ceiling price permitted by the OPA and is the floor, or support, price effected by the Commodity Credit corporation.

Simultaneously with the effective force of the higher prices allowed farmers for their seed also came announcement from the CCC in Washington that cottonseed meal and cake had been increased approximately the equivalent amount, the new ceiling on meal being $53 a ton, as against last year's $41.

Should Be Processed

Mill operators called attention to the fact that one pound of meal or cake equals approximately two pounds of cottonseed in protein content. For years, this has been the logic used by processors, and experiment stations as well, for urging farmers to leave their seed at the gin so the crushers might process them all and the farmer in turn could be given an equivalent in protein feeds for approximately the same money.

Since the war, and the importance of cottonseed as a producer of linters, hulls, and vegetable oil, all vital by-products for the war effort, has impressed itself upon the public, the procedure has been followed almost without exception by every cotton grower.

Grading Plan Changed

A method of grading invoked last year by the government brought delay and dissatisfaction, however, and Washington representatives who came here two weeks ago to talk to ginners at their annual Plains Ginners association meeting said a plan will be worked this year to eliminate the delay of returning samples and compensating the farmer for his seed which is believed will prove more satisfactory. It is understood, in conversation with Dr. G. S. Meloy, cotton marketing expert representing the CCC, that samples this year will be taken by the gins and graded by the mills instead of being sent to Fort Worth.

South Plains crushers said last year a large percentage of the seed produced in West Texas was low in protein and oil content, and under government grading rules, prices had to be applied in accordance. It was said this quality gradually lessened as the ginning season advanced.

Little Change For Mills

Crushers pointed out that the advance in prices of $6 a ton for seed and $12 a ton for meal left the mills in almost exactly the same position they were before, since the amount of their "take" is no more, in spite of a misconceived idea of part of the public that a $12 boost in the price of meal and cake would mean greater profits to the mills. One crusher said he is glad the farmer will receive more for his seed, and that he thinks the farmer is due an increase of even greater amount than has been posted, but that in the new ceilings the mill cannot figure another dime profit more than they have been getting.

Excessive Profits Cut By Renegotiation Of Government Contracts

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3. (AP) — Renegotiation of contracts has eliminated $3,555,174,000 in "excessive profits," the War, Navy and Maritime agencies reported today.

This saving, the joint report said, does not include savings resulting from lower prices in succesive contracts, which were estimated merely at "many times greater."

Saving were listed as:

Army, $2,497,400,000; Navy, $969,454,000; Maritime commission, $88,320,000.

Convoy Eludes Pack Of German U-Boats

LONDON, Aug. 3. (U.P.)—How a wolfpack of 25 to 30 German submarines lurking to waylay a large and valuable eastbond convoy was told today in a communique which reported at least two of the U-boats sunk.

British warships and long range planes operating from the United Kingdom and Iceland subjected the prowling submarines to such relentless assault that they never were able to strike directly at the convoy, a joint communique of the admiralty and air ministry revealed.

At least two U-boats were destroyed, a third might have been sent to the bottom, and many others were attacked in a running battle fought by daylight and in bright moonlight at night.

"The successful passage of the entire convoy was an outstanding achievement, because the enemy force had been built up over a period for the purpose of launching a major attack," the communique said.

Second Daughter Born To Fred B. Snites

CHICAGO, Aug. 3. (U.P.)—Mrs. Fred B. Snite, jr., wife of "The Boiler Kid," who has lived more than seven years in an iron lung, gave birth today to an eight-pound, one-ounce baby girl at the Chicago Lying-In hospital.

Mrs. Snite was reported "doing very well," by her physician. The Snites have another daugther, Teresa Marie, who was born in September, 1940.

Snite was stricken with infantile paralysis in China in 1936, while on a world tour. Since that time he has lived in a specially construced 800-pound iron lung except for short intervals when he wears a portable respirator. He suffered a series of minor heart attacks recently.

He and Mrs. Snite, the former Teresa Larkin, of Dayton, O., were married on Aug. 10, 1939.

Funds To Complete Honor Sign Sought

An intensive drive is being conducted this week to obtain $300 ot complete the Roll of Honor sign listing names of Lubbock county men in service, Mrs. A. C. Sanders, chairman of the sign committee, said Tuesday afternoon.

The sign is located on the lawn south of the courthouse. It is sponsored by the South Plains Navy Mothers club.

The funds being sought now are needed to construct wings to the sign to add almost 2,000 additional names. The sign already lists the names of 3,750 men in service.

Donations may be placed in a box at the sign site or may be mailed to Mrs. Sanders, 1420 Main street.

Vice-Admiral Hoover Being Assigning To Sea

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Aug. 3. (AP) — Vice-Admiral John H. Hoover, United State representative in the negotiations which resulted in Admiral Georges Robert turning over his martinique authority to the Allies, it being detached from his duties as commander of the Caribbean sea frontier for a new post at sea.

Tenth naval district headquarters announced this today but did not disclose Hoover's new command nor his successor's name.

Crosby Wildcat Test Is Spudded

Drilling will be started today by the Rogers Bros. Drilling company on a 3,200-foot wildcat oil test, the No. 1 W. H. Belding, in Crosby county. The test was spudded in Tuesday.

Location of the test is 660 from the north, 1,980 feet from the east line of the section 4-1, Block 15, WTRR survey. It is about half way between Ralls and Post, about a mile and a half east of the Canyon Valley gin in Crosby county and one mile southwest of the wildcat drilled in the fall of 1941 by George Callihan of Abilene and C. L. Waggoner of Tulsa on the Crosby county ranch of E. M. Wahlenmaier of San Angelo.

The Calligan-Waggoner operation showed for five to six barrels of 40 gravity oil daily from 2,900-20 feet following two shots, the first with 120 quarts of nitroglycerine from 2,980-85 feet, the second with 140 quarts from 2,900-30. It was abandoned dry at 4,034 feet. Location was 467 feet out of the northeast corner of section 3-1-WTRR.

E. M. Wahlenmaier and George Callihan's No. 1 Guy Price, northern Garza county wildcat 4 1-2 miles southwest of Rogers Bros. Drilling Co.'s No. 1 W. H. Belding, was running 12 1-2 inch casing late in the week after encountering a hole full of salt water at 430 feet. A good fresh water vein was struck around 100 feet.

No. 1 Price is 660 feet out of the southeast corner of section 1116, block D-15, T. T. Ry. Co. survey, 1 1-4 miles south of the Crosby county line and about 15 miles north of Post. Drilling 4,200 feet to explore the Clear Fork section of the Permian lime is planned.

Yanks And Tigers Divide Twin Bill

Yankees Unable To Pass First Corner In Opening Tussle

NEW YORK, Aug. 3. (AP)—For one half of a doubleheader today, the Yankees couldn't get a man past first base. Then they made an extra-base parade out of it the rest of the way and split the twin bill with the Detroit Tigers.

Virgil (Fire) Trucks and little Lefty Roy Henshaw, who took over when Trucks pulled an arm muscle in the sixth, combined on a fancy three-hitter to blank the Yanks 4 to 0 in the opener. In the afterpiece, the Bombers got 16 hits, including two homers by Charley Keller, for a 12 to 4 decision.

Riddle Makes First Bobble Since 1938

CINCINNATI, Aug. 3 (AP)—The longest errorless run by a pitcher in big league history came to an end today when Elmer Riddle of the Cincinnati Reds was guilty of his first fumble since he broke into the big time in 1939.

The bobble came in the third inning of today's games with the Giants when Riddle fielding a bunt and trying to force Billy Jurges at second threw wide past shortstop Eddie Miller.

It was Riddle's 102nd major league game and his string of 101 without an error far surpasses the previous big league record of 88 chalked up by Ted Lyons of the Chicago White Sox from August 11, 1934, to June 12, 1938.

Naval Ruling Is Discounted

All-Star Classic To Be Unaffected

CHICAGO, Aug. 3. (AP)—Football in the Midwest, particularly the annual all-star game, will not be affected by the Navy department's ruling which sets a territorial limit in which teams representing Naval stations and bases may play.

Neither will schedules of the nearby Great Lakes Naval Training station or the Iowa Pre-Flight school at Iowa City, Iowa, be disturbed.

Doesn't Touch Schedules

The Iowa Pre-Flight schedule, which includes games with "Big Ten" schools, Notre Dame and Marquette, was arranged to comply with the 48-hour absence-from-post rule and also to obtain the best possible competition for the cadets. Lt. Comdr. Harvey Harman, athletic director of the Iowa Seahawks, reported he was going ahead with plans to carry out the schedule.

Great Lakes has scheduled all but one of its games within the 9th Naval district and six of them at home. None of the Great Lakes games will require the sailors to be absent from the post for even 48 hours. Work is being rushed on completion of a football stadium at Great Lakes to seat 35,000.

Arch Ward, sports editor of the Chicago Tribune, which annually sponsors the all-star game, said the game between the collegiate all-stars and the Washington Redskins at Northwestern university's stadium Aug. 25 would not be affected by the Navy regulations that read: "Individuals who are or have been prominent in sports will not engage in contests away from their stations except as members of a team representing that activity."

ALSAB'S DEBUT SET

CHICAGO, Aug. 3. (AP)—Alsab, whose 1943 racing debut was postponed because of adverse track conditions last week, was nominated today to make his initial appearance of the year in the $10,000 added Chicago handicap at Washington park next Saturday.

Favorites Advance In Junior And Boys Tennis Tournament; Weather Halts Play

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Aug. 3. (AP)—Play in the national junior and boys tennis tournament was halted this afternoon by weather, with many singles and doubles matches moved to tomorrow, but there was an unbroken advance of favorites in the morning round.

Little Herbert Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., top-seeded in the boys' division, advanced to the third round by blanking John Taylor of Tannersville, N. Y., 6-0, 6-0. Sixth seeded Edwin Davis of Baton Rouge, La., defeated J. Scott Donaldson of Minneapolis, 6-0, 6-1.

Texan Wins

In a match carried over from yesterday, third ranking Rodrigo Dellano of Laredo, Texas, eliminated Don Vought of Neenah, Wis., 7-5, 4-6, 6-4.

The junior division, second seeded James Brink of Seattle downed Davis Brown of Toledo, 6-1, 6-1. Fourth seeded Eugene Garrett of San Diego, Calif., defeated John Riihiluoma of Bermuda, 6-2, 6-1, and fifth seeded Ed Ray of Taft, Texas, ousted Linton Baldwin of Brook, 6-1, 6-4.

Andrews To Serve Again With Stars

DALLAS, Aug. 2. (AP) — Small Billy Andrews is on his way to Chicago to serve again as student manager for the College All-Stars in the charity game at Northwestern university stadium Aug. 25.

Billy, a student manager at the University of Texas since he was a freshman, will be senior manager in the coming football season.

Last year Billy went to the all-star game with Mal Kutner, Texas grid great. Lynn Waldorf, Northwestern university coach, spotted Billy and made him manager of the All-Stars.

This year Billy travels with Roy McKay, Texas fullback named to play with the All-Stars.

Top seeded Bob Falkenburg of Hollywood gained the third round yesterday.

In another junior second round match Bernard Bortzen of San Angelo, Texas, defeated Billy Windham of Orlando, Fla., 6-3, 7-5.

Appling Takes Hitting Lead

Wakefield Shoved Into Second Place

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 (AP) — Luke Appling, 34-year-old veteran shortstop with the Chicago White Sox, is gunning for the batting championship of the American league which he held seven years ago.

Figures released today show him perched at the top with .331. In his last nine games, Appling got 18 hits in 40 trips to boost his average 14 points. He shoved Detroit's $52,000 rookie, Dick Wakefield, into second place with .321. Guy Curtright, the White Sox portly outfielder, was third with .319.

Musial Leads Nationals

Stan Musial and Billy Herman are still running one-two in the National league hitting race, but in the past week Arky Vaughan started to move up for the stretch run.

The veteran Brooklyn infielder climbed from sixth place to a tie for third in the batting parade during the past seven days and wound up with a .313 average. Musial, meantime, fell off six points to .340 average. Herman sported a .330 mark.

Par Untouched In Broadmoor Prelim

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Aug. 3 (AP)—John Zermatten of Broadmoor and Larry McArthur of Greeley, overshot par six strokes today for 76s, the best scores in the second day of qualifying for the 23rd Broadmoor invitation golf tournament.

The tourney's medalist still was undetermined. Lt. Matt Palacioo, jr., of Lincoln, Neb., and Lt. Robert Busler, Camp Carson, Colo., tied yesterday at 73, and will play off for the medal during the week.

It took an 84—higher than normal—to qualify for the championship flight.

Defending Champion Johnny Kraft of Denver ran into bogie trouble and shot 38-39—77 today.

Norris Russell, Denton, Tex., had a card of 38-39.

Paul Smith of Amarillo, Tex., shot an 80.

Fred Apostoli Proposed As Boxing's 'Man Of The Year'

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 3. (AP)—Red headed Ensign John Mitchell Quigg, just back from a southwest Pacific battle zone, hunched his 185-pound frame forward and said:

"Mister, if anybody deserves the 'man of the year in boxing award' this year it is Fred Apostoli who was a gun captain aboard my ship. Apostoli, as you know, is the former world's middleweight boxing champion and from your city, right here.

Morale Builder

"He's a boatswain's mate, first class, and has been through the thick of fighting in 11 months out there. From the standpoint of bravery under fire Apostoli may be described as a hero like all the rest.

"But I'm not proposing him as the 'man of the year in boxing' for military fighting reasons so much as for his value as a morale builder-upper. His influence on the seamen in the entire task force has been remarkable and this up lift in spirits has been transmitted to the officers.

Shows Who's Boss

"Apostoli is the chief boxing instructor of the force. In port he trains the seamen on the foc'sl, averaging 50 to a class. He is really selling boxing to the kids. When the ships return from sea duty, a smoker is arranged, each ship contributing talent.

"Fred referees all the bouts and ends up boxing an exhibition. He boxed three Marines in succession one night. The Marines, you know, are tough, tough fellows. One of them got ambitious and was punching for keeps. Apostoli had to drop him to show who was boss.

Sewell Fined For Failure To Obey

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 3 (AP) — National League President Ford C. Frick today fined Pitcher Rip Sewell of the Pirates $50 for failing to leave the dugout immediately when ordered to do so by Umpire Lou Jorda during last night's Boston-Pittsburgh game.

Sewell again was ordered from the Pirate bench today, even before the game got under way, evidently for protesting too loudly about the fine.

On Feeding The Conquered

INDICATIONS are that the inhabitants of lands reclaimed from the Axis will be supplied a bountiful fare if the Office of Foreign Relief and Rehabilitation has its way.

Reports the other day said that officials of OFRR, which is headed by former Governor Lehman of New York, "sniffed" when they learned that inhabitants of Sicily have been receiving a thick, nourishing and tasty stew from Army kitchens. Stew, according to the OFRR view, seems not to be good enough for former enemies who probably hadn't eaten a square meal for two years or longer. The OFRR contends they should be supplied—at the cost of the American taxpayers, of course—a fare which equals that of the typical American family.

Most Americans unquestionably recognize that food must be supplied the people of liberated lands. Most Americans realize that food is one of the most powerful weapons possessed by the United Nations.

But not many will endorse the notion that liberated peoples should be supplied, without cost, a fare equalling that of the typical American family—and for which the typical American family must pay full price. Most Americans will hold the view that, if the appetites of those receiving help are so jaded that they must pick and choose what they eat, then they can't be very urgently in need of help.

It would seem that starving people would be thankful for what they get, so long as there is enough of it. Probably they are thankful. Certainly there has been no complaint reported from Sicilians because of the stew. Probably there won't be any complaints unless some organization, like OFRR, spoils the recipients of help into the belief that they are entitled not only to enough food, but to the kinds of food hat appeal most to their individual tastes.

No Haven For Criminals

SOME of the neutral nations, such as the Argentine, almost certainly were displeased by the "request" of President Roosevelt last week that they not provide haven for the war criminals of the Axis.

But, since it has become clear that Russia and Britain endorsed Mr. Roosevelt's thinly-veiled warning, it appears most unlikely that any nation will be so foolhardy as to disregard it.

It has been accepted as fact for years that many leaders of the Nazis and Fascists, from the highest to the lowest, have tried to prepare for the day when they might be driven from power. Reports are that they have deposited huge sums of money in various other countries. Deposits of this kind are said to have been placed in Switzerland, Spain and even in New York. But most of the Axis criminals seem to have favored Buenos Aires. They apparently have imagined that they would find sanctuary in the Argentine, where they intended to spend the rest of their lives in luxury. They apparently have intended to follow the example of the German kaiser, who fled to Holland in 1918, reputedly with some 40 million dollars in gold and highly negotiable securities.

If this has been their plan it is ridiculous to suppose that it has been without the knowledge and approval of the governments of the nations in which they have expected to seek refuge. It is more than a logical probability that the Argentinian government, which has been extremely pro-Axis, actually has intended to welcome these well-heeled war criminals.

If this has been the plan, the expectation must be that the Argentine will abandon it reluctantly. But it will have to be abandoned if the United Nations remain firm. No exercise of force would be required so far as the Argentine is concerned. A trade boycott would be sufficient to bring about speedy revolution there.

Mr. Roosevelt's "request" will and should be as universally endorsed as any action he ever has taken. There is nothing upon which there is a more unanimous agreement at this time than that the war criminals must be punished. As an example for the future, they must not be permitted to enjoy their loot. Otherwise, the future peace of the world will be less secure.

Moscow Dateline

BY HENRY C. CASSIDY
Veteran Associated Press Correspondent In Russia

fet tables or stroll in the high-ceilinged, red-carpeted corridors.

Joseph Stalin sat in his habitual place, far back and to the right of the rostrum. Stalin, looking from the distant press box like a tiny, animated doll, fashioned like his stuby figure and wearing his Ariatic mask, joked and laughed with his colleagues during the long speeches, rose to applaud with the others, when his own name was mentioned, and then sat down again to return to his banter.

The people outside the Kremlin formed their eternal queues. They stood in line for bread, milk, and meat; they waited at kiosks for the evening newspaper, Vechernaya Mosqva, to see if there were any advertisements of sales; they stood for movie tickets to 'Musical Story,' a Soviet version of the American Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers films; they waited for bus or streetcar tickets to go home. Then they made their tea or poured their vodka, and sat around their tables, talking sometimes of the war abroad, but more often of rubles and food and drink at home.

The foreigners made their own little rounds.

BETWEEN diplomatic dinners, there were cocktail parties for visitors, and luncheons by junior members of the corps. Week-ends the 'fun gang' would escape to the American dacha, a tiny jewel of a country house, set on a ridge at Nemchinovka, off the Mojhaisk chaussee, later to be a battlefield. From the outside, it was a rickety-looking shack, with Toonerville Trolley chimneys and a sagging roof. But the large main room had a big fireplace that shed warmth, light, and cheerfulness over the rustic furniture. In the rear a circular garden, built around a fountain, looked out over a pleasant green valley.

Except at the dacha, the conversation was eternally politics. Every important phrase of the Pravda, every gesture of a member of the Soviet government, was twisted and turned and tortured with analysis and interpretation. Now, it seems as though every act of that last winter in Moscow followed a fatal path. But then, it was not so evident. And there was much to examine.

Early in the winter, the Axis was riding high. Germany signed with the Soviet Union a new trade treaty, calling among other items for the greatest amount of wheat ever conceded by one country to another, and Viacheslav Molotov, foreign minister and then prime minister, went off in a blaze of ceremony to visit Adolf Hitler. Most of the diplomats telegraphed their governments that Russia probably was about the join the tri-power pact of Germany, Italy, and apan. But Molotov returned with his pen dry.

This period reached its climax on Easter Sunday when Russia signed its neutrality pact with Japan, and Stalin came to the railroad station to see off Yosuke Matsuoka, then Japanese foreign minister. That was probably the weirdest public performance ever indulged in by the chief of a great state.

MATSUOKA had come twice to Moscow. The first time was on his way to Berlin and Rome. The correspondents had a talk with him soon after his first arrival, and he seemed to be just a pleasant little man with spiked hair, a black pipe, and a great gift of gab. Jean Champenois, then of Havas, described him best as 'an English country gentleman painted yellow.' He told us he hoped to stay longer on the return visit, after going to see Hitler and Mussolini, and it was obvious that his highly publicized visit to Berlin and Rome was only a screen for more serious talks with the Russians. He came back, planning to stay seven days, remained on for ten, and started to leave, apparently empty-handed, when he was called to the Kremlin that Easter Sunday morning, and the neutrality pact was signed.

He was due to leave that afternoon at 4:50 p.'m. on the trans-Siberian express. I was at the station to cover the departure, but when train-time came, Matsuoka had not yet arrived. The train was held, and Axis members of the diplomatic corps who had come to see him off wandered aimlessly about the platform until Matsuoka drove up at the head of a caravan of cars, flying the Japanese flag, and emerged with an exuberant escort of Japanese embassy officials. They stood, shaking hands and embracing, outside his car. It was 5:50 p. m. It looked as though the train were about to leave. I turned to leave the group and run down the platform to telephone the departure. Taking the first stride, I nearly fell over two little men, walking unescorted up the platform. They were Stalin and Molotov!

EVERY time I have seen Stalin, my chief impression has been that the man does not look real. He has been portrayed and cartooned so often, and resembles so closely all the pictures and caricatures and busts himself, that he always seems to be an animated figure from a printed page. That day, with his narrow eyes squinting and his sallow face pale in the sunlight, he appeared even more unreal. His uniform, too, of khaki kepi and greatcoat, over black boots, but with no insignia whatsoever, looked like a doll's dress. He walked stiffly, his arms straight, unbending at his sides. Molotox looked like another animated cartoon of himself with his oversize moon face set between a gray European felt hat and topcoat.

They approached the group awkwardly, obviously not practiced as were the diplomats in the art of ceremonial leave-taking on a railroad platform. Then they picked out Matsuoka, and Stalin approached him and hugged him several times without speaking. But Stalin had another mission that day.

He walked around the tight little circle, shaking hands on all sides, and then looked up, as though seeking someone. He selected a German officer, Colonel Hans Krebs, one of the many standing stiffly at attention in their long gray coats, and approached him. Stalin peered up sharply at the officer's face, and asked twice: 'German? German?'

'Yes, sir,' the officer said, saluting.

Stalin shook his hand, and said: 'We shall be friends.'

Bewildered, Colonel Krebs, who was then German acting military attache, stared down at Stalin, saluted again as the Soviet leader continued the rounds, and followed him with puzzled eyes. Stalin's phrase, 'We shall be friends,' was overheard by many who understood Russian well. It was whispered quickly from ear to ear. It stirred immediately a flood of speculation: Did he mean it as an expression of personal friendship for Krebs? Os was it a proclamation of Soviet-German friendship? Was it a calculated gesture? Or was it done on the spur of the moment? Most of those present thought it was planned in advance, applied not to personalities, but to states.

That was the high point of Soviet-German friendship and of Matsuoka's departure. Stalin led the way into Matsuoka's car, exchanged a few more words with him there, and slipped away on the empty platform on the far side of the train.

Looking At Life - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

MRS. ELEANOR ROOSEVELT has disappointed me.

As she crossed the gangplank to attend the christening of a barge out at Port Angeles, Wash., she dropped her purse into 24 feet of water.

Her money, plane tickets, eye glasses and all the feminine geegaws that even a Mrs. Roosevelt purse contains, dropped to the bottom of Puget Sound.

The next day, however, she received a phone call from Leiter Hackett, a Seattle diver, who told her he had searched the spot where she dropped the purse, recovered it and was sending it to her.

That's where my disappointment comes in.

I have always had a tremendous respect for Mrs. Roosevelt.

What a woman! Washington, D. C., today, Seattle, Wash., tomorrow.

Always on the go. Mount a plane—Mrs. Roosevelt across the aisle. Board a train—Mrs. Roosevelt in the seat ahead of you.

When I finally get to St. Peter's gate I fully except to find Mrs. Roosevelt, suitcase and knitting bag in hand, arriving just ahead of me, on an inspection trip.

But why did she let that diver get the purse for her?

What a beautiful publicity stunt she missed:

MRS. ROOSEVELT should have called for a diving suit, leaped to the bottom of the bay, herself, rescued the purse, come to the surface, and with a gracious bow taken her seat in the grandstand's first row, posed for the photographers and smilingly said to the reporters, while straightening her hair:

"Oh, it was nothing, just part of My Day."

Eleanor Roosevelt has been kidded a lot. But I have always had a soft spot in my heart for her.

She is the typical American — tremendous energy, always on the go, restless, ever-ready to express an opinion, the power behind the throne (like most American wives); push, enthusiasm, optimism; iconoclast, shrewd politician.

If ever I had to paint a picture of Uncle Sam's wife, I'd use her for the model.

Aunt Eleanor, would you pose for me?

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

A FIERCE backstage row developed here American air transportation companies regarding the postwar setup. The feud furnishes a faint hint of the difficulties which will confront this and other countries when the day arrives for actual international flying on a global scale.

On July 2 U. S. Air Forces General Henry H. Arnold summoned to his office the presidents of firms operating home and overseas routes. It was an extremely exclusive conference and no one except top executives were admitted.

He explained that President Roosevelt was already formulating a program for the future, and that the task of preliminary planning had been entrusted to the Army. The general said he supposed the 15 domestic lines would want a share in the foreign service, but that such an arrangement was highly impracticable.

In any round-the-world system, he pointed out, no more than three or four corporations should control the skies. These would be, presumably, Pan-American Airways, American Export Airlines, TWA and possibly one other.

He wound up by urging the assembly to unite on some definite scheme and to report to him with it as a basis for initial study. From then on things began to happen thick, fast and furiously.

REFUSED: That same afternoon the domestic companies, meeting with their competitors, agreed to settle their own difficulties, adopt a program and submit it to firms now operating international networks. Then the two groups were scheduled to offer their final decision to the War department.

But later the 15 local presidents gathered alone and initiated a plan in which each concern would share world-wide business. They also advocated private ownership with strict federal regulations, as against the monopolistic systems most nations have been forced to adopt.

Their proposal runs counter to official thinking, which believes that the answer is either one government line managed under Washington auspices, or a few powerful corporations supported by U. S. Treasury funds if necessary.

Otherwise, men like General Arnold, Secretary Hull and FDR foresee all sorts of complications and a hodgepodge condition leaving us at the mercy of rivals in the global race for aerial supremacy.

The "locals" released their suggestions to the press despite these considerations and their previous understanding with General Arnold and the firms with foreign routes. They "beat the gun." Naturally, Pan-Am, American Export and similar interocean establishments refused to accept the memorandum.

SAPS: Germans who reached manhood during the Hitler regime have been so indoctrinated with the "might is right" theory that they are beyond reclamation or re-education in Henry Wallace's program of teaching moral and democratic ideals to our foes' soldiery, once we have conquered them.

That is the conclusion of an expert Washington investigator who recently visited numerous camps of Teuton and Italian war prisoners. He cannot be identified, but here are the highlights of his observations:

"These Hitlerites are not human beings; they are animals. They sneer and laugh at all the simple, old-fashioned decencies in which you and I believe. They have been trained in that manner from childhood, for their average age is about 20 and Hitler has been in power 10 years.

"At one place I saw two Nazi teams playing their brand of football — a combination of our game and British rugby. Time and again a man would fall to the ground and someone on his own side would kick him in the face. Their comrades in the bleachers cheered at this show of brutality.

"I watched a boxing match between two Brownshirts. One outweighed the other by at least 30 pounds. The big boy bashed in his opponent's eyes, bloodied his face and repeatedely floored him. But the little fellow kept coming back for more punishment. The Nazi audience was thrilled. The referee, a German, made no attempt to stop the unequal contest. Finally, an American corporal stepped into the ring and called it off.

"A United States colonel who speaks their tongue gave me another curious side light: According to him, Hitler's veterans think that our troops are saps because they try to fight fairly. They admire the Russians who battle the same way they do."

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

AS tremors from Italy's earthquake jolt the Balkan house of cards, readers seeking to anticipate crucial events should keep their eyes fixed on developments in Rumania.

The defection of Bulgaria and Hungary would sap the foundations of Nazi morale and ultimately provide Anglo-American troops with a path to Germany's back door. But if, somehow, Bucharest could wiggle from Berlin's clutches, her desertion would be a disaster of catastrophic dimensions. Loss of her oil —adready decreased by U. S. bombing— might seal the fate of the harried Reich.

New York petroleum statisticians estimate that Hitler can scrape together from all sources under the Swastika, including synthetics, 15,500,000 tons annually of which Rumania has furnished close to 6,000,000.

Rainbow chasers since 1939 have prophesied that the Axis would be stalled through deficiencies in gasoline. Subsequently the Teutons debunked such sooth-sayings by staging huge offensive and no sign of famine was evident. Last year's great Russian invasion alone burned up 21,000,000 barrels a month.

Poor guessing came from failure to reckon with the enormous reserve cached earlier by the Wehrmacht. Home refineries and ersatz plants were constructed. Vast shipments were acquired from Mexico, Venezuela and Russia when they were neutrals. Stocks were stolen in France, Holland and Belguim. Allied bombing of wells and mines had not yet reached blitzkrieg tempo.

For years the Prussian wolf lived on its fat. Now it faces exhaustion unless fed by a steady stream from the pumps.

BEACH: Parents of soldiers who write about the heat and strain of the North African sector, can be assured that their sons will have furloughs even in the midst of the fight. In so far as possible men are given a one-week holiday at a delightful resort operated by the U. S. Fifth Army's recreation center. Large numbers of troops now in Sicily had their fun before being sent into action.

Lines of trucks discharge passengers in a city of olive-drab pyramidal tents which at first glance resembles an ordinary camp. But its front yard is the Mediterranean, as inviting as tourist guidebooks picture it. For 15 minutes each day the guests perform setting-up exercises. The remainder of the time is for rest and sports: Baseball, bicycling, theatericals — and swimming, most popular of all.

Protection is furnished by strapping lifeguards who in civilian life were famous college football heroes. The beach is called "Coney Island," "Malibu," "Nantasket," "Atlantic City," "Miami," depending on its bathers. After a dip a buck private asked, "Now, wheres the hot dog and ice cream stand, Sarge?"

"Buddy," replied the top kick, "we've got to leave something for you guys to look forward to when you go back home."

PERIL: Eight-three Japanese women and children from Pan-America have landed in a southern port for transfer to the interior where they will join their menfolk now under our control. Washington affirms that apart from certain suspicious characters incarcerated by the FBI, citizens of Nipponese extraction have acted as patriots. But in certain countries below the Rio Grande, Hirohito's subjects have been a menace.

Here And There In Texas

By GORDON SHEARER
United Press Correspondent

AUSTIN, Aug. 3. — The Texas Civil Judicial council, an advisory body, was organized nearly 15 years ago to (among other things) formulate methods for simplifying civil judicial procedure and to correct faults in the administration of civil justice.

In its period of existence the council has advocated a number of reforms.

Perhaps because its membership is preponderantly made up of judges and lawyers, the council so far has overlooked the way in which law is made confusing by use of foreign languages and even of dead languages.

Take a law suit. Instead of docketing it simply as a suit by John Smith and wife against Mary Jones, an unmarried woman, the law clerks have to put it this way:

"John Smith et ux vs. Mary Jones, a femme sole."

That is just the beginning. If you read the pleadings and the ruling in the case, chances are you will find Latin or French interlarded every few lines.

The bench of the Texas Supreme court is carved pedantically with a Latin quotation.

Philadelphia Lawyer Stumped

Lawyers, themselves, are in doubt about many of the foreign phrases and words in common legal use. They vary on pronunciation of "mandamus." One dictionary of law phrases argues that the familiar "res adjudicata" used in so many opinions and pleadings really should be "res judicata."

Maybe the common expression that a thing is so complicated it would take a Philadelphia lawyer to straighten it out had its origin in the fact that a Philadelphia lawyer, John Bouvier, many years ago endeavored to straighten out legal terms in a law dictionary.

THE LATE Jim Wells of Brownsville was one of the noted Texas lawyers who believed in speaking in plain terms. The story is told that a group of attorneys representing a syndicate that wished to lease some lands presented a lease contract with many complicated phrases.

Noticing Wells' reluctance to place an OK on the document so his client would sign, the lawyers began to explain that it meant so and so.

Wells listened patiently. When they had finished, he inquired:

"Why not write it that way in plain language?"

"High-Hat" University

Regents of the University of Texas were charged with aloofness this week by the Summer Texan, student publication, in its discussion of the demotion of the university's Director of Public Relations to a Department of Journalism assistant professorship.

"Not being a regent we can't say what is the board's motive," said the editorial. "They meet behind closed doors when they come to the Forty Acres, and are so aloof from the student body that most students wouldn't know a regent if they should pass one in the hall. Frankly we've neither met nor seen one, and we've been on the campus three years."

The Texan points out in the same editorial that the demoted official had exercised no control over the paper's editorial policy and had no power to exercise such control. The editor added: "Therefore, we hope the regents did not let the failure of the Texan to satisfy them enter into the case of Dr. (A.L.) Brandon's removal.'

BY PRINTING a serial number on the face of the tiny state tax stamp on a pack of cigarets and through some special printing processes, Texas has put an end to counterfeiters. Not since 1936, when there were about a half a dozen methods of duplicating the 3-cent stamps, has the state been bothered with the tax racket.

Back then, there were from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 worth of the counterfeit cigaret stamps in circulation.

The serial number—which was the last stop-gap to counterfeiting—is printed in black across the face of the orange stamp, which is five-eighth by one-half an inch in size and 1/1,500th of an inch in thickness.

By the serial number an agent from the State Comptroller's office can tell the name of both the wholesaler and retailer after a short check of records.

Many Safeguards Taken

A further protection is the offset impression of the State of Texas seal on the back of the stamp. As an additional safeguard secret markings are entwined in the engraving on the face of the stamp. To the naked eye they aren't discernable, but under a magnifying glass they are unmistakable.

The stamps are prepared by the decalcomania process, which requires eight separate printing impressions. The process takes from four to six weeks to run a batch of 50,000,000. Normally, the state uses 400,000,000 stamps a year. Printing is now done by an Austin company under a two-year contract at 10.95 cents per 1,000 stamps.

The printing plates are kept in a safe, and while they are being used a Comptroller's agent is on guard. The stamps are delivered to the State Treasurer, who sells them for cash in advance — to wholesalers.

Because the stamps are so delicate, they have to be put on by hand.

You are hereby commanded to appear before the Honorable 72nd District Court of Lubbock county at the Court House thereof, in Lubbock, Texas, at or before 10 o'clock a. m. of the first Monday next after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being the 30th day of August, A. D., 1943, then and there to answer Plaintiff's Petition filed in said Court, on the 13th day of July, A. D., 1943, in this cause, numbered 10910 on the docket of said court and styled W. C. Stonestreet and Mildred Eidson, as Independent Executors of the Estate of Kate Scharbauer, deceased, George Beggs, Millard Eidson, and Arnold F. Schrabauer as Independent Executors of the Estate of John Scharbauer, deceased, vs. Ennis Haney and wife Willie B. Haney.
A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to wit:
This is an action for title and possession of real estate, as well as damages; that on the first day of January, 1943, plaintiff were and still are owners in fee simple of Lots Nos. (1) and Two (2) in Block No. Forty-four (44), Wheelock Second addition to the town of Lubbock, in Lubbock county, Texas, that on or about said date, the defendants unlawfully entered on said premises and dispossessed the plaintiffs. Plaintiffs pray that they have judgment for title and possession of premises and for such other and further relief that they may be entitled to, as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit.
The officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law, and make due return as the law directs.
Issued and given under my hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in Lubbock, Texas, this the 13th day of July, A. D., 1943.
Attest: ROYAL FURGESON, Clerk, 72nd Dist. Court, Lubbock County, Texas. (Seal)

Japan Apparently Shifting Strength

By HAROLD GUARD
United Press Staff Writer

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA, Aug. 3—Japan is shifting her main strength from the left flank (the Solomons and New Guinea) to the right (the Netherlands Indies), presumably in anticipation of a concerted Allied drive, coordinating the Pacific and far eastern commands.

That is the conclusion drawn by this correspondent after a 10-weeks, 30,000-mile air tour of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Southwest Pacific command.

Realizes Her Failure

There was abundant evidence in the millioon square miles of Pacific islands and sea lanes covered on our tour that Japan realizes her campaign in the Solomons and New Guinea has bogged down under the Allied offensive.

Here is the way Japan's present strength in this war theater appears to shape up.

Japanese strength increases as one proceeds west from Dutch New Guinea to Java. (two lines censored).

Enemy bases to the rear, at Kendari, in the southeast Celebes, Macassar in the southwest Celebes and Ambon, at the eastern end of the Dutch East Indies, appear strong.

The Japanese are building ships at Macassar.

Naval Base Developed

Sourabaya, Java, has been developed into a naval base rivalling pre-war Singapore. Warships in the harbor there could be identified as American destroyers, scuttled in 1942 but returned to service by Japanese.

In the New Guinea-New Britain-northern Solomons area Japanese strength is on the wane. The sting is gone from Rabaul and bomber pilots told me the Rabaul mission has been reduced to the routine of a "milk run."

(Six lines censored.)

Manokwari, at the extreme northern end of Dutch New Guinea, remains active, but our flyers say attacking shipping there now is as simple as "shooting fish in a barrel."

Allied Strength Growing

Allied strength, meanwhile, has been growing. In the Darwin sector of northern Australia, I saw communications being developed which will shrink to nothingness the distances between Washington, London, New Delhi and Chungking. I saw airfields conceived, new blood being infused into the Allied striking forces.

They forecast giant strides in this war of distances which eventually will be shrivelled by Allied sea and air power.

Not once during our flight over the vast Pacific war theater did we see a Japanese naval craft larger than a cruiser. This apparent absence of capital ships prompts the conclusion that the Japanese battle fleet, like other Japanese units, is being concentrated elsewhere for future operations.

Plans Abandoned For Wooden-Type Planes

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP) — The Army's metal-saving experiment in construction of an all-wood transport plane was closed out today with the cancellation of two large contracts for production of the Curtiss C-76 Caravan.

Few of the planes were built, it was learned.

Air forces officials would say only that "it is expected that up to approximately 15, of which some have been test flown, will be accepted and used for service test purposes for this type of plane."

The contracts had been placed with the Curtiss-Wright company's plant at Louisville, Ky., and the Higgins company, New Orleans, both of which, instead of the abandoned wooden type, will produce the Curtiss C-46 Commando, an all metal transport designed to carry paratroops, light artillery, or freight.

The War department announcment of the substitution dealt only with the Higgins contract, implying that it was effective immediately and that there would be no loss of worker time or plant inactivity. The Curtiss-Wright company also announced conversion to Commandos.

Drafting Of Dads

dicated that many boards would begin inducting fathers immediately after the present ban is lifted on Oct. 1.

STRENGTHENING OF PLANT DEFERMENTS PLANNED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3. (AP) — Lifting of the ban on induction of fathers will be followed shortly by a second major draft action designed to strengthen the protection given war plants against drains on crucial manpower, D. C. Speaker said tonight.

Important revisions in the list of jobs carrying special deferment eligibility for occupational reasons were discussed today at a conference of regional and national War Manpower commission chiefs and action is expected within a few days.

Details Still Lacking

Full agreement on details was still lacking, but Speaker said the final program would give greater deferment privileges to men engaged in direct war production and cut back the privileges of those in activities which merely "support the war effort."

Furthermore, he said, some form of credit on local boards' draft quotas migh tbe worked out to apply to men deferred for necessary war work. Full credit now is given for men subject to the draft who have volunteered for military service.

A prime reason for these actions, and for the lifting of the father-draft ban, Speaker said, was a complaint by war production chief Donald M. Nelson to WMC Chairman Paul V. McNutt that draft drains on war plants had much to do with recent lags in production schedules.

Plants Need Relief

Nelson was reported to have said war plants must have relief because draft boards, forbidden to call pre-Pearl Harbor fathers and running short on other men, were stripping industry of badly-needed childless men to meet their quotas.

Officials were said to feel, however, that lifting of the ban against inducting fathers would defeat the purpose of easing the strain on war plants unless accompanied by additional action to protect non-fathers in key jobs.

Speaker said they were apprehensive that unless some new protection was given, the lifting of the bans would actually intensify the calling of non-fathers from war plants because there would be terrific pressure on draft boards to go after others so as to minimize calling of fathers.

Russian Front

great quantities of ammunition and food. Fifteen guns and several 60-ton Tiger tanks also fell to the victorious Russians, indicating the Germans were retiring in haste.

The Russian air force brought down 76 German planes in yesterday's battles, the communique said.

At the same time the Russians gained a notable victory to the south where the desperate German offensive in the Donets basin ceased completely without gains on the fifth day. It was the second German summer offensive to break against Soviet defenses, the first petering out at Orel last month.

A special Moscow communique, recorded by the Soviet monitor, said the Soviet troops, in the 23rd day of their Orel rush, captured over 50 populated places in a general advance of four to six miles.

As the battle, where hundreds of divisions pounded each other with artillery and tanks, reached a crescendo the Germans appeared to be withdrawing from Orel along the still open highway towards Bryansk in the west. The Soviet Army newspaper Red Star quoted in Moscow dispatches said the Russians at Orel had captured two important highways leading from Bolkhov south to Orel and southwest to Karachev. The Russians were reported only a few miles from Karachev which is 27 miles from Bryansk, a German stronghold as important as Orel.

Victory in the Donets basin 400 miles to the south was a major Russian gain. The Germans, employing heavy forces in their famous plane-tank-infantry lightning attack, struck last Friday in an attempt to divert Soviet reserves from the Orel sector and to prevent a possible Russian offensive to the Sea of Azov which might trap important German forces.

But the Russians held firm while the attackers bled men and machines so heavily they were forced to abandon the push, Moscow said. The Soviet bridgeheads on the Mius river remained intact.

Twenty-one German tanks were destroyed in the battles on all fronts yesterday, the Soviet bulletin said, and 180 German planes were brought down.

Convicts Questioned After Fatal Stabbing

HUNTSVILLE, Aug. 3. (AP) — State prison officials today questioned more than 15 convicts at Eastham prison farm in the fatal stabbing yesterday of T. E. Kelley, 39, serving 59 years from Galveston and Wood counties on three convictions of robbery with firearms.

Kelley was stabbed in the heart while he was in the dining room as a squad of prisoners was preparing to return to work after lunch.

Officials said he stagged about 20 feet and collapsed and that he died while trying to make a statement to guards.

"Victim" Frightened More Than Rescuers

SEATTLE, Aug. 3 (AP)—Someone telephoned police that a youth was poised on Aurora bridge as though about to leap into Lake Union. Patrolman H. S. Brady and H. L. Swanson found a boy standing on the rail, a piece of paper in his hand.

"A suicide note," they decided.

"Don't leap or we'll shoot," they shouted.

Much frightened, Robert Wilhelm, 13, climbed down.

The policemen grabbed the paper. It was blank.

"What were you doing?" they demanded.

"Well," Wilhelm gulped, "I was making paper darts and sailing them off the bridge."

against stiffening enemy resistance."

Bibolo hill is to the north of the air strip.

Twelve miles above Munda at Bairoko harbor where another Japanese force is entrenched on New Georgia, American two and four-engined bombers attacked the enemy positions on the harbor shore. Fires and explosions were noted.

Face Main Defenses

The infantrymen who have cut a bloody path nearest the airdrome now are believed facing the enemy's main defense line. This line runs roughly north and south, extending from the village of Kekele at the waterfront inland to the foot of Bibolo hill.

The main air strip on the Munda airdrome runs east and west.

General MacArthur's spokesman, in elaborating on the communique, stressed the word "stiffening" in describing Japanese resistance, in view of reports from the South Pacific that Munda itself likely will fall at any moment.

(Yesterday at headquarters of Admiral William F. Halsey in the South Pacific, a spokesman said enemy resistance was weakening and that the Munda offensive was nearing a climax.)

Although there was no elaboration on the situation at Bairoko, apparently the enemy there was clinging to positions at the eastern end of the harbor.

In northeastern New Guinea, where American and Australian jungle fighters are within artillery shelling distance of Salamaua, that air base on the isthmus was bombed anew by medium and heavy air units.

The attainment of artillery range was disclosed yesterday.

Danger Of Epidemic Of Dengue Said Great

HOUSTON, Aug. 3 (AP) — The danger of a dengue fever epidemic in the Houston area is greater now than in many years, Dr. Asa C. Chandler, special consultant of the aedes aegypti control in Texas, asserted today in urging a citywide campaign to eradicate mosquito breeding places.

By filling yards and receptables with water, the tropical hurricane which hit this area last week increased mosquito prevalence in some residential districts from three and a half per cent to nine per cent, Dr. Chandler reported.

Scientists consider that the danger mark for an epidemic is reached at five per cent, he said.

Promises To Italy

was being made a scapegoat because the British and American press was "full of criticism" of the statement about the Italian people and the House of Savoy ridding themselves of Mussolini.

Calls It Cowardly

"It was a cowardly thing to do—to shelter behind a general who has no public responsibility at all," Bevan said.

"Are we to understand that King Vittorio Emanuele is to be the British and American Quisling in Italy? In deciding to support Vittorio Emanuele and Badoglio we are throwing away millions of potential Allies in Europe and in doing so we are sacrificing our own people."

Eden denied what he called "a newspaper story of many years' standing" that he once had a row with Mussolini.

"There was no row in that sence," he declared. "There was between myself and the government and Mussolini certain differences as to my behavior—and my views on that have not changed in the least.

"I tried, as did many of my colleagues in successive governments, to persuade myself that Musolini was negotiable, but I found Mussolini unnegotiable and he is still unnegotiable—fortunately in another sense now."

Straw Man Technique

Axis propagandists, in their announcement of the seven point armistice proposa, appeared to be using a straw man technique, for they at once began to raise visions of hunger and bondage which they said would be the fate of the Italion people if they accepted the so-called terms.

(In Washington there was no authoritative comment on the German report.)

A Reuters dispatch from Washington said "according to unofficial reports, Allied views on terms for Italy's surrender were conveyed to Badoglio's governmet through diplomatic channels some days ago."

Quoting a Geneva dispatch to the Italian newspaper Il Popolo Di Roma, a DNB broadcast said the peace terms included cessation of resistance by Italy's armed forces, an end to collaboration with Germany, withdrawal of Italian troops from Greece, Albania, France and Yugoslavia, surrender of war materials undamaged, establishment of "an Anglo-American-Soviet military government' of occupation, arrest of war criminals, and release of Allied prisoners of war in Italy.

Peace Hopes Fade

The following developments were seen here, however, as squashing peace hopes for the present:

1. Resumption of Allied bombigs and shelling of the mainland and launching an all-out drive in Sicily.

2. The detailed attack by the official Italian radio on the so-called peace proposals which appeared aimed at convincing the people they would be no better off if they ceased fighting.

3. German broadcasts declaring that "the entire nation" now acceted Badoglio's position that the "war goes on."

4. Lack of substantial reports of further widespread peace agitation inside Italy. The Swiss radio reported that "quiet reigns now in the towns of northern Italy."

This added up to a picture of Badoglio and his government still playing the German game. But the basic Italian desire to be done with the war, a smashing of Axis resistance in Sicily, fierce new air attacks and a possible land invasion might well bring the peace stew to a quick boil.

Thirty thousand tons of rubber is expected from South America this year.

Grain..

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 (AP) — Persistent purchasing of wheat today, first by mills and later by interests acting for industries, gave the market a firm tone. Prices advanced initially when buying orders could not be filled until quotations had advanced more than a cent a bushel, and reactions were minor, for most of the session.

Moderate hedge selling was reported on price bulges, but there was no pressure on the market from any source. Trading was rather quiet after the early advance.

Wheat closed firm and ⅝-⅞ cent higher than yesterday's finish, September $1.44¾, oats unchanged to ⅛ up, September 69⅞, and rye ⅛-⅝ advanced, September $1.00⅝-¾.

Reports Say 200,000 Are Dead In Hamburg

LONDON, Aug. 3 (AP)—A Reuters dispatch from Stockholm today said a Danish consular official returned from Hamburg told the Aftonbladet correspondent in Copenhagen that he estimated there were 200,000 dead in Hamburg as a result of Allied bombings.

In London, however, this figure was regarded with skepticism. It was pointed out Hamburg's total population is only about 1,600,000.

Stockholm dispatches yesterday quoted Hamburg police as saying 30,542 were killed, wounded and missing in Hamburg, a figure which included 8,347 killed.

Mahon Praises U.S. War Effort

"Our country, on the whole, is doing a great job," Cong. George Mahon said in discussing the war and the home front Tuesday before Lubbock Optimist club members and guests at the club's weekly luncheon in Lubbock hotel.

"The winning of the war is the important thing and we're doing pretty well with that," he stated.

He cautioned, however, that, "We must not let ourselves fall into the pit of thinking all is over but the shouting.

Long Way To Go Yet

"We can glory in the exploits of our men, but we are compelled to understand that we have a long way to go, particularly in the Pacific."

He emphasized that, "We, too, have a part., It would be well, he said, "If Congress, the president and civilians would ask themselves, 'What would the soldier think?'"

He was emphatic in deploring wartime strikes and at the same time offered praise for those who have been loyal. Not more than one per cent of labor has taken part in strikes, he said. "In looking at the one per cent, we must not disparage the 99 per cent who have been loyal."

Upholding the right of citizens in a democracy to disagree, he said, "We must differentiate between fifth columnists, and those who criticize and disagree with the government." He said he had been "very much heartened by the the impatience of the people against regimentation."

Complaining is "a healthy sign" and if it continues the people will make the kind of government they want.

He said he had frequently been asked if he was a New Dealer. "If being a New Dealer means voting for my convictions, voting for the president when I think he is right and voting against him when I thing he is wrong, I am a New Dealer," he said.

Discussing appropriations made by Congress, he said the government is spending 94 cents of every dollar for military purposes.

Nation's Meat Output Shows Big Increase

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 (AP)—Great slaughter of beef accounted for two-thirds of a 6,000,000-pound increase in the nation's meat output last week as compared with the preceding week, the war meat board reported today.

The total meat slaughter for last week was 325,000,000 pounds, up 6,000,000 pounds from the week before and 18 per cent greater than the production for the corresponding week of 1942.

Of this total beef production amounted to 111,000,000 pounds, as against 107,000,000 pounds the preceding week. Last week's output, however, was 18,000,000 pounds below that of the corresponding 1942 week.

Pork production remained unchanged from the preceding week—186,000,000 pounds—but was 56 per cent above that of last year. Lamb and mutton output was 19,000,000 pounds, 19 per cent above the same week last year, and veal was 9,000,000 pounds, down 3,000,000 pounds from the same week of 1942.

Hamburg Battered

miles has been pocked with sprawling ruins.

The air ministry said that before the latest crushing assault, seven square miles of the city were devastated. Much of the city's area is water.

The ministry said that the battle of Hamburg was of greater intensity than the battle of the Ruhr ever was and that the damage in the port was "unparalleled in the history of air war." The ministry said it already was known that many important factories had been hit and severely damaged.

Fires set 60 hours earlier still were blazing when British and Canadian airmen released their new cargoes of bombs last night. From July 24 until last night, more than 8,000 tons had been cast on the city of 1,600,000 converting it into a fantastic heap of rubble. Stockholm reports said the Nazis had ordered all surviving Germans to evacuate Hamburg after the Thursday raid.

Ickes Cites Low Reserves, Urging Extraction Plants

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP) — Secretary Ickes declared today that the United States has a known reserve of 14 or 15 year's motor fuel if it chooses to make it from petroleum, or more than 1,000 year's supply if it is extracted from coal and oil-shales.

Strongly endorsing a bill which would authorize the government to construct demonstration plants to extract gasoline from shale and coal on a commercial scale, he called on America to "get going" and atone for past needlessness in the development of synthetic fuels."

Ickes, petroleum administrator for war, was backed by Ralph K. Davies, deputy administrator; Dr. R. R. Sayers, director of the federal bureau of mines; W. Jett Lauck, economist for the United Mine Workers of America, and others.

Ickes said the nation would find it impossible to "continue to rip and roar through an endless golden age of gasoline" because oil is being consumed here about three times as fast as it is being discovered, and proven reserves stand at only 19 or 20 billion barrels.

"Coal reserves, though, have hardly been scratched," Ickes said, estimating that three trillion tons remain underground in this country.

Fighting In Sicily

head became a nightmare to the German command which, following the pattern of the North African campaign, had stationed an Italian division in the most exposed section of the line. This division, the Italian 26th field division, was on the western approaches to Mount Etna.

Each side of the line wrested by the Americans cut down the Germans' chances of escaping to the narrow straits of Messina from the southern Mount Etna entrenchments where they were pinned down by the fury of the British assault.

The attacks launched by Patton and Montgomery were classic in their sage simplicity. They knocked the weakest props from under the natural fortress chosen by the enemy as the site for a long siege battle, and this fortress—a triangular mountainous neck of land some 60 miles long and 50 miles wide at its widest point—appeared to be tumbling to the dust.

Air And Sea Power

Screamig dive bombings by the American invaders smothered enemy batteries resisting the Seventh Army's drive, and American and British air fleets laid a carpet of flaming explosives along the road to victory ahead of Pattons's grimly determined legions.

Their air power knocked out, their two-mile waterway between Messina and the mainland's safety under the menace of Allied naval guns, the Germans now faced the last phase of Eisenhower's battle of annihilation.

Much slugging fighting and more bayonet charges remained before the Allied conquerors could call their campaign complete, but all the odds were with them.

An ill-fitting valve cap may result in serious tire and tube damage.

News Briefs

Four men, including one Mexican, were fined $5 each Tuesday night for gambling with dice, police records showed. None was hurt and slight damage resulted in an accident shortly after 6 o'clock in 600-block on Broadway. Police said nothing was missing at Blackwell Mattress Co., 2610 Texas Avenue, after someone entered entered through a window and left by way of a door which was found swinging open.

Award of the Air Medal to Garmer C. Schaffer of Lubbock was announced Tuesday by the War department, United Press reported. Schaffer, a pilot, was one of 73 officers and enisted men of the Sixth Air force recognized for long-range anti-submarine patrol flights over the Pacific and Caribbean area.

Last rites for R. M. Little, 81-year-old former Lubbock resident who died Monday in Decatur, Tex., will be read at 5 o'clock this afternoon in Rix Funeral home chapel. Little, who lived here for 30 years, died at the home of a son, M. C. Little, with whom he was making his home. He is survived by five daughters, including Junia Little of 2809 Monroe Avenue, and another son, Ragan Little, 1721 Fortieth street.

Increase Shown In Polio In Past Week

AUSTIN, Aug. 3. (AP)—The incidence curve of infantile paralysis (Poliomyelitis) turned upward again in Texas last week, with 105 new cases tabulated by the state health department today bringing the years' total to 649.

Totals for the three previous weeks were: 86, 102, and 90 respectively.

Not since 1937, when cases for the entire year numbered 635, has incidence of infantile paralysis been so high in Texas, health officials said. Last year at this time 41 cases had been reported; and the seven year median for last week was seven.

Officials continued to stress the importance of maintaining high standards of sanitation as a means of combatting the disease. In a number of areas clean-up programs have been undertaken.

Veteran Jurist Dies At His Dallas Home

DALLAS, Aug. 3. (AP) — M. M. Crane, sr., 89, one of Texas' oldest lawyers, former attorney general of Texas and many times a public official, died tonight at his home here.

It was during his regime as attorney general from 1884 to January, 1899, that Texas anti-trust laws were passed, and to him fell the lot of trying the first case, one against the Waters-Pierce Oil company. After involved litigation his victory was sustained by the United States Supreme court. The case as a precedent has settled the equity of the law since.

The Texas-Oklahoma boundary was established in a lawsuit he tried as attorney general.

The CHIROPRACTOR-and You

No. 9 of a series of articles published in the public interest to explain and illustrate the practice of Chiropractic.

STOMACH TROUBLE. All forms of stomach trouble can be classed under two great divisions, namely, the organic and the neurotic. Organic disorders consist of those diseases which involve structural changes in the wall of the stomach. For example, ulcers of the stomach. Neurotic disorders are those conditions wherein the gastric juice is not normal in quality or in quantity. For example, nervous dyspepsia.

There is often a confusing similarity between the symptoms of many forms of stomach trouble. A correct diagnosis is difficult to obtain. That is why one practitioner will often diagnose your case as one thing and another diagnose it as an entirely different condition. However, Chiropractic does not depend for its success upon a diagnosis of the case. The Chiropractor does not concern himself with whether the patient is suffering from gastritis, peptic ulcer or nervous dyspepsia.

THE CHIROPRACTOR KNOWS that something is wrong with the stomach; he know that there are certain nerves supplying the stomach; and that these nerves branch out from the spine. He knows that these nerves must be free to carry nerve energy from the brain to the stomach and that the only point along the entire course of the nerves where this carrying capacity can be interfered with is where the nerves emit from the spinal column.

So what does the Chiropractor do? He analyses the spine, and where he finds a subluxation (a condition where the segments of the spine are not in proper alignment), he adjusts it with his hands, and because of this adjustment the pressure (or pinching) is removed from the nerves supplying the stomach. Now the nerves can carry their vital energy in normal quality and quantity to the stomach and under those conditions disease cannot exist.

PERMANENT RELIEF. The relief which follows Chiropractic adjustments for stomach trouble or any condition of abnormality is not a temporary one, but permanent, because the cause of the disoredr has been rmoved, and without cause there absolutely can be no disease.

Nazi Main Segment On Sicily Trapped

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Battle reports from Sicily indicate that the center of the Axis Etna defense line may collapse completely at any moment.

It may already be too late for Nazi forces on the south and southwest slopes of the great volcano to escape the twin traps yawning for them. They may never reach the Messina peninsula for a last stand or attempted flight to the Italian mainland.

SIMPSON

Canadian capture of Regalbuto and American capture of Troina dooms a wide center segment of the main Axis communication system—the road and rail routes girdling the inshore flanks of the huge mountain from Catania in the southeast to Randazzo in the northwest. West of Catania, this system passes through Paterno, Adrano and Bronte to reach Randazzo, and hard-fighting American and Canadian troops are closing in on the Adrano-Bronte sector.

Hold Minor Road Already

At Triano American forces already have a hold on a minor road running southeastward. It intersects the Regalbuto-Adrano highway a mile or two west of Adrano. An American surge along that road would outflank Axis forces barring the direct Canadian advance on Adrano from Regalbuto, and probably hasten the collapse of the Adrano-Bronte center sector of the Catania-Randazzo line, splitting enemy forces apart.

While the Americans can be expected to lend aid to their Canadian comrades to the south, their prime objectives must be Cesaro and Randazzo, and an attempt to push on promptly north of the Etna bastion and reach the Sicilian east coast in the rear of the main Nazi concentration confronting the British 8th Army in the Catania area.

American success in this effort would reduce the final scenes of the battle of Sicily to mere mopping-up operations. Even if that cannot be done, the first trap for the Nazi armored forces is being sprung. The British not only have broken across the Dittaino river west of Catania to a considerable depth, but have pushed close to the east coast port itself, while on their left flank Canadians have turned the Dittaino line and once they reach Adrano will be in a position to turn southeastward and roll-up the foe from the flank.

Requests For Wage Decreases Rejected

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 3 (AP) — The regional War Labor board has received two requests for wage decreases—along with its 5,000 applications for increases.

One of the two was filed by a business college seeking to cut teachers' salaries; it was denied, the board said. The second applicant was not named.

Dickens Woman Dies In Oklahoma Tuesday

Mrs. Mary C. Williford, 69, of Dickens died early Tuesday morning in Supply, Okla., where she was visiting, Plains Funeral home reported.

Mrs. Williford lived with a daughter, Mrs. J. E. Copass, at Dickens.

Funeral services are to be conducted at Chenoweth Funeral home at Woodward, Okla., and burial will be in the cemetery at Yoakum.

HOUSTON WOMAN DIES

HOUSTON, Aug. 3 (U.P.)—Final rites were conducted today at Hickman, Ky., for Mrs. Chesley C. Smith, mother of Frank C. Smith, president of the Houston Natural Gas corp. Mrs. Smith, 83, died Sunday in a hospital at Sewanee, Tenn. She had been a resident of Houston for the last 25 years and was the widow of a prominent Hickman merchant who died some 30 years ago.

Sorghum Grains "Make" Plains

R. E. Karper, former superintendent o fthe Lubbock state experiment station, said the South Plains would not be here today as the great farming and improved livestock producing area it is, if it had not been for the introduction of sorghum grains. Karper was speaker at the Lions luncheon Tuesday in Hilton hotel. He was presented by George R. Bean.

The improvement in the type and quality of these grains began in 1906, Karper said, and through experimental work carried on by the state and by individuals the 15 distinct varieties have been developed for their various uses.

Karper said the grains now have been bred to fit a harvest machine, and in the process the plant has gained many advantages in uniformity of stalk and grain, but has lost most of its foliage. To supplant this loss of foliage he recommended the growing of Sudan grass and other forage crops to supplement the grain.

Another interesting development, more recent than others, he said, is the development, after about 10 years of study and experimenting, of a waxy endosperm sorghum grain which has been bred to the blackhull kafir, that promises a very great increase in use of the grain, provided milling facilities can be provided near enough at hand to produce the finely ground starchy flour which the food, paper, textiles, and glue manufacturers need.

Karper said General Foods Corp. contracted 20,000 acres on the South Plains this year, having bought all the seed, but that crop losses since planting time have reduced this acreage now to about 5,000. He said the company has a representative here, and 30 million pounds of the grain is badly wanted this season.

Inquiries also are coming in from other manufactures in addition to those in food processing, and Karper said if the proper mills can be provided there is no telling to what extent the demand may go for this new grain starch which comes nearer than anything else thus far in taking the place of cassava starch formerly imported from Pacific islands, but all of which, he said, was milled by the Dutch before it was imported to the United States.

Negro Faces Charge Of Selling Coupons

DALLAS, Aug. 3. (AP)—An information which the Office of Price administration said was the first case of its kind charging cash sale of mileage rationing coupons was filed here today in Federal Judge T. W. Davidson's court.

The information named a negro operator of a parking lot as the defendant in a misdemeanor action.

The charge by the OPA said that the negro sold a sheet of eight C-book coupons to an investigator for $1.25.

TO VISIT WORKSHOP

AUSTIN, Aug. 3. (AP)—Dr. Homer P. Rainey, University of Texas president, today was en route to Gatlinburg, Tenn., to visit a workshop in southern regional studies organized by the American Council on Education.

Promotions For 43 At LAAF Announced

Forty-three promotions at the Lubbock Army Air field have been announced by Colonel Ralph E. Holmes, commanding officer.

Three Lubbock men were promoted to sergeant. John N. Watson, who has been acting sergeant, a former professor at Tech; Benjamin F. Taylor, son of Mrs. M. E. Taylor of route 1 and William E. Paschal, son of E. P. Paschal of route 3. Sgt. Watson is in charge of the special service school, Sgt. Paschal is a mechanic on the line and Sgt. Taylor is in the field lighting department.

Other Texans in the group receiving promoitons were, Wiley C. McMillan, to sergeant, Hermleigh; Mickey E. Dodgem, Leuders, to sergeant; Lawrence W. Jackson of Post, to sergeant; Robert V. James, Loraine, to sergeant, and Sid G. Castles, jr., of Anson, to staff sergeant. Of the two groups those who are married and living in Lubbock are Taylor, McMillan, Dodgen, James, Castles.

Out-of-state men promoted were, to technical sergeant: Attillio Poto, Boston, Mass.; Thomas W. Humphreys, Roanoke, Va.; and David W. Alexander of Amorita, Okla.

To staff sergeant: Stanley R. Szczech, Foley, Minn.; Wideman C. Robinon, Clover, S. C.; Harold Randolph, Wallace, Neb.; Roy M. Rattenborg, Hamlin, Iowa; Joseph A. Marshall, Portland, Oregon; Edison H. Jansen, Spokane, Washington; James D. Boyle of Dodge City, Kansas and Wendell R. Hernvall, Wheaton, Minn.

Promotions to sergeant went to Martin J. Olle, Ottawa, Ill.; Charle T. Newton, Fordsville, Ky.; Angelo A. Marco, jr., of Brooklyn, N. Y.; William R. Hall of Cumberland, Ky.; Ralph G. Davis, Chicago, Ill., and Hector N. Nancy of New Bedford, Mass.

Plans Move Ahead On Addition At School

A. C. Jackson, business manager of Lubbock independent school district, said Tuesday five firms who are expected to bid have obtained plans prepared for building a two-room addition to Guadalupe Mexican school in Lubbock.

Bids for the contract are to be opened next Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the district business office, 1007 Texas avenue, by members of the building committee of the board of trustees.

Plans and specifications may be obtained from the office of Haynes and Strange, architects, 415 Myrick building.

Average Farm Prices Show Slight Decline

AUSTIN, Aug. 3. (U.P.)—Declines from a month earlier were noted in average prices received by Texas farmers and ranchers for all type of meat animals, according to the mid-month local market price report of the U. S. department of agriculture, released here today.

There was little change from last month for prices of butter, butter fat, milk, poultry and eggs, although all were considerably higher than a year ago, the report said.

Cotton was down sightly at mid-July, compared with mid-June.

PLANS TO BUY FARM

RALLS, Aug. 2 (Special)—Vic Schoffelmeyer, veteran farm editor of the Dallas Morning News, is going to buy a farm and settle down on the South Plains, he said.

Schoffelmeyer, in company with C. E. Morris of the Dallas cotton stripper manufacturing firm, and Thurston Bower of the Underwood organization, representing the Texas Compress and Warehouse Co., were Ralls visitors for a brief time last week en route to Spur to visit with Ray Dixon, superintendent of the state experiment farm there.

Schoffelmeyer said he had several tentative locations in mind, but he had not as yet definitely chosen the farm he will buy.

Hershey Says Drafting Of Fathers To Start In October Is Inevitable

DENVER, Aug 3 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national director of Selective Service, said today that the order for induction of pre-Pearl Harbor fathers to start in October "is a consummation of the inevitable."

The Army is getting almost down to a maintenance basis as far as manpower is concerned," he told a ess conference. "Seeparations from the Army alone are running almost 50,000 a month."

He explained that by separations he referred to men released as unfit for service or those back from combat areas.

The Selective Service director's visit to Denver was a part of a two-weeks cross-country tour which will take him to the West coast.

Hershey emphasized that the forthcoming induction of fathers doesn't mean every father in the country is going to be called into military service."

"The number of fathers drafted will depend upon the other manpower sources that can be developed or tapped," he said.

Boy Gets Tired But Zero Was Dog Tired

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 3 (AP) — Twelve miles is a long way for an eight-year-old boy to walk—especially in the summer heat and carrying a dog.

Paschal Elmore, son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Elmore, took the hike when he found things a bit dull around the neighborhood.

He had planned to visit his uncle in Divine so he put eight feet of rope around the neck of his dog, Zero, and started out.

Paschal was found trudging down Somerset road, 12 miles from town, hot, tired, thirsty and hungry. He was carrying Zero because the puppy couldn't carry his end of the rope very well.

He told Deputy Sheriff Charles Bass when the officers drove up:

"Put Zero in first."

Zero was dog tired.

Rev. William Robinson To Head St. Edward's

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Aug. 3 (AP) The Rev. William Robinson, now at the University of Notre Dame, will be president of St. Edward's university, Austin, Tex., the congregation of Holy Cross announced last night. Father Robinson will succeed the Rev. Stanislaus Lisewski, who will rejoin the Notre Dame faculty.

Houston Gas Official Dies Of Heart Attack

LAREDO, Aug. 3. (AP)—William Biggio, 37, a member of the engineering department of the United Gas corporation for ten years, the last year and a half being spent in Houston, died early today of a heart attack at a hotel here.

He had served with the gas firm at Marshall, Longview, Lake Charles, La., and Houston.

Letter Written Prior To Woman's Death Is Entered In Inquiry

NEW YORK, Aug. 3. (AP)—Authorities today had in their possession a six-page letter purportedly written to an Army lieutenant by Oil Heiress Janet Snowden Gill, 29, a short time before she plunged 12 stories to her death from a hotel suite June 1.

Assistant District Attorney Jacob Grumet disclosed having the letter yesterday.

He said it was written and mailed by Mrs. Gill somewhere in Minnesota while she was en route from her Santa Barbara, Calif., home to meet her husband, Capt. William Sherman Gill of Army intelligence.

Grumet did not reveal the lieutenant's name. He said Mrs. Gill's family gave him the letter when it was returned unclaimed.

The letter ended, Grumet said, with the inscription, "All my love forever and ever" and was signed, "Jan."

Grumet also stated that on the night of Mrs. Gill's death she met her husband in the hotel suite to discus divorce plans. Capt. Gill retired, convinced that his wife had changed her mind and a reconciliation had been effected, Grumet said.

Mrs. Gill's body was found on a hotel set-back shortly afterwards.

Mrs. Gill's body was removed from a receiving vault at Fernliff cemetery, Ardsley, N. Y., last week and an autopsy performed. A complete autopsy report is expected in a few days, Grumet said.

Grumet said members of Mrs. Gill's family had asked for an investigation into her death.

The ancient Egyptians used umbrellas.

3 P. M. EXHAUSTION?

Suspect your Eyes!

Your eyes are connected directly with your brain. When they don't see well and easily, when they tire and jitter, their fatigue is communicated to your whole nervous system.

That accounts for much of the nervous exhaustion that shortens working hours and prevents evening recreation.

Why put up with it? Almost all visual defects can be corrected. If you have the slightest suspicion of your eyes, a professional examination and expert eye care are called for at once.
