

Dodson Man Dies During Tractor Mishap

Ramon V. Pichardo, 27, died instantly about 7:40 a.m. Saturday, March 12, when the tractor he was driving ran off a culvert about three-fourths of a mile east of Dodson and overturned.

An inquest was conducted by Judge Raymond Horton, who returned a verdict of death caused by a "probably heart attack due to coronary thrombosis."

It was known in Dodson that Pichardo had a heart ailment.

Pichardo came to Dodson about four months ago from Carrizo Springs, and at the time of his death he was working for R. T. Jameson.

There were no witnesses to the accident, but tire tracks showed where the vehicle went off the bridge. First men to reach Pichardo were Duard Luck and Jess Bogle.

Tire tracks showed the tractor angled off the pavement about 30 yards before hitting the culvert.

His body was sent to Carrizo Springs by Kelso Funeral Home, and services were held there Tuesday.

Mr. Pichardo is survived by his wife, Manuela, and three sons, Jose Ramon, Jose Luiz, and Rudy. Other survivors are his mother, Rupperta Pichardo of Carrizo Springs, and three brothers and three sisters.

He was brought to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he is under treatment for pulled tendons in his leg.

B&PW Hears Plains Humerous Speaker

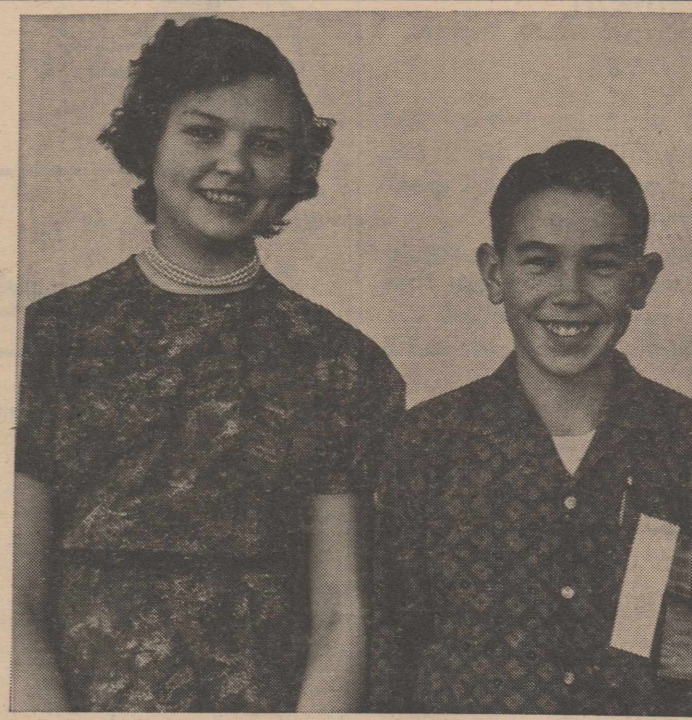

Dr. Leon Hill, Amarillo evangelist and after dinner speaker, was presented by the Wellington Business and Professional Womens Club at its annual Bosses Banquet Tuesday evening, March 8.

With a talk entitled "Laughter," Dr. Hill drew an abundance of that commodity from his audience, with anecdotes and jokes that touched lightly on the various professions and touched—without malice on an assortment of human weaknesses.

Closing his speech on a serious note, Dr. Hill reminded his audience of the need for laughter and the place it fills in life.

Dr. Hill, a North Carolinian, was graduated from Atlantic Christian College and Baptist Seminary at Binghamton, New York, and attended Southern Baptist Seminary, Louisville, and Southwestern Seminary at

170 Years for Family

H. E. Berg Cited for Fifty Years Service to Ft. Worth & Denver

H. E. Berg, one of a family that includes three generations of railroaders, has completed 50 years service with the Fort Worth & Denver Railroad, and on Friday he received from H.

W. Totten, general manager of Amarillo, his 50-year pin and "golden passes" for him and Mrs. Berg, that will enable them to travel on almost all Burlington Line trains.

But Mr. Berg is not retiring. "Maybe I'll work for them another 50 years," he jokes.

The short informal ceremony in which Mr. Totten made the presentation took place at the Fort Worth & Denver depot here, with Mr. Berg's family and J. E. Roberts, local agent.

There are only 156 active employees on the entire Burlington Lines who have 50 or more years service, and around 1,000 who have been with the company 40 years, H. C. Murphy of Chicago, president of the Burlington Lines, told Mr. Berg in a letter of congratulation.

Mr. Berg was only 15 when he hired as a section laborer for the Fort Worth & Denver Railway at Rhame, July 20, 1909.

Three years later, August 1, 1912, he was promoted to section foreman of the North Wichita line. Next day the new foreman wrecked the hand car. The only time he ever left the Denver was during World War I, when he served in the United States Army from September 15, 1917 until August 1, 1919.

"I was one of the youngest foremen the railroad had," he remembers.

Mr. Berg was transferred from section foreman at Alford to the same position at Samnorwood May 14, 1935, and ten years later he was moved to

Bureau of Reclamation representatives were here Monday, March 14, to stake locations of holes in core drilling operations on two proposed dam sites on Salt Fork, John Coleman, chairman of the Collingsworth County water control and improvement district, said.

In the party were John Thompson of Amarillo, assistant director of Region 5, who is in charge of the Collingsworth project; Mr. Collins, dam designer of Denver; Bob Redfield, geologist, Oklahoma City. The men will do more geological survey work.

The OM dam site will be core drilled first, and there will be three holes at this point. Four are planned at the Samnorwood site.

Bids will be let in early April, Thompson has told Coleman.

Core drilling is due on the Greenbelt dam site just west of the Collingsworth - Donley county line when permits can be secured, Thompson told the water control board here.

Coleman said that specifications on the core drilling are being sent him and any drillers here who are interested in making a bid on the work may contact him.

Cuba's Sugar Agreement May Lose Its Sweetness

Castro's recent actions and attitudes toward the United States are another example of "biting the hand that's feeding you," that this nation has experienced more than once in postwar years.

Now comes The Dallas News, following his recent sugar agreement with Russia, with a suggestion that might well be considered. We in the Southwest can appreciate the idea, for we have a touch of Latin America in our own culture:

Russia has promised Cuba to buy 5,000,000 tons of sugar from Castro and pay for 1,000,000 tons of it with cash—at the world market. The rest will be paid in Russian goods—at the Russian selling price.

Castro now wakes up to the fact that Russia probably would have bought the 5,000,000 tons anyhow at the world price and would have paid all cash for it.

The United States now has a perfect policy made for it. It can say that since Russia has so kindly entered the Cuban market, the United States will retire from its subsidy arrangement gradually—over the 5-year period of the Russian agreement—and apply the reduction in subsidy to the payment of American interests who have been robbed by Castro of their property.

At the same time, since Cuba is in less need of our trade, we can gradually transfer our sugar purchases to our Latin-American friends in the Mexican sugar business. And if there be anybody else who is still afraid of the Colossus of the North, we might just possibly buy some sugar from them, too.

Why not?

Principal Threat to Our Nation Here at Home

It is entirely too easy to put the wrong emphasis on the threat to our nation and to our way of life, the existence of which all of us recognize. We are prone to think primarily of missiles, hydrogen bombs, and tanks.

That is seeing the principal peril in the wrong place. While these are potential threats, our greatest danger is right here at home.

As all military leaders know, moral is more important even than weapons.

How well our enemies understand that, and how assiduously they work to undermine those qualities! As Prof. E. Merrill Root, noted author, said in a recent Houston address, "Their chief attack is the infiltration of our culture and the subversion of our souls. They would capture our minds by brainwashing."

"The real battlefield today is not some remote no-man's-land half way around the world, but in the every-man's land of our magazines, our television, our pulpits, our plays and our books and pictures and music, and (beyond all else) in our classrooms and our textbooks. . . . Our greatest problem is not the false demand for 'academic freedom' to call the latest fashionable perversion 'truth' but the realism that finds the truth which alone can make us free."

Root, a professor of English, is a deep student of the subversion of our youth. In his book "Brainwashing in the High Schools" he dissects 11 American history textbooks being taught the young and exposed what he calls the "sick pseudo-sophistication, the smart-aleck cynicism, the historical negativism and spiritual nihilism which are destroying the intellect of America."

Only one of those 11 textbooks (the one used in the Houston high schools, incidentally) is given a fairly clean bill of health and even it "fails miserably in giving us the facts of life about the rise of communism, the danger of communism, the subversion of communism, the treachery of our own Communist agents in high places." The other 10, he declares, contain positively subversive material.

What is a parent to do about it? Check on what his children read and see on television. Read their history textbooks and, if they do not teach truth about this nation, its history, institutions and ideals, demand of the proper authorities that textbooks that do teach the truth be installed in the schools. And inculcate right ideas in the young at home as well, for school and church cannot carry the whole load.

Case of Two Gets You One

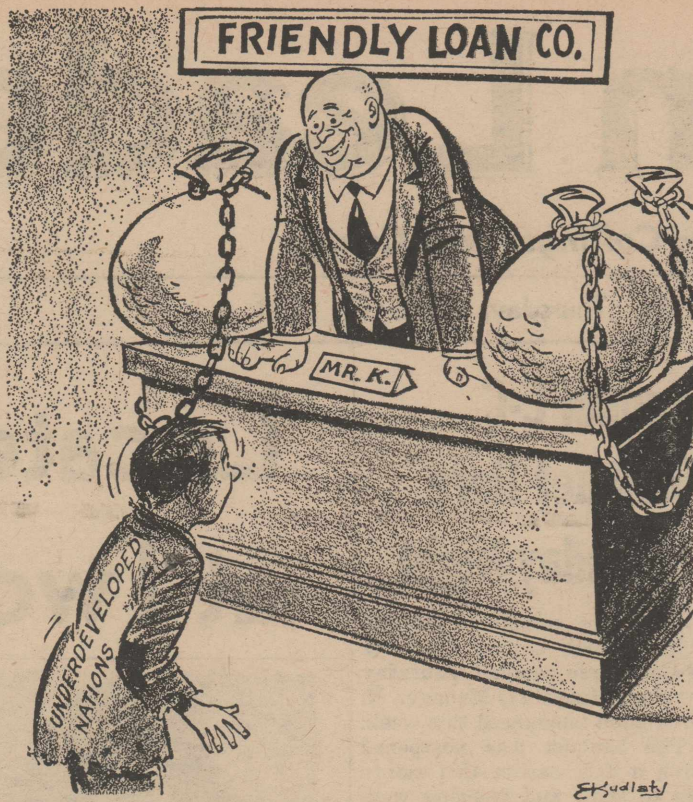

A little news item sets forth that a Midwestern utility firm is asking for a rate increase that would cost the consumers an additional $2,000,000.

It is the second paragraph, however, and not the lead paragraph of the story that really gives the story.

The company doesn't need that $2,000,000. What it needs, or claims to need, is an additional $931,200. But to get that $931,200 it will have to pay the federal government an additional $1,008,800 corporate income tax. Then there's a little of $60,000 for state sales tax.

Now do you understand at least a good part of the reason why your utility bills are as high as they are?

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where the government is fixing to sue some federal building contractors if they don't fire part of their paleface electricians and give the jobs to Negroes.

My color-blind neighbor says it is still all right for a boss to not hire you if you have brown eyes and he likes blue, but freedom of preference in skin color is about on its last legs.

Says this is at least a start toward equal job opportunity for all, and soon maybe federal wrath will fall on Congressmen who hire kinfolks for office help and thereby are unfair to strangers.

I see where Cuba's Primed Minister Castro claims the U.S. government hired somebody to blow up his little shipload of munitions.

My motivation expert neighbor says this is just more of Fidel's act to lather himself into declaring war on the U.S., because he has noticed how we lavish our substance on the people we whip.

Says likely Castro forgets that we forfeited the Korean war, maybe on account of not feeling financially able to afford another victory.

I see where the Internal Revenue men will consider allowing a deduction for termite damage on your house, if the termites finished the job in a couple of years.

But it seems if you draw a team of slow termites, working by the hour instead of by the job, and they stretch it out for three or four years, the damage is not deductible.

My undermined neighbor says he is afraid his house is not going to fall down before the deadline, so he is looking for a good crew of unemployed termites to put on a night shift.

I see where a Washington state education official got demoted here the other day for "bringing shame and disgrace to the state" by saying he believes the Bible instead of the Darwin evolution theory.

My Backward neighbor says this incident, along with payola, and kowtowing to Khrushchev, proves we are evolving away from old Bible teachings, all right.

And says our next logical moves are to put "In Theories We Trust" on our money, and when we get in a jam, start praying to Darwin.

I see where some British and French elements in the International Tennis Federation want to hold big open tournaments with amateurs getting a cut of the gate.

But U. S. amateur tennis ramrods say this would be unethical, and seems like don't want their meal tickets to get defiled and rich by drawing pay for their efforts.

My ethicless neighbor says there would be more profit in any business if you could hire amateurs who would work for the honor instead of money, and what the country needs is a passel of amateur grocery-men, amateur plumbers, etc.

I see where six Supreme Court justices say it is proper for the U.S. to waltz on a treaty with the Indians, if same interferences with any bureaucrat's taxpayer plunder plan.

And only three of these upper arbiters think the country hadn't ought to back out of a deal, even when the other party's votage is low.

My schemful neighbor says while a majority of no-recourse justice seems like is favorable to crawfishing, he wishes the Court would take a look at some of the dotted line traps he wants to get out of.

Patron-Teachers Named

Norwood Men Make School Repairs

Men of the Samnorwood school district are completing their annual repair and redecorating work on the school plant, Supt. Orville Cunningham reported.

This follows another patron-school activity which came Friday, March 11, when parents and former students returned to the classroom to teach, while teachers attended the District 9 Texas State Teachers Association meeting in Amarillo.

Painting and redecorating covered a 4-day period, plus several evenings. Not all rooms were in need of repairs, but each year the necessary work is done by patrons.

"We try to keep a little wet paint around the school the year around," Supt. Cunningham said.

Teachers Friday were: first grade, Mrs. Billy Waters, assisted by Miss Karon Breeding; second, Mrs. A. M. Oldham; third, Mrs. David Clark; fourth, Mrs. Bill Hill; fifth, Mrs. J.

L. Alexander; sixth, Mrs. Pete Bentley;

Superintendent, W. E. Marchant; high school principal and coach, John Alexander; elementary principal, Mrs. E. E. Darrow; high school English, Mrs. Elmer Bockman; commerce, Miss Alice Johnson; agriculture, A. F. Wischkaemper; home economics, Mrs. Joe Rountree; science and math, Donald Coleman, Mrs. Doyce Cochran and Mrs. W. E. Marchant.

Men of the community who painted were Marchant, E. E. Darrow, B. A. Purkey, Ernest Schaub, Billy Waters, Marvin Knoll, Leon Garcia, Donald Coleman, Doyce Cochran, Robert Dwight, Don Ward, Jim Ray, James Throckmorton, Buck Breeding, J. C. Breeding, Rev. E. W. North, Buck Martindale, Selba Rainey, J. L. Lackey, Jack Lowry, Supt. Cunningham, Ronnie Hurst, Gary Hiett and Donald Kirkland.

One evening pot-luck dinner was served the workers by Mrs.

B. A. Purkey, Mrs. E. E. Darrow and Mrs. Orville Cunningham, and the men continued to work until about 9 p.m.

County Has No Rural Traffic Deaths in '59

"Rural motorcides in the 31 county Amarillo highway patrol district decreased 12 per cent from 1958 to 1959," Capt. J. W. Blackwell said today.

Capt. Blackwell, well known commander of the highway patrol in this area said that during 1959 we had 104 people killed in rural traffic accidents compared to 118 rural traffic fatalities in 1958. Our patrolmen investigated a total of 2000 rural traffic accidents during 1959. This traffic accident experience not only caused the death of 104 men, women and children, but also injured 1,223 people and caused an estimated property damage of $1,607,992.

Twelve of the 31 counties in this highway patrol district showed an increase in the number of motorcides for 1959. The highest increase in any county was in Hall county with five rural traffic fatalities compared to only one in 1958. Potter county had the largest number of deaths recorded with 14. Five counties — Collingsworth, Cottle, Hemphill, Ochiltree and Roberts—did not record a traffic fatality in 1959.

Collingsworth, however, had 13 non-fatal accidents during that period in which 13 were injured, and property damage amounted to $9,605. Only Sherman and Hemphill counties had a lower damage figure.

"The real tragedy in our accident picture is the fact that the causative factors are well known," Capt. Blackwell said. In 1959, as in 1958, too much speed at the wrong time and too much drinking while driving were the major contributing factors. When people start obeying the traffic law themselves and insist that other drivers obey the law, then we will see a reduction in our accident rate, Blackwell added.

Mrs. T. B. Wilkins Jr. and children of Amarillo are here visiting this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Lowrie. Her husband will come for the week end and return them home.

Red Cross Handles 50,505 Service Cases

Assistance given to service-men, veterans, their families, and dependents, and others by Texas Red Cross chapters reporting during the past year reached a total of 50,505 cases. Figures released today in Dallas by James H. Bond and in San Antonio by Ray S. Erlandson, Red Cross national fund vice chairmen for the state, show that 138 chapters reported assistance given through Home Service, local arm of a world-wide Red Cross organization serving the armed forces, veterans, and their dependents.

Home Service assistance, Mr. Bond and Mr. Erlandson said, was available in every part of the state through 252 Red Cross chapters. The services of counseling and referrals for service-men and veterans; emergency communication between service personnel and their families; reporting on home situations for use of the military in determining emergency leaves, transfers or discharges; emergency financial assistance; and help to veterans applying for government benefits are part of a program of assistance required of the Red Cross by its charter from the U.S. Congress.

Last year, services to the armed forces and veterans cost the American National Red Cross $33,402,000, or 39 per cent of every Red Cross dollar expended. Half of this expenditure was in chapter Home Service, largely staffed by volunteers, and the remainder represents costs of such services as assistance given through Red Cross representatives assigned to military units and hospitals at home and overseas and to Veterans Administration regional offices, use and maintenance of a nation-wide communications network linking 3,667 Red Cross chapters and U. S. military installations, and recreational programs in Europe, North Africa, and Korea, conducted by request of the armed forces.

In Texas, 10,146 cases received assistance in the form of direct financial aid, totalling $14,224, which was given either as outright grants or as emergency interest-free loans in cases where need was temporary and repayment could easily be made. Such loans, Mr. Bond and Mr. Erlandson emphasized, are the only instance in which Red Cross requests or accepts repayment of assistance given through any of

One Rural Wreck During February

The highway patrol service of the Texas Department of Public Safety investigated one rural traffic accident in Collingsworth county during the month of February according to Sergeant O. R. Dowdy.

In making this announcement the Sergeant reported one property damage, no injuries, and no fatal accidents. This wreck caused property damage of $700, and no one was injured.

The highway patrol supervisor reminded motorists that Texas law requires all registered motor vehicles to have valid inspection stickers displayed by midnight, April 15. "In addition, all trailers registered in Texas which exceed 4,000 gross weight must be inspected," the Sergeant said.

The motor vehicle inspection program, since its inception in 1951, has reduced the state's traffic accidents by almost 10 per cent, the Sergeant explained. Before the inspection program was started, mechanical defects in vehicles was a causative factor in 13 per cent of the state's accidents. However, only four per cent of the traffic accidents are caused by mechanical defects now.

The patrol supervisor stated that only 30 per cent of the vehicles in this county have been inspected and that patrolmen will be stopping all vehicles not displaying a valid sticker after the April 15 deadline. The best way to avoid the long lines expected in the last minute rush is to have vehicles inspected now, he said.

its health, educational or welfare programs.

Boat Owners Must Apply for Numbers

WASHINGTON. — Effective April 1, boats of more than 10 horsepower operated on the navigable waters of the United States must be numbered under the Federal Boating Act of 1958, the Coast Guard announced today.

Applicants for Federal Certificates of Number may obtain application forms at local post offices or boat dealers. The completed application form and a $3.00 fee must be filed with the post office. At that time a blue, $3.00 Federal Boating Stamp will be affixed to the application and a temporary certificate will be returned to the applicant. This certificate will serve as proof of compliance with the law until such time as the application has been processed by the Coast Guard.

The permanent Certificate of Number to be issued the boat owner will be an embossed plastic card similar to a gasoline credit card. The certificate will show the Coast Guard number to be affixed to each side of the bow of the boat by the owner and must be on board whenever the vessel is in use. A number awarded by the Coast Guard will be valid from the date of issuance and for three years from the date of the owner's birthday next occurring after the certificate is issued. Documentary proof of title and ownership is not required by the Coast Guard with application for number. Application blanks may also be obtained from any Coast Guard Marine Inspection office, but the fees must be paid at the post office.

Even though boats have been previously numbered by the Coast Guard prior to March 31, application must be made for a new number on April 1 under the Federal Boating Act; however, the previous number and certificate may be retained for temporary identification until the new number is issued. Boat owners may continue to operate their craft legally if they have applied for renumbering, paid the required fee and retained proof of payment.

Lone Star Gas Seeks Mrs. America

Somewhere in one of the 50 United States, there is an attractive housewife who is destined to become Mrs. America, 1960-61.

Right now, she may be preparing a meal for her family, doing the laundry, fixing her hair, or any number of homemaking skills that qualify her for the title of "America's No. 1 Homemaker."

Lone Star Gas Company, as one of the contest sponsors, has now started its search for the housewife who will be first named Mrs. Texas, and later, Mrs. America. Mrs. America will return to her home from the finals in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., bringing with her a fabulous title as well as more than $50,000 in prizes, including a $30,000 four bedroom home in Florida.

Entry forms are now available at any Lone Star Gas Company office and at RCA Whirlpool dealer appliance stores. The deadline for submitting an entry is midnight, March 15. Qualification questionnaires will be sent to entries and must be filled out and mailed by March 27.

Clubs and organizations will again be offered prize money for sponsoring winning contestants. A prize of $25 will be awarded by Lone Star to the club or organization that sponsors a contestant who competes in one of the five area contests. An additional $75 will be awarded to the organization sponsoring an area winner, and an additional $100 for a contestant who wins the state finals and competes in the national finals.

Any regularly established local club or organization may sponsor a contestant. Even men's clubs or organizations may sponsor a contestant.

One-day area eliminations will be conducted by Lone Star April 12 in Waco, April 13 in Fort Worth and April 14 in Greenville. The next week, contests will be held in Dallas on April 20, and Abilene April 22.

The five area winners will compete for the "Mrs. Texas" title in competition to be held May 12 and 13 in the Statler-Hilton Hotel in Dallas.

Area contests will consist primarily of interviews, written and oral quizzes on subjects related to the contestants' qualifications as a homemaker. Contests will begin at 9 a.m. and end with a luncheon.

Subject: EXPERTS

You've heard it said that an Expert is an ordinary workman . . . off somewhere else.

Which is perhaps the reason many of us are inclined to favor doctors, hairdressers, merchants, mechanics, and other service people who live and work in some larger city.

Yet they are just people, like their skilled fellow-craftsmen who live right here among us . . . no smarter, with no more training, experience or ability.

And these far-away experts can never offer us the real interest in, and familiarity with our particular problems that we get from the experts who live here in our own community.

Right here at home . . . within a few minutes of your door . . . are virtually all your needs in goods and services . . . like a vast and handy storeroom . . . ready to be called on at a moment's notice when—and if—you need it.
